Henry Sweetsson, Inc., is organized under the laws of the State of New York, to act as purchasing agents, brokers and advisors to hotels, clubs, restaurants, industries or institutions interested in feeding and housing problems.

Coincident with its activities and field of endeavors its offices have become a rendezvous for out-of-town visitors and buyers in quest of special information regarding the world's largest market, where to sleep, eat and spend their spare hours, as well as what, where and when to purchase supplies and equipment—not only within our corporate limitations but many times entirely foreign to the scope of our activities.

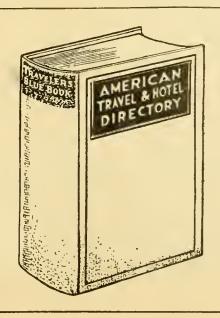

This demand upon us for special information is easily understood when one stops to think that there is hardly a commercial, financial, individual or educational activity of any large development that does not "feed" or "house" (perhaps both) a given number of their organization, and when their purchasing agent is in New York City (and our office) for the purpose of selecting necessary articles to "feed" or "house," inquiries are also made for suggestions on other sources of supplies, from apparel to blasting powder, and from artificial teeth to pig iron.

Mindful that there is need for a buyers' guide and manual such as Visiting New York City, it was produced for distribution to those in quest of just the character of information it contains—to answer the many questions asked of us daily.

The list of manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers is limited and select, representing not only activities of recognized prominence within their fields of endeavor, but reported as conducted by executives keenly alert to increasing the volume of their output—by widening of their circle of satisfied customers. While the lists of hotels, restaurants, clubs, churches, theatres, wharves and other points of interest were selected with care so that "he who runs may read."

HENRY SWEETSSON.

HEARN

FOURTEENTH STREET

Established 1827

WEST OF FIFTH AVE

Founded in 1827, the House of HEAR N from small beginnings has grown steadily, keeping pace with the rapid enlargement of this great vital city by meeting its needs in dull times and prosperous times with values noted for the savings they afforded.

Since its beginning this Store has remained under the control of the same family now in its fourth generation.

Among innovations originating with HEARN, some of which have since been widely followed by other stores, are

Friday Bargain Day, since 1883
Morning Specials, since 1900

Great Seasonal Sales, since 1896

These facts are something more than milestones of success. They are a forecast of the broad lines of our future development. They also point out to visitors in the city what is already known to our customers by the hundreds of thousands—

HEARN for Values

VISITING NEW YORK CITY

Copyrighted, 1921, by Henry Sweetsson, Inc., St. James Building, New York City.

O discover New York-to know New York—is to study New York from its crowded East Side tenements, housing in many instances more than 3,000 souls to a single block, to the palatial residences of the multi-millionaire within its urban boundaries which go to make Greater New York. From the pinnacle of the Woolworth Build-ing, with its fifty-one stories, rising 750 feet above the street, to the tubes beneath the Hudson River; from the vice dens to the church sanctuaries; from the merchantman of the ghetto to the finan-cial prince of Wall Street; from the Statue of Liberty to the Bronx is one endless chain of ever-changing views rivaling any foreign trip or tour of the Rockies, more instructive and less expensive, for there is hardly a sensation to which the body or mind responds, be it of pleasure or pain, that Greater New York will not furnish to the seeker thereof, and still New York has only been partially explored by the majority of her citizens and but little more toured by her visitors; indeed it is surprising that there are no organized bureaus where we might become better acquainted with Gotham, which would arouse a new interest in her achievements and which would stir the heart of the most unemotional observer into a realization of its greatuess. There are bureaus of travel enlightenment that will acquaint one regarding the White Mountains, the Jersey Shore, Lake George and elsewhere, but the clerk behind their counters knows little of New York. In other cities Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and kindred activities promulgate general data on their locality, but in New York their activitics are solely confined to the services which they were organized to perform. There are publications purporting to be guide books on New York and vicinity, but in truth of little more value to the visitor than Columbus' chart of the Atlantic Ocean to the modern mariner.

In chronicling the worth-while-places of this worth-while-city a brief comparison will best convey to my readers' mind the magnitude of its attainments and operations, statistics of which would be dry reading but available at the office of publication for those who challenge comparisons,

Every school child knows that the land upon which New York was built was traded by the Dutch Government from the Indians in 1626 for a quantity of red cloth and beads valued at about $25.00, but it is interesting to know that property to-day is worth, in some localities, over $800.00 per sq. ft., which records the greatest increase in real estate values on earth. Greater New York comprises five boroughs within the

Liberty Statue-Lower Bay

In New York harbor, one and three-quarter miles south of Battery Park Pier, from where one may take the hourly boat (round trip 25c), the Statue of Liberty, France's gift to America, occupies a com-manding position on Liberty Island. The admission to the statue is free and the ele-vator will take one to the upper stairs. The lighting of the Liberty torch takes place simultaneously with the flash of the "sunset gun" in the harbor.

Battery Park

An historic spot which is said to have been the favorite walk for Washington when he was President. At the left of the picture towers the Whitehall Bldg., the largest structure in that section. Still further west is the Aquarium (illustrated below) and adjoining is the dock of the Coney Island boat.

State, but, as a matter of fact, Greater New York covers not only Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn, Richmond and Queens Boroughs but extends, theoreticall- into that section of New Jersey embracing Hoboken, Newark, Jersey City and the Oranges, because while these are separate municipalities they are in reality only transportation terminals, manufacturing and residential outgrowths of New York proper, giving this district a population of about 10,000,000 people, with an annual expense of maintenance exceeding that of Spain and Italy combined.

It is interesting to note that within commuting distance of the city there are 256 distinct suburbs or municipalities representing the overflow of Manhattan.

New York has manufacturing greater wealth than all of the England States. Its daily bank clearances are nearly twice those England, London, and it has more miles of underground railroad than all of the rest of world combined. Greater New York has more railroad yards and wharf capacity than London, Liverpool, Montreal and Sydney combined, made necessary for its immense export, import and intertransit freight and passenger service.

Within our portals is a greater Irish people than in Dublin, more Jews than in Jerusalem, more Italians than in Rome, more Spaniards than in Valpairiso and more Germans than in Bremen. In fact, there is not a nationality of the civilized world that is not represented in New York, for it must be remembered that three-fourths of its population is foreign born.

There are more passengers riding on the subways, elevated and surface transportation lines of this city daily than on all of the steam railways of the United States. In politics the patronage and responsibility of the Mayor of New York is second only to the Presidency of the United States, while the Police and Fire Departments alone are of greater strength than the total military organization of Mexico and Brazil. Although this city is much advertised for its vice and graft, it is interesting to note that, in proportion to its population, less arrests are made daily than in any large city of the Western Hemisphere. This favorable condition is also true of its Health Department, the records of which show that the city has a lower death rate percentage than Boston, Washington, Kansas City or San Francisco. For fire and health protection New York has ample and good water storage reservoirs; in fact the

The Aquarium

This building in Battery Park houses the largest aquarium in the world. Originally it was a fort called Castle Clinton. In 1823 it was converted into an opera house, where Jenny Lind sang for the first time in this country. For many years it was called Castle Garden and was famous as a landing and reception place for the emigrants arriving at the port. It is open to the public daily; admission is free.

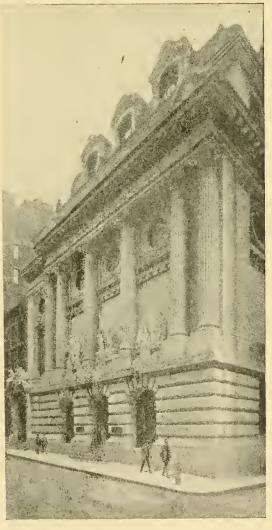

General Washington worshipped in this old church, which was built in 1766 and its spire completed in 1794. It is a quaint, old-fashioned breathing spot in the midst of the whirl and turmoil of one of the busiest sections of lower Broadway. Trinity Church is just to the south on Broadway. Both of these old houses of worship and graves surrounding them are points of interest.

supply is sufficient to quench the thirst of all the English speaking races of the world, should they be housed within our borders.

New York is second to no city in the world in the number or elegancy of its hotels, which have a guest capacity equaling the total population of Richmond, Va., Tacoma, Wash., and Des Moines, Iowa. Some conception of the quantity of food consumed daily by our population may be realized when it is remembered that statisticians estimate that it would take one train of freight cars sixteen miles long daily to supply our citizens with vegetables, meats and cereals. There is more money paid to the daily wage earners than the total payroll of Paris and London combined, and is spent in like proportion. pleasure alone we contribute more of our earnings than gay Paree and London town. Recently a theatre's one season box office receipts amounted to $10,000,000, while Coney Island has more daily visitors in a season than all the other seaside resorts of America. Like a well-cut diamond of great brilliancy, New York has many facets, each fantastically interesting, each superlative in its own way and to the stranger within our gates is an opportunity for endless and long to be remembered enjoyable hours while discovering New York City. The more important objective points are briefly described under their various captions in the pages that

Chamber of Commerce Building
This organization occupies the building at 67 Liberty St. and is the oldest commercial corporation in the United States (1770). Its many valuable portraits of eminent citizens makes it a point of interest.
Application for admission should be made through the Secretary or through some member. member.

New York Clearing House A beautiful building of white marble in Italian Renaissance. In the basement is a safe that can hold 210 tons of gold.

HOW WALL STREET WAS NAMED

This street was a wall of defense erected in 1662 by the Dutch Colony; the space between the wall and the buildings taking the name of Wall Street, just as Maiden's Path (a favorite walk for young people in Colonial days) took the name of Maiden Lane. From a residential street Wall Street changed to a business thoroughfare, then to a commercial centre, where the fa-mous "slave market" stood before the Revolution, also the City Hall, in which the First Congress assembled. Today it is the financial headquarters of not only York City New but America as well. The Exchange, Stock the the fa-Sub-treasury, mous Seaman's Church Institute (which is a hotel, bank, employment bureau, school church all in one, for seafaring men) are located on this street, besides the banking house of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.

SUB-TREASURY

The United States Assay Office is at Wall and Nassau Sts., and is a branch of the National Treasury. It performs all the functions of a mint, except the actual stamping of the coin. It carries more gold bullion on deposit than any other building in America, except the United States Treasury at Washington. It was erected originally for the Custom House, which outgrew the structure. It occupies the site of Federal Hall, where assembled the First Congress, at which George Washington took the oath of President of the United States, and where once was located the Debtors' Prison.

BOWLING GREEN

This is a small triangular space at the foot of Broadway and is the oldest park in the city. It was used by the Dutch as a colonial drill ground. Here was erected the leaden statue of George the Third, which was dismantled in 1776 and converted into bullets to welcome the Redcoated Invaders.

At Wall and Nassau Streets

The Bronze statue of Washington on the steps of the United States' Sub-Treasury marks where Washington took his oath of office on April 30, 1789. Here it was that the bomb outrage of 1920 was committed. In the background is Trinity Church, with its historical grave yard.

PROMINENT COMMERCIAL BUILD-INGS

The largest office building in the world is the new Equitable Building on lower Broadway. It is 36 stories high.

Next in size is the Hudson Terminal Buildidng at 50 Church St., which holds 50,000 employes and is 22 stories high. Here is located the main entrance to the Hudson Tubes.

Opposite the Equitable Building is the Singer Building, which for several years was the tallest office structure in New York City.

The tallest building to-day is the Woolworth Building opposite the Post-office and City Hall Square; from the tower of which a wonderful view is obtained.

Probably the building that is best known for the longest period is the gold domed World Building on Newspaper Row.

Facing Madison Square are two well known office buildings. The Metropolitan because of its size and tower and the Flatiron Building because of its peculiar shape which gave it its name.

The Stock Exchange Building is at No. 10 Broadway.

The Produce Exchange faces Bowling Green, and the Clearance House is at Beaver St., just east of Broadway.

GOVERNOR'S ISLAND

This military station, from which is fired the "sunset gun" daily, is located just south of the Battery and was erected in 1811. Castle Williams is the name of the round and ancient fort on this island, and it has great picturesque value, though of no practical value as a fort. The formidable guns that look out over the parapet are out-of-date monsters that were useless long before the last horse car ceased to run. Castle "Bill," as it has been called by our soldiers, was used as a military prison during the Great War, and great military hospitals were located on the island at that time.

LEGAL HOLIDAYS OF NEW YORK

City Hall Park and Newspaper Row
To the right is Newspaper Row, hallowed in tradition and steeped in the memories of the famous newspapermen of the new world.

VISITING CHINATOWN

Chinatown, embracing mainly Mott, Doyers and Pell Streets, is perhaps the most quaintly foreign of all New York sections. Western manners and methods have left their impressions on most of our foreign quarters, but not so on Chinatown. Here the "heathen Chinee" goes his curious and colorful way as though he was still in the heart of his beloved Flowery Kingdom.

The queer stores and bazaars that line the narrow, twisting and winding streets. breathe the very breath of Orientalism, and are permeated with the inimitable aroma of the Far East and the perfumes of Cathay. The visitor had better have a guide, if he intends to see this section properly. The section properly. ioss houses and other points of interesting mystery are open visitors, and the heavy fumes of the incense sticks make the air languidly odorous redolent of the oldest civilization on the face of the earth.

FRAUNCE'S TAVERN

At the corner of Broad and Pearl Sts., a buildidng erected in 1700 was used as a stop ping place for travelers. Here General Washington took leave of his officers at the time he surrendered his commission to Congress.

CITY BUILDINGS

The City Hall built in 1812 containing the offices of the Mayor, the President of the Borough of Manhattan, the City Clerk and other officials, is located at City Hall Park.

The Tombs (a nickname for the City Prison) and the Criminal Courts are on Centre St., connected by the Bridge of Sighs.

The Hall of Records is at the corner of Chambers and Centre Sts.

The Appellate Court is at Madison

Ave. and 25th St.

The Municipal Building faces the City Hall and Hall of Records and it is here that the Boards of Elections, Water Supplies, Licenses, Educational and Public Charities have their headquarters.

The Police Headquarters are located at 240 Centre St.

The Detective Bureau is located at Delancey and Clinton Sts.

The Children's Court is at 137 East 22nd St., while another is at 355 East 137th St.

The Woman's Night Court is at 6th Ave. and 10th St. And the Men's Night Court is at 151 East 57th St. (where the human side of night life in a great city will prove instructive).

The District Attorney's Office for Manhattan is located in the Criminal Court Building. For the Bronx, at Arthur and Tremont Aves.

The City Trade Extension Rooms are at 209 East 23rd St.

The Bureau of Franchises Office is in the Municipal Building.

The Marriage License Bureau is located in the Municipal Building.

Custom House at the Foot of Broadway
Erected in 1917 and occupies the site of the original log-blockhouse, which was a trader's fort in the beginning of the seventeenth century.

City Hall and Municipal Building
The City Hall, although dwarfed by the surrounding structures, is still one of the finest architectural examples in the city.

POINTS OF INTEREST AROUND NEW YORK

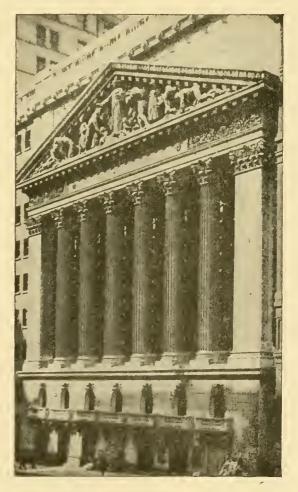

West Brighton Beach and Brighton are favorite beaches of Brooklyn Heights, with bath houses and amusement parks. This beach may be reached by elevated cars at Brooklyn Bridge or by trolley cars from Coney Islan I. Immediately east of Brighton Beach is Manhattan Beach, with all the attraction of ocean side resorts. Rockaway is the oldest seaside resort of the City and can be reached by the Long Island Railroad, Brooklyn trolley cars or by steamboats. To the north of New York City is Yonkers on the Hudson River with a population of 100,000 people; to the east is Mt. Vernon, a residential city of 30,000; to the southeast is Winchester, a historical village. New Rochelle is about 15 miles east of New York City and has a population of about 30,000 people. It may also be reached by trolley from Mt. Vernon. Here are preserved many interesting relics of Colonial days. Jersey City opposite of New York, on the Hudson River, is an important manufacturing and transportation point connected with New York City by tunnel and ferry. It has about 275,000 populatic v. Hoboken to the north of Jersey City is likewise a manufacturing and shipping point; it was from here that our boys embarked for France in 1917 and 1918. Weehawken, to the north of Hoboken, was prominent in Revolutionary days. It was in this historical town that Alex-It was in this historical town that Alexander Hamilton lost his life in the duel with Aaron Burr.

PUBLIC RECREATION PIERS

During the season when the weather is oppressive the city maintains band concerts at seven recreation piers, and permits the public to avail themselves of these entertainments as well as fishing, dancing, etc. The location of these piers on the East River are at the foot of Market St., 3rd St., 23rd St., 4th St. and 112th St., while on the North River they are located at the foot of Barrow St., 50th St. and 129th St.

TOURING THE WATER FRONT

During the season there are observation yachts running on regular schedules, touring the water front from the Palisades on the Hudson to Blackwell's Island on the East River, while there is one observation boat that continues the trip through the Harlem and North River, making a complete circuit of the city.

Stock Exchange

10-12 Broad Street, built of selected Georgia marble, and is 123 feet in height. The statutary in the facade is among the finest of its kind in this country. The Stock Exchange consists of 1100 members. The Exchange was first organized in 1792 by a group of brokers. The membership is limited and worth a small fortune.

Typical Docks on the Hudson River These docks and piers are magnificent in conception and in their vast distances, eminently fitting to be the last stop before reaching London, Paris, Rome, and other great centres of the old world.

FERRY CONNECTIONS

Manhattan, being an island, is connected to the mainland by adequate ferry service at every available point. Some of the most important ferries are as follows:

Astoria-Ft. of E. 92nd St.

Blackwells Island-Ft. E. 26th and 53rd.

NEW YORK POST OFFICE

The Old Post Office Building is at Broadway and Park Row, and the new one on 8th Ave. between 31st and 32nd Deliveries to hotels, 7:45 A. M., 9:20 A. M., 10:40 A. M., 12:15 noon; 1:15 P. M., 3 P. M. and 4:15 P. M.

General delivery at Main Post Office. Visitors are advised to have their mail

PUBLIC COMFORT STATIONS

Toilets for the convenience of the public are to be found at the following locations: Abingdon Square, Battery Park, City Hall Square, Chatham Square, Greeley Square, Hanover Square, Square and Long Acre Square; also at the corners of Fulton and Williams Sts., Delancey and Sheriff Sts., Third Ave. and 129th St., at the approach to the Willis Ave. Bridge and in all Subway Stations. There is also a comfort station at the rear of the Public Library Building at 42nd St. and 5th Ave.

Broadway at City Hall Park Where the crowds teem their through the canyon-like street; a notable contrast with upper Broadway, where the pleasure-loving throngs make the sidewalks almost impassable.

Approach to Manhattan Bridge

The plaza to the Manhattan Bridge marks a new epoch in bridge architect, combining, as it does, utility with classic beauty. Its location is just off from the heart of the Bowery.

NEW YORK'S FAMOUS TUNNELS

Probably the best known of the river tunnels of New York is the McAdoo Tube, which is operated by the Pennsylvania Railway connecting its New York depot with the West Hudson shore. Next in importance is the Hudson Tube, which connects the State of New Jersey with New York at Christopher St., having several stations between Wall and 33rd Sts., which enables rapid transit between New York, Hoboken, Jersey City, Newark and Manhattan Transfer. The Battery Tunnel under the East River extends from the Battery to Joralemon St. in Brooklyn. The Belmont Tun-nel connects New York at 42nd St. and Lexington Ave., with Jackson Ave. in Long Island City. The Montague Street Tunnel connects Whitehall St. in New York to Montague St. in Brooklyn. The Old Clark Street Slip con-nects lower Manhattan with Clark St. in Brook-The 14th Street lyn. Tunnel connects New York at that point with St. in Brooklyn, while the 60th Street Tunnel connects that York section of New with Queensboro Plaza in Long Island City.

NEW YORK'S RAILWAY DEPOTS

The two largest depots of the world are located in New York City; the Grand Central Terminal at Park Ave. and 42nd St. is unique in that it occupics a total area of seventy-nine acres, with many levels, having a capacity for about 1,200 passenger cars. The building proper is 300x600 feet and over 100 feet in height. All trains therein are moved by electricity. The Pennsylvania Station is 430x785 feet and 153 feet high. It occupies two entire blocks from 7th Ave. to 8th Ave. and from 31st to 33rd St., while underlying and adjoining yards cover nearly six city blocks. All trains are moved electrically, and this depot is connected by the twin tubes under the Hudson River with the Jersey shore and great terminal yards there.

The Central Railway of New Jersey Depot is located in Jersey City and reached by ferry at the foot of Liberty St. or West 23rd St.

The Erie Depot is also in Jersey City, but reached via the Hudson Tube at any of their entrances between Chambers and 33rd Sts.

The Lackawanna Depot is in Hoboken, reached via ferry at Barclay, Christopher or 23rd Sts., or by the Hudson Tube.

The Staten Island Rapid Transit Depot is at the foot of Whitehall St.

The West Shore and Ontario and Western Depots are at Weehawken, N. J., reached via ferries at foot of Cortland and West 42nd Sts.

And the New York, Westchester and Boston Station at 132nd St., via Third Ave. Elevated Road.

Manhattan Bridge
Total length of this bridge is 6855 feet. It is of double-deck design, and extends out of the heart of New York's east side just off Chinatown.

A Glimpse of the Bowery

The Bowery is no longer lined with the desperate resorts that were there of old. It is now a respectable business street and becoming more popular every year.

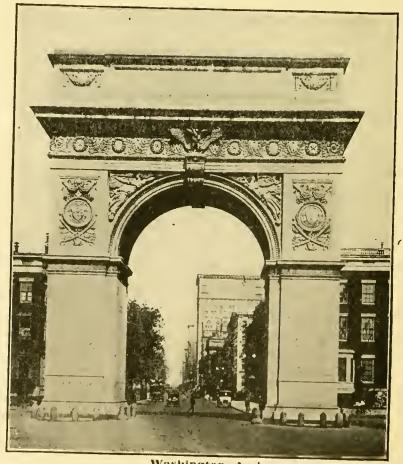

CONVENTION ACCOMMODATIONS

New York is the ideal convention point of America, with innumerable halls throughout the City while many of New York's hotels have large and well equipped banquet rooms for convention use, with capacity from 100 to 2,000 people.

SEEING BROADWAY

By all means a visitor to this city should see its most famous thoroughfare - the longest avenue in the world. This can be economically accomplished by taking a lower Broadway surface car, from Bowling Green transferring at 42nd St. to the upper Broadway The cars. following points of interest may be noted: No. 2 Broadway is the site of the old Keeney House, a famous hotel at which General Washington and Lee made their headquarters. No. 26 is the home of the Standard Oil Company. At Wall Street is the Trinity Church and its famous cemetery. At the corner of Vesey St. is the St. Paul Church where Washington worshipped. At 220 is located Park Row with the City Post Office in the foreground. Just beyond is what is left of the old Aster House-now practi-cally abandoned. Beyond, to the right is the old City Hall and new Municipal Building. At 9th St. is John Wanamaker's Department Store and just beyond Grace Church. At 14th St. Union Square is reached; at 23rd St., Madison Square; at 32nd St., Gimbel's Department Store, and at 34th St., Herald Square and Macy's Department Store. At 42nd St. Times Square is crossed and at 59th St., Columbus Circle, the southwestern entrance to Central Park. From there on one passes through a New York residential section comprised of many magnificent hotels, apartment houses and private residences. This section is often called the beautiful upper West Side. There are also many prominent churches and public buildings. Columbia University and Barnard College extend from 115th St. to 120th St. Washington Heights, which lies beyond, is an attractive residential section.

Washington Arch
This beautiful arch of white marble was erected in 1893 by popular subscription. It replaced a temporary arch built in 1889 at the time of the centennial of Washington's inauguration.

Grand Central Terminal—42nd St. and 5th Ave.
Largest and most costly station in the world, remarkable for its architectural beauty.

DOING FIFTH AVENUE

This famous avenue is best seen from Washington Square by auto bus, taxi, brougham or touring car and riding out to and beyond Central Park. BRIDGES

Anyone interested in the wonderful accomplishment in modern engineering should inspect the seven famous bridges that span the East The Brooklyn River. Bridge is probably the best known and connects Brooklyn with downtown New York at the City Hall Square. It carries the bulk of the Brooklyn traffic, and has been one of the principal show places of New York. It was commenced in 1870 opened for traffic in 1883. Its extreme length is 5,889 ft. Its river span is 1,596 ft. Its height is 135 ft., width 85 ft., and cost $22,500,000. Next in importance is the Williamsburg Bridge which was commenced in 1896 and finished in 1903. It is the greatest suspension bridge in the world. Its total length being 7,200 ft., and its main span 1,600 ft. Its width is 118 ft., its height above the river 135 ft., and cost $25,000,000. It is located just north of Brooklyn Bridge. Queensboro Bridge connecting Brooklyn with East 59th St., with a total length of 8,600 ft. It is of a different type than the two previously mentioned bridges, the former two being of the suspension type and this being of cantilever type; it represents an investment of $18,000,000. Manhattan Bridge is probably the most architectural design of New York's famous bridges. This structure was commenced in 1901 and opened to foot passengers in the Spring of 1910. It connects the Bowery with Brooklyn; the approach being illustrated herein. $26,-000,000 was spent in its erection. Hell Gate Bridge, from an engineering point, is probably the greatest accomplishment in New York bridge construction. It cost $27,000,000, connects 141st St. with Long Island and is the short cut for freight and passenger train service on transcontinental trips. Washington Bridge, from 181st St., Manhattan to Aqueduct Ave., in the Bronx, and High Bridge in the vicinity (used for carrying the Croton Aqueduct water supply in Manhattan) are both well worth a visit.

New York City Public Library

Built of Vermont marble, at a cost of $9.000,000,000. The main reading room is the largest in the world. Faces Fifth avenue between 40th and 42nd streets. Here you will doubtless find your home paper on file.

LIBRARIES, ART GALLERIES, ETC.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, located on the 5th Ave. side of Central Park, opposite the 81st St. entrance is a storehouse of master arts, ancient treasures and historical records, unique in itself. Also contains the famous Morgan and Altman collections of art. It is open daily including legal holidays, and free to the public except on Mondays and Fridays.

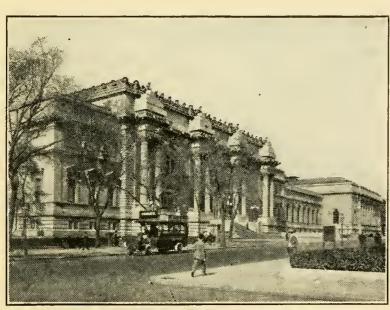

Through Central Park to Columbus Ave. and 77th St. is the American Museum of Natural History, where is exhibited nature's handy-work and art. It is open each week day from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., and on Sunday afternoons. Free to the public.

The Hispanic Society at 156th St. and Broadway, exhibits art and historical objects of Spanish origin as well as maintaining a library representative of that nationality. It is best reached by the Van Cortlandt Subway Express to 157th St. or the Ft. George Bus.

New York Historical Society at Central Park West and 76th St. is open daily except holidays and during the month of August. Its Library contains about 70,000 volumes, besides this there are about 1,200 objects of Egyptian antiquities, also about 800 pictures of modern paintings by renowned masters and 60 pieces of valuable sculpture.

The National Academy of Design is a noted art institution founded in 1826 and located at 109th St. and Amsterdam Ave. Best reached by the Broadway Subway to 110th St. Free admission.

Metropolitan Museum of Art
Its 275,000 square feet of exhibition floor space houses collections of art objects of incalculable value, in all branches of the fine arts. Located in Central Park-5th Ave. section.

Residential Section—Fifth Avenue The ancient and mediaeval castles of feudal barons were rabbit warrens compared to some of the imposing piles of marble and brownstone that rear their patrician heads on this never-to-be-forgotten street.

The Mercantile Library containing over 200,000 volumes is located at Lafayette Place and 8th St.

The New York Public Library on 5th Ave., between 40th and 42nd Sts., with 50 branches throughout the City is a consolidation of the Astor, Lenox and Tilden Libraries, with endowments by Andrew Carnegie. The main library contains over 2,500,000 books and is open daily, including Sundays.

The Cooper Union or Institute was erected in 1856 by Peter Cooper as a free reading room and library for the poor. It is one of the sights of the City and contains a free college, embracing day and evening schools, maintained through an endowment of $300,000.00. It is well worth a visit. The sight of a library filled with generally poorly dressed but orderly students eager to learn, leaves a lasting impression.

Museum of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Eastern Parkway and Washington Ave. Open daily. Free, except on Mondays and Tuesdays, when admission of 25 cents is charged.

Grant's Tomb
Commanding a magnificent view of the Hudson, Grant's Tomb rises majestically at 123rd St and Riverside Drive. Here rest the bodies of General and Mrs. Grant. On the north side of the tomb is the famous Gingko tree, the gift of China.

CITY PARKS AND DRIVES

New York's famous pleasure land is Central Park, which lies between 59th and 110th Sts. to the west of 5th Ave. It contains 870 acres, has 9 miles of auto roads and 28 miles of walks, besides 5 miles of bridle paths. There is a menagerie, with everything from elephants to birds and from goldfish to reptiles, besides a museum of art and natural history.

Riverside Park and Riverside Drive skirt the east bank of the Hudson River, north from 71st St. Here are located the Sailors' and Soldiers' Monument, Grant's Tomb and Joan of Arc Monument, also the residence of Charles M. Schwab and many other beautiful homes, also imposing apartment houses.

Battery Park is at the lower end of Broadway and contains 21 acres. Its name is due to the fact that a battery was located here during the time of the Revolutionary War. Castle Garden was located at this point in 1847. It was here that Jenny Lind was first introduced to the public. At present the building is occupied as an aquarium and is open to the public, and is one of New York's points of interest. Adjoining this park, to the east, is Bowling Green, made famous by history.

Gramercy Park lies between 20th and 21st Sts. and Lexington Ave. It is a privately owned green, created by an aristocratic colony of old and wealthy families who lived in that neighborhood and is reserved for the nurses and children of that section.

Washington Square or Washington Park, as it is sometimes called, occupies 9 acres at the southern terminus of 5th Ave., and covers the old Potter's Field, wherein more than 100,000 abandoned dead were buried by the City's forefathers. During the Civil War it was used as a military training ground and today it is beautified with the famous $250,000 Washington Marble Arch.

Union Square is at Broadway and 14th St., with its bronze statues of Washington, Lincoln and Lafayette, is the rendezvous for "soap box" orators.

Stuyvesant Square at 15th St. and 2nd Ave. is famous as being part of the original Stuyvesant property, created as a breathing place for residents of Colonial days.

City Hall Park takes its name from the city building located there. It was in this park that Washington read the Declaration of Independence to the American Army on Juyl 9th, 1779. The Post Office, the esplanade of the Brooklyn Bridge and the famous Newspaper Row face this park.

Madison Square occupies a block between 23rd and 26th Sts., between 5th and Madison Aves., and has many historical statues.

Morningside Park commemorates and marks the location of Fort Laight, one of the original block house defenses of the War of 1812. It extends from Central Park to 123rd St.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument

Overlooking the Hudson, on Riverside Drive at 89th Street. A memorial to the men who fought for the Union in the civil war. New York City has many memorials to their departed defenders but none is more popular than this one. On a pleasant Sunday afternoon it is a rendezvous for neighborhood "cliff dwellers."

A Bit of Riverside Drive

Riverside Drive, which begins at 72d St., winds its beautiful way along the banks of the Hudson for miles, a magnificent avenue lined with monuments, statues, palatial homes and imposing apartment houses.

Mount Morris Park contains 20 acres and is crowned by an Observatory on a rock hill overlooking 5th Ave. between 120th and 124th Sts.

Van Cortlandt Park contains over a thousand acres and is given over to parade grounds, golf links, etc. In this park is located the Van Cortlandt Mansion, built in 1748.

Bronx Park, wherein is located the Botanical Gardens. In attractions it rivals Central Park. The Zoological Gardens there are open free to the public except on Mondays and Thursdays.

Another park of interest is Pelham Bay, containing nearly 2,000 acres of unimproved ground, which has been recently used by the Government as a naval station.

Besides individual parks, one hundred and twenty miles of parkways are maintained, as well as 94 playgrounds and 9 recreation piers. There are also public baths, gymnasium and bathing beaches owned and operated by the city. No city in the world takes better care of its population in the matter of recreation than does New York and in no city are such efforts more appreciated.

CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE

This famous Obelisk, erected in the 16th century B.C., near Cairo, Egypt, and in 1881 presented to the United States by the Khedive of Egypt, stands in Central Park near the Metropolitan Museum.

The Museum of the American Indian

Located at Broadway and 155th street. This beautiful building, which interprets the Indian at every stage of evolution and development in art and life, is the newest museum in the city, opened in the fall of 1921 and free to visitors. The "Rock Shelter" and "Bark Hut" groups are not only interesting but instructive to those who desire enlightenment on the activities of the Manhattan Indian before the discovery of America.

Low Memorial Library of Columbia University

This library, presented to the university by Seth Low, as a memorial to his father, contains over half a million volumes. Columbia was founded as King's College in 1754 with a royal charter.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

The site of Columbia University extends from 116th St. to 120th St. and from Broadway to Amsterdam Ave. It is one of the five foremost institutions of higher learning in America. Its Museum of Natural History is open to the public.

The College of City of New York on Ave. Amsterdam St. occupies a 140th series of handsome and unique buildings. Tuition is free to all men residing in New York, graduating out of the City schools. Manhattan College is in Manhattanville.

Besides these New York has many colleges, academies and private schools.

HALL OF FAME

A circular colonnade of surprising originality, containing bronze tablets commemorating Americans who have gone down in history as furthering the interests of science, literature, art and territorial development of the United States, is located on the New York University Campus and is a gift of Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard. It is best reached via Broadway Subway Express to 181st St., with transfer to University Ave. surface line.

American Museum of Natural History

Housing an exhibit covering 11 acres in space, consisting of the largest collection of gems in existence, wonderful fossils of primitive man and all animals, fowls and fish, preserved in skeleton, fossil and stuffed forms, to illustrate the ages which have passed into history. The Museum is located at Central Park West, 77th Street and Columbus Avenue. It was incorporated in 1869 and supported by subscriptions, the city and endowment funds. The exhibit halls are open to the public every day in the year.

CONEY ISLAND

Coney Island has been called the play-ground of New York, and there is no question that it is the largest resort of its kind in the world. Here, during the season, are found strange playfellows—rich and poor, quality and trash, patrician and plebeian. The walls of caste are razed at Coney Island, the only question that is asked of a visitor being: "How much noise can you make?" They are also somewhat interested in how much money the visitor has brought along, but this last is not so all-essential, because it is truly surprising with how little the person who knows the ropes can get along here.

During the hot season Coney Island daily entertains more pleasure seekers than the entire population of many of our good-sized cities. Surf Avenue, its main street, is a noisy and colorful bedlam of attractions, eating and drinking places, and "ballyhoo" men, which is the name given to the barker who, mounted on rostrums before their various shows, attract the crowd by the might of their lungs and by the means of clever and ingenious devices.

At the end of Surf Avenue is the beach—probably the most crowded, the merriest and maddest beach in all the world. Just below the entrance to the beach is the Municipal Bath House, which has a capacity of seven thousand people at one time, where the only charge is ten cents for use of lockers, checking valuables, etc. This is a magnificent building of Roman lines and looms over the ocean like a temple on one of the original seven hills of Rome.

Luna Park has been called the heart of Coney Island. It was built eighteen years ago by Thompson and Denby, who won fame the Pan-American Exposition, and was the finest thing of its kind in the world then. It still is, although it has passed from the hands of the original owners since then. Luna Park contains what is perhaps the largest ball room in the world. It is more than a city block in area. and its glittering, polsurface reflects the myriad colored lights like a midnght pool shot through with all the gradations of the rainbow.

Other parts of Coney Island, not so crowded and rather more particular in the company they keep, are Manhattan Beach and Brighton Beach. The old Brighton Beach Race Track is now an aviation field.

Coney Island can be reached by taking the new Subway express train at Brooklyn Bridge; a slower but pleasant way is by boat from the Battery; or if one wishes to see the Hudson River waterfront, by the same boat from 129th Street.

PROMINENT MARKET PLACES

Washington Market, established in 1812, is at West and Fulton Sts., and covers one square block. It is the largest retail market in the City and well worth one's time to visit as a point of interest. Easily reached by Elevated Railroad or Hudson Tunnel, being just a short distance from either.

The Fulton Market, at Fulton St. and East River, is the largest wholesale fish market in the world.

Wallabout Market in Brooklyn is the largest market in the world, containing, as it does, 36 acres.

Gansevoort Market in Manhattan takes in two entire blocks, bounded by Washington, Little 12th, West and Gansevoort Sts. 4:00 A. M. is the busiest hour of the day here.

Jumel Mansion

't was here that George Washington had his headquarters in 1776 and where his cabinet dined in 1790. In the summer of 1877 the British Army occupied it as an officers' headquarters. In 1810 Stephen Jumel offered it to Napoleon as his future home. In 1903 the city bought the property and turned it over to the Daughters of the American Revolution for the display of relies. It is opened daily to visitors. Its location is at 169th street, near Amsterdam avenue. This building is generally conceded to be the most famous of the historical houses of New York City.

SLUMMING IN NEW YORK

One cannot learn of the cosmopolitan life of New York without visiting the slumming section. Baxter Street is a short, narrow and dingy thoroughfare, occupied by the lower type of Hebrew race, who invariably barter merchandise for less than cost—so they modestly ad-Mulberry Street is likewise narrow and dirty, with tenements on both sides of the street, whose occupants barely exist in their poverty. The Russian quarters will be found at Chatham Square, off of East Broadway and are populated by Russians, Poles, Jews, Bohemians, Hungarians, and is the popular political refuge of those who escape from their home country. Judea is the general term applied to a thickly populated tenement district comprised of Forsythe, Allen, Orchard, Ludlow and Canal Streets. The Bowery is the trade section of the low type of Jew and German and a headquarters for immigrants when they first land in America. It gained its reputation years ago because of its poverty and immorality, but with the advent of the missions the character of the street has been steadily improving.

PROMINENT CHURCHES IN MANHATTAN

New York is famous for its churches as well as its surremacy in many other activities.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, now being constructed on Morningside Heights, between 110th and 113th Sts., will be when completed the grandest ecclesiastical edifice in America. The corner stone was laid in 1892 and there is no definite promise as to its probable date of completion. However, a portion is open to worship, and the pipe organ is supposed to be the finest ever erected, making it a strong inducement for Protestant Episcopalians to worship there. Services at 8, 10, 11 and 4 o'clock on Sundays.

St. Patrick's Cathedral at 50th St. and 5th Ave. is the most magnificent Roman Catholic Church in the United States. The building cost $2.000,000 exclusive of the ground. The church is open all day.

St. Mark's Church (Protestant Episcopal) is located at 10th and Stuyvesant Sts. This edifice is the second oldest church in Manhattan and the oldest congregation in the city. Beneath the foundation rests the body of Peter Stuyvesant, as well as the remains of many other old time prominent New Yorkers. Services are at 8, 11 and 4 o'clock on Sundays.

Trinity Episconal Church, on Broadway facing Wall St., was originally built in 1697 and frequently reconstructed since. The present edifice has been standing for seventy odd years. In its church yard lie the remains of many prominent Americans, among them being the body of Alexander Hamilton and Robert Fulton. The wonderfully carved altar is a memorial to the late William B. Astor. Services 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 3:30 Sundays.

St. Paul's Episcopal Chapel, at Broadway and Vesey St., built in 1766 as a chapel of Trinity parish, is now the oldest church building in the city. Washington's pew therein is a point of interest. Services 8, 10:30, 5 and 8 o'clock on Sundays.

Grace Church at Broadway and 10th St. was erected in 1840 and in the garden north of the building is an urn excavated in Rome, dating from the time of Nero. Services, 8, 11 and 8 o'clock on Sundays.

The Funeral Church, Broadway and 66th St., is a non-sectarian place of worship, made famous for its funeral services held for people of prominence. It is the only church of its kind in America.

The Little Church Around the Corner (Church of the Transfiguration) has been made famous by members of the theatrical profession. It is located on 29th St. Just east of 5th Ave. Hours of worship. 8, 11, 4 and 8 o'clock on Sundays.

The prominent churches in Manhattan and Bronx are:

RETAIL SHOPPING

European markets have, heretofore, been the goal of buyers' ambition, but the great war has changed the purchasing centre to the New World, and New York now possesses many advantages that "over seas" use to offer as inducements, for America is today the recognized fur market, that heretofore belonged to Russia; while Holland occupies a second place in diamonds, giving way to New York, which now vaults more precious stones than any other city in the world. Yesterday we visited Paris for the latest creations in women's apparel, today New York designers consider Paris fashions pasee. Because of war conditions the exquisite perfumes for which France was famous are now prepared in Gotham and exported to France for distribution. This year finds more Oriental rugs offered for sale in New York, then the extrince steek of European more Oriental rugs offered for sale in New York than the entire stock of European countries.

New York City has the largest department stores in the world, numbering among the more important may be mentioned Hearn's, Gimbel's, Altman's, the world, numbering tioned Hearn's, Gimbel's, Stearn's, Lord & Taylor's, etc.

Many of the specialty shops, in quite a number of merchandise lines, have made national reputations for themselves; while the class stores between 50th and 14th Sts., from Broadway to Madison Ave., are for the most part a credit to the city, though unfortunately, there are some merchants who, like the story of the spider and the fly, lurk behind attractive showcases awaiting a chance unsuspecting victim victim.

It is wise, therefore, for the visitor to "know" where to trade—and in the ab-"know" where to trade—and in the absence of a more reliable source of information, to confine himself to stores, taurants and hotels which are not afraid of printers' ink-those building a reputatheir wares—their service, and their prices through the daily press and other recognized mediums of legitimate publicity.

It would not be out of place to mention a few of Gotham's business activities that cater to visitors. Among the restantion a few of Gotham's business activities that cater to visitors. Among the restaurants may be mentioned: Cavanaugh's, at 258 W. 23rd St., near 7th Ave, and the chain operated by the St. Regis Restaurants, Inc.; while the Russian Inn, 57 W. 37th St. gives delightful sensations in food, service and customs characteristic of the nation it aims to represent in America. Cadillac Restaurant, at Broadway and 43rd St., is also establishing a reputation for its popular prices; while the Port Arthur, at 7 Mott St., in Chinatown, has a real atmosphere of Far East splendor found nowhere else in New York.

Among the specialty shops well patronized by visitors may be mentioned Boue Soeurs, at 13 W. 56th St., which is a branch of the famous Parision establishment baying a reputation and distinction. ment having a reputation and distinction in gowns enviable by many of its near-by competitors.

Wm. H. Pries, at 127 W. 40th St., maintains show-rooms of metal arts and ornaments of antique, medieval and modern designs that are becoming recognized as standard by connoiseurs.

While among the souvenir stores the Art Shop at 239 Fifth Avenue, and at 50 Broadway, which has an endless assortment of special gifts and novelties for the visitor. visitor.

Cahn's Art Shop at 27th St. and Fifth Ave. is also recognized as a mart for those who wish to purchase postal cards, pictures, frames and souvenirs to send to their friends or to take away with them as mementos of their visit.

VISITING BUYERS GUIDE

The Sweetsson Service confines its activities to Hotel, Club, Restaurant and interest akin, in advising with regards to the purchasing of supplies for "feeding and housing." It makes no effort to extend its field of operation beyond these confines, and uses the American Hotel Supply Directory as its "first aid" in such sources of supplies. Because of the many calls daily upon the publisher for names of prominent manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers in other lines of supplies, the following list is offered of producers and distributors to whom the Sweetsson Service unhesitatingly recommends out-of-town purchasers.

There are many directories or buyers' guides published which list "Tom. Disk

There are many directories or buyers' guides published, which list "Tom, Dick and Harry"—without regard to their prominence or business methods. Not so with the following record. An invitation has been extended, we believe, to every worthwhile member of these trades in Greater New York to use this medium to invite new accounts from sound commercial activities entitled to reasonable credit accommodations—and the following responded thereto, representing manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers who extend a welcoming hand to the out-of-town visitors:

AIMONE GALLERIES

ANTIQUES-FINE FURNITURE-OBJETS d'ART

Many of the beautiful homes and gardens of America have been enriched by the addition of rare pieces from the AlMONE Galleries. The collection is always changing. Annual pilgrimages to Europe keep it ever new. Before you leave town come to these Galleries as you would to a museum, with the same anticipation of delight, and the same freedom from all obligations.

REN'T many sales lost to your store because A. B. C. silk and cotton fabric is sold in only one department?

Wouldn't A. B. C. be a big seller in the Wash Goods Department as well as in the Lining Department?

Isn't it a good suggestion to have the buyers of both departments agree to carry A. B. C. and let the store get all the sales possible?

How is your A. B. C. stock now?
