

NEW AUTO GARAGE

SHOLES AND BALLARD OPEN LARGE REPAIR SHOP IN THE JONES BUILDING

In the handsome new auto garage erected by Mattison B. Jones near Third and Brand, W. H. Sholes and A. H. Ballard have opened a large and commodious repair shop for machines of every kind. Though only open a few days they are already finding as many orders as they can handle.

This new auto garage is a building 50x80 feet, and appears even larger than its actual dimensions. It is excellently constructed of red brick and is fitted up with every convenience for the carrying on of a business of this kind. At the entrance on Brand boulevard there is an office room and waiting room for patrons; off this is the cashier's room, with a new cash register that looks like business. The spacious floor is cemented and affords ample room for the autos that are coming in at an increasing rate.

A. H. Sholes has been for many years a machine repair man, having a special knowledge of marine and auto engines. Mr. Ballard has been in the auto repair business since 1907. Both parties are well known in Glendale and are excellent workmen. From the way that work is pouring in on them they should have all they want to do for many a day to come.

On the floor and undergoing repairs are an Overland, a National and a Cadillac. A Dodge and two Buicks will be sent in on Monday. The firm has adopted a striking monogram in which the initials of the partners' names are entwined. This "S. H." adorns one of the windows of the garage.

The shop is fitted up with all the latest devices in portable electric drill, portable electric grinders, cranes and other working devices for performing all manner of repair work. Here too is a huge press drill that is meant to handle heavy work. From this it can be seen that the new firm has spared no trouble to get its shop in such shape that there is a tool for every imaginable kind of repair and a method of getting at breaks not easily accessible.

George Gillis is the general assistant in the shop and his hands are as full as those of the two partners. When everything is in place that is expected there will be an electric outfit for charging electric batteries. There will also be a complete outfit for vulcanizing tires. The repair of tires will constitute a department by itself and will be under the charge of a specialist in that line.

The new firm will also handle motorcycle repairs. It will keep on hand a full line of accessories of all kinds and parts for standard machines. Everything in the oil and gasoline department will be up-to-date and supplied at reasonable rates. The new garage is a growth from conditions and was needed in the city. The business is going to grow as years go on and the erection of this commodious building and its careful fitting up for this work as an act of foresight that is going to be fully justified.

INDIAN RELIC

An interesting relic of old Indian days is on exhibit in the window of the Ford Car Agency, on W. Broadway. This is a large stone mortar and pestle which had been used by Indians in the old days for grinding corn. This ancient relic was found on Glendale avenue, north of First street, where the street improvements are being carried on at present. The mortar was found in one place and the pestle, which is broken in two toward the upper part, was found about 100 feet away. It is supposed that these articles belonged to some Indians who used to live there in the early days before there were more than a few people in the Glendale district. The find was made by J. S. Neel, the engineer who was superintending the work. The last of the Indians who used to live in that vicinity were three in number—a man and two women. They were pensioners on the bounty of the Verdugo family.

NEW CITY DIRECTORY

The new city directory being compiled for the city of Glendale is rapidly being compiled. Additional men and women who are competent to take an accurate enrollment of the people are wanted. Those applying to do the work must be clerically well qualified. Call in person at The Evening News office.

TAG DAY FOR HIGHWAY

OAKLAND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLANS TO RAISE MONEY

Motorists' first tag day is coming. Children, churches and charities have played tag for years. Sometimes, too, they have played hob with feelings and change pockets.

Now the Oakland Chamber of Commerce has taken up the idea with the object of filling the sink holes in the Lincoln highway and with the expectation also of sending everyone away happy after he has given his share. For every dollar contributed a pretty girl will give the donor a Lincoln highway pennant to hang on his car and will tell him, too, that his money has gone to smooth out the great transcontinental road for the benefit of himself and his fellow motorists.

The first automobile tag day will be held on the foothill boulevard at Seventy-third avenue. There the "fallen sink" of Nevada; the bugbear of the transcontinental motorist, a bog of alkali and sand into which machines sink deep will be reproduced in all its horrors so that every driver going or coming will have the same experience as is undergone by one traveling from coast to coast.

Pretty girls in flying squadrons will hover on the edge of the sink ready to hand over a pennant to everyone who wants to help. In addition, it is planned to have a continuous program of entertainments, among which will be the assembling of an automobile in jig-time and open air singing by a noted prima donna.

Dennis Searles, chairman of the Lincoln highway committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, hopes by this plan to add measurably to the $50,000 Northern California is raising to help smooth out the Nevada road. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars is needed to fill up this sink. This sum will give a first class road from the Atlantic to the Pacific, permitting the motorist to reach the terminus proper on the western side of the continent.

The Lincoln highway association has set aside $50,000 for the work and Nevada will raise the other $50,000.

Searles says he has no patent on his idea and that anyone is welcome to use it to aid the Lincoln highway, the Fallon sink or any other good roads plan for the benefit of automobiles.

EXCITING TIME AT KALEM

The Kalem Moving Picture Company had quite a realistic scene, Thursday, which was entirely unheeded and unexpected. The company was gathered for the production of an episode in "The Hazards of Helen." This episode is entitled "The Runaway Sleeper." The fair heroine is supposed to be in a Pullman sleeper, which is detached by the villain and runs down grade at a terrific pace. The runaway in this case took place in earnest. In some way the brakes of the Pullman got out of order and the big car thundered down the grade. A Salt Lake locomotive that was standing on the track was run into by the sleeper and considerable damage was done to both. The company remarked that the only "sleeper" in the case seemed to be on the engine. The heroine had not entered the sleeper when the runaway took place.

Ed. Gibson, one of the Kalem actors, was injured, a few days ago, while making a leap from a locomotive to an automobile. He missed his footing and fell between the two machines, breaking a bone in his foot. He limped about a day or so before the nature of the injury was discovered.

CENTRAL AVENUE P. T. A.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Central avenue school held its first meeting of the new season in the Central avenue school Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance. Mrs. Kurtz, president of the association presided. Professor Henry Slade Goff of Minneapolis, a well known educator and writer of verses, read two original poems, "Brotherhood" and "A Shot." Mrs. Howard Trotter of Van Nuys, chairman of legislation for the first district, gave an interesting address on "Amendments at the November Election." Miss Viola Yorba sang with great taste and delicacy "I Know a Lovely Garden," and "La Paloma." Representatives of different Parent-Teacher associations were present.

WEATHER FORECAST—Generally cloudy and foggy tonight and Saturday; westerly winds.

FAVOR RUTHLESS SUBMARINE WAR

BIG INDUSTRIAL LEADERS OF THE RHINE VALLEY SAY UNITED STATES SHOULD NOT BE REGARDED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

DUSSELDORF, Oct. 13.—Nearly every big industrial leader in the Rhine valley, the Pittsburg district of Germany, is in favor of a ruthless prosecution of the submarine warfare, regardless of any nation. They say that the promise made to the United States was merely conditional and that conditions have now so altered that it would be folly to adhere to that promise. They urge the government to go ahead indifferent to whatever attitude the United States may assume.

BRITISH ADVANCE AGAIN ON SOMME FRONT

GEN. HAIG REPORTS THAT HIS TROOPS HAVE MADE A FURTHER GAIN OF ONE AND A HALF MILES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Oct. 13.—After further heavy cannonading northeast of Thiepval and Le Sars, the British made a sudden dash for the German positions that lie between their own lines and the Bapaume-Peronne road. They succeeded in making a gain of one and a half miles. Gen. Haig reports that in conjunction with the French the advance was made, the French pressing forward toward the heights of Sailly-Saillisel. This drives still further the wedge into the German lines and also widens out the salient. Altogether the front has been broadened by 20,000 yards.

HUNT FOR SUSPECTED ATLANTIC NAVAL BASE

EUROPEAN POWER BELIEVED TO HAVE SUBMARINE AND SUPPLY STATION ON AMERICAN SEABOARD

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—Information to the effect that a belligerent European power has a secret submarine and supply station somewhere on the Atlantic coast has been conveyed to the government. In consequence of this orders were issued today to fifteen destroyers to scour the Atlantic coast in search of this supply base. Secretary Daniels admitted today that such orders had been issued and seemed to think that the report had some foundation.

WIDESPREAD ELECTION FRAUDS CHARGED

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS THAT PREVAILED IN VOTING IN SEVERAL STATES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—Specific charges of election frauds in various states have been laid before the Department of Justice. It is stated that the frauds were widespread. Conspiracies to falsify the ballots are reported to have been discovered in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Colorado. The Department of Justice is making elaborate preparations to investigate the charges.

GERMANS FALLING BACK ON SOMME FRONT

ALLIED AVIATORS STATE THAT TEUTON HEAVY GUNS ARE SHIFTED FROM ONE TO FIVE MILES TO REAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Oct. 13.—As the Allies are extending their fighting front into the German lines in the Bapaume-Peronne region and rather than face the task of having to defend that frontage the Germans are withdrawing their guns and will shortly withdraw their troops from their present precarious position in the country around Thiepval and Peronne. French aviators report today that the Germans are withdrawing their heavy guns from one to five miles behind their present position on the Somme front. The fighting is apparently to go on all winter.

GERMAN MAUSER WORKS BADLY DAMAGED

FRANCO-BRITISH AVIATORS DROP FIVE TONS OF EXPLOSIVES ON FAMOUS RIFLE FACTORY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Franco-British aviators flew over Obendorf this morning and dropped five tons of explosives on the famous Mauser rifle factory. The explosives were seen to strike part of the works and fires broke out in various parts of the buildings. The Obendorf Mauser factory is one of the most important factors in keeping up the supply of ammunition and shells of all kinds for the German army.

BRITISH VESSELS DEFY GERMAN U-BOAT

NEWPORT, Oct. 13.—A radio message from some unknown vessel was picked up here today. It stated that the U-53 was still dodging about the vicinity of Nantucket. In spite of this menace eight British vessels loaded with ammunition and munitions of war for the Allies sailed last night.

PATTON RALLY

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR DEFENDS NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

Last evening was a big time for the Democrats of the Glendale community. George S. Patton, their candidate for United States Senator, spoke in the Masonic Temple. Mr. Patton was introduced by W. T. Sprowles of Glendale, who acted in the capacity of chairman of the meeting. The speaker is well trained in politics and has the appearance of being honest in his belief that the Democratic party with Woodrow Wilson as leader has given the United States a good administration the past four years and asks that this party be retained in power for the next four years.

Mr. Patton emphasized the fact that the existence of two great political parties is necessary. The party not in power acts as a brake or critic for the party in power. If the party in power disobeys the wishes of the people who in reality is a large jury, the party out of power comes forward and offers to take up the issues the people demand, and if the party in power refuses to make the desired reformation the out-of-power party is placed in power and the party just turned out becomes the balance wheel and holds the new party to all of its promises.

Mr. Patton claims the Democratic party is making good. He said: "So far as the tariff question is concerned that is out of politics entirely. Before the presidential election in 1912 all parties agreed to have the tariff question taken out of politics and regulated by a commission which would in every sense be non-partisan. Such is the case at the present time. If I go to Congress from California it is not necessary for me to go before a body of politicians to ask for tariff legislation. I must appear before the tariff commission, which, as I previously stated, is a non-partisan body. Of course, according to the constitution the commission must report to Congress for the ratification of their acts."

"We need not fear financial panics. That question was settled in the early part of President Wilson's administration. It was a very simple question to settle, but until that time no administration had the courage to get it settled. As you all know periodical financial panics would visit our country and the cause of them was very clearly understood. In prosperous times, when the banks had plenty of money, John Smith, who was in business, would borrow $1000 from the bank. As Smith's ability to pay the interest was all right and as he was considered a successful business man, the bank was willing to continue the loan; but in the course of a few years, when there became a demand for money to be used for outside purposes and money was drawn from the bank vaults and the banker recognizing that he must use means to keep on hand the necessary reserve, began to look over the notes among the list he finds John Smith's note for $1000. He notifies John Smith that on account of the stringency of money it will be necessary for the bank to ask Mr. Smith to take up this note. Mr. Smith's business has been in a healthy condition but in order to raise the $1000 he must offer his goods for a reduced price and embarrass himself in many ways financially in order to take up the note. This instance of John Smith's case is just one of thousands throughout the country. Brown, Jones and others have given notes to the bank for stated amounts and they are called upon to pay their notes. Brown meets Smith on the street and says 'I believe a financial panic is coming on. The bank seems to be hard up for money. They held my note which everybody knows is perfectly good and they have called for the payment of it.' Smith says, 'They also called for a thousand dollars that I owe.' The report of a panic spreads over the entire nation and the old fashioned hard times are really on."

"To overcome the possibility of these periodical panics twelve federal reserve banks have been organized in various parts of the United States. These reserve banks serve as a great reservoir from which the money may be supplied at times when there is a scarcity of money in local banks. Since the establishment of these reserve banks, instead of asking John Smith, John Brown and others to take up their notes when money becomes scarce in the local bank, Smith and Brown's notes are endorsed at the local bank, enclosed in an envelope with a letter and sent to the nearest federal bank with the request that

AT GLENDALE HIGH

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU FOR STUDENTS—T. O. C. MEMBERS SPRINTERS

"The people of Glendale, and especially the business men, continually have occasion to employ help. It is for the benefit of these people, and for the students, both boy and girl, who are looking for after-noon and Saturday jobs that this bureau has been established."

It was Mr. Ferguson who spoke, and the topic was the Student Employment Bureau, undertaken by the high school P. T. A. This seems to be Mr. Ferguson's favorite occupation—helping students, and when a committee was chosen last year to take charge of the student employment work, Mr. Ferguson was made head of the committee, the other members of which are: Miss E. H. Flood, Mr. Albert Cornwell, Mr. A. T. Cowan and Mr. J. C. Beldin.

According to Mr. Ferguson, the business men and representative people of Glendale support this move to furnish students with employment during their spare hours, and the bureau promises to fulfill a long-felt want. Many citizens have been face to face more than once with the problem of securing some one to do a few hours' work. But now, with this bureau in full working order, it will be possible at almost any time to get a boy or girl to perform the task. Employment for any length of time whatever will be handled.

The attention of the people of Glendale is called to the fact that arrangements for student-help may now be made at any time, either with Mr. Ferguson at the high school, or with Mr. Cornwell at the Cornwell & Kelty hardware store. A number of students have already applied for different kinds of jobs.

The Freshman class had a meeting on Wednesday in the West Study. Gray Bennett was elected debating manager for the class. Class colors were also discussed, but no definite decision was arrived at.

Mr. Howe was present to urge the class as a whole to vote for the "administration program" about to be submitted to the school, providing for a new form of student self-government. Mr. Howe, in his very own inimitable manner, gave the Scrubs a lot of good council, and today the Scrubs are going about looking as wise as though they were Seniors.

"Follow-the-leader" was the game of the T. O. C. yesterday. With "Ax" West and his hat in the lead, and the rest of the T. O. C. headed by George Lamereaux, in hot pursuit, several blocks were covered in record time.

GARDEN SOCIETY PLANS TEA

The Garden Society will hold a social, informal meeting next Thursday evening, October 19, at 8 o'clock, in the very pleasant, cosy library of the Third Street School. A couple of violin solos will afford much enjoyment, while tea, to be served at 9 o'clock, will make the heart merry. All attending are asked to join in an informal discussion of spring gardens and floral contests. Hints and advice to assist competitors in their efforts to win the various silver cups offered at the six floral contests during the coming year will prove seasonable. Professor Houdysel of the high school, noted grower of iris and gladioli, has kindly consented to be present. This delightful gathering is open to the public.

SUNDAY SACRED CONCERT

The Orpheus Concert Trio, composed of Misses Alvina and Gladys Petersen and Miss Alice Nelson, is a first class musical organization. Each member of it is an accomplished musician. The two sisters have magnificent voices, and they also play the violin and cornet equally well.

These splendid musicians will on next Sunday evening, October 15, at 7:30 at Glendale Presbyterian church render a sacred concert to which the general public is most cordially invited.

The soprano singer has been called Jennie Lind the second. She has the power of singing into the heart. The mother and father of the sisters are both musicians. Mrs. Petersen has been one of the noted evangelistic singers of Denmark and Germany.

Miss Alvina Petersen plays a violin which is said to be 200 years old.

The officers of the church take pleasure in presenting these splendid Christian musicians, whose program will be in harmony with the communion service next Sabbath morning.

DEFORMATION OR REFORMATION?

One of the absorbing subjects that will come up for discussion at the Forty-fourth Triennial Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America is that of revising the ten commandments, the marriage ceremony and the Lord's Prayer. That is quite a serious matter when one thinks that these documents are the growth of conditions of the past, arose out of crying needs of humanity, and stand for certain developments in the history of the church.

Naturally religious symbols such as the ten commandments, which were given to the early Jewish church have been outgrown in some respects; yet it is wonderful how word and phrase have been enshrined in the heart of humanity. Christ himself never undertook to meddle with the verbal setting of the commandments; but he expressed their spirit in a twofold phrase non-literal and life-giving. He left the old commandments to stand or fall according as the life that is in them should persist. It has persisted to this day and the decalogue is still used in every Christian church.

Now the reformers of the Protestant-Episcopal church propose to cut off the reasons annexed for their observance. Thus in the fifth commandment all that would be left after the ecclesiastical pruning knife had done its work would be "Honor thy father and thy mother." The reformers maintain that the reasons given for the necessity of observing some of the commandments were peculiar to the life of the people of Israel and that modern life has robbed the arguments of their value.

Another committee is to report on the Lord's prayer and will recommend that the words "For thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, forever and ever, Amen," be omitted. There is of course good reason for the proposed change as far as textual accuracy is concerned, for in all the older versions of the Greek scriptures these words have no place. They were undoubtedly added long after Christ spoke the words of the prayer and were a liturgical use that afterward became included in the text.

In the marriage service it is proposed to abolish the word "obey" in the bride's promise and the words "with all my worldly goods I thee endow," and that the giving away of the bride be omitted.

It is also proposed that the innocent party in a divorce shall not be allowed to remarry any more than the guilty party as long as either wife or husband is living.

At the same time prayers for "Jews, infidels and Turks" are proposed to be omitted on the ground that it is not fair to the Jew to class him with the other two parties.

To those who have a profound respect for the creeds of the past and the past thought of the church it seems that unless changes in those symbolical documents arise out of some vast-spiritual movement in the church they are a mere tinkering with verbal matters of little importance at the present time. This is not a creed-making age; but the clipping and paring of the creeds and the other documents that have meant so much to Christians throughout the whole world and especially to the Christians of the Protestant-Episcopal church is calculated to do more harm than good.

What is meant for reformation may easily be deformation, and while altering the historical documents of the church may add nothing to its spirituality and yet may beget a careless indifference to the documents themselves. Reformation in spiritual matters or church matters never comes in this fashion. A reformation is a big spiritual movement. It is a flood, a mighty torrent and in its course sweeps

LETTER WRITING

The good old fashioned letter writing is not dead yet. It is a commonly asserted in these days that people have ceased to write letters; that they used to write epistles, but now only send messages. Like all other sweeping remarks, this generalization is only partly true. There are people who write with constancy to each other. There are the lovers' letters which always constitute a tremendous item in the correspondence of the country, and which almost disarrange the public service on and about the fourteenth of February. Then there are the letters of brothers and sisters, which should ever be bright and interesting in purity of affection and harmony of interests.

There are the letters which parents write to their children and children to their parents. The home may be judged by these letters, as much by the regularity as the contents of the letters.

There are some people who maintain such constant intimacy and friendship that they write to each other regularly though it may be at long intervals.

There are many persons who are called to write letters in every one of the capacities that I have mentioned. I have heard of good children, who in all quarters of the globe and through all vicissitudes of fortune have never ceased to write to the old home once a week. I just heard of a middle aged woman writing to her mother who is across the ocean every day.

I have been blessed with thoughtful children who have always written regularly from all over the world whether at hotel with things convenient, in camp, or on the line of march of preparedness where only the roughest paper could be had, have thought of home and mother.

With many good friends who write as though they were talking, and the lovely letters from the many California friends especially the Glendale people, while I was east who supplied my mail, and having a deep appreciation of this loving thoughtfulness, I write these lines with the thought of giving a helpful reminder to the one with the neglected letter.

Be Kind and Write

Oh, be kind to those who love you;
 Grieve no human love away
 Twine it tenderly about you,
 Let it bless you day by day
 Tho' the sunlight may not dazzle
 Life has many clouded sky;
 Hoard your treasurers of affection,
 You may need them by and by.
 Oh, be kind to those who love you;
 Give them gladness while you may.
 Here today, tomorrow's sunrise
 May behold you pass away.
 Lavish love on all around you;
 Smiles and sunshine freely strew;
 And like bread upon the water,
 They will yet return to you.
 —ELLA W. RICHARDSON.

LUTHERAN LADIES' GUILD

A very successful meeting of the Lutheran Ladies' Guild was held in the parsonage, 340 S. Central avenue, Thursday. Mrs. Mottern presided and a great deal of work was done for the bazaar, which is to be held toward the close of the month.

away much that men have trusted in for ages. It can never be mechanical. In some respects also, ecclesiastical attempts to improve on the thought of the past are as ludicrous as the effort of Dame Partington to sweep back the ocean with her broom.

WHAT YOUR IDEALS ARE WORTH

What your ideals are worth to you is shown by the sacrifice you will make in order to live-up to them. It sometimes happens that ideals are costly. They have made rich men poor before now. They have cost lives, in not a few instances. But an ideal for which you will not sacrifice is worth no more than any other piece of bric-a-brac. The value you set on your ideals is the sacrifice you will make for them.

Personals

D. W. Nicoles, 1027 W. Seventh street, who has been in the East for some time, visiting relatives, is expected home from Indianapolis, Sunday.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell of North Glendale is a delegate to the Grand Lodge of the O. E. S., which convenes in Santa Barbara next week and will leave for that city early in the week.

Mrs. Bock, 1521 Vine street, who recently broke her leg just above the ankle, is recovering slowly. The fractured bone is knitting again and she is able to sit in a chair, during part of the day.

Among the Glendale ladies who attended the special session of the Friday Morning club, in Los Angeles, Friday, were Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Luther Brown.

Dr. D. R. Dungan, 829 Lomita avenue, is quite seriously ill from an attack of shingles. He also suffers from vertigo, having injured himself by two falls Wednesday. If his health permits, Dr. Dungan will start with his wife in about three weeks for Honolulu. They hope to go thence to Australia in the spring.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, having been invited by Mrs. J. D. Mintier, president of the Montebello Woman's Club, to officiate as judge, on Saturday, at the third annual Flower Carnival of Montebello, has deputed Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden Society, to act in her stead.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower, 1107 W. Seventh street, has removed to 312 E. Broadway. Dr. Harrower, in addition to his practice, is editor of an interesting medical journal entitled "The Link."

Elizabeth, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Farris, has been quite ill with pneumonia the past week, being under the care of a trained nurse. She is somewhat improved at present writing.

John L. Losh who had been employed as a linotype operator in The Evening News publishing and printing plant for a nearly a year leaves today for Phoenix, Ariz., where he hopes the climate may be favorable for the restoration of his health.

Mr. Kirk hopes to win a fine silver loving cup promised by Matthew Walker, manager of the insurance department of the company to the agent writing the largest amount of insurance within a certain time.

John B. McBratney, proprietor of the Irish Linen store, 337 S. Brand boulevard, has arrived in New York from England, where he has spent the last two months, visiting Ireland and purchasing a stock of goods for his stores. Mr. McBratney visited in London and was there during a Zepplin raid. His visit to Ireland in these troublous times has also proved interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts, 707 West 7th street, Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of Glen Eyrre Chapter, Eastern Star, will leave next Monday by motor for Santa Barbara, where they will remain until Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are delegates from Glen Eyrre Chapter to the Grand Lodge, which will be in session from October 16 to 20.

Mrs. L. L. Frazee, who is very well known in Glendale, having lived on West Third street for a time, but is now resident in Los Angeles, is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Schuyler, 1436 Ivy street for a few days. She will also visit other friends in Glendale, prior to leaving Los Angeles for New York City, where she will make her home.

HORSE SHOE CLUB

Quite an interesting game was pitched at the grounds of the Horse Shoe club Tuesday, October 10. The game was remarkable for one feature. Denney in the third and fourth rounds of the game pitched seven double ringers. Score:

	Points.	Ringers
Blatchley	29	24
Wightman	64	24
Pettit	24	15
Denney	55	31

RED CROSS FUNDS

After counting expenses and proceeds of the recent Soldiers' Christmas tea that was held in the Guild room of St. Mark's Episcopal church the committee of the Glendale Branch of the British Red Cross Society of Southern California, is able to make a most favorable report. The officials of the society have pleasure in announcing that the net proceeds of the tea were placed in the Bank of Glendale, Wednesday, and amounted to $33.93. Ten dollars more is to come from Mrs. Lindsay of Glendale Heights.

When this sum has been added to the amount in the treasury and a few more contributions to the "dodger" fund brought in, the society will have more than $50 to its credit this week in comparison to only $6.55 last week.

All the Christmas presents intended for the soldiers in the trenches in Europe were collected and taken into the British Red Cross headquarters in Los Angeles, by the secretary and treasurer. Forty-five parcels in all were given and since the tea several more have been sent in—too late, unfortunately, to catch the Red Cross Christmas shipment.

To the many friends who so generously responded to our appeal for help in connection with the Christmas tea we extend our heartfelt gratitude. We thank them on our own behalf, in behalf of the gallant soldiers at the front and for the dear, old mother country, who looks to her sons and daughters to help her in the great work of caring for those who are so sorely stricken—the wounded, the suffering, the dying of all the nations at war.

It is gratifying to have made so splendid a start. The Glendale branch of the British Red Cross Society meets every Monday, at 2 p. m., in St. Mark's Guild hall. The next regular meeting will take place on Monday, October 16. There is much business to be discussed and transacted and hospital shirts and supplies of all kinds to be made. A large attendance is earnestly desired. The hostesses for next meeting will be the secretary and treasurer of the society.

MRS. GEORGINA WALTERS, President.
MRS. REGINALD WHITAKER, Secretary.
MISS INA WHITAKER, Treasurer.

THE OSTRICH—TWO KINDS
(By Samuel Parker.)

The ostrich on his native heath is not without great reputation, more for size than for beauty, and though some in a fight and more in a race, he is compelled to exercise both these qualities at times. He regards with disgust the approach of the mounted bushman, but finally concludes to escape by running, for which he is well fitted. He might escape by running in a direct line, but choosing to run in a circle gives his pursuer the short line, and the race can have but one ending. Seeing capture inevitable he runs his head into a sand hill, as much as to say, "You can't find me now," forgetting the large portion of his anatomy, some of it featherless, that is all the more exposed as he deeper buries his head in the sand.

The "Booze" Ostrich

California at the present time is the home of a type of this (ig)noble bird (metaphorical), for which the above title will answer, that has cut quite a figure heretofore in business and politics. Long of leg, fat of body and high of head, he has looked around with a sort of "I am monarch of all I survey" air until some timid people became afraid of him. Banned from the coast states of Washington and Oregon, the type has made final lodgement in the southland, where, shorn of his high head prestige he has circled around from one dry section to another, until in utter exhaustion, and seeing capture inevitable he hides his head behind a grapevine and in a tone of voice more funereal than defiant smites the vibrant air with his discordant and dying wail. "Are you going to destroy this industry and make these laboring people idle?" This from his diminutive head behind the grape vine, while from his uncovered and greatly exposed position is seen a procession of ragged and schoolless children long enough to reach across the state, a procession of miserable mothers and widows, with no aspirations above the wash tub and for whom there are no bright skies or glorious climate, and that other procession of debased, aimless, worthless degenerate men, who but for the reign of the booze ostrich, would have been good citizens, heads of happy homes. All this and more was written all over the ample posterior of the booze ostrich, hence, "Rouse him!"

Dropping the booze ostrich it is timely to say that the cry of "destroyed industry" as it relates to the wine grape is false and the booze boosters know it. More wine grape acreage has been cut up and the land devoted to other crops than has been planted in the last twenty years, and thousands of acres in wine grapes are left to rot or dry up because there is no market, no money in trying to handle them. Table and raisin grapes are now and ever will be the staple grapes for California and no danger of an overloaded market.

Yes, Mr. Booze Ostrich, masquerading behind the grape vine, you cannot any longer cover up the enormous injury for which your big unshapely body stands.

The figures, even those made by yourselves, are all against you, and while no permanent harm will be done labor as now employed in any paying industry, by voting dry, something too great to estimate of good will come to the state in the rehabilitation of manhood and the saving of our precious young manhood from the temptation of the dram shop by which 100,000 every year are crushed by the infernal booze juggernaut.

How hypocritical is the boasted booze love for labor. "The poor working man shall he not have the privilege of his dram and his club?" No. Destroyer of labor, no. With all your boasted love of freedom and liberty your main business is to fasten chains on the working man, enslaving him completely. If he drinks you bar him from cheap insurance on his property or life; you bar him from membership in all social and benevolent organizations; you bar him from obtaining work as a mechanic or position as clerk in office, store or bank, express company, or railroad, motor car, jitney or private auto and the entire booze brigade from Oracle Woodhill up or down could not get a job above bung starter (and you would not have him at that). Verily the booze business is the colossal enemy of labor, vote California dry.

This organization is to be known hereafter as the Foothills Valley federation.
The meeting was called to order by P. J. Blake of Tujunga, temporary chairman. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Mr. Granger, secretary pro tem and some discussion, Fred M. Ashby, moderator of the town meeting of Tujunga was unanimously elected president; Mr. Cobb, president of the La Crescenta Improvement association was elected vice president; Mr.

J. H. Johnston of La Canada, secretary and A. Adams, Jr., Sunland, treasurer.
Those present from Tujunga were J. T. Ward, J. B. Green, P. J. Blake, Fred M. Ashby and C. C. Buck. From Sunland S. D. Percy, L. T. Rowley, A. Adams, Jr., S. D. Kirschman, Haflinger and Eagler.
The next meeting of the Foothills Valley federation will be held November 13 at Sunland with the Monte Vista Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Social Function At the Lang Home
Friday evening of last week occurred at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lang on Monte Vista boulevard and Haines Canyon road a most delightful party complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Riffleman of Old Tujunga Homestead and their guests Mr. and Mrs. Beatty of Baltimore,

Md. and Mrs. Slavinsky of North Pine street. The party was given by the members of the Friday Morning Round Table of which Mrs. Lang is a member and was one of a number of pleasant social affairs enjoyed by their society and their friends. At 7:30 o'clock the company of about thirty people was seated at the beautifully appointed tables and a delicious three course dinner was served by a committee of the Round Table assisted by Misses Margaret and Geneva Lang. After the dinner the guests repaired to the drawing room where English walnuts were passed to each of which had been attached a conundrum the answer to which if it could not be solved by the recipient or some one present was found inside the walnut, the meat of which had been cleverly removed and the answer substituted. Social chat, games and music followed and the evening closed with the singing of "Tujunga."

good money be issued to the amount of the faces of the Smith and Brown notes. For the use of this money the local banks pay a fraction of 1 per cent. interest. Thus Smith and Brown are allowed to go on in business without any interruption as formerly. When money becomes plentiful in the local bank the cash is returned to the federal bank for the Smith and Brown notes and so business goes on year after year without any possibility of a financial panic. Mr. Patton gives the Democratic administration the credit for correcting this great defect in the banking system.
The speaker said:
"The political chaos into which the state of California has been plunged in the last six years, presents to its voters this year an unprecedented situation so far as the contest for the United States senatorship is concerned. This issue is between Governor Johnson and myself."
"The governor, a registered member of the late national Progressive party without a presidential nominee, is the nominee of that party in California. As a result of the late primary, he is also a nominee of the national Republican party of California, although not a Republican."
"I am the regular nominee of the national Democratic party now in power in the nation. As such I stand for the reelection of President Wilson, and am now advocating his election from every platform. I neither sought, as I might have done equally with the governor, a nomination other than that of my own party; nor have I ever professed to be other than a straight Democrat. As such at this hour personally and politically I am a believer in Woodrow Wilson and his progressive Democratic ideals. I stand for Wilson and his policies without reservation. My Opponent opposes them. Thus far the issue is clear cut. But the local state situation presents a further issue. I offer to the Democratic voters of Southern California an opportunity to send one of their own political faith to Washington, there to uphold and sustain President Wilson. I offer to the sincere Progressives of this state, recruited four years ago, from both the old parties, an opportunity to vote for a life long, open and avowed progressive Democrat. I offer to the voters of Southern California of all parties the opportunity to be represented at Washington by a Southern California man, identified with their interests, and acquainted with their needs, and personally pledged to stand, as Stephen M. White stood, without qualification for the proper and legitimate protection of their interests. And in this I also stand for political peace and harmony in our state politics, instead of for inharmonious and discord. Nothing could introduce into our state more surely, political strife, on sectional lines than the successful attempt to seize both senatorships for one section. The governor has himself admitted by his acts, that he recognizes this fact."
And in presenting to us a "hand picked" lieutenant governor, he has attempted to forestall our just resentment. It is true that up to this hour this gift has a string tied to it. The governor has not resigned, and our "forward looking" fellow citizen, ex-congressman Stephens, is not only forward looking but anxious looking. And speaking of "forward looking" what could have been more forward looking than that repeal of the article in our constitution two years ago, prohibiting a governor from running for senator while holding the governorship. That article was placed in our constitution in 1879, because of the scandalous misuse, by a California governor of the power and patronage of his great office, to secure his own election to the senate. That power and patronage has been vastly increased in recent years and now more than 7000 gubernatorial appointees are at least a temptation to misuse of this power. I do not charge that they are all working for the governor in this campaign but I know that not one of them is for me.
"If elected a senator from California, I will earnestly and at all times urge and support the rights of our California industries."
The Glendale Municipal band furnished music on the street prior to the opening of the meeting.

VALLEY VIEW

J. B. Wright and family of 1546 Penn street have moved into the house at 1604 Riverdale Drive for a few months while they tear down their own house to give place to a new one.

Frank Bradley and wife, who came to Glendale from Honduras about two years ago and later moved to Los Angeles, started Sunday to New Orleans where Frank has a good position with a transfer company.

Mrs. Gale, who has been living with her sister, Miss Getchell at 839 Pacific avenue for several years moved to Pasadena a few days ago.

Prosperity seems to hit the Japanese peddlers. Two of them and a Greek peddler, have been delivering with auto trucks for several months and on Wednesday three others invested in auto trucks.

Francis Hoopes, who was hurt so seriously in a collision of his motorcycle with an auto delivery truck last Friday is rapidly recovering at his home, 1664 West Colorado. Sammie Merriken, still at the Tropic hospital, is making a plucky up-hill fight and barring unexpected complications will make a complete recovery in a few weeks. It was his clean living that pulled him through one of the doctors said. Sammie is well known and liked in Glendale having lived on Oak street for a year or more previous to the recent move into Los Angeles. He graduated from the Glendale High school last June. This accident has developed one of those inexplicable differences in testimony so common in this old world. The owner of the truck and his driver declare positively that they were on the right side of the road and that Francis, driver of the motorcycle, had his head turned to one side talking to Sam, and smashed into them before they could get out of the way, though they ran the truck into the curb. Francis declares with Sam that they were on the right side of the street, but that the others were not. One man claimed the tracks showed that the truck was on the proper side of the road and another that the tracks showed just the opposite to be true. Another said the tracks showed that the truck swung in on Colorado from Columbus and another that the truck was at a standstill when the collision occurred. So there you are.
A Los Angeles contractor has bought the two lots on Pacific avenue and Riverdale Drive, facing east and will build a house on them soon.
A family by the name of Franklin has moved into the house at 1519 Colorado.

GLEN EYRIE INITIATES

The regular meeting of Glen Eyrie Chapter, Eastern Star, was held at Masonic Temple Thursday evening, October 12, at 8 p. m. Many were the exclamations of pleasure on the part of the members as they entered the lodge room. These were due to the decorations, many bouquets of beautiful dahlias provided by Mrs. Salo Desky. Mrs. Desky has some of the most beautiful varieties of dahlias grown and in her garden they have reached perfection. The colors varied from scarlet to the autumn colors and the lighter shades.
Mrs. Arthur N. Richardson was initiated into the order and after the regular business of the lodge had been disposed of, plans were made for the Halloween party to be given at Masonic Temple on the evening of October 26. This party is for members and their escorts. The ladies of the Chapter are industriously at work making little silk bags in which each one will enclose an amount corresponding to the years of his or her life, for the Halloween party. Mrs. T. D.
