Christmas At Marlin's

The Day When the Pride of Ten Years Melted Away

By JOHN C. WHARTON

In the middle of the long dining room the small table was an oasis of light. Benjamin Marlin sat alone under the softly shaded electric light...

"Now he looked longingly at the packages on the beds and with a sudden impulse crossed the room and laid his hand on one. It was the first one, and Corneil must have perceived that he was looking at it with a strong sense of duty...

"You know what day it is?" Marlin's face wrinkled into a bitter smile. "Yes, it's Christmas eve," replied Corneil with an expectant glance at his employer...

"That's what I mean, and I don't want anything served that approaches a Christmas dinner, understand? Hannah would know what to do just as you have done for the past ten years."

"I don't know," replied Corneil, "I don't know," replied Corneil, "I don't know..."

"I am aware of that," assented the Judge slyly and with his matrimonial experiment in mind. "I am merely saying that you have a good excuse to give the manager in explanation of Miss Fullerton's withdrawal."

"You have asked me for my advice," he said as the man moved toward the terrace. "I should like to talk with the young lady herself if there is no objection."

"It is my duty to tell you," she said. "I am going to be with me, are you not?" she asked.

"What do you mean by saying that?" she asked. "I am going to be with me, are you not?" she asked.

"You don't mind my calling you 'Dora'?" he said hesitatingly, though with a smile.

"You know me," he said as they walked slowly along his eyes on the ground and his mind working strenuously.

The unique attitude of Jesus for all men lies in the fact that in his characteristics and experiences they either find their ideal of manhood or a counterpart of the life which they are compelled to live.

Another outgrowth of this hard and barren condition of life induced by poverty is the weakening of the will.

ON THE FARM

Read this column and you can have it delivered at your house with something new every week for a full year by sending $2.00 to this office now.

"Back to the Farm" is getting to be a universal cry and New England made the largest move along that line for many years in 1910.

The following creed was proposed by the fruit section of the extension department of the West Virginia University. It is a splendid one.

I believe in God and in the orderliness of His universe.

I believe in the regular procession of the seasons—spring and summer and autumn and winter.

I believe in the sure succession of youth and maturity.

I believe in the unflinching order of blossom time and fruit time.

I believe in the perpetuity of human institutions.

I believe in the steadfastness of Mother Earth whose promise of food for her faithful children is a pledge that will not fail.

I believe in work as a divine gift. I believe in myself.

I believe in the abiding faith I work. In this faith I plant this tree.

In this faith I will dig about its roots and nourish it.

In this faith I will protect it from vermin and disease.

In this faith I will wait for the early and in the latter rain.

In this faith I will guard the blossoms and the green fruit.

In this faith I will watch for the first blush of the ripening peach and the early tints of the maturing apple.

In this faith I will gather the first fruits with a thankful heart.

February is none too soon to start your campaign for egg orders.

Never change to a new breed simply because extravagant claims are given. It is better to try to improve the old ones.

Gets pretty slippery around the house and barn sometimes. Get a barrel of sand, coal ashes or sawdust, and when spots, days come, scatter some on the icy spots. Easier to save horns than it is to mend them.

One of the best preventives of scratches in horses is to keep the feet clean. If mud is permitted to dry on the fetlock irritation is likely to ensue.

Build your barns a little larger than you need at the present moment. Few men ever get too much barn room. Plan for future growth, and then see to it that you grow.

If a horse is dumb, his actions often speak better than words, and one who loves his horse as he should can easily interpret their eloquent sign language and will never use or need the cruel whip.

One of the points that Mr. McLean especially emphasizes is the importance of not allowing the cows to stay out in the winter when they are uncomfortable. He states that a good way to determine this is to take of your coat and go out in the yard with the cows, stand around and act just like the cows do. When you begin to feel uncomfortable and feel like going into the house, put the cows in the barn.—A. D. Wilson, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.

Is your horse thinking of moving, better look around first to see if the time, energy and money you would spend seeking a new location would not, if wisely spent about the old place, result in an increase of profit and comfort that would justify you in staying with the old home. Better do this than be sorry.

The average farm could carry from two to ten times as much poultry as at present and from this industry large net profits be made. Chickens work in admirably with the running of a diversified stock, grain or fruit farm. Fully half their living can be made from the waste of the farm, which can not be said of any other domestic animal. Furthermore, poultry ranging over the farm are an actual advantage during the summer and fall months in destroying noxious insects.

The harnesses should be kept in good repair if for no other reason than to prevent so far as possible runaway fractures with the green horses, which, if they once have a run, never again so reliable and steady. More than this, the precaution referred to may save repairs at the wagon shop and general expenses.

The statement is made in the Live Stock Journal that in the state of Illinois the value of the two million horses is more than that of all the automobiles in the world. Illinois is indeed a great state.

When the time comes for saving eggs for incubation the hens and pullets which have shown the best record for the fall and winter should be selected and placed in a yard separate from the rest of the

500 Stitches a Minute

This means more to the shoe buyer than mere speed. It means only the best material and long wear in every Goodyear Welt shoe.

For the rapid Goodyear welt machines insert more than 500 stitches a minute—quick, close and strong. Cheap material or imitation material cannot stand up under this volley of rapid stitches. Only the best material can be worked on these machines. Only the best material can get into a Goodyear Welt shoe.

Comfort too is assured by this shoemaking method. For these same machines produce shoes that are smooth inside.

A narrow strip of leather called a welt is sewed to the shoe upper and to the channelled insole in a single seam.

But not a thread penetrates to break the inner smoothness of the shoe.

Another machine lock stitches the heavy outer sole to this welt around the edge of the shoe. This seam too is entirely outside.

The shoe is left smooth inside. Your comfort is assured.

Economy too points to "Goodyear Welt." The most dressy shoes are now made on these inspired machines just as durable and comfortable as if hand sewed but costing only one-third as much.

These machines are employed in the factories of all leading manufacturers who create and issue the authoritative shoe fashions for dress and business wear.

But each Goodyear Welt, where ever you find it or whatever trade name it may bear, is dependable. The style is right, the shoe is smooth inside, the best material has been used in its making and it costs you only one-third the price the hand shoemaker used to charge. Never forget these features.

Your name and address brings the list and two of our interesting booklets describing the sixty machines and telling "The Secret of the Shoe"—all without cost.

GOODYEAR WELT

It Gets Late Early.

One lonesome bee lags to the hive. One stiff-necked and rheumatic wife. The frost-bit creek, half-fallow. "Creaks" on the sawing that it sings. The wind-tossed, withered blade and husk.

Where one lone cornstalk feebly sways Ear crackling dirges in the dusk— It gets late early nowadays.

The cat is whining at the door. The dog will whimper, too, ere long: An undertone of winter's ear. Comes in the breeze's treacherous songs: Bare boughs are lifting here and there. The afternoon dies in a haze. A subtle warning thrills the air— It gets late early nowadays.

The whistle of the distant train. The street lamps flare out in surprise. The drifting clouds against the West. Glean with a myriad gorgeous dyes. The maple leaves turn richer gold. The woodbine has a crimson blaze. The grape-leaves crumple up and fold— It gets late early nowadays.

A sense of sadness, and content; A mingled sense that makes us ask: What time the dancing summer went. And whence this dull, half-mystic dusk.

The day draws on—this comes to us. And half in dream and half in haze. Into ourselves we murmur thus: "It gets late early nowadays."

Another machine lock stitches the heavy outer sole to this welt around the edge of the shoe. This seam too is entirely outside.

The shoe is left smooth inside. Your comfort is assured.

Economy too points to "Goodyear Welt." The most dressy shoes are now made on these inspired machines just as durable and comfortable as if hand sewed but costing only one-third as much.

These machines are employed in the factories of all leading manufacturers who create and issue the authoritative shoe fashions for dress and business wear.

But each Goodyear Welt, where ever you find it or whatever trade name it may bear, is dependable. The style is right, the shoe is smooth inside, the best material has been used in its making and it costs you only one-third the price the hand shoemaker used to charge. Never forget these features.

Your name and address brings the list and two of our interesting booklets describing the sixty machines and telling "The Secret of the Shoe"—all without cost.

GOODYEAR WELT

It Gets Late Early.

One lonesome bee lags to the hive. One stiff-necked and rheumatic wife. The frost-bit creek, half-fallow. "Creaks" on the sawing that it sings. The wind-tossed, withered blade and husk.

Where one lone cornstalk feebly sways Ear crackling dirges in the dusk— It gets late early nowadays.

The cat is whining at the door. The dog will whimper, too, ere long: An undertone of winter's ear. Comes in the breeze's treacherous songs: Bare boughs are lifting here and there. The afternoon dies in a haze. A subtle warning thrills the air— It gets late early nowadays.

The whistle of the distant train. The street lamps flare out in surprise. The drifting clouds against the West. Glean with a myriad gorgeous dyes. The maple leaves turn richer gold. The woodbine has a crimson blaze. The grape-leaves crumple up and fold— It gets late early nowadays.

A sense of sadness, and content; A mingled sense that makes us ask: What time the dancing summer went. And whence this dull, half-mystic dusk.

The day draws on—this comes to us. And half in dream and half in haze. Into ourselves we murmur thus: "It gets late early nowadays."

Build your barns a little larger than you need at the present moment. Few men ever get too much barn room. Plan for future growth, and then see to it that you grow.

If a horse is dumb, his actions often speak better than words, and one who loves his horse as he should can easily interpret their eloquent sign language and will never use or need the cruel whip.

One of the best preventives of scratches in horses is to keep the feet clean. If mud is permitted to dry on the fetlock irritation is likely to ensue.
