HENRY CLAY.

Subject to the decision of the American People.

NOW-ORLEANS:

MONDAY MORNING, DEC. 12, 1847.

The mail arrived yesterday brings dates from New-York to the 21 instant.

THE CONVENTION.

The full vote given in July last for and against a Convention to amend the State Constitution, however been published, and hence could either in the hands of many as to the result of the election, or, if published, would be liable to misinterpretation.

Those who listen to the one side of the question of the location might well believe that the whole, and not the Van Burenites, have played the country into date. After the wright as a party has controlled the present administration exactly one month, during which time, they could not have wrought such an enormous amount of indolence upon the country.

The twenty-four millions due by the General Government is, however, the legitimate legacy of Van Burenites, bequeathed at its parting moments to the people who were about to be ejected from office.
