HUGE NEW SUBDIVISION REACHING FROM MONTROSE TO NORTH BRAND TO OPEN

Millions to Be Spent on Operation Comparable in Magnitude With Palos Verde in Financial Scope and Geographical Area

THOUSANDS IN INCREASED POPULATION Result of Purchase of Sparr Tract by Senator Francis of Des Moines and His Alignment With H. E. Barnum and M. Walters, Big Realty Operators Senator Leslie E. Francis of Des Moines, Iowa, has purchased a half interest in the Sparr properties, which consist of all the lands lying between Verdugo Woodlands and Montrose, on both sides of Verdugo Road and all the hilltops, south toward the north end of Brand boulevard.

The whole huge tract from Montrose to Brand boulevard includes 1500 acres. It will be the scene of one of the biggest subdivision operations in Los Angeles county outside of Palo Verde, comparable with Verdugo Woodlands.

Associated with Senator Francis will be H. E. Barnum, who two or three years ago brought Senator Francis through to the Pacific coast and sold him several thousand acres of almond land at Paso Robles.

Senator Francis returned to Iowa and left Mr. Barnum to find for him a grand, big opportunity in California.

It was Mr. Barnum who negotiated the sale of this interest to Senator Francis.

Mr. M. Walters, who has been a subdivider of properties for many years, handling some of the biggest operations in the middle west, who has been in charge of Meeker's Orange Manor and Dahlia Heights, Eagle Rock, for the last year, and completed these sales, will be associated with Mr. Barnum.

As a result of the alignment, a firm of Francis, Barnum, Walters Co., together with Mr. William F. Sparr, own and will develop the whole proposition.

Two million dollars will be used to develop the project on a scale never before attempted in this district, and only equalled by the operations at Palo Verde.

Ample water supply is now already developed for all purposes on the huge tract and is instantly available.

The development means an increase in population of many thousand people.

CANYON FARE IS UNCHANGED IN PLAN

Superintendent of Line Declares Must Be Three Zones to Cover Cost

A conference was held Wednesday afternoon between officials of the Glendale-Montrose railroad and the railroad committee of the East Glendale Advancement association which it is hoped will lead to an adjustment of differences relative to fare zones which will insure support from the Ross, Thom and Newport company interests, and which will make certain the raising of the bonds of $25,000 required to secure the electrification of the Union Pacific line on Glendale avenue.

P. L. Hatch, superintendent of the line, says there has been no change in the plan to establish three zones, one from Verdugo Woodlands to Monterey road, a second from that point to the southern limits of Glendale, a third to the junction with the yellow car line in Los Angeles. Under the plan the present fare from Verdugo Woodlands to any point on Broadway will remain as at present, 5 cents, but south of Broadway and between Monterey road and the southern city limits, the single fare will be 10 cents.

However, to those who have occasion to make frequent use of the line, family communication books

BONDS APPROVED BY REALTORS

Members of the Glendale realty board voted yesterday at the noon-day meeting of that organization to endorse the three bond measures to be placed before the voters of the city at the election on August 29. The measures affected by the vote yesterday are the propositions to float bonds for a public comfort station; $40,000 bonds for an annex to the city hall, and last, the proposition of additional school bonds.

Some discussion was held regarding the bond issue for the addition to the city hall. Several members of the board took the stand that, inasmuch as there is a movement on foot to secure the buildings of the present high school to be used as a civic center, and to locate all municipal departments there, it would be a waste of money to build an addition to the present city hall.

containing 30 coupons will be sold for $1.50, which will bring the fare down to 5 cents, which Mr. Hatch believes will remove the objections raised by W. L. Twining, representing the Newport company.

Mr. Hatch states that fare between the station on Broadway and the territory in the next zone north of Verdugo Woodlands will be 10 cents. This will include all the district north of Glorietta avenue to the northern limits of Montrose, or Ocean View avenue, and will take in the tract recently sold by W. F. Sparr to the French company.

Good Personality Is Great Asset in All Walks of Life

Personality is a word of which much is said, according to James W. Foley, who, in the Listening Post this evening, says that there are many varieties of personality, but the agreeable sort is the best in every walk of life. During his discourse he says that there is nothing mysterious about personality, as some would have us believe.

A feud, which is a rarity in this section, although not infrequent in the south, is the basis for interesting comment this evening by Henry James, who, besides this, writes of the equality of the sexes, as well as men who wreck trains.

Politics, and Americans at Deauville, are the themes for two very able editorials this evening. Completing one of the most interesting editorial pages in the southwest this evening are articles by Dr. Frank Crane and John Pilgrim, poetry, a lesson in correct English, eastern point of view, and scientific articles. Turn to the editorial page this evening for an hour's instructive entertainment.

WOODLANDS TO PROTEST ASSESSMENT

Object to Paying for the Sycamore Canyon Road Improvement

DENY IT'S BENEFIT

Have No Occasion to Use the Proposed Boulevard When Paved

It is expected that at the meeting of the city council tonight a delegation will be present from Verdugo Woodlands and other portions of the east side to protest against having any of the cost of improving Sycamore canyon road being assessed against them. The contention of those who are heading the opposition is that the Verdugo Woodlands people would have no more occasion to use Sycamore canyon boulevard than they would have to use Central avenue.

City Manager Reeves explained the assessment today: "The Sycamore canyon improvement provides not only for street improvement but for taking care of storm water and is therefore a much more expensive proposition than the ordinary street improvement. This the abutting property pays but to saddle the whole cost upon that property would amount practically to confiscation."

"The thought in the mind of the council was to distribute the extra cost over the whole city, but it is facing several such propositions, viz. the widening and repaving of Los Feliz boulevard, the extension and widening of West Broadway, and the opening and improvement on a big scale of Patterson avenue in the northwest. For these other projects large assessment zones were made and then the balance of the city was included in the assessment zone to take care of the flood waters of the Sycamore wash. Because it is within the Glendale city limits, no help from the county flood control can be secured.

"All these projects are for the benefit of the city as a whole, and if all of them are protested out, the city will suffer to that extent."

GLENDALE, COVE AND ALESSANDRO PAVING ORDERED

Los Angeles City Council Sends Good News of Action on Betterment

Glendale boulevard, Cove avenue and Alessandro streets will be paved by Los Angeles, it was decided by the city council of that city, according to a communication received by City Manager Reeves, today.

The paving, however, cannot be started until the middle of November, it was said, had opened the proceedings again started for the work.

POLICE HAVE CAR
The police are holding a Pennsylvania automobile license at the station, waiting for the owner to claim it. It was found at Brand boulevard and Broadway, yesterday and turned over to the police. The license number is 315-721, and is of the 1922 issue. Owner can have same by calling at the police station.

HERE'S A $15,000,000 PRIZE BEAUTY

Miss Anne Burnett of Fort Worth, Texas, has been left $15,000,000 under the terms of the will of her grandfather, Burk Burnett, pioneer cattleman of Texas. Already a millionaire, Mr. Burnett's fortune was increased many million dollars when oil was discovered on the hundreds of thousands of acres he owned, and the town of Burk Burnett, Texas, in the heart of the oil region, was named for him.

BEST BABIES OF GLENDALE MAY BE PHOTOGRAPHED NOW FOR SWEEPSTAKES

Blanks Arrive at The Press Office and Will Be in the Mail Today to All Entrants Not Already Supplied From Other Sources

CAMERA MEN ARE ALL READY TO SHOOT Little Ones to Register for the Home Folks During the Next Few Weeks, Each to Get a Copy of the Likeness; Nearly 200 to Be Pictured Camera! Blanks are now ready for photograph orders in the best baby contest and will be mailed today or tomorrow to entrants who have not already received them. The artists in the various studios have already entered upon their big task of making convincing records of beautiful childhood in this district, and soon their handiwork will be on view, provided parents lose no time in engaging sittings.

If the Glendale Press in itself were of no value, and there were no prizes in view, the satisfaction of having representative children included in such a portrait gallery as this will be worth the three months' subscription which is the only condition imposed upon the children of a non-subscriber. Regular subscribers are of course entitled to enter their children.

When one considers the rewards that may come to any child in the list, in addition to the beautiful photograph, and the automatic entry of prize-winners in the Los Angeles city contest, it is not surprising that the Glendale Press is showered with entrance coupons every day.

The parents of thirty more babies asked to have them registered in the best baby contest yesterday, who proudly saying to the world as did the Roman matron, "These are my jewels."

Glendale is known as the "jewel city" and her babies are indeed her jewels. They are found in every section, no street being too aristocratic for kiddie karts and coasters. The larger the number each family can display, the prouder they are. W. G. Salkins of West Cypress, for example, entered three, the oldest being a 5-year-old daughter, Bobbie and Bettie Zion, 18 months old, of 809 Mariposa avenue, are evidently twins. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ford, of 614 North Brand, have listed three beautiful child contestants in Leslie Robert, 10 months; Nellie Jane, 2 years and 6 months, and F. Campbell, 4 years and 8 months.

The remarkable thing is the diversity in characteristics of all these children, which sets each one apart and in a niche of its own. Parents accept this with amused philosophy and admit that they have to adapt themselves and their theories to the kinds of children that come to them.

This diversity is illustrated in the two babies of Mrs. M. H. Snyder, of 510 Vine street—Velma May, who is four years old, and Margaret Trecla, who is 2. The elder is a natural little mother and nurse who takes a great deal of care of her little sister. She is also a great little housekeeper, and is known in the household as "little old woman" because of her thoughtful concern for others, and sense of responsibility. She has a sympathetic heart and when she hears anyone complain of feeling ill she is at once

Colorado County Finds German Has "Seized" It

DENVER, Aug. 24. — State officials were puzzled today over the "seizure" of Oury county by Gustav Adolph Baner Lentenberg, self-styled "author of the world's league of nations" living at Oury, Colo.

Notice of the formation of the county into an "independent sovereignty" by Lentenberg was received in a "communiqué" issued by him and forwarded to Gov. Shoup yesterday.

Advices of Lentenberg's strange action were forwarded to the "government of Colorado, the consul of England, the consul of France and the ambassador of Japan," the "dictator notified the governor."

Lentenberg informed state officials he had been forced to "seize" the county because of the non-existence of law. He also advised that the "daily business routine of the county is not to be disturbed in the slightest by the secession."

MOORE HERE TO ADDRESS BIG RALLIES

Speaks Tonight at Trinity Auditorium and Answers All Questions

AFTERNOON TO VETS

Comes Back to Los Angeles to Find Big Reception

Charles C. Moore arrived in Los Angeles this morning to conclude his southland sensational campaign.

Mr. Moore will make four formal appearances. The most important of these will be at Trinity auditorium tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock. Every indication is that the meeting will be one of the most enthusiastic ever held in the city, for thousands who have previously been unable to hear the favorite candidate are expected to avail themselves of the last chance.

Mr. Moore comes back, hailed as one of the biggest men whose name has ever been presented to voters of the state.

Mr. Moore will speak for himself tonight at Trinity auditorium. Unlike Johnson, he can answer the questions asked him by sincere voters. The Moore platform is clear-cut and decisive, and Mr. Moore stands behind it in every detail.

In addition to Mr. Moore, Chester Rowell will address the Trinity meeting. Mr. Rowell was a bulwark of strength for Hiram Johnson in the days when Johnson was a popular representative of the people of California. With Johnson's decadence, Rowell, along with thousands of other enlightened citizens, was forced to disassociate himself from the one-time political idol. Mr. Rowell will tell of the Johnson of old, and how the present-day Hiram is no more like the former governor than night is like day.

Belle McCord Roberts, noted woman expert on political and economic subjects, will also speak at the Trinity meeting. Opening remarks will be made by William May Garland, who will introduce Helen Mathewson Laughlin, chairman of the evening. An organ recital will start at 7:30 o'clock, and the speaking will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Moore reached Los Angeles on the Lark, prepared for a busy day. At noon he was scheduled for an appearance at a luncheon meeting in the Alexandria ballroom, under the auspices of the Lions' club.

At 3 o'clock Mr. Moore will be hailed by veterans at the soldiers' home at Sawtelle, where a rousing reception is assured him. Moore's work as head of the State Council of Defense, his payment to his employees of the difference between civil and government salaries during their service enlistments, his holding of jobs open to those who joined the colors, and his aid in replacement work for returned soldiers, have all been appreciated by the veterans, and they are for Moore almost to a man.

At 7:30 Mr. Moore will address another enthusiastic meeting, this time to the colored voters. The meeting will be held at the Fourteenth street school, and an overflow audience is assured.

THE WEATHER
Southern California: Tonight and Friday fair, except cloudy or foggy in morning near coast. Not so warm tonight except in north-east portion.
Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair and warm tonight and Friday.

MYSTIC SHRINERS CALLED TO PICNIC IN NEW GLENDALE CITY PARK ON AUGUST 30

Biggest Event of Order in Southern California to Be Staged by City's Shrine Club as Host to Many Guests and Lodges

DIVAN BANDS, PATROLS, CHANTERS COMING

President B. F. Heisser to Have Many Surprises in Store for Members and Visitors on the Great Day When Nobles, Wives and Children Make Merry

What is promised to be the largest gathering of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine ever held in Southern California will take place on Wednesday, August 30, at the new city park, when the Shrine club of Glendale will act as host in staging their first annual picnic to Shriners, their wives and children. Al Malaikah Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of Los Angeles, with the divan, band, patrol and chanters, together with their families, have been invited to attend this picnic, at which time it is expected that the patrol will put on some of their stunts, the band giving music which cannot be excelled and the chanters—well, it is not necessary to dwell on what they will do as they have surprises in store.

President E. F. Heisser of the Shrine club of Glendale, together with the various chairmen of committees, have been meeting daily, perfecting plans for this great gathering. The dance committee headed by Mr. Kelly of Kelly's Shrine club orchestra, has a program of dances and other features that will well occupy every idle moment during the evening. Mr. Jones of the Poppy Shoppe has complete charge of all refreshments, eats, and says that he will well attend to filling every requirement.

This picnic is to be a basket picnic and Shriners are all instructed to have mother try a couple of chickens and provide other goodies, and carefully place this well-filled basket in the family car before migrating out to this big Shrine event.

There is going to be races for the fat men and the fat women. Basketball, tug-of-war, races for the kiddies and prize waltzes for those that step the light fantastic. Prizes for the good-looking beauties and, oh, yes, also for the good-looking grown-ups. Spoon races, pipe-smoking contests, pie-eating contests, pipe-smoking contests, and a dozen or so other things. Ye good-looking Shriners' wives do up your prettiest and come early in the afternoon.

Never mind father if he cannot come early, let him come to the empty some of the well-filled lunch basket.

There is going to be free coffee to all and plenty of it. Dancing, as much of it as you can enjoy, will cost you nothing.

Here is a chance to get some real exercise at no cost. Hollywood Shrine club, from just across the hills, also known as the Capitol of Filmdom, has a real live wire club, and the entire Hollywood and families, have been invited to join us on this day and they have promised to come over strong. Ye daughters, and Shriners' wives of Glendale are going to have some real competition, as you all know what Hollywood is famed for. Festivities at the park will begin early in the afternoon and last until midnight, and according to Secretaries Hahn of the Shrine club of Glendale, there is not going to be a dull moment the entire afternoon and evening.

RECORDS NEEDED AT MONTE VISTA

Mrs. Molly Brode of 204 East Park avenue, who recently visited the recreation home for undernourished children at Monte Vista, says there is great need for new records for the entertainment of the 22 little boys and girls who are now enjoying an outing there. She suggests that patrons of the Press who have records they are tired of, would perhaps be glad to send them to Monte Vista, and if they will leave them at her home, she will see that they are delivered.

DAMAGE

ALLEGED SAN FERNANDO BOOZE RUNNER CAPTURED BY BURBANK OFFICERS AFTER LONG CHASE

Motor Officers Chase Joseph Samaha from Business District in Burbank to the Western City Limits, Where Arrest Is Made

PRISONER GIVES OCCUPATION AS BUTCHER Samaha Charged With Transporting Liquor, Operating Machine While Intoxicated and With Being Intoxicated, Tried to Escape

Believed to be a "booze-runner," operating as a middleman between illegal distillers and bootleggers, Joseph Samaha, age 35 years, a Serbian, was arrested by Burbank Motor Officers Gates and Olchvary following a chase extending from the uptown district to the western limits of the city.

When arrested, Samaha was intoxicated and had one bottle of liquor in his machine, according to the report made by the officers, who sent the prisoner to jail, where he was held in lieu of $250 bail.

Samaha gave his occupation as a butcher and his address as San Fernando, although his auto registration card gives his address as Rawley.

It is alleged that he has been doing his trade as a butcher to develop liquor from the wholesaler to the retailer. It is said that he has made frequent trips to Los Angeles lately and his actions have been closely watched by the local officers.

When arrested, Samaha was driving a small delivery truck, partly loaded with meat.

The imprints of bottles could plainly be seen on the floor of the truck. Due to the fact that the two officers were riding their new motorcycles they did not attempt to overtake Samaha in a short space, as it was feared that speeding might be injurious to the new machines. Seeing the officers trailing him, Samaha is alleged to have "stepped on it" giving the officers the merry "haw-haw" as he drove off and left them.

However, the officers continued the chase, managing to keep within sight of the suspect, intending to capture him regardless of whatever time or speed was necessary to do so.

Evidently Samaha decided that officers had given up the chase, or reaching the western city limits he slowed down, only to be overtaken by the officers.

"Have you been drinking?" inquired the officers on noting Samaha's alleged intoxicated condition. "Yes, I have—I tell the truth," the prisoner is said to have answered.

SUSIE'S BAND IS SENSATION ALL ITS OWN

Masonic Temple Packed With Audience at White Shrine Entertainment

Has anybody here heard Susie? Well, I should say so. The Masonic temple was packed Wednesday night when "Susie's Kitchen Band" put on one of the most unique programs ever heard in Glendale.

Such an array of kitchen utensils, aprons and caps you never saw, each kitchen utensil representing some musical instrument and pouring forth strange sounds and notes.

The band entered the well-lit hall from the kitchen, playing the entrance march, "Stars and Stripes." The regular "tom-tom" of the big bass drum could be heard among the other instruments. This was a galvanized wash tub, carried by D. Ripley Jackson. The Dover egg-beaters made an especially attractive tune, as did the funnel, dishpan, and many others.

One of the big hits on the program was a bagpipe solo by Harry Fraser, with a Scotch dance by truck when he was arrested, according to a report of the case. His preliminary hearing was set for August 30, at which time he will be arraigned before Judge Crawford in the recorder's court on charges of being intoxicated, of driving a car while intoxicated and with the illegal transportation of liquor.

Suspecting Samaha, Motor Officers Gates and Olchvary decided to stop him when they saw him driving through the city about 9 o'clock Tuesday night, going towards San Fernando.

MISS HODGE GIVES CHARMING DANCE

Miss Rebecca Hodge of 433 Rivendale drive entertained Wednesday night at a charming dancing party.

The guests enjoyed dancing out of doors on the large porch and after a most delightful evening, delicious homemade ice cream and cake was served. Miss Hodge was assisted by her aunt, Mrs. S. Ledbetter.

Guests included Miss Catherine Stansbury of Los Angeles, Miss Eloene Trutt, Miss Isabel Yates and Miss Ruth Ryan. Messrs. Dan Ledbetter, "Bill" Anderson, Lee Salter and Charles Stansbury of Los Angeles, Don Yates and Beth S. Stevens.

his son, Howard Kenneth Fraser. W. W. Worley held his audience with several mirthful readings. They were very amusing. Mr. Worley came down from San Francisco by special invitation, and his presence was certainly appreciated.

This affair was put on as a benefit for the White Shrine of Jerusalem, and there were a great many tickets sold outside, as well as at the door.

Mr. Jackson's tenor solos were added attractions, as were those of Mr. Wyvell. Numbers on the program included:

- Susie's Band "Stars and Stripes"
- Mary Barbara Taylor "The Souvenir," by Franz Draldo
- Susie's Band "We Can Sing It Again"
- Ralph A. Smith "Ain't No Encore"
- James Wyvell and Tom Cat Chorus, and the Chorus "Let the Rest of the World Go By"
- "Want Any More"
- Mr. Harry Fraser "With Scotch dance by Howard Kenneth Fraser"
- W. W. Worley "Old-time melody"
- Susie's Band "Youse Can All Sing"
- B. F. Bourne "This Is High Fintin' Stuff"
- D. Ripley Jackson "Maushia Ashore"
- The Committee "Sing Me to Sleep"
- Obed nite

STINES ARE BACK FROM NORTHERN TRIP

Feeling Fine From Long Hike to Yosemite and Other Points

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stine of 514 West Broadway have just returned from a wonderful four weeks' motor trip through northern California. There were two cars in the party, the other members being Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stine and the twins, Jack and Phillip.

"We are all feeling fine and are ready to go again," said Mrs. Stine this morning. They camped out all of the time and are having a hard time becoming accustomed to sleeping under a roof again, instead of the stary canopy of the sky.

They left Glendale on the 22nd of July, returning on the 21st of August. The party first went to Fresno, then on to Sacramento, where they viewed the state buildings. They also visited Sutter's Fort, one of the historic landmarks of California. Folsom was another point of interest, though Mrs. Stine said that they were not allowed inside the penitentiary "not having relatives there."

Their next stop was at beautiful Lake Tahoe, where they camped for over a week. They also spent several days in Yosemite National park, also visiting Donner lake, the site of the old tragedy of our state. Rain was encountered at the lake, though it was not a bad storm.

Mrs. Stine said that they particularly enjoyed the time spent at Bear valley, where they camped for five days. Fishing was fine at several places, but along the

Interesting Meeting Held at the Potts Residence

Members of the Montrose chamber of commerce held an interesting and enthusiastic meeting Wednesday night at the Potts residence where a pleasant social evening was enjoyed in addition to the transaction of considerable business.

The matter of greatest interest was the proposed chamber of commerce building. The chamber voted to embark on an extensive advertising campaign, and following the business session a musical program provided by Mr. Potts and Mrs. Young was enjoyed.

The hostess then served fruit punch and there was general visiting.

The party was fortunate in the matter of mishap and weather. Though they were stuck in the sand at American lake and had a very few punctures, on the whole the trip was a success.

It would be a pleasure to describe the expression on a certain newspaper man's face when Officer Williams told him that racing up and down Hartwick's hill was a child's play.

MISS TAYLOR IS CARRIERS' PICNIC WED TO CHARLES WEISGERBER PLANS NEARLY FINISHED

Glendale again sends forth another summer bride, for on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, Miss Katherine Norma Taylor was united in marriage to Charles F. Weisgerber at the home of the bride, 715 South Louise street.

The Taylor home was artistically decorated in beautiful dahlias and smilax and immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served.

Miss Taylor made a charming bride, wearing a taupe traveling suit, with shoes and hat to match. Following the breakfast, the couple left for Catalina.

Miss Taylor attended the College of Industrial Arts at Texas, and also attended U. S. C. and did some physical training work there.

Mr. Weisgerber is a graduate of Carnegie Technical and George Washington University and has recently come into business in Los Angeles.

Members of the family present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Taylor of Sisco, Texas, brother of the bride and his wife; Mrs. John Snyder of Amarillo, Texas; Walter E. Taylor, of Fort Worth, Texas, father of the bride; Miss Cymbel Taylor and Mrs. Allie Anderson, sisters of the bride.

COUNCILMAN DAVIS BACK; FEELS OPTIMISTIC

Four Months in Kansas and Missouri Increases Regard for Glendale

Councilman S. A. Davis and Mrs. Davis returned Wednesday night at 1 a. m. from a two months' sojourn in eastern Kansas and Missouri and although they enjoyed the experience are glad to be in Southern California again.

"I found conditions favorable for good crops of wheat and corn, but the farmers did not seem to be connecting up with any money. The prices they got do not offset the high cost of labor, transportation and equipment and they are left holding the bag."

"I convinced me that if Glendale and her sister cities in Southern California will simply keep their heads and watch their steps, not falling for any program of extravagance, we will weather this construction period with safety and will have something to offer the stranger within our gates that is a little better than he had where he came from."

WISCONSIN CALL President Frank H. True is sending out the final call for the big Wisconsin picnic in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday, August 26.

He will plan for all the usual picnic features and will open county headquarters early in the morning for the 70 counties of the home state.

All picnickers will bring basket dinners and hot coffee will be supplied. The brief, jolly program will come on about 2 o'clock. All the Badgers are wanted.

Miss Heloise Le Clair was dancing to 20 young friends at a dancing party last Tuesday evening at her home on North Briggs avenue.

Miss Henrietta Keller, from China, is the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. Keller, of Montrose.

Mrs. H. E. Bruce and daughter, Miss Florence Bruce, returned Tuesday from a six weeks' stay in Chicago.

INDEPENDENCE HALL TO HOUSE DRAFT BOWL

Houses Cylinder that Sent American Army Abroad

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—Have you ever wondered what became of the draft bowl—the cylindrical, glass container which five years ago helped send the first and last of the national army trooping to the colors in the war against Germany?

Well, the bowl is now in its permanent home in old Independence Hall, here, hobnobbing with the Liberty Bell, Washington's writing table and other relics famous in American history.

A jolly house party of Glendale girls was enjoyed at Balboa during the past week, the vacationers returning home on Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY CLUB HAS MEETING

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the Wednesday club was held yesterday, with Mrs. Charles Glover of 414 West Myrtle street as hostess. This is the first time that Mrs. Glover has entertained the club since her return from the east.

A number of the members are away, some vacationing at Big Bear, while others are visiting in Wyoming, hence the attendance yesterday was smaller than usual. However, Mrs. Glover had invited several ladies as her special guests.

The house was artistically decorated in various colored dahlias, and a buffet luncheon was served to the 12 guests. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. William Nash, of Central avenue.

Those who enjoyed the affair were Mrs. Jack Hearnshaw, Miss Marie Hearnshaw, Mrs. Julia Perkin, Mrs. G. D. Roach, Mrs. Wm. Nash, Mrs. Wm. Gibson, all regular members of the club; and Mrs. Alice Thornwart of Los Angeles, the mother of the hostess; Mrs. Martha Berkeley, Mrs. Joseph Wagner, Mrs. Clarence Kaighin and Miss Eva Kronenberg, of Oakland, invited guests.

The regular all-day meeting of the W. E. C. and G. A. R. will be held Friday in the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue.

Repairs on the building have been entirely completed and the first dinner will be served in the new dining room. Mrs. Pricella Houdyshel will give a full report of the work done on the hall, and a large attendance is desired.

HARDING WAITING AND WATCHFUL WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—President Harding plans no further moves to mediate the rail strike, despite the collapse of peace negotiations between railroad brotherhood leaders and the Association of Railway Executives in New York, it was stated officially here today.

The federal government's future move in the menacing controversy will be directed toward carrying out the President's resolve, as expressed in his recent message to congress: "I am resolved to use all the power of government to maintain transportation and to sustain the right of men to work."

Truths in Epigram

Revenge is profitable, gratitude is expensive.
Gibbon (1737-794).
A dinner lubricates business.
Stowell (1745-1836).
Conscience has no more to do with gallantry than it has with politics.
Sheridan (1751-1816)
Better to love amiss than nothing to have loved.
Crabbe (1752-1832).

LEGISLATING AGAINST HOGGISHNESS

More people, even in this day of the automobile, travel by street car than by flivver, limousine and all the intermediate grades. Therefore the rights of street car passengers, odd as the idea may seem to many drivers, are worthy of consideration.

Unfortunately no law can put brains into a skull of solid bone. None yet has been devised to eliminate brutality and greed from the human system surcharged with these qualities.

The road hog, as the creature affects the welfare and comfort of street car passengers, is of more than one type. Sometimes, in the absence of police, he rushes by a standing car, endangering all entering or leaving.

Another hog, in his anxiety to pass the vehicle ahead of him, turns onto the track just in front of the street car. He endeavors to break into the line of automobiles again, fails to do so, and there he pauses, completely blocking the car until the whole parade is once more in motion.

If there is a commission capable of devising a method of reforming the road hog the public will bless its benign activities.

SWEEPING THE NORTH

Johnson men say that the senator will "sweep the north." In this thought they are finding such solace as they may. But were he to do a heralded sweeping act up there, making a pretty complete job of it, he would not by this be freed from the impossible task of sweeping the south also.

Johnson received stiff opposition in San Francisco in 1916. His opponent then was Willis Booth, a gentleman very closely identified with southern interests.

It is needless to recount here the processes by which Johnson has lost his hold upon the public. They are many and definite. If there were no others, the fact that he is the representative and handy man of Hearst would in itself be sufficient.

THE WORK OF MR. HAYS

According to a recent address by a preacher, Will Hays was engaged by the movies "for revenue only and not for moral idealism."

While in a sense this may be true, it does not impress as being the whole truth. If the Hays regime shall better the tone of the moving pictures, a contingency of which there is abundant promise, it will be welcome also to increase the revenues.

There is a noticeable waning of the eagerness to have pictures censured since the advent of Mr. Hays. He recognizes the wisdom of presenting only that which is clean, and acceptable because of its cleanliness.

DOING THEMSELVES PROUD

A correspondent sends from Deauville, a center of frivolity, some startling information concerning the Americans there. They are credited with doing half the gambling at Monte Carlo, more than half of the drinking, and 2 per cent of the bathing.

Nor is it easy to account for the last. Possibly the visiting Americans are too busy drinking and gambling to have time for anything so wholesome as a dip in salt water.

What the gilded idlers who foregather at such resorts may think of Americans is a matter of the smallest possible concern. It is not pleasing, however, to realize that the people of this country generally will be judged by the specimens loafing and gaming in a resort that is mildly to be termed unsavory.

Men will work at tremendous pressure to heap up riches, and going to Monte Carlo, throw away their money with both hands, while observers naturally size them up as fools, and the stony-faced croupier, raking in their coin, hardly refrains from a cynical sneer.

Complaints are made that foreigners prey upon American tourists. Of course they do. If the purpose of going to Europe now is not that of being preyed upon, it would be hard to define.

"Think right, eat right and exercise right. Sleep nine hours every night." These are rules prescribed by a man of 102 who expects to reach 150.

What's the Shootin' About?

We are liable to forget what all this 'trouble is about between capital and labor.

The thing that we forget is that it is not a great moral issue nor a political issue, nor a passion issue, nor an oratorical issue.

It is simply and only a business issue. In any business, if it is to continue, there must be profits. Its profits are to be divided between the men who furnish the capital, without which the business could not be carried on, and the men who furnish the labor, including the management and the hand work.

labor and capital is what part shall go to Mr. Capital and what part shall go to Mr. Worker.

That question is purely a business issue. It is not moral, any further than that it ought to be honest, fair, and with a decent regard to human values.

The question being what share goes to the man who furnishes the money and what share goes to the man who furnishes the brains and the brawn, it will be seen at once that it is a question to be settled by experts, engineering minds, and business men.

It is not a subject to be treated in literature by authors. It is not a subject to be pulled and hauled around by politicians. It is not a subject to be settled with guns by soldiers.

Some day or other we are going to give the engineers their due leadership in this country. The division of the profit is not a matter of theory about labor and capital. Any such theory is usually an artificial and fallacious simplification.

THE LISTENING POST

Personality. There is another word of which much is made.

In the advertisements and the advance notices and the critiques. As though personality were something to conjure with.

A mysterious agency of the spirit to lift you above your fellows. Personality is merely the expression of your individuality. There is nothing mysterious about it.

Everybody has personality. Even the animals have it.

The snake has personality. Slimy, crawling, crooked, twisting, venomous.

Yet surely personality. Indeed, the snake has a lot more of individuality than some of the higher orders of creation.

And the sheep has personality. Mild, docile, grass-chewing.

Even our ancient abhorrence the skunk has a very distinct personality. And one long to be remembered.

If you chance to encounter him when in trim for battle. A malodorous personality to be sure. But a personality nevertheless.

So there are many forms and kinds of personality. Both in the world of animals. And in the world of human beings.

Some of them agreeable. Some of them disagreeable. Some captivating.

Others revolting and abhorrent. So personality is merely the spiritual expression of what you are.

It is the outward and visible sign of the inward and spiritual grace. Or the lack of grace. However it may be.

And you have personality. That it might be well for you to inquire into. Take apart and analyze and dissect.

To see what kind of personality it is. Whether agreeable or disagreeable. Graceful or rude. Friendly or inimical.

You can be pretty much what you wish in this world. You can be agreeable or disagreeable. Graceful or unkind.

But first you have to discover what you are. Strip away the sham and pretense and look at yourself with clear eyes.

There is no expression of personality but you may direct if you wish. Personality is not always attractive. It may be offensive.

It is for you to say what the expression of your personality may be. An agreeable personality is a big help. In business.

In whatever undertaking you may engage. It will let you in by many a door that would otherwise be closed.

But if you are accustomed to bring in mud on your shoes, you must not expect people will be glad to see you come in.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The feud carried to the climactic point of mutual extinction of the principals, is rare, at least in this section. It is not infrequent in the annals of the south.

Last week two old men who had made hatred of each other their business and passion for years, chanced to meet in Mendocino county. One shot the other with a rifle he happened to have, and a relative of the victim immediately shot the assassin.

Whether there are sufficient survivors to keep the feud alive and operating is for the future to decide. The general hope is that the matter is ended, and that a long quarrel that has been a menace to public peace will be buried along with the feudists.

The silliness of a grudge carried on for years, and by perfectly logical courses culminating in tragedy, is beyond easy comprehension. Why two men, in other respects sensible, should elect to thirst, each, for the blood of the other, hardly is to be explained.

There had been a quarrel over some question of property rights. One of the men placed a heavy gate across the road the other had to use in reaching home.

Well, perhaps it's over. The termination probably was the most satisfactory that could have been arranged.

The question of equality of the sexes is giving rise to certain unexpected problems. Among these is the question as to whether women have the right to smoke in public.

As to the taste exhibited by a woman who smokes on the street, doubtless there will be conflicting opinions, but her right to do so cannot logically be denied.

The New York policeman who knocked a cigarette from the hands of a woman who was at the time accompanied by her husband, doubtless meant well. He had equal authority to knock the cigarette from the hand of the husband, which is to say, no authority whatever.

There is a society for promotion of justice to Armenia. It has before it a task that does not seem to have been accomplished in great part. Turks kill fewer Armenians than formerly, largely because there are fewer to be killed.

In a recent address the secretary of this organization scored apologists for the Turks, revealing thereby the curious circumstances that such apologies exist. He brought out a singular fact that in the war the allies of the Turks did not seek to restrain the unspeakable atrocities, until the guns of the butchers threatened the Baku oil fields.

Kill all the Armenians you want to kill, but don't disturb the oil. This seems to have been the sentiment inspiring Central Europe then. Improvement since has been slight, if any.

Men who wreck trains ought to be hanged. It does not follow that every train wreck represents a deliberate crime. However, there are suspicions that may develop into certainties.

When heavy locomotives are strewn in fragments along the track they had been following at high speed, there is much difficulty sometimes in determining just how the accident happened.

The declaration of Mrs. George O. Robinson of Pasadena in favor of Charles C. Moore, has much significance. Mrs. Robinson is representative of a large class of highly cultured women, who until recently have taken only an academic interest in politics, even if they have taken that.

This distinguished woman's clear statement of the reasons why she is opposed to Senator Johnson is an able summing up of the indictments against him. It shows, moreover, that women not heard from in previous campaigns, are keenly alive to their civic duties. How large the vote represented by women of this type is to be, only the returns can reveal; but it is certain that it will be large enough to startle Senator Johnson.

Many an editor has thrown a figurative bomb, and the explosion has rattled a whole community. The California editor arrested for connection with a bomb episode is suspected of using another kind. It is seldom that occasion arises for arresting an editor, so when it does happen, everybody sits up and takes notice.

There is a candidate for representative from the Ninth district, whose name is Ostler. He indicates that if not nominated this time he will bob up later to try again.

Ostler is an optimist. In him there is a bubbling fount of hope that must be a cheering possession.

Subsidence of the feeling that causes riots is a slow process compared with that by which the feelings are incited. Just as trouble seems to have disappeared it rears out again like a half-smothered flame. San Bernardino was only one among several places upon which experience impressed this truth.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

When I begin to feel in need of a few harsh words I call on Jimmy Welsh, who runs the messenger service at the corner. Jimmy's force of Mercuries consists of:

A. The finest lot of bright-eyed, manly, alert kids you ever saw. B. A social settlement of wopper-jawed, slant-shouldered, shambling old gentlemen, ranging in age from forty to 112.

Jimmy says to a boy messenger when he sends him out: "Son, take this to Adam Keene's place and get a receipt. See Mr. Keene himself if you can. Tell him that it was in the office just thirty seconds before it was on its way."

Jimmy Welsh says to the decrepit persons who range themselves shavely before him: "Now, bonehead, do you know where to go? Tell it over to me, so I can find whether it got through that pan. No, mush-mouth. NOT that. You do what I tell you or I'll lam you in the puss."

Jimmy is perfectly callous and matter of fact. He regards these poor old misfits as highly as a piece of fried catfish and no higher. "Why should I be hypocritical," he says. "They are cast-offs, failures, sour, pygmy wrinkles. I do not care whether they live or die or starve or get wet or break their legs and neither does the world. If they do not make good, out they go."

But the kids are different. They are "comers." Jimmy believes there is no better training school than a messenger service station, always provided that the man in charge does his part by the boys. He encourages them to observe. Boys will or will not read, but if they are rewarded for making use of their eyes and ears they make a game of it. Jimmy's ex-messengers are to be found in banks and business houses and colleges, and some one of the little hellions that now whistle and stamp in his back room might finish up on Pennsylvania avenue.

"But them old horses, now," says Jimmy, cruelly, "sittin' on that bench. They're no good. They never had the sense to save their money."

SONGS OF THE POETS

"Day and Night My Thoughts Incline"—By Richard Henry Stoddard (1825-1903)

Day and night my thoughts incline To the blandishments of wine: Jars were made to drain, I think, Wine, I know, was made to drink.

When I die, (the day be far) Should the potters make a jar Out of this poor clay of mine, Let the jar be filled with wine.

Science Ignorant of Biggest Living Things

Since Jonah obtained his alleged inside information or since the whale rejected that disagreeable prophet, there has been little study made of the feeding and other habits of the mammoth mammals of the sea. This is the plain inference from statements made in regard to these denizens of the deep by Dr. Barton W. Evermann, director of the museum of the California Academy of Sciences, in a recent statement.

According to Dr. Evermann, the reported recent finding of a 10-foot shark and 3000 pounds of sardines in the stomach of a sperm whale emphasizes the fact of how little is known of the preferred menu of these ocean-going animals, and their relation to the fisheries. Sardine fishermen of Monterey Bay, as well as those of Norway, he says, claim that whales herd the sardines inshore and are therefore beneficial to the sardine fishery. They object to the killing of these pelagic voyagers, for that reason. Not only that, but naturalists do not even know what species occur on the Pacific coast of North America. The Sei or Japanese sardine whale, unknown to the scientific world until found in Japanese waters, in 1912, was taken off our coast in great numbers in 1918, the first year ever identified here. The whales and other mammals of the sea should be investigated by the Committee on Conservation of Marine Life of the Committee on Pacific Investigations of the Division of Foreign Relations of the National Research Council, Dr. Evermann believes. Following these investigations, treaties should be entered into between this and other countries for the protection of the largest creatures of the largest sea.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

AROUND AND AROUND [New York Tribune]

It was Don Marquis who observed that although liquor raids are of daily occurrence in New York no one ever hears the sound of breaking glass. The custom of pouring seized whisky into the gutter, which enlivened the village life in the days when Kansas first went dry, does not obtain in New York.

The dry law officials get the liquor and store it away, and then, apparently, thieves break through and steal it. The bootleggers get it from the thieves, the unlauding restaurant men get it from the bootleggers and the dry officials reappear to take it back to the bonded warehouses.

It is the same sort of circle as that described by the man who does more work to get more money to buy more food to get more muscle to do more work to get more money, and so ad infinitum.

Of course, there is a certain loss now and then from occasional consumption en route. The burglars who stole the whisky from the chemical laboratory on the fifth floor of the federal building will not have as much to sell as they took away, nor will the refectory from which the prohibition enforcement officers will later seize it find as much as was sold by the bootlegger customers of the burglars.

Falling a new supply derived from foreign shores or from the home and fireside, the circle would soon dry up. However, such of the old pre-Volstead stuff as is still in existence, though it grows in cost as the years go by, owes nothing of its enhanced selling price to the cobwebs that gather on the bottles. It never stays anywhere long enough to give a cobweb a landing place.

WHEN A RIGHT IS A RIGHT [Hartford Times]

William Allen White of Emporia is perfectly right when he says that the only test of the validity of the right of free speech is its exercise when there is a real difference of opinion, like that on the shopmen's strike. To be free to say that it is a fine morning or that "God's in His heaven, all's well with the world," doesn't mean anything. A free press isn't a free press unless it is free in the pinches.

THE KFAC RADIO ORCHESTRA

Franklin D. Mather Candidate for the Republican Nomination for State Senator

He has served two terms in the State Legislature as Assemblyman from the 67th District, having received the Republican nomination four years ago, thereby defeating the incumbent, who is now the opposing candidate for State Senator. Two years later he was nominated without opposition and was elected by an exceptionally large vote.

As a member of the Legislature he stood for the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment; for the Harris and Wright Enforcement Acts; for the conservation and development of the resources of the state in the interests of the people; for the great educational program of the Legislature; and for its just and generous provisions for the war veterans.

He stood firmly for the King Equalization of Taxation Bill against the desperate endeavors of the public utility corporations, aided and abetted by the "Better America Federation," alias the "Association for Betterment of Public Service" to defeat that bill that they might thereby evade their equitable share of taxation.

HIS PLATFORM

He stands for all necessary constructive legislation. He regards the public welfare as paramount always to special interests.

He is in favor of the most rigid economy of administration consistent with efficiency.

He is opposed to the "Better America Federation," the "Association for Betterment of Public Service" and all other organizations which would destroy the Primary and the Initiative and return to the old system of party caucuses and conventions and political bosses.

He is a PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN.

He has been a resident of Southern California thirty-five years. He will be grateful for your support and if elected will render faithful and efficient service.

Which played on the Press-Newton radio last night and appears Saturday at American Legion

Fans have heard the KFAC orchestra by radio. Residents not interested in radio have heard the KFAC orchestra last Friday evening at the American Legion's open meeting, and also have heard four pieces of this orchestra in the hall at Park avenue and Brand boulevard. They have read about it in the Glendale Daily Press, the Los Angeles Express and the Weekly Radio Doings magazine. The KFAC orchestra has won a reputation in a short time in the far east and middle west, causing publishers to write for a picture of this orchestra known as the official broadcasting orchestra of the Press-Newton radio station.

Radio fans have requested an opportunity to hear them for an entire evening and have made the statement that they would also like an opportunity to dance to their wonderful syncopated harmony. Other residents, both young and old have expressed the desire to hear it.

Everyone will have their request fulfilled Saturday night, August 26, at the American Legion hall, just across from the city hall on West Broadway. The KFAC orchestra will conduct the entire dance and will make an additional endeavor to please everyone by playing your favorite pieces.

Be there one and all, and enjoy some real honest-to-goodness music, played by honest-to-goodness musicians, and also enjoy some real honest-to-goodness dancing. This opportunity is only made through special arrangements; however, if the demand seems to require still more, another dance may be arranged.

UNAFRAID

"This is a nice canoe, isn't it, Maud?" said the tall, dark, young man. "Very nice indeed, Charlie," replied the pretty girl sitting in the stern. "There's just one objection to it," said the young man. "Indeed! And what is that?" she asked. "Oh, well, you see, if you try to kiss a girl in this canoe there's great danger of upsetting it, and then both the fellow and the girl would be thrown into the river." "Oh, indeed!" said the girl reflectively. And she sat silent for a while. At length she remarked softly: "Charlie, I can swim." London Tit-Bits.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1921 by W. Werner)

Jane sat in the back of the hotel carriage lost in dreams. Something in the fresh, clover-scented air of the country brought back the past. She had longed, after the world of romance into a drab monotony of daily duties, to grow old swiftly, so she would cease to regret and cease to feel so keenly the loss of her lover. The sight of the wheat fields was pleasing to her, but as she looked out dreamily she wondered if she had attained the blessed torpidity that she had fancied she had won. This hot day, filled with the drowsy buzz of yellow bees, might have been a day snatched from that joy-filled past, and the woman stirred, vaguely conscious of stormy longings that disquieted her. Moving restlessly, she stared out at the houses.

They had been ascending a hill, and as the horse paused for breath on the summit Jane sat up with a stifled exclamation on her lips. There, set back under branches of flowering catalpa trees, its green roof coming down steeply over the soft brown sides of the quaint cottage that was half buried under the vines of the scarlet rambler roses, and revealing shady rambling verandas around three sides of the house, was the place of her dreams. The situation on the top of a hill, the choice of paint and flowers, even the big rural mailbox of alumininum paint, with the gay little red flag, all these were as she and Barrett had planned years before they had quarreled. Then Jane had been a round-cheeked girl, with an insatiable love for joking, and Barrett had been a stiff, self-contained young man, who had just finished his medical course and who took himself and his chosen profession very seriously. The quarrel had arisen so swiftly that later Jane had hardly been able to recall the heated words, but which neither would attempt to recall. They had been planning the cottage they would build and had discussed the plants and trees they wanted, and had decided upon white chickens, because they would look well against the different greens of the foliage, when Jane had jokingly remarked that they must surely choose the brow of a hill, because of the business he would get through automobile accidents, and he had taken exception to the joke. Jane's invalid aunt had been planning to leave the village on a trip abroad, and Jane, wounded at Barrett's unreasonable anger, had offered to accompany her relative, thinking that Barrett would make up before she could really go. Now, as she stared incredulously at the lovely little house, smothered under roses, she wondered at her easy relinquishment of happiness. Whether or not Barrett heard of her trip before she started she never knew, but from that time she had never seen him. From Italy she had sent a postcard, which he had not acknowledged and she later had regretted sending this, because she felt that she had made overtures toward reconciliation, and yet could not be sure that he had received the card.

At the hotel she scarcely waited to wash away the dust of travel before she went downstairs and up the path to the hill. The cottage, so like the one of her dreams, fascinated her and she could think of nothing save the amazing reality of the place that she had fancied existed only in her mind. The heat brought a faint color into her face and the wind loosened her red-brown hair until it fluffed out becomingly under her broad hat. "I feel almost as I used to when I was a girl," murmured the young woman. The dew still lingered in the leaves and she smiled as a shower of sparkling drops fell on her upturned face. Jane had been so constantly with her ailing and aged relative that she had almost forgotten that youth still lingered with her, and she wondered at the gay excitement that made her want to hurry up the winding path toward the cool shade of the catalpa trees inside the brown picket fence. Outside the gate she stood looking in, longing to enter, yet wondering what excuse she would make for her intrusion. The sight of the pump midway between the house and the chicken yards furnished her with a reason and she swung open the low gate and went up the red-bricked path that was bordered on either side with gay flowers. The front door stood wide open. There was no one to be seen about the porch. Presently she saw a blue sunbonnet down by the berry patch and she went toward it. As she looked about the peaceful little place the poignant regret for her silly flight from her sweetheart awoke more keenly than ever and she looked at the ruffled sunbonnet almost jealously. She might have been a happy wife and mistress of a little paradise like this had she been more patient. "Perhaps it is for sale," she thought, although she was sure that no one who possessed so perfect a home would part with it.

When the small figure straightened up at her salutation Jane was conscious of an absurd relief, for the face upturned to hers was old and criss-crossed with wrinkles. "Yes, of course you may have a drink of water," she said, with the pleasant and instant hospitality of a country woman. "We are proud of our water." The old eyes rested on the apple trees shading the pump. "Won't you come in and rest a bit before you go out?" "Thanks, I'd love to," returned Jane, and when she entered the cool darkened little parlor and smelled the roses from the porch she wished that she might linger there forever. The noisy hotel, with its groups of giggling, overdressed girls and women, had not impressed her favorably. "Is this place?"

The woman laughed. "I don't own it. I'm the housekeeper here, but it's very dear to the man who owns it. He said once that it was built on memories, and although he doesn't say much I've always thought—here the kindly eyes filled with a neighborly curiosity turned full on Jane's flushed face—"that picture over there had something to do with his memories. The picture is on his writing desk, but if you look in that mirror over there was a step on the porch

VETERANS' CAMP ENDS AT BEACH

So. Cal. Veterans' Association Encampment Ends Today

Today marks the end of the Southern California Veterans' association encampment at Huntington Beach, which has been held for the past ten days. Quite a number of Glendale people, members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., have been attending.

Last Sunday Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain of the Southern California veterans, and Mrs. S. Houdyshel, chaplain of the auxiliary, conducted the memorial services. The auxiliary lost 103 members during the past year, and the post lost about 100 members.

Mrs. Houdyshel reports that the people of Huntington Beach entertained their guests quite royally and took them over the city and oil fields in automobiles. Those from Glendale were Mrs. Caroline Kretschmer, president of the W. R. C.; Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel, Mrs. Julia Hays, Mrs. Augusta Patterson, Mrs. Della Haggood, Mrs. Emma Hammon, Mrs. Susie Peck, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. Mary Sanford and Mrs. Mary Hull; Commander LeClair, Robert Taylor, J. H. Clark, S. Houdyshel, George Sanford, Rev. C. R. Norton, Thomas Hull and A. W. Scudder.

at that moment, and chuckling over her own discovery, the housekeeper picked up the blue sunbonnet and trotted out. Jane, her heart beating to suffocation, crossed the room and looked at the silver-framed photograph. The steps drew nearer as Jane looked up into the mirror. Above her own face smiled the blue eyes of her old lover. "The house we planned is built and ready, Jane," he whispered, "and you've come back."

KENTUCKY SEEKS RADIO

The University of Kentucky, contemplating installation of a radio broadcasting station, has written Dr. F. F. Nalder of the general extension division of the state college of Washington to find out what the new big broadcaster to be opened at Pullman in September will consist of, how much cost, and how it was financed. They also want to know how it to be used. He replied: "We plan to broadcast lectures on scientific and general information subjects, musical recitals, and in other ways to serve the public. The outfit is to cost about $2,000, nearly all of which is provided by alumni and friends of the college. It is being installed by the college of engineering and will be large controlled by the department of electrical engineering. It will be used freely, however, by the Agricultural Extension service, and the division of general extension."

It was in a well-known tavern London that a man was gazing tently at another who had just entered. He went over to him and said: "Aren't you Dr. Smith? The other man said that was your name." "But surely," said the man, "I attended my wife?" "I did not," was the answer, "I am a doctor." "Then you must have a double was the reply. "I will," said the stranger.

DOCTOR MUSKRAT GIVES ADVICE

By JOHN BARTON

Dr. Muskrat! What a power he was among the woodfolk of Tomby Peele's woods and fields! And wasn't because he could fight that nobody ever dared to disobey him. The instant he spoke the lackbirds who had been plaguing little Frisk Squirrel took to their wings. They didn't even stop to think what they'd been so curious about—what they'd tried to bully risk into telling them. The quail who had rushed to defend him ran back to her eggs. And Tad Coon gazed, "I'm so glad you came. Just be what those egg thieves have done to poor little Frisk, just because he couldn't run away from me."

"Why couldn't he?" sniffed the doctor. "It's ever so much more miserable than fighting."
"Cause he's watching Nibble's ole for me. And Stripes Skunk is watching Maltie Kitten's. We've got a mink shut up in that long rock tunnel that runs between em. I've sent for the dogs to come and help us dig her out."
"The mink!" exclaimed the doctor. "I heard she was coming, but I weren't expecting her till this evening. Look here, Tad, that's ing to be an awful obj of digging. Nibble Rabbit made that hole in the spring when the mud was so soft it would fairly sink under your paw. And then took him nearly a week. Now so hard it'll take a whole lot longer."
"All right," growled Tad. "Let her come out or starve. Makes no difference to me."
"She'll come out, all right, if you want to wait for her," said the wise paddle-paw.
"My pond wouldn't do it. Anyway, the mink wouldn't mind. She'd like it."
"Well," said Frisk, "doeth it have to be water? Couldn't it be crawfish or pinchbug, or thomefish?"
"Sho, that mink'd just eat 'em," sniffed Tad.
"But Frisk began to chuckle. He had such a funny notion.

FRANCE REJECTS GERMAN PLANS

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Germany submitted plans for a five-month moratorium today and her proposals were instantly rejected by France.
The German plan, which was thought acceptable to the allies, was for deposits of gold guarantees against a temporary moratorium on reparations payments.
The Frenchmen flatly refused to consider it. France demands a lien on Germany industry in exchange for temporary relief from payments.

FAKE PROMOTERS ALCOHOL PACKS INJURE BANKS AND PEOPLE WAREHOUSES IN LOS ANGELES

H. J. Stonier of University of So. Cal. Explains Damage

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—What has it meant to the business life of Southern California that 200 fake promotion schemes have operated here during the last year and taken millions of dollars from the bank deposits of savings institutions? was the question asked by H. J. Stonier, director of the extension division of the University of Southern California, in a recent speech broadcasted by radio.

"It cripples the banks in their ability to transact current credit business operations. When this money is sunk in fake promotion schemes the banks suffer and modern business must depend upon the bank to transact its day to day business."
"The withdrawal of money means that legitimate and fundamental industrial enterprises have been denied the use of these funds for purposes of building up the industries of Southern California."
"Big industrial enterprises and public utility undertakings must be financed, not by millionaires and bankers, but by the rank and file of people who contribute $100, $200 or $300 each to bond or stock investments in these undertakings. If sums of money ranging into millions go into fake promotion it simply means that legitimate business, calling for money on a six or seven per cent basis, is not sufficiently attractive to hold the interest of the rank and file of investors."

"The third and most damaging feature of the whole business of the faker is the fact that he discourages and discourages the average investor in corporate enterprise. Out of the millions and millions of dollars that have been sunk in these fake promotion schemes during the past 25 years, less than $25,000 have been returned in dividends to the investor. The small investor does not know enough about business enterprise to be discriminating. If he is tricked on a fake promotion he feels that all

21,371,820 Gallons on Hand Under Bond Says Rex B. Goodcell

Figures completed yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell show that 21,371,820 gallons of wine are on hand in bonded wineries and government warehouses in California. This ocean of wine does not include stocks held in homes.
California's supply of wine would provide six and one-half gallons for every man, woman and child in the state, or a pint and one-half for every man, woman and child in the United States. Virtually the whole world could be invited to partake of a glass of wine, as the stock on hand would furnish 1,500,000 drinks of the various types of the sweet or dry beverage.

If the water supply of Los Angeles were cut off and the wine on hand turned into the mains, it would supply the requirements of the entire city for a period of six hours. Los Angeles uses 85,000,000 gallons of water daily during the summer months.
An outstanding feature of Col-stock and bond investments are fake.

"He either sees red and becomes a Bolshevik on the industrial system, or he withdraws his money from circulation and buries it, so to speak, where it ceases to function in a productive way."
"It behooves the better business element of this community in the interest of future development, to stand squarely back of the movement for better business in finance. Southern California is the white spot of the world, and, as such, it has attracted the faker, the phony promoter, the gambler and all of the lower order in the realm of finance who will become parasites upon our prosperity. They stand in a fair way of ruining the confidence of people in the business interests of the Southland, unless we make articulate our expression of this disapproval, even to the extent of jail sentence where the guilty have been found."

SHOPMEN ANSWER RAIL CHALLENGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The answer of the striking shopmen to the roads' challenge to a finish fight was conveyed to certain carriers today.
Eren S. Stone and his fellow negotiators were closeted this morning with Bert M. Jewell, shopmen's leader. They told him of the carrier's rejection of the suggestion that men return to work with status as of June 30.
Jewell, after the meeting, stated to the United Press he had no further word for the public at present.
"We have accepted the challenge," he said, referring to the roads' vote for a flat "no" on the seniority proposals of the "Big Four" leaders.

lector Goodcell's survey is that the production of wine in California during the past year has exceeded the withdrawals to such an extent that the wine supply is increasing at the rate of 3,485,843 gallons annually.
Reports made by the various wineries show that there is now on hand 21,371,820 gallons of wine, as follows:
Dry wine of less than 28 proof, 15,000,970 gallons; sweet wine of 28 proof, but not more than 42 proof, 5,870,849 gallons.
Withdrawals ran up to 3,354,731 gallons, indicating an excess in production for the year over withdrawals amounting to 3,485,843 gallons.

The bulk of the wine withdrawn has been shipped into other states under bond for use for religious and medicinal purposes.
"Figures just completed," said Collector Goodcell, "show that internal revenue collections for liquor taxes for the entire state of California during the past year amounted to $2,857,728.91. This was divided as follows:
"Spirits at $2.50 per gallon, $1,430,924.14; still and sparkling wines at 16 cents per gallon, $251,983.00; and grape brandy, used to fortify sweet wines, at 60 cents per gallon, $991,273.91. In addition, $41,372.17 was collected in penalties from violators of the liquor regulations."

Grandpa—Yes, sonny, I used to fight Indians before I was 21. I remember one time I had some marbles when you was a boy, granddad?

BURBANK AT 71 IS STILL ACTIVE

He Has No Sympathy With Those Who Would Retire

By JAS. C. KNOLLIN

The world's greatest plant breeder has no sympathy for those who believe a man should retire at 60, for many of his most wonderful accomplishments have taken place during the 13 years since he passed the three score mark.
The writer recently visited Mr. Burbank at his Santa Rosa home and experiment gardens and found him still enthusiastic and energetic despite his advancing years and comparatively frail constitution.
Luther Burbank arises each morning at 6:30, spends from six to ten hours working among the plants and trees he loves, and concludes each busy day with from two to five hours' dictation.

During the four months just passed more than 2000 letters a week were received in Mr. Burbank's office. Many of these required personal replies. Each afternoon during the busy spring season the Santa Rosa postoffice receives from the Burbank offices a truckload of letters and packages addressed to all parts of the world, many of them carrying seeds, cuttings, roots and plants of the wonderful creations developed by this master artist.

I saw white strawberries, fully ripe; giant poppies with flowers measuring 8 to 12 inches across; beautiful purple artichokes which Mr. Burbank has named "Ever-bearing" because they produce every month of the year.
One of the most remarkable of the new fruits is an "Alligator pear," developed from seed brought from Chile, which has weathered all of the severest frosts and which now forms a most compact tree about 14 feet high. Mr. Burbank predicts a great future for this new avocado and believes it may form the basis for development of an entirely frost resistant variety to replace some of the less satisfactory types now produced in this country. This would greatly widen the scope of the avocado industry, which now is confined to practical frost-free areas.

Here and there throughout the Burbank gardens were plants tied about the stems with small white rags. These rags are Mr. Burbank's "markers," with which he designated the superior individuals selected for propagation.

Those who assert Mr. Burbank has passed his prime are mistaken. He is now doing some of the most wonderful work of his career. He is not content with having produced the world's earliest and best tomato, now grown in almost every civilized nation, or the wonderful potato that bears his name, or the tree known as the "Royal walnut," a cross between the common black and the commercial varieties. These and his hundreds of previous creations are but milestones in an amazingly active career.

Probably no American is better known throughout the world than Luther Burbank. During the past year an average of more than 25 visitors sought his gates each day. This means that more than 8000 persons came to Santa Rosa especially to visit the Burbank gardens during the past 12 months. Many of them were captains of industry; many were foreigners of noble birth; many plant or nature lovers like himself. Needless to say, Mr. Burbank did not talk with all of them; in fact, so numerous are his callers that were he to receive every person who sought an audience he would have very little time for his work.

COMING ON HIM

A candidate in a rural district of England was getting a firm hold on his electors and was volubly painting in vivid colors the happy life they would lead if he were their member in parliament.
"You have not yet got two acres of land each and a cow, but that will come!" he cried.
"You have not got free homes for old people, but that will come." He passed on to prison reform.
"I have no experience of those institutions," he remarked, "but—"
A Voice—But that will come, gov'nor.—London Express.

TUJUNGA FESTIVAL IS BOOMED BY 'MILLIONAIRES'

Millionaires' Club of Happiness and Contentment Admits New Members

TUJUNGA, Aug. 24.—Realizing that there are hundreds of people living in the "roaring towns" of Southern California who would be more than glad to become members of the Millionaires' Club of Happiness and Contentment of the Green Verdugo Hills, the members of the club have elected a number of men who were considered eligible to become members, and have sent out letters, telling them of their election.

The doings of the club are chronicled weekly by John Steven McGroarty, Tujunga's poet-philosopher, on his page in the magazine section of the Los Angeles Times.

The club, unlike many of the present-day organizations, has no set limit of membership, and welcomes all those whom the members believe can live up to the principles upon which it is founded—happiness and contentment.

The Moon festival of the Tujungans, to be held on September 1, 2, 3 and 4 is the cause of special activity on the part of the club at this time. The millionaires are usually content to hold their meetings in a cloud of blue tobacco smoke, commenting on the activities of the world as they see them, but the neighbors got together and agreed that Monte Vista post 250, American Legion, in charge of the Moon festival this year, deserved some good, live boosting, and that it was up to the millionaires to do their share.

They decided that the best way to accomplish their purpose was to enlarge their membership, so they made a selection of representative men whom they believed should be millionaires of happiness and contentment at least, if not in mere dollars and cents, and elected them to membership.

The time is too short to reach all of the men who are eligible to become members, and those who would like to become members and who have not received a notification of election, may send an application for membership to Wilmot Parcher, president of the club, and it will be voted upon.

Following is a copy of one of the letters together with a copy of the draft on the Bank of Joy, presented to each new member:

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE KING AND THE MOON
(An Eastern Fable)

In the old days of Nid and Nishapan, Had Mene a Shekel was the richest man, With gold and jewels more than man could spend, And cloth of gold and laces without end, Great caravans of camels bearing loads Of precious stuffs along the paths and roads That led from loom to mart and earned him gold, And treasure more than bursting bags could hold, Yet at the dusk when the long day was spent, Had Mene a Shekel sighed with discontent.

He had a glittering scimitar all set With precious gems; a shining coronet, Steeds of all Araby the fleetest, best, Ships on the seas of trade both east and west, A tent of cloth of gold with rugs laid down, Priceless and rich as any monarch's crown, And maids who danced, with ropes of pearls an' gems, And gowns with flashing jewels at the hems, Now was there any treasure but he had, And still he sighed and still he was not glad.

Then he bade all his wise men to him soon, And sighed and said: "Pray get me the moon," And they went forth with many ropes and slings And many workmen sailing upon wings And brought it straight way down to earth and laid It at his feet, for he must be obeyed.

Had Mene a Shekel looked with sleepy eyes, And saw and yawned and said to them: "Ye Wise, It was not after all the thing I sigh for, Put it back in the sky for fools to cry for."

PRESS-NEWTON ORCHESTRA WINS FAME FOR GLENDALE FROM MANY DISTANT POINTS

Request Concert Makes Big Hit in Last Night's Program for Radio Fans of Southern California, Nevada and Oregon

KFAC MUSICIANS ARE TO APPEAR ON SATURDAY

One Listener at Bicknell, Calif., Declares He is Coming to Glendale to See the Station Which is Making Such a Sensation in Fandom

By N. D. GARVER

Did Marion Jones knock the keys on the piano for a row of harmonies? Did Funk and Smith squeeze the notes out of their saxophones? Did Herb Bengue put in the touches with his cornet? Did Herb Brooks make his violin talk? Did Edward Moniot tickle the strings on his old banjo? Phone reports say they did.

Pieces which were requested by fans (popular selections) will be played at the dance Saturday night, American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, Glendale, an account of which will be found elsewhere in this edition.

The KFAC orchestra has been receiving compliments of the highest quality from all over the state. Not only that, but eastern publishers of newspapers have written pictures of KFAC and the orchestra. Also KFAC has been listed for long distance records for the past three weeks in the Radio Digest, a nationally recognized radio publication. One listener has written in that he is going to make a journey of 200 miles from Bicknell, California, to see the Press-Newton station and to attend the dance Saturday night and become acquainted with those who are producing such syncopated harmony. If that isn't about as good a compliment as one could wish for, what is?

During the course of the evening's concert, Mr. Fred H. Killick, aquatic expert and explorer's guide who is now a special representative of the Los Angeles Examiner, called at the radio station and complimented the Press-Newton combine upon the excellent concerts that have been broadcast from KFAC during the past three months. Mr. Killick has lectured to over 200,000 high school students on the Pacific coast during the past 14 years on the highly important subject of life saving.

In addition to lecturing, Mr. Killick has given numerous radio concerts for various troops of the Boy Scouts of America at Catalina, San Diego and Los Angeles. He states KFAC concerts are heard very clearly over a radio receiving set with five phones hooked on to it and at all of the concerts he has conducted at the receiving end.

SPRIT OF FAIR PLAY IS NEEDED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Are we now living in a time which tries men's souls to the utmost? Such is the belief of Dr. Clarence Case of Iowa, who gave a series of lectures at the University of Southern California during the summer session.

"The whole world," says Dr. Case, "is living in an atmosphere of intense emotionalism, without clear enough mental equipment to meet its important problems."

"The spirit of sabotage, the spirit of smashing and destruction prevalent today is one outcome of the war. On the other hand, we have some people who are actuated by law, but in the wrong way. They are resorting to mob violence and trying, by intimidation, to carry out purposes, worthy enough in themselves, but they are undermining instead of helping."

"What is most needed in America today is the spirit of fair play, the most precious thing in human life. We must keep the spirit of Richard the Lion-Hearted, and Saladin, the spirit of fair play, upon which our constitution is based."

subjects, "Public School Music," "Indian Music and Its Influence" and the "Problems of the American Composer." Cadman is noted for his enthusiasm and the splendid work he has done in behalf of the Junior clubs, in the State Federation of Music clubs, of which he is the chairman of education. He has carried that department further than ever before in its history.

THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER drains an area of about 1,250,000 square miles, or about one-third the area of the United States.

BUD HOUSER TO JOIN SO. CALIF.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—Although "Bud" Houser, the Oxnard high school graduate of last term, who has already broken several world's records, has been made some very attractive offers by eastern colleges to matriculate with them and be their hero on the athletic field, he has declined them all and announces that he will enter the University of Southern California at the beginning of the fall term. "Bud" is now working at Corcoran in the San Joaquin Valley.

MOTHER OF PROF. HARWOOD KILLED BY AUTO

Had Just Alighted from Car in Los Angeles When Struck

Struck down by an automobile, Mrs. P. J. Harwood, mother of Prof. E. E. Harwood of Glendale, was instantly killed at Lennox, near Inglewood, Tuesday.

She had just alighted from a street car. Before the automobile stopped, it had dragged her 70 feet.

Professor Harwood, who was formerly principal of the Cerritos avenue grammar school, is now a member of the faculty of the Central Avenue school.

'GRIM COMEDIAN' AT GLENDALE THEATRE

Mother and Daughter Problem Play Closes Tonight

"The Grim Comedian," the new Goldwyn picture to be shown at the Glendale theatre tonight only, is the story of an actress-mother's sacrifice of a life of luxury that her convent-bred daughter may not know of the means by which she was educated. The mother is a minor actress who has won the esteem of a Broadway rounder, and through his beneficence has been able to provide well for her daughter.

But when the girl grows up and wants to come to her mother, the latter cannot go on with her former life. The man in the case, however, is not to be disposed of easily, especially after seeing his daughter. Then a conflict between the mother's love for her daughter and the first genuine affection of the rounder for the unspoiled girl, furnishes a thrilling climax to an unusual story.

Beautiful Forest Lawn

"Among the Hills"

There are but few burial parks—in the United States—if any—that have planned for a more extensive plan of improvements than has the management of Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Its 250 acres—beautifully improved with a park-like system of landscape gardening and costly buildings. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent—and hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent to complete the various units now under construction.

Everything that art, science and loving care can devise has been planned for different forms of burial—be it earth burial, mausoleum crypt, cremation, columbarium niche or private vault.
