SIR JOHN HAWKINS'S
GENERAL HISTORY
OF
THE SCIENCE AND PRACTICE OF MUSIC.

COMPLETION OF THE WORK.

Now ready,

Price 35s., Bound in Two Volumes.

,, 16s., Supplementary Vol. of Portraits.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

In the present age, when public attention is so extensively directed towards the study and practice of Music, it has been thought that a new edition of Sir John Hawkins's valuable History of the Science and Practice of Music would prove peculiarly acceptable, as being by far the best history of the Art extant.

The whole of the original text has been printed in its integrity, together with the Illustrations of Instruments (for which more than 200 Woodcuts have been engraved), the Musical Examples, and the Fac-similies of Old Manuscripts.

The form adopted, super-royal 8vo., has the advantage of bringing much more matter under the eye at one view, and in point of economy the 2722 pages of the Quarto are comprised in 1016 pages. The paging has been continued from the beginning to the end, as more simple for reference, and to enable those who like such information in one volume, to bind it in that form; but provision has been made, by adding a second title after page 486, to divide the work into two volumes, an arrangement which may generally be preferable.

The Medallion Portraits of Musical Composers, which were in the Quarto edition, have been printed in a separate volume; these may be purchased optionally, and thus decrease the price of the History to those with whom economy must be a consideration. They consist of upwards of sixty portraits, printed from the original copperplates engraved for the 1776 edition; to which has been added a portrait of Sir John Hawkins himself from the painting in the Oxford Music School, through the courtesy of the surviving members of his family. All the additional manuscript notes which adorn the Author's own copy left to the British Museum, are inserted (by permission of the authorities) in the edition now presented to the public: it may therefore be considered what a new edition edited by Sir John Hawkins himself would have been; the additions in text or notes are distinguished by being printed in italics.

To ensure the careful reproduction of matter of such varied character, the assistance of many correctors has been secured. The general correction of the press was confided to Mrs. Cowden Clarke, but the pages also passed under the eye of the musician, the mathematician, and the classical linguist. In these departments, various portions have had the care of Mr. Edward Holmes, Mr. Josiah Pittman, Mr. W. H. Monk, and Mr. Burford G. H. Gibsons, with occasional suggestions from other well-wishers; and the whole work, such advantage as might be derived from the Publisher's printing experience.

There has been added a Memoir of the Author, compiled from original sources, which will be read with interest; but it is anticipated that the most valuable addition to the book will be found in the carefully-made general and other Indexes. The large subject of a History of Music, embracing heterogeneous matter and the result of wide research, makes it a storehouse to which a definite clue is required in giving ready access. The Indexes have been going on coterminously with the printing of the book; and Mrs. Cowden Clarke's experience derived from her Concordance to Shakespeare, fitted her especially for the task of their compilation. A table of parallel books, chapters, and pages has been added, to render the new Indexes available for those who possess the Quarto edition.

In concluding these brief but necessary words of explanation, the warmest thanks are offered to the editorial friends above specified, as also to those kind supporters who have subscribed for the work during its periodical issue by the Public's, and their obedient servant,

THE PUBLISHER.
