WHY WOMAN WAS SPIRITED AWAY

FEARED REPETITION OF THE "THIRD DEGREE"

Labor Leader Examined by Darrow at Hearing of Bribery Case

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—The prosecution of a sudden ending of the trial of C. S. Darrow, for alleged jury-bribery, disappeared upon the convening of the trial to-day when the prosecution receded from the position taken yesterday and that it would not participate in any procedure permitting the defence to introduce witnesses at this time.

A. Johansson, a San Francisco labor leader, was on the stand and was examined by Mr. Darrow himself, while Chief Counsel Rogers, of the defence, temporarily withdrew from the court room.

Judge Hutton explained to the district attorney at the opening of the court that only such testimony would be allowed as would show the connection between Earl Rogers and the attempted spiriting away of Mr. Caplan, while the former was an attorney of the prosecution in the Times dynamite case.

Fredericks then consented to the placing on the stand of Johansson and O. A. Tretmore, another San Francisco labor leader.

Johansson testified that Mrs. Caplan was "hounded" to such an extent by Burns detectives and others connected with the McNamara prosecution, that she was compelled to leave the state in order to make a living. Rogers, he said, Mrs. Caplan told him, had brow beat her and humiliated her before the Los Angeles county grand jury, where she had no protection. Darrow, he testified, knew nothing of the "spiriting away" of the woman.

"Were you not strongly suspected of being the man who engineered the blowing up of the Times building?" asked District Attorney Fredericks on cross-examination.

"Suspected by whom?" retorted Johansson.

"By the properly constituted law authorities of the state of California," solemnly replied the prosecutor.

"I have no means of knowing what their suspicions were," said Johansson. Fredericks then questioned the witness with reference to his friendship with Matt Schmidt, one of the alleged dynamiters of the Times building. Johansson refused to answer on the ground that he was under federal indictment for conspiracy, growing out of that case, and that any testimony he would give might incriminate him.

Johansson also referred to the presence in the court room of Oscar Lawler, special government prosecutor in the dynamite conspiracy case, saying that one of his reasons for not answering questions bearing on his indictment was the co-operation between the federal and state government in what he declared to be "persecution" of him.

The prosecution brought out upon cross-examination that Johansson had sent a telegram from Reno, Nev., to John F. Harrington, then chief investigator for the McNamara defence, telling of the arrival there of himself and Mrs. Caplan. The district attorney intimated that he would connect Darrow with Mrs. Caplan's departure from the state through Harrington.

Mrs. Flora Caplan, wife of one of the alleged dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times building, was spirited away from California not to evade testimony at the trial of J. B. McNamara, but to evade a repetition of the "third degree," which she was said to have undergone at the hands of the dynamite conspiracy investigators, of whom Earl Rogers, now chief counsel to the defence, was one.

This, it was hinted after the close of yesterday's session of the Darrow trial, would be shown when the defence placed upon the witness stand A. Tretmore and A. Johansson, who were instrumental in getting Mrs. Caplan out of the state.

Rogers yesterday insisted upon this procedure in order to protect himself from the charge of unethical conduct as well as to protect his client.

The prosecution resisted it on the ground that a movement was being made to cloud the chief issue in the case and that if there was anything unethical it was a question which rested between Rogers and his client.

To make their position stronger members of the prosecution declared that they would not participate in any arrangement departing from that arranged for the presentation of the state's case.

To-day after Judge Hutton's explanation the district attorney consented to the two men being placed on the stand.

MUST RETURN TO NEBRASKA.

Edmonton, Alta., June 15.—Despite the best efforts of H. H. Robertson, who has made every effort in his power to have Harvey Phillamalee kept in the Dominion of Canada, the application for a writ of habeas corpus was squashed at Calgary and as a result Phillamalee must return to the state of Nebraska to stand trial on a charge of theft by conversion.

FIGHT WITH EAGLE.

Man Rescues Baby Daughter After Hard Struggle.

Bridgewater, Conn., June 15.—Screams of his baby daughter brought Randolph Creewald, of Westport, from his home yesterday to see the child in the claws of a gigantic eagle, which was just leaving the ground. Grasping a club, Creewald rushed on the bird and struck it. The eagle, which was then about two feet off the ground, dropped the baby and flew at the father. Creewald seized his daughter, beat off the bird and ran. The bird followed, lunging at him savagely.

Mrs. Creewald, hearing the noise, ran for her husband's shotgun. Taking the baby, she handed her husband the weapon. Creewald gave the bird the first charge square in the breast. With a scream of pain, the eagle flew at him and received the contents of the second barrel, which killed it. The bird measured seven feet from tip to tip of its wings, and was three feet in length. It weighed twenty-seven pounds.

ASQUITH ATTACKED BY SUFFRAGETTE

SCENE AT RECEPTION
AT INDIA OFFICE

Woman Tried to Tear Epaullets
Off the Premier's
Coat

London, June 15.—White Premier Asquith was holding an official reception in the India Office last night in honor of the King's birthday, an elegantly attired suffragette, who had been announced as a guest, approached and tried to tear the epaullets off the premier's official coat. Mrs. Asquith tried to rescue her husband from the unwelcome attentions of the woman, and then an usher literally dragged the suffragette away from the premier and ejected her from the building.

Mr. Asquith, Mrs. Asquith and Miss Asquith were receiving the guests at the foot of the stairway when the suffragette, who was about thirty years old, advanced and then an usher dragged the woman away from the epaullets. The premier extended his hand, but instead of shaking it and proceeding, the woman stepped to Premier Asquith's side and then placed both hands on the premier's shoulders and began tugging vigorously at the epaullets. The premier shook her off, but still the woman persisted in her attack.

Meanwhile Mrs. Asquith came to her husband's aid and the usher seized the woman by the wrist and dragged her away. She stubbornly resisted, however, until she was ejected from the building.

A couple of minutes later a pale faced youth of about 20 years, was introduced to the premier, and took hold of Mr. Asquith's arms roughly and said something inaudible. He was thrown out of the room.

According to some reports of the occurrence, the woman whose name was not made known, beat Premier Asquith over the head with her fan.

LONDON MAN STARVES HIMSELF TO DEATH

Had Money in Bank but Picked Up Crusts on the Streets

London, June 15.—A strange story of a retired excise officer who signed cheques for large sums and yet starved himself to death was heard at an inquest at Bethel Green on Dennis Dominic Keller, 63 years old.

The coroner's office produced a cheque book which showed that Keller had given to his brother two cheques of £2,000 pounds, and two of £200 each on the National Bank.

Keller's landlady said that he occupied a furnished room in her house, the rent of which was 2s. 6d a week, but, she added, "he could not pay that."

"I have never known him even to have a cup of tea," she told the coroner. "I have seen him pick up fish and potatoes which other men had thrown away in the street, and even dry crusts."

It was stated that Keller had not worn a shirt during the 12 years he had lived in the house.

When Keller was taken to the infirmary £14 in cash was found on him, but he died of starvation.

POLICE INVESTIGATE CHICAGO MYSTERY

Woman Held Pending Inquiry
Into the Deaths of Five Persons

Chicago, June 15.—Mrs. Louise Lindorf, 45 years of age, was arrested yesterday pending investigation of the deaths of her two husbands and three children, one of whom, a son, died yesterday. The five are said to have carried insurance amounting to $19,000.

The arrests are the result of a chemical examination of the viscera of Arthur Lindorf, 15 years old, the boy was supposed to have died of pancreatic trouble. Dr. Leypunt became suspicious and notified the police.

RATEPAYERS COMPLAIN.

Declare They Are Not Represented
Owing to Councillor's Absence
From Meetings.

South Vancouver, June 15.—Many ratepayers presented themselves and many matters of importance were dealt with at the council meeting in the municipal hall, but the most important was a request from the ratepayers of ward one, asking the council to act regarding the resignation of Councillor Robinson, as they claimed with his continued absence from the council meetings it meant that they were not receiving proper representation at the meetings. The vice-councillor in question, and that he had obtained little satisfaction from him. In any event his lapse of attendance meant that in a short time the three months would be up, and the council would be able to declare his seat vacant.

MANY DRIVEN FROM HOMES BY FLOOD

ARIZONA TOWN HAS BEEN ABANDONED

Work Gangs, Isolated by Rising
Waters, Are Threatened
With Starvation

Needles, Cal., June 15.—Alarming reports that the Colorado river had begun to cut a new channel that would carry it into the Salton sea were brought to Parker last night by river men. The river continued to rise last night, and although it was believed that the high water mark had been reached, there was no prospect for a subsidence of the flood for at least two weeks.

The report brought to Parker was that private dykes, and in some places great portions of the government work, had begun to crumble, and that thousands of acres of rich land were already under water. In the Mojave Valley valuable alfalfa crops and other farm products were reported totally ruined. On the Arizona side of the river, the town of Lincolnville has been entirely abandoned. In Needles the Santa Fe launched more power boats to-day to strengthen the brush and rock dams in an effort to protect the city.

Halfstones measuring 15 inches in circumference covered the ground in places. The storm covered a strip of territory about a mile in width.

SAFEGUARDING OF LIFE AT SEA

UNITED STATES HAS NEW
MARINE REGULATIONS

Liners Must Have Lifeboats to Carry Every Passenger and Member of Crew

Washington, D. C., June 15.—All ocean steamers entering American ports must be equipped with lifeboats sufficient to carry at any time every passenger and member of the crew, according to new regulations of the steamboat inspection service, approved by Secretary Nagel.

In the cases of coastwise, lake, bay and sound steamers, lifeboats for all must be carried except from May 15 to September 15, when such travel is comparatively safe. During that period coastwise steamers must have life-saving capacity for at least 60 per cent of those on board; and lake, bay and sound steamers for at least 30 per cent. In cases of the latter class of vessels provision need be made for only 10 per cent of the passengers and crew if the boats do not go further than five miles from land, or do not navigate waters deep enough to cover the vessel in case of disaster.

River steamers are required to have lifeboat accommodations for 10 per cent of those on board.

At the offices of the railway men's union the committee was "waiting patiently" for word that a conference had been arranged. It is expected that the men will have a chance to put their case before the directors early next week and this will probably be the assurance that will be given the men at their regular meeting.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN ZION CITY

FOUR FOLLOWERS OF VOLIVA INJURED

Trouble Result of Refusal of Workmen to Cease Use of Tobacco

Chicago, June 15.—Declaring twelve Taft delegates from Texas entitled to seats in the Republican national committee, claimed by an equal number of Roosevelt supporters, the Republican national committee at its first session to-day increased to 185 the total of contests decided to date in favor of the president. Two votes were put in the Roosevelt column, increasing his total from contests to 15.

The summary follows: National contests at outset—214; decided to date, 209; Taft delegates seated, 185; Roosevelt delegates seated, 15; contests yet to be decided, 54.

The national committee first took up the contest involving the eight delegates at large from Texas for the Taft delegates as opposed to the Roosevelt eight, headed by National Committeeman Cecil A. Lyon.

The vote seating the contestants was viva voce and a sub-motion declaring the Roosevelt delegates entitled to seats was voted down in the same manner. Eighteen members—two less than the required number—joined in a demand for a rollcall.

The first and second districts of Texas also were decided in favor of the Taft forces, the Roosevelt delegates appearing as the contestants. The votes on them were unanimous. The fourth district delegates were also sworn to Taft.

The vote followed a lively debate in which Taft representatives from the Lone Star state accused Cecil Lyon, national committeeman and Roosevelt leader, of hoarding Texas Republicans, and in which Lyon accused members of the contesting Taft delegation of having run for office on Democratic tickets and of having bolted the Republican ticket.

The Texas decision was followed by a scene of disorder outside the committee room, where there was wild cheering of several hundred Taft adherents, mingled with hooting and groans by the Roosevelt delegates.

Aroused by the unseating of two of the Roosevelt delegates from California, the California delegation held a conference and adopted resolutions which were construed by many to indicate that they stood ready to participate in a bolt if their leader, Governor Johnson, would say the word.

Winnipeg, June 15.—Charles Monkman, an employee of John Gunn & Sons' lumber mill at Point du Bois, was fatally injured in the mill, dying six hours after his mangled body was found and picked up by other men at the mill. Monkman is believed to have been mangled by the machinery when his rapidly revolving shafting. He was whirling about for upward of a minute before the clothing finally parted and the limp and broken body was hurled to the floor. Not a vestige of clothing was left on the body, even the tightly laced boots having been drawn and beaten off. Both his legs were broken in half a dozen places and the upper part of his body was terribly battered.

Monkman never lost consciousness and was even able to speak to those about him until the doctor arrived. He died, almost without warning, a minute after the doctor had completed the work of setting splints to the broken limbs.

Swanson, who is a widower and the father of three small children, the oldest being a girl of thirteen, purchased a lot in West Vancouver recently and on Thursday left home to spend the day clearing it. He did not return that night and his children becoming alarmed, the little girl went over to West Vancouver yesterday morning in search of him. #### VANCOUVER POLICE STATION.

Twelve Designs Submitted But None Suitable, Declares Building Committee.

Vancouver, June 15.—Not a single plan out of the twelve sent in to the building committee by architects competing for the new police station design is suitable. It was stated at the conclusion of a meeting of the committee. The members went up to the office of Architect A. A. Cox, who is the supervisor in connection with the competition, and looked over the designs. Practically all of the twelve were well done it is said, but the architects did not succeed in getting what the committee wanted in the way of a police station building. Not one of the plans was even approximately right from the point of view of police station requirements, declared a member of the committee. The committee is stated to be in somewhat of a quandary about adopting any of the plans and having them changed to suit, as there are several which stand almost equal chances in that respect, and if the committee starts making alterations in the designs it might as well alter any or all of them.

Another meeting is to be held next week. The committee may possibly select an architect and have him draw plans from the ideas of the committee members and the police chief, instead of trying to select from the designs of the competitors, who, it is stated, did not receive any such ideas from the officials or aldermen.

MEXICAN REBELS TO FIGHT NEAR BORDER

Leaders Said to Be Ready to Flee to United States if Necessary

Mexico City, June 15.—A special to El Imparcial from General Huerta's headquarters, viced personally by the federal commander, stated that Orozco, Salazar and other rebel chiefs had gone to Juarez, according to information received there, and it was understood they had abandoned the idea of defending Chihuahua, but would continue operations near the international boundary, so they could escape into American territory if necessary.

A battle at Piedricina, southwest of Torreon, between rebels under Argumado and federals under Calisto Contreras, of Blanquet's command, resulted in seventy dead and wounded among the rebels.

The federals captured cannon, horses, arms and ammunition. Argumado himself was said to have been mortally wounded. This is believed by federals to have ended the rebel campaign around Torreon. Argumado's men, to the number of 200, are said to be struggling northward, half dead from exposure and privation.

Rebel Flank Checked.

Chihuahua, June 15.—By destroying four small railroad bridges northeast of here, Col. Toribio Ortega, in command of the vanguard of the federal columns under Gen. Sanjinez, converging on this city from Ojinaga, has prevented the arrival of a large supply of wheat.

It is the first check the east flank of rebels has experienced. From the west nearly 3,500 federals are reported marching on Chihuahua.

CHURCH UNION.

Methodist Conference May Meet in Special Session to Consider Question.

Winnipeg, June 15.—Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist conference, in addressing the Methodist conference yesterday, expressed his unbounded satisfaction at the conclusion reached by the Presbyterian assembly at Edmonton, regarding church union. While he did not commit the church to any course of procedure, he thought personally that it was desirable that the proposed union should take place. The committee of the convention would likely meet in July and they would decide on the advisability of calling the general conference for a special meeting. It would, in his opinion, be unwise for the Methodist church to delay proceedings, as there would be no undue haste.

RECORD WHEAT CROP PREDICTED

James Carruthers Estimates This Year's Yield at 250,000,000 Bushels

Montreal, June 15.—A conservative estimate of the spring wheat crop for this year, given by James Carruthers, the grain dealer of this city, is 250,000,000 bushels.

"If," said Mr. Carruthers yesterday, "our estimate works out, and we have reason to believe it will if the weather conditions in the Northwest stay as good as at present, we will have produced the biggest wheat crop in the history of Canada."

Crop Report.

Ottawa, June 15.—A crop report of the census and statistical office issued yesterday, states that throughout the greater part of Canada the spring this year has been cold, wet and backward. Continuous rains, especially in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Quebec, have greatly interfered with the spring seeding and at the end of May large areas in those provinces, particularly in the low lying lands, were still unseeded. The area under fall wheat, deducting that which was winter-killed in Ontario and Alberta, is placed at 21,000 acres. Spring wheat occupies 9,145,000 acres and the total wheat area amounts, therefore, to 9,955,000 acres. Oats show an area of 5,486,000 acres, and hay 1,425,000 acres. Rye, peas and mixed grains have a total acreage of 884,000, and the area of hay and clover is 7,994,000 acres. Alfalfa is sown in 112,000 acres.

Conditions at the end of May, as measured against a standard, promise a full crop for all the products reported—wheat, excepting fall wheat, the present conditions of which, viz. 71.46, is lower than that of any of the three previous years at the same date. This crop, suffered from the exceptionally severe winter in Ontario and from the lack of sufficient snow in Alberta, while the bad spring added to the depletion of growth.

Wheat is 74.21, as against 66.46 last spring; oats 91.57, as against 84.75; barley 91.98, against 85.46; rye 82.18, against 80.26; peas 83.85, against 82.18; mixed grains 87.72, against 83.84. The conditions of hay and clover is 96.46 as compared with 76.16 at the end of April, and 94.16 at the end of May, 1911. Alfalfa, where grown, shows this year an average condition of 96.62, for three Northwest provinces. The areas are, as estimated on May 31, wheat 6,222,000 acres; oats 5,807,000 acres, and barley 837,000 acres.

The condition of the cereals in the Northwest provinces is over 95 per cent of the standard, except for fall wheat in Alberta, where it is 76.62 per cent. In Saskatchewan the area under fall wheat is estimated at 53,000 acres, and its percentage ending May 31, was 82.28.

ANTI-HOME RULE DEMONSTRATION

Sir E. Carson Says Government is Poor Judge of Imperial Matters

London, June 15.—Sir Edward Carson, speaking at an anti-Home Rule demonstration held in the Albert hall last night, said in part:

"There never were worse judges of imperial matters than the present government. I venture to think the story of negotiations between Canada and the United States, as far as it affects the government at home is one of the most disgraceful and mischievous examples ever cited in the history of this country.

"Now we know the object of the Americans was the making of Canada an adjunct of their country, and by so doing transfer Canada's trade to Chicago and New York. We know this from a letter which has been published. I say nothing about the propriety of publishing the letter, but just let me refer you to what the mighty Imperial government said in regard to the reciprocity negotiations.

"I first take Mr. Lloyd George, who said: 'I rejoice to think the reciprocity can be negotiated and heartily hope that it will be carried to a successful conclusion.' He was desiring that Canada should be an adjunct of the United States (shame).

"Here is what the prime minister said: 'We are celebrating the obsequies of that which used to be called Imperial preference.' If he was celebrating anything he would be celebrating, but for the loyalty of the people of Canada, the obsequies of the British Empire.

"Here was Sir Edward Grey's boast: 'We have been careful not to put forward any policy of preference between Great Britain and Canada which would be an obstacle in the way of reciprocity negotiations between Canada and the United States.'

"They are a nice lot. (Cheers and laughter.) They say 'only trust these Irish and all will be well.' I say, 'Where do you derive your right to prophesy? Is it from your Canadian experiences or is it from the history of these men?' From their past actions or their present? From my own experience I know these men better than Premier Asquith does. Anyway, if I do not, I must be a fool."

ANOTHER ACTION AGAINST DOCTOR

Suit to Recover Money and Jewelry From "Starvation" Specialist

Seattle, Wash., June 15.—British Consul C. E. Lucian Agassiz as administrator of the estate of Claire Williamson, has served "papers in a suit" against Dr. Linda Burfield Hazzard and her husband, Samuel E. Hazzard, for $1,450, alleged to be the value of money and jewellery belonging to Claire Williamson and retained by the Hazzards unlawfully after her death.

Claire Williamson was a patient of Dr. Hazzard's and died after following the starvation cure for some weeks. Dr. Hazzard was accused of murder in the first degree, in the Kitsap county superior court, and was found guilty of manslaughter. Her case is now on appeal to the supreme court, and the doctor is enjoying her liberty on a bond.

It is declared by Mr. Agassiz that after Claire Williamson's death the Hazzards took charge of her money and jewellery, and have refused to give up the property.

The suit will be filed in Kitsap county, the sanitarium of the Hazzards being at Glalla, Kitsap county.

Mrs. Hazzard has maintained her headquarters at Seattle since the murder trial, and has recently completed a fast of forty days, besides lecturing frequently.

COACHING MARATHON.

London, June 15.—The honors of the coaching Marathon, in connection with the Richmond horse show, were divided between Alfred G. Vanderbilt and Judge William H. Moore, who took first prizes for road and private coaches respectively.

Twenty-three competitors started from Hyde Park corner and drove to Richmond, and a large crowd of spectators gathered all along the route to see the four-in-hands pass.

Mr. Vanderbilt also was awarded the second prize for private coaches.

SIZED LUMBER DUTY.

No Action Will Be Taken Until Supreme Court Hears Appeal.

Ottawa, June 15.—No duty is being collected or has been collected on sized lumber except in the test case, was the statement issued by Commissioner of Customs McDougald, C. M. G., yesterday.

This gives the lie to the statements that the minister of customs had issued a decree calling for the payment of 25 per cent upon sized lumber and that the duty is still being collected upon every carload that enters prairie provinces. The customs commissioner supplemented the above statement with the following:

"The department of customs has not ruled sized lumber to be dutiable when sawn on three sides and not further manufactured than dressed on one side. No ruling making such lumber dutiable was ever issued from the department. The B. C. lumbermen contend that such lumber is subject to duty, and an order was made to have the matter tested in the courts. The collector of customs at Winnipeg collected the duty on one carload of such lumber so as to make a test case for the courts. The importers, the Foss Company, applied to the department for the return of the duty and the minister referred the case to the courts for decision as to whether such lumber is dutiable or not. Mr. Justice Cassels in the Exchequer court ruled that the lumber in question was subject to duty. The importers have appealed to the Supreme court, and the question of collecting duty remains in abeyance until the matter will be decided by that body."

GEOLOGIST TO SPEND SUMMER IN NORTH

R. G. McConnell Will Report on District Between Prince Rupert and Aldermere

Vancouver, June 15.—R. G. McConnell, of the Dominion geological survey, has arrived from Ottawa and will leave in a few days for the north to undertake a geological examination of the region along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Prince Rupert in Aldermere in Bulkley Valley. Some of the results will be published in an official guide book to be prepared by the Dominion government in time for the international geological congress which meets in Toronto in August.

A number of the delegates will later tour the west, one of the excursions arranged for being a trip up the Skeena river. Mr. McConnell will next autumn resume his geological examination of Texada Island, a task on which he has been engaged for several years. He is one of the oldest members of the geological survey department and has visited many parts of the Dominion. He spent several seasons at the Yukon reporting on the placer camps near Dawson.

CONDEMN LEE FOR BIOGRAPHING OF KING

London Daily Telegraph Says It is an Act of Gaucherie and Tactlessness

New York, June 15.—A London cable says Sidney Lee's biography of King Edward VII. has evoked criticism on the ground that so critical an estimate of his late Majesty's career should not have been published so soon after his death. The Daily Telegraph is particularly severe in its denunciation of what is described as an act of gaucherie and tactlessness.

Mr. Lee replies in a letter, explaining that the Dictionary of National Biography, in which the memoir appears, is a work of historical reference, which exists to furnish the historical student with carefully treated facts in as concise a form as is consistent with completeness. "The biography of Edward VII. respects the principles which have given the work its reputation among historical scholars all over the world. To have given to the memoir of his late Majesty exceptional space would have been injurious alike to the character of the dictionary, which is generally respected as the standard authority."

The Telegraph comments as follows: "Mr. Lee refers to the authoritative character of the life in question. He himself explained as to the sources of his authority in the course of an interview in the Daily Mail. He said, 'My sources of information were chiefly conversational. I have discussed the material for the biography with most of the leading men of the present day. I have had access to many unpublished papers, such, for instance, as the diary of the late Sir Charles Dilke.'"

"If these are the foundations upon which he has built up his biography of Edward VII. no further comment is needed to justify our unhesitating condemnation of a work which shows a deplorable want of judgment and tact."

C. N. R. EXPENDITURES.

British Columbia Payroll for May Amounted to $724,306.

Vancouver, June 15.—According to figures prepared in the executive offices here the total disbursements of the C. N. R. on construction account on Vancouver Island and the mainland as well as engineering expenses for last month amounted to $724,306, as compared with $550,000 during April, when the I. V. W. strike was at its height. The highwater mark was reached in March when the payroll totalled $1,100,000, with a working force of about 6,000 men. June will restore the payroll almost to its former figure, as there are now 4,000 men in the various camps and about 100 new men are being hired daily.

WITNESSES TELL OF CANCER RESEARCH

Interesting Evidence Given at Hearing of Action in London

London, June 15.—Owing to the testimony on the causes and cure of cancer in a libel suit brought by Dr. Robert Bell, an aged Mayfair physician, against Dr. E. A. Bashford, superintendent of the Imperial Cancer Research fund, physicians and the public generally are deeply interested in the case. The court-room was crowded on Thursday, many physicians and women being present.

Dr. Bell gave up the use of the knife in cancer cases in 1894 and the present action grows out of an article headed "Cancer, Credulity and Quackery," written by Dr. Bashford and published in the British Medical Journal. The article contained statements which Dr. Bell contended practically accused him of being a "quack," an impostor and unfit to practice.

In the treatment of cancer now, Dr. Bell prescribes a vegetable diet, his theory being that the cause of the disease may be traced to impurity of the blood. Dr. Bashford maintains that his treatment is ineffective and that the theory is erroneous, but disclaims any prejudice against experimentation with new methods of curing the dread disease.

Under cross-examination Dr. Bashford admitted that many eminent surgeons agreed that the blood had to be treated to cure cancer. Dr. Bashford said that since 1860 in England and Wales cancer deaths among males had increased from 200 to 800, and among females from 500 to 1,000 in the million. He said there were 30,000 deaths a year now from the disease, due to the great increase in cases of cancer of the stomach and intestines.

Dr. Bashford said a toxic treatment was useless and dangerous, as, according to Prof. Koch, it produced blindness.

In reply to the questions as to whether, during the period in which the number of cancer cases had been doubled, the importation of meat had not been doubled also, Dr. Bashford believed that to be the case. Dr. Walter Barlow, director of the cancer research department of Middlesex hospital, testified that his department had inquired into many suggested methods of treating cancer other than by surgery, had tried the effect of typhoid extract, "X" rays, herb application, serum and radium water, which, he explained, is water containing radium or gas given off by radium, and found none of them curative. The knife alone as a rule had effected cures, he said. He declared that cancer was not a blood disease. As a result of many experiments, he found no difference in the blood of cancerous and non-cancerous cases. Dr. Barlow also said that all physicians would look upon it as a great boon if a method other than surgery could be found.

Dr. James Mahew, London police surgeon, said that acting on Dr. Bell's advice, he used a toxic in three cases, and that each case ended in death, although the tumors vanished with marvellous rapidity. He said he had not used a toxic since.

MANY FLIGHTS BY AEROPLANES

Flying Field of the Aero Club of Illinois is Scene of Activity

Chicago, June 15.—Aeroplanes at the Cleere flying field of the Aero Club of Illinois flew 2,500 miles between May 6 and June 10, carrying 20 passengers and making 239 separate flights, according to the report of Dr. Andrew of the field to-day. Twenty aviators representing America, Russia, Sweden, France, Ireland, India, Japan, Belgium and Austria have headquarters at the field and 62 applications for hangar space have been made by American and foreign flyers in anticipation of the Gordon-Bennett world's championship race and the 1,800-mile American grand circuit race in September.

Two of the thirteen entrants entitled to fly in the Gordon-Bennett race have arranged to do practice flying here, giving preliminary evidence of relative chances of Belgium and America, whom they represent. Lincoln, Neb., and Topeka, Kas., will be the western outposts of the 1,800-mile race for which sixty-five entrants are planned and Akron, Ohio, and Detroit, Mich., will be the eastern limiting points.

Astor. With the death of the millionaire, his executors and his secretary set in order such affairs as they could place their hands upon, but certain links were found to be missing, and in each instance the link of connection led up to and ceased abruptly at the rounded doors of the fire and

HELPING THE FARMER.

In the development and encouragement of the agricultural industry in Canada each province has its individual requirements. Whatever assistance is rendered by provincial governments must be devised and administered in a statesmanlike manner with special reference to the needs of the particular province in which such a system is operated. New countries continually encounter new problems, and the nature of these problems, as also the character of relief and assistance to be afforded must be determined by prevailing conditions. In the province of Saskatchewan the problem that has to be solved is provided adequate facilities for the storage of wheat. The government and the farmers unite to accomplish this under a system which, though not government ownership of elevators, secures the financial backing of the government and is under the administration of agriculturists who may be supposed to be best informed and most competent to manage the undertaking. This experiment, therefore, of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company will be watched with interest.

Briefly, their scheme is this. The farmers interested become shareholders of the company. Each group of farmers desiring an elevator must represent a certain crop acreage. After all expenses have been paid by the company, a dividend up to 5 per cent. may be paid. The Saskatchewan government loans 85 per cent. of the money required by the company to acquire elevators.

The purpose of the company as described by its promoters is "to create a company of farmers as well directed and as strong financially as any existing corporation in the grain trade. This company will by its mere presence in the trade raise the level of business practice and insure a larger measure of fair dealing. By its operations in the trade it expects to honestly make fair profits and distribute them amongst its patrons and supporters." A body of shareholders who are all interested in one elevator and live in one district is called a "local".

The details of the system need not be elaborated here. It is sufficient to state that last year the company operated forty-six local elevators and handled approximately 2,666,666 bushels of grain. Eighty-six additional elevators are to be built this year and the company will have 10,000 paid up farmers shareholders interested in the success of the enterprise.

What we desire to point out and to enlarge upon here is the fact that, in Saskatchewan, a province newer than British Columbia, the farmers have taken hold of the problems affecting them with a firm and businesslike hand and the government of the province is interesting itself in the solution of these problems by guaranteeing the credit of these men to the extent of 85 per cent. of their legitimate investments.

Quite on the contrary, the government of the province of British Columbia exhibits no interest in the development of the agricultural resources of the province and concerns itself instead with the exploitation of the farm lands. Where the application of cool and level-headed statesmanlike abilities could devise a system for the encouragement of farm settlement in British Columbia the genius of its statesmen is applied only to the conversion of its agricultural areas into preserves for the speculators who have no interest other than their interest in an unearned increment, in the settlement of the lands.

While Saskatchewan is forging ahead to a front place among the producing provinces of Canada and knocking at the doors of a wider market for its production, British Columbia is annually increasing its imports of the necessities of life, which should be produced from her own soil.

For this condition of affairs no one can be held responsible but the government. There is no lack of desirable would-be settlers, but these are encouraged neither by adequate information respecting available tracts of land nor by any attention to their actual requirements should they settle and become producers.

It is a fact that, instead of being encouraged to develop his holdings in many of the already settled parts of the province, the landed proprietor is taught to depend upon government work on roads and in other ways for earning the money necessary to pay for the products, which should be grown on his own soil. And in the administration of these public works the government is careful to exact, through its road bosses and government agents, a pledge that the recipient of such favors shall vote to sustain the government furnishing him with the means of livelihood. This is the spoils system carried to the most corrupt extreme, and no man who has lived under the conditions obtaining in many of the new agricultural districts will deny the charge.

What British Columbia will suffer in years to come from this policy now obstructing the development of the country is hardly pleasant to contemplate. The government has forty rubber stamps for the endorsement of its will and could it be induced to apply even a small part of its time to the solution of these burning questions, some expectation of obviating the untoward conditions whither we are drifting might be anticipated. But the administration is too busy with its friends among the timber barons and land speculators to give even a divided attention to the interests of the settler. Its unprecedented triumph at the last general election is the surest augury that it intends to settle back in its luxurious chair and let the real development of the country take care of itself. For this it struggled, it toiled, it threatened and cajoled the electorate, and it now enjoys its reward.

CARSON'S NONSENSE.

Sir Edward Carson, one of the leaders of the so-called Unionists and an ardent advocate of Imperial preferential trade, said in London in a political speech: "I venture to think that the story of negotiations between Canada and the United States, as far as it affects the government at home, is one of the most disgraceful and mischievous examples ever cited in the history of this country." If Sir Edward is correctly reported, it would be an evil day for the Empire should he ever become a member of an Imperial government, and that government attempted to carry out his Imperial ideas. In effect, this irresponsible fire-eater says the British government should have interfered and vetoed the negotiations for free trade between Canada and the United States. What would be likely to happen should any Imperial government undertake to interpose obstacles to the extension of the trade of this country? Would any attempt on the part of Tory Imperialists to limit the powers of self government in this country be tolerated for a single moment? Ask the question even of the high protectionists of the Manufacturers' Association and listen to the answer. Sir Edward Carson seems to think the one obstacle to Imperial preferential trade is the Asquith government of Great Britain. Yet Hon. George E. Foster, who may be presumed to know his Canada and the sentiments of the elements which placed him where he is, told the people of Great Britain in a public speech a few days ago that Imperial preferential trade is but a dream of impractical faddists. These are not Mr. Foster's exact words, but they express with exactness his meaning. He knows that while the government of which he is a member is in power and dominated by trade restrictionists there can be no material extension of trade between Great Britain and Canada. There is little doubt that the Minister of Trade and Commerce made his significant statement for the purpose of flanking any Imperial preferential traders in Great Britain who might be inclined to approach him on the subject during his present visit to the United Kingdom.

The visit of the Seymour Narrows bridge delegation to Ottawa has stirred up reprisals in the Eastern press. The Hamilton Herald, an independent Conservative newspaper, says: "A $20,000,000 railway-bridge connecting Vancouver Island with the mainland is the latest demand of B. C. people. When the Welland and Georgian Bay canals and N.-T. R. and Hudson Bay railways are completed, it will be time to give attention to this Pacific scheme." This shows that the feeling of Easterners is not that they love not the West, but that they love the East yet more. Opposition to the Seymour Narrows bridge project in the East will come from the Conservative and not from the Liberal press. Did not Sir Wilfrid Laurier say: "The next great undertaking of the Liberal government will be the bridging of Seymour Narrows?"

According to the fishery experts of the Smithsonian Institute who have just returned from making a survey of Isthmian waters, one novel result of the completion of the Panama canal will be the intermixing of the fish of the Atlantic and the Pacific. A second survey will be taken in from five to ten years' time in order to verify this prognostication.

According to press dispatches from Ottawa Hon. C. J. Doherty and Hon. L. P. Pelletier will accompany Hon. R. L. Borden and Hon. J. D. Hazen when they go to consult the British Admiralty with regard to the navy policy of Canada. Two Conservatives and two Nationalists. Notwithstanding the fact that the Nationalist influence is dead everywhere outside of the Borden cabinet it seems to be holding its own pretty consequentially there.

THE ALLEN PLAYERS.
With a plot that tells a very simple and pathetic, while tragic, life story, the great drama, "Zaza," made suitable for presentation among polite people, will be presented at the Victoria theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights by the favorite stock combination, the Allen Players, with Miss Verna Felton taking the leading role of Zaza, and Irving Kennedy appearing as the villain of the piece, Bernard Dufresne, sinner and trifier with the affections of women.
Everyone has heard of Zaza, and the famous play has been seen by many. These, and those who have never witnessed the drama, will have the opportunity to see an actress of great power and ability in the title role on Monday, for Miss Felton has been widely praised by the press and the public.
The story is the common story of the betrayal of a trusting and true girl, the girl in Zaza being a child of the people. The man of the piece has an unpleasant stage part to play, and is pictured as an impetuous, rather than an entirely bad man. The woman's renunciation and the man's after repentance and regret for his sins form a magnificent scene in an act that is strong throughout, and when Zaza is staged well with appropriate and costly scenery, where needed, and the part is well costumed and dressed, it forms one of the most enthralling dramas of the present day.
The Allen players have provided all the requisites for success in stock in Victoria and are seeking support from a public to whom they are not unknown. Their two previous successes here speak well for the organization and no doubt a large audience will welcome Miss Felton and her associate players back Monday.
On Thursday, Friday and Saturday she will appear as "Mrs. Jeffries, Jr.," in the Third Degree.
Charge Dismissed.—Agnes Rennie, a young woman, was charged in the police court this morning with having stolen $35 from Frank Simpson, an hotel keeper of Esquimalt. The informant did not appear to prosecute and J. C. McIntosh informed the court that the girl had been brought from England by the wife of Simpson to work as a housemaid. When she had earned sufficient to pay what was owing for passage money she left. The son of the prosecutor had given her money and she had obtained a ticket to Toronto and was on the way there when she was arrested on a warrant at Vancouver. She was discharged from custody.

CANADIAN DERBY ENTRY.

Robert Davies, the Toronto Breeder, Enters Calgary for the Trud Classic Next Year.

Next year a Canadian-bred colt, owned by a Canadian, will be entered in the historic Derby, the blue-ribbon event of the turf world over. The colt belong to Robert Davies, of Toronto, and has a Canadian name—Calgary. It is to be hoped that it proves an "eye-opener" to British horsemen.

JOHN ROBERTS WILL PLAY HERE IN JULY

TWO MATCHES WITH NEWMAN 4TH AND 5TH

World's Champion Touring Canada—Is Playing in Montreal To-day

John Roberts will be here on July 4 and 5. Everyone who ever handled a billiard cue knows who John Roberts is, and thousands who have never handled a cue know him also. The champion of them all will play two exhibition games here on the days mentioned. He is under the management of R. H. Cliburn, who has booked him for the whole of British Columbia and Canada. Roberts is accompanied by Arthur Newman, a boy wonder with the cue, with whom Roberts will play exhibition games in public during the tour.

Roberts' fame is known throughout the world, but the same can not be said of Newman, the boy wonder. The youth has made rapid strides in the game during the past year and Robe-erts thinks that with careful tuition he can make Newman a world-beater. In order to back up this assertion, Roberts hurled a challenge at all the Old Country professionals just prior to sailing for Canada. He will be willing to back Newman against any of their early next season for the championship, and deposited $500 to bind a match with any who cared to tackle the youngster.

In a recent interview the veteran said that while Newman was not in the class of Inman, Stevenson, Gray, or any of the Old Country stars just yet, he expected that by the manner in which the youngster was improving every time at the table, that he would be able to make them all go the limit to win next year. If Newman has the ability which the greatest player who ever handled a cue on an English table claims he should have the skill by next season. Roberts is not as strong as he was, but he knows every inch of the table, and has a better knowledge of the game than any of the professionals. Here is the itinerary of the tour:

Leave Liverpool May 31. Arrive Quebec June 4, Annapolis June 8, Annapolis Valley June 9, Halifax June 10, Sydney June 11, Moncton June 12, St. John June 13, Fredericton June 14, Montreal June 15 to 16, Ottawa June 17, Toronto June 18 to 19, Niagara June 20, Hamilton June 20, London June 21, Brantford June 21, Cobalt June 22, Port Arthur and Fort William June 23, Winnipeg June 25 to 26, Saskatoon June 27, Edmonton June 28, Calgary June 29, Banff June 30, Vancouver July 2, 3 and 4, Victoria July 4 to 5, Laganan July 10, Medicine Hat July 10, Regina July 11 to 12, Brandon July 13, Winnipeg July 13 to 14, Montreal July 17, 18 and 19, Leave for Liverpool July 19.

JULY 1 DATE OF POWER BOAT RACE

FINISH AT TACOMA ON FOLLOWING DAY

Cup of Solid Silver to Adorn Sideboard of Winning Owner for Year

The fifth annual British Columbia-Puget Sound long distance race of power cruisers, under the management of the Pacific International Power Boat Association, will start from Vancouver, Monday, July 1, and finish at Tacoma the following day. The start will be made from a stake boat anchored off the end of the pier in English Bay, leaving the stake boat

The measurements will be checked over by Mr. F. S. Brinton, the official measurer of the association, at Vancouver, previous to the race, and handicap will then be figured. The entrants will be divided into classes, measuring waterline lengths, as follows:
Class A—Over 65 feet.
Class B—Over 50 feet and not over 65 feet.
Class C—Over 40 feet and not over 60 feet.
Class D—Over 30 feet and not over 40 feet.
Class E—Under 30 feet.
As in the past the first prize this year will be the splendid perpetual association cup of solid silver. In addition there will be other prizes for the different class winners and association pennants suitably marked for all class winners and seconds.

WOLGAST-RIVERS FIGHT. Promoter and Champion's Manager Declare July 4th Fixture Will Be Staked with Jeffries Third Man.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—In spite of the renewed assertions to-day that James J. Jeffries would not referee the Wolgast-Rivers championship fight at Vernon, July 4, Promoter McCarey to port, and the boats may start any time between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., the full handicap being figured at the finish of the race. Each captain must file with the racing committee by 9 a.m. of July 1, the time he elects to start.

FRANK GOTCH
World's champion heavyweight wrestler, who last night defeated Gus Schoenlein (Americus), at Baltimore in two straight falls.

This method of starting will give each navigating officer his choice of ideas over the entire route and it will be well for each to figure closely on all currents before determining his starting time.

Course Is Optional.
The course from English Bay leads to Port Angeles, Wash. The route to be followed being optional. In Port Angeles harbor a stake-boat will be maintained, which must be rounded. From there the course leads eastward around Point Wilson up Puget Sound and around Vashon Island, leaving the island to port, and finishing on a line from the Tacoma Yacht Club house to a point directly across from it in the Tacoma city waterway. A stake boat will be maintained off Point Robinson on the east side of Vashon Island, which will be passed by all boats going northward in the Vashon Island.

He expected the former heavy-weight champion to be the third man in the ring. Tom Jones, manager for Wolgast, quieted the fears that the fight would not occur, by stating that in his opinion the referee tangle would be straightened satisfactorily and although overtures had been made to the champion to fight in San Francisco July 4, he felt confident that the bout with Rivers would be staged as scheduled.

FANCY SALARIES FOR LACROSSE STARS AT END

This will probably be the last season for fancy salaries for lacrosse stars. Next year a commission will be formed and one of the duties of that commission will be to protect the interests of all clubs in so far as it will preclude the possibility of one club poaching players and then again it will mean that player who is signed with one club cannot jump to another because of an increased offer. The commission will prevent such a move. Players now with their respective clubs will be reserved by those clubs when a commission is formed and there will be no more jumping and no "swrecking" of clubs. So far as known a commission will be organized in Canada to protect players and clubs and not to regulate salaries, but when a club has a hold on a player he is no longer in a position to make exorbitant demands, hence the prediction that this is the last year of fancy salaries.

SALARIES WERE BOOSTED.

In the fight this year Con Jones won and won hands down over R. F. Fleming, of Toronto, but both magnates hardly played the game like seasoned players. They got some good players at fancy prices and they got others at good prices who will not get an opportunity to play in a league match all season because they are not of senior calibre. Yet Mr. Jones on one side and Mr. Fleming on the other signed those players at good salaries simply to take them away from one another. In the lacrosse shuffle last spring Mr. Jones got twenty players. Mr. Fleming got a like number and in a few cases he is paying for good looks rather than paying ability. Some of his "stars" will never get out of fast intermediate company. It was a case of the players getting the better of the lacrosse magnates in a war that was no war but a joke affair. Mr. Jones and Mr. Fleming undoubtedly made faces at one another, but while they were doing so, the players were getting the money. When Turnbull and Spring refused to report after signing with the Toronto, Mr. Fleming invoked the aid of the courts, but he lost out, as subsequent happenings proved. Mayor Lee, of Westminister, appealed to Sir Wm. Mackenzie and requested that the actions instituted against the players be dropped. And the latter promptly acceded to the request by notifying Mr. Fleming to "lay-off." Mr. Fleming also abandoned the action against "News" Lalonde.

May Lead to Commission.
The result of the "war" this year will lead to the formation of a commission next spring. Messrs. Fleming and Jones realize that the players are doing just what they please, and I know that both of them are ready to talk commission right away. They are satisfied that a war cannot be carried on unless someone suffers, and in the late war they both suffered. Now they want to get things down to a business basis. We don't know but it looks as if they will get together next fall and organize. Both the East and West will have equal representation on the board and there will be no salary limit. But when a club signs a player no other club will be permitted to go after him or play him unless he is first released by the club with which he first signed. That's the point that will pave the way for better lacrosse and preclude any possibility of players fooling with clubs and the public.—Calgary Herald.

Missoula, Mont., June 15.—Ed O'Connell, lightweight wrestling champion of Portland, Oregon, was defeated here last night in straight falls by Jeng Pederson, a local man. O'Connell gave away 30 pounds. He fainted in the second bout.

SPORT NOTES

The biggest surprise in baseball right now is the former meek and lowly Washington team in the American League. Clark Griffith, the dark-skinned, sarcastic little Welshman, is in command of the crew and he is simply upsetting all the hopes of the wise ones. Washington has been the doormat of every league it was ever in, but to-day it is making the best showing of any club in either league. The club has played thirteen games on the road and has won them all, making clean sweeps in St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit, and there is no telling how far the team will go before it stops. Griffith has a big ace in Walter Johnson, and he is using the big fellow much as Ed Walsh is used by the Chicago White Sox. Walter helps the other pitchers out when they get in trouble, and besides he takes his regular turn in the box, and is almost unbeatable. Griffith has a lot of youngsters on his team, but they are going great guns. Groome, who used to pitch for Portland in the Coast League, and who was an indifferent performer for Washington for two years, is "there" this year, and is a good running mate for Johnson.

WIRELESS PICKED UP FROM NEW JAP LINER

Yokohama Maru Spoken Last Night—Will Arrive Here Early Wednesday

For the first time the new Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Yokohama Maru, Capt. Noda, held wireless communication with the operator at Estevan last night. This morning a message was received here from the west coast station stating that the master of the steamship expected to dock at Victoria on Wednesday morning. Capt. Noda, no doubt, is trying out his new command, and this accounts for the early arrival of the Yokohama.

The Maru sailed from Yokohama on June 5. She is bringing fourteen first cabin and seventy passenger first class berths for Seattle, and twenty-four first cabin and 120 Chinese for Victoria. As part of her cargo the Yokohama Maru has 1,667 bales of raw silk, 56 cases of silk goods, 2,400 rolls of matting and 1,030 sunny sacks. Of her shipments, 750 tons are for trans-shipment overland.

Capt. K. Noda, formerly master of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Tacoma Maru, is in command of the Yokohama Maru.

The new vessel was just recently completed at the yards of the Kawasaki Shipbuilding Company, Ltd., at Kobe, Japan. The Yokohama Maru is 400 feet long, breadth, molded, 50 feet; depth, molded to shelter deck, 38 feet; depth, molded to upper deck, 30 feet; and depth, molded to main deck, 22 feet.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high and low water. The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of the lowest low water in each month of the year. This level is half a foot lower than the datum to which the soundings on the Admiralty chart of Victoria harbor are reduced.

SURVEY DELAYS MARU TWO DAYS IN ORIENT

Seattle Came in This Morning After Fine Run—Had Rough Outward Voyage

Owing to the fact that she had to undergo her annual survey at Yokohama the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner, Seattle Maru, Capt. Saito, was detained on leaving the Japanese port and consequently was late in arriving at Victoria. She made port early this morning, two days behind her schedule, being unable to regain any of the lost time. The Seattle was favored with good weather during her run across and made the voyage in 15 days. On her last outward trip from Victoria the Osaka liner was badly buffeted by severe storms all the way across the Pacific. No sooner had she passed out at Tatonch than she met a strong westerly breeze and a heavy swell. The weather continued, and when crossing the Meridian it was blowing a real hurricane. Gigantic seas washed the vessel's decks from stem to stern and as she was tumbling about considerably it was with difficulty that her nose was kept into the sea. Capt. Saito eased his vessel down many times, and as a result she was three days late in reaching Yokohama. The Seattle was slightly strained as a result of her tempestuous voyage and as she was nearly due for her annual survey the officials decided to place her in dock. Several slight repairs were made to the steamship.

UNEVENTFUL VOYAGE LOGGED BY HAROLD

Was 134 Days Coming Around From England—Heavy Weather in Bay of Biscay

To have had but six or seven exciting days out of 134, the time she was at sea, is a somewhat unusual thing for a sailing ship, yet it was nevertheless the experience of the British three-masted barque Harold, Capt. Charlton, which arrived in the Royal Roads yesterday afternoon from Barry, Wales, in tow of the tug Lorne, which picked her up in the Straits. The trip of the sailer was uneventful, and only one storm of any consequence was encountered.

TENDERS FOR NEW STATION.

Work Will Start Soon on Alert Bay Wireless Plant—Operating in July. Tenders are now being called for by the Dominion government for the erection of the new wireless station at Alert Bay. It is expected that it will be in operation some time next month.

FAST TIME LOADING AND UNLOADING SHIP

Panama Maru on Sound Less Than a Week—Took Out Big Cargo of Freight

What shipping men of Puget Sound consider as one of the smartest performances in regard to the unloading and loading of a steamship was accomplished by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner, Panama Maru, Captain Kanoo, which left this port at noon today for the Orient. The big vessel spent little less than a week on the Sound, yet during that time she put off 2,500 tons of freight, cleaned her holds and stowed aboard another 5,000 tons. The Panama Maru arrived here last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Orient, and after discharging 500 tons of cargo proceeded to Tacoma, where she arrived on Sunday morning. She left Tacoma again early last night, and was in here at 8 o'clock this morning. During that time nearly 9,000 tons of cargo was handled by her which shipping men consider a record, as during her stay on the Sound she had to make a trip from Tacoma to Seattle and return. On the manifest of the Panama Maru on her outward trip were a number of interesting consignments. She had seven automobiles for Japan, which will be used by the rich men of the Far East, who have discarded the old methods of travelling. The Juricksha is now dropping from the line, and it will soon be a novelty. This year is one of prosperity with the Japanese, and not only are they sending large orders for automobiles, but they are also providing sewing machines for the women in a more expeditious manner. The Panama took out 1,000 of the machines, one of the largest shipments ever to leave the Sound.

SAILER HAS RESUMED INTERRUPTED VOYAGE

Wiscombe Park Leaves Port Stanley for Vancouver—Other Windjammer News

Related advices received here state that the British sailing ship Wiscombe Park, Capt. Jones, 2,675 tons, proceeded from Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, on May 7 for Vancouver with her cargo of cement for R. V. Winch & Co. The vessel, it will be remembered, sailed from the Thames last summer with her cement cargo. She was in collision with a Cardiff steamer in the Channel and after being beached was towed into Southampton and returned to London for repairs. On January 1 of this year the Wiscombe Park again left London for this coast with a new cargo of cement, but as a result of the severe battering she received in the South Atlantic she was forced to put into Port Stanley on April 17 for repairs. The damage to be repaired consisted of started rivets in the shell plates, leaky plates, lost sails, damaged steering gear and damaged cargo. By this time the Park should be almost round Cape Horn and within six or seven weeks should be reported off Cape Flattery. R. V. Winch & Co. also have the British ship Claverdon, Capt. Wilson, 2,324 tons, loading at London for Vancouver, but the strike has delayed the vessel.

COLLINGWOOD

"25 Minutes to Victoria via Saanich Suburban"

Special sale of Collingwood Lots begins Monday Morning, June 17th., at 10 o'clock. Motor service arranged to leave 721 Yates St., for Collingwood at intervals between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily

IN putting Collingwood on the market we feel that we have something to offer that will strongly appeal to the greatest number of the home-loving and investing public.

In the first place it is a subdivision of more than one hundred acres. A townsite that can and will comfortably accommodate a population of upwards of two thousand people. It has been laid out with this in view and the aim to convenience and economy. None of the ground is flat, it all slopes in a gentle, pleasing manner and seventy-five per cent of the exposure is to the south. There is neither rocky, hillside nor poorly drained bottom land. The soil is loose, mostly of a sandy order, carries a heavy per cent of natural vegetable humus, and has the proper drainage for best productivity. Grain stood two and one-half feet high three weeks ago.

These are homesites where few indeed of city conveniences are sacrificed. Beautiful sunny slopes, pure air of the country side, the freedom and restfulness of country life and the absence of heavy municipal taxes and assessments, all add to their charm. A school, two churches and a post office already form the nucleus for the social and educational side of life in Collingwood.

MUCH interest has been manifested in this property, even before we were in a position to advertise this sale.

We know from the nature of the inquiries we have received and the class of people who have made those inquiries, that Collingwood makes its own appeal to the discriminating, whether for a home or for investment.

We have no prizes to offer, other than the consciousness that the buyer must have, that he has made a sagacious investment, which in itself will prove to be a prize when the development that is now hinted at becomes an actuality, and this not far distant.

True it is that we cannot say when cars will be operating on the Suburban line, but we do know that the date cannot be far in the future considering the progress made in preparing the right-of-way. A station has been located on this line which is but five minutes from the heart of Collingwood. When these cars run, Collingwood property will have advanced forty per cent and upwards in value, so it would be folly to wait for such a time to make the investment. Telephone and electric power and light are already available.

Lady Duff-Gordon's career has been a remarkably active one in many ways. She is the daughter of the late Mr. Douglas Sutherland, of Toronto, and is best known perhaps as "Lucille," who creates gowns and maintains that they should be made to express moods. It is some 13 years since she founded the noted court dressmaking establishment which has now grown to be one of the largest of its kind, with branches in London and New York. In another direction her sister is equally famous. She is Elinor Glyn, the celebrated novelist, who in 1892 married Mr. Clayton Glyn, a well-known Essex landowner. In London she has a flat at the Ritz, and a charming country place in Essex. Mrs. Glyn does all her writing in a pavilion in the grounds. The rooms are furnished to represent Spring, Summer and Autumn. Winter has no place.

One of the chief features of "Shakespeare's England," the exhibition which Mrs. George Cornwallis-West has organized for presentation at Earl's Court during the summer, in aid of the Shakespeare Memorial Fund, will be a tournament which was held at Eglington Castle in 1829. For this Viscountess Curzon, daughter-in-law of Lord Howe, has very fittingly been chosen Queen of Beauty. Lady Curzon married her cousin, Viscount Curzon, in 1907. She is the only daughter of the late Colonel the Hon. Montagu Curzon. Her son, the Hon. Edward Curzon-Howe was born in 1905; her daughter, the Hon. Georgiana Mary, in 1909. It need scarcely be remarked that she is one of the acknowledged beauties of English society. Indeed, it has been said of her that no woman in England was more admired than was she by the numerous foreign royalties who came to London for the Coronation.

AFTER CHARTER OF GAS COMPANY

MAYOR SAYS CITY MAY GO TO LEGISLATURE

And Have Act Amended—Company's Operations on Streets Criticized

From remarks made by the mayor at yesterday's meeting of the streets committee, Alderman Gleason in the chair, it appears that the city will have recourse to the legislature next session for an amendment of the Victoria Gas Company's act. The company, he says, has indicated that it will lay mains when it pleases, whether the action involved the breaking into permanent paving or not. The company had laid a main on Linden avenue, and the amount of business did not equal expectations, and accordingly it indicated that the city could wait till it was ready. The discussion arose in connection with the permanent paving of the Gorge road, which is one of the trunk thoroughfares now receiving attention, as well as the ravine bridge now under construction there.

In this connection the mayor also remarked on the situation so far as the Westholme Lumber Company's contract from Sooke Lake was concerned, and stated that company was not in a position to lay the steel pipe along the street, as called for by the contract, prior to permanent paving. The company seemed to feel that the city should make some guarantee, to enable it to secure the necessary material, or that the city should itself lay pipe to the boundary, but personally he was adverse to any change in the arrangements with the present contractors over the waterworks proposal.

Alderman Beard asked when the city engineer would be ready to call for bids on the schedule of streets for permanent paving which were prepared just before Mr. Smith left the city, and Mr. Rust replied that the paving companies had quite enough to do, and that at the present time he was preparing specifications and other preliminary work in connection with the schedule.

Alderman Dilworth required to know why it was the council left contracts to the Worswick Paving Company in the Hollywood district while James Bay streets which had been promised were unfinished, and others not started.

Alderman Humber referred to similar cases in the north end of the city, and Alderman Beard supported the case as regarded streets like Manches-ter Road, Sumas street, and Garbally Road west of the Gorge Road.

It was resolved to authorize the letting of subsidiary streets like those mentioned at prices similar to adjoining streets at the option of the city engineer, so that they could be done while the paving companies had their plants on convenient streets.

Mr. Rust undertook to look into the points raised and report.

GALLANT FIFTH TO MARCH TO CAMP

TO-MORROW MORNING HEADED BY THE BAND

The Largest Number in History of Regiment Will Turn Out

There is great activity to-day at Macaulay Plains, a large fatigue party under R. Q. M. S. Lettice being busily engaged in preparing for the annual camp of the Fifth Regiment and other corps which will train at Victoria this year.

The next few weeks will witness the gathering of more troops in Victoria than have been here since the departure of the Imperial forces. The local artillery regiment will march out to-morrow, being joined at once by the 15th Field Ambulance Company of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, which from Friday next the 104th Regiment from New Westminster will arrive. On the 1st of July there will also be in Victoria the 6th Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles and the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders from Vancouver.

Nos. 2 and 3 Companies of the Fifth Regiment will, as usual, occupy tents on Macaulay Plains in close proximity to the forts, while No. 1 Company will this year be also under canvas, being quartered in the dock yard in order to be near Belmont and Black Rock batteries. In previous years this company has had the use of the barracks at Esquimaux, but this accommodation is not available this year.

During camp the men will be issued an outfit of service khaki for use when working on the guns.

The Fifth Regiment will parade at the drill hall to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock for the march out, being headed by the regimental band. On arrival at the camp the men will, as usual, erect the tents allotted to them, draw from the quartermaster's stores the allowance of bedding and other camp requisites supplied by the government, and will then sit down to a good dinner having the afternoon to themselves.

While in previous years the Fifth Regiment has gone to camp with a high percentage of strength as compared with other corps in Canada, this year will by far overtop any previous record. The officers will be greatly disappointed if there are not over 225 men in the ranks to-morrow. Such a high figure has never been attained in the history of the regiment.

Recruiting has been excellent this spring, and the gloom prophets who in the early days of the season were handing out sad, sad stories among the young men in the ranks of Victoria, have been very far off the mark.

No. 3 company and No. 1 company were inspected in infantry work by Major Mills during the past week, and passed the test very well, complimenting remarks being made as to the appearance and steadiness of the men.

NEW HOTEL PLANNED FOR BLANCHARD AVE.

Modern Structure to Replace Klondyke Hotel—Mr. Max Leiser's Plans

A modern four-story hotel is to be erected by Max Leiser on the site of the Klondyke hotel at the corner of Blanchard and Johnson streets, which will be a handsome addition to the structures on Johnson street. The building will contain some thirty-five rooms, and will be constructed of pressed brick and terra cotta. The old building, which has historic associations, will be pulled down, except portion of the walls, and a commencement will be made on Monday, although the present tenants are to be allowed to remain for a few days undisturbed.

The property has a frontage to Blanchard avenue of 123 feet, and 60 feet on Johnson street. The present intention is to occupy the site of the old building at first, extending the premises on the whole available area next spring. The plans, which are being prepared by Thomas Hooper, will provide for this extension.

The fittings and appointments will be of modern character, and it is understood that F. W. Kostenbader, the well-known caterer, lately associated with the Prince George hotel cafe, and with the Empress hotel, will be associated with the management of the hotel, as Mr. Leiser's intentions to make the new hotel hold a worthy place among hosteries of the city.

HARRISON LINER ON SECOND VISIT HERE

Director Arrives After Good Run—Is Going North to Rupert With Load of Pipe

First of the Harrison liners to make her second visit to Victoria and first of the fleet to include Prince Rupert in its list of ports of call, the big steamship Director, Captain Bickerstaff, arrived at the Outer Docks yesterday afternoon from Europe via Santos, San Pedro and San Francisco. The liner put off 225 tons of cargo here and she got away for Vancouver last night. After discharging at the terminal city the steamship will head for Prince Rupert, taking the outside passage.

Speaking of his trip from Antwerp, Captain Bickerstaff said that the weather down the Atlantic to Santos was good. At the Brazilian port she took on a large shipment of coffee and she brought some here for transhipment to Seattle. Through the Straits of Magellan nothing of interest was logged, but when in latitude 51.33 south and longitude 76.24 west, just after passing into the Pacific, the Director was caught in a very heavy storm with high seas running. The wind started to blow on May 10 and it continued until the next day, the steamship rolling and pitching badly in the tremendous waves. Yesterday morning the freighter was caught in a heavy southerly wester with a drenching rain falling and fought her way against the storm for ten hours.

For Prince Rupert the Director has 1,200 tons of pipe, which will be used by the city in laying water mains throughout the city. When she is through discharging in the north the Director will return to Victoria to load a shipment of 150,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom. It will be a couple of weeks before she is back here. Captain Bickerstaff says that the steamship Senator, which left Liverpool at the end of last month is also going north to Prince Rupert.

HEAD LIGHTS

Late last night the C. P. R. steamer Princess May, Capt. McLeod, left port for Skegway and Prince Rupert. She took out a large number of passengers and a good shipment of general freight.

After discharging 3,000 tons of general freight the Blue Funnel liner Cyclops, Capt. Clark, left port last night for Vancouver, where she will unload 7,000 tons of cargo.

To-morrow the C. P. R. steamer Princess Beatrice, Capt. Hawes, will arrive in port from Ocean Falls and way points. She is bringing south quite a number of passengers.

Early to-morrow morning the G. T. P. steamer Prince George, Capt. Duncan McKenzie, will arrive in port from Prince Rupert. She sails north again on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

NEW G. T. P. AGENCIES

Will Establish Branch Offices in Every City and Town in British Columbia.

Vancouver, June 15.—Preparations for carrying out an aggressive policy in British Columbia for freight and passenger traffic has been commenced by the G. T. P. with the rapid development of the company's railroad lines and steamship service, and W. E. Duprow, general agent of the passenger department, leaves for Vancouver Island ports early next week to look over the situation at Nanaimo and Port Alberni with a view to establishing branch offices of the company at those points. He returned Thursday from New Westminster, where he will establish a city ticket agent in the near future to compete with rival lines for passenger business.

He declared that the company would be represented in every city and town in the province by the time the transcontinental line is completed. At present the passenger department has local representatives at Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert and Stewart, the other sections of the province being covered by travelling passenger agents. It is reported on good authority that the Skeena Crossing bridge will be ready for use toward the latter part of July and before the line is operating right into Hazelton an agent will be appointed in that town.

While not a frequent occurrence, it is not an unheard of thing for a wire to break inside of its insulation, giving no exterior indication of the fracture. This, in the case of low tension ignition wire in particular, may cause all kinds of queer antics on the part of the motor, but before pulling things to pieces look for mysterious ignition troubles. It is a good scheme to make sure that there are no hidden breaks.

MOTOR NOTES

The fifth annual Orphans' day outing of the Quaker City Motor Club will be held on June 12.

An effort is to be made to abolish grade crossings in St. Louis county by the Automobile Club of St. Louis.

Bids have been opened by the city sewerage and water board, New Orleans, La., for two service motor trucks.

Reverse, Mass., has voted to purchase a combination hose and chemical and a runabout for the newly elected fire chief.

Grand Rapids, Mich., has allowed the board of police and fire commissioners $20,000 for further motorizing the fire department.

The registration of automobiles in Minnesota has passed the 20,000 mark. The secretary of state looks for 30,000 before the year ends.

By a recent enactment of the Chilean parliament the import duty on complete automobiles has been reduced from 60 to 15 per cent. ad valorem.

The Maryland state good roads commission has advertised for bids for building three sections of state highway along the Baltimore-Washington boulevard.

The combined capital of new companies organized during 1911 for trafficking in and manufacturing automobiles in Great Britain was $13,695,725. The capital for these purposes in 1910 was $16,465,250.

The Massachusetts legislature, having given the town of Middleboro authority to borrow money to improve its fire department, the selectmen are looking into various makes of motor apparatus.

The Minnesota state highway commission has begun construction of the first stretch of rural concrete road, 1,300 feet in all, in Steele county, as an experiment. The roadway is to be for mixed traffic, 20 feet wide, with 8-foot concrete curbs.

According to reports issued by the Ohio state automobile department, the income for 1911 from automobile tax was $108,625.37, against $89,256 in 1910. The net surplus of last year is $190,711.70, giving a gain of 22 per cent. on the total receipts for 1911.

All farmers in the middle West have been too busy ploughing to talk cars, some salesmen in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska, are travelling with extra farm hands, who do the ploughing and other work while the farmers study the cars.

A company is being organized under the title of the Richmond-Washington Highway Corporation, capitalized at $150,000, to build a memorial highway, in memory of the Confederate generals, between Washington and Richmond, by the way of Fredericksburg. The route will be 135 miles long, and will offer opportunities for an ideal tour. This road and its terminal, Richmond, are peculiarly rich in historic interest. And from Richmond short trips are possible to Fortress Monroe, Newport News, Norfolk and other points of historic and scenic interest.

All demands for space at the automobile salon to be held in Paris December 7 to 23, this year, must be received by the committee of organization before July 1, and must be written on the blanks furnished by the committee for the purpose. The committee reserves the right to refuse demands for space at its discretion and without giving an account of the motives for its decision.

A striking commentary of the route of the horse by the automobile is instanced in Syracuse, N. Y., where the Citizens' Automobile Drivers and Automobile Workers' Association, of Onondaga county, was originally the Coachmen's Association, established in 1858 as a sick, death and protective order of coachmen in private families. It has 120 members, as against 100 before.

Citizens along the South Dakota scenic highway, between Sioux Falls and Rapid City, S. D., have organized to work for the extension of the famous Waubonish trail between Shenandoah, Ia., and Omaha, to make a continuous thoroughfare through the Bad Lands, the Black Hills, and on to the Yellowstone park. Pennington county will build a $50,000 bridge across the Cheyenne, and a special boat is being made to cross the Missouri.

John A. Corry, of Leeds, Yorkshire, England, has patented a motor car for solar exploration purposes. He intends that it shall be used for climbing of ice cliffs. The car will be propelled by corrugated steel threads fixed on an endless chain, which will give a firm grip on the ice surface. It is supposed to cross crevasses by a system of expanding trellises and telescopic rods of tough steel operated from the car.

Do not get the idea that a crease will smooth itself out when the tire is in place on the wheel and the tire is inflated to its normal pressure. This inflated tire may not be inflated usually, but small creases almost invariably become more deeply set as the pressure is added, and after the tire has been run for a few miles they change from creases into cracks, resulting in blowouts. And the rush of air through a hole thus made in the tube usually tears the sides of the hole, making it much larger than the original crack.

Tires should be watched carefully for signs of unequal wear. Bent axles, disaligned wheels and bent or cracked steering connections—all sources of danger—frequently are revealed in this way. Besides, if the habit of scrutinizing the tires after each run is easily formed, cuts, tears and blisters in the casings will be speedily noticed and will so impress the observer that he will be more than likely to keep his equipment in better condition than would otherwise be the case.

STEDHAM DAMAGE SUIT DISMISSED—CITY WINS

Plaintiff Retains $4,900 Paid By City—No Fraud Proved—Engineer Smith Not Called—Appeal to Be Taken

After sitting for five days over the Stedham damage suit Chief Justice Hunter yesterday afternoon delivered an oral judgment, dismissing the action for damages, and also dismissing the claim of the city for a return of the sum of $4,900 paid Stedham on progress payments for the work done. His lordship said there was no proof of fraud on Stedham's part as suggested by the defence, and therefore each side would pay its own costs, of the action. Mr. Higgins is preparing an appeal to take before the higher court.

The conclusion reached by his lordship from the evidence is that the contract in some material facts was not lived up to, the surface of the side walls was not thoroughly roughened, and the cement on the side walls was not one inch thick. There were serious defects in the partition wall. It was not taken to solid rock for 24 feet. The mixture was not in proportion and the concrete was not of the required quality. His lordship would accept the statement of Colonel Thomson that Stedham continued the contract thoroughly he would have lost money. The stones in the wall were not of the size stipulated in the contract, nor were they properly placed in position. There had been no real attempt to properly bed the stones. The city was legally justified in ending the contract. The estimates made by the witnesses of the value of the work done came to about the amount paid by the city to Stedham. He believed that Stedham's employment on the contract was in the nature of an employee, and not as a contractor, and therefore he would be paid for the work he had done. The charges of fraud set up by the city were not made out, but it was a poor, creditable piece of work overseen by inexperienced men. The contractor in carrying out the work quickly and with as little loss as possible under the 30 days clause.

His lordship said the city might take the lesson to heart that in a project of such magnitude as the reservoir, the scheme of operations should first be settled and ratified by a man of high reputation, and then carried out by a contractor of first-class standing. The reservoir had cost more than double it ought to have, and this need not have happened had there been a competent man in charge.

Case For the Defence.
On resuming the case for the defence yesterday afternoon, Mr. McDiarmid admitted the alteration of the plan, but said there was no explanation to offer of how it had occurred. He went over the facts of the signing of the contract, and said that owing to a rush of time the specifications had been signed by the then Mayor Morley, he thought, on a Saturday afternoon when the city seal was not available because of the absence of the city clerk. The city engineer's alteration was made after signing the contract, as the initials of the plaintiff were beneath the figures 12 at the lower line. It was quite evident there was only one copy altered, and Mr. Smith had no recollection of it. He evidently thought he was justified in altering the plan owing to the absence of the plan having been applied to the plan. The plan had been put away and not brought out again until a settlement of the action was talked of. That was the only explanation he could offer.

The chief justice said the net result would be that the blue print attached to Stedham's contract would prevail in the evidence.

Despite the fact that Angus Smith, city engineer had been brought to Victoria to give evidence and was paid at the rate of $5 per day since Monday last, he was not called as a witness. Mr. McDiarmid suddenly closed the case for the defence after making the explanation yesterday, although he announced before the adjournment that Mr. Smith would be the next witness. His lordship asked if the defence did not intend to call Mr. Smith, and the solicitor said he had decided not to do so. He had intended to call Mr. Smith and the water commissioner, but as his lordship was going away on Monday—

His lordship: "I will postpone my other engagements if necessary."
Mr. McDiarmid, however, did not take advantage of the offer and close the defence.

Rebuttal Evidence.
The plaintiff called in rebuttal said he did not agree with Col. Thomson's figures. He had figured on the other side of the Dallas road wall, the Ross Bay wall, which he had figured at $7.50 per yard and sub-let to the Westholme company, who carried it out successfully, and could have done the reservoir contract at a profit. He blamed the letting in of water by the city engineer for the faults in the reservoir wall, and denied the statement that he was cheating the city, as stated by Col. Thomson. The engineer and the councillors had approved his trench, and had seen him putting concrete in, and inspectors had been there all the time.

Chief Justice Takes a Hand.
The chief justice questioned the witness on the class of concrete he had put in the wall and compared it unfavorably to samples shown by the defence. He also asked witness for an explanation of the five big stones which Stedham replied that the inspector saw them go in. Witness also said it was impossible to tell the component parts of the mixture, but the chief justice replied that three other witnesses had said it was possible. The witness said: "If there had not been this trouble to-day the northeast wall would have gone out."
Chief Justice: "I believe that is the truest thing you have ever said."
Enter Tommy Donovan.

Thomas Donovan, without a coat, and a broad smile on his face, took the witness stand and said he was foreman on the reservoir when it was constructed. He said the floor of the reservoir was on a gulch which was a gravel fill, and if there was a rock bottom there now the rock must have grown since he worked on the reservoir. Witness said the contractor could not get rock going down in the centre of the Stedham wall, in less than six feet.

Chief Justice: "What is your business?"
Witness: "Bricklayer."
Question: "And you were to direct the men laying concrete?"
Witness: "Yes."
Chief Justice: "And you a bricklayer?"
Witness was shown an exhibit and was asked what mixture it was.
"You'll tie me up in a minute," he replied; "I think it might be one, three, five."
Question: "What's this (sample from Stedham's wall)?"
Witness: "I'd like to know where it came from before I say. It is good concrete."
He was asked how many inches of concrete had been placed on the east side of the reservoir when it was constructed, and replied: "I would rather you talked about the west, the best is there."
Question: "What would you say if four years after building a pick hole sent the pick right through the wall up to the handle?"
Mr. Donovan turned a most reproachful face to Stedham and with a broad smile said: "That must have been one of the weak spots."

Baby Dreadful Sufferer. Could Not Keep Him from Scratching. Every Joint Affected. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and He Is Well.

"Enclosed find my son's photo and I feel by writing these few lines to you I am only doing my duty, as my son was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At the age of two weeks he began to get covered with red spots on his legs and groin, which motting; thought was red gum or thrush; but day by day it grew worse until every joint and crevice were affected and baby started screaming for hours day and night, such a thing as sleep was out of the question. I took him to two of Sydney's leading doctors; one said it was one of the worst cases he had seen, the other did not think it so serious; one ordered ointment for rubbing in, the other a dusting powder. I followed their prescriptions for over four months and he kept getting worse. I could not keep him from scratching so great was his agony.

"When he was five months old I tried the Cuticura Remedies and I am very thankful to say my baby is to-day free from all his suffering. His groin was bleeding when I started, and other parts affected were the lower part of his body, under the knees, arms, in arm pits, eyelids and neck; but after twice using Cuticura Ointment I began to see a difference and by the time I had used one tin, along with the bathing with Cuticura Soap, baby was nearly cured. I still kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and now, thank goodness, he is quite well and, although he is now ten months old, has not had any further return of the (Signed) Mrs. G. age and per diem. The several visitors to the sessions—which extended over two and a half days—were impressed with the business-like methods of procedure adopted by the ladies, and the spirit of good-fellowship which prevailed and tended not a little to the successful nature of the gathering. Among the visitors who were welcomed, each of whom briefly addressed the session, were Past Grand Master Tisdale, of Alberta; Past Grand Master McCrosskey, of Washington; Past Grand Master Simpson, of British Columbia; Grand Master Cullin; and past president of the State of Washington, Mrs. McCroskey. In all there were twenty-three lodges represented, thirty-two Rebekahs being present.

A pretty ceremony was the presentation from the assembly to Past President Mrs. Evans, of the past president's jewel, also a cut glass vase mounted with silver and filled with fragrant rose-buds, the presentation being the occasion of some graceful speeches. Another ceremony in which thirteen of the Rebekahs played an important part was that which took place on Tuesday evening, when the Canton Militant conferred the decoration of chivalry upon those ladies who had distinguished themselves in the work during the past year.

The session of the Rebekahs, as of other lodges of Odd Fellows, came to a conclusion with the outing at the Gorge park on Thursday evening, after the announcement had been made that the next place of meeting would be at Nanaimo next June.

YOUNG VICTORIAN DROWNED.
Tragic End of A. T. Flett, Attached to Survey Party on Mainland—Search for Body.

Much sympathy will be felt with Mrs. A. Flett, of Superior street, in the death of her son, Alfred Turner Flett, at the early age of 22 years.

The most meagre details have been received by the family, a message being sent to the chief of the survey party with which the deceased was associated, that the unfortunate young man had been drowned in the Fraser river, and that they were searching for the body.

Mr. Flett left the city about a month ago, and joined a survey party at Vancouver, but beyond the fact that he was engaged in the duties of his work when the accident happened, nothing further as yet has come to hand. His uncle is expected in the city in a day or two, when further information will be available.

The deceased was widely known among the younger generation in this city, where he was educated. His father was Alfred Flett, for years deputy minister of finance, at the Parliament buildings.

Since leaving school Mr. Flett had been associated with a number of survey parties in different parts of the province. A host of friends will regret his early decease.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.
J. D. Taylor, New Westminster, and H. H. Stevens, Vancouver, in the City.

H. H. Stevens, M. P. for Vancouver, is in the city in company with J. D. Taylor, M. P. for New Westminster, the two members having come over from the mainland to interview the attorney-general about some fishery matters. Mr. Stevens will look into the manner in which the public works patronage is distributed at this port. Mr. Stevens is achieving some notoriety by the non-partisan manner in which he administers the patronage in his own district. He has a great admiration for Hon. R. L. Borden and believes that the Prime Minister has no sympathy with the wholesale deceptions that have been taking place in many parts of Canada. Ugly rumors have reached Ottawa about the manner in which the patronage at Victoria is being managed by the political boss to whom G. H. Barnard handed it over. It is suspected that one of Mr. Stevens' aids on his visit to Victoria is to inquire quietly into some of these complaints and report back to Hon. Mr. Borden.

First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid.—The Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon held a tea at the Aged Ladies' Home, Maritime street, the delightful programme which was given being immensely appreciated both by the visitors and the aged inmates of the home, who were present to enjoy the unwonted social event. There were numerous visitors present, and the proceeds of the sale of candy, tea, and flowers were most satisfactory, and were placed to the fund which is being formed for the furnishing of one of the rooms in the new wing. The following assisted during the afternoon in vending tea, candy and ice cream: Mrs. J. G. Brown, Mrs. Gould, Mrs. Flett, Mrs. Lumsden, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. McKinnon, and the Misses Gill and Vaughan. The tea tables looked very dainty with their pretty floral decorations, and the following rendered the programme of songs and recitations: Mrs. Sargison, Miss Palmer, Miss Harkness and Miss Gould; pianoforte selections were given by Miss Russell and Mrs. Molr.

The Lodge Had Very Prosperous Year—Reports and Ceremonies.

At the Rebekah branch of the Odd Fellows, which met at the K. of P. hall at the same time as the sessions were taking place at the I. O. O. # SURVIVORS FROM TITANIC WRECK

COUNTESS ROTHES AND HER PARTY HERE

Helped to Row Boat Number Eight From Scene of Catastrophe

A noteworthy survivor of the terrible Titanic disaster is visiting the city in the person of the Countess of Rothes, whose admirable conduct immediately following the wreck was widely commented upon in the press. It will be recalled that the Countess took an oar in the lifeboat and pulled with a will for a considerable part of the time the distressed occupants of the craft were waiting for rescue. With the Countess of Rothes are Miss Gladys Cherry and Miss Malone, the Countess's companion, who also were among the survivors.

Since their rescue the party have been touring in the United States, and arrived in the city on Wednesday from San Francisco. They are registered at the Empress hotel, and are taking advantage of the opportunity of seeing something of the beauties of Victoria before returning to the east. They will sail at an early date on the Mauretania from New York, for the old country.

The experiences of the Countess's party in the cold icy water after the women and children took to the boats were similar to those of many other survivors in the boat in which they left the doomed vessel, No. 8 drifting about for several hours before the Carpathia picked them up, and cared for the survivors. In the boat in which they were, said Miss Malone, there were about 35 passengers and a steward, cook and sailor. The women assisted the three men to row, and although Miss Malone says the party were fairly well clad they felt the bitter cold and the suspense greatly, and the relief afforded by the big Cunarder was very welcome. None of the party was glad to say, had suffered ill effects, and the Countess had been able to pursue her tour without interruption.

The party protested strongly against the outrageous stories which had been sent out from New York about the wreck, and the statements made by the survivors. The attack on Bruce Ismay was most unjust, and the passengers who travelled with him declined to believe the allegations of cowardice which had been made against him. On the Carpathia they were very kindly treated, and Miss Malone speaks highly of the conduct of the officers and crew of the Carpathia.

The Countess has been very keenly following the course of the investigations which have been held regarding the disaster, particularly the inquiry before Lord Mersey in England. They did not agree with those who criticized the officers of the Titanic, but as so much had been unfairly attributed to them in the United States, they were not anxious to discuss their experiences very fully.

REMOVING FROM CITY FOREST OF POLES
City Engineer Will Get Ungainly Posts Painted, but City Must Set Example

The city engineer drew the attention of the streets committee yesterday of the poles which will be projecting in the street line on Hillside avenue when the street is widened, and asked authority to set them back to the new curb line. The cost would be about $750. If the owners cannot be charged with the cost of the work under the by-law the city will undertake the work.

The engineer also reported that he had taken up with some of the companies the painting of poles, but if this was done the city light poles should also be similarly painted. The aldermen concurred.

The city engineer wrote in forwarding two plans submitted by the B. C. Telephone Company for permission to erect telephone poles on Hillside and Fernwood districts. He said: "In the Fernwood district I think it would be advisable if the company were instructed to construct a conduit throughout the width of length of Bay street which will undoubtedly be a through street with railway tracks upon it. Vancouver street, where it has been extended between Pandora and Pembroke, should also have conduits laid up it. In the Hillside district all the streets are 60 or 66 feet wide. On some streets it will be possible for the telephone company to use existing or electric light poles; it might be more satisfactory if the city electrician reported on the erection of these poles before final permission is given, but this is a matter to be decided by the committee."

The matter was left to the city engineer and electrician.

No action was taken on the widening of Douglas street, between Humboldt and Dallas Road, the mayor saying negotiations were in hand to bring some definite arrangement about.

The deputation from Foul Bay protesting against the grant of building permits to A. S. Denny for cabins was assured of early consideration by the city solicitor, to whom the matter has been referred to for a report.

In forwarding a communication from Robertson and Heistermann, solicitors to the Victoria Harbor Railway, Mr. Rust said he thought it appeared to him injudicious to grant any railway such a privilege, for street crossings set out—

The council decided to deal with the matter as if it was a new one entirely, the council of 1911 not having come to any definite arrangement on the subject. The application was laid over for one week.

The committee decided if the Westrumite Company did not repair Vancouver street at the expiration of 10 days the city should do so and charge it up to the company.

Water is to be supplied to the residents of Oaklands on Ruby street, Burton street, and Oaklands avenue, where building operations are in progress and where improvements are hampered by lack of a water supply.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By Ruth Cameron

There is an old-fashioned rule of courtesy that it is not good manners to comment, even very favorably, upon the clothing, household furnishings and other possessions of one's acquaintances, unless the intimacy is extremely close. Now, we certainly suffer from disregarding some of the old-fashioned rulings, but it seems to me that this is one which is more honored in the breach than in the observance, and I am happy to say that it is growing more and more common to honor it in that way.

A brand new acquaintance was calling on me the other day. We talked of the weather and kindred topics suitable for brand new acquaintances. Had she obeyed the old-time ruling in regard to personal comment, we should probably have gotten no closer to each other. But fortunately she displayed a quiet old-fashioned secretariness, which is the pride of my heart, and finally she burst into vocal admiration. From this pleasant comment we promptly proceeded to a general discussion of antique furniture, of which we are both ardent admirers, and instead of parting mere acquaintances, we laid the foundations of a pleasant friendship upon our mutual ardor for things colonial.

I believe that this rule of silence was supposed to be especially strict in regard to commenting upon any food set before one, and, of course, to speak of each article of food and concentrate the attention upon the table rather than on the "feast of reason and the flow of soul," supposed to be going on above it, is bad breeding. But to speak out one's enjoyment of some particular dish, to tell the hostess when she has hit the very bull's eye of one's preference in the choice of her salad or dessert; to appreciate a bit of good cooking; even to give the sincerest form of flattery by asking for recipes—surely this is kindness to one's hostess. And what is real courtesy, after all, but kindness crystallized into forms!

On going to pay her first visit to a newly married friend, an older woman was met at the door by the new husband whom she had seen but once or twice before, with a pleasant greeting and then the frankly admiring comment: "And what a pretty hat!" She is a woman of thorough breeding, but instead of being offended, she received the greeting in the spirit in which it was intended and answered promptly: "And what a nice young man to tell me so."

This is the spirit of the day, and to my mind, it is a very pleasant spirit. To be sure, such comment may be carried to excess, or it may be made without the sincerity behind it that stamps a compliment as valuable, or it may be uttered in a manner that

JAMES BAY HOTEL SECURES LICENSE PRIVILEGE OF COLONIST HOTEL IS TRANSFERRED

Strong Opposition From Various Interests—Victoria Hotel License

At the meeting of the license commissioners yesterday the principal business before the board was the application to transfer the license of the old Colonist hotel from John Andrew Van Tassel to Fred E. Smith, of the James Bay hotel.

Thornton Fell supported the application of Mr. Smith; H. A. Maclean, K. C., opposed for the owners of the Colonist hotel; F. G. Fowkes appeared for petitioners against the change, and M. B. Jackson watched the case for the outgoing tenant.

Grant Conditionally. After considerable argument the court granted the application, and the license will be carried in connection with the new James Bay hotel, on an understanding there will be no bar trade for two years, or until the character of South Government street has materially changed.

Five petitions, dealing with various phases of the question, were presented. In reply to the petition put in by Mr. Fowkes the previous day, protesting against a license house in a residential district, Mr. Thornton Fell had another petition against continuing the license at the Colonist hotel premises.

Mr. Maclean, for the owners, submitted that the Colonist hotel had possessed a license since Crown colony days, and no conviction had ever been recorded. There had, of course, been rumors, but nothing in the way of evidence before the court. Mr. Carmichael and others had purchased the property about a year ago, and the owners desired to re-erect thereon a same class residential hotel of the same character as the Oak Bay hotel, and he had pleasure in putting into the hands of the commissioners the sketch which had been prepared in connection with the new proposal showing the elevation of the proposed building to the park. He strongly objected to Mr. Van Tassel handing the license over to other premises, and put in a lease to Charles A. Stewart executed in May, 1903, for two years, which he claimed had bound future tenants in preventing them dealing with the license in the way now proposed. They had now a man named Unsworth whom they would ask the commissioners to transfer the license to. He was an experienced hotel man, who could be trusted to maintain the premises as they should be maintained.

The mayor said the glory of the Colonist hotel had long departed, and it had been a den of iniquity for years to the common knowledge of the public. He explained how the hotel came to be called the Colonist. It was as a reply to the criticisms levelled against the house, the owners thinking it would be one way to answer that newspaper by calling it after its critic.

Law of Licenses. Mr. Maclean said it would be the worst thing for a license to be granted the James Bay hotel, owing to its close proximity to the South Park school.

Mr. Fell mentioned that the character of the house had been doubtful at the Colonist premises for years even if there had been no positive conviction. The old practice of the province had been for the license to be personal to the licensee, and moved with him. Then came the case of the Adelphi on Government street, where a man had sufficient power to get an act from the legislature to vest the license in himself, and so it remained till Mr. Martin amended it during his term in office as premier. He submitted that the lease quoted had no binding power on other licensees, and Mr. Van Tassel could do as he thought fit. The petitioners against the change to the James Bay hotel were largely of the class who would protest anyway, and were violent against the liquor traffic as such. They were not asking for an experiment, but a transfer to a license holder who had been in operation for six months conducting his house admirably.

Mr. Fowkes, for the petitioners against the transfer, claimed that by the act a man at the same time could not both transfer his premises and the license, and protested on the ground of the proximity of the property and the dislike to licensed premises on this site.

Mr. Maclean said the application ought not to be made to give a license to a rooming house, as the James Bay hotel was originally projected.

Trafficking in Licenses. The mayor referred to the scandal, which had long existed, of trafficking in licenses. The license of this particular house had changed hands several times, as they had knowledge from their records.

The commissioners welcomed the opportunity to transfer the license from a property facing the park, and while personally he would be glad to see fewer licenses, they had to deal with matters as they were, and to see for which M. B. Jackson appeared, the application was opposed by C. L. Harrison for the license inspector. The opposition took the ground that the license issued was void as there were no premises when it was obtained in January, and therefore there could be no transfer.

Mr. Jackson claimed that as a license was still in force it could be transferred, and the only available premises were the Challoner & Mitchell building, where a 33-room hotel was proposed, and he put in plans for these premises.

Mr. Harrison also presented a petition from owners of neighboring property against the proposal, the list including Charles Hayward, F. B. Pemberton, D. K. Chungnes, Monk and Monteth and A. Bancroft.

The actual operations had ceased on August 15, Mr. Jackson said, and since that time a license had just been maintained pending arrangements.

A remark which Mr. Jackson let slip that he protested against it being put outside just what the commissioners would do in any particular case, led Alderman Anderson to remark there was a great deal too much street talk, a remark in which Mayor Beckwith concurred.

The license was then refused. Victoria Hotel.

The mayor referred to the improper manner in which the Victoria hotel had been conducted until recently. R. C. Lowe, on behalf of the license, informed him that there had been trouble since Mr. Brooks had taken charge, and had stated that before the license was again renewed, affidavits would be produced to show that the house was being properly run.

His worship observed that he was surprised licensees were willing to take such risks with their property, by violating the liquor regulations, and there-by endangering the license. The commissioners, he said, would require that the interest of Mr. Redman should entirely cease.

Other Applications. The application for the transfer of the Clarence saloon from Robert Livingston to George Fortin, was adjourned because the license was not in court, having apparently been lost. An affidavit was put in by H. S. Pringle, a law student in the employment of Tate, Brandon and Hall, that he had brought the license over to the city hall, and it had been left at the mayor's office.

The mayor said he was not responsible, and as far as he knew he had not seen that particular license. He thought the case had better stand over.

that the license holders lived up to their obligations. The transfer was then granted, on the motion of Alderman Anderson, seconded by Commissioner Vincent.

Belmont Saloon. On a motion to transfer the saloon license of the old Belmont house from the new Belmont building to the premises formerly occupied by Challoner & Mitchell on Government street, till they had an opportunity of looking for the license. This was accordingly done.

The mayor observed that the principal feature of this application was that the official records showed the grant of an hotel license while the application asked for the transfer of a saloon license, hence they desired to see the original and clear the matter up.

Permission was granted to make alterations at the Balmoral hotel, for which a plan was filed, and also a temporary permit will be granted Alexander Duff to sell at the Strand hotel. The temporary permit for Levy's restaurant was extended indefinitely. In both cases consideration of the facts will be made.

The Union Question.—A great many people who had settled the question in their own minds as to the nearness of the union of the churches have had reason to change their opinions...

Miller officiated at the early celebration at 7.30 a. m., and also preached at the 11 o'clock service which consisted of Matins followed by a second celebration. Rev. J. W. Flinton, of Saanich, occupied the pulpit at the evening service. He took as his text Acts 4, verse 37, "Having land, sold it, and brought the money, and laid it at the apostles' feet."

First Church.—The pastor was expected back in the city from the meetings of the assembly last evening and will be in his own pulpit to-morrow all day.

Entertain the Aged Ladies.—The ladies of the church gave an afternoon tea and entertainment yesterday at the Aged Women's Home. A good programme of musical and literary items was given to the enjoyment of the guests, while the afternoon was made profitable to them by the sale of ice cream, candy, etc.

Missionary Visitor.—It is anticipated that the pastor will be back from the assembly meetings to-morrow, and will bring with him the Rev. Mr. Wilkie, a missionary in foreign parts of long standing, who will occupy the pulpit and preach both morning and evening.

W. M. S.—The thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the western division of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, is announced to take place in the St. Andrew's church, Vancouver, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 18th, 19th and 20th of June, and is expected to be largely attended.

Strawberry and Ice Cream Social.—The ladies of the church have been compelled to arrange for the social they anticipated last week, one week earlier than they anticipated and so ask all their friends to take special notice that the event will take place on Tuesday first instead of one week hence. The programme will be on a par with the best there has been yet and ice cream and strawberries will be dispensed.

Distinguished Visitor.—The Rev. W. H. Vance, principal of Latimer College, Vancouver, is spending a few days in town and is to occupy the pulpit of St. Saviours to-morrow morning and St. Johns in the evening. Mr. Vance is especially interested in the securing of young men to be trained for the ministry.

Garden Fete.—The Women's Guild of St. James' church, assisted by the young ladies of St. Agnes' Guild, intend holding a garden party on June 23 at the residence of Mrs. Copps.

There will be many attractions, among them being a little play in which young children will be the performers. Tea, ice cream and strawberries, candies, etc., will be on sale.

Methodist Metropolitan.

Special Sermon.—Following upon the "Festival of Years," in which the aged and infirm received the especial thought and reference of the pastor, a sermon was preached by Mr. Holling last Sabbath for the express benefit of the "middle aged." It was a sermon full of apt comparison, historical reference and of instructive and sympathetic details.

Board Meeting.—The last meeting of the joint official boards of the church at which Mr. Holling will preside was held last Thursday evening. At the conclusion of the business several complimentary things were said concerning the pastorate of Mr. Holling, and good wishes extended for the success and happiness of himself and family.

Epworth League.—A splendid interest was manifested in the programme which was provided by the missionary committee at the league last Monday evening. A good crowd was present and listened with avidity to the arguments of the prosecuting and defending attorneys in a mock trial when Christian missions were put on the defensive.

Epworth League West.—The Epworth League had a very interesting and well attended meeting on Monday evening under the social and literary department, when the young ladies of the league met the young men's club in a friendly debate on the subject of "Country Life vs. City Life."

Equimait.—The services commemorative of the commencement of the Methodist services at Equimait, which were held last Sunday, were of a very successful order. The ordinary routine of the day was dispensed with, and special features introduced into each service.

Centennial.—An average crowd was in attendance at the league meeting last Monday evening. The programme was in the hands of the literary committee and consisted of impromptu speeches on various topics which were handed to the participants a few moments prior to speaking.

Advance Centennial.—At the trustee board meeting, which was held last Thursday night there was a full representation and topics full of vital interest to the church were up in general discussion of the best judgment of the church. Though no final action was taken in any matter, the meeting was vibrant with the notes of progress and advancement.

Boating Party.—Though rain threatened to spoil the outing of the Young People's Society last Monday evening there was a splendid turn-out and a most enjoyable ride was experienced to the Gorge, where games and refreshments were indulged in.

12—A MADE TO ORDER BANK BURGLARY

How a Vault and a Reputation Were Shattered by Too Much Dynamite

(Copyright, 1912, by International Press Bureau.)

(Editor's Note.—In order that no anomalies may arise through the publication of these narratives to persons involved therein, other names and places have in many instances been substituted for the real ones.)

The Weldon Community bank, of Weldon, N. Y., was robbed by safe-blowers last night. Nitroglycerin was used to open the bank vault, with disastrous results to one of the robbers, who was blown to pieces by the explosion. His confederates successfully looted the bank and obtained $85,000 in cash.

This little item carried by the various New York papers was the genesis of my connection with the great Weldon Community bank robbery. A few hours after the papers carrying the news were on the street I was on my way to Weldon, ordered by the Burns agency to investigate the case as a representative of the National Bankers' Protective association.

As the reader probably is not familiar with the Weldon community it is necessary to delay my story a trifle in order that the situation may be made more clear. This community is one of several of the sort that may be found in southern New York and northern Pennsylvania. It was founded about 1810 by an Englishman named Weldon, who was in his own way a seeker after a modern Utopia. Weldon believed that our whole system of living in cities, crowded and uncomfortable, or in country districts, isolated and homesome, was all wrong. He believed that the small community, fifty families, for instance, gathered around a common center, and yet not gathered so closely together as to make an actual town, was the ideal, as well as the practical way, for mankind to dwell. He had made something of a fortune in the mill business in England. Unable to put into practice in that country his novel idea, he came to America and, after considerable searching, fixed upon the rich farming valley in southern New York as the spot most favorable for the location of the Weldon community. There he brought together about thirty families, bringing most of them from his native land, England. He established a cooperative store, a blacksmith shop, a school, a church, a mill, in fact, everything needed to supply the welfare of an agricultural community—including the Weldon Community bank. This bank, while it was owned and patronized mainly by the people of the community, was chartered and managed as any small country bank would be. Weldon had conducted its affairs himself at first. At his death it had passed to his son so far as management was concerned, though the title remained in the community. Weldon's son had continued the banking business as successfully as his father had done before him, and the bank was as prosperous and sound as a small bank possibly could be. It had never become a power, but on the other hand, it had never been in trouble once during its whole existence.

Weldon's son had died a few years before the robbery occurred, and the management thereupon had passed into the hands of Giles, the cashier. He had done fully as well by the bank as the Weldons had, and the community had trusted its money to the bank's care as implicitly as ever. The bank had proved time and again that it was panic-proof; but it wasn't burglar-proof. After over sixty-five years of successful operation it had been cleaned out by the conventional accident of safe-blowing. Altogether it was a remarkable situation.

I found the little place in the greatest stir of its history when I alighted from the accommodation train that carried me from the nearest city up the spur to Weldon community. There wasn't much of a town at Weldon, only a few stores, offices, warehouses and houses strung along the road in the center of the farms of the valley. The bank was a neat, old gray-stone building that occupied a position of honor in the middle of it all. It was a compact, sturdy looking building, obviously built with a view to guarding as well as possible whatever might be kept inside. Around the building were gathered most of the people of the community. The rest of them were buzzing around the undertaker's shop across the road, where the body of the slain safe-blower lay for the present. The county sheriff and the coroner were doing their respective duties in assertive fashion, and the people had to content themselves with standing and looking at the outsiders of the buildings containing the objects that had aroused their curiosity. They were the most shocked and horror-stricken group that I had seen for a long time. It was the first real crime of any importance that had ever been committed in the valley within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, and the community was so awed by the shock of it that there was scarcely a thought left in the whole crowd.

I went to the bank first and my card let me in past the sheriff's deputy. I was received by Mr. Giles, the president of the bank, and the board of directors, who were assembled in the banking room. They were glad to see me. This was something altogether out of their line, and they were relieved to have some one arrive on whom they could unload the burden of their worry. "I had feared for years that it was coming," said Giles. "Every night for the last twenty years that I have looked up that old-fashioned vault I have said to myself: 'What would happen if a safe-blower knew what a weak door stands between this bank's money and a robber?' I have recommended time after time the installation of new vaults, but you gentlemen of the directorate have seen fit to believe that economy should continue to be our watchword. Far be it from me to pretend to criticize, but there might be a different tale to tell this morning if there had been a modern vault in this bank."

"Oh, well," said one of the directors, "I suppose these safe-blowers could get into any kind of a safe, couldn't they, Mr. Cornell?"

"Some of them can," I replied. "It depends on their skill. Suppose we take a look at the safe?"

Giles promptly led us into the rear room, where the vault was located. I never have seen a vault or safe that had been used more roughly than the one that now was before my eyes. In the language of the profession, it had been "all shot to pieces." The door had been cracked and torn and twisted and hung across the room lying all over. It was impossible to tell what kind of a door it had been that looked in the Weldon community's money, so shattered was it. An enormous amount of horse blankets had been used to muffle the sound of the explosion.

"A big charge," I said, "a desperate one. They must have wanted to make sure of blowing her open and didn't fear to make a noise. Please leave everything just as it is and let us step across and look at the man who got caught in the explosion."

We—Mr. Giles, the directors and myself—went over to the undertaking shop where the dead bandit lay. I had hoped to recognize him as some listed yeggman, though my acquaintance with that class was limited; but I was disappointed. His face had been blown so thoroughly to pieces in the explosion that it was impossible for anyone not familiar with his smallest characteristics to make out who he might have been. He was dressed a little better than the average yeggman, for there was the remnant of a clean cuff on one of his wrists, but this was all that I could make out in a cursory examination.

"I'll be back later," I told the man in charge. Then I told Giles that I would like to hear the whole story of the affair.

He led the way back to his office in the bank building and told the story in a careful, intelligent way. There was nothing remarkable in the story. He had been called down to the bank at 6:30 that morning by a working-man who, while passing by his work, had seen that the front door of the bank building was unlocked. He had gone in at once, in company with the workman. He had found the door between the banking room and the vault room locked, as usual. He had opened the door and had found the dead burglar and the looted safe, much as we had seen the other. Eighty-five thousand dollars in large bank notes had been taken. Some hundreds of dollars' worth of smaller bills and about a thousand dollars' worth of silver had not been touched. Nobody had been found who had heard the explosion, and there was absolutely no trace of the robbers.

That was Giles' story. It was told in precise, clerical fashion, greatly in contrast to the story of the sheriff, who, when he was called in, rambled about bloodhounds and possums and made a fool of himself trying to appear "wise" before a city detective.

"You locked up the vault last night, did you, Mr. Giles?" I asked.

"Yes sir," he answered.

"And this money was all in there when you locked it up?"

"Yes, of course."

I thanked him and said: "Now will you kindly let me go over the vault again alone? I must study it carefully in order to make out an intelligent report."

He acquiesced readily and I went in the room and shut myself in with the shattered vault.

I had been impressed with my first glance by the apparently enormous charge of explosive that had been used in the robbery. So terrible had the wreckage been that it seemed impossible to me that any living man could have been in that room and survived after the "soup" had scattered the fragments of that door around. The room was so narrow that it must have been like standing before a mortar loaded with scrap iron. The horse blankets were torn to shreds. I said to myself: "A bungler's job," and went out and telegraphed for an expert on explosives, for the expert of the firm that made the safe, and for Durango and Mahaffey, two of our men who knew most of the big yeggs in the country by sight. I locked and sealed the vault room, so it could not be tampered with.

When Mahaffey came he took one look at the dead yegg, lifted his hands and examined the back of them and found some tattoo marks and said: "Sailor Benny, as I'm alive! How did he ever get so far from Omaha? And how did he ever put in too much soup? He was the prince of them all in knowing just how much it took to loosen a door. By glory! Cornell, there's something queer about this Benny never overloaded in his life."

The dynamite expert and the safe man came in on the next train and the three of us entered the vault room of the bank together. The dynamite man took one look around and said: "Shut the door."

I hung my coat over the key hole.

"My god!" said the safe man, almost crying. "It isn't possible. No safe of ours could be blown up in that fashion. Say, nobody ever could blow one of our safes up in that fashion—not even one of these old ones."

"Yes," said the dynamite man, "I've done it myself."

"How?"

"On a test," said the other. "By loading the safe on the inside and then locking the door."

"We looked at one another. 'That is what was done here, isn't it?' I said. 'Absolutely,' said the dynamite man."

I sent for Mahaffey and told him what had been said.

"Then the job never was of Sailor Benny's doing," said he instantly. "Good god, man! The load must have been put in by the man who locked the door. And then how did Benny come to be killed cracking the door?"

The dynamite man and the safe man prepared to withdraw.

"I guess the case is all up to you, Mr. Cornell," they said. "It looks like work for a 'tec."

They went away and Mahaffey and I sat down to theorize behind the locked door.

"Cornell," said Mahaffey, "there is this about this job: Somebody had been in on it before Sailor Benny got to it. Somebody had stuck a load in there back of that door, and whoever it was must have been the man who closed the vault and fixed the combination. Then Benny comes along with his pal and gets busy. Benny puts in his little charge, just a little soup poured in the cracks to loosen that old door. His pal is in the other room, doing lookout. Benny turns loose his charge—and bang! goes the big one that's inside. Naturally Benny is knocked stiff. His pal comes in, sees what has happened, gets the money and beats it in a hurry. Isn't that the way you size it up?"

"Not quite," I said. "Why did that big load happen to be on the inside the night that Benny came to blow the crib? Didn't the man who put it there know that Benny was coming? And if he did know—how did he come to know? Why did he know that? And if he knew—which he certainly did—why did he leave it there, knowing—as he certainly must have—that it would blow Benny to pieces as sure as he ever turned loose his charge? And if he knew all this—this man—why did he do it—why did he do it? Why did he want Benny killed there in front of the safe? Why did he do that?"

Mahaffey shook his head.

"She's a bad case, Cornell," he said. "Yes," I said, "because the man who put that soup in there to go off when Benny came, must have had something to hide, and this was the way he took to hide it. Mahaffey," I said, suddenly, "you and Durango both know all about Benny's old haunts out in Omaha. Better run out there right away and see if you can find why Benny came east."

"Yes," said he, slowly. "That's about the way she will work out. Why did Benny come east? Who got him to come? That's the question that's to be answered. Durango starts in that piece; he used to work in Omaha and knows Benny's girl."

When we came out of the vault room I led to the president:

"Well, Mr. Giles, we have done about all we can do here. Who've we got to do now is to try to look for this dead robber's confederate, the man who got the money. We will do our best, but I assure you it will be a hard task to find him."

"I fear so, Mr. Cornell," said Giles. "But you people are very capable, I understand."

"We never have fallen down on a case yet," I said as we left him.

I suspect that Durango at one time or another had been on the other side of the fence, for his knowledge of criminals, their hang-outs, their manners and their associates in this country was something too intimate to have been picked up as a detective. Durango could at any time go to any city in the country, go straight to the criminal quarter and be accepted as one of the bunch without the slightest suspicion. This was his sole qualification as a detective, however, so he was valuable only at infrequent intervals. In this case he was, as Mahaffey put it, the star. The pair of them was in connection with his portrait of Mary Garden as Thais, which was exhibited in a Fifth avenue window. There, the story goes, his grandfather, James J. B. Haggan, seeing the picture in the window, was so delighted with it that he wished to buy it immediately, and offered $10,000 for it. Not knowing the artist was his own grandson, who had been spurned on account of his artistic tendencies, the offer was made through Miss Garden, and eventually raised to $25,000. Then the artist and the cruel grandfathers were reconciled on the spot. The artist meanwhile accepting the $25,000 check with a more-in-sorrow-than-in-anger expression. It was a very nice story, but there was only one trouble with it—it was not true in any particular.

USEFUL MICROBE OF SPRING

French Scientist's Explanation Far from Poetic, but Doubtless It Is the Truth.

Spring is interesting to others besides poets and lovers. Scientific men have been studying its why and its how and they now tell us that it is due to something widely different from the warming rays of the sun. M. Muentz, in an address before the Academy of Sciences in Paris the other day, asserted that spring was due to microbes.

When the days grow longer these microbes become extraordinarily active and they set up what M. Muentz calls an excessive nitrification, without which the earth would remain sterile and the sap would not flow in plants. This activity, he says, has nothing to do with the temperature, but is due solely to the hereditary tendency of these microbes to become blew into Omaha on the beams of a box car, attired in proper hobo clothing. They went to a saloon kept by an ex-convict near the stock yards—a crook's nest—and within a few hours they were associating with some of Durango's old friends in a back room upstairs. They worked for two days and then sent me this bulletin:

"Sailor Benny was flush with money for weeks before starting to do Weldon job. Must have been paid in advance to do it. Next day came another wire:

"Have found Benny's wife. From her got information that Benny was originally a Weldon boy. He used to get money from there occasionally. Perhaps you can connect up on this."

And the third day:

"Benny's wife says Benny went to Weldon in answer to wire saying just 'Come.' She doesn't know where wire came from."

I wired back:

"If possible send me sample of writing from person remitting him money from Weldon."

And that—the result of that wire—settled the Weldon bank robbery.

On the tenth day of my stay in Weldon, just after he had pulled down the curtains and closed the bank for the day, I placed Mr. Giles, the president, under arrest.

"Arrest?" he cried. "Me? Under arrest? What does this mean, Mr. Cornell?"

"Just what it sounds like, Mr. Giles," I said. "I am sorry, but there is nothing for me to do but place you under arrest for robbing the Weldon Community bank of $85,000."

"Great Scott!" he said. "Do you know what you are talking about? Are you crazy?"

"I hope not," I said. "Let me tell you what I have discovered since I came to Weldon: I discovered that you have been an inveterate Wall street gambler for the last ten years. It wasn't hard to do that; the brokers keep a list of every out-of-town trader they do business with. You had been trading under the name of Travers, but your broker knew who you were. He had looked you up. You were fairly lucky for an outsider until last June. Then your losses began to pile up steadily. A month ago you owed $85,000, and had to make it good or be exposed. You did make it good. You did make it good—out of that vault back there."

"You hoped to cover that loan you made yourself so that nobody ever would be the wiser for it. You hoped to put it back; they all do. But, like most of them in the same fix, you found that you couldn't do it. Then you began to look around for some means of covering up your crime. In your dilemma you thought of a certain man who had left this town as a boy, who had gone to the bad, and whom you had helped—I give you credit for a good heart, Giles—at various intervals when he needed it. You thought of him. You got him to come here. You told him what you wanted done; you wanted the safe blown and robbed. You promised that you would give him half of the big sum that you said was inside—and which should have been inside."

"But you knew you were playing with fire in taking this criminal in as your confederate in so dastardly a crime as robbing your own bank. You needed to have that safe blown—to have it appear that the bank had been looted of $85,000—but you couldn't afford to let a criminal live and know your secret. So you loaded that vault before you locked it the evening before the robbery. You did that—only you could have done it—because you admitted that you locked the vault up for the night."

"You put that big charge of explosive back of the door. Your man—Sailor Benny, the yeggman—came as you had requested. He went to work in workmanlike fashion and shot a respectable charge in the cracks of the door. His explosion turned loose the terrific load you had prepared for him. The door was blown to pieces, so was the yeggman, and you woke up in the morning and felt you were safe once more— isn't that about the truth of the affair, Mr. Giles?"

"Proof?" he said, sneering. "You have proofs to substantiate this pretty little story?"

I merely lifted my hand from the table so he could see underneath what Durango had sent me from Omaha. It was an old envelope which Durango had got from Benny's wife, and in which Benny once had got money from Weldon.

Giles took one swift look at the handwriting and began to gasp like a fish. The writing was his own. He confessed that night to the board of directors and pleaded for mercy. But those old hard working farmers were made of tough stuff. They refused his plea and Giles went to Sing Sing under a heavy sentence.

Value of Good Manners.

The woman who amounts to anything these days must have good manners. There are exceptions, but the woman who would make friends for herself or business for her firm will have a lot easier time and be more successful if she has acquired personal charm. An unfortunate manner neutralizes the good a woman does. The capable woman need not grow slack in her work because she leads, not drives; because she is soft of voice, suave of tongue, kindly of heart, and gracious to all. The reason most of the women are otherwise than suave is that the turmoil of life gets the upper hand. They let their nerves get and good breeding follows.

KILLED BY BLANK CARTRIDGE

Peculiar Fatality That Accompanied Military Maneuvers Undertaken by French Troops.

A strange and sad accident occurred in the course of drill maneuvers at Montreuil-sous-Bois, in the suburbs of Paris, France, where a soldier was killed by a blank cartridge discharged at him by a fellow-soldier. A company of the Thirty-first regiment was taken out to Montreuil for maneuvers. At three o'clock in the afternoon the lieutenant in command decided to order a sham attack on a fort, which his soldiers were to storm. Some of the soldiers were posted as sentries, and the others were told that in storming the imaginary fort, they were to try especially to take the sentries prisoners, but a formal order was given to the soldiers that they were not to load their rifles. In spite of this a shot was suddenly heard, and a soldier fell with a groan. He was a young recruit called Laurent, and near him stood another soldier who had acted as sentry and was completely dumfounded by what had happened. Either he did not know that there was a cartridge in the weapon or he fired thinking that it was only part of the sham fighting. Laurent was taken to the hospital at Reims, and soon afterwards expired. He had been killed by the packing of the blank cartridge, which, being fired within only a yard or two of him, acted like a bullet. The unfortunate soldier was the eldest son of a widow, who has three smaller children to bring up.

Cloth Made of Banana Fiber.

The manufacture of cloth from banana fiber promises to become a great industry in the far east, particularly in India. The process of manufacture is very simple. One year old plants are selected and the stalk is unrolled and steamed over cauldrons of boiling water till soft. It is a simple matter then to remove the green outer skin by passing strips of the stalk through an instrument provided with a couple of blunt blades, which act as scrapers. The fiber thus obtained is placed in cloth and pounded in order to drive out excess moisture and is next cleaned and twisted into yarn for weaving. Banana cloth is said to be eminently suitable for tropical wear and is very durable. At present the price would seem to be almost prohibitive, as a roll of banana cloth, five yards long and one yard wide, sells for about $5.70. As this enterprise is a brand new one, high prices are to be expected; but they are sure to right themselves as the demand for this kind of cloth grows, and the supply endeavors to keep pace with it.

From the Den

In every man's life, his own library, whether it be big or small, comprehensive or limited, plays an important part. By its means he can get away now and then from all that is sordid and vulgar in life, from the fret and the flurry and the turmoil of it, into a haven of rest and peace where the works of the mighty dead lie embalmed in cere cloth and patron of leather and printer's ink, waiting to bless and comfort him as few human agencies can do.

There on his shelves he has presented to him, perhaps, his row of tattered classics, each the palimpsest of a great man's soul; yonder again, maybe, books of travel and exploration compared with the adventures of Gil Blas, of Santillana, and Munchausen were mere wanderings round a village pump; here a line of poets whose glorious rhythm can set the feet a-tropping like one of Branham's Hungarian dances, or vaunt the stately, funereal grandeur of a "marche funebre."

All are there: The deathless page of History, of Romance, whatever the mind desires ready to hand—a mute invitation always waiting for a man's mood whatever it may be, so who would say, "We have piped unto you and ye have not danced; we have mourned unto you and ye have not wept."

It is for them to uplift a corner of the veil of life and show joy to men where they would not have sought it. Our own human aspirations are cribbed within ruled lines, bound down by the iron chain that forges us to the treadmill of earning our daily bread. Only within the four walls of the library can we come face to face with what is immortal, the inmost essence of the spirits of the bodies which have long since faded into impalpable dust. Come away from your see-saw wonder-houses, leave the roof of the world behind you. Come into the Den.

It remained for the poet Wordsworth to make his impassioned protest against the rolling process through which mankind is continually passing in the daily grind for existence. "In the greatest sunset the world has ever produced he got at the root of the matter with that almost uncanny intuition, which is a characteristic of the noblest of his works, and which earned for him the title on the scroll of fame of "Nature's High Priest."

"The world is too much with us, late and soon, Getting and spending we lay waste our powers; . . . We have given our hearts away—a sordid boon."

He was not of those who mixed in the struggle; he was trained in the University of the Universe. Like Emerson in his solitary mountain fastnesses he wove the warp and woof of fame undying on the cold pinnacle of Secclusion. Like the gods on Olympus he watched the "chequer-board of nights and days," that is termed human life, but intensely aloof. He lived so close to Nature's heart that he could almost hear its beating; but he never mixed with the crowd. He had little knowledge of humanity. He braves in every word that Shakespeare wrote, and makes his book human with a humanity that grips and holds wherever it is read, that age cannot wither nor custom stale.

Poets of the past we have had in abundance; poets even of the future have sung; poets have tried to pierce beyond the grave and probe eternity; but have we a man who will sing of the great glorious age of the Present? Not one. For it is a Golden Age no matter how we may look at it. The golden age of Greece and Rome was but a pale, inarticulate ghost compared with the age through which the civilized world is passing. With the works of Marconi, Edison and Curie, earth has become a more wonderful place than ever the fairy dreams of Grimm and Hans Christian Andersen gave utterance to.

We have begun to look Truth between the eyes and to measure men by the standard of fitness. Birth matters not in the least. Manner or mansion predestinate nothing, for humanity is now being sized up and docketed according to their value and usefulness and not by length of pedigree, not by the moth-eaten tradition of breed and creed.

The meanest lie that ever blighted the universe—the lie of caste, of superiority by birth, is gasping under the throttling heel of progress. The Golden Age has dawned. The lowly of birth, sons of laborers and farmers, and the offspring of the slums are saving continents in half, neopling the vast silences, conquering time and space, sea and air; before the granite mountains they say like Napoleon their "Partons," but go through instead of over; have dragged new sciences, patient fact by fact, out of the limbo of intellectual darkness; there is no bourn set to the march of their conquering human achievement.

The sovereignty of ignorance, of birth-proud aristocracy has faded with the passing years. Its day is done and the dawn of a great new era is breaking—breaking, flooding the earth with its glorious light, glowing in men's eyes and deeds and lives. Where is the poet who will go forth into the press, mix with the strivers in the common ways of men and tell their innermost story to the world? Here is the matter at hand ready for the greatest epic that was ever written, mightier than the story told in the roll and thunder of Homer's verse, more various, complex and virile than the Shakespearean volume; fix ready for the burning, incense prepared for the offering.

Wanted, a Man.

But it is good to sit in the Den after the day's work is done, with the curtains drawn about you, and muse on life and its many-colored ways with the delicious sense that for a time at least we are out of the struggle; to muse with the help of our old friends up yonder on the shelves. Friends they are indeed. The great Montesquieu said once: "I never had any sorrow that an hour's reading did not dissipate." And he knew, for he was a man of many sorrows. Yes, they are good friends, and staunch comrades. When all others forsake us these good books remain true. You know what Washington Irving says of them:

"The scholar only knows how dear these silent yet eloquent companions of pure thoughts and innocent hours in the season of adversity. When all that is worldly turns to dross around us, these only retain their steady value. When friends grow cold and the converse of intimates languishes into rapid civility and commonplace, these only continue their unaltered countenance of happier days and cheer us with that true friendship which never deceived hope nor deserted sorrow."

We are all forced at some period of our lives to face the fact, to recognize the value of most human friendships. We know too well the petty market of give-and-take, the little hearted barter in which self-love usually counts on being the gainer—that is tagged with the sacred name of friendship as blatantly as the imitation wares in a dealer's window. Constant companions all, our books are the truest friends we have.

Out here in this western outpost of the Empire we have little time for reading maybe. The great work has to be carried on and we forget the silent comrades that are waiting, and the charm of black letter. But there comes a time when the shadows lengthen and the long day draws to its setting, and our eyes are too dim, perchance, to con the page, and we sit on the sunny side of the wall always—waiting.

Then it is that the tall ships come floating into Memory Harbor and purple hours with the Masters recall themselves to mind so that old age passes without regret. For all the eye grows dim the mental eye is clear and steady; so—

When we are old with eyes grown strangely clear,
We shall look back along the road we have traveled and see
Just when and how and why we have failed, my dear,
Just when and how we could never, alas, be free.
We make such beautiful plans and then we fret
Because a shadow must fall on our glorious days
Forgetful, although we never can quite forget,
There's an ambushed road to encounter in all our ways.
There's always an ambush laid for the feet of youth,
And many a snare for Love's unheeding feet,
But the fame that we strive for is only a shadow in truth,
'Tis the perilous way that leads there renders it sweet.

When we are old the ambush of darkness waits,
And who knows what may chance there beyond the Gates.

TWO INJURED.

Vancouver, June 14.—A two-year-old boy asleep in bed near an air-shaft rolled out of the window and fell four storeys to the foot of an air-shaft in the tenement at 635 East Fourteenth street. When his mother heard of it from a neighbor she ran to the cellar. Unable to reach the airway she returned to the second floor, jumped from a window and struck on her side not far from the boy. She tried to crawl to him, but both her legs were broken and her hip was injured.

Joseph Zimmey, the father, came running from a new building nearby, in which he works as a plasterer. When Dr. Miles, an ambulance surgeon, arrived, there were so many persons in the street and hallway that though aided by a policeman it took him nearly fifteen minutes to force his way to the fourth floor. He found the frontal bone of the child's skull crushed and both arms broken. He wanted to take the child to Bellevue with the mother, but relatives said no, so that the baby was put into a crib beside the mother's bed near his six-months-old brother the mother had been nursing when the older child fell.

ATHLETES FOR STOCKHOLM.

New York, June 14.—What American experts call the greatest gathering of track and field athletes ever assembled in one team, sailed out of New York harbor this morning on the steamship Finland, bound for Stockholm, to represent the United States in the Olympic games. The vessel has been converted into a floating gym. There will be opportunity for all hands to keep in condition en route.

The track and field contingent alone numbered 108. As there are only 94 among the "regulars," this indicated that 14 of the supplementary list were in the throng. All told there were about 150 in the party, including those listed for contests.

REORGANIZING SCHOOLS.

Toronto, June 15.—The requiring of oral teaching in English as soon as the pupil enters the first form, the establishment of four modern schools and the placing of the schools in three divisions, each in charge of a supervising inspector, are the principal lines along which the Ontario government will proceed with the re-organization of the English-French schools of the province and the requirement of the law regarding the English language in these schools.

The announcement was made by Sir James Whitney yesterday and the re-organization arrangements outlined will go into effect at the beginning of the school year after the close of the summer holidays.

In schools where French has hitherto been a subject of study, the instruction in French in the school year in 1912-1913 is to be limited to one hour per day in each class. It is further provided that it shall not interfere with adequacy of instruction in English and shall be optional except where the parents or guardians of the pupils direct that they take it.

Annual Financial Statement—
 Assessment for Year Totals
 $23,100,180

New Westminster, June 14.—The annual financial statement has been issued in bond form and in a preface by Mayor Lee, he states that it is gratifying to know that the departments as a whole have kept well within the revenue. While some had exceeded the estimates in expenditure, their revenues had also increased and the net total showed a surplus revenue over expenditure of $19,587.02. In another paragraph the Mayor states: "Niggardly action on the part of citizens of any city are not conducive to the best interests of a growing community—we must be cautious and economical, but not small or picayunish."

The assessment for 1912 is given as $23,100,180, of which $16,482,560 is the assessed value of land and $6,617,620 is the assessed value of the improvements. After allowing for exemptions the assessment available for taxation was $13,790,000, under practically a single tax system. On the general revenue account for 1911 the expenditure was $441,020, and the income was $451,707, giving a surplus of $10,687. By general taxes the sum of $190,575 was realized and $20,208 was received from general improvement taxes. The other principal sources of income were electric light department, $195,372; water department, $87,996; rentals and licences, $10,040.

The city engineer in his annual report states that for purposes of comparison, it is interesting to note that in 1909 there were only 9.35 miles of sewers constructed in the city, at the end of 1910 there were 18.85 miles laid, at the end of 1911, the present year, there are 46.71 miles laid and under construction. The Sanitation Sewerage System, for which the necessary information is now being compiled, will add 45 miles on to this total and it will be safe to assume that by the end of 1912 the most important portion of this system will be well under way. The need of additional water storage is urged.

REGULATION OF DINING ROOMS

Resolutions Adopted by Vancouver Board of License Commissioners

Vancouver, June 14.—Two important resolutions dealing with hotel dining rooms or cafes run as hotel dining rooms and with bartenders' licences were passed at the last meeting of the Board of License Commissioners.

On motion of Commissioners Pyke and Hackett it was resolved that all hotel dining rooms (or cafes) shall be closed between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 6 o'clock a. m. of each and every day during the term of their licence.

There shall be no exhibition or performance of vocal music allowed in any dining room (or cafe) at any hour. All liquors to dining room (or cafe) must be served direct from bar and must be dispensed by a licensed bartender. No liquor to be served between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 6 o'clock a. m. Guests served in dining room (or cafe) before 12 o'clock p. m. may be allowed to remain to finish refreshments, but in no case to be allowed to pass the hour of 1 o'clock a. m. at which hour the premises are to be vacated and curtains or blinds so drawn as to give a full view of the interior of premises.

No liquor is to be served in any dining room (or cafe) except with bona fide meals. There shall not be allowed to frequent any hotel premises any person, male or female, of bad character or ill fame. All hotel licences issued for the year 1912-1913 shall be issued subject to these regulations, and any violation of the same by any licensee will subject him to a suspension or cancellation of his licence as the board may determine; the board being the sole judge as to the violation of said regulations. A duplicate of these regulations must be attached to every hotel licence issued from the board for 1912 and 1913.

It was decided that no work at cleaning up or anything else must be done in bar rooms after hours without a permit.

GIVE IT UP.

To the Editor: Don't you think it would be sweet of the morning paper to let the long-suffering Str Richard McBride have a well-earned rest upon his laurels, as he must be growing a little weary of fulsome attention for so many years, via editorials and enormous pictures? The same with which your contemporary so often intimidated Liberal electors at various elections! Is there not just a shade of vulgarity in such persistent sycophancy?
 QUERY.

CYCLIST'S REASONABLE APPEAL.

To the Editor: I should like to draw the attention of our civic fathers to a rather annoying trouble, to-wit: the dumping of gravel and sand on street corners for road purposes. When first dumped it leaves enough room to pass, but after a few autos and rigs have scraped it down it slides out the full width of the road. I admit this is not very hard on rigs, etc., but I guarantee many a cyclist beside myself have come a cropper, not to mention bent rims. I think that as a great number of citizens are cyclists it is only fair that they should be given consideration as far as possible by dumping gravel and sand in longer and narrower heaps and thereby save our wheels from numerous dents in the rims. In the case of sand it is practically impossible to plug through two or three inches of that material. Of course, were this the case in only one or two places it would need no comment, but I defy anyone to find a dump where it isn't spread out all over the road.
 J. C. MOODY.

PARFITT BROS. CHALLENGE.

To the Editor: In reading the report in your issue of last evening Re Steadfast vs City in Reservoir case now pending, Mr. Higgins is reported to say that he could prove a certain piece of concrete as exhibited to be taken from some of our work at the new St. John's church.

If Mr. Higgins will, as stated, prove that the piece referred to was taken from any part of any wall as built by us on the above mentioned job, and is a fair sample of our work, we will forward a cheque of $50 to the Protestant Orphanage home of this city.

Further, we hereby offer—if architect will consent to have any part of work as built by us on above mentioned job cut to obtain a sample—where there are many places where this could be done and not injure the building as it now stands—and if sample obtained is similar in quality to sample exhibited in court we will pay the Orphanage $250. If it should prove otherwise Mr. Higgins pay cost only of replacing work to obtain sample and we would ask an unbiased man, say Mr. Geo. Jeeves, to judge of sample.

SEEKING INJUNCTION.

Vancouver, June 15.—The injunction to restrain the Point Grey school trustees from proceeding with the erection of a two-room addition to the West Point Grey school, which is being applied for by Mr. Hopper and other Point Grey residents, was yesterday made the subject of prolonged arguments before Mr. Justice Murphy. The application has been adjourned until Monday morning in order that Mr. Grant, the contractor for the work, may be made a party to the proceedings.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purging the blood. Get a box at your druggist's. 10

BIRTHDAY CALENDAR

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Rapid passing of events and many opportunities will mark this year, and it will be a fortunate one for you, as far as material interests are concerned. Some friend will disappoint you and some deception will occur. Those born to-day will be quick and impulsive, but their good judgment will prevent them from being rash. They will have many friends and be generally successful.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN BY DR. FRANK CRANE

Those people who are always wishing they were not themselves but some one else, should think that immortality would be for them a most unpleasant prospect. For if there is to be any persistence of my life after death, it must be my own self, remembered and conscious of my past earthly life; for of course if this earth-life be entirely forgotten, then it is not immortality at all, but is tantamount to the creation of an entirely new personality.

And if I am dissatisfied with myself here all the time what a bore it will be to prolong that condition forever! No. Wrapped up in the very possibility of living on in the next world, is the feeling that I would rather be ME than any one else in the universe. At the centre of the soul is an intense egotism.

Our deepest love is for our own personality. This is the "love of life." This is the moving cause of all struggles for civil or religious liberty.

And it is this feeling, meshed and rooted in the very subsoil of the soul, that keeps insisting on immortality. I am far from satisfied with myself; but I am perfectly satisfied to be myself.

I shall dodge the river Lethe if I can. I wouldn't forget my life, poor as it has been, for all possible future bliss. For, what use is anything, if there be no more ME?

MOUNTAINEERING NOT POOR MAN'S SPORT

Even Buffalo in National Park Have Been Known to Charge Strangers

(H. F. G. in Toronto Star.)

Ottawa, June 1.—The best time to write about the mountains is when you are out of them. Then you can look back with composure and size up their weak points as well as their good ones.

Most of our Canadian mountains are in British Columbia, which is a comparatively undiscovered country that has no thought for the east save as the place the money comes from. Remembering Lot's wife, British Columbia never looks back over her shoulder. It wouldn't do her any good if she did, because the mountains are there to obstruct the view. This is why British Columbia is so self-centered. On the Pacific slope the east has about the same standing as a remittance from home. A good example of the irresistible force coming in contact with the immovable object is the difficulty of a conference experience getting over the Rocky Mountains.

Some Uses for Mountains.

According to the science sharps there are ten thousand peaks in the Canadian Rockies over ten thousand feet in height. Some of them have been climbed and named, but most of them have not. Our mountains are not as high as those in Switzerland, but there are more of them, and they offer even greater facilities to the adventurous for breaking their necks because the trails are not as well known. Eventually we will make a great deal more money out of our mountains than the Swiss do. We won't close them up in winter. They will pay dividends all the year-around. No doubt that is what Providence placed them there for.

British Columbia is a province of mountains with valleys in between. Sometimes the mountains are so close together that a little green river has to make a lot of noise to get through the gorge. At other times the mountains open out in good order like tall grenadiers and furnish hollow squares for fruit ranches and town sites. Get it into your head that the mountains we are talking about are real mountains. We have no mountains in old Ontario except the kind you can build like the one at Hamilton. Some early contractor probably left it there.

At present the mountains are used largely as scenery, but the day approaches when they will be given harder work. They will be needed as landing stations for aeroplanes. When all the other rights of way have been chartered there will be mountain peak railways for people whose hearts are strong. When the cement age has finished with the mountains they will be nothing more than holes in the ground, and this good brown earth will be as pitted as the moon. But even at that many a long day must go by before the everlasting hills come to an end.

The Case of Hyphen Jones.

Meanwhile the mountains wield their spiritual spell of mystery. The canyon lures. The heights beckon. Some people cannot bear a mountain without wanting to climb it. Give us, for our part, a comfortable, well-rounded mountain, treed to the chin-trees never range higher than six thousand feet—a cosy, grassy mountain with coal in its warm flanks, a mountain you can walk up, or, better still, ride up! That's the kind of mountain for fat people over forty, but others are not so easily satisfied.

There was the case, for instance, of Reginald Hyphen-Jones—I am making up names—the celebrated English Alpine climber who came seven thousand miles across land and water to climb Crow's Nest mountain. Hyphen-Jones was a man of the world, a man of the world just touching the high spots. He was a high-flyer, lived high, fed high, and linked one meal to another with an endless chain of high balls. He had conquered everything in the Alps, the Andes and the Himalayas. No matter how high an unclimbed mountain might be, it took its hat off to Hyphen-Jones and said, "You beat. All I ask of you is to respect my white head and don't build your cairn too big." That's the kind of man Hyphen-Jones was. He roamed to and fro on the face of the earth challenging mountains. A new mountain was to him what a new high car is to a grand opera singer—something to be gloriously overcome. Hyphen-Jones had it. The mountains just where he wanted "em—the haughtiest ate out of his hand.

Well, Hyphen-Jones came across an ocean and a continent to Crow's Nest mountain, Alberta. Crow's Nest is the most symmetrical mountain in the Rockies. It is almost architectural in its beauty. It rises buttressed, out of the ground like the parliamentary library at Ottawa. It is surmounted by a dome like the Capitol at Washington, and there is always snow on the roof. It is not more than twelve thousand feet high, but it is hard to climb. That was what drew Hyphen-Jones. He didn't give a hoot about its architectural proportions, but he did bank a lot on the fact that it was a perfectly good mountain that had never been used before and that he would be the first man to climb it. In a word Crow's Nest was Hyphen-Jones' meat, and if he ate crow it was only to be expected.

When Jones Fell Down.

At all events Hyphen-Jones came across at great expense with his ropes and alpenstocks, and other scaling gear. He also brought with him his reputation and two Swiss guides, faithful companions in many a stiff ascent, whom we will call Jean and Adolph. Now Hyphen-Jones, from having eaten so many mountains, had grown somewhat mountainous himself, particularly around the middle, where it weighs heaviest. Also he was over sixty and he drank more whiskey than a mountain climber should if he wants to keep in condition. So he sent Jean and Adolph ahead to blaze a trail above the tree line while he stayed down at the Rocky Mountain hotel in Frank and helped to sweeten business at the bar. His idea was that Jean and Adolph would do the drudgery of Crow's Nest mountain and Hyphen-Jones would keep the peak and triumph for himself.

Jean and Adolph carried out instructions to the letter until they got to the hard part at the top. This hard part is the top where mountains differ from some men who keep their feet on the ground. The hard part of Crow's Nest mountain is about six hundred feet high—steep cliffs on both sides, about four feet apart. The only way to make the peak is to so swear up—back against one precipice, feet against the other—some swarming, you will admit, for an elderly mountaineer full of Scotch-and-soda.

But Jean and Adolph were young and Swiss, and their feet naturally yearned to lay hands on that untamed mountain. Besides they had a real affection for their master. "I fear," said Jean "that monsieur hasn't another good climb left in him."

"I fear," replied Adolph, "that if he tries there will be nothing of him left to pick up."

Jean looked at Adolph and Adolph looked at Jean. Then they scaled the Crow's Nest. After the deed was done they went back to the Rocky Mountain hotel and told it to Hyphen-Jones, who promptly exploded. His language was unfit to print. What he said was partly responsible for the rock-slide on Old Tarte Mountain which overwhelmed Frank a year later. There is some remark that no mountain climber of Hyphen-Jones' fame. Old Tarte, being just round the corner from the Rocky Mountain hotel, overheard everything Hyphen-Jones said, and fissures opened in his face then which were never closed afterwards. It was the mountain's way of expressing horror at Hyphen-Jones' blasphemy.

High Mountains and High Prices.

Mountain-climbing is not a poor man's sport. In the first place it costs too much money to get to the mountains, and when you do get to them, the prices are in proportion. When David lifted up his eyes to the hills and got strength, it cost him next to nothing, because the mountains were near at hand. If David had happened to live in Ontario, lifting up his eyes to any hill big enough to inspire the Psalms would have set him back the price of a return ticket to British Columbia. Belonging to the Alpine Club of Canada is a real luxury. The mountain hotels in Alberta and British Colum-

Facts About McClary's "Sunshine" Furnace

—The Understudy of the Sun—

The Fire-pot of the "Sunshine" is made of Semi-Steel—that of the ordinary furnace is made of Grey Iron. Here's the difference—Destructive sulphur fumes penetrate Grey Iron easily because it is porous. Semi-steel is not porous—it is a close-grained material with a smooth surface secretly processed by McClary's. Gas fumes cannot penetrate Semi-Steel therefore it lasts longer. The "Sunshine" Fire-pot is built in two sections joined together with our famous cup joint. The shape of this joint, combined with a layer of McClary's asbestos cement, makes it absolutely gas, smoke and dust-proof.

it and the ashes drop into the ash-pan. A child can easily rock the grates of a "Sunshine"—merely another reason why you should buy a "Sunshine" Furnace. Ordinary furnaces are called coal glut-tones. There may be good reasons for that—we don't know. But—we have built the "Sunshine" Furnace so that it is very easy on coal. Hundreds of people now using the "Sunshine," and having used ordinary furnaces, declare that the "Sunshine" makes two tons of coal do the work of three. Evidently, the "Sunshine" Furnace saves coal and money.

The ordinary furnace has a water-pan hidden somewhere about the base. There, it cannot carry out the purpose for which the water-pan was devised. The water-pan of the "Sunshine" Furnace is placed scientifically above the radiator near the dome—the heat laps up the water, before being diffused all over the house. It contains the same amount of moisture as the air of a balmy June day. Plainly, as far as the water-pan is concerned, the "Sunshine" is the furnace you should buy.

There are many more reasons why you should invest your money in "The Understudy of the Sun"—McClary's "Sunshine" Furnace. Call on the McClary agent and ask him to show you all the mechanical reasons and exclusive devices which go to make the "Sunshine" the best and therefore the cheapest furnace you can buy. Write us at our nearest address if you cannot get in touch with him.

Clearly, the "Sunshine" is the premier furnace as far as the Fire-pot is concerned.

The Grates of the "Sunshine" Furnace have three sides each. Plainly, they have three times the endurance of one-sided grates. Every time you rock down the ashes of the "Sunshine" you can expose a fresh side of the grate to the fierce heat of the fire—lengthen the life of the grates.

And the short, strong teeth of "Sunshine" grates simply grind up clinkers. The "Sunshine" Furnace is the best as far as grate construction goes.

Shaking an ordinary furnace is hard, back-breaking labor. You don't need to shake the "Sunshine"—you simply rock
