A SENSATIONAL POLICE CASE.

A correspondent writes to the "Bengalee"

A most sensational case of Police oppress son, of which a few Kaorahs (men of lowcaste) are the victims, has cropped up here. Police Sub-Inspector of the Shyamnagore outcaste people. Far from the house, there live a few Kaorahs, most of whom are daylabourers. They return in the evening to their respective homes after their day's work and amuse themselves with music. On the night in question, the Kaorahs, as usual gave offense to the Sub-Inspector and he sent a few constables to the spot to put a stop to the music. The Kaorahs had the audacity to question his authority to interfere with their religious songs, as they were fully confident that what they were doing was nothing but pure amusement. This failure on the part of the police became intolerable to the Sub-Inspector; and he with the constables appeared on the scene. The poor people took fright and ran away, leavng their females behind. But it is alleged he policemen put the women to fright and their cries brought thousands of men on the spot, none venturing to help the poor women, and reached the ears of the Kaorahs, fabrication and got up at the instance of had not been lost sight of. FORCING BACK THE SEA.

A great engineering firm has succeeded in driving back the sea at Hodbarrow, near Millom, Cumberland. The work has entailed the alteration of the coast line in order to allow the miners to extract the ore from beneath the sea bed. It was found in 1899 hat the veins of ore on and side were worked out, but that rich proved veins jutted out under the sea. An attempt was made to work them, but a bed in or near the Strait of Corea, knowing of quicksand was tapped, and the mines were flooded. A mighty concrete barrier, 7,000 feet long, was built in the sea in the vostok for their objective. The Last Nawab Begum Of

(By a correspondent.)

The loss Bengal has sustained by the death of Her late Highness, Nawab Shams-i-Jahan Begum Saheba, widow of the late Nawab Nazim of Bengal, Behar and Orissa, is immense. She was the cousin of the Nawab I Nazim, to whom she was married in 1846. She at once assumed the position of the First Indian Lady in the Province, and she A MAGISTRATE ASSAULTED.

In the time of the Great Munnee Begum, the "Mother of the East India, Co." and the friend of Warren Hastings, the Government in 1760, in recognition of the Begum's great services to the British Government, established Gadis for the principal widows of ladies of rank, of the Nawab Nazim. To these Gadis, certain pensions were allotted to the first, a lac of rupees per annum to the second half that sum, and so on. We believe that there wene not more than four Gadi Nashin Begums at any one time. These pensions were taken from the Nawab Nazim's stipend of 16 lacs of rupees per annum, and the Nawak Nazims, therefore, contended that they were entitled to the property left by the deceased Gadi Nashin Begums. The Nawab Nazim, again, sometimes, happened to be the son or grandson of a deceased Begum, and had thus also a claim as natural heir. Be that as it may, the Nawab Nazim was quasi heir, to a deceased Gadi Nashin's property, gation. The accused went to the spot and next thing will be immortal butterflies!" ful property.

We believe that the Nawab Bahadur has been granted a certain pension for himself and his children; and that for all the other, members of the Nizamat Family separate provision has been made by Government. The Nawab Nazim, on the other hand, was granted a large stipend, and supported every member of the very large family out have of late published interesting informaof that stipend. The Nawab Bahadoor's position is therefore altogether different from Burbank, whose wonderful experiments in Some interesting information with regard as Europeans displayed, and very often to Burbank, whose wonderful experiments in Some interesting information with regard as Europeans displayed, and very often to be would take his stand by the testimonies that of the Nawab Nazims.

In the only case in which the question of succession to the property of a deceased able pride, given Burbank the title of the P. and O. book on India: - "The Natives of India are "Gadi Nashin" Begum who had left direct heirs may have been faised, after the death of the Nawab Nazim, viz., that of Nawab tural marvels quite 30 years ago, it is only to the Nawab Nazim, viz., that of Nawab tural marvels quite 30 years ago, it is only to the Nawab Nazim, viz., that of Nawab tural marvels quite 30 years ago, it is only to the Nawab Nazim, viz., that of Nawab tural marvels quite 30 years ago, it is only the nazimate of the Nawab Nazim, viz., that of Nawab tural marvels quite 30 years ago, it is only the nazimate of the Nawab Nazim, viz., that of Nawab tural marvels quite 30 years ago, it is only the nazimate of the nazima Malika Zamania Begum in 1884, no claim was made to the property left by her, by the Nawab Bahadoor on the strength of the alleged custom, and the deceased Begum's grandchildren succeeded to her estate. therefore such a custom had ever existed, the Nawab Bahadoor probably knew it had come to an end with the altered state of things on the death of the Nawab Nazim.

Nawab Shams-i-Jahan Begum, the las suffered many Nawab Begum sorrow---She had lost fifteen children Her greatest grief must have been when she her son, Prince Syed Iskandar All Mirza, set aside in the succession to his father. It was generally expected that the Prince, by reason of the rank of his mother, on. that he was the Nawab Nazim's only "shadi" would succeed the Nawab Nazim. The present Nawab Bahadoor was the Nawab Nazim's eldest son and was selected by Government. This disappointment broke, Prince Syed Is kandar Ali Mirza down completely, and he died, in 1893, at the early age of 33 years. This was a cruel blow to his mother, and the Nawab Bahadoor might well allow the deceased lady's daughters, the sisters of Prince Syed Iskandar Ali Mirza and his step sisters, to quietly possess what their mother has left. A claim, founded on an arbitrary custom, and against the ordinary laws of succession, would not tend to further the interests of the Nawab Bahadoor, especially in the case of the favourable and the daughters of her late Highness Nawab Shams-i-Jahan Begum. Their loss is irre- cal invention, while his mother's family had Lady Curzon, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governors of Bombay and Madras, the Commander-in-Chief and all high Officials, Chiefs and Nobles throughout the firm in which he was employed.

NATURAL GAS IN AMERICA.

A SATISFACTORY REPORT.

According to the annual report of the United States Geological Survey, the natural gas industry in the United States, so far from decreasing, has shown in the last reported year a considerable increase. According to the last report of the United States Geological Survey its value in 1903 increased from £6,000,000 to £7,000,000 (not dollars); and there was a remarkable increase of production in Pennsylvania and Ohio. West but the most probable hypothesis is that Virginia and Indiana wer the other two the end will be intense cold." States in which natural gas production was importance end Indiana recording decrease in production. The general average of the price paid by the consumer increased slightly, and was about 71d. per 1,000 cubic feet at a pressure of a quarter of a pound to the square inch. The increase in the use and consupmtion of natural gas in the States is no doubt to be attributed, says "Knowledge and Scientific News," to legislative restrictions with regard to boring; and to improved pumping machinery. The prodigal waste which characterised the early discovery of natural gas-when people used to use it almost as a plaything-has ceased, and new borings can be made only under ascertained.
