REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL, }
TRENTON, NOVEMBER 30, 1864. }

To His Excellency JOEL PARKER, Governor of the State of New Jersey :

SIR,—I have the honor to submit the following report of the operations of this department for the past year.

It has devolved upon the department to provide for various wants of New Jersey regiments in the service of the United States, and for the new regiments which have been organized during the year under your excellency's proclamations ; and also to supply arms and accoutrements to various companies of the State militia.

At the date of my last annual report, this department was engaged in equipping the 3d cavalry regiment with the special (hussar) uniform, authority for which was received from the quartermaster-general's department at Washington ; and a copy of the correspondence relating thereto is herewith appended, under statement A.

The clothing, equipping, subsisting, and mounting of this cavalry regiment occasioned many laborious details, extending through a period of some four months.

On January 2d, in accordance with directions from your Excellency, I notified Major-General Stoneman, chief of cavalry bureau at Washington, that this State had purchased, under authority of the quartermaster-general U. S. A., more horses for the 2d cavalry regiment than had been used, the surplus being occasioned by that regiment being ordered to take the field before it was recruited to its maximum number, and that these horses were inspected by a competent, experienced, and sworn inspector before they were paid for ; and permission was asked to turn these horses over to the 3d cavalry regiment, then recruiting under the superintendence of Colonel A. J. Morrison. This request was urged for the reason that Colonel Morrison desired to mount one of his companies for guard and patrol duty. About this time there was a change in the head of the cavalry bureau, Major-General Stoneman being relieved from that duty, and Brigadier-General Garrard assigned to the position. From this latter gentleman I received a communication requesting more explicit information on the subject than he possessed. His predecessor had a thorough acquaintance of the nature of my proposal, from a conversation I had with him at his headquarters. The subject was laid before General Garrard in full, and the request was freely complied with.

Your Excellency subsequently made application to the cavalry bureau for authority to mount all the companies of the 3d cavalry regiment, in accordance with the plan pursued in the case of the 2d cavalry regiment. The authority was granted, with a slight modification of the plan alluded to. Accordingly, on the 10th of February I informed Brigadier-General Wilson, then chief of the cavalry bureau, that we were prepared to inspect and purchase horses for the 3d cavalry regiment, and that we awaited the arrival of a U. S. inspector whom he might designate, to act in conjunction with our State inspector. Captain J. E. Harrison, of 1st cavalry, U. S. A., in a few days thereafter reported for duty as inspector, under orders of General Wilson, bringing with him, however, instructions which changed entirely the character of the proposed plan, and which, if insisted upon, would have retarded very seriously the mounting of the regiment. I addressed a communication to General Wilson, asking for a modification of these instructions governing Captain Harrison. The difference between us was sufficiently compromised to enable us to proceed, and mount on good horses this regiment, in a short space of time.

On the 10th of February this regiment, fully armed, equipped, and mounted by the State, was mustered into the U. S. service, and on the 5th of April left Trenton, under orders to march to Washington. This was perhaps one of the most complete and serviceable volunteer cavalry regiments mustered into the U. S. service.

On the 29th of January a request was received from the Q. M. General, U. S. A., to furnish the 33d regiment with trousers, leggings, and sashes. The uniform of that regiment being a special one (zouave), the department at Washington desired that the State should furnish this clothing, and be reimbursed by the United States the expense of so doing. In accordance with this request, the clothing was provided, and forwarded to the regiment.

Your Excellency having received authority, on the 15th of May, to raise one or more regiments of infantry for one hundred days' service, and having appointed Colonel E. Burd Grubb to recruit the 37th regiment, with his headquarters at Trenton, and Colonel J. S. Barlow to recruit the 38th regiment, with his headquarters at Newark, it became my duty to make proper arrangements for the transportation, subsistence, clothing, and equipping of recruits. Subsequently, the two organizations were consolidated into one, the 37th regiment, and put under the command of Colonel Grubb. In about one month from the commencement of recruitment, the regiment was mustered into the U. S. service, and immediately joined the army of the Potomac in front of Petersburg.

Immediately after Lieut. Gen. Grant reached the position before Richmond, the President of the United States, in a proclamation under date of July 18th, called for 500,000 men, and under the provisions of the conscription act, a draft for the quota of the State would follow this call if it was not filled by volunteers. Your Excellency in order, if possible, to prevent a draft in this State, or in case one was executed, to mitigate its severity, proposed to the President of the United States that authority be given you to raise new organizations by volunteering previous to the time appointed for the draft. Authority to raise two infantry regiments, to be recruited under General Orders No. 131, series of 1864, was given to you under date of August 19th. Immediately thereafter you appointed Col. Hiram Van Buskirk as commandant of post at Newark, and Col. Wm. J. Sewell, who had just returned from the field in command of the 5th regiment, as commandant of post at Trenton. It pertained to this department to second your Excellency's efforts. At once barracks, both at Newark and at Trenton, were repaired and put in order. Requisitions were made on the Q. M. Gen'l U. S. A., for clothing, and camp and garrison equipage necessary for the speedy equipment of these regiments. Arrangements were also made for provisioning the recruits. Captain Chas. F. Snowden was appointed as Post Quartermaster at Newark, and Captain Israel Wells to the same position at Trenton. During the recruitment of these regiments this department furnished them with subsistence, forage, straw and fuel; the expenses for which have been charged against the United States. On Oct. 3d, the 38th regiment was mustered into the United States service for one year, and subsequently, the 39th regiment was likewise mustered in.

When Lieut. Gen'l Grant crossed the Rappahannock and Rapidan rivers, and became engaged in the terrible conflicts of the Wilderness, the wounded in large numbers were taken to Fredericksburg. There was a very great scarcity of surgeons, nurses, and hospital supplies at that place. Your Excellency was called upon by the Surgeon General U. S. A., for volunteer surgeons and nurses. It devolved upon this department to forward the physicians and nurses who generously tendered their services for the emergency. The following are the names of gentlemen who left their engagements at home, and without compensation went to Fredericksburg as volunteer surgeons:

Dr. THOMAS J. CORSON,
 " THEODORE R. VARICK,
 " LEWIS C. COOK,
 " CLIFFORD MORROGH,
 " J. W. CONDUCT,
 " CHARLES HODGE, JR.,
 " DUNCAN P. VAIL,
 " GAUTIER.

Nurses, and hospital and sanitary stores were forwarded at the same time, and the latter were the earliest articles of the kind received at Fredericksburg in this emergency.

Subsequently, and immediately after the active operations near Richmond, your Excellency was again called upon by the Surgeon General for volunteer surgical aid. Several of the gentlemen who gave their services on the first occasion, responded as promptly for this second emergency. The surgeons of both volunteer corps were so prompt in offering themselves, and rendered such efficient service, that they are entitled to the highest praise and warmest thanks. The following volunteer surgeons were forwarded to White House, Va.:

- Dr. THOMAS J. CORSON,
- “ D. L. REEVE,
- “ CHARLES HODGE, JR.,
- “ HENRY G. COOK,
- “ ZECHARIAH READ,
- “ FRANKLIN GAUNTT,
- “ J. H. STUDDIFORD,
- “ WM. PIERSON, JR.,
- “ JOHN S. COOK,
- “ THEODORE F. MORRIS,
- “ JOHN WOLVERTON,
- “ CHARLES COOK, JR.,
- “ J. H. VONDY.

During the year the terms of service of the 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th regiments having expired, they returned to their State to be mustered out of service. It happened that the 1st and 3d regiments being the earliest to return came to Trenton unexpectedly to the State authorities. These regiments up to the time of their muster out were in the service of the United States, and under the orders of the federal officers stationed at this post, and were entitled to quarters and subsistence from the same authorities. It appears that the two regiments which were the first to return, came here as unexpectedly to the United States officers at this post as to the State officers, and neither provisions nor quarters were provided for them. After conferring with your excellency on the subject I addressed a letter to the adjutant-general of the United States Army inquiring when the terms of service of the other regiments would end, and when they might be expected to return here to be mustered out of service. On getting the desired information arrangements were made to furnish a collation to each regiment on its arrival at this city. This was done by direction of your excellency, and at the expense of the state. Knowing that such a meal would be more acceptable to the men after their weary travel than the government issue of the ordinary rations, it was thought they were entitled to this evidence of their State's appreciation of their services and valor. It was a matter of sincere regret that circumstances entirely prevented this slight compliment from being paid to the 1st and 3d regiments, but in no subsequent case of returned regiments was it omitted.

The State Military Agency at Washington has been continued during the year, and has been instrumental in relieving many cases of distress among our soldiers, it has procured for those who have been transferred to the Veteran Reserve Corps at Washington their back State pay, and has aided the departments of the State in procuring information of value to the State and to the families of soldiers. It has also been a medium of constant communication between the State and her troops in the armies of the Potomac, the James, and the Shenandoah. For a more detailed report of the operations of the agency, I would respectfully refer to the report of Colonel John C. Rafferty, the State Military Agent, which is herewith appended.

On July 5th Mr. Charles D. Deshler reported to this office under orders of your excellency for instructions as State agent for service with the troops west of the Alleghany Mountains. The following instructions were given to him:

"You will ascertain at what hospitals sick and wounded soldiers from the New Jersey regiments are placed, and visit such as can be reached without an expenditure that is out of proportion to the benefit that it may be possible to render.

"You will, from time, receive communications from the executive, and from the adjutant's general's and quartermaster general's offices, directing the performance of various services, to all of which you will be expected to make such prompt and satisfactory response as may be in your power.

"Whatever assistance you may be able to render individual soldiers from this State, and every service that you may be able to perform for citizens of the State who may make requests of you will command your attention, provided such may be connected with the welfare of soldiers, and may be consistent with the rules and orders of the United States service, and not interfere with the performance of other duties, nor involve (without special authority) the expenditure of money on account of the State.

"You will make any suggestions in your correspondence with this office which, in your opinion, may advance the good of our soldiers or subserve the interests of the State."

The services of Mr. Deshler covered a period of five months. He proved himself an efficient officer, and was successful in obtaining for New Jersey soldiers on duty in the west many important advantages which are permanent in their character. His relations to this office gave me supervision of his mission, and I am happy to say that its results were entirely satisfactorily. The following is from a report made to this office by Mr. Deshler on returning east.

"My mission, it is gratifying to me to know, has not been without substantial good results. I have visited personally in the hospitals over three hundred sick or wounded New Jersey soldiers; and have sat by the bedside of most of them, and heard the story of all. All of them have been supplied with tobacco; many with various articles of clothing; others with delicacies suitable to their feeble or reduced condition of health; and still others with paper, postage stamps, slings for wounded limbs, reading matter, and whatever could conduce to comfort or console them. Eighty-two have been sent home on furlough, or are on their way thither, through my interposition; and a large number more have, at my request, been recommended for furlough by the surgeon in charge. For several very hard cases discharges or special transfers have been procured; and to such of the men as have been furloughed or discharged, and who have been without money—owing to their not having received pay for long periods—small amounts of money have been given to enable them to buy food on their way home.

“Besides these and other matters of detail, affecting the comfort of our soldiers in the individual cases I have mentioned, several important general rules have been established, which will operate for the advantage of our men universally in the future. Among these is an order for the special muster of men in hospitals without descriptive rolls, and the payment to them of two months pay; the recognition by surgeons in charge of hospitals of the justice of discriminating in favor of men from New Jersey (as well as of other Atlantic States) for furloughs, because of the regulations of the war department debarring them from transfers to the hospitals near their homes, while men belonging to western states enjoy that privilege; and the issuing of an order at Nashville preventing men from being sent home on furlough destitute of comfortable clothing, and requiring that they be sufficiently and comfortably clad.

“It is impossible for me to enumerate all the particulars of the duty that has been performed in the behalf of the soldiers whom I have visited, and of others who have written to me from various parts of the western department. A very large amount of correspondence resulted from these duties, which, with my visits to the hospitals and to various officers, and my reports to your office, has employed me assiduously from six o'clock in the morning till ten and twelve o'clock at night, not even Sundays being excepted. The duty has been an arduous one, and often very painful; but the labor undergone and the painful emotions excited have been far more than recompensed by the distress and destitution that have been alleviated, and the touching gratefulness of the men for the tender thoughtfulness of their beloved State. The total amount of cash expended by me, I may add, including my traveling expenses, has been $417 51.

Captain James A. Perrine and Dr. John W. Kramer reported at Trenton on December 14th, 1863, under appointment of your Excellency, and received instructions as agents for this department to transact business with regimental commanders and quartermasters on duty in the Southwest. The report of Doctor Kramer will be found herewith appended.

I would now very respectfully call your Excellency's attention to the duties of this department in connection with our State militia.

The riots which occurred at South Amboy during November, 1863, necessitated the calling out of the militia, and under the orders of your Excellency, transportation, clothing and equipments were furnished to the following uniform militia companies:

- Company A, Capt. Wm. R. Murphy.
- Freehold Infantry, Capt. James S. Yard.
- Company C (Rifle Corps), Capt. John B. Lutz.
- Company F (Rifle Corps), Capt. B. L. James.
- Rahway Light Artillery, Capt. J. R. Chapin.
- Company E, Capt. M. B. Provost.
- Company A, Capt. John Brintzenhoffer.

The above companies were also paid at the expiration of their service by this department; the whole expense for this service being $12,875.46.

Subsequently to the battle of Monocacy, the cities of Washington and Baltimore being endangered and communication with Washington being cut off, your Excellency, under date of July 12th, made a call upon the militia for thirty days' service to meet the emergency. Capt. R. H. Lee, of Camden, responded with a company of militia, and being fully equipped by this department, the company went to Baltimore and was placed on duty at the Relay House, on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at the junction of the Washington branch with the main stem. At the expiration of service the company returned to the State and was paid for its service by this department the aggregate amount of $1,801.75.

Instructions were received from your Excellency, under date of July 27th, to purchase a supply of arms and ammunition for the State. Subsequently the authority of that date was extended, and in obedience thereto I have purchased arms, the character and number of which will further appear.

On July 27th and September 12th, respectively, orders were offered to and accepted by the New Jersey Arms and Ordnance Company for rifle muskets, calibre .58, of the U. S. Springfield model, 1861, amounting in the aggregate to 3,300 muskets. Copies of these orders will be found herewith appended, marked Statement B.

On August 8th an order was given to Mr. E. Remington, of Ilion, N. Y., for 1,000 Remington army pistols, calibre .44, which were furnished according to the conditions and modifications of the order, a copy of which is herewith submitted, marked Statement C.

On the same date of the above, an order was tendered to the Ames Manufacturing Company, Chicopee, Mass., for 1,000 cavalry sabres, which were furnished according to the conditions of the order, a copy of which is furnished herewith, marked Statement D.

Under the terms and modifications of an order of the 9th of August, there were purchased from the Ames Manufacturing Company 12 light Napoleon guns, bronze, smooth bore. A copy of the order and correspondence on the subject will be found under Statement E.

Ammunition for these arms has also been purchased.

In these purchases the State has procured a good supply of serviceable arms with which to encourage the organization of militia companies, or for any emergent circumstances which may come upon us during these troublous times. It is proper also to remark that the purchases of arms were made, as the orders will show, with United States certificates of indebtedness, which have been given to the State by the treasury department at Washington, to reimburse the State for advances on account of our troops in the United States service, and these certificates of indebtedness have been given at their par value.

As I stated to your Excellency in the report I had the honor to transmit a year since, every arm, before being received and paid for, is taken apart and carefully inspected by a competent person appointed for that purpose, and every part or appendage which is considered to be in the least degree defective is rejected, and corresponding parts which are perfect are required of the contractor, so that the State has secured arms entirely free from defects in all their parts, and it is believed on the most favorable terms possible.

Under the act of Assembly of March 31st, 1864, the following books on military science have been purchased for the use of the militia of this State, viz. :

- 100 copies U. S. Infantry and Rifle Tactics.
- 50 " Mahan's Outpost Duty.
- 20 " U. S. Cavalry Tactics.
- 200 " Forms for Parade and Review.

On the 18th of February your Excellency made a request of the Secretary of War for the "Bergen Heights Arsenal," situated near Jersey City, an old property that has been in possession of the United States government for a long series of years. The Quartermaster-General of the United States was pleased to recommend that the property be turned over to your Excellency for the purposes for which it was desired, viz. : "for the occupation of the Hudson County Artillery, to be used for the storage of a battery." Accordingly, on the 8th of April, Major Stewart Van Vliet, United States Quartermaster at New York, was authorized to turn over the aforesaid property. Under orders of your Excellency it became my duty to proceed to New York and receive from Major Van Vliet the property, upon the terms and conditions named by the Secretary of War. Several visits to General Van Vliet have been made, and though the arrangements are not fully completed for the occupancy of the arsenal for the purposes designed, possession of the property has been given to the State.

The following amounts have been expended during the year ending this date, as stated under the several heads, for recruiting, subsisting, clothing, transporting and equipping troops mustered into the United States service, and into service of the State:

Statement F, contains an account of clothing, camp and garrison equipage, quartermasters' stores, baggage train, hospital supplies, ordnance and ordnance stores, serviceable and unserviceable, remaining in the State Arsenal on the 30th of November, 1864.

Statement G, the number of arms cleaned and repaired for the year ending November 30, 1864.

Statement H, the quantity and kind of clothing, camp, and garrison equipage, received upon requisitions on the different bureaux of the War Department, for issue to the troops of this State, mustered into the service of the United States.

Statement I, the clothing, camp, and garrison equipage, ordnance, and ordnance stores, turned into the arsenal by officers of the different regiments of New Jersey volunteers.

Statement J, contains the names of contractors and others, and the quantity and kind of articles furnished by each.

Statement K, contains a list of clothing, and camp and garrison equipage furnished to recruiting parties for regiments in the field, for issue to recruits and regiments being organized for U. S. service.

Statement L, contains a full and particular account of issues of clothing, camp and garrison equipage, quartermasters' stores, hospital supplies, ordnance and ordnance stores, to regiments being recruited for U. S. service, officers of U. S. Army, mustering officers for issue to recruits, and provost marshals for drafted men.

Statement M, contains the number and kind of arms and accoutrements, clothing, camp and garrison equipage, and quartermasters' stores, received from disbanded and other military companies, for the year ending November 30, 1864.

Statement N, contains the clothing, camp and garrison equipage, and quartermasters' stores, issued to the uniformed militia companies of this State during the year ending November 30, 1864.

Statement O, the arms and accoutrements issued to uniformed companies of this State, upon their giving bond, according to law, for the year ending November 30, 1864.

Statement P, contains the quantity of ammunition expended during the year ending November 30, 1864.

Statement Q, shows the names of all persons from whom articles have been purchased, and the amount paid to each under the several descriptions of expenditures incident to the recruiting, organizing, equipping, &c., of troops mustered into the service of the United States, and the militia service of this State.

All which is respectfully submitted.

L. PERRINE,

Quartermaster-General, New Jersey.

APPENDIX I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 31st, 1864, }
Office of New Jersey Military Agency, }
No. 52 G street, near Fifteenth. }

Brig. Gen. L. Perrine, Quar. Mas. Gen. New Jersey :

General: I have the honor to present the following report of the business of this agency during the past year. Upon my journal, in which I note the business of those calling, are the names of nine hundred and eleven (911) civilians, and eleven hundred and thirty (1130) soldiers. This does not include those calling for the four weeks succeeding the Battle of the Wilderness. The press of business prevented any record being kept for that period. Of the civilians, 440, by letters of recommendation and other assistance from the agency, obtained passes to Alexandria and its vicinity, and to the army in the field. Passes to the army are only granted to transact public business, or such private business as cannot otherwise be disposed of, or to remove bodies of the dead, or to visit near relatives dangerously ill. No passes to females except by direct permission from the front. Recruiting agents from almost every locality in our State, visited Washington in January, February and March, and in July and August. They called for information and assistance in various ways. As the regulations in regard to credits were frequently changed, constant vigilance and almost daily visits to the different offices, were required to obtain the necessary information. There was great rivalry between the recruiting agents of the different states, as also between our local agents. Next to those of Massachusetts our agents were the most successful. Again, those re-enlisting would call enquiring where they could do the best, and whom they could trust.

From 1st of January to 31st of December, 1864, three thousand four hundred and eighty-eight (3488) Jersey soldiers have been inmates of the hospitals of this department. There are seventeen large hospitals in the vicinity of Washington; three division hospitals, composed of thirteen separate buildings (hotels, churches, large private residences), in Alexandria, and Fairfax Seminary, two miles from Alexandria. They were filled to their utmost capacity in May and June.

For six months, as a member of the Board of Inspection of Hospitals and Prisons, I visited monthly each and every one of the hospitals and prisons of the Department of Washington through all their various parts. I availed myself of these visits to see and inquire into the necessities of our own men.

This service was without compensation. The members of the board finding it consumed one-half of their time, declined acting any longer without compensation, and the board was dissolved. On Sunday, the 9th day of May, it was announced that a large number of wounded from the Wilderness, would arrive by rail from Rappahannock Station. After waiting several hours at the depot Sunday night, information was received that our unguarded train of wounded men, after crossing the Rapidan, had been turned back by a cavalry force of the enemy. On Monday night there arrived six hundred stragglers slightly wounded, who had made their way through Fredericksburg and across to Aquia Landing, on the Potomac, where they had been picked up and brought to Washington.

On Tuesday morning the surgeon-general called for volunteer nurses. I organized a party of fifteen, under the superintendence of Capt. N. B. Aaronson, composed of Mrs. Painter, and Mrs. Livingston, Misses Bradshaw and Harting, of the Jersey Aid Society, and others, and by three o'clock had shipped twenty-three cases of hospital stores, the larger portion of which consisted of contributions previously received by the New Jersey Aid Society from different Ladies' Associations of our State. The Jersey party were ready at 6 P. M., each man with his own private stores, but the steamer did not leave until Wednesday morning. They arrived at Belle Plain in the afternoon, where they obtained three army wagons, in which our Jersey party and the Maine agency, with their stores, traveled, in the midst of a heavy storm, to Fredericksburg, which they reached the next morning at daylight. The hospital stores taken by these two State agencies were the first distributed at Fredericksburg.

On Wednesday you arrived in Washington, with a party of fourteen volunteer nurses, from Trenton, whom you placed under charge of Dr. Corson. It became my duty to procure passage for them, and transportation for stores purchased by you, and they left the following day. A second supply of stores were sent the following week. The New Jersey Aid furnished one hundred dollars, and the Hon. John Hill, of Morris, twenty-five dollars, towards this purpose. I received from Fredericksburg a very complete list of wounded Jerseymen, which I forwarded to your department. Misses Harting and Bradshaw rendered valuable service in making this list. As the medical department had but twenty-four hours' notice to prepare for the reception of the wounded at Fredericksburg, it was nearly a week before the wounded could receive many articles that were most sorely needed. Abundance was at Belle Plain; but that higher law of war, that demands everything to be sacrificed to the furnishing ammunition and food to those fighting on the battle-field, monopolized the transportation to the exclusion of the wounded. The sanitary commission were compelled to purchase teams and send them to Belle Plain to transport their stores to Fredericksburg. It was one of the stern necessities of war. The suffering caused thereby is not in the slightest degree attributable to any want of foresight or negligence of the medical department.

No one could have been more untiring and indefatigable than the surgeon-general in providing for the wants, and doing all that human means would allow, to alleviate the sufferings of the brave men that filled to overflowing every nook and corner of Fredericksburg.

For ten days I had occasion to visit him frequently, often before breakfast and after ten o'clock at night, and I always found him accessible and courteous, and disposed to furnish every facility for all reasonable efforts for the good of the wounded. In compliance with the request of the surgeon-general, for volunteer surgeons from New Jersey in May, Dr. T. R. Varick, D. L. Reeve, —Gautier, T. J. Corson, Charles Hodge, D. P. Vail, N. Mourow, J. W. Condict, Lewis C. Cook, reported at Washington, and were ordered to Fredericksburg.

Under a like request in June, Dr. John Wolverton, T. J. Corson, Charles Hodge, B. Reed, F. Gauntt, William Pierson, Jr., John S. Cook, J. H. Studdiford, Henry S. Cook, Charles Cook, J. H. Vondy, T. F. Morris, reported, and were ordered to the army in the vicinity of Richmond.

These gentlemen remained on duty from five to ten days, and rendered valuable service. As soon as the wounded commenced arriving in Washington I used every effort to keep as correct a list of Jersey-men as the circumstances would permit. I forwarded daily, to Trenton, lists of casualties and of the wounded. The New Jersey Aid Society appointed committees to visit the hospitals. They continued their visits regularly for nearly two months, and some of them up to the present time. The agency is much indebted to these gentlemen for information of the wants of our men in hospital. For several weeks there was scarcely a moment of the day that the office was free from friends and relatives of the soldier, seeking information or assistance.

Those only who were here can form any correct idea of the multiplicity of the business that requires attention at such times. The charges on telegrams received in May was thirty-five dollars and thirty-six cents.

I early inquired about transfers to the hospitals in New Jersey, but the immense amount of labor thrown on the hospitals here prevented any general transfers for a time. Special transfers were occasionally obtained.

The medical directors of Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York were instructed, in making transfers, to transfer men to their own State as far as possible. During the past year, the surgeon-general has, at my request, ordered three general transfers of Jerseymen from the hospitals of this department to hospitals in New Jersey: the first on the 29th January; second on 18th July; and the third on the 7th October. There was a fourth transfer ordered by the War Department on the 25th of October, from all hospitals to Newark and Beverly, but as furloughs to vote were ordered about the same time, many of the men chose furloughs instead of a transfer. I have obtained a number of transfers of individuals. All men desire to be transferred to their own State ; but my policy in this matter has been so to time my application as to obtain general transfers as often as possible, and only to make application for special transfers when there are particular reasons for asking for them.

I endeavor to keep myself informed of the general rules of the different departments, and give our men the benefit of the rules as they are. These rules sometimes appear arbitrary and unnecessarily rigid to those imperfectly acquainted with the hardships unavoidably incident to a state of war: in fact, the great majority of the people at home have but a very imperfect idea of the calamities that war inflicts upon its actual participants. Of the soldiers calling at the office, a majority call for assistance in settling their pay matters. This class of our business has increased very much the past year. Two-thirds of the time of my assistant is occupied in visiting the different offices of the pay department. During the month of December, claims to the amount of $1,869 have been adjusted. This often requires correspondence with quite remote places: in one instance, three different hospitals in vicinity of St. Louis had to be applied to for certificates. In May and June, by the possession of the State Rolls, I was enabled to procure discharges for a large number of men who were in hospitals and in veteran reserve corps, whose term had expired, but who were without descriptive lists.

To specify each particular class of cases that from time to time require the attention of the agency would make my report too long. In October, 1862, under an order of the War Department, a number of men were transferred from 5th N. J. V. to 2d U. S. Cavalry, for the remainder of their original term of enlistment; by a mistake of the mustering officer, over fifteen were mustered for three years, instead of the remainder of the term. At the expiration of their term, thirteen refused to do duty and were placed under arrest at Harper's Ferry. A sergeant of the same company, who was at dismounted camp, called on me for aid. I made a written statement of the case, accompanied by the certificates of the captain and lieutenant of the man's company in the Jersey regiment, corroborating the man's statement. After some weeks I received a reply from the Adjutant-General's office, stating these men were on the muster-rolls for three years from October, 1862, and could not be discharged unless an officer who had transferred them would certify that the men's version was correct. This officer was at the West at the time of making the original application, but had subsequently been ordered to Sheridan's army. I immediately wrote to him, but it was six weeks before I received a reply. The delay was occasioned by the constant movements of the army. That reply fortunately corroborated the statement of the men, and they were discharged.

But the case is not yet ended. The officer who mustered them out gave them papers as if discharged in September, which deprived them of pay for the time they were detained—some ten weeks. To correct that error, I wrote two letters which have been six weeks traveling in the Shenandoah valley without reply as yet.

There are at present 528 Jersey men in the hospitals of this department. The hospitals in this department are well conducted—some of them model ones. The men have the best of surgical skill, and as well nursed as is reasonable to expect. The sick are naturally querulous; but I believe there is less complaint and dissatisfaction among the inmates of any hospital here than there would be if every man was in his own home. In October there was a constant stream of applicants for furloughs to go home and vote. In accordance with your instructions, I gave all the aid at my command to gratify the men's wishes in this respect. I remained here till the last train left on Monday night before election. If any man failed to obtain a furlough, it was no fault of this agency.

The forwarding of boxes and packages to soldiers in Jersey regiments from their friends at home received at this agency from your department, has been continued during the last year. Trips are made every ten days, when the movements of the army will permit, to Grant's army, and occasional trips to Sheridan's command.

Very respectfully,

JOHN C. RAFFERTY,

N. J. State Military Agency.

APPENDIX II.

To Brigadier-General L. PERRINE, Quartermaster-General of the State of New Jersey :

GENERAL,—Under appointment of his excellency the Governor of New Jersey, Captain James A. Perrine and myself left Trenton on December 16th, 1863, to visit the 13th, 2d cavalry, 33d, 34th and 35th regiments New Jersey volunteers. We were entrusted with $25,025 by Governor Parker, and were furnished with an outfit at your office; our instructions were to pay to members of the above named regiments who were entitled to the same, the special bounty fund placed at the disposal of the Governor by the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, and to procure correct rolls of the regiments, and settle, as agents of your department, certain business with commanders and quartermasters whose accounts were necessarily left in an unfinished condition by their regiments being hurried away from the State. I beg leave respectfully to submit the following report of our errand and its results.

On proceeding to Washington, the secretary of war, at your request, gave an order upon the quartermaster's department that we should be furnished with transportation, and we were commended to the various military commanders whose departments we might visit.

We arrived at Nashville on the 23d of December, and reported at General Grant's head quarters in that city. I take pleasure in acknowledging the obligations we are under to members of General Grant's staff, for their prompt and kind assistance, and especially were we indebted to Lieutenant Colonel Bowers, A. A. G., without whose aid we would have had long delays and an incalculable amount of trouble. On the 25th of December (Christmas day) we left Nashville, and took railroad to Bridgeport, Alabama, where we arrived late at night. We were entertained at the head quarters of Captain Dudley, post Q. M. The next morning we took steamer bound up the Tennessee river, but were delayed at the landing until evening by a telegraph which announced that General Grant had left Nashville, and desired to go up the river in the steamer. The 27th of December found us in the midst of an army but poorly supplied with rations and forage. Officers were disposed to aid us but the means to do so were lacking. We traveled on foot through the Lookout valley in a hard rain storm, and labored through the mud and broken logs of a corduroy road for some six miles to the camp of the 33d regiment, New Jersey volunteers. We found this regiment in a condition of extreme suffering; it had gone into camp after an arduous campaign in East Tennessee, where both officers and men had experienced much suffering from hunger and cold, having consumed their rations, and subsisted for days together upon corn in the ear, and having worn out their clothing. The regiment was encamped about two miles from Chattanooga, immediately in front of Lookout Mountain. A pitiless cold rain was falling, the men were without tents, and with log huts but half finished. They trod upon the cold wet ground with their bare feet, and gathered around their freezing limbs the tattered remnants of their garments. Through the kindness of Major Peloubet and Chaplain Faulk we were made as comfortable as circumstances would permit. On the day succeeding our arrival we paid to the members of this regiment whose names were found upon the rolls handed to us, and who were present, the bounty to which they were entitled.

On the 29th of December we left the camp of the 33d regiment for the river. There was no steamer at the landing, and none bound down the river expected for several days. After spending a day and night in efforts to obtain some information or assistance that would expedite our journey, we took a flat boat with several others who were anxious to get to Bridgeport, and after a trip not unattended with exposure and danger, arrived there at midnight, and in the midst of a fearful storm.

On the 1st of January, 1864, we reached the camp of the 13th regiment, New Jersey volunteers, at Duck river bridge, on the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad. Colonel E. A. Carman and the other officers of this regiment gave us a cordial reception. We arrived at their camp after a night of intense suffering, from exposure to cold, and were in a condition to fully appreciate the hospitable intentions of Colonel Carman and his officers. Our business with this regiment was facilitated by the volunteer aid given to us by its officers.

We proceeded to Nashville on the 2d day of January. We spent the 3d and a portion of the 4th in visiting New Jersey soldiers in the hospitals of that city. On the 4th we left in steamer, and occupied some three days en route to Columbus, Ky., via Cairo. We reached Union City, Tenn., about fifteen miles from Columbus, on January 9th, where we found the 35th regiment, New Jersey volunteers encamped, and not far off, a portion of the 2d New Jersey cavalry. The 34th regiment, New Jersey volunteers, was returning from an expedition into Middle Tennessee, and came in during the night. Colonel Cladek and the officers of the 35th regiment gave us every accommodation and attention that was possible. Indeed, it would be difficult to express our high appreciation of the generous hospitalities extended to us at the 13th and 35th regiments. Our business with the 34th and 35th regiments was satisfactorily concluded. The business relating to the 2d cavalry was, from necessity, unattended to. This regiment, with the exception of the small detachment near Union City, held a post some fifty miles distant, and which was accessible only by difficult and dangerous country roads. The commandant of the post at Union City would not have suffered us to go out there without a military escort, and one could not have been furnished without a delay of several days. Our instructions forbade us to take the money which was in our care over any route where its loss might occur. The best that we could do, was to leave for Colonel Karge, commanding the 2d cavalry, what papers we had belonging to his regiment, which, we were assured, would be forwarded to him by the earliest mounted force leaving for his post; and, in a communication addressed to him, he was requested to correspond with Governor Parker upon the subject matter presented.

We left for Cairo on the 11th of January, and left that city on the succeeding day for the east, arriving in New Jersey on the 16th day of January. Our accounts were presented to His Excellency the Governor, as well as to yourself, and we were happy to receive assurances that they were entirely satisfactory.

I ought not to close this report without bearing testimony to the courage, energy and fidelity of my companion, the principal agent for the State, and who was more responsible than myself for the results of our mission. At an early stage in the trip, he was violently attacked with a painful disease, which yielded but for a short time to the usual remedies, and then became obstinate and more painful. Through storm and cold he journeyed, while enduring the most extreme agony. On two occasions of peril—one, when in an open flat-boat, during a night of storm on the Tennessee river, we were exposed to the dangers of drowning and to a threatened fire from pickets on the shore, and another on the Ohio river, when the captain of the steamer feared that vessel and cargo might be lost—he was perfectly helpless, and yet undaunted, he never forgot his responsibility, nor neglected any means which would advance the prosecution of our business. His exposure on a stormy night, when we wandered a long time seeking shelter, increased his illness. I regret to say that he returned to his home in a condition of health which necessitated submission to a painful surgical operation, and which will require many months, if not years, of great care. The State had in Captain James A. Perrine, a faithful servant, devoted to the interests of her soldiers.

Please accept assurances of our thanks for the courtesies extended to us by your department, while in Trenton receiving instructions, and on our return to the State.

I am, General, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN W. KRAMER.

STATEMENT A.

OFFICE OF QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL, }
TRENTON, NOV. 26, 1863. }

Col. Charles Thomas, Acting Quartermaster-General, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.:

COLONEL: I am directed by his excellency the Governor, to inform you that he is recruiting a regiment of Hussars for the United States service, under general order No. 75, series of 1862, to be credited on the deficiency of the State's quota previous to the last call.

In order to encourage recruiting he has adopted a uniform for this corps very similar in cut to the United States cavalry; dark blue jacket, light blue pants, and light blue overcoats. It will cost about three dollars more than that uniform, which arises principally from the trimmings and decorations.

The additional cost of this uniform will be charged against the men, thereby saving any loss to the government. The recruits for this regiment number now about two hundred and fifty men. It is desirable that there should be as little delay as possible in providing the uniforms.

As the government has not the uniforms on hand, and to expedite the recruitment and equipment of the regiment, the governor instructs me to say that he will provide the uniforms immediately, the State to be reimbursed upon the muster into service of the regiment for the number received for by the company commanders, or quartermaster approved by the colonel commanding the regiment. If you can approve of this arrangement you will please telegraph to me tomorrow so that I may contract immediately for a sufficient number for recruiting parties. I will pledge myself that the cloth in quality shall be government standard.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed)

L. PERRINE,

STATEMENT B.

OFFICE OF QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL, }
TRENTON, JULY 27, 1864. }

New Jersey Arms and Ordnance Co., Trenton, N. J.:

SIRS,—I hereby offer you an order to furnish the State of New Jersey with two thousand (2,000) rifle muskets; calibre, .58; U. S. Springfield model, 1861; accompanied with the following appendages and spare parts, viz.: one screw-driver, one cone-wrench, one wiper, one tomption, and one spare cone to every gun; one main spring, one sear spring, one tumbler punch, and one tumbler screw to every four guns; and one ball screw and one spring vice to every ten guns.

These arms are to be in all respects equal in quality of material, finish, and workmanship, to the sample arm, deposited by you at this office upon the 9th of September, 1863, stamped on the lock-plate "Trenton," and are to interchange with the U. S. Springfield model, and with each other in all their parts. They are to be subject to inspection by State inspectors; and none will be received or paid for but such as pass inspection, and are approved by the State inspectors.

These 2,000 muskets and appendages are to be delivered free of expense at the State Arsenal, on or before the 1st day of September, 1864. Payments will be made in United States certificates of indebtedness at par, at the rate of sixteen dollars and fifty cents ($16.50) for each arm, including the before mentioned spare parts and appendages. These arms are to be packed in arm chests, twenty in each box, accompanied with the appendages and parts for that number of arms. These boxes will be furnished by the undersigned at the State Arsenal.

Please signify in writing your acceptance or non-acceptance of the above order, on the terms and conditions herein specified.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
