Our Neighbor Gives Us a Boost

An article in the Monterey American giving details of the progress of the Pebble Beach section, concludes as follows:

The climatic conditions are all very good. On Sunday, for instance, while the Point Pinos section and away beyond Point Joe was nearly all day enveloped in fog, out at Pebble Beach and Carmel there was sunshine most of the day.

Another feature that makes Pebble Beach attractive is that it is located so near the artistic and literary elements of Carmel. The running of the drive into Carmel was an excellent stroke of business. These two places should be closely connected, and the one will be of much value to the other. We believe that the day is not far distant when all that section will rival Pasadena and the favored sections of the south.

New Fire Company Organized

A joint meeting of the newly created fire commission and Carmel Chemical Company No. 1 was held last Wednesday evening.

To meet legal requirements and to obtain authority, it was found necessary to disband the old organization. A new company was organized, which has taken over the property of the disbanded company, and officers were elected as follows: Foreman, J. E. Nichols; first assistant foreman, Ralph W. Hicks; second assistant foreman, Harry Aucourt; treasurer, W. M. Basham; secretary, W. L. Overstreet.

Twenty-three persons signed the roll, and pledged themselves as follows:

"I solemnly promise that I am joining this fire company upon my own free will; that I will do all within my power to protect life and property. I will respond promptly to all fire calls, and obey all orders of my superior officers, rules and laws set forth by this organization and this state. I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of California. To the performance of all this I pledge my sacred word of honor. So help me God."

Miss Morgan's Picture Is Selected

The picture that will be presented to the student body of the Salinas high school by the graduating class is the work of Miss M. DeNeale Morgan.

It is a beautiful study of land and sky near Monterey and is done in opaque water color. This will be the first water color painting given to the school, those by Piazzoni, Boroñdo and Hobart are oils.

For Sale BAY MARE, kind, gentle; for lady to drive; also fine in saddle. Rubber-tired buggy, harness, robe and whip. All for $100 if sold at once. Inquire 706 Walnut st., Pacific Grove.

Take a Drive in The Carmel Valley

Have you visited this glorious section this spring? A trip into the Carmel Valley will reveal its wonderful productiveness and unsurpassed beauty. The sagebrush covering the slopes on the northern side is inspiring of color, and the wild flowers are beautiful and plentiful.

The farmers are exceedingly busy, working early and late, and the orchards and farms are being put in shape for an unprecedentedly large harvest. The prospects for excellent fruit crops were never better, especially is this true of the pear crop.

The Carmel river is still running high, but from day to day is receding and should be in splendid shape on May 1, when the trout fishing season begins. Residents along the river state that fish are plentiful, and with the opening of the season a month later than heretofore should be large.

The roads are now in fairly good condition, but with the coming of summer's heavy traffic many problems will present themselves. If the county fathers would speed up a bit many a farmer would rise and call them blessed.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Practically all the children in our local school are now affiliated with the National Audubon Society.

An important meeting of the Western Drama Society has been called for Saturday evening at the Heron residence.

On Friday afternoon Miss M. Louise Hutchinson gave instruction to the upper grades in watercolor painting of birds.

In a field and track meet between Lowell and Monterey high school teams, which was won by the latter, our Eugene Gillett scored fifteen points.

Moving picture programme: Next Saturday, Marguerite Clark in "The Goose Girl." Next Tuesday, Charles Van Loan's famous story "Buckshot John." Saturday, April 29, Belasco's California play "The Rose of the Rancho."

Says Country Needs Roosevelt

Special Dispatch to the S. P. Chronicle.

New York, April 12. — Under the caption "Colonel Roosevelt for President," the New York Tribune, for scores of years a leading Republican journal, will print an editorial, saying, in part:

"We are for Colonel Roosevelt because we believe the country needs him. No one else will quicken the pulse of the nation as he will quicken it. No one will stir the conscience of the people as he will stir it. No one else will inspire patriotism as he will inspire it."

Scope of the Stage as Schiller Saw It

"The man who first pronounced religion to be the strongest pillar of the state," wrote Schiller in one of his essays, "unconsciously defended the stage when he said so, in its noblest aspect: The uncertain nature of political events, rendering religion a necessity, also demands the stage as a moral force."

"Where the influence of civil laws ends, that of the stage begins. Where venality and corruption blind and bias judgment and justice, and intimidation perverts its ends, the stage seizes the sword and scales, and pronounces a terrible verdict on vice. But in this the stage only aids justice. A far wider field is really open to it. There are a thousand vices unnoticed by human justice, but condemned by the stage; so, also, a thousand virtues overlooked by man's laws are honored on the stage. It is thus the handmaiden of religion and philosophy. From these pure sources it draws its high principles and the exalted teachings, and presents them in lovely form.

"But the stage does even more than this. It is a great school of practical wisdom—a guide for civil life, and a key to the mind in all its sinuosities. It drags off the mask from the hypocrite, and betrays the meshes of intrigue. Duplicity and cunning have been forced by it to show their hideous features in the light of day.

"Not only man's mind, but also his intellectual culture, has been promoted by the higher drama. The lofty mind and the ardent patriot have often used the stage to spread enlightenment.

"Considering nations and ages, the thinker sees the masses enchained by opinion and cut off by adversity from happiness; truth only lights up a few minds, who perhaps have to acquire it by the trials of a lifetime. How can the wise ruler put these within the reach of his nation?

"The thoughtful and the worthier section of the people diffuse the light of wisdom over the masses through the stage. Purer and better principles and motives issue from the stage, and circulate through society; the night of barbarism and superstition vanishes.

"Opinions about governments and classes might be reformed by the stage. Legislation could justify itself by foreign symbols, and silence doubtful aspersions without offense.

"Now, if poets would be patriotic they could do much on the stage to forward invention and industry. A standing theatre would be a material advantage to a nation. It would have a great influence on the national temper and mind by helping the nation to agree in opinions and inclinations. The stage alone can do this. It commands all human knowledge, exhausts all positions, illuminates all hearts, unites all classes, and makes its way to the heart and understanding by the most popular channels.

"If one feature characterized all dramas; if the poets were allied in aim—that is, if they selected well and from national topics—there

Interesting Character Visits
Carmel

"World-Citizen Jim," whose eccentric pilgrimage has given him a variety of free advertising across the continent wandered into the Pine Cone office last Friday afternoon. He is on a barefoot tour of the world and declares he would not consider his journey complete did he fail to visit Carmel.

The real name of the traveler is James Luhn Lonefeather, and he was born in Switzerland. His father was a Sioux and his mother a Swiss. The couple met in St. Louis while appearing in a circus.

Jim says he has walked over a hundred thousand miles barefoot since he left Switzerland in 1897. Sometimes he works, but his main meal ticket is procured by giving singing and dancing entertainments.

He met Barone, who was here last August, at El Paso, Texas.

would be a national stage, and we should become a nation. It was this that knit the Greeks so strongly together, and this gave to them the all-absorbing interest in the republic and the advancement of humanity."

Peace (H) at Any Price

By the irony of trade one of the fads of Spring millinery is the "peace hat," adorned with the wings of a dove.

It is no wonder the National Audubon Society is marshaling its hosts in attack on sellers and wearers of the headdress that means further reduction of species of birds already considerably diminished. For the peace of the doves the fashion makers have scant concern.

Plans are on foot to organize a Parents' Club, the object of which is to interest parents more fully in the work of our public school. In order to accomplish the best results the school authorities need the cooperation of the parents.

The Farmer and the Auto.

It was Shakespeare who found "tongues in trees, in the running brooks books, sermons in stones and good in everything." But the bard never saw nor even imagined an automobile. If he had he would surely have said something concerning "education in motor cars."

The farm automobile is a bigger educational agency than the farmers' institute, or the farm bureau, or the extension department.

A farmer with a car cannot be exclusive. He rides about the country and sees what other farmers are doing. His range of vision goes way beyond the farms of his immediate neighbors. A grower can visit the markets within a reasonable circuit and return with definite information as to the best way to dispose of his products. The automobile bridges the distance for all activities.

No one will deny that for the farmer the automobile is a great means of education—of practical knowledge, the kind that counts.

Serra's Paradise

There is no renowned critic who can e'er give comment;
 There is no artist who can paint with all his talent;
 No writer who has the world's best education,
 And no poet who has the divine inspiration;
 No speaker who can an encomium deliver;
 No minister or priest or wise sermon-giver;
 None there are who can laud—least of all we—

A Record-breaker
 Records for number of visitors in Carmel will be broken this year. The largest contingent of Easter week sojourners that has yet gathered is now here. They come mostly from Berkeley, Palo Alto and San Francisco.

Judging by the number of cottages being rented for the coming summer months, we are going to have a problem to house all who desire to come here this year. The Pine Cone real estate department and others in the renting business are replying to a number of inquiries daily concerning the rental of cottage.
