It is stated in the message accompanying the Bill that there are at present so many different fairs and markets in Argentina that the sale of livestock is impeded, whereas this might be overcome if the animals were consigned to a single institution for sale.

For payment of the works and purchase of the land, the Executive will be empowered to issue bonds up to the value of 5,000,000 pesos gold (£1,000,000). Any plant and material which it may be necessary to import in connection with the carrying out of the works will be admitted free of duty.

The sum of 1,750,000 pesos currency (about £24,000) was voted in September, 1912, for port and customs construction at Concepcion, Encarnacion and Villeta. A pier was built at Pilar and work was commenced at Concepcion.

CHINA (LEASED TERRITORY OF KIAOCHOW).

The following information is from the report by the Acting British Vice-Consul at Tsingtau (Mr. A. D. Brent) on the trade of that district in 1912, which will shortly be issued :—

Paper, formerly a native product, is now mostly imported from Germany. However, the quality even of the imported article does not compare favourably with United Kingdom paper, and there would accordingly seem to be an opening for good grades from United Kingdom mills.

Well made roads, increasing in number and kept in good condition, have conduced to the importation of motor cars, of which there are now 35 in the colony, German and American makes predominating.

BRITISH TRADE ABROAD.

Paraguay.—The following information is from the report by H.M. Consul at Asuncion (Mr. F. A. Oliver) on the trade of Paraguay in 1912, which will shortly be issued:—

The causes which interrupted trade during the year 1911 continued also in 1912 until the middle of May, when the civil hostilities ceased and the country appeared to settle down to peaceful pursuits. Confidence in the duration of this improved situation was probably general in commercial circles, and was strengthened by the brisk business done during the first month or so, when the depleted districts replenished their stocks and the urgently needed supplies were conveyed inland. Before long, however, the effect of the preceding period of stagnation, during which production had almost ceased, was shown by a general shortness of money. It was hoped that this condition would pass speedily and that an era of flourishing trade was approaching, but the general depression continued up to the end of the year 1912, and during the greater part of the first half of 1913. Moreover, many goods ordered before the revolution (which broke out in November, 1911) and the despatch of which had been delayed, arrived at a time when there was little demand for them, and this tended to prolong an unfavourable condition. It was consequently not surprising that the volume of the import and export trade in 1912 showed a decline as compared with that of the previous year. The following table shows the relative value (i.e., the value fixed by the customs tariff as the basis on which duties are calculated) of the foreign trade during the last five years:—

Year.							Imports.	Exports.	Total.
1908	814,591	773,419	1,588,010
1909	757,590	1,027,328	1,784,918
1910	1,283,877	983,381	2,267,258
1911	1,295,699	965,782	2,261,481
1912	1,070,120	847,145	1,917,265

The scarcity of labour, which in Paraguay is always one of the principal difficulties with which the country has to contend, was seriously felt during the disturbed part of the period under review and subsequently, and accounted for the reduced output of national produce. The articles principally affected were tobacco, yerba maté, quebracho, timber and fruit. On the other hand, there was an increase in the number of hides exported. The reduced output of beef extract was due to the only factory in the country having ceased work while new plant was being erected.

As the general production at the present time (July, 1913) is said to be fairly satisfactory and prices are good, the economic situation is relatively favourable for the import trade. The output of tobacco and hides, which causes money to circulate and contributes to the general prosperity, has been satisfactory during the first half of 1913, but, nevertheless, trade has remained dull. The absence of the customary cool weather is said also to have delayed or altogether checked the sale of winter stocks.

British Trade Abroad.

The conditions of credit during 1912 became relaxed in consequence of the abnormal circumstances, and even longer terms than the customary six to nine months were given. As the interest runs on at from 6 to 12 per cent. and no failures occur among importers, the firms who are well acquainted with the local trade conditions would appear to have little ground for dissatisfaction.

British trade.—The total imports from the United Kingdom declined from £370,040 in 1911 to £268,341 in 1912, but the relative proportion of the import trade from British sources fell only from 28 to 25 per cent. British textiles showed no further decline, but did not recover the ground lost in 1911. There was some decline in fancy goods, and an increase in drugs and chemicals.

As regards the chief competitors with British goods, Germany competes most strongly in food-stuffs, textiles, hardware, fancy goods, drugs and chemicals, fire-arms, underclothing and garments, and china and glassware (nearly 75 per cent. of the total of the latter). Italy is still the chief purveyor of hats, the United Kingdom supplying only hats of the better class. The importation of fire-arms (£16,369 in 1912) appears to be increasing, but the British article seems to have almost disappeared from the Paraguayan market. The competition of other countries in textiles is not formidable. In hardware, however, both the United States and Belgium are gaining ground. France competes strongly in fancy goods and in drugs, and in the latter branch as well as in fire-arms the United States is also obtaining a firmer hold.

The import trade is mainly in the hands of European houses, among whom the German, French, Spanish and Italian predominate, while United Kingdom firms are the least numerous. A larger number of British travellers and representatives visited Paraguay in 1912 than of late years, but the confidence maintained in catalogues (in English) by some United Kingdom firms appears to be still fairly general. In the meantime their competitors, who reside in the country and have personal knowledge of the financial standing of their clients, and consequently know when to give or to withhold credit, are taking measures to place their goods for sale at all the best stores throughout the country districts, and establish branches at the more important centres. In this way they lay the foundation of a trade the development of which will probably be realised when the progress of the country is more advanced. In the course of long residence in the country they become intimately acquainted with the tastes and habits of the population, and are in a position to understand the class of goods for which there is a demand.

TRADE OF THE FEDERATED MALAY STATES IN 1912.

According to the Report for 1912 of the Commissioner for Trade and Customs in the Federated Malay States, the aggregate volume of trade in that year, including bullion and specie, was 231,096,874 dols., as compared with 182,812,966 dols. in 1911. Exclusive of bullion and specie the total was 228,164,205 dols., as against 179,654,742 dols. in the previous year. The total value of the imports of merchandise in 1912 was 73,685,391 dols., as compared with 63,636,239 dols. in 1911, an increase of 9,999,152 dols. or 15.7 per cent. Exports of merchandise in 1912 represented a total of 154,478,814 dols., as against 115,968,503 dols. in the previous year, an increase of 38,510,311 dols. or 33.2 per cent.

The large increase in the import trade is ascribed to the general prosperity of the country, the development of the rubber industry, and the high price of tin. The largest increase was shown in rice, which rose in value by 5,299,800 dols. The considerable increase of 459,000 dols. in the value of the imports of apparel, hosiery and millinery was due to the increased adoption of European dress by the Chinese, following on the revolution in China. Cycles, motor cars and accessories showed the large increase of 255,000 dols.; although no details are kept as to the British and foreign imports of these articles, it is known that a considerable percentage of this trade is represented by cheap American cars. The large increases of 128,000 dols. under telegraph and telephone materials and 610,000 dols. under tramway and railway materials refer almost exclusively to Government imports, which, despite their amount, can hardly keep pace with the rapidly increasing requirements.

IMPORT TRADE OF MOROCCAN PORTS IN 1912.

The following information is from the report by H.M. Consul at Casablanca (Mr. A. M. Madden, C.M.G.) on the trade of that district in 1912, which will shortly be issued :—

The value of the import trade of Casablanca in 1912 amounted to £1,607,000, or nearly double the figures for the previous year, the value of the imports from the United Kingdom being £438,640.

Candles.—The imports of candles of United Kingdom make show an increase in value of over £5,000, a natural increase due to the well-being of the natives and to larger demand. Large stocks were brought in during the fine summer weather in 1912 against the winter to avoid the depletion experienced in former years. British candles hold the market. There were big sales of candles during the period of shortage of petroleum in 1912.

Cotton goods.—Cotton goods did very well in 1912, and trade in them was very lucrative. In consequence native importers over-bought at the tail-end of the season, especially as the rains were good in the autumn of 1912, giving promise of a good year in 1913. Heavy stocks remain on their hands, and this, together with the bad harvests experienced this year, will lead to decreased importation during 1913. The articles in demand consist of T-cloths, amburgos, prints, drills, &c. for the Arabs; and muslins, poplins, fancy goods, satins, prints, zephyrs, for the Spaniards, Jews, &c.

Building materials.—The large increase in 1912 was due to the extensive building operations in progress then and now. The importation of cement, iron girders, lime, tiles, deals, &c. was very large. Perforated bricks came from Spain, the freights being cheap (from 15 to 20 pesetas—11s. to 15s.—the ton). Square tiles come from France.

Ready-made clothing.—The imports into Casablanca under this heading increased from £6,815 in 1911 to £41,545 in 1912, chiefly attributable to the large augmentation of the foreign population; the native Jewesses are also adopting European fashions and costumes. A great many ready-made garments are imported from France, the French increase in this heading being remarkable.

Import Trade of Moroccan Ports in 1912.

Hardware.—The imports of hardware show a large increase over the preceding year, particularly from France, due to the number of French shops in the town and the large French population who patronise these goods.

The users of hardware of United Kingdom make are principally native customers who have long been supplied with buckets, galvanised iron and copper kettles, brass candlesticks, &c. The Dutch are competing in iron kettles and buckets, but not to any great extent at present.

Sugar and tea.—These articles go largely together; most of the sugar imported is used in tea drinking. Both articles show a large increase, owing to increased demand due to the better purchasing power of the natives under a settled administration. More tea came in viâ Marseilles, but this is said to be a business done in London, the tea being shipped from Shanghai to Marseilles by French steamers as being convenient for re-shipment to Algeria. There was a large augmentation, the imports at Casablanca in 1912 amounting to £79,813 as compared with £46,464 in the previous year.

As to sugar, owing to supplies being held up by bad weather, unheard-of profits were made—as much as 100 per cent. for part of the time—for some considerable periods, which brought about a lot of orders.

Coal.—The imports in 1912 showed a considerable increase, the United Kingdom and France being the countries of origin. Tenders for the supply of briquettes for the military service, railways, &c. are invited by the French authorities from time to time.

Miscellaneous.—Amongst other imports mention may be made of sweet biscuits, from France mostly, and then the United Kingdom; boots and shoes from France, Spain and the United Kingdom; confectionery, syrups and sweets from the United Kingdom; chocolate from France; flour is a French trade; fresh fruits from Spain and dried fruits from France and French Colonies; furniture, French mostly; glassware from Germany, Belgium and France; iron (bar, scrap, T and girders) from Germany, Belgium and France; live-stock, a new item of importation, consisting of horses, mules, donkeys, cows, &c. nearly all from France; matches, Italian, French and Belgian mostly (the latter are very cheap wooden matches); paper and stationery, French, but British writing paper is liked; paints and colours, French, German and British; petroleum from America; provisions and canned goods, nearly all French make; silks (manufactured) from France entirely; vegetables (preserved), mostly a French trade; woollens and cloths, German trade first, and then French, and some from the United Kingdom. British-made underclothing might be pushed successfully.

In nearly all the above-mentioned articles the imports into Casablanca in 1912 were double those in 1911, and in some cases more than double.

The Acting British Vice-Consul at Mazagan (Mr. H. Griffin) reports that the salient feature in the trade returns of Mazagan for 1912 was the marked increase in the import trade, which amounted to £530,207 as compared with £305,135 in 1911. The United Kingdom participated in this increase to the extent of over £115,000, while the imports from Germany, France and the Netherlands were about double those of the preceding year.

This increase was chiefly noticeable in cotton goods, sugar, tea, hardware, woollen goods, confectionery, biscuits, wines, spirits, beer and building materials, in all of which a brisk trade was done. With the one exception of dyes, every item in the returns shows some increase in both quantity and value.

The respective shares taken by the several countries in the trade Mazagan were as follows:—

	£	Per cent.
United Kingdom	314,075	59
France	105,853	20
Germany	52,194	10
Netherlands	22,268	4
Austria-Hungary	9,364	2
Other countries	26,453	5

H.M. Vice-Consul at Saffi (Mr. E. H. Mulock) reports that the total foreign trade of Saffi during 1912 surpassed all previous records, and amounted to £1,143,472 as against £887,841 in 1911, an increase due almost entirely to the rise in imports from £337,410 in 1911 to £554,376 in 1912. For the second year in succession Saffi has proved itself the second port in Morocco in total trade and fourth in imports, while the total trade in 1912 is nearly double what it was in 1908. The large increases in imports during 1912 are accounted for chiefly by the increased importation of cotton, silk and woollen goods, candles, iron, hardware, sugar and wine. Every importing country showed an increase in 1912 over 1911.

Sugar.—The bulk of the sugar imported during 1912 came, as usual, from Germany, which is still well ahead of Austria-Hungary, France and Belgium, in spite of considerable increases in their imports also.

Tea.—Though there was an increase in the total importation of tea at Saffi in 1912, it was due not to the United Kingdom but to increased imports of China tea from France and Germany, the increase in the case of the latter country being the same as the decrease from the United Kingdom.

Iron.—Iron in 1912 includes corrugated iron from the United Kingdom imported almost entirely for roofing the wooden barracks for the French garrison, which are still under construction outside the town and near the business quarter.

Cement, lime, timber, deals.—The increased imports of cement, lime, timber, deals, &c., and hardware in 1912 at Saffi were due to the number of new buildings, i.e., stores, offices, private houses, and barracks.

Hardware, &c.—Besides the effect of new buildings on the quantity of household utensils, nails, locks, bolts, &c. required, the increase in the imports of hardware, was also due to increases in wrought copper articles, cutlery, sewing machines, ships' tools, &c.

Of these, household utensils and copper goods came chiefly from the United Kingdom, nails from Germany and Sweden, locks, bolts, and sewing machines from Germany, and cutlery from Austria-Hungary and Germany.

Cotton goods.—The increase in the imports of cotton goods from France and Germany was due, in the case of France, to increases in cotton yarn, dyed goods and muslins; and in the case of Germany to cotton yarn, unbleached, bleached and dyed goods, and muslins. Less cotton yarn and unbleached goods, but more bleached and dyed goods, prints and muslins, were imported in 1912 from the United Kingdom than in 1911.

PROPOSED ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION IN ARGENTINA.

H.M. Minister at Buenos Aires has forwarded a copy and translation of a proposed Bill, drawn up for the purpose of preventing the establishment of any harmful trust in the Argentine Republic, which was presented to the Chamber of Deputies on 30th August last.

The Bill provides that every contract or combination of any kind regarding commerce or transport is forbidden when its object is to produce artificial alterations to the prejudice of the consumer in the prices of articles of consumption or of prime necessity. When the offenders are legally constituted commercial companies or associations, the directors of such concerns who took part in the transaction in question will be held personally responsible. A second offence by the directors or representatives will be punished by the immediate dissolution of the company, the effects of which will be embargoed to cover the losses and penalties caused by their action. Limited liability companies, their branches or agencies, the representatives of which are guilty of repeated offences against the law, will be punished, irrespective of the penalties to which such representatives are liable, by fines varying from 10,000 to 500,000 pesos (about £850 to £44,000).

It will equally be an offence under the proposed law to make contracts or form combinations for the purpose of affecting the normal course of commerce in food products and articles of prime necessity between the different provinces of Argentina, and between the Republic itself and foreign nations.

The legal assessors (fiscales) of the Argentine Federal Courts are obliged to take proceedings against offending companies or individuals without prejudice to the right of private persons to bring actions against them. Legal proceedings in regard to the application of the law will be summary, but the courts will, nevertheless, give all necessary guarantees to parties concerned for their free defence, and production of proofs.

The Executive may demand the weekly publication of balance sheets from all concerns trading in food products, &c., which hold concessions, guarantees, or any other facilities granted by the State.

Differential tariffs established by transport companies for any reason are to be declared void, as well as those favouring certain localities or branches of commerce to the prejudice of others.

The text and translation of the proposed Bill may be seen by firms in the United Kingdom at the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Board of Trade, 73, Basinghall Street, London, E.C. (C. 7,482.)

PARAGUAY.

The following information is from the report by H.M. Consul at Asuncion (Mr. F. A. Oliver) on the trade of Paraguay in 1912, which will shortly be issued:—

As regards through connection between Asuncion and Buenos Aires the construction of the dock for the train ferry at Encarnacion across the River Alto Paraná (which at its narrowest point in this region is more than a mile wide) resulted in more extensive work than was anticipated. When this link is complete, transport without break of bulk throughout the 985 miles separating the two capitals will be a reality, and the capacity of the railway as a means of distribution will be much increased at both ends. Work on the trans-Paraguay branch line in the direction of the River Iguazú, which is to connect Paraguay with the Brazilian railway system, was commenced in October, 1912, and progressed rapidly along the open level ground which forms the first section. The next section will pass over forest clad hills, where the difficulties are greater and progress may depend to some extent upon the development of the region traversed. The Paraguay Central Railway Company is also commencing work upon another branch line from Paraguari to Carapeguá, a distance of 15 miles, which, it is believed, will subsequently be continued southwards as far as the Paraná, through the region of which Villa Florida may be taken as the centre. The projected line to Villeta is not being proceeded with.

RUSSIA (SAGHALIEN.)

H.M. Consul at Vladivostock (Mr. R. M. Hodgson) reports that the Russian Department of Mines has recently published the conditions under which it is proposed to lease the Dué coal area on the island of Saghalien. The lease is to be granted at an auction, to be held on 14th November next at the Offices of the Mining Department, which will be open to Russian share companies.

In order to obtain the right to work coal the contractor is required to construct a coaling harbour.

Royalty is to be fixed at the rate of $\frac{1}{4}$ copeck for each pound of coal mined, and the length of time granted for working the area is 36 years from the date of signing the contract.

The text of the conditions (in Russian), together with a translation, may be seen by United Kingdom firms at the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Board of Trade, 73, Basinghall Street, London, E.C. (19,342.)

CHILE.

H.M. Consul at Santiago (Mr. A. C. Kerr) reports that the recent discoveries of immense and valuable deposits of iron ore in Chile have led to a large number of claims being filed by persons who had no intention of working the deposits themselves, but who hoped to acquire ownership at little expense and then sell their properties at high prices to foreign capitalists. This was easy owing to the fact that the existing Mining Code considers all metals, wherever found, to be the property of the State, but allows ownership to be granted to persons who denounced and staked out claims. In order to guard against abuse, the right to claim these deposits was indefinitely postponed, and a Law has now been passed which provides that whilst this right is suspended the State may claim and acquire iron ore deposits in the manner provided for in the Mining Code for private persons, with the exception that the State is not compelled to work the deposits within a given time. The new Law also provides that iron mines are to revert to the State in cases where the individual owners lose their rights owing to non-payment of taxes, and are not to be sold by auction as heretofore.

H.M. Consul adds that many properties were denounced and became the property of private persons prior to the passage of this Law, and probably their ownership will be regarded as good and not affected by the present legislation. (C. 7,554.)

Imports of Agricultural Produce.

The number of bales of cotton imported into the United Kingdom during the week ended 18th September, 1913, was 23,652 (including 437 bales British West African), and the number imported during the thirty-eight weeks ended 18th September was 2,493,797 (including 7,436 bales British West Indian, 15,234 bales British West African, 26,290 bales British East African, and 5,016 bales foreign East African). The number of bales exported during the week ended 18th September was 5,656, and during the thirty-eight weeks, 358,445.

RUSSIA.

The Acting British Consul-General at Odessa (Mr. F. Watson) reports that the hay crop is satisfactory in most parts of Russia this year, and particularly so in the Odessa district, in spite of rain which did considerable damage at cutting time. There is also, in many places, a surplus from 1912, so that there should be a sufficiency of fodder to last until next year's harvest.

Agricultural and Forest Products.

H.M. Consul at Batoumi (Mr. P. Stevens) reports that, as a result of careful study during many years, the cultivation of sugar beet in the Province of Kuban has this year been undertaken seriously. The centre of the industry is the village of Gulevichi, on the Vladikavkaz Railway, where a large sugar factory and refinery has been erected. An area of 10,800 acres, situated between the stations of Kavkazskaya and Gulevichi, has this year been placed under cultivation and is expected to yield a crop of about 119,000 tons of beetroot; the percentage of sugar in the juice will probably vary between 19 and 21, and the crop is expected to yield about 26,000 tons of sugar.

The residues of the sugar refinery are to be employed for fattening cattle, and extensive pens, with proper accommodation for 12,000 head of cattle, are being provided in the neighbourhood. It is anticipated that the development of the industry and the consequent increase of the quantity of residues, will eventually permit the feeding of some 200,000 head of cattle. (C. 7,488.)

GERMANY (PRUSSIA).

H.M. Consul-General at Hamburg (Mr. W. R. Hearn) has furnished, under date 6th September, the following particulars relative to the state of the crops in Prussia at the beginning of the current month, as published in the "Hamburger Nachrichten":—

At the beginning of September rye and barley had been well carried on the whole and only a small quantity showed signs of sprouting. The grain is generally well formed and gives excellent results; the straw is satisfactory. Summer grain and winter wheat generally will ripen late and consequently will be harvested late; but as there is a considerable amount of sprouting the results will not be so good as was hoped. Wheat is on the whole satisfactory, and both grain and straw should give good results. The reaping of the oats was slow on account of the amount that was storm-beaten.

According to the varying estimates of the potato crop it appears that early potatoes are not very prolific, but it is hoped that prospects will improve. Sugar-beet and food roots have grown well and promise good results. The wet weather did not help the fodder crops as much as was expected.

H.M. Consul-General adds that autumn cultivation is very much behindhand on account of the late harvest, and only isolated cases are reported of its having been begun. (19,204.)

SPAIN (FERNANDO PO).^d

H.M. Vice-Consul at Fernando Po (Mr. R. T. Smallbones) reports that a concession has been awarded by the Government of the Spanish Possessions in the Gulf of Guinea to Don Pedro Arriola Bengoa for the working and utilisation of the fruit of the palm oil trees of all the State-owned woods of Fernando Po. The concession, which is for a period of twenty years, does not carry with it any right of ownership to the land covered by the woods. The concessionaire is to pay in the custom houses of the ports of shipment, as a special duty incident on the concession, the sum of 10 pesetas for every ton of palm oil and of 5 pesetas for every ton of palm kernels which he exports.

The text of the Order granting the concession (in Spanish), together with an English translation thereof, may be seen by United Kingdom firms interested at the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Board of Trade, 73, Basinghall Street, London, E.C. (C. 7,367.)

BRAZIL.

The Acting British Consul-General at Rio de Janeiro (Mr. E. Hambloch) reports that, according to the local press, the Director of the Cotton Experimental Station in the State of Maranhão has presented a report, at the request of the Secretary of Agriculture in the State of Minas Geraes, on the possibilities of cultivating and producing cotton in that State.

From this report it appears that there are large areas in the State which could be employed with advantage for the cultivation of cotton. Generally speaking, the soil is similar to that of the Carolinas in the United States, but is more compact, and probably a little more difficult to work; some of the lowlands, in particular, have every appearance of being especially favourable for the production of cotton.

The cotton plants seen were of two varieties, one having fibre of ordinary length with a mean of 30 mm. (1.18 in.), and yielding 1 kilog. of ginned cotton to 4 kilogs. of raw cotton, and the other, a native or creole cotton, rather finer and longer than the above, but regular in length, and yielding only 1 kilog. of ginned cotton to 5 kilogs. of raw cotton.

It is thought that by a selected cultivation of these plants first-rate new varieties could be obtained, and as they are perfectly acclimatised to the country there should be a speedy and permanent improvement in their quality. Farmers are already increasing the area devoted to the cultivation of cotton, while all the mills appear to be prosperous and to be increasing the number of their looms and spindles, so that there is every hope of arriving at a good and sound development of the cotton industry in the State of Minas Geraes. (C. 7,549.)

MEXICO.

H.M. Legation at Mexico City reports the publication of a contract, dated 31st July, entered into between the Mexican Ministry of Fomento and Mr. Arthur Gehm, for the opening up and colonisation of some 25,000 hectares (about 61,750 acres) of land in the State of Tabasco. The land is to be divided into areas of not less than 5,000 hectares, and on each of these areas a plot of 100 hectares must be set apart for the building of a township for housing the colonists, who will be permitted to import, free of duty, on entering the country, agricultural implements and machinery and other materials necessary for the cultivation of the land. The contractor undertakes to colonise the land within five years from the date of approval, by the Ministry of Fomento, of the plans for road and other improvements which it is proposed to carry out on the estates; any lands which have not been colonised within that period shall revert to the Government.

TRADE RETURNS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The Monthly Accounts relating to the Trade and Navigation of the United Kingdom for the month of August, 1913, have been published. The accounts, which are issued on the 7th or 8th of each month, may be purchased* at a cost, in the present instance, of 1s. 5d. per copy, exclusive of postage.

Attention is further called to the fact that two volumes of the "Annual Statement of the Trade of the United Kingdom with Foreign Countries and British Possessions" for the year 1912 have been issued, and may be purchased* at a cost of 5s. 5d. for the first volume and 4s. 1d. for the second. This publication, which contains much more detailed and exhaustive information than can be given in the Monthly Accounts, gives in the first volume abstract tables for the years 1908-1912, and detailed statements of imports and exports of each article consigned from and to each country, and in the second volume details as to Customs revenue, transshipments and articles in bond, with particulars of the trade of the United Kingdom with each foreign country and British Possession, and of the trade at each port of the United Kingdom. The third volume (supplement) will contain a classification on the basis followed in Volumes I. and II. of the "Annual Statement" for 1908 and earlier years.

It may be noted that beginning with the issues for 1909 the figures of Volumes I. and II. relate to the countries of consignment for imports, and countries of final destination, so far as known, for exports. A supplementary volume will continue to be issued, in which particulars will be given, as mentioned above, on the same basis as those published (up to the year 1908) in the first two volumes. By this means it will be possible to trace the details of the differences resulting from the change of system for a further limited period.

Confidential Information as to Openings Abroad for British Trade, &c.

The arrangement inaugurated on 1st January, 1907, whereby the names of British firms desirous of receiving confidential information as to opportunities for the extension abroad of those branches of trade in which they are specially interested, and as to other connected matters, are placed on a special Register at the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Board of Trade, has met with widespread approval, as evidenced by the steady increase in the number of names so registered. Formerly no charge was made for admission to the Register, the only requirement being subscription to the "Board of Trade Journal." The great increase in the number of names inscribed, and in the amount of information distributed, having rendered it necessary to make a small charge for the service, firms desirous of utilising this source of information are required to pay an annual fee of one guinea to the Accountant General, Board of Trade, Whitehall Gardens, London, S.W., for the service, including the supply of the "Board of Trade Journal," instead of merely subscribing to the "Journal," as previously, through the Government Sale Agents. British firms who wish to have their names registered should apply in writing to the Director, Commercial Intelligence Branch, 73, Basinghall Street, London, E.C., for the necessary form of application.

Admission to the Register and retention upon it will be, as heretofore, at the discretion of the Board of Trade.

The confidential information which is communicated to firms upon the Register is received from His Majesty's Consular Officers in Foreign Countries, from His Majesty's Trade Commissioners and the Imperial Trade Correspondents in the British Dominions, and from other sources available to the Commercial Intelligence Branch.

It may be stated that confidential information thus received relates mainly to openings for British Trade abroad, and is communicated to firms on the Register in Circular letters. During 1912, 1,098 such Circular letters were prepared, and copies (totalling 146,578) were despatched to firms on the Register interested in the trades to which the Circular letters respectively related, as compared with 1,091 Circular letters and copies totalling 142,032 sent out in 1911.

NOTE.—Apart from the Special Register arrangements referred to above, the Commercial Intelligence Branch is always ready to answer enquiries on specific subjects, as far as possible, in the interests of British trade (see below).

Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Board of Trade.

The Intelligence Branch of the Commercial Department of the Board of Trade (73, Basinghall Street, London, E.C.) is intended to be a centre at which information on all subjects of commercial interest shall be collected and classified in a form convenient for reference, and at which, so far as the interests of British trade permit, replies shall be given to enquiries by traders on commercial matters. On application being made to it either personally or by letter, the Branch supplies, so far as is possible, information with regard to the following subjects, viz. : Commercial statistics ; Matters relating to Foreign Consuls or of the Correspondents or Special Commissioners of the Board of Trade, specimens of special interest that may be received from India, the Colonies, &c., are exhibited from time to time.

The "Board of Trade Journal" is the principal medium through which intelligence collected by the Commercial Intelligence Branch, and intended for general information, is conveyed to the public. The "Journal" is issued weekly at the price of 3d., the annual rate, inclusive of postage within the United Kingdom, being 15s. 2d. All applications respecting subscription, or the purchase of single copies, should be addressed in London to Messrs. So satisfactory has the S-E-A Ring Principle been found; so excellent the patented material of which S-E-A Rings are made, that we have designed new sections of S-E-A Rings for the special requirements which obtain for cylinders or piston packings.

We have sections for any pressures and sizes, for any cylinders—S-E-A Ring Cups will take the place of Pump Leathers, Ram Leathers, and are superior to them and moulded rubber rings because they are built up of fibrous material layer by layer from circular discs. They are made by the same process as S-E-A Rings themselves. Their tensile strength is from four to twenty times greater than any other material known that can be used for the purpose.

For boiling water feed pumps, hydraulic pressures, and the heaviest pump work they are peculiarly adapted, and as a consequence out-live and out-wear any other form of piston or cylinder packing, because, unlike leather, they are not subjected to heavy internal stresses during their manufacture, and compared with moulded rubber compositions they are some twenty times the tensile strength.

They are made in Laminæ. The layers are inter-locked one with the other by our special process.

The above illustration gives a general idea of their form.
