PROGRAM OF INTEREST AT MASONIC MEETING

More Than 500 From All Sections of Valley at Large Stag Party

The Glendale Scots last night at the Odd Fellows' hall revived the ancient custom of lighting a fire on a mountain peak to transmit across the valley, to the brethren of the rite, a memorable message. The fire was lit on the top of the local pyramid, No. 39, A. E. O. S., in the form of a mammoth "smoker" and stag party that drew the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of Masons ever held in the San Fernando valley.

The hall, large as it was, could scarcely accommodate the 500 or more who came, many of them from Burbank, Lankershim and other valley points, to enjoy the splendid program of music and vaudeville presided over by Toparch Harry M. Bennett, with Arthur H. Dibbern, past toparch, as master of ceremonies.

Band Big Feature

An outstanding feature was the presence of the Glendale Scots' band, under the direction of William Osterman, who led them in "Morning, Noon and Night," the number that enabled them to bring back first prize at the recent Scots' convention in San Diego.

The principal address of the night was given by A. Y. Tully, deputy pharaoh of the order, whose subject was "Ancient and Modern Masonry." Mr. Tully is a member of the Los Angeles prime commission and connected with a Los Angeles daily newspaper.

Newton Van Wie, master of Glendale Unity lodge, No. 368, talked on the wonderful work being done by the Scots, then told them the Blue lodge was squarely behind them, "first, last and all the time." Herbert Zenker of Los Angeles Pyramid, No. 30, A. E. O. F., known as "Herb" all over Southern California, delivered an enthusiastic address, as did Charles Wolff of Glendale. (Continued on Page 8)

British Lines Facing Tie-Up As Dispute Over Wage Award Grows Keen

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A supreme effort was made today to avert the strike of railroad locomotive engineers called for tomorrow. Railway union leaders conferred with representatives of companies seeking a preliminary basis upon which further discussions could be based.

It is understood the locomotive engineers offered to postpone the strike if the managers (representatives of the railways) would defer operation of the wage award in the national wages tribunal. The union accepted the award as well as the companies but subsequently repudiated it.

Foodstuffs and perishable goods were moved at passenger train speed to their destinations. Plans are being made to use airplanes and motor buses if railway traffic is brought to a standstill.

MOVIE STARS IN BREAK, IS REPORT

Coolness Grows Between Edna Purviance, Mabel Normand, Is Claim

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—The shooting of Courtland S. Dines by Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, has resulted in a growing "coolness" between Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, Dines' "playmates." It was reported here today, following the opening of Greer's preliminary hearing.

Two reasons are mentioned in the reports of the break in the intimate friendship between the two actresses. Miss Purviance was said to have resented Miss Normand's declaration that Dines and Miss Purviance were to be married, a statement Miss Purviance flatly denied.

On the other hand, Miss Normand was said to have resented Miss Purviance's failure to confirm her story of where she was and what she did when her chauffeur shot the wealthy sportsman. Miss Normand was reported feeling "much better" today, following the collapse which prevented her testifying at Greer's hearing yesterday. Testimony will be taken at the bedside of Dines and Miss Normand next Monday if necessary to prevent a continuance of the case, Judge Hanby announced today.

Crew Divided Over Proposed Polar Trip

LAKEHURST, N. J., Jan. 19.—Factional differences which today threatened the success of the United States navy's proposed polar flight next June were reported at the naval air station, home port of the giant dirigible Shenandoah here.

A secret inquiry ordered by Commander Ralph D. Weyerbacher, construction engineer of the ship, was in progress behind closed doors. Reports outside the meeting room were that Lieut. E. H. Kincaid, assistant navigation officer, pilot of the Shenandoah on her wild ride of Wednesday night and Thursday morning would amplify his complaint made yesterday against Captain Anton Heinen, civilian engineer, generally credited with saving the ship.

Officers refused to comment on Lieut. Kincaid's statements, in which he took issue with what he termed "Heinen's effort to run the ship." There was no secret here today that the navy men feel that Heinen, a civilian and a native of Germany, although he has applied for citizenship, has been overcredited in the part he played in saving the ship.

Whether Heinen will reply to Kincaid publicly could not be learned. He was to make a statement to Commander Weyerbacher, however, and this was to be forwarded to Washington. Factional differences between two groups at the air station have been an open secret for months.

Rickenbacker

A • CAR • WORTHY • OF • ITS • NAME

Remember—

Rickenbacker Told You So!

Just so you will fix the fact in your own mind for future reference and guidance;

—so you will, in the future, value Rickenbacker's advice at its true worth, and heed our timely warnings;

—so you will, in short, come to realize that Rickenbacker engineering is as sound as it is progressive;

—and finally, so you will know that in selecting a Rickenbacker you are always getting a car that is at least a year in advance of the rank and file of cars in engineering improvements, in body styles, finish and appointments;

—to the end that your annual depreciation will be the minimum, and resale value of your car the maximum;

We are constrained to remind you that just six months ago, (July 1st, to be exact), Rickenbacker proclaimed to the world that, within a year, 4-Wheel Brakes would be universal.

Several makers openly took issue with us.

Not only was every effort made to discredit our assertion and discount the superiority of 4-Wheel Brakes, but to prove that Rickenbacker was wrong both in pioneering this great improvement, and in taking such a definite stand on the subject.

We were certain, however, that future events would prove the accuracy of our assertion.

We knew we were right—and feared not to go ahead.

Only six months later—January 5th to 12th—the New York Automobile Show was a sensational vindication of the Rickenbacker policy.

In almost every exhibit in that great show was an endorsement of Rickenbacker judgment—frank recognition of Rickenbacker leadership.

The evidence was so conclusive as to leave no room for doubt—4-Wheel Brakes have conquered apathetic prejudice and active opposition.

Not only have they proven necessary, but actually indispensable for safe driving in present-day traffic conditions.

Informed buyers now insist—and will continue more than ever to insist—that all four wheels be equipped with first-class brakes.

Eventually this insistence will be for fully enclosed, internal expanding brakes, too.

33—over 50%—makers exhibited cars in which 4-Wheel Brakes were an outstanding feature.

This was in response to insistent demands of buyers as expressed through salesmen and dealers.

The buyer, having once experienced the greater safety and efficiency of this fundamental improvement, said "I want that!"

And when an American buyer demands, the maker has no option—he must comply.

Today, the buyer is repeating those words so often and so emphatically, every maker must accede—or pay the penalty.

"Has this car 4-Wheel Brakes?"

That was the first question you heard when you stopped at any exhibit in the Auto Show.

And the next question generally was, "Are they internal expanding brakes mechanically operated?"

But, several other innovations and improvements that were emphasized by several makers as new in this show—but which you saw in the first Rickenbacker Six—also indicated the impress of this product on the entire industry.

12 Cars now boast "vibrationless motors." And it is interesting to note the several expedients applied in efforts to emulate the results of Rickenbacker's "Tandem Fly Wheel."

9 Cars emphasized "deeper frames"—though none as yet, approaches the eight (8") inch dimensions of the Rickenbacker "Double Depth" frame.

6 Cars showed springs set nearer the ends of the rear axle—nearer the point of contact between tire and road. This is one of the features of Rickenbacker "Cradle" spring suspension.

There are several other points, however, that are still to be found only in this car.

6 Cars have "Air Cleaners" of one kind or another—in emulation of Rickenbacker's provision for "protecting the lungs of the motor."

Fully 75% of all makers now feature steel disc wheels—first announced as standard on the first Rickenbacker Six.

5 Cars feature ball bearings in steering spindles—all of these are much higher priced cars than Rickenbacker, by the way.

5 Cars show the commutator located above motor, away from dirt, water and oil. This also you first saw in the Rickenbacker Six.

And yet—while "imitation is the sincerest form of flattery," and we heartily acknowledge the implied compliment—

We cannot but derive still more satisfaction from the fact that, while each of several have emulated Rickenbacker in one or two features, none so far, has combined all those superiorities in one product as you find them in the Rickenbacker Six.

Of course, everyone looked to this exhibit to sound the keynote for the new year.

Nor was any disappointed.

Rickenbacker ran true to form by setting a new standard of values with several refinements and the unprecedented equipment at the new price.

When you had visited this exhibit, the term "fully equipped" had acquired a new meaning.

For Rickenbacker showed, for the first time in the world's history, standard models at standard prices, so completely equipped as to leave the new owner "Nothing Else to Buy."

Rickenbacker models this year are equipped with all those safety devices and conveniences which the seasoned motorist considers essential, and for which, heretofore, you have paid extra.

Not only the customary speedometer, ammeter, voltmeter, pilot light, oil gauge and switch-lock on the instrument board;—

But also transmission lock, Folberth wind-shield cleaner, combination vanity and smoking case, motor meter, motor meter wings, motor meter lock, shock absorbers and bumpers, both front and rear.

The open models—Sport Phaeton and Sport Roadster—also have beveled plate-glass wind wings.

All models are equipped with drum tire-covers with lettered warning "4-Wheel Brakes," which is for the benefit of the man behind, and which never fails to give the Rickenbacker man right of way. This is Rickenbacker's interpretation of the term "fully equipped" as exemplified in these latest models.

Here is established not only a new standard of values, but a new code of business ethics.

For the first time, you saw an automobile in which the customer's needs and desires were considered paramount.

This is another Rickenbacker departure from former rules that will revolutionize sales practice.

"Nothing Else to Buy" is today the exclusive slogan of the Rickenbacker salesman—even as "4-Wheel Brakes" was his clarion cry six months ago.

Buyers will no longer accept as "fully equipped" a car that lacks any essential for ideal driving under any conditions of weather or traffic congestion.

Having seen the new Rickenbacker models; having yourself experienced the wonderful performance of the 4-Wheel Brakes, the luxury of a vibrationless motor, and the thrill of handling this car;—

Having seen what constitutes "complete equipment" according to the new Rickenbacker standard;—

And when you consider that all this is included in the new "delivered" price, you will be at a loss to understand how it is possible to produce so much for so little money.

We hope you will see all the others before you see the Rickenbacker—for only by direct comparison can you appreciate the amazing difference in quality, performance and value.

For, none other shows the same startling acceleration coupled with equally surprising deceleration.

None other possesses "vim, vigor and vitality" to compare with this world-famous Rickenbacker Six.

None other can perform so sensationally and yet prove as sturdy and durable in everyday hard service.

In those qualities that lend a thrill as well as luxury to motoring, this Rickenbacker Six is still supreme.

In advanced engineering, Rickenbacker is the outstanding leader. In style, the fashion plate. In Pride of Ownership—unique.

GLENDALE LOSES TO CITRUS TEAM

Visiting Tossers Draw Fine Bead on Basket In Stirring Game

Inability to hit the basket cost Glendale Union high school the first game of the Central league schedule at Citrus Union high last night when they met defeat by the score of 15-11.

Coach Hayhurst's squad had possession of the ball practically the entire time, but not a man on the team was able to shoot accurately. Time after time they missed free shots from under the basket. Their team work was far superior to that of the winners.

Every basket made by Citrus was from the center of the floor. Not once did they get a shot from under the basket. Coach Hayhurst is at a loss to explain the reason why Glendale was so far off on basket shooting, and a warm session is in store the coming week for the Red and Black casaba tossers.

Elliott High Man
"Breezy" Elliott was high man for the locals, shooting the magnificent total of two baskets. Hardy and Hiatt shot one each. Nadrum of Citrus Union, with eight points, was high scorer of the evening.

NEW CANDIDATES FOR REEVES JOB

Washington Engineer Submits Application for Post Of City Manager

Another applicant entered the field this morning for the position of city manager, open through the resignation of W. H. Reeves.

The ninth man to hand his name to the City Council is William B. Short, city engineer and superintendent of water works of Anacortes, Wash.

In a letter to the city manager, asking that he transmit his application to Mayor Spencer Robinson, he states that he heard of the vacancy through Burns & McDonnell, in a casual way. This engineering firm, which is in charge of the construction of Glendale's new $1,600,000 sewer system, built the sewers at Anacortes, and Mr. Short was in close contact with them at that time. Mr. Reeves replied that it was the intention of the City Council, as he understood it, to appoint a Glendale man to the position.

Another Candidate
The application for the post of city manager was received by Mayor Spencer Robinson shortly before noon today from W. V. Wheat, 133 1/2 West Cerritos avenue. He states in his letter that he recently moved to Glendale from Chicago where he managed several large and successful industrial enterprises. He is an old-time acquaintance of George B. Karr, president of the Glendale Rotary club.

He adds that he intends to make Glendale his permanent residence and asks for an appointment with the City Council to enable him to present his credentials.

Gulick Not Candidate

Mr. Gulick also declares that he has not been asked whether he would consider accepting the position by any member of the City Council and has no reason to believe that any member of the council is likely to ask him. He states that he was much surprised to read his name in connection with the position.

Swindler Sends Back $4.50 With Thanks

SELMA (Fresno Co.) Jan. 19.—Elgin Foulke, local druggist, opened a letter which caused him the greatest surprise of his life. The letter follows: "Dear Sir: I swindled you out of $4.50 a year ago. Please find inclosed some money. Thanks. Yours truly, 'THE NERVE.'"

Foulke declares he cannot imagine what method The Nerve used in his swindling game, but the money as well as the spirit in which it was returned are much appreciated.

CORPORATION TAX DUE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—State Controller Ray L. Riley announced today that $18,970,976 is now due and payable as the second installment of the corporation franchise tax and that all firms failing to make return by February 4 will be subject to a 5 per cent penalty.

Good Coal Deposits Found in Mendocino

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Workable coal deposits exist in Mendocino county, which compare favorably with Wallington colliery outputs in heat-producing qualities and lack of ash, according to the report just submitted by State Mineralogist Lloyd L. Root to Governor Richardson.

These deposits are located on the Middle fork of the Eel river, seven miles south of Round valley. According to the mining head, they are being opened up and tests have proven their exceptional value.

These deposits have been known to exist for many years, but lack of transportation facilities prevented their development, said Root. With the completion of the Northwestern Pacific to Eureka this drawback is eliminated and active development is being prosecuted.

DON'T RACE ENGINE

A motorist should avoid racing the engine, as increased gas may cause it to stall.

Half Million Books in Store for Children

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—School text books to the number of 245,000 today were ordered favorably by Wallington colliery outputs in heat-producing qualities and lack of ash, according to the report just submitted by State Mineralogist Lloyd L. Root to Governor Richardson.

According to State Printer Frank Smith the printing of text books represents almost one-third of the annual business. "When these books, together with 150,000 now in course of process at the plant, are completed, the state output of books since January, 1923, will reach a total of 1,325,409," said Smith.

At present there are 538,000 books in the warehouse awaiting distribution, according to the state printer.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—One of the last of England's social bulwark is fast disappearing with the passing of "Jeames," the footman.

In "the good old days" nobody who was anybody felt they had reached the pinnacle of social fame until they had one or two footmen.

Economy and the advent of the new rich are blamed for the disappearance. Many of the new poor are unable to afford men servants on the grounds of economy, and many of the butlers and footmen who have pedigrees as long as those of some of the titled persons they worked for feel that the world is lowering themselves to work for some members of the new rich.

DEMAND FOR AUTO PLATES IS RUSHING

Thousands of Auto Owners Believe in Securing New Ones Early

The supply of 3500 California license plates for 1924 furnished the Glendale branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California by the motor vehicle department at Sacramento is melting away, reports Manager M. B. Towman of the local office, and although March 1 is the legal time limit to obtain the new plates, those who wish to avail themselves of this special service of the club would do well to act at once.

To obtain license plates the applicant must present the 1923 certificate of registration and a fee of $3. This applies to all cars except commercial vehicles and electric. The owners of commercial vehicles are taxed a higher rate and must bring a certified weight certificate with the license application.

Commercial cars are defined under the new act as follows: Any car used primarily for the transportation of passengers for hire or for transportation of property is classified as a commercial vehicle. This applies regardless of the tire equipment of such cars. Therefore, delivery cars, trucks, trailers, rent cars, taxicabs and other vehicles used for the transportation of passengers for hire, or for the transportation of property, regardless of whether they are equipped with solid or pneumatic tires, will have to be weighed.

Motorists are urged to observe the following precautions before applying for licenses: "The 1923 certificate of registration, which serves as the application for 1924 licenses, must be plainly legible.

Many Thousands Fail to Secure Ford Cars

More than 350,000 persons were disappointed in not being able to get Ford cars last year, declare that company's officials in advising the public to buy now. A year ago the shortage was seen and the public warned, but the demand which developed during the spring and early summer months exceeded all expectations. In view of the company's experience last year, the buy-now campaign just starting comes as a warning suggestion to the car buyers, and reflects a condition which presses an even greater car shortage during the coming spring and summer. There has been a heavy demand for Ford cars and trucks this winter, and the company is exerting efforts to reach the 10,000-cars-a-day production goal.

PARIS EXPERIMENT

Because of the congestion of traffic in Paris, experiments are to be made by the use of several hundred single-passenger cycle cars as taxis. The new taxicabs will not carry baggage, but a welcome feature is a reduction in fare of 50 per cent.

Buick Motor Co. to Expend $11,000,000

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 19.—Announcement this week by the Buick Motor Car Company that it will expend $11,000,000 in new buildings, equipment and additions for its main plant at Flint and its subsidiary plant at Detroit in order to bring its production capacity to 1,200 cars a day is considered most significant and places the Buick in the ranks of the optimists who believe that 1924 is to be another great year for the automotive industry.

MUST HAVE AUTHORITY

It is illegal to display a "No Parking" sign in New York city without proper authority. Property owners who paint such signs on their sidewalks without the consent of the traffic division of the police department are violating a city ordinance.

1,300,000 LICENSES

Automobiles in California will carry more than 500 tons of steel in the form of license plates throughout the year of 1924. There will be 1,300,000 plates used to display the registration numerals of cars.

REDUCTION OF ACCIDENTS PLANNED

Nation-Wide Research and Movement to Cut Down Automobile Crashes

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Unlimited effort will be expended by the automobile industry to reduce traffic accidents during the coming year.

The traffic planning and safety committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce announces that as a result of its meeting held in Detroit recently a program has been formulated for 1924 which promises to reduce highway accidents in the next twelve months.

The automobile chamber has been active in the safety movement for a number of years, particularly in calling for punishment of the reckless motorist, and constructively in encouraging safety education in the schools.

Carry On Program The present committee aims to amplify this work and to carry on a comprehensive program which will attack the various causes of accidents.

The first step of the committee is the planning of a nation-wide research to determine what are the major causes. When these are determined, vigorous effort will be made toward the adoption of remedies.

Has Great Interest

The industry has a deep interest in the safe and efficient operation of motor transportation. It believes that through research and public interest, highway casualties can be considerably reduced and the regulation of traffic more effectively managed. This program will not attempt to compete with or supersede constructive safety work now being undertaken by various competent agencies.

The traffic planning and safety committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce consists of George M. Graham, chairman; Alvan Macaulay, Edward S. Jordan, Geo. H. Pride, A. B. C. Hardy, John C. Long, secretary.

SPEEDWAY IS READY FOR OPENING

Dervishes of Dirt Track to Meet in First Clashes Sunday Afternoon

The whirling dervishes of the dirt tracks are in active eruption at the new Ascot speedway, which opens next Sunday afternoon.

Paul Derkum, former motorcycle champion, who has produced what the racing experts declare is the most spectacular automobile race course in the entire world, threw wide the track barrier yesterday afternoon and permitted the daredevils to send their steel steeds around the steeply-banked turns and short stretches. About one-half of the fifty drivers entered for Sunday's program took advantage of the practice period, the others electing to wait until the rough spots developing from the running of the cars around for the first time, were removed by Derkum's experts.

Watch Mad Rushes

Fred Horey again captured the honors and favor of the railbirds by the reckless abandon he injected into his driving. Eddie Myers, A. A. A. dirt track record holder, and Ralph DePalma remained in the grandstand, evidently to get a line on just how good Horey is. The pair of speed kings grew very chummy for a couple of rivals and were probably figuring out some way of slowing up Horey's mad speed rushes. "He's certainly a wild bird," commented Myers, who had never witnessed the St. Paul demon in action.

Bentel Is Happy

Harry Hooker, Fuzzy Davidson and Jack Smith, Louis and Arthur Chevrolet's fast pair from Indianapolis; Babe Stapp, Al Melcher, Fred Lyons, Karol Harris, Charlie Lickliter, Detroit champion; Jimmy Craft of Chicago, and Jules Ellingboe, were among the drivers who took a lot of dust from Horey. All declared they were merely warming up their motors, and were not trying to do any of Peck's Bad Boy stunts. "I am elated over the condition of the track and its possibilities for speed and the setting for spectacular contests," said President Bentel last night. "The plant and the brand of racing the public will witness will create a new era in the motor racing sport. The speedway of the future will be a close copy of the new Ascot."

Issue 23,606 Plates First License Day

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Automobile license plates to the number of 23,606 were issued January 14, the opening day for 1924 registration from the Sacramento head office of the State Motor Vehicle Division, and the branch offices in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Fresno and San Diego.

Receipts for the day reached $87,716.50, including chauffeurs' licenses. These figures, however, do not include registrations made by branch offices of the California automobile clubs.

Pleasure car plates numbered approximately 21,000. Remaining registrations were for commercial vehicles, motorcycles and trailers.

Though handicapped by the fact that all mail applications are handled here, the Sacramento office led with 9543 registrations. Los Angeles was second with 6211 licenses issued; San Francisco followed with 2606; Oakland was next with 2021 plates given out; San Diego with 1625 and Fresno with 1535 complete the total. Fred E. Schmidt of Perkins, Sacramento county, secured the first plate.

Owners of Rent Cars Must Pay Extra Fee

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Owners of cars for rent must pay the weight fees based on commercial schedules in addition to the regular registration fee of $3 before 1924 licenses for such cars can be issued. Will H. Harsh, Chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles announced today. Rent cars are described by Harsh as being those kept in garages throughout the state to be rented out driverless to persons desirous of using a car for short trips. Several hundred cars, most of which are in the larger cities, are affected by this ruling. Owners of such cars will be required to furnish a weight certificate with application for registration showing the unladen weight and the kind of tires, said Harsh.

Big Total of Copper Is Needed for Cars

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—In its annual survey of the automotive industries, made public today, the Copper and Brass Research Association places the total 1923 consumption of copper in cars, trucks and accessories at 170,000,000 pounds. This is an increase of 61,720,000 pounds as compared with 1922 and of 90,000,000 over 1921. The copper content of the American car or truck varies all the way from eighteen to 750 pounds. This total consumption indicated includes not only the amount of metal carried by the finished stock car, but also the copper used in repair parts, replacements, special body work, accessories and in the increasing number of closed-body models.

NASH MAKES JOURNEY IN COMFORT

Highways in Great Shape All Way, Is Report of Manager Matthews

By C. A. GRIFFIN Of The Evening News Staff. For an easy one-day auto trip, combining the elements of excellent roads and inspiring scenery, J. B. Matthews, sales manager of the Nash Sales Company, Inc., recommends the eighty-mile trip from Glendale to Elizabeth Lake, in the Santa Monica national forest. Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Matthews made the trip in a Nash Six last Sunday.

Leaving Glendale at noon, the couple took their time wherever the scenery was interesting, ate a leisurely lunch, visited the lake, and got back to Glendale at 7 o'clock.

Excellent Roads

The best feature of the trip, Mr. Matthews said, was the fine condition of the roadway all the way. The first fifty miles is pavement, and the last seventeen, from Palmdale, is a natural gravel road with smooth surface that offers no danger to tires, he said.

Another fact that adds greatly to the attractiveness of the Elizabeth Lake excursion is the choice of roads offered the motorist through the scenic section of this trip. After leaving the main San Francisco highway, one may drive on to the lake over the Mint Canyon road, returning by way of Bouquet canyon, as Mr. Matthews did, thus making a circle, all did. Auto Camp Help to Tourists Going South

PHOENIX, Jan. 19.—The new auto camp near the fair grounds is declared a great success. Despite much bad travel weather, the camp has been host to about 750 auto parties since its opening on November 11, last. Nine-tenths of the guests have been on their way to California. The public camp ground at Tucson is considered a distinct asset to the city. Maintained for eleven months at a cost of less than $1,000, the camp in that time has cared for over 3,000 cars, about one out of every four checked at the quarantine station in the city's outskirts.

Cotton Output Goes Into Motorcar Tires

PHOENIX, Jan. 19.—The greater part of the output of 40,000 acres of Pima long-staple cotton picked this year in Arizona will go into the manufacture of automobile cord tires, for which the stout staple is especially well suited. The product of 7,000 acres of Pima staple has gone direct to the Goodyear factory in Los Angeles, this from farms maintained by the Southwest Cotton Company at Marinette, Litchfield and Goodyear, all in the Salt River valley. The company, a Goodyear subsidiary, owns its own gins.

Glendale Dealer Has Figures Telling Increase in Registration

"The heaviest gain in sales among low priced cars during November, in California, was made by the Star car, according to figures made public in the December issue of Motor Registration News," said W. W. Prindle, sales manager of Dilley & Armstrong, 115 West Harvard street, local star dealers.

"Star car sales were 93 per cent better than they were in November, 1922, this statistical magazine reveals. The extent of this increase is more forcibly realized when it is known that the registrations of all cars and trucks was only 23 per cent improved over the same month of last year.

"In two of the large counties in the state material advances were shown by the 1924 Star car. "Los Angeles county gained 100 per cent over its volume during the comparative period of 1922, and Alameda county bettered its mark by 200 per cent. San Diego county, with a smaller sales volume, is credited by Motor News data with a 1000 per cent improvement."

BUICK'S DISPLAY

Chassis Cut to Exhibit All Operations of Engine and Moving Parts

The exhibition of the Buick chassis that was featured at the New York automobile show this month is said to have been the most complete display of this nature that has ever been staged anywhere, and the same chassis will also form an important part of the Buick booth at the Chicago show on January 26.

The chassis is so cleverly cut and illuminated that the operation of all moving parts can easily be seen by visitors to the shows, and the operation of the lubricated engine and the four wheel brake system has attracted particular attention not only from visitors but also from automotive experts from practically every factory in the country, according to word reaching the local distributors, Tanner & Hall, 237 South Brand boulevard.

For the sixth consecutive year, W. A. Tanner points out, Buick has been given first choice of space both at the New York and Chicago shows, owing to its supremacy in the volume of business done during the past year, and the entire Buick organization, nationwide in extent, is celebrating the close of twenty years of leadership in the building and marketing of motor cars, with prospects for 1924, he claims, brighter than ever.

through interesting and highly scenic territory.

Glendale motorists are nearly all familiar with the route from here to Saugus, by way of the San Fernando road through Burbank, San Fernando and Newhall.

Wild Palm Trees

Leaving the main highway just the other side of Saugus, one follows the paved Mojave road to Palmdale, following Mint Canyon nearly all the way. Palmdale is famous for its fine fruits, and is a great producing center for oranges, Bartlett pears, and other fruits.

It also bears the distinction of being the only place in the United States where wild palm trees flourish. These wild palms, scarcely grown much less lovely than their refined cousins, may be seen scattered all over the countryside around Palmdale.

Turning west after passing through Palmdale, one drives through the beautiful Leona Valley seventeen miles to the lake, which is a clear and sparkling body of water about two miles long and a half a mile wide, situated in a great natural cup among the hills.

There is a fine camping ground at the lake, boats may be rented, and excellent accommodations are offered at the Elizabeth Lake Tavern, of which Dan Cole, is proprietor. The bird hunting is good around the lake and earlier in the season it harbored many ducks. The lake itself is said also to be well stocked with game fish.

Route For Return

Mr. Matthews recommends the Bouquet Canyon road on the return. Bouquet canyon is a deep cut through the hills. The road winds through its bottom, surrounded by a dense growth of trees, and following beside a small stream. There are numerous camping places in the canyon, service offered by several stores that cater to campers and tourists, and a large number of rustic cabins have been built in the canyon for summer homes.

There is about ten miles of canyon road and the grades in some places is as high as 12 per cent. Make the upward trip by way of Mint canyon, through which a car can run on high all the way, and coming back through Bouquet canyon, the grades do not prove a hindrance. The Bouquet canyon road is about twenty miles shorter than the circle up Mint canyon, and leads directly to Saugus.

All told, it makes a fine day's trip as a nature lover who also has consideration for his car could want. Mr. Matthews declared, and nobody can take it without feeling that it was well worth the time.

New Firm's Establishment to Occupy Choice Site on S. Brand Boulevard

An artistic super-service station will be opened at 240 South Brand boulevard next Friday, January 25, according to the plans of Eaton & Van Winkle, the owners. The establishment occupies a lot 100x135, the buildings being of hollow tile material, entirely fire-proof. With equipment, the station will represent an investment of $12,000.

The firm consists of J. O. Eaton, who is known to many Glendale motorists, and recently sold a service station which he had been operating at 936 North Central avenue, and A. R. Van Winkle, who has been in a garage at Santa Barbara for some time. All automobile maintenance departments will be conducted, including gas, accessories, lubrication, batteries, tires, washing and polishing.

The partners said that they are preparing a surprise for customers on the opening day, next Friday, and advised motorists to watch for the particulars in display ads to appear in The Glendale Evening News.

ber or the engine number is not readily readable, it will be necessary to make application for a new certificate, and if this is done now it will save considerable time and inconvenience at the renewal period.

"If the address as now shown on the certificate is incorrect, it should be crossed out and the new address written in ink.

"If the certificate of registration shows some other party as legal owner and if the legal owner's claim has been satisfied, his signature must be secured on the second line on the back of the certificate.

"In case the registered owner is now deceased and the automobile has been left to beneficiaries, a transfer should now be made into beneficiary's name.

"If your 1923 certificate has been lost, stolen or destroyed, you should make application immediately for a new one. The charge for securing such duplicate certificate is 50 cents."

Although all registration fees are due and payable January 31, a period of thirty days after that date will be allowed motor vehicle owners before such fees become delinquent. After the fee has become delinquent the owner is liable to a penalty of 100 per cent.

Because of the tremendous amount of business expected, persons filing applications over the counter at the various branches will receive only their plates and a receipt. The certificate of registration will be mailed within thirty days after the application is filed.

If the applicant is the legal owner, a certificate of ownership will be mailed with his registration certificate; if not, the certificate will be mailed to the legal owner to be held by him until such time as the car is paid for or the title transferred.

Dealers handling trailers must have a special license. The fee without reduction per quarter for the three separate licenses for dealers will be as follows:

Automobile dealer, $5 for the first set of plates, $3 each additional.

Motorcycle, $5 first plate, $1 each additional.

Trailer, $5 for first plate, $1 each additional.

If a dealer neglects to renew license before March 2 he will pay a double registration fee.

A surety bond equal to the market value of the car will be required by the Division of Motor Vehicles on non-resident automobiles before such cars can be registered and 1924 license plates issued.

This was announced by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division, who stated he had made this requirement as a means of protecting the California public from fraud through the purchase of cars not owned by the seller. Such bonds must be signed by at least two men of known responsibility or be executed by a bonding or surety company, Marsh said.

Teeth of the hippopotamus are harder than ivory and less likely to turn yellow.

The Single Six Coupe

As everyone knows, allowance for depreciation in the case of Packard can fairly be placed very low and re-sale value exceptionally high.

It is apparent, therefore, that the prevailing conviction of Single-Six economy is inspired by the soundest and most logical reasoning.

As a matter of fact, it is safe to say there is no car on the market today that can deliver such a high quality of motoring at such a low cost per mile.

This statement is so important that any man contemplating the purchase of a car owes it to himself to give the Single-Six the most careful consideration. And this remains true, even though the price he has considered as his limit is many hundreds of dollars below that of the Packard.

The demand for Ford Cars and Trucks this Spring, will according to all indications, be far greater than last Spring.

Winter buying has been increasing at a greater rate than ever before.

Actual retail deliveries the past 60 days totaled 308,170 Ford Cars and Trucks, an increase of 1,961 a day over a year ago.

Over 200,000 people have already ordered Ford products on our purchase plan, the majority of whom will take delivery in the Spring.

The above facts are given with the suggestion that you list your order promptly with a Ford dealer if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer and wish to avoid delay in delivery.

You need not pay cash for your car. You can arrange to make a small deposit down, taking care of the balance in easy payments. Or, you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan. This puts you on the preferred order list and insures delivery of your car at a time to be determined by yourself.

HEMPHILL BROTHERS PURCHASE 4 JEWETT CARS

Trade School Operators Declare Them Handiest and Best Built

Picture shows Hemphill Trade Schools building, 3197 Glendale boulevard, with students grouped in front, also the four Jewett cars purchased from Ralph B. Bliss, Glendale agent for the Jewett and Paige, 217 West Colorado.

That the Hemphill brothers, who recently established a trade school in Glendale for the teaching, among other things, of motor mechanics, and who have successfully operated similar schools in various parts of the country for the last seventeen years, with a chain of such institutions in operation now, should have selected the Jewett car as their preference for business use, is a fact from which Ralph B. Bliss, Glendale agent for the Jewett and Paige, 217 West Colorado street, derives more than a little satisfaction.

Four of the famous trade school operators purchased Jewetts during the past week from Mr. Bliss. Ralph Hemphill, who is establishing the Glendale school, is driving a five-passenger brougham, and declares that the life study he has made of cars convinces him that it is the handiest and best built car for his use.

Another brougham and two special sedans, all Jewetts, were purchased by three of Mr. Hemphill's brothers, and a letter received by him from a brother at Winnipeg, Canada, stated that he had also bought a Jewett.

1920 CHEVROLET PROVES STAMINA

Twelve Hundred Mile Trip to Clear Lake Occupies Forty-Three Hours

G. H. Miller of the Westinghouse Battery Station, 306 South Glendale avenue, is boasting about the prowess of his 1920 model Chevrolet touring car, which has just carried him to Clear Lake and back, a distance of 1,200 miles, which was covered in forty-three hours. Mr. Miller and Delbert Hodges left Glendale last Saturday at 4 p. m., going by way of San Joaquin valley, crossing at Martinez, and coming home by way of Williams and Sacramento, reaching home again on Monday at 11 a. m.

They were driving all of the time with the exception of about four hours, and the car behaved in splendid fashion, their only trouble being a brief halt to change a spark plug. The car delivered over twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline and used less than a quart of oil in the trip. The roads were good, except those between Lower Lake and Williams, where they took four hours to cover one stretch of eighteen miles of icy road.

RADIATION CARE

Because a radiator is rather delicate in its construction, it is not advisable to place anything into water of the cooling system to stop leaks. Such foreign matter is very apt to lodge at undesirable points and cause further trouble. Small leaks should be soldered to make a repair permanent. If sections of the radiator become clogged with foreign matter overheating will result.

FIRST AUTO RACE

The first automobile race on record was held in France in 1894. The course was laid out between Paris and Rouen, a distance of seventy-five miles, and the winning car attained a speed of almost fifteen miles an hour.

EXPLAINS CAUSE FOR POPULARITY

Sleeve Valve Engine Imparts Comfort and Long Life to Willys-Knight

Much of the success that has fallen to the lot of the Willys-Overland Corporation is attributed directly to the Willys-Knight sleeve valve engine that is of the same type as the engines in the leading makes of foreign cars that have borne an international reputation for excellence for a period of many years, according to Geo. T. Smith of Smith-Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand boulevard, local distributors.

Power and performance as smooth as silk, he claims, are an integral part of the sleeve valve engine, which is even quieter and more efficient after fifteen thousand miles than when new. Carbon, he points out, only serves to increase the power of the motor, there are no valves to grind, and the Willys-Knight engine has ever been known to wear out, no matter what driving conditions it has been called on to face.

"Another factor in the popularity of the Willys-Knight line is its ease of handling. The steering gear, with its eight genuine Timken bearings, permits the driver to steer his car over long stretches of road without any sense of fatigue," Mr. Smith declares.

PACKARD GROWTH MARVELOUS TALE

Daniel Compares New Model With First Cars Built 25 Years Ago

Recalling the early efforts in motor car construction, when the public shied at the well-named "contraptions," W. H. Daniel, local Packard dealer, 510 East Broadway, compares the Packard car of today with the first attempts of J. W. Packard. That was in 1893, Mr. Daniel says, but it was not until six years later that the first Packard was completed.

"The transformation in the intervening twenty-five years," Mr. Daniel says, "is nothing short of marvelous, for in those days metals were full of trickery, gear shifts wonderfully fashioned, tires little more than bicycle treads, and days in which every propellant of a self-propelled vehicle was classed either as a fool or a fanatic.

Veteran Studebaker Attracts Wide Attention During New York Show

The Grandfather Studebaker, with a record of close to half a million miles to its credit, that started east for the New York automobile show in the last days of 1923, has been the cynosure of all eyes at the big eastern display, says a letter reaching the Packer Auto Company, 245 South Brand boulevard, local dealers, from the headquarters of the Studebaker organization.

The triumphs of the veteran will be repeated at the Chicago show on January 26, when it will be placed on display with the new Studebaker models that are also arousing intense interest among motoring enthusiasts, and from Chicago it will go to South Bend, Ind., where it will take its place in the Studebaker Hall of Fame along with the carriages in which the nation's most heroic figures were wont to ride in the heyday of their greatness.

Advices received from the New York show indicate that the Studebaker factories, even though they have been enlarged recently,

CHRYSLER SHOWS NEW CONCEPTION

Features Embodied in Latest Automotive Product Cause Sensation

Walter P. Chrysler's new automobile, representing what he believes the public has long desired in a medium-priced motor car, was shown at the New York show this month, and advices from that city say that in it is embodied an entirely new conception of an automobile.

Mr. Chrysler is generally accepted in the industry as one of its two greatest figures, and his success in the reorganized Maxwell-Chalmers organization is one of the outstanding accomplishments in its history.

The Chrysler line embodies six styles, of a distinctive appearance hitherto associated only with the finer European cars, and it includes a score or more of fundamental and revolutionary changes in automobile design.

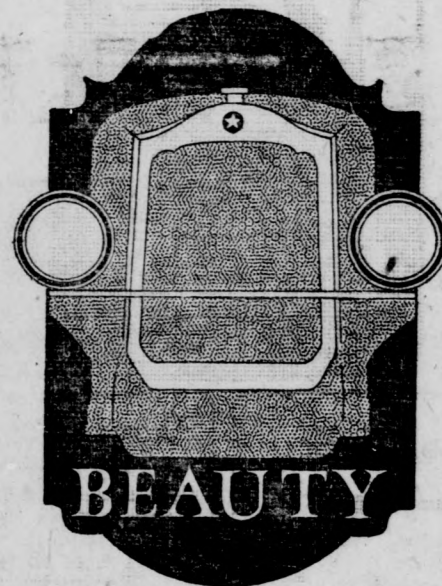

The Chrysler Six is the outgrowth of more than three years of study on the part of Mr. Chrysler and his engineers, working toward the ideal of a real quality light car, and a car that would bring about changes in traffic congestion that is of such concern to motorists.

Fundamental Needs
With this end in view he and his associates set out to produce a car that called for the following fundamentals: speed of over 70 miles an hour, to insure rapid pickup in traffic and ample pulling power; small, high speed, perfectly balanced engine, for steady pull at low speeds and for gasoline and oil economy; simplicity and accessibility to make the care of the engine easy; room for five full grown persons; road steadiness and the comfort of heavy cars, with light weight; short wheel base to permit easy parking; driving convenience; materials and manufacture as fine and as high in quality as the expensive cars; full equipment built into the car, not hung on as an afterthought; distinctive beauty.

"I will give to the world the greatest light car value ever produced" —W. C. Durant.

THE BIRTH of the original Star Car dates back to the Summer of 1922—just a year ago.

Much interest was displayed by the public in the new light car, and on the part of the motor-wise there was an immediate recognition of the wonderful qualities contained in the chassis.

From this class were recruited 125,000 owners within the year just passed. They are men and women who know about cars, who respect their own judgment and who act on it.

They realized that despite an absence of the outer emblems of quality, usually associated with cars of the highest grade, the Star Car could compete with the best of them for intrinsic merit. They bought and they have not regretted. In that year the average cost for replacements has been only 25¢ per car—a phenomenally low rate, and one which bespeaks the correctness of design of the Star Car.

FORD CO. STARTS 'BUY NOW' DRIVE

Reports from Entire Country Indicate Big Demand for Cars in 1924

Important among other indications that the New Year will see a vastly increased demand for automobiles is the "Buy Now" campaign which has just been launched by the Ford Motor company. Particular significance may be attached to this, coming as it does at the very start of the year, for no company in the industry is better situated to sense future conditions in the motor car field nor keep more closely in touch with the temper of the motor buying public.

Through its great dealer organization, approximating 10,000, the company is able to obtain very accurate reports covering all parts of the country. That the outlook indicates a greater demand than ever during the coming year seems apparent in the action of inaugurating a "Buy Now" campaign at this time.

A year ago a shortage was seen and the public advised, but the demand which developed during the spring and early summer months exceeded all expectations with the result that production failed to meet it and more than 350,000 persons were disappointed in not being able to get Ford cars. Practically all through the year it was necessary to maintain a constantly-increasing production schedule in order to keep up more closely with the demand. Even with that deliveries were extremely slow.

Building Trades School Draws Pupils Anxious to Graduate to High Wages

The Hemphill Bros.' building trade school, started January 2 and now boasting an enrollment of sixty-five pupils, bids fair to become one of the biggest institutions of its kind in this part of the country. Although the school gets its mail with a Los Angeles address, its location is so close to the Glendale line, and its founders are so thoroughly "sold" on the idea that Glendale is the best place in the world, that it can really be considered a Glendale establishment.

R. E. Hemphill and his seven sons compose the company. Hemphill Bros. are now operating trade schools in eight of the largest cities of Canada, and also at Fargo, N. D.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore., and San Francisco, Calif., besides the new Los Angeles school that has just been founded so close to Glendale.

The location at 3197 Glendale boulevard was chosen by these experienced trade school operators after they had studied the situation thoroughly and decided that Glendale was most centrally located to serve students from all the cities and towns that make up the Los Angeles district. The location is a rented building, a one-story structure with a 100-foot frontage, but this is only a temporary site, according to Ralph Hemphill, the brother who established this school, and who lives, by the way, in Glendale, at 522 South Brand boulevard. The company plans eventually to build a structure in about the same neighborhood, erecting a building exactly suited to the school's needs, as has been done in many of the other cities where Hemphill schools were established.

How Schools Started
The Hemphill idea originated about forty years ago, when R. E. Hemphill, then a boy, was indentured to the brick-laying business in Pennsylvania. He was forced to serve a six-year term as apprentice, during the first two years of which he was given no opportunity to learn bricklaying, but was kept busy driving a brick wagon. Resentment occasioned by what he considered this oppressive method of teaching a trade caused Mr. Hemphill to open a trade school soon after he completed his apprenticeship. And later, when the seven energetic boys grew up, a chain of trade schools was the natural result.

Besides Ralph and his brother, Oliver Hemphill, who are establishing the school here, the elder Mr. Hemphill and the mother of the seven boys are both in Glendale. The purpose of the school here is to train men in the building trades. The shortage of men that exists in these vocations is particularly acute in southern California, Ralph Hemphill said, and at the same time the clerical professions are both overcrowded and underpaid. The high wages paid builders constitute a lure that it is hard for others to resist, if they are given an opportunity to learn the building trades.

The course of training given Hemphill students is absolutely practical and to the point. They are taught to do by being permitted to do. The bricklaying class in the school here actually lays brick. The members of the class also mix mortar, and learn to handle both mortar and brick. The plastering class actually plasters, and keeps on plastering walls over and over again until each student knows how to do it, and do it right. Not only the ordinary plastering, but ornamental and decorative plastering is taught, and students who apply themselves to it learn all these branches with surprising rapidity.

Training Is Thorough
No stated time is set as the length of the course. Each student pays a fee of $100, which entitles him to stay in the school and benefit from its training as long as he thinks anything remains to be learned. The course is ended when the student becomes a successful skilled worker by obtaining and keeping a job. This requires only two or three weeks in many cases. Mr. Hemphill said that one of the bricklayers now working in Glendale, and having no trouble giving satisfaction, drawing $10 per day salary, was a student in one of the northern Hemphill schools two and a half months ago.

Training not only for the hands, but also instruction in the mathematical and scientific problems of each trade, is given in the form of lectures. For an hour or more each day the students sit in a lecture room and receive this training.

M. V. Tobin
Opens Bumper Store
The Standard Spring Bumper agency established a short time ago by M. V. Tobin at 120 South Maryland has provided a service which the motorists of Glendale are learning to appreciate.
Standard Spring bumpers are custom made. They are properly designed and especially fitted to each make of automobile. The attaching arms are integral parts of the bumper and have absolute springing action under collision impact.
They are of solid construction with no adjustable features to become loose and give way under force of collision. Standard Spring bumpers are built of high grade spring steel. The continuous "full looped" design with the "hoop-like" truss makes of each bumper a great steel cushion with protecting steel proportioned to car weight.
The price of the bumpers is dependent upon the size, which varies for different cars. The black enameled pattern sells at $11.50 for small cars and $22 for large cars.
Mr. Tobin has bumpers in stock for all makes, and has the fittings already machined to attach them

Glendale Boys Open
New Service Station
The ideal adopted by Dannel & Howe for the conduct of their new service station at 219 South Central, corner of Oak, is embodied in the words, "Service and Courtesy." The two young men composing the firm, L. J. Dannel and W. F. Howe, both of whom have lived in Glendale for several years, have made up their minds that they will acquire a reputation among Glendale motorists for the quality and attractiveness of their service.
The station was opened December 29. The owners had advertised that they would give a one-pound box of candy as an opening-day present to each customer who visited their place on that day. It took 1400 boxes of candy to do the trick. And business ever since the opening has also been splendid, according to the two partners.
With the completion of the new tire room that is now being built on the rear of the service lot, the company will have a complete auto service station, including gasoline, oil, accessories, tire sales and repairs. The station is handling Premier gasoline.

OLDS FIGURES IN ALL AUTO SHOWS

Has Been Regular Exhibitor at Leading Displays for 24 Years

For the last twenty-four years the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan has been a steady exhibitor at the automobile show. In fact, Oldsmobile started exhibiting with the first New York show in 1900 and has been occupying a prominent place every year since this first show, says C. H. Hunter, local dealer, 208 West Broadway.

In January of 1900 the first automobile show was held in New York at Madison Square Garden, and Oldsmobile was among the few exhibitors. This show was conducted by the Automobile Club of America and the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers. The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, was also organized during the same year but did not take over the management of the shows until several years later. In fact, this organization later absorbed the Manufacturers' Association and the Automobile Board of Trade.

And, while Oldsmobile was one of the pioneer exhibitors at the shows, the organization itself is older than either of the two national exhibitions, which have become an annual event in New York and Chicago. The history of Oldsmobile dates back to 1895 and production of the first car was actually started in 1897.

Following the organization of the New York shows the rest of the country quickly followed and by 1904 thirty-four cities were holding annual shows. Oldsmobile figured in all of them.

In 1897, Oldsmobile turned out its first car. This ancient and valuable relic is now a permanent part of the historical exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C.

Working Girl Must Have Her Silk Hose

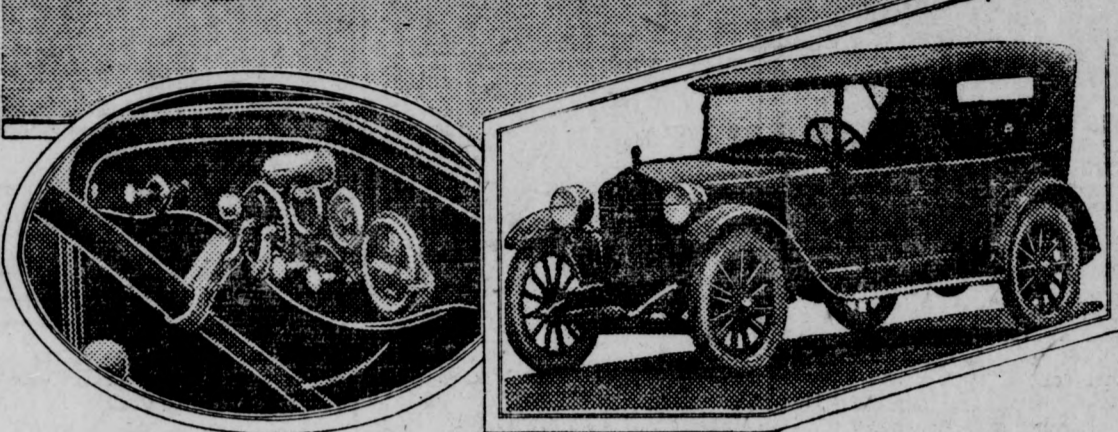

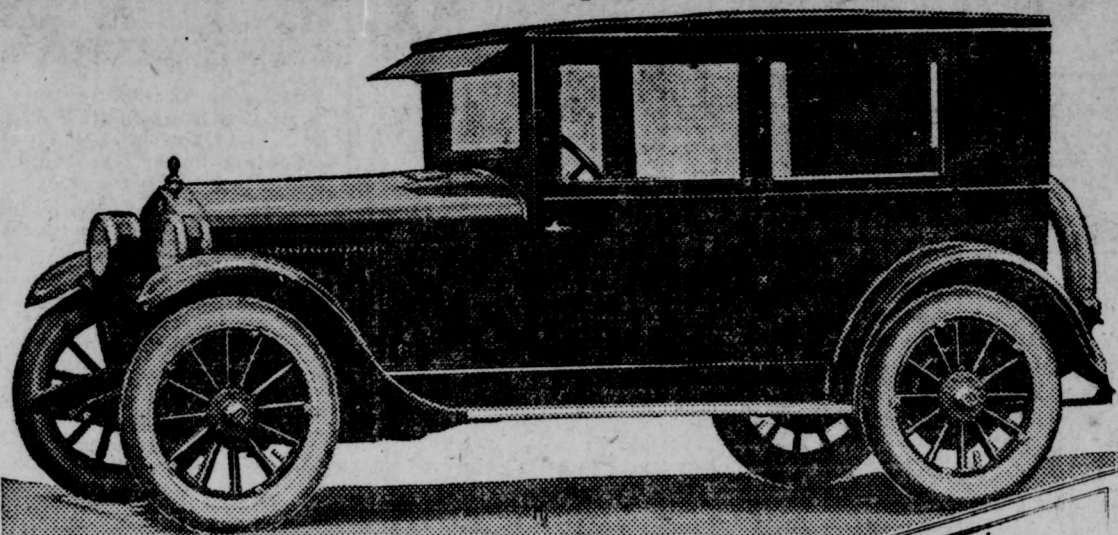

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—The silk stocking is one of life's necessities—just the same as food, lipsticks and powder.

So says Miss Violet Groening, of Carnegie Institute of Technology here. Miss Groening makes her claim in a budget designed for the $20-a-week working girl.

A $30 winter coat, a $20 sport dress, two $20 silk dresses and one $20 woolen dress, with a $5 separate skirt, a $3 sweater, three cash blouses and one silk blouse, with three hats for a total of $225, are all the outer garments Miss Groening says any business girl needs.

NEW ESSEX SIX TAKES AUTO WORLD BY STORM

Factory Concentrates Present Output On Coach And Touring Cars

Pictures of the new Essex Six which has taken Southern California by storm, reports the Kelley Motor company, 230 North Brand boulevard, the local dealer. The demand for the new cars is declared to be heavy.

Creating the biggest sensation that has ever hit automobile row, the new Essex Six took Southern California by storm. Kelley Motor company, 230 North Brand boulevard, local Essex dealer, hastened to Los Angeles to sign the 1924 contract and order more Essex cars than have ever been sold in Glendale before. With the reputation of both the Hudson and Essex cars of previous years behind it, this new creation bids fair to outsell both lines of the past.

There are only two styles at present, the Coach and the Touring car. The Coach seats four people very comfortably and five medium sized passengers may ride without crowding. It is reported that the factory is arranging for a production of three coaches to one touring car, and the difference in price is now so slight that within another year, it may be possible that the touring type will actually cost more than the closed car.

It is the same old story of supply and demand. The people who used to say that they would ride behind a windshield because they liked to feel the wind in their faces, find a counterpart in the people who now say that they don't like to be shut inside of a closed car. The former type disappeared long ago, and the latter is rapidly becoming extinct.

The old system of buying a large, cumbersome gasoline wagon that used up a gallon of gasoline every five miles, gave place to the modern, smooth running, economical car, selling at a much lower price, and costing only a fraction of the former amount for upkeep. Still greater economies are going to be demanded by the public, according to the forecast of the Hudson Motor Car company, which has had an "ear to the ground" for many years.

With this in mind, they have redesigned the Essex to meet the most exacting requirements. Better than 25 miles to the gallon of gasoline has been obtained by the new design. But no data is available as to the mileage of oil and tires. It is expected that both of these items hold a surprise in store for purchasers who are not familiar with Essex economy.

Blame Eastern Raids For Flood of Crooks

DENVER, Jan. 19.—Raids in eastern cities by police authorities and the subsequent exodus of criminals from these places to escape apprehension, is the cause expressed here for the wave of crime which has for the past several days spread a mantle of terror throughout this city and neighboring districts. Hundreds of vagrants have been picked up by police in pool halls and on the streets in an effort to solve the daring and sensational robberies of the past few days, but evidently without avail.

BURBANK

C. C. INDUSTRIAL CHIEF SELECTED

Tom Walker Takes Up Work With Advisory Committee Of Manufacturers

An industrial division of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce has been organized, with Tom Walker at its head, to encourage and assist new industries to locate in the city and safeguard the interests of those already here.

Hereafter all prospective industries will be investigated by a committee Mr. Walker has appointed, comprising J. D. Pardieck, J. B. Moreland, R. G. Van den Boom and A. J. Johnson. Industries of merit will be encouraged to locate in Burbank, states Mr. Walker, while those whose idea is to bilk the public will be sent about their business—elsewhere than in this city.

The industrial division of the Chamber of Commerce will at once seek reductions of light, power, gas and insurance rates, realizing that these are important and sometimes persuasive factors in the location of new industries.

Realizing that transportation is another vital factor in the industrial growth of the city, the division has decided to seek the services of a resident of Burbank who has had thirty years' experience in traffic management and would be a great asset to the plan, if his services can be obtained.

The Eight Hemphills

Father and Seven Sons—the Men at the Head of the Hemphill Trade Schools of the United States and Canada, Operating the Largest Chain of Practical Trade Schools in the World.

This great National system of practical Trades Schools is owned and operated principally by the Hemphill family. Many old-timers in the building trades will remember the father of this large family of boys when he was president of the bricklayers' union of Winnipeg. Since that time—and that was 18 years ago—they have built up the largest system of Trade Schools the world has ever known. Incidentally the Building Trades is the latest addition to their chain of practical schools which for many years have been teaching hundreds of other trades.

If You Are Ambitious and Are Dissatisfied

With your present position in life, it is time you made a change. Remember, men are not born tradesmen and mechanics; they have to learn. And you can learn a trade better today in a few weeks' time under the modern Trade School system than it required your forefathers years to acquire under the old apprenticeship plan. Get into the Building Trades' and draw big pay this Spring, Summer and Fall.

TODAY—Court Records for Chicago.

By KENNETH HARRIS

For International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A remarkable record was made by the Federal Courts of Chicago in disposition of cases and in administration of justice during 1923.

According to a report prepared by Edwin A. Olsen, United States district attorney, and forwarded to Attorney General Daugherty.

Credit for the accomplishments is given the two new Federal judges, James H. Wilkerson and Adam C. Cliffe, whose efforts, together with the perseverance of District Attorney Olsen and the latter's organization, had much to do with clearing the congested dockets.

All previous records of Federal prosecutions here were shattered, and this judiciary body's achievements are made more noteworthy by reason that it was the first year of Olsen's term and the first full year on the bench of either of the judges.

The dockets were in a chaotic condition and were considered hopeless when Judges Wilkerson and Cliffe began to wield their judicial sabres and Olsen took up his prosecution cutgels. At that time local officials and those at Washington predicted that it would take fifteen judges three years to relieve the dockets. The new judges and the prosecuting forces cleared up the situation in approximately twelve months.

The report further disclosed the following: Fines and penalties assessed and exacted, $616,494; cash collected, $681,886; cases disposed of 3401.

Of the cases adjusted, 2655 were criminal cases, and of these 647 were liquor injunction suits. The remainder were civil cases. This is 100 more cases than were disposed of in the preceding five years here.

The amount of fines and cash collected was greater, it was said, than the combined collections during the previous fifteen years. Sentences imposed aggregated more than 324 years.

The value of property closed by prohibition injunctions totaled in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

Other achievements of this trio during 1923, which already have occasioned much favorable comment among their legal contemporaries are the disposition of more than 1500 prohibition cases. Of this number only fifteen acquittals were forthcoming.

Five hundred and seventy-five permanent liquor injunctions were issued against the same number of illicit booze establishments; the issuance of temporary injunctions against 363 other places; permanent "padding" proceedings in each of the latter cases are pending.

Permanent injunctions also were issued against eleven breweries.

The wheels of justice will be functioning in such good order by early spring that it will be possible to try offenders within two or three days after indictment, District Attorney Olsen said.

BROKEN HEART MENDED AGAIN 'Go To Church' Chorus Beauty In Elopement

"Dixie" Esmond

It took just two years for the broken heart of "Dixie" Esmond, the original "go to church" chorus girl and cabaret singer, to mend.

"Dixie," who sued George H. Perkins, known in the financial world as the "German mark king," for $100,000 for breach of promise in 1922, eloped the other day with Allen Ruffam, son of a Boston attorney. They will live in Chicago after their honeymoon.

"What is it you don't want to do?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he sat in an easy chair, twinkling his pink nose. "Don't you want to go to the dentist's office and have a tooth pulled? If it is that, I don't blame you a bit, for dreading it."

"Let me out!" howled the bad chap

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

DRUGS AND TURKISH BATHS AND STRONG STOMACHS

There is only one right way to lose weight, and that is to go on a diet which will supply the essential needs of the body for rest and normal functioning and, at the same time, call on the excess fat to supply a large part of the energy needs. This, with increased physical activities—and, the way, housework and gardening and other useful work are of exercises—this, I repeat, is the only way to reduce without danger to your health.

Drugs are extremely dangerous unless you are under the supervision of a scientifically trained physician from a high standard college (not a diploma mill). I am not in private practice. Sorry.

There are very few who need drugs. Perhaps one in a thousand, and I am sure you are not one. Your fat is due solely to successive and repeated excesses to eat pie, cake, nuts, bread and butter, and other things of exercise to use it up. Do you? (And you thought had nothing to do with it, you were not eating potatoes, were you?)

Turkish baths are good cleansers, but of doubtful value for reducing the loss of weight is lost. And taken too often these baths are weakening.

There is not such animal as inflated fat, so don't ease yourself that fallacy. We may inherit such a thing, but strong stomachs do not eat fat. Strong stomachs digest it.

We can digest and assimilate anything that comes our way, and it is primarily an indication of health. When nature does that, she thinks, and uses the foods for needs of the body, she does only thing she knows what to do with the excess—that is, convert it to fat. She tucks it around every nook and cranny in the body, thinking "Gosh, G, this bird is going to hibernate, or go into a famine, or something!" But when she finds that you are eating her, then you have to pay penalty. And maybe you or have hardening of the arteries, or have heart disease, intestinal disease, or diabetes, or goitry or flatfoot, and other things like that.

In this series of articles that I have been giving you, I have told the essentials of the only right way to reduce, and you now have

The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type in ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to answer you individually. The questions in the column as soon as possible. If they are of general interest, don't forget the s. a. s. c. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

BEAUTY CHATS

One cannot have everything in life, especially in the way of beauty. Today, a reader sends me a letter saying that she has made her hair red with henna because it was going gray. But now she is 60 (she hasn't said how long she has been using henna) she thinks it is time to have nice white hair, and how can she get it? Letting the henna wear off takes months, and still more months for the yellowish tinge to go, and can't she make it white in a week?

She can't. It is possible, if you care to run a number of risks and incur a lot of expense, to make white hair colored. But how to make colored hair white as quickly, is not known to me. Generally it takes many years to go white, a few months should be borne cheerfully, I think.

Another one writes that she used to weigh 235 pounds (or was it 245?) and now she weighs 140 which she should weigh, and feels like a girl of 16, though she is 50. But her face has wrinkles, and how can she get rid of them?

No one can drop a hundred pounds or so without losing something for the buoyancy of spirit gained. The skin that has stretched to cover 235 pounds or so must do a lot of shrinking to cover 140 smoothly. The odd part is that it will do so in time, especially if the reduction is at the healthy rate of a couple of pounds a week. It will do so at last on the face, though that will be the hardest place to avoid wrinkles, especially as most women who reduce so drastically are already middle aged. The gradually increasing flesh has filled out the skin little by little, so they have gone without wrinkles while they piled on weight. Naturally the wrinkles will come with reduction.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

A young housekeeper has written to ask for an article on deep-frying. "There are many other things who would appreciate it, I assure," she ends her letter.

The ideal frying fat is a vegetable oil, olive gives the best results, but as this is too expensive for the average pocketbook, of the prepared cooking oils, the next best. Lard comes third in the choice, beef fat fourth, and tallow and ends of household scraps.

A mixture of one-third lard and two-thirds rendered fat gives splendid results—in fact, it produces a rich golden-brown color equalled by any other fat.

To "try out" beef fat for frying, cut it in small pieces and cover with cold, salted water; let stand overnight, then drain, and a cup of cold water to each two pounds of the fat, and cook over mild till the fat is clear, all bubbling ceased, and the "scraple" "crackling" is brown and crisp. Strain it through cheesecloth to a clean pail.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

BUT HE'S MARRIED

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Some time during the first part of September I met a boy. He at first told me he was 24 and because I was so young I told him I was four years older than he really am.

My friendship with him had progressed very agreeably for both of us until three weeks ago. He had been married in March and had left his wife, continuing to provide for her. Now he tells me he is 19 and so I backed down four years and told him my right age.

Two weeks ago he asked me to marry him. I declined because of his having been married. His wife is suing for a divorce and expects to have it by the first of the year. Don't think he left her for any misunderstanding on his part. She merely said she needed a husband at the time she married him, but later found out differently. That is the reason he left her, and I don't blame him.

I have grown to care very much for this boy, but at the present time do not care to marry him. He seems to love me very much.

Shall I throw him over now or shall I go with him with the idea of marrying him after the customary amount of months have passed after his divorce is granted?

P. REX.

I am inclined to believe that your love for the young man has blinded you to his real worth. Doubtless his wife has charges against him or she would not be suing for divorce. With no better reason than that you give, he would be the one to make charges against you.

AMERICA MUST LOOK TO UNDEVELOPED MARKETS FOR TRADE, SAYS STEEL HEAD

America's opportunity in the industrial world now lies in hitherto undeveloped markets, is the opinion of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and of the National Foreign Trade Council.

The development of new markets abroad where old ones have been closed by after-war conditions was urged in a recent speech by Mr. Farrell, who said that he saw a distinct improvement in the international outlook. He said that Americans must not retire from foreign trade because Europe was not now able to continue its accustomed rate of buying and selling.

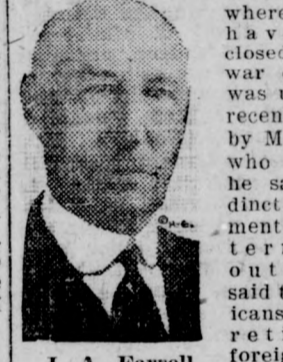

NEW PROBLEMS CONFRONT U. S.

"Our foreign trade," said Mr. Farrell, "is ever confronted by new problems. The most important phase of the situation today is that of making larger use of markets that hitherto have been regarded as secondary while the main flow of our exports and imports was with Europe. The thought and study of those connected with international commerce must be devoted with renewed vigor to this question."

"Until Europe begins to make definite progress against the forces that now threaten its economic position, we should be seeking to establish a more permanent position in other markets to absorb our surplus production. And at the same time, as our requirements in raw materials steadily increase while Europe's ability to produce them either diminishes or fails to keep pace with our growing demand, it is the course of ordinary prudence on our part to expand our activity in seeking such materials in other markets of supply."

Need of Full-Time Employment

"This is a very important factor of our situation today. The full employment of our people is essential to prosperity in this country. It is the expansion of our industrial establishment which makes such full employ-

SEN. ELLISON D. SMITH

Smith was said to become chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee. He had been selected for that berth in caucus, and yet neither he nor his Democratic colleagues were desirous of his being "wished" into the chair.

Senator La Follette, leader of the senate Republican progressives, is said to have directed the campaign for the selection of Smith, calling on the aid of the progressives to make his appointment possible, with the idea in mind that his followers would switch their votes to the regular republican possibilities and thereby place the Democrats under obligation to the Republican "radicals" unwillingly. Such a situation could readily bring embarrassment to Smith and his Democratic fellows, it is easily seen.

Smith has been a member of the senate since 1908 and has been one of the important Democratic figures from the South since the day of his arrival in the national capital. He was elected to the upper chamber by the largest vote ever given up to

MONTROSE MONTROSE POST TO GET CHARTER

Verdugo Hills Veterans Will Elect Officers at Early Meeting

Word was received yesterday by A. E. Baron, from Russel G. Creviston, acting national adjutant of the American Legion, that the charter for the newly formed American Legion post at Montrose had been granted January 12. The post will be officially known as Verdugo Hills Post No. 288.

Several residents of Montrose and La Canada, who have been active members of Glendale Post No. 127, will form the nucleus for the new organization, which starts out with between forty and fifty charter members. There are many ex-service men in this section who have not identified themselves with any post on account of the distance intervening, who will undoubtedly sign up for the new post.

Will Elect Officers

Several enthusiastic meetings have been held, and next Wednesday night, January 23, the first officers will be elected at the Sparr Heights community house. It is rumored that there will be little opposition to E. L. Sullivan as Post Commander and A. E. Baron as adjutant. Both of these men have been tireless workers in obtaining the charter, and will make excellent executives.

All ex-service men in the Verdugo Hills section, whether members of the Legion or not, are asked to be present at the first meeting of the post under its new charter.

CHURCHES

Glendale church people have watched with interest the organization of the Montrose community church, and an added interest will be the announcement of the decision to call it the Montrose First Methodist church.

Rev. George L. Durr is the pastor, and under his leadership the development of the church is going forward with spirit and success.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—The winter curb peddlers' season in Chicago is on.

In one block on La Salle street can be found:

- An Indian whose wife calls him "Tony" when he takes off the feathers and blanket. He sells colored beads.
- Twenty Hebrews selling everything from the more or less graceful "Three Graces," holding aloft an electric torch, to red suspenders.

FARM LANDS SUBJECT OF MEETING

Important Conference to Take Place at Fresno Saturday, Jan. 26

All farm land brokers, farm owners, and farm bankers are invited to attend the California farm land conference to be held Saturday, January 26, at Fresno. The Fresno Realty board has sent the following notice and invitation of the meeting to realty men, bankers, property owners and farmers throughout the state:

"Were You Ever Lost? Do you remember the day 'mah' spanked your pants for getting mud all over your 'second-best suit'? You thought she was all wrong and you sneaked away from the house, 'swallerin' a great big lump in your throat, and as soon as you were sure you were out of sight you ran as fast as your 'runners' would carry you, looking back over your shoulder and not noticing which way you went, until you realized that you were lost. After wandering around for thirty minutes, which seemed like thirty years, your dad, who happened to be coming from work a little early, breezed past and soon you were back home, glad to be there—even at the risk of a good 'tannin'."

Become Confused? "Today, the farmer, the farm land realtor, the farmer's banker are all in that same position—lost in a maze of pessimism, price adjustments and marketing conditions. The value of our land is still the same; there are just as many people to use the product we raise now as ever; all we need is someone to lead us out of this tangle and set us straight, and, Boy! Howdy! here comes dad to see us up on his shoulder and take us back home."

To be more specific: The California Real Estate association is arranging a series of Farm Land Conferences. The first, held at Riverside last month, was attended by 200 persons, representing 34 different communities and was a huge success. On Saturday, January 26, 1924, the second conference will be held at Fresno. (Continued on Page 3)

OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS BRIGHT

Political Influences Liable to Affect Trade in 1924, Prediction

As the nation enters 1924, neither a boom nor a general depression is in sight, states the current number of the "Guaranty Survey," which has just been issued by the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

"The outlook," according to the Survey, "is rather for the maintenance of a sound middle course for business as a whole."

"But the vital question which business must now face is how far political influences and activities may affect it during the coming year. The apparently growing tendency to settle economic problems by political action, to inject the government into business fields and to promote class interests by organized political effort at the expense of the general interest, all present a certain menace to business progress which cannot be ignored."

"Important business problems are before congress for action, and if these problems are handled from the viewpoint of political rather than business, considerations, this may well affect business prosperity. In the important fields of taxation and transportation particularly is this true. The dominance of political over economic considerations has greatly retarded the recovery of Europe, and may easily hamper the progress of the United States."

Pratise Coolidge. "In this connection, the legislative program of the administration as outlined by President Coolidge in his messages to congress is heartening to the constructive business interests of the country. He endorses the plan formulated by Secretary Mellon for a needed and feasible reduction in the national taxes and gives it priority among his legislative proposals. Relief from needless and ill-proportioned tax burdens would provide a wholesome stimulus to business enterprise. "Necessarily, such a fiscal program will have a beneficial effect on the purchase price of the property." (Continued on Page 3)

Income Tax Ruling Affects Realty Sales

Sales of real estate involving deferred payments are affected by an income tax ruling under the 1918 and 1921 Revenue Acts, received from Washington yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell. The decision is based on a case which the collector submitted Commissioner Blair. The ruling of the bureau, which is an important one, is as follows:

"The agreement submitted is entirely in the form of a lease for 99 years with an option to purchase at the end of 50 years. It is by no means certain that this option will ever be exercised, since it is entirely optional with the lessee and since the lease contains various provisions for its termination by the lessor in the event that the lessee fails to comply with certain specified conditions. Further, the lease provides for a term extending 49 years beyond the time set for exercising the option, with elaborate provisions for an accounting at its termination. For these reasons, this office holds that the annual payments received under the terms of the lease should be considered as rent, and not as installments on the purchase price of the property."

RATE REPEAL WOULD BE DISASTER

Credit Transportation Act With Big Increase In Rolling Stock

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The number of new locomotives put in service in the first ten months of last year by American railroads exceeds the number placed in service in any entire year of the last sixteen years except 1907 and 1913, and that the number of new freight cars put in service in any entire year of the last sixteen, except 1907, 1908 and 1913, according to advices from Railway Age by Southern Pacific Company today.

The great revival of railroad expansion this year is attributed principally to one provision of the transportation act, and Railway Age declares that the repeal of rate-making provisions of this law "would be a mandate by Congress to the Interstate Commerce Commission to do all it could to stop the development and expansion of railways, and render them unable to handle the country's commerce."

"The most important provision of the transportation act," says the Railway Age, "is that which requires the Interstate Commerce Commission, in determining what the railways shall be allowed to earn, to give due consideration among other things to the transportation needs of the country, and the necessity, under honest, efficient and economical management of the existing transportation facilities, of enlarging such facilities in order to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation."

"This provision is a part of section 15-A, the repeal of which is being energetically advocated by the radical group in Congress. Statistics regarding the number of locomotives and cars installed in service tell the story most plainly: Give Statistics

"In the eight years from June 30, 1907, to June 30, 1914, inclusive, the average number of new locomotives installed in service annually was 3,226, and the average number of new freight cars installed annually was 125,494. As a result of drastic regulation, government operation and business depression, the number of locomotives installed in the eight and one-half years ended December 31, 1922, averaged only 1,652, and the average number of freight cars installed averaged only 81,605."

"The transportation act in the provision above quoted instructed the Interstate Commerce Commission to adopt a new policy of regulation, that of not only avoiding confiscation of railways but of so regulating them as to enable them to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation. Principally, owing to the business depression, the rates fixed by the commission under the transportation act yielded wholly inadequate net returns in 1921 and 1922. But the net returned earned has shown a substantial increase in 1923 and the provisions of the transportation act have encouraged railway managers and investors to hope for a constructive policy in the future."

"The large expenditure made by the railroads this year for additions and improvements has helped business in all lines, and the reduction of these expenditures would correspondingly hurt business in all lines."

Subdivision Close To Center Of City, Yet It Is In Midst Of Forest, Exclusive and Most Picturesque Spot

Glen Oaks, only five minutes' ride from Brand boulevard and Broadway, offers the home-seeker lots in a veritable fairyland, as anyone who will visit the tract is bound to conclude, states John R. Powers, who with Charles T. Tyron and Colonel Walter P. Story comprise the Glen Oaks Syndicate, with tract headquarters at the end of Sierra street, reached by driving out Verdugo road to Sycamore Canyon road and following the signs.

"Here where Glendale joins hands with Pasadena," says Mr. Powers, "we are building in the midst of the primeval forest a home community as near ideal as the world offers. Just think of it, only five minutes from the business heart of Glendale, less than ten minutes to Pasadena, when our great boulevard is completed, and not a half hour to Los Angeles—yet here by the sheltered slope of the cool north and south hills, amid matchless clumps of live oaks and sycamores that spring, as do a myriad of flowers and ferns, from a forest floor centuries old in leaf-mould, where innumerable birds twitter, a thousand quail call, brooks gush crystal water and herds of wild deer run."

Just Like Fairy Tale "Glen Oaks seems like a fairy tale and the only way to prove we are telling the strict truth about our wonderful tract is to come out and see it. You will find only one alien note amid the sylvan beauty, and that is a giant steam shovel biting its way to Pasadena, over what will be (Continued on Page 3)

Barbour and Guthrie Visit L. A. Boards

State President Henry P. Barbour of the California Real Estate association is visiting local realty boards in Los Angeles county during January. The tour will take him three weeks, with Long Beach as his base of operations. Accompanying President Barbour is W. E. TAX FIGURES ARE PROOF OF GROWTH

Annual Report of Revenue Chief Shows Business Expansion Steady

Reflecting an almost unparalleled condition of growth in population and expansion in every line of business, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell's annual report which was sent to Washington yesterday showed that the total collections of the Southern California district for the calendar year 1923 were $51,145,880, which was an increase of $8,386,728 over 1922, and in excess of the collections for 1920, the year in which the nation's receipts of revenue taxes reached their high mark.

An outstanding feature of the report was the fact that the attendance at motion picture theatres and other places of amusement, excluding cabarets, increased 43,104,792 in 1923 over the preceding year. The tax collected was $2,980,353, as against $2,348,459 in 1922, a gain of 27 per cent. The receipts represent an attendance for the year of 202,244,000.

Realty Transfers Sale of documentary stamps, which are used in real estate transfers and other business transactions, were $1,382,989, compared with $898,827 in 1922, an increase of 53 per cent.

That the sending of telegraph and telephone messages increased 41 per cent is shown by tax receipts of $311,756 in 1923, and only $220,809 in the preceding year. Southern California manufacturers of automobile trucks paid increased taxes of 81 per cent last year, as compared with 1922. (Continued on Page 3)

TRACT PROVIDES IDEAL HOMESITES

Woodbury Heights Presents Exclusive Atmosphere, Says T. W. Watson

Woodbury Heights, the carefully planned residential park "for discriminating home-seekers," whose exclusive agents are the T. W. Watson Company, subdividers, 708 East Broadway, offers an atmosphere of exclusiveness and charm impossible to find elsewhere, and is guaranteed by restrictions that insure a high order of homes, states T. W. Watson, adding that many Glendalians and buyers from other points have taken advantage of the unique opportunities offered.

"While many of the sites are gone," says Mr. Watson, "there are a number of fine ones still available and ready for immediate building. The tract is well improved, work of installing sidewalks, curbs, paved streets, ornamental lights, gas, water and electricity being well under way.

Investment Purposes
"For those who are seeking an investment, as well as those whose desire is to build the ideal home, Woodbury Heights offers a wonderful opportunity. With the high-class dwellings that are rising here, the values are bound to go far up in the months to come. "If you really are in the market for superior real estate, you owe it to yourself to see Woodbury Heights once you have seen it, you owe it to yourself not to wait until it is too late, but to act at once."

Woodbury Heights lies along Verdugo road, between Lexington drive and Monterey road.

Assign Board $3000 To Advertise County

Official recognition of the services of a real estate board in advertising the advantages of its community comes in a recent vote of the county commissioners of St. Louis county, Missouri, to turn over to the Virginia-Eveleth Real Estate Board the sum of $3000 to be expended by the board as the most effective agent for the advancement of public interest in the agricultural resources of the county.

The appropriation is believed by officers of the National Association of Real Estate Boards to be the first instance of its kind in the history of the country.

STANISLAUS CROPS

MODESTO, Jan. 19.—Crops produced in this county during 1923 had a total value of $12,857, according to the report of A. L. Rutherford, county horticultural commissioner, made public today. Oakmont Country Club at Sparr Heights Soon Will Have Its Formal Opening

Capitalizing the beauties of nature and one of the most unique locations in all California, Oakmont Country Club, adjoining Sparr Heights, will open soon, M. Walters of Barnum-Walters company, subdividers, announces.

"The center of attraction at the new club will be the beautiful club house of rustic English architecture, built on the eastern slope of the hills and just a stone's throw off Verdugo Road," he said.

"Clumps of live oaks that might have been built in order along with the house, so well do they fit into the picture, form an ideal background. Native shrubs and bushes dot the hills that surround it.

Seek Outdoor Sports
"Naturally, the person who is interested in a country club, has outdoor sports in mind. Oakmont's splendid eighteen-hole golf course is nearly ready; there will be a fine swimming pool and tennis courts, not to mention the ideal social life that is sure to center around a clubhouse of this kind in a neighborhood dedicated to 'better Americans and better living.'"

"We work-a-day folks, in this busy world of rush and confusion are just beginning to realize that we must have the proper kind of relaxation if we are to hold our own and make the best of our opportunities. "The strain of city life, day in and day out, is demoralizing. We need and must have outdoor ex-

"Cupid's Fireman," featuring Buck Jones, shows for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre, where it has greatly entertained. Adapted from the famous Richard Harding Davis story, "Andy McGee's Chorus Girl," it offers this star in a fast-moving melodrama with a thrilling fire sequence at the close.

Five acts of standard Bert Levey coast-to-coast vaudeville are also on the boards of the Glendale Theatre tonight, including clever singing, dancing and novelty numbers.

Starting Sunday, David Belasco's great stage success, "The Governor's Lady," by Alice Brayley, comes to the Glendale Theatre for a three-day run. This is a William Fox special, directed by Harry Millarde, with a cast including Larry Lester and many other well known players.

CROPS INCREASE, VALUES DECREASE

Department of Agriculture Reports on Conditions During Past Year

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Total field and fruit crops in California produced in 1923 reached 11,368,518 tons, the largest in quantity ever recorded, but with a money value of $353,192,000, as compared with $382,611,000 for 1922 when the quantity production was 200,000 tons less than for 1923, according to the annual report of the State Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the findings of E. E. Kaufman, agricultural statistician to the federal government.

Receipts of $30,000,000 less than those for 1922 with a much larger production are attributed to the marked decline in fruit prices by the authorities in 1923. Other new boards to do the same are Bell, Lynwood and Downey, and all five of these boards will apply through National Director W. I. Hollingsworth and National Vice-President C. C. Tatum at the August conference, January 17, for membership in the national body of realtors.

R. S. S. Jackson Announces Glendale View Tract Will Have Pre-Opening Sunday

R. S. S. Jackson, who will hold the pre-opening of his Glendale View tract on Mountain street tomorrow, is a firm believer in the future growth of Glendale. "I do not say it as a prediction, nor as a guess, but as an absolute certainty, that Glendale will have a population of 200,000 people within a very few years," he declared.

Taking this certainty for granted, the fortunate people will be those who secure home sites in the "better" sections of this city while they can still be obtained at a reasonable price, Mr. Jackson added.

First In Line to Offer Return For 1923 Income Tax

Mike Merr, 612 East Twenty-eighth Street, Los Angeles, Started the New Year by Filing the First 1923 Income Return in the Southern California District. Mr. Merr is a cigar manufacturer.

When the internal revenue office opened at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, Mr. Merr was waiting at the cashier's cage ready to file his return and pay his entire tax.

Collector Rex Goodcell personally accepted Mr. Merr's return and check and congratulated him upon having his return listed as No. 1 of the 280,000 personal returns that will be filed during the period ending on March 15.

Last year 190,000 taxpayers paid their entire tax assessment in one payment, leaving only 40,000 to take advantage of the quarterly installment plan. Collector Goodcell believes that the same ratio will hold good this year.

Collector Goodcell again urged taxpayers to file their returns during January and avoid the February rush.

"If you carry a bank account simply mail in your return accompanied by your personal check," said the collector. "Income blanks should be in the hands of every taxpayer by January 10. File at once and avoid the rush," he said.

Second Fernangeles Unit Lots Selling Rapidly As Buyers Visualize Values

"Fernangeles, the new city sponsored by Cecil B. de Mille, is rapidly taking its place in the sun," says Alvin B. Giles, manager of the Hollywood Corporation.

According to all reports of the selling agents, residence lots in unit number two of this tract are being rapidly disposed of, as the response of shrewd buyers has been vastly in excess of even their most sanguine expectations.

Business lots are also in steady demand, and this is particularly pleasing to Mr. de Mille and his associates who see their visions of the future approaching realization.

Fills Definite Need
They have felt right along that Fernangeles would fill a long felt want in the San Fernando valley. And more particularly in this immediate section, where so many families already settled here have had to travel four or five miles daily in order to gratify their shopping needs.

"Store-keepers opening up their business in this new city will find a ready response to their efforts in the trade which near-by residents will bring to their doors," says Mr. Giles. "And we would like to emphasize the fact that not only are markets and stores welcome in this new town of ours, but they are positively needed.

"We believe that no other spot in southern California offers so much to the investor or home-seeker as does Fernangeles in its pioneering stage of today. Predict Increase

"We are more than pleased at the obvious confidence shown in our judgment, as evidenced by the amount of property already sold, and as values increase in this section of the valley we know that those who have purchased their land from us will be numbered among our large and happily satisfied clientele.

"We are going further than in ordinary subdivisions, and are building houses for those who wish them, accepting their payment on a lot as evidence of their good faith that they want a place to live where they are getting away from the rent problem. "This quality of striving for a home of their own will assure future prospective buyers that they will be living amongst good dependable neighbors and sturdy, thrifty citizens."

New Officers Conduct K. of P. Lodge Meeting

The Knights of Pythias held their regular monthly business meeting last night in their Castle Hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard, with a very large attendance. The newly-elected chancellor commander, Eugene Wright, presided over the meeting. This was the first meeting of the new year with the newly-elected officers in charge.

Interesting reports were given by the various committees, including the visiting and Boy Scout committees. At this time new committee chairmen were appointed, and the chancellor commander announced that the Page rank will be conferred next Tuesday night, January 22, in the K. P. hall. He urged all candidates to make a special effort to be present.

Humane Society Will Hear Animal Lovers

Champion, cat fancier and judge of New York City, and Mrs. M. Brase of Santa Monica, organizer of humane societies in the bay cities, Pomona and other cities in Southern California.

E. A. Kulp, president, will preside over the meeting, beginning at 8 o'clock. Both Miss Champion and Mrs. Brase will speak.

It is hoped that the charter for the society will be in hand by Thursday night and that the final organization can be completed and ready to function.

The program for this important meeting will be varied and will include such subjects as Diversified Farming, Co-Operative Marketing of Farm Products, Price Stabilization of Farm Lands and Colonization of California Farm Lands.

Extend Invitation "The Fresno Realty board, as hosts for this great meeting, extend a personal invitation to you to attend this conference, which means so much to the San Joaquin Valley and California Farm Lands, as a whole. In order to assure its success fully, we would like to ask that you get in touch with all the members of your organization, by letter, or in person if possible, and urge them to attend the Second Farm Lands Conference and co-operate in making it a long step on our way back to the Farm."

Among the speakers invited to address the conference are Dr. Elwood Mead recently returned from Australia; Ralph P. Merritt, manager Sunmaid Raisin Growers; William E. Horren, field secretary National Association of Real Estate Boards; Edwin T. Keiser, state real estate commissioner; Dr. B. M. Rastall, manager Californians Inc.; Bruce Cornwall, realtor, San Francisco; Herman Janss, secretary National Farm Lands Division; J. C. Forkner, Fresno; J. V. Campaigns for the general planting of trees particularly to replace those being cut down owing to the encroachment of business, are reported to the National Association of Real Estate Board this week by three California cities. Real Estate boards of Sacramento, of Stockton, and of Compton are fostering movements to make their cities, "cities of trees."

Landon Heights Lots Sell Rapidly; Fine Homes Are Being Built at Grande Vista

Ten lots at Landon Heights, La Crescenta, have been reserved for business, states H. N. Landon, owner and subdivider, 213 West Broadway. They front on Ramsdell avenue and are very choice.

Mr. Landon reports that over forty lots have already been sold in this beautiful view tract. With Unit No. 2 now open, it is expected that the balance of the lots will go fast, as there are only 100 in all. "Better lots are not to be found in the La Crescenta foothills than those at Landon Heights," says Mr. Landon, "and better foothills are not to be found than those at La Crescenta. It is an ideal combination and one that naturally means quick sales."

Building Fine Homes "Terms are right, prices are right, payments are right, the climate is wonderful, the view is beyond words, and the property is strictly high class at moderate prices." Higher priced lots are offered by Mr. Landon at Grande Vista, where many wealthy people are building palatial homes, and reservations are now being made for the beautiful villa sites extending into the Verdugo foothills. "The name Grande Vista implies high altitude and superb view," Mr. Landon says, "and with the improvements we have put in we have developed the property to the exclusiveness and beauty of a suburban estate. The sites are highly restricted and homes are being built here of the very finest type found anywhere in the west."

Near Brand's Castle "I can think of no more ideal spot in Southern California to make one's ultimate home than at Grande Vista, that surveys the whole of Glendale and the San Fernando valley with one superb panoramic sweep."

Grande Vista adjoins on the west Brand's castle, along Mountain street, and is reached by driving north on Central avenue, out Kenneth road and up Grand View avenue. Landon Heights, La Crescenta, is reached by driving north on Verdugo road to Honolulu avenue, Montrose, and continuing out on Los Angeles street to the tract office.

NEW BRANCH BANK NOW OPEN Security Trust & Savings Is Celebrating

New building of the Eagle Rock branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank at Eagle Rock. The formal opening is being held today.

When you see the heavens toward the east all ablaze tonight with great calm flares, and powerful search and flood lights playing on the hills, be not afraid.

It will not be the reconnoitering of armies nor even the evidence of motion picture companies "out on location." It will be nothing more nor less than Eagle Rock celebrating the formal opening of its largest and most imposing business structure, the new building of the Eagle Rock Branch of the Security Trust & Savings Bank.

For almost a year now this $100,000 building has been under course of construction in the very center of the town, the corner of Colorado and Eagle Rock boulevards, and now that it is completed its opening will take on the nature of a "house-warming" and general reception in which the whole valley will take part. There will be music and refreshments and flowers and a general good time lasting from 4 o'clock this afternoon until 10 o'clock tonight.

As the shades of evening steal into the little valley of the Eagle, one of the great portable generating outfits will rumble over the highway from a Hollywood picture studio and with its million and a half candle power flood and search lights, turn night into day in every cranny and crevice of the valley.

Inside of the bank building the throng will be seen crowded around a notable exhibit of views of Eagle Rock which shows it from the days before street cars and automobiles and as it appears today filled with beautiful homes, schools, churches and business buildings. The modern pictures were taken from the same spot as those of twenty and 30 years ago, and shown side by side with the old, present amazing contrasts.

The Eagle Rock branch of the Security, as the Eagle Rock Bank was founded in 1907 as the first bank in the valley. It's manager, Fred E. Biles, has been with it continuously since that time in the various capacities of cashier, president and manager.

Realtors to Contest For Silver Trophy

Gilbert S. Wright, Los Angeles realtor, retired, has donated a silver loving cup which is to be awarded to the successful five-minute speaker in the Los Angeles Realty board who prepares the winning talk on Los Angeles for the state convention home town competition at Pasadena, October 9, 1924. Fred E. Reed of Oakland, past state president, donated the state association cup.

Eighteen tugs were needed to warp the "Majestic" into its pier recently.

Charles B. Guthrie Committee Member

The California Real Estate Association has been called upon by the United States Veterans' Bureau to perform an important appraisal service, and Henry P. Barbour, president of the association, wired to Director Frank D. Hines of Washington, D. C., the association's acceptance of the duty and the appointment of a committee of seven directors of the state association who will make the appraisal cost to the government.

On the committee President Barbour names Herman Janss, San Joaquin; John G. Mulholland, Long Beach; E. T. Oakes, Los Angeles; C. B. Guthrie, Glendale; Norman E. McFadden, Santa Barbara; Everett A. White, Santa Ana; Leo B. Lesperance and James R. Goldsworthy of Van Nuys, all members of the association. Mr. Barbour will serve ex-officio.

The assistance requested by the veterans' bureau is an impartial appraisal of the Craig Ford ranch property in the San Fernando valley, which has been offered to the government as a hospital site. Director Hines' request for this assistance had been in President Barbour's hands but a short time before the committee was named and the reply dispatched.

"Realtors of California have been called upon for work of genuine service to municipal, county and state authorities," the president of the state association commented. "This request from a federal board for assistance is a further evidence of appreciation of our organization's standing and reliability."

Maximum speed for railway trains will be sixty miles an hour for many years, it is predicted.

Outlook For Business Is Declared Bright

(Continued from Page 1) gram precludes the granting of a general bonus to the able-bodied ex-service men. But the president's uncompromising opposition to a bonus rests not merely upon a desire for governmental economy, but fundamentally upon the conviction that there is no proper obligation to make such a distribution of the taxpayers' money.

"Nineteen hundred and twenty-three began with prices, industrial production and the other usual indices of the trend of general business continuing a long-sustained advance. This expansion of activity was accomplished despite the presence of a number of unfavorable factors in the general situation. Among these was a marked lack of balance between wages in different employments and between prices of important commodities.

"Notwithstanding such hindrances, it became evident early in 1923 that production in many lines was attaining a menacing pace. There was widespread fear that a drastic reaction was impending. Instead of a general depression, however, there followed gradual recessions in industrial production and in prices. And there was no occasion for disturbance of the credit structure.

"Subsequently, production and distribution of commodities—with only moderate changes in the total employment of labor—have been maintained at levels for the most part above those for the corresponding, and generally prosperous, period last year. But the various branches of business have shared very unevenly in the year's prosperity. Readjustments, made necessary by the aftermath of the war and the reaction from the extravagant expansion of 1919-20 are still in process."

After you have looked them all over, come to Glendale's Fairy Land, GLEN OAKS. This is a wonderful natural park with an entrancing panorama, where you can realize and enjoy the peace and quiet of the hills. We are not peddling bare hills with a lot of flowery advertising with nothing to show when you get there. You would not imagine such a spot existed within a hundred miles of Los Angeles. This "Garden of Eden" is located in the center of three prominent golf clubs and on the new Scenic Glen Oaks-Pasadena Boulevard now being built, and is as near the center of Los Angeles as Hollywood—barely five minutes from a business district of a city of 50,000 inhabitants and incidentally the fastest growing city in the world, Glendale. What inducement has the flat noisy city lot and at many times the price? GLEN OAKS is a principality of 710 acres with all utilities in. The new Glen Oaks-Pasadena Boulevard will be the most scenic we know of and will greatly increase values.

AMPLE RESTRICTIONS WILL PERPETUATE THE BEAUTY OF GLEN OAKS

Every building in Glen Oaks must conform to good taste and its location on the lot must conform to the contour. We have set aside an attractive park for the perpetual use of our people, which will be improved with four tennis courts and a community house. We have set aside sufficient land for a Glen Oaks Village which will consist of artistic shops for the comfort and convenience of our subdivision, designed by Harry McAfee. Architecturally, the village will have the charm of the old missions, being of pure Spanish architecture. Plans are now being drawn for this attractive feature. Come and see if we have over-estimated GLEN OAKS appeal.

KIWANIANS FEAST ON ROAST GOOSE

Club Members Enjoy Spoils Of Chase Brought In By Three Nimrods

An unusually large number of Kiwanians and their friends attended the luncheon at the Tuesday Afternoon club yesterday, due to the fact that it had been previously announced that the bill of fare of the "me and you" would be principally roast wild goose bagged last week by Dr. T. C. Young, A. L. Baird and "Bill" Page. Of course it may be said a little strong to assert that the attendance was larger because of the feed, but nevertheless that phase of the meeting was not without its attractiveness.

Dr. Young gave a very interesting account of their hunting trip and very realistically portrayed the difficulties which must be overcome in order to bag the "wisest" of the feathered flock—the wild goose.

A letter expressing the thanks and appreciation of the Glendale Realty Board to the Glendale Kiwanis club for their co-operation during the recent bond campaign and election was read. Likewise a letter of acknowledgment from Acting Mayor Boyle Workman of Los Angeles was read, which stated that both Mayor Cryer and he were glad to have been able to have been of assistance to the city of Glendale in perfecting her sewer plans.

Accept Challenge

The challenge of the Glendale Exchange club to the Kiwanis club for a bowling contest was accepted. "Bill" Bode was made chairman of the committee to organize a team for the occasion, and all Kiwanis bowlers who could lay claim to a consistent score of 140 or more were requested to meet with the chairman and arrange a date for practice games.

Past President A. L. Ferguson, now district trustee, gave a splendid report of the district trustees' convention held last week at Oakland. Time did not permit a recounting of all the details, but the high lights were: Backing of the state program for the protection of the natural watersheds; organized effort in all communities for the registration of voters and adoption of the plan that Kiwanis clubs should budget their time as well as money.

By working on the budget system it was pointed out that a great deal more actual work and practical results were secured.

Election of officers, declared Mr. Ferguson, was also another important topic which was thoroughly discussed. Various election methods were submitted, but that of San Francisco and Riverside was the most popular. In San Francisco the club members elect a board of directors and they in turn elect the president. In Riverside the men are elected by the club as officers and directors. These men elect their president and the rest remain active as the board of directors for the ensuing year.

Horn's Report

Kiwanian "Bill" Horn was also among those present at the trustees' convention and brought back a burning message of real Kiwanian spirit and service. His enthusiastic and sincere account of the spirit manifest at the convention was an inspiration to greater effort and service on the part of the members who were not fortunate enough to attend.

Kiwanian "Bill" Hooper was officially appointed sergeant at arms of the club at yesterday's meeting and in the future will function in this office. Incidentally, "Bill" has the distinction and honor of being the club's first "sarge."

W. C. Winkler, proprietor of the Buster Brown shoe store, 122 North Brand boulevard, was introduced as a new member yesterday. He received a hearty welcome and was instructed by President "Len" Baird to throw his hat in the corner and make himself at home, judging from the ease with which he got away with his portion of the roast goose, it is a safe bet that he followed instructions.

Ed. Radke, Harry Hall, Mike Berman and Dr. W. T. Hurd of Eagle Rock were the fortunate members to draw the attendance prizes.

Anderson Is Ill

A report from the sick committee stated that Kiwanian Dr. Jack Anderson was still in a very precarious condition, and would be removed to the hospital today. Great concern is felt for his prompt recovery.

President Baird then turned the meeting over to Kiwanian "Bill" Truitt, chairman of the program committee. Mr. Truitt introduced Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles county, and announced as his subject, "Law Enforcement."

The district attorney showed that he felt perfectly at home while addressing a Kiwanis club. He emphasized the fact that it was just such service clubs as Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange, and many others that were helping to save the nation and would eventually save it from the present wave of unrest and dissatisfaction so prevalent in certain quarters.

At the conclusion of his address, he was given a rousing cheer and not permitted to leave until he promised a return visit to the club.

70 YEARS PARTED

OAKLAND, Jan. 19.—John Connor of this city has just returned to his home here after visiting his sister, Mrs. W. E. Pickett, of Detroit, Mich., whom he had not seen for more than seventy years. Connor is ninety years of age and in good health. His sister is eighty-three.

Large Apartment Hotel On Palisades at Santa Monica Will Reduce Home Cares

A revolution in the construction of homes has been brought about by the gradual change in America from the days when much time was spent in the home to the present, where business and social interests of many kinds tend to make the upkeep of large establishments unprofitable.

So declares Major J. H. Gooding Field, president of the Field Finance corporation, fiscal agents for the Shoreham Apartment Hotel company, which is planning the large apartment hotel on the Palisades at Santa Monica, a $2,000,000 project that has for its goal reduction of individual housekeeping cares to the minimum without sacrifice of convenience and comfort.

Hunt for Apartments

"Small families are giving up large homes in exchange for apartments where housekeeping and especially cooking cares are reduced to a minimum," says Mr. Field. In these apartments, kitchens, naturally, are a necessity, but the monotony of cooking will be changed to pleasure where conditions such as are planned for the Shoreham, exist.

"My associates and myself went one step further than is usually taken in individually owned apartments in designing the Shoreham. We combined the individual apartment home feature with that of a modern hotel, devoting nine of eleven floors to apartments and two floors to furnished apartments and hotel rooms for rent. These two floors also contain public dining rooms, tea rooms, and lounges.

Liberal Service

"Included in the liberal service planned for the residents will be experienced cooks if such are desired for the preparation of regular or occasional meals in the apartment. The dining room will be available when a public restaurant is wanted or if necessary meals can be sent to the apartment after being prepared in the hotel kitchens. Our object was to provide the owners of apartments a variety of facilities to choose from and I believe the cooking facilities will result in a greater interest in cooking among the apartment owners as it will not be done entirely of necessity."

Associated with Major Field in the development of the Shoreham are Edward Everett, vice president of the Long Beach National Bank; T. A. Johnson, investment securities, Santa Monica, and J. D. Albert, financial agent of Hollywood.

Harry James To Appear On Club Program

HARRY A. JAMES, clever monologue artist who will appear on Tuesday Afternoon Club program next Tuesday.

An Englishman who knows how to tell a story from an Englishman's point of view, that's Harry A. James, Glendale resident at 1566 East Wilson avenue, whose clever monologue work is being appreciated in over 40,000 American homes, where his imitable monologue records are being played on phonographs.

Some of the monologues and the story of just how the records are made are to be presented Tuesday afternoon as a feature of the program at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Make Many Friends

During the past year Mr. James has won many friends and admirers by personal appearances and over the radio and by way of phonograph records in his clever monologues "An Englishman at a Baseball Game," "An Englishman's Idea of American Wit," "Is Marriage a Failure?" and "When Knighthood Blooms."

And back of all this is the varied activities engaged in by Mr. James in past years. Previous to the world war he was a newspaperman in San Francisco and during the 1915 exposition appeared as singer on the exposition grounds.

After war was declared he entered the service and was overseas, where he proved most popular as an entertainer. Upon the signing of the armistice and his return to the United States he was made entertainer director of forty-two reconstruction hospitals in the United States and his duties required his traveling 58,000 miles. He also served as speaker for the various Liberty loan drives.

Will His Records

Since Mr. James took up the making of records the company for which he is employed has sold over 45,000 of his records and many tempting offers have been made him by other phonograph companies and entertainment circuits.

His voice has been heard countless times from southern California broadcasting stations and he has arranged several splendid Glendale programs, given over the air by local artists.

Pianist to Appear

Miss Monica Craig, pianist, a newcomer to Glendale, will also appear before the club on Tuesday. She is a native of Canada and received her musical education in Germany. She will play "Capriccio F. Sharp Minor" (Mendelssohn) and "Etude, F Sharp Major" (Chopin).

There will be a cooked food sale before the club meeting which is to begin at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, in charge. The program will begin at 3 o'clock.

Professor-Comments on Realtors' Project

Part of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in what is called one of the greatest educational movements of modern times is commented on in the current issue of the American Review of Reviews, in an article by Dr. Richard T. Ely, professor of political economy of the University of Wisconsin and head of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities.

Dr. Ely's comment is made in connection with the inclusion in the association's general plan for real estate education of the work of American building and loan associations.

Development of special training, in the management of building and loan associations, is receiving attention by the joint committee on general real estate education representing the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the Institute for Research in Land Economics and the universities and colleges of the United States and the United Y. M. C. A. schools.

The organization of great operations and industries for education and for scientific fearless research by independent, untrammeled educational institutions such as is being done in the fields of real estate, building and loan associations and public utilities is one of the greatest educational movements of modern times, Dr. Ely declares.

More publicity for the pro-leguerys. More fuel for the anti's attack. Sick 'em, Tige.

Modernists and fundamentalists, both looking at Christianity and the Bible from different points, are also prize publicity hounds this season. The churches are attracting larger audiences, we hear, with the revival of the moot argument.

EAGLE ROCK INVITE PUBLIC TO OPENING OF BANK

Eagle Rock Branch Security Trust & Savings Doors Open Today

The formal opening and "house warming" of the Eagle Rock branch, Security Trust & Savings bank, northeast corner of Colorado and Eagle Rock boulevards, will be held today, Saturday, January 19, when at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the doors will be thrown wide to the public.

There will be music and refreshments and an unusual exhibit of Eagle Rock views of twenty years ago will be on display, showing the valley as many old-timers remember it but will never see it again, teeming as it now is with activity.

Manager Fred E. Biles of the bank will be on hand to greet everyone. It is announced, together with other officials of the bank, and a cordial invitation is extended to the entire community to be present.

The bank will remain open until 10 o'clock at night, so that not only residents of Eagle Rock but those from outside points may come and inspect the new institution. Says Manager Biles:

"This is a neighborhood party. Come and inspect our commodious quarters, from the front lobby to the money vaults in the rear. Remember, this is your pioneer bank, people of Eagle Rock. Come and meet the personnel and get acquainted with your neighbors."

Today is the formal opening of the new bank and no deposits will be received. The bank will be open for business the following Monday.

Local and Personal

Joseph Morgan of 5139 Highland View avenue has gone into business with his brother at Long Beach.

Mrs. Bertha M. Pearce has purchased the duplex at West View avenue and Avenue 48. She recently sold her home at Fair Park avenue and Eagle Rock boulevard.

Philip Swenson has returned home from Prescott, Ariz., and will remain for a month with his mother, Mrs. Johanna Swenson, at her Hill drive residence. His sisters, Misses Jennie and Lillie Swenson, are both very glad to see their brother again, as is his mother.

Poet Buys Property

Theodore Morgan, formerly a member of the Pennsylvania legislature, and ex-mayor of Muskegon, said to write poetry for recreation, has purchased a piece of Eagle Rock property. The sale was made through H. G. Warren & Company.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pickrell, who have been guests of Mrs. H. L. Terry, of 257 Westmere avenue, have returned to San Diego, accompanied by Miss Lillian Light, Mrs. Terry's niece.

Miss Johanna Londergan, sister of Miss Helen Londergan, a teacher at the Eagle Rock school, has announced her engagement to James Lamb of Michigan, N. D.

H. W. Christians has returned to his home at 2403 West Hill drive after an eastern trip, where he has been looking over his business interests.

Film magnate is released in dry law case when it is shown that wet goods were seized before they reached him via express. He appears to have been a victim of a friend at Christmas time. And so it goes. Too many laws, too much snooping around into other people's business, particularly if they are prominent.

Soon it will be necessary for honest men to insure themselves against persecution and pay a premium to retain legal firms the whole year round, which will make business better—for lawyers.

Mr. Bok and the peace prize award are to be heard in congress.

Music As Anaesthetic Talks About The Weather Debaters And Others Blundering Officials

By Gil A. Cowan

Drama as intense as was evoked on any stage was witnessed in a Chicago hospital yesterday. A woman underwent a delicate operation on the eyeball and violin music was used as the anaesthetic, according to International News Service reports.

Kruezer's Sonata, Ave Maria, Souvenir and other classics were played by a great artist to detract the mind of the woman from the tiny scalpel. The operation was highly successful and it opens a new field for music, perhaps.

The writer recollects having met a musician on the desert who, when asked where he was going, said, "To the Arizona insane asylum to play in the orchestra."

It seems that orchestras soothe wrought up nerves. But they also have the opposite effect, especially when heard on the jazz phonograph, according to an eastern editor, who writes:

"A dance record we would like to see broken is the one our neighbors play at 11:30 p. m."

Not so bad, not so bad.

What do you know about the weather, folks? Sure, it's nice and all that, but, believe me, climatology and meteorology are subjects which are limitless for exploration.

At the monthly dinner of the Association of the Army last night the writer heard Ford A. Carpenter, professor and Chamber of Commerce expert in Los Angeles, talk on the weather.

For twenty-two years he served as United States observer in the Southland and he has had advantages no other government observer, perhaps, was privileged to have. His talk was so learned, so full of vital information, that not one of his hearers found "the weather" the least bit irksome as a topic. Glendale people would be privileged in having Professor Carpenter address them.

There may be no definite cycle in weather conditions, as Professor Carpenter contends, but there is a cycle in debating subjects in this state. Ten years ago "sabotage" was the rage. Now the University of California and U. S. C. operators are chewing over "criminal syndicalism," which is the same old gag. Some day the parlor pink sociologists are going to be run out of the colleges we hope. Otherwise we may expect debaters to consider the question, "Is Murder a Crime?"

No sooner does the United States recognize Mexico than the rebels seize the opportunity to embroil this nation in chili con carne. The Spanish-American seems to be the hot tamale to keep peaceful. Incidentally, it is expensive for Uncle Sam to have such neighbors, we take it, when Texas fears guerilla warfare.

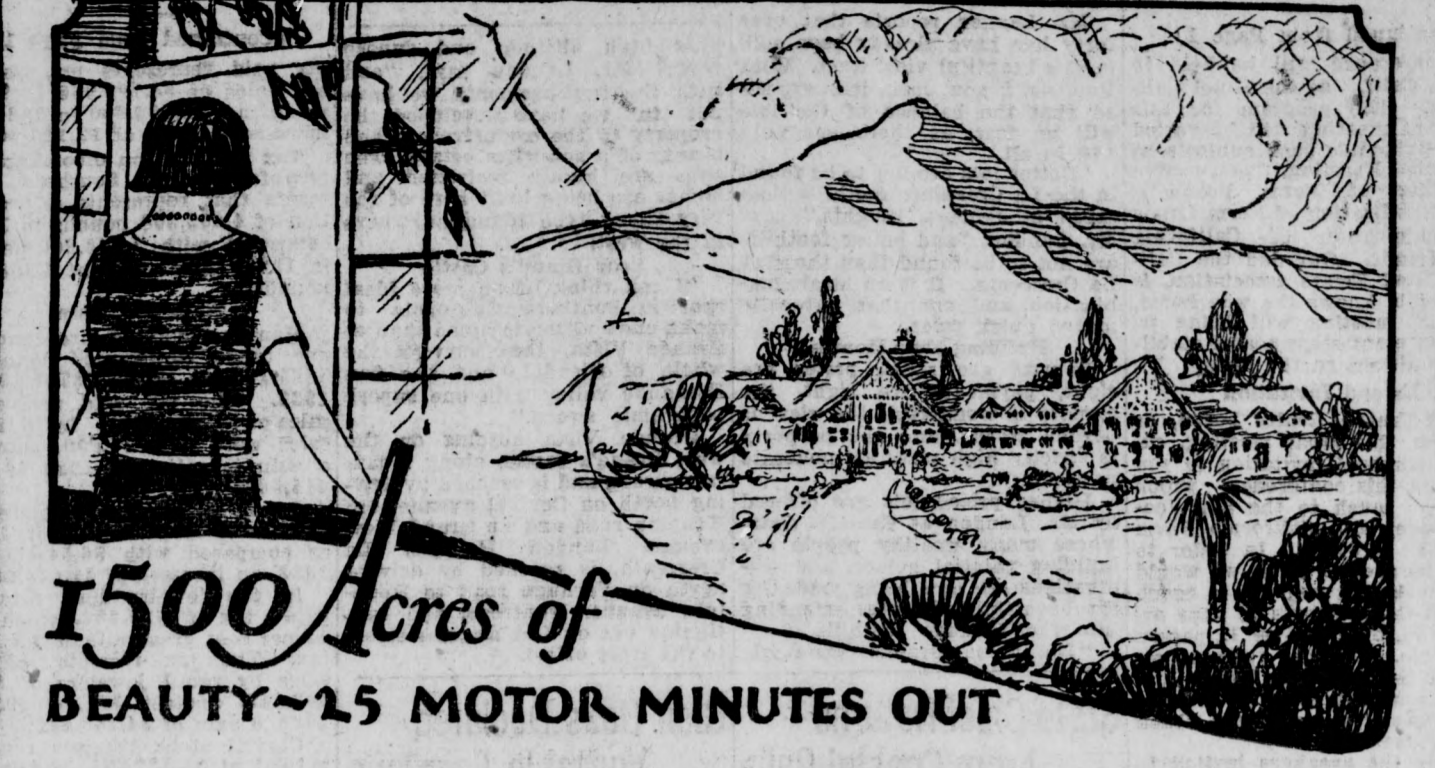

Two instances of blundering on the part of officials. Impounded Julian funds are released after the state corporation commissioner is worsted in court, although we cannot doubt his sincerity in zealously guarding the public from possible fraud.

Film magnate is released in dry law case when it is shown that wet goods were seized before they reached him via express. He appears to have been a victim of a friend at Christmas time. And so it goes. Too many laws, too much snooping around into other people's business, particularly if they are prominent.

Soon it will be necessary for honest men to insure themselves against persecution and pay a premium to retain legal firms the whole year round, which will make business better—for lawyers.

SPARR HEIGHTS

ONE moment it's dark... Slender fingers of crimson swiftly steal over the stark-outlined peaks at the east... Then the triumphant sun crashes into view... Crisp mountain breezes awaken the birds and flowers... Now the sun's in full command; its mellow gold floods Sparr Heights... Health—aggressive, vigorous well-being—seems to permeate the atmosphere... Little children, chubby and sparkling as Rose O'Neill subjects, flutter on the green lawns... A tall woman, leading a slender-nosed Russian dog, saunters down the steps of a Montecito Park mansion... The setting, its aristocracy, the broad acres, the well-tailored girl and the pedigreed animal, is worthy of a Franklin Booth working in oriental purples and greens and yellows... Words are futile to paint the beauties of Sparr Heights... The drawing above of one vista from a window in Montecito Park, looking out over the new Oakmont Country Club, is just one of a thousand different-angled views that you must see to appreciate fully!

MONTECITO PARK

Sparr Heights is not merely a subdivision. It is the fulsome development of a 1500-acre residential city in the broad acres five minutes north of Glendale on Verdugo Road... Hundreds of home buyers have invested here in the past year... Sales are far over the $2,000,000 mark. And in all Sparr Heights there is no more beautiful part than the restricted residence section in the gentle hills to the east, called Montecito Park... Here are being erected some of Los Angeles' proudest homes... It will pay you well to drive out Sunday and see them...

Oakmont Country Club

This beautiful new golf club, with its 18-hole course, tennis courts and swimming pool is erected in the heart of Sparr Heights and will be opened about March 1. Every lot in beautiful Montecito Park looks out over this wonderful new course, with its old-English manse type of clubhouse.

While you are here note particularly the improvements. They are worth-while, solid, in keeping with the development throughout Sparr Heights... Water, lights, gas, electricity, concrete streets, curbs and sidewalks, bulwarked protecting walls on the gentle hill curves, and sewers... these things are here for you. Follow the map below.
