The paired state of the stangant waters every where prevalent is calculated to engender the most dire diseases -But the ward commissioners care little about the appearance of the city; or the health of the citizens. They pecket their salaries; while away their time in any manner and place most desirable;--and does the mayor care about their derehenon of duty?

We have the utmost respect for the capacity and integrity of the mayor; but we sincerely regret he has so long proved al ha to the complaints of his fellow citizens; that at a peried when he knows the health of the city should be a promment object of his attention, he seems indifferent to take the necessary precautionary measures with which he is ex Teio invested.

It is not enough that the chain-gang shall dauble once week through the gutters; every householder should be ; romptly and peremptorily required to semove all obnoxious matter from that portion of the street before his house; and s should be given to the ward commissioners; or that th, matter from that portion of the street before his house; and and to wash the basquette once or twice every week. The gatters of the streets parallel with the river are consigned to chance; and resigned to putridity.

We estrictly recommend that the attention of the mayor should be given to the ward commissioners; or that the members of the civy council shall take the subject under the rimmedate cognizance.

The government of Zicatecas in consequence of a ravo'ution received from the chambers of the union by which they are notified that the general congress rejected the initiative assumed by the government of that state, and intending to reform the laws relative to militia, has referred to the same congress to know whether they were or not to obey the same laws. The question was deliberated by a committee, and this day it was to be decided. If, as I understand, the general congress answer that the government might act acgeneral congress answer that the government might act ac cording to their powers and attributions. I think that the latter shall have no reasons to dispense with giving full effect to the law; and if so, the motives for a war shall cease. On the other, we have the testimony of engineers—men who have devoted their aves to the examination of subjects of a similar nature; and I hold in my hand a document, which I think entitled to some consideration in sattling this questin. It is the report of the engineer of the state, issue in obelience to an order of the legislature of this very subject. And I am tarther of our ion that we may safety disregard the apprehensions of the nessage on this subject.

The 4th objection arises from the unequal operation of the charter, which gives the state the right to appoint two directors, though owning but 500 shares, while the city with 3500 shares has only the right to nominate four Diconfined to his conduct as a legislature; and while acting in rectiffs. It is true that the state reserves to itself a great
