INDIAN INTELLIGENCE.

Calcutta.

Lahore.

A Persian letter of the 7th instant has reached us from Lahore, and we gather from it that the troops, who some months since, had been permitted to proceed to their homes, mainly with a view of getting rid of them for a time, are now thronging in thousands back to Lahore, where, in the present excited state of men's minds, even to the highest, it was doubtful whether their return was more generally welcome or otherwise.

The writer proceeds to say, "It is currently reported—(verbatim, khubur-i-gurm-ust) that a force is about to be ordered to Peshawar in the character of an army of observation (waste nigubatee); as the Maharajah and his counsellors have taken up the opinion, that in all probability the feringshees are about to seize Peshawar and to bestow it upon Shah-Sooja-ool-moolk."

"It is reported further (deegur khubar,) that the Maharajah having proceeded to the city of Quasoor, which is 10 kos distant from the cantonment of Feroozpore, will there celebrate the festival of the Dusshurah; and annually it has been the custom, to hold that feast at Umritsur."

"Further; Maharajah Sher Singh is engrossed with natches and wine parties (dur rugs o shrah musghool) and Rajah Dhyansingh, the Bukhshee or Commander-in-Chief of the Army is, to a like extent, engaged in hunting and similar diversions. It remains to be seen what will be the fate of a country that is cursed with such a Wuzeer and such a sovereign."

"Maharajah Sher Singh has established himself at a place called Shah Bilawal, where he remains, visible to his people, night and day, in the indulgence of an endless succession of sensual enjoyments."

"The Maharajah has lately ordered Moonshee Deena Nath, to take from Lalluh Sowun Mul, Soobhedar of the district of Mooltan, twelve years accounts of the revenue of that country; and a grant of five thousand rupees has been made to the Moonshee, to defray his travelling expenses from Lahore to Mooltan—whither he has made arrangements for journeying in a few days."

"Ghoolam Moohumud, Momid (or private Secretary) to Sirdar Nihal Singh of Alooaleer, has gone to Kupoor Thula, on a secret mission. It is supposed that his object is the bundobust of the country, and of the troops that occupy it."

"From general rumours it appears that the Maharajah's troops employed in the direction of Tibbut, have brought a great deal of territory in that quarter into their own qubeeh or possession."

"Thus ends the urzee of our native correspondent at Lahore, a correspondent at Lahore, a correspondent on whose veracity we repose greater confidence than we should, if he were in the habit of supplying such highly coloured passages, as would probably suggest themselves to one who, writing from Lahore, were minded to draw on his imagination.—Hurkara, Oct. 23."

Colonel Wymer's Camp.

Our letters from Colonel Wymer's Camp, dated 21st of September, supply us with the following intelligence—

"It is really distressing to witness the manner, in which the troops, serving in Afghanistan, are harassed and knocked about, for the whims and humours of the Politicians, who, no doubt, find it their interest to keep this system on foot. You will judge of the little necessity there was for the movement of the large force, which is at present proceeding into the Tereen country, as thirty one of the Chiefs have unconditionally succumbed, and have offered to pay two year's tribute, Akhtar Khan has also yielded, but how he is to be treated with is not yet known—the greater portion of the force is still in the valley of Zumbooruk Khan, on the Candahar side of the Pass, as it has taken the sepoys of the Regular Corps the last three days to help the eighteen pounders and the Shah's six pounders over the Pass into the opposite valley, where they now are, and will there await the arrival of General Nott, who is, en route, from Candahar to take command of the force, superseding Col. Wymer, by orders from Cabool, as it is said, that the General remonstrated against the Colonel being appointed to the command in his room. By letters of a late date from Quettah, it is stated, that Captain Bean was to leave on the 1st proximo for Bombay, having taken his passage in the Steamer to proceed via Suez. Lieut. Hammersely gets his appointment at Quettah, and Captain Kayvett goes to Kelat. Quettah is still very unhealthy. Lieutenant Brown is now laboring under a severe attack of fever. I understand that the Park of Artillery at Sukkur is ordered to be held in readiness, to move at a moment's notice, whether to Bombay or Afghanistan is unknown. The on dit among the Afghans is, that the present movement of the force through the Tereen country, is but a Political ruse; to assemble the troops and screen their intended advance on Herat; but the opinion among the Europeans is, that such an advance is, at least for the present, quite out of the question, as there is little or no Commissariat, Carriage is found with the greatest difficulty, camels either to purchase or hire enormously high priced, and miserable looking animals they are besides,—not to speak of the inability of going against a place, which we have ourselves so strongly fortified, with only two eighteen pounders and a few small guns of the Shah's.—Ibid."

The Precursor and Oriental.

We mentioned in July last that we did not think from what we had heard, that the Precursor would be completed within the stipulated time, and we published an extract from a letter to the effect that it was not likely she would be ready to be launched before the month of December or the latter end of November, at November at the very earliest. We were some what taken to task for this, but were not corrected by any facts that induced us to alter our opinion. The news received by the last mail rather tends to confirm us in it; in fact it repeats what we published. The vessel was not ready for launching at the beginning of September and it was not considered she could leave England before January. We mention this in justification of ourselves, though had matters turned out differently we should have been truly happy to have confessed we had been misinformed. Of one thing we are sure, as we always have been, that she would be the first thoroughly efficient Steam Boat in India—we mean of course efficient for the purpose of carrying out the great point of direct communication between this and the Red Sea &c. &c.—and though it is said the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Company is progressing with two large vessels, it is quite out of the question that either of them can be ready for sea until after the Precursor is here, for we believe that every thing that vigilant superintendence and money could do to expedite her completion has been done, and that the time she will have occupied in building and fitting may be taken as a criterion for the calculations of the most energetic management that can be entrusted with a similar work of labour. The Precursor and the Oriental do not unite. Until we have received further particulars we shall offer no observations on this affair.—Star, Oct. 23.

Assault.

Mr. Richard Rodda, the same gentleman, belonging to Manton and Co's who was not long ago brought up for assault, appeared to answer a similar charge preferred against him by Azim Khan, a workman of the establishment. The particulars of the case were these.

On the former occasion Mr. Rodda was only fined sixteen rupees for committing a breach of the peace on one of his Shekutyars for the crime of being ill for two days with a fever. He paid the fine cheerfully in Court and then went to his shop and indemnified himself from the loss by levying a small contribution from each of his Mahomedan workmen on the score of a fellow workman of their's having been instrumental in making Mr. Rodda pay a fine in the Police office. The majority succumbed to tax upon justice, but the prosecutor in the present case sang to the tune of, "don't you wish you may get it!" on which Mr. Rodda beat time by thumping him vigorously on the head.

Mr. Rodda admitted having given a thump or two to the prosecutor, but urged in extenuation, that it was under a gross provocation received. The magistrate told Mr. Rodda that as this was his second offence, he would fine him double the amount he had been fined in the first instance. Mr. Rodda, who took the matter very coolly, most cheerfully succeeded to the magisterial fiat, and intimated at the same time something to the purport that he knew a way to get satisfaction out of his people whenever circumstances called for it, but he would take care that the magistrate did not again catch him. On this a hearty admonition was bestowed on the imperturbable defendant, and in addition to the fine of two gold mohurs, he was ordered to find sureties of the peace.—Courier Oct. 23.

Mrs. Addison's Work

It is with considerable regret we perceive from an Advertisement in the Bombay Gazette, that Mrs. ADDISON, in whose favour, we some time ago endeavoured to kindle an interest among our readers, has failed to derive the benefit which was intended, by her publisher becoming insolvent. This is a most unfortunate occurrence, and may prevent any further contributions towards the object which this excellent lady had in view in her former appeal to the public. The actual annual income of Captain ADDISON is £128, which amount includes £10 derived by a pension from the Corporation Office to his Sister being the Orphan Daughter of a clergyman. In all, the family consists of twelve persons and there is little better than ten pounds for each to subsist on for a whole year. Mrs. ADDISON states that out of this total, £45 go for a ready furnished house, having been compelled from necessity to dispose of all their furniture; so that in reality no more than £83 are available for the purchase of the necessaries of life. The appeal is dated Jersey, August 23d, 1841, a place well known to us, and where, though living is remarkably cheap, it is utterly impossible for a family like that of Captain ADDISON to provide even ordinary comforts. The object of the appeal is to obtain sufficient Funds to enable them to emigrate to Canada, where they expect to live in comparative affluence, instead of, as they now do, in the greatest misery. Our readers will, we are quite sure, pardon our having again obtruded this subject on their notice; and further if necessary, we would crave their forgiveness, when we urge upon gentlemen in every branch of the Honorable Company's employ, the importance of doing something effectually to meet the earnest request of the applicant.—Athensian Oct. 26.

Times safety valves.

We had no idea that our cotemporary of the Bombay Times was so hearty a hater of the reform Ministry, as he has lately discovered himself to be. In an article headed Indian Steamers which may be found in his issue for the 16th instant, he has discharged an unusual quantity of acid matter; the retention of which must have been exceedingly prejudicial to his health, and therefore we are aequally glad he has thrown it off. From the new order of things, our cotemporary expects that reform will be carried out to admiration, and that both England and India will be freed from a nuisance they have too long endured. Our readers shall not lose the benefit of our cotemporary's effusion, more particularly as the very marrow of it is all contained in less than nine lines.

Happily, too! we are now rid of the imbecile Expedient which seemed only to live in an atmosphere of expeditious; who, without the energy to act with "their friends if they had any," shuffled, and subterfuged, and evaded, and cringed, and cowed to mollify irreconcilable opponents now we may hope "to have a Government," and at all events a man of great knowledge and judgment at the head of Indian affairs, when any change would have been a benefit which rid us of the Genius!

It must be admitted that this extract is very pungent and savoury; and because we thought it possessed the two old advantages we have attributed to it, we have given it due prominence. Notwithstanding the serious nature of the charges brought by our cotemporary against the late administration, the work they have actually performed, and the important measures which they have triumphantly carried through both Houses of Parliament in spite of all opposition, makes the denunciation of the Times look exceedingly little, while it speaks less for his regard to truth and candour. We shall rejoice as much as any, should the golden dreams of our cotemporary be realised; but reasoning from the past, we confess that our hopes are small indeed as to the future.—Ibid.

Coroner's Inquest.

Friday, October 22.

An inquest was held this evening near the temple of Yagatha, Black Town, on the body of a native lad. It appeared from the evidence, that deceased was an idler, fellow and was in the habit of drawing water for a native priest, whereby he earned twelve rupees a year. About six o'clock this morning, consequent on a body being found dead near the temple, a crowd collected on the spot, among whom was the native priest, by whose direction another individual reported the circumstance to the Tannah. Deceased was only twelve years of age, but no evidence as to how he died.

James Lawden Esq. Surgeon, stated, that he had examined the body of the deceased but observed no external marks of violence on it. On the chest, there was a peeling off from decomposition. The body generally was in an advanced state of decomposition, and to such an extent, that he considered it not safe to proceed further in its examination, and that he was therefore not able to ascertain the cause of death. VANDER, Found dead.

Mr. T. W. Nailer versus Lt. O'Brien.

Mr. T. W. Nailer wanted to recover the sum of Rupees fifty due for house rent.

Defendant. Gentlemen, Mr. Nailer has summoned me for the trifling amount of fifty Rs., which sum, I did not refuse to pay, but desired Mr. Nailer to repair the blinds in front of the door; and he, instead of lining them with good cloth, brought a dirty old rotten cloth, which is disagreeable even to look at for the lining. I told the man that I would not have it, but to tell Mr. Nailer that I would repair the blinds myself, and deduct the cost from the rent.

Mr. Bell. The question is, if you refused to pay this bill?

Defendant. Not in the least. Plaintiff. As for repairing the blinds, he cannot expect the cloth to be altogether new, and it is not so bad as he now states it to be. But he refused to pay my bill unless I repaired the blinds with new cloth.

Defendant. Mr. Nailer did not summon me here for the debt alone, but to annoy me. He knows too well that I am bound to occupy that house for 12 months; if not I would quit it this moment.

Plaintiff. This is no kind of annoyance. I merely came here for justice. I even wrote to him on the subject, and warned him that I would take further steps if he refused to pay the bill.

Defendant. It is not that I could not pay the trifling amount of fifty Rs.; I can pay more now. It is not even 4 or 5 months rent due, but for 1 month, and that I did not refuse to pay.

Plaintiff. I beg the Commissioners will put him on his oath to say whether he did not refuse to pay. My man told me that he did refuse, and I may do what I liked.

Mr. Bell to Defendant. Have you brought the note which Plaintiff wrote before summoning you?

The note was handed in and read.

Mr. Bell. This note, Mr. Nailer, is dated 12th inst., and you summoned him on the 13th; you should have given him more time.

Plaintiff. But he altogether refused to pay, unless I put new cloth to the blinds.

Defendant. That I never did.

Defendant was then sworn, and acknowledged that he did say he would not pay until new cloth were put to the blinds; but that he never thought he would be summoned.

The Commissioners then gave judgment for the Plaintiff without costs and remitting the Decree fees, upon the ground that he should have waited two days longer before taking out a summons!!!

A hint to the Bombay Cavalry.

CAVALRY RETIRING FUND.—We are happy to observe that the Officers of the 5th Light Cavalry, now at Regimental Head Quarters, with the exception of one single solitary Cornet, have come forward with right good will in support of Cavalry's proposed plan of a Cavalry Retiring Fund; and we trust that the other six corps will follow the good example already set them by the 5th and 7th Regiments:—

To the Editor of the United States Gazette. Sir,—Your insertion of the following will oblige.

At a meeting of the officers of the 5th Light Cavalry (now at Head Quarters) held on Tuesday the 12th October 1841, under sanction of Major Fenning, Commanding the Regiment, a letter signed Cavalrist was laid on the table, and the following proposition put.

- The Scale of Regimental payments as shown in the letter of Cavalrist appearing to be founded on just and equitable principles, it is proposed that the sentiments of the officers on that scale be taken, the understanding being that Corps guarantee each other in the event of intermediate unpurchased or purchased steps occurring, and leaving all minor details for future consideration.

For Against D. A. Fenning, Major. A. Grant, Captain. C. H. A. Byd, Cornet. L. Moore, Bt. Captain. G. H. H. Gall, Lt. H. Fraser, Captain. C. H. Greeme, Captain. G. B. B. Groube, Bt. Capt. G. Forbes, Cornet. F. Studdy, Lieut. S. Barrow, Lt. G. Elliot, Capt.

The votes of the officers absent will be forwarded when received.

Yours truly, C. GREEME, Capt. 5th Light Cavalry.

THE GAZETTE

Friday, November 5, 1841.

The Shipping report of yesterday announces the arrival of the French Corvette Prvoyante, A. Leconte, Master, from Bourbon

We have received Calcutta papers to the 23d ultimo, and Madras to the 26th ultimo.

A Correspondent writes to inform us, that the boy Sorabjee Cursetjee stated in the Gazette and the Native journals, to have been converted "by the American Missionaries, is not correct. Our Correspondent observes, the Parsee in question had no acquaintance with any member of the American Mission when he first avowed his conviction of the truth of Christianity, and his intention to embrace it, and he has had no particular connection with them since his profession and baptism." The Rev. Mr. Valentine, who was instrumental in his conversion, and the Rev. J. G. S. Robertson, who administered the ordinance of baptism, are both Missionaries of the Church Missionary Society.

THERE is a general complaint in the Markets here of a great scarcity of Cash, and but little demands for every description of Goods. This has been the case for some months. The Godowns of the European and Native Merchants are filled with Goods of every description, but they cannot find purchasers. Should this lull continue much longer, the consequence will be, that the security of some Mercantile houses for some time on the wave, will fail; and if we credit the gaps in the Bazar, the crisis is rapidly approaching. No demand for commodities already in the Markets, and the great losses sustained by the Opium speculators is the main cause of the lull. All eyes are therefore directed as it were towards China—the termination of the war, the payment of indemnification Bonds for Opium, and the opening of the trade upon a peaceable and secure footing. If the Opium Bonds of Captain Elliot are not paid within another year, it will be no difficult thing to calculate with some degree of certainty the Mercantile houses which, to use a Stock Market phrase, must go. The non-arrival of intelligence from China since 24th August, continues to depress the minds of hundreds who have speculated to some extent in Opium, and who wait and watch with much anxiety for China news.

We again call the attention of the Post Master General or his locum tenens to the numerous complaints against the Post Office of the non-delivery, at Mofussal stations of the letters brought by the September Mail. We have received a pile of letters soliciting a place in our columns to the demand for redress which they contain, that we feel constrained no longer to pass them over in silence. A friend at Belgaum writes us to enquire why a letter posted in England July 19th, left England by the Overland Mail, which reached Bombay on the 12th, was not delivered at Dharwar before the 29th September. We know very well that the Post Office arrangements in the localities of Belgaum and Dharwar, highly discreditable to the authorities that individual instances of neglect may be passed over with impunity, but perhaps the worthy Post Master or his Deputy can inform us why not private letters brought by the last Overland Mail, did not find their way to H. M. 4th Regt. Belgaum, until newspapers despatched by the same mail from England had found their way ten days previous. The complaints from Delhi and other parts of Hindustan are more numerous, but have so often been made and no redress obtained, that parties begin to despair of any reform being effected until the Supreme Government interferes, and places the whole Post Office system under one general Superintendent, who knew how to perform his duty, and was willing to accommodate the Public. We have from time to time collected the remarks of our contemporaries, complaining of the present Post Office system, and recommending schemes for its improvement, that the Post Office authorities at this place, who may not be able to spare time to read the columns of our contemporaries, might at once see the estimation in which their services were held by the public and the Press, and to spur them on to adopt some means for the improvement of the Bombay Dawk, and to effect a radical change in the present Post Office arrangements at the Presidency. We have been nudged to wait patiently until the new Post Office is built; but as we are not aware that even the contract for its erection has been completed, we cannot make such extraordinary demands upon either our own or public patience. We have cried lustily for Reform, and Reform we must and will have, before we give the authorities any rest.

SEVEN YEARS. BY THE AUTHOR OF "STEPHEN DUGARD," ETC. "AND how long have you been absent?" said my uncle, filling his glass he spoke, a ceremony in which I immediately joined.

"Certainly." "And his wife—" "No; he was just upon the point of being married to Miss Simpson." "And Henry Slingsby—he was living." "Yes, and Mortimer, and Penruddock, and Capel, and my pretty little sweetheart, as you used to call her, Jane Robinson."

"Do you mean to say, that if I were to jump out of that window—" "I mean to say that you can't jump out of that window unless you are to do it, and that if you are to do it, you must." "Pooh!" "You may pooh! as much as you like; but I defy you to jump out of the window."
