THIRD ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Trustees of The Sheltering Arms.

As this Report may fall into the hands of many persons unacquainted with the aim of the Institution, the following sentences, indicating precisely the purpose of the Trustees, are quoted from the Report of the first year :

“ The object of this Incorporation is thus stated in the Circular issued last autumn :

“ ‘ The Sheltering Arms is intended to furnish a home for various classes of children who, under present rules, cannot be admitted, or are not likely to be sent by their friends to any existing institution.’

“ In their desire fully to supply the gap remaining in the public charities of the city, the Trustees announced the intention of taking all children, however young, and without regard to the state of their health, provided they are not ill with contagious diseases.

“ Acting upon the advice of persons of long experience in the administration of city charities, the Trustees of The Sheltering Arms have considered that their original intention would be most thoroughly carried out by requiring of the friends of children received, a payment for board. Parents unable, from various reasons, to keep their children at home, and unwilling to give up the control of their own offspring, place them here, subject at any time to withdrawal, and pay, according to their means, a third or a half, or larger proportion of the expenses of their support. Several of our children must be, through life, dependent upon others' aid, being blind or dumb, or permanently crippled. Blind children or deaf mutes are kept only until they reach the age limited for admission into the Blind or Deaf and Dumb Asylums. Incurables and hopeless cripples have from the beginning formed part of our household. These disabled children have generally found friends in some individual or Sunday-school or Church, ready to assume the entire charge of their support.

“The larger part of the children have parents living, and yet either have no home, or none where they would receive proper physical care or moral training. Some are placed here by fathers of small means, with wives invalid, or owing to intemperance or other bad habits unfit to have the care of their children, paying so much as they are able of the cost of maintenance. Mothers deserted by their husbands, or for any cause thrown upon their own exertions for support, in like manner commit their little ones to The Sheltering Arms, going out themselves for day's work or household service, and paying as board for their children part of their earnings or wages. Children once sadly neglected, in some cases, indeed, living in squalidness and filth, are now clean and orderly under the roof of this home, are merry and happy, as they are trained for usefulness in the present life, for heaven in the next.”

The original intention has been carried out to the present time, save that infants of a few months are no longer received, both because it was found almost impossible to rear them and also because better provision for that class of children is made at the Infants' Nursery.

The Trustees, in reviewing the record of the past twelve months, find many causes for thankfulness to God and abundant reason for encouragement; nevertheless they cannot altogether repress the regret that they are so far from fulfilling their desire of receiving many more in need of such a home as has been here provided.

They cannot be too thankful that the misgivings with which their weak faith undertook, a year ago, the support of a household more than doubled, increased in one day from forty children to ninety, have proved utterly groundless. He whose are all riches and all souls has sent us new friends and opened to our anxious sight many fresh sources of supply. The same effort upon the part of the Trustees which brought in $6,000 the year previous has met the outlay of $11,000 for the year just closed.

Under the blessing of God, the general health of the many weak and sickly children admitted upon the erection of the new building has greatly improved. Wasted forms have rounded into fulness, and pale cheeks taken on the hue of health. To the self-denying attention of the sisters, having charge of the house, is owing much of this success. Our thanks are due further to Drs. Carmalt and Watts, who, with great inconvenience to themselves, have, during the year, faithfully fulfilled their voluntary task; also to Dr. James Knight, who has kindly given apparatus needed by the crippled children. With all the care bestowed, however, a few sweet little faces, which lighted up at the kind ministrations of gentle hands, smile upon us no more. The perishing scenes of human life have given place to the changeless glory of the eternal world. In the arms of the Good Shepherd they have gained a better shelter. Six little beds have been emptied of their occupants; six little graves in St. Michael's Cemetery cover those loved forms.

The whole number of children in the house during the year was 137. Of these, 38 have been returned to friends, 3 sent to other institutions, 6 have died, and 90 now remain. Six of these are permanent cripples, one is blind, and one of feeble mind.

While recording what has been accomplished, we must not conceal the extent to which we have fallen short. Those for whom there is room form but a small proportion of the needy applicants. Hundreds of children have been refused admission, not a few of them cases of peculiar hardship—denied entrance solely because there was no room.

The attempt in some degree to accommodate beyond our necessarily limited number has caused to some of our friends a disappointment of another kind. The expectation was held out at the beginning of this undertaking that the receipts for board from relatives of the children would meet a third, perhaps one-half, the current expenses. Among the crowd of applicants, however, it was necessary to discriminate. Should it be by admitting those who could pay the most or those in greatest destitution? In the one case the poor children must suffer, in the other the treasury. We chose rather to throw the burden upon the latter, and, accordingly, have taken in the utterly helpless, sending away others whose friends could pay elsewhere for an endurable though not desirable home. Not a few have been received entirely without charge, in order that the slender means of a parent might be devoted to procuring elsewhere for one or two other children a safe and comfortable boarding place. Were it in our power to admit all proper applicants the proportion of our expenses chargeable to the charitable fund would be greatly lessened.

It has often been asked why we do not take the same course with some other institutions, and procure large grants from the City or State. We reply, some of the Trustees have advocated this resort; others have considered that charitable institutions, organized and carried on neither by the City nor the State, should be supported by those especially interested. The President of the Board has never doubted that charity would do this work more thoroughly than any donations of public funds drawn compulsorily by taxation from those who may disapprove our principles and our practice. Such a resource must some day fail us. Our work is, we know, God's work, who will not cease to raise us up friends. Into the hearts of many unknown to us by face has He put the desire to aid us. Our list of contributions tells how many little rills from widely separated fountains have helped to swell our stream of supply. From States near and distant, from among all denominations of Christians, and from the descendants of Abraham, have donations been received. These voluntary gifts of willing hearts and liberal hands are our surest reliance. It was thought by some a rash venture when, entirely without funds, we opened with forty children. It was rather startling to good friends when, after eighteen months of existence, we said, we have ninety children to carry through the next year. Yet the forty were fed and clothed. So were the ninety. In our Fourth Report we hope to say, we count now one hundred and twenty.

And how is this ever-increasing family to be supported? As hitherto, so in the future; one must tell our story to another, with an invitation to visit our house. Parents and teachers must set the children at work in families, and societies, and schools. It is the care of children in need; let them be cared for by the children of plenty. If any Sunday-school or circle of children desire a child to look after, and pay the $10 monthly and clothe their protégé, let some one come and make a selection. If in or about the city, visit us; if at a distance, write. Money is always welcome; so is clothing, new or old. If you meet with any subject for our care, especially if it be a crippled child, make application; perhaps we can take it in.

We must have more room, however, to supply which will be our next great effort. The luxury of New-York has invaded our retired and quiet home. The new drive, or boulevard, as some name it, sweeps away the recently finished building and destroys our grounds. It is, in the opinion of the Trustees, more to the interest of the Institution that the money awarded us by the Commissioners should be used in the purchase of ground on which to erect suitable buildings than to incur any further expense upon our present leased and much diminished premises. After examining various locations, on the island and off, it has been decided to purchase about an acre of ground in Manhattanville, on Tenth Avenue, Lawrence Street and One Hundred and Twentyninth Street, and to erect buildings in which the children will be in separate families of twenty-five each. The required accommodations for a family are estimated to cost $5,000. One individual has subscribed $5,000 to build such a cottage. May our Heavenly Father send us many like-minded friends. The cottages thus provided for will be known by the name of the individual or church contributing the funds. There have also been received further subscriptions towards this permanent property to the amount of $3,200. No general application has yet been made, as, until the negotiations for the land were successfully closed, no specific plans could be laid before the public. The Trustees are happy to announce that the bargain for the purchase is at length concluded, and further hereby inform their friends that, in addition to the $11,000 for current expenses, there is wanted $50,000 the present year, for buildings and payment on property. The amount may be deemed large. It is, however, the object of the Trustees to place this Charity on a permanent footing, with ample buildings and no debt. This end reached, the current expenses will be easily met.

As God has been with us in the days which are past, so may He also prosper us in the time to come.

T. M. PETERS,
President.

ADDRESS

DELIVERED BY THE SECRETARY

AT THE

Third Anniversary of "The Sheltering Arms."

(PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.)

I can scarcely realize that more than a year has passed, since I came here on the occasion of our second anniversary at the request of the Board of Trustees, to plead, in the name of charity for this Home for little children; and now again, in answer to the same request, I come before you to renew that appeal, to ask you to aid us in our work—to encourage us by your sympathy—to strengthen us by your prayers—to make provision for our daily necessities.

It is not my intention to draw for you any fancy sketch of poverty and want, or to work upon your feelings by relating painful histories of those poor victims of debauchery and sin, whose very lives are terrible even to contemplate, but I intend simply to present for your consideration, Facts, plain, stubborn Facts; and my strongest arguments must be the innocent faces of these children of the poor, in whose behalf, in the name of Christ, I am to plead.

I am free to acknowledge that I have undertaken this to-day with some reluctance—not that I am weary of begging for this Institution or of urging its claims—but I would have preferred that one more competent than myself had been chosen to tell you of our wants and to enlist you as co-workers with us in this endeavor to follow our great Leader in going about and doing good—I would that an abler pen than mine had undertaken the simple story of this charity. However, having accepted the task, I can only assure you that it is my intention to call upon you for assistance to the utmost of my ability, and do not think that I shall feel any reluctance or timidity in presenting our cause—I shall plead in full confidence of success, because I plead for children—for those whose hearts still beat responsive to the promptings of virtue—for those whose lips have not yet touched the sweetened cup of vice—for those whose youthful steps may be easily trained to tread the paths of honesty, and whose hands may still be kept from touching that which is unholy and unclean—my words may indeed fail to convince you of the great importance of this work, but the sight of these little ones, in this, their cheerful, happy Home, must surely aid me in calling forth from every heart, the firm resolution to do something in their behalf—something for His sake, who has promised that a cup of cold water only given in His name shall not lose its reward.

I shall ask you, then, to listen patiently to me whilst I trace for you the history of "The Sheltering Arms:" the Past, with all its experiences and results—the Present, with its encouragements and success—the Future, with its hopes and fears; this is to be my theme, and may He, who has already blessed us abundantly in our labors, create in your hearts a true sympathy for these His unfortunate children, who have been committed to our care; so that to our appeal for aid, such a response may come, as shall enable us to open still wider our doors and welcome to this Home of charity, Christ's poor—the halt, the maimed, the blind.

But before entering upon this part of the subject, let me, in a few words, propose to you a question, which has frequently arisen in my own mind, and to which I think I have at last found a satisfactory solution: I have given this subject much thought and study and gladly take this opportunity of bringing it to your notice.

The question is a very important one, and deserves serious attention: "Why is it that our Charitable Institutions are obliged so frequently to urge their claims upon the public and to resort to so many ways to obtain the necessary means to carry them on?" Is it because human nature has gradually been growing more and more indifferent to the cry of the poor and needy, requiring such strong appeals to arouse its sympathy, that few are able to awaken it? Is it because the world has been growing more and more peremptory in its demands—its shrines of fashion and pleasure more and more attractive—its seductions so strong that its votaries dare not for a moment look upon the dark side of life, lest it should cast an unwelcome shadow on their own bright path? Is it because the boasted civilization of this nineteenth century would deny the poor, the sick, the unfortunate, the recognition they deserve from those to whom God has entrusted the wealth of the world? lest Divs should feel less refined or cultivated if asked to minister to the troubles of Lazarus! or, is it because Charity accomplishes so little good—supplies so few of the wants of the poor—arrests so small a number of those streams of dissipation and vice which mar in their turbid flow the beauty of the earth—gives bread to so few of the hungry or wipes away so few tears from the face of suffering humanity—in proportion to the amount of means annually poured into her treasury? Are these, all or any of them, satisfactory answers to our question? To my mind, they are not. I tell you that the world has not yet succeeded in destroying that better part of our nature which believes in the Bible teaching, that it is indeed more blessed to give than to receive; and so long as the Gospel shall be faithfully preached in this land, so long shall the charities of America be the boast of her greatness and her enlightenment—as I stated once before, on a similar occasion to the present, so I repeat it now, that there is no city in the world where the people, as a general thing, give more willingly, more unsparingly to charity than in this which we all love so well. Where then must we seek our answer—if all I have stated be true, why do our Charitable Institutions languish?

We must seek the true answer, I think, nearer home, and I fear no contradiction when I affirm that the trouble lies chiefly with those who constitute what is usually known as the "Board of Trustees"—those who have the management of our asylums, our homes, our hospitals. It is not a pleasant thing, I know, to take upon ourselves the blame, but truth requires it, and we cannot deny her claims. Let me give you the results of my own investigation of the subject, and you shall answer if I am not correct in my conclusions.

I believe that the correct answer is to be found in the fact that, too frequently, those who give their time and attention to our charitable institutions undertake to accomplish too much. They send forth their influence and energies in too many different channels—they do not concentrate their labors to a sufficient degree on one object. Take, for instance, any one of our charities having a board of trustees of fifteen or twenty members, and you will almost invariably find that those who make up the board are interested not only in that one, but, at the same time, in several other benevolent undertakings. True, they are very active in the cause—constantly working, constantly begging, constantly giving; but, as their labor is wide-spread, so is the result diffused over too large a surface. Do not let me be misunderstood. I seek not to disparage the claims of any of the manifold objects we are so frequently called upon to support; but what I do assert is this, that if those of us who are willing to obey the calls of charity were to confine ourselves to one, or, at the most, two institutions, we would accomplish much more than by dividing our forces and undertaking more than we can faithfully perform. To this charge I must plead guilty myself, and therefore I may speak the more plainly on the subject. I firmly believe that we shall see our institutions flourish in exactly the same proportion as we shall give our entire attention to that special object in which we may be the most interested. I have often heard the officers of some of our charities complain that they could not perform their duties satisfactorily, because they had so many different claims upon their time, and for that reason they had often determined to resign from all. THE TRUTH IS, that we all feel a secret pride in seeing our names attached to a number of worthy undertakings, but are not so willing to allow that we are personally responsible for a full share of the work in every one of them. There are in this city men and women enough who are willing to work in behalf of the poor, and there is certainly enough for all to do; but it is not right to impose upon one person because he or she may be willing, in their desire to do all they can, to assume the labor, what should properly be the work of three or four. As far then as regards The Sheltering Arms, I trust the day is not far distant when those of us who are specially interested in its success will determine to devote ourselves more exclusively to the work in hand, and with the united, concentrated efforts of such a Board as we now have, aided by those who are co-workers with us, what may we not reasonably hope to accomplish? I do not deny that it is very praiseworthy in any man to be anxious to aid every one who calls upon him for assistance, but is it not the part of prudence rather to help one poor unfortunate fellow-being to stand upon his feet and walk than to stretch forth our hand at one time to so many that we only become in the end an impediment, when, by a little judgment, we might have been the means of doing so much good? The temptation, to one who is truly interested in this work, to respond to the call when some new charity asks for his assistance, I confess, is great, but we have only to give up to the temptation to learn in a short time that it is as true of us as of all others, that one cannot well do the work of five, be his spirit never so willing.

I may seem, to some persons, to be too positive in my assertions: but, I tell you, it is NO CHILD'S PLAY this caring for the poor, the sick, the needy; and when we join the ranks of those who carry on this work it must be as earnest, persevering workers, intent upon that which our hand findeth to do, or we cannot expect to have our efforts crowned with success.

I must, however, leave this subject here, and return to the consideration of that for which we have met together, namely, the claims of this noble charity, which I love so well to urge upon those who feel any interest in the temporal and spiritual welfare of the lower classes of our population—those little waifs of society whom we find growing up on every hand as future candidates for our work-houses, our asylums, or, it may be, our prisons. Such are the little ones for whom we plead—such the applicants we find daily at our doors. The work, we admit, is, on many accounts, a difficult one, but it has its lights as well as shadows, and it will surely have its rewards. It is also, necessarily, rather an expensive work, but, believe me, it does not cost as much to care for the young before they become steeped in vice and wretchedness as it does to bring to punishment those who have brought the full strength of manhood to bear upon society in breaking the laws of God and man. Of the two expenses the balance is certainly in favor of the young. Educate them properly, and you will find in the future less need of your Tombs, your prisons and your almshouses.

“The Sheltering Arms” commenced its operations on the sixth of October, 1864. It originated in a simple desire to help and comfort a class of sufferers whose necessities and distresses have hitherto found no institution especially adapted to their relief, and the urgent necessity of such an establishment has been sufficiently proved by the fact that we are constantly obliged to refuse admission to applicants, whom we have to turn unwillingly from our doors, for want of room. The class we especially seek to relieve is composed of those who, under present rules, cannot be admitted, or are not likely to be sent by their friends to any other institution. We have endeavored, as we advanced step by step, to practise the utmost economy in every department, and yet, for some time back, we have been scarcely able to meet our daily expenses. During the past year the building we occupy has been enlarged and furnished, enabling us to increase the number of children from forty to ninety ; and from many sources we have received various supplies where we little thought the Institution had even been heard of. Thus, as we stand to-day and review the past, we find many reasons why we should take courage and proceed with thankful hearts in our work, for God has truly caused His face to shine upon us.

But, as I look back upon the road along which we have travelled, I cannot avoid noticing that the brightness has been dimmed at times by that dark shadow which must so surely fall upon the life of every one of us : here and there, a small stone marks the spot where we have committed to the ground some little one, who has been called away when, as yet, its career was scarcely begun—removed from “The Sheltering Arms” on earth to the arms of Him who dwells in heaven, where charity’s gifts shall never more be needed. The marks of those little graves we would not have effaced, for, whilst we devote all our care and attention to the living, we would not neglect our dead. We love to think of them as of those who have been kindly taken by the “Unseen Friend” from the boisterous waves of life only to be anchored safe in some friendly, sheltered nook, until the Master himself shall come and call them forth. It is one sad feature of every institution of this kind, that on the pages of its Past there must always be such frequent marks of the hand of death—so many proofs that even the young must supply their quota towards filling up the ranks of the vast army of the tomb.

But, do yonder turf-mounds mark alone the graves of children—has death only taken from us those whom we were wont to watch over and care for? Are the watchers themselves all with us to-day, as when at the first we banded ourselves together for the work? Let us, for a moment, linger round this grave, which is larger and newer than the others, and listen to the lesson it shall teach us. It will remind us that, since we last met together, a familiar voice has been forever hushed—a familiar form forever taken from our midst—and when that grave was made ready for its occupant, when by loving hands the words, "Sacred to the memory of Simeon Draper," were engraved upon the stone that marks his silent tomb, it was the first time that our Board of Trustees had lost one of their members by death. It is not asserting too much, when I tell you that it was he who first proposed the necessity of "The Sheltering Arms" to our President, and to his advice we are largely indebted for much of our success. He was, indeed, a true friend to the poor, and especially interested in all efforts calculated to rescue the young from their peculiar temptations and sufferings; he fully appreciated the great importance of endeavoring to eradicate error by educating the youth, rather than by punishing those who had grown old and hardened in the practice of their crimes. Whatever else we may find to admire in his character, this one great lesson he has taught us, that it is the duty, as it should be the delight, of every one of us to give up a portion of our time and talents in endeavoring to help the unfortunate—to feed the hungry—to minister to the sick.

Thus has the past been diversified by light and shadow, but, viewing it all, as not only allowed but also directed, in all its phases, by Him who doeth all things well, we are enabled to close its page with praises to His most holy name and turn with thankful hearts to the examination of the present.

We have invited you here to-day to judge for yourselves as to what has been accomplished. You will find, we trust, everything in most excellent and satisfactory order. The ladies in charge of the House have been untiring in their attention to the children, and would thankfully acknowledge the assistance they have received, in many ways, from those interested in this work. We have turned to good account all the room we had at our disposal, but have been obliged to turn away many of those who asked to come in lest we should over-crowd our wards. There is one thing, just now, causing us considerable anxiety, and to which we must ask you to give your serious attention—it is the debt which we have been obliged to incur, and which we would ask you this day to help us liquidate. We are thankful to say that it was not brought upon us through any extravagance on our part, nor was it created by pushing on the work too fast—it was simply the result of necessity. When we had nearly completed the new addition to our House, we found that the Boulevard now being laid out on this side of the island, would pass directly through our grounds, taking away a great portion of the new building, and we were advised to push on the work as fast as possible, so as to occupy it before a certain date, that we might make our claim for damages when the new drive should force us away. To accomplish this, we were obliged to go into debt, and, although we shall eventually receive it all back again, still, the amount being small, we beg you to help us in paying it off. If this were done, we could apply all the money we receive to our daily expenses.

Consider for a moment the class we seek to relieve, and tell me, can there be any stronger claim presented to us than that of helpless infancy? Is there anything on earth more calculated to arouse our sympathies than the sad cry of a weak suffering child? Examine the list of those who have been under our care, and let that plead with you. Here, for example, is one who has been with us from the first. She who should have been this little girl's best and most watchful friend—she who should have guarded her offspring from all harm—was the cause of all her present misfortune. Through her own mother's neglect, the eyes of this child were forever closed to the light of day and she was sent forth dependent upon the charity of strangers. But He who can restore even sight to the blind led her to our door, and you will find to-day little Blind Minnie one of the most cheerful and happy of the group. This little boy, a poor helpless cripple, whose father was unable to give him the comforts of a home and tried in vain to find some asylum where the little sufferer might be cared for, as he could neither be cured nor helped by medical treatment, was brought at last to us, and was soon made as comfortable as his unfortunate condition would allow. Two little girls were one day brought to us whose history was indeed a sad one. Their father had been induced to bring his family to America in the hope of bettering their condition. He landed at Castle Garden only to find that the tickets he had bought with his small savings to take him and his family to the far West were useless, as he had been cheated by the party from whom he had purchased them. The Commissioners of Emigration sent him and his family to Ward's Island, and there all were taken sick. First his youngest child died, then his wife, and at last the poor man himself was so broken down by sickness that he could not care for the others, and begged that they might be sent to some Christian Asylum until he could provide them once more a home. A young boy was, at one time sent to us, who was said to be dumb, and appeared almost idiotic. His parents were both deaf mutes and not able to take care of him. For a long time he did not seem to improve, but at length those who had him in charge perceived a decided change for the better, and he is now able to speak, and he is learning also to read. Had he been left to his parents is it at all probable that he would not have been to-day dumb, at least, if not worse?

But I would not weary you with the recital of the many sad cases we have constantly brought to our notice. Those already quoted tell the story and are sufficient to prove to you that "The Sheltering Arms" is doing a noble work. It should, indeed, be esteemed a privilege to provide anything pleasant for such little sufferers—to make the world easy and cheerful to them now, for theirs is a short spring. When your children are just beginning to gather the bright flowers scattered by the hand of love and affection in their path, these children of the poor must begin to work and toil.

Let us now look upon the Future and we will show you what we hope soon to accomplish. Our first and great desire is to secure some land on which to erect permanent buildings, capable of accommodating at least 400 children. The best plan we have now before us is one similar to that adopted to a great extent in Germany, where this subject has been, perhaps, better developed than in any other country. There, they frequently build several cottages in the place of one large institution, so that the children are banded together in groups or families, instead of all being under one roof, each cottage having its own play-ground, &c. What a noble gift it would be for one person to provide the means to erect one house of this kind, to be known, if so allowed, by the name of the donor. The land we now have in view would be adapted to four such cottages, and we could soon find occupants for them. During the past few weeks we have been greatly encouraged in the prosecution of this plan by the gift of a sufficient sum to erect the first division of a cottage from one who has always been a good friend to The Sheltering Arms, and who has often before made it the recipient of his liberality.

But that you may the better appreciate the benefits we believe would arise from such an arrangement of our buildings, come with me in imagination and let me take you through one of these cottages as we would propose to build them.

You will observe, in the first place, that there are five distinct houses, two stories high, under one roof. The centre building is used partly as a kitchen and laundry for the other four, all of which are occupied by the children and those persons who have charge of this portion of the institution. Entering this centre house you will find it arranged on the first floor—one-half for a large kitchen, the other for a laundry—having no communication with the other parts of the cottage, except in the rear, where a flight of stairs leads to the second story. Ascending these you will come into a large, airy and cheerful dining-room, communicating with the houses on either side by doors. In this room all the occupants of the cottage meet at their meals, and at morning and evening prayer. Leaving this room at the rear door you enter upon the gallery or piazza, which runs the whole length of the cottage, communicating with each house by side doors, and four flights of steps lead from here again to the play-ground, which is fenced in and used only by the inmates of this particular cottage. Our present plan is to make each house capable of accommodating twenty-five children, so that one cottage would constitute by itself a family of one hundred children, besides the ladies in charge and servants, and would cost about $25,000. Now, let us enter one of the four buildings, which is the exact counterpart of the other three. Entering from the play-ground we find ourselves upon the ground floor, which is divided into one large and two small rooms, so arranged for school-rooms that the largest one may also be used in rainy weather as a play-room. This floor has two entrances—one from the front and one from the rear—and communicates also with the second floor by a flight of stairs. Ascending these, we enter the second floor, which is used for dormitories and wash rooms. You will observe that the painting and general finish of the house is all perfectly plain, but so arranged as to give a pleasant, home-like appearance: our endeavor being to surround the children with such things as we all know by experience go very far in making us of a cheerful and contented temperament. This floor opens on the covered gallery, which we have already seen, so that the children from each of the four houses can pass in regular order directly to the dining-room or the play-ground. Let us now follow this gallery and enter once more the large room in the centre house.

It is now about the close of the day, and we find the play-ground deserted, and all around and in the cottage a welcome stillness, which is in striking harmony with the evening hour; but where are all the little occupants of the cottage? Surely one hundred children cannot be anywhere near us, and yet such silence reigns. Let us seek them and see how they are employed. Gathered around the tables, on which is spread their simple evening meal, we will find them engaged in prayer. They have already finished the hymn, and now, with folded hands, and, we trust, with earnest hearts, they bend before the throne of God in supplication and praise; they are imploring forgiveness for the sins of the past day, safety during the silent watches of the coming night, and now we hear them unite in an earnest petition to our common Father that He would bless with many blessings those whose hearts and hands have gone forth together to provide for the orphan and the destitute : those stewards, who, blessed with wealth and time, have freely given both to smooth the rugged pathway of the poor, causing them, it may be, to rejoice in the welcome provision of "The Sheltering Arms;" and, as we pass out, the last sounds we shall hear will be that most welcome of all sounds, the invocation of God's blessing from children's lips upon those who, for Christ's sake, have gone forth and ministered unto them.

Such is the picture of the future as we are wont to draw it, as we hope to make it, and we now ask you to aid us in doing so. The field is ready—it needs but the laborers to enter in and possess it. But it is not necessary for me to dwell any longer upon the importance of the work. It is now no experiment; the past two years have proved it a success. Were I addressing those whom I believed had never taken any interest in the holy work of charity, I would have followed a very different line of argument, but I came not here to teach you your duty—I came to plead for "The Sheltering Arms," and I must now leave the result in your hands. We all recognize the great law of the Almighty Ruler of the Universe, that we must always have the poor in our midst, and that it is the bounden duty of every man, as God has prospered him, so to minister to their necessities. It is not for me to question, for one moment, as to the manner in which any one now before me obeys that law; my aim has been simply to have presented the claims of that class of the poor for whom this Home was established. And, in conclusion, I ask you, one and all, in the name and for the sake of Him who is the Saviour of the rich and poor alike—in the name and for the sake of suffering humanity—by the remembrances of your own sad hours and your own happy days of the past—by the bright hopes with which the Cross crowns the Christian's future in that land where the sad cry of the pöör shall never more be heard—to strengthen and encourage us in this endeavor to shield these little children from some of the many hardships and sufferings peculiar to their walk in life; and of this one thing I am certain, if you cannot contribute towards the support of the Institution we represent, you can and will unite with us, in the earnest prayer, that “He who has taught us in His holy word that all our doings without charity are nothing worth, will pour into the hearts of all His people that most excellent gift of charity, the very bond of peace and of all virtues, without which whosoever liveth is counted as dead before Him, and that He will grant this for the sake of His only Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ.” Amen.

P R A Y E R S

TO BE USED BY THE FRIENDS OF

“The Sheltering Arms.”

ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father, whose well beloved Son, our Saviour, did welcome the young children to his arms and bless them, look with pity, we beseech Thee, upon these little ones committed to our care, that, being shielded from temptation and delivered from evil, they may glorify Thy holy name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Oh, Lord God and Heavenly Father! infinite in love and full of mercy, send down thine Holy Spirit, as upon all friendless children and orphans, so especially upon these little ones, whom Thou hast given into our keeping, grant that the old Adam in these children may be so buried, that the new man may be raised up in them.

Grant that all sinful affections may die in them, and that all things belonging to the Spirit may live and grow in them.

Grant that they may have power and strength to have victory, and to triumph against the devil, the world, and the flesh.

Grant that, being dedicated to Thee, they may also be endowed with heavenly virtues, and everlastingly rewarded, through Thy mercy, O blessed Lord God, who dost live and govern all things, world without end. Amen.

FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Trustees of the Sheltering Arms.

ANOTHER year of care and pleasant toil has brought us to our fourth Anniversary. We thankfully report the fact that the current expenses, about eleven thousand dollars, have been met by the donations, leaving us, however, with small store for the maintenance of ninety-three children during the long summer, when friends are absent and gifts in general scanty.

We cannot report our land paid for and new building erected, but have made provision to meet about one-half of the estimated cost. Two subscriptions of five thousand dollars each are for the erection of cottages to contain thirty children.

The Ladies' Association have also collected between one and two thousand dollars for their cottage. With fifty thousand dollars in hand, we could accomplish, without debt, all that we last year proposed—namely, to put up buildings for 120 inmates. The plan suggested contemplates, when our means allow, an addition of six more houses, to accommodate, with those soon we hope to be commenced, three hundred children.

During the year there have been one hundred and nineteen inmates of the house, of whom twenty-three have been returned to friends, three have died, and ninety-three remain. Of the three who died, one, paralyzed and bed ridden, was brought that she might receive here the constant care which it was impossible for friends to give at home. A second was a very young child, who, to the physician's eye, bore, at her admission, the tokens of early death. The third, also a girl, was stricken down with a short and acute disease, which soon closed her earthly history. Their bodies rest in St. Michael's church-yard, Astoria, beside the little ones who had gone out before. The health of the house has been unusually good, for which, under God's providence, great praise is due to the watchful supervision of the Sisters in charge of the house, seconded by the prompt attendance, when summoned, of the physician, Dr. F. A. Utter.

To all our known and to all our unseen friends who have helped us we are, as ever, grateful. Especially have we been cheered by the many remembrances from Sunday-schools and Church societies in city and country. We notice and thank them more fully in our little monthly paper, "THE SHELTERING ARMS."

During the past year the question has presented itself in the Board of Trustees as to whether it was expedient that the Institution should continue under its original management—that is, of the Sisters of St. Mary's, or that, according to the usual custom, a hired Matron should be engaged. The Trustees considered it their duty to take into account only the best interests, temporal and spiritual, of the children whom the house shelters. Many of the Trustees have had long experience in public institutions under various managements, and are satisfied that, in all respects, "The Sheltering Arms" has ranked among the first for its physical training, and also for its softening influences upon children, many of whom, at their entrance, are rough casts of uncultivated humanity. The growth among them of religious feeling has been like to that in a well-ordered Christian family, which in public institutions is rarely the case. It was once remarked of an asylum for children, conducted for many years under the common system, that, of the many hundreds who had gone out from it, none had left it thoughtful, pious Christians. We may be over sanguine and deceived, but we trust that many of our elder children have already given their young hearts to Christ. Under these circumstances, the Trustees could arrive at no other decision than that it is expedient and their duty to continue in a course into which, under God's guidance, they have been led, and which hitherto has proved so advantageous for the children, as well as economical in its administration of the finances.

According to the original intention of the founders, the children attend worship at the Episcopal Church, and are under the pastoral care and religious training of one of its clergy.

In conclusion, the Trustees would invite all readers of this Report to visit the House. They will not find heaven here, and yet will, we trust, go away believing that Christ is taught and honored, and, if from afar, yet followed. If the little ones are better off here than in temptation and sin, give us your support. That which the good Lord provides, we shall use according to the best of our ability, and there our responsibilities end.

TO BE USED BY THE FRIENDS OF

“The Sheltering Arms.”

ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father, whose well beloved Son, our Saviour, did welcome the young children to his arms and bless them, look with pity, we beseech Thee, upon these little ones committed to our care, that, being shielded from temptation and delivered from evil, they may glorify Thy holy name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Oh, Lord God and Heavenly Father! infinite in love and full of mercy, send down thine Holy Spirit, as upon all friendless children and orphans, so especially upon these little ones, whom Thou hast given into our keeping, grant that the old Adam in these children may be so buried, that the new man may be raised up in them.

Grant that all sinful affections may die in them, and that all things belonging to the Spirit may live and grow in them.

Grant that they may have power and strength to have victory, and to triumph against the devil, the world, and the flesh.

Grant that, being dedicated to Thee, they may also be endued with heavenly virtues, and everlastingly rewarded, through Thy mercy, O blessed Lord God, who dost live and govern all things, world without end. Amen.

REPORT
OF THE
Board of Trustees,

ADOPTED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING,

MAY 10th, 1869.

THE SHELTERING ARMS is now five years old, and upon this day of its Fifth Annual Meeting, the Trustees devoutly thank and bless the Giver of all good for success hitherto, for present prosperity, and for the fair promise of the future. Having passed safely through the third and fourth years of corporate existence, with a work ever enlarging, the Trustees considered when entering with the summer of 1868, free of debt, upon the fifth year, that their day of experiment was over. The enterprise was no longer dressed in the attraction of novelty. The name had lost its romance through much repetition, and become familiar to all ears. Yet its first friends, for the most part, remained steadfast, and new accessions to the ranks of their co-workers had enabled the Trustees to meet the increased expenses and extend their accommodations. It was, nevertheless, with some unwillingness that the Trustees accepted the necessity forced upon them by the opening of the new drive, of purchasing ground, and erecting thereon large buildings. Having, however, no alternative, they addressed themselves with brave hearts to this great undertaking, and now report their walls up, and the roof in progress of construction, with every payment thus far met by gifts received, and the land paid for, with the exception of $9,000.00 mortgage resting upon it when purchased. The outlay upon this permanent property has been $28,796.61.

To finish the Cottages and School House, and furnish them for use, fence, and adorn their acre of ground, there is required $30,000.00, the larger part of which is yet to be collected.

To clear off every debt, and stop the waste in payment of interest, must be the sixth year's task. Can this desired end be reached? If our friends are as liberal in the new year as the last, should their numbers increase in the same ratio, the anniversary of 1870 will find the Institution free of debt, and ready for the next step in progress in the erection of "the Innocents' Hospital." We would enlist all interested in caring for homeless little ones, to exert themselves to the utmost in our behalf. Besides paying the costs of our permanent property, we must prepare for our increased expenses in maintaining the four families, or 120 children in the new quarters. These current expenses, together with support of the little paper, amounting during the year past to $12,667.78, will probably be increased the coming year to $15,000.00.

In returning thanks to contributors, the Trustees would especially acknowledge the assistance received from Churches, Sunday-schools, young ladies' schools and societies, forty-nine in number, in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey. As the donations from this source are, in large measure, due to the interest in our cause fostered by the little monthly paper, we may reckon the expense of publication and the pains of its preparation well bestowed.

To the members of the Ladies' Association of The Sheltering Arms, the Trustees are deeply indebted. It is owing to their care and supervision that the monthly paper has been made attractive, and has brought many friends and gifts to the Institution. The ladies have not only occupied themselves in the preparation of this paper, but have further, through the collection of subscriptions for current expenses, and of donations towards their Cottage, added largely to the receipts of the Treasury.

Various suggestions of the ladies have moreover been followed out, to the manifest benefit of the Institution, and the division of its burdens among a larger number. An article entitled, "Live Dollies," written for the December number of the paper, by one of the ladies, proposed that persons should undertake to provide for a child's wardrobe. The plan commended itself to many readers, and resulted in adding considerably to the number of our children clothed by an individual, a family, or a class. Twenty-three girls and boys are now clad in garments made for them by individuals or associations.

During the year, 123 children have been inmates of the House, the number constantly there, being 95. It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call to himself two of this number, one a little girl of 5 years, Lena McQueen by name, the other, Mary Caroline Sager, aged 15 years. Mary, who had been residing a few months with a family in New Jersey, returned to the House last Autumn stricken with a fatal illness. Our present Infirmary not being well adapted for the reception of such a case, she was, when very ill, kindly received at St. Luke's Hospital. The gentle nursing and constant attention of that institution soothed her suffering. We thank them for it: she enjoyed the religious ministrations of St. Luke's, and now sleeps, we trust, in Him, to whom two years before, in confirmation, she had give her heart and life. We laid her body to its rest with the twelve already sleeping in that dormitory from which only the coming of Christ will awaken them.

The Medical Department of the Institution has been under the charge of Dr. F. A. Utter, to whom the Trustees tender their thanks for his kind services gratuitously rendered.

The Trustees would, also, at this time renew their acknowledgment of the services rendered by the Sisters of St. Mary. It is chiefly owing to their co-operation that the wishes of the officers with regard to the children, have been thus far successfully carried out. What these wishes are, and what is the result of the present management are thus stated in the address of the President, read at the laying of the corner-stone of the new building in March last.

“In the management of the institution the Trustees have aimed to build up the children physically, to elevate them morally, and to fit them, so far as it lay in their power, for life or for death. The Trustees have not been turned from their purpose by the vain desire of pleasing every adviser, but have steadfastly and solely sought to save those intrusted to their keeping.

“The experience and observation of many years had convinced the originators of the institution that religious education, to be of the greatest value to children, must be connected with some positive teaching. Accordingly, from the beginning the pastor of the institution has been a minister of the Episcopal Church, and the religious instruction of its beneficiaries is under the sole direction of the Rector of St. Michael's Church. Children admitted, if not already Christians by baptism, with the concurrence of parents or friends receive that sacrament; all children, without exception, in addition to instruction in Holy Scripture, are taught in the Catechism, and trained in the worship as set forth in the Book of Common Prayer. In this course, we are happy to say that we have been sustained by those not of our own household of faith, who are willing to sink their individual preferences in the belief that the children are better taught and tended here than when cast about in an unsympathizing world. We have ever found, outside of our own Church, large-hearted Christians, ready to act as members of our Board of Trustees, and a constantly increasing number of subscribers, until, as we believe, every creed and form of worship in the City of New York, heathen excepted, counts among its followers patrons of the Sheltering Arms.

With regard to the care of the institution in its other departments, the Trustees, mindful still of the children's welfare, have faithfully desired, and in some degree, they trust, succeeded in procuring for each position in the house, in the school, and in the work-room, the persons best qualified for their posts. The Sheltering Arms will suffer by no comparison between it and any similar institution. We invite all people to visit the house and see the children at their studies, work or play, proudly confident that they will find them, in personal appearance and conduct, not inferior to the same number of inmates gathered in any home; in holiness of thought and aspiration, surpassed only by those favored ones who, through all the years of childhood, have enjoyed the oversight and benefitted by the prayers, the teaching, the example of pious parents."

Finally the Trustees desire of their friends to be held in daily memory. Words of cheer or of counsel, deeds of love lighten the burden of anxiety by the assurance that our labors, imperfect as we ourselves know them to be, draw around us the sympathy and support of the faithful and the good. Above all would we desire to be remembered when in prayer you enter the presence of Him whose favor is strength and joy and life.

T. M. PETERS, D.D.

President.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

—:O:—

To the Board of Trustees of The Sheltering Arms :

GENTLEMEN :—In accordance with the requirements of the By-Laws of our Institution, the Executive Committee have directed me to present you with the following Annual Report—a Report, which, under the blessing of Almighty God, should lead us all to renewed efforts to extend the bounds of the charity we have been called upon to represent.

The past year has been, in many ways, one of peculiar interest and encouraging success—new friends have been continually added to those we already had, and from many unlooked-for sources have our daily wants been supplied. Since our last Report we have been enabled to commence the new and permanent House on the land purchased some time since in Manhattanville, and before the Summer is past we hope to be fully and comfortably established therein. At the last annual meeting we were directed to carry out the long-wished-for plan of this our permanent home, and now we are enabled to report that the building is all but completed.

During the past year we have had, on an average, over ninety children continually under our care, and the record presents a most satisfactory and encouraging report in each and every department of the work ; the expenses of the charity for the year have been restricted in every possible way, the health of the children has been zealously watched, and we have to record but few exceptions to the usual answer to the medical call that “all are well.” Our supplies have also been on an unusually liberal scale, and afford the most positive and satisfactory proof that “The Sheltering Arms” not only fills a gap heretofore neglected in the charities of our city, but that the manner in which it has been conducted meets both the approval and requirements of those who would know that the means they can give should be bestowed where they can produce the best results. The ladies in charge of the House have fulfilled their self-imposed duties to the perfect satisfaction of every member of our committee. By no means ignorant of the remarks made in many quarters regarding the peculiar status of the sisterhood to which they belong, they have nevertheless devoted their time and energies to the work in hand, and by their constant self-denial and uniform gentleness of manner, have won from all with whom their duties have brought them in contact, a universal recognition of the high and noble charity which alone could inspire them to devote their whole life to such an arduous and unremunerative calling; for this caring for the poor, although one of the noblest and most Christ-like occupations, is by no means an "inviting call," unless the heart be already prepared to follow the Master whithersoever he goeth; there are but few amongst us who can thus contentedly resign the attractions and enjoyments of the world, and when such are found we should be always ready to recognise their claims upon us for encouragement and support; of their motive and sincerity we can only judge by their life, and their life is but love in act.

The paper started some time since in behalf of the Institution, also deserves your most generous recognition and support. Under the management of the ladies' association it has constantly improved, and bears, month by month, to many a home, to many an enquiring mind, the details of our work. We are fully convinced that the news we have been enabled to disseminate through this channel has, in no small way, contributed, during the past year, to our present success.

The work done by our Ladies' Association also calls for your warmest acknowledgments. To their unwearied and unceasing interest "The Sheltering Arms" owes much of its position to-day. Since their first organization to the present time, they have continually added to the number of our contributors and supporters some of our warmest friends we now lay claim to. Under the counsel and guidance of the President of this Board, they have projected and carried through such labors of love and charity, as Fairs, Concerts, &c., as only women can successfully organize and support, and in this way have led from many otherwise unknown sources those important supplies which have enabled us to meet our daily wants.

It must, of course, be apparent to every one of us, that the success of an Institution such as we represent, and the amount of good it accomplishes, year by year, can only be truly judged of by the increase of those interested in its welfare, and judging The Sheltering Arms by this—at once the truest and most conclusive test—we may indeed close the record of the past year with sincere thanksgiving for the good we may have been enabled, under a kind and merciful Providence, to perform, and for the strong incentive thereby furnished us, to farther and ever increasing activity in the work we have undertaken.

Thus we close the history of the fifth year of our existence as a Charitable Home for those who, as yet but infants, claim from the older members of a common brotherhood, that support and assistance which our Saviour has directed those who love and would follow him to bestow upon the poor, that they may hereafter be recipients of the full blessing He has promised to pronounce to those who really love Him: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these the least of my brethren, ye did it unto me."

HENRY J. CAMMANN,

Secretary.

OBJECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

THE SHELTERING ARMS was opened October 6, 1864, for the reception of homeless children, for whom no other institution provides.

The classes of children received are as follows :

1st. The blind and deaf mutes, until the age at which they become entitled to admission at the Asylums especially devoted to such unfortunates.

2d. Crippled children, past hope of cure, and therefore no longer retained in ordinary hospitals.

3d. Children of poor parents, obliged on account of sickness to enter a hospital, and who commit their children for a season, to our charge, with the expectation upon recovery of reclaiming their own.

4. Children rendered temporarily homeless by fire or other accident.

5. Children whose home has been broken up by the intemperance or desertion of father or mother. In such cases, the remaining parent pays according to ability a small sum monthly.

6. Children abandoned by both parents, brought to us by friends or relatives unable to find immediately a proper home and yet unwilling to lose control of the children or to place them beyond their reach.

Children placed at THE SHELTERING ARMS are not surrendered to the Institution, but are held subject to the order of parents and relations.

All the children of sufficient age attend the school of the Institution, where they receive a common education. The larger girls are also trained to household work, under the Sisters of St. Mary, to whose charge has been committed the internal management of the House. The children attend St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church, and are under the pastoral care of its Rector, the Rev. T. M. Peters.

OBJECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

"THE SHELTERING ARMS" was opened October 6, 1864, for the reception of homeless children, for whom no other institution provides.

The classes of children received are as follows :

1st. The blind and deaf mutes, until the age at which they become entitled to admission at the Asylums especially devoted to such unfortunates.

2d. Crippled children, past hope of cure, and therefore no longer retained in ordinary hospitals.

3d. Children of poor parents, obliged on account of sickness to enter a hospital, and who commit their children for a season to our charge, with the expectation upon recovery of reclaiming their own.

4th. Children rendered temporarily homeless by fire or other accident.

5th. Children whose home has been broken up by the intemperance or desertion of father or mother. In such cases, the remaining parent pays according to ability a small sum monthly.

6th. Children abandoned by both parents, brought to us by friends or relatives unable to find immediately a proper home and yet unwilling to lose control of the children or to place them beyond their reach.

Children placed at "THE SHELTERING ARMS" are not surrendered to the Institution, but are held subject to the order of parents and relations.

All the children of sufficient age attend the school of the Institution, where they receive a common education. The larger girls are also trained to household work. The children attend St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, and are under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. M. Peters.

REPORT

OF THE

Board of Trustees,

MAY, 1870.

THE last Annual Report left us with our buildings in progress, payments being made as due up to the date of closing the Treasurer's account, leaving, however, nine thousand dollars on mortgage and thirty thousand dollars required to complete the buildings. To clear off every debt and stop the waste in payment of interest was announced as the sixth year's work.

This task, impossible as it seemed, has been accomplished. Blessed be the Mover of hearts and Giver of all good. We are thankful to be able to announce that our mortgage is paid off and also all the debt incurred in finishing the buildings and fencing the grounds. Our whole property is now unincumbered. To those who have kindly given us their aid to this end we shall show our thanks by faithfully striving to make our Institution an honor to the Church of God and a blessing to our country.

The receipts for current expenses have also enabled us to meet our ever increasing outlay, encouraging us in the belief that, extend our borders as we may, the fountain of supply in faithful hearts and liberal hands will be unailing.

We are now, therefore, free to prepare for the work announced last year as our next step onward, namely, the erection of the "Innocents' Hospital" for permanent cripples. It has for years been our desire to possess a building especially devoted to the care of such children, both in order that our own helpless little ones might be accommodated, and also that we might receive those discharged as incurable by Dr. Knight's and other hospitals. May we not hope in our next annual Report to record that this cherished wish has been gratified and the poor little ones provided for?

Our patrons are already aware that during the past year we have lost from the Institution, after five and one-half years of quiet and prosperity, its kind and constant friends, the "Sisters of St. Mary." Their devotion and self-denial, their readiness to carry out in relation to the children the wishes of the Trustees had endeared them to all connected with "THE SHELTERING ARMS." Thanks cannot repay them for all that they have been to us. Without their aid we should hardly have ventured to open our doors at the first; and throughout these years of rapid growth they have modified and in a large degree directed the development of the Institution. We shall ever remember with gratitude and pleasure this long term of faithful and unsalaried service.

The health of our large family, numbering always 90 children, and from that to 120, has been uncommonly good. For the first year in our history no child has died and few have been seriously ill. James Tilford, a cripple, remarkable for his sweet and gentle manners, has been for months sinking, and we cannot expect him long to remain with us.* With that exception the infirmary is without patients.

The whole number of children on our books since the last annual Report has been 152, of whom 117 are still in the cottages. Although only three months in our new home, we have yet throughout nearly the whole year counted from 115 to 120 children, owing to the kindness of the Trustees of the "Leake & Watts Orphan House," and their Superintendent, Mr. W. H. Guest. Repeating the generous favor of five years ago they received 25 children and cared for them nearly eight months while our new building was in progress. We were thus enabled to take in the most pressing cases from among the applicants.

Largely increased as is our accommodation by the erection of this first row of cottages, we are as ever forced to refuse almost all the daily demands for the admission of homeless children. Owing to the number of boys in our care exceeding the number of girls, two of our new cottages are appropriated to families of 30 boys each. The John D. Wolfe Cottage shelters the small boys; the Jas. E. Montgomery Cottage the larger ones. The Cottage of the Ladies' Association is devoted to the nursery children of both sexes, intended also to count 30, but at present actually reaching 33. The Mrs. Peter Cooper Cottage receives the 30 larger girls.

It is our hope by this new system of distribution to break up in some degree the Institution feeling and make a nearer approach to the family relation. In order to accomplish this object, we propose placing at the head of each cottage a lady to stand in the relation of mother to the children, and in that capacity to have the superintendence and control of the occupants of her cottage out of school-hours. Under this direction the inmates of the cottages for the larger children, divided into companies of ten each, will be expected to do the work in the dormitory and keep in order the play-room and bath-room of the family. Two of the cottages are already thus provided for. From among those offering their services we shall select the best persons to be found to take charge of the remainder. We trust also that the love of Christ will move yet other ladies to offer their services, until all our posts of responsibility and work are in this manner permanently filled. An allowance, sufficient to cover their personal expenses, will be made to these ladies, whom we hope to organize into an Association, having their home and connection with "THE SHELTERING ARMS." There will then in time become necessary for the reception of the superannuated or disabled a separate cottage, which may also serve as a place of occasional or periodical rest for all from the fatigue of constant labor.

Some of these new features are suggested by the arrangement of our buildings dividing the children into families. Other changes, tending to do away with the Institution atmosphere, and bring to bear upon each child as much as possible of the family influence, will be introduced from time to time, as they may be found practicable. In all respects the aim of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" will be to train the children according to the teachings and spirit of our Church, and to educate them to fill the place of Christian men and women in American life. In the confidence of former years that we shall be sustained in our present scale of usefulness, and yearly enlarge our number, we prepare our plans, and prayerfully await God's time and blessing.

We cannot close this Report without acknowledgement of the continued services of the "Ladies' Association of The Sheltering Arms." In collecting funds for the Institution, articles for the paper, and clothing for the children, and, above all, by their active exertions in connection with the Grand Bazaar they have greatly aided the President and Executive Committee and furthered the cause which they have espoused. They have our grateful thanks.

THOMAS M. PETERS,

President.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

To the Board of Trustees of The Sheltering Arms :

GENTLEMEN:—At no period in the history of our Institution has your Executive Committee been called upon to lay before you a more important Report than the present one, in which, as in accordance with the requirements of the By-laws, they will give you an account of all that has transpired since last you met. It is the history of that portion of the life of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" that closes the sixth year of its existence—a portion of its life that has been strangely diversified by light and shadow—a portion of its life that has witnessed a rapid and successful development of the purposes we had in view in its organization, and, above all and before all, a portion of its life that must ever stand prominently forth in its history, as THAT on which the God of the orphan and the destitute has so visibly set his seal that the work we have in hand is His work, and that as He has so signally crowned our efforts with success, so we should arouse ourselves to renewed exertions and to a just appreciation of the magnitude of the interests committed to our care.

Remember, we gather together to-night to close and witness the sixth page in our Book of Record and commit it to the safe keeping of the past. It cannot be altered, it cannot be obliterated; WHAT WE HAVE WRITTEN, WE HAVE WRITTEN; and this thought should be present with us to-night, that we may approach our deliberations and councils as to the future management of this Charity in such a spirit, that when our duties and labors shall be forever finished, we may receive that higher, nobler approbation of a faithful stewardship, which only an approving conscience can give. Let us place a firm reliance in all we do upon that Infinite Power which overrules the results of all human exertions, and without whose all-powerful supervision no institution can possibly succeed.

In the internal management of the House during the past six months we have nothing especially important or striking to note. The system inaugurated at the commencement has been so fully developed and adhered to that this part of our daily history is a tale easily told. It is simply the record of daily duties cheerfully performed; daily responsibilities met and discharged; daily blessings thankfully enjoyed. The children, in such an institution as this, soon become familiarized with and attached to this daily routine, and, like a well-disciplined army, they willingly obey their leaders, knowing that they themselves are the recipients of the blessings bestowed, and conscious of the kind care heaven has provided for them in this, their home. They have, of course, their own peculiar sorrows and joys—SORROWS, when perchance death calls one of their number away, or, when the remembrance of a Parent's never-to-be-forgotten smile and voice is missed, as memory asserts over their infant minds its powerful sway—JOYS, when some kind heart and hand go forth from the busy turmoil of the world to cheer THEIR hearts with some unexpected pleasure, which, to their imagination, breaking in as it does upon their dark life with the brightness of the noon-day sun, contains in its enjoyment all the wonder and mystery of oriental enchantment. We say, upon their DARK lives, for remember we are speaking of the children of the unfortunate poor, and it were well for all of us, did we but know by our own experience, how much true pleasure can be gathered round their path, at a very small outlay of expense and time on our part. It is only by personal contact with those children committed to our care that we can teach them of Him who is THEIR God as well as OUR God; THEIR Father as well as OUR Father; that we can exert an influence over them, "making the world they live in, and weaving about them the webs of good or evil, which shall leave their impress on their souls."

The two most important events, in all their bearings, during the past winter, have been the completion of and removal into our new Building, and the Grand Bazaar, held for the purpose of removing all indebtedness from our land and house. The House itself has fully answered, in all its arrangements and conveniences, our expectations, and it has been universally conceded by those who have visited us since its completion that in its every detail it is most admirably adapted to the requirements of such an Institution. This result is due in a very great measure to the able and judicious manner in which the building was attended to by the architect, Mr. Charles C. Haight, and to that gentleman your Committee would here express their sincere thanks for the courtesy and attention with which he was always ready to receive and thoroughly examine into any alterations or supposed improvements they might suggest.

The full Report of the Bazaar will be laid before you by the Committee this evening and we need therefore only say that in its conception, arrangement and result, it was worthy the cause it sought to aid—worthy the many kind and charitable hands and hearts by which it was managed—worthy the city whose inhabitants are always so prompt to give when true charity stands and cries in her streets for the alleviation of the sufferings of the poor. It is most probable that the amount realized from the Bazaar will remove all indebtedness, and we shall then own, unencumbered, our own house and land, with full accommodation for one hundred and twenty children, and, above all, we are surrounded by a host of friends who will see that our current expenses will be fully provided for. Upon such a Record, gentlemen, we call upon you this evening to look with us and join in fervent thanksgiving to the Giver of all good, to the Great King, Eternal, Invisible, who has willed that not one of His weakest lambs should perish from neglect, but that all should find mercy and rest in the sheltering arms of His own holy love. This, gentlemen, closes our account for the past six months of the Institution. We need not now comment further on the Past, but let us rather close our Page of Record here, knowing that as our work has prospered so it WILL prosper, if we but trust in God, and keep ever in view the ONE GRAND OBJECT for which we have been banded together, striving to carry out in the true spirit of Christ the golden rule, "to care for the poor and needy, and to do unto all men as we would they should do unto us."

Six years have passed and the Record is closed and sealed ; the page of the coming year lies before us clean and without mark. Be it ours to see that its Record shall be to the honor and glory of God, and to the temporal alleviation and the eternal benefit of those, THE CHILDREN OF THE POOR, who shall be committed to our care.

TO BE USED BY THE FRIENDS OF

“The Sheltering Arms.”

ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father, whose well beloved Son, our Saviour, did welcome the young children to His arms and bless them, look with pity, we beseech Thee, upon these little ones committed to our care, that, being shielded from temptation and delivered from evil, they may glorify Thy holy name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. AMEN.

OH, Lord God and Heavenly Father! infinite in love and full of mercy, send down thine Holy Spirit, as upon all friendless children and orphans, so especially upon these little ones, whom Thou hast given into our keeping, grant that the old Adam in these children may be so buried, that the new man may be raised up in them.

Grant that all sinful affections may die in them, and that all things belonging to the Spirit may live and grow in them.

Grant that they may have power and strength to have victory, and to triumph against the devil, the world, and the flesh.

Grant that, being dedicated to Thee, they may also be endued with heavenly virtues, and everlastingly rewarded, through Thy mercy, O blessed Lord God, who dost live and govern all things, world without end. AMEN.

OBJECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

"THE SHELTERING ARMS" was opened October 6, 1864, for the reception of homeless children, for whom no other institution provides.

The classes of children received are as follows:

1st. The blind and deaf mutes, until the age at which they become entitled to admission at the Asylums especially devoted to such unfortunates.

2d. Crippled children, past hope of cure, and therefore no longer retained in ordinary hospitals.

3d. Children of poor parents, obliged on account of sickness to enter a hospital, and who commit their children for a season to our charge, with the expectation upon recovery of reclaiming their own.

4th. Children rendered temporarily homeless by fire or other accident.

5th. Children whose home has been broken up by the intemperance or desertion of father or mother. In such cases, the remaining parent pays according to ability a small sum monthly.

6th. Children abandoned by both parents, brought to us by friends or relatives unable to find immediately a proper home, and yet unwilling to lose control of the children or to place them beyond their reach.

Children placed at "THE SHELTERING ARMS" are not surrendered to the Institution, but are held subject to the order of parents and relations.

All the children of sufficient age attend the school of the Institution, where they receive a common education. The larger girls are also trained to household work. The children attend St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, and are under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. M. Peters.

REPORT
OF THE
Board of Trustees,
MAY, 1871.

THE Seventh year of this Society's labors is ended, and we proceed in brief annals to add its history to the pages of former years. We cannot do so with entire satisfaction, whether regarding the work or ourselves. The last year has been one of unparalleled pressure for admission to our care.

Our constantly-proclaimed purpose of enlarging, if possible, our accommodations until the door should never be shut against any one from those classes for whom our ministrations are intended, has perhaps invited to our threshold this throng of worse-than-homeless little ones. To make room for the saddest and most needy cases we have again and again gone over our list of inmates, removing from the Cottages one and another for whom provision comfortable or profitable to themselves might be made. We have added a bed, and a bed, and a bed, until we have exceeded by 10 the number we proposed to shelter, and now, having been obliged during the year to postpone or refuse 272 out of 368 applicants, count always 130 children.*

* It is some consolation, amid the imperfections of our own work, to witness the establishment of other Institutions in our Church for the same classes of destitute children admitted here. If we count but 130, as many more are under Christian training in the House of the Good Shepherd, Rockland County, and the Children's Fold and the Shepherd's Fold in the City of New York. May the Lord bless their labors, and increase their means of usefulness.

During the year ending May 1st, 96 were admitted, and 83 removed. Two have died: James Tilford, a sweet, patient cripple; and Katy Long, a little girl whose soul remained in her feeble body but two months after her reception.

The large number of the admitted and discharged is due to an attempt to make the Institution especially useful as a temporary home for children in emergencies soon passing away. Several were with us during the illness of father and mother, others were brought to remain until some day of household calamity should be overpast.

The many changes referred to are unpleasant to us, because breaking, in some cases, the attachments of years; detrimental to the order and good appearance of our households from the constant removal of disciplined inmates to make room for untrained and often exceedingly rough material; and further, the most pressing cases are almost invariably and necessarily of those whose friends can pay no board, so that in receiving them we are diminishing still further our already scanty receipts from that source, and are forced to depend upon the charitable for a still larger proportion of the seventeen or eighteen thousand dollars annual expenses.

An anecdote, related of himself by the head of an Institution for children, has helped us to fix our principle of action, and under adverse circumstances steadily to practise it.

The person referred to, upon taking charge of an asylum, found the children quite a secondary consideration with all the officials, whose chief thought seemed to be their own ease. His endeavors at reform were met with remonstrance from the employes most in need of the process. Their own comfort as to quarters, food and hours was interfered with, for the sake of all those "troublesome young-ones."

After enduring a few weeks of those complaints, the Superintendent one day called together the adults, who in various capacities had charge of the children, and with solemn face stated the inconveniences they were all enduring, closing with the suggestion that a petition be prepared and unanimously signed, setting forth their grievances and praying the Trustees to remove both boys and girls altogether from the house.

When the good appearance and order of our Institution, manifestly to our eyes, suffer from the frequency of these changes, we admit to ourselves that everything would be more quiet, satisfactory, attractive, and to all, inmates and visitors, more pleasant, if we took only little children and retained them until grown. As we did not, however, establish "THE SHELTERING ARMS" for our own comfort, and do not propose to conduct it, having chief regard to making it a show Institution, these thoughts are put to sudden flight as enemies.

Again, some of our good friends are much concerned (and we ourselves at times a little), because 90 of our children pay nothing and the remaining 40 less than one-half the cost of their joint maintenance, leaving over $14,000 to be collected in donations and otherwise—a constant dragging burden.

We could readily convert "THE SHELTERING ARMS" into a cheap child's lodging-house and boarding-school, and a very useful Institution such would be; again, we could in brief space fill the cottages if we required one-half board as an indispensable condition of reception. The former class of children can, however, be cared for elsewhere; there is some hope that the latter may be, but when by the side of such there stands at our door one for whom it is a home here for a while, or misery and squalidness, perhaps death, if turned into the street, we send the whole pay or half pay to others, and take in the utterly friendless and destitute. If we are The Sheltering Arms of Christ, we can do no otherwise. That such was our first purpose, to do for Christ's sake, and like to Christ, we endeavor always to bear in mind. By that principle we accept or reject. In no other course can we have both God and man and our own conscience on our side.

If the expenses of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" are thus increased, we can point with satisfaction to the fact that, notwithstanding the additional service required by our plan of cottages and distinct families, and the necessity of keeping a hired man, we still have but little exceeded the annual average cost of each child as heretofore estimated—viz., $135.

In the support of the Institution and its enlargement, we ask all interested to act for us. Many, pleased with the work, yet leave the financiering to others' activity. Being entirely without endowment, $1,000 excepted, we depend upon the constant flow of offerings, little and great, made for His sake to whose work we are called. Let every well-wisher do a double benefit by being a collector as well as personal contributor. Interest the children of Sunday and other schools; form societies to work for our aid. A reference to our acknowledgments of money and material will show a wide-spread interest in the success of this Charity. We trust to embrace within an ever-extending circle, a yearly-increasing company of friends, enlarging in like ratio our accommodations, purchasing ample grounds and erecting new cottages beyond the limit of streets and pavements, bidding every homeless child to find here the best substitute we can offer for a father's protection and a mother's nurture.

For the good health of the children during the past year, we have been constant in gratitude to Him who has watched over us. Besides the two mentioned above, but one child, little Ida Holmes, has been seriously ill. She still occupies a bed in the Infirmary, having for companions three cripples, one little blind child, and the nurse's baby, a year ago seemingly sinking into the grave but now full of health. Our physician, Dr. L. A. Rodenstein, takes a warm interest in the welfare of the Institution ; and to his suggestions are due, we believe, in some degree, the continued good health of our households during a sickly season. His unceasing solicitude for the lives of the children in case of the appearance of an epidemic, has induced the Trustees to purchase for an isolated infirmary a small brick house adjoining our grounds, and in his opinion well adapted to the purpose. The cost of purchasing and putting it in proper order will be from $5,500 to $6,000. For this expenditure we ask for special contributions ; the amount thus far received or pledged being about nine hundred dollars.

The little monthly paper has been continued during the past year, the Ladies' Association greatly lightening the burden by collecting material. The Association has been enlarged to somewhat over 30 members, and has been organized in a more formal manner by the adoption of a Constitution and By-Laws. They have contributed to the relief of the Treasury by collecting funds and otherwise aiding the Institution.

For the Superintendence of the House we are indebted, as during all the years of our existence, to the devotion of woman, working in love for Christ's sake. The services of Miss Richmond, thus offered, have been gratefully accepted by the Trustees. It is their hope and her's that, moved by the Holy Spirit, others will associate themselves with her in these labors. The plan proposed is that adopted at St. Barnabas' House with reference to the sisters of the Good Shepherd and also elsewhere ; namely, the appropriation to each lady, thus giving her time, of a sum sufficient to cover necessary personal expenses while laboring with us. In case of permanent dedication to the work, it is our purpose, in the future, to have a cottage and life-long home and support for those whose years may be prolonged beyond their strength to labor.

The School, under the charge of the Misses Cleaveland, has been refurnished and in many respects improved. We have every reason to be satisfied with the thoroughness of their system and the progress of the Children.

The past year has added to the record of the Board of Trustees one sad day, namely, that in which it was called upon to part with James Punnett, one of the original incorporators of "THE SHELTERING ARMS," and a liberal patron of this Charity. To him is largely due the acquisition, at a low price, of the ground on which stand the new cottages. May God raise up, in this careless world, others like him in faith, charity and truth.

Before closing this Report, we would refer every reader to the Treasurer's return, by which it will appear that, as is our custom, we come to our anniversary without funds in hand even for a month's expenses. Commence at once to collect for our summer wants. During your recreations and vacations have many thoughts for us, and gather, as you may find opportunity, the grains and little gifts for our daily bread.

Finally, accept our thanks as Trustees for your willing co-operation, and remember us when you come into the presence of Him, to whom, for all good received or accomplished, we render the chief honor and praise.

T. M. PETERS,
President.

PRAYERS

TO BE USED BY THE FRIENDS OF

“The Sheltering Arms.”

ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father, whose well beloved Son, our Saviour, did welcome the young children to His arms and bless them, look with pity, we beseech Thee, upon these little ones committed to our care, that, being shielded from temptation and delivered from evil, they may glorify Thy holy name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. AMEN.

OH, Lord God and Heavenly Father! infinite in love and full of mercy, send down thine Holy Spirit, as upon all friendless children and orphans, so especially upon these little ones, whom Thou hast given into our keeping, grant that the old Adam in these children may be so buried, that the new man may be raised up in them.

Grant that all sinful affections may die in them, and that all things belonging to the Spirit may live and grow in them.

Grant that they may have power and strength to have victory, and to triumph against the devil, the world, and the flesh.

Grant that, being dedicated to Thee, they may also be endued with heavenly virtues, and everlastingly rewarded, through Thy mercy, O blessed Lord God, who dost live and govern all things, world without end. AMEN.

OBJECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

"THE SHELTERING ARMS" was opened October 6, 1864, for the reception of homeless children, for whom no other institution provides.

The classes of children received are as follows :

1st. The blind and deaf mutes, until the age at which they become entitled to admission at the Asylums especially devoted to such unfortunates.

2d. Crippled children, past hope of cure, and therefore no longer retained in ordinary hospitals.

3d. Children of poor parents, obliged on account of sickness to enter a hospital, and who commit their children for a season to our charge, with the expectation, upon recovery, of reclaiming their own.

4th. Children rendered temporarily homeless by fire or other accident.

5th. Children whose home has been broken up by the intemperance or desertion of father or mother. In such cases, the remaining parent pays according to ability a small sum monthly.

6th. Children abandoned by both parents, brought to us by friends or relatives unable to find immediately a proper home, and yet unwilling to lose control of the children or to place them beyond their reach.

Children placed at "THE SHELTERING ARMS" are not surrendered to the Institution, but are held subject to the order of parents and relations.

All the children of sufficient age attend the school of the Institution, where they receive a common education. The larger girls are also trained to household work. The children attend St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, and are under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. M. Peters.

REPORT
OF THE
Board of Trustees,
MAY, 1872.

EIGHT years have passed since "THE SHELTERING ARMS" began its preparations to receive various classes of homeless children not otherwise provided for.

From May 1, 1871, to April 30, 1872, there have been 285 applications for the admission of children, of whom 85 only have been received. Seventy-eight have been discharged. The average number present throughout the year has been 134.

There are now in the Cottages 135 beds, in the Infirmary five, and in the Hospital ten. The last fifteen we desire to hold vacant, leaving our utmost accommodation 135, although we have at times run up to one hundred and forty, which is really a great many more than ought to be distributed in four families.

Even with this crowding, however, we have refused admission to two hundred, or seventy per cent. of the calls at our door.

The health of the children has been generally good, and the cases of illness light. Varioloid appeared in the winter, but went no further than the little patient of four years old first attacked. We have had ten girls taken with scarlet fever in its mildest form. The children's eyes have given some trouble, although but a few have been seriously affected.

If some kind friend would build us covered piazzas, on which the little children might exercise during the winter, leaving for a part of each day the confined air of their play-rooms, the general health of the two Nursery Cottages would undoubtedly be benefited.

We cannot be too thankful for having consulted the physician rather than the treasury, in purchasing a year ago, upon the recommendation of a Special Committee, the isolated Hospital. It is unhappily true that we are still in debt for it, but happily also true that by being able to remove at once from the Cottages every case of infectious disease, we were preserved from extensive contagion, and have not a single death to attribute to its presence. Better to labor for years under that debt than to add one to the number of our graves. Of the seventy-eight discharged, but one has been in obedience to the inexorable demand of death—Jeanie Tompkins, the feeble little girl of four years, who died in September last.

The religious and moral condition of the children calls for our devout gratitude to Him who has sent us women who have proved the best of mothers to our families and teachers in our school. "I never saw so many children together," says the experienced lady in charge, "with so little disobedience, so little lying, so little quarreling, and so much good feeling." "I won't," said another of the ladies, "is an expression entirely unknown among our children; one never hears it." This state of things is to be attributed in great degree to the division of the children into families, thus bringing a comparatively small number together under one motherly care. Especial praise is due to the heads of the MRS. PETER COOPER Cottage for larger girls, and the JOHN D. WOLFE Cottage for larger boys. Their care in the religious training of their children has been rewarded by the endeavor on the part of many to follow that Christ held up to them as their example. Eight of the older children are preparing for confirmation at the next visitation of the Bishop.

The Trustees gratefully acknowledge their obligation to the lady in charge, whose selection of persons for the various positions in the House, and whose vigilant superintendence have lightened their own work. They also make this public acknowledgment of the services gratuitously rendered by Dr. RODENSTEIN, Physician, and Dr. POOLEY, Oculist, to the Institution. The diseases of the past winter and spring have made large demands for attention, which has been freely and daily given.

The Rev. Mr. ADAMS, Rector of the neighboring Church of St. Mary, has our thanks for the kind interest manifested by him in the children, and his readiness in placing the Church, whenever wanted, at our disposal.

The Trustees also gratefully record their appreciation of the aid given by the LADIES' ASSOCIATION in adding to the receipts, both for the building fund and for current expenses, as well as in editing the monthly paper.

To all our many friends who constantly and cheerfully send the willing offering and speak the encouraging word, the work we do must be our most fitting return of thanks.

So far as means have been placed at their disposal, the Trustees have followed out with but slight variation the plan originally proposed. The departure from the rule intended has been in receiving a larger proportion of children entirely free of charge. A year ago there were in the Cottages ninety inmates whose friends paid nothing for their support. The average payment for board had fallen off from $24.50 for each child in 1865, to $12.19 in 1871. Consequently the very large sum of $17,000 must be made up in other ways; and as the endowment fund at interest amounted to only $1,000, yielding annually $76, nearly the whole of the $17,000, the cost of the children to the Trustees, must be met by the gifts of the charitable.

The result has been that our free beds prove too many for our means, and we come to the close of our financial year with the treasury in arrears. In order to restore the equilibrium of our budget, measures have been recently adopted which will produce their effect upon the year which we are now entering.

The first looks to the support of a child by individuals or Churches. One additional bed has been endowed by a gift of $2,000, and the expense of seventeen others has been guaranteed by individual subscribers.

By enlarging the monthly paper to receive advertisements, that useful little messenger will cease to be a charge upon the treasury.

The third measure aims at increasing the amount received for board. This has been commenced by going over our list of children with a view to ascertaining, so far as possible, the ability of parents or other relatives, and requiring them, where able, to pay a monthly sum for board. The changes already made will more than double the receipts from this source the coming year.

The expectation at the time of our incorporation was that one-half the outlay of the Institution would be balanced by receipts for board. Our past experience would indicate that in giving the especial relief for which we were organized, so large a proportion as an average of one half-pay for each child is more than can ever be realized. At the same time we are of opinion that without greatly stinting the measure of succor which we now give, the income from this source can be increased to one-fourth, possibly to one-third of the annual expenses. We have received in frequent cases, entirely without pay, families of three, four, and even more children, suddenly rendered homeless, with the intention of keeping them a few months until the great emergency should pass by. In several instances the breaking up of home has proved permanent, and the children have remained years on our hands.

It would probably be for the benefit of the children themselves, when the household is never likely to be re-established, were we to make arrangements for placing them with respectable families often applying for girls, sometimes for boys. Our growing conviction is, that, even with the advantages of our Cottage system, we can offer but an imperfect substitute for the true family with father as well as mother, and in which the association of the children one with the other is lifelong instead of being, as with us, generally transient.

Unfortunately, parents seldom share in the belief that it is better to place their children permanently out of their hands, than to trust to the relief afforded by institutions like our own. Parties inquiring for children to adopt or rear are always unwilling to receive those whom at any moment they may be required to surrender. A few months since a mother, with the shadow of a human hope, but no earthly prospect of gathering her three children once more into a home, was advised to give one of the boys to a family in the central part of New York State, wishing to adopt it. "They may take it," said the mother, an American woman, "but I cannot sign away my own flesh and blood." Who could require it? Not a father. "Then let the children go to the Almshouse," said another who heard the story; they were her children, not his. She would not do it—any wretched shelter of squalidness, but not its dreaded doors.

Could we harden our heart and nerve our tongue to say to every mother of our non-paying children, "that child must go out from here," few of them would find so good a shelter as even the Almshouse offers. They might be removed, but it would be to wretched homes in the City, thick with the seeds of disease, where their tattered clothing would unfit them for appearance at the Public School. They leave us to grow up in ignorance and vice.

Were "THE SHELTERING ARMS" established for the benefit of parents, our line of action might be different. Our single aim from the beginning has been to save the children from destruction. Therefore, in every instance where it is for them peril without, safety here, we desire to give ready welcome.

For support we trust to Him who said, "it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish," and, "whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother."

In obedience to the necessities of our situation we have, nevertheless, as has been stated, inquired into the condition and abilities of the friends of our children with various results. One sent from one of the Chapels of St. George's Church was unable to pay anything. "Let that child remain," said one of the Trustees, "and I will be responsible to the treasury for its support." Of course, that child stays with us. A sweet spoken girl made a call at the House to prove the impossibility, at least for the present, of paying more than $3 for a cripple kept at an expense to us of $18 per month. She pleaded earnestly, and concluded thus: "If you send M * * * home, mamma will die." The result may be readily guessed. That child remains. In December last application was made for a boy whose father, a working man, had just met with an accident which sent him to the Hospital for four months. Of course, that child must be received even with no expectation of payment.

We might multiply similar examples. It would require very stern people to stand at our threshold and meet such visitors with the words, "you cannot come in;" or to go through the wards with the ledger in hand and say, "nothing paid—you must go."

Very stern people, not being of the sort who take hold of public charities for the sake of doing good, the probability is that we shall never have a front door to shut itself in the face of troubled fathers and sad mothers who can neither give nor honestly promise.

Of course, we feel ourselves bound in prudence and justice to give relief only to the extent of our means, and having cut down the number of our free beds from ninety to seventy-five, must, if necessary, reduce them still further, and raise the rates a dollar or two monthly for any who do pay.

This is our action under necessity. As our endowment increases and larger gifts flow in, we expect, as formerly, to receive according to the exigencies of the case, entirely regardless of what any applicant can pay.

Another change made during the year past is to place the applications from Clergymen for members of their own flocks among the first to be attended to, ranking the Clergy in this respect with the officers of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" and the givers of large sums. This we do for two reasons: One, because the City Clergy need every aid in taking care of the immense burden of poor thrown upon them; and the second, because we find the Clergy generally better informed regarding cases which they send us than others who, quite as often as otherwise, know nothing at all of the merits or needs, but apply in behalf of some friend who has asked their intercession. We have thus departed from our former usage of taking applicants in order as their names stood upon the Register, and now receive those whom we think most benefited by the favor.

We are sometimes asked if we could not support the same number of children on a less expenditure.

We reply, that although the cost of each child is less with us than in the average of well-appointed institutions, we could reduce our expenses by four measures which no person familiar with "THE SHELTERING ARMS" and the appearance of its inmates would consent to adopt.

We might break down our partition walls, throwing all our Cottages into one great building, and dispensing with the services of three of our assistants.

We could close the Infirmary for Cripples, the seed of our proposed Innocents' Hospital, and discharge the nurse.

We could reverse our policy of the past year, which has been to improve the quality of the children's food. But then we might be laying the foundation for future infirmity.

We could reduce our bill for clothing if we were willing to step down to the level of a large Institution for children, of which a visitor lately remarked that only one-eighth of its inmates could be dressed fit to appear outside the gates. The spirit of a growing child cannot be more effectually crushed than by thus marking its inferiority. Our children are clad in such a manner that neither in the street, nor at School, nor in Church, they need feel ashamed of the comparison with others.

If we were indulging costly fancies we could not, under present circumstances, decline to lay them aside. Yet we cannot put in practice either of the four measures named without changing the character of the Institution, or injuring physically, morally, or spiritually, those whom we desire to train as healthy, high-toned, conscientious men and women, Americans and Christians.

Think, after all, dear friends, with how little money it is done. Nineteen thousand dollars, a sum spent in the support of many a family in New York, is the annual cost in food, clothing, and education, for the hundred and fifty persons under our roof. The toys, and trifles, and luxuries of many a rich man's child, would pay the entire charges of one of those whom we are striving to save.

As a memorial of dear children no longer with you, make one of our's your ward. Add your name to the list of those whose endowment or annual gift offers a bed free to some child of need.

To each donor or subscriber of large sums or small, we would say, find one among your friends to add a sum like to your gift, and thus our means for doing good will be easily doubled.

In these efforts to strengthen our present foundations, we would bear in mind that our work, if well begun, is yet only begun. Seventy per cent. of applications rejected stimulates our desire to procure our country home. There the gifts of faith and love shall build Cottages and create happiness, and prepare usefulness for little ones whom the Providence of God has driven out, not that they should perish, but that we might build them a Zoar ; that selfish humanity both in them and us might learn to glow with the Divine life ; that we might feed at once them, and Christ, and ourself.

The Trustees would not close their Report without recording their sense of the greatness of the loss which, upon the eve of the Annual Meeting, has fallen upon this Charity and the Church.

By the death of John D. Wolfe "THE SHELTERING ARMS" has lost its early, constant, and generous friend. The remembrance of his many words of cheer is our possession still. The memory of his frequent and pleasant visits will linger in the Cottage which he built, until the youth who gladly welcomed that friendly face are gone out from us into active life.

Blessed be God who has not left the earth in darkness, but is ever present in those who love His name, and speak His words, and do His deeds.

THOMAS M. PETERS,
President.

OBJECTS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

“THE SHELTERING ARMS” was opened October 6, 1864, for the reception of homeless children, for whom no other institution provides.

The classes of children received are as follows :

1st. The blind and deaf mutes, until the age at which they become entitled to admission at the Asylums especially devoted to such unfortunates.

2d. Crippled children, past hope of cure, and therefore no longer retained in ordinary hospitals.

3d. Children of poor parents, obliged on account of sickness to enter a hospital, and who commit their children for a season to our charge, with the expectation, upon recovery, of reclaiming their own.

4th. Children rendered temporarily homeless by fire or other accident.

5th. Children whose home has been broken up by the intemperance or desertion of father or mother. In such cases, the remaining parent pays, according to ability, a small sum monthly.

6th. Children abandoned by both parents, brought to us by friends or relatives unable to find immediately a proper home, and yet unwilling to lose control of the children or to place them beyond their reach.

Children placed at “THE SHELTERING ARMS” are not surrendered to the Institution, but are held subject to the order of parents and relations.

All the children of sufficient age attend the school of the Institution, where they receive a common education. The larger girls are also trained to household work. The children attend St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, and are under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. M. Peters, D.D.

The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the United States from its discovery by Columbus in 1492 to the present time. It covers the early years of settlement, the struggle for independence, the formation of the Constitution, and the various wars and conflicts that have shaped the nation's history. The author provides a detailed account of the political, social, and economic developments that have taken place over the centuries.

The second part of the book is a collection of documents and speeches that have played a significant role in the history of the United States. These include the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and various presidential addresses and legislative acts. The author provides a commentary on these documents, explaining their significance and the context in which they were written.

The third part of the book is a series of biographies of some of the most important figures in American history. These include George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. The author provides a detailed account of their lives, their achievements, and their impact on the nation's history.

The fourth part of the book is a series of essays on various aspects of American history and culture. These include the role of the press, the influence of the courts, and the development of the American identity. The author provides a thoughtful analysis of these issues and their significance for the future of the United States.

REPORT

OF THE

Board of Trustees,

MAY, 1873.

THE Trustees of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" with thankful hearts present to their friends and the public this their ninth Annual Report. Through the manifold mercies of our Heavenly Father the past year has been one of unusual prosperity. It was entered upon under some disadvantages, and as to individual members of the incorporation with some misgivings. Owing to the diminution of one half in the amount received for board, and the increase in the number of children, the current expenses had exceeded the income, so that the commencement of a new year left a deficit in that department of the finances. There was besides a debt for the purchase of the Infirmary and for many additions and improvements which it had been found necessary to make upon the Cottages, School House and grounds. At the date of the Semi-Annual Report of 1871, Nov. 1st, the whole indebtedness was over $15,000. The past eighteen months have seen it reduced to $4,500, besides paying within that time upwards of $1,400, interest on loans, meeting every expense of the Institution, and with the Treasury holding at the closing of the year's account a sufficient sum in hand to insure the payment of all the May bills.

This result is owing to faith and brave work on the part of all the friends of our charity. A few timid voices said:

“You have too many inmates, send them away.” The Trustees proposed another course and replied: “We cannot steel our hearts to apply such remedy, but good friend, take you a child, and you, and you, and pay its charges and let it stay where God has led it, and it is being trained for usefulness and heaven.” Many a friend cheerfully accepted the burden, and thus in the course of the past eighteen months patrons have been found for forty-one beds at a cost of $138 each per year.

The next resort was to the parents and friends of the children. They were told: “THE SHELTERING ARMS is running behind in its expenses, we will not send your little homeless ones away, but we want you to pay all that you can possibly spare towards their support.” A ready compliance with this reasonable request increased the average amount received from 25 to 50 cents a week for each child: gradually adding to the receipts from that source until they doubled, becoming equal to the average amount paid for each child during the first two years after the opening in Bloomingdale.

Thus faith and brave work have received God’s blessing and triumphed, although obliged for a time to seek shelter in the abode of Patience and watch the result. Not a child was sent away, no parent’s heart grieved, no family oppressed.

The Trustees went further than to retain all their liabilities. They assumed another, and announced in their last Annual Report that, for reasons there given, applications from clergymen for members of their own flocks should rank among the first to be attended to. This resolution has been kept and for twelve months no such application has been declined or for more than a week postponed.

The clergy have retaliated to be sure and done us many a good turn, but while the expenses of each child commence at entrance, the contributions of churches are necessarily slower in their appearance. We therefore assumed an immediate liability in the prospect of a future partial reimbursement, in some cases yet to come.

While the Trustees appear before the public with a more cheerful financial exhibit than last year, they send out with this statement the same call to energetic work, because after May they have nothing in hand for the current expenses of the barren Summer months, and because they intend this year to pay off the $4,500 now owing, in addition to daily support, and because they have another gold-consuming proposition to make, which will appear before the report closes.

Of those in whose behalf are all these labors, the children, the Institution has since April, 1872, sheltered always from 130 to 140. The applications during the year were 258, of whom 65, or one-quarter, were received, and 193, or three-quarters, refused, in almost every case solely for lack of room.

Not a child has died during the year, and two only have been seriously ill. The infirmary was emptied of patients last Summer and has seldom since that time been in requisition, except as a convenient lodging place when the cottages are overcrowded.

Dr. Rodenstein and Dr. Pooley have continued their valuable and voluntary services, giving to the children all the attendance required, and deserve and receive our warmest thanks.

The Trustees desire publicly to acknowledge the kindness of the Rev. C. C. Adams, Rector of St. Mary's Church, who has, as heretofore, manifested a constant interest in the welfare of the children and has offered his Church, whenever wanted, for our use.

The Ladies' Association merits most honorable mention. To their charity is to be attributed in good degree the improvement in both financial condition and prospect. To increased collections they have added also the promise to enlarge their gifts, until every one of the thirty-four children of the Ladies' Cottage is supported without drawing upon the general receipts of the Treasury.

A Committee appointed from the Ladies' Association has assisted in editing the monthly paper. By this means the care of its preparation is lightened.

The insertion of paid advertisements relieves the Treasury to a large extent of printing bills, and the mailing being done at the Institution, only the postage stamps have to be provided. For not over $500 a year, we now send out monthly thirty-four hundred of these messengers, once costing us not far from $2,000 per annum, and well worth to us even that expenditure.

The beneficial effects of the cottage system are more and more evident in the general good behavior of the children, in the interest taken in their evening gatherings around the family table for devotion and instruction and amusement, and also especially in their attention to those things which belong to the immortal life.

Last June three of the Wolfe Cottage boys and five of the Cooper Cottage girls were at their own earnest desire confirmed and admitted to the communion, and have continued faithful to their profession. In addition to the instruction of the Pastor and the resident ladies, volunteers from neighboring churches visit the Institution on Sundays and gather the children in classes for catechetical and Bible lessons. Few Sunday Schools are more thoroughly taught or so fruitful in result.

Large praise is also due to the Mothers of the Cottages, and to the Head of the House, for the satisfactory condition physically and morally of those committed to their charge.

Regarding the School, still under the instruction of the Misses Cleveland, the Trustees also report with pride that it is thorough and efficient, providing for the boys and girls such an education as will be useful in the condition of life from which they are taken and to which they will return. The School accommodations are insufficient for the number of children, consequently two of the eldest, and twenty or more of the youngest inmates have been sent to the neighbouring public school.

A play-room apart from the Cottages will be built the coming summer. We shall then be able to adopt the best preventive against the return of the eye troubles of the winter of 1871-2, by emptying each day and thoroughly airing every room of all the cottages.

Each year of added experience contributes to carrying out more effectually our original design of offering shelter to those in the sorest need, and whose parents and friends, on the down-hill slant from comfort into adversity, find their chief cause of anguish in the impossibility of retaining home privileges for their children. We may not make public all the tales of woe which both sadden and stimulate us in our labors. But if you run over our record you will read honorable names. Scan the faces of our children, especially of the girls, and many a feature and expression bears indisputable testimony to refined and gentle parentage.

We have them now, three, four, and even six of one household, covered from the storm, while the parents in tears of joy go forth, to re-erect out of the shattered remnants of the past the sacred temple of home. The relief thus rendered and evident is the great spring of our rejoicing.

Dwellers in prosperous homes, spare us the pains of again reporting that where we open our arms to one, we must turn our back upon three. Build us other cottages, that when the storm of life wrecks your hopes and lays your roof-tree low, here your offspring may find unfailing shelter in the arms of Christ. May there soon be other glad days in our history like that of which our little paper lately made mention. A Christian lady sent for the President of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" by note and, upon his calling, stated that it had been her intention to leave by will money for the Institution, but as she learned from our publications that more room was needed she had decided to give while she lived. Drawing unostentatiously from her pocket a small roll of bills she handed them, five thousand dollars, to the President, leaving the disposition entirely to the Trustees. Thus is added to the list of our Founders a name which it is forbidden here to repeat.

A legacy of $1,000 has been received from the estate of Thomas C. Moore.

The will of the late Mrs. Jas. P. Van Horne contains a legacy not yet received, and the exact amount of which is not yet ascertained. There is therefore made in this year's report no further mention of the gift, excepting that it will place another name among the Founders.

The Trustees have adopted at recent meetings two resolutions, one of which takes these and all future legacies out of the fund disposable for current expenses, devoting them to enlarging the accommodation or endowing beds. The other resolution appropriates not only what has been already received or is expected, but also a great many thousand dollars more for which we rely on God and Christians. This second resolution contemplates the erection of the long proposed Innocents' Hospital for permanently crippled children.

"THE SHELTERING ARMS" when projected was announced as intended to offer a Home to children, for whom no other Institution provides. Under the head of "Objects of the Institution," printed with each annual report, the second named is "Crippled Children past hope of cure and therefore no longer retained in ordinary hospitals."

Our first annual report in 1865, says: "Incurables and hopeless cripples have from the beginning formed part of our household." To-day we repeat those words as applying to the whole eight years of interval.

In our annual reports of '69 and '70 it was declared that upon the completion of our new cottages the next step onward should be the erection of the Innocents' Hospital for permanent cripples. A year ago we referred to our Infirmary as the seed of our proposed Innocents' Hospital for Cripples. The readers of the little paper have been often reminded that the day would come when we should ask once more for large gifts, and that the object of the new solicitation would be the Innocents' Hospital to which we might transfer the cripples from our cottages, and into which might be gathered many who, in the tenement houses of this and neighboring cities, suffer for the want of gentle treatment and languish in default of nourishing food.

The Trustees of "THE SHELTERING ARMS" are now ready to receive those gifts and lay the foundation stone of this new building.

It is well, perhaps, that in the providence of God this commencement has been thus long delayed. Three years of experience in the cottages, with constant thought given to the subject, prepare us to do what otherwise might have been immaturely entered upon.

We know to-day precisely what is wanted and propose, retaining our cottage system, to gather three families of cripples.

Instead of being placed like the cottages for sound children side by side, with wash-room, dining-room, play-room, and dormitory in different stories. We propose arranging our new building in four stories, kitchen and store-rooms below, and on each of the other three floors a wash-room, play-room, dining-room and dormitory for a family of 25 or 30, each family with distinct head as at present, and having all the required accommodations complete on one floor.

From 75 to 90 crippled children can then be received and the aggregate of the inmates increased to about 220.

The circumstances under which the present cottages were erected admitted of no delay and the Trustees were accordingly compelled to go forward, even with the certainty of incurring a heavy debt.

They propose to build the Innocents' Hospital only as the funds are contributed, suspending the work and delaying its completion as the appropriations for this especial purpose may be for the time consumed.

The Trustees propose to make the Innocents' Hospital memorial in its character, the gifts of the triumphant in heaven to the sufferers upon earth. They ask therefore of parents gifts in memory of their own little ones who have early gone to the land of freedom and rest. The name of the departed, thus commemorated, it is proposed to inscribe upon marble slabs around the sides of the little chapel in which the inmates of the Hospital will join in daily prayer and praise. The supplications and thanksgivings of the living will arise from the midst of the memories of the departed.

Such briefly is the plan of the Trustees as at present developed, and for the accomplishment of the purpose they ask to-day for prompt and abundant gifts.

Blessing His holy name who has hitherto helped them, the Trustees in prayer and confidence await His signal to move on.

THOMAS M. PETERS,

President of the Board of Trustees.

PRAYERS

TO BE USED BY THE FRIENDS OF

“The Sheltering Arms.”

ALMIGHTY and most merciful Father, whose well beloved Son, our Saviour, did welcome the young children to His arms and bless them, look with pity, we beseech Thee, upon these little ones committed to our care, that, being shielded from temptation and delivered from evil, they may glorify Thy holy name, and finally, by Thy mercy, obtain everlasting life, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. AMEN.

OH, Lord God and Heavenly Father ! infinite in love and full of mercy, send down thine Holy Spirit, as upon all friendless children and orphans, so especially upon these little ones, whom Thou hast given into our keeping. Grant that the old Adam in these children may be so buried, that the new man may be raised up in them.

Grant that all sinful affections may die in them, and that all things belonging to the Spirit may live and grow in them.

Grant that they may have power and strength to have victory, and to triumph against the devil, the world, and the flesh.

Grant that, being dedicated to Thee, they may also be endued with heavenly virtues, and everlastingly rewarded, through Thy mercy, O blessed Lord God, who dost live and govern all things, world without end. AMEN.

THE HISTORY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON
FROM 1630 TO 1800

The history of the city of Boston from 1630 to 1800 is a story of growth and change. It begins with the arrival of the first settlers in 1630, who founded the city as a center of Puritanism. Over the years, Boston became a major port and a center of trade and industry. The city's growth was hindered by the American Revolution, but it emerged as a more modern and diverse city in the 19th century. The text describes the city's development, its role in the American Revolution, and its growth in the 19th century.
