JUSTICE FIRST

MAN SHOULD HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO PRESERVE MANHOOD AND SELF RESPECT

The meeting Thursday night at the high school by the various churches and clubs of Glendale and Tropico to organize charity work was very ably addressed by Dr. Ryland, and in that address some very significant things were said. Here we have a good man and a man of ability who stands at the head of the charity work of a great city, and he tells us he has come to detest the word charity. He has for a long time been in close contact with the working class and with conditions as they really are, and he tells us that justice should come before charity; that to preserve men's manhood and self respect should be of first consideration, and such preservation can only be had by giving every willing worker a chance to earn an honest support. He pointed out the fact that when business began to slacken, men of abundant means would immediately begin to retrench by laying-off men in their employment, when they could just as well keep them at work if they so choose.

But why blame individuals for acting on the principle on which society is organized? Are we not taught and trained from infancy to look out for No. 1, to get all we can and to keep all we can, and the man who succeeds best in this gamble for wealth is honored and lauded as a leading citizen, and perchance a pillar in the church? Dr. Ryland knows the remedy and we believe would have given it, but it was not in the province of what he was expected to say.

Men act as they do from the great law of self-preservation, for no man feels absolutely safe. Even our multimillionaires have their lives insured to safeguard their families. If the churches are really in earnest in permanently alleviating poverty, they will have to go deeper into the matter than to merely organize charity work. It is all right to prepare to alleviate present distress, but while so doing we should seek to find and remove the cause, for as Dr. Ryland so ably said, "There must be something radically wrong to cause such widespread distress."

What is that wrong and what is its remedy should be the first consideration of all who truly seek to better human conditions. Government investigators tell us that nine hundred dollars is the least that will decently support an average family in the United States, and that was before the European war raised prices. They also tell us that five hundred dollars is about the average income. Can you not see in these figures ample cause for distress and poverty? Three great vampires have fastened themselves to the vitals of labor and they are as relentless as fate and as cruel as death. They are known as "rent, interest and profit." No charity organization will cause them to lose their hold. No reform will stay their deadly glight, nor will present-day Christianity reach them. One word only do they fear, and that one word carried into effect will cause the shiver of death to forever release their hold, and that word is "co-operation." Co-operation in the means of providing for the material wants of the human family will destroy poverty, crime and war by removing the cause.

But we are not seeking to remove the cause; we simply make a gamble of life to see who can get the most of this world's goods, regardless of who is trampled under, and the more of this kind of progress and prosperity we have, the larger grows our submerged class. New York seeks to wrest the prestige of London and become the money center of the world. When she reaches that goal she will bury one in every four of her population in the potter's field, as does London now. The strongest indictment that can be brought against the present competitive method of doing business is its appalling waste of human life and human energy. It can be convincingly shown to any honest mind that we absolutely and unnecessarily waste enough to abundantly supply all with every comfort of life.

You that are seeking to alleviate a little of this suffering, caused by the unnecessary poverty, have acknowledged that there is a great fundamental wrong in our social system. You must have some idea as to what that wrong is and you should be honest enough to at least tell us what you think it is. No one should be afraid of justice, and if it is not justice, pray tell us what it is you seek. When we seek to establish justice in the relationship of man to man in the methods of supplying our daily bread, we will have no further use to organize charity workers to beg and plead with the over-rich to give up a little of their unearned wealth

TRUSTEES HOLD SHORT SESSION ON MONDAY

CITY MANAGER SUBMITS FIGURES AND IS INSTRUCTED TO PROCEED WITH ERECTION OF MUNICIPAL GARAGE—STRINGENT ORDINANCE GOVERNING MOTOR BUSES IS TAKEN UP FOR FIRST AND SECOND READINGS—OUTLOOK FOR SALE OF WATER BONDS IS GOOD—DIRECT LOS ANGELES HIGHWAY SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

The trustees of the city of Glendale met in regular session Monday evening, December 21st. Although a few minutes tardy in beginning business, they finished earlier in the evening than usual. There were present: O. A. Lane, president of the board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, J. S. Thompson, A. W. Tower and George Williams. Also present: T. W. Watson, city manager; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; W. E. Evans, city attorney; H. B. Lynch, manager of the public service department; Edw. M. Lynch, city engineer, and G. B. Hoffman, city treasurer.

Minutes of the preceding meeting were read by Clerk J. C. Sherer and approved.

Rev. E. H. Willisford, Rev. Bede A. Johnson and Rev. S. Jackson Hartsell appeared before the board representing the building committee of the Ministerial association, who are at present arranging for the Brown-Currier evangelistic meetings to be held in Glendale beginning February 1st. Rev. Hartsell, on behalf of the committee, asked that the board of trustees grant a permit for the erection of a tabernacle 80x100 feet near the corner of Maryland and Third street, the building to be on the east side of the street, the erection of same to be commenced about the middle of January, to be completed by February 1st in time for the opening of the meetings. The building is to be constructed of wood and is to remain only until the close of the meetings, and is to be removed immediately after the close of the meetings. On motion a permit was granted for the erection of such a building the same to be done under the direction of the building inspector.

A. C. May of Eagle Rock made application for conducting a dairy, the same having been endorsed by the milk inspector, being granted.

A report from the tax collector stated that for the week ending Dec. 19th, $5044.94 in taxes had been paid into the treasury, making a total of taxes collected to date $23,213.15.

F. Radley was present and asked the board of trustees to grant permission to him and his church followers to hold evangelistic meetings on the streets of Glendale during the month of January. Permission was granted on condition that the place of holding the meetings be under the direction of the police department.

Protests were received and ordered placed on file against the opening and widening of Orange street, Chestnut street, Seventh street, Adams street and Eighth street east of Verdugo road.

Demands were read and referred to the finance committee to be reported upon at the next meeting.

City Manager T. W. Watson, complying with a request that had been made at a previous meeting, submitted an estimate of the cost of tools for automobile repairing and for a garage building. The necessary tools for equipping the garage he said would cost about $236. Material for a building 36x44 feet, constructed of wooden frame covered with galvanized iron, not including a cement floor, would cost $250. This cost, he said, would not include the labor, but it is his opinion that at least one-half of the labor can be done by men now employed by the city, so the labor expense would probably not be more than $50. On motion of Trustee Thompson the city manager was instructed to proceed to have the building erected. The location of this building is to be at the rear of the firehouse. The city at present owns four automobiles and two motorcycles, and it is the opinion of the city trustees that it will be a matter of economy to keep these machines housed at the same place, and have all repairing done under the direction of Mr. Lankford, the driver of the auto fire truck.

City Manager Watson recommended the adoption of an ordinance re-to prolong the unhappy lives of their victims.

Co-operation is Christian; it is just. Competition is unjust for it leads to monopoly. It is the great antichrist of the modern world, and as we prolong its existence, conditions will continue to grow more desperate. The battle is on between these two great forces. On which side are you aligned?

ROBBERS ABROAD

GLENDALE SCENE OF NUMEROUS BURGLARIES ON MONDAY NIGHT

When B. Kline, shoe repairer, opened his place of business between Third and Fourth streets on Brand boulevard this morning, he found that robbers had been there Monday night and had taken between twenty-four and twenty-seven packages of leather, worth considerably over $200 and weighing about 265 pounds. Also $1.25 in cash. They entered the store through the rear, where they broke in through a window. The Central Market, next door, was also broken into, where the robbers received less than a dollar in small change and merchandise was also taken, but Mr. E. S. McKee, proprietor, is unable to determine the exact amount of the merchandise.

It is believed from the bulk of the merchandise stolen from these two stores that the robbers got away with their haul in a wagon or automobile, which must have been in waiting near by. E. Berman, the tailor, says that they tried to break into his place of business about 11 o'clock, but he frightened them away.

The police department of Glendale were notified of the robberies as soon as the stores were opened early this morning.

Monday evening at 7:15 a phone message was received by the local police department from Manuel Verdugo, proprietor of the Verdugo grocery on Verdugo road, saying that he had just been held up and robbed by a Mexican who had taken his watch, a check drawn by the Glendale & Montrose railway in favor of J. Artega in the amount of $13.70, also a leather bag containing a quantity of silver and small change, and $15 in gold. Mr. Verdugo stated that he had just finished counting his money and placed the change in the leather bag, had locked the store and gone around to the rear of the building to look if everything was all right, when a tall, slender Mexican, wearing a pair of dirty overalls, jumped out of the shadows and held him up with a gun, taking the things mentioned above. Chief Herald and Officer Lawrence responded to the call in an automobile and Officer Miller on a motorcycle and they were all at the scene of the robbery in about ten minutes after the call came in. They scoured the whole valley with the aid of a number of citizens, and found Mr. Verdugo's watch and chain about a quarter of a mile up the road and about 12:30 they arrested a Mexican calling the name of Luis Lopez, who tallies closely with the description of the bandit given by Mr. Verdugo. This man is now being held at the police station on suspicion and the officers are making further investigations today.

At about 7:30 Monday evening Mrs. Herald, wife of the chief of police, telephoned the station that robbers were trying to break into their home, 1218 Ninth street. Officers sent down to the house could find no trace of the would-be robbers in the vicinity.

Trustees Thompson and Tower reported that the electric cars are not stopping on the rear side of the crossings, as they are required to do by city ordinance, and also that there is unnecessary delay in completing the street work on the right-of-way at Brand boulevard and Second street. On motion City Attorney Evans was instructed to write the Pacific Electric company calling attention to both of these neglects.

The question of appointing of moving picture censors came up for discussion. An ordinance was passed about six months ago requiring that the board of trustees appoint three moving picture censors, but up to the present time such censors have not been appointed. It was recommended by one of the trustees that each member of the board present at the next meeting submit names of persons who will be suitable to serve on a censor board.

The matter of the opening of Brand boulevard across the Los Angeles river and direct into the city of Los Angeles was taken up for consideration and on motion J. W. Usilton, M. P. Harrison and W. W. McElroy were appointed a committee to confer with officers of other municipalities for the purpose of forwarding the progress of such an improvement.

CHRISTMAS TEA

PLEASANT AFTERNOON ENJOYED BY LADIES OF SHAKESPEARE SECTION

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club entertained their guests on Monday afternoon with a Christmas tea at the residence of the chairman, Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street. Christmas decorations prevailed in the living-room. Tall vases of poinsettias were artistically arranged. In the windows hung Christmas bells and bunches of mistletoe, and the mantel was entwined with crimson carnations and asparagus plumosus.

A very interesting program had been planned and was delightfully given. First a paper comparing the characters of Portia and Jessica was read by Mrs. Albert Pearce. Mrs. William H. West followed with a paper comparing Shylock and Antonio. Next a paper comparing the three lovers of Portia was read by Mrs. Evans. She also read a paper prepared by Mrs. Henry Goodwin and herself, discussing the legal points of the court scene of "The Merchant of Venice." After this came the real treat of the afternoon—a talk on the "Spiritual Good of Shakespeare's Works," by Mrs. L. Plummer, who came before the section by request. Mrs. Plummer is a deep student along many lines, but she is particularly interested in Shakespeare, and her talk was most beautiful, fitting and helpful. The last thing on the program was a Christmas gift. The section presented their instructor, Miss Jackson, with a jeweled hair ornament to express their appreciation of and their esteem for her.

After this came refreshments. In the dining-room mistletoe and Christmas bells were also in evidence. The table, set with a large lace cloth, had as a center piece a low bowl of carnations and plumosus. Mrs. Frank Hester presided at the coffee urn. Assisting her in serving were Mrs. Albert Pearce and Mrs. Frank Crossen. Home-made cakes, candies and coffee were served and music on the Victrola enjoyed.

Members present were Mesdames E. D. Yard, W. H. West, Frank Grosvenor, Albert Pearce, W. P. Thompson, Mattison B. Jones, Frank Hester, John G. Hunchberger, Harry Lynch, John W. Usilton and Mrs. Nash.

Guests present were Mesdames P. S. McNutt, Frederick Baker, H. H. Martin, Chas. H. Temple, L. W. Sinclair, Glenwood Jones, A. L. Weaver, Helen Campbell, A. W. Tower, Chinton Booth, W. W. McElroy, Wm. Ramsey and Mrs. Plummer.

ALLIES MAY BE REINFORCED

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The Daily News has a dispatch from Steward at Rotterdam, dated Monday, that there are persistent rumors at The Hague today that the allies have occupied Ostend.

The German emperor, according to late advices by way of Copenhagen, has gone to the front in the western theater of the war, where the general attempt by the allies to force the Germans backward has been going on for several days.

Both German and French official statements clearly show that operations of great severity are in progress but they differ with regard to the results achieved. The French claim advances all along the line, the recapture by the British troops of trenches previously lost and the repulse of German attacks aimed at the retaking of trenches which have fallen to the allies during the past day or two.

The German official statement tells of the dislodgement in the neighborhood of the canal of La Bassee of the Anglo-Indian troops and the capture of their trenches after inflicting heavy losses and taking prisoners. To the northeast of Chalons in the neighborhood of Souain the Germans also claim to have repulsed a fierce attack by the French, who left many prisoners in their hands and a large number of dead.

FORMER VISITOR PASSES ON

The home of Mrs. Clara Moore, 1504 West Fifth street, was saddened Monday by news of the death of Mrs. Sarah Moore at the home of her daughter in Auburn, Neb., which took place on Thursday, Mrs. Moore being laid to rest on Saturday. Mrs. Sarah Moore, who was 75 years of age, spent the past year in Glendale at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clara Moore, and while here made many warm friends, who will mourn her death as a personal loss, as she was always so bright and happy and a help to all with whom she came in contact. Besides Mrs. Moore, she leaves three grandchildren in Glendale, the Misses Minnie and Ruth Moore and Mrs. Leo Goode.

Announcements

PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL CHRISTMAS EXERCISES

"The Coming King" will be performed tomorrow evening in the church auditorium. The choir, orchestra and all members of the school will have a part. No admission will be charged. Everybody welcome.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR CONCLAVES

Glendale commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, will open stated conclaves Friday, December 18, at 7:30 p. m., and Friday, January 1, at 7:30 p. m. On Christmas morning Glendale commandery will open special conclave at 9 o'clock by order of the grand commandery of California.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

In spite of the rain Sunday morning, 107 were at Sunday school and the attendance at church services correspondingly good. On account of the storm the special Christmas Endeavor service was omitted. The pastor spoke on "The Unselfish Life." The primary department held a most delightful and interesting Christmas program Monday afternoon. The main room of the church was filled with the little ones and their mothers. The church was very prettily decorated a la Christmas. A large fireplace was erected on the platform through which Santa Claus came. Santa sang Christmas songs and talked to the children, filling stockings, and as a climax unveiled the Christmas tree made beautiful by electric lights and other decorations and bags of sweets for the little ones. These "Santa" distributed to the children. The program of songs, recitations and class exercises were most interesting and pleasing. The exercises of the afternoon were under the direction of Mrs. E. D. Yard, assisted by Alice Patterson, Hazel Tyler and Augusta Otto, and very much helped by Master Waldo Yard.

"IF A MAN FROM GLENDALE"

A good Monday night audience greeted Bruce Brown that evening and everybody present was amply repaid. Mr. Brown made the proposition that if a list of all the things which all the preachers and leaders of the churches of Glendale could agree on would be made out, he would agree to accept it as his guide and rule of Christian practice. Of course this list would contain all the non-essentials and opinions that divide the churches. He expressed the further opinion that while a union of all Christian people would cut down the number of churches in places like Glendale, it would greatly multiply them in the slums of congested cities and in the waste places where they are needed so much more than they are here. The sermon tonight will be the question, "If a man goes to hell from Glendale, who cares?" The service will be in charge of the men and workmen are especially invited. The Christmas exercises of the Bible school will be on Wednesday evening and as it has been decided to have no service on Christmas eve, the next regular service of the campaign will be on Friday evening, in charge of the women. Remember this. No use snailing through to the end of the rut, if you can climb out at either side.

There will be a Christmas entertainment on Wednesday evening in the parlors of the Christian church, corner Sixth and Louise streets. A short program by the smaller children of the Sunday school will be given, consisting of Christmas readings and songs. There will also be a Christmas tree, with bags of candy for the little folks.

OPPORTUNITIES IN GOLDEN VALLEY

Editor News: Am located on a homestead of 160 acres of good government land 4 1/2 miles from the mining town of Atolia, located on the Santa Fe railway. The soil is fine and free from stone. The water proposition is good. Several good wells have been developed during the past year. In several cases good water has been produced at 150 feet.

The demand for such land is great, but hard to find. I know several parties in your city who have claims a long distance from transportation and with small chances for good water. You will remember that I resided in your prosperous city quite a long time; operated the little electric line, then moved to Sunland. From that place I came here to prove up on my claim. There are several good homesteads to be had very reasonable quite near me, and I know that the opportunity is the best in the state. Will you kindly publish, as it may benefit someone wishing good land.

Yours truly, J. H. LIVINGSTON.

CHARTER STILL OPEN

At the last regular meeting of district council No. 36, Painters and Paperhangers of Los Angeles county, the approved by-laws of the district council were received from the general executive board of Lafayette, Ind., and on motion of the district council became effective at the first regular meeting of all affiliated locals within a radius of twenty-five miles of the district council. The essential point in connection with Glendale local, No. 416, is the fact that our charter initiation fee of $3 is still open pending the approval of the district council by-laws by the executive board. The by-laws provide that on and after the first regular meeting night in January, 1915, the universal initiation fee will be $15. From this we have no recourse, no deviation; it is absolute.

Those desiring to affiliate at the present fee of $3 must have their applications in prior to January 5th. Express your desire to any member or Mr. F. Kuntzner of the Wall Paper and Paint Store, Brand boulevard. J. F. TATLOW, Pres. District Council.

WHEN WEBSTER DIED

Eloquent in life, Webster was sublime in death. He took leave of his household one by one, addressing to each fitting words of consolation. He wanted to know the gradual steps toward dissolution and calmly discussed them with his physician. At one time, awakened from a partial stupor which preceded death, he heard repeated the words of the psalm which has smoothed the death pillow of many a Christian: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." The dying statesman exclaimed: "Yes, thy rod—thy staff—but the fact, the fact I want"—for he was not certain whether the words that had been repeated to him were intended as an intimation that he was already in the dark valley. Waking up again past midnight and conscious that he was living, he uttered the well known words, "I still live." Later he said something about poetry, and his son repeated one of the verses of Gray's "Elegy." He heard it and smiled. In the early morning Webster's soul went out with the tide.—Rhodes' History of the United States.

WHY SHOULD IT?

The Chicago council has been informed that the annual crime wave in that city is "receding." Of course the indictment of a number of policemen in that town may have something to do with it.—Des Moines Register and Leader.

WHILE STEALING WAS GOOD

Secretly in love with a handsome baseball player, Maida had never seen him play and knew nothing about the game. One evening when Jim called he found her red-eyed and distraught. "Jim," she asked, after a while, "what did the sport reporter mean by saying that you 'stole one in the ninth'?" He explained. "Oh!" she exclaimed, blushing furiously, but evidently much relieved. "I thought—!" Then Jim stole several of the kind she had in mind.

TO BUILD HUNDRED MILES OF ROADS

Los Angeles county leads the state in its mileage of good motoring roads with 357 miles of boulevards already completed. It is good news to motorists that an increase of another hundred miles of macadamized highways will be added within the year coming.

It will not be necessary to have another bond issue to provide these additional roads, for they will be constructed by the district improvement act, whereby a community desiring a modern highway can make application to the board of supervisors for the improvement and by providing the funds for draining and grading can get the county to supply the rock and oil for the surfacing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Shore of St. Louis, Mo., arrived this morning for an extended visit with the former's sister, Mrs. Ida M. Terry of North Central avenue.

Mrs. M. H. Vance and little son Albert of Piedmont, California, are spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hyatt, of 1634 West Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wood of 1420 West Broadway expect to leave the latter part of this week for the Imperial valley, where they have two ranches and where they will spend several months looking after business matters.

Mr. Arthur W. Johnston and bride of Nome, Alaska, have arrived in Glendale and will spend the winter with Mr. Johnston's mother, Mrs. Harriett Johnston, and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston of Everett street.

Traffic on the Mt. Lowe line has been very heavy the past few days owing to the heavy blanket of snow that covers the higher Sierras. Many loads of snowballs were brought to Los Angeles Monday and young and old enjoyed snowball fights on the streets.

Mrs. E. W. Kinney of 1223 West Seventh street will entertain on Saturday, December 26th, the ladies of the committee who are to assist at the Japanese tea to be given for the benefit of the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon club on Wednesday, December 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kinzell have returned from Los Angeles, where they have been for the past month, and are again living at 1521 Ivy street. Mr. and Mrs. Kinzell moved to Los Angeles, thinking they would stay there for the winter, but changed their minds and are glad to be back in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Appenfelder will entertain with an elaborate Christmas dinner party at their home, 1206 West Seventh street, on Friday. A Christmas tree will be one of the features of the event. Covers will be laid for eighteen, which includes guests from Los Angeles and Alhambra.

Mr. L. F. Jenkins of 730 Glendale avenue, who was injured a few days ago, being struck by a man on a wheel and thrown to the pavement with such force that he sustained a fractured skull, is reported to be doing as well as can be expected, though not out of danger yet. Mr. Jenkins has been removed to his home, where Mrs. Jenkins can be constantly at his bedside.

A very pretty affair was the informal dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Cushing of 568 East Colorado boulevard Sunday evening. The table decorations were large American beauty roses and ferns, with smaller roses of the same variety strewn over the table, while the rose colored shades threw a soft light over all. Besides the host and hostess there were present Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant and children, Hugh Dean and Albert, Mrs. Belle Ferguson and Mr. W. H. Calhoun of Santa Ana.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. Robert Miller of Fairmont street and little daughter, Miss Helen, spent Monday in Los Angeles, where they were the guests of friends.

Mr. I. C. Rice of 1632 Ruth street attended a meeting composed of the property owners who were affected by the floods of last winter along the Arroyo Seco, last Sunday afternoon. After discussion an organization was perfected and Mr. Rice was elected president of same. The object of the organization is to cooperate with the city of Los Angeles in the protection of their property interests, many of the property owners having lost their homes last winter and no settlement has been made as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Fryer of 1424 North Pacific avenue were the guests of relatives in Pomona last Saturday and Sunday. They also visited Mr. Fryer's brother, Mr. James Fryer, and family, of Spadra.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Craig of 1612 Fairmont street will enjoy the pleasure of spending Christmas with Mrs. Craig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Davenport of Colton.

Miss Ellen D. Williams of 903 Dryden street will leave tomorrow for La Jolla, where she will spend the Christmas holidays with her brother, Mr. Paul Williams of that place.

Mr. J. W. Cousins of 1501 Lorraine street has returned from one of his regular business trips and will spend the holiday week with his family here.

Monday a party of six tourists from the far East enjoyed a Spanish dinner at La Ramada and were enchanted with the beauty of Casa Verdugo's well-known showplace, also with the genial hospitality extended them. Seeing orange trees in bearing for the first time was the most important pleasure of the occasion for the party and of course was a very novel as well as delightful experience.

Twenty-six students from Occidental, representing the eighth fraternity of the student body, enjoyed a Spanish dinner at La Ramada recently. The young people were chaperoned by one of the instructors and wife. The place cards were pretty hand-painted affairs bearing the names of the guests in Spanish. As all were not Spanish students, there was some fun and difficulty in finding places at the tables. One of Mrs. England's fine Spanish chicken dinners was indeed enjoyed by the happy crowd. A jolly good time was later enjoyed in the historic precincts of that beautiful resort.

TROPICO'S AUTO RACES

Tropico is once again assuming holiday attire. The flags that were used during the carnival had scarcely been laid away and there was still much confetti to be seen on the streets, when W. A. Chapman decided that an automobile race for Tropico Christmas day was just the event that would be in keeping with the success of the carnival. And the idea of this automobile race all begun just as a joke, too, which renders the event and the plans and arrangements that led up to a real, sure-enough race all the more interesting. Owners of automobiles who enjoy racing are always praising the merits of their cars the same as a horseman appreciates the speed and fine points of his racehorse. One day Delmar Klees, who owns a Studebaker touring car, and William Wibelitz, who is equally as proud of his Overland touring car, met, and each began to set forth the merits of his own car. Wayland A. Chapman was an interested listener and when the discussion grew to Klees' and Wibelitz each willing to race his respective car, Chapman came to the rescue by offering to aid these two auto enthusiasts with the result that Christmas morning about 10 o'clock Tropico will have her first automobile race. Everybody is interested and that is all the talk one hears now—the auto races for Friday morning. Seventeen cars have been entered and twelve cycle cars will appear in the entry.

REVISE C. OF C. LIST

The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce met at the office of the secretary, H. A. Wilson, 912 West Broadway, Monday evening to close up the year's business. Several hours were spent in revising the long list of members and there are now on the list of this wide awake organization two hundred and fifty of Glendale's best and most progressive men who are active in the work of the organization. A plan for collecting dues at the Glendale banks was discussed at length and will probably be brought before the Chamber of Commerce at the next meeting. The members of the executive committee are George T. Paine, W. W. McElroy, E. U. Emery, W. H. Crane, A. B. Heacock, M. P. Harrison and J. N. McGillis.

The lightningbug is brilliant, but he hasn't any mind. He meanders through the darkness with his head-light on behind. Likewise the foolish merchant whom no one can advise. He declares there's nothing doing when he's asked to advertise.

Judge Ben Lindsay of Denver is in a serious condition, threatened with pneumonia, and his wife has been summoned to his bedside from California.

IOWANS TO BANQUET

C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Iowa association of Southern California, is sending out the following call to former residents of that state: The annual Iowa admission day dinner will be served at 7 o'clock sharp Monday evening, December 28, at Christopher's cafe, 551 South Broadway, Los Angeles. Dinner will be only 60c per plate, as we want to bring it within the reach of all Iowans who will care to meet each other. There will be a social hour from 6 to 7 o'clock. Come as early as you can. Please reserve your place in advance by card or letter to the secretary, 953 West Seventh street, or phone 52366.

There will be more social and less program than usual, but the whole will please you. As we cannot send notice to all, will you write or telephone to Iowans and tell them all about it?

Our president, Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, will preside. Act promptly! Time is short.

COAL AND SMOKE

Smoke is caused by failure to burn the combustible gases that arise when fuel is exposed to the flame. The editor of Power describes these gases as "a complex mixture of various hydro-carbons, from some of which carbon separates on cooling in the form of lampblack or soot. The smokier fuels also give off tarry vapors, which condense and help to gather the carbon particles into the flakes or 'smuts'."

"For the burning of these gases as they are evolved from the coal, three conditions must exist: Air must be supplied above the fuel bed, the temperature must be high enough to insure ignition and there must be time or space for combustion before the mixing currents of gas and air are cooled by flowing into or among the tubes of the boiler." Firing coal in large quantities produces so much gas that neither air supply nor combustion space is great enough for its burning. Therefore, coal should be put on in small quantities at frequent intervals.

"TLL SHOW 'EM!"

I've stopped the paper, yes I have, I didn't like to do it, But the editor he got too smart, And I allow he'll rue it. I am a man who pays his debts And will not be insulted, So when the editor gets smart I want to be consulted. I took the paper 'leven years And helped him all I could, sir, But when it come to dunnin' me, I didn't think he would, sir. But that he did, and you can bet It make me hot as thunder; I says, "I'll stop that sheet, I will, If the doggone thing goes under!" I hunted up the editor And fer his cunnin' caper I paid him 'leven years and quit! Yes, sir, I stopped the paper.

VINDICATION NEAR FOR THE ENGLISH SPARROW

Shortly after the English sparrow had begun to make himself at home in the United States, and this was not so very long ago, a slanderous rumor to the effect that he was an enemy of all native birds and would ultimately destroy them gained currency. With other unfounded but worrisome rumors scarce at the time, this one spread with great rapidity, and a war of extermination was declared against the stranger. Many thousands, perhaps millions, of these little birds were destroyed before the American public began to realize that despite the multitudes of sparrows swarming in the United Kingdom, in no part of Europe were birds of other species more numerous than in the British Isles. About the same time the discovery was made that the English sparrow was far less aggressive and militant than the American robin and bluejay, and that the former was oftener occupied in defending himself than in attacking the native birds. With this realization and this discovery the original hue and cry against the English sparrow soon waned and ceased.

But the slanderer of the bird was not silenced. Another mischievous rumor was soon set afloat, this time to the effect that the English sparrow was an enemy of the American farmer, that he was already robbing the fields, and that, if permitted to multiply, he would eventually destroy crops and perhaps ruin the country. Before the bird had opportunity to defend himself he was outlawed by legislation in several of the states. Michigan was one of these. Here he was not only condemned without a hearing, but a price was put on his head. Anybody bringing into the office of a county clerk of that state in December, January and February satisfactory evidence to support his claim that he had put an end to one of these foes of agriculture would be entitled to a spot-cash reward of two cents.

It made little difference for some time that the United States biological survey had disputed and disproved the allegations made against the English sparrow. It was shown by this authority that the foe of agriculture had no more persistent or efficient enemy than he; that one brood of sparrows destroys 2000 weevils of a certain kind daily; that English sparrows had been known utterly to annihilate legions of army worm caterpillars, and that wherever the birds abounded the crops were protected against many other things that are regarded by the farmers as harmful. Moreover, it has been also proved by observation that, as a rule, the English sparrow is a town and not a country bird, and that more frequent excursions into the rural districts by him should meet encouragement rather than opposition.

And so it comes that the women's clubs of Michigan are now uniting in a petition to the legislature of that state asking for a repeal of the anti-sparrow law, and with every prospect of success. It looks at last as if the English sparrow might be completely vindicated in the United States, although much may depend on whether or not popular thought shall be occupied with other things in case another slander against the little bird is started on the rounds.—Christian Science Monitor.

AS TO THE ADVERTISING SIGN PROBLEM

If it appears, from recent hearings of municipal or legislative committees in the East, West or South of the United States that the interests behind conspicuous advertising signs are becoming more and more alert and energetic in defense of what they call their rights, it also appears that the public is far less apathetic on this subject than it was found to be down even to a very recent period. As a concrete instance we might take the hearing of a few days ago before the Massachusetts special commission on the taxation of signs. While the advertising sign interests were numerous and ably represented here, so also, it is pleasant to notice in the reports of the inquiry, was the general public, to, to be more exact, a certain section of it that was specially invited to send representatives. Thus there were delegations on hand from commercial organizations and municipal governments of Chicopee, Brockton, Attleboro and Quincy. Similar delegations from other points that bore similar testimony on the subject may reasonably be expected to appear at further hearings of the commission. The testimony of the delegations named, condensed, was that billboards were regarded as being unsightly, under general public disapproval and of no real value as a means of advertising.

In Massachusetts it is thought by some that the advertising sign and billboard problem may be solved by the imposition of taxes on those exercising the privilege of disfiguring town and country. There seems no question that it can be solved in this way if the rate of taxation is high enough, but the imposition of taxes on what many declare a nuisance, in order that mere revenue may be derived from it, probably would do more harm than good. A speaker from Attleboro, representing the Chamber of Commerce of that place, put the matter clearly when he said: "Once this country gets rid of the desire for more money all the time it may see the esthetic side of the question." He had already said that there are miles of signs on both sides of the railroad between Boston and Attleboro. Any system of taxation that falls short of being actually prohibitive could scarcely remedy a condition like this, and this condition is common to practically all thickly settled parts of the United States.

The public, we think, is opposed to this form of advertising. Behind it is selfishness, backed by financial influence, that takes little account of public opinion. Taxation that will operate to license billboards rather than to suppress them does not, in our judgment, merit encouragement. Such an offense to public taste, such a disfigurement of public places, such a blot on the landscape as the common advertising sign has become is not to be condoned on any terms, or tolerated at any price. In our opinion it is folly to attempt to regulate it; the only remedy is elimination.—Christian Science Monitor.

KENTUCKY SHERIFF BRINGS HIS OWN SON BACK FOR MURDER

We have read about it in sob-story fiction. We have seen it in the motion pictures. But seldom in real life is an officer of the law compelled to arrest and detain his own son or some other loved one on a grave criminal charge. Kentucky develops a case, however, which has all the tragic elements that the romancer and scenario writer put into their fictional work. This seventeen-year-old Kentucky boy, son of the sheriff at Greenup, was involved in a fight in which another boy was shot and killed. This lad is charged with doing the killing. The boy fled into Michigan, where he was apprehended. The sheriff forgot insofar as he could that he was a father, went to Michigan, waived extradition proceedings and carried his offspring back to face trial on a murder charge.

"It's pretty hard on a father to take his own son back to prison to await trial for murder," said this grief-racked officer. "But the law is there," he continued. "It's a fine quality of manhood that thus weighs official duty and responsibility to human society against his own fatherly love and lets the scales tip to the side of duty and responsibility. This father might have juggled with the law and his official duty in such manner as to have made it possible for his son to escape. But conscience in the man was too strong to give way to affection in the father. It's a terrible ordeal and it is well that so few men are required to face it in the form it has come to this Kentucky sheriff."

Whatever the weather may be here in California, please don't speak of it as "unusual," even though it may be. This term is so hackneyed, it frays out on tourist guests like a worn-out napkin.

Exquisite Alcove In Court of the Four Seasons at World's Greatest Exposition

MONTHS in advance of its opening the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco was 95 per cent completed. The photograph above shows a stately alcove in the Court of the Four Seasons, of which Henry Bacon, designer of the Lincoln memorial at Potomac Park, Washington, D. C., is the architect. In each of the four corners of the court are niches containing fountains and symbolizing the seasons—spring, summer, autumn and winter.

SERVED HIM RIGHT!

The custom of military service requires officers to visit the kitchens during cooking hours to see that the soldiers' food is properly prepared. One old colonel who let it be pretty thoroughly known that his orders should be obeyed without question or explanation, once stopped two soldiers carrying a soup kettle out of a kitchen.

"Here, you," he growled, "give me a taste of that."
 One of the soldiers ran and fetched a ladle and gave the colonel the desired taste. The colonel spat and sputtered. Good heavens, man; you don't call that stuff soup, do you?"

"No, sir," replied the soldier meekly, "it's the dishwasher we was emptying, sir."

AND STILL GOING

'Twas holiday time and the gude-man had had an enjoyable round of bibulous pleasure, which his better half strongly disapproved of.

"Look here," she began, "on every stomach there are three coats, and excessive indulgence in alcoholic liquors wears these coats away."

"Well, Susan," he replied, "if that is so, my poor old stomach has been going about in its shirt sleeves a long time now."
