IRIS KAEMPFERI (Japanese Iris)

Native to Siberia and Japan. Introduced by Von Siebold in 1857.

Iris Kaempferi are by far the most beautiful of all the irises. Few garden subjects are as easily grown or adaptable to such a wide range of climatic and soil conditions as are these irises. They thrive from Canada to Mexico, and on soils that range from sand to peat. During the growing season they flourish in a foot of water or on a dry hillside.

We are the leading growers of IRIS KAEMPFERI and have here at Flowerfield the world's largest planting, and the greatest collection of varieties of these beautiful flowers.

IRIS DISPLAY GARDEN

Visit our iris display garden at Flowerfield, where we have, arranged for convenient comparative study, the choicest varieties, old and new. On request we will be glad to notify you when blooms are at their height.

We are proud to have originated and introduced the following two varieties:

ELBRUS - An exceptionally large double flower; in color, clear lavender, almost azure blue. Plant of vigorous growth, moderately tall.

Dozen - $7.20 100 - $50.00

LIGHT IN THE OPAL - A genuine pink double variety. The flower is 8 inches across, of splendid substance and perfect form. Color, a golden throat surrounded by a blue halo in a field of clear pink.
