45. The KAKUSHIN SEINEN TO (The Renovation Youth Party)

The Party was formed by SANO Masashi and so on after the outbreak of the last war. Although we can only guess the ideological tendency of the Party which is likely to awaken the youth in this country through the spirit of the Japanese clasics, judging from SANO's personal way of thinking, we have no data from which we know its activities in detail.

46. The GAKUTO SHISEI KAI (The Students Loyalty Association)

The Association was a juridical foundation which was formed by NAGATA Hidejiro, the chief director, in February, 1935, in order to make the students of all universities and colleges render services to establish the DAITOA KYOEI KEN (The Great Asia Co-existence Hemisphere), through the trainning of them.

Its chief activity was to select the elite from each school throughout the country and to send them to Manchuria and the South Sea Area so that they may learn the actual circumstances in the area through the meetings with the student of the area. Afterwards it was affiliated with the DAI NIPPON KOA DOMEI (The Great Japan Asia Development Alliance). After all the Association was an organization which aimed to enhance the standard of the public welfare and general culture.

47. The TAIWAN NANPO KYOKAI (The Formosa Southern Association)

The Association was formed by SAITO Ju, the President, in order to investigate the situation of the South Sea Area around 1939. There had not been any other notable activities except for the publication of the organ "The South China and the South Sea".

By the way, the Association was regarded in the nature is one of agencies of the Formosa General Supervisory Government. In July, 1941, it merged into the KOA DOMEI (The Asia Development Alliance).

48. The TOA KENSETSU KYOKAI (The Far East Construction Association)

The Association was formed, centering around SEKINE Gumpei, Rear-Admiral, to research the situation of each area of Asia and besides to create the friendly relationship among the members.

Because of the financial embarrassment, however, its activity was rather lethargic except for holding lecture meetings from time to time.

On Organizations which are to be cancelled of their designation among Organizations which were decided to be dissolved in accordance with Imperial Ordinance No. 101 of 1946 and Organizations Control Order.

We hereby beg that the under-mentioned Organizations among the Organizations which were decided to be dissolved by Home Minister, Premier and Attorney-General, in accordance with Imperial Ordinance No. 101 of February 23, 1946 and Organizations Control Order of April 4, 1949, as Organizations of ultra-nationalism or terrorism, shall be cancelled of their designation for the reason under-stated.

As this matter needs juridical disposition, a draft of an Ordinance is now under investigation.

(Reason)

As the under-mentioned Organizations are not extreme of their character and their activity is slow and also their system and structure are on a small scale, the continuance of designation as Organizations to be dissolved is not just, referring to the present situation.

It is also considered that they would not be of any obstruction to the democratization of Japan in the future, even if they were cancelled of their designation.

We, therefore, consider to be moderate to cancel of their designation this time.

1. DAIAJIA KYOKAI (Greater Asia Society)

March, 1933, this society was formed by a party of former soldiers and civilians with Prince KONOE and others as principal founders, with MATSUI Iwane as chairman and with researchers for races, historians deplomats, etc. as the constituent members, aiming at being a successor of the spirit of the "Greater Asia Principle" advocated by SUN Wen, Chinese thinker, and at making cooperation in culture and with Asian nations. Its character was a cultural research organization. It published the organ paper, DAIAJIA SHUGI (Greater Asia Principle), held at all times meetings for the study of politics, culture, society, economy, etc. in the districts of Asia, receiving some grant from the Foreign Ministry, and made other cultural activity. When the DAINIPPON KOA DOMEI (Greater Japan's Asia Development Alliance) was established in 1941, however, the society amalgamated with this alliance.

2. DAIA TAKUSHI GIJUKU (Great Asia Pioneer School)

March, 1942, this school was established, for the pupppose of cultivating pioneers, by ODA Jusso, who keenly felt the necessity of cultivating and despatching pioneers to the Southern area according to the development of the then war situation, in Fukuoka Prefecture and Tokyo Metropolis.

The constituent members were not more than twelve in number. It was a mere local training organ, and an organization formed by taking advantage of the situation.

3. DAITOA KYOKAI (Greater East Asia Association)

This association was formed for the purpose of collecting fundamental materials for the policy to get the will of both the government and the people understood each other under the idea of reforming the domestic political structure in accordance with the classics of our country in March, 1932, owing to the advocation by IWATA Hajime. The constituent members, however, were not more than thirty six in number. It made no activity worthy of notice. This organization was analgamated, when the Greater Japan's Asia Development Alliance was established in 1941.

4. DAITOA SEINEN TAI (Greater East Asia Youth Corps)

This corps was a government organization which was formed in January, 1941, by amalgamating a few other organizations with East Asia Section, Imperial Rule Assistance Association, as nucleus and with MIKI Akitaka as the head in order to discharge the duty which the Young Men's Corps of the KOA KOKUMIN UNDO (Asia Development People's Movement) was to take charge of according to the decision reached by the Cabinet Conference at that time.

Consequently, the constituent members amounted to about seven hundred in number, but it actually made no activity worthy of notice but putting the place of meeting in order on the occasion of speech meetings held under the anspices of the Asia Development Alliance, as well as going camping a few times for the purpose of the phisical training of the members.

5. DAN KEN KAI (Man Health Society)

This society being stimulated by the Sino-Japanese Incident, was formed by interested people in Wakayama Prefecture with FURUYAMA Shinji as nucleus in August, 1938, in order to eternally establish the Sine-Japanese bloc and to establish universal eternal peace. It was an local organization and had twenty-five constituent members including the chairman. Its activities were nothing but to have once held a prefectural people's ralley, to have published declaration and written demand a few times and to have once held a lecture meeting to criticize on the situation. The society give us a strong impression of one established by taking advantage of the situation.

6. KINNO ISHIN DOMEI (Loyal Restoration Alliance)

This alliance was formed with scores of members seceded

from the Koto Branch, KENGOKU KAI (National Foundation Society) and with support given by NAGAI Ryokichi, by ISHII Jokichi who had been chairman of the said Branch and seceded from the society in order to complete the national restoration in accordance with the spirit of the foundation of the country of Japan. The alliance, however, did nothing but published thirty thousand copies of pamphlets headed TAIGI MEIBUN (True Relations of Sovereign and Subjects) in the early days of its formation. Thereafter, it turned into a liaison office of NAGAI Ryokichi, ISHIWATA Santatsu, OMORI Yusei, and so on, and it came to exist only in name.

7. TAISHI DOSHI KAI(China Problem Society):

This organization was formed with IIDA Iwakusu and IWATA Ainosuke as its leading promoters, stimulated by the outbreak of the China Incident in July, 1937, with a view to contributing to the accomplishment of the war objectives by the united efforts of the Government and the people. It had 13 constituent members and showed such activities as to hold mass rallies to advocate the settlement of the Incident as well as to make public its statements or resolutions for that purpose. Judging from its character, however, it was but an organization which had availed itself of the situation. It dissolved itself and was merged with DAI NIPPON KOA DOMEI(Great Japan Rising Asia Alliance) in the end, as soon as the latter was established in July, 1941.

8. TENCHU JUKU (Sky Support Pillar Academy):

This organization was formed by HOSHINO Shincho in Sumiyoshi Ward, Osaka City, but there is no datum or material through which we can have a knowledge of the purpose of its formation, structure and the activities of this organization.

This organization is regarded as one-man party.

9. TOA KYOKAI (East Asia Society):

This organization was formed by YAWATA Hakudo, SUZUKI Zen-ichi and two others in October, 1937, with a view to contributing to the establishment of the national defence system necessitated by the outbreak of the China Incident and the cultural interchange among the East Asian Nations, as well as to publishing various investigation materials and reports on those problems. This organization was, in short, one of the so-called subordinate organizations of the Government Offices, which had desired to take part in the construction work in the Continent through their cooperation with the Authorities concerned in the accomplishment of the China Incident.

10. DAIWA KURABU (Great Harmony Club):

This organization was formed by TAKEI Sadamitsu and some others in July, 1942 with TANABE Soei as its President, with a view to promoting friendship among the distinguished nationalists in those days. It had only 10 constituent members, but showed very little activity of its own. Members did nothing but to meet together occasionally to exchange views with each other.

11. AZIA SEINEN SHA (Asia Young Men's Society):

This organization was an organization whose name was changed as such in July, 1942 from KOA SEINEN UNDO HOMBU (Headquarters of Rising Asia Youth Movement) which had been previously established with KODAMA Yoshio as its leading promoter for the purpose of starting " a new East Asia construction movement", hand in hand with some young people in the renascent China. It had 19 constituent members, but showed no peculiar activity but to publish its organ paper entitled "TAIGI" (the Great Justice).

12. DAIDO JUKU (Cardinal Principle Academy):

This organization was formed in February, 1932 by KAWAKAMI Toshiharu, Chief of the Youth Section of DAI NIPPON SEISAN TO (Great Japan Production Party) with young members of the Production Party as the objects of its invitation into this organization.

It had only 6 constituent members and showed no other activity than to publish its monthly organ paper "ISHIN DAMASHII" (the Renovation Spirit) with a circulation of 1,500 every month.

13. DAI NIPPON KINNO DOSHI KAI (Great Japan Loyal Comrades' Association).

This organization was established in December 1942 by such persons as FUJITA Kaoru, YAMAGUCHI Churoku and TSUNEOKA Ryutaro in order to develop loyalist movements to meet the war-time situation at home and abroad, with 3 branches besides its headquarters and the total membership consisting of 91 persons. Later, it came to clearly assume the character of an anti-Communist organization, insisting to abandon the South theatre operations of Japan to engage exclusively in an anti-Soviet war. Further, it was brought under the oppression of the military police due to its assertion for the pulling down of the Tojo Cabinet.

14. DAI TOA SEINEN DOMEI (Young Men's Alliance of Great East Asia).

This organization was founded in October 1940 by MATSUKI Yoshikatsu, who was reverently inspired by a Royal rescript, in order to establish an East-Asian co-prosperity zone based on the traditions of East-Asian races, with its total membership consisting of 12 persons. However, its activity was only limited to the advocacy of racial combination in East Asia through its members' casual attendance at such meetings as inauguration ceremonies of similar organizations.
Thus, with its scale and system which was very small, it was one of the "opportunist organizations" that were then prevalent.

15. KODO ISHIN JUKU (Royalists' Renovation Academy).

This organization was founded by TODA Seiichi, president of the KODO ISHIN KAI (Royalists' Renovation Society), on January 21, 1934 in Wakamatsu City, Fukushima Prefecture in order to bring up those who would engage in the renovation movement which was based on a purely Japanese spirit; its membership consisted of only 7 persons. At a time, this organization was in connection with a radical group of officers of the Wakamatsu Army Corps; but after their arrest or transference owing to cases of revolt and the like, activities of this organization became entirely dull, and it came to be extinct for a time about the year of 1936. Later, in the year of 1937, it resumed its existence, but the disaccordance in opinion of its principal members made its activity almost unnoticeable..

16. MITATE JUKU (Imperial Shield Academy).

This organization was founded by SHIRAI Tameo, general manager of the DAI NIPPON ISSHIN KAI (Great Japan Renovation Society), in November 1941 in order to bring up those high-spirited youths that wanted to play an active rôle as oversea emmigrants. On February 6, 1942 it forwarded by mail 500 copies of a print "Introduction of the MITATE JUKU," which it prepared, to persons concerned with its friendly organizations, besides which action, however, no activity was actually attempted by this organization. The membership of this organization consisted of only 4 persons.

17. SHINTO JUKU (Eastern Prosperity Academy).

This organization was established with 7 principal members including its head as a national training institute for the discipline of mind and body and to preserve the traditional spirit of the TOHO KAI (Eastern Society), when the latter organization was reformed in August 1940 by NAKANO Seigo and others. However, it came to withdraw its official application for being an organization, after holding only one time a training course for its members for a period of 5 days.

18. TOTEN JUKU (Eastern Academy).

This organization was established in March 1935 in Hachinoe City, Aomori Prefecture, with former members of the SHINTO JUKU (Eastern Prosperity Academy) KUMANO Asagoro and NAGAHATA Kikumatsu as its central persons, with the view of developing an enlightenment movement among the young men of the local area. The activity of this organization, which retained a small membership of 25 or so, was no more than a local one, only being recognized in casual training, mental and physical, held for its member persons besides participating in the movement for clarifying the national constitution.

19. TOTEN KAI (Eastern Sky Society).

This organization, having been established on September 8, 1945 at Mito City, Ibaraki Prefecture making KIKUCHI Goichi the chief secretary, was one of the so-called local organizations. The Constituent members of it, excluding the chief secretary, were numbered to amount to only twenty one (21) persons and there was no remarkable movement in it.

20. YUSHI JUKU (Gallant Figure Academy),

This organization was what IWASA Toraichiro who was a war correspondent at the time of the China Incident established at Toyama City in November, 1940 to make a self-renovation being charmed with a work of Dr. HIRAIZUMI Tooru. He occasionally held a spiritual training lecture meeting gathering around sixty (60) students but those which were remarkable among such meetings were only twice. This was a so-called local organization.

21. DAINIHON YUKO KAI (Great Japan Development Society).

This organization was such that SENSHIN JUKU (Spirit Purification Academy) which was established in Osaka City by TOKUDA Soichiro and had been making the pure Japanistic youth movement had been only remaned by MORIYAMA Yasunaka and others and had been making the interior renovation its aim. There had been no such one which was perceived a concrete movement and its constituent members amounted only two (2) persons.

22. NIHON KOITO DOSHIKAI (Japan Corp Banner Comrade Society).

This organization was such one which, making SHIOZUKA Nobuya the President of it and making the publication and the exchange of thought of the youth in the whole country who were buring in the construction of their fatherland as its aim, was established in Kumamoto Prefecture in May 1946. Due to the fact that there had been twenty five (25) those who gave up the Preparatory Course of the Military Officers' Academy in the middle among the one hundred and forty (140) constituent members, it being recognized an organization which would brew a militarism was ordered to be dissolved. But there was no such movement which attracted our attention.

23. GENRI NIPPON SHA (Principle Japan Co.)

This organization was such magazine publishing Co. which had been established to publish the magazine GENRI NIPPON (Principle Japan) in November, 1925 by Professor MINOTA Muneyoshi of Keio University expecting the extirpation of the communistic thought simulaneously with that he makes a criticism upon it from the stand of the pure Japanese thought as such thought had been prevailing in the country at that time. The object of the company was the publication movement and its constituent members amounted to only six (6) persons.

24. DAINIHON DOSHIKAI (Great Japan Comrade Society)
former NICHIDOKU DOSHI KAI (Japanese-German Comrade Society)

This organization was such one that NICHIDOKU DOSHI KAI which MATSUMOTO Noriaki had been superintending was renamed on July 10, 1940 and its object was to dispose to the ideological war of home and foreign by its intellectural mobilization. And its movement was limitted in the sphere of the proposition of the conclusion of anti-Comintern Pact among Japan, German and Italy by means of the publication of the organ and the holding of the training meeting of the anti-Communistic elements. It had no color of ultra-nationalism and made no movement which had been remarkable in its appearance.

25. SHINNO JUKU (Devine Farmers Academy)

This organization was formed under the lead of TOISHI Kiyoshi, president of this Academy, on August 26, 1942. This party was formed on March 1946, under the leadership of WADA Takuo, president, Its former name was DAITOA SEINEN RENMEI (Great East Asia Young Men's Alliance). However, its activity was comparatively mild and its organization structure was of a small scale, consisting of 78 persons contained the president.

Subject: Partial Amendment to the Organizations Control Order. (Second Report)

With reference to partial amendment to be effected, as reported previously, to the Organizations Control Order, we further intend to carry out such amendment, for the reason stated in Annexed Paper 1, as shown in the draft in Annexed Paper 2, on which plan we should be pleased to hear the opinion of your quarter.

Masami Takahashi
for Director of Special Investigation Bureau,
Attorney-General's Office.

Annexed Paper 1.

Statement of Reason.

The present amendment is founded on the reason that, with respect to such organizations that have been dissolved under the provisions of Article 4 of the Organizations Control Order but whose purposes and activities were not of so extreme nature, it is necessary that some new prescription should be provided making it possible to cancel for the future the effects of their dissolution that are due to provisions of Articles 5, 11 and 14 of the same Order.

Annexed Paper 2.

July 9, 1951.

In case the Attorney-General has deemed, with respect to an organization that was dissolved under the provisions of the preceding Article, that the further continuance of the effects of its dissolution that are due to provisions of Articles 5, 11 and 14 is unjustifiable, he may make the designation which cancels such effects for the future.

2. When a designation has been made as to an organization in accordance with the provisions of the preceding paragraph, the provisions of Articles 5, 11 and 14 shall be inapplicable to that organization as from the day of such designation.

However, it does not preclude the effect of any official dispositions that have been effected as to the organization prior to such designation.

3. The designation herein mentioned shall be effected through its publication in the Official Gazette.

Mark x shows organizations listed on Item 3, Paragraph 1, Annexed List, Minister's Ordinance of Home Affairs, No. 1, 1947.

1. DAIAJIA KYOKAI (Greater Asia Society)

March, 1933, this society was formed by a party of former soldiers and civilians with Prince KONOE and others as principal founders, with MATSUI Iwane as chairman and with researchers for races, historians deplomats, etc. as the constituent members, aiming at being a successor of the spirit of the "Greater Asia Principle" advocated by SUN Wen, Chinese thinker, and at making cooperation in culture and with Asian nations. Its character was a cultural research organization. It published the organ paper, DAIAJIA SHUGI (Greater Asia Principle), held at all times meetings for the study of politics, culture, society, economy, etc. in the districts of Asia, receiving some grant from the Foreign Ministry, and made other cultural activity. When the DAINIPPON KOA DOMEI (Greater Japan's Asia Development Alliance) was established in 1941, however, the society amalgamated with this alliance.

2. DAIA TAKUSHI GIJUKU (Great Asia Pioneer School)

March, 1942, this school was established, for the purpose of cultivating pioneers, by ODA Jusso, who keenly felt the necessity of cultivating and despatching pioneers to the Southern area according to the development of the then war situation, in Fukuoka Prefecture and Tokyo Metropolis.

The constituent members were not more than twelve in number. It was a mere local training organ, and an organization formed by taking advantage of the situation.

3. DAITOA KYOKAI (Greater East Asia Association)

This association was formed for the purpose of collecting fundamental materials for the policy to get the will of both the government and the people understood each other under the idea of reforming the domestic political structure in accordance with the classics of our country in March, 1932, owing to the advocation by IWATA Hajime. The constituent members, however, were not more than thirty six in number. It made no activity worthy of notice. This organization was analgamated, when the Greater Japan's Asia Development Alliance was established in 1941.

4. DAITOA SEINEN TAI (Greater East Asia Youth Corps)

This corps was a government organization which was formed in January, 1941, by amalgamating a few other organizations with East Asia Section, Imperial Rule Assistance Association, as nucleus and with MIKI Akitaka as the head in order to discharge the duty which the Young Men's Corps of the KOA KOKUMIN UNDO (Asia Development People's Movement) was to take charge of according to the decision reached by the Cabinet Conference at that time.

Consequently, the constituent members amounted to about seven hundred in nunber, but it actually made no activity worthy of notice but putting the place of meeting in order on the occasion of speech meetings held under the anspices of the Asia Development Alliance, as well as going camping a few times for the purpose of the phisical training of the members.

5. DAN KEN KAI (Man Health Society)

This society being stimulated by the Sino-Japanese Incident, was formed by interested people in Wakayama Prefecture with FURUYAMA Shinji as nucleus in August, 1938, in order to eternally establish the Sine-Japanese bloc and to establish universal eternal peace. It was an local organization and had twenty-five constituent members including the chairman. Its activities were nothing but to have once held a prefectural people's ralley, to have published declaration and written demand a few times and to have once held a lecture meeting to criticize on the situation. The society give us a strong impression of one established by taking advantage of the situation.

6. KINNO ISHIN DOMEI (Loyal Restoration Alliance)

This alliance was formed with scores of members seceded

from the Koto Branch, KENGOKU KAI (National Foundation Society) and with support given by NAGAI Ryokichi, by ISHII Jokichi who had been chairman of the said Branch and seceded from the society in order to complete the national restoration in accordance with the spirit of the foundation of the country of Japan. The alliance, however, did nothing but published thirty thousand copies of pamphlets headed TAIGI MEIBUN (True Relations of Sovereign and Subjects) in the early days of its formation.
Thereafter, it turned into a liaison office of NAGAI Ryokichi, ISHIWATA Santatsu, OMORI Yusei, and so on, and it came to exist only in name.

7. 対支問志会 TAISHI DOSHI KAI(China Problem Society):

This organization was formed with 飯田巖棒 IIDA Iwakusu and 岩田愛之助 IWATA Ainosuke as its leading promoters, stimulated by the outbreak of the China Incident in July, 1937, with a view to contributing to the accomplishment of the war objectives by the united efforts of the Government and the people. It had 13 constituent members and showed such activities as to hold mass rallies to advocate the settlement of the Incident as well as to make public its statements or resolutions for that purpose. Judging from its character, however, it was but an organization which had availed itself of the situation. It dissolved itself and was merged with 大日本興亜同盟 DAI NIPPON KOA DOMEI(Great Japan Rising Asia Alliance) in the end, as soon as the latter was established in July, 1941.

8. 天柱塾
TENCHU JUKU (Sky Support Pillar Academy):

This organization was formed by HOSHINO Shincho 星野眞澄 in Sumiyoshi Ward, Osaka City, but there is no datum or material through which we can have a knowledge of the purpose of its formation, structure and the activities of this organization.

This organization is regarded as one-man party.

9. 東亜協会 TOA KYOKAI (East Asia Society):

This organization was formed by 八幡博堂 YAWATA Hakudo, 鈴木善一 SUZUKI Zen-ichi and two others in October, 1937, with a view to contributing to the establishment of the national defence system necessitated by the outbreak of the China Incident and the cultural interchange among the East Asian Nations, as well as to publishing various investigation materials and reports on those problems. This organization was, in short, one of the so-called subordinate organizations of the Government Offices, which had desired to take part in the construction work in the Continent through their cooperation with the Authorities concerned in the accomplishment of the China Incident.

10. DAIWA KURABU (大和倶楽部) (Great Harmony Club):

This organization was formed by TAKEI Sadamitsu (武井定光) and some others in July, 1942 with TANABE Soei (田辺宗英) as its President, with a view to promoting friendship among the distinguished nationalists in those days. It had only 10 constituent members, but showed very little activity of its own, members did nothing but to meet together occasionally to exchange views with each other.

11. アジア青年社
AZIA SEINEN SHA (Asia Young Men's Society):

This organization was an organization whose name was changed as such in July, 1942 from KOA 興亜
青年運動本部
SEINEN UNDO HOMBU (Headquarters of Rising Asia Youth Movement) which had been previously established with 児玉・誉士夫
KODAMA Yoshio as its leading promoter for the purpose of starting " a new East Asia construction movement", hand in hand with some young people in the renascent China. It had 19 constituent members, but showed no peculiar activity but to publish its organ paper entitled "TAIGI" (the Great Justice).

12. 大道塾 DAIDO JUKU (Cardinal Principle Academy):

This organization was formed in February, 1932 by 河上利治 KAWAKAMI Toshiharu, Chief of the Youth Section of 大日本生産党 DAI NIPPON SEISAN TO (Great Japan Production Party) with young members of the Production Party as the objects of its invitation into this organization.

It had only 6 constituent members and showed no other activity than to publish its monthly organ paper "維新魂 ISHIN DAMASHII" (the Renovation Spirit) with a circulation of 1,500 every month.

13. DAI NIPPON KINNO DOSHI KAI (Great Japan Loyal Comrades' Association).

This organization was established in December 1942 by such persons as FUJITA Kaoru, YAMAGUCHI Churoku and TSUNEOKA Ryutaro in order to develop loyalist movements to meet the war-time situation at home and abroad, with 3 branches besides its headquarters and the total membership consisting of 91 persons. Later, it came to clearly assume the character of an anti-Communist organization, insisting to abandon the South theatre operations of Japan to engage exclusively in an anti-Soviet war. Further, it was brought under the oppression of the military police due to its assertion for the pulling down of the Tojo Cabinet.

14. DAI TOA SEINEN DOMEI (大東亜青年同盟) (Young Men's Alliance of Great East Asia).

This organization was founded in October 1940 by MATSUKI Yoshikatsu (松木京勝), who was reverently inspired by a Royal rescript, in order to establish an East-Asian co-prosperity zone based on the traditions of East-Asian races, with its total membership consisting of 12 persons. However, its activity was only limited to the advocacy of racial combination in East Asia through its members' casual attendance at such meetings as inauguration ceremonies of similar organizations.
Thus, with its scale and system which was very small, it was one of the "opportunist organizations" that were then prevalent.

15. KODO ISHIN JUKU (Royalists' Renovation Academy).

This organization was founded by TODA Seiichi, president of the KODO ISHIN KAI (Royalists' Renovation Society), on January 21, 1934 in Wakamatsu City, Fukushima Prefecture in order to bring up those who would engage in the renovation movement which was based on a purely Japanese spirit; its membership consisted of only 7 persons. At a time, this organization was in connection with a radical group of officers of the Wakamatsu Army Corps; but after their arrest or transference owing to cases of revolt and the like, activities of this organization became entirely dull, and it came to be extinct for a time about the year of 1936. Later, in the year of 1937, it resumed its existence, but the disaccordance in opinion of its principal members made its activity almost unnoticeable..

16. 御楯塾
MITATE JUKU (Imperial Shield Academy).

This organization was founded by 白井 為雄 SHIRAI Tameo, general manager of the 大日本 一新会 DAI NIPPON ISSHIN KAI (Great Japan Renovation Society), in November 1941 in order to bring up those high-spirited youths that wanted to play an active rôle as oversea emmigrants. On February 6, 1942 it forwarded by mail 500 copies of a print "Introduction of the MITATE JUKU," which it prepared, to persons concerned with its friendly organizations, besides which action, however, no activity was actually attempted by this organization. The membership of this organization consisted of only 4 persons.

17. 振東塾 SHINTO JUKU (Eastern Prosperity Academy).

This organization was established with 7 principal members including its head as a national training institute for the discipline of mind and body and to preserve the traditional spirit of the 東方会 TOHO KAI (Eastern Society), when the latter organization was reformed in August 1940 by 中野正剛 NAKANO Seigo and others. However, it came to withdraw its official application for being an organization, after holding only one time a training course for its members for a period of 5 days.

18. 東天塾 TOTEN JUKU (Eastern Academy).

This organization was established in March 1935 in Hachinoe City, Aomori Prefecture, with former members of the 振東塾 SHINTO JUKU (Eastern Prosperity Academy) 熊野 KUMANO Asagoro 浅五郎 and 長畑菊松 NAGAHATA Kikumatsu as its central persons, with the view of developing an enlightenment movement among the young men of the local area. The activity of this organization, which retained a small membership of 25 or so, was no more than a local one, only being recognized in casual training, mental and physical, held for its member persons besides participating in the movement for clarifying the national constitution.

19. 東天会 TOTEN KAI (Eastern Sky Society).

This organization, having been established on September 8, 1945 at 水戸 Mito City, Ibaraki Prefecture making 菊地吾一 KIKUCHI Goichi the chief secretary, was one of the so-called local organizations. The Constituent members of it, excluding the chief secretary, were numbered to amount to only twenty one (21) persons and there was no remarkable movement in it.

雄楽塾'

20. YUSHI JUKU (Gallant Figure Academy),

This organizati0n was what 岩佐虎一郎 IWASA Toraichiro who was a war correspondent at the time of the China Incident established at 富山 Toyama City in November, 1940 to make a self-renovation being charmed with a work of Dr. 平泉 HIRAIZUMI 澄 Tooru. He occasionally held a spiritual training lecture meeting gathering around sixty (60) students but those which were remarkable among such meetings were only twice. This was a so-called local organization.

21. 大日本 獎勵会 DAINIHON YUKO KAI (Great Japan Development Society).

This organization was such that 洗心塾 SENSHIN JUKU (Spirit Purification Academy) which was established in 大阪 Osaka City by 徳田 惣一 TOKUDA Soichiro and had been making the pure Japanistic youth movement had been only remaned by 盛山 泰伸 MORIYAMA Yasunaka and others and had been making the interior renovation its aim. There had been no such one which was perceived a concrete movement and its constituent members amounted only two (2) persons.

22. 日本 鯉登同志会
NIHON KOITO DOSHIKAI (Japan Corp Banner Comrade Society).

塩塚
This organization was such one which, making SHIOZUKA 誠也
Nobuya the President of it and making the publication and the exchange of thought of the youth in the whole country who were buring in the construction of their fatherland as its aim, was established in 熊本 Kumamoto Prefecture in May 1946. Due to the fact that there had been twenty five (25) those who gave up the Preparatory Course of the Military Officers' Academy in the middle among the one hundred and forty (140) constituent members, it, being recognized an organization which would brew a militarism, was ordered to be dissolved. But there was no such movement which attracted our attention.

23. 原理日本社
GENRI NIPPON SHA (Principle Japan Co.)

This organization was such magazine publishing Co. which had been established to publish the magazine 原理日本
GENRI NIPPON (Principle Japan) in November, 1925 by 蓑田胸喜
Professor MINOTA Muneyoshi of Keio University expecting the extirpation of the communistic thought simulaneously with that he makes a criticism upon it from the stand of the pure Japanese thought as such thought had been prevailing in the country at that time. The object of the company was the publication movement and its constituent members amounted to only six (6) persons.

24. 大日本同志会
DAINIHON DOSHIKAI (Great Japan Comrade Society)
日独同志会
former NICHIDOKU DOSHI KAI (Japanese-German Comrade Society)

This organization was such one that NICHIDOKU DOSHI KAI which MATSUMOTO Noriaki had been superintending was renamed on July 10, 1940 and its object was to dispose to the ideological war of home and foreign by its intellectural mobilization. And its movement was limitted in the sphere of the proposition of the conclusion of anti-Comintern Pact among Japan, German and Italy by means of the publication of the organ and the holding of the training meeting of the anti-Communistic elements. It had no color of ultra-nationalism and made no movement which had been remarkable in its appearance.

25. SHINNO JUKU (Devine Farmers Academy)

This organization was formed under the lead of TOISHI Kiyoshi, president of this Academy, on August 26, 1942. Its aim existed in discipline of young elements, for the purpose of realizatioh of new generation of SHOWA. Its sphere of activity was limited in Niigata prefecture and its structure was of small scale, consisting of 28 persons contained its president, superintendent and councillors.

26. NIHON SUMERA ~~MIKUNI~~ TO (Japan Imperial Party).

This party was formed on March 1946, under the leadership of WADA Takuo, president. Its former name was DAITOA SEINEN RENMEI (Great East Asia Young Men's Alliance). Its activity was coloured with nuance of sayings and doings centering on the Emperor, to a degree. However, its activity was comparatively mild and its organization s tructure was of a small scale, consisting of 78 persons contained the president.

27. NIHON FASCIST RENMEI (Japan Fascists' Alliance)

This Alliance was formed on January 26, 1932, under the leadership of NOJIMA Tatsuji, chairman of Central Executive Committee of the Alliance, aiming at realization of the imperial rule, based on the renovation principle. This Alliance published about 1000 copies of monthly organ paper "FASCISM". In spite of program to hold research or lecture meeting, the alliance did not executed any plan, being far from any superficious activities.

This Alliance was spontaneously dissolved on April 15, 1934. Its structure was of a small scale consisting of 23 persons contained the chairman.

28. KAIKOSHA (Army Officers' Association)

This organization was established on February 1877, for the purpose of friendship and welfare of army officers and of military personnel. Its structure was granted to be a juridicial foundation corporation on July 1924. Moreover, on August 1932, all the same assaciations throughout this country were consolidated in a single unit, being reorganized RIKUGUN KAIKOSHA.

Since then, its governor was honoured by a member of the Imperial Family. The presidency was occupied by the Minister of Army, vice-presidency, by the Vice-Minister of Army. Thus, its structure was of the nationwide character, playing the role for welfare and well-being of military men and personnel.

29. 水交社
SUIKO SHA (Navy Officers' Association).

This organization was established for the purpose of friendship and welfare of navy officers, on March 1876, being granted a juridical foundation corporation. Its presidency was occupied by the Minister of Navy, its vice-presidency, by vice-Minister of Navy. Its consistuent members were navy officers, cadets and naval high rank civilians.

Subject: Partial Amendment to the Organizations Control Order. (Second Report)

a. With reference to partial amendment to be effected, as reported previously, to the Organizations Control Order, we further intend to carry out such amendment, for the reason stated in Annexed Paper 1, as shown in the draft in Annexed Paper 2, on which plan we should be pleased to hear the opinion of your quarter.

b. In connection with the provision related to nullification of Article 11, etc., appearing in paragraph 2, Article 4 - (2) in the said draft, the view of this office is that:

Although no designation of purged persons can be done, after the date of cancellation of dissolution order on an organization issued under the provision of Article 4, by application of Article 11 to particularly specified members concerned with such organization, the designation for purge as to officers and other members of such organization, which was already done, does not immediately become invalid upon the aforesaid cancellation of ordissolution order, as the requisite for such designation consists in that those persons who are purged under the provision of Article 4 are ones that have been concerned with an organization which is in the status of a dissolved one at the very time of such designation.

With respect to this kind of purged persons, we intend to arrange the matter so as their designation be cancelled by the Prime Minister in accordance with the provision of Article 4 - (2), Imperial Ordinance No. 1 of 1947.

Attorney-General's Office.
