VICTORIA, B.C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1923

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Busier Year End

Here Are Some News Items That Should Interest Victoria Business Men

Items that stand out from the news as affecting particularly the immediate prosperity of this district are:

Lumber prices are again rising with increased demand from the Middle West and the East. They comprise the chief markets for our Coast lumber.

Japanese Government will buy 260,000,000 feet of lumber, chiefly Douglas fir, to be delivered during the next six months. These orders will be filled along this coast from Oregon north.

Logging camps on Vancouver Island and on B. C. Coast to reopen on November 1, on full time for a still greater output than reached in the peak days of the Summer.

Victoria mills exporting to foreign markets from 6,500,000 to more than 10,000,000 feet of lumber a month, with the average steadily climbing.

Preparations made for handling of a still greater quantity of logs by the Canadian National Island line through Victoria.

More favorable developments in the agricultural situation with the large crop on the Canadian Prairies and prices of several farm products tending upward, have been supplemented by gradually increasing sales of lumber in farming districts, says the weekly review in an Eastern lumber trade journal.

There is this also that is interesting to this Douglas fir area:

"In Douglas fir there is added strength in spite of a slight falling off in volume of sales. Beginning of buying from Japan, though of small proportions as yet, appears as a factor of some moment."

Prices of logs along the Coast have been easing downwards during the last several weeks. Temporarily the market had become saturated. There were too many logs for immediate demands. Mooring grounds were all clogged with booms.

But logs cannot be stored indefinitely as some other commodities to await consumption. Destructive agencies soon get to work on them.

So it was that logging concerns which had been stimulated to the peaks of production during the Summer by the continent-wide and overseas demand for Coast lumber, shaded their prices in order to get the logs sold. At the same time they curtailed operations so that the surplus might be removed from the market.

But while crews were reduced, camps were not shut down altogether. Necessary development work, such as extension of railway lines and camps, has been carried on in preparation for still greater output. The loggers know that the rest of this continent is every day becoming more and more dependent on this Coast for supplies of lumber and that a steadily increasing market is at our doors.

Now the word has gone out to the industry to open up full force again on November 1. The lumber market is firming up again and the log surplus has disappeared.

The logging industry on this Island, centring in the district north of Victoria, is off on another spurt that will carry it during the Winter to new record heights of activity.

It all works for a year-end season of improving business with a minimum of unemployment.

CUSTOMS EQUALITY Geneva, Oct. 20.—The British and Australian delegates assured the International Customs Conference yesterday that Great Britain and the Dominions would accord equitable customs treatment to all nations.

COUNT APPONYI, OF HUNGARY, NOW VISITING CANADA

A Toronto audience has just had an opportunity of hearing the views of Count Apponyi, the veteran Hungarian statesman, who will deliver several addresses during his stay in Canada. In the Ontario capital he declared the peace treaties ought to be modified in order to lighten the load of the defeated nations and remove at least some of the menace now overhanging Europe.

NEW RECORD FOR OATS SET UP IN SASKATCHEWAN

Saskatoon, Oct. 20.—C. Quintling, whose farm is ten miles from North Battleford, has threshed an average of 122½ bushels of oats off nine and a half acres. This is believed to be a provincial record.

British Preference For Fresh Fruits of Canada is Asked

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—Premier King, in a cablegram to the Vancouver Board of Trade, acknowledges receipt of the Board's request that he seek to have fresh fruits of the Dominion given the same preference in Britain as has been offered for dried fruits at the Imperial Economic Conference. He promises consideration.

DAY WHEN THERE WILL BE NO LABOR UNIONS PREDICTED

Montreal, Oct. 20.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, speaking at a banquet here last night, said he looked forward to a day when labor organizations would be unnecessary. While he believed labor was entitled to a fair deal, there also should be commensurate recognition of the employers' rights.

LLOYD GEORGE IN LOUISVILLE TO-DAY

British Ex-Premier Rests in That Kentucky City Guest of Robert W. Bingham; No Public Functions

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 20.—David Lloyd George, former British Premier, arrived here today. A reception committee planned to escort him to points of interest in and about Louisville, after which, according to a tentative programme, it was intended that he should be the guest over the week-end of Judge Robert W. Bingham, publisher of The Louisville Times and Courier-Journal. The programme provided for no public functions.

AUSTRALIAN LABOR PARTY IS EXPELLING COMMUNISTS NOW

Sydney, N.S.W., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press cable via Reuters).—The executive of the Australian Labor Party decided by sixteen to vote to expel members of the Communist Party from the Labor movement.

C.P.R. IS AGAIN CARRYING GRAIN TO VANCOUVER

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—All restrictions in the matter of loading grain for the Pacific Coast by the Canadian Pacific Railway have been removed, according to an announcement made by E. D. Cotterell, Superintendent of Transportation, to-day. The embargo against shipments to Vancouver was declared as a result of the longshoremen's strike there. Despite the strike the loadings and shipments were well maintained and Mr. Cotterell states the situation is well in hand there now.

Loaf of Bread in Berlin Now Costs Billion Marks

Berlin, Oct. 20.—The operators of the Berlin Bourse have contributed $10,000 to the public feeding fund of the municipality and have promised further donations in the event the situation becomes worse. The price of the 4½-pound loaf of bread jumped to-day to 1,000,000 marks, a sum which represents one-fourth the current daily wage of the average unskilled worker.

CHINESE GROUPS FIGHT AND FOREIGNERS ARE LEAVING CHANGSHA

Shanghai, Oct. 20.—A report received here to-day from Hankow says all foreigners have been ordered by the consuls of their countries to leave Changsha. Warfare between Northern and Southern troops has been renewed and the city is being fired on. Many refugees from Changsha arrived there to-day on the steamer Siangtan.

LAW ENFORCEMENT CONFERENCE IN U.S.

President Coolidge Holds Discussion With State Governors

Prohibition Chief Questions Immigration and Narcotics

Washington, Oct. 20.—Calvin Coolidge takes up one of the most troublesome problems confronting him as President of the United States and as a political figure in meeting to-day with the Governors of the several states to discuss enforcement of prohibition, immigration and the narcotic laws.

The prohibition phase of the conference held by far the most for good or ill for the President and his administration. The conference in its prohibition aspect is a heritage from the administration of President Harding. Lengthy sessions by some state Legislatures which would have prevented attendance of Governors caused Mr. Harding to postpone the conference and Mr. Coolidge, in assuming the presidency upon Mr. Harding's death, undertook to carry out the plan.

Mr. Coolidge has added to the conference programme, however, the enforcement of the immigration and narcotic laws and White House officials have taken pains to emphasize that the meeting to-day is not a prohibition conference, but a law enforcement conference. Public interest, nevertheless, centres about the prohibition question, and prior to the meeting of the more than thirty Governors who responded to the President's invitation it was generally believed that the greater part of the discussion behind the closed doors of the East Room of the White House would hinge about prohibition.

BALDWIN'S SPEECH TO BE BROADCAST

British Premier to Address Conservative Conference at Plymouth

London, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press cable).—An interesting feat in wireless will be attempted next week when Premier Baldwin addresses the Conservative conference at Plymouth. It is likely his speech not only will be broadcast throughout the country but that listeners in on the European continent and on the North American continent may catch the Premier's message. If the plan is carried out as proposed, it will be the first time in history that a Prime Minister's speech to his party has been heard by hundreds of thousands of listeners.

Premier King Looks For North Winnipeg to Elect McMurray

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—Wishes for the success of Hon. E. J. McMurray, Solicitor-General, in the by-election in North Winnipeg October 24 were expressed in a cablegram which Premier King, wiring from London, sent to Mr. McMurray and which was read at a rally in support of Mr. McMurray's candidature which held here last night as follows: Please accept my best wishes for every success in the pending by-election. I am most anxious that every province in the Dominion should be represented in the Cabinet at Ottawa, and I look forward with confidence to the obvious consistency of the city of Winnipeg and of the province of Manitoba by its election. I am most anxious to myself the benefit of your presence at the council table.

Sun's Forces Said to Hold Waichow

Canton, Oct. 20.—Forces of Sun Yat Sen, leader of the Southern faction, are reported to have taken the city of Waichow, about seventy-five miles east of here, the stronghold of General Chan Chiung Ming, an ally of the Peking Government. The town is said to have been captured Thursday, but confirmation of the report could not be obtained to-day.

According to advices, 100 feet of the city wall at the south gate were destroyed by mines and the city was bombarded by fifteen-centimetre guns posted on a hill nearby. The enemy retreated through the north gate.

Chan Chiung Ming, however, is reported to have retaken Hoyun, north of Waichow on the East River, which runs through Waichow, and his army is said to be occupied by Dr. Sun's enemy.

ZEV WON GREAT $100,000 RACE

United States Horse Led Papyrus by Six Lengths To-day

Event at Belmont Park, N.Y., Witnessed by 70,000

Belmont Park, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Zev, the great three-year-old of the United States, defeated Papyrus, the English thoroughbred, by six lengths in the mile-and-a-half $100,000 international match race to-day, the time being 2:35 2-5.

Away with a lead of a length, Papyrus seemed to stop and Zev took the lead as they passed the paddock gate. The American colt held this lead of a length until they reached the stretch, where Earl Sande called upon Zev for speed. The English colt, driven hard by Jockey Steve Donoghue, failed to get up and when they passed under the wire Zev was running under restraint.

One of the greatest crowds in American turf history, a gathering estimated more than 70,000, witnessed the stirring spectacle, and a mighty roar of applause went up when the American colt, which had been leading by a distance of many experts, romped home the victor.

Time by quarters: 25 4-5; 50 2-5; 1:17 4-5; 2:07 3-5; 2:52 2-5. Zev ruled the favorite up until post time. He was quoted at 4 to 5, while even money was laid against Papyrus.

TWO OFFICIALS TO BE NAMED

Comptrollership Applications Cut to Thirteen

City Wiring Inspector to be Appointed

The applications for the post of City Comptroller have been reduced to thirteen.

There will be a special meeting of the Finance Committee on Monday morning to go through the list again, and prune the number of favored applicants to half a dozen.

Then it is the intention to report to the City Council asking for a direction on policy. Mayor Hayward said to-day, if the majority should favor an appointment from a Victoria resident, either within or without the City Hall, they can proceed to ballot. If on the other hand a majority should favor greater consideration being given to some of the applications from other points, they will be asked to refer the matter back to a general interview with three or four of the leading applicants.

The Mayor and Alderman Sargent have given special attention to the credentials of the numerous applicants, and it is expected that a decision will be reached on Monday. Another official vacancy, created by the death of the late Mr. Daly, has also to be filled. The late Mr. Daly having long filled the position of city wiring inspector. On instructions the flag was placed at half mast to-day at the City Hall, and a wreath sent to the funeral from the Council and City officials.

IRISH FOOTBALLERS WON FROM ENGLISH

Score in International Event in Belfast Two to One

London, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press cable).—In the first of the Association Football international games played this afternoon at Belfast between England and Ireland, the Irishmen were victorious by a score of two to one.

Twenty-five thousand spectators watched the game, which was keenly contested throughout. England played off a slight breeze. From the outset England attacked, Irvine and Gillespie making in a nice run, but Irvine was offside and spoiled the movement just when it looked dangerous. The English left wing next took a turn, but Curran intercepted his centre and cleared. England again attacked and was awarded a free kick near the penalty area. McCluskey clearing well, Ireland now swept up the field.

One for England

Willcroft made considerable headway before England cleared and carried the game to the other end, where a corner was given. With a neat run Brown scored England's first goal. The Irishmen rallied after this and Croft sent Brown away. Irvine received the pass and shot a stringer with his boot which hit the cross bar only to rebound to the foot of Gillespie, who equalized amid tremendous enthusiasm. The game continued to be splendidly fought to the interval.

A. J. YOUNG, OF TORONTO, MAY BE C.N.R. DIRECTOR

HON. T. A. LOW IN FORT WILLIAM

Minister of Trade Sees Grain Elevators at Work

Commends Grain Board's Decision Which Reduces Lake Rates

Port William, Ont., Oct. 20.—Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is spending to-day in Fort William, and will leave to-night for Winnipeg. This afternoon, accompanied by the Board of Grain Commissioners, he is visiting several of the elevators at the head of the lakes, in order to have an opportunity of seeing how the handling of grain is done, and to witness it under the actual conditions of a grain rush. Speaking this morning of the new interpretation of the Inland Waterways Act by the Board of Grain Commissioners, Mr. Low said the action met with his approval as being in line with his sentiment that he would sanction any action, however drastic, that would serve to prevent any congestion in the movement of the crop, upon which not only the welfare of the farmers of the prairie provinces depended, but also the business interests of the East, which were closely bound up with the prosperity of agriculture in the West.

MAN HURT WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Interurban Street Car Comes Into Contact With Pedestrian Near Glyn

Struck by a city bound interurban street car near Glyn station at noon to-day, Michael Conroy, sixty-seven, a resident at that point, was knocked against a telephone pole and sustained injuries which necessitated his removal to the St. Joseph's Hospital. The police ambulance was summoned and no time in making the transport. The accident happened as Mr. Conroy was walking on the track at that point. The result of the accident is indefinite yet, but police fear serious injuries were sustained. Dr. Walter Barty attended Mr. Conroy at the hospital, after the police had rendered first aid on the scene.

CALIFORNIA POSSES HOPE TO CAPTURE TRAIN BANDITS

Crescent City, Cal., Oct. 20.—Roads in Del Norte and Humboldt counties are being closely guarded, and the bandits who held up and dynamited a Southern Pacific passenger train after killing four men near the Oregon line October 11, are being pushed toward the coast by posse men, according to advices received here from Daniel P. O'Connell, a special agent of the Western Pacific Company.

WON ROAD RACE

Saskatoon, Oct. 20.—Fred Halliwell won the three-mile Cairns Steeplechase, the annual road race here, yesterday afternoon in 14 minutes 42 3-5 seconds, nearly 16 seconds better than the old record.

AUSTRALIANS PLAN TO IMPROVE THEIR COAST DEFENCES

Sydney, N.S.W., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press cable)—Hon. E. K. Bowden, Commonwealth Minister of Defence, said in a speech last night that the coast defences of Australia were deplorable. The loss of efficiency by the Australian fleet was staggering. The Ministry of Defence, he said, was determined to improve the coastal defences.

EMPIRE NAVAL PLANS FULLY DISCUSSED AT LONDON CONFERENCE

But Governments Not Committed In Any Way, Says Premier King; Canada's Share Is Question For Parliament, He Declares

London, Oct. 20 (Special Cable to the Canadian Press by George Hambleton, Staff Correspondent).—There have been no commitments for naval defence of any kind," said Premier King to-day when questioned regarding the truth of reports current here that the Dominion Premier had been won over to the support of the scheme to establish a naval base at Singapore. "No commitments have been asked and none have been given," Mr. King added. "We have had a full discussion of the naval situation and I have taken the view that we have no authority to commit Canada to any proposals without the consent of Parliament. But as a matter of fact, we have not been asked for any commitments."

Canada Third Among Exporting Nations

On Per Capita Basis, Only New Zealand and Australia Ahead

On Basis of Volume Canada Occupies Fifth Place

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—In proportion to her population, Canada stands third among the nations of the world in her export trade, according to figures announced by the Department of Trade and Commerce. The country's export trade in 1922 on a per capita basis stood at $100.63, with only New Zealand and Australia showing higher percentages. The per capita export trade of the United Kingdom during the same period was $92.56, and that of the United States $84.29. In 1913 Canada ranked seventh among the nations in per capita export trade with only $75.55. With her total exports during 1922 at $884,363,000, an increase of $148,145,899 over 1913, Canada has jumped from tenth to fifth place as the largest exporting nation.

In the percentage of increase in exports from 1913 to 1912, Canada takes second place, yielding first place to Japan by a narrow margin. Canada's increase was 103 per cent.

BUCKWORTH RESIGNS DEPUTY MINISTRY

No Successor to be Appointed, Dr. MacLean Says

A. B. Buckworth, Deputy Minister of Railways, has tendered his resignation to take effect on November 30, it was announced to-day by the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Railways. "Mr. Buckworth has had over three years' continuous service with the Provincial Government first as general manager of the P.G.E. and since January of this year as Deputy Minister," Dr. MacLean said. "His administrative service in both capacities has been highly satisfactory and his resignation is accepted with regret."

While acting as manager of the Government Railway, he had many difficulties to contend with, but his untiring energy and persistence placed the railway in a much improved condition both physically and financially. For the past year, in addition to his regular duties, he has been engaged in investigating the resources of the district tributary to the railway. "While Mr. Buckworth would not make any statement with regard to his future activities, it is reported that he has fairly definite plans for the future."

Dr. MacLean stated that there would not be any new appointment made in the near future owing to the temporary cessation of construction work until his resignation is able to carry on the work of the department.

J. DOUGHERTY NEW HEAD OF INSURANCE SUPERINTENDENTS

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—John P. Dougherty, of Victoria, B. C., was elected president of Superintendents of Insurance for Canada at the closing session of their convention here last night. A. E. Fisher, Regina, was named vice-president, and Evan Gray, Toronto, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Toronto was selected as next year's meeting place. As the result of a resolution adopted, a uniform law on fire insurance will be presented at the next session of the Ontario Legislature. If it is approved by the Ontario Legislature, it is hoped to have every province in the Dominion enact it. The basis of the new act will be better protection for the insured.

BOMB EXPLODED AT ST. LOUIS HOTEL

Several Persons Slightly Injured; Scores Fled to Street

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Several persons were slightly injured and scores of guests were driven to the street in night clothes early to-day when a bomb exploded in the rear of the St. Louis Hotel, which is located near the business section of the city. The bomb shattered windows in the hotel and in business houses across the street. The impact of the blast hurled many guests from their beds and caused several persons sitting in the lobby to be cut by flying glass.

Police said they had found no reason for anyone to place the bomb near the hotel.

ROBBERS' LOOT. TOTALLED $18,125. $15,000 Taken From Bank Vault in Oakland, Ills. Woman and Man Robbed on Highway East of Toronto.

Charleston, Ills., Oct. 20.—Bandits estimated to have numbered ten or twelve held up a night watchman and blew open the vault and safe of the First National Bank of Oakland, Ills., early to-day and escaped with $15,000 in currency and bonds. Robbed on Highway. Toronto, Oct. 20.—Two highway-men, one armed and armed with two revolvers, held up and robbed Mrs. Sadie Grupstein, of $2,375, and Louis Rice of $750 and a gold watch on the Kingston Road a few miles east of the city limits at midnight. Rice was first searched and his money taken and then one of the gunmen searched his companion, finally discovering the roll of $2,375 in her stocking. Mrs. Grupstein was driving east along the Kingston Road in her automobile accompanied by Rice. She slowed up the machine to examine the front tire, which had become flat. The robbers sprang out of the darkness, one man carried a revolver in each hand and wore a red mask. The other was not masked. Nearly a machine stood with a man in the rear seat. "Shoot, shoot," yelled a voice, and the gunman searched Rice, finding the $750 in his trouser pocket. Pointed Revolver. One of the men then turned to Mrs. Grupstein and leveled his revolver at her head. "Please Mister, don't shoot—I'm a mother," she begged. He then searched Mrs. Grupstein for money. No money was there. The gunman then went through her pockets and found some change in a little dress pocket. But they apparently knew she was in possession of a large sum of money, for he rolled down one of her stockings and found the $2,375. Not satisfied with this, the gunman rolled down Mrs. Grupstein's other stocking. But there was no money there. After the robbers had escaped, Mrs. Grupstein reported the robbery to the Toronto police.

EXPORTS OF WHEAT WERE INCREASED. Canada's Flour Shipments During Past Year Also Grew. Exports of Oats and Oatmeal at Lower Level.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20. (Canadian Press).—Exports of Canadian cereals for the twelve months ended September 30 last were for the most part largely in excess of exports during the previous twelve months. Oats and oatmeal provided an exception, however. Wheat exports for the twelve months ended September 30 totalled 22,748,861 bushels, valued at $259,744,515, while for the previous twelve months they were 16,657,897 bushels, valued at $194,577,125. Wheat flour exports for the last twelve months were 10,828,154 barrels, valued at $61,347,454, as against 8,215,000 barrels, valued at $51,736,689 last year. Oats exported in the twelve months ended September 30 were 30,447,292 bushels, valued at $11,632,373, as against 27,242,591 bushels, valued at $11,571,940 last year. Exports of oatmeal and rolled oats for the last twelve months were 252,507 hundredweight, as against 478,145 hundredweight last year. Exports of barley for the last twelve months were 15,015,982 bushels, as against 11,598,790 bushels last year.

LYOYD GEORGE SPOKE IN ST. LOUIS. Declared Germany Should Pay as Great Reparations Sum as Possible. Audience Frequently Applauded His Remarks.

St. Louis, Oct. 20.—David Lloyd George, after a visit here yesterday during which he took a drive through the city, delivered an address at a luncheon, rested throughout the afternoon and had a number of business men and municipal officials as his guests at a private dinner, left with his party last night for Louisville, Ky., to spend the week-end. The official welcome to the city was extended to Mr. Lloyd George at the luncheon by Mayor Henry W. Kiel and speakers of the Chamber of Commerce. Given Ovation. Upon rising to speak, the former Premier was given an ovation, the audience standing, applauding and cheering. Applause marked many of his utterances, not the least, he declared that Germany should pay reparations and that he was no apologist for that country. "I choose to initiate a struggle that has been the most terrible that mankind has ever passed through. It inflicted injury and damage on millions of neighbors, whose sole anxiety was to live in peace and amity and tranquility by their side, and although that was the responsibility of the Government which no longer exists, nations ought to be held responsible for the deeds of their Governments. Therefore, I do not need to have been an apologist for the German Government. I have never taken the view that reparations ought not to be paid up to the limit of the capacity of the country to pay, reasonably interpreted, and everything turns upon that. Bred Riots. Taking up assertions of Col. G. A. L. Dumont, military attaché of the French Embassy at Washington, that Germany was shamming, that she had plenty of wealth, had bought ships and railroad cars and had investments abroad, Mr. Lloyd George pointed to bread riots and old men, women and children dying in the country as some evidence of a lack of funds. But if Germany is shamming, the former Premier declared, there are more rational means of discovering it than by means of the weapons of war. Hughes Proposal. The proposal of Secretary Hughes for an international commission to ascertain Germany's capacity to pay, on the other hand, appealed to him, as a means that is "sound, reasonable, practicable and business-like." If the Hughes proposal was accepted, he continued, "the matter would be settled, you would not get rid of something which is going to add indefinitely to the troubles of mankind. Chaos in the heart of Europe," he declared, "with great countries surrounding it, is a perilous position, and I, from my heart, am only anxious that there should be a settlement of this problem, for the sake of France, for the sake of Belgium, for the sake of the world, so that we may have peace—peace, and man-to-man, the world-over, shall be brothers for always." Proof of Friendship. Dealing with Col. Dumont's speech in which he was reported to have said, "Pray for peace, pray for peace against our friends," Mr. Lloyd George said the "speech was obviously addressed to me." He expressed regret that the phrase had been used, adding: "I never heard that prayer between 1914 and 1918. There are 900,000 dead throughout the British Empire as the proof of our friendship. The evidence of our friendship is scattered over very extensive graveyards in France and in Flanders. Pray for peace against our friends? No, I would ask him not to repeat that, not to repeat that—900,000 dead. Why, at that time, we were eating the bread of charity because we went to the help of France in 1914 to 1918."

WINTER STORM NORTH GREAT LAKES. Ten Inches of Snow at White River, Ontario. Few Ships Through Sault Ste. Marie Canal.

Sudbury, Ont., Oct. 20.—Ten inches of snow was reported this morning at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. The snow was still falling at that hour. The weather in Sudbury is clear, but the wind is cold this morning. Dispatches from the Canadian Soo last night say rain had been falling there almost continuously since Wednesday, with considerable damage to bridges and roads by floods. Sault Ste. Marie. Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 20.—Two inches of snow fell here last night and early to-day in the wake of the storm that swept the upper lakes Friday. Although the storm had subsided today, few vessels were passing through the locks. All ships are believed to have reached safe anchorages. LORD GLADSTONE OPPOSING TARIFF PREFERENCE PLAN. London, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Viscount Gladstone, president of a Liberal demonstration in Edinburgh yesterday, warned against the principle of protection, because of the possibility of a tariff on tobacco and sugar to wool, meat and corn. F. ROJO WILL BE MEXICAN SPOKESMAN IN UNITED STATES. Nogales, Arizona, Oct. 20.—Francisco Rojo, who was a member of the Mexican recognition commission which conferred a few months ago with a United States commission, and ultimately brought about the recognition of Mexico by the United States, will be appointed ambassador to the United States by President Obregon, according to advices received here from Mexico City. NANAIMO NEWS. "The Gyro Whirl" is the name given to an entertainment which will be held on Tuesday evening next under the auspices of the Nanaimo Gyro Club. The entertainment is to be given in the form of a grand and splendid programme of dance numbers and vocal and instrumental selections. The final of the ladies' golf championship between Mrs. Wm. Glahom and Mrs. Priestly-Sheldon was held on Monday afternoon at 10 o'clock. The former two up and one to play. At the end of the first round Mrs. Glahom was leading by one hole, eventually winning on the seventeenth hole by two and one. Last year the cup was won by Mrs. D. M. Grant. An interesting two-ball mixed foursome has been arranged for Sunday morning between the winners and the runners up of the ladies' and men's championship. Mrs. Glahom and Dr. Margson, playing against Mrs. Priestly-Sheldon and McFarlane. Last evening about fifty friends of Miss Lillian Drake gathered at her home, 260 Needham Street, and tendered her a surprise shower. After the guests assembled a large and well-filled basket was brought into the room by two little girls and presented to the prospective bride, who was rejoiced by the good wishes extended her by a very fitting speech. Dainty refreshments were served, and a pleasant evening spent by all. The programme followed with vocal solos, Jean Gilchrist; fancy dance, Mrs. Johnson; recitation, Mrs. Kelly; piano solo, Mrs. Hackwood; vocal solo, Mrs. Dawson. A surprise visit was extended Mr. and Mrs. W. Wagstaff at their home on Selby Street, last night. Thirty friends called and helped them to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding. A handsome case of pearl-handled cutlery was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Wagstaff, after which a most enjoyable evening was spent. REV. A. J. BOWEN TO GIVE LECTURES ON SOUTH AFRICA. The visit of Rev. A. J. Bowen, present general field secretary of the South Africa General Mission, will be of exceptional interest. He was engaged as a missionary for seven years on the Congo, in Belgian territory. Mr. Bowen recently returned from an extended tour of mission stations of Central and South Africa. The South Africa General Mission has international and interdenominational work whose efforts have been directed to do pioneer work among the unorganized and unevangelized territories where the need of the gospel is not being met by any other society. It was started to meet the needs of communities of Europeans uncared for by Christian societies. In the process of time as the churches met the need, the work was gradually relinquished until now the work of the evangelization of the natives in South and Central Africa. Mr. Bowen will speak (D.V.) four times in Victoria, Monday night in the Fernwood district, at Emmanuel Baptist Church; Tuesday night at the Congregational Church; Wednesday night at the Hampton Road Methodist Church, Oak Bay, and Thursday night at Wesley Methodist Church, Victoria West. PROFESSOR HONORED. Dr. R. S. Baker's Brother-in-Law Chosen to Deliver Nobel Lectures. Prof. R. S. Baker, of Victoria, received word to-day from Christiania, that his brother-in-law, Prof. Shotwell, of Columbia University, New York, had been chosen by the Nobel Peace Lecture. Prof. Shotwell is head of the department of history in Columbia and recently gained world-wide fame by being chosen by the Carnegie Institute to write the history of the World War.

P.G.E. LINE IS WINNING SUPPORT. Settlers Are Better Satisfied With Conditions on Railway.

Residents in the Cariboo are impressed with the improved service of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, G. C. Mackay told The Times at the Dominion Hotel this morning. Mr. Mackay said the settlers, while looking forward to direct communication with the East by way of Prince George when the railway is continued to the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific, are satisfied that the present service is of great value to them. The season has been an exceptionally long one, but frosts have already set in. Ranching has been somewhat discouraged by the low price of cattle, but other agricultural products have found a ready market. Mr. Mackay says that after the damaging consequences of the rash and failures in the Cedar Creek camp, mining is reviving. He says it is regrettable that the excitement with the form of unexpected success had caused many rushing into a section like Cedar Creek, but it proved a repetition of many similar mining ventures in the province. He has several encouraging reports from various mining sections in the Cariboo district, which should make better results in the future. Mr. Mackay, who is accompanied to Victoria by Mrs. Mackay, will remain here over the week-end. SUNDAY SERVICES AT CENTENNIAL CHURCH. The morning congregation at Centennial Church will be addressed by the Rev. John A. Aikens, pastor of the Young Memorial Church in Winnipeg. Dr. Aikens has held a number of important pastorates in the Canadian Methodist Church, including Metropolitan Church in Toronto, and is regarded as one of the foremost ministers in the connection. Dr. Aikens is in Victoria with several ministers of the Congregational and Presbyterian churches for the purpose of presenting a memorial of the church union movement in the pulpits of the prominent churches. Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of Centennial Church, will preach in the evening on the subject "As a Man Thinketh." During the early part of the service he will answer the following questions: "Give me a reason why the wine Jesus made could not be intoxicating." "How do you reconcile Jacob's life full of deceit with the fact that he was so much favored with God?" "Can a man marry on 19 a week?" "What do you think of spiritual mediums and can they communicate with the dead?" "Give your opinion of Bible reading in the public schools of B.C." "Who is God? Is He within or without?" "The yoga theory of the soul ought to be a better Christian than to belong to a secret society, especially when the name of Christ is not used in the ritual." "What is the purpose of public dances for girls under 18? Is it all right for them with a chaperon?" "Assuming a man to be a good man, what is the best way to manage the life out of him, who should he do?" "If Christian Science has flaws, what are they?" "Is there any word of Scripture that warrants us to believe in a probation after death?" "Is the doctrine of Purgatory scriptural?" "If a man is sincere does it matter what he believes?" "How is it possible to rise with the same body we had on earth?" "Do you believe a believer is sanctified immediately?" Miss Dorothy Marcroft will render a violin solo during the service. Miss Marjorie Marshall, are pupils of Mr. and Mrs. E. Semple. ST. AIDANS AND GORDON HEAD. Divine services will be held at St. Aidan's Presbyterian Church, Mount Tully, to-morrow at 11 o'clock, with Sunday School at 10 o'clock. Members, adherents and friends are requested to note that the evening services will be discontinued until further notice. Service will be held to-morrow at Gordon Head Hall at 7 p.m. with Sunday School at 2.30. To-morrow being the third Sunday in October is appointed to be observed as Children's Day in the diocese of Columbia, and throughout the Church of England in Canada. Special services have been arranged in a number of Anglican churches in the city, and offerings will be received to support the work of the church in promoting and providing for the religious education of children and young people. LAPORTE SENDS THANKS. "Before leaving British Columbia I wish to express to yourself and colleagues my deep gratitude for your kind reception." This is the telegraphic message Premier Oliver received to-day from the Hon. Ernest Laporte, Minister of Marine and Fisheries for Canada, as he was passing East through Prince George. OBITUARY RECORDS. The funeral of the late John Currie McDougall took place this morning from the R. C. Funeral Chapel, Rev. Dr. Wilson conducting the funeral service at 11 o'clock. Many friends were present and the caasket was covered with beautiful flowers. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The service was officiated by Messrs. H. Radford, E. Ruttan, J. C. MacDonald and Capt. A. I. Gould.

"I Love to Dance but—OH! MY FEET!" Try this and forget all your aches, pains, strains, corns, callouses or other foot troubles. A foot bath in hot-saturated water is all you need to "soak" any foot pains instantly. Phyllis Monkman says the salted water is wonderful for tired, tender, aching feet after long foot troubles. As for corns—it does not affect sound, healthy skin in the slightest degree, but acts only on the dead, hardened skin composing corns and callouses, which it softens just as water softens soap. Then pick the corn right out—root and all—like the hull out of a strawberry. Merely cutting the top off with a razor or burning it off with caustic liquids, plasters, etc., is about as logical as cutting the top off of a cutting tooth, and is simply a waste of time. Also it hurts, and is dangerous. Millions of packets of Reudel Bath Salts (for the preparation of salted water) have been sold, and the sale is increasing daily. This means something, as you will understand when you see for yourself the wonderful effects it produces. In packets of convenient size and at low price, from all druggists. Ask them about it.

GREECE TO PAY DEBT TO CANADA

Agreement Reached; Sum About $8,000,000; Repayment Period 25 Years

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—Finance Minister Fielding has confirmed a dispatch from London stating that an agreement had been reached for the consolidation of the post war debt of Greece to Canada. The terms of the agreement were substantially as stated by the dispatch from London, said Mr. Fielding.

The debt amounts to approximately $8,000,000.

The Greek Government has agreed to pay $225,000 to complete the interest on the debt up to January 1, 1924, when the new agreement will come into force.

By the agreement the Greek Government will pay the Government of Canada $8,000,000 in twenty-five year bonds on which five per cent interest will be payable semi-annually. A capital sum will also be paid semi-annually sufficient to extinguish the whole debt in twenty-five years.

GRAIN IS CONVEYED BY AIR DEVICE

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 20.—Affording a peep into the future, when grain may be carried on the winds from the prairie provinces to eastern shipping ports, abolishing the use of trains and ships is a device now in use at the N. M. Paterson elevator here. It is a pipe line system by which grain is conveyed from Elevator "A," 1,400 feet inland, to vessels at the waterfront without the use of the familiar belt.

Called an "airveyor," the scheme comprises the use of a hurricane of wind in a pipe, the force being created by giant fans. While passing through the airveyor the wheat is suspended on the air stream. The machine carries 4,000 bushels an hour.

DUTY OF ALL TO DO USEFUL WORK

Toronto, Oct. 20.—"Any man who does not, with his brain or his muscle, perform useful work is unworthy of citizenship in this great country," said Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, in an address at Upper Canada College yesterday. "Most of the ills of society would disappear if men worked more, and talked less about theories of reform. We enjoy the right to live only by honest work, and the individual who does not pay the price of life has no right to it."

MAN CLAIMED HE HAD 864 BOTTLES OF BEER FOR SICK WIFE

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—Beer—good, old-fashioned pre-war beer—was the only medicine that seemed to do his sick wife any good, I. Emerson told the judge before whom he was held on a Volstead charge. That's why there was some in his home when officers raided it, he explained. "How about it?" the court asked the arresting officers. "She must have been an awfully sick woman, your honor," was the reply. "We found 864 bottles." "Five hundred dollars," said the judge.

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—Lady Grace Esmee Mackenzie, big game hunter, who bagged thirty lions, seven leopards and five rhinoceros during her recent trip through the wilds of East Africa, is here en route to Japan, where a collection of pictures of African game life will be presented before students of various universities.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is most like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant to children like.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out, and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give you absolute satisfaction or money refunded. NEW LIGHT ON CANADIAN HISTORY

Papers Presented to Canada by Harmsworth Very Valuable

Montcalm's Judgment at Quebec Correct, But Vaudreuil Interfered

London, Oct. 20 (Special Cable to the Canadian Press by George Hambleton, Staff Correspondent)—Romantic stories from the dim pages of Canadian history are being slowly unfolded from the collection of original documents which Sir Leicester Harmsworth has presented to the Canadian Government as a memorial to his brother, the late Lord Northcliffe.

There are volumes of maps, diaries and communications, but ranking chief in interest among them so far is a letter in faded handwriting. It was written by General Montcalm to De Bougainville, his second in command, seven days before Wolfe's soldiers made their way up the steep heights at Wolfe's Cove and captured the Plains of Abraham.

At that time General Montcalm's army was camped on the Beauport shore below Quebec, but Montcalm apparently was aware of the weak link in the French defences on the heights of Abraham. There above Wolfe, De Ruminny was in command of a French outpost.

Sent Regiment "I am sending a regiment of Guienne (an old French province) to Monsieur De Ruminny," Montcalm wrote to De Bougainville and he added the warning words, "observez bien."

New differences of opinion seem to have arisen between Montcalm, who was in command of the French troops, and Vaudreuil, the Civil Governor of Quebec. Vaudreuil thought the regiment of Guienne, which was counted among the flower of the French army, was not needed and the regiment was sent back to Beauport.

On September 12, 1758, Montcalm again ordered the regiment of Guienne to assist at De Ruminny's outpost. Vaudreuil replied that he would see about it to-morrow. But to-morrow never came. The same night Wolfe's soldiers climbed the slope and defeated the French forces on the Plains of Abraham.

What would have happened had the regiment of Guienne been there to defend the way is a matter of keen speculation. In the face of such resistance, Wolfe's men might not have succeeded at all, and the French regime in Canada might have had a very different history.

The documents are now being closely examined by Dr. A. G. Doughty, Dominion Archivist. They are so numerous that only a cursory examination has been possible up to the present time. In all likelihood other correspondence will be found to throw additional light on the Montcalm-Vaudreuil episode.

AERIAL SERVICES WERE DISCUSSED

Subject Before the Empire Economic Conference

London, Oct. 20.—"England to Canada by airship in less than thirty hours." This idea was held out, although in a somewhat nebulous way perhaps, at yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Economic Conference.

Sir Samuel Hoare, British Minister of Air Service, had been outlining to the conference the proposed Burney airship service between London and Cairo and on to India. By the proposed service, Sir Samuel explained, it would be possible to fly to India in 100 flying hours, or five days, as opposed to the present fourteen days. The Lieut.-Colonel Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, drew a picture of the giant airship of the future. He thought the airship had reached the stage where its success was assured. By taking the extreme circle track it could shorten the actual distance to Canada.

Colonel Amery's remarks were made during a discussion in which Hon. G. P. Graham observed that Canada at present was not much interested in the lighter-than-air craft, especially as under the proposed Cairo service Canada would not be affected.

Committee Named A committee of the conference was appointed to consider the details of the Burney scheme.

Sir Samuel Hoare said the British Government had definitely decided to go ahead with the Burney scheme, and did not wish to make it conditional on help being received from any Dominion. "If they can help us," he continued, "naturally we would regard it as a further means of making the scheme a success."

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY DECISION IS TO BE TAKEN TO APPEAL

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—British Columbia private employment agencies have received a setback from Judge Cayley, who in a test case has decided F. J. Dumasque infringed the Employment Agencies Act of 1915, when he conducted an agency at 203 Carrall Street.

Various companies, employers of labor, remunerated Dumasque monthly for sending workmen to them. In this case, Dumasque sent a man to the Carleton Bay logging camp of Demoree Limited. The prosecution was instituted through the office of the Employment Service of Canada.

Judge Cayley, reversing a decision of Magistrate Shaw, decided Dumasque was a broker and there was no offence, as far as the act went, between Dumasque being paid a flat rate of $10 so much per head. A nominal fine of $10 was imposed.

The decision is to be appealed.

TELEGRAPHERS' WAGES SUBJECT OF INQUIRY

Montreal, Oct. 20.—In the dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway and its telegraphers, a board of conciliation opened an inquiry here yesterday with Col. O. M. Biggar, Ottawa, as chairman; J. B. Coyne, K.C., Winnipeg, representing the C.P.R., and David Campbell, K.C., representing the employees.

The dispute concerns wages and other matters. The case for the men is being presented by Senator G. D. Robertson, while the company's side is being upheld by George Hodge, assistant manager of Eastern lines of the C.P.R., and A. L. Stevens. It is expected the board will sit for a few days.

A LITTLE MATTER OF HISTORY

Canadians who do not know exactly the genesis of the troubles of the old Grand Trunk Railway in Eastern Canada, which led to the reviling of their Government recently by certain London financial interests, should dip into the history of the line's birth in the middle of last century.

The circumstances surrounding the launching of the Grand Trunk, as revealed in the source documents of Canadian history, have been brought to light by Professor Oscar D. Skelton, of Queen's University, in his biographical volume on the life and times of Sir A. T. Galt, published by the Oxford Press of Toronto. It is being received as one of the outstanding works on Canadian history, more than maintaining the scholarly standard the author set in his preceding publications.

Perhaps most immediately pertinent in the results of his research is the part which deals with the first days of the Grand Trunk. Professor Skelton sums up the Grand Trunk, when rosy anticipations had faded into drab realities, and English shareholders mourned millions sunk beyond recall, it became the fashion in England to reproach Canada and the Canadian Government for all the road's misfortunes and to demand relief from the public treasury. It is important to note therefore that the responsibility for the greater part of the troubles which followed lay with the English promoters who took the project out of the hands of the Canadians who stood ready to carry it through.

Then follows the full story of how under Galt and Montreal families, whose names are still prominent to-day, Canadians had set about to build the line and had subscribed every farthing of the $600,000 capital authorized. At this stage there arrived on the scene from across the water Sir William Jackson, head of an important railway construction firm, looking for contracts. He talked of millions as the awed provincials talked of thousands and claimed that he and his fellow-contractors possessed a power of open sea in the London money markets. Professor Skelton says, "Their arguments dazzled the legislators. But the promoters were not content with merely dazzling the eyes; they made assurance doubly sure by filling their pockets when it was advisable."

It ended with the Londoners taking out of the hands of the Canadians the control of financing and constructing the railway. With what results? Galt giving evidence before the railroad committee said:

"The instrumentality of Mr. Jackson and his associates so essential that they shall be paid from 30 to 50 per cent. over the cash value of their work, merely for the facilities they are supposed to possess as money brokers? There is no doubt that our trunk line would be managed more in consonance with the wants, the habits and the whole genius of our people, by a local company than by any association of speculators residing abroad, having no interest in the company beyond the punctual receipt of the largest dividends that can be wrung from it. We can construct a railroad in less time, for about one-half the declared capital, and with a smaller amount of aid than the parties applying for the charter in question. OUR ENTERPRISE, IF IT FAILS WILL NOT BE BURDENED WITH THE COMPLAINTS OF THE CONFIDING AND RUINED SHAREHOLDERS IN ENGLAND."

Those prophetic words were uttered in 1852. They will interest the present-day successors of the original stockholders and promoters, who had all the facts before them and were still so persistent to make a wild gamble. They will assist the Canadian taxpayer in appreciating the action of his Government in refusing the demands for special compensation from the stockholders of what was the railway that never had a chance until Canada took it over recently and revived it in the Canadian National system.

The whole story will also interest British Columbians suffering from the results of intimacies with railroad promoters. They will recognize that the genus of seventy years ago is very much the same as that of this later generation.

A PROFITABLE BUSINESS

It is estimated that the tourist business during the summer months was worth more than two million dollars to Victoria. This sum is equal to the yearly payroll of a factory employing more than two thousand people, if every employee received a hundred dollars a month, which the average factory employee does not receive anywhere. This tourist business is the product of publicity, most of it the advertising conducted by the Victoria Publicity Bureau operating in a score of directions, from advertisements inserted in important newspapers and magazines of the continent to the erection of alluring sign-boards for miles along the Pacific highway and the appointment of energetic representatives in Spokane, Portland and Seattle, the three strategic points on the main lines of American tourist travel. The same bureau is responsible for the growing motor ferry connections between Vancouver Island and the mainland of British Columbia and the State of Washington. Consequently the Victoria Publicity Bureau needs no apology for appealing for substantial public support for its next year's campaign. Its activities have been justified a hundredfold, since for every dollar it has expended in publicity one hundred dollars have been expended by tourists in this community. Nor does this include what was spent by visitors, attracted here by the Bureau's advertising, in the neighboring municipalities and up-Island points which should be generous contributors to the publicity fund. This profitable business is only in its infancy, if the Bureau's activities are permitted to continue in increasing volume, and this calls for liberal financial support from the community at large.

BAD TASTE

Whoever General Georges Dumont, of the French Embassy at Washington, is, or may consider he is, when it comes to the discussion of international affairs he should be put at the end of a restraining rein when he begins to throw mud in a veiled sort of way at the British member of the Entente.

The officer in question preceded Mr. Lloyd George to St. Louis and said that a friend of France was to visit that city; but he thought fit to assume a suppliant role and cry out "we pray the Lord will protect us against our friends."

Mr. Lloyd George has replied to the effect that nobody heard a cry of that description from France during the years between 1914-1918, and he rounded off this pointed reminder with a brief reference to that more potent evidence of friendship to which 900,000 British dead so eloquently testify.

For reasons of his own the former Prime Minister does not agree with French policy. He contends that Germany should pay to the limit of her capacity; but because he differs with Premier Poincare and the French Government there is no earthly reason why a French Embassy official should forget the graveyards in France and Flanders and what they signify.

PROGRESSIVE TOLERATION

While international gestures towards giving peace a chance to popularize itself throughout the world may not be as cordial as one would wish, there are evidences of the less spectacular variety that may even yet stir up statesmen to a realization of their obligation and opportunity. Ten years ago the very mention of a joint gathering for social intercourse between members of the Masonic Order and members of the Knights of Columbus would have called forth an indulgent smile if not a contemptuous shrug. Yet such has taken place within the last three months and only on Thursday of this week Olean Council No. 338, K. of C., New York State, presented to a Methodist Minister a Thirty-Second Degree Masonic ring as a mark of appreciation of his services to the community. Here is an example of progressive toleration and goodwill. Ontario and Quebec—peace note!

Note and Comment

We notice that the Principal of the Victoria High School frowns upon too many social functions and suggests that if there are to be parties for the student population under his charge Friday night should be selected as often as possible. What do the purveyors of dancing music have to say to this? Are there enough to go round?

"If I were a young man I should go straight to British Columbia." This is what Dr. Granville Bantock said when he returned to Great Britain after spending five months in Canada on the business of judging musical festivals. We find no difficulty in declaring that this distinguished musical authority has a mental equipment that is in complete harmony with good judgment.

Alderman Ker met a financial man in Toronto who visited Victoria a year ago and found it one of the most pessimistic cities in Canada without cause. This same individual has since heard that a wave of optimism is sweeping over this city. He is quite right and the wave is going to be a permanent wave that no pessimistic moisture will take out.

When the late Lord Northcliffe visited Victoria a little more than a couple of years ago he met Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., and the latter acted as the distinguished journalist's caddy when he played golf at Oak Bay. In "A Journey Round the World," which was written by the late Lord Northcliffe and published posthumously, the author says he met "young Mr. Vanderbilt" in Vancouver and complains that both had to carry their own golf clubs because there were no caddies to be obtained. One may hope that the last published work of Lord Northcliffe should not be judged in its entirety by this slight discrepancy in fact and geographic record.

MORE RATE GRIEVANCES
Toronto Globe:—British Columbia has a railway grievances which is shared by Toronto. The express rate on fresh crabs to Winnipeg, 1565 miles, is $4.30 per 100 pounds, but the rate to Toronto, 2875 miles, is $15.95, and the Railway Commission says there is no discrimination.

THE ONLY SOLUTION
Yonkers Herald:—All religious teaching, doctrine or creed must be in harmony with the "Constitution of the Kingdom"—the Sermon on the Mount—if they are to have any claim upon the love, loyalty, devotion and patriotism of the people. The only solution for the turmoil, social unrest and kindred evils which torment the world to-day is found in the practical application of the teachings of the Master in the Sermon on the Mount.

SCIENCE

To the Editor:—The Times of October 8 contained a report from the Lion's Head, Ont., anent the recovery, by means of leaves of bread weighted with lime, of the body of one drowned some two weeks previously, after all other efforts resorted to in the interim had failed to detect its whereabouts in the waters of the lake. Your report states (a) that two men, Parker and Corson, on September 24 were engaged in raising their nets when the body of one, throwing them into the water; (b) that a government aeroplane and large parties of Lion's Head residents had searched the waters for two weeks for trace of their bodies without results; (c) that a clairvoyant believed he could locate the bodies by a unique method, following his appearance on the scene, one of the bodies was recovered within half an hour. . . . Removing the centres from nine loaves of bread, he filled the loaves with lime and, and that he passed over a body a sort of electrical current would be formed and indicated by the trembling of the bread. Very soon one of the loaves showed evidence of disturbance. Grasping irons were used, and the body of Parker was raised. The body of Corson was also located, but could not be brought up. (d) The clairvoyant claimed it was the 119th body which he had recovered by this method. . . . Why this man is referred to as being a clairvoyant is rather obscure, as had he been so, the necessity to employ leaves and lime would not be evident. Now, if the occurrence as reported actually took place, and that agitated loaf of bread became unduly disturbed at the precise location where, upon investigation, the body of Parker was found and recovered, then it is a most remarkable happening, and further, both the cause, or reason, the process, and the result of this demonstration must have been scientifically based, whether the "clairvoyant" knew it to be so or not. . . . By a strange coincidence The Manchester (Eng.) Guardian, of September 22 (only two days after the drowning of the two fishermen as above) contains the following: "In setting a loaf of bread, weighted with mercury, afloat on the river at Boston Spa in hope of locating the body of a drowned lad the police were merely reverting to a once common practice. There are numerous records of such experiments for the detection of the drowned during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. . . . Some at least of those alleged to be successful. The Gentleman's Magazine in 1787 described the process as adopted when a child fell into the river and was drowned. Other means of finding the body had failed, a twopenny loaf, with a quantity of quicksilver put into it, was set floating from the place where the child, it was supposed, had fallen in, which steered its course down river upwards of half a mile, before a great number of spectators. . . . then suddenly tacked about and swam across the river, and gradually sank near the body of the child, when both the child and the loaf were immediately recovered." The Stamford Mercury of December, 1886, gave a circumstantial account of another instance in which the body of a young man, believed to have fallen in a river was recovered by this means, the weighted loaf coming to a standstill above the spot where the body lay. . . . What shall we say to these things, sir? Verily, "There are more (of them) in heaven and earth than are dreamt of in our philosophy." Upon reflection one sees that the same law is operating in all these instances as when using a divining rod for locating water, or various other ideas when prospecting for minerals. Just precisely, what attraction or affinity exists between leaves of bread weighted with mercury or lime, and a dead body? I will refrain. But I do think that if the law and its rules of application were once understood that they would be found to be of universal application, and, in short, we should all be able to locate or find, everything we wanted, given its existence in nature, i.e., life's necessities, customers, tourists, industries, errors in trial balances, and possibly, even "the lost chord," by simply putting the law into practice in accordance with one or other of its sales applicable to the particular need of the moment. I have long thought that there really exists some better and more scientific way of achieving our legitimate ends and solving our problems than the one at present operating through the banks, loan companies, and collection agencies. . . . In point of fact, is not this law exactly what the great bulk of your correspondents, as also those of your contemporary, The Colonist, have been searching for in their efforts to arrive at woolen mills, wineries, wineries, and much other desiderata of the bygone years? . . . Science will save us, because science is the sole operative process in the divine order of things, and therefore science can. And if science constructs a fire engine it is a very good instrument for its intended purpose. But if some fool fills the same with gasoline, plus a spark-plug attachment, and uses it for setting fire to his neighbor's house, then the subsequent funeral expenses are not at science's charge. . . . Truth cannot be arraigned in court and made answerable for numerous accusations relating to the subversion of truth in the human disorder of things. . . . J. HAFFORD, Hotel Westholme, Victoria, B.C., October 11, 1923.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN NEW NATIONAL PRESIDENT OF W.I. A PIONEER FARMER

Mrs. David Watt Heads Federated Institutes; Understands Rural Woman's Problems

By ELIZABETH B. PRICE

Mrs. David Watt, of Birtle, Manitoba, the new national president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, the largest organization of women "on the land," is a Western pioneer and the wife of a farmer.

She has gone through those "early days," when a woman had to be mistress of all trades—when she had to know every branch of farm work, from making butter, milking cows, feeding chickens, to cooking for threshers; when she had to be not only the mother of the family but the doctor and nurse—when she had to be her own dressmaker, her own milliner, and furnish her own entertainment.

Butter at Eight Cents

"We hear much about the discouragement of farming, of low prices for all produce at the present time," said Mrs. Watt to the writer. "This is not very cheering, but in the pioneer days—when we had no conveniences of any kind—our butter never sold for anything more than eight or twelve cents a pound in Summer and fifteen cents in Winter, while our eggs brought from five to ten cents a dozen. Wheat was always below fifty cents a bushel—but yet we lived and were comfortable—for of course all shared alike.

No Movies Then

"Driving and riding horses was the greatest form of recreation," she continued. "Even yet I look back with pleasure to the wild rides over the prairie on my trusted but fleet pony. Distances were nothing. How often in the coldest weather we drove ten or twelve miles in to some neighbor to attend a social gathering, or we would meet in turns for weeks at the different homes, practising for concerts which we would give at the small country school houses and which every man, woman and child would possibly come, attended.

That was the time when the whole community was like one big family, when one woman looked to another in her great hour of need—when neighbors depended upon each other in sickness and emergencies. It was the time of true friendship and true democracy."

Wife at Eighteen

As a farmer's wife—which position she assumed at the early age of eighteen, Mrs. Watt was eminently successful. With a few years' experience she established a butter-making record of 1,500 pounds in six months. She also specialized in and was highly successful with her poultry.

"My sympathies from the first were with the women's institutes," said Mrs. Watt, "and many a time I saw what it could accomplish for all rural women and especially for those with no previous training in farm life. I wish that there had been a Women's Institute to take me by the hand when I began my green experiment."

Officer Since 1910

In 1910 the third institute or home economics club in Manitoba was organized in Birtle, Man., near Mrs. Watt's farm home. She became its secretary—then the next year its president, which office she held for seven consecutive years. The record of that branch, which is now the largest in Manitoba, is one of achievement. During the war the members did all the Red Cross work of that little village of six hundred; it has amassed a library containing more than twelve hundred books; it has opened a rest room, "the town and country club room," with a woman in charge who dispenses tea daily. It has established the hot lunch tradition in the schools, and when the doctor tried to stir up interest in public health and the men failed to respond, it was the Women's Institute which backed him up, and now there is a cottage hospital there—much of its equipment to the credit of the Institute.

Was on Advisory Board

In 1913 Mrs. Watt became a member of the Provincial Advisory Board, and in 1919 she became the provincial president of Manitoba. In the Spring of that year she was appointed to the same position in the Dominion.

pointed to represent Manitoba at a gathering of delegates from the various provinces which in 1919 culminated in the organization of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada. It was then a step to the presidency of the national which resolved itself this year greatly to the delight of both East and West to the national presidency.

Mrs. Watt, although interested in every line of institute work, has several hobbies. She is keen about a provincial library scheme—a circulating library whereby all rural parts may have all the available books they wish. She would like to see medical inspection in all rural schools. She is interested in the Canadianization of the foreigner.

Is Canadian Born

Mrs. Watt is Canadian born—being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Fraser, of Woodstock, Ontario, the former having been a mathematical teacher in the Woodstock Collegiate Institute for twenty-five years. Over a quarter of a century and seven years have passed away since Mrs. Watt came to the West in 1892 as a bride from Woodstock, Ont. The years and the farm life have dealt kindly with her. She is still a beautiful woman. She is energetic—yet well poised—a manner and a personality that at once mark her as an outstanding woman.

TRUSTEES ENDORSED EQUALITY PRINCIPLE

In Favor of Wife Sharing Election Privilege on Husband's Property

The B. C. School Trustees' Association at Duncan on Thursday endorsed the principle of a wife qualifying for the right of full citizenship in municipal councils and school boards, on property owned by her husband if sharing the same domicile.

The matter was brought before the convention through the medium of a resolution from the B. C. Federation of Parent-Teacher Association, couched in the following terms: "Whereas women are taking a steadily increasing interest in public affairs and are carrying on important activities in connection therewith; and whereas many women, while they enjoy the privilege of the franchise at Federal and Provincial elections, are deprived of this privilege in connection with municipal elections, where matters of the most vital importance to themselves and their children are annually before the electorate.

"It is resolved, therefore, that the secretary of the Provincial Federation of Parent-Teacher Association, hereby assembled in convention be instructed to communicate with local authorities, and with the Attorney General at Victoria, to ask that the Municipal Act be so altered and amended that wives or husbands of owners may have the privilege of the franchise at all municipal elections, without the payment of any road tax, poll tax or any other special tax, whatsoever, other than the taxes paid in respect of property on which they reside, as at present levied.

"And further, that the franchise asked for by this resolution should rank only as a householder's franchise and be granted to wives or husbands of registered owners only in respect of the election of individuals to public office and not in respect of Money By-Laws."

The matter is one which has been exercising the attention of women, particularly in the rural districts, for some years. Mrs. Henderson, of Victoria, has been one of the strongest advocates of the principle, and has spoken before many organizations on the subject.

SOCIAL PERSONAL AND

Dr. F. M. Bryant, who is attending the meeting in Chicago of the American College of Surgeons, is expected home the first week in November.

Dr. J. W. Aleson, of Winnipeg, has arrived in the city and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harper, of Princess Avenue.

Mr. Justice Eberts, who is attending the Fall session of the Court of Appeal in Vancouver, is spending the week-end at his home in Victoria.

Dame Nellie Melba has been staying in Ottawa for some days as the guest of the Governor-General and Lady Byng.

Miss Helen Elliott left to-day for Campbell River, where she has accepted a position on the nursing staff of the Campbell River Hospital.

Mrs. Fletcher returned on Thursday from Vancouver, where she has been the guest of Mrs. A. J. Cambie, Robson Street, for the past two weeks.

Mr. F. J. Starpole, K.C., left to-day to spend a few weeks' holiday in Grand Forks, where he will be the president of the national which resolved itself this year greatly to the delight of both East and West to the national presidency.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Graham, Fernwood Road, who have spent the past month on vacation in Eastern Canada, are expected back in Victoria this week.

Alderman James B. Inglis, Lord Mayor of York, who has been visiting in Victoria for several weeks, as the guest of Mrs. Piercy, Linden Avenue, sailed to-day for New York on his return to England.

A bridge, five hundred and mah jong party will be held at the residence of Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Uplands, on Wednesday, October 24, at 8.30 p.m., for the benefit of the Lourdes Church, Willows. Patrons are kindly requested to make table reservations by telephoning 6895, 7522Y1 and 2647Y.

Miss Ross Norcross, who is leaving Victoria at the end of the month to make her home in Vancouver, was guest of honor recently at the home of Mrs. Ebbes-Cavanagh, when a number of friends from the local branch of the Canadian Authors' Association assembled to meet her. Miss Norcross was the recipient of a number of complimentary gifts from those present, among them being a very ingenious cipher message worked out in sprays of local trees by Mr. C. C. Pechen.

Mrs. Hermann Robertson was hostess at a delightful bridge and mah jong party yesterday afternoon at her residence on Clive Drive. The bridge players were Lady Cameron, of Vancouver; Mrs. Kidd, of Vancouver; Mrs. J. M. Ross, Mrs. Matson, Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. A. V. Macan, Mrs. F. R. Eaton, and the mah jong players were Mrs. E. G. Ford, Mrs. W. Todd, Mrs. A. T. Goward, Mrs. W. J. Bowers, Mrs. C. C. Bennett, Mrs. J. Rithet, Mrs. H. A. Ross. The tea table, which was lavishly decorated with fragrant chrysanthemums, was presided over by Mrs. Lampanon and Miss Eberts.

Mrs. Henry Croft entertained about twenty-five members of the Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., yesterday afternoon at Alexandra House in honor of Mrs. E. Ford, who has been treasurer of the chapter for the past five years. Mrs. Douglas Macdonald presided at the tea table in the sun room which was charmingly arranged with flowers. During the afternoon Mrs. Wright was presented with a handsome umbrella and a beautiful corsage bouquet of roses and violets, with the good wishes of the chapter and their sincere thanks for her loyal work. Prior to the tea the chapter held an informal meeting to make arrangements for the bridge, mah jong and 500 party which the chapter will hold on Tuesday evening at 8.15, in the Alexandra ballroom. Additional guests will be welcomed at the supper hour.

Colonel and Mrs. Ogilvie and Miss Mary Ogilvie, who for the Summer have been the guests of Mrs. Ogilvie's sister, Mrs. Crow Baker, Gorge Road, are leaving to-night for their home in Kingston, Ontario.

Resumption of its benefit teas which in former years did much to assist musicians suffering from illness or in straitened circumstances will be made by the Ladies' Musical Club this Winter. The first will be held on Saturday afternoon next at the home of the president, Mrs. D. E. Campbell, Linden Avenue, when the entire proceeds will be handed to an elderly musician who is seriously ill. The attractive programme will include solos by Mrs. Pakenham, a brilliant pianist, who as Alma Clarke, enjoyed the reputation of a musical prodigy as a girl in Victoria. The affair will be open to the public as well as to club members.

Forty young people met at the home of Mrs. H. Pollard, 1144 Pandora Avenue, last evening on the occasion of the birthday of Mr. L. Westdale. The rooms were tastefully decorated to carry out an Autumnal color scheme. Mr. George Summerfield was in charge of the arrangements, and was ably assisted by Mr. Chris D'Arcy. Dancing and games were included in the evening's entertainment, and Mr. E. Impett contributed vocal solos. Supper was served at a table decorated to harmonize with the color scheme. The party was brought to a close with dancing. The following were the guests: Misses Marie Douch, Grace and Dora Teed, Alice Hanes, Eileen Torrens, Madge Crook, Grace Smith, Dorothy Pollard, Carry Pollard, Kathleen D'Arcy, Margaret D'Arcy, Messrs. L. Westdale, Chris D'Arcy, George Summerfield, George Durham, S. Westdale, W. Summerfield, J. Sullivan, T. Pollard, Alex. Walker, Ernest Impett, Thomas Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Westdale, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Durick, Mrs. Summerfield, Mrs. Teed, Mrs. D'Arcy, Mrs. B. Pollard and Mr. Roberts.

An artist lately arrived from England, the honorable Mrs. Reginald Blomfield, A.E.W.S., now a member of the Vancouver Island Arts and Crafts Society, is exhibiting at the Arts and Crafts Exhibition, which is being held at the Hudson's Bay store, commencing next Tuesday, a number of works in oil, water color and black and white, among them being "Sir Galahad, 1914," in oils, which was accepted by the Royal Academy.

She studied for many years under the late Mr. Sydney Herbert. She holds the Degree of Associate of the British Water Color Society and the Fall Honors Certificate of the Royal Drawing Society, London, which latter she completed at the early age of fifteen years.

She specializes in horse portraiture, and has painted for many of the leading horse breeders and exhibitors in Great Britain.

Kumtuka Club—The usual fortnightly luncheon of the Kumtuka Club will be held in the private dining-room at David Spencer's Ltd., on Monday at 12 noon. Miss Halkway will be the speaker. In the evening an illustrated lecture under the club auspices will be given by Capt. State in the Alexandra ballroom at 8.30, on the subject of "Conditions of Day in Great Britain."

who do not keep a maid should learn how to lay a fire without making a mess on the floor or getting themselves smothered up.

To begin with, do not remove all of the wood ashes every day. They make a base for the new fire, and help retain the heat. Upon these ashes, between the shafts of the andirons, lay several wads of loosely crumpled paper—plenty of it. Next lay on, in a loose jack-straw fashion, a good supply of small kindling wood, very dry and resinous, if possible. Don't lay these sticks all running the same way, but criss-cross them on each other in such a way that when they burn and fall in they will still support the logs above. Upon these kindlings, lay two or three small sticks of wood resting them upon the andirons and leaving plenty of air spaces between them. Most fires go out either because the passage of air is choked off or because the wood is not green. Last of all, lay one or two small logs on, lodging them securely on the smaller sticks, with crisscross for a draft between all the pieces of wood. Then touch your match to the paper.

If you have that charming device, a Cape Cod firelighter, you will not need the paper, for the burning torch lights the dry kindling very quickly. But the real secret is dry wood, laid on slightly crisscross, so several draft-spaces are formed.

For some peculiar reason, very few women seem to know how to build a fire. If they had been brought up in the South, as I was, where nearly every room has an open grate fire, they would soon learn how easy it is to lay the paper, the kindling and the wood or coal in such a way as to secure an immediate draft, and a clean, crackling blaze. Perhaps they have had too much experience with steam radiators and too little with fireplaces.

Nowadays, however, since the growth of suburban districts, the open fire is not as rare as it has been in the city furnace-sections and the small town base-burner belt! The modern cottage would almost as soon go without its bathroom as without its living-room fireplace. In fact, as one couple expressed it, "we built the fireplace first and then built the house around it."

As the cool days of late fall begin to send us indoors even in the daytime, a snappy open fire at tea-time is very cozy and cheerful, and women

POPULAR CHURCH ORGANIST IS BRIDE

Miss Adelia E. Keith Married to Chilliwack Farmer

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Douglas Street Baptist Church on Wednesday, October 17, at 2 p.m., the contracting parties being Mr. Franz Philip Zink, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Zink, of Chilliwack, and Adelia Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Keith, Alder Street, Saanich. Rev. W. H. Redman, pastor of the church, officiated and Miss Evelyn Smith presided at the organ. The beautifully decorated church, which was filled with guests, presented a pleasing setting for the happy occasion, the bridal party standing beneath a floral arch of mauve and cream chrysanthemums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was becomingly attired in a model suit of castor wool, heavily embroidered, and beaver trimmed, with which she wore a canna hat with flowing veil and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, swansonia and maidenhair fern.

Miss Evelyn Keith was suitably gowned in a frock of nigger brown Canton, and wore a brown picture hat with flowing veil, and carried a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums, pink roses and fern, and attended her sister as bridesmaid.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Hugo Zink, of Chilliwack. During the signing of the register, Miss A. Barr sweetly rendered the solo "Until."

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by immediate relatives and intimate friends of the happy couple. The rooms were beautifully decorated in a color scheme of mauve and pink, with masses of dahlias and chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Zink were assisted in receiving their guest by Mrs. Keith, mother of the bride, who wore a frock of black charmeuse, while Mrs. Zink, mother of the groom, was gowned in a smart frock of black silk. A delicious luncheon was served from a prettily decorated table, centred by a large three-tier wedding cake.

Among the numerous and beautiful gifts was a handsome silver tea service, presented by the congregation of the Douglas Street Baptist Church, the bride being a valued and esteemed member of the church, of which she also acted as organist. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome amethyst and pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid a rope of pearls, and to the groomsmen, a gold initial tie-pin.

The happy couple left on the afternoon boat for Portland via Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent. Upon their return they will reside at Sumas, B.C., where the groom is the owner of a large farm.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Zink, Miss S. E. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Alward.

Opened Reading Room—A very successful tea was held on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of the W.A. to the Canadian Legion, in connection with the opening of their new reading room. A delightful programme included items by Miss Mason, Miss Gladys Thorpe, little Miss Gaskell, and Miss Clara Powell graciously came forward with two of her clever pupils, Mr. Foster, also contributed to the programme. Mrs. Hatcher presided at the tea table assisted by Mesdames Nelson, Dempster and Dickson. The reading room was tastefully decorated with flowers,

AT THE THEATRES

PLAYHOUSE

To-night will be the last opportunity of witnessing Sir James Barrie's famous four-act comedy, "The Admirable Crichton." Being, as it is, in the forefront of the best modern English comedies, its favorable acceptance by the theatre-going public was assured.

The plot centres around a whim of Lord Loom, a character taken by Mr. Herbert Leslie, who endeavors to place his servants upon the same plane as his own family, causing the servants much embarrassment and providing very laughable situations. Mr. Compton, the butler, brings out very forcibly the pathos and dignity attached to that part in his own inimitable style, supported by Miss Peggy Dundas in the difficult role of Lady Mary Lasenby, very cleverly interpreted by her.

Crichton assumes command of the whole party when they are subsequently wrecked on a desert island.

TO SING HERE NOVEMBER 7

DAME CLARA BUTT

The Capital City is to have during the Winter music season, already commenced, some of the world's famous artists and music organizations. These, however, will be fewer in number than has been the case for many years past, for the reason well known to immediate musical circles, that those who have hitherto guaranteed the visits here of these celebrated artists have met with financial deficits, and it is not to be expected that concert promoters who do much for the music life of the city, should find themselves out of pocket at the end of the season.

Dame Clara Butt

The first famous artist of the season will be Dame Clara Butt, now on a Canadian tour. This beloved singer, well-known and decidedly popular with all Britishers, is sure to meet with a hearty reception. She has the support of Kennedy Rumford, baritone, her husband; W. H. Squire, celebrated English cellist, and composer of many popular songs, and Ivor Netwon, one of the foremost English pianists. This event will occupy two nights, November 7 and 8, and the programmes will be given at the Capitol Theatre. Walter F. Evans, of Vancouver, is bringing this concert party to the city, and in the mainland city as well.

Marcel Dupre

Marcel Dupre, the remarkable French organist, on his previous visit here created a most favorable impression. His playing of the great master, Bach, is simply wonderful, and the divine fire of inspiration that surrounds him in all he does, and his phenomenal gift of improvisation, all combine to make him a genius for whom it is almost impossible to find sufficient praise. Dupre is now on an expensive transcontinental tour of America and Canada, and opened his present series of recitals at Montreal where, between October 1 and 20, he achieved the feat of performing from memory the whole organ works of Bach, a similar achievement being accomplished twice in Paris before huge audiences. He plays here on Sunday evening, after church hours on November 18 at the Catholic Cathedral, Blanshard Street.

Kansas City Orchestra

The Kansas City orchestra, known as the "Little Symphony," has been in existence for a quarter of a century. It has become a tradition in Kansas City, and a power in the music life of America, particularly in the organization a potent single factor in the music of the Middle West. It is supported by the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, and its social clubs, such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, etc. During the life of this orchestra it has continually given

New Method Removes Wrinkles in 15 Minutes

A variable wonder-worker for wrinkled and flabby faces is a simple and harmless application made by mixing a spoonful of powdered tartaroc with a spoonful of plain water. Not only does it quickly smooth out the wrinkles and age lines—before one's very eyes—but it has a stimulating influence upon the face with the fingertips, and in less than fifteen minutes the mirror shows that a most marvelous transformation has taken place. When the substance is washed off the average face actually looks ten or fifteen years younger.

The results are far better than those obtainable from the most expert massaging—the cost is less than three cents a treatment! Powdered tartaroc is yet a little known in this country, but any druggist who has none in stock can procure some from his wholesaler upon request in a few hours' time. (Adv.)

concerts expressly for the boys and girls of their home town, and as is naturally expected, special arrangements will be made locally to have the children of this city interested in an afternoon concert to be given after school hours, when a "Kansas City children's programme" will be repeated here. The evening concert will embrace many works by the great symphonic masters. Both concerts to be given early in the first month of the New Year, will be held at the Capitol. Its conductor is N. De Rubertis, who is not only a great musician himself, but with heart and head, has understandingly and constantly selected what people appreciate and like, and has made himself a great name in the city of his adoption. The orchestra will have the assistance of a singer and a pianist. One or two other artists are spoken of as coming this way, but those already mentioned have been "booked." And it is hoped that everybody will take an interest in these celebrities coming to the coast, thus assisting in the uplift of music in the community, besides contributing to the publicity of Victoria's beauties, and its advancement along the lines of arts and music. The latter engagements have been made with concert manager George J. Dyke.

Newsies Entertained by Macy and Baird

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the humorous comedy given at the Pantages Theatre last night by the Macy and Baird Stock Company, entitled "Why William Went to France." In addition to the regular patrons, over two hundred newsboys were the guests of the company at their performance last evening. The newsies showed in no uncertain manner their appreciation and delight at the performance. The boys' unstinted applause was accepted by the company as evidence of sincere thanks for the entertainment.

DOMINION

A screen event of no little importance is the return to the screen of the gorgeously beautiful Alice Joyce in "The Green Goddess," the distinctive picture starring George Arliss, which is to be shown at the Dominion Theatre for the last times to-day.

When Alice Joyce married James B. Regan Jr. one of the wealthiest young men in New York, she announced she was through with the screen for all time. However, it seems she could not resist the opportunity offered by the excellent part of the young English wife in "The Green Goddess." It required little persuasion on the part of Arthur S. Friend, president of the Distinctive Picture Corporation, to have Miss Joyce change her mind once she had read the scenario.

ROYAL VICTORIA

The Sporting Earl, which will be shown for the last time to-day, is a melange of the lachrymose romance melodrama, the like of which has not been seen since the famous picture "The Sign of the Cross." The Sporting Earl concerns the will of Sir Horace Pilkington, Baronet, by the terms of which one nephew inherits all the Baronet's fortune and the other nephew becomes the possessor of his big racing stable, and the nephew is the Sporting Earl. Without a cent to his name, absolutely penniless, this young man, on his roster the name of "Cheerio 'Arf a Mo'," considered by many sporting circles as the fastest colt on the turf at that time. The story is full of thrills and incident, and includes the races, the stable, sensational fights and two steepchases, the whole of which will keep the spectators tied in knots.

COLUMBIA

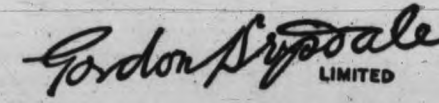

"The Sin Flood" is an unusual title for an unusual photoplay. First, let it be said that the "flood" part of it is not merely a figure of speech. It is actually a great flood in this Goldwyn photoplay, which in itself is of interest. Eleven people are moved to rescue the weak spots in their nature, while the flood waters rush over them. They are rescued in a water-tight compartment. They believe that they are going to meet their Maker, strange and amazing things are told during the three days the flood is at high tide—and then—what happens may be seen at the "Columbia Theatre." In making this Frank Lloyd production, Goldwyn adapted the scenario from the original story by Henning Berger, called "Synadalen."

CAPITOL

At the Capitol Theatre you can pass judgment on the screen version of the Hutchinson story, "If Winter Comes," which William Fox has produced under the direction of Harry Millarde.

The verdict was overwhelmingly in favor of the picture. Readers of the book were delighted to find that the qualities which had made it such a popular success were all included in the screen, veraciously heightened by the magic touch of the camera and shown against a background of the actual localities written of by the author. displayed in every detail of the photoplay "If Winter Comes" are things to be thankful for. There are several Valentinos, but up to the present there appears to be only one male vamp with the bell bottom trousers slashed a few inches on either side as the famous directrice dresses worn by the ladies some years ago. With dainty colored clock work silk socks peeping out on either side, this dancer wins without challenge the Order of Merit for so daringly bringing to Victoria, although a few months late, the startling innovations of New York and Chicago. The Valentinos are more numerous, but not so thrilling. As mentioned before, they are distinguished by their wonderful hair, side whiskers, similar to the growth at one time known as "mutton chops," dazzling buttons and straps passing under the instep to firmly hold the trousers in perfect place. Usually these sheikhs have their own particular dancing partners and perform a series of spasmodic movements calculate to emulate the famous star of "Blood and Sand." At present they are often mistaken for shell shock cases, but as the season advances and their proficiency increases, Hollywood in all its glory may run second to Victoria.

INVESTIGATES GOLD DREDGING IN SIBERIA

D. M. Uim Representing Party of Southern Capitalists Met Courtesy at Soviet Hands

Traveling in the interests of an influential part of capitalists D. M. Uim was a passenger on board the Ss. President McKinley, docking here to-day from the Orient. Mr. Uim is back from a six months' trip, which took him through the length and breadth of Siberia, and in which particular attention was paid to the coast line.

Making a survey of fresh water creeks and rivers emptying on that slope, Mr. Uim was scouting the possibility of the creation of gold dredging in that territory. Gold bearing waters are there to some extent, stated Mr. Uim, who expressed a disinclination to discuss the project in greater detail at this stage. If mining is to be carried on it will be by dredging on a large scale, he stated, speaking of the Amour River. That the Soviet administration was functioning with greater success than formerly, and that it was now possible for foreign capitalists to guarantee that their projects would be protected was the impression gathered by the traveler. In Siberia Mr. Uim caught a glimpse of the fur trade, and from conversations with those engaged in that industry learned that the projects in the fur business were not as bright as could be wished. It had been a poor season for the fur men, stated Mr. Uim, who is now en route to his home in San Francisco.

Newspaper Men Run Friendly Barrage in "Working" Ss. McKinley

Press representatives on the way to the Ogdon Point piers this morning were stopped by patrols on the road. "Belong to the ship?" queried the spokesman of one patrol to a newspaper man bound for the Ss. President McKinley.

"No," was the reply. "Going to work?" was the next question from a patrol leader. "Yes," was the answer. "Do you know there's a strike on?" was the final query.

"Yes!" It was that the patrol learned that the pedestrians were not seeking to unload the ship. The barrier was lifted.

At each gate to the wharf, and again at the dockside police guard. The order has been issued, however, were featured by quiet good humor on the part of the strikers and no unpleasantness arose in the course of the work.

R.C.N.V.R. Officers Will Take Four Months' Training

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—Officers of the Royal Canadian Volunteer Reserve are authorized by an Order-in-Council gazetted this week to volunteer for service afloat or in such establishments as may be prescribed, up to a maximum of four months during every three years of their service.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS LIGHT YESTERDAY

Port William, Ont., Oct. 20.—Yesterday was one of the lightest days since the opening of the new crop season, with only 770,000 bushels reported as cleared, and only one boat, the United States barge Constitution, loading grain. This is partly due to the heavy weather on the lake, which has sent some of the boats on the upper lakes to shelter, no less than eleven vessels being reported as on their way up light for grain and six due with coal.

BRINGS FIRST BIG SILK SHIPMENT FROM YOKOHAMA

President McKinley Docks From Orient; Had $4,000,000 Worth of Silk Aboard; Loaded 2,200 Bales of Silk at Yokohama

With a shipment of raw silk valued at $4,000,000, the first big consignment to leave Yokohama harbor since the earthquake, and a passenger list of 250, the Admiral Oriental liner President McKinley, Captain Alvin Lustie, reached quarantine from the Orient at 3 o'clock this morning. Securing pratique at 6.40, she tied along side Pier A, Ogdon Point Docks, at 8 o'clock.

The captain reported a fair trip with the exception of strong southwesterly winds as he approached this coast. "Yokohama was our point of departure," the captain said, "and I may say that the Japanese port is making a great effort to hold the silk export trade. While we were tied up at the only wharf in the harbor there were three other boats loading silk."

The silk shipment from Yokohama was 2,200 bales. "They have only one dock at present in Yokohama for big liners," added Capt. Lustie. This is the only wharf that was not totally destroyed. It has been built up on one side and connected with the shore by a ponton bridge.

Ship's Cargo
A good cargo was brought from the Orient by the McKinley this trip. She had in all 3,500 tons of cargo, including 3,950 bales of raw silk and 60 bales of silk goods, valued at $4,000,000, and large shipments of tea and other general commodities. Victoria's consignment of cargo totaled 50 tons and was made up of varied list of Chinese and Japanese merchandise. The mail shipments totaled 2,600 bags.

Passengers
There were 250 passengers aboard the liner. Ninety of these were remainder travelers steered by the prominent people were among those traveling first class. They include the following: Ernest R. Ackerman, Congressman of New Jersey, and member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, accompanied by his wife and sister-in-law, Miss J. E. Webber; B. E. Chamberlain, accompanied by his family, of the Tuscon Steel Company, Youngstown, Ohio; Prince De Bearn, counselor to the French Embassy in Tokyo, Japan, and formerly counselor of the French Embassy in the U.S., bound for Paris; R. S. John Denbigh, a prominent manufacturer in Japan on his way to New York; Kalman Elenar, buyer for Goldberg & Company, returning to New York; Paul Fichter, Japanese agent for the Carson and Clayton, cotton merchants, returning to Houston, Texas; Morris Harris, Yokohama representative of the Japan Advertiser, returning to Chicago; Ernest Harman and E. S. Savage, of the British American Tobacco Company of China, returning to New York; Mrs. Clifford Jones, a prominent social worker in the Philippine Islands and formerly of Seattle, returning to Seattle; Thomas Morley, vice-president of the Sperry Gyroscope Co., also Ray Lawrence, bound to New York; Dr. Lauffer, curator of the Department of Anthropology, Chicago; Lieut. A. R. MacMillan, accompanied by his family, of Manila, returning to Detroit; Bishop McKinley, a Catholic missionary at Manila, returning to Philadelphia; J. J. O'Fallon, manager of the O'Fallon Railroad, returning to Chicago; W. H. Stone, chief engineer of the Koto Trading Co., returning to New York; G. C. Sudd, Seattle representative of Olaf Swenson; H. M. Cavender, general agent of the Admiral Oriental Line in Manila.

San Francisco Salmon Fleet is Now in Port

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—With the arrival of the ship Star of Greenland, all the vessels of the local salmon fishing fleet are now in port. The Star of Greenland brought in 90,000 cases of salmon. The total pack of salmon obtained by the squadron, consisting of twenty-five vessels, was 1,035,339 cases.

FLAGS HALF-MAST FOR MRS. ALEXANDER

Seattle, Oct. 20.—Flags were flown to-day at half-mast on all the vessels of the Pacific Steamship Company, the Robert Dollar Company and the Admiral-Oriental Line out of respect to the memory of the late Mrs. Emma F. Alexander, mother of H. F. Alexander, president of the Pacific Steamship Company. To-day all the offices of the Robert Dollar Company here were closed, while all departments of the Admiral-Oriental and Pacific Steamship Companies, except those necessary to the operation of ships arriving or departing, also ceased activities.

The steel freighter Glymont, on her first voyage in the service of the Nelson Steamship Company, will start Monday, according to advices received here by Thomas Nielsen, agent for the Nelson interests.

The British steamship Benvenue, carrying 5,000 tons of wheat, the first complete bulk wheat cargo shipment to leave Seattle for any port in the last three years, sailed for Shanghai yesterday.

Two French steamships, the Mississippi and the Indiana, will arrive here Monday, according to advices received by local steamship agents. The Mississippi will bring a cargo that includes glass from Antwerp and Sugar from Acapulca. The Indiana will bring a cargo of glass, general merchandise and pig-iron.

The steamship Alameda sailed to-day from Seattle on the last scheduled trip to Anchorage and Cook Inlet, Alaska.

The steamship Is Touche, substituting for the Nabesun, which is undergoing inspection, scheduled to sail to-day, will also call at Anchorage.

MAN'S LIFE WAS SAVED BY MCKINLEY

Injured Man Taken From Dutch Steamer and Given Medical Attention

A man, who had been seriously injured and was in very great danger of losing his life, was miraculously saved by the quick action of Captain Alvin Lustie and Doctor E. C. Kading, of the Admiral-Oriental liner President McKinley.

Four days out from Yokohama the McKinley picked up a radio message from the Dutch steamer Kangean, bound for the Orient, asking for medical assistance as one of their crew had been seriously injured. The captain immediately replied stating that he would give any assistance required, but that he would remain on his course, as the vessel would be able to pick up with the boat within twenty-four hours.

It was midnight before the Dutch ship was sighted by the McKinley, but arrangements had been made by establishing communication by radio, and plans were ready, when the vessels sighted each other, to carry out the venturesome transfer of the injured sailor to the Admiral liner.

When the Kangean was within hailing distance of the McKinley she lowered one of her boats, in which was placed the injured man. The boat then left for the McKinley's side, and the transfer of the injured sailor took place under the glaring searchlights of the ship. "He was in a bad condition when we got him," the doctor stated. "His upper arm was badly crushed and blood poisoning had set in."

Dressings were immediately applied, and the man's life is now out of danger, and there is little doubt that he will be able to get home. There was some talk about amputating, but Dr. Kading thinks the arm can be saved.

The Accident
Ling Fong is the sailor who was injured on the Kangean. High seas were running at the time, and a high comb washed the deck, sweeping six men off their feet. Ling Fong was carried the length of the ship and crashed against the railing. Ling Fong will be taken to a Seattle hospital.

C.P.R. Had to Use More Cars This Year

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—Since the commencement of the present grain crop year, from Sept. 1 to Oct. 18, the Canadian Pacific has loaded in the Province of Alberta alone 15,500 cars, containing approximately twenty-one and a half million bushels. This movement is greatly in excess of the cars handled for the corresponding period last year. The number was 10,450. In other words, the company so far this season has supplied half as many more cars as it did from Sept. 1 to Oct. 18, 1922.

If the 15,500 cars were put end on end they would stretch for 11 miles, or from Calgary to Lake Louise. It has taken 282 trains each with about fifty-five cars to move this enormous quantity of grain and it has required 200 more men in the engine and train service and an additional 150 mechanics at the various shops to look after the equipment.

The movement is the more interesting when it is pointed out that during the first two weeks in September the loading was light. Officials of the company state that if good weather is experienced during the balance of the month and November a big haul will be made in the crop that is to be moved.

Record Collection of Sockeye Eggs

Ottawa, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—A record collection of sockeye salmon eggs in the Pemberton district of the Fraser has been reported by the Department of Fisheries. A total of 30,702,000 sockeye eggs were collected and a sufficient number of fish were left to feed the spawning grounds. About fifty per cent. of the eggs collected will be used for seeding what were at one time important sockeye spawning grounds of the Fraser River above Hell's Gate. The area that will be stocked in this way includes the Anderson-Seter Lakes system, the Shuswap Lake system, the Quessnel Lake system, the Chillyke Lake system and the Stuart Lake system.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Rev. M. D. McKee will conduct a service of divine worship in the sunroom at the Jubilee Hospital tomorrow afternoon.

The Tourist Motor Camp trustees will meet the civic works committee next Friday, and give an account of the management of the camp during 1923.

Harvest Thanksgiving—St. Matthias Church, Poul Bay, is holding their harvest thanksgiving tomorrow. Service at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., with a special service for the children at 3 p.m.

A largely attended meeting of the "Civics" was held last night with C. R. Sja. Johnston in the chair. Past District Deputy Brother McKee assisted with the initiation of a number of new members.

Instructions were given yesterday by the Civic Works Committee to have the baskets of geraniums placed on city light poles at the time of the Maytime celebration removed to the city greenhouses. They will be re-erected next spring.

Ward One Liberal Association will hold their annual meeting at Liberal headquarters, corner of Broughton and Broughton Streets, on Monday at 8 p.m. Election of officers will take place. All members are requested to attend.

Military orders of District No. 11 contain notice drawing attention to the British Campaigners Association annual banquet which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday, November 1.

With only ten days to go this month the civic household list shows the slowest registration in many years, only thirty having applied for admission to the list. This seems to justify the criticism of the city officials who have recommended a change in the system now enforced.

A notice is posted on military orders for District No. 11 requesting officers desiring to take the foreign language examination in French and German, which will be held in January, to forward their names to headquarters not later than November 1.

The G.W.V.A. delegate to the meeting between the armistice period committee and the Fifth Regiment, G.A. committee has been directed to strongly urge that the program of the dance to be held at the Armories on November 10 be devoted to the Jubilee Hospital.

Application was made before a Supreme Court Judge in Chambers this morning on behalf of Jack Steele, sentenced to a term of imprisonment at the Fall Assizes, for bail pending an appeal. The matter was adjourned to be renewed this evening at 5 o'clock, when the Chief Justice will appoint a judge to hear the motion. W. A. Brethour acts for the accused.

The second and final performance of "Yamma Hoo Club" was given last evening at Temple's Hall by the West End players. The program was virtually the same as the preceding night, and the playlet was greatly enjoyed by the audience. The West End Players intend to put on another program in the near future.

The annual Provincial convention of the Prohibition Association has been called to meet on Thursday and Friday, November 15 and 16, in Vancouver. Reports of the delegates who attended the Dominion Convention will be given, and the attitude of prohibitionists towards the statement of the Government to the Legislature regarding the liquor question will be defined.

Application was made before a Supreme Court Judge in Chambers this morning on behalf of Jack Steele, sentenced to a term of imprisonment at the Fall Assizes, for bail pending an appeal. The matter was adjourned to be renewed this evening at 5 o'clock, when the Chief Justice will appoint a judge to hear the motion. W. A. Brethour acts for the accused.

The second and final performance of "Yamma Hoo Club" was given last evening at Temple's Hall by the West End players. The program was virtually the same as the preceding night, and the playlet was greatly enjoyed by the audience. The West End Players intend to put on another program in the near future.

The annual Provincial convention of the Prohibition Association has been called to meet on Thursday and Friday, November 15 and 16, in Vancouver. Reports of the delegates who attended the Dominion Convention will be given, and the attitude of prohibitionists towards the statement of the Government to the Legislature regarding the liquor question will be defined.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Rev. M. D. McKee will conduct a service of divine worship in the sunroom at the Jubilee Hospital tomorrow afternoon.

The Tourist Motor Camp trustees will meet the civic works committee next Friday, and give an account of the management of the camp during 1923.

Harvest Thanksgiving—St. Matthias Church, Poul Bay, is holding their harvest thanksgiving tomorrow. Service at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., with a special service for the children at 3 p.m.

A largely attended meeting of the "Civics" was held last night with C. R. Sja. Johnston in the chair. Past District Deputy Brother McKee assisted with the initiation of a number of new members.

Instructions were given yesterday by the Civic Works Committee to have the baskets of geraniums placed on city light poles at the time of the Maytime celebration removed to the city greenhouses. They will be re-erected next spring.

Ward One Liberal Association will hold their annual meeting at Liberal headquarters, corner of Broughton and Broughton Streets, on Monday at 8 p.m. Election of officers will take place. All members are requested to attend.

Military orders of District No. 11 contain notice drawing attention to the British Campaigners Association annual banquet which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday, November 1.

With only ten days to go this month the civic household list shows the slowest registration in many years, only thirty having applied for admission to the list. This seems to justify the criticism of the city officials who have recommended a change in the system now enforced.

"Freddie" Will Don't His Togs Once More

Icelandic Flash Agrees to Come to Coast For Another Season and Hopes of Victoria in Pennant Race Have Been Greatly Enhanced; For a Time It Looked As If Pivot Man Would Stay By His Business But the Call of the Blades Has Proved Too Strong

Frank Frederickson has decided to be a Cougar for another season. Lester Patrick, manager of the Victoria Hockey Club, has received the signed contract of the Icelandic sensation and the possibility of there being a big hole in the forward line of the Cougars has been removed.

The news that "Freddie" has decided not to forsake the ice arena for another year at least will be received with relief by the thousands of hockey fans in Victoria. In Vancouver and Seattle the fans, in one way were hoping that "Freddie" would stay with his music store during the winter owing to the menace he would be to their team's success, but on the other hand they had to admit that the Icelandic's absence would rob the game of many of its thrills.

When Frederickson left the coast last spring he announced that he intended to go into business, and on his return to Winnipeg opened a musical store. The business has been breaking well for him, and he held to his determination to stay out of the game until just a few days ago. "Freddie" did not give Lester much encouragement when he was in the East, but after the enticing contract came along, and folks in Winnipeg began to talk hockey, the Icelandic flash could not hold any longer.

Lester Patrick realized that "Freddie" was the main cog in his machine, and he intended to leave no stone unturned to bring him back to the coast. He, however, fortified himself against the contingency that the former Falcon skipper would not report, and it was with this end in view that he signed Jimmy Gibson, of the Calgary Tigers. Even if Gibson proves a balky Cougar and will not come to the coast Lester is sure of his centre position, as there is no player in the world that can shuffle the puck around better than Frederickson.

Centres Around Freddie The play of the Cougars last year centered around Freddie. It was his scoring ability that put them into the play-off. The Icelandic had his biggest season in professional hockey, and equalled the scoring record mark made in the 1918-19 season by Bernie Morris of Seattle. In twenty-nine games he notched fifty-four points. He was particularly brilliant towards the close of the season.

With Frederickson signed Manager Patrick's worries are considerably lessened. With Gibson banking on the success of "Freddie" coming back the horizon looked very cloudy, but the sun has peeked through and things look rosy enough now.

Lester has the signed contracts of six of his players, including Harry Meeking, Jocko Anderson, Clem Trickey, Jimmy Gibson and Fred Speck and Frederickson.

Word is expected in a few days from Clem Loughlin, Hec Fowler and "Slim" Handerson.

"Chick" Evans Goes Bankrupt With Very Heavy Liabilities Chicago, Oct. 20.—Charles "Chick" Evans, one of the world's greatest golfers, is bankrupt. A voluntary petition in bankruptcy involving liabilities of about $200,000 was filed in court last night.

Less than three years ago Evans had a fortune worth $150,000, he said. That was lost and now another loss of $150,000 brings his total financial failure to $300,000. "Guess I'll have to play another eighteen holes," he said. "I will try to get again, but not a speculation."

Evans, the only man who ever won the national amateur and open golf championships in one year, was considered one of Chicago's young and successful self-made business men.

ANOTHER AMERICAN GIRLS' HOOP TEAM TO PLAY EDMONTON Warren, Ohio, Oct. 20.—The Warren National Lamp Girls' basketball team, which won the national championship in Alta. to play the Commercial Girls' of Edmonton, titleholders, a two-game series, October 23 and 25, for the women's international championship and cup, total points to decide.

Courage to Use Proper Clubs Is Vital to Success

Sarazen Advocates Faith in Clubs: Some Players Are Afraid of Certain Clubs

Once you have learned how to play the various shots in golf your next problem will be to connect them in a round of play. I know several men who know the technique of golf thoroughly, and who can play all of the shots, but who never score. One reason for this is lack of practice, the other is poor judgment.

Clear thinking is essential to good golf play as it is for success in anything else. You can't go banging around a course and hope to make a good tally. It is imperative that you think out the shot before you play it and then concentrate on it.

In learning to connect your shots you must first of all develop and improve the fundamentals of your swing. Proper instruction and constant practice are the only means I know of to master the golf game. Master the shots so that you can feel confident about playing them then play your round. But regarding all of the other things—your score, the opposition or whatever it may be—don't get away from the habit of playing the shot in the proper way.

You will often see a man use his putter from thirty to fifty yards off the green because he has no faith in his ability to play a chip shot with a mashie or mid-iron. I say that man will never be a good player because he hasn't the courage to try the proper shot in competition.

The main thing to remember in a game is to make the shots as easily and as comfortably as you can. Never strain or press. I always think of the advice of Harry Vardon in this respect. Said the great English professional: "Whenever in doubt use the longer club." Now that is sound advice, which is well worth heeding.

Don't Attempt the Impossible Time and again in some match or other I have seen a player pull out a mashie-niblick when I would be thinking of using my mashie-iron on a similar shot. I have seen a golfer in amazement. "Either he's crazy," I think, "or he's got a heap sight more power than I thought he had." What generally happens is that the player presses the shot and generally tops it. This is also the cause of over-swinging to which so many amateurs are prone.

Big Bob MacDonald, of Chicago, who won the Metropolitan open championship recently, has one of the longest and most beautiful styles I ever saw. He has some powerful hands and wrists. He is one of the longest hitters in the game.

Never Under-Clubs But you never see him under-club himself. Where most of the pros under-club their mashies, MacDonald, who could better afford to use that kind of club than the others, would take a light iron and hit the ball as firmly as a sledge.

In this way he is able to get more power and firmness into the shot, and is better able to control the ball. He never under-club himself, and he never under-club his opponents when you are slugging with all your might in the hopes that you will be up to the green. Better to use a club that is too long and cut out the pressing if in doubt.

Where the average golfer loses strokes is in attempting the impossible. Whenever you are in a rough take a heavy iron or your mashie unless you should happen to have a particularly good lie. Your aim here should be first to get out.

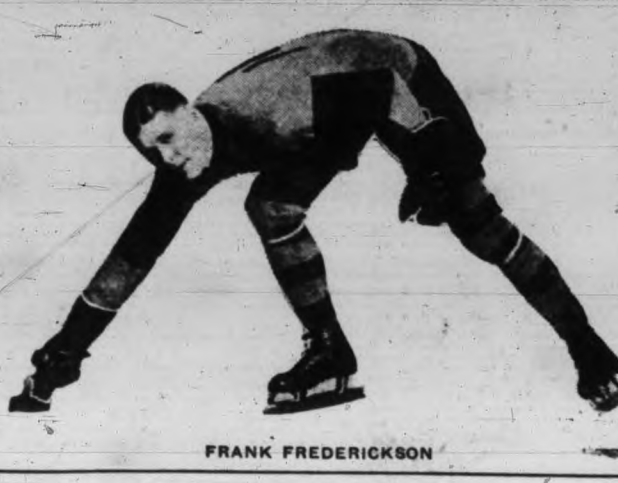

Watch the Good Ones Whenever in a trap always make sure to get out. Forget about distance and use your mashie-niblick or niblick. Occasionally you will come upon a good lie in a trap, but it is generally best to get back to earth before attempting to get onto the green.

If you have an easy approach to a green, you should not be afraid to take a forty or fifty yards play a pitch and run where there is less chance for error than with a straight pitch or run. In these cases the niblick is best to use a mid-iron or some other straight-faced club.

Finally if you wish to avoid disputes and unpleasantness on the links, I would advise you to learn the rules and the etiquette of the game. I have heard professionals criticized for their lack in this respect, but I would like to take this occasion to say that as a class the professionals are very observing of the rules and the etiquette of the game.

If you would improve your game seek the company of good players. One can learn rapidly by observing and by imitating, and constant association with good golfers will teach one how to play the game as quickly as any other way I know of. (Copyright 1923 by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

SENSATIONAL CENTRE MAN COMING

FRANK FREDERICKSON

Victory for Zev Would Make His Winnings Greater Than Man o'War

New York, Oct. 20.—Should Zev, the United States colt, win against Papyrus today, he will pass the high record for total winnings by a United States horse, now held by Man o'War, and nearly equalled by Morvich, which, great as a two-year-old, failed last year after winning the Kentucky Derby.

Zev already has won $174,936.34, and by coming in first to-day his total would be $254,926.34, or $5,471 more than Man o'War's figure. The world record is held by Ksar, the French horse, which brought in $220,000. Only six horses in history have won more than $200,000.

Eddie Oatman Has Slick Team Lined Up for Calgary

Calgary, Oct. 20.—Just what other hockey generals figure on doing in the Western Canada league this winter is no particular concern of Lloyd Turner, manager of the Calgary Tlaxters. He has together a collection of players that he looks to stand at the top of the slate when the final reckoning is made and for that reason he is not particularly concerned with what the others are talking about. The team will look something like this:

Goal, Charlie Reid; defence, Herb Gardner, "Red" Dutton and Bobby Benson; forwards, Eddie Oatman, Bernie Morris, Harry Oliver, Foley Martin, Ernie Anderson, Rusty Crawford and Johnny Loucks.

Flashing that name of Loucks may be somewhat surprising, but it is the intention of the Tlaxters to try the local amateur outfit from a favorable showing last winter in junior hockey. It is felt that he will blossom forth as one of the best players of the amateur class in the West.

Oatman Leads Squad Oatman will lead the club to practice at Winnipeg next month, and before the boys head back for the Pacific coast, where the Tlaxters will open their season with a game against the early part of December, the veteran blueliner will have trimmed up a neat little combination that will battle off some of the best hockey seen in many years. Two steady and highly skilled men like Oatman and Morris will make a world of difference to Calgary on attack, and that powerful pair, Dutton and Gardner, will worry opposition even more this season than ever before.

Jack Naden Wins Sprinting Honors at Toronto Meet

Jack Naden, son of J. R. Naden, Deputy Minister of Lands, who is studying medicine at the University of Toronto, made a big name for himself at the annual field day of the Medical Athletic Association held recently. He again won the individual honors, which fell to his lot the previous year. He won the 100-yard dash in 12.3 seconds, making the hundred in 10.3 seconds, the two-hundred in 24.3 seconds and the quarter-mile in 54.1 seconds.

Jack is well known in this city. He competed in the British Columbia track and field championships held here on Labor Day. He is looked upon as one of the best sprinters among Eastern universities.

Batters May Find It Hard to Notch Blows Next Year

Many Good Pitchers Were Developed in American League This Year

By Billy Evans For the past five years, or ever since the abolition of freak deliveries, including the spitball, pitching has been on the decline in both major leagues.

In addition to the many pitching reforms that were inaugurated about five years ago, came the lively ball. The result was a batting spree in which the batmen revelled and the pitchers suffered.

Pitching and batting seem to run in cycles, first the pitcher is supreme and then the batter hogs the spotlight. Once more the stock of the pitcher seems to be in the ascendency.

The American League should boast much better pitching in 1924 than the season just closed. Practically every club in the Johnssonian organization had developed one or more worth while young pitchers. Last year ago the flock of pitching recruits was a very ordinary one, this year's offering appears to be far above the average.

Zahniser Looks Good Take the Washington club for instance. In Paul Zahniser the Senators have developed a right-hander who should win a good many games for them next year. Zahniser came to the club in the middle of the season and after a slow start has hit big league gait and done some excellent pitching. He has good speed, but a splendid curve ball is his best asset.

For several years Cleveland has been weak as to left-handers. Manager Speaker seems to have remedied this fault. In Joe Shaute and Jim Edwards he has two young right-handers who should win consistently for the Indians next year. Both show great promise.

Because of the all-star pitching staff of the New York Yankees, recruit pitchers have had but little chance to show on that club. However, in Rostker and Pipiras, Manager Huggins has two young right-handers who look to have everything that a big league pitcher should have.

Makes Impressive Debut In John Burns, secured from the Shreveport (La.) club, of the Texas League, Connie Mack feels positive that he has unearthed a most promising recruit. Burns is a right-hander who knows how to pitch. He hasn't the stuff of a Walter Johnson, but he mixes up his assortment in great style and should make good. He won two of his first three starts after joining the Mackmen, beating Detroit and Washington and losing to Cleveland.

While Herman Pilleto, of Detroit, failed to live up to his great showing of 1922, Earl Johnson, a right-hander to star a year ago and failed, has hit his stride and should be a big help to Cobb next season. In addition the Tigers have landed a really southpaw in Whitehill. In a game against the Yankees, which Detroit won, he allowed only one hit in six innings.

In his next start against Cleveland he permitted Cleveland to register only two safe hits. Some pitching against two of the hardest hitting clubs in the American League. It is conservative to say that the American League in the season just closed has developed a dozen pitchers capable of holding their own. That means considerably more trouble for the batters next year.

Normal School is Beaten by Oak Bay High at Rugby, 11-0

The Oak Bay High and the Normal School yesterday played practice rugby game at Cranmore Road, in which the former were the victors, by a score of 11-0. The Normal School played through the game but three men short, and were considerably handicapped. The Oak Bay boys were far too fast in their three-quarter division for the Normal defence, and although the stout kicking of Collison, at full back, on more than one occasion saved the threatened lead.

Twice Willis, captain of the Oak Bay squad, pounced through the Normal School men, and put the ball down for a score. He scored once during the game, and Goodacre converted the first try.

Headley played an outstanding game for the Normals, and Willis, Bob Collison, Goodacre, Minner and others, provided stellar men for Oak Bay. Although the Normal School scrum was heavier, they were unable to get the ball away with the speed of their opponents, and their three-quarter line was slower in getting into action.

The Normal School hopes to get its material into good form and will shortly meet the Victoria College in the first real test of strength of the season.

Olympiad Will be Greatest Set of Games in History

New York, Oct. 20.—A prediction that the Paris Olympiad next year will prove the greatest set of international games in history, was made yesterday by Colonel A. G. Mills, who returned on the steamship President Harding after a trip of several months abroad as an official envoy of the American Athletic Union.

Track Is Muddy But Not Heavy For Race

Both Horses Pronounced Ready Early This Morning For International Mile and a Half Gallop; Betting Practically at Even Money; Crowd of 100,000 Expected to Witness First Race of Its Kind in History; Day Dawns Bright and Clear

New York, Oct. 20.—The day of the big international horse race dawned bright and clear. Word from Belmont Park that the track, while muddy, was not considered heavy going.

Both horses were pronounced ready, early this morning by their trainers, Sam C. Hildreth, regarded by some as the dean of United States experts on horseflesh, and Basil Jarvis, the pleasant-toned young Englishman who came here with his horse to give it the same attention that had been rewarded with the highest honors abroad.

The morning bets were made at even, or light odds either way. It was a sensational change from the triple odds of a week ago, on the United States horse. Preparations are being made to handle a crowd of 100,000.

London, Oct. 20.—Suddenly, but not without warning, London has become all worked up over the Papyrus-Zev race. The British have finally got it into their heads that their horse has a chance to win, the idea being stimulated both by the excellent reports of the workouts Papyrus has had around the Belmont Park track, and the eleventh-hour bulletin reporting southerly amiss with Zev's epidemics.

This morning's London newspapers print under glaring streamers the glowing dispatches received from New York about the race, embellished by scores of photographs of the horses, jockeys, owners and trainers, and even of typical American race crowds with not a silk hat to be seen.

There are no big bets being made, according to the bookmakers, but a lot of little wagers are being made, mostly at even money. Bookmakers say that if the fine reports of Papyrus's time trial runs are confirmed, the odds will be in favor of Papyrus this afternoon.

Ben Irish is Calm Whomsoever is excited about the race here, it is not the owner of Papyrus, Ben Irish. According to The Morning Post's racing expert, Mr. Irish is as unperturbed as when his colt won the Derby, at which time he received the congratulations of the eleven-hundred regarding Zev's malady, the odds will likely be to favor Papyrus this afternoon.

Ben Irish is Calm Whomsoever is excited about the race here, it is not the owner of Papyrus, Ben Irish. According to The Morning Post's racing expert, Mr. Irish is as unperturbed as when his colt won the Derby, at which time he received the congratulations of the eleven-hundred regarding Zev's malady, the odds will likely be to favor Papyrus this afternoon.

New York, Oct. 20.—Zev, the Rancocas stable's brown son of The Flying Dutchman, who was bred by Papyrus, English derby winner, for international three-year-old supremacy and stakes of $100,000, at Belmont Park to-day in a race that he ranked among the greatest classics of all times. Zev went to the post despite the eleventh-hour development of a skin malady which it seemed yesterday would force the withdrawal of the colt and the substitution of Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own, which was shipped to Belmont Park, prepared to race, if called upon.

But the race committee of the Jockey Club, after examining Zev and receiving the report of a veterinarian, decided that the Rancocas star was fit to enter a day of sensational speculation in turf circles by announcing America's original entry would oppose the English champion.

Though the Jockey Club committee's decision made public by Major August Belmont, had the effect of restoring to some extent the waning confidence in the greatest classic representative, general belief prevailed that, regardless of the seriousness of his malady, Zev would go to the barrier under a handicap.

And as yesterday's betting odds, which had declined to even money on Thursday after a spectacular final workout by Papyrus, swung sharply last night toward the English horse, which was expected to go to the barrier a favorite, probably at odds of 5 to 1.

Exact Condition Mystery The exact condition of Zev remained somewhat of a mystery last night. There have been reports for some time that the Kentucky derby colt was in the best of condition, but the first intimation that anything was seriously amiss came on Thursday afternoon, according to Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire owner of the horse, advised the Jockey Club's committee that Zev had developed a skin malady which threatened the fitness of the colt.

It was this information that prompted the committee to send a hurried call on Thursday night for the shipment of My Own to Belmont Park to be ready to fill Zev's place, if necessary, but first public word of the Rancocas star's condition came yesterday morning when members of the committee, headed by Major Belmont, inspected the colt.

The skin ailment was diagnosed by veterinarians as "something akin to hives," large blotches appearing on the horse's shoulders, neck and legs. An epidemic of the malady, it seemed, had spread to several barns at Belmont Park almost overnight and Zev was among the first to show signs of it.

Still Has His Speed But, while frankly concerned over the condition, Major Belmont and his associates seemed convinced that it had not yet affected the running speed of Zev, which flashed impressively, speed in a half mile gallop in 47.3 seconds. A favorable veterinarian report later clinched this opinion and influenced the committee to stand by its first choice.

RED CROSS WORKSHOP HIVE OF ACTIVITY

PHONE 1670-PRIVATE EXCHANGE CONNECTING ALL DEPTS.

Photograph by Fleming

A visit to the Red Cross Workshop, 584 Johnson Street, just below Government Street, would undoubtedly be a revelation to a great many citizens of Victoria. Here we find a veritable hive of activity—an industry where thirty disabled soldiers are being given regular employment, an industry with a monthly pay-roll of considerably over one thousand dollars; an industry instituted and operated by the Red Cross Society for the sole purpose of giving employment to disabled ex-service men, who, through their war service are now unfit to fend for themselves in the open labor market.

This worthy work was first undertaken by the Victoria Branch of the Red Cross Society, when in April, 1921, a shop was opened on Lower Fort Street. Since that time great strides have been made and greatly as a result of the local enterprise, similar workshops are now in operation throughout the whole Dominion.

It was in March last that, the local branch found it necessary to secure larger quarters. A suitable building was located at 584-6 Johnson Street, their present location, where a real, up-to-date shop is in operation; plenty of room, light and airy. The principal work undertaken is cabinet making and general woodwork, and it is surprising the dexterity acquired by some of the cripples. Considerable machinery has been installed, including a band saw, a combination cross and rip saw, with tilting table and boring attachment, a planer, disc sander and disc sander and lathe; so it will be seen they are in a position to make practically anything in wood. It is the endeavor of the management to keep the men engaged entirely on actual orders, although some stock is made. A few of the articles manufactured are tables of any description, Morris chairs, bookcases, music cabinets, chests of drawers, pedestals, trays, cedar chests, mah jong racks, step ladders, clothes horses, screens, baking boards, ironing boards, garden benches—in fact anything made of wood. Other work that is undertaken is outside light carpentering, such as general repairs, erecting steps, making garage doors, installing built-in features, etc.

Framing of pictures and photos is another branch. A large stock of mouldings is carried and really splendid work done.

Upstairs is found the basket shop, where baskets of all descriptions are made—soiled linen baskets, shopping baskets, flower baskets, wood baskets, dolls' cradles and buggies, beautiful wicker trays, fern stands, etc. In this department is also done the rearing of chairs and repairing of grass and wicker chairs. Recently has been installed a hand loom and cloth is being woven suitable for golfing suits, etc. Several pieces have already been turned out and have met with ready sale. This is probably the beginning of quite an industry.

From the above some idea of what is being done so as to make life brighter for disabled soldiers may be gathered. The Red Cross Society have provided the facilities. It is up to the public to give the support. The workshop committee appeals to one and all to assist them in their commendable undertaking. This can be done by placing orders or by purchasing articles made. It is pointed out that when an order is placed with the Red Cross Workshop full value is received for money expended at the same time the purchaser assists in the employment of disabled soldiers.

The public are cordially invited to brighten the shop. It will be a pleasure to show anyone around. It is hoped many will avail themselves of this invitation and see for themselves just what is being done.

ALDERMAN REGRETS STORY PUBLISHED

Premature Statement of Negotiations; The Times Keeps Pledge

On question of privilege in public works committee yesterday afternoon, Alderman Woodward asked the committee who was responsible for the appearance in the morning paper of Wednesday of an article outlining the city's negotiations with the representatives of a Seattle bank to reissue the city's debentures after consolidation. Mr. Woodward said that explicit request for secrecy had been made recently to the newspapers.

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair 35-cent Bottle Removes Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair

Girls! A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, lustre and life shortly follows a genuine-toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine". Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.

whose representatives on that understanding had been admitted to a conference with the representatives of the bank, at which the full details were disclosed. The appearance of an article in the morning paper was a direct violation of that undertaking. He had learned that the mayor had approached one newspaper to withdraw an article on the subject which had already been prepared for publication.

Mayor Hayward replied that he had discussed the matter with The Times management, and the representative at the City Hall. The managing director had given him a pledge against premature publication, and that pledge had been kept. On Monday afternoon the subject was further discussed in the finance committee, and the chairman of the committee after hearing the representations of the bond dealers had remarked that he considered the plan of consolidation "as good as dead." Under those circumstances when questioned later he had failed to see any harm in the coming of mentioning it. He admitted an apology was due to The Times for not releasing it from its pledge.

Alderman Woodward said he did not understand the situation that way. He was informed in the committee that further negotiations were to take place, and a new plan to be submitted, and therefore when approached by the morning paper representative he had declined a statement, in fact had corrected a remark he had earlier in the day that the negotiations were at an end. In view of the courteous action of one paper in stopping a story already written, he was surprised at what had taken place.

City Proposes to Take Leaf From Edmonton Reverted Lands Book

An interesting point was raised by an application in the Public Works Committee yesterday for steps to be taken to offer adjacent lots where residential property which has reverted to the city, abandoning the house in question. It was stated that the premises are at present vacant, and the Parks Committee has taken over from the Reverted Lands Committee, a number of adjacent lots where similar difficulties will exist should an attempt be made to build upon them. It is believed that the exchange plan would save the city a great deal of money, and lead to the occupation of property which is idle, nearer the centre of the city, on the reverted lands list.

SET DATE FOR SEWER BY-LAW

Sanwich ratepayers last evening learned through the statement of Reece Watson to the Central Ratepayers' Association that the council had set November 17 for the vote on the sewer by-law, which will call for the payment of the debt on the northwest sewer. The council held a meeting last evening for that purpose. There will be a campaign to set out the reasons for approving the by-law, and thereby saving the piling up of interest on the debt which has been owing for several years. The amount to be paid will be $45,000, plus $1,800 interest, making a total of $46,800. It will be the third time that the vote has been submitted to the electorate.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In twenty-four hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system as they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. (Adv.)

LEWIS GEORGE TO Stir British

His Wonderful Welcome Here Is Expected to Stir British

Friends Believe Ex-Premier Will Win Back His Lost Popularity

TOUR BRINGS CHANGE

Man on Street in Britain Influenced by News He Reads of Welcome in America

POINCARÉ BLOCKS WAY

London, Oct. 20.—Will former Premier Lloyd George make a come-back in British politics?

The answer to this question, which persistently recurs among his friends, irritates his enemies and intrigues the man on the street, probably will be influenced to a considerable extent by his present tour of Canada and the United States.

Given the present responsiveness of the British reaction to American feeling, and the tremendous enthusiasm of the Lloyd George receptions everywhere across the Atlantic, it is impossible that the judgment of the United States and Canada on the "little Welshman" should be without great effect on public opinion in this country, and consequently on the future career of the ex-Premier.

Temporarily, at least, Lloyd George seems pretty thoroughly down and out. The extent to which he has faded out of public life in this country since the coalition government was overthrown a year ago is emphasized by political circumstances governing at the moment of his departure.

Change in Rulership

When the last imperial conference met Lloyd George was secure in his saddle as Premier, and Baldwin then held only a minor post in the government as financial secretary of the Treasury. Now, when the most important conference of the whole series is sitting in London, it is Baldwin who is installed at Downing Street, while Lloyd George departs for the United States and Canada.

Next time, so far as is concerned among the "insiders," the ex-Premier's departure has been described as a "most vivid personality of his time."

Although he has a genius for intrigue, the ex-Premier seems never to have secured a knack for running a political machine. His "National Liberal" organization has lost ground steadily during the last session of the parliament.

It cannot be doubted, however, that the former Premier writes with him the general body of British people, over whom he still has a strong personal hold. Moreover, some of his most far-reaching and possible action looking toward eventual come-back.

Attitude Towards Poincaré

From a preface to this book, one thing emerges clearly—that Lloyd George won't come back as long as Poincaré is Premier of France, or until there is a rupture of the Entente even more decisive than any that has occurred to date.

Lloyd George sees Poincaré as the villain of the European drama, claiming that there was steady progress toward real peace until the "French Premier came to the scene after the conference at Cannes, and the growing gloom and menace" of the European situation since then is due to the sinister influence of Poincaré's "Napoleonic dream."

LEWIS GEORGE TO Stir British

British Goods Saved Germany From War Famine, Says Admiral

THINKING

First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen. This is one of the most pertinent descriptions yet applied to the little Welshman. It was used the other day by ex-Governor Glynn, of New York State, when he welcomed the visitor to Albany. Lloyd George, in his latest photograph above, is shown in a pensive mood. Britain is now asking whether the prestige he is building up on his present tour on this continent may not land him back in power after he returns home.

LONDON HAS FIRST PUGILIST JUDGE

London, Oct. 20.—Basil Bernard Watson, K.C., recently appointed a metropolitan police magistrate to fill the vacancy, caused by the death of Magistrate Symmons, probably is London's first boxing magistrate.

He is a member of the National Sporting Club, organized the Guards Division boxing matches during the war, and has been a boxer himself. He is fond of open air sport and is interested in racing as well as boxing. Although nearly forty when the war broke out, he joined the Guards and spent three years in the trenches.

HEIRESS IS BRIDE OF FATHER'S VALET

London, Oct. 20.—"I intend to remain with my husband, whatever the consequences," declares Mrs. Reginald Davies, only daughter of General Wildshire, who a few days ago caused a sensation by announcing the news of her marriage to her father's valet.

When the marriage was first announced it was stated that General Wildshire, who lives in Montgomeryshire, had consented. Later, however, it developed that Miss Wildshire, who is twenty-three and who will receive £100,000 when she is twenty-five, had been married secretly six weeks, her husband meanwhile remaining as valet to his unsuspecting father-in-law.

Davies is twenty-three and a war veteran. He has taken his bride to Newport, in Monmouthshire, and professes himself unmoved by General Wildshire's declaration that he never consented to the marriage and does not approve thereof.

CANON NOT FIGHTING SPOONING IN PARKS

London, Oct. 20.—There is nothing wrong in young couples using the parks for spooning purposes, according to Canon J. C. V. Durell, rector of Clapham. "Undoubtedly," he said, "a vast amount of social evil exists in London parks and open spaces—the product of lax ideas bred by the abnormal lives led by men and women during the war. There must be a clear line drawn somewhere, but I do not take the extreme Puritanical view."

"I see no harm in young people doing their courting in parks—I'd like to give the fullest possible opportunities for young folk to do their courting. For many of them the park is their only parlor."

LONDON FIRE BUG TRAPPED BY POLICE

London, Oct. 20.—Insurance companies here breathed a sigh of relief when Joseph Engelstein, champion professional incendiary of the East End, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Bernard Stolerman and Julius Brust, his confederates, were given five and four years respectively. Engelstein received substantial fees from clients. It is estimated that during the two years he remained in business his activities cost the fire insurance companies $500,000.

He posed as a prosperous city merchant, lived in a large house and kept several servants. His methods were simple and efficient. A dishonest tradesman who wished to collect fire insurance had only to approach Engelstein, who was known as "Dandy Joe" to his intimates, and the matter was quickly settled. "Dandy Joe" started a fire and was paid out of the insurance money. For a small fee he charged $500, for a more ambitious blaze $1,000.

Eventually two East End tradesmen informed the police, who trailed Engelstein for several months before they were able to get enough evidence to convict him. Finally he was seen to run from a burning building in which inflammables were found. He was tracked to his home, where burns were discovered on his hands.

SLUMP IN THEATRES HITS STARS' PAY

London, Oct. 20.—The slump that has hit the London stage, marked by the failure of many plays and a drastic curtailment of touring companies, has caused a wild scramble for jobs among actors, which in turn has sent their salaries tumbling. Even a star can no longer hold out for a high figure with impunity, for there are too many other stars who have accepted the inevitable and are willing to work for what they can get.

Thus a favorite musical comedy actress who had been accustomed to receiving $65 a week now manages to be just as vivacious—on the stage at least for $113 a week. Of course, some of the very biggest stars who have long contracts are still getting from $1,200 to $1,500 a week, but their good fortune will end when the contracts run out unless the business has a new boom in the meantime.

Those most severely affected are the actors who had been earning from $150 to $350 a week. West End agents cited the case of an actress formerly rated at $200 a week who is now working for $50 a week with a dud company. An actor who had been accustomed to drawing $250 a week told the agent that he was willing to take less than $100 a week, while still another whose earning capacity had reached $100 a week announced that he would take work for $50 or $60, and even at these figures they are having trouble finding jobs.

British Peer Pays Visit to Mecca Openly

Baron Headley, Only English Moslem Aristocrat, Makes Trip in Motor

MANY BONES WHITEN WAY TO SACRED CITY

Cholera and Other Plagues Extinct Among Pilgrims, His Lordship Reports

London, Oct. 20.—Cholera and other plagues, which used to take a heavy toll among the hordes of Moslem pilgrims on their long journeys to Mecca, are practically extinct, according to Baron Headley, Britain's only Moslem peer, who has just returned from a motor pilgrimage to the sacred city.

He is the first Englishman, so far as known, ever to penetrate to the Moslem shrine undisguised, and was given the honorary title of Eastern representative by King Hussein and his followers, who honored him as the representative of British Moslems.

The pilgrims have decreased in numbers since the war, yet more than 70,000 had trudged the long caravan route, marked with the bleached bones of camels that had perished on previous pilgrimages, when Lord Headley reached Mecca. A newspaper and a telephone system are among the modern appointments of the sacred city—somehow incompatible with Western conceptions of the "unchanging" Caaba.

Sir Richard F. Burton won fame through his pilgrimage to the sacred cities of Medina and Mecca in 1853, and has been the guide of an Indian Pathan. Several Europeans had accomplished the journey before, however, and a number have since done so, but always in disguise.

Lord Headley, who announced his conversion to the Moslem faith in 1913, bears the Arabic name of Salimurrahman Sheikh Rahmahalla Fakir. A civil engineer with a long record of achievement in foreshore protection in Ireland and England, he is president of the Society of Engineers.

When he became a Moslem he said he had been a Mohammedan "believer for twenty years and could not but accept when the Islamic Society invited him to join them. He gave up his reasons for the intolerance of professed Christians, the purity and simplicity of Mohammedanism, its freedom from dogma and sacerdotalism and its obvious truths.

Another Briton who visited Mecca in disguise is Col. T. E. Lawrence, scholar, linguist, archaeologist, and fellow in research of All Souls' College, Oxford. Fresh from the exploits of Arabia Deserta, on the Euphrates, he joined the British army as a second lieutenant in 1914, became a major in 1917 and lieutenant-colonel in 1918. He was attached to the staff of the military division of the Colonial Office in 1923. Four months later his identity was discovered, but he continued in his chosen capacity.

During the war he met King (then Emir) Feisal, whom he induced to undertake a strategic and successful campaign against the Turks. It was largely the result of this operation that Arabia was freed from Turkish influence and Turkey placed a bounty of 7,000 Turkish pounds upon his head. But King Hussein conferred upon him a Principedom of Mecca.

LONDON NIGHT SCHOOLS DRAW 120,000 PUPILS

London, Oct. 20.—The eagerness with which thousands of young women in London are availing themselves of increased educational advantages is shown in the enrollment for this year's night schools, inaugurated by the London County Council. Ten thousand classes in 250 schools, requiring 2,000 teachers and costing $5,000,000, is the estimated equipment to accommodate 120,000 students, who have indicated a desire for instruction in subjects ranging from bookbinders' shop apprenticeship to civil engineering and analytical chemistry.

LADY EILEEN NINA

DUCHESS TO ENTER FIELD OF BUSINESS TO RECOUP FORTUNE

London, Oct. 20.—London society was interested to learn that the Duchess of Rutland has been busy "doing up" and furnishing a hunting box, long to be let for the hunting season. Thus she hopes to aid the family's fortune, which, like that of many others of the nobility, has dwindled seriously since the war with taxes and all.

The property is near Melton Mowbray, that celebrated hunting country, and the grounds surround a lovely house with a Charles I facade. There are four reception rooms, sixteen bedrooms, stabling for fifteen horses, besides all the appurtenances requisite to a lively hunt and facilities for entertainment in the lodge.

The duchess has returned to Belvoir Castle, Grantham, which is one of her husband's seats, with Longshaw Lodge, Sheffield, and Stanton Woodhouse, Rowley. She was well known in literary and art circles as the Marchioness of Granby.

Contributing not a little to the family's reputation are the Duke and Duchess's two daughters, Violet Catherine, who was married to Guy Benson two years ago, her first husband, Lord Eicho, having been killed in action in 1916, and Diana Olivia Winifred Maud, better known as Lady Diana Manners, now Lady Duff-Cooper, having been married in 1919.

THRASHED THE KAISER

Alfred Russell Price, Man Who Took Off His Coat and Did It, Is Dead

London, Oct. 20.—The death occurred here recently of Alfred Russell Price, an English sea-side reed, whereas it was worthy of special notice, for he succeeded in accomplishing what thousands have tried to do but could not, he gave the boy who later became German emperor, a good, sound thrashing.

It happened years ago when Wilhelm was the Crown Prince and was visiting Ilfracombe, an English sea-side resort, with his tutor, Wilhelm, in a playfully destructive mood—began to throw stones at some bathing machines belonging to Mr. Price's father. He was told to stop, but took exception to this infringement of his regal rights. Young Price took off his coat and began to belabor the royal youth so successfully that he had administered a black eye and several cuts and bruises before the tutor succeeded in turning off hostility.

Scandinavian Countries Sent Supplies From Britain on to Germany

NEUTRALS GATHERED TREMENDOUS PROFITS

Great Trade Was Even Carried on in Essential Materials for Explosives

London, Oct. 20.—German disaster in 1915 and 1916 "was averted only by the prodigious supplies that passed into the country through Scandinavia," according to statements made by Admiral Consett, of the British Navy, in his startling volume, "The Triumph of Unarmed Forces, 1914-1919," which he has just published here.

The Admiral states that "for over two years Scandinavia received from the British Empire and the Allied countries stocks which, together with those from neutral countries, exceeded all previous quantities and literally saved Germany from starvation."

What reasons of state could be given for allowing a trade which thus replenished the enemy, Admiral Consett asks.

According to his book trade with Scandinavia was excused on various grounds:

"That it was Great Britain's duty to be fair to the neutrals and not subject their populations to hardship or inconvenience; that the friendship of the Scandinavian nations ought to be cultivated in order to keep them from drifting into the Teuton coalition; that food supplies and war materials could not be drawn from Scandinavia unless Allied goods which Scandinavia wanted were sent thither in equal measure; that the friendship, regardless of its character, was worth encouraging in war time, on the theory of 'business as usual.'"

In Admiral Consett's view, the British Foreign Office and the British Blockade Ministry failed to realize the "ulterior and dangerous uses to which almost all merchandise can be put in war time—a neutral bordering on an enemy territory."

Furthermore, he says that "little appears to have been understood of the potential power for harm possessed by merchandise when it had reached Scandinavia, or of the manner in which it affected the economic situation of Germany, which it was the object of the blockade to exploit to our advantage."

The Scandinavian people complained of their hard lot under the British blockade. But their deprivations brought them unexampled prosperity. Admiral Consett remarks on this paradox:

"There was a time when meat was so scarce in Copenhagen that butchers' shops had to be closed down; special fast trains packed with fish, the staple article of diet among many of the Danes, carried it to Germany when fish was unobtainable in Denmark; incidentally, it was mentioned, the trains were run on British coal and the fishing tackle was supplied by Great Britain; Swedish spindles were idle when the wharves and quays of Swedish ports were choked with cotton for Germany; and coffee, the favorite beverage of the Swede, was unobtainable in Swedish restaurants at a time when Sweden was exporting large quantities to Germany."

Lord Grey, in a speech on January 26, 1916, said: "The Foreign Office has to do its best to retain the good will of the neutrals. That was a generous idea. But did it involve the sacrifice of legitimate military advantages to neutral friendship? The political motive for tolerance of British trade with Scandinavian countries was apprehension lest Germany should invade Denmark and east Sweden should join the Teutonic combination. But from a strategic point of view this apprehension was ill-founded. Germany had nothing to gain and nothing to lose by attacking Denmark or by converting Sweden from an economic to a military ally."

As a matter of fact, as Admiral Consett sets forth, Germany had obtained at the beginning of the war all the strategic assets which Scandinavia possessed. These consisted of control of the entrances to the Baltic. There are three channels from the North Sea—the Sound, the Great Belt and the Little Belt. The second was the only one which could be used by the main British fleet. Denmark's first act in August, 1914, was to mine and block it. The Little Belt is controlled at its southern end by Germany. It was left open because the German fleet wanted to hold it in reserve as an alternative route to the North Sea. The Sound, available only for lighter draft merchant shipping, was not closed until after British submarines invaded the Baltic. Then the Germans obstructed it. A fourth little entrance, the Koggrund Pass, was locked by Sweden.

Here is the former British Premier as the cartoonist sees him replying to the great welcomes accorded him in United States and Canada. He came, as Tom Sims said, during the world series in New York, whereas he used to be a whole world series himself.

Germany therefore had no military purpose to serve in bringing Sweden and Denmark into the war. They could be of far better use to her simply by putting their trade and man power at her disposal and continuing that profitable neutral commerce, which would have been shut off if they had become belligerents.

But up to 1917 the illusion persisted in London that Sweden and Denmark must be gently nursed along in order to save them from Germany and to help them maintain a neutrality which benefited Germany immensely more than it benefited the Allies.

One thing the Allies did get out of Scandinavia in the early part of the war. That was the transit trade across Sweden to Russia. But Admiral Consett says:

"The sacrifices made for the Swedish transit were enormous, though the traffic itself was comparatively unimportant in amount and much of it was diverted to Germany. Sweden herself supplied Russia with munitions. To enable her to do so a certain raw materials were allowed into Sweden which otherwise would have been withheld; Sweden obtained them on the pretext that they were required for Russia. . . . It can be said that a certain quantity of war material from Sweden reached Russia. I can say, to say upon utilizing the amount did not. It reached Finland, whence it was returned and sent over to Germany. So it was with the stores that we sent in transit."

What were the chief British exports to Scandinavia from which Germany drew an economic and military advantage? The first was coal. In coal Great Britain had a weapon which put the Scandinavian states at her mercy. Scandinavian ships could not operate without it, nor could Scandinavian industries. If coal had been withheld these ships and industries could not have worked effectively for Germany. Germany would have been compelled to supply them with coal, which she could not well spare, and more German man-power would have been used up trying to make good the deficit. Got British Coal

Ignoring the incomparable economic weapon which she held over Scandinavia's head, Great Britain continued to rush coal across the North Sea, at first without restrictions which availed little or nothing. The total amount sent from the outbreak of the war up to the end of 1917 was 2,522,150 tons, which was almost up to the pre-war rate of delivery. To this must be added 1,317,000 tons of coke.

In these three years Great Britain sustained Scandinavian shipping, land transportation and manufacture to Germany's profit. On this point Admiral Consett remarks:

"Throughout the war, and particularly during the first two years, large numbers of German railway trucks were to be seen in all three Scandinavian countries. These trucks were hauled to and from Germany with British coal. According to various newspaper reports the state railways were handling so much traffic to and from Germany that local requirements had frequently to be neglected. Not only were we actively assisting German traffic to and from Germany, but we were performing valuable transport service for the enemy and supplying him with the British man power employed to win this coal from the mines, transport it to the coast and thence across the North Sea at a time when shipping was scarce and had never possessed greater value."

Great Aid To Enemy

Summing up the effects of the diversion of British coal to Scandinavia, the author also says:

"Our success in the great struggle depended almost entirely upon two factors: (1) man power; (2) the blockade. That is to say, upon utilizing the working capacity of our population to its utmost extent for war purposes and upon positively reducing the enemy's productivity and resources to every kind of means of the blockade. Our policy in respect of the export of coal conflicted with both these conditions. It resulted in a large portion of man power being employed indirectly for the benefit of the enemy, and in assisting, in spite of the blockade, to maintain the enemy's productivity and to carry out service which was indispensable to him."

Lyons Stole a March on Political Enemies

Future Cabinet Minister's Strategy in Soo Contest Scored Heavily at Joint Meeting

There is nothing like the spirit of the north, election or any other time, when it comes to action.

In the Ontario provincial election contest at Sault Ste. Marie, which doesn't mean Sault City at all, but a wide stretch of territory over the Algoma wilds up the Algoma Central Railway, Hon. James Lyons, the Present Minister of Forests and Lands, and his Liberal Opponent, J. A. MacPhail, left the stage on the same Algoma Central Railway train one bright Saturday morning.

James Lyons

Both Mr. Lyons and Mr. MacPhail were northbound, and when the train stopped at Searchmont it was greatly to the surprise of the two that both alighted. After greetings on the platform it was discovered that a meeting had been billed in the same hall the same night by the two candidates or their respective agents. On the post at the depot stood the notices side by side: "Hear James Lyons Saturday Night in His Exposure of the Drury Government"; "Don't Miss the Liberal Meeting in the Interests of J. A. MacPhail Saturday Night," etc.

"Guess we had better have a joint meeting," Jack," said Mr. Lyons, "if you fellows don't put it over me too hard, I'll take a chance, anyway."

"All right, Jim," came the reply from Mr. MacPhail, who was accompanied by Major Harry Hamilton and another spellbinder from the Sault. There were three altogether in support of the Liberal candidate. The meeting was thereupon arranged.

Candidate Lyons knew, however, what he was up against. He was alone. He strode off to the north of the settlement and got in touch with the headquarters of the railway at the Soo, also his own party headquarters. "I want you to run a special train up here to arrive not later than 8 p.m.," was the request. "We can't do it," was the reply. "You've got to," was the retort.

Their respective candidates asked that Erlich McFadden, a real Tory spellbinder and prominent member of the bar of the Soo, be sent along on the train with whomsoever could be secured to support him and the candidate. This went to Bob Templeton, veteran Tory organizer for Algoma.

At 7:45 that evening McFadden and his companion arrived at the hall, and it is said that the other fellows registered consternation for a fleeting moment on their faces. However, they took it as sport, rearranged the programme which had previously been arranged, whereby Lyons and all his arguments—the Minister of Mines and Forests is no mean talker himself—was to be verbally knocked on the floor. For three hours that night the people of Searchmont had the political entertainment of their lives.

Proof of which lies in the fact that J. A. MacPhail and Major Harry Hamilton signed the nomination papers of the Hon. James Lyons when he had to go back to his constituents after having been chosen to occupy a position in the Cabinet.

More Likely to Turn His Mother's Head

Dr. Banting's Answer to Her Kindly Admonition

A pleasing story is being told of Dr. Fred Banting, the discoverer of insulin, that exemplifies his well-known modesty and lack of self-consciousness.

When the papers first began filling their columns with stories of the brilliant young scientist and his wonderful discovery, it is said that one day Dr. Banting's mother admonished him gently.

"I hope, Fred," she warned, "that you won't allow all this praise and emulation to turn your head."

"With a mischievous but affectionate smile," Dr. Fred rejoined, "Don't be alarmed, mother; I think your head is more likely to be in danger than mine."

Allister McCormick Gets A Bride At Last

Wealthy Young Man, Disappointed Seven Times at the Church, Marries Another Young Lady

So Mary at last lost her little lamb; said Mary being Miss Mary Landon Baker, and said lamb being young Mr. McCormick, until very recently Mary's most faithful of lovers.

It will be remembered that every now and again for months the dispatches brought news of the marriage, to be or not to be, of Miss Baker and Allister McCormick, of Chicago, a wealthy young man. Sometimes the marriage was on and sometimes it was off.

Seven time altogether was the marriage to be celebrated, and seven times was it declared off.

Sometimes Allister would be actually waiting at the church, only to get a rush message from Miss Mary that she did not feel like marrying to-day.

Any ordinary man would have given her up after at least the second offence, on the principle that there are as good fish in the sea as ever came out. Not so young McCormick. He forgave her seven times. It seemed that he was going to keep going until seventy times seven.

The whole world was interested in the love affair. Big wagers were actually made on McCormick's chances. Pools were made on the number of postponements. He followed her to Switzerland, England, California and France. He stood at church doors practically all over the world waiting for her. He was a perfectly patient Sir Galahad. He was willing to prove his devotion if it took ten years instead of three.

But Miss Mary played the game of matrimonial hide and seek too long. It was not that the young man tired. No, but he was pulled out of the game.

It happened this way. Miss Mary was still moving hither and thither with her trousseau packed in sixty-eight pieces of baggage, which gave Allister hope because he could not imagine a young lady dragging all these settler's effects round the earth with her unless she eventually meant to settle down somewhere. But he was tired by the chase and a little disheartened through sitting at church doors in close proximity to graveyards. So he went to a popular French watering place to rest and recuperate before he set out on the next dash after his elusive fiancée. He did not know whether it might be to China or Thibet.

Then fate intervened in the shape of a pretty English girl of eighteen, Miss Joan Steven, the daughter of Hon. Mrs. Charles Melton Astley. His long training with Mary stood him in and niece of Lord Hastings. She was interested in the faithful much-jilted young man. He was interested in her.

In eighteen days, during which fate worked overtime, the miracle happened. Allister forgot all about Mary and his sixty-eight pieces of baggage and fell in love with Joan.

They played tennis together, and Allister began to see that it was time to quit moping and get busy.

good stead with Joan. He proposed to her, and she refused. This meant nothing to the persistent Allister. He proposed again, and again and again until at last he won consent.

He was very careful, though. He evidently said, "Not at the church." He had grown to dislike churches. So last week they were married by a civil ceremony in the city hall of Paris. Seven minutes was sufficient to give Allister a wife after waiting all these months. As for Miss Mary, her plans are indefinite. After being accustomed for three years to having a little lamb constantly in attendance no matter where she roamed, she is bound to feel at first a little lonely. Time is a great healer, and just as fate finally fixed up Allister, so may it be kind to Mary, but it is to be hoped that she will be kinder to his successor than she was to him.

Curzon's Fines Are Like War Indemnity

Noble Lord Repeatedly Summoned for Speeding

Marquis Curzon has the motor speeding habit. During the past few months he has been in court several times. He was fined £5 at Woking for driving more than twenty miles an hour through Ripley. The police at the trial proved thirteen previous convictions, including one for furious driving and another for obstructing.

In 1920 the clerk of the court called for his license to write on it "confirmed on appeal." There were so many convictions written on it that he could not find room for the three words. Summoned at Guildford this year, the noble lord said: "I don't want any more endorsements on my license. I have got so many they are falling off."

One time he gave as his reason for speeding that he was compelled by urgent necessity to get to the House of Commons for a debate on Genoa. When he was charged with obstructing traffic the Westminster magistrate remarked, "It must be a novel sensation to Lord Curzon to be summoned for standing still."

A Dig at Englishmen

One of the stories the veteran Chauncey Depew is fond of telling as showing how slow the Englishman is to appreciate a joke runs as follows:

"At a dinner in England I told the best story I could recall. It was greeted with a little laughter—very little. Next day I met my host in the Strand. He began to laugh as he grasped my hand, and said, 'Do you know, Depew, that was a capital thing you got off last night. Curiously enough, I was just thinking what a really good story it was. The point of the joke has just come to me.' I replied, 'Why, it must have traveled to you on a freight train!' 'My dear Depew,' said the Englishman, 'I assure you I have not seen any freight train. I haven't, 'pon my honor.'"

As a sequel to this, it appears Mr. Depew related the anecdote to another Englishman who had been in America for a short time. One of Mr. Depew's assistants was with him when the story was told. The Englishman gave a forced laugh, and when Mr. Depew had left the room, asked anxiously, "I say, what did Depew mean by that freight train?"

Leon J. Ladner's French a Little Off Color at His Marriage

By GENEVIEVE LIPSETT-SKINNER

Leon J. Ladner, the member of Parliament for Vancouver South, was married in Brussels. He was a very young man then, and believed that his high school French would carry him through what the old-fashioned society editor used to describe as "the trying ordeal." During the civil ceremony the official performing came to a place where evidently he was asking a question. Mr. Ladner, who is a lawyer, possessed of a quick mind, said to himself, "Ah, this is the place where he is asking me if I will take the lady as my lawful wedded wife." So in a loud voice he proudly said "Oui" (Yes).

There was a suppressed snicker of laughter among those present, for the civic official had asked a question—but it was to ascertain if anyone knew just cause why these two should not be joined together.

Duff's Voice Needed a Muffler All Right

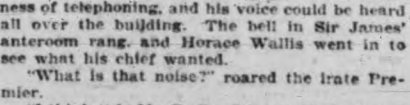

When He Talked to Cookstown He Did Not Need to Use the Telephone

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Ontario's Premier, has a very keen sense of humor, as evidenced by the following story, which is one of the best:

During the time the late Hon. James Duff, familiarly known as "Jimmy," was Minister of Agriculture he occupied a room at Queen's Park not far removed from Sir James's sanctum. "Jimmy" had a high pitched voice which could be heard blocks away, and one of his favorite pastimes when there was a lull in his ministerial activities was to telephone to his home in Cookstown. One summer afternoon when the office windows were wide open to catch a vagrant breeze, Mr. Duff was engaged in the business of telephoning, and his voice could be heard all over the building. The bell in Sir James's anteroom rang, and Horace Wallis went in to see what his chief wanted.

"What is that noise?" roared the late Premier. "I think it is Mr. Duff talking to Cookstown." "A friendly answered the suave Mr. Wallis, who was well acquainted with the habits of "Jimmy."

"Go right in and tell him to use the telephone," was the angry reply of Sir James.

Speaker Joe Had Doubts

Hon. Joseph Thompson, speaker in the new Ontario Legislature, stepped actively from his automobile and was hustling into the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, on a recent afternoon, when a couple of sun-bathers on the veranda shouted forth greetings and halted him for the hand-shake he carries with him all the time.

"Say, Joe," whispered Marc Lester, "if you WOULD ONLY point on prayers before the opening of the House, come around and see me."

The Thompson smile got to work at once. "Thanks, Marc, for them kind words," he retorted, "but I am afraid the thoughtful offer must be declined. You are top-hole on hymns, but I have my doubts if you would do in regard to prayers."

Caustic Criticism

A caustic wit is one of the characteristics of Mark Hambourg, the famous pianist. "Blank is a good actor," he remarked to a friend the other day, "and does his best, but in some parts he reminds me of a man trying to play a Tchaikowsky symphony on a typewriter."

Turgeon's Crutch Is Trick of the Trade

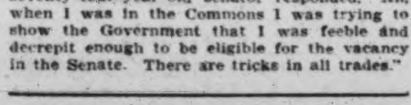

So He Explains His Smartness as Senator

By GENEVIEVE LIPSETT-SKINNER

A few years ago, when Senator Onesiphore Turgeon of New Brunswick was a member of the Federal Parliament, he sustained an accident which necessitated him going about the Green Chamber on crutches. Eventually he had the leg amputated at the knee, and now he walks about without the aid of crutches or cane.

One of his fellow senators called attention to the queer phenomenon, "Senator Turgeon, when you were over in the Commons among the young men you hobbled about like a cripple—then you are translated to the Red Chamber, and you walk like a young man. How do you explain these facts?"

With the ready wit of the French race, the seventy-four-year-old senator responded, "Ah, when I was in the Commons I was trying to show the Government that I was feeble and decrepit enough to be eligible for the vacancy in the Senate. There are tricks in all trades."

Door Man in a Dilemma

Twelve Drummers Are Picked Up by Police

Wholesale Arrests in Philadelphia of Salvation Army Officers When Higgins Was Young

Commissioner Edward John Higgins, chief of staff of the Salvation Army, and next in command to General Bramwell Booth, who will conduct in Toronto the annual congress of the Eastern Canada Salvation Army, is a man of wide travel and experience. He has been a Salvation Army officer for over forty years and has held many important commands in Great Britain, Canada and the United States.

During the war his untiring energies on behalf of the "service men's welfare" won him the Order of the British Empire.

An interesting story is told of one of his experiences when a young officer in Philadelphia. It appears that a strong objection was taken by the police of that city to the army drum, which is an essential "weapon" of Salvation Army warfare. Special orders were issued by the police to the Salvation Army to cease using the "noisy nuisance," and a patrolman was stationed at the door of the hall to see that the grave orders were carried out. A large crowd gathered in the hall to see if the army was going to break or keep the law—and naturally they witnessed the arrest of the drummer and the drum.

A new drum was obtained and a new drummer appointed, and further arrests of drums and drummers took place—the Salvation Army folk always waiting until they had delivered the Gospel message to the crowds before playing the famous drum and the policeman stopping proceedings.

This went on until twelve drums and twelve drummers were imprisoned, and the chief of police was so alarmed that he rescinded the order and released the offenders.

The prisoners were met by a large band of their comrades, who marched down the main street of Philadelphia singing to the accompaniment of twelve drums—all beaten in real Salvation Army fashion.

Vigorous Preacher Had His Metaphors Mixed

When Dr. George Milligan Was in His Prime

Recently the Rev. Dr. George Milligan, minister emeritus of old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, celebrated his eighty-third birthday and received the congratulations of many distinguished friends and societies with which he was associated during his active years in Toronto.

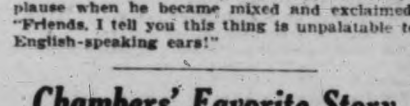

A group of his friends were together in a downtown club, indulging in reminiscences of interest to them all.

An electrical engineer of some prominence carried off the honors of the hour when he brought to light a memoir, the reliability of which he declared to be quite secure.

He recalled the fact that in his day at college students flocked on Sunday evenings to hear Dr. Milligan preach. He was undoubtedly the most popular student preacher in the city for many years. His mastery of theological systems which he was able to interpret in a practical way, and his keen philosophical penetration made him a master of debate. The students particularly delighted to follow series of apologetic character, wherein he shattered the foundations of many fallacious systems that he found.

On the occasion referred to, according to this young professional man, the veteran preacher had waxed eloquent and warm. He had demonstrated to his complete satisfaction—and to that of his hearers—the absurdity of doctrines commonly held. Clinching his argument with metaphor, he rose to strong and passionate appeal. His words would not flow fast enough. The congregation was extremely interested, but with difficulty suppressed applause when he became mixed and exclaimed, "Friends, I tell you this thing is unpalatable to English-speaking ears!"

Columbia Diocesan Board Met at St. Mary's Yesterday

There was an attendance of seventy members at the monthly meeting of the Diocesan Board on Friday, October 19, when the members of St. Mary's W. A. hospitably entertained the board at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, which was very tastefully decorated with Autumn flowers, charming little bouquets being presented to the diocesan president, Mrs. Belton, Mrs. Schofield as hon. president, and Mrs. Quantin, first vice-president, by Miss Cowley in welcoming the members in the name of her branch.

Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick was a visitor at the meeting, and the rector, Rev. G. H. Andrews, gave the noon hour address. Special prayers were used for the delegates now on their way east to attend the Dominion annual meeting in Halifax next week, the diocesan secretary, Mrs. Nivn, being one of the number going as substitute for Mrs. Belton, who was unable to attend this year.

An interesting and encouraging report of the Chinese Mission was brought in by the Oriental secretary, to which Mr. Chadwick added the announcement of service of baptism to be held in St. John's Church next Sunday evening, when a young Chinese convert is to be baptized previous to his departure for China.

The executive committee, Mrs. Christopher Reed, of St. Saviour's W. A. as literature secretary, and a welcome was accorded the new diocesan secretary, Mrs. Belton, and correspondence included a reply from the Attorney-General regarding the Juvenile Court for Victoria, which expressed sympathy with the suggestion sent from the board. An appeal for a supply of fruit for the school at Carcross was considered, and contributions of bottles of fruit, jams and good keeping apples can be sent to the Christ Church Cathedral School next Thursday, also Friday morning, to be packed and sent by the steamer leaving for the North Friday night, October 26.

A request for articles for a sale of work, especially socks, from Tofino was also considered, and gifts made to be sent to the schools at the same time next week.

On Monday, November 5, there will be a supper and rally for the benefit of the W. A. organized by Miss Duncan, who is girls' secretary. The supper will be held in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, at 8:15 p.m. Miss Vinton, of Vancouver, is to give a short talk, and at 8:15 there will be a lantern lecture by Rev. John Antie, to which all W. A. members are invited. No charges for admission.

A silver tea at Bishops Close on Wednesday, October 24, was announced by Mrs. Schofield, and a social afternoon and sale of work to be held on Thursday, October 25, at St. Luke's Hall, Mount Tolmie, by St. Luke's W. A. On Wednesday, November 7, the ladies of the various branch W. A. members are holding a sale of work in the schools. The board will meet on November 16 at St. Saviour's Parish Hall, by the kind invitation of St. Saviour's W. A. During the absence of Mrs. Nivn the diocesan treasurer, Miss Duncan, girls' secretary, is acting as treasurer, and can handle the business for the branches.

At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served by the St. Mary's W. A., to whom thanks were expressed by the president.

The first annual rally of the Young People's Societies will be held in Victoria during Sunday and Monday. Special speakers have been secured for the occasion and an instructive programme has been arranged. The rally is being held under the auspices of the Religious Education Council.

Church Union

By REV. DR. W. J. SIPPRELL

The concrete question of church union of the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist churches is now actually before these great bodies and the final steps of a movement that has had a history of twenty years seems now about to be taken. It may be of more than passing interest to the public to learn of these steps as being first taken in Victoria Canada's most Western outpost for every enterprise, religious or otherwise. These steps are definitely marked by the presence in the city to-morrow and Monday of four of Canada's greatest religious leaders, representing each of the three great churches. These representatives are singularly qualified to speak on the question of church union, because they are men holding high positions in their respective churches and also have been more or less closely identified with the movement from its beginning.

Mr. Talbot will speak to-night at the weekly prayer meeting of the Church of Our Lord, Reformed Episcopal. To-morrow morning he will be the speaker at the Metropolitan Methodist Church and in the evening he will preach at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Talbot is a brilliant speaker and has accomplished much for the cause of which he is so capable a supporter. His address should do much to arouse local sympathy with the unhappy refugees of the Near East.

ISRAEL IN THE MIDST OF THE NATIONS

Joshua 1, 1-4; Isaiah 41, 2-4; xix, 23-25; Ezekiel v, 5.

The hinge of this group of studies is Ezekiel v, 5: "Thus saith the Lord God: This is Jerusalem; I have set it in the midst of the nations and countries that are round about her." Sir A. G. Smith has the following comment on the geographical position of this city:

"How well fitted Jerusalem then was to be the world's watch-tower, the traveler may see to this day. The city lies upon the great central ridge of Palestine, at an elevation of 2,500 feet above the level of the sea. It is situated on the crest of a hill which you stand upon one of the great view-points of the earth. It is a forepost of Asia. To the east rises the red hills of Moab and the uplands of Gilead and Bashan, on to which wandering tribes of the Arabian deserts beyond still push their feet."

The geographical position of this city is such that it is a forepost of Asia. To the east rises the red hills of Moab and the uplands of Gilead and Bashan, on to which wandering tribes of the Arabian deserts beyond still push their feet."

but even more so to the members of the women's auxiliary in Victoria, who are invited to be present.

On Wednesday a congregational supper is to be served in the school-room, Mason Street, from 6 to 8. It is expected that there will be a big gathering of the congregation on this occasion, and the rector has announced that a vote will be taken as to whether the evening service during the winter will be held at 7 or 7:30.

SONG SERVICE.

The usual monthly service of song and praise will be given in the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to-morrow evening at 7:30.

U.S. AND CANADA SET PACE IN AUTO TRADE OF WORLD

Large Output is Predicted For Current Year; Figures Are Issued

New York, Oct. 19 (Associated Press)—The automobile industry of North America is not a mushroom growth, but a logical development of the American carriage industry, says The Commerce Monthly, published by the National Bank of Commerce in New York, dealing with "The Motor Car in Relation to the Economic Life of the United States and Canada."

"The simple facts as to the production and use of automotive vehicles in the United States and Canada," says the article, "are so astounding that the attention not only of the business world but the general public as well has been focused on them and speculations as to the future of the automotive industry are a fruitful theme of discussion."

From the standpoint of the value of product, the industry now is third in the United States, and there are more than 400,000 workers directly dependent upon it for a livelihood, while the number indirectly dependent is much greater.

"The relationship of this vast industry to the general well-being of the country is obviously very close," the article continues, "and a correct understanding of the problems connected with it is of vital importance in judging business trends in the two leading countries of North America."

It is pointed out that at the beginning of 1923 there were approximately 14,500,000 registered motor vehicles in the world and the United States and Canada possessed eighty-eight per cent of them, and the proportion even higher, for the United States and Canada together dominate the markets of most important countries.

The argument that the industry is dependent upon road improvement is refuted by the fact that France with a population of 39,000,000 and famed for its good roads has only 200,000 passenger cars and 95,000 trucks; Great Britain with 47,000,000 population has 253,000 passenger cars and 145,000 trucks, while Canada with a population of only 5,000,000 has 42,000 passenger cars and 38,000 trucks. The total wholesale value of 2-

659,000 motor vehicles produced in the United States and in American controlled plants in Canada in 1922 was $1,743,000,000, passenger cars consisting ninety per cent of the total number. During the first seven months of 1923 there were produced 1,127,000 passenger cars and 257,000 trucks. Registration of motor vehicles in the United States on July 1, 1923, was 13,002,000, of which 11,571,000 were private passenger cars. Of the passenger car registration of 10,800,000 at the end of 1922, it is estimated that 3,200,000 were owned by farmers.

In relation to the economic life the article declares that not until the expenditures on motor cars begin to cut into the savings of the people can they be criticized. That this point has not been reached is shown by the fact that savings deposits in 886 institutions increased from $5,712,000,000 on November 1, 1921, to $6,657,000,000 on July 1, 1923.

Tires can be removed more easily if the rims are shellacked. Graphite also allows the tires to be slipped off with ease. Clean the rims before applying the shellac or graphite. A thin film of the coating is enough. It should be thoroughly dry before the tire is applied.

Not every job of having the engine equipped with new piston rings or new pistons and rings will work successfully. A badly scored cylinder or a cylinder that lacks uniformity of diameter must be rebored by a competent auto mechanic to be sufficient free from ovalization and devoid of scores, before any new replacements in the cylinder will work perfectly.

Many drivers are criticized for cutting in too closely upon passing other cars, yet when the facts are known a large percentage of such violations are unintentional. The driver does not realize how near the rear of his car comes to the left front fender of the car he passes because his calculations are upset either through the speeding up of the car he passes or the slowing up of his car. The safe plan, therefore, is to speed up a little before taking your place in line.

If the service brakes seem to hold unevenly, causing the car to skid when stopping quickly on wet pavements, use the emergency brake in conjunction with the service brake. It is just a case of taking a chance on the "probability of equalizing the braking force on both rear wheels by using both brakes." This stunt only applies to the emergency brake operation on rear wheels; otherwise the skid can best be prevented by simply using the emergency.

Cameron & Calwell will inaugurate a new reduced tax rate commencing to-morrow, and have reconditioned their cars to inaugurate this new service to the public. In addition to the reconditioning work they have added three new Dodge sedans which are of the latest all steel type and equipped with heating apparatus for the public's comfort.

RAILROADS DESPAIR AT RECKLESSNESS OF MOTORING PUBLIC

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 20.—Railway crossing accidents, increasing at an average rate of 100 per cent a year, represent one of the most serious problems now confronting American railroads, according to Isiah Hale, of Topeka, chairman of the safety section of the American Railway Association which comprises virtually all the railway companies in the United States.

A "Careful Crossing Campaign" of four months, June to September, has just been completed by all the railroads. "Railroads are eagerly trying out every imaginable means of averting these appalling disasters," said Mr. Hale, "but the persistent disregard of the automobile driving public for its own safety has caused some of us almost to despair. The remedy seems so simple, yet meets such open violation. Epitomized, it is just three words, Cross Crossings Cautiously."

"The railroads are convinced that within their own organizations 'safety first' education gets results. In thirty years our country's population has increased sixty-eight per cent. In that same period railroad highway crossing accidents have increased 245 per cent, and injury cases 652 per cent. These disproportionate increases are due entirely to the use of the automobile. In five years 2,101 persons were killed and 24,308 injured at railway highway crossings in the United States. The fact that at least fifty per cent of automobile drivers do not look both ways upon approaching a railroad crossing has been demonstrated along the Santa Fe Railroad recently. Mr. Hale pointed out. A count made at a city crossing produced the following results: Out of 250 cars checked, drivers of ninety-eight did not look in either direction, forty-nine looked to the right only, seventeen looked to the left only, one stopped and looked in both directions, and seventy-eight looked each way without stopping. Instances of automobiles being driven into a passing train are almost as common as those in which the automobile is struck by a train. Mr. Hale declared. A typical list compiled by the Pennsylvania Railroad shows an increase of 119 per cent in crossing fatalities in July this year as compared with July a year ago."

DEATHS OF EMPLOYEES ON DUTY HAVE BEEN REDUCED FROM 4,354 IN 1907 TO 1,446 IN 1921.

Deaths of employees on duty have been reduced from 4,354 in 1907 to 1,446 in 1921. This result has been achieved notwithstanding the much larger force of employees during the year 1921.

ILLUSTRATED TALK ON GREAT BRITAIN

To be Given by Capt. State at Alexandra Ballroom on Monday

Entertainment and education will be happily combined in the programme which the Kumtiks Club has arranged for Monday evening at the Alexandra ballroom, Courtney Street, commencing at 8.30. The affair is open to the public and will include an illustrated lecture on England, Scotland and Wales, describing conditions in the Old Country and illustrated with a number of beautiful slides taken recently.

Capt. State, an eminent world-traveler and lecturer, will be the speaker and he will also show an interesting film depicting a journey from Winnipeg to Halifax. The musical part of the programme will be provided by Miss Eileen Bennett, the youthful prodigy whose contralto voice was "discovered" by Mrs. Irene Walsh Nasmith, who will accompany her pupil at the piano. To defray expenses a nominal admission will be charged at the door.

WILL IT BE A HELICAR IN 1973

What kind of a contraption do you think you'll be riding in fifty years from now?

It will be a strange affair, from the present point of view, if the prediction of H. Gernsback, editor of Science and Invention, comes true. In the May issue of this magazine, Gernsback describes what he calls a "Helicar," which may be the automobile of 1973.

The most singular part of the helicar is that it is adapted to flying as well as motoring. Since most traveling in the future will be by air, our auto of 1973 will be mostly confined to flying, says Gernsback. For this purpose, therefore, Gernsback imagines a helicopter arrangement by which the helicar will rise straight up. Once up, there will be air traffic lines to follow, and the descent will also be in a vertical line.

Other Features Besides the helicopter machinery, the 1973 helicar, according to Gernsback, will include the following parts: 1. Push button power control of the dash from which the helicar may be controlled on land and in the air.

2. Two wheels only. "They're more economical than four," says Gernsback, "there is less trouble with gears and shafts, and this construction decreases the weight of the car as well."

3. Gyroscope, which "keeps the car in an upright position and makes riding on two wheels perfectly safe."

4. Gas or—? 4. Twelve-cylinder gasoline engine, driving a large dynamo which supplies electric current to a motor within the rear wheel. But, says Gernsback, "there is no reason why a gasoline engine should be employed. Perhaps by that time we will be extracting electricity from the air, and merely use an electric motor to run the car, or we may even approach the point where the wireless transmission of energy will be a proven fact."

5. Elevating wings and tail controlled by the driver and used in ascending or descending.

6. Motor driven spur wheels alongside the regular wheels to be used in aiding the propulsion of the car out of slippery spots.

7. Electric headlight for use when running on the road and others at top and bottom of the car, for use when the machine is sailing in the air at night. "It goes without saying," adds

Gernsback, "that the car will be built of the lightest material, and it is quite possible that the future flying car will weigh far less than our present-day cars. The entire upper part of the body will be enclosed in an unbreakable, unburnable, glass-like substance." Radio equipment also will be a necessary feature of the helicar, says Gernsback, "particularly as the helicar will depend a great deal upon the weather. The car may also be equipped with fins for sailing on water. Gernsback, the cost won't be much more than the modern first-class automobile.

POWER OF MOTOR IS DEFINED BY SET OF RULES

Do you realize the power and weight behind your automobile as you ride smoothly along the highway? If you do—and if you know what these amount to—you can also realize the danger lurking within that moving vehicle, were it not under your absolute control.

For instance, the power in the engine pulling your car equals the combined pulling force of from 20 to 45 horses, according to the rating of the individual motor car. To realize the immensity of this, think of only 20 horses, two abreast, pulling a heavy load along the street, drivers yelling, whips cracking, men running alongside and ahead to keep pedestrians off and clear the road of obstacles.

Then imagine this great force pulling a comparatively dingy vehicle like an automobile, weighing only a ton or a little more. Only an occasional foot of the horn warns another of this oncoming force, yet neither you—controlling it—not the pedestrian—threatened by it—think of its immensity.

Would Realize Danger If you did you would always keep a serious eye on the road ahead and a steady hand on the wheel. And the pedestrian would always exercise special caution in crossing the street.

In addition to the force developed by the engine, there is another which adds so much more to the danger of a moving automobile. The other force is called momentum. That is, the impetus or inertia developed by a moving body which, as the motion continues, makes it so much harder to stop.

To point out its momentum develops by various automobiles of various sizes, the Cleveland Safety Council has prepared a table of weights and velocities based on experiments made on the highway. According to this table, a car weighing 1600 pounds, for instance, starting off at a speed of five miles an hour would have a momentum of 221 pounds each second. For every additional speed of five miles this momentum would increase 228 pounds each second, so that at 25 miles an hour, the car would have developed a force of 1140 pounds each second, or 140 pounds greater than its weight.

Momentum Table The table, showing increase of momentum for each additional speed of five miles per hour follows: MOMENTUM IN LBS. PER SEC. weight at 5 mi. at 25 mi. at 50 mi. in lbs. per hr. per hr. per hr. 1000 228 1140 2280 1200 274 1370 2740 1400 319 1595 3190 1600 324 1710 3420 1800 365 1825 3650 2000 456 2280 4560 2200 502 2510 5020 2400 584 2900 5840 2600 630 3190 6300 2800 687 3420 6870 3000 728 3590 7280

Paris, Oct. 20 (Associated Press)—Automobile goggles advertised for sale for ten centimes each or a little over 170 to the dollar at the present rate of exchange, recently brought a rushing business to a secondhand store on the left bank of the Seine, and caused much speculation as to how, in these days, any manufacturer could place such an article on the market at the derelict price.

Auto Goggles Made From Old War Gas Masks

A former pilot solved the riddle. The goggles had been cleverly cut out from the original gas masks issued hurriedly to the French army when gases made their appearance on the Western front as a weapon of war. One model, it was recalled, was cumbersome and inefficient, but the pilot had to put up with it for nearly a year until the improved model was manufactured.

The secondhand shopkeeper had discovered several thousands of them in the war stocks and bought them by the hundredweight.

CAN'T BE KISSED!—This young lady is not wearing an anti-osculation mask, but is demonstrating a new type respirator for use among workers in drugs, cement, plaster and other dusty materials, to prevent infection of the nose and throat.

AWAITS DEATH TO END LIFE SENTENCE IN NEW WESTMINSTER PENITENTIARY.—This is Glen, canine "Life Convict" and Warden Patchell, of the B. C. Penitentiary. Companionship of other dogs is unknown to Glen. Men in stripes—prisoners like himself—have been Glen's only friends. Though doomed to a life of constant confinement inside the forbidding piles of stone, Glen has made the best of things. In reconciled dog fortitude he has cached the little green runaway with choice bones retrieved from the prison kitchen. And as a mark of gratitude for the many kindnesses shown him, he acts as voluntary guard over his companion prisoners. Even in his old age, with sunken, almost toothless gums, they fear to escape while Glen maintains strict watch at night. He will permit no convict to leave the prison after hours, unless the removal is effected in most formal manner, with a guard marching on either side of the man. Once he even refused to let Warden Patchell remove a prisoner at night. When scarcely more than a pup, some small boys bombarded the garden in which he was kept with stones. They did it constantly and so outraged him that one day he pursued them and nipped one of his tormentors. The lad was not seriously hurt for Glen's teeth were then too small to do much harm. But when the matter was taken to court he lost. And now nothing can get him from the penitentiary—not even the warden, who, when he retired the other day, tried to take Glen with him. The judge had said for life. Only death can revoke the sentence.

SEES NIAGARA.—P. W. Ellis, of Toronto, chairman of the Queen Victoria Park Commission, acts as guide to David Lloyd George at Niagara Falls.

STRENGTH OF SAMSON.—A tree on the estate of a century old homestead at Auburn, N.Y., cracked under the strain of a severe windstorm recently. The trunk fell on the house and what happened the photo shows better than mere words can describe.

PLAYFUL LITTLE THING.—And here is the much talked about bridal present given by Bernard Rube to his daughter, Mrs. Carl F. Strohm. Out in Forest Park, L. I., the baby elephant is having a great old time.

THE CAMEL SQUAWK.—It may be all right to walk a mile for a camel, but here's proof of how a camel hollers when he has to walk the mile. This animal, like thousands of his brainy brethren, is used as a draught animal in Samara province, Russia. They have mean tempers, always try to bite persons standing near them, and are usually complaining in loud raucous tones.

FROM REEL TO REAL BRIDE.—Dams Rumer has received corroboration in Hollywood where Miss Mae Bush, film star, will soon become the wife of Al Wilke, publicity man for Lasky. They're planning a little bungalow and everything.

OSTRICH EGG? NIX! MUSHROOM!—This comes from Cleveland, O., where little Miss Lois Nisret, shown in the picture, found this giant fungus, weighing five and one-quarter pounds, growing right in her very back yard. It's edible, too.

FATE'S SEPULCHER.—Quicksand and bottom silt closed over the wrecks of cars which plunged off the weakened Coal Creek bridge near Casper, Wyo., recently, hurling some twenty-five to forty passengers to their deaths in the turbulent waters below. Officials were impeded in their efforts to extricate bodies of victims from the tangled mass of steel and mud, due to submergence of the coaches, compelling them to burn passages through the roof tops with acetylene torches as shown in the picture.

EARL OF HADDINGTON'S STATELY SCOTTISH HOME.—Left: Countess of Haddington, formerly Miss Sarah Cook, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Limerick Contest Continues With Post-Bags Full

The erratic ramblings of Lenore, whose hearty appetite reduced a bag of fresh fruit to a banana peel, plum stone and core, called forth a greater measure of attention to the Limerick contest this week than at any time since the feature was initiated. Over one hundred little readers found themselves dealing with the adventures of Lenore.

If one half of what these entrants said ever comes true Lenore will die a very tragic death from over eating. No matter how good the fruit, the little girl could not stand for fifty-two bananas, fifteen plums and sixty odd apples, which is the sum total of what our little readers made the Limerick girl consume at one meal. Not even the exercise of walking to the store and back again could have sharpened her appetite to that extent.

Over fifty little readers guessed the remains of Lenore's shopping tour as a "banana peel, plum stone and core." A few stated in downright fashion that Lenore was very ill. Only one thought of her poor Mother, who waited patiently at home for the fresh fruit she had ordered. This was Barbara Ingledew, a nine-year-old reader at 1719 Second Street, Victoria, who wins the weekly award of one dollar, thereby, Barbara Ingledew's line of "leavings," which made Mother sore. While her Mother might have expressed her displeasure in other words, the situation was enough to make Lenore's Mother very cross indeed.

To Bobbie Eccles, six-year-old reader, at 2421 Chambers Street, goes the honor of our youngest contributor. Little Bobbie conscientiously added that his exact age was six years and six months, but that only adds to the excellence of the line he tendered. "Beads and cores galore," wrote Bobbie, who wins a special consolation award for his effort. Other children had the same line, but none dared so ambitiously when their ages were considered.

Other excellent lines were contributed by Elsie Eccles, Kathleen East, Gessan Yee, Adnae Derosa, Thelma Johnson, Catherine Hodson, Scott Mutrie, Deborah Ash, Teddy Fairhurst, Nan Brewster, Jack Woodley, Edward Fox, Alexander Mitchell, Phyllis Peddie, Ronald Kay, Gladys Glover, John Gornall, Dorotha Sheldon-Williams, Jean Currie, Mary Wormald, Marie and Doris McLennan, Willie Slagge, C. Williams, Cecily Pauling Mountain, Gladys Dicks, Edith and Teddy Hill-Tout, Kathleen White, Alice Turnbull, Gordon Mitchell, Doreen Burnett, Edith and Raymond Lang, Dan Pollock, Thelma Vye, Mary Mars, Joseph Addison and Gwendolyn Addison.

Other entries were received by the score but while many contained a bright little suggestion for the adventures of Lenore they failed for one reason or another to rise up to the high standard by those named. Again it is necessary to remind entrants that coupons must accompany each entry, and the contributor enclose the problem and the chances are even that it was not nearly as hard as it may have looked.

Two men, during the war days, were digging a line of trenches along with a number of other soldiers. These two men, however, happened to strike large rocks at the bottom of their piece of trench. The first man said to himself, "I can't shift this," and gave up trying to get his trench any deeper. The other man looked at the huge rock his pick had uncovered, and then tried to lift it. It was far too heavy to be lifted unaided.

Not to be beaten the man dug a hole alongside the rock and lowered the huge boulder into the gap. Then in shovelful he threw out the dirt he had taken from the hole. When the work was completed the man had got rid of the rock and had also got rid of the earth, his section of the trench being the required depth. The first man said "I can't," and did nothing. The second man said "I can," and finally did what he was told to do. Which of the two was the more useful? There are many rocks to be rolled out of the path of life. Very few are strong enough to pick up these rocks and throw them clear. But the one who says "I can't" is beaten before he or she tries. "Can't" is an obstacle, self-imposed, which we place on top of the jump we are trying to overcome. Without that obstacle it might be easy to clear the jump. With it, our chances are that much less.

If you cannot do everything you want to at the first try, or all at once, then it is quite likely that you can accomplish it in time, or bit by bit. Few obstacles could withstand the constant strain of being torn in pieces by a determined will. If you want things to be done, you must work for them, not on a half-time basis, but for all you are worth. While you are waiting for things to be done, then let nothing stand in your way.

Living Dynamos of the Sea

In this age of electric light switches and storage batteries mankind prides himself on having acquired a working knowledge of that great force, electricity. It is curious to reflect that some of Nature's creations are of a much lesser order, than men have made use of the same great force in their daily lives for many, many years.

Two classes of marine creatures have such a power, the electric eel and the torpedo ray. The torpedo ray, similarly shaped to the common ray, is found in nearly all waters, but it is the electric eel that generates a charge of electricity that is sufficient to kill or at least shock its opponent severely.

The electric eel has this power to an even greater degree. An electric eel can stun a horse with the force of the discharge of current from its tiny batteries. The eel takes a considerable time to generate this force of electricity, and once robbed of it is relatively powerless for the next few hours.

When the Cuckoo Clock Came Back

Nobody knew just how old was the cuckoo clock. It had been in the family for a great many years. It softly-toned "Cuckoo's" had charmed many a child until now in its old age it was in danger of being consigned to a heap of lumber. Instead of the old-fashioned cuckoo clock the nursery now had an up-to-date timepiece which was resplendent in white enamel and painted figures of nursery rhymes.

How long the cuckoo clock lay in the dim recesses of the dusty cupboard is not to say, but it is certain that one night the cuckoo clock of the moon was rising over the level of the sill in the nursery window there was a flutter on the window ledge. The moon beaming, streaming, to their work, caught in their silver gilt the form of a crouching white cuckoo.

The bird was so tiny that at first it was hard to distinguish it was a bird at all. Indeed, it was not until the little creature flew up to the ceiling, as if it wished to say to the little china cuckoo, "I've got your job now, it is no use you coming here."

The cuckoo became very excited about it. Its mouth opened to emit a shrill scream and the cuckoo clock wings it flew off out of the nursery window without once looking back. The nursery clock settled down to a peaceful ticking, as if it was satisfied that it had frightened the cuckoo away for good. If that was its thought the nursery clock was greatly mistaken.

clock was a great weight, the fairies bore it to the nursery. Here they formed a scaffolding with their bodies until the cuckoo's house could be raised and hung on the place where it had formerly occupied. This done the tiny workmen took down the new fangled clock, with the painted nursery figures, and carried it swiftly away.

Not until they had tied their hands and rendered it incapable of all motion did the fairies leave the cuckoo's house. Then the cuckoo, who had been waiting for the tiny workmen to take down the new fangled clock, with the painted nursery figures, and carried it swiftly away.

Make Care Your Own Companion

In many a quiet hamlet church towers stand revealed above the tree tops, a sign to all the world that there are in that hamlet those who set Sunday aside as a day in which to remember other than worldly matters. The spire of the church is a signal that cuts the sky every day in the week, a calm and peaceful reminder that there are greater things on this earth than "making a living."

Often it is that from day to day the spires of other edifices are passed, and their meaning lost because the occasion is not that on which the mind is set. In passing a school education comes to mind; a football ground, sports, and so on. What does the sight of a fire hall mean to you, Little Reader? It should be the reminder of a teaching that means much to the happiness of every community, the doctrine of fire prevention.

Features For Smaller Folks

Tommy Ted in Tangletown

One day Tommy Ted took a big slice of bread and threw it right into the corner. His mother then took him and patiently shook him and made him forlorn and forlorn. He made a bad grimace, most spoiling his face, which was saucy as saucy as could be, and that night Tommy Ted, after going to bed, saw a light that he thought to see. He had just shut his eyes, when, what a surprise! He felt himself slip-sliding down, and then with a flop he came to a stop and he was in Tangletown. At first Tommy Ted just lifted his head and he heard a most cattleful "Moo!" So he turned right around, and see what he found—'Twas a sure-enough cowboy, he knew, Tommy Ted stared and oh, he was scared. He ran like a three-cornered pup. And, just 'cause he knew that was all he could do, he tried very hard and woke up.

Then he took a grammar, and read the lesson to the school and everything seemed so simple, so easy! Never before had the master shown so much patience in his explanations. It really seemed as if the poor man, anxious to impart everything he knew before he took leave, desired to strike a single blow that might drive all his knowledge into his pupils' heads at once.

The lesson was followed by writing. For this occasion Monsieur Hamel had prepared some copies that were entirely new, and upon these were written in a beautiful round hand, "Franz, Alsece! Franz, Alsece!" These words were as inspiring as the sight of the tiny flags attached to the rods on the desks. It was good to see how each one applied himself, and how silent the room was! Not a sound save the scratching of pens as they touched the papers. One the roof of the schoolhouse the pigeons were cooing softly, and the master thought, "And must they also be compelled to sing in German."

Monsieur Hamel sat motionless in his chair, his eyes riveted upon each object about him, as if he desired to fix his mind, and forever, every detail of his little school. For forty years he had been constantly at his post, in the very school-room, facing the same playground. But on the morning he was to leave the country, never to return. Nevertheless his courage never faltered! Not a single lesson was omitted.

Stunned by the church clock struck twelve, and then the Angelus was heard.

At the same moment, a trumpet-blast under the window announced that the Prussians were returning from drill. Monsieur Hamel arose from his chair. He was very pale, but never before had he seemed so tall as at that moment.

"My friends," he said, "my friends—"
But something choked him. He could not finish his sentence, and then he took a piece of chalk, and grasping it with all his strength, wrote in his largest hand—
"Vive La France!"

He remained standing against the blackboard, his head resting against the wall. He did not speak again, but a motion of his hand said to them—
"That is all. You are dismissed."

"Did you kill the rooster for tomorrow's dinner?"
"No, Ma. I went out there, but I thought it would be better if the poor fellow got a good night's rest first 'cause he's got such a hard day before him to-morrow."

READY FOR ANYTHING
He came out of the house with an artificial leg, an artificial arm and a crutch hung over his shoulder. "For the love of Mike, what's the idea of all the junk?" exclaimed his next-door neighbor. "Oh," he explained, "I am going downtown and will have to cross a number of busy streets and thought I had better take a few spare parts with me." Cincinnati Enquirer.

TOUGH LUCK
"That is easy to see," said Mr. Dog. "Look at that crop! It stands out plainly enough through his feathers. Young Rooster filled himself full of corn. I warned him last night when I was in the barn and you all were asleep. The cover was off the barrel and he was helping himself. You can depend upon it, he ate too much corn."

What the Rainbow Brings to Earth

How many little readers saw the rainbow this week, after the sun came back to dry the tears of the land? It flashed in beautiful colors in a great broad band, depending for its position in the heavens upon where the watcher stood. There red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet, in fact "all the colors of the rainbow" were to be seen. It was as if someone had thrust an enormous prism of glass into the rays of the sun, splitting them up into the spectrum of light then visible.

What do these colors indicate? Each color denotes the presence in the sun, from whence came the light, of a substance which can be identified from the color it produces in burning.

For instance, the yellow tells us that there is sodium in the sun. Sodium we know as a metallic white substance which will queer things if placed in water, and which burns with a yellow glare. The red spella strontium, a metal which is so hard which we are acquainted here on this earth. And so on, each color was an indicator of a substance that is to be found in the sun.

You can make a "rainbow" for yourself any day by thrusting a triangular piece of glass into the sun's rays. The sides of a cut-glass tumbler will have the same effect, but cut-glass tumblers are much too precious to carry around for this purpose. The edge of a bevelled mirror, or a curtain of fine spray from a hose will give the same effect. The water spray is nearest to the real rainbow, for that is really what a rainbow is, the sun's light seen through a fine curtain of water, or mist.

OLD-FASHIONED DOCTOR DUCK
Since the death of famous Cock Robin there had not been so much questioning as there was one morning in the barnyard after Mr. Young Rooster was found on his back with his toes turned up.

"Somebody run for Doctor Duck," said Old Mrs. White Hen. "De hurry, Young Chick. I want to know what was the matter. He was well enough last night."

"Oh, dear, I do hope it wasn't poison," said Mrs. Speckled Hen, looking at her fluffy brood of yellow chicks. "We are all in danger if it was. I shan't eat a mouthful or let my children until the doctor has been here and told us what Young Rooster died of."

"Mrs. Speckled Hen clucked to her chicks and covered them with her wings as she settled down to wait for the doctor.

When Dr. Duck arrived he looked over his spectacles at every one and asked, "Who found him? Who saw him first?"

"I found him," said Bantam, strutting over to Dr. Duck.

"Well, that looks very bad for you," said the doctor, and poor little Bantam huddled close to old brown hen, who had often protected him.

You Cannot Hide Your Fat

Overfatness is the one misfortune you cannot hide from yourself or from those around you. If too thin, your dressmaker or tailor can supply the deficiencies, but the overfat carry a burden they can not conceal. There is one sure way to reduce your weight surely and quickly. The harmless Marmola Prescription, which changes the fatty tissues and fat-producing foods to solid flesh and energy, helps the general health and digestion, permits you to eat substantial food, and leaves the skin clear and smooth. This famous prescription is now condensed into tablet form. Each tablet contains an exact dose of the same harmless ingredients that made the original prescription capable of reducing the overfat body steadily and easily without the slightest ill effects. Take but one tablet after each meal and at bedtime until the normal weight is reached and the bodily health restored. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets or send our dollar to the Marmola Company, 4517 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., the price the world over, and you will receive enough to start you well on the road to slimmness and happiness.

address of the work of the great fraternal organization in the caring for dependent children and infirm and aged men and women of the Order, and spoke of the crying need for more institutions such as Moosehart and Moosehaven, where these children and men and women for are lodged.

"Our Order differs little from the moose after which it is named," said the speaker, "for that great animal seldom prescribes his battles front except when his herd or young are in danger, and it is so with us. We have, in the care of our dependent children and aged people, a God-given work, and if we fail to live up to our responsibilities in this, we fail to understand the purpose of humankind on earth."

"For the millions of babies yet unborn, we must prepare, and for those who have no homes nor parents to care for them, we must give shelter and education. Of the criminals of the neglected children of the nation. The conservation of childhood is the greatest work of humanity. We must care for the children, and this great brotherhood of ours has already taken the first steps towards the upbringing, educating and safeguarding of these unfortunate children. The little ones whose parents have been members of the Order, and who have been left alone in the world to the best of their ability, are taken into the great home of Moosehart, where there live as their fathers and mothers might have wished, and as God meant them to live.

"There are 125 children at present living at Moosehart," the speaker asserted, "and already the members of our Order have spent over $4,000,000 on their home, which consists of many beautiful buildings and over 1,100 acres of land. At Moosehaven, on the banks of the St. John River, Florida, there is a wonderful home for the aged and infirm men and women who are unable to care for themselves. But this institution is not a place where they receive charity, for they have provided the place for themselves, and with the help of the other members of our Order, have established a real home where they may enjoy the ripening years of their lives."

Speaking of heredity, Mr. Warde said that only five per cent of the children, according to statistics, showed signs of having inherited ill traits from parents, when they had been brought up in more congenial surroundings than might have been theirs. Environment, he said, moulded their characters along the right lines.

C. E. Copeland, Dictator of the Victoria lodge, introduced the speaker and commended the work of the organization in the establishing of the homes for children and aged persons in the United States.

Mayor Reginald Hayward, in welcoming Mr. Warde was delighted, he said, to hear the distinguished Moose, and was only sorry that the visitor could not remain in Victoria longer.

The Moose band was present during the evening and rendered selections which were greatly appreciated. Drury Price, one of the leading violinists of this city, contributed well executed numbers for which he was warmly applauded. W. Draper was the popular soloist.

The concluding speaker of the evening was the Rev. C. H. Davies, of the Centennial Church here. He followed up the remarks of Mr. Warde, speaking of the work which the Moose were doing for the children of the North American continent, and saying that he hoped the time would come when the great institutions such as Moosehart would be world-wide in their establishment. He praised the loyalty of the members of the Order in supporting the worthy project of retaining these same institutions, and urged that their continued allegiance be given.

NEW FIGURES ON TEMPERATURE

Average in Day Time in Victoria is 44 in Six Coldest Months

More detailed information on Victoria's average temperature will be given in future publicity of Victoria and Island. The Publicity Bureau has received information from Napier Denison dividing the twenty-four hours of the day for the purpose of specifying the average daily and nightly temperature. President literature gives the average mean temperature of Victoria as 38 but taking the view that the temperature the tourist is mainly interested in is the day time temperature, new figures have been secured. For the six months commencing October the table shows the average day temperature, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., is 44 and the night temperature 41. For November, December and January the average day temperature is 42 and the nightly average 40. The figures show January to be the coldest month with a day temperature of 39 and a night temperature of 38. This is two degrees below the next coldest months, December and February, when the temperature is 41 degrees in the day and 39 and 38 at night, respectively. In October the temperature is 52 in the day time and 48 at night, in November 46 and 43, and in March 46 and 41.

the city was not bound to recognize the bridge as part of the station. Alderman Todd held that the city was committed to the agreement, and must carry it out. To take any other course would be to do something beyond the power and inclination of the Council.

Alderman Sargent pointed out that as the aldermen had evidence that the new system would result in the bascule being opened in a minute and a half, as against fifteen minutes under the old plan, it was not unreasonable to assume that the new conditions might prevail.

Mr. Beasley said they must reach an early conclusion, as the necessary order to use the bridge should be applied for at once to Ottawa.

This Mutual Endowment Policy Gave Protection at a Profit!

ACTUAL experience with Mutual Life Endowment policies over half a century of this Company's activity show that Mutual profit-participating insurance is more than merely insurance at cost. It is insurance at a profit.

As an instance, take policy number 9812 for $1,000, issued as a forty-year endowment in 1883, to an applicant aged 22. This policy matured in 1923 when the holder had the option of accepting its surrender value in cash, amounting to $469.67 more than his net premiums, or accepting a paid-up, profit-participating policy of more than double the amount he had paid in to the Company as premiums during the entire 40 years of his endowment period, subject, of course, to medical re-examination. His protection during all this time had in the end cost him nothing and the Company paid him a good profit beside.

The Mutual Life of Canada is the only mutual life company in Canada. It is strong. It is safe. Its profit-participating endowment policies combine protection, saving and investment. Investigate for yourself.
