DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 775013

2. Causes of fluctuation.

1) Staple foods.

The prices of staple foodstuffs have generally been going upwards since the outbreak of the upheaval in Korea, owing to the increased purchase and hoarding of imported foodstuffs by the general consumers who became anxious about the future importation and are anticipating the shortage in the coming off season.
As for the prices of soya-beans and Indian beans no variation is marked as the consumption of both foodstuffs is limited within the purpose of manufacturing bean curd or being used as material for sweets. Both prices are, on the contrary, going downwards as of September 20th.

2) Various materials.

They have also been going upwards in prices owing to the stimulated exportation and the sudden rise of the world prices since the outbreak of the upheaval in Korea.

Especially the building materials are making an increase in prices in parallel with that of purchasing power of them after the typhoons Jane and Kezia, only excepting the coal whose price is fallen because of its comparatibly less demand as well as its increased output.

3) Textiles.

They had been marking a remarkable price increase owing to an increase of demand of them expecially destined for Korea and the speculation by dealers anticipating a rise in the future. However, since the purchasing power of the general consumers was reduced, the prices of all textiles reached a temporary stabilization and then were decreased by around one percent except all-woolen cloths as of September 20th.

4) Vital goods.

The prices of foodstuffs vary according to each season. Also those of fuel have become by around ten percent as much as before the Korean upheaval and are expected to be still more in the winter. But generally speaking no large effect was produced on the prices of vital commodities either by the Korean issue or by the typhoons.

ADDITION TO PC MEMO #2. DATED 13 NOVEMBER 1946.

Increases in Residential and Commerical Rents and Hotel Charges. 16 September 1947.

1. The Price Board, Japanese Government, has approved an increase in Japanese hotel charges. The new official prices are as follows:

a. Room charge for one person, 30 yen plus 80% of unoccupied mats, if one person requests exclusive use of room. For example, a person desiring the sole use of a room which accommodates three people would pay 30 yen plus 80% of 60 yen, the amount the hotel would receive if the room were fully occupied.

b. Breakfast 20 yen, lunch 30 yen and supper 40 yen.

c. Separate charges for use of bath, "Yukata" (summer kimono) and "Tansen" (Winter kimono) will be decided by the chief of the local price office after considering local price conditions.

d. The "service charge" remains the same, 20% of the entire bill.

2. Residential and Commerical Rents:

a. These rents which heretofore have been frozen at the 4 August 1938 level, have been increased 150% over that level. However, on properties completed since that date, which were frozen at the level of the first rental charged, the percentages of increases allowed are less than 150%, becoming smaller each year since 1938. (These percentages are in the hands of the prefectural officials.) On properties completed or first rented since 31 December 1945, no increase over the first rent charge is approved.

b. Prefectural officials have had the authority, under certain conditions, specified in the Land and House Rent Control Ordinance, to adjust rents. In the event such a prefectural adjustment has resulted in a rent higher than that reached by application of the applicable increase percentage, the prefecturally adjusted rent shall stand.

c. Room rentals were adjusted in October 1946 somewhat above the 1948 levels to allow the increased cost of utilities and service supplied to soomers. The Price Board's recent action includes approval of a maximum 100% increase in the rates as adjusted, with the permissible percentage increases becoming progressively smaller for rooms first rented during the years since 1938.
