

NEW YORK DEFEATS WASHINGTON 6 TO 4

LA FOLLETTE HITS BACK AT ENEMY CHARGES

Candidate Starts His Cross-Country Campaign With Shot at Opponents

By KENNETH CLARK For International News Service, ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, opened his transcontinental speaking campaign here today with the flat prediction that he would be elected to the White House.

"I have started on this speaking campaign for just one purpose—I intend to win the election on November 4," La Follette declared. "On that day I believe the people of this country will take the control of the government back into their own hands, where it rightfully belongs."

La Follette hailed as "utterly ridiculous" statements from Republican and Democrat headquarters that his sole purpose in entering the presidential race was to throw the election into Congress.

Called 'Ridiculous' "This is utterly ridiculous," La Follette said. "The election is now in Congress. I mean that if the election were held today a majority would receive a majority of the votes in the electoral college. Certainly neither Coolidge nor Davis could win a majority."

"If I wanted the election to be thrown into Congress I would stay in Washington and take it easy for the rest of the campaign," he said.

"Reports from every part of the country lead me to believe that the progressive tide is rising at a tremendous rate. It has not reached its crest. These reports lead me to believe that we can increase the power of this movement to a point of a clean cut election in November. That is why I am out on this trip. I believe the people want to hear the message I have to give. I intend to do everything in my power to see that it reaches them."

"Merely Whistling" "When our opponents say, as they have been saying for the last five weeks, that our power has passed its peak, they are merely whistling to keep up their courage," La Follette said.

"We are in this fight to win and we will not be content with anything except victory."

La Follette began his invasion of New York state after a flying trip from Washington through Maryland and Pennsylvania, during which in numerous rear platform speeches from his private car he pledged himself "to rid the government of control by special interests."

The suit attacks the validity of the Federal amendment which gave negroes the right of suffrage more than half a century ago, and was drawn up by E. Edwin Bolte, who gave his address as Washington, D. C.

HAVANA RIOT RESULTS IN 7 DEAD, 57 WOUNDED

Put Military Guard About Presidential Palace as Royal Factions Clash

HAVANA, Oct. 6.—The military guard about the presidential palace was heavily reinforced today as a result of the fatal election battle at Camaguey in which seven men were killed and fifty-seven wounded. Among the wounded are a police lieutenant and two policemen.

Responsibility has not been officially placed. Each side is blaming the other. A group of Menocal adherents were passing through the streets of Camaguey, they claim, when they were fired upon by police. The fire was returned. Rioting continued furiously until the soldiers intervened. Earlier in the day, Menocal's special train was derailed near Camaguey.

Riddled With Bullets Fifteen of the wounded men are in grave condition. The pitched battle raged for two hours. Buildings along the streets were riddled with bullets and windows smashed.

Feeling at Camaguey is running high. At 2:35 o'clock this morning wire communication between Havana and Camaguey was interrupted. The last message was that soldiers are patrolling the city and that order prevailed.

Attack Special Train The fighting followed an attack upon Menocal's special train near Camaguey. Many shots were fired at the train and two were wounded. General Menocal, who is a candidate for president, had accused President Zayas and other members of the government as working for the election of his opponent, General Machado, a liberal. According to adherents of General Machado, political followers of Menocal started the trouble by attempting to disarm the Camaguey police.

LEADER PAYS RED CROSS ACTIVITIES TRIBUTE

President Offers Praise at Annual Meeting, Claiming 'Practical Idealism'

By GEORGE E. DURNO For International News Service, WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Coolidge, formally opening the annual meeting of the American Red Cross here today, paid a glowing tribute to that great institution of mercy, declaring its existence to be living proof that "materialism is not the dominant motive of the people of the United States." He praised the world-wide humanitarian work of the Red Cross and urged the development of civilization along the same unselfish lines.

Civilization Ideals "The Red Cross idea will develop as mankind develops," the president said. "The ideals underlying civilization are the ideals of brotherly love of tolerance, of kindness, of charity. Any departure from these is a reversion to a lower nature, to barbarism and darkness. The beauty of life lies in meeting whatever destiny awaits us, trusting one another, helping one another."

Unselfish Sympathy "One of the great needs confronting civilization is just this kind of practical idealism, sensitive to duty, alert and ready to make the sacrifice necessary to relieve suffering and pave the way to a return of normal and happier things," he said, adding that America had manifested its unselfish sympathy during the Japanese earthquake when an appeal for $5,000,000 for aid brought in over $11,000,000.

The president touched upon the great need of universal peace, and ventured the opinion that with the fear of further war effectually banished, a "very great part" of the new organizations as the Red Cross would vanish.

RADIO HEADS TO OUTLINE INDUSTRY'S PROGRAM

Allocation of Wave Lengths And Congress Legislation Convention's Topic

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH For International News Service, WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—American radio leaders gathered here today to perfect voluntary agreements that are necessary to assure entertainment for 25,000,000 wireless devotees this winter.

Newspapermen, representatives of the big broadcasting stations, scientists, government experts and manufacturers of radio equipment were included in the delegations.

Authorities estimated that a newly $400,000,000 has been expended in the last year for radio equipment and that within five years half of the people of the United States would be among the "listeners in" to the various broadcasting services.

Convention Program Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who will open the convention formally tonight, said today that the program calls for allocation of wave lengths, studies of interference problems and a campaign to obtain from Congress adequate regulatory legislation.

"Not only are there questions of orderly conduct but the multitude of radio activities in which more authorities must be exerted in the interest of every user, whether sender or receiver, but the question of monopoly in radio communication must be squarely met," Hoover declared. It is not conceivable that the American people will allow this home-born system of communication to fall exclusively into the power of any individual group or combination. It cannot be thought that any single person or group shall ever have the right to determine what communication may be made to the American people."

Against Censorship Hoover placed himself against censorship of broadcast material, either by individuals or the government. While favoring a development of radio communication, Hoover emphasized the necessity of further legislation. He said the problems involved in government regulations are "the most complex and technical that have yet confronted Congress."

Among the subjects for consideration will be division of wave lengths among the several classes of stations, possible revision of the zoning plan, power requirements and the question of licenses for operators.

The Evening News Furnishes Fans With Game, Play by Play

The third game in the world series between New York and Washington was played in the rain today. That is, it was played in the rain in Glendale, but in New York, where the teams clashed, the sun was shining. But a little moisture did not stop a big crowd of fans from parking in front of the three story home of The Glendale Evening News and hearing the game, play by play, as announced and watching the scoreboard register inning by inning. As usual, The Glendale Evening News was first with the details—real service for the fans. Everybody is invited to this newspaper's home at 139 South Brand to "see" tomorrow's game. Play will start about 11 o'clock.

Today's Hero

This is BILL RYAN, who became a hero in New York in today's world series game by knocking a homer and by pitching excellent ball when he went in to relieve McQuillan. Ryan was, however, taken out in the ninth inning, Jonnard assuming the mound.

GIANTS GET ONE GAME LEAD ON WORLD'S SERIES

Regular Parade of Pitchers Pass Before Fans In Fight for First Place

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—In a veritable parade of pitchers passing in review, the Giants contrived to edge under the wire with a 6 to 4 decision over the Senators in the third game of the world's series this afternoon, a belated Washington rally in the ninth inning being nipped by John Watson's worthy rescue pitching.

Sparkling fielding by Frisch saved the Giants on several occasions, the Giant second baseman thrice robbing Goslin of base hits. It was New York's first presentation of the series of 1924 and a capacity crowd of nearly 50,000 viewed the proceedings with high glee. The fans cheered for both clubs with impartial fervor.

The attendance was announced as about 50,000. The park was jammed.

The victory gave the Giants the edge on the series by two games to one.

Frisch raced far into center field to snare Goslin's fly with Rice on first base in the fourth. Then he repeated the performance at Goslin's expense in the fifth.

Two Innings Later Frisch went over behind first base for Goslin's smash with two men on.

In all, the Giants used four pitchers and the Senators used the same.

Ryan did well for a while after relieving McQuillan in the fourth, but blew wide open in the ninth.

Harris got a single to open the ninth on a fly ball that Kelly, Jackson and Wilson allowed to fall safe at their feet. Goslin and Judge followed with hits, filling the bases.

Forces In Run

Whereupon, McGraw waved Ryan out of the picture in favor of Jonnard. The latter walked Blumberg, forcing in a run and then walked to club house at McGraw's suggestion.

Watson then came out and retired Miller on a foul to Lindstrom and caused Ruel to fumble. Goslin at third base for the farewell out.

It was gay Gotham's first view of the 1924 games and the merry villagers rose to the business with commendable enthusiasm. At least 45,000 souls were in the park shortly before game time.

All night vigil-keepers at the gate were not as numerous as in other years, however. Less than 500 were waiting without when the sun edged over the mystic Harlem hills this morning.

Crowd With Giants

The Giants found the crowd sympathetic from the outset, setting at rest all doubt as to New York's attitude towards its team on the Dolan-O'Connell scandal. Each Giant was cheered to a hoarse refrain as he appeared on the field, Neff and Watson being the first in sight. The main detachment came on at 12:30 o'clock and its journey across the field was a sustained ovation.

It was merely sentimental enthusiasm, however. Financially the Giants were held a short end choice at 6 to 5, at least as far as the Broadway gamblers were concerned. Shift In Lineup The Giants stepped out for batting practice at 12:40 o'clock. Hugh McQuillan took his turn in batting practice. The Senators walked out through the gate under the cen-

RETURN FROM GATHERING IN NORTH

Glendale School Officials Home After Attending Big Convention

George U. Moyle, principal of the Glendale Union high school, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, have returned to their desks after a week at San Francisco, where they attended the annual convention of county, city and district superintendents, September 29 to October 2.

Mr. Moyle returned Saturday and Mr. White arrived back Sunday. Both are enthusiastic over the report of the legislative committee, which is aimed at getting important school reforms through the next session of the state legislature.

"Economy and Better Efficiency Through Classification of School Districts" was the topic of an address delivered by Richardson D. White before the convention at the Monday afternoon session, September 29. Mark Keppel, Los Angeles county school superintendent, also delivered an address on that topic the same afternoon.

Need for Revision

From Mr. White's viewpoint, the outstanding feature of the convention was the rather general agreement among the speakers that there is need for revision in the courses of study offered in elementary schools, and that these subjects should be evaluated with the aim of making the pupils good citizens, which means to make them useful, happy members of the community.

The appointment of Dr. W. C. Bagley of the Teachers' college, Columbia university, by the Commonwealth Club foundation, to head a research into the California elementary school curriculum, is regarded by Mr. White as significant, particularly in view of the fact that the state statutes require twenty-seven subjects to be taught, the highest number of any elementary school curriculum in the United States.

Like New Plan

The suggestion embodied in the report of the legislative committee, that the high school be made the unit of school administration, particularly interested George U. Moyle, who attended the convention in his capacity as superintendent of the Glendale Union High school district. The general acceptance of the junior high school idea was another thing about the convention that struck Mr. Moyle forcibly.

The program arranged by Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction for the state of California, was very comprehensive, Mr. Moyle thought, and while it afforded very little opportunity for free discussion, nevertheless covered almost every phase of the subject of education in great detail and from a variety of angles.

Miss Normandie E. Dewitt, Charles E. Nicholson were united in marriage at the North Bend church, near Danville, Ohio, by Rev. Workman, on October 4, 1874. To this union four children were born, three sons and one daughter, all of whom are living. The children are Solomon C. Nicholson, of Glendale, Charles D. C. Nicholson, of Lancaster, William L. Nicholson, of St. Louis, Missouri; and Mrs. Charlotte L. Specht, of Delmar, California. W. L. Nicholson was unable to be present at the anniversary yesterday but his wife was present. Ten grandchildren were also present.

Mr. Nicholson was born at Harndsville, Somerset county, Pennsylvania, January 20, 1850, and is now 74 years old. Mrs. Nicholson was born in Knox county, Ohio, February 5, 1851 and is 73 years old. They came to California from St. Louis, Missouri, and during their married life have lived in Ohio, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri.

The rooms of the Nicholson home on East Acacia avenue were decorated to carry out a color scheme of gold and white. Streamers of gold colored crepe paper ornamented with gold leaves were strung across the room under which a table was set and dinner served. Two large wedding cakes were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson from St. Louis, Missouri, and were made by Mrs. J. M. Franz, a sister of Mrs. W. L. Nicholson, of St. Louis.

Guests Present

Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Scheide-man, of the First A. Nazarene church, were present, and Rev. Scheide-man gave an interesting talk, congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson on rounding out fifty years of blissful married life, and expressed the hope that they would be able to celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary later. Among those present at the gathering Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Cal S. Nicholson and children, Ruth, Eugene and Ellis; Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Wasson, Rev. and Mrs. H. A. High school pupils are reading "classics" in English classes. At least they amuse their teachers with pretensions of reading those assigned.

Much better that boys and girls of today read newspapers, as well as some magazines, and they should study the meaning of the words bringing daily intelligence to them.

This writer well remembers studying English in high school—and little did any of the class learn—because the authors of the works studied were dead and the days in which they lived died with them.

University work is noteworthy because it presents great living authorities on various subjects directly to students.

In the study of English modern newspapers do the same.

The Glendale Evening News reportorial staff, perhaps a little better than average, but typical of the majority of newspapers, is of equal quality to the faculties of high schools.

Several college graduates, boasting of degrees; others college trained; and still others who have gone through the university of hard knocks are to be found in this, as well as many modern newspaper offices.

There are regular contributors to popular fiction magazines among the newspapers' lists; there are grammarians and editors and linguists and publicists contributing to the daily grist; and yet the teachers of English do not recognize in them the value which really exists.

No doubt that is due to amateurs who essay to enter the editorial ranks without experience. Of course, they can be detected, like a counterfeit coin, and avoided.

Southern California has gone golf mad. There are more than sixty country clubs bidding for membership, each with golf as its principal attraction. Of a Santa Ana business man it is said:

"He would rather lace out a 225-yard drive than eat the most deliciously cooked morsel. A full faced mashie show that backs pins dead to the pin look better to him than an income tax refund does to a bankrupt reporter."

Now you know just how bad the golf bug bites.

THIEVES GET $10 LOOT AT LIBRARY

Small Change Is Taken From Counter; Gain Entrance By Breaking Window

The Glendale Public Library was entered some time Saturday night, and the small change drawers behind the upstairs and downstairs counters rifled. Lieutenant W. J. Royle of the police department, who made the investigation, discovered that entrance had been gained by breaking a window in the rear. After helping themselves to what they could find, the thieves walked through the building and left themselves out by the front door.

Approximately $10 was stolen, reports Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian. This includes $3.25 from the juvenile room downstairs, $4 from the main counter upstairs, and a little over $2 in fines. The thieves evidently stole no books, as Mrs. Danford has discovered none missing. Lieutenant Royle was unable to get satisfactory fingerprints, but is working on another clew.

District Attorney In Statement About Story

District Attorney Asa Keyes has requested The Glendale Evening News to publish the following signed statement, which is self-explanatory:

"A statement printed first in The Glendale Press and subsequently in The Los Angeles Times, and alleged to have been made by Chief of Police J. D. Fraser of Glendale, to the effect that my office has failed to co-operate with him in an abatement proceedings against the Glendale Tavern is false in its entirety.

"Chief of Police Fraser himself has written me declaring that the report that he had made the statement alleged is absolutely false and incorrect, and the true statement of the case is as follows:

"Mr. Fraser went first to the United States district attorney's office, where they were unable to handle the case, because of the illness of one of their deputies. Thereupon Mr. Fraser applied to me, and I instructed Deputy District Attorney Joos to take immediate action in conformance with the desires of Chief of Police Fraser.

"My office has always been anxious and ready to co-operate with all local police in every proper manner, and Mr. Fraser's letter to me bespeaks the success of our efforts.

"ASA KEYES,
District Attorney."

NOTED MUSIC FAMILY TO APPEAR

Famed Quartet Will Perform At Tuesday Afternoon Club Auditorium

The famous Zoellner family, banded together in the internationally known stringed quartet, and Victor Edmunds, noted tenor, will feature artists tomorrow night on the program at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse opening the year of the Glendale Music club.

While the club president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, recently returned from eastern and foreign travels is ill with a severe cold, and may not be able to be present tomorrow night, she is watching with interest the opening program and predicting for the club one of the most interesting years in its history. It had been planned to have a reception for Mrs. Jones following the program, but in case she is unable to be present the honor will be deferred to a later date.

Famous Quartet
 It is with great pleasure that the club members will greet the Zoellner quartet, including Antoinette, Amanda and Joseph Zoellner, violinists; and Joseph Zoellner, Jr., cellist. The Zoellners are world-famous artists in presenting chamber music. Their aim is to give chamber music a wide audience. They regard the string quartet as offering the most intimate personal appeal to an audience.

Mr. Edmunds, the tenor, is a young Welshman from Victoria, B. C. Critics have accorded him compliments won by America's greatest tenors. He will be assisted by Margaret Wilson, talented pianist and accompanist.

Membership and season tickets for the music club can be secured before and after the concert from Mrs. Warren, Roberts, treasurer.

Groups to Be Given
 Groups by the Zoellner quartet will be:

"Quartet, Opus 35". (1) Introduction and Fugue, Andante, Fugue Allegro Moderato. (2) Scherzo Allegro. (3) Orientale, Andante (Glazunow). (4) Adagio, Allegro non troppo (Sinding), by Antoinette Zoellner; Amanda Zoellner, violinist; Joseph Zoellner, Jr., pianist.

"Andantino" from "Quartet, Opus 10" (Debussy); "Schemen, Opus 25" from "Quartet Romanesque Serenade" (Jan Brandts Buys); "Andante Cantabile, Opus 11" (Tschaiikowsky).

Victor Edmunds' songs will be "The Dawn" (Pearl Curran), "The Star" (James Rogers), "O Paradiso" (L'Africana) (Meyerbeer), "For You Alone" (H. E. Geeth), "Phyllis Has Such Graces" and "Vesti La Giubba" (Pagliacci) (Leoncavallo).

Health Conditions to Be Discussion Topic

Dr. Gerhard Kaemmerling, Glendale health officer, will discuss general health conditions in Glendale, Wednesday afternoon at the meeting of the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations, at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., 247 North Orange street. Incorporated in his talk will be suggestions as to how mothers can co-operate in bettering the health of school children.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling will preside over the meeting, which will begin at 2:15 o'clock. There are numerous matters of business to be considered.

Announcement of the Federation's gift to the Y. M. C. A. drive will be made, and plans discussed for raising the $1000 pledged for a room. A report will be given on the traffic survey, being made by P. T. A. women. The committee on a place of meeting will also report.

Several from Glendale are to attend the First District conference October 23 at Whittier.

Forged Check Passed On Local Merchant

A bad check for $32.50 was cashed Saturday night by D. L. Larkin, manager of the Good Housekeeping shop at 140 South Brand boulevard. The check was No. 882 of Harry T. Courier, whose place of business is located at 1225 South San Fernando road. Mr. Courier had previously reported to local police headquarters the theft of a series of numbered checks from his office on Friday night. The stolen checks, all blank and unsigned, are given by him as follows: Nos. 790 to 795, inclusive, 905 to 810, inclusive, $44 to $50, inclusive, $80 to $90, inclusive, and $51 to $55 inclusive.

The person who forged Mr. Courier's name to Check No. 882 and cashed it at the Good Housekeeping shop is described by Mr. Larkin as Mexican, 5 feet 4 inches in height, 140 pounds in weight, black hair, dressed in a blue work shirt and khaki pants.

Man Reports Being Shot by Young Boys

The proprietor of the service station at the corner of San Fernando road and Goodwin street phoned to Glendale police headquarters Saturday afternoon that some boys firing a rifle in the neighborhood had shot him in the hand. As this territory is outside the Glendale city limits, the call was relayed to the Lincoln Heights station of the Los Angeles police department.

MOVING BIG CONDITIONS ORCHESTRA IS TASK IN EUROPE RELATED

Philharmonic Musicians Must Move From City to City During Season

The feat of transporting to Glendale for the concert at the Broadway High school auditorium the night of October 17 the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, with all its instruments, music racks and scores, is regarded by George U. Moyses, principal of the Glendale Union High school, as an operation worthy of special note. Few people realize that this great musical aggregation founded and guaranteed by W. A. Clark, Jr. plays some thirty-five concerts each season, in Southern California cities other than Los Angeles, Mr. Moyses states, and that these engagements frequently involve jumps and one-night stands reminiscent of traveling theatrical troupes.

Makes Long Jumps
 "One day last winter, for instance, the Philharmonic orchestra played afternoon and night at San Diego," says Mr. Moyses, "and the next afternoon played a concert at Pasadena, some 140 miles north. Another example of this is to be found in an evening concert given at Santa Barbara by the orchestra, and an afternoon concert the next day in San Bernardino, 160 miles away, with an evening concert that same day at Riverside."

"The people of Glendale realize without a doubt what an exceptional opportunity this is, on the night of October 17, to hear right in this city, one of the leading orchestras of the United States, and at such moderate rates that the Broadway High school auditorium will most certainly be packed."

Plan All-Day Meeting, First Baptist Church

Announcement is made that the women of the First Baptist church are to have the first all-day meeting of their union on Thursday. The morning will be devoted to sewing. After the noon luncheon, served by the first district, under Mrs. Emma Marsh, a program will be given on "Our American Indians." Mrs. Park Arnold is president of the union.

Mrs. A. M. Parker to Be Hostess at Meeting

Mrs. Archie M. Parker, president of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Episcopal church, will be hostess Wednesday afternoon at her home, 135 North Louise street, at a meeting of the auxiliary. Each one attending is asked to bring an item of missionary interest. Offerings will be received for the united orphans' boxes.

Elder J. M. McElhany Gives Illustrated Lecture on Trip Abroad

Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, who has recently returned from a tour of Europe in the interests of his church, gave a most interesting and instructive stereopticon lecture last night at the church on the corner of Isabel and California. He illustrated his lecture with pictures that he secured while on this trip, most of which he had taken himself. While abroad he visited Scandinavia, Germany, Russia and Italy, and a number of other countries.

In showing a picture of the Kaiser's castle, he called attention to the inscription over the portal, which reads, "Without sorrow, and has suffered so much himself! Germany has known what suffering is, especially since the war."

No Shoestrings
 "Our head physician in the Berlin sanitarium told me that during the war he was not able many times to afford a new pair of shoe strings, and often walked to see outside patients rather than pay the price of street car fare."

Some of his pictures showed the devastation of the war, which still stand as mute witnesses to the horrors of the war. One was of three workers in the Adventist cause, who had passed through serious experiences with the Bolshevik government in Russia. The father of one had been shot for daring to own a factory, another had been imprisoned, but miraculously escaped.

Third Is Spared
 The third had been brought before Lenin, who said upon hearing the charge against him, "I will have you shot right now." The young man then in few words made reply, and was ordered before another official. That official returned him to Lenin, who then gave him his liberty. "Friends," said the speaker, "the days of miracles are not yet passed, and the accounts of miraculous deliverances of many of our brethren in Europe, show that the God of the Apostles still lives. The remarkable deliverances recorded in the book of Acts do not surpass many of those that our brethren in Europe have experienced."

M. Gannon Back From Three-Weeks' Journey

Southern California will return to normal when the middle west returns to normal, declared M. Gannon of the Glendale Realty Co. of 131 1/2 South Brand boulevard, on his return this morning from a three weeks' business trip through Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

Mr. Gannon left Glendale September 14, on personal business for Cameron D. Thom, president of the Glendale Realty Co., and during his trip closed three important realty deals, according to Mr. Thom.

"Prices are up and crops are good, not only in Iowa but throughout the middle west," said Mr. Gannon. "The country looks as good this fall as I have ever seen it, with money pouring into the cities by the millions. I look for a great immigration to Southern California this fall and winter from that section. Des Moines, Ia., and North Platte, Neb., look good, but none of those middle western cities are growing like the cities of Southern California."

Mr. Gannon was accompanied by Mrs. Gannon and their son, James.

Gas Service for New Canyon Road Sought

Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who returned from a four months' trip to Europe last week, in a communication to the Southern California Gas Co., expresses his surprise that gas mains were not provided on the Sycamore canyon road before the recent work of paving was completed. Dr. Harrower asks that service be given there now as he knows it is desired. The communication to the gas company follows:

"I have just returned from Europe and have discovered, to my disgust and astonishment, that Sycamore canyon road is paved and that there are no gas pipes. There has been standing upon this road for some months a house waiting for this particular thing to happen, and I am presuming I may have been misinformed—that once more your esteemed company has arranged things so that a perfectly good, new road has got to be torn up. I can quite understand why Shakespeare, Roosevelt, or whoever it was, said 'What fools these mortals be.'"

Please consider this both an invitation to extend your mains to 125 North Sycamore canyon road, and a sincere, and, I believe, well-merited criticism of your attitude in this matter."

Official of Foresters To Live In Glendale

T. C. Harvey, district deputy to the supreme court, Independent Order of Foresters, has come to Glendale to reside at 125 South Sycamore canyon road, and is interesting himself now in forming a Glendale court. PRAISE CAST OF CLEVER COMEDY

Large Audiences Enjoy Show Presented by Dobinson Players Nightly

Smiling, happy and satisfied is the audience as it leaves the lobby of the Tuesday Afternoon club playhouse at Lexington drive and Central avenue, where the Dobinson players are presenting the snappy comedy, "A Prince There Was," George M. Cohan's breezy play.

Those who have witnessed the performance are outspoken in their praise of the company, and while each of the players is considered equally good, no small part of its success is due to the clever acting of Marie Grey as Comfort, William H. Stephens as Carruthers, Thyrta Ruhlman as Mrs. Prouty and George C. Pearce as Crickett. John Vosburgh as the Prince and Gertrude Kellar as Miss Woods are admirable in their roles.

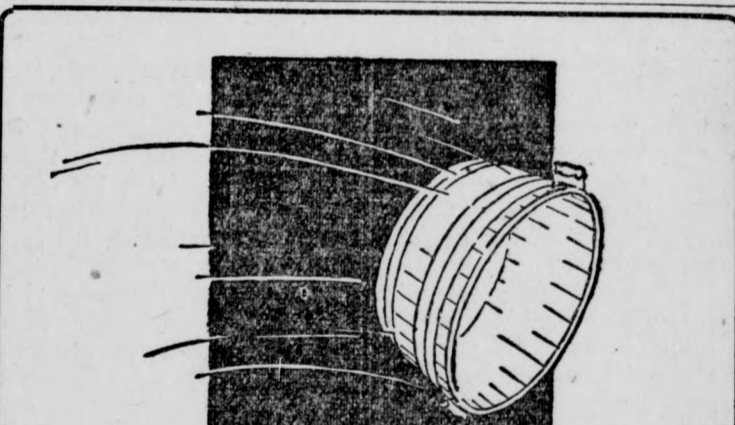

Mary Isabelle Alpaugh as Gladys Prouty and Richard Elbers as Shorty, the "movin' pitcher" actor, have won their way into the hearts of all who have witnessed their splendid performance.

College Students
 It is seldom that a stock company has such a group of college bred people as is the case among the Dobinson players.

Miss Alpaugh and Gertrude Rohlman are Westlake school girls, William H. Stephens, Carroll Nye and Harry Glazier were Southern Branch U. C. students and Richard Elbers is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, where he was associated with the players for two years.

Eagle Rock Merchants To Welcome Realtors

Eagle Rock merchants are making elaborate plans for receiving the realtors' caravan, which is to pass through that city at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night, en route to the state convention in Pasadena. Stores are to be brilliantly lighted and the Eagle Rock realtors are to form a double line of gaily decorated automobiles. As the caravan passes between these lines the Eagle Rock realtors will present each car with freshly cut dahlias, the city's flower.

The WASHTUB... Something you're glad to tell "Good-bye"

There is no woman who does not enjoy saying "good-bye" to the wash-tub. And there is no need for any woman to even have one about the house. For our Wet Wash Service does all the washing and returns your bundle, fragrantly clean, ready to starch, iron or hang out to dry. When you see how well it is done and how little it costs—that is when you'll say "good-bye" to the wash-tub forever.

DISCONTENT—
Has always been a robber.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS

The announcement that thirty-six fine dancing horses belonging to a circus had been burned to death in a freight car in which they were being transported, brought exclamations of pity from everyone who read of the incident. Every right-minded person loves a beautiful horse, and the thought of such noble beasts suffering such agony is horrible.

Many people who would not wilfully cause any animal suffering are very careless with their pets and negligent and cruel in their treatment of strays. If we could realize all that dumb animals about us suffer, from hunger, thirst, fear and cruel treatment, we should be appalled.

A great many people love pets, but do not know how to take care of them. Canaries or other caged birds are left hanging in the window for hours at a time, where the glass collects and intensifies the heat and the glaring light of the sun, and the tiny sufferer has no way of escape. Dogs and cats are often left to provide their own food, and when they seek it in the only available place, the garbage can, they are stoned away and the can covered tightly. Families go away for a day, a week or a month or longer and leave their pets unprovided for, and while they are home they do not always feed them regularly or provide sufficient cool water for them during the hot summer months.

A boy who went to France in one of the crowded transports during the war says it is almost more than he can bear to see chickens hauled about in the low crowded crates that are used to take them to market, for he knows just how they feel. We should be more kind to dumb animals if we had a little first-hand knowledge of the way it feels to be hungry, thirsty, cruelly treated and afraid for our lives.

In every city there are a great many stray cats and dogs. We can sidestep our responsibility by stoning them away from our premises so that they will be afraid to come near us again, but the problem still remains. It is so much kinder to humanely dispose of such animals than to chase them away to starve. While nearly every city has a dog pound, the poor brutes are very rarely treated kindly or disposed of humanely at such places.

The action taken by the Glendale Humane society to provide a home to care for stray animals is a step that should be heartily encouraged. Everyone has a responsibility toward these homeless animals and every self-respecting community should provide for their care or merciful disposal.

BLAMING THE GOVERNMENT

It is so easy to blame the government, the times and conditions, when we ourselves are at fault. A certain man is always railing at the government because he doesn't get along any better. Although he works hard he is what might be termed shiftless. He knows nothing of system or management, and he makes many fruitless moves. The government, and especially the president of the United States, is to blame because he is poor.

If this man could only see himself as he is, and squarely face the truth that nowhere in the world could he have the chance to make good that he has right here in the United States; if he could take stock of himself and see where his failure lies, there is no reason why he should not become successful in his work. But, he has become so accustomed to believe that malign influences are working against him, that he is losing his grip more and more.

It is too bad that people with obsessions like this cannot visit some of the countries where the working people are really ground down and have no opportunity to advance themselves. They would look at their own circumstances in a far different light if this could be so.

THE GREAT AMERICAN GAME

Baseball has always been characterized as the cleanest of sports, but when baseball becomes the basis of gambling and bribery, it is time that the term, "the great American game" should pass to some other sport.

Already it is predicted that golf is going to assume this high honor, although the interest of the masses of the people in the results of the world series would not seem to indicate this. Boys, it is said, are graduating from caddyding into players, and make such a good showing, due to the natural aptitude of youth for sports, that other boys are following their example and taking up the game, and the links are replacing the baseball lot. But golf has one disadvantage in competing with baseball. The latter can be played in the back yard, the vacant lot or the street.

Baseball is a splendid game and almost a tradition in this country. It is a shame that the game should be abused by a few.

BRYAN WAS IN ERROR

William Jennings Bryan, throughout the Democratic convention, used all his power and influence to prevent the nomination of John W. Davis. He circulated handbills among the delegates making charges against Mr. Davis. His fight was bitter and prolonged. He said, "You might as well nominate J. Pierpont Morgan as John W. Davis."

A few days ago Mr. Bryan told an audience at San Bernardino that he had gone on the "presumption" that Mr. Davis had been corrupted by his Wall street connection. But, after he and his brother, Charles W. Bryan, had called upon Mr. Davis, he found that his judgment was in error and that Mr. Davis had "come through the fire of Wall street without even the smell of smoke on his garments."

That Mr. Bryan could learn so much in one short interview and that he could right-about-face so easily and readily indicates an ability that should have carried him much further than he has gone in politics.

HAPPINESS WITHIN

There is a great striving these days for the things that perish, for the physical evidences of success—wealth, fame and pleasure. Happiness, many seem to think, depends upon money, jazz music and a motor car. But, happiness and success are not tangible, and they cannot be measured in tangible things.

Elihu Root told the students of Hamilton college in Clinton, N. Y., recently that no man is truly happy who must depend upon outside things for his happiness. "The development of your inner faculties constitutes true success," he said. "Power, wealth and fame, each in itself, is nothing."

TWO'S COMPANY—

Rest

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A man's recreation and rest should be planned for as intelligently as his more forth-putting moments. Otherwise he will find himself swamped by his leisure time.

One should look ahead for his moments of recreation, as he knows that all life is but movement, and all movement is but rhythmical. The strength of a man's blow which he puts out is in proportion to the length and quality of the rest that he puts behind it.

The best rest, always, is a change of occupation. Those who are of sedentary habits should plan for a rest of physical activity and those of active physical occupation should plan more for a rest of quietude.

The subject goes deeper and there is a spiritual rest as well as a mental and physical rest. The wise man of old said: "He went away from God in order to find God."

Unless there be some low in our spiritual activities there can be no high tide. Unless there be a time when we simply lie fallow and let the waves of idleness overcome us there can be no time of full time when we put forth the last increment of strength.

The sun, in its daily journey, is the teacher of mankind. It sinks to rest once every twenty-four hours. So mankind has each day portioned out the title and power of life, for these days can only remain full as they are filled with nights of repose and duly alternated by them.

Perfect rest is a sign of strength and not of weakness. One who can sleep well, as a usual thing, stronger than one who sleeps fitfully. All of us know that a condition of nerves which prevents us from sleeping is also a condition which prevents our full activities when awake.

The only foundation of the life of action, therefore, is a life that is duly interrupted by periods of rest.

He, therefore, who knows how to rest well has learned the first lesson of efficiency.

Horoscope

Mercury in benefic aspect rules this day, according to astrology. Mars and Uranus also are friendly. It is above all else a time most auspicious for advertising and publicity of every sort.

Under this rule not only is the advertiser able to make the best of his stock in trade, whether it be merchandise or talents, but the public mind is supposed to be exceedingly sensitive to suggestion.

This is a day when the persuasive powers of men should be especially effective and for that reason political orators and workers should benefit.

The public mind is supposed to be more open at this time than in previous weeks, but this is necessarily not favorable to candidates as much listening to arguments may cause confusion.

Some sort of sensation may be expected the last week of October when many scandals will be discussed.

Revelations regarding the drug traffic are to bring trouble to persons hitherto shielded, it is prophesied.

Astrologers warn that it will be wise not to count on precedent in business or politics, for surprises little suspected are in store for the people.

Religious discussions and even wars are prognosticated, for many of the seers believe that we are now entering the new heaven and new earth under the Universal Church of Aquarius.

Under this planetary rule business should be fairly good in view of approaching election conditions, but it will be wise to avoid speculation.

The first three weeks of this month should be rather mild in most sections of the country, but about the twenty-third bad weather may be expected.

November is to be marked by great activity among merchants who deal in artistic things and pictures should have an unusual sale.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a profitable year and there may be an unexpected journey that will be very lucky.

Children born on this day probably will be quick and highstrung. Many subjects of Libra have great mechanical ability.

To test in July the effects of winter upon automobiles, one automobile concern has an ice box large enough to house a car.

Today's Poem

WATER DOLOROSA
I'd a dream tonight
As I fell asleep,
O! the touching sight
Makes me still to weep!
Of my little lad,
Gone to leave me sad,
Ay, the child I had,
But was not to keep.

As in heaven high
I my child did seek,
There in train came by
Children fair and meek,
Each in lily white,
With a lamp alight;
Each was clear to sight,
But they did not speak.

Then, a little sad,
Came my child in turn,
But the lamp he had,
O it did not burn!
He, to clear my doubt,
Said, half-turned about,
"Your tears put it out;
"Mother, never mourn."

ILLUSTRATED WORD
A Scottish farmer, being elected to the school board, visited the village school and tested the intelligence of the class by the question:

"Now, boys, can any of you tell me what naething is?"
After a moment's silence a small boy in a back seat rose.

"It's what ye g'd me the other day for holdin' yer horse."

NEEDED EXPLANATION
Horace was sent to his room as a punishment for taking forbidden cake from the cupboard. His mother, thinking to make his punishment more impressive, went to his room and, after all was forgiven, said:

"Now, Horace, what did I punish you for?"
Horace looked at her in amazement and his face wore a pained expression.

"Well, mummie," he replied, "I like that! Here I have been kept in bed all the afternoon and now you don't know what you did it for!"

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1828

The political storm which had risen above the horizon with the election of John Quincy Adams gathered force all through the administration of that calm and dignified scholar and gentleman, and burst with fury as his term of office approached its end. In fact the campaign for the presidency in 1828 began as soon as Adams had taken his seat in 1824, by the nomination of Andrew Jackson by the legislature of Tennessee. Adams, who naturally desired a re-election and tried to deserve it, was violently attacked. He was accused of being an aristocrat while Jackson was called the "friend of the people." His government was asserted to be one of reckless extravagance, nearly $14,000,000 having been spent in one year. Once more there were two political parties in the country. The Republican party split into the Democratic Republicans, the friends of Jackson, and the National Republicans, the friends of Adams. The former gradually dropped the Republican part of the name and became just Democrats. Adams had, in the course of his administration, removed only two office-holders, and those for cause. Jackson pronounced the dogma that "to the victors belong the spoils." John C. Calhoun joined the Democrats. The drums of New Orleans were beaten strenuously. Jackson appealed to "the plain people" and not in vain for, when the electoral votes were counted, he had 178 against 83 for Adams. Most of the states had by now come to choose electors by popular vote and in those states over 1,155,000 votes were cast, of which Jackson had 647,276. The election of Jackson was a great upheaval, not only the formation of a new political party but the introduction of new ideas and new methods in the conduct of government. Before he became a military hero by winning the battle of New Orleans, Jackson had held with credit many important civil positions. He helped frame the constitution of Tennessee, was that state's first representative in Congress, twice United States senator and judge of the supreme court of his state. But all his civil distinction paled in the glory of New Orleans and is generally forgotten today. Neither Jackson nor Adams were nominated by a congressional caucus. "King Caucus" was as dead as the federalist party had been for some time, and as the old Republican party was about to become, John C. Calhoun was elected to the vice-presidency by practically the same vote as that received by Jackson.

News Of Glendale Churches

C. E. SOCIETY HAS FINE GATHERING

New Head of Presbyterian Organization Conducts First Meeting

"Intermediate Christian Endeavor for Christ and the Church" was the topic of the meeting last night of the society of that name at the First Presbyterian church, the meeting being conducted by the organization's new president, Harold Parker. Followed by a plan recently adopted which embodies the study of a part or all of the pledge at consecration meetings, which occur the first Sunday in the month, the I. C. E. Pledge was discussed by four of the young people. At the call for participation, many members signified their eagerness to take harder for Christ and the church during this new term.

Plan High School Night

Particular stress was given to the announcement of the Intermediate meeting for the following Sunday, to be held at the usual time, 6 p. m. A special "High School Night" service will take place, to which are invited the High School Cabinet and all students of the local high school. Ronald West, former Student Body President and captain of last year's victorious football team of the local high school and now an active member of the organization, will take charge of the service, the theme of which is "The Greatest Book in the World, the Bible."

The executive committee of the society held an enthusiastic meeting at the home of Howard L. Brown, 406 North Maryland, Saturday evening, at 7:30. With all of the officers present, a most desirable period of communion and discussion was enjoyed. Considerable attention was given in planning for the "Be Ye Doers" contest of the State C. E. Union, which the society has entered and is striving to win. The contest, after the manner of a point system, sums up in detail the achievement and efficiency of the society, extending through the month of May.

Boys to Organize

Under the leadership of Ronald West, director of boys, the boys of the society are planning to get together Sunday, October 19, at 5:00 p. m., for the purpose of organizing into a boys' unit. Many good times in the way of hikes and athletic contests are expected.

The new Junior Intermediate society of the church held its initial meeting yesterday afternoon, at 4:30 p. m. The need of an organization for young people of ages twelve, thirteen and fourteen resulted in the forming of this organization, which is to be under the supervision of Daryl Parker and Dorothy Terry as superintendents, and which will meet at the church each Sunday at 4:30 p. m.

Dr. J. J. Sims Conducts Service at Tabernacle

The meetings held at the Gospel Tabernacle church, Louise and Chestnut streets, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, attracted large crowds. Rev. C. H. Chrisman was fortunate in securing Dr. J. J. Sims and party from England to conduct the services. Picture sermons were given at 7:30 each evening and on the last day of the series of meetings, three services were held. The Bible class was conducted by Rev. Chrisman, Wednesday night, his topic being, "The Undesigned Coincidences of the Bible as a Proof of Inspiration."

New Pastor for First Methodist Church Here

Rev. Lincoln Ferris, formerly of San Diego and well known in church circles here, preached his first sermon as pastor of the First Methodist church in Glendale Sunday. Rev. Ferris had not planned to be here for some weeks, but made announcement the latter part of last week that he would come early and a good sized crowd was out to hear him on his first appearance here.

Plan Reception for Pastor Leaving Church

The Aid society of the First Methodist church is planning for a reception to be tendered to the outgoing pastor, Dr. H. I. Rasmus, Sr., and for the new pastor, Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, of San Diego, and the assistant pastor, H. I. Rasmus, Jr., and their wives. The exact date of the reception has not yet been decided upon.

APPOINTED PASTOR

Rev. J. C. Livingston, who was reappointed as pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, is entering into his fourth year in charge of that congregation. Rev. Livingston attended the annual conference of the Methodist church of Southern California at Santa Barbara last week.

TRAINING CLASS

A six weeks' class in training for Christian service will start at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the First Baptist church. The class is open for both old and young and a good turnout is urged.

'PATIENCE' USED AS SERMON TOPIC

Dr. H. C. Funk Gives First of Series of Lessons at First Lutheran

Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the First Lutheran church, gave the first of a series of sermons on "Old Fashioned Virtues" yesterday. He spoke on the subject of "Patience" at the morning service and said in part: "Fortunate for us, the patience of the Almighty is without bound. This one attribute of God is amazing to me. He is never in a hurry, for He can wait. But we poor mortals are so impatient that we cannot wait another minute. "The days referred to in the Scriptures were evidently creative periods. The geological indications are that it took a long time to prepare this old earth of ours and fit place for the habitation of man, and that God was in no hurry to get it ready, either. "No things that are done in a hurry do not last; they are like the chaff which the wind driveth away. The oak is of a slow growth, but it endures for more than a century. "The farmer must toil and patiently wait for years to produce a fruit-bearing orchard. Moreover, the business man must plan and trade with much patience build up his trade. People may find fault and criticize and dull seasons will try his soul, yet all things come to him who is willing to work and wait. "Ye have need of patience," said the apostle, and that is especially true of the home. I'm not surprised that the mother of a large family should sometimes lose her patience. Is it any wonder? Our Heavenly Father has an awful big family and He is called the God of patience."

Annual Rally Day at Baptist Church Held

The annual rally day, with promotions in the Sunday school, was held at the First Baptist church yesterday. Thirty-four children were promoted from the primary department to the junior department, each of the thirty-four being presented with an American revision Bible. Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor of the church, spoke on "The Church, the Body of Christ," and in his discourse stated that as the body was made up of many members, so the church was dependent on the members to do their share of work. The Lord's Supper was served, Sunday being Communion day. M. C. Barnard of Pasadena, was the speaker at the B. Y. P. U. meeting held at 6:30 o'clock and took as his topic, "Samson, the Giant, Out-gianted." Rev. Ford spoke at the church services at 7:30 o'clock and took as his topic, "Being Ready."

WORLD'S NEED IS TOPIC OF SERMON

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Talks On Reproducing Calvary In Time to Come

Using as a basis for his address First John 3:16, Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church held the interest and attention of a large audience on Sunday morning. The gist of the sermon is as follows: "Perhaps it would be well to designate this subject as 'Commandments of the Cross.' This means that people who represent Christ on earth must meet Him at Calvary, not to sing hymns or recite liturgies, not exploiting of a creed or subscribing to dogmas. They are to meet Him there, to die with Him, to match His passion with sacrifice. 'Hereby know we the love of God, because He laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.' Thus the world is to be saved. It is a cheap diagnosis that finds nothing more heroic in Calvary than exemption. It means walking the thorny path with the Son of God. The only road to Life leads past a Grave. The holy communion would keep this in everlasting remembrance. Christ's death is always with us. 'We ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren.' Are there many who will say: 'We are ready?' Peter said: 'I will die for Thee.' Unless there be some today to say and mean it, the world is lost. "Another side is that man is more completely in possession of material forces than ever before. His discoveries have wrested from Nature her profoundest secrets. Inventions have harnessed sea, land and sky, and made them his servants. What is there that he cannot do? He can rule anything, yes, anything, but himself. One does not need to be very wise to realize that there is very little hope of saving the world through man's mastery of nature and science, trade and invention. Sometimes more is needed to straighten this crooked world, to shame its lust and stay its selfishness, to conquer hate and implant good will. What is it? "It is not found short of Calvary. We are always with us. We need then the Cross. We need then the eyes of Calvary to see men as Christ saw men from His uplifted Cross. With such a vision, such a passion, the old world will begin to mend. We need the heart of Calvary that we may feel toward men as He felt toward them. He did not fear nor hate them; he loved them. He could have come down from the Cross. Love kept Him there. We need the passion of Christ. Then we shall do for men what Christ did for them. This is the challenge that the great throws at the church. Can we reproduce Calvary? "The church has today its biggest opportunity since Calvary. The world is sick. The church has the only remedy. But it requires more than organization—more than machinery and publicity. Back of these must be men who are comrades of the Cross. "Can the twentieth century reproduce Calvary? It can raise money; hold big conventions; arouse enthusiasm; but can it lay down its life for men? Can it produce men who deliberately elect to remain poor, content with obscurity, who are willing to wait for results and, if need be, to die with the nails in the hands and the thorns on the brow that the world may see Him?"

Sees Abolishment of Hanging Law in State

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Determined to abolish capital punishment in California, members and officials of the Anti-Capital Punishment League of California considered plans for amending the present law following their reorganization meeting here, at which officers were selected. Assemblyman Ray Fellom declared that countrywide figures show capital punishment is no deterrent to crime. Prospects for enactment of a law banning hanging were better than ever before, he said, because of the Loch-Leopold murder case sentence, which had convinced the people generally that only the poor are sentenced to death. Officers chosen were: Milton Marks, assistant city attorney, president; Mrs. H. B. Harpoil, secretary; Mrs. M. B. Hamilton, treasurer; Mrs. Mabel Dora First, vice-president; Mark E. Noon, former secretary of the state board of prison directors, second vice-president; Julian H. Also, third vice-president, and Miss Suzanne Dean, fourth vice-president. A fifth vice-president will be selected from Southern California, it was announced.

Last of Noted 'Cardiff Giant' Owners Is Dead

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The last survivor of that group which exploited the famous Cardiff giant is dead at his home in Utica, Benjamin A. Son, one of the owners of the colossal figure of a "petrified prehistoric man," which astounded the nation more than half a century ago, died, never shaken in his belief that the great effigy was a true specimen of real humanity, turned to stone by the action of the elements and time. Son was the last of the seven original owners and promoters of the famous giant. Over half a century ago, when W. C. Newell, Cardiff farmer, "unearthed" the now famous giant, a friend offered Son a sixteenth ownership in it. Son realized its possibilities and invested $500 for a one-sixteenth interest. The subsequent exploitation of the statue doubled Son's investment many times.

Expect Shenandoah to Arrive Saturday Night

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 6.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah, scheduled to leave Lakehurst, N. J., tomorrow, is expected to arrive here next Saturday night instead of Friday night, it was announced today by Captain T. T. Craven, commandant of North Island, who said everything was ready here to receive the big "daughter of the skies."

Minister Association To Meet Wednesday

Glendale ministers are to meet at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Central Christian church for the first gathering of the Glendale Ministerial association after vacation days. Rev. J. C. Livingston, president, announces that there will be election of officers.

Santa Ana Observing Fire Prevention Week

SANTA ANA, Oct. 6.—Fire prevention work is being observed here with fervor. Sunday saw the public as a whole, doesn't appreciate the tremendous forward strides being made in aviation circles." Captain Rickenbacker said. "Ample proof of this is evidenced by the success of the American fliers who encircled the globe, a feat that would have been scoffed at a few years ago."

BRUNDEGE IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—"Doctor, how are your diplomas today?" Harry Brundege, St. Louis news sleuth who revealed the workings of the medical diploma mills, is at the Alexandria hotel. The youth will be here ten days. He spent a similar time in Boston and Chicago and elsewhere and promptly numerous M. D.'s lost their licenses. "I am on a vacation here," he said. Perhaps there are doctors who pray he doesn't show symptoms of sleuthing.

ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH OCCURS

Broadway Methodist Holds Celebration In Honor Of Annual Event

The Broadway Methodist church celebrated their first anniversary in their new home yesterday when Rev. L. J. Millikan delivered a sermon on "That Closer Tried." The Broadway church moved into the present building a year ago, the location being formerly occupied by the Presbyterian church. During the year just passed the church has enjoyed great happiness under the direction of Rev. Millikan and they are looking forward to even greater success in the year to come. Epworth league meeting was held at 6:30 followed by song service, in charge of E. C. Millikan and a sermon by the pastor on the anniversary of the church. Special music featured both the morning and evening services.

Gilbert, the former under-secretary of the treasury, who at 32 has been given the most conspicuous financial assignment in the world, will marry Miss Louise Ross Todd, daughter of James Ross Todd, Kentucky capitalist, is prominent in southern and Washington society. She was a bridesmaid at the recent wedding of the Hon. John Francis Amherst Cecil, son of Lord William Cecil, to Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt. She is an expert horsewoman and is also an adept in other sports.

C. S. Berry, Formerly Of Illinois, Comes Here

One of Glendale's newest residents and most loyal boosters is C. S. Berry, who has taken a home for his family at 1319 East Broadway. Mr. Berry, formerly of Rochelle, Ill., is a long-time friend of A. T. Cowan, owner and publisher of The Glendale Evening News, and they had the pleasure of renewing their friendship this morning when Mr. Berry paid The Evening News office a short visit. Mr. Berry, who for ten years has been associated with the Equitable Life Insurance company, has been representing that company for the past two years in Orange county. He has now been placed in charge of a territory including Glendale and Burbank. His headquarters are the Equitable Life Insurance Co. offices in Los Angeles. "I am delighted with Glendale as a home city," says Mr. Berry, and am most interested in seeing the splendid organization of The Glendale Evening News."

Supreme Court Sets Contempt Proceedings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—At the request of the government, the United States supreme court today advanced for argument the case of M. S. Daugherty of Washington Court House, Ohio, charged with contempt of the supreme court for refusing to permit the Wheeler-Brookhart investigating committee to examine the books of his bank. The examination was desired in connection with the investigation of the department of justice under Harry M. Daugherty.

Australian Appeal Is Dismissed by Consent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The United States supreme court today dismissed by common consent the appeal made by the commonwealth of Australia for a review of federal court decisions in the state of Washington by which Australian lost a damage suit for $1,000,000 brought by the Patterson Macdonald shipbuilding concern.

Little Interest Shown

Talking with various leaders here, one gets the impression that the status quo will be maintained so far as Utah is concerned, no matter what the rest of the nation does. The campaign thus far has excited little interest, but it is always the case until the last half of October. The gubernatorial race offers opportunity for an upset, however, as the Democratic nominee, George Dern, has the support of the La Follette group. It will be an interesting test of strength, incidental.

Newspaper Information

The Evening News is indeed proud of its large paid in advance list of subscribers. Every mail brings in many remittances for a year, six months or three months' subscription. The Evening News is not regularly delivered to any address free of charge. If you do wish the paper after the date to which you have paid your subscription, you should order it stopped, as under the law, publishers are not allowed to use the mails for the distribution of papers, the subscriptions of which have not been paid.

Wins Beauty For Bride

MISS LOUISE ROSS TODD, Kentucky beauty and daughter of a capitalist, who will soon become the wife of SEYMOUR PARKER GILBERT, JR., shown in the inset. Gilbert has been given the most important financial assignment in the world. He is permanent agent general of the allied reparations commission.

D. Lawrence Says President Will Get Majority of Votes In State

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924
OGDEN, Utah, Oct. 6.—This is one of the two states which stood the gauntlet in 1912 and stood loyally by Taft against Roosevelt, so it would take a real upheaval to upset the conservative Republican strength here. While Senator La Follette has many friends in this section, principally those who think he is a Progressive, the votes to be cast for the Wisconsin senator are ordinarily Democrats, so that a plurality for Calvin Coolidge, if not a straight majority, seems assured. The protective tariff and Reed Smoot are two institutions in Utah and the people do not appear disposed to disturb either. As one prominent Democrat expressed it, "What doubt can there be about Utah so long as wool, lead and sugar need protection?" So much does Utah feel the need of a protective tariff that here as in Wyoming the Democrats can make no headway unless they, too, come out for protection of home industries. And with Mr. Smoot chairman of the all-important senate finance committee, the industrial chieftains and farmers feel doubly protected. They will need it as there may be a drive against the tariff in the next couple of years if the insurgents and Democrats continue their coalition in congress. "Mormons Not Radical But, while the tariff is a vital question in Utah, there are other reasons why this state is conservative. The Mormon people are not radicals. They believe in progress but they do not want to chance an uncertainty for a certainty. In 1916 Utah went Democratic by a substantial majority. The peace sentiment was an influential factor, but basically the people of Utah were satisfied with the administration in power and did not clamor for a change. In 1920, as the vicissitudes of war developed an era of economic readjustment, Utah joined the general clamor for change in the hope that things might grow better. The reconstruction period has left Utah with some scars, but by and large there is a steady improvement in agriculture as well as mining. And precisely because the curve of improvement is upward there is little disposition here to swap horses in midstream. Talking with various leaders here, one gets the impression that the status quo will be maintained so far as Utah is concerned, no matter what the rest of the nation does. The campaign thus far has excited little interest, but it is always the case until the last half of October. The gubernatorial race offers opportunity for an upset, however, as the Democratic nominee, George Dern, has the support of the La Follette group. It will be an interesting test of strength, incidental.

ly, for, if a Republican is elected governor of Utah, it will have to be by a majority of the votes cast. A landslide for Coolidge in this state would help the state Republican ticket, and the Republican managers really look for it. The President is not the popular figure that Taft or Harding or even Wilson was in this state, but the people have come to regard Calvin Coolidge as a safe and sane man, utterly honest and conscientious. That kind of a public servant can as a rule count on the support of Utah, if he is in office, as against the pleas of another candidate. In other words, all things being equal, the party in power is the favorite, and it takes a real issue to produce a change in Utah's electoral vote.

COMMUNITY LOYALTY—COMMUNITY LOYALTY—COMMUNITY LOYALTY—COMMUNITY SERVICE—COMMUNITY SERVICE—COMMUNITY LOYALTY—COMMUNITY LOYALTY—COMMUNITY LOYALTY

Community Growth is in direct ratio with loyalty of the Community.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

Keeping money at home is one of the greatest aids to Community development.

Realizing the Great Community Development Truth that a City Grows exactly as its Business and Merchandising Institutions Grow, these firms have given their hearty endorsement to the movement for co-operation between Glendale merchants and Glendale consumers

Business Man Has Peculiar Part to Play in Community Development

Community development is a big question today, one that is being considered by cities and villages over the country. Like most big things it is made up of smaller things, the Community Loyalty and the Community Pride of its citizens, and is in direct ratio to the quality of this loyalty and pride.

The business and professional people and the workers in any city have a special and peculiar part in any movement for Community development. If a city has no first-class stores, and if its professional men and women are not highly skilled, it is difficult for the city to grow. So the business and professional people must always be to the fore in any movement for Community development.

It is easy for Mr. Average Citizen to advocate and practice Community Loyalty, for that is all he has to do—be loyal and do the things that loyalty implies. But the merchant must set his own house in order before he begins to ask for co-operation. He has to make his business attractive from every standpoint; he has to have a metropolitan store before he can ask the citizen to build a metropolis and give him a metropolitan trade.

Glendale is fortunate in having business men and women who see clearly their duty to their patrons and their prospective patrons; men and women who do not shirk their own task. The firms represented on this page have pledged their efforts in Community building and now they do not hesitate to ask every citizen to take the same pledge.

Community Building is a big effort, but one easy of accomplishment when each one does his part. There is no better way to aid Community growth and bring about a Greater Glendale than by keeping our money at home.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURES PRESENTED HERE

EZRA W. PALMER, C. S. B., OF DENVER, COLO., IN ADDRESS

Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church of Boston, Mass., Speaks at Local Church Sunday Afternoon

Ezra W. Palmer, C. S. B., of Denver, Colorado, member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., gave a free lecture on Christian Science in the local church, Maryland and California, Sunday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock. The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. L. V. Martin, first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Glendale. The lecture follows:

I am going to begin this lecture by asking you a question. What evidence has each of you of your existence? I am inclined to believe that in answer to that question the majority of you would say, I know that I exist. I am aware of the fact that I am conscious and have a state of being. That answer has been accepted by thinkers generally. They agree that existence for each of us is a state of consciousness and that without conscious knowing existence would be a blank. It was Descartes who formulated the statement, "I know, therefore I am." Since every person is conscious, it is pertinent to ask, What are we conscious of? Because if we are conscious we must be conscious of something. Are we today in a darkened, painful state of consciousness? Are we conscious of fear, pain, ill health, or poverty? Are we in that state of mind in which latent fears are ready to spring into conscious thought at the first suggestion of evil or adversity? Or do we have a deepened faith in God, a consciousness of His ever present protection and power which enables us to be peaceful and harmonious? Despite all the assaults of evil? Furthermore, does our state of consciousness have any relation to our environment? Is there, for instance, any relation between fear and ill health, between a fearful state of mind and disasters which may apparently come from without? And, conversely, does a harmonious, peaceful state of mind manifest outwardly in health, peace, and freedom? These theories, which I will discuss on these questions, but Christian Science makes clear that the mental state of the individual is manifested outwardly in sickness or health, poverty or plenty, discord or harmony. On page 411 "Science and Health" under the title "The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science," says of disease, "Disease is always induced by a false sense mentally entertained, not destroyed. Disease is an image of thought externalized. The mental state is called a material state. Whatever is cherished in mortal mind as the physical condition is imaged forth on the body."

The patriarch Job met with a series of disasters. Apparently they came like thunderbolts out of a clear sky, and to the casual observer disaster did not appear to be there was any relation between these disasters and Job's state of mind. But after Job had had time to view the wreck and think out the sequence of events he evidently came to the conclusion that there was a relation between the disasters and his fearful state of mind. He said, "The thing which I greatly feared is come upon me." In other words, Job saw that the fear hidden in his thought had finally objectified itself in the disasters which had befallen him. Science makes clear that we live in a mental world, and that all problems which present themselves are fundamentally mental problems, whether the problem be to operate a railroad, to build a bridge, to heal a patient of disease. It shows, for instance, that disease is a wrong state of mind, — a mental picture which has become objectified on the body. When we apply these conclusions to our daily affairs and see that we arrive at it. You will recall that I stated earlier that we cannot entertain in thought at the same time two distinctly opposite states of consciousness. When we are conscious of Love, we cannot be conscious of hate. Knowing these facts, Jesus said, "Whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." In other words, whosoever is conscious of Love, God can never be overcome by death. Life's opposite, the consciousness of the ever-presence of divine Love and Love's ideas constitutes the kingdom of heaven, which Jesus declared is within us. In this kingdom is no beginning or ending; no birth, no death. God's children always have existed in it and always will.

At this juncture you may ask, Do you mean to arrive at the conclusion that men and women can here on earth become so clearly conscious of the things of Spirit that a mortal is as a spirit? That is the conclusion I wish to convey, and that conclusion has been demonstrated to a greater or less degree by hundreds of thousands of Christian Scientists all over the world. You know the story of the three Hebrew captives thrown bodily into the burning fiery furnace. The narrative in Daniel tells us that upon their bodies the fire had no power. Why? Because they were so conscious of the ever-presence of eternal Life that the human belief of fire could not reach them. I knew a business man who had contracted smallpox. He was isolated in a tent in an open field to undergo quarantine regulations. This man was an earnest, clear-minded Christian Scientist. The first day of his isolation he underwent a struggle with doubt, loneliness, and the false consciousness of disease pressing upon him. Then the thought came to him to wake up out of this false consciousness. He saw that he was entertaining a false mental picture of the physical senses which had objectified itself on his body. Then some passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, flashed upon his mind. He opened the textbook, found the passages on page 14, laid hold of them; their spiritual power and light illumined his thought, destroyed the false consciousness of disease, and he was healed. The passages that man used to effect his healing are as follows: "Become conscious for a single moment that Life and intelligence are purely spiritual,—neither in nor of matter,—and the body will then utter no complaints of suffering from a belief in sickness. You will find your joy and joy when the body is controlled by spiritual Life, Truth and Love."

Christian Science shows us that spiritual consciousness, this grasp of heavenly harmony, this kingdom of God within is the normal, natural status of men, and it shows likewise how we can maintain here and now this right status of thought, and thus overcome every ill that comes. The Value of the Bible Does the Bible support the conclusion that through understanding of God we can nullify mortal illness and gain peace and harmony? When we turn to the Bible, we find that prophet and disciple, through righteous prayer and spiritual understanding, controlled the destructive forces of nature. Mark Twain is quoted as saying, "Very, very much has been said about the weather, but nothing has ever been done about it." Mark Twain is mistaken, something has been done about it. Elijah prayed and it rained; he prayed again, and the rain ceased; and Christ Jesus controlled a storm with a word. The weather is not an automatic something which runs its course, blessing and destroying, irrespective of the needs of the people. It can be controlled through the prayer of the righteous. The great Bible thinkers not only controlled the weather; they proved their mastery over matter and so-called material laws. They healed the sick; they healed the lame; they raised the dead; they proved conclusively that spiritual understanding is the most powerful agency among men, since it utilized the omnipotence of divine Spirit. We find that these Bible men and women struggled with much the same problems that confront us. The manner of life, the customs, may have been different, the speech of the thinkers and strikers, and symbolic and figurative, perhaps; but when we come to study these men and women, we find that in their upward strivings to know God and to grow into the divine life, they were all traveling the same narrow path out of darkness into spiritual consciousness which we all must tread. Their wisdom, trials, and tribulations are a mirror of our own experiences. But they were not dull and stupid victims of disease, hate, and sin. They rebelled against these evils. They were not what Longfellow termed "dumb brutes" on the contrary, they were heroes and statesmen. They knew the presence of a greater power than the power of evil and they relied upon it. Amidst the darkness of mortal beliefs they saw a light,—a light that was not of this world, but to some of them in that world, their struggles, but still a light. They indeed discerned that light which, as St. John declares, "lighteth every man that cometh into the world." And the more clearly they saw that light, the more effectively they were able to rise above human ills and prove their falsity. The lives of these men inspire and cheer us. If they have overcome human weakness and rise into newness of life, why cannot we?

There was Daniel who three times a day prayed and gave thanks to God. Daniel communed with God and gained spiritual strength so that when a crisis came in his career, he was thrown into a lions' den, he kept his poise and peace of mind. Like Paul of later centuries, he could truthfully say, "None of these things move me. Now, if Daniel could retain his peace in a lions' den, why cannot we retain peace in the midst of peril? There is only one answer to that question in the whole Bible, and that answer is this: We can, every one of us. Salvation is universal. "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters," cried the prophet. Salvation is gained through knowledge of God and is for all men, since "God is no respecter of persons." The same spiritual consciousness which sustained man centuries ago is just as effective and available now as it was then.

The True Creation and the False Down through the centuries of Bible history, the great spiritual facts of God and man stand out, the distinction between the true consciousness and the false, between the Spirit and the human concept called matter, between the real man, the image and likeness of God, and the false, human, mortal man. This distinction between the true and the false is clearly seen in the first two chapters of the book of Genesis where two records of creation are presented, and if we keep clearly in mind the fundamental difference between these two accounts, we have to go down into the desert and wilderness and there in doubt, desolation, and solitude overcome the mortal sense of things and gain the spiritual. But if we are faithful and persevere, the veil of materiality will be rent. God will be revealed to us as He was to Moses, and then we too are Israelites; we too have power with God and men. We then can speak as one having authority; we can preach the word and heal the sick, as our Master commanded us to do.

The Discovery of Christian Science Even to the casual observer it is evident that the Christianity of the nineteenth century differed greatly from the Christianity of the first century. In what did this difference consist? The Christianity of the first century was a Christianity of works. The Founder of Christianity proved his words by his works. His words were therefore greater than his works, because his works proved the truth of his words. He said, "Believe me for the very works' sake," and "The... works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me." Primitive Christian healing had been lost by the third century. In the nineteenth century there was much preaching but no healing. What need was there for a new religious denomination? There was no need unless that new denomination reinstated great spiritual truths vital to the salvation of men. That was the need, and to supply that need and to reinstate primitive Christianity and to rescue men from the bondage of sickness, sin, and death, Christian Science came to the world.

But, although spiritual healing had been lost in the third century, the Bible, the great word of God, still remained with men. That revealed word was a light that could not be stifled, and when men turned to the Bible to escape the pangs of mortal thinking, they began to perceive, perhaps dimly, the great fundamental truths of that Bible. In the exact ratio of their understanding of Bible truths did they perceive the errors of the human mind, the errors of the human government, and the errors of the human religion. One by one, as the Bible study began to challenge these errors, and as a result the centuries following the advent of Christianity witnessed a series of reforms in religions and governments. One by one, the purging human thought of error, was that the Pilgrims came to America, seeking freedom to worship God. A new nation, America, was founded, "conceived in liberty and born in freedom." The study of the Bible began to challenge these errors, and as a result the centuries following the advent of Christianity witnessed a series of reforms in religions and governments. One by one, the purging human thought of error, was that the Pilgrims came to America, seeking freedom to worship God. A new nation, America, was founded, "conceived in liberty and born in freedom."

Moses the Lawgiver Bearing in thought the illness of Spirit, and the power of spiritual laws, let us look briefly at the career of Moses, the great lawgiver of Israel. He could not prove the things of God in the atmosphere of a pagan court, so he was compelled to flee to the desert of Midian. For forty years in the desert of stillness he pondered the eternal things of God and man. There, too, he had his Peniel when the glory of the divine Immanence illumined him. He saw the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush; and he looked, and behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed. The consciousness of God, His self-existence as the great I AM, appeared to him and transformed him. In that regeneration, Moses the Egyptian disappeared, and the prophet of the Lord, the prophet thundering the mastery of divine law, appeared. No longer was he dominated by the fears and doubts of the Adam-dream. His consciousness was uplifted to know and understand spiritual law, and he was able to speak of things to Spirit. With that character of consciousness which came to him as a flame of fire, Moses saw his duty to his brethren. There they in Egypt were crying aloud to God for deliverance, but ignorant how to avail themselves of the divine succor forever at hand. Moses returned to Egypt. He returned submerged in divine consciousness. He defied the lightnings of deities, and he demonstrated the divine presence which turned hate and selfishness back upon themselves in what are known as the plagues of Egypt, and, through reliance on the outstretched arm of righteousness, Israelites triumphantly out of bondage into liberty. So exalted was Moses in divine consciousness, so imbued with the ever-presence of old age, that the human beliefs of old age and decrepitude could not touch him. The Scriptures tell us that in the one hundred and twentieth year "his eye was dim, nor his natural force abated." The experiences of Moses are a type of the experiences of every one of us. Every one of us can turn away from illusions, the pangs and pleasures of the corporeal senses. Every one of us can through constant striving for divine consciousness, for the truth, have to go down into the desert and wilderness and there in doubt, every by Mary Baker Eddy in the year 1866 of the one Mind, the central Life around which circle harmoniously all the countless ideas which fill the boundless spiritual universe. What was the nature of the human thought in the nineteenth century prior to that discovery? The human mind was obsessed with the belief that matter was real and universal, that matter was the substance and origin of creation, and that a system of rationalism could be built on a material basis. Now, in order that any false belief may be universal, it is necessary that all men believe it. One single exception destroys its universality. In the year 1866, Mrs. Eddy proved that matter is neither real nor universal, and she therefore destroyed for all time the belief of its universality.

You remember the old nursery rhyme, "Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall, Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. And all the king's horses And all the king's men Couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again." My friends, the human belief of the reality and universality of matter has received a great fall, and all the wise men of earth and all their laboratories can never reinstate in human thought that belief where it was prior to Mrs. Eddy's discovery. Today all men accept the discovery of Copernicus. Anyone who argues for the Ptolemaic theory would be laughed at. That theory is obsolete, archaic. Likewise today is not far from being obsolete and puzzled. How could a man be born again? He queried. The Master became more explicit. He pointed out the impossible gulf between mortal and immortal, between the spirit and matter. "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again." The Master knew that God's children always have been spiritual and perfect, and that a mortal is a counterfeit which must be put off. Awakening from the fleshly dream to see the kingdom of God is being born again.

The Human Mind Not a Healer, Either Consciously or Unconsciously But when we come to follow the leadings of Truth and put them into practice, we encounter the human, mortal mind, being itself a mortal, another poverty-stricken, another poverty-stricken. These arguments are drawn wholly from corporeal sense evidence. The bonds and limitations which these senses impose upon the mortal mind, being itself a mortal, another poverty-stricken. These arguments are drawn wholly from corporeal sense evidence. The bonds and limitations which these senses impose upon the mortal mind, being itself a mortal, another poverty-stricken.

Our Master blazed the path upward for all men so that every man can climb the heights of holiness. The weak can become strong, the ignorant intelligent, the poverty-stricken can demonstrate plenty, the sick can become well, the sinner can become a saint. On what basis can we put these things into practice? The basis that God is Spirit and that man is the divine likeness. If we hold firmly to this ideal, and refuse steadfastly to accept the suggestions of poverty, pain, ignorance, and fear, we can rise above the temptations of the world, the flesh, and the devil. The suggestions of evil assail Christian Scientists, they refuse to entertain them. Christian Scientists know that God gives only gifts to His children. They strive to hold in consciousness only the perfection of God and man.

When I first heard of Christian Science I was living in a western mining camp. As I went back to my home in California, I frequently noticed a little girl limping along the street. On one shoe she wore an extension sole, that limb being several inches shorter than the other and very noticeably shrunken. She was pale, listless, and apparently despondent. After a time I began to notice that she was looking better, had fresher color, walked more freely. I made inquiries and found that she was being treated by a Christian Scientist. I observed the child closely as the days went by. Soon the extension was left off her shoe; later she appeared on the street skipping along like the other children, free and normal. The healing of that child seemed to me a mystery, and from that time I knew that the healing power of Christ Jesus was again redeeming men. How was that child healed? I know now, but it seemed a mystery then. She was healed on the basis that she was a perfect child of God. Before that fact the lameness disappeared, the shortened limb was elongated. Freedom and joy were demonstrated.

In contradistinction to this healing, note what befell Asa King, a Jew, as recorded in II Chronicles: "And Asa... was diseased in his feet... yet in his disease he sought not to the Lord, but to the physicians. And Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth year of his reign." Christ Jesus the Master Christian Scientist, the messenger of Truth, came teaching and demonstrating a gospel of love. His consciousness was uplifted to behold the beauty of holiness, and the word of his mouth was as a flaming sword in the destruction of evil. He saw that because man is spiritual he is superior to the ills of matter pictured by the physical senses. He knew the nature of evil and how to destroy it. He saw that the human belief of evil, sorrow, and tragedy in storm, and tragedy, a mirage of the mortal world, was a self-evident falsity, a mirage of the deceitful senses. Of this, he said, "Ye were a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own; for he is a liar, and the father of it." His grasp of things divine was so clear, so sure, so true, that he not only healed men with a word, but he was able to teach others the knowledge of God, which he himself possessed beyond measure. By degrees his disciples grew in spiritual understanding. The reality and presence of things eternal became to them a mighty inspiration which transformed them. They saw that through the power of God they too could destroy the ills of the flesh. When Jesus sent forth the seventy disciples he said to them: "Heal the sick, Nicodemus, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you. . . . And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name." It is well that they rejoiced, since they again had fellowship with the God of their fathers. The truth the Master demonstrated reached all classes of society. It reached the teachers of Jewish theology and stirred them. They remembered the Pharisee, who came to Jesus by night seeking the truth. What was the difficulty with Nicodemus? He was materially minded, morally blinded by rabbinical theology. How clearly the Master discerned the darkened thought and pointed the remedy. He knew that Nicodemus must undergo a change of thought, a regeneration, in order to understand the truth. He said simply said: "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." But the dulled thought of the Pharisee could not at first fathom that simple utterance. He interpreted it materialistically and was puzzled. How could a man be born again? He queried. The Master became more explicit. He pointed out the impossible gulf between mortal and immortal, between the spirit and matter. "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again." The Master knew that God's children always have been spiritual and perfect, and that a mortal is a counterfeit which must be put off. Awakening from the fleshly dream to see the kingdom of God is being born again.

Holy Inspiration My friends, we have all experienced what is termed inspiration. In that experience thought is illumined; doubts, fear, ambiguities vanish. We see clearly; we think coherently; we are free, active, strong; we work in the glow of light. But human inspiration will later in life manifest that divine inspiration which fills our consciousness when man beholds the infinitude of Spirit. In that divine inspiration, the struggles, the pangs, and illusions of the senses cease; peace reigns, and man, clothed with wisdom and power, holds audience with Spirit. Let us watch, work, and pray that that day of perfect understanding come quickly and remain with us. This lecture has had much to say of consciousness. I have pointed out to you the true spiritual consciousness, born of God, which heals, saves, and exalts us. I have also pointed out to you the nature of that false consciousness which enslaves and enslaves. I have likewise pointed out to you that in change of consciousness from the false to the true is a change from despair to peace, from hell to heaven. "Spiritual consciousness is the 'pearl of great price,' the supreme goal of man's endeavor. What its regenerating power is, Mrs. Eddy has clearly shown in the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, page 598:— "One moment of divine consciousness, or the spiritual understanding of Life and Love, is a foretaste of eternity. This altered view, obtained and retained when the Science of being is understood, would bridge over with life discerned spiritually the interval of death, and the man would be in the full consciousness of his immortality and eternal harmony, where sin, sickness, and death are unknown."

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Doctor Peters:—I am going to pledge myself to you. I want to reduce 17 pounds. I now weigh 162 pounds. I am just going to say to myself that you are with me all the time and pretend you are planning my meals. I think that will help me more than anything else. I sure do love my sweets and fats. My mother is also fat and thinks I should be so, too. I realize now as you said, that I have inherited only the weak will and strong stomach. I received your reducing booklet today. Many thanks. I am keeping a little corner in my heart for you.—Mrs. G. S.

When we first ran our reducing campaign, we ran the following pledge:

WHEREAS, I am overweight and I realize that by reducing I can improve my health, efficiency and happiness,

WHEREAS, I am one of the units of a great public, and the improvement of the health of its units means the improvement of the health of this great public, and

WHEREAS, I realize my responsibility in the improvement of the public health,

THEREFORE, I desire to join your Watch-Your-Weight Class, and I promise I shall follow your directions insofar as is within my power. I shall play the game and do my part. I shall not cheat nor squeal. I PROMISE.

(Signed) _____

I have had hundreds of letters telling me that having signed this pledge was exceedingly helpful. I knew it would be, that's why I wrote it. The food addict needs moral support just as the drug addict does. If you have some friends who are overweight, it is a good idea to join forces with them. Shake hands on it that you are going to diet in order to reduce and that you will diet at least three days. Sometimes one day's dieting will start the habit, so the next day is much easier.

One of my dearest friends is a woman physician who specializes in diet herself. Her mother is exceedingly fat, and, as often happens, a doctor in the family has faint influence, especially in regard to dietetics. My friend asked me to take charge of her mother and I outlined a diet for her. Mother said she could not stick to it long enough to get results. I told her that I was not going to ask her to stick to it unless she wanted to, but I wanted her word of honor that she would try it for three days. I knew if she gave me her word she would keep it, and I knew if I had her for three days I had her for keeps. After three days, she continued without any difficulty, and reduced from 220 pounds to her normal weight. In the meantime, she lost her rheumatism and her indigestion.

If those who are reading this have not started yet, sign this pledge and send it to me in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in stamps for the booklet on reducing and gaining. Those of you who want to gain, reword the pledge so that it applies to you and ask for the same pamphlet. This will help you more than you think.

HALITOSIS—Unpleasant breath may be due to a number of things: Abnormal conditions of the teeth, tongue, gums, tonsils, nose, of the intestinal tract or lungs. Have you had them all investigated? How about your bowels? Are you constipated? Are you eating so much you have putrefaction or so little you have acidosis or border line curry? Send for the articles on acidosis and autointoxication.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as far as possible; if they are of general interest you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

For the next week or so let us take the face, feature by feature, and see what can be done to improve each special part. Suppose we begin with the nose, one of the most prominent features and one hardest to alter if it is ugly.

The most fortunate thing about the nose is that any little thing done to it makes a decided improvement. It is not hard, for instance, to clear the skin on the nose of large pores or blackheads; a daily coat of laundry starch melted into a paste with cold water and rubbed well into the skin will do this, or rubbing powdered oatmeal into the nose while it is wet, or steaming the face and then using cleansing cream. No nose can be hopelessly ugly if the skin is fine grained, and any nose will be hideous if pimples, blackheads and such things deface it.

If your nose is really deformed, plastic surgery can better its shape. But you can do a little, quite a little, toward reducing a bump by pressing on it with the fingers for a minute or two several times a day. Can you make your nostrils tense? That's a good thing to practice if they are too thin. Breathe in hard, as though you were sniffing a pleasant odor, and you can feel the nostrils expand (horses do it); it will widen the base of the nose if it needs it, and will make the nostrils clear-cut in outline.

If the nostrils are too fat, press them in gently with the thumb and finger. If there's an ugly tip on the nose, press down on it with the fingers bunched together. But make all motions gently, you do not want to distort this rather delicate organ. If you massage the nose, a good way to improve both the shape and complexion of it is to make all motions downward from the top to the tip, pressing in at the sides of that bit of cartilage which determines the size of the nose.

J. E. K.—There are people who have been cured of pimples by taking yeast but if the pimples continue, after a trial of several weeks, the treatment should be changed. Continued attacks of

This improves the shape and color of your nose.

You may be eating too much starchy or rich foods, and a change in diet may cure you of the tendency to these eruptions.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Three Wise Men of the West

THREE wise men came to our Bank the other day. The first, a chemist, brought valuable formulas. Close on his heels was the second with the deed and insurance policies that protect his home. The third wise man carried rare gems wrapped in a bit of velvet.

They went away leaving their treasures behind... in SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES in our fire and burglar-proof vault.... WISE MEN!

For a few cents a day they trade worry and fear that their valuables may be lost, destroyed or stolen for a sense of absolute security.

The following recipes were sent in by readers in response to a request for checker board cake, published some time ago (other recipes for this cake were published July 11, but, because of space restrictions, I could not at that time print the following).

Mrs. W. C. S.: "I make any plain cake that is large enough for three layers. Divide the batter in three equal parts, then color one part red, one part brown, and leave the other third as is. Put the three batters in the pan in circles, having each pan different. In putting the layers together be sure the same color is not over an identical color, or it will not be right when cut. You have to work fast in making it, in order to keep one colored ring from running into the other, in the pan. I always make this kind of cake a little stiffer than any other kind."

I. C. B.: "Cream together two cups of sugar and one-half cup of butter; add one cup of sweet milk, three beaten eggs, and three and one-half cups of flour sifted with two and one-half teaspoons of baking powder. Divide this batter into two equal parts. Put a tablespoon of dry cocoa powder into one part. Put alternate rings of these batters into three buttered layer cake pans—having two pans with two dark rings on the outside, and one pan with a light outer ring of batter. In this way, with the dark outer rings forming top and bottom layer, and the light outer ring forming center layer, your cake will be like a checkerboard when cut. I put jelly between the three layers."

M. P.: "I make checker board cake by creaming together two cups of granulated sugar and one-half cup of butter; add one cup of sweet milk and stir in three cups of bread flour which have been sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder. Fold in the stiffly-whipped whites of four eggs and flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. Divide the batter and to one half of it add one-eighth of a cake of chocolate melted. Put these batters into three layer cake pans. Each of these pans will contain four rings, two light-colored rings and two chocolate rings alternated. But have two of the pans with the light batter-outer outside, and one pan with a chocolate ring outside, (the chocolate outer-layer to go between the other two layers). Use white or chocolate icing in putting together."

Note:—Several readers sent me recipes for this cake which were copied from manufacturers' pamphlets or otherwise copyrighted, and which therefore, I could not use. But I thank them just the same for their kind intentions.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

CHAPTER LXX

"Yes, he told me," he said, watching her anxiously. "Had you known it, Butterfly?"

"I guessed it. At first I hadn't an idea, and then not long ago, before Thanksgiving, I think I suddenly knew. I wanted to kill myself at first—I don't mean that," Butterfly interrupted herself quickly. "I say that, but I never could even try, Craig. I'm too much of a coward, and besides, that doesn't solve anything. But now I'm glad, Craig," she resumed presently in a tired voice. "Because I can give it—the baby—to you. I've given you so much trouble. I've been so stupid, all these years! And when I go out of your life I'll leave—my baby—to remind you that I wasn't all mean and selfish. It means being helpless, and sick, and in pain, of course." Butterfly ended, "but I like to think how much I'll mean to you and your mother; I know how you love children! I remember on the steamer how you played with the little English girls! I can't imagine now how I could—but that doesn't matter. We can't go back now. It never would be the same.

"No, it never could be the same," Craig echoed, sadly. "I'm sorry for this, Butterfly. I'm sorry you're let in for the long business just when you want to be free. It's not fair. But we'll pull through it. And meanwhile, you must remember to rest, and not to worry, and to make yourself eat the right food. You might harm yourself now in a way you never could undo. I don't think you'll want to give up your baby, my dear, when it comes. We have made a mistake; we must find the best solution we can. And now, will you try to go off to sleep?"

"Oh, I shall sleep!" Butterfly forced herself to say over the agony of brimming tears and a choking throat, and with a breaking heart. "Would you ask Hilary to come in? Thank you. Good night!"

He gave her his kindly, concerned look from the doorway, and she returned it with a smile. But when Hilary came in Butterfly was bathed in bitter tears. It was only after a long half-hour of reasoning, pleading tenderness that she reduced the little sister to quiet again, bathed Butterfly's reddened eyes, and composed her to sleep.

Hilary sat beside her, watching her even breath that was broken even in her sleep by an occasional deep sigh, and presently she slipped to her knees beside the

THE GATEWAY

Alice Terry, who plays the heroine in "The Arab," the Rex Ingram production for Metro, which is showing at the Gateway theatre today and tomorrow, has developed a consuming passion for a young sheik!

News of her entanglement has been the talk of Hollywood for months. Anyone can imagine the sensation caused when Miss Terry returned from screening "The Arab" in Africa with Kada-Abdel-Kadir in tow. Everyone turned out to look him over.

Handsome he was, without doubt, with those finely chiseled features, superlatively decorative. And his manner was disarming. Even those who disapproved were compelled to acknowledge that Kada had irresistible charm. Those who came to scoff were compelled to yield to his fascinating smile, his laughing eyes, his princely manners.

Kada has established himself in Hollywood, and shows no sign of wanting to return to his native Morocco. Utterly lacking in self-consciousness, he goes about clad in his native costume—a white turban, a flaming red cloak, baggy white trousers and shining black boots.

His only fault is a dangerous jealousy. Not a man in Hollywood can even look at Miss Terry with admiration—and it's almost impossible not to—without incurring the deadly enmity of Kada—that is, not a man except Rex Ingram, who is Miss Terry's husband. Kada is their ward.

The young sheik is 8 years old, and into those years he has crowded a life of as much adventure as a Jackie Coogan hero.

Kada plays a small role in "The Arab," which is an adaptation of Edgar Selwyn's stage play.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

The Dobinson Players will present "A Prince There Was" again this week at 8:15 o'clock on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with 2:30 o'clock Wednesday and Saturday matinees, announces Miss Eva Daniels, business manager.

"A Prince There Was," which everyone either knows or ought to know is by George M. Cohan, author of "Wallingford," "Broadway Jones" and any number of other big New York hits, is the Cinderella type of play. In fact, there are two Cinderellas in this piece, one a boarding house slavey and the other a young man with so many millions he doesn't know what time of day it is until he has gotten rid of some of them.

John Vosburgh plays this part of the Prince Charming. The little slavey, one of the brightest spots of the play, is admirably taken by Mary Gray.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY IS LOST

One day, when Uncle Wiggily hopped home to his hollow stump bungalow, feeling rather sad because he had found no adventure, he saw Nurse Jane bending over an open trunk.

"What are you going to do, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "Has some one sent you a whole trunk full of good things, and are you unpacking them?"

"Nothing like that!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I am just putting a few things in this trunk to take away with me. I am going to spend a few days with Aunt Lettie, the lady goat. And my back aches so I don't know what to do. Oh, dear!"

"That's too bad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, and he felt so sad about Nurse Jane that his pink nose twinkled backward.

"Let me finish packing that trunk for you. Just put on a chair all the things you want packed, and I'll put them in and lock the trunk. Then it will be all ready for the express elephant."

"That is very kind of you," said Nurse Jane, "and I thank you very much. It will be a great help to me. Just put all these things in the trunk, press them down tightly and lock the cover. I'll go lie down and rest my aching back."

Uncle Wiggily scratched first one ear and then the other as he looked at the pile of things on chairs, near the trunk.

"How am I ever going to get all those things in?" he wondered.

But he pushed and he crowded and he shoved and he pulled and he tugged and jumped on top of the trunk with both paws, and at last everything went in.

"Hu, hum!" murmured the bunny gentleman, "I think I'll take a little sleep while I'm waiting for the Express Elephant to come and take the trunk."

"Now just about the time Uncle Wiggily went to sleep, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy awakened, and her aching back felt much better. She sat up, rubbed her eyes and was going to see how well Uncle Wiggily was doing with her packing when, all of a sudden, she heard, under the window, a voice saying:

"Come on, Mr. Fox. I know where Uncle Wiggily is. He's in a room, all by himself, packing a trunk. You and I can jump in on him and alibie his ears."

"All right, Mr. Wolf, I'm with you!" growled another voice. Nurse Jane looked out of her window in time to see the Fox and Wolf leap in the window of the room where the trunk was.

"Get out of there! Get away!" cried the muskrat lady, and she shouted so loudly that, no sooner had the Fox and Wolf jumped out again. And as soon as they had jumped out, Nurse Jane ran in.

"Oh, but I am too late!" she cried, sadly. "Uncle Wiggily is lost! He is gone! The Fox and Wolf must have grabbed him and jumped out of the window with him before I got here. Oh, dear, Uncle Wiggily is lost! He is gone!" cried Nurse Jane.

The Police Dog came, and so did Uncle Butter and Mr. White-wash the Polar Bear, but they couldn't find Uncle Wiggily. Then the Express Elephant came to

WHITE SOX TRIM MAGIC ISLE TEAM

Catalina Cubs Blanked 6-0 When Bonnelly, In Local Debut, Fans Eleven

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR. Of The Evening News Staff. The White Sox got ample revenge on the Catalina Cubs by shutting the Islanders out at White Sox park yesterday, 6 to 0.

After the Cubs had gone out three in a row in the first, the Pale Hose pushed over two markers, enough to win the game, on a pass to Charley Dorman and a hard hit ball to center which took a mean hop and went over Hesse's head for a circuit clout.

Tom Hughes banged over the first hit for the Islanders in the fifth over second base. Hughes went in third when Shields fumbled Hesse's grounder and threw wild to Hawks. Bonnelly tightened up and, after whiffing Ruedy, forced Doran to ground to Hawks.

The Sox put over three additional runs in the eighth. Emerson singled to right and went to second when P. Young was walked. Shields singled to center.

Rod Murphy opened up the ninth for the Islanders with a sharp single to left field, but the Catalina hopes were aglimmering when Hawkins missed three pitched balls and Phaffer hit a lightning doubleplay, P. Young to French to Hawks. Murphy slammed out two of the Catalina hits in four times at bat, while "Chicken Hawks" did the same for the Sox. Dorman, Shellenbach, Bonnelly and Tellex of the locals each got one hit in two times at bat.

DOUBLE BILLS TO VERNON, SERAPHS

Tigers Beat Sacramento as Angels Trounce Seattle; Take Third Place

By THREE STRIKES For Southland News Service. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Vernon took both games of a double bill with Sacramento at Washington park yesterday, 8 to 3 and 2 to 0, thereby walking away with the seven-game series with five victories.

Ken Penner hurled the Tigers to an easy triumph in the opener, holding the Senators scoreless for eight innings, but let down in the ninth, allowing a trio of Ryan's men to cross the plate. Although the visitors touched Penner for eleven hits they were kept well scattered until the ninth. Carroll Canfield did mound duty for Sacramento and pitched a good game, but was given poor support in the seventh, when the Tigers scored four runs. Pete Schneider did feature work with the stick in the Vernon half of the first when he sent the pill far over the scoreboard.

The second game was more closely contested, Bryan holding the Solons to five hits, while the Tigers were able to get only four safeties off Hughes, who pitched tight ball for the visiting team. Three costly errors were chalked against Sacramento in the last game.

The Angels took a double-header from Seattle at Seattle yesterday, 8 to 1 and 10 to 1. Doc Crandall hurled for the Seraphs in the opener, while Myers worked on the mound in the second contest.

San Francisco and Portland split yesterday's double bill, the morning game going to the Seals, 5 to 5, while the afternoon contest was won by Portland, 14 to 3.

Oakland baseball fans were disappointed yesterday when rain prevented a double bill between the Oaks and Salt Lake.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Jack Dempsey is going to prove that gratitude can exist in the prize ring game. That is the inference to be drawn from reports he will fight Tommy Gibbons in the Madison Square Garden on St. Patrick's Day, nor will he go into action at an earlier date.

Where does the gratitude come in? Well, it comes in for Tex Rickard. Tex was pretty nice to Dempsey and Kearns when the two were stung to make their big bid for fame and fortune. Rickard was their benefactor. He listened to them when no one else would, gave them their chance.

So now Dempsey will appear in an indoor show as a favor to Tex, and if he does he forfeits a deposit of $10,000 which he must deposit when the series is about to be started.

Commissioner Landis wished to be considered the sole authority in handling the world series and he certainly has had his wish, for last year and this year he has ignored the presidents of both leagues and undertaken to handle all the details himself.

Last year the receipts of the world series were more than $1,000,000. In former seasons, it has been customary to wish the owners a share of the receipts because some of them have had to go to the expense of building new stands. That is the case with Griffith this year. If the games were called off both teams would lose, but the greater loss would fall upon Griffith.

As the exposure of Dolan's and O'Connell's banishment for alleged bribery has been commented on, more and more the impression grows that the members of the Giants were not involved, and feel keenly the position in which they have been placed before the public.

The fact that anyone should try to bring off the Philadelphia club is considered a compliment to the fighting spirit of the Phillies as it must have been felt that they were ready to make a last ditch battle to beat the Giants out of the pennant. It was rather odd that Sand, the man apportioned to have been the only Philly player to score a run in the game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Dreams of big fights and large purses for Jack Delaney, middleweight, have grown dim as a result of the slapping around Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo aimed at him Friday night. Delaney fights bravely at times—but the times when he does not have been frequent and this fact has not endeared him either to the fans or the promoters.

Sid Marks is back with us again. It is to be hoped that the plain fare served in the United States Marine corps has aided Marks' designed to strengthen Sid's weak spot, his stomach muscles.

Marks electrified the fans with an exhibition of solid punching that laid Bobby Barrett low long before this became a common occurrence. His crashing wallops relegated Willie Jackson to the limbo of has-beens just when Willie was hoping to stage a comeback.

Sid was looking like a world beater until Johnnie Murray and Joe Tiplitz found the weak spot, his body. If he has strengthened himself here he will add a lot of zing to the lightweight division.

Hackenschmidt, Mondt To Meet at Pasadena

John Hackenschmidt, formerly of Glendale and now training partner for Champion Ed "Strangler" Lewis, will meet Joe "Toots" Mondt, challenger for the world's heavyweight title, in a finish match at Pasadena Wednesday night. Mondt and Lewis are to wrestle for the championship in Los Angeles on October 13, but Mondt will preface his match for the title with Wednesday night's match in the Pasadena armory, 105 West Union street.

Hackenschmidt has won his last five matches. He will weigh in at 214 pounds, while Mondt will weigh around 220 pounds. The match will be best two falls out of three, with straight hold barred. There will be two preliminary bouts, while the semi-final will be between Allerton Johnson, millionaire wrestler of Pasadena, 290 pounds, and Ernest Lundene, of Long Beach, 250 pounds. The show is being promoted by Nick Collins.

After battling for ten innings, the Colored All-Stars beat to 4-1. Pasadena Merchants, 5 to 4. Duffy hurled for the Merchants and allowed eleven hits, while Munion held the Pasadena crew to eight bingles.

Ten runs in the seventh inning were chalked up by Owensmouth in their game against the American A. C. Red Brown held the A. C. gang to six hits and one score, while Owensmouth collected nineteen hits and fifteen runs.

Pasadena Paints and Kant-skores staged a ten-inning game yesterday, the winners being the southern half of the British Isles losing ground, the northern section—Scotland—is gaining. Recent hydrographic surveys show that during the last fifty years Scotland's height above sea level has increased by half an inch. England's average height above sea level, however is half an inch below that of fifty years ago. Humorous commentators ascribe Scotland's gain to an abnormal chest and head expansion as a result of Premier Ramsay MacDonald's success as Great Britain's first Labor premier. MacDonald hails from the Scottish moors.

Twenty thousand lead pencils a day will be made by a factory soon to open in Sao Carlos, Brazil.

Burbank went down to defeat before the Bayer nine Saturday by a score of 9 to 2, although Cruz hurled for the Burbank crew and fanned nine men. Huffaker was on the mound for Bayer.

Irish bank statistics show that there is plenty of capital in the country, and if capital could be properly worked there would be an end to unemployment. But 1 would not like to see Ireland become an industrial country in the sense that the United States, England and Germany are," he added.

FOOTBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about football...

QUESTION—When a player is injured may the trainer come out on the field to attend to him? ANSWER—He may not. He must in each instance get permission of the umpire or referee.

QUESTION—Suppose on a punt two players of a receiving team hold up their hands for a fair catch. Are both entitled to make the fair catch? ANSWER—Yes, they are. Any number are entitled to signal for a fair catch, the provision being that they shall not run after catching the ball.

QUESTION—A player signals for a fair catch, catches the ball and then runs with it for a touchdown. What happens? ANSWER—The score is disallowed and the catcher's team must put the ball in play from a lineup five yards back of the point where the catch was made.

England Sinking Into Sea, Scotland Gaining

LONDON, Oct. 6.—England is slowly sinking into the sea, but to the same extent to which the southern half of the British Isles is losing ground, the northern section—Scotland—is gaining. NEWS OF VALLEY

LANKERSHIM, Oct. 6.—"An Old Sweetheart of Mine" was brought to a triumphant close Friday night by the local Community Players organization. The whole production was of a high dramatic order and shows clearly that there is some real dramatic talent in this community. Everyone who saw both performances agreed there was great improvement over Thursday night's presentation.

The show was put on by Jack Walmeyer, who not only had the responsibility of directing the production but played the leading comedy role with genuine skill. The San Fernando valley council of Boy Scouts placed the Lankershim quota at $2000 and the Kiwanis club, which is backing the movement, asked for an additional $1500 for a recreational building which the citizens desire to erect on Community church property, making a total of $3500. Reports of the teams that handled the drive will not be made until Thursday at the Kiwanis luncheon and nothing definite is known as to the exact total, but it has been estimated that over $3000 has been pledged and by Thursday the prospects are that the full quota will be made up.

Lankershim students at the Hollywood High school are again active this year and are making names for themselves and their town. Hilton McCabe, president of the football team, is working overtime in selecting his team for the season. Howard Falor, captain of the football team, is working overtime in selecting his team for the season. Sterling Alsford, captain of the football team, is working overtime in selecting his team for the season. A number of boys are trying out for the football team. The new gym at Van Nuys is greatly appreciated by the pupils. Special work is being given in that department.

FROM EAGLE ROCK
EAGLE ROCK, Oct. 6.—A public inspection of the now completed Masonic temple at Chickasaw and Caspar avenues, Sunday afternoon, brought several hundred people to the scene, between the hours of 2:30 and 5 o'clock. Music was furnished through the courtesy of Page Nell.

The formal dedication is planned to take place the latter part of October, when officers of the Grand Lodge will be present to officiate. Meantime the building will be utilized by the Lodge and Eastern Star. The first lodge meeting was held in the Temple last Wednesday and the Eastern Star plans to hold a dance there on October 11.

Of Spanish style architecture, the temple forms a delightful aspect in its setting among the trees. The grounds will be landscaped as soon as the building is entirely completed.

The members of the building association who had charge of the erection of the structure are J. Hartley Taylor, Jim Roberts, Godfrey Edwards, Arthur Hess, M. T. Lee, R. L. McNitt and L. O. Hatch.

The Occidental-York boulevard improvement association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Occidental Presbyterian church, when the new officers will be installed. They are:
