

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

TURKEY'S DOWNFALL WILL BE SIGNAL FOR CHRIST'S RETURN SAY ADVENTISTS

(By Frank A. Coffin, Glendale, Cal.)
Sir Edward Grey's recent statement in the House of Commons that England is in entire sympathy with Russian access to the open sea through the Dardanelles, the reported declaration of Minister Sazanoff in the Russian Duma that Russia intends permanently to occupy Constantinople, and the Sultan's removal to Asia Minor are of more than ordinary interest to thousands of Seventh Day Adventists throughout the world. They believe Turkey's downfall will be the signal for Jesus Christ's return to earth in clouds of glory, accompanied by millions of angels, that the righteous dead from Adam's day to the present then will arise from their graves in bodily form, and that during the millennium the earth will resemble a vast blackened stubble field, wicked men having been consumed by the glory of Christ's coming.

Although Seventh Day Adventists are known universally as thorough and ardent Bible students, it is safe to say that among the lay members of the denomination more study has been given to the prophecies of Daniel, Isaiah, Jeremiah and Revelation since the present war broke out than in many months before. In fact, the entry of Turkey into the present European cataclysm has revived the study of Bible prophecy to a greater extent than has been known since the religious movement of 1843 and '44.

The prophecy which the Seventh Day Adventists believe refers to Turkey is found in Daniel 11:44, 45 and 12:1, 2 and reads: "But tidings out of the East and out of the North shall trouble him; therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many. And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end and none shall help him. And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be written in the book. And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt."

Jerusalem lies "between the seas," and is called in Zechariah 8:3, "the holy mountain." Adventists therefore look for the Sultan eventually to make that his headquarters. But in spite of this, the empire will come to its end without the help it hitherto has had. Germany either will desert Turkey, or be prevented from rendering aid, say the Adventists, because the Scripture says, "None shall help him." Premier Asquith's recent statement at Guildhall is significant: "The entrance of Turkey into this war means the death knell of Ottoman dominion, not only in Europe but in Asia." Also it is interesting to know that the Mohammedans regard Jerusalem as a holy city, more important than Mecca or Medina, and point to it as a gathering-place at the end of the world.

Seventh Day Adventists say the "Michael" who is to "stand up" is Jesus Christ himself because Jude 9 calls Michael the "Archangel," or chief angel, and I Thessalonians 4:16 says of Christ that in raising the dead he speaks "with the voice of the Archangel." The expression, "stand up" they say, means, "begin to reign."

Between the time when Christ receives from his Father the kingdoms of earth, and his appearance in the clouds above the earth, the Adventists look for a "time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." They look for the gathering of the nations to "the war of that great day of God, the Almighty," culminating in the battle of Armageddon, on the plains of Megiddo, near Jerusalem, and base their belief on Revelation 16:14, 15, 16.

A. G. Daniells, president of the World conference of the Seventh Day Adventists with headquarters in Washington, D. C., is in the Orient visiting the institutions and churches of the denomination in that field, but in his absence, W. A. Spicer, secretary of the World conference, said, regarding the views of the Adventists on this subject:

"There should be no setting, of dates for the end of this age or for the coming of the Lord. 'Of that day and hour' said Jesus, 'knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only.' Matthew 24:36. This is not the time nor is this the subject for human speculations or predictions. Rather let the clear outlines of the prophecy be placed

EAT MORE TUBERS

WHEAT PRICES BOOST POTATOES AS A FOOD IN PLACE OF BREAD

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.—If wheat remains at its present high figure or continues to rise in price and if there is a corresponding increase in the price of bread, scientists in the United States department of agriculture suggest that the ordinary household will find it advantageous to eat more potatoes and less bread. With potatoes at sixty cents a bushel, ten cents' worth will give the consumer a little more actual nourishment than two one-pound loaves of bread at five cents each. The protein and fat are present in appreciably larger amounts in the bread, but the potatoes will be found to furnish more carbohydrates and more heat units.

Carbohydrates (starch) contribute greatly to the energy value of any diet and since potatoes are rich in these, families that wish to expend their money to the best advantage are recommended to consider whether they cannot make a more extended use of them. They are easy to cook and when prepared in different ways can be made to lend variety to the winter diet when green vegetables are hard to obtain. Like other foods relatively rich in carbohydrates, however, potatoes should be eaten with foods correspondingly rich in protein, such as milk, meat, eggs, etc., and with foods like butter, cream and meat fat to supply the fat that the body needs.

Under normal conditions in Europe and America the potato ranks next to bread as a carbohydrate food. If prices change sufficiently to make it desirable from a financial point of view, there is no scientific reason why potatoes should not be substituted to a great extent for bread. In addition, the potato like many fruits and vegetables, helps to neutralize an acid condition in the body. This is another reason for its being eaten in combination with meat, fish and other animal foods.—San Pedro News.

SOME RECORD

The newspaper has made presidents, killed poets, made bustles for beauties and punished geniuses with criticism. It has curtailed the power of kings, converted bankers into paupers and graced pantry shelves. It has made paupers college presidents, it has educated the poor and robbed the philosopher of his reason; it smiles, cries, dies, but it can't be run to suit everybody and the man will be crazy who tries it.—El Monte Gazette.

TURN ABOUT

Mr. Kipling, while on a visit to Mr. Hardy, went to see a house which the author of "Life's Little Ironies" thought would suit him. When Mr. Kipling moved out of earshot, Mr. Hardy observed to the occupant:

"I may mention to you that this gentleman is no other than Mr. Rudyard Kipling."

"Is that so?" she replied. "I never heard the name before."

Presently Mr. Kipling, in turn, found himself alone with the lady and remarked:

"Possibly you may not be aware that the gentleman who brought me here today is Mr. Hardy, the eminent author."

"Oh, indeed," was her reply. "I don't know his name."—London Express.

No child's life should be burdened with hard work and care. But no child should be permitted to grow up indolent and aimless.

alongside the plain facts of history.

"This same time of trouble for the nations is dealt with in a New Testament prophecy; and the end of the Turkish power is stated to be the signal for the day of trouble, just as the end of the king of the North (Turkey) is the signal for it in this prophecy of Daniel 11.

"In the 16th chapter of Revelation the prophet describes the drying up of the river Euphrates, the way is prepared for the next step,—the gathering 'of the whole world' to 'the battle of that great day of God, the Almighty'—the Armageddon of the nations. In all modern times the Euphrates has stood for Turkey and the Moslem empire.

"Events of deepest eternal interest are transpiring before our eyes. Let no soul say, 'I will wait and see, and believe and turn to God when Turkey comes to its end.' That means eternal loss. Then probation will have passed forever. 'Now is the accepted time,' not then; 'behold now is the day of salvation.'"

TO UNCHURCHED

MANY PROMINENT IN BUSINESS AND SOCIAL WORLD DRAWN TO HEAR PREACHING

(By Publicity Com.)

Weekly program of the tabernacle meetings:
Thursday, Glendale night.
Friday, school night.

Saturday, "isms" night—"Mormonism, Eddyism, Russellism."
Special service for women and girls Friday afternoon—"The Devil's Decoys."

Baraca banquet Friday at which Messrs. Brown and Curry will speak. Saturday, 10 a. m., organization of children's choir under Prof. Curry. Children's service Saturday afternoon at 2:30, at which children's chorus will sing for the first time. Thursday afternoon subject, "The Ideal Home."

In response to the evangelist's appeal for more unchurched to come unto the preaching of the gospel, the largest number of that classification so far in attendance on the great meeting turned up Wednesday night. Many prominent in the business and social circles of the three cities took in the old-fashioned revival, and there was a large delegation from Occidental college. Some of the college students were hindered from attending by lack of transportation, Eagle Rock being so near and yet so far when measured in shoe leather. The interest increases from night to night and scores are being won for the Christian life. The after-service is the big feature, practically the entire congregation remaining to the end. One wonders where all the people come from.

Rev. Edmonds led in prayer at the Wednesday afternoon service, thanking God for the glorious gospel and asking that the truth might fit each life.

The well-known Rom. 8:28 was chosen as a text for a sermon on human suffering.

The speaker made it clear that all things work together for good only in the life of the one who loves God and is the called of God.

The positive assertion, "we know," was emphasized. There is no "suppose" or "hope so" in the passage. Job, Paul and John were quoted for positive conviction on eternal verities.

All things work together, with emphasis on "together."

When the life is hidden with Christ in God nothing can happen that is not either sent or permitted of God.

The word "good" expresses the glorious end toward which all things move for the saint of God, and this little word is the key to this precious promise.

In conclusion the popular evangelist dealt with the poor unfortunates who suffer from the "society itch" and those who make material benefits the great pursuit of their lives. For the true child of God even physical health is not guaranteed. Bodily affliction was not dealt with on the cross. Paul was a physical sufferer.

There was great intensity of interest as the preacher put the question, "What would you ask if an angel from heaven sent from the throne of God to carry back your one request came to you?"

The wise answer to this momentous question is certainly found in the injunction, "Get right with God."

"Go Bury Thy Sorrow" was rendered by the noted singing evangelist and more and more the power of that consecrated voice is felt as the meeting progresses. The pathos and tenderness of a mother's heart with the firmness of a strong character comes near expressing the impression made by the messages in song which float out in delightful musical cadence over the little organ right home to thousands of hearts. The editor of "World-Wide Revival Songs" has put the same spirit into his selection of sacred music. Many of the leading church members have expressed the desire that enough of the copies of this classic in gospel song be secured by each church cooperating to enable the members of all the churches to occasionally meet for union revival singing, as well as for the purpose of carrying the atmosphere of the blessed meetings into the separate churches. The suggestion is a splendid one.

Many women and girls are anticipating the special meeting on Friday afternoon. Evangelist Brown will not commence to speak till 3 o'clock which will give plenty of time for the high school girls to reach the tabernacle. A nursery for "left-over babies" is located in the Baptist church. Mothers may check their musical boxes and receive them back at the close of the afternoon service with "records" just as sweet as ever. God bless the little tots and make us like unto them.

IN MEMORIAM

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES MARK THE LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. CHRISTINE CASPARY

Beautiful and impressive were the ceremonies that were held Saturday afternoon when all that was mortal of Mrs. Christine Caspary was laid tenderly and lovingly away. The services which were held at the family residence, 311 Gardena avenue, were conducted by Rev. Ryder of the Tropic Presbyterian church. Mrs. Hattie Boring and Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore sang very sweetly, "Rock of Ages," and "Asleep in Jesus." The pall bearers were Frank Lewis, Buell Butterfield, Charles Hall and M. R. Stieffel. At the close of the ceremonies the funeral cortege wended its way sorrowfully to beautiful Forest Lawn cemetery where the interment occurred. Many beautiful floral tributes were laid upon the mound where sleeps this good woman. A beautiful pillow of roses and carnations from the husband and children spoke so mutely of the love and tender care of these bereaved ones.

Mrs. Caspary was ill scarcely twenty-four hours when the silent messenger of death bore her spirit away to that bourne from whence no traveler ever returns.

Christina Caspary was born in Norway in 1873. There she was reared and educated and married. In 1897 she and her husband came to the United States, going to Chicago where they remained for 15 years. While in Chicago Mrs. Caspary's health began to fail and her husband brought her to California thinking the warm and genial climate and the glorious sunshine would restore his loved one to her usual health. In 1912 they arrived in Los Angeles where they remained until about six months ago when they came to Tropic residing on Gardena avenue. Mrs. Caspary was very happy here and was anticipating a complete recovery when a fatal hemorrhage hastened her passing to that other life.

Besides the widower, Einer Caspary who is left to mourn there also remain three daughters and one son, Gerda, eleven; Norma, nine; Einer, six and Ruth, five.

In early life while residents of Norway Mr. and Mrs. Caspary became members of the German Lutheran church and were always devoted Christians. Christina Caspary was a beautiful Christian woman, a loving wife and a devoted mother. She was always kind and gentle and radiated beautiful Christ-like faith. It can be fittingly said that, "None knew her but to love her, none knew her but to praise."

Mr. Caspary and children desire to express to the many loving friends and neighbors their full appreciation for the many kind acts that were tendered them during their bereavement.

GUESTS AT DURFEE HOME

Mrs. Milan D. Wiggins of Bloomingdale, Mich., is spending the week with Dr. and Mrs. I. H. Durfee. Mrs. L. E. Amidon and Mr. and Mrs. John Killifer of Los Angeles and Dr. Anna Durfee McCalla and Mrs. W. J. Ford of Hollywood, are also guests in the home of Dr. Durfee, 508 South Brand boulevard.

TO MOTHER

A Glendale lady has handed in the following poem, "To Mother," which she asks us to publish. The lady does not know who the author is, but we are glad to publish the poem as given to us:

Out in life's garden, where sympathy grew,
God planted a soul—'twas the soul of you.
Life's wonderful garden, love seeking, went through,
Till he found a heart—'twas the heart of you.
I have sought through life's garden of roses and rue,
And I find one sweet blossom, all jeweled with dew;
Love, sympathy, faith, all unchanging and true,
Are the heart of my flower—dear Mother, 'tis you.

KEEP EYES ON SACRAMENTO

The press of Los Angeles county, that is, the papers outside the city of Los Angeles, will do well to keep their weather eye turned toward Sacramento during the balance of the legislative session watching for the consolidation bill which it is promised is to bob up for passage. The time is inopportune for such legislation and the Los Angeles contingent should pass it up until such time as we are able to settle, amicably, the larger question of state division.—Alhambra Advocate.

MRS. M'NUTT WINS

BRINGS HOME SILK BANNER FOR EXCELLENCE IN PARLIAMENTARY DRILL

Among the Glendale ladies who attended the federation convention in Long Beach Wednesday were Mesdames Mattison B. Jones, Frank Grosvenor, Dan Campbell, Helen Campbell, Leavitt, Hutchinson, Fredrick Baker, Clotworthy, McReynolds, Usilton, S. W. Johnson, Hawkins, McElroy, Roberts, P. S. McNutt, Luther Brown, L. C. Rice, A. L. Weaver and Miss Winifred Jones.

The Glendale delegation came home with greatly enlarged heads as their representative in the parliamentary contest, Mrs. McNutt, brought home the banner and their president, Mrs. Jones, as chairman of political science of the federation, made a very clever speech.

The afternoon program was very enjoyable and those who remained for the musicale in the evening were more than compensated for remaining by the first number of the program, a selection by the stringed section of the women's orchestra, by Henry Schoenefelt, directed by the composer. Other beautiful numbers were given by the Matinee Musical club, the Schubert club, of which Mrs. J. T. Anderson, formerly of Glendale, is president; the Woman's Music Study club of Long Beach, the Harmonia club and the Woman's Music Study club of Santa Barbara. One interesting feature of the program was the fact that it was entirely an American program.

The Long Beach Telegram says of the parliamentary contest:

The most interesting feature so far as enthusiasm is concerned was the concluding event of this morning's session of the convention of the district federated clubs at Hotel Virginia.

This was the parliamentary contest inaugurated this year in which there were five contestants. The minutes allotted to the contest seemed as seconds and the situation was happily tense. The fifteen minutes of time allotted had expired and there were still standing Mrs. McNutt of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club and Mrs. S. V. Packard of the South Pasadena Improvement association.

Question after question parliamentary Mrs. Gleason propounded and the time, by unanimous vote, was extended five minutes. And still these two women stood their ground meeting every query promptly.

The five minutes up and the lunch hour past ten minutes, so the two contestants had to draw and to Mrs. McNutt fell the prize, a handsome silk banner, which was presented through courtesy of Mrs. Gleason by Mrs. J. A. Osgood, state parliamentarian. The members of the winning club, about twenty strong, stood and gave their club yell, and the applause was deafening. Other contestants were Mrs. R. G. Dupuy of the San Pedro Women's club, Mrs. Zimmerman, Travel club; Mrs. Trotter of the Women's City club of Long Beach.

FEBRUARY (1914) FLOODS

While a jury in Judge Myers' court held Wednesday that damage caused by floods of last spring was an act of providence, a jury in Judge Houser's court held that the Salt Lake Railroad company was responsible for damages caused by the same flood.

In the suit against the Salt Lake railway, Eugene L. Klein was awarded $1000 for damage to his property caused, he declared, when flood waters were dammed up by the company's bridge over the Arroyo Seco.

In a suit for $10,000 damages brought by Jesse Franklin, an El Monte rancher, against the Southern Pacific company, judgment was given for the company.

GAS COMPANY GRANTED RIGHT TO SELL BONDS

The railroad commission has issued an order authorizing the Santa Barbara Gas and Electric company to issue $100,000 of 6 per cent thirty-year bonds, to be used in retiring promissory notes amounting to $38,000, and for additions and betterments in the sum of $62,000. The order provides that the bonds shall be sold so as to net the company not less than 95 per cent of their par value plus accrued interest.

Recently a "princess" arrived in these parts with a story of escape from a harem, and pursuit by turbaned sleuths. She professed great fear of being captured. Of course, nobody believed the story, but the agent of her hypothetical highness got the yarn across all right. She turns out to be a movie heroine. Might have known it.

BIBLE IN LITERATURE

DESERVES PLACE AT VERY TOP OF ALL THE WORLD'S LITERATURE

(Read by Mrs. I. H. Durfee before the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club March 1.)

I trust it will not be detracting, in the least, from the great geniuses of the nations, nor casting a shadow upon the magnificent literary products of the ages, to place the Bible upon the very pinnacle of the literary productions of the world. In fact, I am inclined to assign to the Bible the place of the honored mother of all the best that is found in the field of letters. It is from her breast that the literature that lives and transforms thought and elevates humanity has largely drawn its nourishment. As a source of literary inspiration the use of the Bible is world-wide.

The literary gems from the pens of the world's most famous writers have received their inspiration and often their plot, either wholly or in part, from Bible stories and sacred subjects.

Spencer, who was recognized as the leading literary genius of his age, in expressing, through his allegorical production, the "Fairy Queen," the immutable principles that ought to regulate human conduct, only retinted and brought out in new dress the lessons already taught in the book of Revelation.

John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" is generally recognized as the best piece of allegorical literature extant. Its irresistible charm gratifies the imagination of the reader, enlists his feelings for human beings and stimulates his struggles against temptation from both within and without. It creates in his mind a sentiment of reverence for God and sympathy for man. And yet, this great literary gem draws both plot and inspiration from the Bible.

Milton's "Paradise Lost" is one of the few monumental works of the world, surpassed by nothing in modern epic literature and possibly has no equal. Yet the skeleton, the brain and the soul of this great treatise owes both fact and inspiration to the Bible. In his "Story of the Fall of Man," atonement by Christ, restoration and sanctification through Christ only, Milton is at one with the great book of truth.

Dante's is the first great name in literature after the night of the dark ages. If we had to select a name in literature that is still exercising its influence on mankind and whose teaching is still developing new sides to the coming generations, we should choose the name of Dante. Yet the mark of his greatest genius is found in his "Inferno."

Matthew Arnold, who held the chair of poetry and literature in Oxford university for ten years, says "The language of the Bible is not scientific, rigid and fixed, but is fluid, passing and literary." He pronounces the story of the Messiah as the very essence of poetry. He also says that Paul stood among the seven greatest literary men of history. Many of his own masterly productions are from Biblical themes.

Shakespeare, the greatest dramatist of modern Europe, declares that his taste for literature and the drama was begotten in early life by witnessing miracle plays mainly on Biblical subjects, and these plays, he said, made such an impression upon his boyhood mind that they were retained in his memory after he had reached man's estate. These Biblical plays not only shaped his mind, but formed the warp and woof of many of his best productions.

The psalms of David stand without a peer as the highest type of musical literature.

While some of the popular productions of the world are degrading, representing the lowest impulses of individual and social life, the Bible is clean. It occupies a place in the world's literature as the regulator of moral and spiritual life.

Sir Wm. Jones says: "The Scriptures contain, independently of a divine origin, more true sublimity, more exquisite beauty, purer morality, more important history and finer strains, both of poetry and eloquence, than could be collected, within the same compass, from all the books that were ever composed in any age, or in any idiom."

Goethe says: "It is a belief in the Bible, the fruits of deep meditation, which have served me as the guide of my moral and literary life. I have found it capital safely invested and richly productive of interest." And Dr. Giekie has said: "Literature and art owe all that is noblest in their creations to religion. They catch a different tone under its inspiration and rise to new ideals."

While much of human literature is composed of fictitious characters and imaginary scenes, Biblical literature is not. (Continued on Page 4)

BUSINESS FROGS

A frog jumps readily enough when put in warm water, yet a frog can be boiled without a movement if the water is heated slowly enough.

In a psychological experiment at Yale, water was heated at a rate of thirty-six ten-thousandths of a degree Fahrenheit per second. The frog never moved, and at the end of two and one-half hours was found dead. He had evidently been boiled to death without knowing it.

There are thousands of business frogs. They are not sensitive to business changes. They are being slowly boiled to death by the imperceptible degrees of change taking place in the businesses in which they are engaged.

There are even business frogs in the printing trade. They are being boiled to death without knowing it by the increasing cost of doing business—expenditures not reckoned when figuring cost and marking selling prices—profits diminishing. The thermometer is always going up and the business frog is being boiled to death without knowing it. As long as he hasn't a cost system.—Apologies to "Kellogg's Square Dealer."

MAKING HISTORY

When Kinglake was writing his history of the Crimean war he received letters from all sorts of people concerned in the war. One day a letter with a deep black border came from two people in the colonies, husband and wife, describing their grief. Their only child had been killed in the Crimea. They wanted to have him mentioned in the "History of the Crimean War." Kinglake was so touched that he replied by post that he would do his best if they would send him the necessary particulars. Again a letter, also black bordered, full of thanks, but with the following conclusion: "We have no particulars whatever to give you. He was killed on the spot, like many others, but anything you may kindly invent will be welcome. We leave it entirely to your imagination."—London Opinion.

MAKING A GOOD IMPRESSION

The earlier a man begins to make a good impression and uses every honorable means to that end, the further he will go in life.

The business man's good impression is made first by the stationery, printed matter and advertising literature that he uses. It is of vital importance to the growth and development of his business that he use only such printed matter as will make a favorable impression for his business on the mind of the recipient.—Quids and Quads.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ART SECTION

The art section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet with Mrs. W. W. McElroy, 712 South Adams street, Friday afternoon. The china painting class will begin work at this time.

Mrs. P. A. C. Moore has invited the W. C. T. U. to hold their annual meeting at her home, 116 West Fifth street, Friday, Feb. 5th, from 10 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present. Bring dues and lunch. There will be election of officers.

Rev. Leslie G. Parker of Illinois, Iowa and Idaho, after a month's visit at Pasadena with his wife's sister, is now temporarily domiciled in the California apartments. Rev. Parker is a cousin of E. F. Parker and a nephew of Samuel Parker, to whom the visit will be very pleasant on account of the two children—girl seven and boy five years of age. Rev. Parker graduated at Drake university, Des Moines, Iowa, at which noted place Rev. Dungan of our city was professor of New Testament literature, and has filled several important appointments in churches of the Christian denomination. He works while resting, serving the church at Hemet last Sunday and is booked for service at that thriving city next Sunday.

EXPLORERS OF AMERICA

Examining the differences between the motives that impelled the Spanish explorers of the new world and the English. Roland G. Usher explains why the Spaniards failed to colonize North America. He says: "The Spaniards came not to found homes, as the English did, but to hunt for gold, for the mysterious fountain of eternal youth, for the land where the Grand Khan, Prester John, Gog and Magog, and the mythical personages described by Sir John Mandeville and other imaginative medieval travelers dwelt in surpassing luxury and magnificence. They had read that there were rivers of diamonds, trees on which grew pearls and rubies, and a huge palace lighted by a single glorious carbuncle. The simple tale of Fray Marcos about his trip to the pueblos of Arizona was elaborated by breathless auditors into statements, greedily accepted, that he had seen a city as large as two Sevilles, where all the women wore great strings of golden beads, where all the men were silversmiths and where the very lintels of the doors were studded with emeralds and rubies. Such cities the Spaniards had expected to find; for such expeditions money and men were forthcoming. Their disappointment was great, for they found some adobe pueblos, into which door-jambs had been pressed with a no more skillful instrument than the Indian's thumb, rough, uncut topazes and garnets. The inhabitants were dark-skinned men and women clad in woolen blankets and wearing a few bracelets and anklets of rough-beaten gold and red copper. To the north Colorado found only huge herds of "hump-backed" cows; to the east, other explorers found the arid plains of Texas, and the swamps of Louisiana and Florida. They stood in the treasure house of the new world in the Elysian fields the race had so long sought, in the abode of wealth, liberty and hope; and they knew it not." So they turned "to Mexico and Peru, where the gold, silver and precious stones they had come for were to be found."

This month of February has no full moon. But they who tread the lover's lane are not worrying.

PERSONALS

Miss Dorothy Lee of 106 Cedar street is spending a few days in Los Angeles at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Way.

Miss Mable Douglas of Louise street one of the teachers of the Columbus avenue school, is entertaining several of her teacher friends with a dinner party this evening.

Miss Katherine McGrath, a well-known pianist of Los Angeles, spent several days this week with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell of Kenneth road.

Mrs. M. M. Barnett of Newhall, who formerly resided at 125 Kenwood street, is spending today with her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Oliver, of 124 Howard street.

Miss Eva Daniels and Mrs. Goodman Phillips of 1424 West Colorado will entertain the Triple K club on Wednesday afternoon of next week with a luncheon and sewing circle in the afternoon.

Tuesday evening Mrs. J. N. McGillis of 205 Lomita avenue spent the night at the home of her brother, Mr. Manson, who lives on Orange street, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. King of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Mrs. Clarence Thayer of Rockford, Ills., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston of 335 Everett street the first part of this week.

Among the Eagle Rock people who attended the meeting at the tabernacle on Tuesday evening were Mrs. J. F. Humphreys and daughter and they saw many of their old friends in the audience.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Crow of San Jacinto, with Mrs. Blanche Martin, Mr. G. E. Williams and Master Frank Martin, were dinner guests one evening recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McIntyre of 321 Cedar street.

They are organizing a Parent-Teacher association at the Doran street school this afternoon and hope to make this a strong working body immediately. The Parent-Teacher movement is one of the greatest things that has been started in recent years, and every parent should be interested in this mutual work for the help of the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McAdams and little boy of Santa Monica spent one day the first of the week with their brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McAdams of 919 Mariposa street. Mr. McAdams' mother, who has been very ill for several weeks in Santa Monica, is greatly improved, though not able to be about much as yet.

The Neighborhood Card club met with Mrs. Edward Grant on Milford street Wednesday afternoon, where a good time was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the hostess after the game, in which Mrs. Miller won the first prize and Mrs. Peet received the consolation. This jolly club will meet next time, which will be March 17th, with Mrs. Jenkins on Milford street.

Miss Marjorie Rambeau, the talented actress of whom Glendale is so justly proud, with her mother, Mrs. Rambeau, have returned from New York and are staying with Miss Rambeau's grandmother, Mrs. Kindelberger of 1023 Chestnut street. Miss Rambeau will play at the Morosco theater in Los Angeles this summer, where her friends will again have a chance to enjoy her talent.

Another delightful birthday surprise party was that given by Mrs. J. D. Griswold of 146 Cypress street for her niece, Miss Beatrice Robinson of Toronto, Canada, who is visiting here. The occasion was Miss Robinson's fifteenth birthday and about twenty young people were there to surprise her when she came in the room. The color scheme in decoration was pink and white, great quantities of carnations being used intermingled with smilax. And the refreshments carried out the same colors, the place of honor being occupied by a huge white birthday cake with fifteen pink candles. The young honoree received many pretty gifts and flowers and a delightful evening was spent in music and dancing.

Mrs. Lawrence Ellis attended an all-day meeting and luncheon of the Theta alumni in Los Angeles on Saturday.

Miss Clara Swails of Chicago is expected today to visit her mother and sister, Mrs. Swails and Mrs. Grace Taylor of 1432 Burchett street.

Miss E. A. Bingham, formerly of 325 South Central avenue, has taken apartments over the First National bank, corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower and little daughter, Ruth, and Mr. Tower's mother, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis of 541 South Kenwood.

Mrs. R. G. Payne of 325 South Central avenue has rented her home for six months and together with her daughter, Miss Frances Payne, have taken apartments at 404 South Brand boulevard.

The high school's third and last league debate will be with Santa Ana and Lincoln high schools. It will be held one week from Friday night. The Glendale team will be selected this coming Friday afternoon. The question will be relevant to the Monroe Doctrine.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Yeakel of Spokane, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. C. Burger of Anaheim, were calling on old friends in Glendale today. Mr. Yeakel was formerly engaged in business at Polo, Ills. Mr. Burger until about two years ago resided in Rockford of the same state.

Mrs. C. S. Westlake of 1458 Oak street entertained with a luncheon on Wednesday for Mrs. Edw. Siebke of Eagle Rock and Mrs. Caroline Weisenheimer and Mrs. Flora M. Pixley of Glendale. White hyacinths and violets formed a pretty setting for the occasion and a very pleasant afternoon was spent by the ladies.

Colonel and Mrs. Tom Thornton, who moved from Glendale to Bishop a few weeks ago, are down here on a short business trip. They are stopping at the Hotel Lankershim when in Los Angeles and have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Pulliam of Glendale for the past few days.

Miss Mary Browne, the national tennis player, of whom Glendale is so proud, will return to her home at 1620 Stocker street on Sunday. Miss Brown has been in Chicago and the East for several months and her many Glendale friends will be glad to welcome her home. She will play in the tennis tournament to be held soon in Pasadena.

A happy little surprise was the dinner given by Mrs. N. W. McBryde of Vine street Tuesday evening in honor of the seventy-seventh birthday of her mother, Mrs. S. J. Fambrough. Members of the family who were present were Mrs. S. J. Fambrough, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fambrough and three children, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. McBryde and Mr. James McBryde. A real old style southern dinner was served and there was a big birthday cake with candles, and Mrs. Fambrough was very happy in the presence of her children and the grandchildren.

Mrs. W. A. Hough of 619 South Central avenue, assisted by her sister, Mrs. F. A. Willbanks, gave a surprise party Wednesday evening for Mrs. Hough's daughter, Miss Mary Jane Evans, the occasion being her seventeenth birthday. The surprise was complete and Miss Evans was almost overcome by the suddenness of seeing so many of her friends assembled in her honor. The color scheme for the evening was red and green, which made a very pretty setting for the table, where a delicious three-course supper was served to the following guests: The Misses Mary Jane Evans, Dorothy Hobbs, Pauline Hamilton, Amy Miller, Kathleen Gorman, and Messrs. J. T. Beach, Lewis Coole, Jamie Shea, Stanley Gorman and Plez Spier. Jolly games, music and dancing formed the entertainment for the evening and everyone declared it was a most enjoyable occasion.

TO FATHER

"What is home without a mother?"
Is a motto sweet, but sad;
Did you ever stop to ponder
"What is home without a dad?"

Dad gets up and lights the fires,
Sets the pace at early dawn;
Does the chores and starts the breakfast;
Shovels snow or mows the lawn.

Dad pays for the milk and groceries,
For the clothes and school books, too;
Glad to spend his honest earnings,
And do the best that he can do.

Dad's a true and good example,
Walking steadfast every day;
Teaching those he loves to follow
In the straight and narrow way.

Time is tracing with its finger
On the honored brow, so dear,
Scenes of care that tell of conflicts
Which he's conquered year by year.

While we love and worship mother,
Still 'tis only fair to know
That we keep the same old precepts
Father taught us years ago.

Dad, here's to you! And we love you;
You're the best we ever had;
And the motto we would favor
Reads like this: "God bless our dad!"—L. A. Abbott.

As for the lazy gopher, "thar ain't no sich animale."

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. M. E. Brown of 908 Dryden street entertained as her house guest her sister, Mrs. J. W. Scott of Los Angeles, during the week.

Mrs. Harry Longland of 1008 San Rafael street was the guest of friends in Pasadena the early part of this week.

Mrs. I. C. Rice of 1632 Ruth street was a luncheon guest of her cousin, Mrs. Oliver Loomis of La Salle avenue, Los Angeles, today.

Mrs. Ida Chapman of Los Angeles, one of the district managers of the Fraternal Brotherhood lodge, was in North Glendale Wednesday in the interests of the order she represents.

Mrs. Lawrence Farnum of the Waldo hotel, Los Angeles, returned home last Monday after spending a fortnight with Mrs. George Caswell of San Rafael street.

Mr. J. Stuart Whitten of Los Angeles is spending a few days with his cousin, Mr. R. H. Whitten, and family, of Kenneth road.

UP AGAINST IT

So far as the layman may judge, human rights are to be given no consideration when the conflict with the privileges arrogated by nations at war. The law-abiding citizen of the world counts for nothing. That he is peaceable, that he has an intrinsic liberty to attend to his affairs, that his vocation is a necessity of existence; even that the stifling of his industry means starvation of the helpless, is in the military eye a trifle to be given no weight. The world is divided between the sober, decent constructors and the frenzied destroyers drunk on blood, and the latter extend the stained and dripping fingers of authority over the sphere of tranquility. The outrage is beyond expression.

No doubt the diplomacy of this country faces as severe an ordeal as has marked its existence. It is at the point where a forthright declaration of its sentiments, coupled with a demand for prompt withdrawal of the obnoxious rule that sweeps the sea of traffic, would be tantamount to a battle challenge. It may protest and later seek remuneration for losses, but it is not in position to bid Germany, England and France combined more than an academic defiance. It may tell them they are guilty of a grave wrong, ask them to undo the wrong, but it may not bid them do this and enforce the mandate. The crisis calls for dignity, firmness and finesse. As for the shipping interests affected, it is permissible to remark that they are "up against it."

While from a diplomatic standpoint the attitude assumed by Germany was that of piracy, the later attitude of England and France, though devoid of frank brutalities, is no less hurtful. When a blockade is established it becomes the task of the blockader to capture neutral vessels that trespass, provide for the safety of passengers and crews, and to put a prize crew aboard every captive craft. Later the claims of ownership are adjudicated. The German ultimatum threatened destruction to every neutral within the proclaimed "war zone," and as the work would fall wholly to submarines, there could be no aid for passengers and no prize crews. Death to all on board was the essence of the sinister and shocking mandate. The English and French plan is so comprehensive as to endanger any ship sailing almost any waters. The primal aim is to cut off German supplies from whatever source and the secondary accomplishment, provided the ruling stands, will be to deprive countless thousands of non-combatants of the means of living. It will create a widening area of destitution and misery. All this quite apart from the commercial loss which may be borne. How long the world is to endure so monstrous an injustice is conjectural. And if the present hideous war has a lesson, it will be as to the fine and beautiful art of peace.—Pasadena News.

THE CHAIR OF TORTURE

The most prominent building in the ancient city of Nuremberg is the castle. One of its two towers was used for torture; the other served as a prison. The castle also contained a museum of horrors until it was purchased by the Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot, in whose possession these relics now lie. One of these was the chair of torture. It was very heavily made and studded over the seat and at the elbows with blunt topped spikes. To it the victim was tightly bound, and in a short time discomfort began to manifest itself and in time became unbearable. During its continuance the torture was increased in several ways by means of wedges being passed between the legs and screws being applied to the thumbs until they began to bleed.

For the credit of the state, it is to be hoped there is no truth in the rumor that hotel prices in San Francisco are being advanced. This would not only be a bad and hurtful policy, but in direct contravention of promises freely given. It may be added that the hotels of Southern California have carefully avoided any policy that savors of skinning the tourists.

With approximately 20,000 of her people killed by the earthquake, Italy if she decides to enter the war six months after its outbreak, will start on something like equal terms with the rest of the belligerents.

GRAMMAR IN VERSE

Three little words you often see
Are articles—a, an and the.
A noun's the name of anything,
As school or garden, hoop or swing;
Adjectives tell the kind of noun;
As great, small, pretty, white or brown.
Instead of nouns the pronouns stand:
Her head, his face, your arm, his hand.
Verbs tell of something being done:
To read, count, sing, laugh, jump or run.
How things are done the adverbs tell:
As slowly, quickly, ill or well.
Conjunctions join the words together
As men and women, wind or weather.
The prepositions stand before

A noun, as in or through a door.
The interjection shows surprise,
As oh, how pretty! Ah, how wise!
The whole are called nine parts of speech,
Which reading, writing, speaking teach.—Print Shop Talk.

Co-eds at Berkeley are indignant because as candidates for a certain social function they must tell the size of their feet. A singular obsession seems to be that favoring small feet. Such feet attached to a large person would be not an adornment, but a deformity. The essential requirement of feet is that they fit.

THE BIBLE IN LITERATURE

ture is made up of real characters and historical facts. They are pictures of actual events that transpired in real bodies of flesh. The charming love story of the wooing of Rebekah; Joseph, or the story from the pit to the throne, is one of the literary gems of the Old Testament. The triumphant delivery of a great nation by Moses, the greatest lawgiver in the world's history, his birth, his trials and his triumphs. The pen of man has not produced its equal.

The pathetic story of Jephthah's daughter. The magnificent dedication of the temple by Solomon, one of the master pieces of Bible story. The triumphant struggle of Queen Esther for the life of her nation. "I will go unto the king, though not according to law, and if I perish, I perish." David's lamentation over Saul and Jonathan. These and scores too numerous to mention, are not fiction, but literary gems of fact. In this respect the Bible stands alone in the literary world. It is so diversified in style that it has been a source of inspiration in every form of literary expression. Thus the drama finds magnificent model in the book of Job. Carlyle calls the book of Job "the greatest literary creation of history," and Professor Genung has arranged this book in dramatic form.

In the field of folk lore the song of Lamach, the riddles of Sampson and the touching lamentation of David over the fall of Saul and Jonathan present ideal types.

In lyric poetry the Psalms stand first in history. While unsurpassed in themselves, they have furnished themes for many of the heart stirring hymns of today, such as "Had I the Wings of a Dove," "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings Fair," "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" and hundreds of others of the most charming melodies.

In the field of ethics the Bible takes first place. What moral instruction stands as high as Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, the sermon on the mount and Paul's letter to the Romans?

Matthew Arnold, the greatest controversialist, asserts that "Christian living as taught in the Bible is the greatest and happiest stroke ever yet made for human perfection."

Its ethics are ideal. In the literature of law the writings of Moses and the teachings of Christ have supplied the bone and sinew for the statutes of the nations of the civilized world. And may I add, it is no less prominent in art. It gave Michael Angelo the inspiration for his master touches that made him a place in human hearts which shall endure while time lasts. From the early days of the catacombs to the present time themes have been drawn from it for paintings and sculpture, mosaic and glass. In fact, the work of the old masters was almost wholly based on Bible stories and sacred subjects.

Thus the Bible can fondly fold her arms about all the highest types of literature, of every form of expression—whether of dramas, of folk lore, of poetry, of ethics, of law or of art—and nestle them in her bosom as the offspring of her own inspiring thought. And the literary geniuses of every age and clime gladly share with her the wealth of humanity's gratitude.

"When glory gilds the sacred page,
Majestic like the sun,
It gives a light to every age;
It gives—but borrows none."

CALIFORNIA MAY GROW MORE FOR FEEDING OF THE WORLD

California has its clarion summons from destiny, it would seem, to quicken its developmental pace, particularly in the producing of staple breadstuffs. Besides its varied horticultural products, it well might plant a much larger acreage to wheat and to potatoes. The great war has created an unparalleled demand for these two dietary staples. In the matter of wheat, extensive experiments might be made in some of the more arid regions of the state where the rainfall is light and where water supply for irrigation may not be had. There is a variety of wheat that is grown successfully on the storied slopes of the Holy Land. The climate and soil conditions of that part of Palestine resemble very much the conditions in these arid districts of California. If dry farming can be made successful in Palestine, why, under like conditions, should it not flourish here in California? There never will be a more auspicious time for such experiments in this state.

PRETTY QUICK

Officer—You say the chauffeur sounded his horn just as the machine struck the man?

Witness—Yes, sir.
Officer—Was the victim killed instantly?

Witness—So instantly, sir, that he must have heard the echo of that horn in the next world.

AN AUTOMOBILE TRICK

Bill—What's Gill doing now?
Jill—Studying forestry, I guess.
Bill—What makes you think so?
Jill—Well, I saw him in his automobile today and he was trying to climb a tree.—Yonkers Statesman.

PREACH TO UNCHURCHED

Wednesday afternoon between services a few of the local pastors, not too many to make a crowd, got the "society itch" and called on the evangelists. To their charming wives it was the great pleasure of Reverends Edmonds and Troy on behalf of the visiting clergy to present bouquets of carnations picked in the fields of San Fernando valley. The visits were short and sweet and expressive of the beautiful harmony and brotherly fellowship existing between all of the pastors and the visiting evangelists.

At the Wednesday evening service Rev. Price, evangelist, led in a very effective prayer. Solos were rendered with much appreciation by Miss Clementina Landmann of Glendale and Mr. Geist, traveling companion of Evangelist Price.

Brother Brown delivered a message on "Memory," taking for his text Luke 16:25—"Son, remember."

Memory this side of the grave; memory at the judgment bar of God; memory in the great beyond—these were the general heads under which the eloquent sermon flowered forth. The appeal to reason was strong and many a soul was made to face the record of a life uncovered by the precious blood of Christ.

Memory makes hell and heaven. "Son, remember."

Quietly bench after bench filled with penitents and again the scenes of nightly occurrence at the big tabernacle were repeated in demonstration of the convicting power of the Holy Ghost.

PERPETUAL MOTION

Alderman Curran of New York City worked his way through Yale college. During his course he was kept very busy by the various jobs he did to help with his expenses. On graduation he went to New York and was even busier than he had been in New Haven.

After some months of life in New York, a friend met him and said: "Henry, what are you doing?"

"I have three jobs," replied Mr. Curran. "I am studying law, I am a newspaper reporter, and I am selling life insurance."

"How do you manage to get it all in?" said the friend.
"Oh," replied Mr. Curran, "that's easy enough; they're only eight-hour jobs."—Youth's Companion.

AN UNREASONABLE DEMAND

"I say, old man, you've never returned that umbrella I lent you last week."
"Hang it all, old man, be reasonable. It's been raining ever since."

BIENNIAL CONVENTION

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Cal., March 4.—Leading Seventh Day Adventists from all parts of North America will attend the biennial convention of the bookmen and tract society secretaries to be held here March 5 to 15. Among those to attend will be Elder I. H. Evans of Washington, D. C., president of the North American division conference; N. Z. Town and W. W. Eastman of Washington, D. C., secretary and assistant secretary, respectively, of the publishing department of the general or world conference of the Seventh Day Adventists; Elder E. E. Andross of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union conference; Claud Conard of Oakland, secretary, and all the local presidents of conferences in California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah. Besides these, all bookmen and tract society secretaries west of the Mississippi river will be in attendance.

The Pacific Union conference committee will hold a session at Mountain View March 9, when the dates of the summer campmeetings for the eight conferences in this territory and the Nevada mission will be fixed. The annual meeting of the Pacific Press Publishing association, which furnishes the denominational literature for the entire western half of the continent, will be held March 8.

Motion pictures of paper and book making will be shown the evening of March 13, during a lecture on the subject. Recent trips through Europe and Cuba will be described by Elder Town the evening of March 8. Among the subjects for consideration by the bookmen are: Parcel post rates, plans for circulating foreign literature, better organization, magazine circulation, territorial records, institutes and field agency efficiency. The question of discontinuing the publication of denominational books in full leather bindings will be considered.

Both America and Europe are eating more cornbread than ever before. A-mazing!

The military campaigns in Europe for the most part are waged on the stand-pat basis.

It is well-nigh impossible for poultry fanciers to maintain neutrality while discussing their favorite strains of fowls.

FOR NINE YEARS Miss SIBYL MATHER Has Faithfully and Graciously Served the Public at the Pacific Electric Information Bureau

In the nine years of her service, Miss Mather has answered approximately 3,000,000 questions and thereby directed that number of persons interested in Southern California. She now asks that the support of the reader be given her in her candidacy for Queen of the Southland during the year of 1915 and by all the rules of fair play is entitled to the unstinted support of every resident of the Southland. Votes for her cost 10c each and may be obtained from any Pacific Electric conductor, at stations from agents and from many special representatives. The money derived from votes is to be used in the entertainment of visitors during 1915 and will return profits many fold.
