START CHECK OF CITY FOR BONDS

WEATHER ON CHRISTMAS WILL BE IDEAL

It Will Be 'Green' In Most Of Country Tomorrow, Is Weather Forecast

Mr. Weather Man promises ideal weather for Christmas in Southern California.

It will be "partly cloudy" tonight and Tuesday, with moderate temperature, says the official forecast.

Glendale is all ready for a big and merry Christmas. The city approaches the close of 1923 with everybody happy and prosperous. Business men say this Christmas has been the biggest known to the city.

Football, baseball and racing will provide Christmas sports in Southern California.

Frost Due In North

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24.—A bit of frost in the morning in Northern and Central California will herald Christmas day, according to the weather forecast. Temperatures in the day time will range from 70 in Southern California to 60 in northern portions of the state. Washington and Oregon may have a rainy Christmas, the weather man said.

Snowstorm In N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Indications for awhile today were that New Yorkers would see a "white" Christmas. Snow began falling this morning. It was the first real snowstorm of the season.

Tomorrow, Christmas day, will be fair and cool, according to the official forecast.

The snowfall stopped shortly before noon. The sun came out brightly, smashing the hopes of those who had hoped for a "white" Christmas.

"Green" Christmas Sure

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 24.—The twin cities and southern Minnesota was set today to celebrate a "green" Christmas, the only one of the past ten years.

Snow at Christmas during the last ten years has ranged from a trace in 1913 to more than twelve inches in 1919, with the average around five inches. Today is bright and balmy with fair and warmer weather predicted for Christmas day.

The class of weather the state has been experiencing is indicated by the fact that young women, rehearsing for a Christmas dance entertainment for crippled children, today performed in the open air at one of the city's lakes, in filmy Greek costume, with bare arms, feet and legs.

Frost Hits Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—Dense fog and a hoary frost so heavy as to lay a sprinkle of silver over Chicago's roofs were the city's nearest approach to snow for Christmas today. Snow flurries mixed with rain were predicted for the holiday itself.

AS WE JOURNEY THROUGH LIFE

One of the first things we learn about in life is Santa Claus. As children we eagerly look forward to Christmas as the happiest season of the year. We are taught to be good lest Santa will pass us by—

As we develop into adolescence we loose faith in the mythical part of the proceeding but we still expect our presents and are thinking more of receiving than giving—

Later on when we have reached maturity and have assumed the responsibility of life we find that we are expected to play Santa Claus ourselves. But our reward after all is just as great for real joy is found in bringing happiness to others.

CAPTAINS OF PRECINCTS PLAN FOR CANVASS

C. W. Ingledue In Charge of Organization to Get List of Voters

The precinct captains appointed by the Glendale Realty Board to work for the passage of the sewer bonds at the election on January 8 met this morning at the board office to perfect their plans before starting out on the canvass of the city.

Cards will be filled in by the captains and the precinct workers giving all details regarding the numbers of voters in each house who may be expected to support the bond issue, and pledges are being signed by the residents of the city on cards that are furnished by the board.

Lots of Enthusiasm

C. W. Ingledue, chairman of the precinct organization, says:

"I have been strongly impressed with the enthusiasm shown by the men who are assuming the active work of canvassing the city, and the eagerness that they are showing to list every voter who is in favor of the bonds augurs well for the result of the election."

"I am anxious that as many workers as possible line up with the Glendale Realty board's precinct captains and their crews, and anyone who desires to aid in this work is asked to communicate with Miss Winifred Traver at the board's office in the Central building, or by calling Glendale 1780."

By LYMAN CLARK

Chairman, Publicity Committee, Sewer Bond Campaign

The point has been raised that "Glendale is paying too much for its sewer connection to the Los Angeles sewer system."

According to the agreement between Glendale and Los Angeles, Glendale is required to construct a section of sewer extending from Aviation drive near San Fernando road, to Sixth and Utah streets. This section of sewer is a part of a complete sewer that will eventually extend from Owensmouth in the San Fernando valley to Hyperion on the Pacific coast, following in general the course of the Los Angeles river to Slauson avenue; thence west on Slauson to Arlington avenue; thence to Hyperion over the route of the Los Angeles North Outfall Sewer. This complete line will be between fifty and fifty-five miles long. Glendale has agreed to build a ten-mile section of this sewer at a cost of approximately $1,250,000.00, or $125,000 per mile.

Now let us consider what Los Angeles is doing and is bound to do by virtue of this agreement. Los Angeles is constructing the north outfall sewer from Hyperion to Arlington and Slauson avenues. This section of sewer is fifteen miles long and will cost approximately $12,000,000.00. Capacity is provided in this sewer for all Los Angeles, Glendale, and the rest of the San Fernando valley.

By virtue of the agreement between Los Angeles and Glendale, Los Angeles agrees to build the East Los Angeles intercepting main from Arlington and Slauson avenues, the end of the north outfall sewer, to Sixth and Utah streets, the end of the section of sewer to be built by Glendale. The East Los Angeles intercepting main will be ten miles long and will provide capacity for a part of Los Angeles, Glendale and the rest (Continued on Page 2)

SOCIAL EVENTS

Many Christmas gatherings will be held in Glendale tomorrow and The Glendale Evening News, in its edition issued early tomorrow morning, will give accounts of the holiday affairs.

Present Program

The Christmas program put on by the Emerson School of Self Expression, Saturday night, at the Knights of Pythias hall, was voted a great success by the audience which filled the entire room. There were yuletide decorations of red and green crepe paper and Christmas bells, and a beautiful tree decorated and laden with candy and presents for the children occupied a prominent place in the hall. The stage was especially attractive in its border of pepper boughs, holly and potted plants and made a charming setting for the excellent program which was given.

All of the departments of the school participated, the junior students of expression and of the piano department occupying the first part of the program.

The opening number was a clever little skit called "An Evening With Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus," by Charles Sawhill and Vera Mercer, who acted their parts in a very natural and pleasing manner. This was followed by a scene from "The Birds' Christmas Carol," with apologies to Kate Douglas Wiggin. Helen Page, a student of the professional department, made a very efficient and capable mother in her portrayal of Mrs. Ruggles. The students who were cast as the nine children gave her splendid support, and Helen and Beth Morrish, as the two grandmothers, deserve special mention.

An unusual feature was the informal manner in which the pupils of the piano department were introduced. They came, as "the neighbors' children," to the "next door" and "across the street," and performed their numbers in a very creditable manner.

The third number was "A Christmas Dream," presented by the dancing class. The attractive and appropriate costumes, combined with special lighting effects, added much to the scene and to the enjoyment of the program.

The second part of the program was devoted to the senior department of expression, and many interesting numbers were given. A playlet, "Pink Tea," was given in a very professional manner by Della May Butler, and the Silent System was excellently done by Marie Walsh and Edwin Murphy.

At the close of the program prizes for excellent work were awarded in the expression department. In the junior professional course first prize was won by Adele Loyd; second, Charles Sawhill. In the regular course, first prize, Beth Morrish; second, Vera Mercer; and to each member of the senior professional course Mrs. Labadie presented a beautiful gift. Immediately following this Mrs. Claus, impersonated by Edwin Murphy, gave each child in the audience a candy cane, and a calendar to every member of the school.

A beautifully decorated Christmas tree was the center of attraction. Upon the tree were hung Christmas checks for all their employees, aggregating several hundred dollars. The children of the employees were also remembered, each one receiving a savings bank containing silver coins.

Before the giving of presents, a short stereopticon talk on Australia was given by Mr. W. J. Salsbury, one of the proprietors who has a co-partnership in that country. This was followed by music and recitations, after which I. A. Ford, who was master of ceremonies, gave a brief history of the Mother's Favorite Cookie Company, showing the steady growth of the enterprise during the five years of its existence as a co-partnership. He spoke appreciatively of the faithful co-operation of the employees in giving honest service, which, coupled with superior quality of foods and the blessing of heaven which always rests upon honest endeavor, had enabled the Company to reach its present position.

The employees, unknown to the proprietors, had put on the tree a beautiful casseroles for each.

Tell Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. A. Aron Lamont, of 328 E. Bonito street, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Victoria Lamont, to Raymond William Eckert, son of Mrs. Annie Eckert of 211 West Eulalia street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamont and daughter were formerly residents of Buffalo, New York.

Captains of Precincts Prepare For Canvass

Briefly then, in terms of service, Glendale agrees to carry its own sewage together with that contributed by the San Fernando valley and a small part of Los Angeles, for a distance of ten miles. Los Angeles, in return, agrees to carry all of this sewage which includes the sewage of Glendale for a distance of twenty-five miles and dispose of it in the Pacific ocean. The question then becomes—"Is Glendale paying too much for this service?"

To answer this question let us determine what it would cost Glendale to provide this service without the co-operation of Los Angeles. It would be necessary for Glendale to construct a line from some point near Aviation drive and San Fernando road to the Pacific ocean. The shortest possible gravity route for this line would be approximately thirty miles. A line averaging thirty inches in internal diameter would be required and would cost approximately $6,500,000 per mile, totaling $1,950,000,000. Disposal works at the ocean end of the line would add approximately $50,000,000. This gives a grand total of $2,000,000,000 and represents the cost of doing independently that which can be accomplished for $1,250,000,000 through co-operating with Los Angeles.

TUJUNGA
KIWANIS PLAN
TO LAUNCH CLUB
Temporary Board Appointed
To Direct Preliminary
Work of Project

Preliminary steps were taken at a luncheon by business men of Tujunga to form and organize a local Kiwanis club. The Tujunga club is being formed upon the invitation of the Burbank Kiwanis club, which will sponsor the local movement. Franklin Kean, international representative of Kiwanis, is working with the Burbank club.

A temporary board has been chosen to start the club, consisting of Leo Smith, president; Carroll W. Parcher, secretary; Bruce Anawalt, Fred Axe, Earl C. Brunner, W. J. Buckley, M. F. Gilmer, C. A. Meyers, H. E. Meyers, L. H. Permer, A. C. Stever, R. D. Walker, H. W. Zachary. At the get-together luncheon there were about forty-five applicants for membership present. It is considered a signal honor to be invited to form a Kiwanis club and the business men of Tujunga are enthusiastic over the plans. Guests from Glendale, Burbank, San Fernando and Lancaster were also present.

The result of this meeting was to call another for next Friday at the Cozy Cup Inn on Michigan avenue, Tujunga, when it is expected that the actual organization will take place.

The preliminary meeting was conducted in typical Kiwanis style, with interesting addresses by both visitors and local business men. Kiwanis songs and one composed especially for and dedicated to Tujunga were sung, with James L. Radio Smith, at the piano.

Leo Smith opened the meeting with an explanation of Kiwanis activities in Tujunga in preparation of forming a club. He introduced H. A. Coffield of Burbank who presided over the meeting. Other speakers introduced were: Fred Deal of Glendale, lieutenant-governor of the district; Mr. Maylen, president of the San Fernando club; Newell Carnes, president of the Lancaster club; Frank Kees, international representative of Kiwanis; W. J. Buckley, M. F. Gilmer and Carroll Parcher of Tujunga.

OH-HO IS GREAT

Big Audience Attends This Performance and Helps
Christmas Fund

The musical comedy "Oh-Ho," presented at the new high school auditorium Saturday night for the benefit of the poor boys and girls of Glendale, was received by a large and enthusiastic audience. The response of Glendale citizens to this fine production exemplified the wonderful spirit of the city and assured the less fortunate children a happy Christmas.

Dr. H. W. Harrower, on behalf of the Glendale Exchange club, which sponsored the entertainment, addressed the audience and thanked the members for their cooperation in helping make the event a success.

Money derived from the show is being used to buy Christmas presents for children of Glendale whose circumstances are such that they would find little cheer on Christmas morning if it were not for the big-hearted response made by so many people to the call from the Exchange club, including the members of the cast and producers of "Oh-Ho."

MAN-MADE NIAGARA

In the Swiss Alps, near Martigny, a waterfall that will rival Niagara is being constructed. It is at an altitude of over 6000 feet, and is designed to supply electric power for the federal railways of Switzerland. To make the waterfall, a big dam is being constructed across the noted Barberine cascade. The height of this dam will be the same as that of Niagara, namely 262 feet, and it will form an artificially lake of about 40 million cubic yards. The cost will be $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE
Historically correct are the settings used in "Pioneer Trails," a Vitagraph special production which started Sunday for a five-day run at the Glendale theatre.

"Alice Calhoun" is seen in the role of Rose Miller, the heroine, while Cullen Landis has the role of the hero, Jack Plains. Otis Harlan plays the part of "Easy Aaron" Cropsy itinerant lawyer and philosopher, who stands firm in good stead. Bertram Grassby is the villainous secretary. Other favorite players form the supporting cast.

An Indian attack on a prairie caravan is one of the big scenes in "Pioneer Trails," and to insure that the attack be historically correct, David Smith, the producer, availed himself of the services of an old Indian scout, the sole survivor of a group that started to California in the gold rush of 1849.

THE GATEWAY
"To the Ladies," a James Cruze Paramount production, is the feature picture showing at the Gateway Theatre today and tomorrow. It is a story of the bright side of factory life, and features Edward Horton, Theodore Roberts, Helen Jerome Eddy and Louise Dresser.

The supporting cast includes Z. Wall Covington, Arthur Hoyt, Jack Gardner, and a host of other prominent screen artists.

"To the Ladies" is an adaptation by Walter Woods of the Connelly and George S. Kaufman stage play of the same title, which had a successful run in New York City.

The added attraction at the Gateway today is Costello's Comedy Circus, offering a troupe of what is said to be the only trained gold medal fox terriers in the world.

SUNLAND CHILDREN GIVEN CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Community Tree, Under P.-T. A. Auspices, Sheds Its Yuletide Harvest

Every child present at the Christmas tree given by the community of Sunland under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association was remembered with a gift.

Members of the Parent-Teacher association and the school children gave a program consisting of these numbers: Song, "Silent Night Lullaby," by pupils of Mrs. Miller's room; recitation, "Christmas Eve," by Auli Eakin; playlet, "Beautiful Holly," by Dorothy Bailey, Lenore Walters and Jennie Logreco; piano solo, "Silver Threads Among the Snow," by Ervina Schmetz; reading, "Catherine Crews' playlet, "Favorite Month," by Roberta Walters, Jean Satterlee, Vivian Besson, Ramona Zatarain, Audrey Gregory, Pearl Kryzer, Helen Brown, Pauline Abernathy, Georgia Logreco, Catherine Bailey, Eleanor Dearborn, Josephine Tosi, Eva Foote and May White; recitation, "If I Were Santa Claus," by Jack Shuttleworth; song, "California," by sixth, seventh and eighth grades; acrobatics, Helen, Max and Verne Brown; song, "Star Spangled Banner," by sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

A kettle drum was presented to the sixth, seventh and eighth grades by the Parent-Teacher association. Sand boxes for the playground were given to the first, second and third grades. Mrs. Jessie Kimpel presided at the piano.

At the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at the Monte Vista schoolhouse, Mrs. Kevane, president, appointed a committee comprising Miss Catherine Crews and Mrs. Hugh Brown to attend to planting flowers on the school grounds. The president also announced that a state conference will be held January 10 in Monrovia, at which it is expected that the state president will be present. Judge Van Walters has been invited to address the conference on juvenile work. Alfred L. Stevens has been appointed postmaster at Sunland to fill the vacancy made several weeks ago by the resignation of the former postmaster, Dr. Hodgson. Mr. Stevens has purchased Monte Vista Inn, where the office is located, and says he will serve the people of Sunland to the best of his ability.

Open New Store C. M. Perry has opened his new grocery store at Walnut and Michigan avenues. The building is of class A construction. A complete line of groceries and meats will be carried. Mr. Cottrell will have charge of the meat department. Fresh vegetables will be sold and a soda fountain maintained. Mrs. Hartman will have charge of the vegetables and soda fountain.

At the last meeting of the Monte Vista Improvement league it was voted to change the name of the organization to Valley Community Improvement league. This organization devotes its interest to the section between Tujunga and Sunland, centering at Walnut drive and Michigan avenue. Committees have been appointed to work for lights for several main streets and for gas service for the valley. The next meeting will be held Friday, January 4, 1924, at the home of George Shaffer on Walnut drive.

KNIGHTS ATTEND CHRISTMAS MASS

Christmas Program Follows Attendance at Church; Gifts For Kiddies

Yesterday, as Christmas Sunday, was an exceptionally full day for the members of the Glendale Knights of Columbus council No. 1920.

At 7:30 o'clock in the morning 150 of the knights gathered at the club house at 230 East Lomita and marched to the Holy Family Catholic church, where mass was said by Father Michael Galvin, chaplain of the Glendale council. The procession was led by Grand Knight Jesse E. Smith and staff.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock at the club house, the knights were hosts to the children of the parish, fully 400 kiddies being present. The affair had been arranged under the direction of M. J. Brennan. A short program was given by Geraldine and Jean Keleher, daughters of T. J. Keleher, in dance numbers, and with "Bud" Minier, who arranged the program, in an exceptionally clever musical act.

Santa Claus Comes The last number was a Christmas story with Miss Mildred Browster as the mother and the two Keleher girls as the kiddies. The climax of the story came when the girls left the room to return with Santa Claus, who took advantage of the occasion and distributed gifts to all the youngsters. After this ceremony was over, the Christmas committee and guests took the Christmas tree over to Mother Cabini's Preventorium at Burbank, where another Christmas program had been ar-

GIVER AND GIFT SPEAKER'S THEME

Friendship Is Greatest of All Blessings Enjoyed to God's Creatures

Taking as her subject "The Giver and His Gift," Mrs. Mabel Moore, of the Occult Science of Christ Church, gave a very helpful Christmas talk Sunday evening, at 113 South Orange street. Mrs. Moore, taking her text from Acts 3:1-10, especially the sixth verse, in which Peter tells the lame man: "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I unto thee; in the name of Christ Jesus of Nazareth, rise up and walk," dwelt at length upon the value and method of giving. She said in part: "As we near the Christmas time, it should be the happiest period of our year, as we are celebrating the birth of our master teacher, Jesus, the Christ. However, in looking over the world of mankind at this season, we often see a very considerable amount of discontent and unhappiness, for many find themselves unable to give the gift they desire most to give, and consequently feel that nothing other than that would be acceptable. It is a truth that the very greatest of all gifts cannot be bought with money, but only can we give it of ourselves. The gift of friendship is one of the choicest of all gifts that we can offer, what is of greater value, what can be compared with true friendship? A true friend is one of God's greatest blessings.

"Yet another way in which we may carry forth the spirit of the Yuletide, is to give of ourselves in love and in kindness, in other words, impersonally for the benefit of all, and for the glory of God. There is, however, another way in which one can manifest this precious spirit of the Christmastide. In we may give of our thoughts in kindness, in helpfulness, and in cheer. The last point that Mrs. Moore brought before the attention of her hearers was that, "we should in all our giving at this season of the year, not forget to give unto ourselves the Gifts of the Spirit, that is, meekness, gentleness, forbearance, and fortitude. The greatest gift that we may, and should, give unto ourselves, is that of a serene mind, the mind of calmness and of power."

STUDY PROPHECY IN BIBLE CLASS

Isaiah's Prediction of Christ Forms Study Theme of Rev. Edward Hoskyn

The Sunday morning lesson brought to the men's Bible class of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday by the Rev. Edward Hoskyn was based on the prophecies of Isaiah, "For unto you a child is born in the city of David. And his name shall be called Wonderful, and the government shall be upon his shoulders." Mr. Hoskyn said in part: "This prophecy was indeed a special revelation from God to Isaiah, who was chosen by Jehovah because of the prophet's strong faith in God. The Hebrews clearly misinterpreted the promises of God to them, and believed that the Messiah was to come again and reign in a material kingdom, and give them the nations of the earth for an inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for their possessions. And had the Jews not broken faith with Jehovah it is very probable that this prophecy might have been fulfilled.

"The whole scheme of salvation rests on our belief in the prophecies of the Old Testament. Isaiah was indeed a great prophet. But the prophetic visions did not commence with Isaiah. As far back as the creation, and in the Garden of Eden, was given the prophecy that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head." And this was true, as the whole world has learned centuries ago. We are workers with God for the universal reign of Christ in the world. It was John the Baptist who said "Repent ye, for the kingdom of God is at hand." He did not say that the kingdom of God was here, but that it was at hand. The Lord's prayer is greatly misunderstood by many who repeat it in a sanctified manner. "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done," as a petition when properly interpreted, Christ's kingdom is to be a spiritual kingdom, and the millennium would have been here long ago had the world accepted the teachings of the Christ when on earth.

"It was no part of the plan of salvation that men should be forced into obedience. Follow Me and I will give you rest," were the words of the Master. His plan was to win with love—no conquer by almighty power. The first great step toward winning the world for Christ must be a regeneration of men." Next Sunday, December 30, the men's Bible class will waive the general review for the quarter and devote its time to answers to questions affecting the Bible. This subject Rev. Hoskyn has designated "Knights to Krack," and some of the principal subjects to be discussed are: "How were the writings of the Scriptures inspired?" "Are men and women of this day inspired?" "What revelation of truth has God given since the close of the New Testament era?" "Is the organic union of all Protestant churches wise?" "Is the printing of modern version of the New Testament advisable?" "Is a belief in the virgin birth of Jesus vital to salvation?" "How will our relief for Japan effect our relations with that people?"

CHRISTMAS VAIN WITHOUT CHRIST

Message of Christianity Is Unique In History, Is Pastor's Claim

The congregation of the Glendale Presbyterian church worshipped in the Glendale Theatre for the last time yesterday morning before going into the new church building on East Harvard street. The sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, and his subject was, "The Christmas Splendor." The text was taken from Matthew 2:2, "Where is he? we have seen His star—and are come to worship Him." He said: "Surely it is a wonder we never weary of the light and glow and beauty of the Christmas season. What other story so ravishes the heart of childhood? What other story gives such raptures to the visions of age? What other story gathers all peoples of all climes and of all conditions within its vast and tender heart? The Christian Christmas message stands solitary, unique, unapproachable in human history. It is the Christian's day. It belongs to none other. Men cannot have Christmas without the Christ. It is a shame to smother Him with gifts of things and then shut the door in His face. There is no better time than now to let Him into the heart when the Christ spirit is everywhere present. Christmas is a poor weak subterfuge except the spirit of Christ gets into the heart.

"Where is He?" There is something in that question which is older than the sun and more ancient than the stars. It is an ageless question because it contains an ageless hope. It is still a question on humanity's lips. "Where is He?" is the cry of every human heart. "Notice the word 'born.' A glow of righteousness gathers round the head of motherhood. Sometimes we men in thinking of our mothers wonder why it is at such a time as this our thoughts flow out and on until we are lost in wonder, love and praise, for the power of motherhood. The text brings us face to face with childhood. The true spirit of Christmas comes only from the Christ child and is not a myth. Kris Kringle and Santa Claus are unreal and mythical. Why emphasize unreality when we have a glorious reality? A little child shall lead us, for more and more they are asking, 'Where is He?' For we have seen His star in the east and are come to worship Him." The real Christmas spirit can only be portrayed in childhood by showing the gleams of truth which radiated from the manger at Bethlehem.

Vision Suggested "A spiritual vision is suggested here. 'For we have seen His star in the East.' Have we eyes to see the Christmas splendor? We need today the open vision of the real and supreme as the only true religion is that it is a religion of vision. We see Christ incarnate at this Christmas season. We renew our faith in the virgin birth amid the holiday cheer. We arouse and reassure ourselves of the hope of immortality. Because He lives we shall live also. "Here is a noble objective, and are come to worship Him." Here is the climax of Christmas splendor. Why all this lavish expenditure? Why all this love? Through all this the outstanding objective is worship. The world asks, "Worship? Why, this is the season of joy away with the idea that worship is something nebulous, and dreamful and unreal. The most essential truth of our lives is not merely saying prayers. It creates prayers worth saying. It is not psalm singing alone that turns the whole of life into a melody. The splendor of this season, amid its joys and festivities Christ must be the center."

Parkers Arrive Home Jan. 3; Will Vote 'Yes'

A Christmas greeting from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parker of 135 North Louise street, who have been visiting in Norwood, Ohio, to their friends in Glendale, states that they will leave Wednesday night for Glendale. They will come by way of New Orleans, where they will stop for a short visit. They will arrive in Glendale January 3, "to vote for the sewer bonds," Mr. Parker writes.

world for Christ must be a regeneration of men." CHRIST IS ONLY UNFLAWED BEING

Even Nature Is Imperfect in All Her Works, Says Pastor in Sermon

In keeping with the season of the year, Rev. Charles M. Calderwood chose as the subject of his sermon yesterday morning, at the First Congregational church, "The Wonderful Jesus." He said in part: "Science tells us that there is not one perfect leaf in the forest and not one rose in the garden that does not have a blemish. The winter chills the roots, frost bites the seed, and the winter's storms of rain, snow and sleet strain the boughs. Nature gives us not perfection, but enough to satisfy our needs. "Man is not perfect. His trains jump the track, his ships sink in the sea, and his airplanes fall from the sky. Man's art is good, but not perfect. His Venus de Milo lacks arms, and his Winged Victory is without a head. Man's laws are passed by one congress or legislature to be repealed by the next. His judicial decisions decreed by one court, are reversed by another. Enemies arise and must be forgiven, for either we have failed or they.

Looked Toward Stars "Even the prophets and the apostles were not perfect, and must be forgiven. They were God's best gifts to men. They are the men of vision. While others look toward the land and sea, they looked toward the star. The prophet is not the foreteller of events, but the forth-teller of eternal principles. Praise God for these men, but how much man has to forgive in them. From Abraham down to today, the pages of history have been scarred and stained by the imperfections of great men. Let us forgive them, and let us remember that there is one whose name we call 'Wonderful.'"

Scores Philosophers "The philosophers must be forgiven, too. Darwin, as a philosopher organized the facts of life into a system. Newton discovers some of God's laws of nature, and sets them into a system. Great is our debt to the philosophers who clear the mist from the maze of thought. But many of them were far from perfect and they must be forgiven. Let us forgive these giants of the intellect, for, though they were strong, yet were weak and mythical. Why emphasize cynicism, treachery, egotism in the life of the Wonderful Jesus who was born in Bethlehem 1900 years ago.

"Yes, Jesus was wonderful, but he never wrote a line of poetry, carved a statue, sang a song, painted a picture, or wrote a battle or bore a scepter. Others were great artists, singers, warriors, poets, but Jesus' conquest was in the realm of personality. Poets could use words in a beautiful way to make everlasting literature, but Jesus used words to make everlasting lives. Generals knew how to march great armies and conquer enemies, but Jesus knew how to conquer the enemies of the soul. Painters put the pictures of beautiful lives on canvas, but Jesus constantly holds before us his own example of the beautiful life. Sculptors mold marble into bodily forms, but Jesus molded lives by the influence and power of his own. Musicians could compose oratorios, but the birth of Jesus brought the hallelujah choruses from the angels of the sky. It is no wonder that men carry his cross, follow in his steps, study his teachings and copy his life and that the angels sang, "Glory in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

World Waiting Today For Coming of Peace

"Waiting—A Christmas Thought," was the theme of the Christmas sermon delivered by Rev. J. C. Livingston before the congregation at Casa Verdugo Methodist church at the morning service. He depicted the story of Simeon waiting in the temple for the coming of the prince of peace—"Waiting," said the speaker, "as the world has waited since the first Christmas, and is waiting today, for the coming of world peace." The choir sang an anthem, "When the Shepherds Watched," with solo parts by Mrs. R. D. Jones and John W. Cotton. Mrs. R. D. Jones sang a soprano solo, "Holy Night."

Choir Gives Cantata At Church Services

The choir of Casa Verdugo church gave a splendid rendition of the Christmas cantata, "The Angelic Choir," at the Sunday evening service. Soloists were Mrs. Waldo Winger, Mrs. J. H. Berris, Mrs. Robert D. Jones, Mrs. John W. Cotton, Miss Greta Corday, Messrs Robert D. Jones and Harry Gaddis. The ensemble work was worthy of especial mention and the director Mrs. John W. Cotton, may well consider the rendition to be one of the best music offerings of the organization during this year. Rev. J. C. Livingston led devotional exercises and there was no sermon. It is not the quantity but the quality of brains that pulls the trick.

CHRIST'S DIVINE BIRTH IS TOPIC

Dr. Rasmus Tells of Savoir's Coming In Christmas Sermon Sunday

Taking the angelic message as recorded in Luke 2:11, "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ, the Lord," Dr. Henry I. Rasmus preached a stirring Christmas sermon yesterday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning.

"Nineteen hundred and twenty-three years ago," said Dr. Rasmus, "two travelers might have been seen as they wended their way over mountains and defiles as they journeyed from Galilee to Bethlehem, Joseph and his espoused wife, Mary, going up to pay taxes.

Birth of Christ "That night in the manger occurred one of the world's greatest events, the birth of a universal king. No expectant throng awaited his birth; no satin-lined cradle to lay him in; no heralds with silver bugles to announce his birth—this King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

"But from the low balconies of the skies a multitude of the heavenly host chanted his praise, saying, 'Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men,' while diamond stars pointed to Bethlehem. Then came the wise men to worship him and frankincense and myrrh. And so have the wise men of each and every generation rejoiced with exceeding great joy and worshipped at his shrine.

Life of Mystery "For thirty years he lived a life of mystery, for great is the mystery of Godliness. God manifested in the flesh—a life of ministry unto men; a willing sacrifice, raised from the dead, received up into glory.

"Wonderful the gateway in which he came to earth; wonderful the gateway by which he went out. This day the eyes of all the Christian world are turned to Bethlehem.

"Whether men believe in Christ or not, they all use a calendar that points back to his birth. We celebrate old and young, by song and sermon, the world round, his advent 1923 years ago.

"Why is this? How is it? We celebrate as at no other time. Transcendent as at no other day, we never outwear it in all the centuries; never failing, but always fresh in the season. Great is our debt to the philosophers who clear the mist from the maze of thought. But many of them were far from perfect and they must be forgiven. Let us forgive these giants of the intellect, for, though they were strong, yet were weak and mythical. Why emphasize cynicism, treachery, egotism in the life of the Wonderful Jesus who was born in Bethlehem 1900 years ago.

"Yes, Jesus was wonderful, but he never wrote a line of poetry, carved a statue, sang a song, painted a picture, or wrote a battle or bore a scepter. Others were great artists, singers, warriors, poets, but Jesus' conquest was in the realm of personality. Poets could use words in a beautiful way to make everlasting literature, but Jesus used words to make everlasting lives. Generals knew how to march great armies and conquer enemies, but Jesus knew how to conquer the enemies of the soul. Painters put the pictures of beautiful lives on canvas, but Jesus constantly holds before us his own example of the beautiful life. Sculptors mold marble into bodily forms, but Jesus molded lives by the influence and power of his own. Musicians could compose oratorios, but the birth of Jesus brought the hallelujah choruses from the angels of the sky. It is no wonder that men carry his cross, follow in his steps, study his teachings and copy his life and that the angels sang, "Glory in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

"This is my second Christmas that I have served you, and two thoughts are uppermost in my mind—Eternity and Eternity. Of the future I must have no doubt, no hesitation, no uncertainty. I must know my destiny. I must have under my feet a sure foundation. And there is none other than Jesus the Christ. Well may we say with H. Kirke White: "When marshalled on the nightly plain, The glittering stars bestud the sky, One star alone of all the train Can fix the wandering sinner's eye. It is my guide, my light, my all; It bids my dark forebodings cease; And through life's storm and tempest leads me to the path of peace. Thus safely moored, my perils o'er, I'll sing first in night's diadem, Forever, and forever more. The star, the Star of Bethlehem!"

The Royal Stock company will present for their Christmas offering the well-known play, "Pollyanna," beginning Wednesday. TODAY: Tokio Still Nervous.

By DUKE N. PARRY For International News Service.

TOKIO, Dec. 24.—The average office building of the old type in Tokio is so constructed that when heavy motor trucks lumber by in the street below one feels a sensation in the office room not unlike that of a tiny earthquake. So on a recent morning in Tokio those of us who "office" in the old-type building continued our work as a slight tremble seemed to take hold of the floors of our buildings. Of a sudden a man in the next room to ours called out: "Je-shin!" which, we have learned to know, means "Earthquake!" and the next second a sharp quake as if the earth were in a quick convulsion, took hold of the very foundations of the building and rocked the entire structure.

Men and boys poured from the buildings around us and from our own by the hundreds. It was the biggest quake since the big earthquake period of September, and coming at 11:30—within twenty minutes of the time of the great earthquake, one day before another great quake had been predicted by a well-known Japanese religious sect—it struck terror to the hearts of all superstitious Japanese, of whom there are many. With the Japanese office boys and managers and workers, the foreigners in the buildings poured into the streets, where they stood wondering whether or not the second destruction of Tokio was at hand. Fifteen minutes later we returned to our offices to resume our work until the next quake. For such is Tokio in 1923.

In the parks of Tokio the Japanese keeper of the small store has caught the spirit of helpfulness, and one storekeeper, seeking to aid all victims of the earthquake, has put up a sign, "Help Within for the Poor Victim," meaning, of course, that this storekeeper desires to make special prices for cakes to the "poor victims" of the disaster. Nowhere that one visits in the city of Tokio does he talk more

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE, WHAT?

This Girl Patches Up Personal Quarrels

Miss Jacqueline Fox.

Miss Fox is literally hunting trouble—not because she's quarrelsome, but because she wants to hire herself out as the official "Miss Fixit" of Denver.

DENVER, Dec. 24.—Miss Jacqueline Fox, pretty young Denver woman, wants to be a "friend in need" to all of Denver—at $2 per hour.

Basing her unique business on the well-known adage that "a friend in need is a friend indeed," Miss Fox has decided to become, according to her "ad" in a local newspaper, to assume "unpleasant jobs and disagreeable tasks" for her clients—at a stipulated sum.

Following is the ad: "Doer of unpleasant jobs will undertake to relieve her clients of any disagreeable or tedious tasks, such as letter writing, breaking bad news, delivering unpleasant messages, explaining lapses or excusing mistakes, for the sum of $2 per hour. Terms strictly cash." And Miss Fox declares the "ad" means just what it says. "My idea is based on experience," declared the young woman, wise beyond her years. "I've tried my skill at reconciling friendships that have been broken, offering abject apologies for others, and softening harsh terms in letters that never could have accomplished their purpose if they had been sent as originally written."

Miss Fox said there are hundreds of persons who would like to end estrangements from their sweethearts or friends, offer apologies for wrongs, intended or unintended; or write, convincingly and diplomatically, letters dealing with delicate situations. "They have no friends to whom they can or will turn, either because of lack of friends or through the embarrassment of letting their friends know of their difficulties," Miss Fox continued. "They do not seek an attorney because theirs are not cases for lawyers to handle. The law is involved in their troubles—the difficulties are of a sentimental and personal nature. "Kindness and sympathy and an appeal to the better side of human nature will serve in almost every case; sometimes sternness and a bit of scolding may be necessary. The saying 'Circumstances alter cases' applies always."

And Miss Fox conducts her enterprise in a very businesslike way, her methods of negotiating with prospects entirely eliminating the curious and flirtatious. "This is a business with me," she lets it be known, "and business is not foolshness—or at least it shouldn't be."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS EVE Uncle Wiggily hopped up the steps of his hollow stump bungalow, opened the door and went in. He was whistling a cheerful tune and his pink nose was twinkling like a gold star on a Christmas tree.

"And why shouldn't my nose twinkle?" asked Uncle Wiggily, when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper, spoke of it. "Why shouldn't my nose twinkle? Isn't this Christmas Eve, and aren't we going to have jolly times tomorrow?"

"I hope we are!" answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy with a laugh. "Did you have a good adventure, Mr. Longears?" she asked. "Pretty good," he replied. "I had a slide on the ice with Sammie and Susie Littletail, the rabbits."

"That wasn't much of an adventure," Nurse Jane said. "No, but wait until you hear it all," went on the rabbit gentleman. "The ice broke, Sammie and Susie fell in and—"

"Oh! Oh, how dreadful!" screamed Nurse Jane. "The poor, dear little rabbits! To fall through the ice the day before Christmas! I must go right over and help get them out!"

"Oh, I got them out all right!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I pulled them out so quickly that their fur was hardly wet at all."

"I'm so glad," sighed Nurse Jane. "I should think that was an adventure! But tell me, Uncle Wiggily, as you came in did you see anything of Billie Wagtail, the goat?"

"Why, no, I didn't see Billie," replied Uncle Wiggily. "Is he lost? I hope not, when it's so near Christmas."

"I don't know whether Billie is lost, or what has happened to him," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But I sent him to the store to get me some molasses so I could make a Christmas molasses cake, and here it is nearly dark, and Billie hasn't come back yet."

"That's so—it is getting dark," spoke Uncle Wiggily looking out of the bungalow window. "It is getting dark—this is Christmas Eve—and Billie isn't here. Still he may have stopped to look in the store windows at some of the presents Santa Claus has left there."

"Well, I wish he'd come with my molasses," said Nurse Jane. "If he doesn't come pretty soon, I'll go look for him," offered Uncle Wiggily. "And while I'm waiting I'll get my stocking ready to hang up for Santa Claus. Is your stocking ready, Nurse Jane?"

"Oh, yes," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "And she scrambled about the hollow stump bungalow, doing a bit of dusting here, and setting a chair straight there, to have everything nice for Christmas. And as she worked about, while waiting for Billie to come with the molasses, Nurse Jane recited the verses about 'Twas the Night Before Christmas,' when all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse."

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, when Nurse Jane had said the last verse, "if Billie Wagtail doesn't stir himself soon, and come with that molasses, there will be no cake for my Christmas dinner. I'll go out and look for him, Nurse Jane."

"Yes, I wish you would," the muskrat lady said. "I do hope the Fuzzy Fox or the Woozie Wolf hasn't carried him off to their dens."

"Oh, don't say that! Don't talk that way, when I'm going out in the dark to look for Billie!" began Uncle Wiggily. He had the door open and outside was the dark night. "You make me so nervous!" he said.

"That's something new for you!" laughed Nurse Jane. "You may find an adventure out there, looking for Billie."

"That's so," admitted the rabbit gentleman. Then he twinkled his pink nose again, shut the door and found himself outside in the dark.

"I'll walk around the bungalow, and perhaps I shall see Billie," whispered Uncle Wiggily to himself. Slowly he started to walk, looking this way and that way for a sight of the little goat boy with the can of molasses for Nurse Jane.

All of a sudden, as the bunny door of his bungalow, his left hind paw struck something. Down he fell and the next moment his paw was caught fast. He tried to pull it loose but he couldn't.

"Oh, Nurse Jane! Nurse Jane!"

Dinner Stories

After much excitement the Smiths had at last managed to catch the train, says Judge. Now, when they could sit quietly for a while, they began to wonder if they had left anything behind. Mrs. Smith wailed, "Oh, Donald, when I went to put some red paint on my face so I would not have to bother about the way I looked, I forgot to turn off the electric iron."

"Do not worry, my dear," he replied. "Nothing will burn. In stopping to get a chew of gum,

I forgot to turn off the shower bath."

An antiquated-looking individual was hawking fish. "Fine, fresh fish, fower a penny," roared he.

"A woman came to the barrow. 'Are they fresh?' she asked. 'They're fower a penny, mum,' was the guarded reply."

"Yes," responded the other, "I heard you say so, but are they fresh?"

"Can't say for sartin, mum," came the sarcastic reply. "I applied for the birth and death certificate of every fish on the barrow, but at fower a penny, it simply couldn't be done."—Pearson's Weekly (London).

Sawtelle and the White Sox battled eleven innings yesterday to a draw decision, darkness ending the contest with the score 4-4. It was by far the best game seen on the San Fernando road lot since the opening of the Triple A season. Sawtelle outbit the locals, but did not get the full benefit of their clouts through foolish base running, and their inability to hit when his meant runs enough to win the game. The thrice-rejuvenated White Sox played better ball than their predecessors, and asked for a team that from now on will cause the other entries a lot of trouble. The infield, with "Chicken" Hawkes at first and Sawyer at second, looked 100 per cent better than formerly, and Adams behind the bat saved the day for the locals with his four-base swat in the sixth, driving in Slade ahead of him. Dill Doran also sent the ball over the right-field fence in the third. To McMullin of Larry Arnold's crew goes the honor of making the first home run inside the park. In the seventh he hit the center-field fence, and scored before the ball could be returned.

Crandall Pitches
Arnold Crandall, who will work with his brother, "Doc," for Marty Krug next season, started for the locals and, although touched for ten hits, managed to keep them well scattered. After Hood and Cooper had singled in the eleventh, with no one out, and McDonnell was safe on a fielder's choice, Cooper being forced at second, he was relieved by Whitaker, who struck out Gillespie and McMullin and saved the day. Campbell went to the mound for the visitors, and was very lucky to get away as well as he did. He issued five passes and the batters were full twice, but he managed to keep the hits on the ground and pulled out without severe damage being done. Barnaba, who relieved him in the seventh, pitched good ball for the remainder of the game.

Sawtelle scored in the first inning. After Doran had thrown Cramer out, Butler walked, took second when Arnold Crandall made a poor throw in an attempt to catch him off of first, went to third on Twombly's infield out and scored on a two-bagger. Cooper led off with a single. McDonnell's drive, which was an exceptionally hard chance, and after Arnold Crandall threw Gillespie out at first, McMullin parked the ball in center-field for a home run, scoring McDonnell ahead of him. Their final effort was in the eighth. Butler started the inning with a single to left-field. Twombly sacrificed him to second. Wally Hood again delivered a single and Butler score.

Glendale Scores
Campbell was lucky enough to keep Glendale from scoring until the third. Doran, the first man out, put the ball over the right-field fence. Hawkes followed with a single and took second when Wally Hood made his only miscue of the day and allowed the ball to go through his legs. He took third on Doc Crandall's deep fly to center, and scored when Gillespie and Sawyer's bunt, in the sixth Campbell hit Slade in the back and Adams pushed the ball out of the lot for another pair of runs. After that the locals were unable to solve Barnaba's delivery.

The largest crowd since the opening day was on hand, and they were well rewarded for their attendance. The umpiring was of a very much higher calibre than has been the case in previous games. The score:

AIR PILOT KILLED
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 24.—James F. (Dinky) Moore, air mail pilot, was killed today when his plane, en route from North Platte, Neb., to this city, crashed near Burns, Wyo., twenty-five miles east of here. Sarsaparilla is the dried root of the smilax, a native plant of Central America.

SPORTS

Almost every fighter in the boxing game since history began, has had something to distinguish him in the ring. Stanley Ketchel, for instance, wore red trunks that could be seen a mile. Jack Dempsey still wears a ragged old red sweater he wore in his first important mill. Luis Firpo made blaze New Yorkers gasp when he sprung his checker-board bath robe on them the first time he stepped into the ring.

Gene Tanney says he may accept a battle with Georges Carpentier. Make out your will first, Gene. You will not know whether you're fighting one or six opponents. Gene's a good man but Carpentier, old as he is, knows too much for the A. E. F. champion.

Barley Madden, veteran trial horse, wants to meet Harry Wills. Which makes us wonder whether Barley has been disappointed in love or wants to fool the life insurance people by passing out before the mortality statistics say he should.

"Long Tom" Hughes, veteran American league hurler and remembered particularly as the nemesis of the Cleveland club year after year, makes a plea for the pitchers of today. Hughes, who retired really and truly a year ago, says that it is unfair to the pitchers in the big show to go into the minors and pay from $25,000 to $50,000 for outfielders or infielders who can hammer the daylight out of the pitchers. Elimination of several of the rules now curbing the pitcher's effectiveness is urged by the former Washington star.

Austria will be represented in the Olympic games at Paris next year. Which is another indication that that part of the former Hapsburg empire is getting back to normalcy against what seemed overwhelming odds for a time.

Glendale K. C.'s Lose To Lankershim Team
The Glendale K. C.'s journeyed to Lankershim yesterday and came back with a licking by the score 18-5. Every man on the Lankershim team made at least one hit, Morris leading the attack with three safe blows.

SPENCER, Iowa, Dec. 24.—William Batcher took to a local weekly to be honest and Mrs. A. L. Trimby of Danville, owes the recovery of $90 she lost this summer to Batcher's trouble. Batcher found a handbag along the road near here this summer. He also found a camera with $90 cash in the bag. After he had developed the roll of film found in the camera Batcher obtained an automobile number from one of the prints. By this number he located Mrs. Trimby, who had lost the bag, and sent the cash, bag, kodak and money to her. Wool crepe and velvet are frequently combined in little girls' one-piece dresses, usually with the waist of bright colored crepe and the skirt of darker velvet.

Held in Jail While Court Makes Search
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—Trouble never comes singly, if Mike Koolof may be taken as a sample. Brought before the State Industrial Accident commission recently to explain why he failed to appear before that body in the final session of his hearing for compensation sought as a result of injuries received while working on a truck owned by John Bosgoff, Mike unravelled the following tale. When the commission adjourned Sept. 19, the final day of his hearing, he was tired and fell asleep in the Pacific Electric building. He was arrested, arraigned before a police magistrate and given ninety days in jail, although papers in his possession, if read, would have shown that he was at the time involved in court proceedings. Unable to speak English, Koolof lay in his cell three months, while the commission searched for him. While in jail, his health failed and bones broken in the accident, failed to knit properly. But now all is well, at least so believes Koolof. For, after days of searching, he located the offices of the commission once more and found that he had been awarded $144.09 compensation to Sept. 18, and a weekly allowance of $15.28 after that date. So from his hospital bed where friends have taken him, Mike looks out on the world and grins, for he believes his troubles have ended.

VOTE FOR SEWER BONDS

LARGER VOTE AT ELECTION URGED

Small Percentage of City's Residents Trouble To Express Themselves

Editor, The Evening News—While thinking of the other day, of Glendale's building records and commercial activity, and the favorable reputation it is giving us at home and abroad, I wondered if we could not add another star to our community crown. Not solely for the name of it but for the direct value to Glendale and general worth as an example to others. By developing a higher type of citizenship, a citizenship that not only loves the flag, (and why not have it floating over each voting place at each election in Glendale?) that reveres the constitution as sacred next to the Bible. A citizenship that honors the brave men who defended our country in her hours of peril; a citizenship that thrills as he takes down the volumes of history and reads of the warm-hearted denotion. But a present, everyday-citizenship that is wide awake; that has a desire to serve and to sacrifice, to be vigilant, full of faith in his fellow men and in the destiny of his country.

Only Few Cast Votes But there is great room for improvement. I have served on election boards for several years and find that only about 60 to 75 per cent of the qualified voters are registered and only 40 to 50 per cent of them actually vote.

A sentiment that went to sleep on his job would be a court martyr. The citizen that does not register and vote is not doing his duty. If a concerted movement could be inaugurated and successfully completed and 80 to 90 per cent of all eligible voters in Glendale could break down the ranks and overcome that old foe, general indifference, and reach the ballot box at each election, it would put Glendale up to the front in activity of a more enlightened and patriotic citizenship.

It would seem that, if voters are not interested in electing presidents and governors, they would be interested in expressing themselves on such a personal, vital question as the sewer problem. What percentage of the 12,500 registered voters will vote on January 8? Wouldn't it be fine if 75 to 80 per cent would come out and vote? Fully as important as reaching the $10,000,000 building record for 1923.

LA CRESCENTA RELIGIOUS PLAY STIRS AUDIENCE

The Other Wise Man Staged By Well Trained Cast In New Church

With the lights dimmed, music falling gently from a soft-toned organ and the dim, mysterious Star of Bethlehem silently moving through the air to guide the Three Wise Men to the manger. "The Other Wise Man" entranced the audience, gathered in the Community church, to witness the dramatized version of Henry Van Dyke's great classic. Slowly the turbaned, brilliantly-robed Wise Men, with their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh, wended their way down the central aisle of the church, up the rostrum, which was the setting for the spectacle. There was the manger, the lowly Joseph and the Blessed Mary, with the infant in her arms. Silently the Wise Men prostrated themselves in adoration at the feet of Him who was proclaimed the King. He whom the star had guided there to. Time passed, showing Artiban, the other Wise Man, who had sold his all, to purchase a ruby, a sapphire and a pearl as his gifts to the unknown, newly-born King. He had missed his companions, stopping to render aid to a Hebrew exile who was dying by the wayside. After hours of unceasing care, Artiban was rewarded by seeing the man revive, and to further reward his kindness the Hebrew directed Artiban to travel to Bethlehem and not Jerusalem.

Search for Christ Again we see Artiban who has at last entered the city of Bethlehem going from house to house in his desire to find the Babe. While in the humble abode of a Hebrew mother with her young baby in her arms—a rude clamor is heard in the streets. It is the soldiers of Herod, who have orders to put to death any child under two years of age. Frightened, the poor mother, clasping her child in her arms, hides in the darkest corner of her hut, while Artiban meets the soldier of Herod at the door—bringing him by payment of his lustrious ruby to leave. With just his pearl left, Artiban after 33 years of searching is in the city of Jerusalem when accosted by a slave girl, who is being roughly handled by a Roman soldier. To help her so she need not be sold, Artiban meditates, will it be better to save the girl and give up his last present so carefully saved for his King—or better to save the pearl till he meets the King. The decision makes the Roman soldier richer, while Artiban has nothing left to offer Him whom he has been seeking for thirty-three years.

An earthquake! darkness—cries of "Crucify Him—King of the Jews!" The masses shake their heads; one striking the traveler on the head; he sinks to the ground, the slave girl supporting him, when a sweet voice in the distance is heard. Artiban raising his head grieves to think he has nothing to offer his King, when again the voice is heard, saying: "Such as ye have done it unto the least of these so have ye done it thrice unto Me." The voice dies away and the weary Artiban sinks to his last slumber rewarded at last in his search.

The play, as presented, stirred one deeply—so full of pathos, of beauty and of tragedy. Sure, as the minister, Rev. Kelso said, all who had worked for the success of the evening deserve heartfelt thanks and gratitude for the hours it took to perfect them in their parts.

To E. P. Tyler goes the credit for the beautiful lighting effects which made the stage setting so effective.

Mrs. Carter Moore sang "Hear Us, Oh Father," and Mrs. Elmer Brown, "Night Divine," both of which were beautifully rendered.

Mr. Moore, who trained the actors and actresses in their parts, gave the reading in a very fitting manner, while Alba Burt and Mae Busch as Joseph and Mary, respectively, were most realistic looking in their parts.

Leonard Mead moved one to pity with his dying appearance as the exile, Mrs. Greenberg's portrayal of the Hebrew mother brought the tears to one's eyes; Mary Ann Howard as the slave girl carried out the part to perfection, while Ward Van Dussen was a most realistic looking soldier of the Roman empire; Robert Kelso as Artiban was

Y MEMBERS PLAN HOLIDAY EVENTS

Conference at Mt. Herman To Draw Delegates From Glendale Branch

The holiday time is holding many interests for Glendale boys belonging to the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Rex C. Kelley. Of particular interest is the selection of Robert Hatch of 628 North Kenwood street and Charles Thompson of 628 Glenwood road as delegates to the older boys conference and training camp at Mt. Herman, just across the bay from Asilomar, December 26 to 31.

For the past twenty-eight years California college men have held a winter conference at Asilomar and have invited representative high school boys. The delegation of high school boys has grown to such proportions that a special conference has been arranged for them at Mt. Herman and many of their sessions will be with the college men at Asilomar.

Boys To Be Guests William L. Conklin of Santa Barbara has issued an invitation to all Southern California boys going to the conference to be guests at his home in Santa Barbara Christmas night and then the next day go on north.

A pre-Christmas activity of the Glendale Y is sending a delegation yesterday to the California Junior Republic at Chino to entertain the boys there. G. Edwin Murphy accompanied the boys, who took their own orchestra to furnish music. Members of the orchestra are Everett Anderson, pianist and director; Wallace Haines and Harold Jones, saxophones; Clifford Walcott, banjo; Kenneth Lee, trombone; Arthur Cressy, drums. H. L. Butterfield and Mr. Murphy spoke to the boys.

The big event of this vacation week is the educational trip to San Diego, upon which the boys and their leaders will start tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. The trip will be made by automobile and gay posters on the cars will advertise Glendale. Return home will be made Saturday.

Full plans have been made for spending all day in Balboa park, where the fine zoo will be visited, and a tour made of the museums. Visits will also be made to the government submarine base, the battleships in the harbor, the aviation fields and other places of interest.

Boys taking the trip are Jack Swearingin, Willard Ball, Norman Axup, Fred Collins, Robert Deavins, Harold Lovink, Chilton Allison, Robert Finlay, Fred Houghton, Robert Hemphill, Robert Kelley, Robert Boyd, Harold Boyd, Richard Kelley, Walter Roberts, Myron Cole, Gilbert Groustake.

The men accompanying the boys are Rex C. Kelley, W. G. Boyd, C. W. Ingledue, Fred Hingworth, Frank Hillis.

superb, and Messrs. A. C. Cox, J. Stein and S. Billing took them back to the days of Zoroaster, when men studying the stars, believed.

It is hoped Mr. Moore will, at some future date, present another spectacle and worthy as this, which all enjoyed.

Mr. Moore presided at the organ during the entire evening.

Fire Causes Alarm Much alarm was felt around noon yesterday when five acres between Ramsdale and Los Angeles and Mayfield and Altura avenue, were on fire from an unknown origin. The burst fire spread rapidly and with the wind blowing as it was, caused a great deal of excitement.

However, in this district everyone turns out, and soon the fire was under control. Without the speedy response made by Jennings Young, the fire, which was in the heart of a residential district, might have practically wiped out the town. All those who have not yet contributed to the monthly fire fighting fund, are requested to remember the splendid service our fire department has given us, hampered as they are for the proper equipment.

So please step up and pay. All you are asked to contribute is 25 cents a month when you pay your water bill.

Mr. Kramer announces he will give a public Christmas tree with attendant goodies on his property on North Rosemont avenue on Christmas eve, tonight. All are cordially invited to attend and bring all the kiddies.

The Fred Anderson tree is dressed in its annual finery in the Montrose business district, adding a festive air to the little town.

The last dance of 1923 will be given by the Improvement association on Saturday night. Instead of a masquerade it will be a costume dance of the nations, and all old maids, fair maidens, grandmothers, mothers, fathers, bachelors young and old, fair, fat, forty, bald-headed, one and all are invited to come in costume.

It is expected there will be plenty of Micekeys with their colleens, Sandys with their lassies, Oles with their Lenas, Henris wiz zer Maries, Tonys with Marletas and others too numerous to mention.

There will be favors, prizes, refreshments, and the best music procurable, so don't miss this wonderful dance—the first the new officers of the Improvement association will give and the last of 1923.

Thomas Brown, a real live wire, is head of the entertainment committee for the year and if the dance is the success it should be, Mr. Brown hopes to put on a minstrel show. The proceeds of the evening go to the fire fund for back salary and new equipment for Jennings Young.

The Christmas Spirit and the Saving Spirit. Did it ever occur to you how the Christmas Spirit and the Saving Spirit have much in common? Christmas is a time when humanity's heart is gladdened by giving and receiving tokens of goodwill. It makes us happy to bring joy into the lives of our family and friends, and to throw aside temporarily the cares of life. So it should be with saving. Saving should not be considered merely a duty. Every deposit we make is strengthening the security of our loved ones—providing for their future comfort and happiness. It is the Christmas Spirit applied to all the year. Christmas ends the year radiantly, softening and erasing the trials that have gone before. Saving brings the same happiness into our later years, freeing us from the necessity of gaining a livelihood and enabling us to enjoy in contentment that beautiful period of our lives. Wishing you a Merry Xmas, we are, Glendale State Bank 109 East Broadway. Merry Christmas to All. "TUBE RUN DOWN THROAT TO GET SWALLOWED TOOTH"
In this morning's papers is an article under the above heading, which gives an account of an operation which removed a tooth from the lungs of a woman. It seems that several months ago, when the tooth was pulled, she gasped at the wrong time, and the tooth fell back in her throat and down to her lungs. She coughed constantly from then on. The account states:

"Without an anesthetic, Mrs. Blank was placed on the operating table with her head and neck in such a position that the throat and larynx were in a straight line and a thin metal tube, called the bronchoscope, was inserted. A surgeon directed it by the aid of the X-Ray, until the end of the tube was directly over the tooth. Then a pair of specially made forceps was slipped through the tube and the tooth was drawn out. Mrs. Blank was at her home last night with no cough."

Recently I attended a lecture given by a bronchoscopic specialist at the New York Academy of Medicine. X-Ray pictures were shown of patients before foreign articles had been removed from the lungs and stomach. The most astonishing things were shown in the lungs and the stomach. Chicken bones, atomizer tips, fruit stones, whistles, rings, coins, jack stones, glass eyes, false teeth, metal toys, ordinary pins and safety pins, both open and closed.

Safety pins seemed to be the favorite diet, and most of these were shown in the lungs and stomachs of babies and children. One baby had more than six or eight, some in the lungs and some in the stomach, some open and some closed. The history had disclosed that the baby's little brother had pushed them into his mouth and down his throat, making a nice little game of it, innocent and oblivious that the baby's howls were other than gleeful!

Another case that was interesting, was that of a well nourished and healthy baby of a year, who would not lie in any position except on his stomach. Placed on his back, he would cough and apparently be in distress. An X-Ray picture disclosed a pin in such a position that it would irritate him when he was lying on his back, but not when he was lying on his stomach.

Still another case was that of a young man, who had a persistent cough for years. Tuberculosis was suspected. Repeated examinations, however, failed to reveal tuberculosis, and his clinical symptoms were not those of tuberculosis. An X-Ray disclosed a tack which the young man remembered swallowing "the wrong way" when he was a child.

This should warn mothers not to leave safety pins or any other pins or small objects around where a child, who has not been taught to leave them alone, can have access to them. And mothers must stop the habit of putting pins in their own mouths, too, for the children see them do that and imitate them.

Another thing the specialist warned against is the danger of giving nut candies to babies. Because the candy melts and the nuts are left, and if the baby laughs or cries suddenly, they may be aspirated into the lungs. If something does get into the back of a child's throat, be careful, when you try to get it out, that you don't push it further back. The first thing to do is to turn the child upside down and give it a smart slap on the back of the chest. If the child is too large to handle, put it over a table or chair, so the head and chest hang down.

Many things that are swallowed get into the stomach and eventually will pass out naturally through the bowel movements. It may be cathartic in these cases, for that will wash the object through and perhaps cause damage. Feed the child more cereals, with some bran in it, if it is at the age when it can be taking cereals. If not, omit the baby's fruit juice for a few days.

Of course, you should see a physician if it is a pointed object that has been swallowed. He will have an X-Ray taken and watch the child's progress. Remember my warning about the nut candies (no baby should have any candy), and do not give babies toys small enough to be swallowed, or toys having loose parts on them.

If foreign articles do get into the trachea (wind pipe) or lower, in the lungs, a specialist can sometimes remove them, but not always.

Miss Megan Lloyd-George

LONDON, Dec. 24.—Somewhere in America a manly heart is fluttering—fluttering with a fluttering caused by Miss Megan Lloyd-George.

And the daughter of David Lloyd-George, war premier of Great Britain, who accompanied her father on his recent tour of the United States and Canada, admits shyly that somewhere across the Atlantic is a young man she found "completely charming."

But she can't be inveigled into telling who or where. The matter is quiet determined way.

Miss Megan, who her father confesses, fades him into the background wherever they appear together, is often referred to as the ideal type of "new girl."

Here are some of her characteristics:

Loves dancing, but deems education and sports as the most important concern of young folks. No make-up, no bobbed hair, no cigarettes.

Books her hobby; prefers Shakespeare to modern psycho-analytical literature; not "crazy" about modern novels; likes Thackeray better.

Doesn't care for politics or public life for herself. Would like to travel in India or come back to our California.

Best "pal" is her "daddy," not in a hurry about marriage.

Miss Lloyd-George and her mother intend to return to the United States.

needs for contracting a small number of very much enlarged pores.

Blue Eyes: To have a back full of pimples shows that your blood is out of order. You may need a tonic to build you up, as pimples sometimes come from a run-down state of health; or you may need to simplify your diet and give Nature a chance to correct the trouble. You should know best which treatment to follow.

E. E. T.: I shall be glad to send you the formula for a hair tonic that will stimulate the color secretion if you mail me a stamped, self-addressed envelope repeating your request.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Turks converted to Christianity by American and other missionaries have had to flee Turkey to escape the wrath of the Mohammedans, according to Stephen Panaretoff, Bulgarian minister to the United States.

Discussing a statement made recently by William Lin Wessermann, professor of ancient history at Cornell, that the Turkish government has been "religiously tolerant," Panaretoff says:

"The Turks are tolerant in regard to Christians, but not to Turks. Very few Turks have been converted by American missionaries, and such converts have had to flee the country to escape the wrath of the Mohammedans. The Turks don't care if Bulgarians are converted. The more religious divisions, such as Baptists, Methodists, and so on, which will divide the Christians, the better the Turks are pleased."

"In regard to the Christians themselves, you would be astonished at how tolerant they are. When the Greek Catholics have a procession on a church holiday, Turkish soldiers and policemen guard the procession. In Jerusalem one of the reasons they give why the Turks should be kept is that if they were not on guard at the Church of the Sepulchre the Christians would massacre themselves in no time."

"The Turk is a Mohammedan," he says. "He doesn't know nationalism. He knows religion. He divides the world into the world of faith, populated by Mohammedans, and the world of infidelity, populated by infidels. The Turks call a man Greek if he has the Greek religion. They do not call themselves Turks. To them the world is apportioned. When the Turks say, 'Oh, thou Turk, thou son of a Turk!' it is like swearing at a man in this country."

Some Find the Court Plaster Treatment Effective

Little shaped pieces of court plaster can be purchased in boxes at a moderate price. They are usually called wrinkle plasters, and come cut in triangles to paste between the eyes, and quarter-moons to go round the mouth. But ordinary court plaster is even cheaper to buy and can easily be cut by oneself.

The skin should first be washed with a mild soap and warm water, then the wrinkled parts smoothed out with the fingers and the court plaster put on. This should be done last thing at night and left on all night. In the morning, or at some convenient time during the day, the skin should be given a thorough massage with cold cream, and should be rubbed with ice or a strong astringent. You cannot do this before using the court plaster, for it will not stick if there is grease on the skin.

A fairly substantial meal can be made of sirloin steak and mashed potatoes.

Those who eat breakfast in bed and then expect to go back to sleep should not spill any cracker crumbs in the bed.

In paring potatoes care should be used not to throw away the potatoes. Potatoes the size of hickory nuts are very elusive.

You can get a good 15-cent porterhouse steak at almost any butcher shop for $2.30.

If you wish to economize on bacon and eggs, a good way to do it is to eat the bacon one morning and the eggs the next.

one tablespoon of salt, one-half cup of vinegar and one cup of cold water. Melt the butter in a saucepan and add the chopped apples and onions; let these cook together for three minutes, then add the raw cabbage shredded, and all the other ingredients. Cover the saucepan and let simmer for two and one-half hours. Serve hot. (This is the most delicious way that it is possible to serve cabbage.)

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Village Meat Pie—Put into a baking dish two cups of any kind of leftover cooked meat cut in small pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover it with one cup of hot, left-over gravy. Now beat one egg and divide it into two equal parts; add one part of it to two cups of warm mashed potato, also adding to the potato one-half cup of hot, sweet milk, one tablespoon of butter, a pinch of salt and a little finely minced raw onion. Spread this potato mixture over the meat in the casserole and brush top with the other half of the egg which was not used. Bake in a quick oven till nicely browned—about twenty minutes. Serve at once.

Home-Made Bouillon—Have your butcher put two and one-half pounds of lean beef through his meat grinder. Cover this chopped meat with two and one-half quarts of cold water and let stand for one hour in a cold place, covered. Then put it into a pot over a moderate fire (with the same water), cover, and let simmer for three hours, removing any scum that may appear. Now add one small onion and one carrot finely chopped, a sprig of parsley, one bay leaf, two whole cloves, three peppercorns and two stalks of celery diced. Let the soup continue to simmer till these vegetables are tender (about one hour), then strain it into a china bowl and let cool. Just before the dinner hour remove the grease which has formed and turn the strained soup into an agateware saucepan; add the white of one egg and begin to reheat it, stirring constantly till it boils. Let boil for only a moment, then strain the mixture again and serve at once. (This recipe makes about one quart of rich bouillon.)

ZOO SURGEONS BUSY
In zoos in the larger cities of the world the zoo surgeons, mainly to keep the animals in repair, are busier than ever, it is reported. Snakes frequently break their jaws and alligators engage in fights and get so badly ripped that they have to be repaired, sometimes with bandages and plaster-of-paris casts. Of all animals the jaguar seems to fight most bitterly against being chloroformed. Manuring the tiger whose claws grow too long and become ingrown like the nails, is a very common surgical operation in big zoos.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

COMMUNITY BUILDING AND BUYING AT HOME ARE SYNONYMOUS

COMMUNITY LOYALTY

EVERY GLENDALIAN TRADING IN GLENDALE IS THE GOAL

Citizens Endorse a Movement to Foster Community Loyalty and Sanction a Practical Business Co-operation Between Buyer and Seller In the Building of a Bigger, Better Glendale Merchandising Center

Good Stores Are Community Assets

As we have said many times on this page, Community Loyalty embraces spending your money at home. Do not look at this matter in a narrow way. Do not feel that you are only helping the merchant individually when you buy of him. The question is so much bigger and involves so much more than that.

While the merchant makes a profit on your purchase, he does not hoard your dollar. He cannot. He has obligations, too. And his profit on the dollar you pay him may not be more than a few cents, so that you are really benefiting the community and thereby, yourself, as much as you are the merchant.

As we said above, the dollar you spend with the merchant is not hoarded. He spends it with his fellow merchant, gives it to an employe for wages, or uses it to improve his store or his home.

Of course, a good trade means that a merchant can build up a good business, provide luxurious equipment for his patrons and his employes, install extraordinary service features, and make a name for himself in a business way. All of these things are personal assets. Likewise they are community assets.

Long before Glendale was the city it is today, and before we had a shopping district such as we have now, people came from our neighboring big city to buy in a certain store here. This store had built a name for itself that was an asset to the store and no less an asset to the city.

If the housewives, the buyers, all realized that Community building and buying at home were one and the same thing, a Greater Glendale would speedily result.

The advertisers on this page are carrying on a campaign of education. Let us help them make trading in Glendale unanimous for Glendalians.

THIS page appears in The Glendale Evening News once a week. On another page is a classified index which explains the location of the cards on this page. The building of a greater community sentiment is the purpose of this page. Co-operation between the merchant and the buyer put into actual practice is a community builder.

COMMENT That's All

Holiday Happiness Mexican Affairs Mr. Ford Is Satisfied Lines Of Good Cheer

By Gil A. Cowan

Christmas holidays are in full swing. The children are home from school, while visiting relatives, dinners, programs, etc., are making it a most joyous season in Glendale.

And how happy the people are as they throng the stores at this festive time of their Christmas shopping selecting gifts for mother, father, sister, brother and the others.

It is the season of giving, and how glad we should be that in Glendale practically 100 per cent of the populace are able to give without feeling the pressure. Ah, would that the prosperity of this favored section be state-wide—yes, even world-wide. Perhaps, then, the spirit of Christmas would be more in evidence the whole year 'round.

Christmas shopping season closes this evening, and the Glendale merchants have never before enjoyed such confidence as expressed by the buyers during the last three weeks.

Indeed, we believe it has been an opportune time for the people of this city to learn just how accommodating the home merchants are, as well as how well stocked the local stores are to meet the needs of the particular public with which they deal.

It is impossible for any other than a close student of Mexican affairs to keep track of the latest developments in the southern republic. The meager and censored dispatches, and, perhaps, the lack of any important battles, make a more or less meaningless melange of news.

First the rebels, then the ruling regime, and then the rebels again, announce "taking" some city, such as Tabasco, with their evening encliladas.

However, there seems to be something of great political consequence behind all of this row—perhaps as important as Hiram Johnson's fight for the Republican presidential nomination in face of the cards stacked by the administration.

Reverting to Mexico, it seems that the Sonora politicians desire to keep the reins of government in their grasp. Not so different from our eastern bosses, who insist on naming presidents, eh?

Henry Ford says he is satisfied with Coolidge. Yes, he said so some days ago. And he is pleased to know that Mr. Ford still remains satisfied. Usually, he tries to make an improvement in everything he advocates.

As a judge of presidents, perhaps, a large number of people will say that Mr. Ford is a good automotive engineer. He is the man who made walking the most dangerous pastime in the world.

But it is good to hear that Mr. Ford will not take any chances on being elected president. As Captain Billy commented in Whizz Bang:

"If Henry is elected president, there will be a Ford in the White House and a Lincoln in the garage."

Not so bad, eh? Here are some more facetious remarks culled from the columns of California editorial pages:

A kiss a day keeps the lawyers away—if it's a home industry.—San Jose News.

Almost any man can be popular by keeping his opinions to himself.—Corning Observer.

Nothing is gained by shouting into the phone, whether the party whose attention is desired be in the next block, or in Siskiyou or San Diego.—Sacramento Bee.

A flapper vaguely understands home as a place where she parks herself between dance engagements.—Red Bluff News.

Instead of writing the Bible down to the people, why not educate the people up to the Bible?—Mail of Woodland.

Imagine the surprise in Cincinnati when an explosion turned out to be a bomb instead of a still.—Santa Rosa Republican.

Better a dark horse before a nomination than a white elephant after.—Galt Herald.

been recently subdivided and sold and resold before the ink on the contracts has had time to dry. The old Olive Grove on Michigan avenue between Tujunga and Sunland has been entirely sold out and many homes have been built and businesses established.

Many residences of the best type are being built, among them that of C. A. Cuppet in the neighborhood of the Oak Glenn tract on the slope of the Verdugo south of town. This home will include two stories, double garages and a large room on the second floor with the walls half windows on all four sides. In this room Mr. Cuppet will have his library, billiard table, radio and phonograph. Other residences of the same standard are being built in all sections of Tujunga. A complete record of all building activities in the community is next to impossible.

MONTROSE C. OF C. TO ERECT CHRISTMAS TREE

Lights Will Burn Until New Years Day to Typify Yuletide Spirit

So many favorable comments were received by the Montrose Chamber of Commerce on the Christmas tree that was placed at Montrose and Honolulu avenues last year that the chamber has decided to make it an annual event. People driving through Montrose were very favorably impressed by the cheer the tree gave and were attracted by the spirit displayed in lighting it. Lights will be kept burning on the tree until New Year's day.

A Christmas party has been planned by the Montrose Methodist church for Christmas eve to be given at the tabernacle at Mira Vista and Montrose avenues. A big tree and special decorations will furnish a background for Santa Claus, who will have gifts for all present. A program of music, readings and special holiday numbers will be given.

Community singing in Montrose has been postponed until after the holidays, according to Mrs. Hopkins, president of the Montrose Community Sing. The date has not yet been set.

Many friends gathered to attend the services given at the funeral of Charles Davis, who passed away at his home in Montrose Saturday, December 15. Services were conducted from the Little Church of the Flowers in Glendale. Mr. Davis was 61 years old and succumbed to cancer of the throat. He had been a resident of Montrose for two years. Sarah A. Davis, the widow, and three children survive.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Meyers are erecting a new home in Montrose on Ramsdell avenue, north of Honolulu avenue. It is of old English style with wide eaves. Outside walls will be finished in stucco and tinted. There will be six rooms and the owner expects it to be ready in six or eight weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rook of Huntington Park were recent guests of Mr. Rook's parents in Montrose, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Rook, 660 Del Mar avenue. The young couple have recently arrived from Colorado.

Miss Mildred Roach of Del Mar avenue is recovering from an illness of several weeks.

Miss Claudia McNeill entertained a number of Los Angeles friends at the home of her parents recently.

S. M. Meyers has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Christmas Show Is Staged By Children

Keep Tab On Santa

At intervals during the program, messages had been coming over a telephone installed for the occasion, announcing that Santa Claus was en route to Glendale by airplane, and had been having numerous delays. It was finally announced that he had landed near Brand's Castle, and, in a few moments, appeared to preside at the brightly-decorated Christmas tree, entertained the children with stories and distributed candy and apples, assisted by Messrs. H. J. Olmsted and E. E. Masters.

When the "White gifts" were collected, each class appeared in turn, bringing generous donations. The "Willing Workers," a class of young boys marched in, wearing bakers' caps, and each carrying over his shoulder a sack of flour. These white gifts will go to the poor of the city.

An offering was taken for the reconstruction fund of the missions in Japan, that reached the sum of $100.

The program was arranged by Mrs. R. D. Jones, Mrs. E. E. Masters, Miss Gladys Sharpe; Walter Winger Sr., impersonating Santa Claus, and O. M. Newby, superintendent of the Sunday school, directed the program of the evening.

The school has an enrollment of over 200 scholars.

"Be good little children, and contented, for you will see that the Christmas stockings are filled, just as though I had dropped in to see each and every one of you. Remember, I was here—and everywhere, for Santa Claus is the Christmas spirit."

JERSEY KLAN ROW

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Dec. 24.—A split in the Ku Klux Klan was foreseen in New Jersey in the action of approximately 60,000 members of the order in Hudson and Bergen counties, virtually withdrawing from membership because of reported resentment over the curtailment of power of former Imperial Wizard Simmons, founder of the order and dissatisfaction over the handling of the Klan's financial affairs.

TUJUNGA

TUJUNGA CLAIMS 5033 RESIDENTS

Statistics Reveal Growth of Foothill Community In Last Five Years

Based on the computation of population estimates on the number of water meters in use and figuring three and one-half persons to each meter, Tujunga has a population of 5033 at the close of the year 1923. This is considered a conservative estimate. Some cities figure four persons to each meter, some five, but three and one-half is believed to be the average ratio.

Statistics of the Haines Canyon Water company furnish a graphic record of the growth of Tujunga during the last four years. The present period of growth began in 1919 and has been uniformly rapid in its increase since that time. Meters in use on the dates given are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Date and Number of Meters. Data points: Jan 1, 1919 (252), Jan 1, 1920 (297), Jan 1, 1921 (572), Jan 1, 1922 (936), Jan 1, 1923 (1176), Nov 1919 (282), Nov 1920 (546), Nov 1921 (913), Nov 1922 (1170), Nov 1923 (1438).

According to these figures Tujunga has grown in the last four years from a population of 937 to over 5000, or in excess of five times the number estimated in 1919.

Homebuilders Active Building activities have increased during the last months of the year to proportions unprecedented in the history of Tujunga's growth. Most of the building being done is the labor of love of the man who wants a home and is working after hours to build it—himself, with his own hands. Men who work during the day at their regular jobs can be found until late at night working on a place to call home for them and their families. With the first rays of dawn the hammer and saw can be heard and it keeps going until way after dark, many working by the light of lanterns hung near on a pole or tree.

These activities and the increasing school enrollment bear irrefutable evidence of an increasing population of a solid sort that makes for permanent homes and sound business. Pupils registered at the Tujunga school now number nearly 400. Three years ago there were about forty. The new $50,000 school plant is not finished, but with the first two units in use and all the old buildings still crowded to capacity, it does not take a prophet to see that additional room will be urgently needed even when all the units of the new building are completed. The trustees are already confronted with the problem of securing funds for more room and additions to the teaching staff. Since the opening of the present term two teachers have been engaged in addition to the original opening day staff.

Business buildings are also being erected in increasing numbers. Among the recent buildings erected are the Breit building on Sunset boulevard near El Centro street, representing an outlay of $25,000. This building houses the Gray & Gray grocery and market, the Tujunga postoffice, and will be the home of the Acacia club of the Masonic lodge. Special club rooms have been arranged and equipped on the second floor, comprising guest room, initiation room, ladies' room, examination hall, store room, lounge room, lodge room and kitchen.

The Tujunga Sanitarium is also a recent addition to the business center of Tujunga. Furniture store, several grocery stores and other businesses have been established in the last few months until it is not necessary to go to neighboring towns to do shopping as it was a year ago.

Local organizations have been working together for the betterment of the community and have gained excellent results. A Tujunga Kiwanis club is being formed. With the new club rooms available the Masons expect to become active in this section.

An addition to the Community church has been found necessary and work has been started on a $25,000 building to merge with the present one. New busses have been ordered for the passenger service of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company for use between Sunland, Tujunga and Los Angeles, representing an expenditure of $100,000 by the new owners who have just recently acquired the property.

A new building has been erected and occupied in Tujunga by the Sunland Telephone company, with a modern switchboard and other up-to-date equipment. Additional long distance lines are being strung and connected. Local service is being improved by reducing the number of parties to each line. The Tujunga Valley Realty board recently adopted a resolution in appreciation of the high class service rendered by the company operators.

R. J. Smith, Tujunga contractor, has contracts for the rebuilding of the McGroarty home, the Mission Play house in San Gabriel, several Tujunga residences and the remodeling of the Strong home in La Crescenta, which was formerly the property of Lieutenant Governor Wallace. This big home is to be completely remodeled from cellar to garret, representing an outlay of $21,000.

Mr. Strong is a member of the firm of Marsh-Strong of Los Angeles.

Jeffries & Jeffries and other Tujunga contractors, including men who specialize in stone work, find the local field a busy one with plenty of profitable work for all.
