STATE AND CITY PRINTER. THE UNION-IT MUST BE PRESERVED. SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 2, 1985.

ELECTION OF A REPRESENTATIVES. In the advertisement' of the parish judge, insetted in our paper today, the time and place are designated for holding the election for a member of the house of representatives instead of the late Mr Ducros. There are now but two prominent candidates for the sufprudence. What is termed the American interest is set in undo btedly essential in dangerous diseases like the yellow words the contest is singularly between the Anglo-Ameri- remedy should be worse than the disease.

Can language and the French.

If the interests of the opper and lower parts of the city—of the former and the more recent inhabitants were like the asymptotes of the mathematical figure, continually approximating without conjoining, or if they were diametrically opposed in object and means, there might be plausible arguments in favor of the policy adopted. But we confess that we are not persuaded that one part of the city can prosper without benefiting the whole; or that the welfare of the welfare of the mention of Louisiana, is without doubt the most important specific from Louisiana.—Wrs Lau-do at the corner of St. Mary and Tainturier and Globs, with the supersistence of the city of the city and Tainturier. It is a not St. All and St. Assembly 2 do at the corner of St. Mary and Tainturier and Globs, with the supersistence of the concerned, the con ricans, no matter what language they may speak. A line of d instruction cannot therefore be drawn between American and French interests: for French polines or tactics are not those of Louisiana; but all are Americana.

We fear that those who call themselves Americans, that is, citizens of other states who come here to reside and trade, have caused or continued the apparent antipasky between themselves and the natives of the ciry. That what is now termed American interest will uttimately predominate in New Orl ane, may be credited; but should it-can it prevail at the expence of the interests of the most material parts of New Orlanna 1 act impartially, and report with fidelity? Can their report be considered honest, just or fair? Is it proper even if consenient that the members of the city council should thus wantonly insult one of their colleagues, diebelieve another, offend some, and reproach all? Is Hart of sufficient importance to engender sectional feelings and personal animosities among the legislators of our municipal government? Truly they will soon teach their constituents to have very little respect for them, if they proceed at this rate.

The Louisiana Advertiser has been purchased by three practical printers—one of whom we personally know to be numate with the localties, merchants, traders and commarcial transactions of the city. Under their management we anticipate the revival of that journal will be attended

BARTON ON YELLOW PEVER. We have been favored by Dr Barton with his pamphiet on the yellow fever of 1833, in New Orleans. The account is systematic, coacise and clear. He gives a calender of the thermometer, barometer and hygrometer for every month of 133, the state of the winds, and other prediaposing or external causes of disease-together with the kind, quality and extenof diseases prevalent: all of which are not only useful to the medical practitioner; but to every person of intelligence who desires to secertain how 'wonderfully and fearfully we are

The descare is ascribed to a disorganized stomach, exhibit ing itself (to speak technically) by organic sympathies, and sympathies of relation. The knowledge of the cause of a disease is generally half the cure. To know that the stomaci is the seat of yellow fever, is to ascertain how to prevent that fatal disease; and how to afford a salutary remedy. The prevention consists (according to Dr Barton) in rigid temperauce; low dist; and a free use of the cold bath and flesh WORLD!!! in one of his grand entertainments, con-brush: and the most certain mode of treatment is to reduce taining imitations of the most celebrated acrors of the excess of morbid action. For this chiese most celebrated acrors of the the excess of morbid action. Dr Barton coincides with Dr Rush in preferring the treat ment by phishotomy. This treatment has also been asselled with much skill and some success—perticularly in a late twork by Dr Beaumont of the United States navy, in his ofreges of our citizens-Mosses Marigny and Makfarlane account of the yellow fever of the West Indies. No doubt What is to constitute eligibility in the choice between them, as the acriptures assure us) the blood is the seat of life. we have not very well ascertained. But unfortunately satisfactorily proved not only by experiment but experience, the spirit of local or sectional feeling predominates; and before blood-letting should be rashly hazarded. Prompt measures are opposition to what is termed the French or creale-in other ever and cholers; but it is suct therefore prudent that the

we are not persuaded that one part of the city can prosper without benefiting the whole; or that the welfare of the shole would be heat served by promoting the objects -olely of a part. The usage of a particular language is not sufficiently affirmative or negative qualifications on the part of any; nor do conventional interests depend on such qualifications.

The contest cannot be properly predicated on what is now so singularly termed 'American' interests: for certainly the cutizens of New Orleans are so all intents and purposes Americans.

Silliman is generally but not always correct in Professor Silliman is generally but not always correct in the statements he makes in his Journal. The above may be contradicted by adducing well attested facts on record. The nmss found by Pallas weighs 1680 pounds; the mess discovered by Rubin de Celis in the district of Charo Gua amba. South America, weighs 45 tons; and that formerly discovered near Red River in Louisians, and now deposited in the lyceum. of natural history in New York, weighs 3000 pounds-and probably the largest mass of meseoric iron ever discovered. But errors of this kind are not common in Silliman's Journal of Science which we regret to learn is languishing from went of support. It is the only work of its kind in this country: to suffer it to die would argue very little for the taste or liberality of the nation.

we are ourselves solicitored to unite all classes for the good of the whole; and as no principle of policy or equity is invived in the eligibility of the candidates to be elected, we cannot participate in a content, which unfriendly prejudices were to control.

It is a source of regret to many, of censure to some, and of continuely to others, that so much of the time and proceedings of the city council should (assion after session for 6 or 7 weeks) be devoted to a leutenant of the city police. The whole corps is not worth an hour's monoc—so degraded and depraved are most of its members; and it must be very pleasing to the gentlemen of the council to know that their constituents ridicule or scorn their conduct.

Personal feelings appear to have prompted Dr McFanlane to the exertion of public justice against one Hart, whose disamised from the police was required. In one of his demunciations against the policeman, McFarlane said Hart had been imprisoned on a charge of crime at a particular period; and this he stated not as from his awn knewledge, but on the seamon of the same knewledge, but on the seamon of the control not have the official head of each distinct of the number of men he is required to furnish. We plead not guilty to the charge of neglect in our overaght; for we think very poorly of the histrionic merits of that lady: and we have heretolore seen her in Philadelphia. We have never seen a worse Mrs Candour than she makes in the School for Scands!, except Mrs Barnes; and the only thing in which she appeared to advantage was an address to the audience which she delivered with naivete indeed; but without the grace of truth or truth of grace.
