Courage to explore that which is unknown to him, devotion to responsibilities, a capacity to give assuring advice, an untiring devotion to the standards of honesty, a desire to find the best in others, and love for his fellow man are some of the characteristics found in one honored and greatly loved. Among opportunities that made possible his serving our college was first by his position as coach and teacher, now by position of registrar, teacher, and academic dean. Every duty he performs with the desire to give all that he is capable of, for the well being of his students and mankind as a whole. For these and many other contributions, we in all respect and admiration dedicate the 1959 OAK to MR. JOHN BLAKE YORK.

TO THE STUDENT:

Your year—1958-1959. Many memories will come to you whenever you think of these months you have spent at Louisburg College.

You will remember so many "little things" and special events which have made this year meaningful: Homecoming—May Day—the socials—bridge parties in the "Little Parlor"—hours spent socializing on the front steps or in the "Soda Shop"—your special friends and the problems you shared.

You will value these memories more and more as you realize the escape of time. We present this, the 1958-1959 yearbook, with the hope that through the medium of photographs and words we have captured for you some of these memories, and that within the pages of this book you will find mirrored—your year.

In college a big, new world begins to open before us—a world of greater challenge, a world of enlarging opportunity. More than you realize now, this year at Louisburg College has prepared you to face life and its high demands. This edition of THE OAK will be a reminder during the years ahead of some of the experiences that have made this year so rich and so fruitful. The administration, faculty and staff of Louisburg College wish for you continued success in your quest for life's magnificent best.

For The Teachers Who Cherish

"Suffer the Little Children . . .
For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."
The privilege to teach is God-Given.
Like a jewel that rests in the hands—
A talent. With use it expands,
Till finally we see the dim traces
Of God in uplifted faces.

Without vision the people must perish.
Thank God for the teachers who cherish
A vision that remaineth undimmed;
For each tiny candle that's trimmed
At the altar of truth and of right
Which leadeth man into the light.

For whose believeth shall rise;
From the muck and the mire he shall rise!
And thru the dark night he shall be
Led upward by those who can see
Till finally he reaches the goal;
A free, and unbound human soul.

You, the members of our Columns staff, in coping with all the problems involved in making up our college newspapers this year, have learned many things about journalistic procedure. Meeting deadlines, covering events, editing, and organizing copy are some of the duties you have performed enthusiastically and capably. Your efforts are greatly appreciated, as they have succeeded in making our newspapers truly interesting and representative "voices of the students."

"Y" Cabinet

As part of the "Steering mechanism" of our largest campus organization you have often found yourselves beset with problems . . . "What to have for the program next Thursday night? . . . Last week's was amusing and entertaining . . . should this be in a more serious vein?"

It is a tribute to your strong sense of responsibility that you have promptly and consistently found the right solutions to keep our "Y" running smoothly and effectively. Thank you, Y cabinet members, for a job well done.

There are persons so radiant, so genial, so kind, so pleasure bearing, that you instinctively feel in their presence that they have done you good.

As members of our Friendship Circle, which is one of the focal points of religious interest in our school, you have come to realize more fully the tremendous challenge involved in the field of religious work today. Upon you, many of whom have already accepted full time religious work as your chosen field, will rest much of the responsibility of determining the strength of the Church tomorrow. During your regular meetings, your retreats, and your other activities, each of you has made many friends who you will value deeply as you face these responsibilities of your field in the years to come.

Second Row: Joseph C. Parker, James Lupton, Dan

Meadows, Jerry Juren, John Casey, Bobby Tyson, Harley Owens, Ralph Lester.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday you have attended college to take your full schedule of classes. On Thursday when your class week ends, you have returned to your families and churches, sometimes as far away as 175 miles. Many of you, along with your college work, are in charge of not one, but two, or even three churches.

. . . No, it hasn't been easy . . . exams and term papers have conflicted with revivals and funerals, and at times you have wondered if it is all worthwhile—this business of being a college student and a minister at the same time. And then you find yourself using an insight you gained on class to show a searching high school student that God is a good God, and you know that it has been very worthwhile.

Through your regular meetings and your community activities you, our F.B.L.A. members, have gained a higher and more idealistic concept of the responsibilities of the businessman of today . . . whether in the field of business or everyday living. As you are able to put these ideals into practice in the years after graduation, you will truly be among the outstanding business leaders of tomorrow.

You, the members of our college Glee Club, have accepted the fact that a great deal of time goes into forming a good Glee Club, and have offered your time and efforts without complaint. You have spent many hours practicing, and you have represented our school well in many churches and auditoriums, including our own. Through your unselfish co-operation you have succeeded in building a Glee Club which has brought much pleasure to those who have heard you, and of which Louisburg College may be very proud.

Alma Mater

Alma Mater, shelt'ring college
Thou has been our guiding friend,
From thy fount of flowing knowledge
We would drink until the end.
By thy children's inspiration,
Glowing light, to cheer and guide,
Stand, Old College, Alma Mater,
Through the changing years abide.

Greater love and veneration
Be thy portion, Mother dear,
May each coming generation
Bring rich gifts thy heart to cheer.
Till thy stalwart columns heavenward
Cease to point the way of life.
Stand, Old College, Alma Mater,
Through the changing years abide.
