All members are urged to be present and a cordial invitation is extended to all visiting daughters and G. A. R. members.

Bible Class Studies Jeremiah's Prophecy

The men's Bible study class of the First Methodist Episcopal church had for their subject Sunday morning a study of the prophecies of Jeremiah, and the teacher, Rev. Edward Hoskyn, gave an interesting review of the acts in the life of this noted prophet of Jehovah. The local application of the subject led to a discussion of the fates which have ever befallen reformers in all ages. Lincoln was proclaimed the great reformer and prophet of the last hundred years, and the faith of the great Emancipator was cited upon as the source of his power. Discussion drifted to the question of partisanship in business and politics, and the laxity in enforcement of laws and the punishment of law violators, and the service developed into a memorial for the fallen heroes of three wars, with especial reference to those who fell in the cause of human freedom. Attendance at this class for Bible study is increasing.

Dempsey's Pilot Faces Civil Action by Woman for Alleged Assault

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Jack Kearns, Jack Dempsey's manager, is made defendant in a $200,000 damage action filed today in the county clerk's office by Mary C. Tenney, who was his accuser in a complaint to District Attorney Asa Keyes recently.

Miss Tenney alleges in her civil complaint, filed through Attorney Maurice Salzman, that on May 3, between 5:30 p. m. and 9 p. m., Kearns attempted to assault her, and falling, administered narcotics and anaesthetic and then attacked her. Miss Tenney is a motion picture extra girl. The district attorney, after investigating the case, refused to bring a criminal charge against Kearns. Miss Tenney announced at that time the damage action would follow. She demands $100,000 actual and $100,000 punitive damages.

House Adopts Report On Taxation Measure

(Continued from page 1) than the original Mellon plan, Representative Green, Republican, Iowa, chairman of the ways and means committee, told the House this afternoon when he called up the conference report on the bill and urged its adoption. Denies Deficit "This bill will not create a deficit; it will leave a surplus of $138,000,000 in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year 1925," Green said. "In addition the surplus at the end of the year will be sufficient to pay the first year's of the soldiers bonus, twice over." Green's remarks were greeted with loud applause from both sides of the chamber. Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska, voiced opposition to the provision which prohibits full publicity of persons of income tax returns. He also assailed as "wicked" the amendment providing a 25 per cent reduction of 1923 taxes.

C. C. Directors See Glendale Shirt Plant

(Continued From Page 1) for one George Nichols of Ames, Iowa, who measured 54 inches around the waist. A photo of the shirt with three women in it was passed around, much to the amusement of everyone. The delegation visited the new Community Savings and Commercial bank at the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, and were shown around by its president, Daniel Campbell. Attention was called to the Gateway hotel, recently opened on the second floor of the bank building. The delegation then had luncheon at Harry Dewey's cafe on South San Fernando road as the guests of Mr. Karr, twenty-four covers being laid. Following is a list of those who were present: D. H. Smith, Daniel Campbell, Eugene F. Sanders, Harry E. Hall, H. G. MacBain, Cameron D. Thom, George H. Bentley, Frank L. Fox, George U. Moyle, L. H. Myers, William L. Twining, L. H. Wilson, R. F. Kitterman, H. D. Charlton, R. E. Johnston, Lyman P. Clark, Frank Kerwin, George R. Karr, manager of the Baldwin Shirt company; R. W. Dick, assistant manager; G. A. Spencer, head cutter; C. E. Dame, cutter. A complete account of the visit to the Baldwin Shirt company by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and members of the Realty board industrial committee will appear in tomorrow's issue of The Glendale Evening News.

Await Completion of Copy for Advertising

The advertising committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce held the regular weekly meeting this morning, but no business was transacted pending the completion of the copy for booklet and the advertisements, that are now being prepared by Charles R. Stewart, the advertising specialist. It is expected that the copy for the booklets will be in the printers' hands within the next few days. The board of control will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Martin to Report to Chief on Plane Crash

BELLINGHAM, Wash., May 26.—Major Frederick L. Martin and Sergeant Alva L. Harvey, crew of the ill-fated American round-the-world plane Seattle, which was completely wrecked April 30 when it crashed into a mountain near Chignik, Alaska, are planning to leave tomorrow for Washington, where Major Martin, commander of the globe-circling flight, will make a detailed report to Major-General Mason Patrick, chief of the American air service, concerning the crash. To meet traffic demands a motor car that runs sideways is used in London.

BRANCH OF POST OFFICE PLANNED

Sub-Station Site Sought at Central Location to Care for Mails

Attempts to arrange for a branch postoffice to be established near the location of the present office when it is moved into the new building on East Broadway, have so far been unsuccessful, reports George Hallett, assistant postmaster.

Bids Are High
Mr. Hallett states that no bid has been received as yet that was sufficiently low to allow for the establishment of such a sub-station. The contract for the branch would be signed with some firm that would agree to handle all postal business that came to it for a set amount per year, he explained.

Any information on the subject can be obtained from Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson or Mr. Hallett. They urge that the merchants take immediate action if they want the downtown branch.

PLANS TO ATTEND THREE MEETINGS

Dr. Jessie Russell to See Realtors, Democrats and G. O. P. in Action

Attending both the Republican convention in Cleveland, Ohio, and the Democratic gathering in New York City, is to be the experience of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, who is to leave next Wednesday for an extended eastern trip.

Dr. Russell will travel on the "All California Special" on the Union Pacific, to the national realtors convention in Washington, D. C., where she will spend the first week in June as the guest of Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur and Mrs. Wilbur.

Two Conventions
The following week she will go to Cleveland to the Republican convention, and then on to New York City for the Democratic gathering.

The last week of the month Dr. Russell will be entertained by friends at their country home at Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson and in Eastern Canada at the Thousand Islands. She will return to Chicago via the Great Lakes.

Cleaner Shows In Movie Houses Are Urged by Patron

Editor The Evening News: If some of the movie houses would show pictures that are not murders and the electric chair, and vaudeville so bad I could not stay, they would not have to complain of the tent show taking the crowds. INVITE MEMBERS TO CELEBRATION

Sunset Club to Attend Party Honoring Birthday of A. H. Cleveland

Invitations have been sent out to all members of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, to the 87th birthday of A. H. Cleveland Thursday afternoon, May 29, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elsie Stowe, 363 West Lomita avenue.

Mr. Cleveland is one of the most loyal members of the club, and has not missed one meeting. He has long looked forward to being host on the occasion of his birthday.

Program Planned
Cards have been sent to the club members, but if by chance any of them failed to reach their destination the invitation is extended again.

Mrs. Stowe will receive the club members from 2:30 till 5 o'clock. There will be an informal social time and impromptu program, as is customary at the club meetings.

Any of the club members not having means of transportation to the party are asked to call Miss Sinks at The Evening News office, Glendale 132.

CIVIC CLUBS TO AID DEDICATION

Bridge Over Pacoima Wash Will Be Opened With Ceremony Tuesday

The Glendale caravan that will motor to San Fernando tomorrow evening to attend the ceremonies in connection with the formal dedication of the new bridge across Pacoima wash will assemble at the Chamber of Commerce at 5 o'clock, with each person bringing his own basket dinner.

All the civic clubs in Glendale have been invited to participate in the ceremonies, which will be attended by many of the leaders in state and county affairs, including Governor Richardson and the official part of the program will be followed by a basket dinner in the grounds of the old mission at San Fernando.

The directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, who are planning to attend the celebration in a body, will hold their weekly board meeting at the Harriett Mae tea room at noon tomorrow.

WINS PRAISE BY VARIOUS PROGRAM

Mrs. Retta Rhodes Presents Musical and Dramatic Recital Features

An enthusiastic group of friends greeted Mrs. Retta Rhodes of the Emerson School of Self Expression, at her recital given at the Knights of Pythias hall last Saturday night.

The stage, which was elaborately decorated with ferns, pepper bushes and privet, served as an artistic setting to a highly entertaining program.

Mrs. Rhodes, in a beaded grey crepe de chine gown, delighted her audience with a miscellaneous group of pianologues and readings, and for the closing number she presented a playlet, in which she was assisted by members of the Emerson Dramatic club. Special mention must be given her two readings, Leacock's "My Financial Career" and "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," by Robert W. Service.

As her second offering, on a program consisting of three groups, Mrs. Rhodes interpreted that famous selection from "Hiawatha," namely, "The Famine." The closing playlet, "His Good Genius," was cleverly acted by all the players in the cast. C. A. Comfort, as the bachelor uncle portrayed his part in a very finished manner, and Miss Mildred Hentzer and Mrs. Rhodes shared honors equally with him for their work in this humorous little sketch.

That talented young artist, Miss Marie Walsh, appeared on the program several times during the evening, accompanying Mrs. Rhodes during her pianologues. Singers Bill and Robert Rhodes, the two clever sons of Mrs. Rhodes, entertained the audience with a piano solo and dance during the intermissions.

As an appreciation of the enjoyable program Mrs. Rhodes was the happy recipient of many beautiful floral offerings.

NEW RULINGS ON C. O. D. PACKAGES

Maximum Period of Call for Undelivered Shipments Set at 30 Days

New regulations in regard to the handling of C. O. D. packages have recently been received by the local postoffice that will greatly speed up the return of packages that are undeliverable and lessen the burden of storage for such matter, according to information given out by the postal officials.

The new ruling sets the maximum period of call for undelivered C. O. D. packages at thirty days instead of sixty days, as formerly. The postoffice department has issued the new regulation to keep the postoffice buildings from becoming store houses for undelivered packages, reports George Hallett, assistant postmaster.

Guarantee Postage
He advises merchants to place on all C. O. D. packages a note to the effect that return postage is guaranteed, if they desire prompt return delivery. He also warns people not to allow packages to remain at the postoffice for long periods of time, for under the new system of handling all undelivered packages will be returned within a period of thirty days if not called for.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO NATION'S HEROES

Rev. Rasmus, Jr., Strikes Patriotic Keynote In Church Services

A patriotic service was conducted last night at the First Methodist Episcopal church in the observance of Memorial Day. A special musical program was presented early in the evening by the male chorus, including T. A. Wright, Ray Sherman, Delos Jones, J. A. Haines, Paul Butterfield, J. B. Clarke and W. P. Clover. They sang "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" and J. B. Clarke sang a solo number, "When the Boys Come Home."

The sermon of the evening was delivered by Rev. H. I. Rasmus, Jr., on "A Tribute." "In a humble way," he said, "I shall pay tribute not only to the boys of '61 whose ranks are rapidly thinning but also to those brave-hearted fellows of the Spanish-American and World wars, for there is no contrast between them. They are three striking parallels which characterize them all: heroism of faith, sacrifice endured and the after-war problems."

Lee's Heroism
"One of the most painful phases of the War of 1861 was that it was a civil strife, a clash of arms in which brothers fought against brother, father against son. Out of this struggle came great men on both sides, Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses Grant, Robert E. Lee and others. After the war, Robert E. Lee, with fortune shattered and beautiful home gone, refused to allow his name to be used as head of the Louisiana State lottery. He displayed the finest type of courage and nobility. He said, 'My good name is all I have left, there is no stain on it, it is not for sale.'"

"In those crucial days boys became men of other were buried in unknown graves, but they are not forgotten for we shall pay tribute to these heroes on Memorial Day."

Nation's Obligation
"No greater obligation rests upon the nation than to recognize the heroism and sacrifice of our soldier boys, not alone on Memorial Day but throughout the year. Their bravery and courage were magnificent, not only on the battlefield, but also in the hospitals. We cannot afford to do less than to return to other were buried in unknown graves, but they are not forgotten for we shall pay tribute to these heroes on Memorial Day."

Ordinance Protects Famous Herd of Seals

SEAL BEACH, May 26.—An ordinance protecting the famous herd of seals that make their home at this beach was rushed through its first reading by the City Council of Long Beach and will be given a second and final reading Thursday. It provides a fine of $200 or ninety days in jail, or both, for molesting the seals within the city limits or for shooting at them. The Orange county supervisors recently repealed an old county ordinance that protected the seals.

Why I Am In Glendale

Of course, I came because my parents came; but why did they come? While we were living in New York, one of our visitors happened to be Dr. D. D. Comstock, then superintendent of the Glendale Sanitarium and one of Daddy's old classmates. During his stay, he told us many things about California and especially praised Glendale. Mother is a Californian. She remembered her childhood days and was ready to return to the far-famed "Golden State."

Well, we decided to come to California, and, after enjoying the World's Fair in San Francisco, arrived at Glendale in October, 1915. Dr. Comstock had kindly invited us to stop at the Sanitarium until we could find a house. We spent several days looking around and had no difficulty in finding a seven-room house for $20 a month.

At that time Glendale had a population of about 6,000 and was called "The Jewel City." To my mind, that name is suggestive of far more dignity than the hurry and bustle inferred in the name, "The Fastest Growing City in America," by which our town is now known. We have lived here for nearly nine years and still like Glendale.

Mrs. Moore Tells of P-T. Pasadena Meet

Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, attended every session of the convention held last week in Pasadena. She stated this was the largest Parent-Teacher Association convention known to have been held with 1,154 delegates registered and 413 delegates from the first district in attendance, of which Glendale is a part. There were a large number of Glendalians, both fathers and mothers, in attendance at all the sessions.

Mrs. Moore said a particularly interesting feature of the convention was the reports given by the various federation presidents. This was the first time the federation presidents have been given time to make their reports.

Mrs. Moore, in giving her report, told the many things the Parent-Teacher association in Glendale have accomplished and also let the delegates know that Glendale was "the fastest growing city in America."

NOVEL FEATURE AT FESTIVAL OF NATIONS PLANNED

Expect Affair In I. O. O. F. Hall Tomorrow Night To Set Precedent

Everything is in readiness for the "Festival of Nations" to be given tomorrow night, May 27, in the I. O. O. F. hall on West Broadway by the Rebekah Afternoon club, auxiliary of the Glendale Carnation Rebekah lodge.

Elaborate plans have been made for the affair which is expected to prove one of the most enjoyable and successful social events given this year by the club. Mrs. Viola Ertel, president of the club and her various committee chairmen and members have worked out some novel features in the way of entertainment entirely different from the usual carnival or festival.

Mrs. Viola Ertel, president of the club has appointed Mrs. Adelaide Meyers, general chairman and Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, publicity chairman. Those who will be in charge of the various booths are as follows: Will Tell Fortunes

Fortune telling booth, Mrs. Clara Fry as Egyptian palmist and Mrs. Rosella Strother, Hindu palmist. Jitney jugglers, Mrs. Viola Ertel and Mrs. Minnie Hollenbeck; hot dogs, Mrs. Flora Hollenbeck, A. Hartley, Charles Pease; floor committee, Mesdames Lucille Stenson, Vanadine Border, Loretta Schwitters and Miss Guila Darling.

This committee will appear in costumes of various nationalities. Mrs. Marjorie Pease will represent Columbia at the United States booth; Mrs. Jessie Billingsley, France; Mrs. Sadie Bronnberg, Britannia; candy booth, Mrs. B. Smith and Mrs. Margaret LaBram; Wheel of Fortune, Mrs. Evelyn Hall and Mrs. Mamie Rich; Tajjana, Mrs. Evelyn Hall, Jerome Walker and Ernest Rich; fish pond, Miss May Lyon and Mrs. Frances Shad-bolt.

Specialty Numbers
A group of specialty numbers which will be one of the main attractions include "Rhubarb Vaseline," the sheik, Daniel Hall; "Larry Louder," H. W. Grougatte; "Uncle Sam," Henry Hollenbeck; "Jack Tar," Carl W. Schwitters; "Boy in Khaki," W. U. Ertel.

Dinner will be served and a program presented for entertainment.

All Glendalians are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Editors Listen AS CANNON ROAR

Artillerymen Loose Three Hundred Guns In Sham Battle In Oklahoma

FORT SILL, Okla., May 26.—One of the greatest artillery sham battles ever staged by the United States army is taking place today as the closing event in Oklahoma's entertainment of the National Editorial association.

It is officially stated that the object of this military display will be to lay down such an intense barrage and bombardment that an enemy could not hold the mountain attacked.

300 Guns to Roar
The artillery will be stationed on each side and to the rear of the editors, who will be close enough to witness the effect of the shells, yet be in no immediate danger. The entire forces from Fort Sill are being used in the demonstration. More than 300 guns will be fired simultaneously.

All the time during the attack airplanes will be flying overhead, making observations of the gunnery and a smoke screen will be laid over the point of attack just prior to a charge by infantry and machine gun units.

Unique Spectacle
Officers all day long will be giving explanations to the editors and keeping them from the line of fire. One of the officers stated today "that no such other opportunity to witness such a spectacle in America, outside of actual warfare, will ever be offered again, and it is impossible to witness it in actual warfare because the men are engaged in battle—and not in the entertainment of editors."

Sunday the association enjoyed the afternoon witnessing Indians hunt buffalo in the Wichita national game preserve.

GARDEN FETE AT MIRADERO DRAWS JOYOUS THROGS

Beauties of Brand Estate Entrance Club Women's Guests at Party

By KATHERINE V. SINKS Of The Evening News Staff.

Glendale was privileged to share the beauties of the gardens of Miradero, the L. C. Brand foothill estate, on Saturday with the Tuesday Afternoon club women, who were hostesses there at a benefit garden fete. Perhaps that is why the club women did not realize as large a sum for the club treasury as they had anticipated. The beauties of the canyon gardens around the spacious Brand home far surpassed the various booths and entertainment features in their appeal.

The admission charge was gladly paid by the crowds in the afternoon and evening, just to pass within the gates and journey up the drive that led to the lovely garden. But once on the garden paths, that wind in and out among the trees and shrubbery and by trickling streams and lead to wondrous views of valley distances, young and old alike lost count of their enthusiasm and interest in the wares for sale.

However, it was a delightful affair and the club women are to be complimented on the gracious hospitality they extended in the garden of their good friend and benefactor, L. C. Brand.

Mr. and Mrs. Brand were both present and seemed to share heartily in the pleasures of the affair.

Artistic Displays
Brown-skinned gypsies in riotous colors greeted one on every hand in the gates and journey up decorated tables and booths. All displays were most artistically arranged and many tempting things were offered at reasonable prices.

Games of bridge and Mah Jongg entertained. There was also swimming in the pool and at night dancing on the tennis court.

The real entertainment feature of the fete was the program given afternoon and night by pupils of the Pearl Keller Studio of Dancing and Dramatic art. Miss Keller, who is a member of the club, never fails to do her part when over the club gives such an affair, and the talent she furnished Saturday was typical of the finished work she is doing at her studio. Several of those appearing have won successes on theatrical programs and professional entertainments, so the program was far above the amateur.

Dancers Handicapped
There was only one regrettable part of the program and that was that these young artists were handicapped by dancing on the rough cement.

The two clever Hunt sisters opened the program with the

A LITTLE MORE TOLERANCE, PLEASE

It is surprising that there is so much intolerance in this age which we call enlightened. We often say, "the world is made up of all kinds of people," yet the significance of this statement is one of the most difficult things for us to learn. We laugh at the Quaker lady who told her husband, "Everyone is queer but me and thee and sometimes I think thee is a little queer," but we show the same spirit every day when we criticise this one's clothes and even what our neighbors eat.

Not long ago a certain family was discussing another family. Someone made the remark, "They are very odd." Another asked, "In what way?" Think the matter over and sifting down the evidence the first person had to answer, "Oh, they are different from us."

The queer thing is that so many of us think alike on so many different subjects. No two people are born alike. Then think of the difference in their ancestry, their environment, their early training, their education, their religious beliefs, and all the forces that go to mould character and influence opinion. People can never all think alike in matters of ethics, morals, politics and religion, and this being so, a little more tolerance for those who honestly differ with us would make the world a much pleasanter place.

A man may have been drilled from his childhood in the tenets of orthodox Christianity. He should not be surprised that one who has not had that training does not believe as he does. If he is sincere it is right that he should try to convince the other, but there is no virtue in bigotry. Some people question Christianity because there are so many denominations. Fundamentally, they are the same, but different types of people demand different methods of worship. The wonder is that the Christian churches do not differ more than they do. The sad part is that there should be intolerance between denominations when our government was laid on the foundation of religious liberty.

Children have been brought up to believe that all Democrats or all Republicans were rascals. Many young persons are astonished when they learn that Republicans and Democrats are pretty much alike and that neither party has a monopoly on rascality.

Variety is the spice of life. A schoolboy was asked to give the word, meaning "to have only one wife." He answered, "Monotony." That would describe our existence, too, if we were all alike. We cannot have the same opinions on all subjects. Others have a right to think out their own problems, form their own opinions and come to their own conclusions.

NEWSPAPER'S MISTAKES

A newspaper, like a public official, is constantly in the limelight, and on it are directed a myriad eyes, detecting each minutest error. An individual in private life may go through the years making one mistake after another, and nobody be the wiser; but let a newspaper get so much as an initial wrong or transpose a letter, and there is always someone among its thousands of readers to see and criticize; while should some reporter inadvertently misquote an important speech, or a proofreader pass a garbled text, and behold!—such a barrage of invective descends upon the head of the publisher as can be likened to nothing else in the wide world.

How earnestly the editor and all his multitude of assistants comprising the complex modern daily strive for exact accuracy and absolute impartiality. There is nothing in which newspaper men take more pride than in a typographically correct sheet—a goal almost hopeless of attainment.

Whoever has worked on a newspaper has learned that human proneness to error is a prime factor of concern to every department. Mistakes are not mischievously or carelessly made, but rather do they creep in like the very air into a room, no matter how tightly sealed.

Wrong addresses, incorrect spelling of names and a multitude of other little inaccuracies are the bane of a newspaper man's existence. His idea of heaven is a place where they get out newspapers that are letter perfect and libel proof.

All your home newspaper asks is that you be charitable. Make a few allowances for the difficulties that hide in every corner of a news plant and pop out like wicked little sprites. Remember that the editor feels worse than you do when he sees mistakes in print. With you it is only once in a while. With him it is wearisome, everlastingly, despite all vigilance. No matter what drastic steps he takes to ban them—like freckles, they are always there, on high and low alike, utterly no respecters of person.

BUSINESS COMPETITION

In some sections of Southern California, and Glendale has not been entirely immune, many forms of business are overdone, especially business of a kind that requires very little investment. Where two or three stores of one kind could handle all the business of a city or a neighborhood and make a fair living, there are often twice that number or more.

Smith and Brown each have a nice little delicatessen business in the same neighborhood and Jones sees no reason why he should not have some of this trade. That is as far as Jones' thinking machine can go. He sees that the business is there and he has a right to a share of it. So he hops to it and either puts Smith or Brown or both out of business or eventually fails himself. Ten to one, he fails, for he has shown he has no business judgment, and it is quite likely that he has no knowledge of the delicatessen business. He might have selected a neighborhood where there was business enough for another delicatessen, but it looks easier to get business away from someone else than to work it up yourself.

Competition is the best thing in the world for any business. It puts a real business man on his mettle and makes him hustle. It makes business better for all concerned. Business is a game and there is not much zest in solitaire. It is only when there is real opposition that the game is worth-while.

But competition can be and has been in many cases carried to the extreme where it has proven ruinous. Such a condition affects all business. Many failures promote the belief that all business in the community is poor.

We, as a nation, can not hope to prosper permanently as long as children and the mothers who bear them are compelled to labor long hours for a pittance that holds naught-but soul and body together.

A sorry spectacle is a human being with no aim in life and with no desire to do anything useful.

The higher the weeds the lower the rent.

Excitable Atoms

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The next number on the program, ladies and gentlemen, will be by Professor Compton of the Physics Department of Princeton University.

Professor Compton's act is, to use the language of the showmen, new and novel. It has not appeared on any stage before. We thank you for your kind attention and if the orchestra will please give us a few bars of "Shuffle Along" or "Move your feet there if you don't want to get arrested," the act will now proceed.

You have seen the antics of trained seals, tame elephants, educated pigs, affectionate orang-outangs, also dogs, roosters and other tame animals, who have amused you by acting like people.

But you have never seen the cavorting atom. Professor Compton has discovered that atoms get excited just as any crowd of human beings being swayed by oratory.

This is quite in line with Mr. Edison's recent statement that, while he had considerable doubts about a human being having a soul, he was strongly inclined to believe that molecules have souls and, if molecules, why not atoms?

Scientists in the past believed that atoms were cool, collected and regular like themselves. Professor Compton explains, but now we have established sufficient experimental evidence toward our belief that the condition of an atom is not constant but rather that it varies according to the kind and intensity of excitation.

That would imply that some atoms are as sober as deacons, some as sly as bootleggers and others engage, occasionally, in high jinks.

"The bearing of this is in its application." It explains, at least, what has always been a mystery heretofore—the innate cussedness of inanimate things.

For instance, it is a well known scientific phenomenon that a blotter, just an ordinary blotter that you steal from the bank or that is given you that you steal from the bank or that is given you you put it on the desk. Its personality seems to be solid and somewhat thick. You would expect it to be quiet. Yet, when you have written a letter and go to look for it, it has run off somewhere and hidden itself. The only way to keep track of blotters is to employ a blotter hound. Nothing but canine subtlety and intelligence can keep track of blotters. All efforts of the Burns Detective Agency have failed.

And now we know what is the matter. Something that you said or did got the atoms excited so that the blotter just loped off and ran to cover.

It also explains why you get cut with a safety razor. The safety razor cannot possibly cut you. Only it does. Every once in a while you emerge from an engagement with it and find a slice of perfectly good cuticle missing.

Answer: The atoms got excited and jumped the track.

There are many other things that are explained by the impatience of atoms as well as by the ungodly passions of atoms.

Perhaps the trouble is that they have been going along for several million years undiscovered and now the pitiless light of publicity has been thrown upon them and they do not like it.

Some folks are that way. As long as you let them alone and they can function quietly they have very little trouble, but once you start your Teapot Dome investigations and begin examining all the records, there seems to be a mighty scurrying and scampering.

Indeed, the latest resolution passed by the House of Representatives of the Congress of Atoms was a ringing protest against human beings interfering with their activities. They claim that they have been getting along all right so far and cannot understand why they should now be interfered with.

GRANTING FARMERS CREDIT

(From San Francisco Journal)

Congress has had a host of measures introduced or considered that look toward the financial betterment of the American farmer. A goodly majority of such measures proposes governmental grants of credit to the country's farming interests. The Culler bill would feed the northwest fat with credit. The Norbeck-Burness bill, if not jettisoned by the Senate, would have given farm credits amounting to $50,000,000. The Norris-Sinclair bill, had it become law, would have drained the national treasury of $100,000,000. The McNary-Haugen measure doubles the Norris-Sinclair amount, for it exacts a credit of $200,000,000 to set the prices of farm products and facilitate their exportation to foreign countries.

Relief for our farmers is not so new a proposal as it seems to those whose recollections of American politics run back only a few years. It made itself vocal in the '70s and '80s of the nineteenth century, when greenbackism—the limitless issue of paper or fiat money, was the supposed cure-all of agriculture's ailments.

It became the blind giant of populism in the '90s, when it was fancied that government could create an agricultural Utopia with one wave of the legislative wand. About 1900 it took the shape of the fetish that credit, an oceanic volume of credit, is the economic Moses to lead our agricultural Israel to the Promised Land of eternal prosperity. Credit has for fifteen years been asked for with ever-increasing energy.

Records show that our farmers have been granted much credit. Since 1914 the national government has advanced more than five billions of dollars to the agricultural interest. The Federal Reserve bank, the Farm Loan system and the Federal Intermediate Credit banks have helped the farmers especially. National farm credit associations, rediscount corporations, joint stock land banks, farm loan groups, the War Finance corporation, private banks and farm mortgage realtors have been among the relievers of themselves, and not alone the national government, have also dealt in credits to farmers.

Farm credit has in several sections of the United States been so extended, multiplied and pyramided that little remains as collateral or for mortgage. The farmers begin to protest against credit. The substitute sought is price setting or valorization by government, which has failed always and must fail forever. It is politics trying to make the stream of economics flow uphill. Until all farmers in America prove incompetent, instead of one in five failing, as now, it would seem wise to put farming on the same financial footing as any other business.

SENATORIAL RADIO

(From Hollywood Citizen)

The United States Senate is thinking of installing a radio broadcasting outfit for the benefit of the nation. It recently adopted a resolution directing radio experts of the army and navy to ascertain the nature and cost of equipment necessary for broadcasting senatorial debates.

It is an excellent idea. Radio fans always relish additional variety in their entertainment programs, and a large part of the public would be really interested in listening directly to senatorial proceedings. It would stimulate public interest in what is going on in Washington. It would make citizens better informed and therefore better able to play their part in the complicated business of government.

It should be good for the Senate, too. Senators probably would take more pains to expedite business and avoid trivialities if they knew that the whole country was "listening in." They would make more pains with their addresses. With every senator broadcasting from the Capitol to the nation at large, the Senate might regain some of its old fame as a great deliberative body.

Worth While Verse

THE RING OF DREAMS

Some must delve when the dawn is nigh;
Some must toil when the noonday beams;
But when night comes, and the soft winds sigh,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

One must plod while another must ply
At plow or loom till the sunset streams,
But when night, and the moon rides high,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

One is slave to a master's cry,
Another serf to a despot seems,
But when night comes, and the discords die,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

This you may sell and that may buy,
And this you may barter for gold that gleams,
But there's one domain that is fixed for aye,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

The People of Anytown

Character Sketches

It is a curious fact that you have to get away from people, just as you do from pictures, to get the proper perspective. It amuses me, sometimes, to look back to the days I spent in Anytown and the estimates I formed of certain citizens at that time. Now that I am away I get a clearer view, I can see, in their true proportion and their proper light, their characteristics and their lives. And in many cases I have reversed my opinions of my old townspeople. Many I esteem more highly since distance aids me to see their true value; some whom I held in reverence were not deserving as I see them now.

Take for example, Professor Carlton. He was not born in Anytown but came to be principal of our school some time after my own school days. The population of Anytown changed very little, we knew the family history of all our people, and since familiarity breeds contempt we were apt to have a great respect for the occasional stranger that came to town.

Professor Carlton was a good man. There are people, you know, who are good because they require effort to be anything else. He was said to have had a fine record as an educator and I respected learning then as I do now. I can scarcely express the quality of admiration and respect I had for this man. I esteemed him as a prince among men, looked up to him and envied him his high standing and his erudition.

Neither handsome, nor ill-favored, there was nothing about the appearance or the character or the actions of Professor Carlton to distinguish him one way or the other. He was a widower about fifty years of age when he came to Anytown, and I must confess, he showed considerable adroitness in keeping out of the way of Miss Sophronia Watts and other Anytown spinsters. But I can see now that was the only effort he ever put forth while I knew him.

Of course, Professor Carlton did his duty. There was never any complaint as to his work. He taught his classes during the week, secluded himself on Saturday, went to church on Sunday. At important meetings or lectures he always sat on the platform as became a man in his position. From this distance I see Professor Carlton as utterly colorless and lifeless. Maybe I am too far away to do him justice, but I can see no reason now for my intense admiration and my deep reverence for the man.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

—THE GREAT FLOOD

We have just had another flood, bad enough, but only a foot or two of water on the first floor. Yesterday we got the mud shoveled out of the cellar and found Peter, the spaniel that Mr. Ladley left when he "went away." The flood, and the fact that it was Mr. Ladley's dog whose body was found half buried in the basement fruit closet, brought back to me the strange events of the other flood five years ago, when the water reached more than half-way to the second story, and brought with it, to some, mystery and sudden death, and to me the worst case of "shingles" I have ever seen.

My name is Pitman—in this narrative. It is not really Pitman, but that does well enough. I belong to an old Pittsburgh family. I was born on Penn avenue, when that was the best part of town, and I lived, until I was fifteen, very close to my father's house, the Pittsburgh Club. It was a dwelling then; I have forgotten who lived there.

I ran away from school to marry Mr. Pitman, and I have not known my family since. We were never reconciled, although I came back to Pittsburgh after twenty years of wandering. Mr. Pitman was dead; the old city called me, and I came. I had a hundred dollars or so, and I took a house in lower Allegheny, where, because they are party inundated every spring, rents are cheap, and I kept boarder. My money was orderly and clean, and although the neighborhood had a bad name, a good many theatrical people stopped with me. Five houses was orderly and clean, and they were in the theatre district. Allegheny at that time, I believe, was still an independent city. But since then it has allied itself with Pittsburgh; it is now the North Side.

I was glad to get back. I worked hard, but I made my rent and my living, and a little over. Now and then on summer evenings I went to one of the parks, and sitting on a bench, watched the children playing around, and looked at my sister's house, closed for the summer. It is a very large house; her butler once had his wife boarding with me—a nice little woman.

It is curious to recall that, at that time, five years ago, I had never seen my niece, Lida Harvey, and that she had known only the day before yesterday she came in her automobile as far as she dared, and then sat there, waving to me while the police patrol brought across in a skiff a basket of provisions she had sent me.

I wonder what she would have thought had she known that the elderly woman in a calico wrapper with an old overcoat over it, and a pair of rubber boots, was her full aunt!

The flood and the sight of Lida both brought back the case of Jennie Brice. For even then, Lida and Mr. Ladley were interested in each other.

This is April. That other flood was earlier, in March. It had been a long hard winter, with ice gorges in all the upper valleys. Then, in early March, there came a thaw. The gorges broke up and a deluge of water came down the rivers with crushing, grinding ice.

There are three rivers at Pittsburgh, the Allegheny and the Monongahela uniting there at the Point to form the Ohio. And all three were covered with broken ice, logs, and all sorts of debris from the upper valleys.

A warning was sent out from the weather bureau, and I got my carpets ready to lift that morning. That was on the fourth of March, a Sunday. Mr. Ladley and his wife, Jennie Brice, had the parlor bedroom and the room behind it. Mrs. Ladley, or Miss Brice, as she preferred to be known, had a small part at a local theatre that kept a permanent company. Her husband was in that business, too, but he had nothing to do. It was the wife who paid the bills, and a lot of quarrelling they did about it.

I knocked at the door at ten o'clock, and Mr. Ladley opened it. He was a short man, rather stout and getting bald, and he always had a cigarette. Even yet, the parlor carpet smells of them.

"What do you want?" he asked sharply, holding the door open about an inch.

"The water's coming up very fast, Mr. Ladley," I said. "It's up to the swinging-shelf in the cellar now. I'd like to take up the carpet and move the piano."

"Come back in an hour or so," he snapped, and tried to close the door. But I had got my toe in the crack.

"I'll have to have the piano moved, Mr. Ladley," I said. "You'd better put off what you are doing."

I thought he was probably writing. He spent most of the day writing, using the washstand as a desk, and it kept me busy with oxalic acid in taking ink-spots out of the splasher and the towels. He was writing a play, and talked a lot about the Shuberts having promised to star him in it when it was finished.

"Hell!" he said, and turning, spoke to somebody in the room. "We can go into the parlor room," I heard him say, and he closed the door. When he opened it again, the room was empty. I called in Terry, the Irishman who does odd jobs for me now and then, and we both got to work at the back of the carpet. Terry working by the window, and I by the door into the back parlor, which the Ladleys used as a bedroom.

That was how I happened to hear what I afterward told the police.

Someone—a man, but not Mr. Ladley—was talking. Mrs. Ladley broke in: "I won't do it!" she said flatly. "Why should I help him? He doesn't help me. He loafs here all day, smoking and sleeping, and sits up all night, drinking and keeping me awake." The voice went on again, as if in reply to this, and I heard a rattle of glass, as if they were pouring drinks. They always had whiskey, even when they were behind their board.

"That's all very well," Mrs. Ladley said. I could always hear her, she having a theatrical sort of voice that carried. "But what about the prying she-devil that runs the house?"

"Hush, for God's sake!" broke in Mr. Ladley, and after that they spoke in whispers. Even with my ear against the panel, I could not catch a word.

Rev. Dr. Werlein Preaches In Broadway M. E. Church On 'Seeking God'

Rev. S. H. Werlein, D. D., presiding elder of the Los Angeles district of the Methodist church, south, delivered the sermon Sunday morning at the Broadway Methodist church. "Seeking to See God" was the theme, and the audience listened most attentively to the speaker's careful eloquence and logic. His text was St. John 14:8, "Philip saith unto Him, show us the Father and it sufficeth us." He said in part:

"Like other men, Philip was dissatisfied; his question that he might see God represented the desire of all men. Until we have seen God nothing fully satisfies us. Every thinking man and woman wants to see God. This is a restless, turbulent world—we are constantly reaching out to learn of things unknown, but not until we seek and see God, and get a vision of His matchless love and goodness, can we be really happy. Job said, 'Oh that I knew where I could find Him.'"

"It is the business of all religions—Buddhism, Confucianism and all others, to endeavor to see God, but only as we see Jesus can we see God. Jesus said, 'I am the way, the truth, and the life—no can cometh unto the Father but by Me.' Men become immersed in their business to the exclusion of home life and social life, which have to be regulated to conform to their business; but their desire and efforts to make money, and their temporary success, do not satisfy the yearnings of their souls.

"Men may devote their lives to the study of philosophy, science or literature, but does it bring them happiness? No. Solomon said of such things, 'All is vanity and vexation of spirit.' What men lack is a vision of the Father. While Moses was on Mount Sinai worshipping the living God, the Egyptians were worshipping cats and snakes—in the pursuit of happiness. Christ declared to the world that they that have seen Him hath seen the Father."

"To know that God loves men is not sufficient; I must know that God loves me. Man was not made for a permanent inhabitant of this world, but he belongs to eternity. God is calling the world through Jesus Christ. God consigns no one to hell—it is man's own acts that do that. God loves you, but you can turn His love aside and deliberately go to hell."

Milikan Preaches

At the evening service the pastor, Rev. L. J. Milikan, preached on the subject, "A man up a tree." He gave a vivid description of Zacheus putting his desire into action. When the people of Glendale, he said, honestly desire to see Jesus there will be room enough on the churches to hold the crowds. If a desire is not fostered it will inevitably die! When Zacheus met Jesus a seeking man met a seeking Saviour. When a man earnestly desires to find Christ, and will accept the terms of His pardon, there are not enough demons on earth or in hell to cheat him out of his salvation.

At the quarterly conference, held immediately after the morning sermon, detailed reports of each department of the church were submitted, and showed a steady growth and increased interest on the part of membership.

UNBELIEF DRAWS FIRE OF PASTOR

Modern Skepticism Weakens Faith in God, Asserts Rev. H. O. Kringle

That the skepticism of our time has largely done away with the belief that there is a God dwelling in Heaven, much less that Jesus ascended there, was declared by Rev. Henry O. Kringle, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church in his sermon yesterday on "The Ascension of Christ."

"Forty days after His resurrection from the dead Jesus led His disciples out to the Mount of Olives and from there he visibly ascended to heaven, disappearing in a cloud," said Rev. Kringle. "Therefore the Apostles' Creed enumerates among the articles of the Christian faith: 'He ascended into Heaven, and sitteth at the right hand of God the Father Almighty.' This was the crowning act of the great work of redemption, for which He had come into our world. Now He returned again to that glory, which He had with the Father, before the world was created. Like the rest of the Apostles' Creed, the ascension is an article of faith. Now an article of faith cannot be comprehended by reason, it must be apprehended by faith.

Scores Modernists

"But who in our time believes that Jesus of Nazareth ascended to Heaven and is sitting on the throne of the Divinity? In our time of skepticism many who are called Christians will scarcely believe that there is a Heaven or a God dwelling in heaven, much less do they believe that a man having flesh and bone ascended up to heaven. There are ministers who also doubt this article of faith, and all the others. In the eyes of modernists the Bible has ceased to be that sure word of certainty and prophecy, unto which we are to give heed. Christ and His salvation have ceased to be the rock of ages, a sure and steadfast anchor of soul. Heaven itself has become little more than a dream, and hell has been relegated to the land of myth. Having lost their faith and the voice of God in their life, they have entered the world of doubt. Their coat of arms is the question mark, and their motto is 'We Do Not Know.'"

"Our faith concerning the Lord's ascension must be determined by the words of Scripture, and we must not lean unto our own understanding.

Paul's Testimony

"Now whereto has Christ ascended? St. Paul says, Ephesians 4, 7-10, 'He that descended is the same also that ascended far above all heavens, that He might fill all things.' What is there far above heavens? Nothing but God alone. The first verse of the Bible tells us, 'In the beginning God created the Heaven and the earth.' In heaven and earth all creatures that God made are comprised together. So then above all heavens there is no created thing. Above all heavens is God in His immensity and infinity. When this passage of Ephesians 4:7-10, says, 'Christ ascended far above all heavens,' it is unmistakably saying, He is exalted above all creatures and is received into the Divinity. This Paul expresses when he writes to the Ephesians, 'God set Him at His own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come, and hath put all things under His feet.'"

"A comforting truth which assures us that Jesus can and does accomplish the purpose for which He ascended into Heaven, is expressed in the word of our text, 'Unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ. Wherefore he He led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men. Jesus Christ is here, His gifts are with Him and to every one that asks He gives His measure of grace. What is His measure? It is our need. 'Where sin aboundeth grace doth much more abound.' Christ humbled himself to earn gifts for sinners and then from the visible He entered into the divine mode of existence that He might be present everywhere to distribute His gifts to all believers upon earth."

NOTED DRAMATIC WRITER AT FETE

Edith Ellis, Playwright and Producer, Honor Guest At Garden Party

A guest of honor at the Tuesday Afternoon club garden fete Saturday was Edith Ellis, noted playwright and director, of New York, who came to southern California for the purpose of witnessing the production of her play, "White Collars."

She attended with Mary Holland Kinkaid, journalist and novelist and past president of the Southern California Women's Press club. They were in the same party with Mrs. Robinson, who expects to bring Lillian Allspach and stock company to Glendale in the fall for an engagement at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Edith Ellis has produced a number of New York plays, the best known of them being "Sonny" and "Mary Jane's Pa."

COMMENT That's All

The News' Leadership From Desk To Farm More Pools And Parks Pasadena's Example

By Gil A. Cowan

Readers of The Glendale Evening News are given the opportunity of reading the news as well as the articles of the most able writers.

The International News Service has builded for itself a reputation in the matter of speedy transmission of news. "Get it first, but first get it right," is the motto of the organization.

It is a fact that the news you read tonight in The Glendale Evening News will appear in tomorrow morning's newspapers because of dispatch with which the International leased wire gets its information.

The Consolidated Press association also serves The Glendale Evening News. Such writers as David Lawrence, Robert T. Small, John B. Foster and Lawrence Perry, whose articles appear in The Saturday Evening Post and other national publications, are staff members of Consolidated Press.

For Los Angeles news and happenings in Southern California, the Southland News Service also serves this paper. Its market news is right up to the minute and numerous news "beats" have been scored by this organization over the Los Angeles papers.

And locally The Glendale Evening News stands supreme with a staff of twelve people covering events of importance and general interest.

There are instances where people outside of the profession believe they can run a newspaper. Sometimes newspapermen think they can run some other business. Usually, although the exceptions prove the rule, they cannot.

One Fred Sweet, who had the assignment for the Chicago Tribune to write a story each week about "The Other Fellow's Job," tried 100 different vocations and couldn't make good on very many.

Yet, after that experience, he came to California and now is endeavoring to make an orange orchard pay. Think of it! A newspaper man farming. As a farmer the average editor is a good politician.

Southern California needs more swimming pools and fewer dance halls.

Of course, it has the ocean, but for the young people it is best that they have their recreation at home rather than on the beach where sunburn and questionable companions are to be found.

Southern California needs more parks and fewer motion picture theatres.

Not to say there are too many good theatres, but it is necessary for some to show pictures of the worst type in order to make their programs and it would be much better if men and women, boys and girls, were enjoying nature's loveliness rather than interesting themselves with triangles and vamps and sheiks.

Southern California needs more willingness to work on the part of its people.

Otherwise, this favored land will see the return of its lizards in human form. Just because it happens to be a nice day it is no cause for slighting any task. The task should be more pleasant as a result of the climate, don't you think?

Southern California needs a lot of things, no doubt, but most of all it needs a well balanced psychology—one that will not become either deadened or blasé or perverted, but remain natural.

Pasadena has answered its problems in swimming pools and parks. It has established a Community playhouse and boasts of only a few very select theatres. Also, its high school has established a polytechnic course which covers about every field imaginable.

Other southland cities might do well to model after the crown city.

MISSION WORK IS TOPIC OF DEBATE

Christian Endeavor Society Planning Contest to Increase Members

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night by the members of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church under the leadership of Miss Mary Stanley.

The topic of the evening was "Have business and commerce helped or hindered the missionary work?" This subject afforded an interesting debate by Samuel Merritt and Graham Tinning.

Paul W. Brown, field secretary of the Pacific Coast Christian Endeavor organization, and formerly national intermediate Christian Endeavor superintendent, was present, and gave an inspiring talk directed especially to the life work recruits of the society.

Attendance Contest—Announcement was made relative to an attendance contest between the boys and girls to be conducted during the month of June. The losing side will entertain the winning side with a party, at the close of the contest.

This is the clearing time for all spring and early summer dresses. We have reduced them radically. And you know Webb's ready-to-wear has a very large selection of high grade well made dresses. These are our own regular stocks. Be here early. You'll find dresses of almost all descriptions included. The popular colors and sizes from 16 to 46. Buy that Decoration Day outfit Tuesday.

Our better dresses, including sport, street and evening wear, are all included. We bought heavy and a trifle backward season has overstocked us. We want the room for summer dresses, and these dresses must be turned into cash at once. A complete size range—16 to 46.

Tells Hubby's Threats In Suit for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Oscar A. Engman, San Pedro, threatened to "get" his wife even if he had to "frame her" in a divorce action. Alice I. Engman claims in a cross complaint filed in answer to a divorce suit. She claims he threw a platter at her; quarreled with her and her relatives and was "insanely jealous."

superior Court Judge Takes Oath of Office

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Harry A. Holzer, recently appointed by Governor Richardson to succeed Judge Shenk who was elevated to the state supreme court from the local superior court, was sworn in with proper ceremonies by Judge Clock. The formality was in department ten. Judge Holzer has been practicing law in Los Angeles county for several years and is regarded as one of the most able attorneys here.

Enemies of Dry Law To Seek Modification

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—The Southern California division of the Association for the Modification of the Prohibition Laws has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk. Purpose of the organization is to "crystallize concrete action and sentiment in favor of modification of the Volstead Act, a federal statute attempting to enforce the eighteenth amendment."

First cooking schools were started in 1873.

Art Expert Plans to Display Old Masters

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—David Shidway, an art collector of London, England, has written the trade extension department of the Chamber of Commerce relative to establishing a studio in Los Angeles which will have on display the old masters, including works of Raphael, Rembrandt, Rubens and Gainsborough, the latter being the painter of "The Blue Boy," now in Henry Huntington's collection.

CIVIC BODIES TO ATTEND OPENING

Dedication of New Bridge at Pacoima Wash to Draw Many Delegates

TUJUNGA, May 26.—Delegates representing civic organizations in all the Verdugo hills communities, including Tujunga, La Crescenta, Montrose, Valley Center, Verdugo City and Sunland, will attend a celebration Tuesday, May 27, dedicating the new bridge across the Pacoima wash west of Sunland on the state highway to San Fernando. Invitations have been issued by Volney Craig, chairman of the committee in charge.

City, state and county authorities have promised to be present at the ceremonies. Mayor Craver of Los Angeles and the City Council, the county supervisors and State Highway Commissioner Darlington have promised to attend the affair, which will take place at 6:30 p. m. at the bridge.

Dinner at Mission
The program as scheduled calls for a basket supper at the San Fernando mission, to be served in "Memory Garden" by women of the San Fernando valley. John Steven McGroarty has been asked to serve as toastmaster and there will be speeches by the attending officials.

The opening of this bridge completes the last link in the paving of the state highway through the Verdugo hills to San Fernando and is one of the most important improvements to the several communities that has been effected in some time. While the strip of road just finished was not over a quarter of a mile long, including the bridge over the wash, it was a very big piece of going and automobilists avoided this boulevard whenever they could on this account. The new bridge and paving completes one of the finest sections of highway in the county highway system.

More Improvements
The organizations of the several communities are working on plans for having the present highway widened by the addition of concrete shoulders at each side of the present pavement. These shoulders have been promised by the county authorities and will probably be built next year when the new budget is made up for this section.

TUJUNGA P.-T. TO INSTALL OFFICERS

District Federation May Be Formed This Year In Verdugo Region

TUJUNGA, May 26.—Installation of officers will be effected by the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association at a meeting to be held June 18, which will be the last meeting of the club year. It is expected that Mrs. Bissell, district president, will be present as the guest of honor at a luncheon that will be served previous to the installation.

Although no further steps have been taken in the plan to form a district federation of Parent-Teacher associations in the Verdugo hills territory, it is believed by Mrs. H. B. Lynch, president of the Tujunga organization, that such a plan will be carried out this year.

The subject has been temporarily tabled, awaiting the action of other Parent-Teacher associations in the Verdugo hills. La Crescenta has not taken any definite action in favor of the proposed organization, but is expected to do so in the near future. The Monte Vista association has closed the school year without taking action on the project. Installation of officers was held last Monday, this meeting being the last until next fall.

FAVOR PLAN FOR SCENIC RAILWAY

Associated Chambers Back Project; Preliminary Surveys Are Made

OWENSMOUTH, May 26.—The project started by H. N. Fowler of Verdugo City for a scenic railway to be constructed by the Pacific Electric company, linking the Tujunga-Sunland country with Glendale and San Fernando, via existing lines, was favored by the Associated Chambers of Commerce at its monthly session here and resolutions adopted that steps be taken to encourage such a project. Preliminary surveys already have been made, the chambers were told, and the project has been declared feasible.

The subject of the county board of supervisors erecting four hospitals in the county out of the $4,000,000 funds instead of enlarging the present general hospital in the city was brought before the meeting and was referred to a committee composed of H. E. Rathbun of Lankershim, L. T. Rowley of Glendale and W. H. Monroe of Owensmouth. This committee will meet in Lankershim tonight to consider the matter.

World Navigator on Journey Back Home

BURBANK, May 26.—Harry Pidgeon, renowned navigator who gained fame by sailing around the world in a tiny home-built boat, is on his way back to this city, according to a letter received by his sister, Mrs. J. L. Smith of 477 Tujunga avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Booker of Los Angeles were guests of their parents Sunday at the old home on Santa Anita avenue. They are making preparations to take a trip to British Columbia in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stoddard on Verdugo avenue are the proud parents of a fine baby boy. Both mother and baby are doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stoddard of Orange spent Saturday at the E. C. Stoddard home.

Arthur Mile, nephew of William Ladds of Tujunga avenue has left for Chicago.

EDUCATION BOARD WILL HIRE NURSE

School Children Under Care of Woman to Safeguard Health in School

BURBANK, May 26.—A school nurse will be employed here in the interests of public school children, it was definitely decided following the last meeting of the board of education.

This decision was reached after the board had listened to a number of practical talks on the subject by Superintendent Richardson D. White of the Glendale schools, Miss Helen Tupper, one of the nurses also connected with the Glendale schools, and a woman visitor from Detroit, who has had experience in a similar capacity in the schools of Detroit.

Plan Is Success
The position of school nurse was instituted in the Glendale schools two years ago, the board was told, and so successful was the experiment that a second nurse was selected at the beginning of the present year. The visitors showed how the health of the school children is properly looked after through the work of the school nurse, how epidemics are handled and how the parents are made acquainted with the food necessary to build up underweight children.

PICK CAMP SITE FOR BOY SCOUTS

Location in Canyon Offers Many Attractions for Summer Vacations

TUJUNGA, May 26.—A party of Boy Scout officials, consisting of H. R. Chesman, district Scout commissioner; M. F. Gilmer, deputy district Scout commissioner; Earl C. Brunner, Scoutmaster, and A. J. Scribner, commander, Post 250, American Legion, explored the entrance to Big Tujunga canyon last week for a suitable location for a camp for the Boy Scouts.

Mr. Gilmer reports that a place has been selected and that within the next few days plans will be made for holding several week-end encampments there during the summer months. The spot selected is as nearly ideal as can be found in the Verdugo hills, offering early swimming and other attractions for the boys.

It is expected that officers will be installed for the newly-formed troop at Hansen Heights within the next few days. Fred Lucas, proprietor of the Hansen Heights dairy, is Scoutmaster. As soon as all preliminary arrangements have been made by the Tujunga officials and representatives of the Kiwanis club will assist in completing the formal organization of the new troop.

$50,000 Theatre for Van Nuys Is Planned

VAN NUYS, May 26.—A deal has been consummated for the construction of a $50,000 theatre in the structure owned by B. R. Shacklett at 417 Sherman way. A group of Los Angeles capitalists, recognizing the potential development of Van Nuys, have leased the site for a period of fifteen years, and it is planned to start alterations as soon as the final papers are signed so that the new theatre will be available early this summer.

Back of the foyer the building will be extended a distance of 90 feet to accommodate the auditorium and stage. This addition will be of brick and will be the last word in fireproof construction. Plans for the seating call for the installation of 1,000 opera chairs and the interior equipment will be in keeping with modern cinema palace equipment.

Hold Conferences on Realty Sales Methods

TUJUNGA, May 26.—Weekly meetings have been inaugurated by Embert M. Brown, La Crescenta and Tujunga realty broker, for the purpose of discussing sales methods and conditions with his salesmen in the district. Questions pertaining to the local real estate market are discussed. Mr. Brown started in the real estate business in California in April, 1906, and has been engaged in the same calling in various localities ever since.

ODELL TO SPEAK AT C. OF C. MEET

Los Angeles Educator Will Show Need of School Bonds in Address

EAGLE ROCK, May 26.—Robert Odell, president of the Los Angeles board of education, will deliver the principal address tomorrow night at the local Chamber of Commerce meeting, to be held at the Eagle Rock school, starting at 8 o'clock. Mr. Odell's subject will be the need for the proposed school bond issue, to be voted on at the election of June 3. He will tell of the survey and check made in the various districts to determine the right amount.

The San Rafael school and the Dahlia Heights school will present a clever number. The Eagle Rock school will present "Miss L. A. and Her Tourists," a delightful sketch which serves to picture in definite form the proposition with which the board of education has to cope. Other numbers will be given by the school orchestra and glee club.

Start on Trip East
Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Richardson of Sierra Villa drive, have left for an extended trip east. They expect to be away until fall. They will stop in Boston.

Mr. Seghers, local real estate dealer, is spending a combined vacation and pleasure trip at New Orleans, but expects to return to Eagle Rock in a short time.

DELEGATES TELL OF P.-T. MEETING

Child Welfare, Bible Study and Constitution Are Principal Topics

TUJUNGA, May 26.—Tujunga was represented at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, held in Pasadena last week, by Mrs. H. B. Lynch, president; Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, retiring president; Mrs. Dan Sullivan, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Doane, Mrs. Heaslip and Mrs. Alice Carr.

Outstanding features of the convention, according to these delegates, were: The welfare of the child; use of the Bible in the schools; approving the study of the Constitution; endorsement of the child labor bill; approval of a general law enforcement act.

End Controversy
California now leads the national federation with a membership of 80,000, while Illinois is second with 54,000. According to reports made during the convention, $75,000 has been spent for clinics, scholarships and school equipment. Mrs. Hugh Bradford state president, stated during a session at the Raymond theatre that the Parent-Teacher association had awakened the rural districts to a realization that old school facilities and methods are not adequate for the rural school children of today.

A compromise was also effected between the tenth district and the rest of the state, whereby Los Angeles will pay dues for each member of the association instead of for a representative number, as heretofore. This question had for some time been an unpleasant controversy and the settlement was welcomed by all members.

APPOINT LEADER OF SCOUT TROOP

Earl C. Brunner Installed As Head of Tujunga's Organization

TUJUNGA, May 26.—Earl C. Brunner, formerly of Glendale, was officially placed at the head of Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts of America, Tujunga district, Thursday night. This troop has just been organized and is sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the Tujunga Community church. Troop committee members are C. P. White, H. F. Slayton and H. J. Jaeger.

Rev. J. U. Stotts, pastor of the church, offered the invocation and Rev. Pasko addressed the assembled Scouts and officials. Refreshments were served the boys following the ceremonies. Rapid increase in the number of applications for membership in Troop No. 1 made necessary the formation of a second troop, and the memberships are rapidly being filled.

The installation of officers took the form of a dedication ceremony for the addition that has been built to the Community church. The building is not entirely finished, but the basement has been so arranged that it can be used indefinitely whether the other part of the building is finished at once or not.

Figures Show Cause For Auto Fatalities

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—In a report compiled by Captain Heath, head of the Traffic Bureau, Los Angeles police department, interesting facts are revealed regarding injuries and deaths resulting from automobile accidents in this city.

During the first four months of the current year there has been a total of 2647 injured, and 103 fatalities. The number of injured persons during this period has decreased from 739 in January to a total for April of 584; while the number of deaths has steadily increased from the first of the year, from twenty-three in January to thirty-two in April.

The greatest number of deaths were caused by pedestrians crossing streets in the center of the block, twenty-one meeting death in this way. Pedestrians, confused by traffic was next in the list, with a total of twelve, while eleven were killed in carelessly crossing the street.

Check Up on Daily Banana Consumption
LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Have you had your banana today? There are 275,000 bananas distributed daily in Los Angeles county, the Chamber of Commerce has learned from importers. Each week thirty-five carloads of bananas skid into the city to leave their peels behind. There are 400 bunches to a car. And the average bunch has 130 bananas thereon. Figure out how many "slips" that means, advises the publicity man of the chamber.

Throngs Inspect New Home of State Bank

EAGLE ROCK, May 26.—The Eagle Rock State bank opened Saturday, May 24, in its new location at the corner of Merton avenue and the boulevard, when from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock at night throngs inspected the building and greeted the officials. Refreshments were served and there was music.

J. S. Abbott, vice president of the institution, personally greeted the visitors. He is a native of Texas and has spent the last two years as cashier and manager of the San Bernardino Valley bank. During his incumbency the resources of that bank were more than doubled. Prior to accepting the position at San Bernardino he was manager of the Yuma National bank at Yuma, Arizona.

Aside from meeting the directors of the bank the people of Eagle Rock took much pride in inspecting the new building, which they feel is a credit to the community. The entrance to the upstairs section is of marble, the walls of three-tone oil tiffany finish, and the stairs of hardwood. On the second floor are five furnished apartments.

BEAD BAG POPULAR

NEW YORK, May 26.—It seems as though the popularity of the bead bag might never wane. At the moment there are bead bags with one's monogram or first name, done in beads, slanting across the front.

Allied Features of Kiwanis and C. C. Told

TUJUNGA, May 26.—George Busch, secretary of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Tujunga Kiwanis club held Friday. His talk was on Kiwanis and Chamber of Commerce work and their allied features. A large attendance enjoyed the visitor's address.

Why We Buy in Glendale

The factors that have contributed to Glendale's remarkable advancement along all lines, including the increase in realty values, have been many. But the loyalty of the citizens to the Community, especially in giving their trade to the home stores, has not been the least of these causes.

Men and women who have been wise enough to buy property in Glendale are intelligent enough to know that when they go out of town to buy things they could get here they are working contrary to their own interests.

Your home or your vacant lot or your business building or income property is worth much more than when you bought it. And in part this is due to Glendale's wide-awake business men, up-to-date business policies and attractive business houses. A city stagnant or backward in its business life, with poorly trained professional men and women and trade workers, and with ill-kept stores, is never a growing city or a city where real estate values are rising or even holding their own.

So the business that you give the home stores is redounding to your own interest every day. In helping to build up Glendale's retail centers and in contributing to her business life you have automatically helped to increase the value of your own property.

The saying that co-operation is necessary in Community building has become hackneyed, but it is true, none the less. Your trade helps the Glendale business man to put up a good front and the showing that he makes in the way of an attractive store, reasonable prices and city service adds to the value of real estate in Glendale.

We are dependent upon each other. We can not, and do not wish to live to ourselves, to isolate ourselves from our fellows. As Community dwellers we must help and co-operate with each other.

The advertisers on this page are working for one hundred per cent co-operation between merchant and citizen. They are doing their part. Are you doing yours?

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY FEEDS THE ROBINS

Uncle Wiggily ate his breakfast in rather a hurry one morning, and, as he was hopping out of the hollow stump bungalow, without a hat on, Nurse Jane asked:

"Where are you going?"

"I am going to look at my little robins," answered the bunny gentleman.

"I didn't know you had hatched out any robins," laughed the muskrat lady.

"Of course I didn't hatch them," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "But, if you remember, I helped the father and mother robin get twigs for their nest, which is in the tree at the end of the path. Now that the little robins are hatched I feel like a grandfather toward them. So I am going to see how they are feathering out."

"Give them my love," called Nurse Jane, as Uncle Wiggily hopped down the path.

As the rabbit gentleman reached the tree in which the robins' nest was built the rabbit heard the father bird sadly singing and saying:

"at the foot of the tree. Mr. Robin can easily carry them up to your hungry birds. And I'll get Nurse Jane to search in the grass and catch bugs in the coffee strainer."

"Oh, you are very kind," said Mrs. Robin, and when the father bird came back a little later with a worm in his beak his wife told him what the rabbit was going to do.

"That will be fine," sang Mr. Robin. "This will end our troubles, for with Uncle Wiggily's help I can feed the birds until your wing gets well, my dear."

So it was done. Uncle Wiggily scratched and dug in the dirt with his paws, uncovering hundreds of worms, and Mr. Robin flew down, picked them up and carried them to his wife and the little birds. And Nurse Jane caught bugs in the coffee strainer, and Mr. Robin carried them up to his nest. It kept him very busy flying to and fro, for little robins need a lot to eat. But not having to hunt for worms and bugs saved the father bird lots of time.

And one day, just before Mrs. Robin's wing was healed, the Old Weasel slunk up in the grass, intending to jump on Uncle Wiggily and bite him. But the rabbit was digging in the earth for worms to feed the little birds. And when the Weasel tried to catch the rabbit, Uncle Wiggily just scratched a lot of dust and dirt in the Weasel's eyes and nose and cried:

"Run away, Weasel, I'm busy. Don't bother me."

"Ker choo! Ker choo!" sneezed the Weasel, and back to his den he ran, not catching the bunny rabbit at all.

Uncle Wiggily had a jolly good time helping feed the little birds, and when they grew big enough they sang him a song of thanks. And so did Mr. Robin, while Mrs. Robin hummed the chorus.

And if the lump of sugar doesn't go swimming with the goldfish, and forget to come back in time to have breakfast with the cup of coffee, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Hickory Dickory.

"It is too bad, my dear! Quite too bad! But we shall manage somehow, I am sure. I will work twice as hard! I'll manage!"

"But, Bob, my dear, you know you never can get enough bugs and worms to feed five hungry birdies—not if you had four wings instead of two. It can't be done!"

Now don't worry any more, said kind Uncle Wiggily.

Oh, dear, why did I have to go and get hurt just when the babies need so much to eat?"

"Oh, ho!" whispered Uncle Wiggily to himself as he hopped a little nearer. "This sounds like trouble, and I must help if I can." Then looking up at Mr. Robin, who was sitting on the edge of the nest, Mr. Longears asked: "What's the matter?"

"Oh, hello, Uncle Wiggily," chirped the red-breasted bird. "The matter is that Mrs. Robin has hurt one of her wings and can't fly. I hope it will be all right in a few days."

"Yes, but in those few days poor Bob will have to do all the hunting of worms and bugs for our hungry birdies," spoke Mrs. Robin from the edge of the nest, where she was resting her sore wing. "And how he can ever do it I don't see. They're crying for food now, Bob, my dear," she said.

Uncle Wiggily heard the little robins in the nest going "peep-peep!" and he knew they were opening wide their hungry mouths.

"I'll get a lot of worms and bugs for them," said the father bird, as he flew off to the green meadow. While he was gone Mrs. Robin sighed and said:

"He'll do his best, poor bird, but he never can bring home enough for the hungry birdies to eat. It is all we two birds can do, working together, to feed them. And how he can do it alone I don't see! Oh, such trouble."

"Now don't worry any more," said kind Uncle Wiggily. "I am going to help feed your little birds! That's what I'm going to do."

"But how can you?" asked Mrs. Robin in surprise. "I know you are kind, but you can't fly up here with worms and bugs."

"I know I can't!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "But I can dig a lot of worms out of the ground with my feet, just as if I was digging a burrow. And when I dig the worms out I'll leave them here on the ground

From Evening News Files

The subject of the sermon Sunday night at the First Baptist church was "A Crooked Woman Whose Daughter Danced the Head Off of a Good Man."

The annual motorcycle run and picnic at Verdugo park Sunday attracted in the neighborhood of 1000 people, 150 of whom were motorcycle owners. Motorcycle races and other athletic events were held. A very elaborate lunch was served. There was plenty of tangling and ragging to the accompaniment of good music.

If you enjoy seeing good pictures, do not fail to attend the Glendale theatre this week. In addition to splendid photo plays, the management has engaged Mrs. W. F. Simon to handle the music end of the shows. She is one of the few successful movie pianists.

MUSCLE SHOALS PROJECT SHOULD BE LAID BEFORE NATIONAL CONVENTIONS

Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, now pending in the United States Senate, after having been passed by the house of representatives, should be taken before both national conventions this year, and will inevitably become an issue in the campaign, according to Republican Congressman Harry E. Hull of Iowa.

Hull is a member of the House committee on military affairs which passed on the Ford proposal and one of the minority which reported against the bill.

"It is a wise thing for you to search out the truth in regard to Muscle Shoals," he said recently, "for it certainly will be one of the great issues in the coming campaign. The Teapot Dome and other natural resource scandals which have been occupying the attention of the public prove that this is the wrong year in which to try to give away the people's natural resources. I am convinced that those who try to do it will be held responsible by the people, and that the question of Muscle Shoals will therefore become a great issue in the political campaign."

Hull went over the whole project, explaining why the development had been started, the value of the three dams developing $6,000 horsepower, and the importance of nitrate as a natural resource, especially in time of war. Dam No. 2, he said, has cost $45,000,000, and while the estimated cost of No. 3 is $25,000,000, he believes it will ultimately cost $40,000,000.

Ford had offered $5,000,000, he said, for property that had cost the government $84,000,000 and a propaganda in favor of the acceptance of the offer had been carried on by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Hull said he visited Ford in the latter's private car in the Union Station, Washington.

"I said," said the congressman, "Mr. Ford, I'd like to talk to you about Muscle Shoals. He said, 'Em—I'm very busy. I wish you would talk to the engineers about it. I have to go and write some letters. Good day.' And that is all I could get from Mr. Ford."

"There are many unjust features to the Ford offer. The demand for a 100-year lease from Mr. Ford would violate the federal water power act. The additional demand for the privilege of making a further lease at the end of the 100-year period makes it a perpetual lease.

"The compensation Ford offers for the hydroelectric development is wholly inadequate. You use electric power and pay all the way up to 10 cents a kilowatt hour for it. We would be selling that power to Ford for one-tenth of a cent a kilowatt hour, or $5 a horsepower. If the dams are to be leased they should bring the government at least $3,000,000 rental annually, or $1,800,000 more than the Ford offer. It is an unheard of procedure to turn over to one man or a corporation to be formed by him so much power at the price contemplated."

The Union Pacific announces a permanent reduction in local passenger fares between California, Nevada and Utah points on its lines west of and including Salt Lake City. The new rate from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City is $28.65, instead of $41.39 as formerly. Advertisement—5/21-23-26-28-30.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By FRANK SAVAGE
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Astute politicians need not read these lines of warning—they are written for the less sophisticated laymen who have their hearts set on visiting New York, while the forthcoming Democratic convention is in progress at Madison Square Garden.

The latter should take the precaution of having their loose $20 bills sewed to their inside coat linings and their domestic fidelity reinforced by carrying at least one wistful photograph next to the heart.

Moral fibre will be strained to the breaking point, and pocket-books will be imperiled in various ingenious ways, it is learned, by a horde of high-powered adventurers who plan to swoop down on this metropolis during the convention, prepared to vamp on all six cylinders.

The vanguard already has arrived, but the New York police department it ready for them.

Squads of policemen have been assigned to patrolling hotels to watch for the appearance of notorious characters a ready known to the authorities.

Policewomen, who are usually assigned to this type of work, say "confidence" women, "hunco" women and blackmailers always assemble—and reap rich returns—wherever large numbers gather.

Women detectives were kept busy in New York during the last Chamber of Commerce convention. Some of the women police were sent to Washington to assist in protecting the Shriners when the order convened there not long ago, and even those attracted here by the bankers' convention, despite their sagacity, were not immune to these operations, it is asserted.

These "birds of prey" have a new bag of tricks to try out on those who are visiting New York for the first time, for modes are changeful in crime as in fashion. The resourceful modern adventurer is a card sharp of the first water and usually has "a line of sob stuff" that would melt a heart of reinforced concrete.

Some of them specialize in politics; in which event they usually limited to the domestic product by any means, the authorities say. Europe is pouring dozens of them into this country already.

They are arriving on every steamer and taking up their temporary abodes in quarters close to Madison Square, it is said, where they more readily may swoop down upon the luckless males who are their prey.

THE GATEWAY

"Fools' Highway," which opened Sunday at the Gateway theatre, tells an interesting story of life on New York's famous Bowery in the period of 1895. The star is Mary Philbin, whose success in "Merry-Go-Round" was instantaneous.

The story of "Fools' Highway" is taken from Owen Kildare's popular novel of a generation ago, "My Mamie Rose." It is his own story, rich with the picturesque life of the Bowery, which in "the roaring nineties" was regarded as the toughest street in the world.

"Fools' Highway" tells of how Kildare fell in love with a little Bowery wife, whom he called "My Mamie Rose," and of how this wife of a child (Mary Philbin) changed his whole life for the better. The Kildare role is taken by Pat O'Malley, Irving Cummings directed the picture for Universal.

THE GLENDALE

Buster Keaton in "Sherlock, Jr.," which opened at the Glendale theatre on Sunday, tries very hard to be funny, with indifferent success. To show how much better he is now than he used to be, Manager William A. Howe also presents the Keaton feature, "Neighbors," which is full of worn-out gags and rides through its action in a decrepit plot.

THE T. D. & L.

"Triumph," the new Cecil B. De Mille picture, which opened at the T. D. & L. Theatre on Sunday, will be reviewed by a member of The Glendale Evening News staff in tomorrow's paper.

Hosford's Ashes Will Be Strewn on Pacific

SAN PEDRO, May 26.—Ashes of Lieut. Commander Harry Weaver Hosford, U. S. N., who died at Long Beach Saturday after an attack of "acute indigestion" will be strewn from seaplanes over the Pacific fleet target range following funeral services aboard the flagship U. S. S. Procyon Tuesday afternoon, in accord with Hosford's wishes.

A small refrigerator and water carrier to be attached to automobile running boards has been placed on the market.

A Springer panel recently brought to this country from England cost $10,000.

WEAR HUGE SCARVES

NEW YORK, May 26.—The scarf of today in some instances is as big as an old-fashioned shawl. One effective style is in a light color, brilliantly strewn with flowers, while a deep border at each end is dark green, navy or black.

COURT COSTUMES

LONDON, May 26.—There is rejoicing among the young girls who are to be presented at court. The all-white costume is not now compulsory. The debutante may wear pale rose or pale green or some faint shade beneath white chiffon if she prefers.

NEW STYLE PUMPS

NEW YORK, May 26.—Pumps made up entirely of narrow leather strips through which the stockings show as through a Venetian blind, now come in a delightful shade of dark brown for street wear. They are cut on sandal lines.

VELVET AND PEARLS

LONDON, May 26.—It is odd that the black velvet gown should be so much in vogue today. Though certainly more appropriate for cool weather, black velvet and pearls form a smart combination at present.

FANCY SWEATERS

PARIS, May 26.—Sweaters are not only knitted in fanciful patterns now. They are also hand embroidered. A sweater in beige, done in several kinds of stitch, has an embroidered medallion in deep blue just below the V neck.

ISOLATION BEFORE DIAGNOSIS

In the March number of the American Journal of Public Health there is a very valuable article contributed by W. C. Slesker, health officer of Shorewood, Wis., entitled "Isolation Before Diagnosis." I am going to give direct quotations from it.

Before I do so, I want to state that there are quite a number of the infectious diseases that have similar symptoms in the beginning, and until the characteristic symptoms appear, it is difficult for the doctor to make a definite diagnosis.

Now I'll quote part of Dr. Slesker's experience:

"Conforming as best we know how to the requirements of the law with reference to the quarantine regulations, the board of health, of which I was a member, failed utterly in preventing the spread of preventable diseases. Why were they not prevented? There were many contributing causes. Failure to report was one. It was felt all would be well if this were remedied, when a more puzzling situation confronted us. From one to six weeks would usually elapse from the incident of the disease to the time when a physician would be willing to make a definite diagnosis of whooping cough. In the meantime the child afflicted would be intermingling with others and attend school."

(He goes on to say that some time might elapse until there is a final diagnosis of scarlet fever or diphtheria and until the final diagnosis there could be no official quarantine.)

"The board of health came to the conclusion, finally, that mere compliance with the law, reporting and placarding promptly, while conducive to much good, were wholly inadequate measures to control communicable diseases. It did not prevent our children from becoming afflicted with preventable diseases."

"At the beginning of the next year the board of health announced its intention of inaugurating a new policy. It was proposed thereafter to isolate first and diagnose afterward, and as a concomitant measure, to placard on suspicion. The results were gratifying beyond all hope or expectation.

"It was agreed upon that no child henceforth was to be permitted to remain in the schools if it had a cold, a cough, a sore throat, or was otherwise indisposed, no matter how mild the symptoms. Consideration for the comfort of the child itself should prompt such a course, and when one takes into account the potential mischief in its presence, failure to exclude strikes us as a reckless disregard for the rights of others."

"An excluded child was to be readmitted only after it had been definitely determined by competent medical authority that its illness was not communicable. The burden of proof was shifted. The public interests were to be paramount, and those of the individual secondary."

"Answer to Correspondents
Girl—I doubt if there is much fat on the end of the stump of your leg, for pressure such as the artificial limb exerts would hinder its forming there. Surgeons cut the bone short enough so the muscles can pad the end. It seems to me you would experience nothing but benefit from a reduction of weight. Can't you confer with your surgeon about it?"

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Stamp sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the interest you show in me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the $2.00 we expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Film Star's Wife Sues

BERT LYTELL, film actor (lower right), whose wife is seeking divorce. He refuses to discuss reports that he may later wed CLAIRE WINDSOR, who is shown with her son.

Another film star will figure shortly in the divorce courts. Mrs. Bert Lytell announced in New York that she would file suit for divorce from the photoplay hero, without, however, naming a co-respondent. At the same time Lytell refused to deny or confirm reports that he planned to marry Claire Windsor, his leading woman, if the divorce proceedings of his wife were successful, while Claire was silent.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

CAN A GIRL LOVE TWO?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can a girl love more than one man at a time?

I have been going with a girl for about seven months. When I met her she was engaged. She told me she never loved the man or even cared for him, and she said she loved me. Now after we have been going together for about six months she has gone out with him several times. He gave her jewelry, etc., just to get her to go with him. She says the best man wins.

He spends all his wages on her, $50 a week, and my allowance is only $5 because I am learning a trade for the future. She doesn't believe in looking out for the future. Since she has gone with me she has been using powder and lip stick. Before that she never used make-up. She goes out with him Sunday afternoons and with me Sunday nights.

When she is with me she kisses me and when she is with him she does the same. She told me kisses mean love to her. A while ago she told me she didn't want to see me, but I went over as usual. When we quarrel I always have to make up. She is good-looking and she knows it. I guess that is the reason she acts so.

She is 19 and I am 22. Would you advise me to give her up and let her go with the other man or not?

You will probably be happier if you give up the girl. She is not playing the game fairly since she pretends to be in love with two men. Besides her demands are too great and you will not be happy trying to give her $50 worth of pleasure on $5 a week. She is not a girl worth trying to please because her standard of values is wrong. Unless you find some one who cares for you for yourself and not for what you spend on her and give her, you will never be happy. Some people claim it is possible to be in love with two people at once. Others say such a thing is impossible. In the case of the girl you write about, it is evident she does not love either of you.

From Book Of Life

OF WHAT USE IS POETRY? THE MERIT OF POETRY, in its wildest forms, consisted to Macaulay in its truth—truth conveyed to the understanding, not directly by the words, but circuitously by means of imaginative associations, which serve as its conductors.

Macaulay held that the most wonderful and splendid proof of genius is a great poem produced in a civilized age.

Matthew Arnold, confusion of whom with Benedict Arnold, it seems, enabled Mr. Henry Ford to pile up more fame, believed, "The future of poetry is immense, because in poetry, where it is worthy of its high destinies, our race, as time goes on, will find an ever surer and surer stay. There is not a creed which is not shaken, not an accredited dogma which is not shown to be questionable, not a received tradition which does not threaten to dissolve. Our religion has materialized itself in the fact, in the supposed fact, and now the fact is falling it. But for poetry the idea is everything, the rest is a world of illusion, of divine illusion. Poetry attaches its emotion to the idea; the idea is the fact. The strongest part of our religion today is its unconscious poetry."

Arnold is notable among modern men of letters as being almost equally distinguished in poetry and prose. It has been said of his essay on the Study of Poetry that perhaps the single critical document contributed so many phrases to the literary vocabulary of its time, or has stimulated so many readers to the use of lofty and definite standards of judgment. In it he avers:

"We should conceive of poetry worthily, and more highly than it has been the custom to conceive of it. We should conceive of it as capable of higher uses, and called to higher destinies, than those which in general men have assigned to it hitherto. More and more mankind will discover that we have to turn to poetry to interpret life for us, to console us, to sustain us. Without poetry, our science will appear incomplete; and most of what now passes with us for religion and philosophy will be replaced by poetry."

Antedating the Daughters of the American Revolution is the Society of Daughters of American Colonists, recently organized. Mrs. J. E. Robinson of Bloomington, Illinois, is the first regent. Ancestry to form lineage basis for this society must antedate the American Revolution. Members must furnish proof of ancestry among persons who served in battle prior to 1776, either under Colonial authority or Great Britain; or who served in some distinctive period. It is expected that a large number of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who are eligible to membership, will join the new society.

Mrs. Florence T. Uhlis of Fitchburg, Mass., has been named chief nurse for the near east relief. She is to be in charge of the relief organization with entire supervision of the nursing activities in the Armenia, Georgia and Persia, where relief workers are caring for 25,000 orphans.

Mrs. Uhlis is the youngest woman ever appointed to so important a position. She is a graduate of the New York City Hospital Training School.

Her husband, Dr. Russell T. Uhlis, has been prominent in near east relief work for many years, being particularly noted for the large number of cases of trachoma (dreaded eye disease) he has cured.

Shepherd's Pie: Put left-over roast beef through a food chopper and measure. For three cups of it allow three cups of mashed potatoes, two large uncooked onions finely chopped, two tablespoons of butter, one teaspoon of salt and three cups of either left-over gravy (slightly diluted with hot water) or the same amount of canned meat soup. Put the meat and the potatoes into a greased baking dish in alternate layers, sprinkling the salt and minced onion between each layer, and dotting top with bits of butter (have this top layer of potato). Pour the liquid over all and bake for 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

Veal Stew: (Requested by "M. K.")
Put four pounds of knuckle of veal, with bone cracked, into a saucpan and add cold water to cover well; bring to the boiling point over a brisk fire, then add three large onions peeled and chopped, one-half teaspoon of pepper, two whole cloves and a bit of bay leaf; let simmer for one hour, then add a teaspoon of salt, one-half cup of brown rice, two cups of stewed tomatoes and one-half teaspoon of sugar; let the mixture continue to cook slowly for two hours longer. Serve with or without dumplings.

Banana Fritters: Remove the skins from four bananas and scrape off the white cellulose, then cut in halves lengthwise and cut each half in two pieces crosswise. Sprinkle with the juice from one lemon and let stand a few minutes in a cool place, then dip in the following batter and fry:

Fritter Batter: Mix together one cup of flour and one-fourth teaspoon of salt; stir in two-thirds of a cup of sweet milk (or water may be substituted), and one tablespoon of melted butter, then add the beaten yolks of three eggs and fold in two stiffly-whipped egg whites. After dipping the banana pieces into this batter, place them in a small saucpan containing two or three inches of fat which is hot enough to brown a cube of bread in a few seconds. It is never necessary to turn a fritter in the fat, as when it is done on the under side, the heavier weight of the upper, uncooked side will automatically turn it over. Remove from the fat with a long-handled fork when well brown on the under side after this turning. Dust the fried fritters with powdered sugar.

Chocolate Doughnuts: (Contributed by Mrs. P. J.) "Beat two eggs till light and add to them one and one-fourth cups of sugar; beat again, then add three teaspoons of melted butter, one cup of sweet milk and two squares of bitter chocolate melted. Sift together four cups of bread flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of soda, and add this. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla and try (as above described)."

removal of the cream with a hot wet cloth, a cold rinse and an astringent. At first nearly any astringent will do, but, as the wrinkles grow deeper, longer massage and a stronger astringent will be required. Ice is ideal, its use after massage has often been the making of a fine healthy complexion. After such a treatment, the early wrinkles will have gone entirely, and will not return for hours. Indeed, such a treatment often keeps them away for days.

Cold cream, olive, or almond oil are all splendid for massage. Cold salt water, ice, witch hazel, a mixture of half ether and half water, a very milky mixture of tincture of benzoin and rose water, all these are excellent astringents. Such treatments not only do away with the first wrinkles temporarily, but they keep the skin younger for a longer time than if it were neglected.

SERIES WON BY TIGERS, DIVIDE DOUBLE SUNDAY

First Is Easy for Vernon, 8-4; Indians Light on Three Pitchers, 13-6

By C. R. SIMMONS For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Vernon took the series from Seattle by winning the first game of yesterday's double header, 8 to 4. The Indians walked off with the second game 13 to 6 after pounding three of the local pitchers for eighteen easy hits.

Cadore, twirler for the Tigers in the first game, turned in his second victory of the week, blanking the visitors until the seventh inning when Emmer connected for a home run over the left field fence. Fast and tight playing of the Tigers' infield and stellar work of Cadore, featured the first game for the six scoreless innings for Seattle.

Vernon's weakness in the closing game was obviously in the pitching staff, although Christian, after the third, tightened up and held the visitors to only one run which came in the ninth. Courtney and Vines, both were knocked out in the third, which left Christian in a bad hole, but once retiring the Indians had no difficulty in preventing any further slaughter.

Local Legion Team Adds Another Win; Seven In Row Now

The Glendale American Legion post baseballers easily won the Whittier Legionnaires in Sunday's game at Whittier by a 11-to-6 score. The local post has seven straight wins to its credit, not a defeat being chalked against it this season. Glendale travels to San Diego and Catalina Island as part of the schedule during June.

DOPE FROM DUGOUT

By JOHN B. FOSTER Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Dizzy Vance of the Brooklyn Nationals has a burning ambition to lead his league in pitching this year—and if he continues to bat home runs when his team needs them to win, he is more than likely to be successful. Ability to bat in victories in a pinch gives a pitcher a decided edge on his rivals.

Vance finished last week out in front, with Alexander running him a good race. Alexander had not been batting any home runs, but he is lucky enough to have a team that gives him a working margin, now that Hollocher is back with the Cubs once more.

The Dazzling Dizzy could have been had, not so long ago, by three or four other major league clubs. The Yankees and Pittsburgh let him go in 1916. He was passed along, ailing, to bring up eventually in St. Joseph. Then he kicked around successfully in the Southern association, the American association, the International league and the Pacific Coast league. Even when he won twenty-one games and lost only eleven for New Orleans in 1921, the big league scouts could not see him—none of them, that is, but Brooklyn's. As there was no competition, Brooklyn got him cheap.

It was not until the next year, when Vance pitched eighteen victories and twelve defeats for Brooklyn that the other big league clubs began to realize he was not through. He repeated in 1923 to the tune of eighteen victories and fifteen defeats—not as good a record as in the preceding year, although he pitched better ball, if anything.

This year, with a week of May yet to go, Vance has won a third as many games as he won either in 1922 or 1923, and it looks as though he was not going to stop until he has run up a string of at least twenty-five victories. If he goes above twenty-five, he will almost surely lead the league.

Vance is an Iowa boy. He was born in Des Moines, and his first experience in baseball was in Hastings, Neb. The very first year he pitched he won eleven games and lost fourteen. The next year, he pitched for the Chicago Cubs, won seventeen and lost four, which gives some idea of Dizzy's determination to get there.

If Reuther should shine among the lefthanders as Vance is doing among the righthanders, Brooklyn would win fifty games between that pair and maybe sixty. That would put Brooklyn up in the first division as sure as fate.

Luque of Cincinnati is playing in hard luck. Two more defeats, and he will have lost as many games as he did all of last season. His willingness is always in evidence, but never in his career has he turned in two capital records in succession, and last year was his good year.

CARPENTIER GOES INTO SECLUSION

Has New Trick to Spring on Gibbons, According to Camp Gossip

By H. C. HAMILTON For the International News Service. LONG BEACH, Ind., May 26.—Growing admiration for the knack of Francois Descamps in making the most of the management of his colorful charge, Georges Carpentier, in preparation for the Gibbons battle a week hence evinced today by close students of the Lake Michigan camp where Carpentier is grooming for the encounter.

The interested will recall that Descamps kept his warrior behind entanglements of various descriptions when Georges was getting ready to manhandle him, I. for his defeat by Jack Dempsey. It's a similar situation now.

Georges this time is definitely practicing a new trick and it may be a "humdeenger," according to Gus Wilson, Carpentier's trainer and a Frenchman himself. Fact is, Tom Gibbons may get hurt when the trick is turned loose, according to Wilson.

This time also the public is barred from watching Carpentier do his stuff, but newspaper men will be admitted every day but one or two just before the match. Saturday Carpentier worked out in a Chicago amusement park. Sunday he stepped a few rounds here in his own quarters. Today Georges goes into seclusion.

Plenty of boxing will be done at the Gibbons gold coast camp until the day preceding the bout. The monks first started making Munich beer in the 12th century.

MAXWELL WINS IN JUNIOR NET MEET

Victory Follows Battle In Finals With Laird of Same Tennis Team

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR. Of The Evening News Staff.

After working his way into the finals Wayne Maxwell, second man of the Glendale high school tennis team, defeated Bob Laird, first man of the Glendale High School tennis team, at Brookside park yesterday in the Pasadena Annual Junior Tennis Tournament, 6-3, 12-10. It was Maxwell's match most of the way through, his brilliant volleying and accurate ground shots had Laird completely at sea.

In the first set when the balls were new Maxwell had Laird under his thumb at all times. He took the first five games with ease, making several wonderful shots which drew applause from the gallery. Laird perked up enough to take three games in the set and save himself from a 6-3, but that was all. Maxwell took the last game and set, 6-3.

In the second set Maxwell found the going much harder. Laird started off in fine shape and led 5-3 on his opponent's serve. Here Maxwell pulled up to 5-5. The games went seasaw until 10-10. Maxwell took the twenty-first game and with this lead won the last game at love, three of his volleys killing off Laird's drives, and his opponent driving the last one out.

Silver Loving Cup Laird drove hard and accurately but Maxwell's most invincible net-work won the match. Maxwell killed off almost all of his opponent's hard drives and his seldom passed. For his efforts Maxwell received a silver loving cup. Laird got a tennis racket for a consolation prize.

A large crowd witnessed the match, which was refereed by Carl H. Shammar. On his way to the finals Maxwell defeated Bud Houser, one of the foremost junior players of Southern California, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. Maxwell was unaccustomed to the Brookside courts, which are asphalt, and did not find his stride until the second set. After that time he had little trouble with the Alhambra first man. In the first round Maxwell received a bye, and in the third he eliminated Rucher of the Pasadena high school tennis team, 6-2, 6-0.

On his road to the final Laird beat Behlow, second man of the Alhambra tennis team, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7. This match was hard-fought, but Maxwell, having played about five hours before, in the semi-finals Laird put Hillman of Lincoln high out of the running, 6-2, 6-3. Laird received a bye in the first round.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Tex Rickard, who has Willis' signature agreeing to fight two matches for him this year, with a third battle contingent upon two encounters, is chiefly engaged at present in lining up an opponent for the negro's first fight of the projected series.

It looks as though Rickard was not very well pleased with Willis' proposed setto with Madden. Or, if not Rickard, some important people were against it. At least that is the way the gossip runs among fighting men. Result, Simon Flaherty gets the razz after he spent a lot of money in fixing up his Queensboro stadium. Poor Flaherty! He must be wondering what happened to him. Maybe he can guess.

But no one in New York can stop the Jersey promoters if they are really interested in going through with the battle. They were foolish in the first place to let it be transferred to New York, where a wise man could see with his feet that the powerful interests would not look with favor upon it.

Will Harry Willis, all things considered, be willing to go through with a Madden scrap in Jersey? Or will he decide it would be wiser to train along with the New York crowd? At the next few days' will tell. There is no doubt that this bout in Newark would draw a gate attractive to any contender for the heavyweight title. This may carry weight with Willis, who, of course, knows of the old adage about a bird in the hand being worth two in the bush.

Ermine Spalla is shortly to arrive in this country, and they say Rickard and Nick Kline, who is supposed to represent Spalla, are cooking up a meeting between Willis and the Italian. On the other hand, there is talk that Carpentier is due to make a good showing against Tommy Gibbons and then fight Spalla here. Again, you hear gossip that everything will be worked out so that Dempsey and Gibbons meet again. In fact, one hears so much conflicting talk about everything that it is difficult for any one trying to follow this uncertain game to know where he is at. Only one point sticks out clearly, and that is that the fight game must be in rotten shape when no one trusts any one else and every

There are more widows than there are in the United States.

NEW YORK CLOSING

H. J. DUIZEND For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 26.—Underlying firmness was the outstanding characteristic of trading on the stock exchange today. With the tax revision bill adopted by the Senate and the House, interest of traders centered on the question whether President Coolidge would sign the document.

There were reports of better buying in steel and advances from the finished cotton goods market were more cheerful than in several months past.

Most of the buying in the industrial list was attributed to provincial bear speculators, who had been gravely disturbed by the extensive rebound in last week's final session.

Independent Steels were in excellent form, while pool operations were noticeable in Cast Iron Pipe, International Paper, Producers and Refiners, Congoleum, and a few other specialties.

Rubber shares, on the other hand, were under renewed pressure. The most important feature of the trading was the continued accumulation of investment issues, both industrial and railroad. Prospect that Congress will adjourn June 7, without enacting any hostile railroad legislation, also helps matters. Delaware & Hudson; Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; Chesapeake & Ohio; Baltimore & Ohio; and Pere Marquette were outstandingly strong, the latter reaching a new high above 50.

Low-priced rails were sentimentally influenced by the behavior of the dividend-paying Westerns. Wabash preferred and Western Pacific preferred being conspicuous of the advance. St. Paul, however, reacted sharply, due to the publication of an unfavorable April statement.

Call money firmed up to 3 1/2 per cent after renewing at 3 per cent. Bonds were steady. Cotton and grains were firm. Foreign exchanges were in good form. Stock sales today were: 461,400 shares; bonds $10,774,000.

Some profit-taking developed in the final hour, following the passage of the conference revenue bill in the House and the further rise in call money rate to 4 1/2 per cent, but offerings were absorbed with comparative ease. The stiffening of the call loan rate was a natural development in view of the requirements of the approaching month end.

The market closed steady.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Grains opened easy today, firm, and eventually strong. Wheat closed 3-8 @ 1-2 higher, corn 3-8 @ 1-2 up and oats 1-5 @ 1-2 higher. Provisions were dull and weak.

Mickey Walker is training out in the Jersey hill country for his championship bout with Lew Tender in Philadelphia a week from today. Right now he looks to be in great shape and the fact that he is four or five pounds over his weight limit, permits him to go a fierce pace in his preparations.

This bout, of course, is a build-up fight for the projected encounter between Walker and Benny Leonard. If Mickey can stow away his weight and beat him more decisively than Leonard did in their last meeting, then Mickey's demands for a piece of change for accepting the middleweight champ will sound more reasonable.

From Philly comes a yarn that if Walker wins this battle Tender will hang up his gloves, but that not content with the size of the fortune he has made, he and his manager, Phil Glassman, will take Mickey under their wing. The story is that Glassman will be the active manager and Lew will be the silent partner. Sounds fishy, but one never knows what is going on underneath the surface of the fight game.

BUSINESS WORLD

Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The American family—father, mother, kids and all—is becoming a better clothed unit, more careful in style selection and more discriminating as to quality. That statement is vouched for by members of the Garment Manufacturers' Association after they had talked things over at their Chicago convention. They add that if the American buyer is more discriminating he is also more cautious. Wardrobe replenishment are being made sparingly, but Mitchell F. Jamar, Jr., president of the Garment Manufacturers' Association, declares most of the clothing makers are doing a "fair business."

Dealers have no large stocks in suits, undergarments, shirts or general textiles. The public is known to be none too generously supplied. But wages are remaining fairly stable, prices are steady and the outlook for the manufacturers is encouraging. It is unquestionably a fact, however, that people in general do not buy clothing today until they have to do so. Hat men in many of the northern cities are complaining that the combination of a straw head covering and an overcoat have failed to appeal to the public in spite of advertising and window displays.

The Umbrella Manufacturers' Association has just concluded a session in this city, held in the midst of a two-days' rain, and the delegates themselves did not have an umbrella with them when they departed. Weather has been a great factor in buying clothes, and manufacturers of knitted underwear claim they have not sufficient stocks on hand to meet the present demand.

The demand for colored shirts has been of tremendous aid to many dealers and makers. George P. Wakefield, president of the National Boys' Blouse and Shirt Manufacturers' Association, states his industry is over the competition of home made garments by showing makers all over the nation that it could produce a better shirt for a boy cheaper than it could be made in the home.

Imports of cotton and woolen goods from abroad are exerting an important effect on the garment industry at present. Tariff walls have failed to keep out textiles from England and Scotland, which are sold here in competition with American goods to garment manufacturers, and many American buyers at present are in Great Britain for further supplies of materials.

The garment trade has been helped, however, by the increase in foreign demand for American clothing. Australia is showing an increased interest in underwear, shirts, collars and neckwear, while the American form of dress is being adopted more widely all the time by the far Eastern countries.

So far as statistical position is concerned, there appears no prospect of any decided fall in the prices of any of the cotton goods. The demand for woolens and worsteds has not been heavy owing to the caution cited in the foregoing paragraphs, and factors in the goods situation promise to favor the buyers for the present, but the raw material situation undoubtedly is tight.

Manufacturers and dealers are counting on a splendid business in tropical worsteds and Palm Beach clothes this summer. They declare that in view of the cold spring it is probable that the summer will be exceedingly warm in many sections, and that the price in appearance movement which has been sponsored by dealers and manufacturers alike has been such as to aid summer clothing sales especially.

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—Retailers in dry goods and other lines are apparently indifferent to present low wholesale prices, for they are buying most sparingly. They declare business is about on the same level as that of last year, but they are determined on a policy of frequent small orders for prompt delivery rather than on large future bookings. Savings deposits have been but little diminished and employment is well sustained. There is a strong demand for mechanics and farm hands. A scarcity of farm labor is expected soon, since river work and road construction have been absorbing a large amount of floating common labor. Flour mills, automobile factories and tire plants in this section are on part time.

CROP DIVERSIFICATION

FARGO, N. D., May 26.—Thirty-one counties in this state and ten in Northwestern Minnesota have been selected by the agricultural credit corporation for trial of crop diversification. Throughout this district straight grain farming will be interspersed with other types of agriculture under plans of the corporation.

Loans to promote diversification are restricted due to the limited funds placed at the disposal of the agricultural credit body, but preliminary organization work indicates that some favorable results may be expected.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.

Railroads entering this port have established new rates for handling shipments to be loaded on and unloaded from steamers. These have placed Philadelphia on a parity with Baltimore where loading and unloading charges at wharfs have been absorbed by the carriers.

Internal revenue department announces the domestic production of cigars in April totaled 501,422,160 against 532,535,521 in April, 1923. Cigaret output was 5,324,931,533 against 4,712,439,873.

The value of rubber products shipped from the United States to foreign countries in April totaled $3,412,170 against $3,365,709 in March.

The sheet steel industry is planning a promotion campaign to cost over $1,000,000 to increase the uses of sheet steel and to regain markets lost to other products. One of the chief aims is to present benefits of galvanized sheets for roofing. This market having been affected by prepared roofing materials. It is claimed the sheet steel industry has sustained a loss of $1,000,000 of galvanized sheet sales annually by advances made by other forms of roofing widely advertised.

The Ford Motor company closed operations on Saturday, but resumed in full today. While officials would not discuss plans it is understood on reliable authority that Saturday's action is part of a program for suspending Saturday work during the summer. The plants will be closed Decoration day and the Saturday following. This action on the part of Ford is taken as a precautionary measure to insure proper relation between unsold cars and output at the end of the present selling season in July.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By H. A. VAN DUSEN For Southland News Service

market was erratic this morning, trading being limited to a few stocks in each of the lists on the Los Angeles stock exchange. Oil was the most active but for the most part prices showed a decline.

U. S. Royalties was sold heavily in blocks of from 1,000 shares up, opening at 13, a 2-point loss. During the morning it touched the low point, 12 1/2, but later it advanced back to 13. At 11 o'clock more than 26,000 shares had changed hands.

The other big trader this morning was in the mining list where Richmond Consolidated opened high at 20, lost gradually until it was down to 15 1/2, and then regained 15, holding steady at 19. Over 36,000 shares of this stock was traded during the morning session.

Julian Petroleum common stock was traded today at $15.50 while preferred stock opened at $24.50. Associated Oil was up 1/2 point, opening at $29.75, while Union Oil of California, a heavy trader last week, was up 1/2, opening at $124. Sales were not large, however.

In the mining list, United Eastern was down to 15 1/2, and then regained 15, holding steady at 19. Edison common opened steady at $101 and among the bank stocks, Security Trust & Savings was traded at $312.

Italians Arrested In Alien Smuggling Plot

LONDON, May 26.—Seventy-four Italians who declared they had embarked at Marseilles upon the promise they would be taken to the United States without passports, were arrested on board a Greek steamship at Antwerp, said a dispatch from that city today.

Biggest Coffee Crop Expected by Hawaiians

HONOLULU, May 26.—Hawaii's coffee crop for 1924, which will come into harvest about October 1, promises to be the largest in nearly twenty years. All of the coffee in the islands is grown in the kona, or leeward, section of the big island, Hawaii.

SWIMMING PARTY FOR GIRL SCOUTS

Picnic Dinner at Campfire Attended by Troop and Special Guests

Troop 6, Glendale Girl Scouts, held one of their most successful campfire meetings Friday of last week. The troop and a number of special guests enjoyed an afternoon swimming party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans.

A wienie bake and toasting of marshmallows were special features of a picnic dinner, enjoyed round the campfire. Plans were complete for the appearance of the troop in the parade on Memorial Day and practice drill took place as a preparatory measure.

Palestine to Permit Working Jews In Land

JERUSALEM, May 26.—More than 7,000 Jews, mostly from Eastern and Central Europe, will be permitted to enter Palestine within the next six months as the result of a decision by Sir Herbert Samuel, the high commissioner. This decision authorizes the admission of 2,400 working men and women, with their dependents. Among them will be 1,000 agricultural workers, 400 builders and 900 skilled and unskilled laborers.

Parade Is Held

Here the gaily-decorated wheeled vehicles were kept till the opening of the afternoon exercises, which began by a parade of all the floats. A most difficult task awaited the judges in this contest, which was finally decided by the applause of the admiring multitude in the grand prize. By class, the judges awarded the following:

Best wagon—"The Sea Gull," Billy Sharp. George Wade carried off second honors with a long-bodied boat covered entirely with Gila flowers and lined inside with them. Jack Potter entered his auto decorated with a hood of ivy leaves and geraniums, which took third honors. George Gee was in fourth place with his cart decorated within and out with mulberry blossoms.

SCHOOL CHILDREN 'ARGONAUT' RISES IN TRIAL FLIGHT

Sport Events, Drills, Kite Meet, Parade Feature Big Celebration

By MARY B. DARROW Of The Evening News Staff. LA CRESCENTA, May 26.—The May Festival will long be remembered by pupils, parents and pedagogues, as being the most stupendous and successful affair ever carried out on the school grounds of La Crescenta. Track events were won by the following: Seventh and Eighth Grades—yard dash, Neal Darby, first; William Sprinkle, second; Graydon Andrews, third. 75 yard dash—Dan Lopez, first; Graydon Andrews, second; Jack Grenwell, third. 100 yard dash—Dan Lopez and Neil Darby, tied for first; William Sprinkle, second; Paul McAsker and Newty Moore, tied for third. Baseball throw for distance—Neil Darby, first; Kenneth Weston, second; Paul McAsker and John May, tied for third.

Fifth and Sixth Grades—60 yard dash—Won by Oscar MacDowell; Robert Stoner, second; Wesley Rose, third. 40 yard dash—Oscar MacDowell, first; Phillip Baron, second; Lawrence Meyers, third. Baseball throw for distance—Clarence Hamilton, first; Harold Mills, second; Don Whelock, third.

Third, Fourth and Fifth B Grades—40 yard dash—Leon Adams, first; Wilbur Murdock, second; Billy Sharp, third. 100 yard running start bike race—Won by Kenneth Weston; Wilmer Williams, second; Walter Smith, third. 220 yard standing start bike dash was carried off in the same order by the same contestants.

Kite Tournament The kite tournament was exciting to everyone. The largest kite was one which measured 6 by 9 feet, made and flown by Buddy Kennedy of East Piedmont avenue. The largest bow kite was also made by this little fellow. Honors in the kite events were carried off as follows:

Smallest flying kite, 1 inch long, Arthur Sitch, first; Walter Smith, second; Morton Pooties, third; Leon Adams, fourth. The largest kite—Buddy Kennedy, first; Charles Clary, second; Buddy Kennedy, third. Tail kites—Billy Sharp, first; Harry Tate, second. The most artistic kite was a beautiful Easter lily, made by Billy Sharp; John May, pastel kite, second; Phillip Baron, third. Best decorated, yellow star points decorated with blue tassels, Walter Smith; Phillip Baron, second, with a landscape kite; Buddy Kennedy, bow kite, third. Novelty kites—Walter Smith, first, yellow star; Billy Sharp, Easter lily, second; Phillip Baron, landscape kite, third. Highest flyer—John May, bow kite, first; Buddy Kennedy, second. House kite—only one, Buddy Kennedy. Judges in the kite tournament were Miss L. Adams, county physical education supervisor; Mrs. Mary B. Darrow and Arthur Swan.

Hot Dog Stand The smell of hot dogs was most welcome to elders and kiddies at this time, and long lines were formed at the gaily-decorated booths, where all sorts of goodies were dispensed. The booths were set outdoors under the long line of fir trees in the back of the school. The hot dog stand was gay with balloons. The ice cream stand was suggestively decorated with long streamers of paper icicles. The punch booth was a tiny flower-fenced garden under a gay beach umbrella.

In the school auditorium was a beautiful booth whose main decoration was dozens of small butterflies, the work of the seventh grades. A splendid art exhibit was also featured as the work of this grade. The smaller grades had an adjoining booth, where their work in rug weaving was on display, as well as some of the work done by the upper grades. Here one saw elephants, chickens, squirrels, rabbits and other animals, all colors of the rainbow. The chief exhibit in the butterfly booth was the volunteer cooking and sewing done at home and school by children of different grades; pies, cakes and candies, in which the sturdy boy of the family vied with sister for honors, showed the all-round education of the kiddie of today. Beautiful embroideries and clever little frocks made by very young children also were shown.

Painters in England are using a respirator in the form of a mask which protects them from lead poisoning, it is said.

Dr. T. C. Young's Plane In First Trip Through Air Is Proven Success

Before a crowd of spectators numbering nearly 1500, Dr. T. C. Young's new five-passenger airplane, the "Argonaut," took the air for the first time yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, piloted by H. H. Kinner, the designer, and with Mrs. Young as passenger. Dr. Young made a test flight in his old plane just before the initial flight of the "Argonaut," and found the air in perfect condition. Gracefully lifting from the ground, the big ship rose to an altitude of 1000 feet in three minutes. After making two complete circles of the vicinity around the Glendale airport, it landed at a speed of 23 miles an hour, stopping in a field near the airport.

Wins Grand Prize The grand prize was determined by the first prize drawing, being grouped and by the applause each entry won, the judges allowed the assembly to decide. The rose doll buggy owned by Jean Babcock took first honors, the Sea Gull coming in second, with Lester Van Duesen's yellow and green bicycle third, and Donald Young's seacock coaster fourth. Judges were Mesdames C. W. Angier, Glen Myers, C. Reuthard and Mary B. Darrow.

Little girls distributed artistic flower-decorated programs for the flower carnival. Mildred Maranville, as Columbia advanced to the tune of "Columbia." She received the homage of the nationalities as they paid her court. Uncle Sam (Kenneth Wesson), with Parker Barshaw as Boy Scout flagbearer, followed, advancing to the side of Columbia with the Stars and Stripes unfurled as everyone saluted while singing "America."

Then came the fairies, with Jean Angier as Queen Titania, to herald the arrival of the May queen and her attendants. Malborg Hiengle was May queen. Helen Meade was flower queen.

Dances were given by children representing the grasses, the breezes, leaves, daisies, sunflowers, huzzing bees, brown-eyed Susans, hollyhocks, sweetpeas, daffodils, irises, strawberry blossoms, trilliums and yellow primroses. The tumbling clowns, Mewbie Moore and Alvar Anderson, did some clever acrobatic tumbling stunts.

Maypole Dance The country maidens concluded the program with an old-fashioned Maypole dance, there being three poles on the green. Dances of the nations were given by the following: Highland Fling, Ruth Kiehl and Marjorie Barr; Norwegian mountain dance, Marlon Wygant and Evelyn Kellar; Irish Washerwoman, Philip Brown, Doris Rose and Beatrice Long; Spanish dance, Helen Meade and Eileen Karr; Russian dance, Elizabeth Talbot-Martin, Wewbie Moore, Eileen Karr, Martha Goldenberg, Ingar Anderson, Wesley Craig, Katherine Sharp, Luther Lewis, Evelyn Adkins, Alice Aglozinski, Doris Rose, George Joesker, John Cleaves, Clyda Jones, Jane Gordon, Jean Angier, Florence Ichino and Keith Worley. These awards were given the best work in crayon and water color for the following subjects: May Pote, Hawaiian Posters, Bird Week Posters, Easter, and History.

Cooking Awards Jean Babcock carried off honors with a cherry pie and devil's food cake. Muffins baked by Adela Aglozinski carried off a first prize. Fourth grade honors in sewing were won by Virginia Piesker, first, and Lee Ella Burket, second, for embroidered lunch cloths. Another to take first in cake baking was Elizabeth Masters. Billy Sharp of the fourth grade baked a first-prize cake. Marie Perkins of the fifth grade carried off honors with a dress made entirely by herself. Ethel Hunt won first prize for her luncheon cloth. Helen Schobeck, first prize in embroidery; Ruth Anderson, second. Geraldine Linville of the sixth grade, first in embroidery; Doris Rose, second. Seventh grade, Martha Goldenberg, first in embroidery. Eighth grade, Katherine Sharp, first in embroidery. In rug weaving, Adela Aglozinski, first; Aldie Kinsey, second. Jute rugs woven, Arthur Schobeck, first; Anna Mendella, second; Carmelina Garcia and Caroline Cupps, tied for third.

Says Authors Should Be Read But Not Seen

LONDON, May 26.—Modern authors are too keen for publicity, bewails Stacy Aumonier, well-known English novelist and short story writer.

The author should be read but not seen, Aumonier contends. "The priests who controlled the Delphic oracle very wisely never showed themselves," said Aumonier. "They knew that personality tends to negative an illusion. Many of our modern creative artists are not so wise."

B'nal B'raith was founded in New York in 1843.

ping in a distance of 75 yards.

First Local Plane Dr. Young says that the flight was entirely successful and that the plane is all that he expected and a little more. It was designed and built entirely in Glendale by the Kinner Airplane and Motor corporation and the construction set a new world's record in aircraft construction. Work was started on the plane on February 1.

This was the first passenger airplane launched from the Glendale field and attracted a large number of visitors. Besides the many friends of Dr. Young present there were also visiting planes from many of the airports of Southern California. Movie camera men were on hand to get pictures of the new air limousine.
