TO PERSONS WEARING SPECTACLES

THIS is not a personal matter, but merely a friendly advice to my customers and all those who wish to preserve their sight unimpaired. The visual organs are of sufficient importance to require the greatest care in the selection of glasses when one is compelled to resort to spectacles. We must, consequently, guard against high-sounding advertisements published by charlatans, who, for a very little, for the eyes of purchasers, and those only object to be sold as many spectacles as they can at extravagant prices.
Purchasers must not suffer themselves to be deceived by a pair of spectacles which make things look larger or nearer than they really are, and which always injured, sooner or later, by our seeing too clearly. The glasses must be sufficiently strong, and colors (with not to be taken unless the change cannot possibly be avoided.
I am of opinion that every one has a perfect right to impose of goods as he chooses, but I also deem it my duty to caution those whose confidence I have enjoyed for many years against pompous articles about new discoveries, such as "Brazilian Pebbles," "Arkansas Pebbles," &c., &c. Those names are only given for the purpose of attracting public attention, and there is not a word of truth in what is said. There is but one kind of good spectacle glasses, whether made of ordinary or pebble glasses, it is those which are well finished, and pure, and suit the eyes without fatiguing them.
I am attended that physicians, and competent persons generally, concur in the above expressed opinion.
