Radio broadcasting

MAINICHI 10 Nov. 1949

Editorial:

Nearly thirty-years has elapsed since the radio broadcasting was started in 1924. Up to the termination of the Pacific War, the broadcast enterprise in Japan was forced to act a part of so-called "national policies". That is because bureauts, with background of military power, drove the enterprise at their will.

Those bureaucratic elements in Nippon Hoso Kyokai (Japan Broadcast Corporation) were swept out after the surrender. However, electric wave is controlled by bureaucrats as yet and consequently the NHK is a typical sample of monopoly.

With an aim to democratize management and control of electric waves including radio broadcasting and to make as much use as possible of them for welfare of the people, three bills concerning electric waves are scheduled to be presented to the extraordinary session of the National Diet.

Main points of the proposed laws are; to deprive bureaucrats of the supreme right of management of electric waves, which shall be controlled by fairly-selected "Electric Warses Supervision Committee"; to give approval of radio broadcast by private enterprises with a principle of free competition; to dissolve the corporation of NHK and newly establish a special corporation, Nippon Hoso Kyokai; to set up "management committee" as a supreme organ for the new corporation, through which the administration shall take strong supervision.

People, as an ideal, should be able to listen freely and without charge to a radio they wish to do. But there is no freedom of choice under exclusive enterprise. People are desirous of programs of many and fresh kinds.

In the meanwhile, authorization of private broadcasting enterprises are settled by enactment of the laws."
But there are questions as yet. First of all, wave length must be considered,

The new corporation will possiblly take over standard wave-lengths the NHK used to exclusively possess. There is little room for private broadcasting and also confusion of waves is feared. Saying not about technical study, they must pay much attention to the problem.

Object of the proposed laws are to give the people a right of free choice by encouraging private broadcasting enterprises. As a monspoly enterprise, the NHK has been required to exhaust every possible program. But it is time for the NHK to transfer much part of their programs to private enterprises and to reform their own. By doing this, a question about wire-length will be amicably settled.

According to the proposed laws, those who have receivers available for standard wire-lengths will have to pay a fee. Fees paid by approximately 8-million people give a formidable source of finance. In addition the new corporation will inherit the NHK's enormous facillities, right to float "broadcast bonds" amounting to 300-million yen, remission of taxes, application of the Land Expropriation Law and so on.

On the other hand, private broadcasting enterprises will have to run their business only by advertising rates. There is room to consider for them financial protection including remission of taxes, seniority in credit accomodation etc.

Not a few people are against the proposed bills in several points. The bills contains of possibility that a State Minister may preside a committee's decision may be turned down by a cabinet. It is a matter of course that the Administration will make a supervision to some extent over the broadcasting enterprise from public standpoint. Nevertheless if those enterprises are controlled entirely by a reigning power, it is in conflict with democratization.

Now that radio waves give strong and direct influence upon our daily life, how they will be controlled and managed from now on is a greet problem. In conclusion, they should exert every effort to make thorough use of the proposed system as a test of committee administration in line with democratization task,

TO : Commanding General
Eighth Army
APO 343

1. Reference is made to the excellent report of the Ehime Military Government Team on radio as an information medium on Shikoku and the recommendations concerning it in the 1st indorsement.

2. In order to solve the problem existing among the listeners in Shikoku, two major steps are possible. The first will be taken by the Radio Branch, Civil Information and Education Section, in conjunction with Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. The second may be accomplished through the relaying of the inclosed suggestions to Military Government Teams in Kochi, Tokushima, Kagawa and Ehime.

3. The Radio Branch will instruct program directors in Miyazaki, Osaka, Onomichi, Oita, Hiroshima and Okayama to be on the lookout for materials arriving from the above-mentioned Military Government Teams. These program directors will also be advised to consider their potential audiences on Shikoku Island when planning their program schedules for local origination. Thus they can include many items in locally originated programs which will be of interest to listeners on Shikoku. This is particularly applicable to local news programs and the morning and evening "Citizens' Hours".

4. A study of field strength patterns of the stations mentioned above indicates that MG Teams might profit by forwarding materials not only to the station in their immediate vicinity but also to stations which give their listeners secondary service. It is therefore suggested that the following Military Government Teams add the indicated stations to their information distribution lists:

a. Kochi MG - Send materials to Miyazaki, Kyushu

b. Ehime MG - Send materials to Hiroshima, Honshu, and Oita, Kyushu

c. Tokushima MG - Send materials to Osaka

d. Kagawa MG - Send materials to Okayama

5. Reference to the recommendation in paragraph 5 of the 1st indorsement, all power assignments for stations in the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan network currently are suspended pending completion of a study of the over-all coverage pattern.

SUBJECT: Special Report on the use of the Radio as Information Media on Shikoku with Special Reference to Ehime Prefecture.

One proposal under consideration is the installation of a 100-kilowatt transmitter at Osaka which would give primary service to the entire Shikoku region. However, this decision, as well as that of the power for Takamatsu station, will be made in accordance with the over-all coverage pattern of the country.

1. Attention is directed to paragraphs 4 and 5 of the basic communication.

2. In an effort to obtain maximum radio coverage, it is recommended that military government teams utilize those radio stations in neighboring prefectures whose broadcast radius is supplementary to that of the stations in their own prefecture. Such an exchange of facilities will necessitate the transmittal of scripts through military government teams to the radio station providing the additional coverage. To expedite the relay of script materials, direct communication between the teams concerned is authorized in these matters.

3. Charts are presently being prepared illustrating the coverage patterns of all Japanese radio stations. These will be forwarded to all teams upon completion, together with a listing of stations recommended as a supplementary source of information for each prefecture.

4. In reference to paragraph 4, the military government teams at Miyazaki, Osaka, Oita and Hiroshima are being instructed that materials for transmittal to the Japanese radio stations in their localities will be received direct from the Teams concerned. To facilitate their use by the Japanese and prevent the possible broadcast of misinformation, it is desired that Japanese translations of all scripts be furnished by the originating teams.

Civilian Radio Broadcasts To Start From This Summer

THE much-publicized private broadcasting companies will start their long-awaited business early this summer with their formal inauguration expected to be seen around February this year.

As of December 25 last year, about 70 applications were filed with the Electric Wave Supervision Committee for its license to start business, and an intensive publicity competition is now being staged among these broadcasting enterprisers.

The EWSC announced on December 5 last year the "fundamental criteria for the establishment of broadcasting stations" and requested the applicants to re-submit written applications in accordance with the decided criteria. The committee is now reported to be planning to give its license to the first group of these applicants around late January this year.

On December 2 last year, chairman Tomiyasu of the committee made public its program for the setting-up of private broadcasting stations as follows:

1 It is desirable that the broadcasting stations to be newly created will be scattered throughout the nation without being massed in large cities only.

2 For the time being, it will be difficult to give license to more than two new broadcasting stations in Tokyo and more than one in Osaka.

3 It is desirable that the two new broadcasting stations to be permitted to open their business in Tokyo will be different from each other in the contents of their broadcasting.

4 It is not necessarily certain that the two new broadcasting stations to be set up in Tokyo will be given license for starting business at the same time.

From the above program mapped out by the EWSC, it can be surmised that at least for the time being, the committee's license will be given to only one applicant broadcasting station in a major city in one area or bloc with the exception of Tokyo Metropolis where two will be allowed to open business, limiting the total number of new broadcasting stations throughout the nation to the proximity of 10 or 11.

Amalgamation Is Likely

The materialization of this program will inevitably result in the amalgamation into one of some larger and powerful applicant companies as well as the disappearance from the competitive scene of minor and not-so-largely capitalized companies.

As a matter of fact, in Tokyo, where only a couple of new companies are expected to be licensed although 27 applications have already been filed, a plan is now on foot for the merger of four applicant companies including those connected with the Mainichi Press, Asahi Press and Yomiuri Press, and the Tokyo Broadcasting Company that is planned by the Dempo Tsushin-sha.

Such being the situation, the EMSC now anticipates that the number of applications to be resubmitted to the committee in confirmity with its request will be small due to the abandonment of their once-worked out enterprise program by minor companies.

With the EWSC reportedly intending to give its license to qualified applicant companies group by group at intervals after the first group has been licensed, however, it is also a matter of concern how many broadcasting stations Japan will have finally.

This problem must be considered from the three angles of wavelength to be made available to those stations, sources of advertisement as the incomes with which private broadcasting companies are to be managed and the efficiency of radio-receivers.

At present, a total of 1,080 wavebands are available for the broadcasting business in Japan. If the bands are separated at 10-kilocycles intervals to avoid interference by one another's waves, 108 broadcasting stations will be able to carry on business.

With 80-odd stations now being used by the NHK, however, only 25 will be available to private broadcasting stations to be newly created.

In case the broadcasting strength is weak, some 30 new stations will be able to carry on their business.

Better Radio Sets

The above number can be further increased if listeners have more efficient radio-receivers.

Therefore, in order to improve radio-receivers, the people concerned have recently formed a special committee and have been making efforts to manufacture highly-efficient radio-receivers such as super-three-tube receivers and others in a large quantity and at reasonable prices.

The next question is when the first broadcasting will be made over these private companies' networks.

As stated above, the EWSC intends to give its license toward the end of January this year. Now it is believed that the license will be given by early February at the latest, since five members of the committee are scheduled to visit the United States before February 10.

However, with some half a year expected to be required before the licensed broadcasting companies start actual business, the committee now anticipates that it will not be until early summer this year that the people will be able to listen in on the initial private broadcasting.

SUBJECT: Transmittal of Radio Coverage Chart

TO: Commanding Officer, Shikoku Military Government Region, APO 1050

1. Transmitted herewith is a nation-wide radio coverage chart, prepared by the Construction Section, Broadcasting Corporation of Japan.

2. Corrected to June 1948, the chart is plotted to indicate a minimum reception strength of .1 millivolts. This is sufficient to guarantee reception by the average radio receiver currently in use. All plots are based upon daytime reception strengths; improvement will be noted in reception after the hours of darkness.

3. Stations in the 1st transmission network are indicated in the upper portion of the chart; those in the 2nd transmission network are indicated in the lower half.

4. The prohibitive cost of multi-color printing limits distribution of this chart to regional teams only. However, engineers employed by all local radio stations possess sufficient data to enable them to plot the broadcast radius of their stations. It is suggested that the civil information officers of prefectural teams provide these engineers with large scale maps, upon which this information may be plotted for team use. To encourage the awareness and use of supplementary radio outlets, it is further suggested that the local coverage charts include the broadcast radius of stations in adjacent prefectures.

19 May 1949

Mr. Ralph Hunter,
CI&E, SCAP (Radio Unit)
APO 500.

Dear Hunter:

I am enclosing a transcription and script on which I would like your opinion. I know it is not nearly as smooth as it ought to be and the musical signature leaves something to be desired but I do think it represents progress. You should have heard the first one!

The story on this is something out of this world. The script writer is a Takamatsu tailor - yes, tailor, who is also producer and director of a local amateur play group. He writes the script here and the local station sends it to Matsuyama where the show is produced. I had to tailor the open and close announcement. Thinking I might encourgge the tailor in his avocation I took him some khaki to make me a pair of trousers. I should of stood in bed! I had to take 'em to another tailor and have them remade. They flared on the side like riding breeches and the side pockets were half way down to my knees. He should live so long as a tailor! There is a Japanese expression for it - "So iu mono wa, hayaku shinda ho ga mashi da." Ask your interpreter what it means.

I sent you another script idea yesterday which they are going to work on as soon as JOHP can mesh in with the rest of the region net.

They really worked hard on this "Kyodo No Techo" and I would appreciate some comment, criticism and suggestions from the experts on it.

Sincerely yours,

R. L. OERTLE

RADIO

TITLE OF PROGRAM: Shikoku Mondo Gassen

TIME: Monday 2100 - 1230

SCOPE: Shikoku Region Network

NATURE: Quiz show of contest type

PRODUCER: JOHP

DETAILS: Show to be MC'eed from Takamatsu. Selected contestants from two prefectures are gathered in their respective studios. After opening announcement, MC takes over and asks questions directed to studios alternately. Correct answer scores one point. Failure to answer correctly is one demerit. If one studio fails to answer correctly, the question is asked of the other. At the 14 minute point, the half way point score is announced and there is a one minute spot announcement on some current information program. Show resumes and at the 28½ minute point, the score for the evening is announced and the competitors for the next show.

FIRST SHOW SCRIPT:

MUSIC: (Recorded martial music indicating battle) CUT

ANNOUNCER: Good evening. It's Shikoku Mondo Gassen. Tonight and every Monday night at this time we present Shikoku Mondo Gassen, a quiz battle between the four prefectures. Tokushima contestants are in their studio and here in Takamatsu the contestants from Kagawa are champing at the question bit. Mr. Suzuki is the Chief Questioner. A correct answer is one point and a wrong answer is one demerit. Results will be carried forward each week and the standing given at the end of the program. You listeners can send in questions with the correct answers. Take part in the program by sending yours in right away to Station JOHP, Takamatsu. And if you want to be a contestant, apply to your local station for details. Tonight's contestants from Tokushima are Mr. Shiota of Tachibana, Miss Nishimura of Wakimachi, Mr. Kida of Tokushima and Mrs. Okuma of Komatsushima.

From Takamatsu we have Mr. Nagao of Sakaide, Mr. Kawanishi of Takamatsu, Miss Matsumoto of Marugame and Mr. Ogura of Aji. All right, Mr. Suzuki, the first question.

ANNOUNCER: At the half way point the score is Tokushima 9, Takamatsu 5. If you pay taxes, and who doesn't, you should keep records. You don't have to be an expert bookkeeper. Most stationery stores sell inexpensive bookkeeping forms and your local tax office is ready to show you how to use them if you need assistance. Keep a record. It makes tax payment easier. And now for the second half of Shikoku Mondo Gassen. Mr. Suzuki.

MC: _____

ANNOUNCER: Tonight's score, Takamatsu 18, Tokushima 15. Remember that you can participate in this quiz either by sending a question and the correct answer to Station JOHP, Takamatsu, or by applying to your local station to become a member of the answer team. Tune in next Monday night at the same time for the next round of Shikoku Mondo Gassen when the quiz experts from Matsuyama do battle with the quiz whizzes from Kochi. Until next Monday night at the same time, Good night.

FALL AND WINTER BROADCAST SCHEDULE FOR THE BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF JAPAN FROM 11 SEPTEMBER 1949 THROUGH 30 APRIL 1950

Network Organization
(as of 1 September 1949)

The Broadcasting Corporation of Japan operates one hundred and fourteen (114) program broadcast stations for Japanese listeners. These stations are classified as follows: (1) The 1st Network: This group consists of forty-six (46) stations with studio facilities for programs together with forty-two (42) additional re-broadcast or relay stations without studios but with facilities for emergency announcements and operational identification announcements. This total of 88 stations (46 and 42) is linked together to provide basic broadcast coverage of Japan. (2) The 2nd Network: This group consists of the remaining twenty-six (26) stations of the one hundred and fourteen (114). The stations of the 2nd Network provide listeners with programs other than those heard over the 1st Network.

The two Networks operate independently on different program schedules, as illustrated on the attached sheets. At intervals, the two Networks are linked together for special programs, or during designated program periods. In towns where both Networks are located, local operational headquarters for both systems is located in the same building. Eight cities are regional headquarters for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. These are Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Matsuyama, Kumamoto, Sendai and Sapporo. National Headquarters for both Networks is located in Tokyo.

Schedules

Complete schedules are printed twice a year, once at the beginning of Daylight Saving Time and again in the autumn at the end of this period.

The 1st Network signs on at 0530. Regular 1st Network programs run to 2300, with a 30 minute intermission period between 1630-1700, except on Sundays when there is no intermission. The 2nd Network signs on at 0600 with regular programs daily until 1200. From 1200 to 1700, on-the-spot relays of sports are broadcast when available. Regular programming is resumed at 1700 and runs until sign off at 2300.

STATIONS

Listed below for the benefit of Civil Affairs Teams, and other interested persons, are all broadcast stations which originate programs for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. The stations are classified on a regional basis, and include broadcast outlets on the 1st and 2nd Networks. Re-broadcast or Relay Stations, referred to on Page 1 under "Network Organization" (1) are not included. Regional headquarters stations, (underlined on the list) are known as "regional stations", while stations under their jurisdiction are known as "local stations". Call signs and frequencies of all stations also are listed, (as of 1 September 1949).

Conditions

X - Assigned by Tokyo Headquarters
Y - Sometimes assigned by Tokyo Headquarters
Z - Approval required from Tokyo Headquarters
(Condition symbols "X", "Y", "Z" refer only to the code letter they follow.)

Explanation: The above Code was devised in order to simplify the master network schedule and the Regional and Local broadcast schedules appearing in the preceding pages. The Code, it will be noted, applies only to programs originating among the Regional Stations (Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Matsuyama, Kumamoto, Sendai, Sapporo, and Tokyo, when Tokyo operates as a Regional) and to the stations under jurisdiction of the Regionals (known as Locals).

The numerals under "Origination" above indicate the type of origination designated for a specific program by the headquarters of the Japanese Broadcasting Corporation. The figure "3", for example, under "Originations" is followed by the words "Regional Mandatory / Local option" and means that on the particular program involved, all regional stations must originate it, while local stations may exercise an option to originate.

The letters "A" through "E" under the category labeled "program" merely provide labels for the various listed elements involved in program production.

The letters "X", "Y", and "Z" listed under the category "Conditions" provide a simplified reference to the conditions governing the coded elements they follow.

For example, it will be noted that the second program of the day is listed as "Early Bird 3 AXDX". This means that under "3" all regional stations must originate the program, and local stations may, or may not, originate it at their option. The "A" code letter followed by "X" indicates that the title (Early Bird) has already been assigned by Tokyo Headquarters, and the letter "D" followed by "X" indicates that the type of program (Early Bird) also has been assigned by Tokyo.

NOTE

While not indicated, all times between the end of a program and the beginning of the next program are reserved for Network Station Break announcements.

SPRING AND SUMMER BROADCAST SCHEDULE FOR THE BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF JAPAN
1 MAY THROUGH 11 SEPTEMBER 1949

Network Organization

The Broadcasting Corporation of Japan operates one hundred and eleven (111) program broadcast stations for Japanese listeners. These stations are classified as follows: (1) The 1st Network: This group consists of forty-six (46) stations with studio facilities for programs together with forty-two (42) additional re-broadcast or relay stations without studios but with facilities for emergency announcements and operational identification announcements. This total of 88 stations (46 and 42) is linked together to provide basic broadcast coverage of Japan. (2) The 2nd Network: This group consists of the remaining twenty-five (25) stations of the one hundred and thirteen (113). The stations of the 2nd Network provide listeners with programs other than those heard over the 1st Network.

The two Networks operate independently on different program schedules, as illustrated on the attached sheets. At intervals, the two Networks are linked together for special programs, or during designated program periods. In towns where both Networks are located, local operational headquarters for both systems is located in the same building. Eight cities are regional headquarters for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. These are Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Matsuyama, Kumamoto, Sendai and Sapporo. National headquarters for both Networks is located in Tokyo.

Schedules

Regular quarterly changes will no longer be made in the schedule. Minor program additions or deletions or changes of program times will hence-forth be reported in the CIE Bulletin. Complete schedules will be printed twice a year, once at the beginning of Daylight Saving Time and again in the Autumn at the end of this period.

The 1st Network signs on at 0500, starting 1 May 1949. Regular 1st Network programs run to 2300, with a 30 minute intermission period between 1630-1700, except on Sundays when there is no intermission. The 2nd Network signs on at 0630 with regular programs daily until 1200. From 1200 to 1700, on-the-spot relays of sports are broadcast when available. Regular programming is resumed at 1730 and runs until sign off at 2300.

STATIONS

Listed below for the benefit of Military Government Officers, and other interested persons, are all broadcast statiors which originate programs for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. The stations are classified on a regional basis, and include broadcast outlets on the 1st and 2nd Networks. Re-broadcast or Relay Stations, referred to on Page 1 under "Network Organization" (1) are not included. Regional headquarters stations, (underlined on the list) are known as "regional stations", while stations under their jurisdiction are known as "local stations". Call signs and frequencies of all stations also are listed.

X - Assigned by Tokyo Headquarters
Y - Sometimes assigned by Tokyo Headquarters
Z - Approval required from Tokyo Headquarters

(Condition symbols "X", "Y", "Z" refer only to the code letter they follow.)

Explanation: The above Code was devised in order to simplify the master network schedule and the Regional and Local broadcast schedules appearing in the preceding pages. The Code, it will be noted, applies only to programs originating among the Regional Stations (Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Matsuyama, Kumamoto, Sendai, Sapporo, and Tokyo, when Tokyo operates as a Regional) and to the stations under jurisdiction of the Regionals (known as Locals).

The numerals under "Origination" above indicate the type of origination designated for a specific program by the headquarters of the Japanese Broadcasting Corporation. The figure "3", for example, under "Originations" is followed by the words "Regional Mandatory / Local Option" and means that on the particular program involved, all regional stations must originate it, while local stations may exercise an option to originate.

The letters "A" through "F" under the category labeled "program" merely provide labels for the various listed elements involved in program production.

The letters "X", "Y", and "Z" listed under the category "Conditions" provide a simplified reference to the conditions governing the coded elements they follow.

For example, it will be noted that the first program of the day is listed as "Early Bird (Local Cutout) 3 AXDX". This means that under "3" all regional stations must originate the program, and local stations may, or may not, originate it at their option. The "A" code letter followed by "X" indicates that the title (Early Bird) has already been assigned by Tokyo headquarters, and the letter "D" followed by "X" indicates that the type of program (Early Bird) also has been assigned by Tokyo.

NOTE

While not indicated, all times between the end of a program and the beginning of the next program are reserved for Network Station Break Announcements.

FALL AND WINTER BROADCAST SCHEDULE for THE BROADCASTING CORPORATION OF JAPAN
from 1 NOVEMBER 1950 to 1 May 1951

NETWORK ORGANIZATION (As of 15 October, 1950)

The Broadcasting Corporation of Japan operates 116 program broadcast stations for Japanese listeners. These stations are classified as follows:
(1) The 1st Network: This group consists of 46 stations with studio facilities for program together with 33 additional rebroadcast or relay transmitters without studios but with facilities for emergency announcements and operational identification announcements. The total of 79 stations is linked together by wire circuits to provide basic broadcast coverage of Japan. (2) The 2nd Network: This group consists of 37 stations designed to provide listeners with programs other than those heard over the 1st Network.

The two networks operate independently on different program schedules as illustrated on the following pages. In cities where both networks are heard, local operational headquarters for both systems is located in the same building. Eight cities are regional headquarters for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. These are: Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Matsuyama, Kumamoto, Sendai and Sapporo. National headquarters for both networks is located in the Radio Tokyo Building in Tokyo. Licenced radio receivers totalled 8,860,677 as of 30 September, 1950. Survey reports indicate an average of 4.5 listeners per set, or approximately 40 million listeners.

SCHEDULES

Complete schedules of programs are published twice a year, once at the beginning of Daylight Saving Time, and again in the Autumn around at the end of this period.

The 1st Network signs on at 0530 with continuous programs until 2300, and 2nd Network provides continuous programs from sign on at 0600 until 2300.

STATIONS

Listed below are all broadcast stations which originate programs for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan. The stations are classified on a regional basis. Rebroadcast or relay stations, referred to in "Network Organization" (1) are not included. Regional headquarters stations (underlined on the list) are known as "regional stations", while stations under their jurisdictions are known as "local stations". Call signs and frequencies of all stations are listed as of 1 October 1950.

LOCAL AND REGIONAL PROGRAMS

To facilitate the administration of programs, the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan has divided all of its programs into the four following categories:

Class 1: Network Service which can not be cancelled by the Local of Regional Station for locally originated programs except with express permission of the Tokyo Headquarters.

Class 2A: Programs fed by Tokyo or other station for National Network which can be cancelled by Local or Regional Station, without permission from Tokyo Headquarters.

Class 2B: Programs fed for Regional Network by one of stations in the region, which can be cancelled by any of other stations.

Class 3: Local Service which must be provided by each Local and Regional Station. No network service is available from Tokyo Headquarters.

Following is a list of programs on the 1st and 2nd Network stations which must be originated locally (Class 3), or network programs which may be cancelled for additional local originations (Class 2A or 2B). The program titles are those used in Tokyo and are not necessarily the same on all stations.

x Network is fed with musical program of Tokyo origination.
xx Except programs of the first week of months, which are classified as "1".
xxx Regional or Local is allowed to originate only farm programs during this time.
xxxx Network is fed with "The Flying Carpet."

STATION BREAKS

Less than thirty-second period between program every hour on-the-hour is allotted to local and regional stations for brief public service, program promotion or news flash announcements. All stations are encouraged to use this time.

REGIONAL PROGRAMS

Local stations are encouraged to originate as many programs as they can within the limitations of their personnel and program budgets. However, the larger staff of regional stations sometimes make it necessary to originate certain programs from the regional station and broadcast them to all the local stations of that region. These programs are arranged by the regional stations in the meeting with their respective locals. They are subject to frequent change.

Note: Programs not classified on the following pages are Class 1.
