On 17 April 1965 4 F4U-7s of VC-28, piloted by Lt(s) G. S. RICHES, and R. J. HENRIAN and Basigns H. O. GILLEN and D. J. MACDONALD, joined with 5 TBM-3s of VC-18 in a direct support mission over southern Okinawa, providing aerial support for U.S. Army troops.

These fighter planes first made a strafing attack on a cliff in target area 8875 3 where enemy positions were reported. No visible damage was noted. They then roostered and strafed a group of large buildings in the town of Ihari in target area 7872 H. Riches set one large building afire with 2 direct rocket hits and strafing; Macdonald caved in the roof of another building; other rockets hit in the midst of the buildings but the pilots were unable to observe the exact damage done.

No AA fire was directed at the F4U-7s but some heavy AA fire, apparently aimed at the TBMs, was noted coming from the vicinity of the west coast of southern Okinawa.
