Perhaps a stronger way of putting this argument would be to say that all modern experience shews it is impossible to put a limit to the development of trade consequent on the provision of increased facilities for its extension. Improved means of communication and of transport do not, merely assist commerce : they create it. We cannot, therefore, pretend to form an estimate of the probable benefits of the construction of new railways or docks by calculating what will be the results of the change so far as the existing trade of the place is concerned; for no one can even guess in what degree the proposed reforms will increase the usual

The adverse opinions of critics who contend that nature expressly designed the harbour of Bombay to give employment to the Landing and Shipping Company's steamers and to private cargo boats, and that under any circumstances docks can never pay, seem to us worthy of no more respect than was the vehement antipathy of Anglo-Indian Conservatives twenty years ago Published every Saturday afternoon at six o'clock to the introduction of railways into this country. Colonel Strachey, however, is quite free from this delusion ; and, having satisfied himself of and was passed on before the local authorities knew anything of it. the incontestable commercial supremacy of Bombay, he will not stop 'to discuss the question whether or not docks are wanted here. He is THE Englishman :- From the west of Cabool we hear of great endeavours being made by the Ameer Sheer Alisto recruit his forces. He has "lates in detail, the amount of boat or "cooly hire to be saved" by docks and doubts not yet abandoned his hopes of the Crown, and whether the saving will be large enough to justify as he is supported by the warlike tribes about the expenditure. rate of progress. The main point 18, as Colo-nel Strachey says, to determine whether the place where it is proposed to construct public works has interests of sufficient magnitude to justify the experiment; and, judging by the example of the success of docks at ports in England far inferior to Bombay, we have fair that docks would succeed traffic. The wires were just low enough to catch a coachman perched upon his box, and tilt him over the back of the carriage he was driving, if he was not sharp enough to see them. Major Reveley happened to be driving that way, and discovering the obstruction, communicated with the telegraph authorities, had assistance from the Police Office, pressed coolies, and in a yery short time the obstruction was removed. It was short time the obstruction was removed. It was rumoured yesterday, that a portion of the Custom House sheds had been blown down, and the zinc roof of a store building in Dalhousie Square, adjacent to the new Institution was completely blown off, and up to 6 o'clock last evening, pletely blown off, and up to 6 o'clock last evening, (so energetic are the preservers of order in the Square) still littered the foot path. The World's Circus, in course of erection on the Maidan, suffered very severely, and much loss has been occasioned to the proprietors, not to speak of the disappointment to play-goers in the delay of the opening. The loss of four cargo boats on the river has been reported to the police, and two beatmen were drowned. poatmen were drowned.

THE, tabular results appended to the Registrar General's Annual Summary of London for 1866, just issued, show that the estimated population of the metropolis was composed of 1,416,919 males and 1,621,072 females. Without distinccharged with the execution of the new public works policy in India is clear-sighted enough to see what mischief is done in this country by the concession of valuable monopolies to enter-the concession of valuable monopolies and the concession of valuable monopolies to enter-the concession of valuable mo the concession of valuable monopolies to enter-prizing developers of resources. But it is a pity that, having gone thus far, Colonel Strachey was unwilling to go a step further. He does not accept Colonel de Lisle's extraordi-nary theory, that if Government constructs Wet Docks nobody will have to pay for them—as if Government ever could do anything for nothing rest the state will yet have to be provided for this constant accept and accession of the state will yet have to be provided for this constant accession of human beings, in order -nor on the other hand is he specially attracted by the remarkable merits of what is called pri-vate enterprise in Bombay. The distance is 72 miles to Sattara, and 32 on the Mahableshwur. A new Ghaut road has been opened bythe Superintendent of Mahableshwur from Khelghar at the foot of the Mountains 74 miles in length, up which carriages can be driven without difficulty. The head of the Ghaut is about 54 miles from the Station of Mahableshwur.

which carriages can be driven without difficulty. The head of the Ghaut is about 5½ miles from the Station of Mahablesh sur. As there are Bungalows at every 12 or 15 miles along this route, it is though longer than the succeeding one, more convenient to those who drive their own cattle the whole way. There is a steep Ghaut at Salpa midway between Neera bridge and Sattara where cooles or extra bullocts are required, these are obtanable at the village at the foot of the Ghaut. 4th—The New Poonah and Sattara road is more direct; it passes van the Katruj Ghaut and Tannel to Sherwell thence to the Kamatki Ghaut, after passing which a few miles the route caves the Sattara road at Kowta, and branches off by a somewhat rougher country road to Waise, on the Krishna river; from thence it ascends the Pesserine Ghaut to Panchgunny; a small hill Sta-tion or rather colony, which is 10 or 11 miles from Mahableshwur. From Panchgunny a new road has lately been cut to the Station, but as it is as yet very soft, travellers are advised nutil next year to travel oy the old road which is quite passible for carriages though much inferior to the new one in levels and width. The whole distance by this route is about 75 miles from Poonah to Mahableshwur. There is a Traveler's bungalow at Sherwill, and at Waiee and an enterprising Messman has put up a temporary build-

BOUTE TO MAHABLESHWUR.
To Mahableshwur.—There are four rontes from Bombay tat.—By sea from Bombay to Mhar on the Savitree River; by Bunder boat; entering the river at Bankote. From Mhar to Mahableshwur and the Konkan; thenee by road to Kuneswur and Mahableshwur adistance of 73 miles, by Palkie or Tattoo. These were the farourile route's in old time before the Rail-way was opened to Foonah, since then however by far the greater number of visitors to the hills go by way of Foonah. The sea route is uncertain and the else than Polkies

1 24 THE BOMBAY GAZE'ITE, TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1867. . . of the insolvent had been lending large sums of money, and observed that it did not seem to him that it was the business of a broker to lend money. The insolvent said that he had lent the money to parties with whom he was doing business as a broker to purchase shares. The Commissioner ordered the insolvent's dis-charge to be postponed for three months. the Banking Department. But the Bank of England in respect of the legal fetters imposed, and that it pays to Go-vernment a large proportion of the profits arising from the Paper Currency, may in a sense be looked on, rather as the Agents of Government for doing the retail work connected with the Paper Currency, than the pure issuer of its own notes Both Banks have not a few exclusive privileges, some of those of the Bank of England are of an en-during nature, while as bankers to Government their agre@ment extends to twenty-five years certain. Both Banks are the two great reservoirs in which the Banking reserves of both nations are held. The Commission of the French Government fitter taking evidence from the ablest financiers, and some of the more notable political economists in France and England, have reported against the proposed creation of another rival bank in that country, and I venture, it may be with great presentatives of the London and Provincial Banks, will, in 1867, gainsay the evidence which they gave in 1843 and 1858 in favour of the constitution of the Bank of England, so far at least as the banking department is concerned. Mr. McCulloch on behalf of this insolvent applied to the Coart for another adjournment of FROM GEORGE DICKSON, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer, In two new roots in havour of the constitution of the Bank of England, so far at least as the banking department is concerned. The only countries so far as I know where there is a semblance of proof to support the theory, are America and Canada. As regards the former, I have to remark that prior to 1861, Banking and Gurrency were entirely free, resulting as we all know in great public injury, bad faith, and bank-rupt corporations. In 1861, Mr. Chase, the then Secretary of State, succeeded in raising forty-four millions out of the one hundred and nine millions requires the financial wants of that year. Of the amount so raised, thirty-three mil-lions, or 75 per cent, was taken by the Bank of the Fede-ral States, but they were too poor to continue the process, because both their capital and deposits were perfectly inadequate to the demands of Government. The English market was tried without success, and American capitalists could afford no further assistance. In this dilemma the expedient was fallen upon, of practically confiscating the Note circulation of the whole of the Banks : the legal tender Greenbacks were forced upon the country, and thus a new loan of a large amount was raised. Of the extraordinary depreciation in the value of the paper and the enhancement of gold measured in Green-backs which followed I need not remind you ; but it yet remains to be seen whether the compulsory measure recorted to in time of war, and which requires the fifty-nine Banks to hold their reserves in Notes, not convertible into gold but receivable for taxes, is likely to prove suc-cessful to beneficial to the country. The last return quoted by the Economist of 25th August last, shows that only £ 1,700 818, in gold with 16.168.102 lengt lender Notes of the Yeat FOR PRIVATE SALE-PORT WINE. around them, and removing weeds. The ryot in these parts is very prone to raising a cotton crop with the least possible trouble by sowing the seed broadcast and rearing a number of small stunted plants (witness the cotton fields in Dhundooka and Veerungaum). But if Mr. Whittle, and others who are willing to make ex-periments, be encouraged to undertake extended opera-tions by seed being supplied on liberal terms, there is TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE BANK OF BENGAL, BANK OF BENGAL, L in differing field is authorised to accept risks on Cargoes by Steamers and first class sailing Vessels at current rates of Prennium, to England and all Bastern Ports, claims being payable at the option of the assured either in India, China, or London according to the estab-lished usage of Lloyds. But if Mr. Whittle, and others who are willing to make experiments, be encouraged to undertake extended operations by seed being supplied on liberal terms, there is little doubt that the intelligent naive cultivator (who is quate alive to his own interest) will soon perceive the advantage of following the good sample set. 4. The undersigned would like to see the experiment on the reddish sandy soil persevered with. He is not convinced from this first attempt of Mr. Whitle's that it is bound to prove a failure. It is possible that a judicious watering with sweet water might here be want of the latter rain in October. 5. Funds in hand exceed The extension of the Bank's operations to the Bombay The extension of the Bank's operations to the Bombay, Presidency, which is now urged for adoption, in conse-quence of the untoward position of the Bank of Bombay, must be viewed in two aspects. First.—In the aspect of opening a Branch in Bombay and confinng operations to the city alone : together with the probable effect of such action by the Bank of Bengal on the position of the Bank of Bombay and the interests of its ehareholders. Second.—In the broader aspect, of fusing the three Presi-dency Banks and creating one great Bank for India with the active control in Calcutta, in the sense of its being the seat of the Supreme Government. Assuming, by reason of the embarrassed position of the Bank of Bombay, that it is not equal to meet the monetary requirements of that Presidency, and that you should re-solve to occupy the field in consequence, the first question to be solved is, whether under the existing charter it is competent do so. There were seven other cases against the prisoner, in which Mr. Thacker was engaged on behalf of the prose-cation, but as that gentleman was not present in Court, His Worship told Mr. Chapple to communicate with him and inform him how the other cases were disposed of. Mr. Chapple consenting to do so, His, Worship dis-missed the charges. SIR,—I hope you will excuse me if I remark that you are somewhat too hard upon poor Mr. Massey. We poor wretches, certainly have got to pay to be allowed to earn our bread, but then you got it. In fact, after the most mature considera-tion, I have arrived at the opinion the opinion the obsidera-tion.

PROPOSITION BY MR. A. F. BELLASIS FOR ABOLISHING DRAWBACKS.

(From the Indian Daily News.) MR. A. F. BELLASIS, Commissioner of Customs, Bom-bay, late on special duty at Calcutta, submitted to Go-vernment a proposition for abolishing drawbacks. Mr. Bellasis remarked on the subject of drawbacks, a privilege which under Act VI of 1863, allows the exporter to claim capitals a very large superstructure of credit, by valuing on each other according to their necessities, either on de-mand or at long currencies. Is it then expedient to hold out sufficient inducements. to new institutions to establish themselves in this coun-try, keep their own reserves, and confine their opera-tions exclusively to India, in the same way that the Presidency Banks, the Banks of England and France, and in America, restrict their operations ? I think not. All past experience while Banking has been entirely free goes against the theory. Government might indeed sever the existing connection, create a rival establishment, and givo to it the restricted use of their balances, but that would simply be a change of bankers, and probably result in the serious weakening of one bank, only to magnify another, or rival establish-ment.

tion of parties mutually chosen or 'on lease. Sufficient accommodation would be reserved, for affording every facility for the realization of their outstanding assets by the Bank of Bombay. On such realization being effected, or at fixed and progressive dates, I would propose under the agreement, to allot to the shareholders of the Bank of Bombay for the time being, a rore* of capi-* Nearly their exist-ing capital, which is charged to the proprietors of given at 104 lakhs. 25 per cent. premium nent-Purely local banks, with branches throughout th Further and the set of the set of contingencies. There remains then, only the Bank of Madras to be contingencies. There remains then, only the Bank of Madras to be dealt with. It is not necessary that any great pressure should be brought to bear upon them towards forming a junction with the United Bank. They might, however, have it in their option to do so on conditions of all but equal-ity with the Bank of Bengal, seeing that the market value of their stock stands relatively to our own as 150 to 175. Provision has been made under their new Charter to extend their capital from fifty-six lakks to one crore. This being so, and in contemplation of their business being extended to Ceylon, it is probable, that the full amount permissible, will ere long be called up. Assuming such to be the case, and bearing in mind that the capital of the United Bank otherwise, is four erores, with a reserve of say sixty-five lakhs, the fair and rate-able proportion which Madras ought to contribute to the reserve fund, along with transfer of guaranteed assets may fairly be taken at fifteen lakhs is called up and divi-this proposal is both equitable and reasonable. If the additional capital of forty-four lakhs is called up and divi-table proposal is both equitable and reasonable. If the additional capital of forty-four lakhs is called up and divi-teained eleven lakhs; which, added to their existing re-serve of say five lakhs, gives them sixteen lakhs, or one lakh more than the rateable amount pro-posed to be contributed to the common reserve fund. Into details of management or minor conditions on which is the business of the taken united Bank should carried on, it is not necessary to enter at present. One or two points if may, however, be shortly noticed.
