RATH BROTHERS MUST PLAY OUT CONTRACT WITH THE SHUBERTS

Option on Services Not Properly Exercised, Rath Held,

But Judge Manton Finds in Favor of the Shuberts

Decision of Importance to Theatrical Profession

New York, Sept. 22.—Yesterday in the U. S. District Court of the Southern District of New York Judge Manton handed down his decision in the case of the Shuberts vs. Rath Bros. By its terms the Raths will have to play out their contract with the Shuberts, Judge Manton holding that they were properly notified of the exercise of the option on their services contained in their contract. It was the contention of the Raths that the option was not properly exercised, and because of this they went to work on the Ziegfeld Roof. While working there the Shuberts applied for a restraining order and injunction to compel the Rath Brothers to live up to their contract with them.

The decision, which is printed in full below, contains important matter for the theatrical profession at large. The Billboard recommends a careful reading of it by all managers, agents, and particularly all artists:

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
Southern District of New York

Shubert Theatrical Co., Plaintiff, against No. 277

GEORGE RATH and RICHARD
RATH, &c, Defendants.

WILLIAM KLEIN, Esq.,
CHARLES H. TUTTLE, Esq.,
Counsel for Plaintiff.

NATHAN BURKAN, Esq.,
Counsel for Defendants.

When this application was presented on the motion for an injunction pending the trial of the action, I granted an injunction upon the ground (first) that the option permitting the renewal of the contract for another year was exercised by the plaintiff and (second) that the defendants' services were unique and unusual, and of such a character as to warrant a court of equity prohibiting them from working for another and performing the same services

It is understood that the management of the shows has secured one of the best circus titles and a complete circus, which it will operate next season.

In response to a wire to W. H. Rice, asking for details of the deal, he sent the following reply: "Account business reason can not give details regarding show until later."

A. E. A. WILL HOLD MEETINGS TO DISCUSS "EQUITY SHOP"

Seek Thoro Understanding Before Referendum Is Taken

First Meeting October 3 at Equity Headquarters

Similar Meetings May Be Held
In Other Cities

New York, Sept. 25.—That the Actors' Equity Association intends to start a series of meetings to bring the subject of the "Equity Shop" before its members for discussion, preparatory to the taking of a referendum vote on the matter, was announced today by Frank Gillmore, Executive Secretary of the organization.

The first of these meetings will be held at the Equity Headquarters in this city on Sunday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock. At the meetings the members will have the "Equity Shop" explained to them and they will be given an opportunity to ask questions and discuss the matter in order that they may thoroly understand the question before they cast their ballot for or against the proposition.

It is also proposed that similar meetings be held in the big theatrical centers, and if this is done President John Emerson will preside at the meetings in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

The meetings are looked on by Equity as a form of educational talks and by the time the referendum is held it is believed that the membership will be fully informed on the question of "Equity Shop."

The official Equity announcement telling of the plan is as follows:

"The Equity Shop is a subject about which there is a variety of opinion. Before the referendum vote is taken it is desirable that all our members understand the subject, and so for educational purposes the Council has decided to commence a series of meetings in New York at the Headquarters, 115 West 47th street, commencing Sunday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock. This will give all players who happen to be in the metropolis an opportunity to come, to listen and to ask questions.

SOUTHERN FAIRS' PROSPECTS GOOD

The fair season in the South is just now getting into its stride, and prospects are good for a record-breaking year. Leading off the larger Southern fairs, the Tennessee State Fair at Nashville opened with 100 per cent greater attendance than on the opening day last year, and the record attendance held up thruout the week.

From practically all of the State and district fairs come reports that every indication points to phenomenal attendance. The reason is not far to seek. Crops are fine, factories are busy, and, despite the occasional cry of the pessimist, the business outlook is encouraging. For all of which showmen are duly thankful.

ANOTHER NEW THEATER PLANNED FOR CLEVELAND

Is Sixth To Be Started or Contemplated Within Year—Drew & Campbell To Build House Seating 2,000—Form of Entertainment Not Decided Upon

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24.—Another new theater for Cleveland, the sixth to be started or contemplated during the year, is announced this week from the offices of Drew & Campbell, one of the oldest theatrical enterprises in the United States. The new house, which will include a 20-story office building, will rise at Euclid avenue and East Eighteenth street. This project, combined with the theaters already under way in the upper Euclid avenue section, will make for Cleveland what Times Square already is for New York City, amusement interests believe.

The theater contemplated by Drew & Campbell will seat about 2,000 persons on one floor. There will be no balconies. The structure will be built to accommodate either burlesque, vaudeville or legitimate, neither form of entertainment having yet been decided upon. It is expected to start the building of the theater first next summer, according to present plans. The Allen, the Ohio, the State, the Hanna and the new Keith Theater are the other five big projects started this year.

F. M. Drew and W. T. Campbell are among the best known theater men in the business today. They are best known in this section of the country for their work in burlesque promotion. Their Star Theater, destined to fall with the march of building progress uptown in Cleveland, is a landmark to oldtimers and a Mecca for theater patrons. The work of Mr. Drew and Mr. Campbell will not wait upon their latest enterprise, but will move to the present Colonial Theater when the Shubert enterprises move into their new home farther

WILTON LACKAYE

Injured While Championing the Lambs

New York, Sept. 25.—Wilton Lackaye, the actor, is recovering at a local hospital from injuries he claims to have received at the apartments of John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants. The trouble followed a visit of Lackaye to the McGraw home to offer a little friendly advice to the peppery Giants' manager. He favored letting the Lambs matter drop, he told reporters in explaining the affair, and counseled McGraw to cease talking about his recent expulsion from the Lambs.

It is not known whether Lackaye contemplates any legal action against McGraw. In a signed statement issued to the newspapers, McGraw denied that he struck Lackaye at any time.

uptown. Mr. Drew has been a figure in Cleveland amusement circles since 1884, when he came here to take over management of a theater. "THE SYMPATHIZER"

To Be Produced by Dillingham

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 24.—"The Sympathizer," Schertzinger's opera, is to be produced by Charles Dillingham. It is announced. This is the first thing of a musical nature that Schertzinger has done since Thos. H. Ince called on him to write a score for "Civilization." Ince saw his talents and made a director of him, and since then some of the best pictures of Charles Ray, Dorothy Dalton and Mabel Normand have been made by him.

Chas. Dillingham will produce "The Sympathizer" some time this fall. The book was written by Luther Reed, another Californian, who also wrote "Dear Me" and a number of screen successes.

LARGER SALARIES

Demanded by Syndicate of Lyric Artists in Paris

New York, Sept. 26.—A cable dispatch to The World, printed today, states that a syndicate of lyric artists in Paris has presented demands to the managers for larger salaries.

They demand a minimum salary of 1,000 francs a month and that a jury be composed of an artist not a member of the syndicate, two composers, two musical critics, a theater director and six singers who are members of the syndicate. A strike of the artists in the Opera Comique is said to be imminent and this movement is calculated to add strength to it. The Opera Comique artists want more salary. The chorus singers are now only paid 15 francs a day, and the smaller artists get from 100 to 600 francs a month. The chorus asks for 21 francs a day, and the artists an increase of 200 to 400 francs monthly. M. Carre, the director, wants them to take a raise of 3 1/2 francs a day, which they refuse. Unless Carre yields a strike may be called, and it is feared that it will spread to all the Paris theaters and opera houses. The artists threaten to emigrate to America if they do not get what they regard as living salaries.

BERKSHIRE MUSIC FESTIVAL AT PITTSFIELD CLOSES

New York, Sept. 26.—The Berkshire Music Festival at Pittsfield, Mass., closed yesterday. Francis Mallero's "String Quartet," which won the annual prize of $1,000, awarded by Mrs. Frederick S. Coolidge, was played by the Berkshire String Quartet, an organization maintained by Mrs. Coolidge for the past four years and which disbanded last night.

Mrs. Coolidge announced that her 1921 prize would be awarded for a trio for piano, violin and cello, and that the festival would continue.

ALICE CLEMENT PREMIERE

Chicago, Sept. 22.—"The Dregs of the City," a new picture by the Alice Clement Picture Company, is having its premiere in the Bandbox Theater this week. The film features Miss Clement. She is one of the most famous police-women Chicago ever produced.

Miss Clement called at The Billboard office and informed a representative of this publication that the film will be handled independently. She also said that Aaron J. Jones and Ralph Kettering had viewed the picture and given it their unqualified O. K. The headquarters of the Clement firm are at 511 Ashland block. The daily newspapers today are carrying complimentary stories about the film.

LOEW'S UP-TOWN THEATER

In Toronto Opens to Packed House—Movie Stars Present in Person—Marcus Loew Also Attends

Toronto, Can., Sept. 22.—Magnificent from the shining new marble of its foyer to the richly tinted stage decorations, Loew's Uptown Theater, at the corner of Bloor and Yonge streets, was formally introduced to the public Monday night. This latest addition to this city's entertainment places was greeted by a throng which made the manner of its introduction a distinct triumph from every standpoint.

The opening ceremonies consisted principally of the presentation to the audience of a number of celebrated film stars. Particularly warm was the reception accorded Bert Lytell.

Other film stars introduced were Herbert Rawlinson, Montagu Love, Mile, Dolores Costello and Carol Dempster. The feature picture for the opening was D. W. Griffith's "The Love Flower," in which Miss Dempster is the star.

Too much cannot be said about the musical part of the program. Under Frederick Arundel an orchestra of exceptional ability has been gathered together, and in a most pleasing overture and also in the incidental music provided during the running of the pictures, they made a thoroughly favorable impression on the audience. In addition, several delightful vocal numbers were given by Grace Soward, soprano; Arvilla Clark, mezzo-soprano; Charles Troxell, tenor, and Willard Andelin, basso.

The theater itself is the last word in play-house construction. Its appointments are all that could be desired to give the maximum of comfort and pleasure for the 3,200 patrons for which accommodation is provided. The decorations are pleasing in every detail, pinks and grays and golds blending into a delightful whole. Especially charming is the scenic setting on the stage, in which A. S. Howard, chief scenic artist for Loew's Canadian Theaters, has achieved a real artistic triumph. Another feature which is deserving of no little praise is the lighting system.

Besides the musical numbers and the feature picture there was a Christie special production, entitled "Kiss Me, Caroline," starring Bobby Vernon.

Marcus Loew, head of the chain of theaters bearing his name, was present for the opening and was prevailed upon to make a short speech. Mr. Loew and his party were the guests at luncheon Monday of Mayor T. L. Church, who, with a number of other members of the City Council and various public bodies, was present at the opening.

BURKE CONCERT NETS $80,000

He will tour the country under the direction of William Morris.

CLINTON-MEYERS

Opening Two New Theaters

In Superior, Wis.—Things Theatrical at Head of the Lakes Continue Lively

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 23.—The Clinton-Meyers Company, of Duluth, will open two theaters during the next few days. These are the Plaza and Klalto, in Superior, Wis., which are to be operated with their theaters in Duluth and other cities in the Northwest.

The Plaza will be opened under their management Saturday night, with Charlotte Greenwood in "Linger Longer, Letty," and will be followed next week by "The Girl in the Lion-skin," an A. H. Woods production. The Klalto will open Sunday with a Paramount program, headed by Hill Hart in "Sand."

A big fight is to be staged at the Head of the Lakes between the First National Exhibitors' Circuit and Paramount, which is resulting already in great advantage to the theater-going public. Paramount is backing the Clinton-Meyers Company, and the F. & L. interests are building up a formidable line of theaters at which First National pictures are being exhibited.

The F. & L. interests control the New Garrick, New Lyric, New Astor and New Grand here, and the New Palace in Superior. All but the Palace and Grand are picture houses, and the latter show vaudeville and pictures. The New Palace is showing First National pictures with a bumper vaudeville bill, making a big show at popular prices.

The Lyceum here will soon open with Paramount pictures and legitimate attractions, and will run with the Klalto in Superior and the Strand and New Sunbeam in Duluth. As the battle begins to wax hotter the playhouses are increasing the merit and size of their programs.

TOM BURKE

Makes His American Debut

New York, Sept. 26.—Tom Burke, the Irish tenor, made his American debut last night at Saranac Lake, N. Y., by courtesy of his manager, William Morris. Nearly enough money was raised to pay off the indebtedness of the two institutions.

ARONSON RESIGNS

As General Manager of Stanley Company Interests—Has Received Many Flattering Offers, But May Continue His Activities in Atlantic City

Atlantic City, Sept. 22.—Julius E. Aronson, general manager of the Stanley Company interests in Atlantic City, last Sunday presented his resignation, to take effect not later than November 1. As Mr. Aronson has been identified with the Stanley Company of America since its inception, and with the Mastbaum interests for 15 years prior thereto, his action created surprise in theatrical circles in this city.

It is reported that Mr. Aronson has a number of flattering offers from New York City, Philadelphia and in Atlantic City, but he has not yet announced his acceptance of any of them.

A. Sablosky, managing director of the Stanley Company of America, stated that it is with deep regret he accepts the resignation of Mr. Aronson, who for many years had proved himself one of the most valuable auxiliaries of that company, and Mr. Sablosky added that as Mr. Aronson had provided such efficient managers at the various Stanley Theaters at Atlantic City there is no present idea of continuing a general supervisor in the resort.

It is generally hoped by Mr. Aronson's many friends here that he may decide to continue his activities in Atlantic City.

INSURANCE AGAINST RAIN

Minnie Bronson Explains Unique Form of Protection Against Loss Designed for Outdoor Showmen

New York, Sept. 24.—Unique forms of insurance are not uncommon to Lloyds of London, which is said to insure anything and everything, but in this country Henry W. Ives & Co. are the pioneers in offering insurance against rain. The company was represented at the I. L. C. A. convention at Waterloo, Ia., early this month by Miss Minnie Bronson. On her return from Waterloo she was interviewed by a Billboard man. She said that her company met with considerable success at the convention, the managers she spoke to being apparently quite favorable to the new form of insurance which would protect chautauquas, there from Saratoga Springs, and will tour the State for four weeks prior to the opening of the St. Augustine season if he secures that contract.

Vessella was at St. Augustine last year, and will bring Miss Ribicova as soloist if he secures the contract.

In Louisville, Ky., Is Center of Fight—Present Lessees Seek To Retain Possession of Theater

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—Edward M. Flexner, who recently purchased the Masonic Temple, Chestnut, between Third and Fourth avenues, now occupied by the Strand Theater, from the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home for $300,000, has brought a legal action before Judge Krieger seeking possession of the property.

The proceedings were in the form of a request for a writ of forcible detainer filed in the County Court.

Joseph Seligman, representing the amusement company, said the writ would be contested on the grounds that the terms of the lease gave them the right to retain possession. He said he could not give any exact points which he would raise. Transfer of the theater can be delayed two or three months, even tho the present lessees lose out in the first hearing.

The Shubert interests want to open up a vaudeville house in the theater, it is said. The building was given to the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home by the Grand Lodge of Masons of Kentucky.

Warner, proprietor of the Niles Opera House, walked to the pit of the theater and in an unconcerned manner quietly informed the audience that a mishap had occurred to his machine, and that the show was over for the evening. The audience walked out of the theater. The entire third floor of the theater, the audience learned when outside the building, was ablaze. The fire was caused by the explosion of a film, and the theater is a total loss. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

OPEN THEATER SAFE—MISS $6,000

New York, Sept. 22.—With the aid of acetylene torches, "can openers" and drills, burglars early last Sunday morning robbed the safe of the Colonial Theater, Broadway and 62d street, of about $600, missing approximately $6,000 that was locked in another compartment of the big safe. To accomplish the burglary they kept the theater watchman moving thru the theater, punching his time clocks at the usual hours in order to signify that all was well in the theater. The burglars worked three hours before they managed to open the safe, as they burned their way thru the hard metal with the torches. C. C. Egan, manager of the theater, related the robbery, adding that the robbers threatened to return later to get what they had missed on their Sunday night trip.

The Hill organization will play a four weeks' engagement for the Police Relief annual. Mr. Armstrong, who is in the booking business at present, was for twenty-five years with Jack Haverly's Maslodon Minstrels.

THE VALUE OF ORGANIZATION

Vaudeville actors who are groaning under the cost of living on the road, and the extortionate grabbing of hotel keepers, may read the following clipping from The Performer, published by the Variety Artistes' Federation of Great Britain, and learn that even landladies realize that nothing is accomplished in this day of the world without mass action and organization:

"The digs difficulty, like a good many other disagreeable things in modern life, is always with us. Generally speaking, lack of accommodation is the excuse advanced by landladies for refusal to let pros. have rooms, but the landladies of Earlestown, Lancashire, have a new reason for denying pros. admittance. According to a letter we have just received from an artiste, one landlady he visited after some hours of digs hunting admitted that she had accommodation for one or fifteen, but she was 'on strike,' her reasons being that she did not get all the turns appearing at the hall every week. This was not an isolated incident either, for, writes our correspondent, he walked around in the rain and knocked at half the doors of the town, only to be met with the same refusal. Apparently each and every one of the landladies in the town was 'on strike' because each did not get a full house every week. Our correspondent asks when will it be made compulsory for proprietors when building halls to provide at the same time accommodation for the pros.?"

fairs, circuses, carnivals and other forms of the show business against that hoodoo of the showman—rain. Miss Bronson explains that Mr. Ives had a force of men at work for a period of eighteen months, going over weather reports of the past ten years in order to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion as to the percentage of risk involved.

The reports covered all sections of this country, as necessarily different rates are in force for different sections, there being almost continuous rain in some parts of the South at certain seasons, whereas at the same season there might be almost perpetual drought in another section. The rates were then compiled personally by Mr. Ives. The propaganda of the company is done almost entirely thru advertising mediums, and is only one department of a company that issues general insurance. It is stipulated in the advertising that all applications must be made about seven days prior to the event.

UPPER BROADWAY THEATER

New York, Sept. 22.—A newly organized syndicate of Queens Borough interests is reported to be considering the purchase of a plot at Broadway and 138th street in anticipation of the erection of a theater and store improvement representing an outlay of nearly half a million. The theater would seat about 2,300, with 1,300 orchestra seats, 800 balcony seats and 50 boxes.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Vessella's Band for $15,000 or Colasanto's organization for $11,200 is the problem confronting St. Augustine, Fla., where the Board of Trade is raising funds for an outdoor midwinter concert season.

Colasanto offers to bring twenty pieces and Miss Maudie Dahl, soloist. He has secured the engagement to play at the Florida State Fair at Jacksonville, Fla., November 18 to 27, coming theatrical producer. It is said the sale price was over half a million. Mr. and Mrs. Dillingham will occupy their new home on October 1.

JED PROUTY LOSES PASS

New York, Sept. 22.—It was admitted yesterday by Jed Prouty, the actor, that season passes given him and several other members of The Lambs to the Polo Grounds have been taken up at the press stand gate. Prouty is quoted as saying that no explanation was offered by the Giants' officials as to whether this was a result of the recent expulsion of John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, from The Lambs Club.

AKRON'S ALL-NIGHT MOVIE

Akron, O., Sept. 24.—Akron's first all-night movie theater is a reality. The Dreamland, South Main street, is open at noon and continuous screenings are offered until 3:30 a.m. It is an innovation in the local amusement field and is being well patronized. It is understood other picture houses in the vicinity of the large rubber factories will adopt this same policy soon.

NEW YORK'S THIRD LARGEST THEATER, THE COLISEUM, OPENS

Eddie Foy Heads Big Time Bill—Albee, Pat Casey and Sam Scribner Among Theatrical Notables Occupying Box—Theater Seats 3,500

New York, Sept. 24.—One of the big theatrical events of the week was the opening last evening of the new B. S. Moss Coliseum Theater, at Broadway and 181st street. It was a gala invitation performance and a capacity audience was present, every one of the 3,500 seats being filled and many being disappointed in not being able to gain admittance. Seated in the boxes were staffs of both the B. S. Moss and the B. F. Keith enterprises, which jointly control the house, the third largest in the city. E. F. Albee, Martin Beck, J. J. Murdock, J. J. Maloney, Pat Casey, Maurice Goodman, Reid Albee, E. G. Lauder and Sam Scribner were some of the box occupants.

The lobby was filled with floral pieces sent by motion picture and vaudeville stars and managers. The bill was headed by Eddie Foy and Family in a new act, followed by Yvette Rugeil, Morris and Campbell, Patricia and M. son, Donald Sisters and Ed Jania and company. Norma Talmadge in "The Branded Woman" was the feature picture, and there was also a Harold Lloyd comedy.

The theater was started by B. S. Moss prior to the amalgamation of the Keith and Moss interests and completed under the Keith supervision. Eugene De Rosa was the architect. The color scheme in the new theater is ivory, gray, French gold and the American Beauty Rose red. There are elaborate furnishings of both the

MURDOCK VISITS CINCINNATI

Expresses Optimism Over Outlook for Season Just Opening

J. J. Murdock, general manager of the Keith interests, was in Cincinnati last week conferring with local theatrical men in regard to an adjustment of wage scales for certain classes of theater employees. In talking to Cincinnati newspaper men Mr. Murdock was quite optimistic over the outlook for the season just opening.

"The return to normal," he said, "guarantees first of all a steady supply of new forms of vaudeville entertainment. The sources from which original vaudeville acts spring are again in full operation. With our new system of trying out these acts 'on the dog' the public in the large cities is required to take no chances. All acts before being booked on the circuit are tried out in the small towns around New York. If they succeed they are given a trial in some of our suburban theaters in New York. That is the acid test, and if they make good there they are put on the circuit.

"Business in general is good, and it looks like a successful theatrical season in most of the cities. We can scarcely hope to duplicate last season's record. For a combination of reasons the 1919-1920 season was an abnormal one, and I doubt if we shall ever see another one as prosperous. But if the return to normal conditions proceeds in its present orderly way there is no reason why we should not continue to be optimistic."

JACK ANDERSON

Quits Road To Manage Youngstown (O.) Theater

Youngstown, O., Sept. 23.—Jolly Jack Anderson, well known as a funmaker in burlesque and musical comedy, has quit the road to take charge of the new Regent Theater here. The theater, which will play high-class, popular-price vaudeville, is owned by the Steinberg Bros., who have theaters in a number of cities in Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

women's and men's lounging rooms and the Coliseum has most up to date appointments. It is equipped with a large built-in organ and an orchestra of twenty-five pieces. The vaudeville will run a full week. The Hippodrome and Capitol are the only two theaters in New York that exceed the seating capacity of the Coliseum.

ABOUT AN OLD JOKE

As the vaudeville and musical comedy season begins, it would be well for the Amalgamated Order of Producers—or whatever it is these friends of art call themselves—to pass a resolution that shall read somewhat as follows:

Resolved, That during the theatrical season of 1920-1921 and forever thereafter, jokes about prohibition shall be strictly prohibited in all productions under our control.

Such a rule will give the comedians a pain, but will delight the public, of which some want something new to laugh at, while others regard prohibition as no laughing matter, and still others deem it rude to laugh at the dead.

No doubt comedy teams at present are busily engaged in dusting off and remodeling last season's oversupply of prohibition jokes, thinking the forgetful and generous public won't recognize them in their disguise.

But let them be assured in advance that during the coming season no prohibition joke will get more than one-half of one per cent of the laugh it got last year. On the contrary, loud applause is in store for the comedy team that on making its entrance gives its audience a solemn pledge that it will not attempt one prohibition joke thruout the performance. Such an act should be hailed in the program as "a novelty act of striking originality."

Even the political platforms, which, according to some, are full of jokes and jokers, fail to say a thing about prohibition.—DES MOINES (IA.) EXCHANGE.

FRIENDSHIPS RENEWED

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.—The Six Brown Brothers, with Fred Stone's Tip-Top Musical Comedy show, renewed oldtime friendship last week at the Forrest Theater with Fred Ullrich, Philadelphia representative of The Billboard. It was a number of years ago that Mr. Ullrich did a single vaudeville act on the same bill with the Brown boys, under the name of "Errac." Many pleasant and amusing recollections were gone over again. The Six Brown Brothers are making their usual Big Philadelphia hit at every performance.

booked for the entire vaudeville season. Members of the quartet are Nicholas Wasilensky, tenor; Nicholas Vahileff, tenor; Nicholas Antonoff, bass; Michael Bataeff, bass.

HAROLD WEST WITH "PINKIE"

New York, Sept. 23.—Harold West, who has for the past three years been a featured juvenile with Charles Dillingham's "Jack-o'-Lantern," the Fred Stone show, has been released by Dillingham and will appear in a new Billie Burke vaudeville act, "Pinkie." PACKED HOUSE

Greets Opening of Louisiana Theater

New Orleans, Sept. 27.—The Louisiana Theater, playing Pantages vaudeville, opened yesterday afternoon to a house packed from pit to dome, matinee and night, and many who had neglected to obtain reservations in advance were disappointed. The Louisiana is being used temporarily till the new structure, costing over a million dollars, on Canal street, is erected. Arthur B. Leopold, the lessee, has spent upward of $50,000 in remodeling the old Danphine, and it now stands as one of the prettiest houses in the city. The stage has been extended back, the dressing rooms enlarged and fitted with all the modern improvements for the comfort of the visiting artists. The interior, as well as exterior, has been redecorated. In addition 200 loge seats have been added, which is a new feature in this city. Unlike the other houses playing vaudeville, the prices will be slightly higher, an admission fee of 50 cents being charged against 40 in the other houses.

The opening bill included Weaver and Weaver, "The Arkansas Travelers," Little Pipifax and Company, Miller and Cofman, Seven Bell Tones, Abrams and John, and "Fashion de Vogue," together with a six-reel feature picture, William Faversham's "The Man Who Lost Himself."

Arthur B. Leopold is lessee of the house; L. E. Edmont, manager; W. J. Dinkel, leader of orchestra; Wm. Huxen, stage carpenter; Henry Ottman, treasurer.

Taken all in all, the audience seemed to be satisfied with the bill presented on the opening date, and it is the opinion in New Orleans theatrical circles that the Louisiana has struck the popular fancy.

FOX THEATERS CELEBRATE

Denver, Col., Sept. 22.—Celebrating the first anniversary of the establishment of the William Fox Circuit of theaters in Denver, officials of that organization have arranged elaborate programs for the benefit of the Fox patrons, and this week is to be a gala affair, according to the Fox representatives.

All of the Fox houses—the Rivoli, Strand, Isis and Plaza theaters—have been "dressed up" in holiday attire and the theaters have been decorated for the occasion from pit to dome.

Louisa K. Sidney, manager of the chain of houses, came to Denver from the East, where he had long been associated with the picture theaters of New York City. Just previous to his transfer to Denver Mr. Sidney was manager of a chain of fifteen theaters in St. Louis.

New York, Sept. 26.—It is said here in responsible quarters that the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange Boston office will be closed shortly and all the booking done from New York. MARX BROTHERS "MOP UP"

New York, Sept. 23.—The Four Marx Brothers, who appear this week at the Proctor (Newark) Theater, were forced to respond to so many encores at last night's performance that the act, which ordinarily runs about forty-five minutes, ran over an hour. Arthur Marx's harp solo and Leo Marx's piano solo were two strong features of the performance. In the act, as it now appears, are: The Marx Brothers, Richard Bennett, Ruth Lattell, Mary Orth and Betty Marx.

DRANK LYSOL—CONDITION SERIOUS

New York, Sept. 23.—Doctor Martin A. Somers and Mark Linder are doing a dramatic sketch, "The Wager." This is a protean act.

Majestic, Chicago

(Reviewed Monday Matinee, September 27)

The quality of the bill this afternoon deserved a better audience than that which only half filled the theater.

Kibograms and Topics of the Day were given their usual places.

Lazier and Worth open with a classy act in which balancing stunts and hand-to-hand acrobatics were featured. Superb act.

Nell O'Connell appeared in place of the act announced for second place. Nell has looks, dresses well and has a "single" that opens weak, but closes strong with the singing of "Buddha."

Tim and Kitty O'Meara have an act of considerable originality in "Memora of the Dance." They are swift and clever steppers, but the act would be improved if Huston Ray would get a little more finish in his part of the act. Six minutes, six bows.

Bruce Morgan and Franklin Gates are well billed as "The Personification of Nonsense." Their act business is the acme of nonsensical artistry; they are the nat team par excellence. Seventeen minutes.

Valerie Bergere and her company presented "The Moth," a comedy-drama of interesting situations and clever dialog. Miss Berger, in spite of rather weak support, did a splendid and convincing bit of acting and easily dominated the situation for better than a half hour. Numerous bows.

Jack Benny gave nineteen minutes of monolog, punctuated with a few strains of violin melody. Jack has reserve, poise and personality. Ned Miller assisted in a serio-comic singing of "I'm in Heaven When I'm in My Mother's Arms."

Harry Watson, Jr., as usual, stopped the show in "Kid Battling Dugan," and the imitable telephone scene. There is just one Watson, and he always has the goods. His impersonations never grow old. His assistants deserve commendation.

Olsen and Johnson are a hilarious pair whose opening was marred by a noisy rush for the exits. These boys have barrels of ability, but their act needs some reconstruction. Twelve minutes, several bows.

Herbert and Dare was another hand-balancing act of the first rank, which was well worth waiting for. After eight minutes they were given several bows.—M. L. DAGGY.

Orpheum, San Francisco

(Reviewed Sunday Matinee, Sept. 26)

The bill this week provided general satisfaction.

Lawton opened with his unique line of juggling, bouncing balls on a snare drum set on legs. He kept up a staccato tempo with orchestra accompaniment that went over big. His finish was cannon ball juggling.

Marie and Mary McFarland, holdovers, with a new program, were given a stronger reception than on their first week.

Dan Stanley and Al Brines lurched thru an eccentric dance, depicting a couple of drunks on their way home from the club, and closed with a burlesque of Ruth St. Denis. San Franciscans howled with joy at the burlesque and enjoyed the drunks.

Frank Witcox and Company held over well in next spot.

Bob Carleton and Julia Balliew sang Carleton's songs, with Carleton remaining closely at the piano. Miss Balliew proved to be an attractive bit of femininity.

"Bits and Pieces," with Jack Patton and Loretta Marks, the big act of the show, was next, with the Western audience getting most of the clever satire on a number of recent New York dramas and musical pieces.

Neal Abel cleaned up well in next to closing spot. His dark mannerism and facial contortions added much to his cleverly told stories.

The Byrants did the phenomenal by holding the audience in closing position. Loose jointed acrobatics and the ability of one member of the team to take falls gripped the audience's interest.—STUART B. D'NEAR.

B. F. KEITH'S PALACE

NEW YORK

AMERICA'S FOREMOST THEATER DEVOTED TO VAUDEVILLE
Matinee 2:00—Two Performances Daily—Evening 8:00

(Reviewed Monday Matinee, September 27)

The weather was anything but propitious for indoor entertainment, hot and sultry all thru the afternoon, with a slight, drizzling rain intermingling with the sunshine.

According to the box-office time, the overture was played at 2 o'clock, before the lightest assemblage the writer has ever seen at this house, and it was slow in filling.

During the Sylvester Schaffer act they still were coming in, and before he was half thru many were standing. No programs, other than some sheets informing the patrons that for the order of program they must see stage cards, and that next week's attraction will be another epoch-making program, presuming by this, we suppose, that this one was going to be a "knockout," as far as vaudeville is concerned. To this we cannot agree. The headline act scored by reason of the popularity of its stars.

2:02—Kinograms, to the music of Frederick F. Daab's Orchestra, were very badly edited, and showed many repeaters, among which was the arrival of Tom Burke, the Irish tenor, on the Carmania, accompanied by Mrs. Burke. One of the features was scenes of the Elks' Carnival held in Omaha, Neb., recently.

2:13—Monroe and Grant wheeled onto full stage their autotruck trampolines. One is the driver and the other is the helper, both in overalls. They delivered the greatest bounding acrobatics yet seen at this house, but for comedy they will have to make another trip. They got off in fine style with a whirlwind routine, aimed at by many in this line, but only accomplished by this team, which, from voice and gestures, is either English or Australian.

2:20—In one appeared Jack Lexey and Cella O'Connor, opening with a trial at song, followed by a dance. Both are guilty of not singing in accord with their ability as dancers, which is exceptional in many instances. They do a Chinese number, and finish in a semi-eccentric acrobatic style, in which the woman proves the better of the two. The house liked them, partly due to the fact that they worked and tried to please.

2:30—"Ye Song Shop," a conception of Pat Rooney's. Full stage, special set and most attractive girls, seven in number, who were costumed appropriate to the period in which they were called on to interpret the songs, "Past and Present." Warren Jackson and Harold Whalen, two likeable chaps, sang and danced as the scenes were revealed. This is one of last season's offerings and was not new to this house. It scored a hit despite the fault of being a bit too long on view.

2:53—EXTRA ADDED ATTRACTION. Robert Emmett Keane walked out in front of a house drop attired in a business suit. He opened with a crackerjack comic ditty, told stories mostly about Englishmen, did a Scotch recitation, and finished with one of Kipling's poems, wherein he gives advice thru a Sergeant-Major to his troops before going into battle. Mr. Keane has a style of delivery all his own, and it is not many minutes after his appearance that it is apparent that a real entertainer is bidding for approval—theo at no time does he consciously approach this fact. He stopped the show in face of a husky voice which handicapped his efforts.

3:09—FEATURE EXTRAORDINARY—Sylvester Schaffer, the man who lived up to his billing as "The Protean Marvel." He held rapt attention in one or full stage, as his versatility required. This artist does magnificent juggling, lightning painting, acrobatics, violin playing, sharp-shooting, foot work, feats of horsemanship, while balancing, and heavy object manipulations, and in all proves himself a master showman. Each division of his artistry requires special settings akin to the production caliber. During his time on view he employed two male assistants, a charming Miss, a deer, rabbits and three charging steeds groomed to perfection, with befitting trappings. His closing feat of balancing a Roman chariot on his chin, while juggling cannon balls, permitted him to exit almost exhausted, for it must be borne in mind that he works every minute on and off. If the powers so decide this offering can appear next week, and Sylvester Schaffer will change his act, as he is fully equipped to do.

3:40—Intermission, with music of the "See-Saw" variety.

3:45—"Topics of the Day," with a tune, got some laughs when the folk were seated.

3:50—Phil Baker walked on with his Italian piano-accordion in front of a most familiar drop. He camped until all were seated, then he lit out with quips, playing, kidding in his masterful style of showmanship. Everything was his own, even to letting the "Plant" in the box sing, which, in our opinion, does not belong in the same class with Phil Baker. Charley King was seated down front, and for the sake of oldtime shipmate sake sang "How're You Going to Keep Them Down on the Farm," while he accompanied with a silent orchestra. The performance was stopped here again.

4:10—ENGAGEMENT DE LUXE. George Whiting and Sadie Burt and Company played in one full act, "Little Miss Melody," book and lyrics by Jack Lait and music from the pen and brain of Gus Edwards. This is a fantasy, which employs comparisons between the relative merits of melody and jazz. Two male dancers that lean on the acrobatic for strength, and five attractively gowned young ladies assist. Dialog and dialog, and more dialog, and then singing and singing and singing. Whiting and Burt are all there is to it, from the rise to the fall of the curtain. They scored on individual popularity and merit, but not thru any particular value of their vehicle.

4:53—EXTRA ADDED ATTRACTION. Joe Santley and Jack Norton opened singing to each other over a telephone. Santley went to the piano and Norton started to sing. This is their first Palace showing since reuniting. As soon as they work out properly there is no doubt that they will return to their former popularity in vaudeville.

After Five—Marino Brothers again billed to present their airplane acrobatics.—WILLIAM JUDKINS HEWITT.

Keith's, Cincinnati

(Reviewed Monday Matinee, September 27)

Rather rainy outside; fine business inside; a very entertaining and well-balanced bill. Charles King's musical fantasy, "Love Letters," with Clarence Nordstrom and Oua Munson and coterie of artists, hold and unquestionably made good in the honor position, about comprises condensed comment on the matinee at Keith's this afternoon, unless it be that special mention should be made on the pleasing abundance of very beautiful drape settings and wardrobe used in the show as a whole and the difficulty of picking other special winners.

Berberte, with neat apparatus, grace and sensations, started the show on wire and combination rings and traps. Nine minutes on full stage, and, on doffing the wig during the second bow, left many still guessing.

James F. Kelley and Emmu Pollack, in their billing of "Vaudeville, Past and Present," went over nicely, their individual and combined efforts being well appreciated. Kelley's wheeling-the-keg stunt stopped the act for a full minute. Sixteen minutes, in one; two bows, encore; another bow.

"The Fall of Eve," with Mabel Cameron, Alan Devitt and C. Carroll Cluena. A neat comedy playlet, presented in draped interior, with refined humor interspersed with clever acting and commendable wardrobe. Seventeen minutes, in three-fourths; four curtains.

Marion Weeks and Henri Barron, with special drapes, introducing single and team operatic selections, and the "Doil Song," from "Tales of Hoffman," by Miss Weeks. Each offering registered. The program informed the patrons that Barron is formerly of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, also that the coloratura soprano, Marion Weeks, hits "G" above "C," which she did this afternoon in clear tones and to the eminent satisfaction of the audience. In three; fifteen minutes; four bows.

"Love Letters," Charles King's unique musical offering, with Clarence Nordstrom, assisted by Oua Munson, Kete Pullman, Emma Nicolas, Maude Potter and May Gerald. An excellent story, written around a mail carrier, who inherits great riches, and the various type of feminine "proffers" of their hand in marriage. The act is extraordinary in quantity and quality of scenic production, costuming and remarkable singing and characterization. The act opened in one, then there are several full, special sets used in the production, the subjects of which are, cleverly announced by "love letters" thrown on a screen, in two, thereby eliminating waits in their erection. The song and action are in accordance with the characters presented. All of the act did well, but Nordstrom, Miss Munson and Miss Pullman drew special notice. The final ensemble was particularly well costumed. Forty-two minutes; one continuous, individual bow, each receiving a hearty hand on appearance, Nordstrom opening and closing the acceptance.

Harry Breen went big. It remained for Harry to put spirited pep in the show with his "nuttiness" and extemporaneousness. He talked "squirrel food," acted it and owned up he would stick at it until he—gets off the "nut." Eighteen minutes, in one; two bows.

Hubert H. Kinney and Corinne danced and kicked themselves into attentive interest and favor in the closing number, and held them in until the finish. Both double and single endeavors received well-earned applause. Kinney's dance-kick specialty scored, as did the artistry and personality of Corinne. Full stage, with drapes; fourteen minutes; one curtain.—CHAS. BLUE.

SPECTACLE CLOSES:
MANAGER MISSING

A fireworks spectacle, "Europe in Battle and Fire," which was to hold forth in Boston, Mass., from September 11 to 25, was closed after two performances. It was understood that the spectacle was to be put on by the Phillips Amusement Co. In response to an inquiry the Boston representative of The Billboard wired: "No one connected with the Phillips Amusement Co. could be located in Boston today. Marie Pappolo, who furnished the ballet, told the writer that she had a contract signed by a Mr. Lamb, and is looking for someone to collect from. The show was booked for a week, but only two performances were given—Saturday and Monday night. Tuesday the managers did not show up, and the show was called off, leaving the people without being paid. The two shows given played to good business at $1 top."

FARBER GIRLS CHANGE

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Chicago friends of Irene and Constance Farber, militant Equity workers, have been notified that the girls have joined the cast of "The Greenwich Village Follies."

EARLY START

To Be Made on New Keith Theater Building in Cincinnati

Word received from New York a few days ago indicates that an early start will be made on the twelve-story office building to be erected by the B. F. Keith Theater interests in Cincinnati. The contract for the new building has been awarded to the Ohio Building Construction Company, of Cincinnati.

The new building, which will be erected in front of the present Keith Theater on Walnut street, is to cost $1,000,000. It will have a frontage of 123 feet on Walnut street by 60 feet depth and will have 77,000 square feet of office space and four storerooms on the ground floor.

The lobby of the theater will be in the center of the building. The plans for this structure call for the latest and most elaborate ideas in office building.

The construction of this building will not interfere with the B. F. Keith Theater as it now is running, and when completed the holding of a new theater in the rear, in place of the one now on the premises, will not in any way interfere with the office building. A temporary entrance will be constructed for the present B. F. Keith Theater, and the erection of the office building will proceed over and around the temporary entrance, which will be used until the permanent entrance is completed.

The building will be either of polychrome terra cotta or Indiana free stone. The interior will be of Italian marble and the superstructure will be reinforced concrete.

The Fawn Sisters will be featured in a dancing turn. There are also six chorus girls, and the act is handsomely dressed.

Mr. Madison has also finished a monolog for Harry Mayo, big time tramp comedian.

McVICKER'S-RIALTO

Chicago, Sept. 27.—"A Night With Poets," a new artistic creation, heads the bill for the new week in McVicker's Theater. "The Girl in the Basket" follows. CONTROVERSY UNSETTLED

Stage Crew and Musicians of Mobile House Still Out

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 23.—Union trouble is still manifest in Mobile. Stage crew and musicians walked out on Manager McKenzie, Strand Theater, two weeks ago and their disagreement is still unadjusted. It is reported that the union would require Mr. McKenzie to use a crew of four back stage and an orchestra of four, where he has been heretofore using two stage men and three musicians. The additional men, it is estimated, will cost the theater something like $3,000 a year more, and Mr. McKenzie contends that his house is not of the size to warrant such a large crew. It was at first thought that the Strand would go over to pictures, but the show people assured Mr. McKenzie that they would back him up, and have, in fact, been working his stage. This is to keep bookings intact in this territory. Local sympathy in this instance is with the management. The Strand is a tab, house. The old crew at the Lyric Theater were notified by Manager Walsh that he would not contract with them another year, and other hands are working the house.

DIES IN POORHOUSE

Frank Leslie, Nephew of the Publisher, Was Musician of Talent

New York, Sept. 26.—Word was received today of the death in the poorhouse at Murray, Ky., of Frank Leslie, his widow and five children, also in the poorhouse, survive him.
Frank Leslie was a graduate of Harvard and the nephew of the publisher of Leslie's Weekly, and for fifteen years had been a musician in leading New York theaters. Giving up the life of a musician on account of his health, Leslie joined the band of the Ringling Bros' Circus, with which he played for five years. He later joined the Forepaugh Circus. Illness ended his career as a professional musician, and, broken in health and spirit, he settled in Kentucky two years ago. He could play almost any instrument, and he managed to eke out a bare living by occasional musical performances, but he recently became too ill to do even this, and he and his family had to go to the poorhouse. He suffered from cancer.

Leslie was a Canadian by birth and was a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

Twenty-Eighth Anniversary of His Organization With Concert at Hipp.

New York, Sept. 27.—John Philip Sousa celebrated the twenty-eighth anniversary of his musical organization with a concert at the Hippodrome last evening. Three new Sousa compositions were played, and Florence Hardeman, violinist, and John DeLun, cornetist, appeared as soloists. Among the musical composers present were Gustav Kerker, Raymond Hubbell, Jerome Kern, Ivan Caryll, Silvio Hain, A. Baldwin Steane, Louis A. Hirsch and Paul Tietzen. They were introduced to the audience by R. H. Burnside. Among the presentations were a laurel wreath given by the Musicians' Club of New York thru the Lombis Club by DeWolf Hopper, and other tokens from the Elks, New York Athletic Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars and members of Sousa's Band. Among those who occupied boxes were DeWolf Hopper, Mayor Hylan, Mme. Gail-Curel, Ina Claire, John Ringling, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Raymond Hitchcock and Mrs. Sousa.

GUS SUN DENIES

Assertions in Regard to Salaries Paid Acts Playing Sun Theaters

Gus Sun, head of the Gus Sun Booking Exchange, makes a vigorous denial of assertions contained in an article in a recent issue of a theatrical paper, not The Billboard, regarding the salaries that are being paid acts playing the Sun houses.

"It is asserted," says Mr. Sun, "that increased salaries are being paid to acts playing the theaters served by the Gus Sun Booking Exchange since the cancellation by E. F. Albee of my booking contract with the B. F. Keith office. I do not wish to question the good faith of the declarations, but I do assert that nothing could be farther removed from the facts.

"It is a known fact that the Gus Sun Booking Exchange, and the other so-called independent circuits, always have and even at this very time are paying less for acts than the United Time. I have in mind a specific act which has just finished the Gus Sun Circuit. This act has just opened on the United for $100 more than was paid by this office and has been promised a route at $250 more than paid by the Gus Sun Circuit if the report is satisfactory. There are several other acts which also occur to me which now are receiving from $100 to $150 per week more than they were paid on the Sun Circuit.

"The booking managers of the various offices of the Gus Sun Circuit are all veterans of the business with a fundamental knowledge of the salaries of acts and vaudeville profession in detail and in general equaling any showmen in America. No agent of this circuit books an act blindfolded, or signs a contract with his eyes closed. These men are constantly on the alert to guard against any manner of deception as to the quality or the salary of acts and in every other way to protect the interests of the clients of this organization. Furthermore their facilities for obtaining information as to acts, salaries, etc., and their records are just as comprehensive and complete as any organization in the United States. The truth is that Gus Sun booking managers are dealing only with those agents known by them to be above suspicion of sharp practice. Even the most casual investigation will disclose that this office is obtaining better acts at less money than ever before in its history.

"Within the last week twelve new cities have been added to the Gus Sun Circuit. This fact alone should be sufficient to convince anyone that neither agents nor acts are 'taking advantage of Gus Sun.'

"ACE O' HEARTS" CLEANS UP

New York, Sept. 23.—"Ace o' Hearts," the second big musical revue that has been written especially for Will King by James Madison, the writer, is said to have helped smash box-office records at Loew's Casino Theater, San Francisco. There are ten principals and thirty girls in the cast, which is headed by Will King. The company is playing musical comedy stock at the Loew Theater in conjunction with a regular vaudeville bill of five acts. The house is under the direction of Ackerman & Harris. The prices at this theater are a 33-cent matinee and 55 cents for top in the evening, with three shows a day. The house seats 3,000. James Madison is under contract to Mr. King to write all his shows.

NIESSE ACTS

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—Carl Niesse, the vaudeville writer, has completed new material for the following acts: Evelyn Carroll Company in an unusual originality. Miss Carroll will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Carroll. The net will open in Chicago shortly. Morton and Lee, the blackface humorists, in a novel talking and singing act, who are presently playing for Loew, Verge and Rickford, in a comedy turn, "Line vs. Lying." They will open on the Const noon. Mr. Niesse has in preparation a new net for Kelly and Post, now playing the Keith houses in New York City.

REHEARSING PHIL LEWIS ACT

Mack and De Roeber, a two-man act, are now rehearsing a new big time net, written especially for them by Philip J. Lewis. The boys will open the first week in October and will continue westward. Mack and De Roeber are splendid singers, and the boys are said to be there with the comedy. Mr. Lewis is also writing several exclusive numbers for the act.

STAGE HANDS

(I. A. T. S. E. and M. P. M. O.)
Communications to our Cincinnati Office.

Throughout a number of the cities in the Central West, a general organizer is busily engaged in assisting local unions affected in the adjustments of differences.

Some of the members in Columbus, O., are experiencing some trouble, but it is expected that a general organizer will visit the city and straighten things out.

A dispute developed in Lawrence, Mass., last June between the Local Union 111 and the local management on account of the local insisting upon payment of the broken time in excess of the rate provided for in its present contract. This was finally brought to a successful termination, but subsequently new trouble cropped up, and one of the I. A. organizers will visit the city in the near future.

Bristol (Tenn. Va.) Local 530 has contracts all signed up and everything is reported as moving along nicely. Bros. Chas. Mistle and Will Green are en route with Hagenbeck-Wallace Advertising Car No. 2.

Fred Grlesen, secretary of Defiance (O.) Local 271, writes that the strike in that city has not yet been settled, despite statements that have been sent out to the contrary.

M. P. M. O. Local 239, Ft. Worth, Tex., reports contracts signed up satisfactorily and business very good. "One hundred per cent strong and every man at work," says Leon Friedman, press agent of the local.

News notes from Local Union 417, Arkansas City, Kan.—Brother John Fielda has been elected treasurer and business agent of this local. Brother Don Richardson was elected president. He is now stage manager at the Rex Theater, and Brother Fields chief projectionist. A five-piece orchestra is now employed, in charge of Mr. Hadley. Many new improvements have been installed this last year on the stage and Pontages vaudeville is in run. The old Fifth Avenue Opera House has opened up with pictures and tableaux, a new company each week, and is doing a record-breaking business. All help on the stage are members of Local 417. Brother Harold Bull has transferred into this local from Wichita (Local Union 414), and is operating two late type machines at Windfield, Kan., at the Zimm Theater. The Grand Opera House at Arkansas City has opened up with pictures and vaudeville. It is managed by Mr. Zimman. Will play all large road attractions this year. All new equipment has been installed.

Quite a number of inquiries have been received at the I. A. office, asking about the old "Chief" and friend, Brother Charlie Shay. The correspondents one and all are anxious to know if his health is showing much improvement. The Billboard is very happy to state that Brother Shay is rapidly recuperating, and, if the present progress keeps up, he will soon be entirely recovered.

Seth Barnea, the chief of projection at the Palace Theater, Wichita, Kan., is operating two late type Simplexes and reports that the projection is perfect. A new stage setting has just been installed lately, and a projection film review room has been built under the stage, where the manager can review his coming features. This has the very latest equipment and direct current, with plenty of large, roomy seats for the reviewers of the productions. Brother J. O. Buckles, past chief projectionist at the Palace, has transferred into the local at Hutchinson, Kan., and is in charge of the projection in the new $200,000 Midland Theater there.

CABLES FROM LONDON TOWN

SEPT. 25
By "WESTCENT"

NO TRUTH IN STATEMENT THAT V. A. F. IS BARRING AMERICAN PERFORMERS

There is absolutely no truth in the statement that the Variety Artists' Federation is barring American performers, as suggested in Variety of September 10. The Variety Artists' Federation is affiliated with the American Artists' Federation, and between them most cordial relations exist. Variety Artists' Federation is absolutely against acts of ex-enemy origin and also against Swiss acts on account of the embargo on British acts in Switzerland. Variety's article is construed here as but symptomatic of its usual policy.

ATTEMPT TO ORGANIZE HOUSE MANAGERS CAUSES HEATED DISCUSSION

A full meeting of the Entertainments National Industrial Council was held September 21, attended by Sir Oswald Stoll, Charles Gulliver, R. H. Gillespie, Percy Bayham Broadhead, Walter Payne, Mr. Vendrenne, Tom R. Davis, J. J. Clarke, H. Albarry, Monte Bayly, Fred Russell, Variety Artists' Federation, and the A. M. U. and N. A. T. E., representing labor sections. Regret was expressed at the resignation of the Actors' Association, but the council appointed a delegation of six, representing employers and labor, headed by Mr. Vendrenne, to wait on the Actors' Association with a view to continuance. Heated discussion arose over the action of N. A. T. E. in trying to organize house managers. Sir Oswald Stoll vehemently opposed managers joining the staff union. So did Goodwin, C. E. A., and all the other employers' representatives. William Johnson, president of N. A. T. E., fought hard in justifying his position, basing his main theme on employers denying house managers the right to combine. The employers countered with the analogy that house managers are but foremen, and draw attention to the fact that A. M. U. had recently to forego its claim to organize foremen in the recent national crisis in Sheffield. A vote was taken and was unanimously against N. A. T. E. on the employers' side, and six against four on the labor side, the A. M. U. delegates voting against N. A. T. E., while the Variety Artists' Federation remained neutral.

CONDEMNNS FREE SINGING OF PUBLISHED SONGS

The Variety Artists' Federation has sent out the following resolution: That this industrial council is of the opinion that the practice of singing free published songs and exploitation of vocal acts subsidized by publishers of free songs is detrimental to the financial interests of promoters of variety programs, and is inimical to the artistic progress of variety artists, inasmuch as it stultifies initiative and encourages the growth of a stereotyped class of variety material. It was opposed by Charles Gulliver, but supported by Messrs. Clarke, Broadhead and Montgomery, and carried. The National Theatrical Union made application to join the council as representing three thousand London professional musicians. The application was supported by the Variety Artists' Federation and C. E. A., receiving strong opposition from Mr. Williams and A. M. U. For years past fusion has been striven for by disinterested people for the mutual factions, but council referred the matter to the labor section, with the object of arranging a working agreement between the musicians' unions, failure of which is to be referred to full council.

CAMERAMEN'S UNION NEARING COMPLETION

The cameramen's union is nearing completion under Monte Bayly's guidance, having modeled its constitution after that of the Variety Artists' Federation, and now awaits ratification by members on October 15, prior to completing the legal formalities. The cinema section of the Variety Artists' Federation is holding preliminary discussions prior to the conference to discuss regulations of conditions, etc., to be called about the end of October.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST "SPONGERS" GAINING GROUND

Variety Artists' Federation's campaign against vaudeville spongers, that is, nonmembers, looks like making working vaudeville programs here a hundred per cent Variety Artists' Federation by next January.

ETHEL IRVING PRODUCES "LA TOSCA"

Ethel Irving produced "La Tosca" at the Midway, September 23, giving, as usual, some very powerful emotional acting. Lynn Harding, as Scarpia, was picturesque and effective. Gerald Lawrence made a gallant Mario Cavaradossi, but otherwise the production is not in the blue ribbon grade.

ENGLISH THEATRICAL MEN TO VISIT AMERICA

Charles B. Cochran, Albert McCourville, Paul Murray, who is renting the Comedy Theater at Christmas time, and was some time London manager for William Morris, and R. H. Gillespie, Moss-Empire chief, have all booked steamer tickets for America.

STROLLING PLAYERS!!

Critics and dramatic writers are charming people, and, like others, they have to eat, live and exist—even in the summer season. Consequently one must not be hard, but possibly thankful when they let themselves off in sententious articles in the papers about things theatrical. Even the writer of those weekly editorials is barren of ideas to fill up the requisite space in these dog days, so S. R. Littlewood's effusion on "The Country Theater" is at least welcome.

In writing on the wane of the London theatrical season, and, by the way, we never have a close time here, he wonders why the country, where there is more light, more space, more leisure, more material and infinitely more inspiration for the most human of the arts, be a place where the theater is for serious purposes a thing forgot. These thoughts are conjured up by remembrances of Stratford-on-Avon and the Glastonbury Plays—all very well as far as they go—as a fresh craze for town-bred "high-brows." It is good for them and does no harm to anyone. But, queries he, does it get us any nearer a genuine country theater? Does it really reach the village folk, and satisfy—or even create—desires that can be a part of their life? On this he opines sadly that even the jolly Warwickshire farmers who come trotting into Stratford-on-Avon on market days—the very men from whom Shakespeare himself was bred—so far from caring for the theater, have, as a rule, no consciousness that they need it. As for Glastonbury, reminiscent of the famed King Arthur and his Round Table, one has only to ramble thru the typical Somersetshire villages around Glastonbury to find that the spirit of the Somerset folk is just about as far from the Purcell masque as that of Fielding Somerset's characters—wonderfully true to life still—from a Wattenau milkmaid. And here's the rub, and most true, in fact, and when read, it should be marked, learned and inwardly digested. "What these country folk seem to want and what they are really interested in, are the 'towny' things that they read about in the Sunday papers. The cinema, for instance, has got to the village—indeed, Glastonbury's only permanent place of entertainment is a picture palace. But, notwithstanding this, S. R. Littlewood pursues his course relentlessly, and seriously suggests that the only way to provide these folk with flesh and blood drama is the sending around of a number of tent companies in the good old circus fashion." Says he: "It is certainly a plan with a punch in it, and what was lost on the swings . . ." But would S. R. L. be prepared to stand the loss on the swings in the hope of what he would gain on the roundabouts? Spangles and sawdust, yes, but Mister Shakespeare, NO. They might stand it in Cochoes, but not in England.

"THE RUINED LADY" TRAVELS

Her tenancy of the Comedy Theater having expired, Rosa Lynd perforce has to seek fresh fields and pastures new, and opens at the Royal Manchester with the same company as in London, with the exception that Amy Ravenscroft will succeed Eva Moore, who goes to Canada with her husband, E. V. Esmond, in a series of plays. Notwithstanding her personal bookings, Rosa Lynd intends sending out two touring crowds of this show at Christmas.

"WEDDING BELLS" RINGING MERRILY

Gladya Cooper and Owen Nares report fine business with this show at the Playhouse, which may be attributable more to the personalities of the stars than to the play itself. Comment and praise has been awarded to the solidness of the setting of this piece, inasmuch as the walls are of great thickness and the doors are practical in every sense of the word and are made of walnut. Likewise the walls are adorned with genuine oil paintings, one being "The Head of a Woman" and the other a portrait of a "Sir Thomas Turscher," both by Sir Godfrey Kneller. But the Playhouse management can not claim to be original in the matter of adorning scenes with genuine pictures, for did not John Lawson of "Hannany" fame do which 'tis said J. J. Corbett toured a version under the name of "Pals" make much of the fact in his sensational expose of studio life—wide program matter that his oil paintings used on the stage, including "Sardanapalus and His Slave," were valued at over $10,000.

DEATH OF NEWMAN MAURICE

For many years resident manager of the Briton Theater, and, consequently, in possession of the finest vaudeville and theatrical "free list," Maurice was well known amongst the performers. He died suddenly in his office at midnight on the 11th, having been engaged thruout the Saturday with his usual managerial duties. He had been associated with the Melville, of the Lyceum fame, and was responsible for the writing of the successive Briton pantomimes, in which he also played "Dame." Before settling down to house management he was a touring

CHORUS EQUITY NEWS

Ninety-eight new members joined the Chorus Equity in the past week.

Ballots for the coming election for executive chairman, recording secretary and executive committee were sent to all our members on Monday, September 20. These ballots must be returned to this office before six p.m., November 1, if they are to be counted. Twenty-eight names are placed under the heading "executive committee." This is to give our members a wider choice for this committee. Do not vote for more than 21 of the members listed, as the executive committee is to be composed of 21.

The ballots were sent to the addresses we have in the office. If you did not receive one write us immediately, as you have probably neglected to inform us of the change of address. Ballots for more than five hundred members have been placed in the mail box of the office, as we have incorrect addresses for those members.

Two weeks' salary was collected this week for one of our members who had rehearsed eleven days, and then was let out of a production. At first there was some difficulty about this case, as the young man could not remember on just what day he started rehearsing. Always make a note of the date on which you start rehearsals, and, if you are sent a written notification of the beginning of rehearsals, save that notification. It is the best proof you can have of when you started should there be any question of pay for overtime rehearsals or of two weeks' salary because you were let out.

There are still a number of members delinquent since May first, 1920. Many of these people have profited thru the organization by the collection of two weeks' salary after rehearsing more than ten days and being let out, have collected for overtime rehearsals and for performances exceeding eight and a half. These are only a few of the things the organization has done in this first year of its existence. It can do no more without your assistance—with your whole-hearted aid there is nothing it cannot do. We feel that a large part of this delinquency is due either to carelessness or forgetfulness. You would not want your organization to be careless or forgetful if you were in trouble. Look at your membership card and see how far up you have paid it. If it reads dues to May first, 1920, you owe two dollars to November or four dollars to May first, 1921.

We are holding checks for Miss Beanie Jones and Miss Paulette Lorraine.

Don't sign anything a manager gives you to sign. Read it first.—DOROTHY BRYANT, Executive Secretary.

YOUNG WOMAN IS MANAGER OF STRING OF THEATERS

Mrs. J. L. Adams, an attractive young woman of Des Moines, Ia., is one of the two directing heads of a theatrical company incorporated for $1,800,000 and which does an annual business of millions of dollars. A recent issue of The Des Moines Register carries an interesting story of Mrs. Adams' career.

The company of which Mrs. Adams is a director is the Adams Amusement Company. Her husband, J. L. Adams, is the other director. "But," says The Register, "Mrs. Adams does not, as this would imply, owe her position to him. She had won a place as a theatrical magnate before she met him. Approximately fifteen years ago she graduated from Indiana College and for five years taught school in Seattle, Wash. Then, believing that further advancement was impossible in this occupation, she turned to the theatrical business, as she had always been interested in the stage. Starting in a small way on the Pacific Coast she invested her money in theaters and prospered. After her marriage to Mr. Adams they moved to Des Moines and have extended their activities to include all manner of theaters in which motion pictures, burlesque and legitimate plays by stock companies are shown. During the past two years a strong organization has been built up, controlling 26 theaters in Iowa.

Mrs. Adams is probably the only woman in the country holding an executive position in an organization of this sort. "There are some whose work approximates that which I do," says Mrs. Adams, "but no woman, so far as I know, directs the work of this kind of an organization."

Several other singers of merit also took part in the program, which was one of the series of concerts arranged by Commissioner R. Frederick Walls for the immigrants.

"Ball" closed last week at the Broad. This delightful comedy won pronounced success during its stay here and Helen Hayes in the titular role most excellent.

The "Broadway Fritillities of 1920," at the Lyric, and "Floradora," at the Shubert Theater, closed last week their final Philadelphia showing.

First named the Little Theater, then The Philadelphia and now the Delancey Theater, this house is now presenting Josephine Victor in a romance of the West Indies, "Martinique," and drawing large attendance.

Walt Leslie, manager of the Casino Theater, reports good business and is as happy when at his post as when he is down on his farm.

The Gayety Stock Burlesque is putting on some mighty fine shows and dandy wrestling matches. When you see John Welsh and Lewis Martin in deep study in the office you bank on it something doing for next week.

Evans and Lawrence, "The Boys From Memphis," a blackface vaudeville act from the West, are here for an Eastern showing of their good act.

The New People's Theater, with Ren Lavene as its popular manager, reports business excellent and everybody happy.

Had a chat with Fred Wagner, manager of the Bijou Theater, one afternoon last week in front of the house, and inquiring how his business he said: "Sold out." Glancing in found the house capacity. And that on a matinee.

Laura Kersey, the talented end pony of the "Big Sensation Show," who had a spot and quit the show week before last at the "Troc," kissed and made up and is back with the show again.

Marie Thelin, high diving act, who has been the big drawing card with the Quaker City Shows the past three seasons, has retired. She has been replaced by "The Diving Ringens," whose performance created a sensation at their

HELEN FREEMAN

Leaves the Wilkes Players

Popular Denver Leading Woman To Star in Her Own Vehicle—Will Appear in Los Angeles

Denver, Col., Sept. 25.—Helen Freeman, who has appeared as leading woman for the Wilkes Players of the Denham Theater for the past six weeks, will leave Denver Sunday for Los Angeles, where a new play upon which she has been working will be produced.

Miss Freeman has had the idea of her play in mind for some time and two years ago began the work of translating it to manuscript, collaborating with a writer to whom the idea also appeared worthy of dramatic exposition.

A tentative title for the piece has been selected, but will not be announced at this time. The play deals with the regeneration of a woman and is written in the style of modern romantic melodrama. Miss Freeman will appear in the leading role when the drama is presented in the Wilkes Theater. Later she will return to New York, where in the course of a year or two she hopes to crystallize her long-cherished ideals and conceptions of the fundamental repertoire theater.

MELODRAMA

Holds Stage at Shubert's, Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 27.—"Dawn of the Mountains," a play of the Tennessee Mountains and the quaint people who inhabit them, is this week's offering by the Shubert Players. In spite of its extreme length and rather shopworn plot, it is wholly pleasing and affords some of the company an opportunity to do some splendid acting.

As the little mountain girl Frances McHenry is excellent. It is totally unlike anything we have ever seen her play and she seemed to actually live the part. Second only to Miss McHenry was the playing of Buck McNair by Oscar O'Shea. His characterization of the rugged old mountaineer was a work of art.

Helen Empton, as the boy, was very good indeed. This little lady has shown much versatility of late and is becoming a warm favorite. In the part of a most "villainous villain," John Marston worked hard and was rewarded by being most thoroughly despised. James Blaine, as the "city chap," and Jerome Renner, as his friend, were pleasing, and Alice Mason, Bert Brown and Earl Jamison were most acceptable in their respective parts.

In spite of the remarkably warm weather for this time of the year business is very good, proving that melodrama, properly played, is as acceptable today as it was in the days of our fathers. "39 East" next week.—H. R.

LEWIS PLAYERS CLOSE

Company Will Return to Roanoke, Va., for Winter Season

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 28.—The Jack X. Lewis Players finished their engagement at the new Victory Theater in Tampa September 26, and Manager C. D. Cooley opened the house Monday night with Keith's vaudeville. Owing to train schedules, the trains leaving Jacksonville at 9:30 at night and leaving here en route back at the same hour, only four nights a week of vaudeville are available. On Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays the Victory will show the biggest feature pictures obtainable. The Lewis Players plan to rest up for several weeks after which they will return to Roanoke, Va., where they will play a return engagement.

STOCK IN CAMDEN, N. J.

Two Bills a Week by Tivoli Stock Co., Under Management of Al Brandon

New York, Sept. 25.—The Tivoli Stock Company, under the management of Al Brandon, is scheduled to open the dramatic stock season in the Broadway Theater, Camden, N. J., October 4. Two bills a week will be presented, the opening attraction being "The Man on the Box." Mr. Brandon tells The Billboard that he intends showing all the latest royalty bills. Billy Cunningham will be leading man, and Anne Davis will be leading woman. Miss Davis is featured in the programs as "Anne Davis and Her Players." The company will have a drawing population of about 200,000. The theater has a capacity of 1,400. Al Brandon, who will manage the company, conducted a stock organization in the South last winter, and he was at one time prominent in vaudeville, touring the big Western time in a hand-cut act, carrying a company of five people.

WIZARD GEORGE

Speaks Favorably of the Vees Stock, Zanesville, O.

Grover G. George, known more familiarly to his friends of the show world as the Wizard George, who has a magical wonder show en route, was a Cincinnati caller last week. George didn't have much to say about himself, or his activities (tho he did entertain the editorial staff a bit with some clever card tricks), but was more interested in telling about the exceptional ability of the Vees Stock Company, which he says is enjoying a phenomenal run at Zanesville, O., and is now on its sixth week.

George says that only the best and latest royalty bills are receiving the attention of the management. "I was in the town recently and paid the company a visit," said he. "Capacity greeted the players nightly and only one bill a week is presented. When the company first opened it was met with discouraging remarks about how dead the town was for stock, but the company certainly fooled them. I could see Dorothy Dow and Al Vees play every night and enjoy it more each time. They play the leads. And Eva Sargent—well, her prowess is going to make her as popular nationally some day as she is today in Zanesville, and that day isn't far off. In fact everybody in the company is expert in their individual line and I consider Zanesville theatergoers fortunate in having such a company."

DORIS WOOLRIDGE

Joins Wilkes Players, Denver

Denver, Col., Sept. 23.—One of the most important things scheduled to occur in Denver's theatrical world during the week is the first appearance of Doris Woolridge at the head of the feminine contingent of the Wilkes Players. She comes to the Denham Stock with a press-book filled with favorable notices from numerous theatrical centers of the country and with a long experience that should be strongly in favor in her local engagement.

STARK WITH SHEA'S STOCK

C. Nick Stark, who is probably one of the best known character actors playing around New York in stock, has returned from his chautauqua tour. He was in New York for only a few hours when he was dispatched to Holyoke, Mass., opening with Shea's Stock Company on September 13 in "At 945." Nick says the only reason he doesn't work with Broadway productions is that the period of rehearsals is too long.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Peggy Lorraine, a popular little dancer and entertainer, was a Cincinnati visitor last week. She announced the engagement of her sister, Bernadette Lorraine, well known in dramatic stock circles, to John Francis Malloy, master carpenter with the "Robin Hood" Company.

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

Presented by MacLean Players, Akron, O.

Akron, O., Sept. 25.—The Pauline MacLean Players, now installed in Music Hall here for an indefinite winter and spring run, will offer for their third week "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," the comedy which A. H. Woods made such a big success in recent years. Miss MacLean is appearing in a role especially suited to her artistic talents and Edward Clarke Lilley is also well cast in this production. "The Crimson Alibi," last week's bill, was well received here and drew capacity audiences.

GOLD IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Irring Gold, well-known Chicago actor, who has just closed a twenty weeks' engagement with the Sherman Stock Company in Earlville, Ill., is back in Chicago.

"Mary's Ankle" was the offering of the G. B. Stock Company, Aurora, Ill., week of September 20. Business continues excellent with the company, as Aurora seems to like the spoken drama.

Actors, actresses, artists and performers, please note carefully: Our branch managers and all authorized solicitors have been expressly forbidden to even mention the subject of advertising to players, let alone solicit them for business. settlement, but for the fact that the theater corporation demanded that Benedict and Marlotte be retained. The musicians would not accede to this demand and it is reported that both Benedict and Marlotte were dropped from the union list in Tacoma and Seattle.

IMHOF OUT—TRUESDALE IN

New York, Sept. 25.—Howard Truesdale is taking Roger Imhof's place in "Jimmie," the musical comedy in which Frances White will be starred. Imhof's resignation was caused by his dissatisfaction with his part and arranged by the mutual consent of himself and Arthur Hammerstein.

MAX HOFFMAN WITH "FOLLIES"

New York, Sept. 25.—Max Hoffman is now conducting the orchestra for the "Ziegfeld Follies." Hoffman has conducted his wife's (Gertrude Hoffman) vaudeville act for many years. Besides his job with the "Follies" Max conducts the band for the Keith vaudeville shows on Sunday night at the New Amsterdam Theater.

"FOLLIES" TO FOLLOW

New York, Sept. 25.—When the "Ziegfeld Follies" leaves the New Amsterdam Theater on October 9 it will be followed by "Hitchy-Koo, 1920." The "Follies" goes to Boston and "Hitchy" comes from that town here. Reports from the latter city say "It is a great show."

"MECCA" NEARLY READY

New York, Sept. 23.—The production of "Mecca," which is now in rehearsal, will open at the Century Theater on October 4. The complete cast includes Gladys Hanson, Hannah Toback, Kate Mayhew, Ida Mülle, Genevieve DeLora, Audrey Anderson, Martha Lorber, May Beth, Margaret Rosdhar and Elizabeth Talma, and Lionel Becham, Herbert Grimwood, John Doran, Orville Caldwell, John Nicholson, Thomas Leary, Harold Skinner, John Pierson, Robert Rhodes, Julian Winters, Richard Schwindler, Basil Smith and Lionel Chalmers.

There will also be a ballet of sixty dancers and a big ensemble. Scene and dress rehearsals are taking place all this week, and, beginning next Monday, the rehearsals will be with orchestra. Altogether there are said to be 400 people in the company, and Morris Gest says the production will cost $400,000.

Gest has made arrangements with the Shuberts to occupy a floor of offices in the Century Building during the run of "Mecca."

WILD REVUE RUMORS

New York, Sept. 25.—All sorts of tales have been flying about Broadway as to who is going to be with the forthcoming Coban revue. William Collier was the first to deny any connection with it, and now Elsie Janis says she won't be in it. Other names besides these have been mentioned and printed by irresponsible parties, but the leading players, as mentioned in last week's issue of The Billboard, are to be Sam Bernard, Joe Weber and Lew Fields.

BURROUGHS IN "JIMMIE"

New York, Sept. 25.—Arthur Hammerstein has put Don Burroughs into "Jimmie." Hammerstein "discovered" Burroughs in a stock company playing Reading, Pa., last summer and placed him with his "Always You" Company, where he made a big hit on the road. He has been withdrawn from that place and is now rehearsing with "Jimmie."

"SMART SET" AT LAFAYETTE

New York, Sept. 25.—The Lafayette Theater, Seventh avenue and 131st street, which has been playing colored shows for some time and always to capacity, is doing a big business with "The Smart Set," co-starring the well-known comedians, Safem Tutt Whitney and J. Homer Tutt, in their latest creation, "Bamboula."

O. E. Wee's "Shepherd of the Hills" Company closed last week and his "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" opened Friday.

Arthur Gorman goes ahead of "The Girl Who Came Back," sponsored by Harry Clay Blaney, opening in Blinghamton, N. Y., September 30.

Charley Williams left New York City Sunday to join Gus Hill's California Minstrels at Toronto, Can., as company manager over the Trans-Canada Circuit.

Harry Taylor has just closed a very successful summer stock season at Contocook Park, near Concord, N. H. This is Harry's second year in this popular park.

Bill Benedict will put out the Authentic War Films, under the auspices of the American Legion, opening at Cleveland, O. Walter Turner will be manager.

William J. (Bill) Guard, press representative of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who recently returned from Europe, says New York is the musical center of the world—and Bill ought to know.

Mike Cavanaugh goes in advance of Macklyn Arbuckle in "Daddy Dumps," opening at Far Rockaway Friday, September 24. George Fitchett will be the company manager, and the production is under the banner of Earl Carroll.

Arthur S. Wenzel, well-known theatrical manager and press representative, will manage the new publicity bureau of Lichtig & Rothwell, theatrical and motion picture agency, of Los Angeles. Wenzel has had many years' experience in the theatrical business.

Col. Ed R. Salter, debonair and chipper as ever, paid The Billboard offices at Cincinnati a visit prior to the opening of the Johnny J. Jones Exposition at the Tennessee State Fair. The Colonel apparently has discovered the fountain of youth. Long may he wave!

W. T. (Billy) Boyer writes that he is no longer connected with John W. Vogel's Minstrels, but is back on his old job with Charles W. Benner's "Peck's Bad Boy" Company as general agent. The show, which will play the same route as usual, has all new scenery and is bigger and better than ever, says Billy.

Thos. Alton, ahead of Kibble's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company, and F. W. Egner, who recently closed with the "Buster Brown" Company, were callers at the home office of The Billboard a few days ago. Mr. Alton reports that the "Tom" show is playing to good business. It will go as far west as Wisconsin, then return eastward. Mr. Egner goes ahead of Virginia Lewis and Company, opening November 1, and playing Ohio and Indiana.

The press agent is a pest and ought to be eradicated, according to E. O. Wickizer, of Pasadena, who read a paper recently before the Southern California Editorial Association, in which he advocated a central bureau to pass on free publicity. Nevertheless, Bro. Wickizer is not likely to be gladdened by an early adoption of his views as to exterminating the species. In fact, the field of the press agent seems to be becoming broader every day. And whether he be known by the title of press agent, publicity man, "praise agent" or what not, the purveyor of free publicity will be long with us. Doubtless the methods of some members of the craft are open to criticism, but this should not condemn the craft as a whole.

W. Dixon Van Valkenberg, who has probably found his way into as many front-page newspapers as anyone else in the lightweight division, has come to light. "Van" deserted Broadway last spring. Not an inkling of his whereabouts was available. But the mystery has been solved. Down in Hagerstown, Md., "Van" can occasionally be found in his palatial mansion, when not supervising in the rural districts his two big 700-acre fruit farms and an agricultural farm which keeps this youthful, feet-footed disciple of Horace Greeley busy garnering the proceeds therefrom. The boys along Broadway are expecting to greet "Farmer Van" when the crops are gathered in, and it is a safe bet that he will be found guiding the destiny of some luminary, or maybe making his own productions.

DELYSIA SAILING

New York, Sept. 25.—Alys Delysia will sail for this side from England next Wednesday. Morris Gest has engaged her to play in "Afgar," in which she will have the same part she has been playing for two years at the London Pavilion. "Afgar" will go to the Forty-fourth Street Theater following the run of "Way Down East" some time in November. Charles B. Cochran is coming the same boat as Delysia to see the "Afgar" opening.

Comments on Prospects of Coming Season—Elaborate Plans Made—Show Goes Into Pennsylvania Soon

Harry Shannon, Jr., whose ability as a comedian is well known in repertoire circles and who is following in the footsteps of his father, Harry, Sr., was in Cincinnati this week on business. While here he visited the offices of The Billboard, commenting on the prospects of the coming season and the success of the summer season under canvas, which closed at Lima, O., two weeks ago.

Harry has elaborate plans for the winter season and has an excellent line of houses which he will play. He stated that he has been banding the company this past season, as his father, mother and sister are taking it easy at their home at Wapakoneta, O., and touring the State in their new car visiting other repertoire companies and renewing old acquaintances. The trio is expected back on the show next week at Attica, O., where the company will play its last fair of the season.

Special stress was laid by Mr. Shannon on the class of bills the company is offering this year and the exceptional ability of the cast. "We have made a very careful selection of plays this season," he said, "and are trying hard to get several more late releases. About a carload of scenery is being carried, including furniture, a good deal of which I just bought here, and other effects."

The present roster of the company includes Harry Shannon, Jr.; Marjorie Southwell, Jessie Collier, Betty Rice, Lotta Maye Emerson, Mrs. Chester Younkins, Dell W. Scharard, Guy Astor, Al W. Emerson, Paul Jackson, Chester Younkins, W. E. Palmore, William Yago, Kirk Marks, Norman H. Morey, Rex Keltih, Ben Ware, Robert C. Smith, Esta H. Bundy, Dana M. Bailey, Sherman Wier and Jerry Prescott. The mascot is four months old Bett Jane Marks, whom Harry says is welcome excess baggage.

LIBERAL PRESS COMMENTS

On Wallace Bruce Players

The following is an unsolicited article from The Liberal Daily News, Liberal, Kan., dated September 4, showing the esteem for the Wallace Bruce Players.

"The Wallace Bruce Players, who are finishing up their engagement at the Majestic Theater tonight, must be recognized as one of the very best stock companies on the road in this section. Their repertoire is one of the most up-to-date and pleasing that the local theatergoers have had an opportunity of seeing down here for a good many years. Liberal, as well as all other towns of its size, manages to get at one time or another a one-night production that is good, but it is mighty seldom that we get a company with several good bills.

"The people of Liberal have enjoyed their every performance and especially the one last night, in which every member of the company starred. Their play for tonight is one of the greatest type, and will certainly be enjoyed by as many as can obtain seats. Every person in the company works in the specialties and their line is new and exceptionally clever.

CHASE-LISTER COMPANY

The present time finds the Chase-Lister Company winding its way thru Nebraska, leaving behind it a trail of good will and satisfied patrons. The show has been meeting with phenomenal success, and in many places new records have been established. Last week, at Neligh, it is said that the house record at the Auditorium was broken by nearly $300.

During the summer months a complete new scenic equipment has been added along with new electrical effects, new wardrobe, and new stage accessories in all departments. Nothing is lacking to make, as nearly as possible, a perfectly equipped and complete dramatic organization. A very refined list of plays is being included including "Broken Threads," "The Cabin in the Hills," "The Natural Law," "The Honeymoon Limited," "Cappy Ricks," "A Good-

Nothing Husband" and "Hello, Baby." The cast is very capable and is under excellent direction. Taken all in all, it can be said that the Chase-Lister Company is one of the very best repertoire organizations on the road today.

MARGIE STEERS PASSES

Well-Known Character Actress Succumbs in Texas Sanitarium

Regrets are being expressed by the many friends of Margie Steers, well-known stock and repertoire character artiste and wife of Carl Bayard Steers actor, whose death occurred at St. Mary's Sanitarium, San Antonio, Tex., September 20. For many years Mrs. Steers held a prominent spot in the repertoire activities of the South and West, appearing late with the R. M. Marks Company, Metropolitan Stock Company and others.

Several years ago she appeared in vaudeville with her husband in a dramatic playlet entitled "When the Clock Strikes Eight." Surviving her are her husband and six-year-old son. Mr. Steers and his son returned to their home at Birch Tree, Mo., after the body was interred at Boone, Tex.

C. W. COMPTON ILL

C. W. Compton, well-known agent who recently closed with the Princess Floating Theater and was about to take the trail for the Frank Ginnivan Dramatic Company, is confined to bed at his home in Brazil, Ind. He was compelled to cancel the Ginnivan engagement on short notice. Doctors say that he will be able to get up in a few weeks. Friends can write him at Brazil, Lock Box 25.

FORREST ABBOTT PLAYERS

The Forrest Abbott Players, the first attraction to go out under the Abbott Amusement Company's management, opened its season September 6 at Newburyport, Mass., to large and enthusiastic audiences. Several popular stock releases are included in the list of plays, among them being "Playthings," "Cappy Ricks" and "Birds of Prey." Some well known stock people are in the cast, headed by Gladys M. Lord and Gilbert E. Carland. Others are Alma Blake and Ben Lumley, second leads; Florence Wakely, ingenues; W. Lee Tracy, juvenile; Russell Snod, George Hasbrooke and James Flynn. Franklyn MacDonald is the director and Forrest Abbott owner and manager.

The company plays a circuit of eight towns, offering three plays a week, each play being mounted on special scenery with effects.

"THE CRIMSON NEMESIS"

"The Crimson Nemesis," the latest play by Robert J. Sherman, is making good as an opener for Mae Edwards' Players, playing Eastern Canada. Miss Edwards claims it to be the best opening bill the company has ever had. The play was first presented by the Frank Ginnivan Company this season as "Just Mickey." The weak spots were rewritten and the play was given its present title. Mr. Sherman now has eleven plays in use by tent and house attractions.

OPERA HOUSE RENOVATED

For the past two years, Pittsburg, Tex., has been tied up theatrically, owing to the Mayor. Now a new regime is in power, and preparations to receive attractions are under way. The Opera House has been repainted, new scenery installed and a new front curtain added. It has gone thru an entire renovation. The seating capacity is 500. Only tent shows have played the town for over two years and the citizens are looking forward to a good road attraction.

Raymond Ketchum and wife (Sara Treadwell) will soon begin their tenth successive year with the Chase-Lister Company playing leads.

Beginning tomorrow Wooster, O., will hold the company, which will occupy the K & F house during the fair week. The roster includes Frank H. Ginnivan, Robert J. Sherman, Ward MacDonough, Armine Landi, Lew Matthews, Orson Meyers, Harry Richards, F. L. Hoese, Grace V. Ginnivan, Vivian Sloane, Iris Luce and Nellie Hoese.

WESTERN FRECKLES NOTES

Edna Linne, who has been playing the Angel with the Western "Freckles" Company, closed with that attraction last week. Miss Linne will return to Chicago, where she is shortly to enter matrimonial bonds. She will be replaced temporarily by Judith Itaborn (Mrs. Darrell H. Lyall) until Mr. Lyall can secure some one suitable for the part. Miss Raeburn has played the part for the past five seasons.

Irving O'Dunne has been engaged by the Broadway Amusement Company for the part of "Freckles" with the company, and reports that he is giving splendid satisfaction. Mr. O'Dunne has been in vaudeville the past couple of seasons, playing a similar part, and with his size, auburn hair and a splendid singing voice, makes an ideal "Freckles."

"COWBOY" COMPANY IN EAST

"An Arizona Cowboy" Company reports big business thru Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, playing one-night stands. The company, headed by Herbert K. Betts and Dorothy Lull, has been playing thru Canada, New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont all summer and is now in its twenty-fifth week. William Gibney is ahead.

The roster holds, besides the leads, George Fisher, Hal Florence, Michael Moss, Harry Foster, Clarence Joyce, Elizabeth Lull, Leona Gero and Maude Rudell. A cowboy band is a feature on the streets during the day and an orchestra of five pieces entertains during the performance. After the November elections the company will head for the Coast for the balance of the season.

KINGSVILLE, TEX.,

Greets Bostwick Players

Kingsville, Tex., Sept. 24.—The Bostwick Players are giving an extraordinary line of good, clean entertainment here this week. The company is playing to its full seating capacity and is living up to its past reputation of giving its patrons the best. It has been some time since this city has enjoyed the privilege of patronizing a show of the Bostwick standard. Attractions have been on the decline here since the advent of motion picture features. Mr. Bostwick and his cast will always be welcomed by Kingsville.—P. F. A.

PRISON SHIP "SUCCESS"
Leaves Atlantic City

Atlantic City, Sept. 22.—The prison ship "Success," the oldest vessel afloat, which proved to be a great attraction here all summer, put out to sea at high tide last Thursday afternoon shortly after four o'clock, crossed the bar without mishap and got away on its journey to Philadelphia, towed by a sea-going tug.

Captain D. H. Smith, in command of the "Success," had anticipated that some difficulty might be experienced in crossing the bar, as there is only about 14 feet of water there at high tide, and the "Success" draws that much. The Government dredge "Albacore" was on hand to assist if the vessel had touched bottom, but her services were not needed.

Thousands of persons along the beach and Boardwalk watched the big vessel standing out towards the horizon, many of them armed with glasses. After a stay in Philadelphia the "Success" will go to Cuba for the winter. An effort has been made to have Captain Smith bring this historic convict ship back here next summer, but his plans are indefinite at the present time.

During his stay of ten weeks thousands of persons boarded the vessel, and got some first-hand information how convicts were treated 100 years ago.

STRONG CLOSES

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The Elwin Strong Company closed its most successful season today. The show will go into winter quarters in Fremont, Neb. Mr. Strong and Mrs. Strong (Violet Manning) will spend the winter in California on a pleasure jaunt.

Sam Flint will remain in Fremont in charge of winter quarters. Harry Budde, general agent, has signed for next season. He will spend the winter in vaudeville.

NOTES FROM BRUNK'S NO. 5

Business continues good with Brunk's Comedians No. 5, which is now on its way South, where it will remain during the winter playing under its specially constructed tent for winter traveling. A new heating system, invented by Whittie Rose, boss canvasman, will be installed. Three changes have been made in the cast since opening. A twelve-piece band and seven-piece orchestra (not jazz) is carried. The show is managed by Pete Palmer.

"FRECKLES" GOING GOOD

Joseph Rith's Eastern "Freckles" Company is doing a big business thru New York State. The press and public have bestowed great praise on the players in each town played. Harry Dickerson, the stage director, is giving special attention to every detail and is deserving of much credit toward the success of the company. The trail for "Freckles" is being blazed by our old friend Bill Beecher, well known agent, who gets the spots and showings in all towns played.

REPERTORY NOTES

Jorge LaTelle, a favorite repertoire artist, recently closed with the Shannon Stock Company and joined Percy's Comedians, which is en route to Florida for the winter.

Max Trendell has joined the Mason Stock Company after a couple of years' absence. Max states that it feels good to get back home. He is at the piano directing his orchestra.

"JEMS" POSTPONED AGAIN

New York, Sept. 25.—"Jim Jam Jems," which was to have opened at the Cort Theater next Monday, has been postponed again. Necessity for repairs is said to be the reason. Mr. Farwell is quoted as saying that there is too much suggestiveness and too few clothes in the "Aphrodite" spectacle. Mr. Farwell is said to have drawn a comparison between the chaste beauty of a film, called "Humoresque," which he says he recently witnessed, and "Aphrodite."

EIGHT OPENINGS

In New York City—"The Mirage" and "Don't Tell" Are Among New Offerings

New York, Sept. 26.—Two plays were opened here last night. The Owen Davis farce, "Marry the Poor Girl," opened at the Little Theater, and "The Kreutzer Sonata" at the Jewish Art Theater.

There will be eight openings here this week: "The Tavern," with Arnold Daly, at the George M. Cohan Theater; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Moffatt, at the Nora Bayes, in "Don't Tell"; "Merchants of Venus," at the Punch and Judy; "Hitter-Patter," at the Longacre; "Broadway Brevities," at the Winter Garden; "Three Live Ghosts," at the Greenwich Village Theater; Florence Reed, in "The Mirage," at the new Times Square Theater, which opens its doors Thursday night. On that same night Will Morrissey will present an Irish play, called "The Dawn of Ireland," at the Lexington Theater, with Larry Kelly as the featured player, supported by Rose Mary King, Grace Allen, Mrs. Clifford Dempsey, J. The play is by David Carb and was recently shown here for one special performance at a matinee. The critics spoke of it as a worthy effort of a hitherto untitled playwright. Since then the piece has been largely rewritten, and it is said that it will go into rehearsals again shortly.

Mr. Carb is a graduate of Professor Baker's course in playwriting, Harvard University.

New York, Sept. 25.—The new season of the New York Theater Guild will include the production of three new plays, the first of which will be "The Treasure," by David Pinski, which will open Monday, October 4, at the Garrick Theater.

"Heartbreak House," Bernard Shaw's latest comedy, will be the second production. It was to have opened the Guild's season, but because of Shaw's unwillingness to have one of his plays presented on the eve of a Presidential election it was postponed. It will probably be seen some time in November.

A drama is the third offering of the Guild season. "John Hawthorne" is the play's title.

BECOMES PRODUCING MANAGER

Mrs. M. A. Trestrail First of Her Sex To Hold Such Position in Canada

Toronto, Can., Sept. 24.—May Anderson, who in private life is Mrs. M. A. Trestrail, has just purchased the original New York production of George Tyler's comedy, "On the Herring Line," in which May Irwin scored such a hit last season. With the purchase of this production Mrs. Trestrail becomes the first producing manager in Canada.

Mrs. Trestrail has lived in Toronto for six years. Prior to that she had appeared in this city with several road companies, and was also a member of the old Canning Stock Company at the former Princess Theater in 1900. For two seasons she was director of dramatic art at the Canadian Academy of Music. She has engaged her car and is now rehearsing for the opening at Oshawa on September 27. She has decided to make her tour exclusively Canadian—from Halifax to Vancouver—appearing at the Grand Opera House, Toronto, week of October 4.

WHEN FIDOS FALL OUT

The relations between George M. Cohan and William Collier are not quite as chummy as they have been. A week or so ago a story was sent out that Collier would be a member of the company which is to support Cohan in his revue. Collier dashed off a denial, saying: "I should not consider appearing in the support of any other player, with the possible exception, of course, of Louis Mann."

Cohan wrote the newspapers, saying any story that Collier would be with him in the revue was sent out without his "knowledge or consent." "So far as Mr. Collier's statement that he would support no star is concerned," he wrote, "I wish to say that, when it comes to starring, I am firmly convinced that I am self-supporting and need no assistance in that direction for box office or any other purpose."

Arthur Bouchler accepted the play, which was written by Major Mason after his return from the war, and is playing the part which Mr. Skinner will create here. NEW PLAYS

"THE GUEST OF HONOR"

"THE GUEST OF HONOR"—A comedy in three acts by William Hodge. Presented by Lee Shubert at the Broadhurst Theater, New York, September 20.

THE CAST—Jack Weatherbee, Graham Lucas; Mrs. Murray, Jonnie Lamont; Mr. Warner, Wm. H. Thompson; Laundry Boy, Howard Morgan; Mr. Wartie, Edward O'Connor; John Weatherbee, William Hodge; Robert Tinsley, Harold Heaton; Rosamond Kent, Helen Welcott; Ione Curtis, Miriam McCauley; Helen Kent, Alice Bricker; Mr. Lewis, Louis Darcliny; Mr. Kent, Fiedelle de Belleville; Mrs. Kent, Ann Warrington; Butler, Lee Frank; Tom, John N. Wheeler.

In territory outside New York William Hodge has been playing "The Guest of Honor" for some time. And report has it that he has been most successful with it. There seems to be little chance that it will be a New York hit. The play is wearisome and the company generally mediocre.

The play tells of a penniless author's love of an adopted son, the discovery that the boy is her sister's son by a rich girl, who comes to tell the author of a literary prize he has won, how the girl kidnaps the kid and how the author gets five hundred dollars advance royalty for a book, gets his suit out of heck and gets both the boy and the girl for himself.

William Hodge plays the author. That he has a personality is undeniable, but he reads monotonously and has a very bad habit of speaking with his eyes closed. The play is archaic in structure, full of hand-carved platitudes and halting in action. Were Mr. Hodge ten times the actor he is he could not make it interesting. As it is he strides thru the piece with all the self-assurance in the world and will probably take to the road again and coin money, notwithstanding what New York thinks of him and his play.

William H. Thompson tries hard to make his part interesting and partially succeeds; Frederic de Belleville gets all out of his role that is possible; Graham Lucas plays the boy, and is a very good child actor; Helen Welcott plays the girl and lacks in most of the requirements necessary for good acting. The rest of the company are just about as good as their parts, and that is nothing to brag about.

"The Guest of Honor" is below the average of even a poor New York production. There was a distinct tendency on the part of at least some of the audience to sneaker at even the serious moments of the play. But Mr. Hodge has a following here, and when they have all seen the play he will depart for the road—and triumphs.—GORDON WHITE.

EXCERPTS FROM NEW YORK DAILIES Times: "... an old-fashioned, home-made, deep-dish comedy, which was never meant for New York at all."

World: "... unlike anything that could possibly be expected in a Broadway theater in this age and day."

Post: "About the only redeeming feature of it as a play is its complete innocence."

Evening Sun: "The Guest of Honor" is a theatrical rice pudding; it is a plain and wholesome entertainment."

"ANNA ASCENDS"

"ANNA ASCENDS"—A drama in four acts by Harry Chapman Ford. Presented by William A. Brady at the Playhouse, New York, September 22.

THE CAST—Howard Fisk (known as Gents), John Werner; Bunch Berry, Rod LaRoque; Alton Sparkes, Edward Morse; John Stead, Cliff Workman; Beauty Tanner, Ellingham Pinto; Henry Fisk, Frank Hatch; William, Ward DeWolf; Sissie Coury, Gustave Rolland; Rizzo, S. K. Fried; Bessie Fisk, Betty Allen; Nellie Van Housen, Gloria Aron; Miss Bird, Helen Cromwell; Anna Ayrobb (later known as Anna Adams), Alice Brady.

If William A. Brady were able to pick plays as well as his daughter can act them, New York theatergoers would now be witnessing a real dramatic treat. Alice Brady is a splendid actress. She knows her business and plays convincingly, but she deserves a play that will allow her to show her ability and not a make-believe play, which in addition to being badly written is improbable and very old-fashioned.

The story of the piece is of a Syrian girl, who while working in a restaurant learns English and aspires to a higher place in society. She steals a man who tries to violate her, and believing him dead, hides while she works herself into a good position in the business world. Meantime she writes a book, moves into a higher plane still and, discovering the man she believed she murdered robbing the house in which she is a guest, gets her lover after he has been convinced that she has been leading an innocent life instead of the black past, which the robber tries to hang on her.

Miss Brady carries the show almost entirely on her own shoulders. Nobody could do any more with the part than she does. In fact she does more with it than would be believed possible. The only aid she receives is from Rod LaRoque, who is excellent as the villain, and Gustave Rolland as a Syrian restaurant keeper. Both of these players are splendid actors, particularly Mr. Rolland. The rest of the cast are passable and that is all. John Warner, as the hero of the piece, read his lines in such a high-pitched, loud voice that it leads one to believe that he has been used to playing in skating rinks or some other building of vast space. Ellingham Pinto has just a bit and does it fairly.

DIXON'S "LEE" HAS GOOD FIRST NIGHT

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 22.—Thomas Dixon's "Lee," a dramatization of the life of Robert E. Lee, military genius of the Confederate army, was presented at the City Auditorium Friday night, September 17, and was well received. The local press was enthusiastic in its praise of the play.

"Thomas Dixon may have gained more financial returns from his novels that he will thru his 'Lee,'" says The Charlotte News, "but for the discriminating student of history Mr. Dixon has built a drama that for charm and beauty, for satisfaction and reflection, has not been excelled in American literature."

Speaking of the cast, The News says: "The cast is all that could be wished for. The shafts of comedy shot thru the four acts here and there, the debonair air of General Stuart contrasted with the serious demeanor of General Lee at all times, the temperamental General Alexander and other characters stand out as masterly presentation."

"Augustin Duncan plays the role of Lee with remarkable precision, while C. Alexander serves as his butler and carries a part which is wholly pleasing. Enid Gray does the part of Mrs. Lee well, and H. D. Blackmore makes a strong appeal as the Virginia planter who favors slavery. Lyons Wickland makes a good type for General John B. Gordon. Edward Quinn, as Sid, the negro stable boy, does much to help in the comedy parts. David A. Leonard serves well as General Alexander until he comes to the final scene, in which he is entirely too dramatic."

INTERVIEWING

Gilda Varesi Is Just One Visitor After Another—Popular Actress Tells of Her Efforts That Finally Met Success

New York, Sept. 24.—There are certain things that must be taken into consideration when you start out to interview a star. Especially a woman. In the first place, you will experience the usual difficulty in seeing the star work. That was just what happened when we thought it advisable to assimilate a little of "Enter, Madame," at the Garrick Theater, to watch Gilda Varesi. We stroited jauntily up to the ticket window and expressed a desire for two good seats. Two seats, good or bad, weren't to be had at any price, it seemed. New York had decided to see just how, why and when Madame entered that night. The girl at the ticket window said that New York had been just as curious about Madame's entries on every week day night since the day of the opening, August 16. We accepted the ultimatum and stood up during the evening performance. First on one foot and then on the other. And it was worth it. "Enter, Madame" is moving up in the Times Square district soon, and it will probably be just as hard to get seats.

But to return to the interview. We enjoyed Gilda Varesi and it was thought best to interview her. Yesterday afternoon, after the matinee, I invaded Gilda Varesi's dressing room. She is a charming woman, with pleasing personality and a voice that sort of fascinates you. In fact, she is altogether too charming. For we soon found that she had a large following. And they all followed the trail to her dressing room.

"I have done tragedy all my life," began Miss Varesi, as her maid carefully put away the wonderful Malsen Jaquelin gowns, including the black and gold lounging robe.

"The sort of thing that appeals to me most is a dramatic effort that is set with diamonds of flashing laughter. Half tears and half laughter, I might say. There is nothing more wonderful, I think, than real tragedy. It is a state of mind and one is on the stage to express states of mind. Madame Lisa Della Robbia, the temperamental prima donna of "Enter, Madame," expresses an extreme in the so-called artistic temperament. But I have made a careful study of such characters all my life, and, while I admit I have never known a cook who could play a flute like William Hallman, as Archimede, the chef in our piece, does, at the same time, wouldn't it be possible? It wouldn't be impossible, would it?"

And right here came a knock at Miss Varesi's door. A trio of ladies had made their appearance. They just wanted to express their best wishes for the future of "Enter, Madame"; they had seen the show and they had enjoyed it so much, and especially Miss Varesi's work, and wouldn't she take lunch with them some of these days? And following these visitors came others, one a young married couple, both of whom are in a Broadway musical comedy, and they just dropped around to say they had seen the show, and, oh, how they liked Miss Varesi's work. Miss Varesi gracefully acknowledged the friendly wishes; we waited patiently while New York tramped up to her dressing room to pay homage. Finally there was a lull. New York had seen the show and it had done the most natural thing in the world—expressed its appreciation direct to the star—for New York insists on personal visits in such cases—and finally Miss Varesi was again at liberty to discuss the stage.

The fact that Gavin Muir, who plays the part of the son, John Fitzgerald, in the play, rather underplays than overplays his part is apparently to Miss Varesi's liking. That he bears no resemblance to his mother, the tempestuous Madame Robbia, is, to Miss Varesi's mind, a most sincere note in the play.

"How many people," she argues, "have sons that are almost like changelings? Sometimes you see a man who, like John Fitzgerald, has a mother just like Madame Robbia. Gerald Fitzgerald, his father, the part assumed in such a distinguished way by Norman Trevor, is supposed to be an Irishman. Lively as he is, he is tied by something of an inherent conservatism, and the whole thing is logically tied together. These same queer interlocking, half-suppressed tendencies, such as are expressed by Gerald Fitzgerald, are what help make our lives complex—and worth living."

Miss Varesi admitted that she had made several former efforts to write a successful play. "I've never quite succeeded before in my writing," she said, "altho I had a wonderful collaborator in my attempt, which we called 'Where the Butterflies Went'. I am afraid I didn't know the writing job from a technical standpoint well enough not to interfere with someone who did. Some day I mean to take that play up again and finish it. In another attempt I became all mixed up on my plot and lost heart in the middle of it. Dolly Byrne and myself collaborated in 'Enter, Madame', which I think you will admit is a success. At any rate, the house has been sold out at practically every performance."

"If you insist on presenting my past life you might say I was born in Chicago and went to Loring School. Some people may want to hide their doubtful past in Chicago, but that's not my intention or desire. I have played in about every line of stage endeavor, including vaudeville, dramatic stock, and also appeared in motion pictures, and I took Nazimova's part in the second 'War Brides' Company. My work in pictures wasn't so successful, because my actions were too quick for proper showing on the screen. I was on and off the screen like a flash. In 1918 I worked in dramatic stock for eight weeks. I dislike that work very much. I hate to go on with a part learned hurriedly. I feel about my acting as you would about sitting down to a meal and only half chewing the food. It's indigestible unless proper time is taken in the learning of the part, rehearsing and care for the fine details which are necessary for proper presentation."

Just then came another knock at the door. This time it was Ethel Taylor, an artist and great friend of Miss Varesi. She has just completed a cover design for Irving S. Cobb's latest book, "Abandoned Farms."

"Now," said Miss Varesi, "you must by this time have quite enough to fill the whole issue of the next Billboard." We admitted that we had considerable of an interview. As we started out of the door two more people arrived.

"We just wanted to tell you how we enjoyed —" But we passed out of hearing. There is no denying it, Gilda Varesi has many friends! —CLIFFORD KNIGHT.

ACTORS' EQUITY ASSOCIATION NEWS

115 WEST FORTY-SEVENTH STREET, NEW YORK CITY

Ingratitude of humanity to the actor is deplorable. The audience that enjoys the work of a great actor, and then, when the best of him is gone, casts him aside for the next favorite that appears, is made up of the same people that visit an aviation meeting, filled with the subconscious hope that they will see a man killed; and these people are probably reincarnations of the Romans, who turned their thumbs down in answer to the appeals of helpless gladiators. A man who adopts the stage as a profession gives up, as a rule, much greater opportunities. Theatrical salaries sound fabulous to laymen, but in reality they are not. Consider any ordinary instance of a "leading man" with a standard show: in contract figures, he is remunerated exorbitantly; but what of his expenses and the outlays of his trade? He pays extravagant, yet necessary, bills for living, hotels, sleepers, dining cars tips—all that goes with traveling in decent style requires a large amount. He must wear good clothing; it is demanded of him. A man who has chosen the law or medicine as a profession would soon be independently wealthy on the same financial returns. The man who has located in one place lives on a much smaller outlay of cash than the man who must follow the interminable road. The man who builds his home in a city and remains there gains the respect and confidence of his fellow men, while the wanderer, no matter how much his art may be admired and praised, is an outcast to a great extent. His credit is doubtful, if not impossible. Of applause he may have a surfeit; praise rings in his ears and flattery is as free as the air to him; but the moment that age approaches the day that ill health impairs his ability to amuse the mob, he is passed by coldly and the next day he is forgotten. The actor, speaking broadly, possesses just as many faults as any other man and no more. When the light of fame has indeed, many a successful child of public approval has wasted the fruits of his talent, and he must retire to a twilight of oblivion to contemplate the days that were more brilliant. Because an actor is pampered and flattered by people of wealth in the height of his fame is no reason for him to attempt to live up to their level of waste, for when his short space of popularity is passed those who were so bountiful in their words of tribute will become misers with their gold.

We are dealing with frugality, economy and protection, and the greatest protection that the Actors' Equity Association can give to the men and women of the stage will be the "Equity Shop." We believe that the theatrical profession, as a whole, has awakened to a realization that with true organization will come the survival of real talent and ability. We believe that the "Equity Shop" will bring the theater back to what it was, and that a great deal of the commercialism that exists in it today will be brushed aside. We are hopeful that when the referendum vote is put to our people they will respond and vote intelligently. Therefore it is necessary and most essential that we have your correct address. Do not neglect to send at once to the Actors' Equity Association, 115 West 47th Street, New York City, your present permanent address, no matter how sure you may be that we have it. This is a request from the Council. A post card will do; for if you permit this question to be decided without your vote you are not loyal to your organization.

Deputies—Get busy! You have the right to ask every member of your company to see their ballot card. Check up your delinquents, and send in their names to headquarters, point out to them the importance of their being paid up in the organization that has done and is doing, and will do, so much for them, and when the ballots reach you vote wisely and well. Vote for the protection of yourself, your fellow-players and vote so that those who come after you in the days ahead will thank God that such men and women lived and banded themselves together in the great cause of Equity, and brought about a condition that brought back all the oldtime glory and honor of the theatrical profession.

The association has appointed an official physician. Dr. Louis Stern is the man—a physician who served our members well during the struggle of a year ago, a physician who is 100 per cent Equity, and who will treat our members with all that goes with that spirit. To those

THE EQUITY SHOP

J. Marcus Keyes, of the Chicago Branch of Equity, Discusses Progress

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The Equity Shop is a subject of growing interest to Chicago actors at the present time. J. Marcus Keyes, of the Chicago office of Equity, discussed the subject with The Billboard today.

"The expressions from Chicago actors are virtually unanimous in favor of the Equity Shop," said Mr. Keyes. "The idea took from the start, so far as that is concerned, but it has been cemented in a wonderful whole of late."

When Frank Gillmore, executive secretary, was in Chicago recently a Billboard representative was struck by the spontaneous response that followed in a meeting where Mr. Gillmore spoke on parasites. The speaker paid his respects to that element of actors who "accepted everything and gave nothing to the organization." He looked forward, he said, to the time when the barnacles that live off of the Equity structure will be removed. It was during a talk on the Equity Shop that this subject came up.

"Ninety per cent of the managers accepted the Equity Shop idea four months ago when it was first brought up," said Mr. Keyes. "Now they are practically all for it. They have reasons for this attitude. They feel that they are already getting good service out of Equity and that the service will improve with practice and usage, not to mention the nurturing of pleasant relations. They feel that they already are getting increased efficiency."

Mr. Keyes discussed some potent features of the proposed Equity shop. "With Equity shop in action," he said, "no member of the Equity will even rehearse with any person not a member of the organization. There will be no chance for parasites to fatten on somebody else's work."

According to Mr. Keyes plans are now being matured by Equity headquarters in New York for a referendum on the Equity Shop. The matter will soon be put before the Equity members.

LUNT LEARNS TO TOOT

Denver, Col., Sept. 24.—Until he read the manuscript of Booth Tarkington's "Clarence," in which he is again essaying the leading role this season, Alfred Lunt was no musician, had not even an intention of being a musician. But the manuscript changed all that. He was to be Clarence on the stage, and Clarence played the piano, and what was more awesome, the saxophone. Mr. Tarkington was insistent that the playing should not be "faked." To anyone who has seen the comedy, the reason for this is manifest. The saxophone incident closes the second act, and unless the portrayer of the title role is master of the instrument the scene can not be played.

Mr. Lunt, who knew absolutely nothing about music, was in Denver on tour with "The Country Cousin" when the manuscript on "Clarence" reached him. He decided forthwith to begin with the saxophone, letting the piano go until the following summer. He purchased an instrument and engaged an elderly teacher, who instructed him for two hours daily during his stay in Colorado's capital. For the next two months he was, he says, "just one darned search for a saxophone teacher after another."

The company played one-night stands and saxophone experts were few and far between, but by untiring patience and untiring energy the actor was ready by the final week of the season to toot with sureness.

251 Lexington Ave., New York City

Our cherished plan of taking the disabled soldiers on an outing to Luna Park has been abandoned owing to other important matters occupying the attention of the managers of the ocean resort. The plan likewise was impracticable on account of the variable weather, which is always colder at the shore. But instead we have another plan which will tend to bring gladness and good cheer to the boys at the Service House. In our next issue we will discuss this proposition more at length. Many of our reliable standbys have not failed us this week, and we quote a few interesting letters from our generous contributors to the coupon.

Dear Friends—Enclosed please find my bit (25 cents) towards your wonderful work. More will follow from time to time. Best of luck. Yours, Francis X.

Another cheery line from dear Flo Rockwood who has been playing over in England. Her letter is dated Wakefield, Eng., under date of August 25: "Dear Friends—Just another letter from the quaint, historical town of Wakefield, and also a good old Yankee dollar, to give a good Yankee boy ten smiles. In looking over the visitors' book at the Cathedral I came across the names of two American boys from Pittsburg, so thought I would drop my wounded boys a dollar bill. I go over to France next week, and then back home again. Good wishes ever, Flo Rockwood."

Leona Taylor, Venice, Cal., sends her regular remittance. Edna C. Burnett, N. Y., 10 cents. Fred Martin, from Atlanta, Ga., remits one crisp dollar bill. Francis Salrini, Corning, N. Y., sends one dollar.

A brief note explains another greenback which made its appearance on the coupon: "A donation was brought into the office last Friday by a gentleman who is not a professional, but he reads The Billboard regularly, and is greatly interested in the good work being done for the soldiers."

From E. B. Barney, of Newark, N. J., comes a quarter; from C. T. Glazier, regular remittance. D. Arden sends one dollar for ten smiles. From Staunton, Va., J. Henry Forbes writes: Enclosed you will find one dollar for your organization's splendid cause."

And today the mail brings ten coupons in one envelope, listed as follows: From Ida Cheever Goodwin, 159 West 84th street, New York City; Ellen Goodwin, K. Louise Goodwin, H. Nevina Goodwin, Dorothy Goodwin, Aunt Jessie, Aunt George, Aunt Mary. From Chicago: Little Billie Grant and Rita Goodwin Grant.

Isn't that a splendid record for the Goodwin family? If more people would remember our boys there would be fewer heartaches among those who now face the realities of their heroic sacrifices. We can only relieve their burden a bit by giving them a little good cheer, and the money from the coupon supplies many little pleasures they otherwise would be without. So, dear friends of the show world, don't neglect the duty you owe to our men who fought for us all.

BARNEY BERNARD Made Deputy Sheriff at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, Sept. 22.—Barney Bernard, who claims to have acted "Abe Potash" so many times that he is more the character than himself, is now a "sure-enough" local deputy sheriff. To prove his statement he showed the necessary appointment and the credential badge to a visitor in his dressing room the other evening, when playing at the Apollo Theater here.

Sheriff Perkins personally administered the oath to Mr. Bernard, who is a frequent visitor to the resort and whose acquaintance with the Sheriff bids fair to continue well into the future. Just what circumstances caused the famous character actor to become possessed of the county commission did not develop, but Mr. Bernard indicated that in some way or manner there was a relationship to the presence of "Abe Potash" in the role of Mayor in his newest play.

DRAMATIC NOTES

The Provincetown Players will reopen for the season November 1.

Langdon McCormick has completed the manuscript for "The Night Watch."

Richard Taber's work in "Blue Bonnet" has elicited much favorable comment.

"Sun Valley," starring Arthur Donaldson, will open in Worcester, Mass., November 15.

Tim Murphy has been engaged by John Golden for an important role in "The First Year."

Lula Alberni has been engaged for an important role in "The Outrageous Mrs. Palmer."

John Golden has engaged Roberta Arnold for a role in Frank Craven's new play, "The First Year."

Langdon McCormick, author of "The Storm," will soon place in rehearsal his newest effort, "The Night Watch."

Rehearsals of "The Shortcut," which Michael Goldfryer is producing, have started under the stage direction of Harry McRae Webster.

George Sydney will from now on be a featured player of the cast of "Welcome, Stranger" at the Cohan & Harris Theater, New York.

The Selwyns have started rehearsals of George V. Hobart's new play, "Sonny," with Emma Dunn and Lillian Lorraine heading the cast.

"The Meanest Man in the World," a George M. Cohan production, opens at the Hudson Theater, New York, Monday night, October 11.

Next Monday, September 27, "The Merchants of Venus" will have its New York opening in the Punch and Judy Theater after an out-of-town tryout.

George Arliss' fame will suffer not the slightest diminution from the fate of "Poldekín." His study and rendition of the name part were both masterly.

Charlotte Walker never has appeared to poorer advantage than in "Call the Doctor." The role is one that no actress on earth could impart the slightest verity.

Max Marcini will present "Three Live Ghosts," a comedy by Frederick Isham, at the Greenwich Village Theater, New York, starting Wednesday night, September 29.

The Selwyns announce that Florence Reed will open their new Times Square Theater, New York, Thursday night, September 30, in Edgar Selwyn's new play, "The Mirage."

Mare Klaw, who returned recently from abroad, says that the European dramatic world is looking hopefully to America for new plays. He says the English theatergoer wants fun and frivolity at present, but predicts a return to more serious form of entertainment.

Rachael Barton Butler has completed the cast for "The Lap Dog," which is scheduled for an early opening. She is author of "Mom," in which Minnie Dupree will have a leading part.

Adelina Thompson will be seen in the cast when the New York Theater Guild opens its season at the Garrick Theater, "The Treasure," by David Pinski, will be the first production of the Guild season, starting October 4.

The Shuberts have started rehearsals of "The Outrageous Mrs. Palmer," a comedy by Harry Wagstaff Cribble, which will be presented at the Shubert Crescent Theater, Brooklyn, October 4.

Robert Whittier's "An Enemy of the People" is concluding its engagement at the Manhattan Opera House, New York, and will open at the Lexington Theater Monday night, September 27, for a two weeks' engagement.

Herbert Lomas, English actor, has arrived from London and starts rehearsing in "The Skin Game." He appeared as "Lincoln" in the Drinkwater play by that name in London.

The title of Louis Mann's new starring vehicle will be "The Unwritten Chapter." The play is a comedy-drama in three acts, was written by Samuel Shipman and Victor Victor, and will open at the Astor Theater, New York, October 11.

Con Little, the manager, will have charge of Madge Kennedy and her company in "Cornered," in which she will return to the stage this season under the management of Henry W. Savage. "Cornered" will open in Bridgeport on October 4.

Oliver Morosco will start for another trip to the Coast soon to produce a number of new plays at the Morosco houses. "The Rainbow Ridge," by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard; "Shippy McGee" and "The Rose of the Ghetto" are some of the productions.

Ben Hanley, of New Orleans, has in rehearsal several Shakespearean scenes, which will be presented some time in the early fall, participated in by New Orleans exclusive society, augmented by the cleverest amateur talent in the city.

At His Majesty's Theater, Montreal, next Monday, September 27, Lee Shubert will present William Faversham in a modern version of Mark Twain's famous story, "The Prince and the Pauper." The New York engagement will follow later.

The business given "Poldekín" (pronounced Pol-dee-kin—accent on first syllable) at the Park was poor from the beginning and got steadily worse. That accorded "Call the Doctor" at the Empire held up remarkably despite the reviews, due doubtless to the following of both Belasco and the famous Frohman house.

The complete cast of "Cornered," in which Madge Kennedy will be starred, is as follows: Madge Kennedy, Amelia Gardner, Ann Fetherland, Natalie Manning, Billie Huntington, Theresa Quadri, Doris Chisholm, Marcia Abbe, Leslie Austen, Charles Brown, Morgan Coman, Tom Walsh, Robert Forsythe, George Tuller, Jerry Hart, Tom Morgan, Frank Patten.

THE AMERICAN CONCERT FIELD and American Endeavor in Grand Opera, Symphony and Chamber Music and Classic Dancing

BY IZETTA MAY MCHENRY

VICTORY IS WON BY CIVIC MUSIC SOCIETY

Which Will Result in Opportunity for Players of High School Orchestra To Become Members of Chicago Orchestra

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Several days ago the Civic Music Association filed with the Board of Education a request that high school auditoriums be thrown open for concerts by the Civic Students Orchestra, the body of student musicians organized last season under the direction of Frederick Stock, director of Chicago's Symphony Orchestra. This request was made as the result of a decision reached by Mr. Stock and his assistant, Mr. Eric DeLamarier, to use the various high school orchestras as a source from which to obtain material for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

The Billboard was informed by Peter A. Mortensen, superintendent of public schools, today that the request of the Civic Music Association that student concerts held under its auspices be conducted in high school auditoriums was passed on favorably by the Board of Education, pursuant to Mr. Mortensen's recommendation to that effect.

Mr. Mortensen told The Billboard that there is one qualifying clause. The concerts must be held in connection with the community centers. Otherwise, he said, the board could not have legally granted permission to any organization to use the school auditoriums where pay is charged for admission. A nominal sum, Mr. Mortensen said, will be charged for lights and janitor service following each concert. Otherwise, the Civic Music Association will receive all returns from each entertainment.

The movement, should it be successful, will do much to encourage musical culture in the city of Chicago and will be a great thing for the students, the public and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Stock hopes from these concerts to find students who are worthy of a position with his orchestra. Appointment, however, will not be easily won and the students will have to prove their merit.

Then these concerts the Chicago public will be given more and better music, and students will have a further incentive to their musical education, and the Civic Music Association should be given great credit for the good work accomplished thru its efforts. Chicago, due to the enterprise of this organization, is the only city in this country in which a student body

FIVE SUBSCRIPTION CONCERTS

To Be Given in Philadelphia

Eugene Ysaÿe, violinist, and Alfred Mirovitch, pianist, will be heard September 30; the Duncan Dancers, with Beryl Rubinstein, pianist, will be on the program November 4. Jan Kubelik has been engaged for the concert November 11, and Tetrazzini for December 9. The last concert of the series will be given on February 3, with Titta Ruffo and his artists as soloists.

DENVER'S MUSICAL SEASON TO BE A BRILLIANT ONE

Denver, Sept. 25.—During the coming season residents of this city will have an opportunity to hear some of the most attractive stars in the musical world. On October 4 the first concert of the season will be given. This will be a recital by Margaret Matzenauer, at the Auditorium. Caruso will be heard here on the night of October, and the Scotti Grand Opera Company will make its appearance later in the month. The Chicago Grand Opera is scheduled for a week's engagement in April, and it is hoped, although not definitely decided, that the New York Symphony Orchestra will be another interesting musical attraction during the coming season.

is being trained in orchestra playing with the purpose of drawing on it for players for the city's symphony orchestra and thus in time making it possible to have American players for orchestral work. May the movement spread to other cities and that very soon, too.

Milwaukee October 18, and will last until October 30. Springfield, Sioux City, Sioux Falls, Des Moines and St. Paul will be visited. Artists for the preliminary tour will include Frieda Hempel, Rosa Raisa, Marcella Craft, Titta Ruffo, Giacomo Rimini, Forrest Lamont and Mr. Bonel.

The chorus began rehearsing last Monday. Mr. Johnson said the ballet, under the direction of Messrs. Pavley and Onkrinsky, will be a more notable feature of the opera season than ever before. The ballet, including a number of the solo dancers, started last Sunday for a six weeks' tour of the leading cities.

CLEVELAND TO HAVE EIGHT CHAMBER MUSIC CONCERTS

Cleveland, Sept. 25.—Thru the enterprise of the Chamber Music Society there will be given in Cleveland a series of eight concerts. The first concert will afford an opportunity to hear the London String Quartet on October 12. The

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

In the Cause of Music Thru Establishment of Circulating Music Library

New York City, Sept. 25.—To the many music students of the metropolis who have found it impossible to obtain many compositions there has come the good news of the establishment of a circulating music library at the 58th street branch of the New York Public Library. It has been possible for quite some time to get music at the library, but the compositions on the shelves did not include the works of any of the modern composers, but thru the interest of a generous-hearted music lover of New York City a gift of money has been made to the library for the special purpose of purchasing new modern compositions which are to be loaned on the same plan as that thru which books are obtainable.

Under the rules of the Circulating Music Library anyone can take out music, six volumes at a time, and keep it for two weeks, with privilege of a one-week renewal. This rule applies to all music except opera scores and librettos, which during the opera season are lent for one week only.

Thru this new contribution Albert Newton was commissioned to purchase modern compositions while in Europe and there has already been received copies of music from London, Paris and Madrid. So now are some of the works that they are not as yet on sale in the music stores.

This gift to the library will make it possible for musicians of all classes to obtain the new compositions free of expense and is another step forward in bringing about better conditions for music students, and we hope that public-spirited citizens in other cities will make it possible for their libraries to institute the same work in their cities as is being done in New York.

ANNUAL COMMUNITY SING

At Cincinnati Draws Huge Audience

In the huge open-air amphitheater at Eden Park, Cincinnati, O., there was held the afternoon of Sunday, September 19, the second annual Music Festival and Community Sing. A conservative estimate of the audience places the number in attendance at 30,000 and the concert was the climax of the summer musical and community singing programs which have been given in the various city parks.

The Summer Symphony Orchestra was under the direction of Modeste Alkon, conductor. Two arias were sung by Dan Beddoe, well-known tenor singer, who was given a most enthusiastic reception. The community singing was under the direction of Will R. Reeves, of the Community Service, who has developed probably the largest chorus ever heard in Cincinnati. Persons came from cities and towns for many miles out of Cincinnati.

ANOTHER

Kansas City Concert Canceled Because of Five Per Cent Tax

Kansas City, Sept. 25.—As a result of the ordinance requiring all concert artists to pay a tax of 5 per cent of the gross receipts, a letter has been received by Walter Fritschy, of the Fritschy Concert Company, in which Mr. Adams, in charge of the concert tour of Alma Gluck, cancels the joint recital to have been given by Alma Gluck and Etrom Zimbalist. Mr. Adams at the same time advised that under no consideration would he book for Kansas City any of the artists employed by his agency while this ordinance was in effect. The Gluck-Zimbalist Concert was to have been given February 10.

STARS LINED UP

Chicago Opera Company Entourage All Accounted For

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Herbert M. Johnson, general manager of the Chicago Opera Company, has had time to lean back and express himself since his return from Europe as to the coming operatic season. His information regarding the divas, tenors and other essential factors in opera was something like this:

Mme. Galli-Curci is a ready in this country; Rosa Raisa is on the way, and Mary Garden will sail from the other side October 15, and will fill a series of thirty concerts before her engagement with the Chicago Opera Company, which commences New Year's Eve.

Lucien Muratore won't get to Chicago till January, but Alessandro Bonel, Edward Johnson, Schipa and Joseph Hyslop will keep the hero roles going until Muratore gets here. The preliminary tour of the company starts in second of the series will be given by the New York Chamber Music Society, consisting of eleven musicians, of which Carolyn Beebe is the pianist and director. For the other concerts the Cleveland Quartet, under the direction of Mr. Sokoloff, will be heard three times, and a concert will be given by Eva Gantner, mezzo soprano, who will present what is termed a "Vocal Chamber Music Program," and an engagement has been made with the Elshuco Trio and the Fionzaley Quartet.

WHEN JENNY LIND FIRST SANG IN AMERICA

Famous "Swedish Nightingale" Made American Debut in Castle Garden Hall September 11, 1850

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Jenny Lind, the famous singer, will be celebrated in New York City on October 6. Seventy years ago Jenny Lind made her famous tour of this country under the management of P. T. Barnum. At that time he was starting his career as a showman. He created a big sensation when he signed Jenny Lind, then the greatest singer in the world, and brought her here to sing. When the Steamship Atlantic docked on Sunday morning, September 1, 1850, thousands were on hand and gave the famous singer a royal welcome. She was driven to the Irving House in Barnum's private carriage. It seemed as if all New York turned out to welcome her.

Her first concert was given in Castle Garden, then the largest hall in New York, on Wednesday evening, September 11. The receipts were $17,664. Miss Lind gave $10,000 out of her share of the first two concerts in New York to charity. Castle Garden was crowded to the doors. The reception given to Jenny Lind was wonderful. The entire audience rose to its feet and cheered as Julius Benedict, her conductor, led her on the stage. There were sixty in the orchestra. Theodore Thomas (famous orchestra leader in later years), then 15 years old, played first violin. Jenny Lind became the rage, the stores selling Jenny Lind hats, gloves, soap, perfumery, shawls, pianos and chairs.

Barnum gave the singer great publicity in the press, and the thirty-five concerts given in New York drew $286,216. A tour of the leading cities where sixty concerts were given, drew $425,000 more. Two concerts in Boston drew over $16,000 each, one $11,000, two $10,000 each; Richmond, New Orleans and Cincinnati, $12,000 each for one concert. Miss Lind was to receive $1,000 in gold for each concert and a percentage over a certain sum. For ninety-five concerts she received $176,675.00. Barnum's share, after paying Miss Lind, was $255,486.25.

Her last concert under the management of Mr. Barnum took place in Philadelphia. She then gave a few concerts independently, but without success.

MOLLENHAUER TO DIRECT

First Concert Given by New People's Symphony Orchestra

Boston, Sept. 25.—Plans have been completed for the new People's Symphony Orchestra of Boston, and, with Emil Mollenhauer as conductor, will make its bow to the public on Sunday afternoon, October 31, at Convention Hall, Boston.

The new orchestra has been organized of sixty players taken from the members of the Boston Federation of Musicians. The committee in charge told The Billboard reporter that it wanted it distinctly understood that this new orchestra is in no way to compete with the present Boston Symphony Orchestra. The People's Symphony is to cater more to the great "student" class of concert patrons and music lovers in general. These concerts will be given more for their educational value than anything else, with prices within the reach of all, around 50 cents top.

The committee feels that these popular-priced concerts, given by an orchestra of some of the best musicians in Boston, will make a decided hit with the thousands of students and music lovers who find it hard to pay the higher prices asked in former years to attend the symphony concerts. It is not expected that these concerts will make money at the start, and the committee does not look for any profits, but should there be any profits every cent would be turned over to a fund which is to be used solely for the building up of this new organization, that Boston may have a high-class symphony orchestra giving concerts at popular prices.

Among the players who have signed up for this new orchestra are some of the finest musicians known in the music world. These are to give their services for practically nothing, that the new orchestra may turn out to be a huge success. Convention Hall will be used for the concerts at present, but just as soon as the patronage warrants it larger quarters will be secured. The committee has received encouraging letters from a great many of the music lovers of Boston, one especially from Mayor Peters, who intends to do all he can to support this new organization. The new orchestra will have different men as leaders for the first several concerts, but the first concert will be under the direction of Emil Mollenhauer, and other directors will be selected later on.

Under the direction of Hugo Kirchoffer, the Hollywood Community Orchestra gave its first concert recently. The orchestra is composed of forty-five musicians and played in conjunction with the Hollywood Community Chorus, of Hollywood, California.

John McCormack is an American citizen, and Americans, in considering the deal handed him in Australia, should not lose sight of the fact for a minute. Let us await the facts—all of them—then analyze and weigh them carefully and do the right thing.

The Toledo Symphony Orchestra of Toledo, O., will give its first concert of the season on Tuesday, October 19, and the present plans indicate a most notable musical year. Concerts will be given October 19, November 30, January 18, March 1, April 5 and perhaps May 10.

BURLESQUE

CIRCUIT AND STOCK SHOWS

Conducted By ALFRED NELSON

AMERICAN BURLESQUE CIRCUIT

Olympic Theater, New York City, Week of September 20, 1920

"TITTLE TATTLES OF 1920"—With Frank X. Silk, the Original Atta Boy Horace. Entire production written and produced by Frank X. Silk. Costumes designed by Myrtle Cherry Kenney. Presented by Deady & Kenney.

CAST—Ida Emerson, Betty Palmer, Irene Boye, Billy Wallace, Harry Hill, Geo. Carroll, Frank X. Silk.

CHORUS—Mary Yost, Kitty Nolan, Pearl Woodside, Ann Alexander, Nan Armors, Etta Collins, Lenore Allen, Kitty Caroin, Cherry Miller, Crissie Blair, Miss Hodell, Mary Brown, Rita Arnold, Mucky Goodman, Lillian Penner, Kitty Levon.

REVIEW

Into the garden of Mrs. Van Astor's summer home came an ensemble of personally attractive females, who sang, danced and frolicked while being led by Irene Boye, a titian-haired ingenue; Betty Palmer, a titian-haired soubret, and Ida Emerson, the voluptuous leading lady, in individual songs. The first two sacrificed lines for speed; nevertheless they made a most favorable impression, and Ida has been more than holding her own since the time we first enjoyed her activities at John Hart's Kensington Theater, Philadelphia, back in the '90s.

Billy Wallace, a blackfaced, red-uniformed bellhop, put over a catchy song, dance and monolog. Harry Hill, as a genteel straight, came on, accompanied by Myrtle Cherry Kenney, an auburn-haired, fair-faced prima donna, who carried off the vocalistic honors of the entire company.

Frank X. Silk and George Carroll, the tramp comics, made their entry by appearing from a stage set well, vocalizing on "Somewhere in France," until Straight Hill conspired to make them millionaires. Soubret Betty, lonely for a good time, copped the comics for a table session and rang in her feminine pals for "Banana splits," with the usual balling out of the minus money comics. Prima Kenney introduced a novel feature with her introduction of movie characters and characterizations for the ultimate appearance of blackfaced Wallace, as Theda Bara.

Straight Hill, as an army official census taker of Comic Silk and his narrative on his six children in three years got an uproar of laughter and applause.

Hill and Silk, in a sing-song dialog and singing different songs at one and the same time to the 50-50 applause, went over well. Leading Lady Ida made a decided hit singing "Marion," supplemented by a neat dance that demonstrated exceptional gracefulness. Blackface Wallace, introducing Straight Hill and Comic Silk and Carroll as different brands of booze, made good.

Leading Lady Ida, in a table session copping a bottle of wine for her sick husband, and the comics flim-flaming Straight Hill for a ten-dollar note, all made for clean comedy. Soubret Betty was classy as a Scotch lassie in a Scotch song finale, with the choristers and comics in kilts.

Part two was an exceptional express office, with Ingenue Irene as a military maid, leading her feminine soldierets, costumed in military jackets and black tights, in a Dixie melody, all of which made an admirable stage picture.

Straight Hill, as manager of the express office, with the comics as assistants, presented a laughable method of handling fragile packages.

Wallace's manipulation of an ear horn made for much comedy, laughter and applause, and the same goes for Straight Hill and Leading Lady Ida in a new version of the quarrel bit, until typical tough guy Wallace pulls the pathos and sends them off to kiss and make up. Verily, Wallace is a versatile actor. Straight Hill, as a uniformed cop with a booze-holding night stick, and the comics, as booth seekers, were all to the good. As a singing quartet the male principals vocalized harmoniously.

COMMENT

The scenery was excellent in quality and quantity. The gowning of Prima Kenney and Leading Lady Ida was costly and attractive, while the costumes of Babe Palmer were changed for each number, and Babe made many changes. Ingenue Irene, gowned and costumed, demonstrated her attractiveness in both.

The company sufficiently talented to put over a clean, clever comedy presentation that pleased the critical Olympics.

The chorus was remarkable for its very apparent youth, fair faces, slender, symmetrical forms and conscientious work, which was well done in lines and actions.

A pleasing presentation and far superior to Deady & Kenney's show of last season.—NELSE.

NOTICE!—We have received so many requests from the leading music publishing houses for an authentic roster of songs being used in burlesque that we have given the musical program a special place under Metropolitan Mirth, Melody, Music on the Melody Mart page.

As we desire to have the rosters complete and correct we will make a special effort to have the company managers verify the programs on the day of our review.—NELSE.

BOWERY THEATER, NEW YORK

Shea's Burlesque Stock Company

BOWERY FROLICKERS in "The Love Tangle" by permission of Ben Welch.

THE CAST—Frank P. Murphy, Tom Gillen, Billy Browning, Harry Jackson, Miss De Land, Bessie Deno, Babe Quinn, Miss Le Brun.

CHORUS—Betty Corbett, Jeanette Warner, Marie Nelsey, Rose Gordon, Luella Malone, Jean Diamond, Verna Teague, Elsie Welner, Gladys Scott, Marcelle Murphy, Babe Evans, Jo. Morley, Doris Gilbert, Irene Sivor, Mary Croucher, Alma Dunbar.

REVIEW

The much-heralded reopening of Miner's Bowery Theater with burlesque came true, when the Shea Theater Company made its premiere opening with a company of some well known and others not so well known to burlesquera and patrons of burlesque.

To see the theater with its electric signs advertising thirty girls in "Girlesque" was a welcome sight to those who have seen the passing of The Bowery in darkness, and its re-establishment by P. F. Shea as a rendezvous of pleasure-seeking playgoers should be encouraged by patronage of sufficiency to make it

COLUMBIA BURLESQUE CIRCUIT

Attraction at Casino Theater, Brooklyn, N. Y., Week of September 20, 1920

"ROSE SYDELL'S LONDON BELLES"—With Joe Marks, in "Pleasure Before Business." Book by James Madison. Dancing Ensembles by Thomas Grady. Entire production staged under the personal supervision of Wm. S. Campbell. Lyrics by Joe Marks. Music by Phil R. Phillips. Presented by Wm. S. Campbell.

CAST—Mildred Campbell, Bill Beattie, James Horton, Luigi Blearo, Paul Royal, Theda Bernard, George Charland, Dolly Davis, Rose Syddell, Jr.; Mae Leonard, Benny Howard and Joe Marks.

REVIEW

The opening scene was out of the ordinary, for it was a very ordinary stage setting, in one of a court in session for the trial of burlesque, represented by a petite, vivacious damsel, programmed as Dolly Davis, which in itself predisposed the jury, otherwise the audience, to accept burlesque as something exceptionally attractive and acquit it of any and everything objectionable, and burlesque in general owes something to this young lady, who, by her personal attractiveness and clean work, makes for burlesque patronage.

With burlesque vindicated in a common court room, the uprising/drop disclosed to view something moer elaborate in the way of stage settings, with the interior of a Fifth avenue lingerie shop, with Mildred Campbell as the proprietress, who looked and acted the part of one closely associated with New York City's ultra-fashionables, for Miss Mildred is a blond of personality, with a high concert voice as a valuable asset to the presentation.

Into the lingerie scene came Theda Bernard, a cabaret singer, whose personality and mannerism assure her a lucrative engagement in any cabaret, for Theda has a way all her own that calls for masculine admiration.

Rose Syddell, Jr., a niece of the owner, Rose Syddell, in personal appearance will probably develop into the same voluptuousness as her popular aunt, but for the present Rose, Jr., is one of those cute kewpies that men like to look upon, and this youngster will make more than one look and listen ere the end of the season. Mae Leonard is another of the feminine principals who come in for masculine admiration.

With the females once in the shop it was only natural that the masculines should appear, and they did, for Jim Horton, an acceptable straight, came on and handled the lines for the appearance of the comics. Joe Marks the featured one, whom Producing Manager Bill Campbell paid Oppenheim & Leavitt $3,000 to release from contract, so that he could make comedy for Campbell, is a diminutive Hebrew comic of exceptional versatility, who can do anything that any other comic in burlesque can do, and then some. And, he does dirt with lines of suggestiveness at times, he stops short of making them objectionable, and his work

PRESIDENT HERK

Appoints Confidential Critics To Review and Report on Each and Every Attraction on the American Circuit

New York, Sept. 23.—When we visited the offices of the American Burlesque Association at noon today President Herk was in the executive chair, and, in reply to our query if there was anything new in burlesque, he handed us a copy of a letter being mailed to six house managers on the American Circuit. The letter reads as follows:

"Dear Sir—You have been selected as one of six from whom the circuit will expect a full and complete report of each and every attraction as it plays your theater.

"You will ignore the present report since you are filling out and send in a letter, giving us a much more complete and detailed report. I will expect this criticism to be one without fear or favor, and one that will express, as best you know how, your honest and unbiased thought as regards the show you are criticizing.

"In this report you will advise me the number of male and female principals, giving me the name of each, the parts they are playing and your personal opinion of their ability. You will advise me the number of chorus girls appearing in each and every performance. You will advise me the number of scenes in the show, advising me your thought about each and every one of them.

"You will advise me the number of costumes used in the show, how many, in your opinion, being old and how many new, and how many, if old, you consider good. You will advise me, in addition to the number of chorus girls, whether, in your estimation, the chorus is uniform in size or whether said chorus contains any of what we commonly call 'freaks'.

"You will advise me each and every line that you had to cut out of these shows on their opening performance, also if any line was substituted in place of the one cut out after the opening performance.

"Now I wish to advise you that this office, in selecting you as one of the six critics on the circuit, is placing implicit confidence in your honesty and crediting you with more than the average ability. I trust that in your criticisms you will bear this in mind, so that no criticism of yours, either because of fear or favor, shall cause us to change our minds either as regards your honesty or ability. The identities of the six selected for this critical committee are to remain secret. Kindly see that you observe this condition. The names of the six will be unknown to all except myself.

"The faithful performance of the above is demanded and will be appreciated by me personally.—I. H. HERK."

COMMENT

There is an old adage that "There are none so blind as those who will not see," and this is applicable to the managers, both house and road, who have accepted letters of warning in the past with a smile of self-possessed wisdom and continued along the same old lines on the theory that the warnings were only intended to fortify the positions of the executives of the A. B. A. and afford them an alibi in case of a comeback. But the handwriting is on the wall, and it behooves everyone interested in attractions playing the American Circuit to sit up and take notice, for it is very evident that President I. H. Herk and General Manager George W. Gallagher, by their numerous trips over the circuit, are out to make a killing of undesirable burlesque, be it the sins of omission or commission. The fact that the six critics recently appointed by President Herk are unknown to anyone but himself, and that anyone of the thirty-seven house managers may be a duly authorized critic keeping tab on each and every attraction playing the house should provide food for thought.

House managers are only human and predisposed to be lenient with those they like, but the fact remains that those who have been honored with the appointment have qualified in the past by practical demonstrations of integrity and ability, and it is only logical to assume that they will not betray the confidence reposed in them by the executive in a position to protect and advance their future welfare, and we herein take it for granted that the days of "cheating" on the American Circuit is a thing of the past, and well it should be, for it's an injustice to the producing manager who spares neither time, labor nor expense, in equipping his attraction with every essential to make his investment a dividend-paying proposition to follow a cheater who sends an audience out disgusted with burlesque as a popular form of theatricals.

More power to President I. H. Herk and his associates.—NELSE.

THEATRICAL MUTUAL ASSOCIATION

The customary frolic, ere the San Francisco Lodge members went into winter quarters for the hard season's grind at the theaters, took place September 16 at one of the nearby Coast pleasure resorts. Obviously the name of the resort was omitted by the writer, Brother Marks, as it is the intention of Native Sons to occasionally frequent this palace of pleasure and mirth during the wintry season. The T. M. A. band composed entirely of members of No. 21, T. M. A., kept the ladies and their escorts continually on their feet, except when the dainty refreshments were served, and, oh, boy, how they did refresh themselves. The main features of society were omitted during the day and evening, speeches and scandal, which shows that San Francisco is leading the way for a better world to live in. Of course, Max Fogel was seen with two chickens strutting about, and, good naturedly, Eddie Connoley wanted to relieve him of his apparent burden, but the icy stare directed to our ardent young knight soon wilted his hopes. The wives of members who were obliged to remain at their post at the two-day houses chaperoned Eddy for the rest of the affair and cautioned him to always bring his own lady. At midnight all members and their families and friends were invited, the merrymaking lasting until the small hours of the morning. The frolicsome coast brethren will announce their next frolic in these columns for the benefit of the traveling T. M. A., who are at all times welcome to participate.

Seen in Cincinnati: Bro. George F. Fish, of Philadelphia Lodge, en route to Kansas City, stopped over to see his many acquaintances; former manager of the Olympic, Robinson and Empress theaters of this city. Bro. Sam Frankenstein, of Chicago Lodge, flying top from the Windy City to cover engagement here with one of the local traveling troupes using his electrical equipments. Arthur DeArmond, of Knoxville Lodge, in consultation with engineers here regarding the building of a large plant in Tennessee. All three of the brethren are big men in the T. M. A. ranks, their visit here being unexpected and brief. Each displays the signs of prosperity, health, contentment and full of business.

James J. Quigley has annexed to his household a fireless cooker of the class A, stating it is the real article for newly married couples. All you have to do is to place the food in it you want to eat and return in a few hours and it is ready to serve. Bachelors, take notice and annex one of these articles. It will produce reduction in cost of eating in restaurants, and maybe a wife.

One of our Cincinnatians named Johnny Getz, comedian with the "Cheer Up Mabel" Company, is raving about the fish caught by him while hitting the one-night stands thru the Dakotas. We take Johnny's word for it that he caught several four to five-pound pickered, but we would like to have a photo of the fish and fisherman. The company will be out for forty weeks this season, traveling thru the great West, South and working its way up the Atlantic Coast to Maine. At the finish of the season we expect Johnny to be prolific with the word "Ah-ha."

The secretaries have been deucedly stingy with their news of late. It may be that the new wage scales have affected their temperaments or that the proposed reduction of the high cost of living has taken them off of their feet, or it may be that woman's suffrage amendment needs an amendment to strike their notion—at any rate let's hear from all of you, and keep the T. M. A. fires burning during the coming winter.

COLUMBIA BURLESQUE CIRCUIT

is faster and funnier than most comica in burlesque. Never have we seen two burlesquers work better together than Bessie Howard in an eccentric Dutch characterization, and his comic, Marks. Howard is there with his own brand of comedy, and handles it exceptionally well.

There were several other masculine principals who had minor roles that were handled satisfactorily, but Messrs. Marks, Howard and Horton presented the comedy element. Comic Marks, feeding corn to the feminine chickens, offered something that made for hearty laughter. Straight Horton's X-ray detective, Comic Marks' shuffle, the I. Charles Chaplin, Rose Sydell, Jr., purchasing corsets and combinations on the "give you back in exchange give you nothing" plan to flimflammed Salesman Marks, his later ride on a galloping chair across the stage and his gunning for fish were one and all laugh-evoking comedy.

Comic Marks and Soubret Dolly, singing "You'd Be Surprised," and their enactment of the lyrics, followed by a novelty acrobatic whirlwind dance, stopped the show. Comic Howard, in a phony phone patter and a hat-swapping bit, got his share of applause. Mae Leonard, leading the girls in a disrobing number to the lyrics, "Just Applaud," got several encores until both the fair singer and the girls were down to fleshings.

A pictorial drop, in one, depicting an oil city in Texas, with Straight Horton making Comic Marks an oil magnate, with its attendants and patters and funisms, was well presented. In a cabaret scene, laid in Havana, which was colorful and pleasing, Prima Mildred, as the guest of Comics Marks and Howard, entered into the spirit of the nickel diners and their stuff, "In the Alley," until Comic Marks made good with the bank roll he found in someone else's coat. Comic Marks demonstrated that he could do a fast and funny drunk.

The Romas Troupe of acrobats, Roland Plearo, Luigi Plearo, George Wong, Bill Beattie, Paul Royal and George Charland, appeared in neat street attire and put over something out of the ordinary for an acrobatic act by introducing comedy singing, dancing and other funny stunts. Prima Mildred, singing "La Veada," was accompanied by the entire company, during which Comic Marks did a jariat twirling act like unto Cuba Crutchfield, while Comic Howard put over a "Frisco" dance as the curtain descended on part one.

Part two opened with a garden set and a lawn party, with an ensemble of dancers. Comic Marks made his appearance minus crepe face a la "Able the agent," with the statement that "You're a million miles from nowhere when you're only holding her hand." Messrs. Marks, Howard, Horton, and, we assume, Beatrice, as a quartet of noisy instrumentalists, a la ukulele, harmonized well in their offering. Comic Marks, at piano, and Comic Howard, in the rear of the piano grinding a burdy-gurdy, in a betting session with Straight Horton, worked it along the usual lines.

In front of a pictorial drop in one Straight Horton, with eight girls, singing oldtime songs in competition with Ingenue Theda and eight girls, singing jazz time songs, with each set costumed apropos, put over "Wild Irish Rose" and "Strutters' Ball," followed by "Maggie" and "Land of Jazz," with the auditors as judges, who applauded both singers and songs. Prima Mildred, in a singing specialty, made good with "Old Black Joe" and captured the entire house with "Eli Eli."

Into an Arabian palace, a most elaborate stage setting, appeared the comics seeking wives of Pasha Horton, and their manner of doing so got much laughter.

Pasha Horton, vamping Comic Marks, attired in a gorgeous evening gown, put over some clever comedy by the funny antics of Marks. Altho there was nothing on the program to denote it, there was a big flash for the close of the show by Straight Horton's dissertation on life as a merry-go-round, which was followed by a realistic miniature carousel with feminine riders.

a paying proposition, and, judging from "Girlsque," as we viewed it Monday night, Manager Shea stands a chance of getting his, for he put over a really good show that was remarkable for its clean and clever comedy, which was in the hands of Frank P. Murphy, a typical tad, who was assisted materially and in a highly satisfactory manner by Tom Gillen, an oldtime straight man and successful vaudeur, whose lines were full of originality and at all times free of suggestiveness.

Billie Browning, in a French characterization, reminded us very favorably of Jean Bedini in "Peek-a-Boo," and that is saying a lot for Browning, his makeup, mannerism, lines and actions, which were a valuable asset to the entire presentation, and in the second part he demonstrated his versatility in what reminded us of a Charles Dickens characterization, and he handled the difficult role in an admirable manner.

Harry Jackson probably intended to be a typical burlesque Hebrew comic, but he appeared entirely inexperienced in the art of makeup, mannerism and comiqueness for a character of this kind. The big flash among the feminines was Miss Le Brun, the prima donna, whom we can not recall seeing before, but whom we will see again if she remains in burlesque. Babe Quinn, formerly of B. F. Kahn's, is the soubret, and if personality and the ability to speed a show will make her one permanently Babe is going to continue soubreting, and admitting, like others, that her voice is not as strong as some coubrets in burlesque, we opine that what she lacks in voice is more than made up for in her vivaciousness and the very apparent harmonious support given her every number by the choristers. Verily, this little woman has worked hard for what she has attained, and, judging from her popularity, she will prove a paying dividend on the investment in her as a soubret.

Miss De Land and Bessie Deno were the other two feminine principals, and they looked and acted their parts well.

The show was a clean and clever presentation of burlesque, and we will journey down there again.—NELSE.

FOLLY

Of Dirty Show Exemplified

By Protests Against "G. V. Follies" in Kansas City—Actors Should Stop Growing Evil

"Discriminating playgoers, who may have been hesitating in attending the Shubert Theater this week, where the 'Greenwich Village Follies of 1920' are on display, for the reason that the Sunday night's performance was replete with coarse and suggestive lines on the part of certain comedians, now have the assurance of J. B. Glick, house manager, that nothing objectionable will mar the remaining performances this week. Reviewers who were amazed by some of the daring dialog in the first night's performance attended the show again last night in view of a promise by Mr. Glick that the blotches on the escutcheon would be removed. They found the scouring had been fairly well done. The blackface comedian still seems a little rougher than the occasion warrants, but his jokes, for the most part, are so old that the audience seems inured to even the worst ones. 'Jimmy' Watts delves more into the realm of burlesque than straight comedy, but is an artist in his line and well received. The rest of the show is a little better than the average entertainment, too. The music is lilting and harmonious, and the scenic effects and general staging above the average.—E. B. G."

The above is from The Kansas City Star of September 14.

Could one want a better example of the folly of "dirtying up" a show than this? Here is a successful road attraction which is so dirty that even the case-hardened critics are amazed. They protest. The house manager promises to have the show scrubbed up, and the critics return the next night to see that he has kept his word. Truly a delightful experience for the company and the theater.

There are several other shows playing in New York right now to which the same thing will happen when they go on tour if they are not deodorized. This is the sort of publicity that does the stage harm. Is it any wonder that many a theatergoer believes all the men on the stage are coarse and all the women frail when the ears of his women folk and himself are assailed with the phonographic utterances of an alleged comedian? (We say "alleged comedian" advisedly, for a real comedian does not have to resort to obscenity to be funny.) Many actors seem to forget that the playgoer continually associates the character an actor plays on the stage with his personal character off the boards. This isn't so bad. The shame of it is that his associates have to share his evil reputation with him. A primitive sense of decency should prevent an actor from saying things in a theater that he wouldn't say to a gathering of ladies and gentlemen elsewhere.

Actors who resort to filth keep decent people away from the theater and lower the standing of themselves and their profession in the eyes of the most important element of any community. The actor has to stand for a lot of things that he never does or says, but he will have a hard job convincing those outside of his profession that there are decent men and women in it when they hear him spouting obscenities from the stage.

There seem to be only two ways to stop the growing evils of the dirty comedian and the dirty play. The managers, judging by their past records, won't. The public and the actors can. The only question is, which will? If the actor is wise he will be the one. The self-respecting actor and actress will welcome the day when filth is driven from the stage, and the way to hasten that day is to give some forcible expression to their desire. A concerted movement of the acting profession in this direction would be welcomed by all decent playgoers and raise their estimate of the profession immeasurably. Certainly, this is better than having the public authorities step in. That they will most certainly do if the actor can not clean up the stage himself.

Doctor Johnson told David Garrick that he and his profession were mutually indebted to each other. "Your profession," said the doctor, "has made you rich; and you have made your profession respectable." The time is here right now when some actors should compel other actors to emulate Garrick to the extent of becoming respectable, even if they do not get rich. If they don't, a less friendly hand is liable to do it for them.

torium after the run of 'Aphrodite' is finished. 'Mecca', they say, is even bigger than 'Aphrodite'. Both managers and the public are learning that the Auditorium is a good place to put in a show of merit."

"Aphrodite" Certainly Set Some Paces According to the Auditorium

Chicago, Sept. 25.—"Aphrodite," the daring and more or less unclassified spectacle now current in the Auditorium, has been the one wild woman of the show world of the present—or any other—Chicago season.

"Yes," said G. R. Swayze, assistant manager of that dignified temple of art, to The Billboard, "It has been a wonderful start-off. It's been some business. Last week, the initial week, grossed better than $70,000. That knocks everything else the Auditorium has had, barring opera, into the cheap discard. Let's see," and Mr. Swayze paused reflectively. "Al Johnson didn't do better than $45,000 on his first week in 'Sinbad'. 'Ben-Hur's' phenomenal runs never approached even that. But it must be remembered that 'Ben-Hur's' top was $150. However, 'Aphrodite' is the great big child that has come to Chicago and set new standards."

Mr. Swayze is not alone a trained and able manager; he is also an optimist. He would like to see the Auditorium make a little bit of money after its season of opera is ended. He is one of the men who do a lot of figuring on operatic overhead.

"I think," he said, "that the Auditorium is showing itself to be a profitable place for big attractions. Or even for attractions not on the scale of magnitude of 'Aphrodite'. For example, 'The Rose of China' was brought from the Little La Salle Theater to the Auditorium to finish its engagement. It couldn't be called a big show, could it? Well, it showed to 2,000 to 3,000 people a night. How's that? And I understand that Comstock & Gest, the owners of 'Aphrodite', will bring 'Mecca' to the Audiset, Hal Van Rensselaer, Hallye Nestor, William Sully, Teck Murdock, Marcelle Barnes, Paul Van Dyke, Florence Kerns, Peggy Mitchell, Ona Hamilton, Virginia Roche, Ethel Callahan, Alvah Penton and others.

The ensemble numbers of "Broadway Brevities of 1920" were staged by Jack Mason, a pantomimic interlude conceived by Bert Williams was directed by M. Kosloff, the music is by Archie Gottler, lyrics by Blair Treynor, and there are numbers by Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby, Irving Berlin and others.

"WEDDING BELLS"

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Harry McClintock, a newspaper man, and Mildred Evans, professional understudy to Margaret Lawrence, of the "Wedding Bells" Company, now playing in the Cort Theater, were married September 22 in St. Paul's Universalist Church.

Mr. McClintock formerly was with the A. E. F., and Miss Evans toured France with the entertainment brigade. They met in that country. Her home is in Cedar Rapids, Ia., and she was granted a two days' layoff when the manager learned of the forthcoming nuptials.

OPERATE ON MISS MAYFIELD

New York, Sept. 25.—Max Spiegel announces a resumption of the tour of "Look Who's Here" this week, with Cecil Dean and Cleo Mayfield's sister, Georgia, playing Miss Mayfield's part. Miss Mayfield was stricken ill while playing Boston recently. The engagement at the Colonial Theater, Boston, was immediately terminated and Miss Mayfield brought to New York City. A consultation with physicians was held, following which a major operation was performed on Miss Mayfield at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, which was pronounced a success, and Miss Mayfield's early recovery is expected.

NEW PLAYS

"THE ROSE GIRL"

THE CAST (the characters in order of their appearance)—Fillpard, David Andrada; Fleurette, Dorothy Mackaye; Mme. Donny, Josie Intropidi; Elise, Beatrice Donald; Denise, Mildred Marsh; Collette, Helen Lyons; Susette, Virginia Wynn; Jellicot, Roy Atwell; Henri, Count de Guise, Harold Crane; Nadine Bankoff, Flora Zabelle; Victor, Marquis de la Roche, Ray Raymond; Mignon Latour, Mable Wilbee; Aesha, Christine Miller; Rhana, Rose Robanda; Yasiman, May Kitchen; Franji, Frank Vaeth; Ambrose Poppingo, Ben Linn; Oswald Pettifore, Louis Simon; Tzynsla, Harry Desmond; Mon, de Feuille, Ralph Lefree; Mon, de Montpensier, George I. Grafe; Personnel of the Ensemble, Irene Duffy, Karin Iverson, Lois Lawrence, Conie Madison, Betty Michaels, Carol Ray, Annette Weber and Elba Morris Woods.

Atlantic City, Sept. 22.—Those who witnessed, at the Globe Theater Monday night, the premiere of "The Rose Girl," had recalled most pleasantly their musical memories of that exquisite work by the same authors—"The Royal Vagabond"—for in "The Rose Girl" they had set before them a cleverly captivating musical novelty, full of French atmosphere, roses, perfume, song and dancing, all so extraneously interwoven that it did not really need the slight story permeating the piece.

The first scene is laid in a romantic hit of the French Riviera, where a young Marquis, disowned by his father, falls in love with a pretty little rose maid, who in the course of events discovers a perfume for each personality, and goes to Paris to escape the demonstrations of her guardian and to demonstrate her work. Of course, they are later reunited and everything turns out in the customary happy way; but during the process it serves as a background for some very charming music and dancing.

Little Mable Wilbee, as Mignon, the Rose Girl, is excellently adapted for her part. Her voice, tho not so powerful, is charmingly sweet, and she has a charming personality that made a very agreeable impression.

Harold Crane, as the Count; Flora Zabelle, as Nadine, the Russian; Roy Atwell, as Jellicot; Ray Raymond, as 'Victor; Dorothy Mackaye, as Fleurette; Josie Intropidi, as Mme. Donny, lent much humor to the piece.

It was an exceptionally well-chosen cast, and should prove a success.—E. EDMUNDS FOSTER.

"MAID TO LOVE"

Given Creditable Mention by Cincinnati Dailies

Cincinnati newspapers commented favorably on the musical piece, "Maid To Love," which played in that city last week to excellent houses, despite the hot weather. Efforts are being made by the management to take the show into Broadway in the near future. It is a cleverly arranged vehicle, with a good book and music, and with more detailed direction and a few changes in the cast, should make good. Robert Woolsey and Tom Lewis bear the burden of the business. During the week Raymond W. Peck, author of the book, and Percy Wenrich were on hand to offer suggestions and aid in smoothing out the rough spots.

MUSICAL COMEDY NOTES

Wendell Phillips Dodge will produce "Lorraine" shortly.

Hazel Lilly has been added to the cast of "The Night Boat."

Johnny Dowley and Clifton Webb will be seen in "Happily to Broadway."

Olive Clark has a new dance in "Good Times," the current New York Hippodrome spectacle, called "Autumn."

Sammy Lee is staging the dances in Gus Edwards' "Revue of 1920." When that job is finished Sammy may go to Europe.

Miss Jane Marnae, of Paris, said to have the most expensive wardrobes in France, will appear in the United States in musical comedy.

When George LeMaire's "Broadway Brevities" opens at the New York Winter Garden it will be the first production to play the house and not carry the Shuberts' name as producers in eight years. Stanley Sharpe is interested (Continued on page 92)

IT LOOKS AS THO Lawrence P. Wall and his "Vampire Girls" are going to have a long run at the Rex Theater, Omaha, Neb. Luetta Kidd, Soubrette, and Jean Morogue are being featured.

FLO KENNEDY, soubrette with Vic Holcomb's "Vamprette" Company, thru Texas and Oklahoma, is back in Chicago again. Flo says she learned to "ball the jack" and "slimy" in Texas if nothing else.

HERBERT SMITH, "The Hebrew Adherman," who has been in South Africa for the past ten months, is back in San Francisco and will soon be seen with his own tab. His address is 79 Third street, San Francisco.

EDDIE GHMORE, producer and comic, has just closed his twelfth consecutive summer season at Glenwood Park, Batavia, Ill. Eddie says that the past season is the best he has ever had at the park. The B. R. is heavy.

BILLY GHADY, that little exponent of Irish comedy, is wearing the red beard with Billy Meyers' "Keep Smiling Girls" Company. Billy's work is improving very much and it wouldn't be a big surprise to his friends to see him one of the acers of tabloid.

PAUL L. OLARK, formerly general agent for Russell Bros' Shows, and who recently closed with another company, has joined Hyatt's Booking Exchange, Chicago, as field representative, and will look over the Hyatt tabloid enterprises for a time in a supervisory capacity.

MRS. HELEN CURTIS, of the team of Helen and Date Curtis, has been very ill in her home at Baltimore, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis was with Bert Smith two seasons. In four weeks Mrs. Curtis will start over the U. B. O., doing a single. Thruout the South she has been known as "The Blues Singing Fool."

ZEITLER & ZEITLER will not be in the tabloid game this season, as they are booked to play the Fox and Loew circuits until the later part of June. The couple have received many flattering offers in tabloid this past season. Their congeniality has made them many friends. Their permanent address is The Billboard, New York.

WIRT SOUTHERN is back in Oklahoma again after a most successful tour along the Coast. Helen Walters is also back in Oklahoma, but will soon return to Louisville on a vacation. The couple are now with the "Sweetheart Shop," over the Barbour Circuit, doing a wonderful business. Their Oklahoma friends were glad to greet them after their long absence.

EVLIN AND VIRGINIA THOMAS, aged 11 and 9, respectively, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas, for the past two seasons with Dave Reid's musical tabloid, have left the show and returned to their home at Winston-Salem, N. C., to attend school for the winter. Their presence on the show is missed by all the members. The two make a very clever little sister team. They will return to the show at the close of school.

BYRNE & BYRNE'S Musical Comedy Company recently closed a six months' engagement in Omaha, and opened an indefinite engagement at the Strand Theater, Aberdeen, S. C., September 27. In addition to Billie and Charlie Byrne the company includes Jim Dally, Guy Hauff, Hazel Guernsey, Marlon Burke, Mildred Bird, De Lila Cagle, Jenn Turner, Olive Ashton and Bobbie Davy. The company is in its 40th week for the Hyatt Booking Exchange.

ART NEWMAN and his family are now in Baltimore, Md., preparing for a season with Bill Licht's "Teddy Bear Girls." From appearances at rehearsals it looks as tho it will be a big winner. The show will carry fourteen people, four acts of scenery, new wardrobe and some beautiful electrical effects. Art, speaking for his family, including the Missus, Baby Norlene and Master George, says that everything is well with them and they look forward to a long season.

BERT SMITH'S "Ragtime Wonders" Company is playing the Barbour Time thru Oklahoma to good business. Bert has purchased new wardrobe, scenery and effects, along with a new lobby display direct from New York. Many of his old performers from last season are returning. Among them are Joe Fields and wife, Harry and Daisy De Grace, Griff Gordon and May Roda, the latter two being the last to join. Others in the company are: "Chuck" and Mrs. Hobart, and eight good-looking chorna girls.

JACK DEERING, manager of the musical comedy company bearing his name, writes The Billboard, while he is undergoing "repairs," due to an accident, that he tried to stop an auto while getting off a street car, but instead the machine stopped him. He emerged from the accident with fractured arm and injured ankle, besides being badly bruised. However, the old Deering optimism is strong and Jack is in hopes of being out on the road with his show in the very near future. Mail will reach him at Steubenville, O.

R. C. MARIETTA and his "Yankee Doo-Girls" Company are meeting with big success over canvas. The roster includes T. J. Jefferson, comics; H. E. Prates, straights; Bobbie Vernon, soubrette; June Hart, ingenue, and chorus, Doris Silver, Ada Shaw, Dixie Adams, Trisla Adams, Dimples Ransom and Helen Dort. The show features Baby Marie, the versatile youngster; Hart and Vernon, sister team; Miss Vernon, offering a dancing specialty; the Yankee Doodle Four, quartet, and Mr. Marietta, in a specialty with Bobbie Vernon.

HARRY (SWITCH) EVANSON, who, with his show, "The Crazy Kats," is establishing a strong following thru the South, has become known to his many friends as the "South's Favorite Hebrew Comic." Harry has been working hard to increase the advantages of his show and has succeeded in making it one of the most demanded in the South. He is now carrying 12 people, all of whom are capable performers in their respective parts. Key West, Fla., held the company last week, and it is possible that it will be booked back in the near future.

MITTY DE VERE'S "Cherry Blossom" Company, playing the Barbour Time thru Oklahoma, reports excellent business, pleasing managers and patrons everywhere. No "hokum" is used. Mitty De Vere, who was featured last season in burlesque, has supporting him Josephine Hart, Ingenue-soubrette; Will Westerman and Donna Hopkins, the latter known as the "Florida Song-bird;" Jack Hill, leads; Billy Guthrie, second business; Lake Reynolds and wife, an added attraction. Introducing their specialty of yodeling numbers. Script bills prevail and a number of excellent pieces are contained among them. Eight stepping chorus maidens fill the line.

CROWDER'S "MUSICAL WHIRL" Company has a roster of real performers during the coming season. Good business has been prevalent and since Al Beaty has been featured an increase is noticeable. The orchestra is directed by Mrs. Beaty. "The Whirl" is now on its third season. Many changes have been made, but it is believed that the present show will remain intact. The roster includes The Gordons, The Shannons, Eddie Crowder, Mrs. R. Crowder, Al and Betty Beaty. Chorus: Cis Miller, Lottie Banks, Evelyn Byrns, Catherine Shaw, Lillian Olsen, Mary Olsen, Bee Wilkes, Myrtle Gillespie, Vera Briggs, Charlotte Walters, Emma Billings and Anna Donnelly.—R. C.

AGAINST OBSCENE SONGS

Mrs. Marx E. Obendorfer Leads Crusade To Abolish Suggestiveness

Mrs. Marx E. Obendorfer of Chicago, who is national chairman on music of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and is leading a crusade to abolish suggestive dances and songs and advocates legislation by Congress to bar obscene songs from the mails and all interstate commerce, said last week:

"Parents do not realize the words now being sung by young people as they dance. The nation is being demoralized by cheap, vulgar songs. Publishers are trying to make a jazz and ragtime nation out of the United States. Something is wrong when dance tunes must be called by suggestive names in order to sell them."

Mrs. Obendorfer also said that the General Federation of Women's Clubs would gladly cooperate with the Association of Dancing Masters to eliminate suggestive dancing and for better dance music.

DARRELL NOTES

Nat Friedman and Herman Krause, who are connected with the Jack Darrell Music Publishing Company, Inc., have just returned from a successful trip thru the New England States in the interest of the firm. Their latest number placed with the firm, "Lonesome Lullaby," is more than going good and is predicted to be another "Missouri Waltz."

"NO STOCK: NO RECORDS" Clever Scheme Being Worked on New York Publishers To Float New Recording Company—Some Fall, But Only a Few

New York, Sept. 24.—A very nifty scheme came to light this week to separate the publishers of music in this town from their coin, using the bludgeon of a threat not to record their numbers if they failed to come thru. A certain company which has been making rolls for player pianos for some years announced to the publishers that they were about to inaugurate a record company. They sent an engaging young man around to the publishers with this information, and when the publisher started to talk about recording his numbers, the young man started to talk money. He informed them that before they could have a number recorded by his firm the publisher would have to take out $1,000 worth of stock in the record company and said that if they didn't they would get no recordings of their numbers.

The young man met with a cold shoulder in most of the places he visited, one member of a small firm threatening to kick him out. But, surprising to relate, three firms, and three of the largest in the business at that, fell for the scheme.

The funny part of the whole business is that the roll concern which is hacking the new record firm has a reputation for issuing "joke" royalty statements for mechanical recordings—but not far they have corraled three more or less delirious stock subscribers, and hope for more.

REED MILLER

Using Fisher Number

New York, Sept. 24.—One of the features of the concert programs of Reed Miller, the famous tenor, will be Fred Fisher's latest ballad success, "Your Voice at Twilight." This song was written by Anton Lada and McElbert Moore. Mr. Miller is leaving on an extensive concert tour. Fred Fisher will be pleased to send this number to artists requesting it. Address Fred Fisher, Inc., 224 1/2 West 46th street, this city.

RIVIERA MUSIC COMPANY

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Robert Long, of the Riviera Music Company, has returned from his chautauqua dates and will be seen in vaudeville this season. While doing chautauqua work Mr. Long used two Riviera numbers in his repertoire. He will continue to use "Rose of China," when he again enters vaudeville.

The Riviera people have announced that they will shortly begin an advertising campaign in behalf of "Rose of China," with the same aggressiveness that characterized their pushing of "Desertland."

BLACK AND HICKMAN WITH W., B. & S.

New York, Sept. 23.—Ben Black and Art Hickman have signed a two-year contract to write music exclusively for Wattersson, Berlin & Snyder. Ben Black told a Billboard reporter that this contract would not interfere with his work with the Art Hickman Band, but would necessitate him relinquishing the post of professional manager for Sherman, Clay & Co.

He said that in doing this he realized that his relations with the firm had always been of the friendliest, and he left it with the keenest regrets.

FORSTER COMPANY

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Forster Music Publisher, Inc., has announced the purchase of a hit from Sonny Cunha, Hawaiian composer and author of "On the Beach of Waikiki." The new song is the "Hula Blues," which is said to have been a sensation in Hawaii and now getting a good start on the Coast. The hands of the Pacific fleet are said to be playing the number.

CENTRAL MUSIC COMPANY

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The Central Music Company announces the addition to its staff of Maurice Kay, who is representing the company in Denver territory. Mr. Kay has reported that "China Man" and "If You Only Knew" are in the 144 class thru the Southwest. Bids from the big houses for both numbers have been received, according to Hal Ehrig, of the company.

LAMBERT IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Ernest A. Lambert, who is now assistant professional manager for the music publishing house of B. D. Nice & Co., of New York, is in Chicago for a two weeks' stay, the guest of Harry Carroll, who is using "Romance," a waltz, as the only published number in his act. Mr. Lambert is working the cabarets and theaters in Chicago and vicinity. "Wondering" and "Romance," he said, are leading the Nice catalogue.

MUSICAL MUSINGS

By O. A. PETERSON

"Governor" Rentfrow never allows his band to play away from the tent at night.

Roy E. Fox always has his concert played in front of his tent, and advertises that fact. All the oldest and wisest managers do likewise.

The Billboard is receiving many letters expressing interest in the Musical Musings Department and hoping for its growth and continuance. We shall do our part. You do yours. Send in the dope.

Jefferson's Band surely made many friends thruout Canada with its most pleasing and up-to-date programs rendered daily in the heart of all cities visited. Strong press notices were given the band in all dailies.

Prof. Edward Markel, of Ola, Ok., will direct the new band now being formed at Pioneer, La. Prof. Markel has in mind a band contest to be staged at some portion of the State, possibly New Orleans, to continue a week, to be entered by all bands of the State, prizes being given for the best uniformed, mounted or foot, or the best band from a musical standpoint, ending on the last day of the contest with a mammoth band in which all present will join.

Prof. M. Cupero, who last season was director of the Tulane University Band, New Orleans, has resigned and will take charge of the band of the Mississippi College at Clinton, La. He will have an organization of thirty pieces.

Tom S. Howell, director of the Salina (Kan.) Municipal Band, writes approvingly of our stand in regard to playing the night concerts in front of the tent. In fact all wise managers adopt this plan of drawing the crowd to the tent instead of up town. The crowd never follows the band to the tent after the concert is over, but would come to the tent to hear the concert.

Tom Howell suggests that we should advertise the concert to be given at the lot and state the exact time. While he does not advise the exclusive use of popular trash he suggests that it is better to play something that is easy and play it well than to attempt something hard and butcher it.

In response to the call in The Billboard we have just received a long, chatty letter from an oldtime trouper, Clarence Fry, well known with the rep. shows of twenty years ago, now located at Ft. Madison, Ia., where he has charge of the State prison band and orchestra. Clarence has held the job three years and says he likes it, being easy work and good pay. Says he still reads The Billboard and is glad to see the Muse back. He sometimes gets the "road fever" and is often tempted to answer some of the ads in The Billboard.

Mr. Fry dates back forty years in the rep. show game. Would like to hear from old friends. His address is 406 Second street, Fort Madison, Ia.

ENGLISH SONG HITS

Of Other Days Recalled by Manchester Guardian

The Manchester Guardian printed the following observations about English popular song hits in a recent issue, viz.:

"Millie Hylton's death must revive many memories among playgoers who are in sight of or doubling the Cape of Middle Age. Her first Gaiety Theater appearance was in the burlesque 'Monte Cristo, Jr.' and she was last seen on the London stage in 'Tilly of Bloomsbury.' It was her singing of 'The Rowdy-Dowdy Boys' that brought her to George Edwardes' notice, and that fact alone brings a queer gush of recollections. The Bacchanalian songs of the eighties were astonishingly hot. 'The Rowdy-Dowdy Boys' (one could understand 'Rowdy,' but 'Dowdy'—did the young men then like to be 'dowdy'), 'The Bar Old, Rare Old, Ricketty-Rocketty Crew,' and 'Til-tiddly-bi-ti-ti'—how they reek of strange times when the well-to-do youth was supposed to dream of 'strolling round the town, knocking people down.' In short, becoming drunk and disorderly, and finishing the night in the police station. The most striking of all these was called 'We Are the Imperialistic Boys Out on the Tiddely-hi' (it really was!), summing up all the overfed, violent and maudlin spirit of a big section of London that expressed itself historically on Mafeking Night. Nowadays, however, idiotic our popular songs, they have not that tone. Harry Lauder praises drink not because it makes people violent, but because (he thinks) it makes people more affectionate to others and to the country they were born in, or because it makes a 'miserable devil' when he is sober very, very happy when he is not sober. The only drinking song of recent times that took the town was called 'Another Little Drink Wouldn't Do Us Any Harm.' How abject that point of view would have seemed to the 'Rowdy-Dowdy' heroes of the eighties! The young men of this generation seem to have kept their violence for big game."

"HOP, SKIP AND JUMP"

New York, Sept. 24.—Louis Wesley and Hal Dyon have placed a new novelty with Jos. W. Stern & Co., called "Hop, Skip and Jump." It will be featured by the Stern house, and contains some musical twists that indicate a big success in the eyes of the knowing.

KINNEY CORRECTS SANGER

Oklahoma City, Ok., Sept. 26.

To the Editor:

Permit me, thru the columns of your publication, to correct a Mr. Sanger, who signed an article in your current issue, and under the head of The Frisco Shows, saying that his show will play Cushing, Ok., week of September 27, and the Frisco Shows are the only show to secure a permit to exhibit in Cushing this season.

I beg to advise Mr. Sanger that the records at Cushing will show that at least another carnival preceded the Frisco Shows at Cushing. I bring there with the S. W. Brundage Shows, week of May 3 this year.

Why is it that so much "bull" is written every week by some advance agents and publicity promoters for certain shows? People in my line, that of hauling concessions, are often bumped into a long jump and a poor date, due to the unscrupulous methods used by many agents and publicity promoters in making up their news items for The Billboard.

You must pardon me, Mr. Sanger, for publicly calling your attention to this error of yours, but as I am a regular reader of The Billboard I take for granted that I have a right to have my say in this matter. I know full well that you are mistaken and that the papers of Cushing, the city officials, also the manager of the Brundage Shows, will back me up in my assertion.

(Signed) BEN (BALDY) KINNEY.

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE MUSIC BUSINESS?"

I want to come out flat-footed and say "Nothing is wrong with the music business." The trouble is the "almighty dollar." This last-named article has been quoted as worth anywhere between 30 and 46 cents, and when it comes to publishing music this same dollar that in the past was visioned at one hundred cents is worth about 22 cents.

Engravers, printers and in fact every worker and every commodity used in publishing music are costing 100 per cent more than a year ago. They are worth it, for these men must live, and the "butcher, baker and candlestick maker" have all raised their prices, as everyone is aware, and, of course, to eat, the printer must pay the prices charged.

Personally, the continued rise in the price of the publishing has hit me an awful wallop, yet I grin and bear it, for I believe "the laborer is worthy of his hire" every time, and it does not seem consistent to pay more for everything else and to expect music to sell at the same price as a year ago. Stop and think—aren't the music publishers the last to raise their prices?

Now, as for music on the stands being "rot," I object to that statement very much. The Stork Co. has three ballads which in the next few weeks are going to 30 cents, for it is absolutely impossible to print music at a profit for less, and they certainly are not "rot."

Now if John Doe pays 30 cents for a song that he considers "rot" I don't blame him for feeling sore, but really whose fault is it? It puts me in mind of a cartoon in a New York newspaper, "Why Is It?" There is a wealth of good songs on the counters for 30 cents that are worth it, and there is no excuse for anyone paying that amount for so-called "rot."

Sincerely,
(Signed) T. F. CORNELL,

SAYS SOUTHWEST IS O. K.

Blackwell, Ok., Sept. 14, 1920.

To The Billboard:

There has been so much talk around the East and Middle West about conditions existing down in the Oklahoma and Texas musical comedy fields. A few dissatisfied performers, who never make good anywhere, and a few people who style themselves producers (and all they produce is bits which every medicine show has presented on the free outdoor platform), have spread the rumor that this country is bad. We have shows of fifteen people playing to as high as forty-five hundred dollars gross in some towns, a tab. getting from a thousand to twelve hundred a week being an ordinary event. Mr. Barbour, of Muskogee, Ok., has a production, "The Midnight Whirl" show, featuring Big Bill House, carrying 20 people, and a 60-foot baggage car of scenery, not diamond-dye, but parallels, bat and hanging pieces, and is presenting positively Broadway productions (paying royalty). There are at least twenty other such shows down here, "The Baud Box Revue," "Rockmores' Co.," "Honeymoon, Ltd.," Co.; "The Matinee Girls," "The Broadway Follies," Bert Southern & Co., Alhardt's Show, "The Mysterious Smith" and Company, Alhurst & Co., Selvin & Co., and others too numerous to mention. The entire trouble with some of the tab. owners that have invaded this field is the actor-producer accumulates a few hundred dollars and without the proper amount of capital tries to put out several companies. A tabloid put out in this territory, that is, one that will get the money, costs on an average of from four to five thousand dollars, and the boys that have the shows down here get the big money. That's the secret of Enstley Barbour's success; he has the capital, he owns the better houses personally and books the best in the towns that he does not own. There have been several small concerns which arose and tried to take this territory away from Mr. Barbour, but to sum the entire situation up in a nutshell Mr. Barbour is the Martin Beck, E. P. Abbe, Alex. Pantages, Marcus Loew, Harry Weber of the Southwestern musical comedy field, and this much is guaranteed, that artists with ability, personality, and ones who respect contracts, can work for Mr. Barbour 52 weeks a year, and in the end will have more clear money for their personal use than if playing small big-time vaudeville. I know I've played it all, big, small and medium, in closing will say that Enstley Barbour is not a shoe-string affair, but a million-dollar proposition. He has seventy consecutive weeks of regular houses, leasing about twenty houses himself, owning about twenty of his own productions. His organization consists of a booking department, scenic studio, press department, wardrobe department, employing a designer of reputation; printing department and producing department, with a real production director at the head. And the Eastern artists do not realize the conditions down here. The average number of shows daily are three.

Some of the towns are one show daily, some two and two towns four on Saturday. Trusting that you will let the public and Eastern performers understand the situation down here, and wishing there were more Enstley Barbours in the show game.

(Signed) ONE WHO KNOWS.

AGAIN 'TIS SONG WRITING

New York, Sept. 18, 1920.

Dear Sir—I read with interest the letters of Ralph M. Howell and Paul M. Specht. Both of these gentlemen have sought to emphasize the point which I have sought to bring out in my letter in The Billboard, which you were kind enough to publish. My point is that songs should not be written for money and good songs cannot be produced that way—they never were and they never will be. I have never written a song for money in my life. I wrote what I wanted to write, where I wanted to write it.

MINSTRELSY

COMMUNICATIONS TO CINCINNATI OFFICE.

The 1920-'21 season of the Jefferson Theater, Hamilton, O., opened Monday night, September 20, with Nell O'Brien's Minstrels as the opening attraction. The Jefferson, under the able management of Broomhall & Schwalm, is all dressed up this season, many new improvements having been installed, including an entire new stage, opera chairs and complete furnishings throughout. This marks Mr. O'Brien's ninth annual tour and is said to be far superior to anything yet offered. For quite a number of years Mr. O'Brien has given particular attention to the writing and staging of minstrel acts and features, and in this year's production his experience and original ideas have enabled him to produce what is promised as the highest-class minstrel entertainment ever presented. Mr. O'Brien has written three new acts for this year's performance, a dancing novelty called "Playmates," surpassing the syncopated acts made famous by this organization the past three years; a comedy sketch called "Hopping the Atlantic Ocean," in which Jack Amick is said to be at his best, and a one-act finale in three scenes entitled "Americanization," which is said to be Mr. O'Brien's masterpiece.

Low Wilson, the "Variety Boy," has also been engaged and he offers an entire new routine of songs, jokes and melodies on the different instruments of which he seems to be the master. In addition to Mr. Wilson, the following artists have been engaged: Davis "Sugarfoot" Gaffney, Jack Amick, Danny Roche, J. Lester Haberkorn, Joseph White, Walter Sherwood, Lea Laird, Steve Berrian, Bobby Gossans, Roy Allen, Bobby Davis, Arthur Watts, Chas. Nellis, Henry Maher, Ray Parsons, Dan Marshall, Chas. Wright, Herbert Ginn, Jack Edward Mosser, Edward O'House and Major Nowak. J. H. Deivico is Mr. O'Brien's able musical director, having one of the best minstrel bands and orchestras en tour with a traveling organization. Instrumentalists include Billy Rabba, Joseph Relly, Walter Sercus, S. V. Downs, Joseph Patrick, Ben Kemmer, Wm. Brown, Harry Hildebrandt, Earl Hurst, George W. Engelhart, Lester Rowan, Henry Watts, H. W. Puffer, Frank Meldrum, E. Doherty and A. H. Robbins.

Wright Armstrong is assistant manager, and incidentally is in charge of the Neil O'Brien show at present.

In the theatrical section of The Springfield (Ill.) Sunday Journal dated August 29 the caption about the minstrels read: "Arthur strel (median and a friend.

Deming, who will be seen at the Chatterton tomorrow night with Vogel's Minstrels." Un- "By Gosh," known from Coast to Coast as the derneath was shown a black and whiteface cut originator of the Seldom Fed Minstrels, home talent kid minstrel production, opened his annual tour at Chaffee, Mo., to a full house, followed by an excellent week at Jackson. "By Gosh" is at present producing another big show for the Elks' Lodge at Duquoin, Ill., using a cast of 250 school children. The celebrated clown has twenty weeks of return engagements booked in the South this fall, which proves the old saying, "Nothing succeeds like success."

Among the welcome visitors to the home office of The Billboard last week was H. S. Butler, boss canvasman. Butler just came down from Northern Ohio, en route South to join Harry K. Main's Famous Georgia Minstrels. Assuming that he dreaded the lengthy journey, we presented Butler with the early forms of the September 25th issue to help minimize the long hours en route. "I had just as well cancel my birth reservation now," remarked Butler as he bade us farewell.

An error slipped into last week's issue regarding the opening of Ed. J. Murray's Big Time Minstrels. The show, as previously stated, was to have opened at Pittsburg, Ia., September 20, but according to Mr. Murray the opening date is set for October 9 at McKeesport. Those who have been engaged include Bert Marshall, Tom Ward, Al Tint, Will Conklin and Tommy Alvin, all of whom have great prestige in the sunny South. Harry Hall, Eugene Leigh, Henry Long, Harry Goldie and others comprise the singing contingent. Harry Hall will also act in the capacity of interlocutor.

Rehearsals will soon be under way for the 11th annual production of the Charity Minstrels, presented by Lodge No. 1218, B. P. O. Elks of Sterling, Ill., under the direction of Guerdon E. Bishop, Past Exalted Ruler of the lodge, and at one time owner of the Bert Shepard Minstrels. Since retiring from the professional Mr. Bishop is conducting a successful printing establishment in Sterling. Competent critics who have heard the Sterling Minstrels state their snappy performance is far above the average home talent production, the singing contingent being especially meritorious. Several well-known performers are members of the Sterling Elks, including Fred Holmes, of Holmes & Wells, Charles Warthin and Earl Howard.

CHAUTAUQUA DEPARTMENT

By FRED HIGH

More I. L. C. A. Convention News

Committee Reports Cause Warm Discussion—Financing the Association—Artists Appearing On the Program—Criticisms That May Cause Some Squirming in the Ranks

The convention of the International Lyceum and Chautauqua Association at Waterloo, Ia., re-elected the following officers for the ensuing year: W. H. Stout, president; Wallace Bruce Amstary, vice-president; Louis O. Kanner, secretary; P. H. Kemmerer, treasurer. Ralph Bingham was re-elected to the Board of Directors; George C. Aydelott and R. E. Morningstar were elected to serve on the Board of Directors for a term of three years.

The big thing that was put over was the financing of the I. L. C. A. Moreland Brown was made a member of the president's cabinet and intrusted with the duty of working out a financial policy that would make the I. L. C. A. a solvent organization. At present the organization is annually running about $2,000 behind. Forty-five per cent of the members come and go each year.

For the past years the annual dues have been $3. The initiation fee has been $5. But the convention raised the dues to $10 and made the initiation $15. There was strong sentiment among the bureau managers to make the dues $25. These men who a few years ago came to town with fringe on their pants now compare their standing in golf clubs and the dues they pay there with the I. L. C. A. and the dues that are so painlessly extracted and then wonder why all the others who are members, most of whom are mere beginners, can't lope right along with the plutocrats, and, instead of scratching for bread, work to reduce their gouty fat.

The next big thing that was up for consideration was the committee reports. A few of the half-baked and fearful ones who always pick up The Billboard with fear and trembling, lest some committeeman who has hired them and who has done all the work and guaranteed the bureau against loss may be so dishonest or incompetent as to mark said bright and shining light something below the 100 per cent mark when said luminary always strikes twelve and should be rated perfection—universal perfection, or even 100 plus—and then to have it published in The Billboard, zowie.

It was these same tenderfooted gents who were wont to make war on the committee reports. But give a fool enough rope and he will always hang himself. There was rope enough for most of the pussy-footed ones who love the law of the jungle rather than the scientific way of doing things. There were many hangings at the convention. Some of the stiffies have not been out down yet—that is all.

The convention was very tolerant, for it gave practically a free rein to all who wished to demonstrate the injunction that it is not wise to remain silent and be suspected of being a fool when one can arise and say something and remove all doubt. The truth of this was fully demonstrated at the convention.

The committee report system was then endorsed by a vote of the convention, and a committee of six was appointed to work it out and see what can be done towards perfecting a system whereby the millennium may be brought to us and all who think they deserve 100 and all the attractions on our bureau list may be shown to be perfect and those on the opposing lists be shown at their real level. If figures can be so arranged to show degrees of rottenness and if human nature can be all set aside and a cash register system be so installed that will be soulless and still workable, then the I. L. C. A. will try to install such a system. M. Avery is chairman of this committee.

In the meantime The Billboard will go right on trusting the honesty of the men and women who buy the attractions and who do all the work free, gratis, for nothing, and pay for the privilege of doing it. We want the committeemen to mark the attractions as they should be marked and report these to The Billboard, and we will gladly publish them. You do your best to find out just how the audience likes or dislikes the attractions that appear on your program course this winter, and we will be only so glad to publish these reports in the future as we have been doing in the past.

We urge you to do more than that. Buy your attractions only after you have studied these committee reports. We will gladly furnish a booklet with nearly 10,000 reports from other committeemen, together with the towns where these attractions appeared, and you can see how they were received in these towns. You can see how other men and women with the same interests in telling the truth that actuates you have marked these attractions that are now being presented to your people. Study these reports before you advertise even the attractions that you have bought for the present year. Know for yourselves what you are putting the stamp of your approval on.

Right here we wish to renew our fight for the memorial services or for a continuation and a development of the idea that we should annually pause long enough to pay a few words of tribute to those of our number who have passed on or have fallen in the battle. There are those in our midst who are so selfishly busy making money on the services of their fellowmen that they count it a waste of time to even hesitate long enough to bury the dead. On with the show. There are 2,000 lecturers for the work that 200 are now doing—trot out another lecturer. No bullfight was ever less heartless than some of these chautauqua managers with the "grind system."

Then there are the tenderhearted who are afraid that they may shed a tear. Ye gods, even snakes shed their skin and here we have some who are so unnatural that they object to shedding even a tear! Heartless brutes they are! They live as tho this is the stone age and act as tho they have hearts of stone.

Then there are those believe that there is no such thing as death. They are so heartless and unsympathetic that they live in a world where people dwell, but they measure all things by themselves. I am still here. Therefore there is no death. Can you beat it?

We can philosophize and dramatize all we want to, but that man or woman does not live who can go to the widow and orphan and dry their tears with the maudlin philosophy that there are no dead. The sooner we quit fooling ourselves with the false philosophy that aims to dream away the reality of death itself and get down to the bed rock of life and face the fact that we are brothers, soldiers, builders, workers, laborers in a common cause the better it will be for this old sin-sick world of ours.

Those who failed to wait for the memorial services of the I. L. C. A. missed one of the most impressive, wholesome, inspiring and humanly worth while meetings that was ever held by the lyceum and chautauqua association.

Roscoe Gilmore Stott gave a masterful address. He combined the dramatic side of our platform life with the sincerity of the religious nature that is a fundamental part of our entire structure. He was intensely in earnest, poetic in his diction, dramatic in his delivery and with it all so human and manly and full of brotherly love that all who were present were made to realize that life is a serious thing and that to influence the world for higher ideals and better living is a rare privilege indeed. He presented the lyceum and chautauqua as it is and made all see that we live in the hearts of the men and women whom we benefit and help.

Harry Yeazelle Mercer sang so soulfully O'Hara's "There is No Death" that one member of our fraternity was so far carried away with the oratory of that wonderful singer and the message of that beautiful song that he broke forth in applause. No more sincere tribute was ever paid to a singer.

C. Wilson Reed presided at the organ and gave new evidences of his musical worth. Reed is a genius in the realm of music. He puts soul into all that he does. He was the right man for the piece.

We wish right now to protest against showing the memorial service off until the very close. It should be the first thing we do. We hope that next year there will be no reason to side-step this duty and that we may face the fact that we owe something to those who have fallen in the battle as well as to those whom they loved and labored for during the greater part of their natural life.

We wish to again pay attention to the program presented at the big Hippodrome, Wednesday was a big day. We have said before that this same Harry Yeazelle Mercer, to our way of thinking, is the most pleasing singer we have ever listened to. He ranks with us as in a class with Gail-Curel and John McCormack as rated in his ability to please. He has what few artists possess, that is a fine sense of the oratory of song. He is a vocal orator.

We are glad to reproduce the article that appeared in The Waterloo Times Tribune as follows:

The high water mark in musical artistry was reached Wednesday afternoon when Harry Yeazelle Mercer and assisting artists gave their concert. Mr. Mercer is one of the few truly great robust tenors of the day. He is in fine voice and left nothing to be desired. He interprets a story-song so vividly that one becomes so intensely engrossed with the story (Continued on page 45)

CHAUTAUQUA PAID TRIBUTE

By Miss M. V. Joseph, of M. Witmark & Sons

"I always knew that chautauqua people were regular folks, but I did not know how human they were until I saw how quickly they took me in," says Miss Joseph at I. L. C. A. convention. "I felt like a rank outsider when I walked into the hotel, and fifteen minutes later I thought I had always known the people, all of whom radiated warmth and enthusiasm that was good to know. With people like this in the field it is no wonder that the chautauqua movement has come to be one of the most worthwhile aspects of American life, one that I have heard more lecturers say impressed them more greatly than any other one feature of our general educational scheme, for certainly the chautauqua is an education to those who in rural communities and even in the smaller cities have no other way of keeping in touch with the march of ideas. It brings to them the truth that they can get equally well, it is true, from the newspapers and magazines, but which they do not get without the added personal touch of the splendid, big people that bring those messages from the chautauqua platform. How big and how splendid they are! I can testify now so much better than I ever could before, having had the pleasure of meeting so many of them. Before the week is out I hope there won't be any one that I won't know."

LYCEUM AND CHAUTAUQUA NOTES

Mutual put it over in great shape at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and signed them up for another year.

The Northwestern Booking Bureau, St. Paul, reports it is very much in existence, in spite of the fact that, thru a regrettable error, it was omitted from our list of bureaus.

Ray Andrews was elected chairman of the publicity men's organization at the I. L. C. A. convention. Ray is a good, live wire, and some success as a publicity promoter. His Ellison-White news letters are always welcome visitors.

Rupert Hughes now steps out onto the platform with a new lecture, "The Golden Age of Today." His claim is that all the features of previous golden ages are prominent in America today, altho our critics, with eyes turned backward or across the ocean, do not know it.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Shaw, of Bloomington, Ill., after a very successful season for The Co-Operative Chautauquans, which they operate at Bloomington, will sail on October 2, on the Winifberlian, for England. They will also visit the battlefields of Europe.

An editor at Ottawa, writing before the chautauqua began, upbraided the people for lack of support, and seemed doubtful it would be a success. Latest reports, however, indicate that the assembly there was a big success. Before the season closed over 600 season tickets for next year were sold.

"Andy" Lockhart, former editor of Chain Lightning Magazine, and who, his friends claim, was "railroaded" to the Federal penitentiary, is now lecturing, his subject being "The Gray Brotherhood." His discourse is illustrated with motion pictures of the Leavenworth Federal Prison, which picture was made while Lockhart was in the prison, and with his aid.

The Gwalesa Lady Glee Singers have discovered, in a busy season under the management of E. H. Williams, of Chicago, that America is very different from Wales. They have had the usual experiences of those who follow the circuits, but the blowing down of tents and the terrific thunder storms encountered in the Dakotas were revelations to them of things American.

Mary Agnes Doyle, dramatic reader, will open a studio in the Fine Arts Building, in Chicago, October 1, for classes in voice and diction and alleged cancellation brought about by the musicians' union because the actor had played in another local theater at that time involved in the musicians' strike.

The actor is alleged to have worked a number of performances before the union took action against him and compelled him to be taken off. The actor immediately filed complaint with the V. M. P. A. for his salary, claiming he was able and willing to work.

Pat Casey, altho no complaint had been filed against the actor by the local theater, so The Billboard is informed, is said to have notified the actor that the theater was justified in closing him for the reason that he had worked in another theater in Chicago which is not considered to be an opposition house.

It is further said that the local theater manager and his booking agent were cognizant of the fact that the actor had played other Chicago theaters, therefore it is claimed the artist was not working contrary to contract.

The theatrical colony in Chicago is watching the outcome of the case with unusual interest. It is said that should the V. M. P. A. decide against the artist the impression will prevail that the artist is without redress in making complaints to the V. M. P. A. It is further pointed out in this particular case that altho there has been no complaint made against the actor involved yet the V. M. P. A. has taken on itself some excuse to turn down the artist's claim.

NEW CONWAY ACT

New York, Sept. 22.—The new vaudeville sketch, "The Beautiful Lady," written, cast and produced by E. Harold Conway, publicity director for the Orpheum Circuit, will have its premiere this week at the Harlem Opera House. Heading the cast will be Marion Evansen, who for three years played leads with Robert Mantell; the second woman will be Jane Loring, motion picture star, and Mildred Lang will be the third member of the cast. The sketch is of a dramatic nature, depicting developments when two of the girls leave their suburban homes and try city life.

MILE. SOURET COMING HERE

New York, Sept. 22.—Mile. Souret, who was acclaimed in Paris recently as the most beautiful woman in all France, has been engaged by the Marinelli office to come to this country. She is now playing the Follies Bergere in Paris. Considerable newspaper space was given Mile. Souret this summer, both in France and the United States, following a verdict of a jury, deciding her to be France's beauty. She will arrive here next month.

SUN BOOKS CIRCUS ACTS

New York, Sept. 22.—Quite a number of circus acts are being booked over the Sun Circuit. Among the latest arrivals from the circus are the Three Alecks, Orrin Davenport, Picchland Troupe and the Aerial Rooneys. The Casting Campbells, who are working the fairs, will open November 1 in Cleveland for eight weeks on the Sun Time.

NEW COURTHOPE SKETCH

New York, Sept. 22.—A new vaudeville sketch has been completed by June Courthope, who will shortly take the turn out over the big time. Besides Miss Courthope the other members of the cast will be Charles Forrester, Ross Forrester, Grace Hewitt. It is a comedy drama, will run about twenty-five minutes and will be produced in about two weeks.

LYCEUM AND CHAUTAUQUA COMMITTEE REPORTS

Defense of the Committee Reports as Officially Published in the I. L. C. A. Year Book — President Lybarger States Many Reasons Why the Reports System Should Be a Permanent Part of the I. L. C. A. Work

OBJECTIONS DUE TO LACK OF VISION

"I have heard many objections urged against the idea of making permanent the system I have established of having committeemen report to their fellow committeemen the extent to which our attractions pleased the people. But none of them seem valid to me. Practically all of these supposed objections describe conditions which already exist, and have existed, and which nothing but the Committee Report System itself can abolish.

Those opposing the system say that the publishing of only a few reports on an attraction does not give a correct estimate of its work. Quite true. No one claims that it does. But if the system is maintained long enough each attraction will have scores and hundreds and even thousands of reports made on it—provided it has the merit to survive in the struggle for platform existence.

They say that it is not enough to have a single committeeman report from a town, that we ought to have an average estimate from at least fifteen individuals in each town. To which I answer that a single report from each of fifteen towns would serve the purpose equally well, and vastly better. And it will not be long until audiences themselves will make out their own reports. The enemies of a system which enables the public to actually know the past record of each attraction are trying to destroy the only system that can make such information possible by building around it such conditions and requirements as to make it practically impossible to operate.

We are told that an occasional injustice is sure to be done here and there by the publishing of these reports. No doubt of it. But my answer is that for each injustice under the committee report system there are ten injustices under the present system, and all due to the lack of these reports. Even our courts do an occasional injustice. But that is no argument for abolishing them, but only for trying to improve them. Injustice exists everywhere. All we can do is to make it less. And that the committee reports will help mightily to achieve.

"These objectors fail to see the splendid service which these reports have rendered even in so short a time for scores of unknown, but meritorious talent—men and women. It makes their merits known to the world. It gives them freedom and independence by putting their record in the hands of the men and women who are the buyers of talent—namely, the committeemen themselves.

(To be continued next week)

Large audiences in and out-of-doors and in widely distributed parts of the city continue to hear the messages of United Americans, as delivered by able speakers. Last week the total attendance was 73,675. People in every walk of life are eager to hear the simple, fundamental truths of Americanism and be told of the rights, privileges and duties of citizens. In industrial plants, in clubs, churches and on street corners, these addresses are made, centering upon the sentiment expressed in the slogan of the organization: "We Believe in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule, and the Constitution of the United States."

Vol. XXXII. OCT. 2. No. 40

Editorial Comment

LAST week our Mr. Fred High, in a burst of impetuous zeal, committed The Billboard to the task of organizing the chautauqua talent.

Mr. High thought he was sure of the support of the majority of the editors of The Billboard, but a poll reveals that he reckoned wrongly.

The editors have decided that The Billboard will not attempt to organize the artists and talent in the chautauqua field or any other.

Mr. High is a free agent. If he wants to devote any portion of his leisure, superabundant energy and tremendous capacity for work to the cause that is his affair.

For our part, tho, we believe fully and wish to state in the most positive and open manner that the artists and lecturers of the lyceum world are suffering from conditions, handicaps and evil practices that can be remedied only by unionism. We believe that the proper men to be entrusted with the work are the trained and experienced organizers of a union, chartered by the

A. F. of L., and by it specifically clothed with authority to operate in that particular field—The American Artists' Federation, James William FitzPatrick, president, and Harry Mountford, secretary.

Because we believe the work needs doing very much we will support whoever undertakes it, and not because of the hostility or indifference of the bureaus. Our motives will be absolutely unclouded by any desire for reprisals or wish to coerce or compel advertising, recognition or support.

Nothing in this statement is to be construed as discrediting Mr. High.
He is nothing if not eager and impatient. He took it for granted that he had the sanction of the majority of the editorial board (and only miscounted by one vote at that), and shrewdly and wisely decided to crack away first.

We can vouch for his honesty, sincerity and disinterestedness, and commend his courage and high purpose.

lovely ladies of the Revolutionary time because they stepped the dance of kings, the stately minuet. Lincoln does not lose dignity in the perspective which reveals him participating in the rough but wholesome figures of the country dance. And so on and so on.

"But we respect the feelings and prejudices of those who behold in this form of joyous physical expression a menace to inexperienced and unguarded youth. The development of questionable and suggestive forms of dancing justifies to an extent the fears of these good, but, we think, mistaken people.
As a matter of fact our public may be said to have become jazz mad. This is true not only of the dance, but of practically everything else. We jazz in politics and business—yes, and in religious activities. Our profiteers are jazzing with millions; labor is jazzing in a hundred varied directions; the lawyer jazzes, likewise the preacher; and, perhaps, we now are jazzing a bit.
But as for the legitimate, beautiful,

TRIFLERS AND PLAYWRIGHTS

It is commonly supposed that the French theatrical hack surpasses his American colleague in technical dexterity and in the specific sense of the theater. There was a time, undoubtedly, when this supposition squared with the facts. Today we have a dozen writers for the stage as coldly and knowingly efficient as Kistemeckers and Bernstein themselves.
The difference between the two groups is one that concerns substance and not form, the materials and not the methods of playmaking. The Frenchman may distort and pervert the passions, the American avoids them. The former approaches a single situation from an hundred roads, the latter sees from it by as many. Thus the one is apt to be monotonous and violent, the other empty and trivial. A natural consequence of this contrast is that when a single French play comes to us in the midst of a throng of native products it seems far less ignoble and far closer to the central preoccupations of life than it really is.

The immediate situation on our stage illustrates that contrast with a hard and brilliant light. Five new American plays surround a single French one. They are all well enough built; each selects and sustains its note with sufficient skill; all are false and vacuous to a degree that lifts the isolated French play into an unmerited luster and turns its brass to gold. Mr. Porter Emerson Browne's "The Bad Man" (Comedy Theater) does, indeed, contain the human triangle of the French tradition. But the American bosom is appeased by making the husband an unspeakable villain and having him promptly and conveniently killed. Similarly the figure of the Mexican bandit, acted with both massiveness and grace by Holbrook Blinn, was conceived in an ironic mood. A satire on the superman of melodrama was attempted. But Mr. Browne took fright and let the action roar to an accustomed end. Mr. Belasco gives a velvety production of "Call the Doctor" (Empire Theater) by Miss Jean Archibald, who has a neat little gift for epigram. Her human situation, unhappily, omits the fundamental elements that must have created it and holds the soothing assurance that disillusioned husbands can be turned into ardent ones by a display of silk hosiery and the noise of jazz. "Genius and the Crowd" (George M. Cohan Theater) portrays the struggle of an Italian violin virtuoso of twenty-three to be "pure and clean," and depends on a witted piquetesquea flavored by speeches in the best style of the once popular Family Herald. Miss Rita Johnson Young's "Little Old New York" (Plymouth Theater) sketches the city of 1810 with the depth and imaginative grasp of a newspaper headline and tells the story of a romantic inheritance and an Irish lass masquerading as a boy. The audience dutifully laughs at the distrust with which Cornelius Vanderbilt regards John Jacob Astor's speculations in the marsh lands around Gramercy Pond, and is quite properly pleased by the pale, quaint sweetness of Miss Genevieve Tobin in trousers and an Eton jacket. A final depth is reached by Mr. Booth Tarkington in "Poldekini" (Park Theater). This play, calculated to save America from the fury of the Reds, neatly combines—granting its own initial attitude and purpose—the economics of a boarding-school miss, the intellectual grasp and detachment of a baseball "fan," and the patriotism of a Polyanna. No respectable man of letters on the Continent would permit himself to sink to a comparable depth of fatuity. He might be specious; he would not be "glad." He might display the rancor of a man, not the feeble petulance of an ill-bred child. It is characteristic of our theater that so able an actor as George Arliss consents to take the title role in this play and in the midst of its dreary imbecilities gives a performance of delicately spiritual iridescence and admirably sliken strength and glow.

From these productions you go to see "The Woman of Bronze" (Frazee Theater), by Henri Kistemeckers, and you cannot avoid the impression that you have passed from wax-work cabinets to a room filled with people, from the glitter of spangles into the sunlight and the dusk of earth, from the chatter of cheap pretenses to the vicissitudes that stir our hearts. Not that Kistemeckers is a good dramatist or his play a good play. It is hectic, strained, theatrical. But these American playwrights have not, also, reached the level on which he is an inferior artist.—LUDWIG LEWISOHN, in "The Nation."

"So long as there is music there always will be dancing and singing. These three form the holy trinity of happiness. The heart speaks thru them. We should be proud to aid in their dissemination. Dancing contributes to health, happiness and artistic grace."

The above is in part the plea voiced by Francis Wilson, President Emeritus of the Actors' Equity Association, in response to the opposition of various religious organizations to dancing in any form.

That Mr. Wilson is right in every word he says there is not the least doubt.

Commenting on this question editorially, The Cincinnati Enquirer said:

"Yea, why give the devil all the best of it? Since the birth of music, 'heavenly maid,' youth has danced, even as the sunbeams and the ripples on the rivers dance. Miriam danced by the shores of the fatal sea which swallowed up the Pharaoh and his hosts. Childhood dances spontaneously, with happy laughter and twinkling feet. We do not think less of Washington and Hamilton and all the grave gentlemen and graceful, conventional dance, under proper conditions, we believe it to be an innocent and helpful diversion."

If you are a showman and have not sent your contribution to Will J.
Farley, secretary of COMA, 620 Chestnut street, St. Louis, Mo., do it today.

The unions are lining up behind you.
Equity, the A. A. of P., I. A. T. S. E. and F. A. M. are preparing to lend their legal departments and every last ounce of their moral support.

COMA will spend its last dollar. But that will not be enough.

The organization needs more money —considerably more money.

Do your part and do it manfully.

ADOLPH KLAUBER, who blossomed into an independent producer when "Nightie Night" scored, has come out for clean and wholesome plays. He declares—and with emphasis—that he will never produce a play that is suggestive in intent or unwholesome in effect.

Have you looked thru the Letter List in this issue? There may be a letter advertised for you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"N. E. M."—The name Nazimova is correctly pronounced na-zim'no-va—a's as in artistic, i as in police, o as in obey.

M. L. H.—We're sorry, M. L. H., to have delayed answering your query. Communicate with the Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

C. G. S.—London. In America there is no question but that the preferred pronunciation of Celtic is "keltic." All lexicographers also give "keltic," but invariably place it second.

G. T.—The word "Shtump" is derived from the French word, "Chemise," and was originated by the Southern dandy, who was unable to master the correct pronunciation. A more detailed definition of the word is being conveyed to you by mail.

Reader—We have no address of either the Mohr Exposition Shows (formerly Mohr & Reynolds World Expo. Shows) or F. P. Bittle, whom you claim is connected with the attraction. We suggest that you address a letter in our care and we will advertise same for you.

Van B. K.—(1) "Paddy the Next Best Thing" is an adaptation. It was taken from a novel by Gertrude Page, popular in Great Britain, by two English playwrights, viz.: Gayler Mackay and Robert Ord. (2) It had a long and prosperous run in London. (3) It has not found high favor in New York. (4) Those who have seen both productions attribute this fact to the personality of Eileen Huban and her conception of the principal role.

T. F. D.—There are two ways of selling a composition, either outright or on a royalty basis. Before submitting your manuscript to a publishing house see that it is in legible form. In a great many cases the publisher feels justified in rejecting a composition received otherwise. Yes. The merits of the composition and the probability of its being a salable number rests entirely with the publisher. Further data on this matter can be obtained by communicating with any music publishing concern.

MAGIC AND MAGICIANS

Edited at the Cincinnati Office of The Billboard. Where Letters and News Items Will Be Gratefully Received

Who is Kermis? Ask Louis King. He knows.

Magical Ovette is playing the Western Vaudeville.

Justin Fox is doing a comedy act over the Fox Time.

Zelo is now busy playing clubs around New York City.

Servais Leroy is again in New York, coming from South Africa.

Bill Weinberg is still with Rosini, the Napoleon of Mystery.

What has become of The Great Leon? We have not heard of him lately.

Thurston's show opened September 27. Joe White is back with the show.

Waters is back in New York City after his tour extending over three months.

Joe Dunninger is so busy filling dates he scarcely has time to collect his salary.

Julius Dressbach opens shortly with his single, billed as "Ten Minutes With Ten Fingers."

LeRoy Talma and Bosco are back from South America and are arranging a route for the coming season.

Clinton Burgess, Julius Dressbach and Jack Donnelly are the three American aces when it comes to handling the cards.

Magicians seen on Broadway last week—Roland Travers, Goldin, Richards, Thurston, Krelger, Donnelly and others.

Horace Goldin and Carl Rosini are standard acts on the big time this season and are doing well with their respective turns.

Great Raymond has resumed his English bookings after a holiday in America, and is playing to capacity everywhere.

De Mont is playing and demonstrating tricks at Martinka's American Music Hall, New York, the place that stood the test for over fifty years.

Harry Keller has completely recovered from his recent illness. He has been spending his time recently tackling the sword fish off Catalina Island.

Carter continues merrily and successfully on his tour of the world, the last place he appeared to our knowledge being Melbourne, Australia.

The editor is in receipt of a French magic publication known as Le Prestidigitateur, which contains some interesting and instructive articles on the art of magic.

Ziska says: "My vanishing automobile is a success over the Western Vaudeville and all my credit goes to Donnelly, who holds all the rights to this effect."

George L. Hall, featuring "Mello," master mentalist, will reopen in Michigan October 4. He has a new magic and illusion act which promises to be a winner.

With the Nickards at the Fifth Avenue, Donnelly at Proctor's 23rd Street, and Lavoll at the Hislem Opera House magic seems to hold its own in the big city.

The Chicago Conjurers' Club is getting there in great shape now. It has a permanent club room where all visiting magicians can generally find someone to visit and talk with.

Kermis, the Persian magician, is coming our way soon. He has just arrived with a large company and over a ton of baggage. Special scenery and effects make the act gorgeous.

Who is the magician that played the Halsey Theater, Brooklyn, last week? The act should be billed "The End of a Cyclone," as it was so fast it dazed the audience and went over big.

There's a rumor around New York that a certain magician lost $10,000 in Wall street stocks. Sometimes a good magician makes a bad investment, but with his mystic fingers he should try to get it back.

Released last week—a chalk talk book that is a real one. Written by Dr. Harlan Tisbell and published by H. S. Paine. The contents—well, it's just chock full of pictures and, to those interested along the chalk line, you will get your money's worth.

Harry Houdini and Adolph Seeman met in The Billboard office on Mr. Seeman's last visit to New York. They shook hands and immediately declared a magical affinity. What these two did not recall of "days before" in magic is telling stories out of school.

Rufus Steele, who makes Chicago his headquarters, is on a two months' trip to the Pacific Coast, working various Rotary clubs en route. Pretty soft pickings: A pack of cards for baggage, no agents' commissions and no rehearsals.

Magical Irving, the eccentric magician, who is now with the Col. Francis Ferris Shows, is receiving quite a bit of publicity in the newspapers. He closes the season October 16 and will then enter vaudeville with his act, "An Honest Living by Fooling the People."

Henri D'Rubio of San Francisco has arranged to republish a new edition of T. Nelson Downs' well-known book, "The Art of Magic." It will be a de luxe edition and should have a big sale, as Downs' is the acknowledged master of coin and other magic.

Louis King retired from the stage last July after being in the magical offering of Ziska and King for twenty-three years. He has nothing but praise for Ziska and sums up all his qualifications in "veritable artist." Mr. King is now producing magical and illusion spectacles for the Keith Booking Exchange. The first one was "Hippolusion" and is now working. As fast as he can get talent he will launch these acts, says Mr. King. He claims there is no better builder than Jack Donnelly, who is now with him.

The Great Travelutte show was the opening attraction at the Orpheum Theater, Lawton, Ok., and played to big business for eight nights. Dr. Travelutte, known as the Mental Miracle, has a unique entertainment, carries a spectacular production and gives an amazing exhibition of magic and hypnotism.

The Great Pitroff, the mystery master, will close his summer season October 1 at Starlight Park, New York City. The season has been a great success. Pitroff is now arranging his road show of wonders. The company will play the larger cities of the South and a carload of illusions and magic will be carried.

The Wizard George, well-known magician, was a caller at the home office of The Billboard last week. He is resting at present, due to the illness of two members of his company, but expects to open again shortly. He is at work on a new and clever levitation act that he hopes to present during the coming season.

Magic seems to be much more in demand this season than ever before by the public as well as the managers. Vandeville has taken some, productions a few, lyceum, chautauqua and lecture courses a great many more and yet several of them are coining money and fame at the head of their own shows.

Mysterious Reed in "Mysteries of the Mystic World," is having a successful season with the Columbia Floating Theater. Prof. Reed is introducing for the first time on the river the famous torture board escape act. He has just been awarded contracts over a Southern vaudeville circuit for the coming winter.

George Bradford, agent for P. Kara, "The Men With 1,000 Eyes," was a Chicago visitor last week. He has been in Michigan all summer and will add people and properties to the show. The show is booked solid for the fall and winter season, playing its last year's ter-you almost forget the wonderful vocal organ that is giving it to you. Mr. Mercer has a big reputation among those who know in the musical world, and he demonstrated yesterday afternoon that he deserves said reputation.

MORE I. L. C. A. CONVENTION

His message to America is of very doubtful value, for he dilutes the gospel of love with such insidious invitations to bootleggers and home brewers that he sinks into the class of vaudeville and cabaret punsters who appeal to anarchy, disloyalty and the lowest form of conviviality for a little disgustingly cheap applause.

Prohibition is a part of our fundamental law in the United States, and such appeals as the reverend makes are neither good morals or good Americanism, and, as we have repeatedly rapped the vaudeville acts for stooping to this low back-alley slush, we feel that to be consistent we should hand out the same criticism even to the anointed.

His message of love should be too high and holy to mix it with humor of such questionable type. He should use clean humor, wholesome fun and uplifting sentiment. We are certain that our English brother could learn a lot in good taste, good Americanism and even better showmanship if he were to study Ada Ward's manner and message and read Ralph Biagham's paper on the province of humor.

If our British brother wants to make war on prohibition he should do so in a legitimate way. There is a place for this. He should fight as Clarence Darrow does—out in the open. When you go to hear Darrow you know you will hear a sincere discussion of a great problem.

Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador to the United States, has just said: "Prohibition has attracted the attention of the governments of the world. This problem is too serious to be treated as a relic of the barroom days when men discussed even salvation in proportion to the booze they guzzled."

In America people are waking up to the fact that breaking of the law at one point is like the leak in the dike, which, if not stopped, quickly sweeps away the whole structure, and all people are engulfed in lawlessness. The issue at stake in sustaining the eighteenth amendment is more vital than the wet and dry issue. It is a question of maintaining the foundations of government. Those who encourage violation of law, whether they be public officials, private citizens, priests or atheists, have no right to complain when the anarchist throws his bomb or the so-called Bolshevik hurls a brick thru the window.

The talk given by Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who was sent there to represent the National Democratic Committee, was a model of clean cut, clear thinking. He was unanswerable in his arguments. He placed his cause on a high plane and never once stooped down in his work. He reached up at all points and certainly made the League of Nations issue so fundamentally right that to those who heard him it would take more than right thinking to turn one aside—prejudice alone could undo what he hid.

The Republican National Committee fell flatter than a proverbial pancake in its efforts to supply a speaker for Republican day. Ex-Congressman Humphreys was supposed to be headed for the convention, but whether he got cold feet or was too wise to try his powers in that arena is hard to say. Anyway he sent or someone sent the usual political message that it would be impossible for him to appear. Surely he was advertised and the audience was all there.

Dr. L. G. Herbert was rushed into the breach and made a wonderful impression with his lecture, "The Crisis and the Cull." His earnest and sincere message won all hearts, and it was the unanimous verdict that all were glad that the political dopest failed to arrive.

We will present some other facts about talent and measures in our next issue.

dramatic art. She will make a specialty of coaching readers, singers and companies in preparation for lyceum and chautauqua. Enid Markley, film star, recently seen in Chicago in "Up in Mabel's Room," is a former pupil of Miss Doyle.

The music publishers in attendance at the I. L. C. A. convention worked so harmoniously together that they decided to make their work a permanent feature of the lyceum and chautauqua movement. C. Wilson Reed, of Jerome H. Remick & Co., was elected president of the music publishers, with Miss M. V. Joseph, of M. Witmark & Sons, as secretary. Harry M. Holbrook, of the Leo Feist Music Co., was made generalissimo, with the duty of furthering plans to better serve the musicians of the lyceum and chautauqua profession.

MARGARET ANGLIN

—IN—

"THE WOMAN OF BRONZE"

By Paul Kester. (From the French of Kistemaecker.)

Art is a terrible thing! The art of getting a rise out of people is a more terrible thing! But the art which moves people to hysterics is—well, what are you going to do about it?

Here is the exact case. Margaret Anglin is playing "The Woman of Bronze" at the Frazee Theater. Miss Anglin is an emotional actress. Her emotion is so emotional that it is almost impossible to suppress it. If Miss Anglin says "It is a fine day!" (center stage) she says it so emotionally that if you had the heart of a landlord your spectacles would immediately get misty. There is no reason for tears, but no one can resist. When Miss Anglin turns her back to the audience (center stage), emotionally, of course, and blows her lady like nose, the deluge can no longer be checked. Tears pour down your cheeks. But when Miss Anglin, as a good, true and noble wife, is going to lose her husband with a million dollar prize in his sculptor's reach, because he is running away with a young hussy who plays the violin and has a drunken father, you are literally inundated by the tearing surge of tearful seas which billow all around you.

And if you are a married woman it is plain hell. That's what it is, plain hell!

I know. Who shouldn't? Next to me sat a young woman. Around her neck she had a long string of pearls. She had a lace handkerchief loaded with Coty's "Oreal" and a tender soul. She set herself for a good evening's cry the minute she sat down by shoving my arm off my chair. The play began. The first act she sniffed and stuffed her handkerchief in her mouth. The second act she sobbed openly and chewed her pearl necklace like a child's string of Job's tears. In the third act, when Miss Anglin lost her husband and he went out into the night with the fiddling hussy, she let a war whoop out of her that all but started a riot in MY immediate vicinity! She chewed a glob out of the handkerchief! She bit the necklace apart so that the poor pearls went babbling under the seat. Being a gentleman I had to help her pick them up. Everyone thought she was with me, which made me sore. Then a great light dawned on me. SHE WORE A WEDDING RING!

What could the poor girl do? That's the reason "The Woman of Bronze" is hell for a married woman—and the poor fish who sits next to her.

When the show was over and the audience waded thru them to the street an ambulance clanged madly down Forty-second street, going towards the Frazee Theater. Ever since the thought haunts me that perhaps I didn't pick up all the pearls! Perhaps the poor girl swallowed half the string! Perhaps the young doctor so busily rooting in a medical kit bag on the back of the ambulance as he passed me was searching for a stomach pump!

"A Woman in Bronze" is plain hell for a married woman unless she leaves her pearls and her teeth safe at home in the top drawer of the bureau before she goes to the Frazee Theater to see Miss Margaret Anglin emote.—PATTERSON JAMES.

About This Season's New York Productions

THOMAS DIXON Presents

His Drama of the Supreme Crisis in the Life of Abraham Lincoln

"A MAN OF THE PEOPLE"

Staged by Augustin Duncan

If Thomas Dixon's drama was the best play on the subject that could possibly be written it could not succeed in New York, where John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" has been running for almost a year. Mr. Drinkwater beat Mr. Dixon to the punch. That is all there is to it. "A Man of the People" has left New York for the great unknown of the road, but that does not mean it is a failure. It simply could not stand up under the opposition of an established success dealing with the same central figure, tho it is totally different in every particular. No play could.

Taken as a play Mr. Dixon's is by long odds the better. It has not the poetic diction nor idealization of Drinkwater's "Lincoln," but it is more life like. The Drinkwater characterization is a book Lincoln. Dixon's is a something approaching the real man. The English writer's chief character is a somber individual with the premonition of his end over him. He has none of the earthy quality of the Illinois rail splitter, and none of the broad humor, which was one of Lincoln's most salient traits. It displays no trace of the ambition which he unquestionably had. Drinkwater's Great Emancipator is a man of gloom overborne by the weight of his job, a figure of somberness and brooding. There is no real life in him.

In "A Man of the People" all these points are touched upon sincerely and honestly. It is no great secret that Lincoln wanted to be president the first time that he sought the office, and having been elected wanted a second term to vindicate his policy and to finish the work he felt had to be finished in his way. It is equally well known that pressed by an opponent he resorted to a roughshod humor to discomfit the man who was fighting him. The scene between Lincoln and the Republican National Committeemen, with Thaddeus Stevens, as the bitter radical, carrying the fight to the president and being defeated by just such a method of ridicule, is excellently displayed. The sections of the play dealing with Lincoln's innumerable gentleness toward the afflicted and distressed are particularly good, especially the interview with the mother who has lost two sons. The epilog, which shows the president standing between the pillars of the Capitol reading his second inaugural address, is so effective a bit of stage craft that it received curtain call after curtain call.

Comparisons between the characterizations of Frank McGlynn and Howard Hall, who is the Lincoln of the Dixon play, are unnecessary. Mr. McGlynn plays the role as it is written and directed by Mr. Drinkwater and does a fine job. Mr. Hall, whose face does not lend itself so easily to the image of the president, is obliged to resort to the artifice of the makeup box, but he does an equally excellent job. John C. Hickey, as Thaddeus C. Stevens, is uncommonly good. Would there were more women on our stage with voices like Angela McCahill. It is incomparably lovely and has an exquisite artistry behind it. There is a fine assortment of whiskers of all sorts worn by the National Committeemen, and a gentleman made up as the editor of The New York Times exemplifies perfectly what people who do not like The Times think the editor of that newspaper must look like even today.

"A Man of the People" should have a prosperous season on the road. It deserves it.-PATTERSON JAMES.

About This Season's New York Productions

Edgar J. MacGregor and William Moore Patch Present "THE SWEETHEART SHOP"

Book and Lyrics by Anne Caldwell. Music by Hugo Felix. Entire Production Under the Stage Direction of Mr. MacGregor. Musical Numbers Staged by Julian Alfred. Scenery by Robert Law Studios.

"The Sweetheart Shop" was a great success in Chicago. Whether they are easy to please out there or we are too effete here to enjoy sweetly-sweet things is a question. However "The Sweetheart Shop" was a popular success in Chicago. While there is nothing new either in the story or its treatment the music is tuneful and there is in the cast a comedy lady named Esther Howard who is effective despite the handicap of a most fearsome feminist wig and none too funny situations. Miss Howard is not pretty and loses no time worrying over that fact. But she has a vigorous sense of comedy, she doesn't scream her points and she dances and disports herself entertainingly. With better material she has the makings of a valuable asset to the musical comedy stage, where funny women are painfully rare. She knows what she is about, she does not pose and she does not laugh at herself. A girl who knows the first rule of comedy playing, which is never to permit an audience to know you know you are funny, deserves success.

Daniel Healy dances gracefully and agreeably, and Una Fleming, as the maid, Peggy, is a genuine joy. She is pretty and unaffected, she can sing tolerably, she dances very well and she has winsomeness. All of which are worth more than being squandered on a bit part. The opening number of the third act, "The Dresden China Belle," which she does with the chorus (which is not at all hard to look at in any time during the evening), is the best of the show.

Harry Morton, like all the Mortons, is an indefatigable worker. He is a good dancer and he has no fear of an audience, a heritage of his training in burlesque. It is unfortunate that he conveys the impression of such perfect satisfaction with himself and will laugh at his own actions. In a world where self-approbation is not unusual Mr. Morton's contentment with himself is appalling. Burlesque stars do just about as they please on the stage. There is no restraint on a player's initiative in the burlesque theaters. It is responsible for that institution turning out so many truly excellent performers. But it also has its drawbacks, because the absence of proper stage direction falls to check unpleasant tendencies on the part of featured comedians. Musical comedy needs young men who have the unquestioned talents of Mr. Morton, but high-class audiences prefer that approval should come from them to an artiste and not from an artiste to himself. If Mr. Morton will forget himself completely he will go on steadily, but at present his mannerisms, real or assumed, are a serious drawback to his advancement.—PATTERSON JAMES.

About This Season's New York Productions

SAM H. HARRIS PRESENTS

"WELCOME STRANGER"

By Aaron Hoffman. Staged by Sam Forrest.

There is a story going the rounds of Broadway that instead of "Welcome Stranger" being the handiwork of any one man it is really the composite product of several gentlemen who know all the gas in the world, all the effective stage bits, and all the sure-fire situations ever invented. Whether there is anything in the rumor or not, time will tell, but one thing is certain—all the abovementioned things are in the piece. And the public, or a section of it at least which contributes largely to the support of the theater, eats it up and yowls for more.

There is no disguising the fact that "Welcome Stranger" is a bit of propaganda intended to counteract anti-Semitic feeling. If it is as effective as it is amusing in many places there will not be a Jew-baiter left. The scenes are all laid in a New England town, where there are no Jews and where they do not want any.

A Yiddish drummer has been practically ejected from the sole hotel in the place to the great satisfaction of all the leading citizens, including the Mayor. Enters a stranger, Isidore Solomon, who is going to try to open a dry goods store. Fine chance he has! How he secures a runaway girl, how he takes the village electrical genius who is also the village laugh and gives him the assistance and help his Christian neighbors refuse him, how he exposes the Mayor, who is a crook and a Jew masquerading under the name of a "goy," and how he makes the town over into a live community is set forth with all the speed of a twenty-minute vaudeville act and just about as much plausibility.

George Sidney, who is to be starred in the play, makes it. He plays quietly and effectively, and as he is an actor of long schooling in almost every phase of the show business he knows the value of every "if," "and" and "but." He is never stagey oratory. For this all thanks! The rest of the cast is excellent. Edmund Breece as the story-hearted Mayor, Ichabod Whitson, formerly Isaac Wolfson, does a journeyman's job, and David Higgins, as the village inventor, is pleasantly natural.

Of course the story is impossible. It never could happen in New Hampshire or Vermont. Two Jews once tried to make their living by trading with the Yankees across these two States. They died of starvation before they posted Rutland.—PATERSON JAMES.

About This Season's New York Productions

DAVID BELASCO Presents FRANCES STARR

"ONE"

To a certain class of showgoers the Belasco Theater occupies the same affectionate place in the amusement world as that held a generation ago by the Eden Musee. Mr. Belasco is to them the producing Homer who never nods. These people enter the show-house on Forty-fourth street as reverently as Brahmias a holy shrine. Whatever they see inside is both inspired and artistic. The utterances of the High Priest, which in this case happens to be the stage entertainment offered by Mr. Belasco, are infallible, heaven born, and not to be questioned. The hocus-pocus that surrounds 'Idol worship is present when the gong booms to warn the worshippers that the ceremonies are to begin. The lights are lowered slowly to get the desired receptive mood and then the services begin. It is all quite like the bunk gone thru by the clairvoyants whom the police chased off the East Side some years past.

The dreary pastime of sitting thru Edward Knoblock's "One," which for the time being is occupying the stage of the Belasco, heightens the spiritualistic seance impression. Certainly no blindfolded, fat trance medium ever let loose such a mess of preposterous bosh as that which is seriously offered in "One." The story is a mustard seed is that of twin sisters who have only one soul between them, a kind of psychic 'arf-and-arf. Neither Pearl nor Ruby, for so are the twins named, is anything but a demitasse spiritual entity. In order to function properly and happily they must get into communication with each other, when separated, by gazing into the heart of a red, red rose and calling out the front window: "Are you thereyab?" If there is no red rose a red flannel petticoat might do, but no one could dream of such a crude thing as a flannel petticoat in a Belasco production. Both sisters are in love with the same man. They both cannot have him any more than they can have a full portion soul. So Polly decides to deed over her half of the soul estate to Ruby, or Ruby does to Polly, it doesn't make any difference about the name, by dying. It would never do to commit suicide, because the effect on the living "twinnie" would be as unpardonably rude as for an actor on the Belasco stage to speak or act like a real human being. Under the counsel of a satanic old physician one twin decides she will expose herself to pneumonia and die and all will be well. Mr. Knoblock overlooked a grand idea when he didn't make the lady go on a McSwiney hunger strike. That would have been intelligent in these profiteering days!

There is not a line of sane sound thinking, a bit of real drama, or a vestige of reality in the play. For expressing sentiments not half so loony as those in the piece a man has recently been extradited from Canada and put in a mad house. To waste time considering seriously such a hopelessly undergraduate attempt at psychological theorization would be even more exhausting than watching the play. The program describes "One" as "A play of immateriality transmuted into terms of the real thru the medium of the theater." If you stop after the fourth word and accent that one you have the real description of the whole affair. The program also contains quotations from Leonardo da Vinci, Bulwer-Lytton, Sir William Crookes, Camille Flammarion and W. K. Clifford. The only other great philosopher omitted is the well known and justly esteemed citizen of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Mr. "Butch" McDevitt, whose theories are of far more importance than Mr. Knoblock's and vastly more diverting.—PATTERSON JAMES.

STREETMEN, NOTICE!—Here's a money-maker. Never Home Razor Paste! Cut wood with razor for demonstration, then apply a small amount of paste on atop. Then strip two or three times and you will have a razor that will cut a hair. Also will enclose formula for clearing carpets without taking up. Send me a one-dollar bill for both formula. F. J. BRINK, Grose, Oklahoma.

FRANCE FOSTER-MOTHER TO ART

The unveiling the other day of a memorial statue to Wilbur Wright at Le Mans reminds us how, despite the upheaval of war and reconstruction, France continues to be the generous foster-mother of art and invention to all the world. Such a memorial is well, but it was a thousand times better that France offered to the Wright brothers, at the moment when they needed it most, the facilities and the inspiration to perfect what is perhaps the greatest mechanical conquest of nature that man has yet attained. France extended the assistance that is traditional of her genius to the two North Americans, struggling with a heavier-than-air machine, just as she had already given it to Santos Dumont, a South American, in developing a dirigible lighter-than-air machine, and as still earlier she had brought about the perfection of the automobile, with its gas engine, which made possible both dirigible and airplane. All this is characteristic of the welcome that France invariably gives to the man of creative spirit, just as it is characteristic of our own country, that in printing a photograph of the memorial The New York Evening Post should have mentioned Myron T. Herrick as one of the pooh-bahs who made a speech at the unveiling, but omitted the name of Paul Landowski, the sculptor of the monument. Why, we wonder, did The Evening Post lug in the name of Wilbur Wright? We can not blame the caption writer unduly; he ran true to national form, which invariably ignores the artist, who may have spent years on a work, to center its attention on the prominent citizen in a top hat who bores the crowd with more than a few ill-chosen words. Besides, it is part of the philosophy of the age that the producer in all lines shall starve while the profits of his effort go to the middlemen, who peddle, exploit and advertise it. Only we would have the newspapers more consistent. We suggest, for instance, that when next some king of Wall Street dies, the Evening Post shall omit his name from the obituary, mentioning only that of the undertaker who conducts the obsequies.—THE NATION.

ritory. Mr. Kara has added a chorus of six girls and a big temple scene is featured with Oriental background.

Stilwell, the magician and illusionist, writes that he has just closed a season of ten weeks over the New England Time, playing in connection with pictures, and that he has the time all booked for next season. Stilwell travels by auto. Next season he will carry two acts and will make two-night stands.

T. C. Bonney of Aberdeen, well known as a magician and dentist, is going to contribute heavily to the amateur department in The Sphinx under the guidance of Arthur Spratt of Kansas City. This is an innovation that should be very popular, as it is the amateur that keeps the progress of magic up to expectations.

Walter Baker has finished up all details for this season's act. Walter is one boy that makes magic pay. Every summer you will find him at his summer resort outside of Muskegon, Mich.; takes things easy—regular summer camp, and with the help of the Missus overhauls property, etc., in readiness for the Call of the Road in the fall.

Paul, American magician, and his business manager, J. W. Berry, state it was almost impossible to answer every one of the many replies received from their last ad in The Billboard. A contract has been closed with Jimmie King to look after the publicity end of Paul's show. Watch Paul when he opens his big road show.

METROPOLITAN MAGIC

By Clinton Burgess

At the last meeting of the N. C. A. Bro Frank Ducrot, the clever Brooklyn Headquarters' Magician and manager of the Hornsman Magic Company, of this city, demonstrated two unique pieces of apparatus recently imported, one being an all-celluloid clock dial and pointer, beautifully made and weighing but a few ounces, all parts being unbreakable, and a most wonderful piece of workmanship. The other novelty was a pencil case and a red, a white and a blue pencil, all of which bear minute inspection, yet upon any colored pencil being wrapped in paper and securely enclosed in the case the performer can instantly divine the colors of the pencils retained by the volunteer assistant. The N. C. A. headquarters puts its stamp of approval on these truly meritorious articles and cordially invites all bona fide manufacturers or dealers in magical apparatus to demonstrate some of their wares before its members at its second meeting (held on third Wednesday) of any month.

Chagnon & Company, of 497 Seventh avenue, this city, dealers in French works of every description, have a number of illustrated (paper covered) works in that language on magic and the kindred arts. It is learned, however, that as certain works of this nature were found to treat upon fortune telling, the government has placed a ban upon all publications that might have any reference to this; hence the scarcity in this country of late French works on magic.

Clarence T. Hubbard had a highly interesting article occupying over a column in The Hartford (Conn.) Times of Thursday, September 2, in which he describes the peculiarly constructed fish bowl used by the late Prof. Hartz in his original act known as "Le Chapeau du Diable" (A Devil of a Hat). While Mr. Hubbard states that Hartz produced six of these bowls (which no doubt Hartz was quite capable of doing; it is remembered that when Hartz played Keith's Union Square week of July 30, 1900, over twenty years ago, he produced but one bowl of fish. On this occasion Hartz's hat production consisted of two dozen small varicolored silk handkerchiefs, two dozen (or thereabouts) large colored silk handkerchiefs, two dozen celluloid goblets, about same number of tin cups, three champagne bottles, hundreds of playing cards, silk streamers, glass lanterns (lighted), a wig, the fish globe with gold fish (wig was the getaway) and a cape containing a canary. Hartz always claimed the cage was the only collapsible articles used by him in his productions, but Mr. Hubbard's reference to the fish bowl would show that Prof. Hartz neglected to mention this.

Prof. Louis Krieger, "The Merry Wizard," returned to New York Saturday, September 9, from Stockbridge, Berkshire County, Mass., and has already played several society engagements and is looking others well ahead.

PUBILLONES CIRCUS

Season To Start With Long Engagement at National Theater, Havana—Acts of High Merit Booked

New York, Sept. 22.—The Pubillones Circus will open its season in Cuba at the National Theater, Havana, when that prominent playhouse throws open its doors for the regular season on October 23. The engagement of the circus at the National will be for thirty or thirty-five weeks. Mme. Geraldine Pubillones, who arrived in New York this week, has booked her entire show thru Frank Wirth, of the Wirth-Blumefeld office. It is composed entirely of the best acts obtainable, headed by the famous Bellelaire Brothers. Other feature acts that have been booked are: Olympia Desval Company, the Act Beautiful; Axel Mirano, the Flying Torpedo; Famous Cottrell-Powells, equestrians; Eight Pischmann Troupe of acrobats; Paul Fridin and his Comedy Baboons; Billy Lamont Trio, wire artists; Randow Trio, novelty gymnasts and clowns; El Rey Sisters, classic skaters; Peter Taylor's Eight Male Lions; Carletta Contortionists, novelty act; Rolanders, comedy acrobats; Mirano Brothers, Spanish clowns; Tay and Wife, musical clowns. The booking, according to Mr. Wirth, represents a gigantic show, several other acts being under consideration to add to this bill, for the Havana engagement only. An order has been placed for a new tent and other canvas with the United States Tent & Awning Company, and the Donaldson Lithographing Company is making up a lot of special paper for Pubillones' show. Mme. Pubillones has control of 110 of the 200 advertising boards of Havana, and has arranged for the erection of a huge electric sign in front of the theater. This house seats 4,500, and the top for the season will be $25 for box seats.

HOWE'S GREAT LONDON SHOWS

All with the Howe Great London Shows were destined to deep disappointment when they had made arrangements to exchange visits with the John Robinson Shows at Corsicana, Tex. Every one gave a hand to help get the show loaded and train was ready to move at 11:05, but the train crew failed to show up and did not arrive to get the train started until six o'clock the next (Sunday) morning. However, here's howdy from all with this organization to the folks with the Robinson shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeMars visited at Stuttgart, Ark. Fred spoke very highly of the show. C. H. Johnson has taken charge of the side-show canvas. He has been associated with Mr. Curran for nine years.

The "old-fashioned" concert has been going over big with the large attendance which remains for the "after show," in which appear Frank DeRue and Edw. J. Limoges, in a black-face turn; Fred Palmer, in a dancing act; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Knight, in a silly kid sketch, and a wrestling feature by Peter Dematrouff and Loua Fregoniar.

Business with the "ZaZa" Show since Mr. Crum has had the management has been phenomenal.

George W. Ross, the show's detective, arrested two colored alleged pickpockets, who had been trailing the show, at Stuttgart. One drew a fine of $100 and costs and thirty days in jail and the other $50 and costs and thirty days in jail.

Stuttgart, Ark.—Sunday and Monday both very hot, but despite the atmospheric conditions, thousands turned out to witness the parade. Big business in the afternoon and capacity at night.

Fordyce—Another hot day. However, fair business at both performances.

Stamps—The last stand in Arkansas. Arrived late and had a long haul. Had a short parade—it met itself coming back, as the No. 1 band was back on the lot as the eastlope was leaving. Large attendance at both performances.

Naples, Tex.—First stand in Texas. Short haul and short parade. Business fair at the matinee, with capacity attendance at night.

Gilmore—Thousands turned out to see the parade, but very poor business was done there. Athens—Long haul and parade. Fair attendance in the afternoon, but big business at the evening performance.—EDW. J. LIMOGES.

GENTRY BROS.' PICKUPS

The Gentry Bros.' Shows are sure having some turnaway houses since they returned to Texas, also some very hot weather.

Steve Savage continues to pack them in the concert, and Henry Evgard is all smiles, as he has broken all records for the side-show this season. Bud and Liabe Davis left at Tuscon, Ariz., to take over a new theater in that city. Bob Stiles is getting along nicely with his broken arms.

Frank Loving and wife joined the show at Beeville, Tex.

Some circus folks are talking of "the closing stand," but this is not yet in sight with this show, as it stays out until the middle of December.

LOWANDE BROS.' CIRCUS

To Sail on November 17

New York, Sept. 22.—During a recent call at The Billboard office Alexander A. Lowande stated that the firm of Lowande & Gardner Show Company had been dissolved, and that on August 19 a partnership had been formed between him and Oscar Lowande. The new firm, according to Mr. Lowande, will be known as Lowande Brothers' Circus, and it will sail on November 17 from New York for San Juan, Porto Rico, for a tour of twenty-four weeks as follows: Twelve weeks in Porto Rico, six in San Domingo and six in the Panama Canal zone. All people have been engaged, forty-five in all; twenty-eight performers and a twelve-piece, all-male brass band. The circus will be one ring with two stages under a hundred-foot roundtop, with two forties. No side or pit show will be carried.

SELLS-FLOTO QUARTERS

Put in Shipshape and Buildings Added

The winter quarters of the Sells-Floto Circus at Denver, Col., have undergone a complete process of renovation and two new buildings built. One of the new structures is fifty by twenty-nine feet in dimension and the other fifty by twenty-four feet, the estimated cost of them being in the neighborhood of $15,000. Everything about the place has been put in first-class condition and many improvements added. It is thought the big circus will close its season about the last week in October.

CIRCUS TO BE WELCOMED

Pittsburg, Tex., Sept. 22.—Pittsburg has again been discovered by a big circus in Texas and it was to the Sells-Floto advance that all honor is due. Pittsburg is a pretty little town on the "Katy" and the Cotton Belt railroads at their junction in Camp County in Eastern Texas; paved streets, electric lights and all modern conveniences. The agent found the city clerk, the owner of the only picture show, a most congenial fellow and he proved to be a half-fellow-well-met, as he helped him secure a lot within a stone's throw of the court house and postoffice, and in many other ways showed the hospitality to be found among the citizenship of this town of about 3,000, with a rich territory surrounding in all directions. Also with many good towns that are within twelve to thirty miles and a myriad of owners of automobiles that think nothing of coming thirty or forty miles to Pittsburg. Sells-Floto Circus is the first big show to come to Camp County in 20 years, so the writer is told, and it is a foregone conclusion that the Sells-Floto people will be well treated and will speak a good word for the hospitality that they will find here. Now that the ice again is broken the people here hope to find that the good word has gone ahead and that Pittsburg, Tex., will be on the list of other big shows in the future. A new Mayor and "city fathers" have brought about the change.—FRANK WHITE.

UNDER THE MARQUEE

By CIRCUS SOLLY

Marinella, ring performer, is in his twenty-sixth week with the Sells-Floto Circus.

Joe Martin, the ape, is more famous than some that have hair on their heads only, says a circus performer of note.

Bob Hanley's former clown on the Yankee Robinson Circus, is reported as now being in the dance hall game at Kansas City, Mo.

Old Snyder, the big bill with Sells-Floto, is gone. And "he" is missed by many an old trouper, who looked upon "him" as a "friend."

The Sells-Floto Circus plays New Orleans for two days, October 2 and 3. This is the first large circus to visit the Crescent City this season.

A communication from Oklahoma City, Ok., states that Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey's Circus gave two splendid exhibitions there to enormous patronage on September 18.

Karl Kortbals, well-known alto player, who has trouped with the Mighty Haag, Andrew Downie and Sparks' Shows, and with Guy Bros.' and DeLuz Bros.' Minstrel, is now located at Hawolle, Me.

Leahy Bros., comedy ring gymnasts, late of Cook Bros.' Circus, joined DeLuz Bros.' Minstrel at Hove, Me., and are booked solid until next April. They will be with one of the leading white tops next season.

Wonder what "Gov. Hiram Hilder" and his "Motorized (One Horse) Show" have done for themselves and the good of the business this season? It has been high onto some long time since the "Gov." has been heard from.

Chester Smith, tramp comedian, of Minneapolis, is reported retired from the road for indefinite period. The cause of this is that Mrs. Smith has for some time been suffering with a broken arch in her foot, necessitating a rest of undetermined duration.

Harry Robertas, acrobat with the Yankee Robinson Circus, one hour, made three loops in an airplane while the show was playing Ponce City, Ok., on September 21, and the sensation so impressed him he looks for another opportunity for a flight at every stand.

An error is called to our attention in the Gentry Bros.' Show letter, issue of September 18, in that it was Bob Stiles, of Stiles Bros., instead of "Jack Riley," who fell from a wagon during parade, and that both his arms were broken instead of one as the notes stated.

The Boston Sunday Post of September 12 had an interesting colored photo reproduction, giving an intimate glimpse of the "home life" of Madame Madelon St. Claire and her two children, with the Sells-Floto Circus. Their "home" consists of a secluded corner under the big top.

Joe and Pete Michen, acrobats, aerialists, equilibrista and Posturers, who were featured at Old Spanish Fort Park, New Orleans, and attracted favorable comment as principal attraction at the amateur circus, "Saw Dust Circus," in the Crescent City recently, have joined the Walter L. Main Shows for the balance of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bonhomme have closed a successful engagement with the Van-Houssen Show. Mrs. Bonhomme has purchased the Bartlett Hotel at Hartiett, Kansas, where she will welcome all trouper, and where The Billboard is always on file. Mr. Bonhomme has joined the Howe Great London Shows to do his light and heavy balancing act.

Bert Early, late of clown alley on the Walter L. Main Shows, is said to be now meeting with success working a series of fairs for the publicity department of the hygienic branch of the Southern Branch American Red Cross. It is understood that F. Lecourt, also of the Main Shows, has been engaged to go out as lecturer for the same organization.

PERU, IND.

(near Cincinnati), made a hurried call on The Billboard on Tuesday of last week. Solly was not in the office at the time, but, according to interpreted remarks, we gather that Jack is not yet fully decided as to his near future activities.

Reports have it that the Ringling-Barnum Show gave no parade at Wichita, Kan., on September 15, as it is alleged the city officials asked $500 for the privilege. It is further stated that the circus management offered half that amount, but this was not acceptable, and as a result thousands of people gathered along the streets over which the parade was advertised to pass were disappointed.

Fred L. Shafer, late boss canvasman with the Campbell, Bailey & Hutchinson Circus, who spent a week with relatives and friends in Cincinnati, again hit the trail for the Southland on Thursday of last week, his destination being New Orleans, with a stopover at Memphis and a few other points. He stated to Solly that he intends again wintering in Cinoy, but is not ready to take up his hibernation so early. He also let it be known that he will be at the head of some department with the B. L. Wallace Greater Shows next season.

Each felt a question has arisen—By word or mouth, an' asked in prose, Ere Jack Frost nips at one's toes— On slippery ice an' chilly snows: The white top trouper, as he goes About the lot, the query flows: In big top, manager, annex shows— The correct answer no one knows. And, now, again, the season throws, Especially when a big act blows, The trouper's heart in anxious throes— He wonders when "We're goin' to close."

Seth Tracey, trombonist this season with Gentry Bros., has returned to his home in Great Falls, Mont., in order to attend to the sending of his children to school. Incidentally, he has again taken up his profession as a barber. Commenting on Tracey's return the Great Falls Daily Leader includes the following: "Aside from barbering, Tracey has musical talent, and with his trusty trombone he found opportunity to satisfy his appetite for travel in the circus band. Speaking of appetites, he avers that his appetite kept the show from making any money this season. 'It's surprising what an appetite that outdoor life gives,' he comments."

The following appeared in The Denver Post of September 18: "A marriage of interest to hundreds of friends, including the stars of the vaudeville and circus world, has just been revealed three months and a half after the event. Nellie Terry, formerly of the vaudeville team of Terry and Eimer, became the wife, June 2, of 'Snapper' Garrison, for thirty-two years a circus clown and for fifteen years with The Denver Post. The couple is living at the Brownleigh Arms Hotel, which Mrs. Garrison recently purchased. For thirty years Nellie Terry was prominent in vaudeville, while Garrison was one of the most successful of circus laugh makers."

R. W. Brewer, with "Town Talk," Alexandria, La., writes that several hundred former service men who are patients at the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital at Camp Stafford, near Alexandria, were entertained by a concert rendered by Al G. Barnes' Circus Band Friday, September 17, the day that show played in Alexandria. The band played between the two performances. Major W. H. Baldwin, who is in charge of the hospital, arranged for all the patients to hear the band, which is composed of twenty-one pieces, headed by Director A. Woekener. Some of the members of the band were ex-service men themselves and at least a few renewed old acquaintances, as well as meeting many of the wounded men.

When Frank A. Cassidy recently pulled off a big publicity stunt for "Paramount Week" he experienced difficulty in obtaining a field in Cincinnati large enough for a landing, because of the hills. After two days' search Cassidy found just the spot he wanted, but as it was covered with a growth of clover nearly knee-high he had his doubts about being able to obtain the owner's consent to its use. Long experience in renting circus lots from farmers had taught him that they are given to valuing such fields as worth the clover's weight in gold. The farmer was taking a nap when Cassidy visited his house on Sunday after which wasn't a good omen either. He awakened and the situation put up to him. Rubbing his eyes, he drawled, "If you'll give me half your company's bank account and all your railroad stock you can have the field." Cassidy started to protest and was about to bring all his old circus arguments into play when the farmer continued, "But if you'll give me a ride in the carnsnated thing you can have the use of the field without cost." The farmer got his ride.

And the boys stand by their chef. "Our Dear Solly—Much has been said and told in many issues of your valued paper regarding cooks on advertising car No. 3 of the John Robinson Shows, and it is with regret that we, the undersigned, are forced to say that car No. 1 of the same show has a chef that is a CHEF, and what he prepares simply "melts in our mouths." We did not intend to let this good news get out, but account of so much crowding about cooks on the car behind us we simply must say that we would not refer to Harry Mouton, our wonderful chef, by calling him a 'cook.' Most of the men on this car are getting so fat that if it were not near the end of the season we fear that we would not be able to post bills much longer. When all is said and done we are willing to wager that we have a better chef than any other advertising car on earth." And this is followed by these "handles": O. Ramage, Frank Reed, D. Towles, L. Kelly, H. Bendenman, J. Hart, F. Everett, J. B. King, G. Stoddler, A. Alva, C. McGreevey, R. Rogers, F. Mack, F. Bentley, L. Weber, B. Bleden, R. Bergeln, H. Howard, H. Smith and O. McFadden.

"THINGS I SEE AND HEAR EVERY DAY"

By BILLY EXTON

Was making a move last week between Dallas and Houston and passed thru the town of Eddy, Tex. There was a small show set up on a lot just a few blocks from the station and as I did not see any billing for same, could not get the name of the troupe. But wish to state that it sure was a real clean looking outfit, with a new top and everything in shipshape. It was evidently a motor or wagon show, but the name was not on any wagon or machine on the lot—that is, that I could see.

Oscar Wiley is at Waco and has charge of the billposting plant, and is a very contented "oldtimer."

J. B. Rustin, of the Gentry Shows, was busy in and around Houston, but Ben never stops to talk—only says "Hello" and "Goodbye."

Jack Gilnes, well known among all circus men, came into Houston while I was there, having just closed with the Gentry Shows, and has another "big" thing up his sleeve, which by this time is being put to practical use and getting results.

Met the Lillenthal Bros. They are large wholesale and retail feed merchants and, in reality, are the local show agents and friends of the showmen. They always are on hand to meet the boys, from the local contractor to the twenty-four-hour man, and nothing is left undone in the way of assistance and courtesy. They have a large "Circus Album," in which they have the autographs of almost every circus agent or manager who visits Houston.

At the Majestic Theater in Houston you will find to greet you on the door, Thos (Tonky) Rappoport, a friend to all the trouper, whether big or small show, and who also has charge of the billing in the city. And the orchestra at that same theater; it is in charge of Lloyd C. Finlay, and be just makes the performance go over. I dare say that any time that theater has a weak bill Lloyd will put it over. He has as great an assortment of jazz musical est of a show? If the former, in the title implies, interest will increase, while if the latter the events may become too common.

Mrs. Amy Ford (Texas Amy), whose address now is Box 474, Miami, Fla., wants us to thank her friends for their many letters of condolence and sympathy in the recent birth and death of her little daughter.

From Ottawa, O.—Smith Bros.' Wild West closed a successful park season at River View Park, Detroit, and is now playing a few Ohio fairs. The hands on this show include Arizona Smith, bronk and trick riding and trick roping; Joe Webb, bronk and trick riding, horse roping; Agnes Webb, trick riding; Mary Smith, straight riding; Calvin Smith, trick riding. The members were cast in sorrow at Leipsic, O., on September 20, when the show's little bucking horse, "Funeral Wagon," died.—A. S.

Final results of St. Joseph, Mo., Roundup—BULLDOGGING—First, Fred Atkinson; second, Leonard Ward; third, Delbert Bledsoe. STEER ROPING—First, Johnny Mullins; second, Jim Wilke; third, Hugh Strickland. BRONK RIDING WITH SADDLE—First, C. J. Williams; second, Hugh Strickland; third, Oklahoma Curley. STEER RIDING—First, Powder River Thompson; second, Seapy Williams; third, Oklahoma Curley. BAREBACK BRONK RIDING—First, Seapy Williams; second, Powder River Thompson; third, Slim Riley. TRICK RIDING—First, Kenneth Maynard; Loyd Saunders and Montana Jack Ray tied for second and third. FANCY ROPING—Chester Byers and Johnny Judd tied for first and second; third, Montana Jack Ray, Bob Calem and M. Clancy, Jr., split fourth. California Frank Haffley was a visitor to the roundup the last day, coming from Red Oak, Ia., in an airplane, making fast time and landing at Lake Contrary, just as the show was starting.

Boone's Show Notes—Boone's Circus and Wild West has played to excellent business the past weeks. At present the show consists of two wagons, two autos, seventy head of and fifty-two people. In addition to the show there is a side-show and a "cabaret" after the performance. J. W. Cauble, who has had the paper ahead of the outfit this season, has combined with Sam Wells, of Sayre, Ok., in framing a small Wild West and picture show. "Happy" and "Casey" Smith have purchased the Walls Bros. Wild West, and will start out about the last of September. The Smith boys have been on the Boone Show for the past eight years. The Boone Show will stay out all winter, playing Southern Oklahoma. Manager Pate Boone has purchased a beautiful tract of land sixteen miles east and one mile north of Aledo, Ok., where he intends pulling a real Frontier Roundup in the very near future, and at this writing work is about ready to start on the building of sheds, corral, grand stand and race track.

There can be STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS in bronk riding, trick riding, roping, bulldogging and all other sports of the frontier order. To have only the world's championship for the hands to go after would hardly be a promising proposition so far as local interest in the various States is concerned, as there would be many who would not even start for the honor, and such contests, held yearly, would bring into the limelight but a very small majority of worthy contestants. There are numerous sections of the country wherein the contestants and public would anxiously await each fall the final event in their State, to learn who would be the STATE CHAMPIONS, and it is Rowdy Waddy's presumption that local managers and committees would take far more interest in staging and advancing the "home contest" than to only lend their aid to someone to pull the World's Championship contest toward the close of each season. The WORLD'S event will take its place without any great amount of figuring, as it would necessarily follow. And the winners in the State events could enter for championships in the world's events. But, the main point in order to create interest in this out-of-the-ordinary sport, in either State or international events, is to make them, and keep them INTERESTING, not merely shows. And the all important matter toward making either the State or international awards official is that an ORGANIZATION be formed, not to comprise a few promoters and managers, but with the local associations and committees in each State as members. Now, much has been said on the Association (or Organization) subject, but most of it has been along "World's Championship" lines. An Association is imperative in order to not only retain, but advance, interest, and INTEREST is what brings the money into the box-office. Rowdy Waddy would greatly appreciate letters from local committees, thru their secretaries or other executives, giving their views on the above statements. Address to the Cincinnati office of The Billboard.

From Gordon, Neb.—At the thirty-fifth annual Sheridan County Fair and Roundup held at Gordon September 7-10. Fully 10,000 people passed thru the gates on Thursday. J. E. Montague, of Lusk, Wyo., was arena director; Frank L. O'Rourke, secretary of the association, announcer. Exhibition riding by Myrtle Cox. Red Sublett was on the job and made a big hit. Sammie Garrett did exhibition roping spinning and trick riding. Two hundred Sioux Indians put on a sham battle on Thursday. Frank Carter rode the South Dakota horse, Battlediel, in an exhibition ride Thursday, and also put on some exhibition bulldogging. The judges were Tom Coffee, of Gordon, Neb.; Bewale Hancock, of Lusk, Wyo.; and Louis Reynolds, of Eagle Nest, S. D. There were twenty-four entries in the bucking contest, seventeen in the bareback bucking, fifteen steer riders and eleven in the wild horse race each day. New grand stands had been built and were amply needed to handle the crowd. Also the corrals had been remodeled after the Cheyenne corrals and the hands were unanimous in the opinion that they could not be better. Gordon has always had the reputation of treating the boys on the square and they surely lived up to their reputation again this year. Doubleday was on the ground with his camera and got some very fine pictures. Winners, in order given, follow: BUCKING CONTEST: September 8—R. O. Reynolds, Adam Marshall, Jack Whaley. From Ardmore, Ok., the Ardmore Roundup, staged September 15-18, was a success in every way, good crowds being on hand each of the four days, and the weather was perfect. In the steer roping there were 29 entries, each paying an entrance fee of forty dollars, half of which was added to the purse of $1,000. In addition to this Tom L. Burnett, of Iowa Park, gave five hundred dollars for the roping making the fastest time in the finals, which special purse was won by Eddy Burgess, who spilled one loop, which brought home the bacon to the tune of little more than $800. The bucking horses belonged to James Crawford, Jr. There were only five men who went to the finals and in the finals "Boxer" bucked from under Bryan Roach, who was just about to finish the season without being bucked off. Wild Brahma steers were used in the steer riding, and had there been any finals the judges would have had to hunt a new crew to give part of the money to. Bryan Roach was arena director, Fog Horn Clancy official announcer, Red Sublett clown, Johnny Mullins, Tommy Grimes and Floyd Randolph judges. There were two outstanding special features presented, one being Mrs. Lucille (Mullball) Burnett, who roped and tied a steer each day, showing that since her retirement from the arena she has lost none of her oldtime excellent form; the other being the work of Old Booger (red) (the original), who, although now 63 years old, mounted a buckler the last day of the contest and rode the animal with an ease and grace that was astounding for one his age. Johnny Harrel, Jr., and Turk Garrett were the principals of the local committee, and they proved to be men whose advent into the contest game will be a benefit to the sport.

RED OAK ROUNDUP

Chicago, Sept. 21.—"Fairlie Lily" Allen was a Chicago visitor this week and gave The Billboard the results of the Roundup in Red Oak, Ia., September 14-16. Miss Allen said that there were 20,000 paid admissions on the three days, and that sixty-five contestants were entered. The events and winners were as follows, in order given:

BRONK RIDING, $500—Oklahoma Curley and Tommy Kirnan split first and second, Delbert Bledsoe. STEER ROPING (Two Steers), $400—Frank Roach (1:27), "Soapy" Williams (1:33), Jim Roach (1:49). BULLDOGGING (Two Steers), $400—Slim Mathews (62:25), Delbert Bledsoe (63:15), Buffalo Daniels (67:25). RELAY RACE (Four and a Half Miles)—John Paul, Steve Allen, Buck Smith. TRICK ROPING—Tommy Kirnan, Curley Griffith, Joe Hatter. ROMAN RACE—Curley Griffith, Tommy Kirnan. TRICK RIDING—Tommy Kirnan, Bee Kirnan, Rene Haffley. HALF-MILE COW HORSE RACE—Steve Allen, Buck Smith, John Paul.

"Slim" Allen was the official announcer and manager of the competitions. "California Frank" Haffley and Mamie Francis were other prominent figures in the tournament. "Bud" Timmons was hurt during the Roundup and a benefit was given for him. On this occasion "Oklahoma Curley" rode the famous Kizer in front of the grand stand. A collection was also taken up and the sum of $390 realized. Lonise Hartwig was the only woman riding wild horses with no saddle or bridle.

ESSIE FAY'S SHOW

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Bill Sherman, who has been with the Essie Fay Show, one of the big features of the Con T. Kennedy Shows, has given The Billboard some sidelights on Essie's part of the entertainment. Bill tells it something like this:

"Essie Fay has a real Wild West and Horse Show combined. She also has one of the cleanest and best entertainments of its kind I ever saw. The show carries twenty-five people and thirty-four horses, and has one of the best layouts of bucking horses that ever was gotten together.

"The principals are Jim and Minnie Carry, Bill Sherman, Sandy Warner, Doc Duncan, Elmer Brooks and Miss Fay. An Eau Claire boy recently came on the show and made a wager of $50 with Doc that he could ride 'Brown Jug.' Well, he didn't. Sandy Warren rides all bronks without stirrups removed. Jim Carry, figure in ropes and bronks, and Bill Sherman, that's me, you know, have been acting as arena director and ride bronks. Doc Duncan handles the front better than any man I ever saw. Elmer Brooks and his school of educated horses is one of the big hits of the act. Arabia, the mindreading horse, is an outstanding feature, while Snowball, the posing horse, worked by Minnie Carry, is one of the most beautiful acts I have ever seen, barring none. By the way, it takes five cars to carry Miss Fay's stuff. I will leave the show in Chippewa Falls and will make a few more contests this fall."

WILL CONTEST BEGUN

New York, Sept. 22.—As a beneficiary under the will of Mrs. Margaret Cole, who was left over $1,000,000 on the death of her husband, the late William Washington Cole, well-known circus owner, Dr. Freeman F. Ward was examined before trial in Surrogate's Court on September 21, in a contest by Mary Riley, of Chicago, a niece of Mrs. Cole, who alleges that Dr. Ward exercised undue influence in the drawing up of the will. Dr. Ward denied that he acted as fiduciary agent for Mrs. Cole in handling her finances.

TAMMEN HEARD FROM

In answer to a message sent by The Billboard to H. H. Tammen, a wire was received from Mr. Tammen dated September 20 as follows: "Have had offers for Buffalo Bill title; all have been refused so far. Have under consideration putting out Bill Show ourselves, including a 'Houston' of all well-known Western cowboys." boys."

A letter received later from Mr. Tammen stated in point that there was not yet anything definite decided on the putting out of the show next season, but The Billboard would be informed as soon as a decision is made.

Skating News

FORMER CHAMP VISITS CINCY

Arthur Weinberg, former world's champion speed and long distance skater, was a visitor in Cincinnati last week and paid the offices of The Billboard a pleasant call. Mr. Weinberg is at present with "The Cabaret Girl" Show, but will soon be back in the rink game, where his real interest lies. While in Cincinnati he renewed acquaintance with Fred Nall, with whom he started his skating career, and the two spent several hours in pleasant reminiscences.

Mr. Weinberg started as a skate boy for Mr. Nall at the Coliseum Rink, Chicago, September 28, 1902. He won his first race on October 8 of that year, receiving a pair of racing skates as a prize. He then won eighteen amateur races in a row, quite a record for a beginner. On January 21 of the following year Weinberg met George Scott, world's champion, to skate the best three out of five races, at the Coliseum. Weinberg won the first three races, thus taking the title. Later he was matched with Howard Fielding for the half-mile sprint championship, best two out of three. Weinberg won this title also.

Following this, Weinberg skated in various cities, under Fred Nall, until 1904; met Harley Davidson in a series of races for the one-mile championship and the 5, 10, 15 and 20-mile championship, and retained his title. In 1906 the first six-day race ever held in the United States was staged at the Rollaway Rink in St. Louis and Weinberg won in this event, skated many minor races in St. Louis, then in 1907 met Harley Davidson and lost the championship title to him, the race being staged at the Jal Alal Rink in St. Louis. Later Weinberg took part in many novelty races in Cincinnati, including a race against Chas. (Daredevil) Hall in an auto, winning best two out of three, and a race against a bulldog.

During the balance of the present season Mr. Weinberg intends to visit many of the leading rinks of the country, and he has arranged to represent the company manufacturing the Fred Nall Twin Plate Skates. He inspected the skates while in Cincinnati and expressed unbounded admiration for them.

NEW RINK AT FRANKFORT, IND.

A new roller rink will be opened soon at Frankfort, Ind., under the proprietorship of Chas. Morris and Carl Lawhead, two bustling young men who, while new to the rink game, are going into it with a willingness to learn and the determination to build up a first-class rink. The building is now being put in first-class shape and as soon as the remodeling and decoration is completed will be opened. It is announced that the rink will be equipped with the new Fred Nall Twin Plate skates, and music will be furnished by a mechanical band. It will be the aim of Messrs. Morris and Lawhead to give the public everything worth while in the line of skating acts and attractions, and from the energetic manner in which they are preparing for the season's opening they should make a success of the venture.

MUSIC HALL RINK OPENING

The opening of the winter season of Music Hall Rink, Cincinnati, will take place October 1. Al Hoffman, who has successfully conducted the rink for several years, is again manager and he has an efficient staff of instructors, skate room boys, etc. During the summer Mr. Hoffman managed the rink at Rexford Park, N. Y., and he states that business was exceedingly good there.

Music Hall Rink has been overhauled and newly decorated and will present an attractive appearance for the opening. One of the innovations patrons will note is an attractive display case in which are shown the new Fred Nall Twin Plate Skates, which Mr. Hoffman is handling and for which he has expressed great admiration.

WARNER PARK RINK

On May 1 of next year Klesges plans to open a rink in a large Indiana city. In a $75,000 building built on the lines of the White City Rink of Chicago.

They are members of the American Roller Polo League, with teams in Providence, Salem, Fall River, New Bedford, Lowell, Worcester and Bridgeport. The opening games drew large crowds.

ROLLER MARATHON PLANNED

Preparations are being made by the River-view Boosters' Club, of Riverview Rink, Chicago, for a big roller street marathon to be held in the near future, according to The River-view News, the live little weekly edited by J. A. Forester. These marathons are held annually, and while the one of last year was somewhat handicapped by snowy weather, it is the purpose of the organization to hold the races earlier this year and thereby avoid unfavorable conditions.

TWO FLOORS AT RIVERVIEW

SKATING NOTES

Several of the oldtimers have inquired as to what has become of Ollie Moore, speed and fancy skater. How 'bout it, Ollie? Stratford Roller Rink, Rochester, N. Y., is under way for the winter season, with marked interest being manifested. This popular rink always gets the crowds, and, as a well-known ad states, "There's a reason."

SOLAR AERIAL COMPANY

Doing Big Business—Lieut. Hamilton Completes Busy Week

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 24.—Lieutenant Hamilton, of the Solar Aerial Company, of Detroit, Mich., has just finished a busy week at the Great Michigan Northern District Fair here, where his sensational aeroplane stunting was the feature attraction. He had recently made a hop from Kalamazoo, where, under the auspices of The Kalamazoo Gazette, he stunted almost in the downtown streets. Large numbers went up with him for flights and stunts.

The Solar Aerial Company has been carrying hundreds of passengers from the United States and Canada in its aircraft without accident. It is presenting a set of exhibition programs that include illuminated night flying, wing climbing, plane changing, parachute dropping, stunting of all varieties and spectacular aerial battles that have been given at several State Fairs.

The Detroit headquarters of the Solar Aerial Company is now arranging for a tour of the Southern States, Cuba and Central America.

New York, Sept. 22.—Captain Charles N. Fitzgerald, the aerialist, has received a letter from John Dwyer, inspector New York Police Department, congratulating him on his daring work in connection with the Police Field Day games held August 28. The letter says: "On behalf of the Police Department I desire to thank you for your valuable contribution to the success of our recent field day games at the Gravesend Race Track, King's Highway, Brooklyn, on August 28, 1920, in giving an exhibition the like of which it has never been my good fortune to previously witness. The stunt of standing on the wings of an aeroplane while in motion in the air is of itself rare nerve, but that of thus standing while the aeroplane loops the loop in midair is indeed a phenomenal and daring thing to do. You are certainly to be commended for the daring and nerve displayed in the performance which you gave at our field day games. By direction of Rodman Wanamaker, Special Deputy Police Commissioner; John Dwyer, Inspector, Captain Fitzgerald was recently commissioned a captain in the New York Police Reserves."

RUTH LAW TO TOUR

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Ruth Law, at the close of her fair season, will leave for a tour around the world, in search of something new in aviation wonders. It is hinted that she will select an aviator from each country to stage a realistic air battle. Miss Law says that aviation has got to such a point that each season the fairs are looking for the newest and most sensational aeroplane feats. It is rumored that a company has been organized, appointing Miss Law to purchase one of the largest German Zeppelins and exhibit it in action at the largest fairs next season. Ruth Law's Flying Circus, including Al Wilson, has been a tremendous success at all the leading fairs this season.

artists—and they play "it"—as one will see anywhere on his travels.

At San Antonio I met Walter Neland who has been identified with Sig. Sautelle Shows for the past eleven years and who is now on route with "Thunder Mountain," a big scenic vaudeville attraction.

The Pantages Theater at San Antonio had a real circus bill and included acts of the Five Riding Lloyds, late of the Sells Floto Shows; the Aerial Butters, of the John Robinson Circus, and Dainty Florette, who is doing a single contortion act.

An oldtimer of the white tops and well known around the theatrical quarters of Cincinnati is C. (Bill) Brinkman, who is now chasing props for the Princess Theater at San Antonio.

And assisting the city editor on The San Antonio Express is none other than George Witting, who formerly was connected with the big shows.

Mary McCarthy, who was a member of the "Fashions a la Carte," was taken severely ill during the performance at the Princess Theater, San Antonio, and is now confined to the Surgeons' and Physicians' Hospital, and will be there for the next two weeks. Members of the Loew Road Show, playing San Antonio this week, were very generous in their efforts and visited her and sent out many flowers and luxuries.

John Robinson Circus has played to the greatest business of the season in the past five weeks, Dallas and Fort Worth being complete turn-aways.

MCLAUGHLIN MEETS DEATH

Famed Stunt Man Succumbs to Injuries Received While Changing Planes

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Harry J. (Tex) McLaughlin, dare-devil aviator, died at the Crouse-Ing Hospital here September 20 from injuries received last Saturday afternoon when he was struck by the propeller of an airplane during his performance.

McLaughlin died a "good fellow." He had no contract with the State fair officials to fly Saturday. He had been engaged for five days, and for five days he thrilled thousands. Saturday was the day of the auto races and the commission thought the airplane flights would not be missed. But spectators asked for a flight and the officials asked McLaughlin to fly.

"These people expect me to fly," McLaughlin told a reporter. "I'm going to do it. I won't get paid, except for the advertising I'll get, but I won't lose anything, and all these folks won't go out of here knocking Tex McLaughlin."

His flying togs were sent for, his machine made ready, and immediately after the end of the auto races he took to the air. Jimmy Curran carried him, with Shirley Short flying the second of the planes.

High over the field he attempted to do what he had done hundreds of times without accident—to climb up a rope ladder from one plane to the other. A high wind was blowing, the planes making more than 70 miles per hour.

Falling thrice to grasp the ladder, McLaughlin stood on the wing of the Curran plane and grabbed the ladder dangling from the Short plane in his fourth attempt. As always, he expected the Curran plane to rise, carrying him clear of the whirling propeller. Instead they clung together for one fatal instant—long enough for the ladder to swing him thru the arc of the whirling propeller on the lower machine, whirling at the rate of 1,400 revolutions per minute.

It cut thru his body like tissue paper. The tips of the propeller snapped off. Curran, sitting horrified in the cockpit of his machine, saw blood spurting from the figure of the man on the ladder.

"But he climbed," said Curran later. "He climbed—broken almost in two, he hung on and climbed. It took a real man and more to do that." Short sensed something was wrong. It would take precious time to return to the fair ground enclosure, so he veered to the ground immediately. McLaughlin was dragged but a few feet.

After hurried first aid treatment he was taken to the hospital, where physicians found the propeller blade had ripped thru the big muscles of the back, torn three vertebrae, narrowly missed opening a gash in his kidneys, and let out an immense amount of blood.

Except under the actual operation, "Tex" was conscious thru it all. He talked with his partners and with the physicians who attended him. He joked with the interne on the ambulance. A little rest, he said, and he would try it again.

His mother, whom he met at the fair after a long separation, came to him Saturday and was with him when he died.

The body of the flyer was sent to Groton, N. Y. Tuesday morning, where funeral services were held from the home of his brother, Leon McLaughlin. After his death a local newspaper started a fund for floral tributes, and several hundred dollars were secured in a short time.

W. H. Pickens, of Chicago, manager of McLaughlin, is credited with the statement that as the result of the deaths of Locklear and McLaughlin he is thru with the promotion of thrillers of this character. Pickens was also a manager for Locklear. Pickens, with J. Alex Sloan, of Chicago, was in Batavia conferring with State Fair Commissioner Parker over the McLaughlin contract when the accident occurred.

Pickens received $2,500 here last week as half of the amount called for in the contract. Of this sum he gave McLaughlin $750. Of the balance of $2,500 still due a considerable portion in addition is also due the McLaughlin estate, and will be turned over when the proper person has been designated.

KANSAS FREE FAIR

Breaks All Its Own Records

Altho Rain Mars Opening Day, Decided Gain Is Shown in Attendance and Receipts

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 22.—The Kansas Free Fair has broken all its own records during the fair just closed, and, according to concessionaires, exhibitors and carnival men, it has broken the record of the Western fairs by showing a decided gain in attendance and in revenues.

Despite the fact that the fair opened on Monday with a soaking rain, which really delayed the opening until Tuesday night and kept the Wortham Shows off the lot until the evening of the second day, the fair and the Wortham Shows grossed a greater business than was shown in any year of the free fair. The estimated attendance of the fair for the week was 345,000, a gain in attendance over 1919 of ten per cent. The races and Gordon's "Hawaiian Nights" showed a gain in paid admissions of seventeen per cent. The Wortham Shows went over the top of all records with a gain of more than twenty per cent over 1919. Fred Beckman, manager of the Wortham Shows, expressed himself as more than pleased with the Kansas Free Fair, and he was surprised at the splendid gains shown.

The exhibits of live stock and machinery were the largest ever shown in Kansas. Every inch of space that could be used for displaying machinery was occupied, and every stall in the horse and cattle barns and every pen in the swine and sheep barns were filled, and tents were provided for the overflow.

The concessionaires were pleased and spoke for their spots for next year. There was business for everyone, and everyone thrived, and there was no trouble to mar the week.

ROCHESTER EXPOSITION

Most Successful Ever Held, Despite Rain

The Rochester (N. Y.) Exposition, September 6 to 11, was the most successful in its history, the attendance exceeding 150,000, notwithstanding bad weather.

The gates were opened on Monday morning in a pouring rain, but two hours later the sun was shining, and before nightfall nearly 40,000 people had passed thru the stiles. Then at 7:30 o'clock that evening another deluge came, completely spoiling the night business. Again on Thursday evening and on Saturday evening heavy rains killed the night attendance.

The midway shows suffered the greatest from these night rains, but J. M. Sheesley, who furnished all the attractions, had a fairly good week, and, before closing on Saturday night, expressed a desire to return in 1921. This was quite gratifying to Secretary Edgar P. Edwards, as it was Sheesley's first year at the Rochester show.

An increased number of exhibits in every department made the show the largest in its history. A start was made this year on the long talked of cattle department, and it attracted such a large attendance from the country districts that the management is making plans for an extensive live stock department next year.

The principal outdoor features, other than the Horse Show, were the drills and maneuvers of a picked company of regulars from the 63d U. S. Infantry, known as the "White House Guards." They were accompanied by the regimental band, known during the war as "Pershing's Own Band."

The big night feature was a dancing spectacle, entitled "The Treasure Box," staged by Mrs. Florence Colebrook Wetmore.

All of the officials are so enthusiastic about the results of the 1920 Exposition that plans are now under way to move to a larger site. The exposition has entirely outgrown its present location, and it would not be surprising if within a year or two the city were to commence the erection of a model exposition plant on a 200-acre farm on the outskirts of the city.

SPECTACULAR PAGEANT

To Be Feature in Southeastern Fair

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 24.—The Atlanta branch of the National Drama League will display at the Southeastern Fair a spectacular pageant with more than 1,000 people in the cast. Mrs. Eric Atkinson, president of the local branch, has notified the fair association that the league has accepted its invitation to present the pageant, and that Armond Carroll, the author of the "Shakespearean Masque" and of the Columbus Pageant, has written the program for this year's affair.

The pageant will illustrate Georgia sketches of a historical nature, and will be directed by a New York professional coach.

TENTS FOR EXHIBITS

Riverside, Cal., Sept. 23.—The largest tents in the State have been secured by the Southern California Fair here to hold the displays in the agricultural, horticultural and industrial departments. The fair will be held October 13 to 19, inclusive, and promises to be larger in every department than ever before.

Horse barns have been remodeled, large additions have been made to the cattle barns, and other improvements have been made.

Visitors to the fair will find plenty to interest them, both in the way of educational exhibits and entertainment. Secretary W. W. Van Pelt having arranged a well-balanced program.

GRATIFYING SUCCESS

Attained by Northeastern Wisconsin
Fair

The Northeastern Wisconsin Fair, which was held at Green Bay-De Pere, Wis., August 30-31-Sept. 1-2, proved to be a wonderful success. A meeting of the directors was held September 14 for the purpose of checking up the fair, and the results were more than gratifying. Over $3,500 was cleared, and the total receipts were more than $25,000. It is estimated that over 40,000 people attended the fair. The races were more than excellent, and the exhibits far surpassed those of any previous year.

One thing noticed was that the buildings are not large enough. The plant, as now built, represents an investment of better than $60,000. It is expected that next year $30,000 will be spent to enlarge the present buildings and the grand stand.

The midway did a big business; in fact, everyone reported it as their largest week of the season.

At the directors' meeting the dates for next year were set for August 29, 30, 31 and September 1. Plans are already under way to make the next year fair bigger than the one this year, altho people in this vicinity can not imagine a better fair. More free attractions will be put on and everything in general made a little better.

KEEPING STEP

With March of Progress, Is Georgia
State Fair

One of the leading fairs of the South is the Georgia State Fair, at Macon, of which Harry C. Robert is secretary and general manager. Recently the editor of The Billboard asked Mr. Robert to tell readers something of the coming fair. In response Mr. Robert sent an editorial from The Macon News, entitled "Greater Georgia State Fair," that seems to cover the subject thoroughly and interestingly, hence it is reproduced herewith in part, as the entire editorial would occupy more space than is available:

"Keeping step with the march of progress in all lines of endeavor in Georgia, the 1920 Georgia State Fair will eclipse all former exhibitions held here, the high standard of which has made the State Fair an institution of vital importance not only to Georgia, but to the entire South.

"Advance announcements regarding the big exposition, which will open October 25 and continue thru November 8, reflect the constant and steady broadening of its scope. The educational features of the 1920 fair will be on a larger scale than ever before. Thirty thousand dollars in premiums and purses have been offered, an increase of $3,000 over those of the last exhibition. These additional inducements mean more agricultural, live stock, poultry and other exhibits will be shown, and that the quality will be greatly increased.

"Many improvements have been made at the grounds at Central City Park. A number of large barns, sufficient to care for all livestock entries, have been built or enlarged, and the space for other exhibits increased and improved in proportion.

"The improvements in the foregoing departments have not been at the expense of the others. It has been announced that $6,000 in purses will be paid winners in the races. There will be six days of racing and three races a day.

"Then there will be Merryland with its myriads of lights, shouting spicemen, dazingly garbed performers, wondrous of the world and the riding devices—joy producers so dear to the hearts of children and grown-ups alike. The Johnny J. Jones Exposition will return, bringing many new features. And in front of the grand stand there will be five great platform acts daily, all topnotchers in their classes. Even the musical program will be on a larger and grander scale.

"These are only a few of the many good things that the fair will provide, for arrangements are not complete, and every day some new feature will be added. Julius Otto, president of the association; Harry Robert, general manager; the members of the Georgia Agricultural Society and others working with them are determined to make the 1920 Georgia State Fair the greatest ever held in this part of the country; they are determined to make it an exposition that will set a high mark for others, and there is no doubt that they will be successful."

Stop and Read That Again---and Think what it means to see a man STAND UP ON THE TOP WING OF A PLANE AND LOOP-THE-LOOP. Ringel originated this, the greatest stunt in aviation. No other aerial acrobat has ever dared to attempt it. Ringel accomplished it for the first time at Chattanooga on Friday, September 17th, three days before his Nashville engagement.

Jersey Ringel and His Aerial Circus, Chattanooga, Tennessee:

Dear Mr. Curtis—On behalf of the trustees of the Tennessee State Fair, allow me to express our appreciation of Jersey Ringel and His Aerial Circus, which has been our principal attraction this year.

In the thirty or forty years which I have been connected with the amusement game, I have never witnessed so thrilling an act as that furnished by Ringel, and I sincerely believe that he will be the greatest drawing card in the outdoor show world in the months to come.

I also take pleasure in stating to you that not only was our contract with you observed in every detail, but that you gave us features which you did not promise and which we had no reason to expect. We hope to have this big feature again next year, and you may reserve the dates of the Tennessee State Fair for Ringel and His Circus.

With best wishes, I am,

Yours very truly,

Dear Joe--You got away yesterday before I had a chance to see you, so I am writing to express my personal appreciation, as well as that of the Tennessee State Fair for the wonderful, thrilling exhibition that you gave us.

As you know, I have had occasion in the past few years to see Locklear, Tinney, Wilson, and all of the other outdoor amusement attractions, both big and little, and I am sincere when I tell you that Ringel so far surpasses the others that there is really no comparison. The rest of them were good, but Ringel makes them look like amateurs. He stands supreme as an outdoor attraction, and I believe that he will be America's greatest sensation next year.

His change from one plane to another is as thrilling as that of other noted aerial acrobats, and his standing on the top of a plane while it loops-the-loop simply takes the breath away from every spectator. He is absolutely the best. What more could be said?

If you want any endorsement of his work, let me know. It will be a pleasure to testify to his great value as a drawing card.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) ROB ROY,
Chairman Amusement Com. Tenn. State Fair.

Ringel also changes planes with or without a rope ladder and performs all the other aerial acrobatics. He does all that the others claim to, and then some.

AMUSEMENTS and PRIVILEGES AT PARKS, PIERS AND BEACHES

WITH ITEMS OF INTEREST TO MUSICIANS

PLEASURE BEACH

Is Leased to Park Men

Park Lately Acquired by City of Bridgeport Is To Be De- veloped as Amusement Resort

A group of amusement park men, headed by Elwood Salisbury, have leased Pleasure Beach from the City of Bridgeport, Conn., for a long term of years. Associated in the venture are Fred W. Pearce of Detroit, Mich.; John A. Miller the familiar Roller Coaster designer, of Chicago; Harry C. Baker of Miller & Baker of Baltimore, Md., and Frank Carney, widely known refreshment concessionaire, of New Haven.

Pleasure Beach is one of the historic amusement park sites of this country. It is situated in the Bridgeport Harbor, a comparatively short distance from the mainland, and has the finest bathing beach between New York and Boston. It was the principal picnic resort of this section of the Long Island Sound country for many years and was finally developed into an exposition park and operated under the name of Steeplechase Island by George Tilyou of Coney Island.

It has been closed to the public for a number of years past and was but lately acquired by the City of Bridgeport for park purposes. In line with the modern trend in City Park development, the Board of Park Commissioners desired that the most efficacious plan of development would be to have a first-class amusement park installed on the property.

Numerous projects from various amusement concessions were considered, and in the end the lease was granted to Salisbury and his associates.

A thoroughly modern amusement park will be built on the island between now and the next operating season, and one of the conspicuous features of the improvement will be a large industrial exposition building.

It is estimated that the total cost will run in the neighborhood of one million dollars.

VENICE

Has Shown Phenomenal Growth—Fred Church Talks of Big Coast Resort

New York, Sept. 24.—Fred A. Church, of the firm of Prior & Church, of Venice, Cal., was a caller at The Billboard office one day last week in company with Harry C. Middleton, the general representative of the firm in New York City.

Mr. Church is one of the most prominent amusement men in this country and has a host of friends in the amusement park world. He is at present on a tour of the East looking over the parks and resorts, and especially the Great American Racing Derby rides, of which he is the inventor, patentee and joint owner with Mr. Prior.

While conversing with Mr. Donaldson of The Billboard Mr. Church recited an incident which happened ten years ago and got quite a laugh at the expense of The Billboard representative. In 1910, in company of the late Thos. W. Prior, Mr. Church went to Venice, Cal., then a very small amusement resort. In fact only four years old, and built the big racing coaster known as the "Race Thru the Clouds," from which the firm has grown in pace with the resort until it now has the largest amusement interests on the Pacific Coast. Shortly after the completion of the coaster Mr. Prior, who was conceded to be one of the best publicity purveyors in the amusement game, sent Mr. Donaldson a season pass for the ride, and Mr. Donaldson, in acknowledging receipt of the pastebord, wrote just a line or two as follows: "Thanks very much for the pass, but where the hell is Venice?"

"This perhaps," said Mr. Church, "illustrates best how Venice has in fourteen years grown from a mass of sand dunes to the Atlantic City of the Pacific Coast and the playground of Los Angeles and the West, catering to from 100,000 to 150,000 people on Sunday and with a permanent population of 30,000. There is no closing of the season at Venice, the resort caters to the pleasure loving public 365 days out of the year, and when the East is gripped in the throes of snow and ice on New Year's Eve our amusement rides and concessions enjoy the patronage of a regular Fourth of July crowd. We built a new single track coaster last spring, which opened on May 10, and up to and including Labor Day we carried a few shy of 600,000 people at 15c, which, I am told, is equal to the business of most of the big coasters in the East."

Mr. Church said it was the intention of his firm to build a number of Racing Derbies wherever the best locations could be secured in the parks of the East this fall and during his trip he is on the lookout for attractive leases and locations.

"The Racing Derby has panned out a marvel," he says. "While only three years old we now have fifteen rides throughout the country, two building in Toronto, and Mr. Middleton has just closed for a derby in France and England, and expects to close a number of deals with Eastern parks within a fortnight. It is one of the greatest rides imaginable, having all the thrills and interest of a real horse race and fills the long felt want of the amusement public for something new. If Venice with its perfect weather and climate had the tremendous population of Greater New York to draw from, and the parks and resorts of the East had our climate, what a happy family we amusement people would be.

"I am enjoying every minute of my trip and must say you have in the East and Middle West many beautiful amusement parks and best of all everybody reports the biggest year in history. There is a splendid opportunity for the amusement men of the East to operate in Venice during the winter months and many have already learned of this fact, and Eastern amusement men will always find a hearty welcome from the showmen of the Pacific.

"It may be interesting to note that while the West has largely depended upon the East for new amusements in the past I find that this year 'East is West.' In other words the only three NEW amusements to be found in the Eastern parks and resorts this season originated in Venice, namely: The 'Great American Racing Derby,' 'Noah's Ark' and the 'Tig Slide.'"

LAKWOOD PARK CLOSES

East Mahanoy Junction, Pa., Sept. 23.—Manager Eckert and his staff of employees, together with the concessioners, held their annual outing and farewell day of the season last week. Everybody was in a jolly mood and enjoyed a thoroughly good time.

Win. Theobald has joined a carnival going South, and Choppy has eloped his concession to join an indoor carnival. Thos. Marcus and wife have joined their grandchildren near Allentown. Mrs. Zahn was taken sick and had to lay off at Mahanoy City instead of going to her home in Baltimore.

Manager Eckert expects to add a shoot-the-chutes to the park next season.

SEEKING ALLEGED

BLACKMAILERS

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24.—Detectives are seeking alleged blackmailers who are trying to get $20,000 from the Humphrey family, owners of Euclid Beach Park. A letter was received stating that unless the money was forthcoming a member of the family would be killed. Police placed a decoy package in the rear of the home of D. S. Humphrey and stationed police about the place, but no one appeared for the package. The decoy attempt was followed by another letter, continuing the threats. No arrests have yet been made and no harm has come to the park owners.

SUMMIT BEACH CLOSES

Akron, O., Sept. 24.—With one of the largest crowds of the year on hand, Summit Beach Park closed its 1920 season Sunday night, the final day of a week's Mardi Gras. H. A. Herman, president of the park company, announced Monday that the popular support will enable his company to adopt a program of expansion during the next two years that will make Summit Beach one of the largest and most modern amusement resorts in the United States. The park experienced thirty-seven days of rain the past season. Manager Manchester, announced, H. W. Perry, manager of the dance hall, and Mrs. Perry will leave next week for Youngstown, where Perry will manage Youngstown's largest dance hall, owned by L. O. Beck, of Akron.

BETHUME BEACH CO. ORGANIZED

The Bethume Beach Company, Daytona, Fla., has been organized and incorporated with $20,000 capital, to conduct and maintain parks, pleasure grounds, casino, arcades, bathhouses and other amusement centers. S. S. Richardson is president, G. W. Walker vice-president, T. L. Smith secretary and H. J. Larkin treasurer.

BACK FROM PARK

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Col. F. J. Owens, who has been in charge of the pit shows in Riverside Park during the past season, has opened his downtown office in the Crilly building again as usual, following the closing of the park season.

SILVER SELLS SILVER'S PARK

Bert Silver, with a record of fifty years as a road showman, has retired from the road show business and has also sold Silver's Park at Crystal Lake, Mich., including hotel, cottages, theater, stands, grounds, etc., to a syndicate of capitalists which intends to build up this beautiful spot into a fine park and summer resort.

Mr. Silver and his family now make their home at Greenville, Mich., where he has the only theater in the city, playing vaudeville and pictures.

and five stock exhibits and the usual entertainment features.

New officers for the association were elected as follows: President, Lute Lyell; vice-president, Carl Brock; secretary, E. J. Lamb; treasurer, Frank Buford; members Board of Directors, T. J. Current, Henry Lintz and William P. Kelley.

ATTEMPT TO DEFAUD FAIR IS DETECTED

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 29.—An effort to defraud the Minnesota State Fair out of nearly $400, which had been paid in for tickets, was revealed yesterday with the conviction on petty larceny charges of thirteen young men who had served during fair week as gatekeepers and ticket sellers.

According to evidence heard by F. H. Gibbs, justice of the peace of Rose Township, ticket takers returned tickets to sellers instead of depositing them in the boxes, and held out the money when the tickets were sold a second time. The practice was reported to fair headquarters by a visitor who had detected the scheme.

Justice Gibbs ordered fines totaling $700 after confessions had been obtained from all of the young men involved.

PROSPECTS EXCELLENT

For the Mississippi-Alabama Fair

Meridian, Miss., Sept. 24.—All preliminary arrangements for the Mississippi-Alabama Fair have been completed, and Secretary A. M. George announces that prospects are excellent for one of the best fairs ever held. The fair dates this year are October 11-13, which is a little later than in former years, the latter dates being chosen because of the greater chance of having favorable weather.

President Marks Rothenberg spent a good part of September in the North and East visiting resorts and lining up attractions for the fair. Secretary George has contracted for some of the best free attractions in the country and promises ample entertainment for the thousands who will attend the fair.

Mr. George states that the annual premium list shows a number of new features and improvements over past efforts of the association, especially in the line of the race program, which includes fast harness and running events for each day of the fair, under the direction of Col. Charles E. Reed, of Louisville.

AIRPLANES FOR FALL FESTIVAL

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 25.—H. B. Watkins, secretary of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce, has everything ready for the New Mexico Harvest Festival, to be held here October 7, 8 and 9. He plans to have two airplanes here, and there will be a great diversity of sports and entertainment features.

Some thirty States are expected to have exhibits at the opening of the world corn show, and exhibits in other lines are also expected to be extensive.

ELABORATE FLOATS FOR ANNUAL WHEAT SHOW

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 24.—In connection with the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the International Wheat Show and Exposition, to be held here this month, there have been planned several elaborate parades, and for these events magnificent floats have been constructed. Henry B. Marks, manager, says that this year's show is going to eclipse any heretofore held, from present indications. Exhibits will be numerous and Mr. Marks has arranged a show that will provide something of interest to every visitor every minute of the day.

Special days have been set aside for several cities, and on these days there will be special features, parades, etc., with prizes for winning floats.

TEXAS STATE FAIR

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 25.—With the opening of the Texas State Fair only two weeks away, preparations for the event are virtually complete and Secretary W. H. Stratton is well pleased with the outlook. Fair Park was closed to the public early this month in order to remove the streets and put everything in first-class shape. One of the improvements this year is the enclosing of Gaston Park within the main fair grounds, thus providing considerable additional space. Exposition avenue, which separates the two parks, has been paved for its length thru the grounds, and two new cross streets have been built.

The price of admission remains at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, and a general admission price of 25 cents for evenings. Probably the finest and largest lot of exhibits ever shown in the State have been gathered together, and Secretary Stratton also has provided amusement and entertainment galore, and his promise of the "biggest fair yet" seems sure of fulfillment.

HOUSTON FAIR DATES CHANGED

Houston, Tex., Sept. 24.—Dates of the Houston Fair and Exposition have been changed from November 6-13 to November 20-28, inclusive. The change was made because the dates first chosen conflicted with those of the Louisiana State Fair and the fair at the Cotton Palace in Waco.

A plan to extend the length of the fair to two weeks was discussed at the last meeting of the directors, but was turned down.

FAIR NOTES

A free fair will be held at Gilmer, Tex., October 6-9, inclusive.

Have you secured that rain insurance for your fair, Mr. Secretary? It's a good investment.

This year is the first time a night fair has been held by the Erie County Fair, Sandusky, O. The fair is on this week.

Just as clothes make the man, so will a new coat (of paint) for the fair buildings increase the prestige of the fair. Try it.

The Colorado Aviation Company has secured the contract for exhibition flights at the Colorado-Mexico Fair at Durango, October 5-8.

A county fair is planned for Corsicana, Tex., to be held late in October. It is possible that the fair will be held at the same time as the live stock show, October 28, 29 and 30.

Admission to the Virginia State Fair at Richmond this year will be 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for children. It is announced, One of the fair directors, John T. Anderson, died recently.

Pershing's own band will be one of the attractions at the Armistice Day Celebration in New Orleans by posts of the American Legion, the band going to New Orleans direct from its engagement at the Shreveport Fair.

The Multnomah County Fair, Gresham, Ore., has been enlarged and this year will embrace a manufacturers' and land products show in addition to the usual county fair features. The fair will be held week of October 4.

Williams and Appleman, known to some of their friends as Williams and Lee, close a successful fair season at Stapleton, Neb. They booked independent this year. "The season was much bigger than last year," they write.

A fair will be held at Booneville, Mo., October 14, 15 and 16, under the auspices of the Central Missouri Horticultural Association. A baby show, old folks' reunion and various historical shows will be features of the program.

Due to prevailing conditions, the management of the South Texas Fair, to be held at Yoakum, Tex., October 7, 8 and 9, has decided to issue no premium lists. The exhibits this year are expected to be the largest ever seen at Yoakum.

One of the most pleasing features of the Ohio State Fair was the pageant, "Hail, Agriculture," given in front of the grand stand under direction of J. C. Sullivan. So great were the crowds that thousands were unable to see the pageant.

Five days and nights of fun, frolic and education are promised at the Early County Fair, Blakely, Ga., the dates of which are October 10-23. There will be horse races, fireworks and first-class free attractions, as well as the best in the line of exhibits, Secretary L. B. Fryer says.

Vaudeville attractions twice a day, races in the afternoon, fireworks at night and large exhibits of agricultural and live stock products will be features of the Southside Virginia Fair at Petersburg, October 18 to 23. Officers of the fair association are: R. H. Mann, president; H. L. Smith, vice-president; R. Willard Egan, secretary-general manager, and E. B. J. Whitmore, treasurer.

M. E. Melton, secretary of the Texarkana District Fair, advises that because the fair was listed under the Texas heading in the fair list many persons are under the impression that no fair will be held at Texarkana, as they looked under the Arkansas heading and failed to find it there. Hence it is noted here that Texarkana is half in Arkansas and half in Texas, and the fair will be held October 19 to 23.

"We are expecting the biggest fair in the history of our section," says Brown Whitley, secretary of the Western Georgia Fair at Lagrange. "Our race track has been rebuilt and a new live stock building is now complete. Many improvements have been made on the grounds, and we have booked a great program of amusements, including auto polo and fireworks. Smith's Greater Shows will play our midway."

PIPES

By GASOLINE BILL BAKER

What's this we hear of Shipman and the "wine cellar" at Erie?

Among the demonstrators working the fair at Ottawa, Can., were Bill Boppes and Mickey Dougherty, with retainers.

H. B. Thornton was booked into Knoxville, Tenn., by Doc Robinson, and for a starter did well on lots there with a small show.

Mrs. J. F. Clobery kicks in that she is in Milwaukee and doing fine. She expects to winter in California with Mr. Clobery.

"Shorty" Horn, with pens was one of the jads going after the mazzuma at the Ottawa, Can., fair, as was Doc Fady, purveyor of razor paste.

It is said that when a worthy knight of the torch hits Knoxville, Tenn., they should look up Frank Wineck, as he has very good dope on locations.

Eddie Pedell and Chapman, who have been working the sheet in Canada, jumped into Worcester, Mass., for the "big one." They left September 13 for Maine fairs.

Ohio not only excels in the manufacture of rubber balloons, but this year especially seems well supplied with Presidential "timber"—and of several varieties to choose from.

It used to be the ambition of many to make themselves "big fellows" to the profession. It now seems the proper caper to make one's self and stock "big fellows" with the natives—publicity.

Among the knights at the Red River County Fair, Clarksville, Tex., were C. H. Tully, passing out gilms; W. B. (Fat) Huddlestone, E. Burke and Ernie Williams, of the leaf. Hear it was a bloomer.

"Old Man" Bradley is not out with Eddie Pedell at the fairs this, the first season he has not worked paper in ten years. Wonder where the ol' boss is holding out, at some hibernation in the East?

Everybody look over the Letter List each week and send for your mail promptly, giving address far enough ahead for it to be forwarded. When you least expect it there may be a letter advertised for you in that list.

Leland and Lee write from St. Louis that Lady Burdell (Birdie Simms) closed her outdoor season there on September 13. They intend playing the sticks with a five-people company this winter. They add that with Lady Burdell they spent one of the most enjoyable summers of their career (by the way, they have "spent" a number of the said summers). Tom Renton was a visitor to the show recently on his return from the South.

Dr. A. C. Robinson and Frank Haner have doubled and have a storeroom in a fine location in Knoxville, Tenn. They have been working tonic and by-products from a truck to very good results and late reports had it they were intending to purchase a fine new car.

Dr. E. J. Burke is said to be all smiles since the arrival Monday, September 13, at his home in Houston, Tex., of another "pitchman" for the Merritts Medicine Company. The youngster is a bouncing ten-pounder and they say he is already a good second to the doctor on a spiel.

The following to The Billboard from R. R. (Dick) Garrison: "Tell Gasoline Bill that the Chicago pitchmen are all busy and happy. There's too many here for anybody to list 'em. There's no special news, but he can just give our regards to the whole fraternity, because we ain't mad at nobody."

Word reaches us from Baltimore that Mrs. Doc Wallace (Billy Lorraine) has given up motordrome riding for the balance of the season and is back in the med. game, selling oil and soap in that city. She is working with Doc Harry Canfield and is doing nicely. She expects to soon start for her home in "Dixieland."

Sorry, Mrs. C., but Bill can't ask thru Pipes for certain ones to write, unless it be in case of a death, sickness or asking assistance from friends. Write them a letter, care of The Billboard, and they will see it advertised in the Letter List the same week they would see the pipe, which would save a full week in getting an answer.

Joe Frost sure broke into print at Knoxville, Tenn., recently. up the idea of looting in Cincy this winter, and instead he and the Missus will keep on trouping.

The "Honorable" Dusty Rhodes was one of the paper fraternity at the Woodstock (Va.) Fair, taking suits, for the Southern Agriculturalist.

We hear of a doctor somewhere in the United States (is that close enough?) who says there have been so many recommendations of his med. he has gotten to a point where he actually believes himself it will do an he claims for it. Would that some local physicians were as honorable. Many enterprising great doubt about their prescriptions, but did you ever hear of one owning up to it?

Pitchman working on Market street, St. Louis, expounding the merits of soap, in his usual interested listener. To show the purity of his goods, pitchman bites off a generous chunk of the soap and masticates it with evident satisfaction. "Interested listener" seems impressed. Pitchman offers soap for sale. "Interested listener" steps up and asks: "What kind of sandwiches are they?" A few more pipes on this order, please.

Chief Yellow Feather, of herbs and oil fame, motored thru Cincinnati last week on his way to Memphis. Too many pitchmen in Michigan, reported Chief. Illinois he found good, from which territory he had just come. He is working single handed. Yellow Feather has some good points on pitching, one of which is that he cannot hold up for the fellow who goes to the Majors wearing a "thousand-dollar" front, sobbing for a "free reader."

Jack Robertson and Sid Shipman, together with several others of the road, passed thru Cincinnati on Monday of last week, and said hello to Bill over the 'phone from the Central Union Station. They were on their way from Detroit to somewhere in the East. Jack and Sid are pushing whistles, lending their individual and unexcelled efforts toward a remunerative fall season, the success of which to be mutually enjoyed because of their—working together.

Earl O'Bryan, erstwhile hustling dispenser of solder, has changed his act, after a very good season at Ohio fairs, and now is telling the virtues of Chinese pills to the natives with a swell framed up joint, consisting of oil paintings of kneeling Japanese maidens in everything, as a back and side flash to the creditable outfit. Earl blew into Cincy last week for a few days' stay and departed Thursday for the fair at Troy, O., with a like event at Eaton to follow.

Billy and Eva McClintock, still hitting the trail in North Carolina. They recently visited the Sparks Circus, where they met numerous old friends, including Harry Mills and Fred Leslie. They add: "Haven't met many med. men lately. Met one a few days ago, who practically claimed he 'wrote the medicine business'—the only one to get money in South Carolina this season. Things don't look so bright down this way—tobacco 'way below last year—alho we can't kick, as business so far has been very satisfactory with us."

Mark A. Steele infos. from Enid, Ok.: "Was just talking to W. J. (Dad) Jackson, of soap and gyroscope fame, who delivered a wonderful spiel on the busiest corner of this city. Without a doubt he is not only one of the oldest, but one of the best—74 years old—still hard at it and gets the coin. Dwight Wilcox, of med. fame, was seen operating in these parts, as was Slim Hunter, with scopes and look-backs. Doc Hazel motored thru town—still dispensing medicine and prospering. Our sheet crew hasn't 'starved' here yet, and have fine prospects for tomorrow."

The Merritone Medicine Company has opened its street attractions for the season, with its initial stand at Houston, Tex., where it is putting on regular concerts and playing to large audiences, while the sales are reported already past the usual standard. Dr. Burke has been successful in landing some unusually good talent for his show, and it is said never has the Merritone business begun the season under so flattering prospects. The past season was very satisfactory. W. M. Bowen, an oldtimer in the newspaper and advertising game, has been engaged to handle the publicity end for the company.

Several weeks ago we noted that J. Frank Heathcox was pulling some big newspaper advertising on "Re-Cu-Ma" in the South. With the appearance of J. Frank last week in Cincinnati and vicinity we found that he is extending operations to nearly all daily paper (Continued on page 68) cities throught the Central South below the Ohio River, also placing his remedy with a druggist in each city. He was concluding with one of the largest chains of drug stores in the Queen City arrangements for the handling of the remedy last week. From Cinoy he departed on a route that would carry him thru Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and then east toward Florida.

The following from George H. Frazer, at the time in Omaha: "On my way to the Coast I stopped for a few days in Chicago, visiting a few of the boys. Met Jack Dalton (Dr. J. C. Miles), of oil fame, and a 'big-time' medicine man, who is certainly doing big business there. Here in Omaha met Dr. Schneider and Warwick, working from a big car and getting the money. Said they had been here a year, with the exception of a couple months this summer while on the road. It simply shows that 'clean methods' pay. I believe in working to a crowd on the street, as tho one thought they have brains, instead of treating them like 'boobs.' I am practically a newcomer in this business, but I believe I have the right idea."

Notes of the George Miller Medicine Show have it that the show has made good all summer and is playing week stands in Pennsylvania with the following people: Ibc Miller, lecturer; G. M. Miller, manager; "Happy Sam," orchestra director; Faust Sisters, singers and dancers; George Mack, blackface comedian; George and Hattie Snyder, sketch team; Elwilda Faust, soubret; Roy Buckel, novelties; "Babe Elwilda," singing mascot; Truman Lougernecker, concessions; Madison Boyce, loss canvasser; George Marks, stage manager and producer. The show has been traveling in one limousine and two trucks, with Harriet Faust and D. P. and Palmer Longhead, drivers, respectively. The company closes its season in a few weeks.

Just one thing that Gasoline Bill has to contend with: Some time ago a knight shot a pipe that could easily have been an incorrect and damaging statement—if written by some other person than himself. In the pipe his name was spelled one way and the signature was spelled otherwise. With the supposition that every man should know how to spell his own name at first trial, what would be your (anybody's) conclusion? Anyway, the lad failed to see it published and wants to know who wrote it and wherefor. But, this last time he signs it with a typewriter, and we will therefore hold the news it contains until signed in a proper manner. It might be all right, and again it might be all wrong.

During our confab with J. Frank Halthcox at The Billboard office last week numerous points of pitchdem were discussed one of which has often appealed to us as worth mentioning, and that is: The number of knights, formerly big money getters, possessors of wonderful ability, personality and all that is needed to do big things, who are now seemingly content to put over propositions of but medium caliber. Is it that they have lost no small amount of self-confidence, or that they think their personal appearance has lost a part of its commanding prestige? We can recall several whose personality, from an appearance standpoint, could hardly be better; whose experience has taught them various and proper "systems," and who would still be "big fellows" if they would but stop dreaming of the days that have past, or what they might do, and with the adapting of present-day methods make use of their excellent qualities, and get busy.

Pat Dalton says he will have to shoot this one to Pipes—adds that it is "no pipe". While in Caldwell, Id., he met a road man, who told him to not pass up a town (Alma), and as it was on his route he stopped off there, which looked the worst he ever saw. Finding a joint left by some pitchman—a box—he decided to donate three bucks (the reader) to the public fund. Having but thirty belts in his keister, he chalked the pavements, "Free Show" for seven thirty, at which time, with no one in sight, he lit his torch and sat down and dreamily played one tune on the old banjo. To his utter surprise, after a few minutes, there was a big push in front of him and he got busy, selling the thirty belts right off the reel. Says he told 'em he had more stock in his trunk at the depot and started in that direction, with fourteen trailing, to each of whom he sold one each at a dollar and a half a throw. Pat concludes with: "And it wasn't a good day for hunting either."

From Lansing, Mich: The members of the Dr. C. Stell and Dr. A. Robinson Medicine Co. were entertained and given a swell chicken and corn dinner on the 1st, September 11, by Stage Manager Johnny Froer and May Corley. The entire company, which has been together thru a very successful season, certainly appreciated the efforts of these popular members. The menu consisted of stewed chicken, roasted corn on the cob, roasted potatoes, green peas.

cold, sliced tomatoes; sliced peaches with cream, watermelon, cantaloupe, ice cream and coffee. Miss Carley is the last word in cooking. The roster comprises: Dr. C. Stettin, lecturer; Dr. A. Robinson, consulting physician; Johnny Pross, stage manager and producing comedian; J. B. Robbins, comedian and pianist; John Glasen, novelties; Henry Thomas, musical specialties; May Catley, comedienne and pianist; Mrs. Chas. Stettin, vocalist; Mrs. A. Robinson, characters.—J. B. R. Yes, and along with the above came a dandy photo of that said chicken-corn (and flaxin's) spread, under one of those good old tarpaulins as a dining room tent in the pure and open as an annex to the cookhouse tent, and with nine smiling members of the show, each with an ear of corn or a leg of a "gump" in their hands (yeh, both hands), and seated around a table covered with pure white linen and good eats galore. Boys, that's the life, eh?

From Dr. Geo. M. Reed: "I took in the Ohio State Fair last week, and will now get back to work. My wife and I had a fine time all week. I met Al Isaacs, selling jewelry for Mr. Arnold, who had the jewelry concession. H. F. Atkinson and wife, with can openers, are in the city, also W. H. Spencer, with solder. Prof. Gilbert Thayer left for Indianapolis, after four weeks in Columbus with his book, and did well. Williams, the calculator man, left for Youngstown, O., after six weeks' excellent business in Columbus. I read where Dr. Herb. Becker says if pitchmen would only tell one another the truth about towns that are open and about the readers. Yes, Dr., but it seems some think it a big thing to steer one another wrong. The meanest man in the world is a pitchman that will send another pitchman in to a closed territory—when he knows it is closed. He is not worthy of being called a pitchman. I try to keep posted and believe I have the reputation of telling the boys straight, and very few of the knights who come to Columbus that do not hunt me up to find out about towns. I can tell them about any town in Ohio, and the most of the towns from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, on the P. R. R., or from Harrisburg to Baltimore. I can't understand why one pitchman would want to steer another wrong. What does it get him? And many a time the pitchman that got a wrong steer is in need of money badly. I know it was the case with me three years ago. I had been sick, and was down and out, and asked a pitchman in Pittsburg where I could work and get a few dollars. He says: 'I will tell you just the town,' and I went there—spent my last dollar for car fare—found the man who sent me had been there the Saturday before and had a shake down. But as luck had it I met a man I had known a year ago. He took me into another town where I got a little money. I think if the boys would all tell one another right we would make more money, also have more open towns and cheaper readers. So, boys, let's try to help each other all we can, and, any time you are in Columbus, come to see me, you are always welcome at my home, and can always depend on me telling you straight. I am informed by Dr. W. H. Spencer, that his young friend, Dr. Otto Hunter, who has been holding down Baltimore with his herbs and inhalers for the past year, is still on the job, also that he intends to get married this month."

WORLD'S FAIR SHOWS

Rock Falls, Ill., Sept. 22.—In about two weeks the World's Fair Shows will close the most successful season of their career and the equipment will be stored for the winter in some city close to Chicago. The "Sunny South" did not appeal to Manager Dodson this season.

Business at Davenport, Ia., last week, was not up to expectation, but it was far from a blunder. Four shows in two months seemed to be just about enough for the amusement loving public of that city and vicinity.

George Bennett and wife, who have had the "Honeymoon Trail" all season, left at Davenport to join the Zeidman & Polite Shows in the South.

E. H. Taylor now has the "Honeymoon Trail," and surprised everyone by erecting the show, ready to open in one hour and five minutes. Owner C. G. Dodson and General Agent Al Fisher have been in Chicago for the past several days and the lots there may be the outcome for a few weeks.

West Chicago is the next stand, under the auspices of the American Legion.—W. J. KEOHE.

AERIALISTS' GOOD SEASON

New York, Sept. 23.—The Three Aerial Martins have had a very successful season, opening in Fall River, Mass., Decoration Day and have played a long list of fairs thru the South. They will play five more weeks of fair dates before returning to New York. The Billboard is informed that for the season of 1920-21 the Aerial Martins, casting act, will be operated together with the New England Balloon Company and also the Three Aerial Blondins. These two acts will be booked under the direction of A. Blondin Martin, general manager, and all acts will be booked direct from the home office, P. O. Box 154, Weehawken, N. J.

A CORRECTION

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The "Over the Falls" attraction with Wortham's World's Greatest Shows showed dynamic speed on the opening day at the Minnesota State Fair in Minneapolis, by grossing the splendid sum of $1,399.32 on the one day alone. In the last issue of The Billboard an error occurred which made it read that this sum was taken in on the week's stand.

What the "Falls" grossed besides the first day we don't know, but we think it was plenty. Judging from the splendid start, Bill Rodgers, manager of the attractions, has written E. J. Kilpatrick thus: "How did the company like Labor Day business in Minnesota? I imagine it was the biggest day any of the 'Over the Falls' ever had."

H. T. FREED EXPOSITION DOING WELL IN ILLINOIS

Under Auspices of the American Legion, Engagement at Galena Draws Excellent Patronage and Monmouth Starts Satisfactorily—Advance Booking December Dates in the South

The Galena (Ill.) engagement of the H. T. Freed Exposition, under the auspices of the Herman Flickbohm Post, American Legion, was held on the down town streets to a nightly growing attendance and patronage.

A 200-mile run over the C. B. & Q. Railroad brought the Exposition's special train to Monmouth, Ill., Sunday evening, and Trainmaster John White soon had everything moved to the Downer Circus grounds for the week engagement here, under auspices of the Marion B. Fletcher Post No. 136, American Legion, with Franz Ahlstrand, one of the best publicity directors this scribe has ever been associated with. Realizing that carnival festivities are conducive to attracting new members, the Legion has erected an official tent, wherein service men may sign up. The opening here at Monmouth was all that could be desired.

H. T. Freed's Exposition at present includes Charles Farmer's Athletic Arena, with Frank Ford and Frank Burns as headliners; Doc Harvel's Circus Side-Show, with commendable attractions, including glassblowers, tattooers, snake enchantress, several new mystic illusions, marionettes and Punch and Judy; "Person's Belgium" Show, with "soldiers of all nations," displaying sixty wax models, dressed in correctly bright uniforms; "Underground Chinatown" display; "Zelda," mystery lady; "Honey-moon Trail," managed by Oscar Craig and "Red" Wilson. As Harry T. Freed is regarded as a mastermind builder and constructor of costly and elaborate "safety first" pleasure rides, this caravan has some of the largest, best and most expensive "toys of joy" to be operated on the road. "The Show of Merit" is the motto, and the biggest asset and most effective "boost" is the published announced fact that none of those so-called "girl shows" are to be seen on a H. T. Freed Exposition midway, an always genteel and respectable place where the entire family can visit without any "indigo blue" feeling thereafter.

The business staff: H. T. Freed, manager; Charles F. Westmuff, general agent; L. E. Duke, assistant manager; George W. Fout, secretary; H. E. (Punch) Wheeler, press agent; Henry Ross, special agent; Doc Blanchard, superintendent; John White, trainmaster; Louis Stone, concession manager, and John Panagl, "restaurant" manager.

Mr. Duke has returned from a visit to home folks in Texas, so Mr. Freed, relieved of double

JESSUP RETURNS TO CINCY

Edward Jessup, the well-known outdoor showman and concessioner, and late of the K. G. Barkoot Shows, after closing a circuit of fairs with his concessions, returned to his usual Cincinnati habitation, the Palace Hotel, last week for a few weeks' rest. Mr. Jessup states that he has had a very successful season. He can be seen daily taking in the various theaters and enjoying the companionship of old acquaintances and friends.

TALLEY IN CHICAGO

PATTERSON & KLINE SHOWS

Have Excellent Results at First Series of Fairs—Nebraska State Fair a Big One

The Patterson & Kline Shows' first fair of the season was at Broken Bow, Neb., where all shows and rides realized big receipts and the concessions all did big. Then came Pierce, Neb., at which fair business was more than satisfactory, considering the population and weather. Next came the big Nebraska State Fair at Lincoln.

Everything was ready at Lincoln for the grand opening Labor Day morning, and this date proved the largest opening day for the fair at Lincoln. Many pleasant visits were exchanged during the four days' stay at the fair of the Sells-Floto Circus. This was the second visit of the Patterson & Kline Shows to Lincoln. Speedy Hauer, assisted by his brother, Howard Bauer, and Miss Hazel, got top money with the motor-home, with Johnny Hatfield's Athletic Show second, and Bert Cash's "Musical Comedy" running the rides a close race for third honors. The "Whip" on the week, grossed over last season, beating the "Midnight Follies," and Herbert Sinar's 150-ft. Twenty-in-one broke records. Walter Jaap made three pit shows of his usual 200-ft. spread of canvas, on account of space, and all three shows did big business, as did the Dog and Pony and "Smiles" Shows. Col. Moss' Wild West had an overflow waiting for the "next show." John Angible had 34 concessions, making 76 furnished by Manager Kline. Herbert Jenkins, second man ahead, was kept busy looking after his seven juice stands.

The next stop was the Dawson County Fair at Lexington, which ranks as the second largest county fair in Nebraska, and with plenty of people, all with plenty of money to spend, at the close of this six-day engagement, the P. & K. Shows closed the first series of their fair dates with wonderful business.

At this writing the shows are en route to a still date at Paul's Run, but it being the caravan's "home town," a big night play is looked forward to, the location being on the streets surrounding the square.

After Pauls, the shows start their final string of fairs, which open with Nowata, Ok., then thru the oil belt of Oklahoma and Texas. With contracts up to the last week in November and Harry Noyes still stepping for more, it looks like a winter in the "Sunny California" climate for this organization.

Mrs. Abner K. Kline is in Kansas City, at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. James Patterson of the Great Patterson Shows, who was recently operated upon. All are looking for the "bright smile" of the midway to rejoin at Pauls.—AL W. BAILEY.

WORLD AT HOME SHOWS

Chillicothe, O., Sept. 23.—The annual Fall Festival conducted by the merchants and farmers of this vicinity has been a big success. This event, staged for the first time since the war, has attracted more people to the city than in former years, and all promoters have benefited handsomely by the show. Merchants and exhibitors housed their products beneath long stretches of canvas, which lined the main thoroughfare, the streets having been turned over to the festival committee to stage the festivities. Free acts and hand concerts were numerous, and the World at Home Shows supplied the attractions.

From present indications this date, as far as the shows are concerned, will come up to several fair engagements in midway receipts, as the attractions are being operated from morning until late at night, and the Isles of "Wonderland" are always inhabited. William B. Evans, manager of Porter's Freak Animal Show, has purchased a beautiful "Seaplane," which arrived in Chillicothe. With this addition to the lineup of riding devices, eight big rides will be presented at the Eastern Division Tennessee Fair at Knoxville, next week.—J. WILKINSON CROWTHER.

CLARK WITH HYATT

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Paul L. Clark, formerly general agent of the Russell Bros.' Shows, is now field manager for Hyatt's Booking Exchange. Larry Hyatt, who controls more than forty weeks of exclusive tab, time, told The Billboard that Mr. Clark is doing phenomenal work, and that he is increasing the time wonderfully.

RUBIN & CHERRY SHOWS
 Started on String of Ten Consecutive Fairs

It's a little hard to realize that but a few weeks more and the big thirty-car Rubin & Cherry Shows will be stored away in winter quarters.

The shows started in their fair season with the Erie (Pa.) Exposition, making a jump of 400 miles, and right back over the same territory to Norristown, Pa., playing Norristown as a still week, and then opened their ten straight fairs with Wilmington, Del., on Labor Day. Erie, Pa., has a beautiful exposition grounds, but notwithstanding that the shows, ideas and concessions were not laid out to the best advantage the show's gross receipts were bigger than any other season for that fair. The secretary informs that there will be a number of changes made next year in the general plan of locations. Norristown, under auspices of the Woodmen, was big, also the long jump and rain gave only four days' play. Wilmington, Del., was not quite up to the standard of State fairs. It was the stand last week and the caravan's first visit there. Reading was far in excess of any fair played last season. There were a number of visitors from Philadelphia during the date at Norristown. Philadelphia was the home of Manager Rubin Gruber in his earlier days, before he located at Montgomery, Ala., and each evening he entertained friends and relatives. Mr. Gruber and his family drove to Philly almost every day in their new car.

Another long run to Roanoke, Va., where the shows are playing the fair this week. Because of a disabled engine, it was 10 p.m. Monday when the train pulled in. Trainmaster Sheppard had the cars switched alongside the fair grounds and the "boys" worked hard nearly all night, as today was Children's Day. Josie Nagala's five rides opened at 10 a.m., and by noon, when the children commenced to arrive, everything along the midway was open. With good weather it looks like everybody will have a wonderful week here.

The show is now carrying twenty-two paid attractions and about 120 concessions. Lynchburg (Va.) Fair for the week of September 27. —FRANK S. REED, Secy.

GREATER SHEESLEY SHOWS

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 22.—Yesterday (Tuesday) was the official opening of the Great Allentown Fair here, the preceding Monday found the entire grounds ready for the first of the big crowds, as advertised. The Greater Sheesley Shows occupied the midway.

A goodly-sized crowd found its way into the grounds on Monday, where the midway attractions became the center of interest. Tuesday was children's day, bringing thousands of the future "statesmen and business men," and their possible "helpmates" out to the grounds. It was a big day for the midway shows, the various exhibits and the free acts on the infield, although the grandstand was not jammed, by any means, owing to the fact that children predominated; they whose fancies have not yet trended to sports. However, the low, barricaded circle of the infield is due to be well peopled, and the grand stand well filled, what with the reserve seats practically taken from Wednesday to Saturday, on which latter day the auto races will be staged.

With the Greater Sheesley Shows now is Captain Sorcho's Submarine Show, opened with the caravan for the first time here at Allentown. It is proving quite a popular attraction, demonstrating the workings of the under water craft and the deep sea divers. Joseph Kalama and Lella Kalama have joined "Brother Johnny" in the Hawaiian show, making the personnel of that outfit one that can offer the best in Hawaiian music and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barrett, concessioners, have left for a week or ten days to see the home folks at Providence, R. I. Young "Johnny" Sheesley has relinquished his claim of trainer pro-tem of ponies, and horses in deference to the priority of his second semester of 1920 at Notre Dame Academy. Johnny left last week to resume his studies there. Harry Haines is a new speeder on the Sheesley Motordrome, pretty clever, we say, and being well inspired by the experts. Olive Hager and Captain Hartley.—WILLIAM A. HAPP.

COREY GREATER SHOWS

The Corey Greater Shows played to excellent business at the Old Home Week celebration at Haledon, N. J., good patronage being accorded all attractions and concessions. Carlstadt follows Haledon and the first days of the engagement give promise of another good stand. Several more concessions joined here, bringing the lineup of these up to forty-three. Paterson, N. J., is the next step, and then a long jump to the Oakland, Md., Fair.

"Smiling" Ben LaChapelle, who has four concessions with the show, has placed his order for a whip for spring delivery. John Gillice, of the advance, was taken suddenly ill with indigestion, and was rushed to the general hospital at Paterson. Harry Bellar, of the Acme Amusement Co., was a visitor at Haledon, and stated that this has been his banner season. Other visitors were Ralph Pearson, of the Benson Shows, also J. King and H. W. Stanley. All complimented Mr. Corey on the appearance of his show. "Baby" Feeney was the recipient of many gifts on the occasion of her first birthday anniversary. She is the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Feeney, owners of the big Hill wheel, and the granddaughter of "Ma" and "Pa" Stebiar. The show will be augmented for the fair season and everybody is anxiously awaiting the start southward.—C. S. E.

DeVELL ASKS AID

The veteran showman, E. W. DeVell, whose address is care of the Poor Farm, Albany, Ga., writes that he is passing thru a bad sick spell and has an appetite for some things which he cannot obtain without funds, and would appreciate a few small contributions from show-folks.

The fall season again gives promise of making up for a lot of earlier bad months this year. Good business is reported from nearly all the fair engagements.

tember 25, and would appreciate hearing from all his carnival friends at his permanent address, 624 Nebraska avenue, Kansas City, Kan.

George Emanuel, who, with Mrs. Emanuel, is again playing independent dates with their concessions this summer, returned on a two days' business trip to their home in Cincinnati last week. They are now playing fairs and had just finished the event at Millford, Ind.; Gas City, Ind., being their next engagement. George said that never in his long experience has he seen so many concessioners as this season.

A. D.—Sorry, but Al cannot ask thru the column for certain person or persons to write you, for which there is a very good reason. Would advise you write the party mentioned, care of the Billboard, and his name will appear in the Letter List, or use the "Personal" column for very small stuff in the Classified Advertising. There is exception to this rule in case of a death, sickness, or need of assistance.

E. L. (Dad) Richards and Edward T. Holan, concessioners, fumbled into Chevy last week on their way South. Richards, who last spring sprung a new concession, which he claims a success, has been operating the greater part of the summer at Columbus and Hamilton, O. Holan has been working various concessions thru the Middle West. Said they were going down that to see that the folks picked the cotton properly.

Frank M. Brown, who has been out of the carnival business since 1918, when he was on the advance of the Parker Shows, and has been in the auto truck game for some time, migrated from Ranger, Tex., old fields to El Paso to manage his company's branch office in that city. Frank writes that he has been appointed manager of amusements for a big military and manufacturers' exhibition to be staged there by the Chamber of Commerce October 4-9.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. (Dad) Straley have been making independent fair dates with their concessions, including soft drinks, cigaret shooting gallery and keno wheel. They report an excellent week at Galax, Va., and worked at Johnson City, Tenn., last week, with Rome, Ga., to follow. "Dad" opines that it is easier to pass thru life with a few worries and nice profits than to wrangle with the cares of a caravan manager, and the ledger balancing on the right side—sometimes.

In a recent issue of an exclusive movie weekly publication the following was contained in an article adverse to carnival interests—the first Al has noted to speak so openly in an article of this nature: "Determined effort is being made by the Better Business Bureau of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to weed out the parasite and disonest, fly-by-night merchants. As yet no concerted effort has been initiated for the squelching of the more dangerous carnival company."

The editors of some small town papers admit that the people must have outdoor amusement (along with their patronizing the local merchants), but intimate that the communities should have parks for this purpose. Wonder how much it costs to operate a small town park, with a band, shows, races and other attractions—and where the continued patronage required for its upkeep would come from, and how long it would be before the natives would yell for a "new administration"?

Al S. Cole, of the World at Home Shows, has been establishing some records in the promotion field. Al holds the honors of promoting the largest automobile contest in Hamilton, Ont., and Flint, Mich., that has ever been successfully put over in those cities by any carnival agent. Al claims that his promotion at Chillicothe, O., where the World at Home Shows will feature the Farmers' Fall Festival, will eclipse all previous efforts. Go to it, Al; it's the hustler that gets the results.

Reports reached us last week that the Rubin & Cherry Shows played to the biggest business in the history of the organization at Reading (Pa.) Fair. And right on top of this came another, by Al's "wireless," that while in that city Sheik Gruberg and members invested about ten grand in diamonds. Frank Reed, secretary for the shows, was exhibiting a fine diamond scarfpin on his necktie, and even the old veteran, Adolf Seeman, now sports a 2 1/2-karat solitaire, and one of the most beautiful ever seen.

A duo of erstwhile carnivals, consisting of Thos. Alton, formerly general agent the Metropolitan Shows, now general representative Kibbie's Uncle Tom Show, and F. W. Egner, formerly with Tom's Famous and other caravans, spent a couple hours at The Billboard offices September 23 while in Cincinnati on business. Egner had just closed as agent with the Buster Brown Minstrels and after attending to a few details was to leave town to take up a like position with Virginia Lewis & Company, a one-night musical comedy organization.

The fifteen-in-one show, under the management of Capt. W. E. Sawyer, on the Gold Medal Shows, is said to be a fine collection of attractions the roster including Miss Hunn, doing Dagnia; Illusion; Madam Iris, the Lady of Mystery; Marasco, glass eater; "Volcania," the lady-out of the ordinary; "Stella" and reptiles; "Eva," sword illusion; "Fire King," "Lonkey Boy," Frank Randall, mechanical man; once Congo, holds three baseballs in his mouth; rince John, sword and saw walker; "Buddha" orkers, and Capt. Sawyer, in handcuff and shackles, ropes, milkcan and cabinet escapes, and his sword impalement act. Berle Huskna has the front, with E. Willfong selling tickets.

The Billboard is originating another news department, under the heading of "HAZARD-LAND." Under this head notes of interest bearing on "Indoor Circuses," "Indoor Carnival," "Museums," "Bazaars," etc., will appear weekly. News of this nature has heretofore been published in the regular carnival columns, but the growing popularity of this branch of amusements, especially during the winter season, as well as the augmented number of events of this kind being staged, and the prospects of them becoming general thru the country, makes it necessary that "Hazaarland" have its own special representation in The Billboard. It starts in this issue and will be enlarged upon in issues to follow.

"Mr. Pessimist"—Al can give you a list comprising many, many exhibitions and riding devices with carnivals—mechanical, electrical, educational, interesting, purely moral, of high entertainment value—that are well worth a price charged to enjoy them. To mention the 1 in this column would be to advertise certain ones, as many might be missed in the shuffle, but without any such intent here's just a couple—for your approval: How many kiddies and grownups would die of old age, without seeing a deep-sea diver's outfit in operation, if it were not for Capt. Louis Sorcho's exhibition? How about the beautiful Lullabe Electric Fountain? These are old standbys, and there are many newer ones, and more coming—granting that we need them.

Beverly White tells it: "Daredevil" Campbell, the aviator, and Fred C. Beckmann, manager Wortham's World's Best Shows, met last New Year week, when the company was in Phoenix, Ariz. Campbell was the guest of the shows. Whether or not he was blinding when he fell 4 to 5000 ft. Mr. Beckmann picked up at the close of the Topeka Fair is a question. When he offered the trip at Topeka, Mr. Beckmann accepted. The aviator and showman went about 2,000 feet above the race track. Then Campbell started "stunting." He made spiral and nose dives to within a few hundred feet of the ground and then started to make a perfect landing with the carnival manager. Thousands watched the ride, and as Mr. Beckmann stepped from the machine he was photographed by a newspaper man on the grounds.

Have you noticed that in the majority of cases it is either a merchant or "conscientious" worker for the "community's welfare" who never sees merit in any carnival attraction in statements in local papers? All claims there is real merit and entertainment in many attractions with carnivals, altho he admits there should be many more of them, and the outdoor pleasure-seeking public looks at it in the same light. And he who would "condemn a whole piece of machinery because a few wheels need fixing" loses the force of his argument with those of "purchasing" interest, who would not so openly expose their prejudice, but instead would encourage the replacing of worn out "harris" where they are needed. In other words, a large majority of the people, everywhere, need and seek wholesome outdoor recreation, and of the carnival variety, and if the attractions are clean they will have them, regardless of unjust opposition.

Alyne Potter, prima donna with Wortham World's Best Shows, is a muchly tickled woman. Mrs. W. E. Groff, wife of the concessioner, has decided to name her little daughter after the singer. Now the lady and the mother vie with each other in taking care of the little one. Another little one on the show that is the ward of all the "family" is the daughter of Dan Meggs and wife. It is said the little one, only five months old, has developed a hearty laugh that can be heard across the midway. By the way, the "boys" on Wortham Shows never forget Tony Ybanez, who was born on the twenty-second day of September. Last year Tony received a handsome gold chain. This season he was surprised when a Hutchinson, Kan., jeweler walked in and measured his finger for a handsome ring, bearing the design of the B. B. Bankline gave their boys a treat this summer. The trio spent two weeks with their parents on the show. To give them a touch of real show life Tom started them at the business in a businesslike way. They were ticket-takers at different shows.

A few "Do You Remember?":
When Gaskell-Mundy played Columbus, O.—the first there?
When Reekless Russell and "Cotton Top" Hatcher had a carnival?
When Ed Heaton showed Brownsville, Tex., opening Xmas day?
When Diana Thompson had his carnival, and did the dive?
When Sig. Frisco was doing his aerial free act?
When Ill Wallace was a high diver?
When J. Ryan was doing his slide for life, and missed—the backstop in Cushing, Ok.?
When Joe Maloney, with only an arm and a leg on one side, did his high dive with the Ed Heaton Shows? (Maloney now has a newsstand in Cincinnati.—All.)
When Al Grasnik was a balloon rider, and was credited with the first "double jump" in Stockton, Cal.?
When Nat Reiss showed Angel Camp, Cal., and the train he used?
When Darnaby and Rowe had out a Parker show?
When Danville and Kasper had the Lone Star Carnival Co.?
When "Slim" May almost was a carnival manager in Arizona?
When "Jersey" had a cookhouse?
When Chas. Martin first framed the Frisco Shows, and how many were on the trick?
When Grosble had to wait on the Fire Department to take him off the church steeple, where his chute landed him—Morgan, Tex.?
When Geo. Proctor and "The Twins" had a carnival?
And many more of the old bunch—but those were the happy days, eh?
How "beat it, bunch?"—FRANK GLEASON, Balloon Rider.

WORTHAM'S WORLD'S BEST

At the Kansas State Fair

Concluding a long run from the Topeka (Kan.) Free Fair, the big Clarence A. Wortham World's Best Shows rolled into the State Fair grounds at Hutchinson before dark Sunday, and at once began unloading. The grounds were thronged when the shows arrived, and the sight of transferring them to the big reservation was watched with interest until late at night.

Monday morning found the big caravan in the last stages of preparation, and Monday evening everything was ready to open. The trails brought extra cars, which were provided for the transportation of Col. Moss' Wild West Show, which was added at Topeka. Two of the cars carried a fine bunch of "outlaw" horses, while a passenger coach was provided for the cowmen and rough riders.

The Kansas State Fair opened under the most auspicious circumstances. Everything here last year was on hand this season, but it was almost lost with the numbers of other new attractions added. One of these is "Over the Falls." Dan Meggs, manager of the ride, proved himself some promoter. He saw a fly-wheel on a small tractor spinning around and a happy thought hit him—why was it not to the mutual interest of the tractor man and himself to show how the tractor could be used in emergency? Dan took the tractor man into the idea, and the little machine was installed to furnish power to run "Over the Falls." And Dan at once set about overhauling his regular engine.

The visit of the shows was a kind of "home-coming" to Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Bergmann and Mrs. Harry Brown, concessioners. Hutchinson is Mrs. Brown's home. Last year the Bergmanns were with the Wortham Shows. So the two visitors and "home folk" enjoyed a pleasant week with the big company.—BEVERLY WHITE.

GREATER ALAMO SHOWS

One of the most unusual sights ever seen on a carnival lot was witnessed on Monday at Vancouver, when a crowd of children and grown-ups braved a continual, heavy rain to attend the Vancouver, B. C., Fair, and practically insisted that the various Greater Alamo Shows' attractions open and provide amusement for the visitors. Throughout the day and evening rain fell in great quantities. It was Children's Day and they did not let the rain spoil their pleasure. Show after show opened and then the whip and Ferris wheel. Thru the downpour the kiddies and elders rode and trekked from attraction to attraction, eager to spend their money for amusement. Portlanders have nothing on Vancouverites when it comes to enjoying outdoor amusements while rain falls in torrents.

It has been arranged that the Greater Alamo should exhibit in Vancouver during the three pre-fair days. Rain prevented this and also prevented opening on the first days of the exhibition. Wednesday was the scheduled big day. Business was entirely suspended and arrangements had been made to care for a greater crowd than one year ago. Tuesday night the heavens opened and at night a heavy rain was still falling, with no signs of abatement.

Rain has been a constant visitor with the Greater Alamo since the fair dates started at Centralia, Wash. The Washington State Fair at Yakima follows Vancouver, with the Oregon State Fair at Salem next. General Agent Harry P. Hofer is expected on the show daily and will announce the four California dates that follow Albany, Oregon, on the route to the Arizona State Fair at Phoenix. General Manager H. M. Waugh continues to improve rapidly and now personally directs company details. The airplane, recently secured by Waugh & Hofer, was sold to an aero company.—C. M. CASEY.

GLOTH GREATER SHOWS

After a successful two weeks' stand at Ambridge, Pa., the Glotch Greater Shows moved overland to Rochester, Pa., where despite bad weather conditions the entire show opened on Monday night.

The new ride, the "Seaplane," which joined at Ambridge, is making a big hit with the people of Rochester. The Athletic Show, under the management of Steve Passas, is a big drawing card and many fine matches are pulled with the local "champions." Frank Yoeman is manufacturing more ice in this town and is certainly pleasing the folks of this town with his troupe of fancy figure skaters. John Smith, in charge of the carousel, met with an accident while repairing the lighting system, but is now recovered. Robert Glotch has had some fine spots booked around Pittsburgh, and is confident these stands will produce big results.—KID FOX.

JOHN FRANCIS SHOWS

The John Francis Shows played their first week in Oklahoma at Nowata, and if all spots to follow in the State are as good the members of this caravan have a good fall season ahead of them.

Needless, the preceding week, was very good, considering weather conditions. Bartlesville, Ok., follows Nowata under the auspices of the American Legion. Two new shows joined at Nowata and "Babe" Francis, late of the Veal Bros. Shows, has joined with two concessions. The lineup of concessions now consists of Billie Richards, with six; H. W. McDaniels, four; George Atkins, four; Joe Rigley, Harry Cross, Ed Snapp and "Blondy" Tull, one each.—H. W. S.

FIELDS GREATER SHOWS

The J. C. Fields Greater Shows played Odell, Ill., on Monday and Tuesday and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday exhibited at Lexington, Ill., all in the same week. This made four separate celebrations for the show in two weeks. At Odell all the concessions ran out of stock. Lexington was also good, as was the show's stand at Ashland, Ill. Sawyer, with dolls, and Watts, with pitch-thru-you-win, both of the Clifton-Kelley Shows, joined at Odell. This caravan will play a few more dates in Illinois, then a long jump South.—J. J. FRANK.

HARRY H. HARRIS, who has the Submarine Show and Hawaiian Show on Wortham's World's Best Shows, left the show at Topeka, Kan., Sunday, September 19, and ran into Kansas City for the day, leaving here Monday night, September 20, to rejoin the show at Hutchinson, their next stand, and where they showed for the big Hutchinson Fair the week of September 20, playing Oklahoma City week of September 27 and then Muskogee. Mr. Harris, who was in the city to obtain Hawaiian singers and dancers, was a very welcome caller at the Kansas City Office of The Billboard. He is very enthusiastic about this Wortham Show, saying he had been with them four years and during that time they had been constantly adding improvements and new features until now its title, "World's Best Shows," is well deserved.

AL G. BARNES made a brief trip to K. C. last week spending September 17 "in our midst." Mr. Barnes came here for the purpose of purchasing some fine new wagons from the Higgs Wagon Co., the "circus wagon builders," whose reputation for the best is well known to the show world. Everyone enjoys Mr. Barnes' visits, and we are always glad to see him.

MR. FINOTT, of the Yankee Robinson Shows, was another Kansas City visitor, putting in a busy day here September 14, buying wagons, cages and equipment for the show for next season. He also bought a camel from the Swope Park Zoo and shipped it to the shows playing at Abilene, Kan.

PAULINE HUNTLEY, the beautiful Kansas City girl connected with the "Follies De Vogue" at Electric Park, this summer, immediately at the close of the season, was taken to Saint Joseph's Hospital, suffering from intestinal trouble, and there an operation was performed which confined Miss Huntley to the hospital for three weeks. She is now convalescing nicely and has been removed to her home, 1221 E. East Tenth street and here her devoted mother is giving her every attention. But Miss Huntley wishes to ask her friends in the city to come to see her, and those outside the doors to let her hear from them. Will probably spend the winter here and not go back to vaudeville as she planned.

F. H. WILLIAMS, who managed the ferris wheel at Electric Park this past summer, has just secured full ownership of the hotel at 725 Main street, now known as the Williams Hotel and plans to spend the winter here. Mr. Williams says his hotel caters particularly to showfolk, as he is an oldtime showman, having been with some of the "big ones" carnival companies. Look up Mr. Williams when in K. C.

J. L. KOONTZ became a benedict Thursday, September 16, marrying on that day in Kansas City at the Court House Miss Leonora A. Becker, a Kansas City girl, but a non-professional. Mr. Koontz is a singer in vaudeville and also has been with some of the carnival companies. He says he is leaving the stage permanently, and is employed here now. Mr. Koontz was professionally known as John Mahakal, and his address is care of the Kansas City Office of The Billboard. Hearty good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Koontz.

THE SONORA GRAND OPERA COMPANY, playing at the Grand Theater the week of September 27, in operatic repertoire, made the performance of Monday and Tuesday nights, "Rigoletto" and "Il Trovatore," respectively, "benefit performances," the proceeds of the entire house for these two nights being donated to the sufferers in the Italian earthquake. H. Siefert Smith, manager of this company, arranged the benefit, and it is due to his able management that the affair had the success it merited. The Dubinsky Bros. are the new owners of the Grand and doing everything to please the patrons.

J. K. SHERLOCK is again treasurer of the Grand Opera House. Mr. Sherlock is one of the best known and most popular theatrical men in this city and has been connected with the theaters here for longer than we care to mention. We first knew him in the days of Old Gillis Theater when the Al Woods melodramas held full sway; later he was with the Grand Opera House. We are glad to welcome him back.

SCHEINZ SEYMOUR and his "Midnight Follies" commenced a season of musical comedy at the Gillis Theater Sunday, September 19. Ev-everything was in readiness and went off well. Mr. Seymour had the Gillis completely cleaned and painted. It looks spick and span now, and Kansas Citizens who said the Gillis could not come back are surprised at the class of shows Mr. Seymour is offering. We are wishing Mr. Seymour luck and good will in his new venture.

CYRUS JACOBS AND BEN PORTMAN, manager and assistant manager of the Globe Theater, popular home of popular vaudeville, have just announced a very interesting change in their picture program. Commencing Thursday night, September 23, only Paramount feature pictures will be shown. All short reels will be abolished, and these feature five-reel pictures running fifty minutes will be presented. This change in pictures will in no way interfere with the regular vaudeville bills of six acts.

THEATRICAL CIRCLES in Kansas City were treated to a sensation last week when an Oklahoman named Harry Smedley breezed into town and announced that he had all the money in the world and was going to organize the best and fastest show ever. He engaged Tex Ellis, a well-known hackface comedian, before coming to town and immediately got the agents here busy framing his show. Everything moved swimmingly for about four days. About fifteen people were engaged, rehearsals taking place, etc., but when the show was ready to move the discovery was made that "all the money in the world" had diminished so rapidly that there was none left to lift the wardrobe, pay the agent or buy the tickets, and the start was postponed from Saturday morning to night, then to Sunday morning and finally Sunday night, when the people, "getting wise," deserted, and the said Smedley left without his show.

HALL-ROBY SHOWS

After an all summer's grind thru the Northwest States the Hall-Roby Shows are back in Kansas, headed South. The Northwest was not as good as in former years. However, the management says they have a goodly sum on the right side of the ledger and have no "kick" coming. Several old showmen joined at Bancroft, Neb. Among them were Link Crossman, with three concessions, and George Westerman with two. While at Carthage, S. D., Mrs. Roby received the sad news of the death of her mother at Henderson, Ky., and immediately left to attend the funeral. She rejoined the show at Remsen, Ia.
 J. H. Roby visited the Brundage Shows at Council Bluffs, Ia. A nice, clean outfit, says J. H. during the Centerville, S. D., engagement Messrs. Hall and Roby sold their swing to Messrs. Burk and Sallis, of Graceville, Minn. The "Cabaret" outfit was also sold to the same parties.

It begins now to look as tho the Wild West was a reality for next season. While at Carthage, S. D. Hall and Roby purchased six head of wild horses, which have been shipped to winter quarters. General Agent Doc Hall caught the show on the run from Omaha to Kansas, shook hands all around, said he heard the call of the South, said goodbye and was gone.

Chief Johnnie Butter, full-blooded Sioux Indian, has joined the Athletic Show. The Chief attracts a great deal of attention from the natives when he appears in his full Indian regalia and war paint. The Chief's wife also will be connected with the show, meeting lady wrestlers. Show folks are coming and going so fast that it is almost impossible to get the names of arrivals and departures. Doc Hall says everybody should call at the office and register.

The management has announced that the season will last for a few weeks yet, but no long winter tour will be made this year.—JUANITA HINSON.

GREAT PATTERSON SHOWS

Go Big at Taylorville, Ill.

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 23.—The Great Patterson Shows are furnishing the attractions here for the Loyal Order of Moose Fall Festival. Business thus far has been the greatest ever done in Taylorville by the Patterson Shows, which speaks a lot, as this is the twelfth time James Patterson has entertained Taylorville people with his attractions.

Mr. Patterson returned today from Kansas City. He reports the operation on Mrs. Patterson a success, and that she will soon be out again. The band, directed by Prof. E. D. Strout, has done some notable extras in Taylorville. By special request of prominent citizens a big concert was given Sunday evening in a large steel auditorium in the City Park, where the shows are located. Today the band acted as an escort in a funeral procession, the deceased being Mayor Thomas J. Downey, an intimate friend of Mr. Patterson. Mayor Downey was known as a great friend to all showmen and was a bandmaster for several years. Harry C. Mohr's Circus Exposition Shows being located at Bulpitt, only seven miles distant, people on both shows have exchanged visits. Among those of the Patterson Shows at Bulpitt were E. V. Yearout, Eddie Hill, Kid Evans, George Klitch, J. Grinnell and Carl Cox, and from the Mohr Shows here were Harry C. Mohr, Chas. Powell, Jack Irwin and W. C. Brown.

Carl Cox, treasurer, came near losing his mascot, "Esmeralda." The terrier made a bad "playmate" for the cub lions, but was rescued in the nick of time.

"Bom," one of the big bulls, drank too much water Sunday, that happened to contain a quantity of soda potash. Keeper George Klitch gave the sick one a dose of medicine (one-half gallon of castor oil) and it did the work. This dose cost "Jim" Patterson $1.75. Jim Barbre, boss hostler, attended a family reunion here. His daughter, Mrs. Trauble, of Cheyenne, Wyo., who he had not seen for 15 years, was at the home of Jim's wealthy uncle, John Barbre. "Kid," Evans, cookhouse, talked several hours over old times with Jack Irwin, of the Mohr Shows. They were on the Benson Shows two years ago. Ruben La Monte, who with his wife does the "rub" acts on the shows, was a ball player on the Taylorville, Eastern Illinois League, team in 1908. He says he came near causing the team's hitched to the band wagon to make a "run." He and his wife ride in an old rickety buggy behind an old skate, and they pulled in ahead of the band, which caused a commotion. Grinnell's boxing midlets continue to be the big noise in the circus side-show. V. J. Yearout entertained forty-five small newshours at the shows Tuesday evening.—CYRUS D. SIMPSON.

CENTRAL STATES EXPOSITION

The Central States Exposition exhibited under the auspices of members of the City Council at Calhoun, Ga. The "City Fathers" furnished an ideal location at the city park, adjoining the fair grounds, which are right in the city. On Saturday evening an unsolicited testimonial was presented to Mr. Pinfold, endorsing the attractions and the people connected with the organization. All equipment, which has been under repair at Cantonment, is ready for delivery and telegraph instructions have been sent for delivery to be made at once. The private car is specially desired, as it will accommodate the executive staff, and has been renovated for occupation. In all six cars will be added, which will increase the equipment to ten cars.

Fairs will now be in line after Cantonment, Ga., week of September 29, and everybody is looking forward to a very successful one, as the cotton crop is of the best, and the people have the "necessaries" to spend. The new canvas ordered to replace that lost during the storm at Somerset has arrived, and the new spreads look good on the midway. Mr. Kreuger was a visitor and reports good business.—MARTIN.

CHINA FLOODS

Chicago, Sept. 22.—A. F. Sheehan, of the At-Last-a Novelty Company, slows The Billboard a communication this week stating that floods in China had played havoc with the shipment of dolls, as well as other commodities commonly shipped to the United States. Mr. Sheehan hoped and believed, he said, that the delay will not be of long duration.

W. S. CHERRY BAZAAR AND EXPOSITION COMPANY

Organization Being Launched for Promotion and Production of Mostly Indoor Events—Season Booked Until April, 1921—Opens Near Cincinnati—Second Company a Possibility

W. S. Cherry will this season launch the W. S. Cherry Bazaar and Exposition Co., to promote bazaars, indoor circuses, fashion shows and expositions.

Mr. Cherry has for several seasons contemplated entering the indoor game upon a large scale, and he has the reputation that when he does a thing it must be done right or not at all. The organization under Mr. Cherry's management will be the most complete, in every detail, ever attempted, according to information furnished, and his long association with the amusement-loving public has shown him what the people want, and no expense will be spared to furnish it for them. He has surrounded himself with a capable staff of assistants, who have had years of experience in their respective branches. Two special cars are to be carried to transport the paraphernalia, which is most elaborate, according to those who have visited the splendid quarters, where carpenters and painters are at work, under the direction of W. H. Stevens, concession manager, building booths and making beautiful designs for decorating purposes. It is further announced that thousands of dollars' worth of bunting has been purchased, as the company intends carrying everything complete, also that as the company owns all its concessions, with the most reliable agents procurable, only the best merchandise will be disposed of on any concessions.

Joseph Miller, secretary and treasurer, who has been at the New York office of the company since it opened, has transferred to the Cincinnati office, where he will handle his part of the business until the opening. Harry E. Bonnell will be in charge of promotions, with four assistants. Betty Jordan, popular and accomplished soprano soloist, has been engaged for the season, in addition to five free acts. An orchestra of nine pieces, each member a soloist, will be a feature. Special paper is to be used exclusively. All time has been booked solid until April, 1921, thru the Middle West and South.

The season opens for the present organization the first of October, near Cincinnati, and from

PASS CITY CARNIVAL

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 24.—Return of peace to Mexico forms one of the principal reasons for the big celebration to be held in this city under the name of the International Exposition, Military Carnival and Buyers' Week, October 4 to 8, inclusive. Invitations have been issued to the governors of neighboring States, as well as to the president of Mexico and governors of the Mexican border States, to attend the celebration.

A military carnival at Fort Bliss, preceded by a spectacular military parade in the downtown streets, will occupy the first two days of the exposition. A program of military events, including a night illuminated military show, is being arranged by Brig. Gen. R. L. Howze, commander at Fort Bliss. On the remaining four days the exposition proper, to be held at Liberty Hall and in the city streets adjoining, will be the center of attraction. There will be a cotton carnival, a poultry and rabbit show, and exhibits from the mining industry, agriculture, manufactures, jobbing houses, retail merchants, educational institutions and Southwestern artists. The Mexican exhibit will be a special attraction.

Amusements will be a leading feature. There will be concerts by local bands, military bands from Fort Bliss and Mexican military bands. Big vaudeville acts will be secured. The "Overland Trail" will be a street filled with the choicest amusements. Everybody in El Paso and Juarez is working for the success of the exposition.

HARLEM MUSEUM

New York, Sept. 25.—The Harlem Museum, East 125th street, this city, under the capable management of J. Kodet, is as usual playing to large crowds. Among the many attractions appearing at the present time include Miss Delporte, snakes and poisonous reptiles; Miss May, Electric Girl; Pete Robinson, living skeleton, weighing forty-eight pounds; Baby Belle, heavy woman; Prince Jos. Pina, walks on glass; Robert Campbell, armless wonder; Mme. Campbell, collection large snakes, and Young George, bag puncher.

the present outlook the W. S. Cherry Co. is a success from the start.

Reports also have it that Mr. Cherry is in receipt of many requests for engagements and that it would not be surprising if a "number two" company would be organized in the very near future.

KANE PROMOTING EVENT

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—James P. Kane, well and favorably known as a promoter of high-class events, is in charge of the promotions for the big carnival being held on the main streets of South Philadelphia, in aid of the building fund of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, 26th and Tasker street. The location of the carnival grounds is ideal, occupying an entire city block between Morris and Tasker street on 26th street. There are twenty-five concessions in charge of members of the committee appointed by the members of the parish. One of the big features of the carnival are the baby parades held on Saturday, September 17, for the infants under one year of age, and on Saturday, September 25, for the youngsters between one and three years of age. A big Queen contest is being promoted by Mr. Kane. The crowning of the Queen will be held on next Saturday evening, the closing night of the event.

This will be Mr. Kane's last outdoor event of the season, as he intends to spend the next several weeks in getting ready for the indoor bazaar season. Mr. Kane has tried out a new scheme this season in several of his outdoor affairs, in having the concessions handled by committees of the organizations for whom the events have been promoted, and has found the method very successful. The same method will be used in several of the indoor events to be promoted during the coming winter.—SLIM.

FESTIVAL AT MANSFIELD

Mansfield, O., Sept. 21.—The Big Festival staged here last week under the auspices of the American Legion, and promoted by Colon (Doc) Campbell, assisted by his wife, Marie, closed financially gratifying to all concerned. The event opened on Monday with a parade, comprising the local Police Department, the West-house Band, the American Legion Post from Shelby, American Legion Post of Mansfield, Elks, Red Cross, Mansfield's best (Wolverine) band, K. P. and Wholesalers' Club. The show consisted of Art Stein's Ten-in-One, Under-stand Chinatown and "Zoma" show, Doc Stein's Wax Show, Brady's Athletic Show and Ferris wheel. Tommy Hayes and Co. were the free attraction. Sixty-two concessions played the event. Mrs. Campbell had a remunerative program promotion on the show.

H. W. CAMPBELL SHOWS

Ardmore, Ok., Sept. 22.—The H. W. Campbell United Shows are playing a carnival date this week after the first string of fairs. Okmulgee, last week, was a real "red letter" stand. In fact, reports from the shows, rides and concessions show that last week was the biggest success of the season; more gross business than any two other weeks combined, and that is saying a great deal, as Campbell's United has had some wonderful big business this season. In addition, Mr. Campbell's race horses ran in first money each day. They are now playing other fairs on the Oklahoma Circuit, "Uncle" Jim Conklin, Paddy and a few other concessions left to join the Famous Broadway Shows at Altoona, Pa. General Agent Harry Potter is visiting the show this week and has contracts for some of the best spots in Texas, which will carry this organization up to Xmas. Star, the famous talker, is now making openings on Charlie Williams' Big Show. Earl's Side-Show joined last week with a nice lineup of attractions. After the loss in the recent fire, the band boys look fine in their new suits. "Whitey" Austin, the top money show, is getting a close race with Vernon's Motordrome. The Stella children have left for school. Many new concessions joined this week, making 63 in all. Tom, the lot man, has his hands full on these lots, locating everyone satisfactory; however, the lot looks fine. Owing to the writer's health he is leaving for Los Angeles, after the Fr. Worth date. His engagement with the Campbell Shows has been very agreeable.—HARRY LABREQUE.

"RANDOM RAMBLES"

By WILLIAM JUDKINS HEWITT

Gypsies on a carnival lot equal trouble continuously.

A carnival is something one does not expect for the price of admission.

The reason many get no place is because they stick to the same old rut season after season.

W. H. Middleton suggests this title for a carnival, "Amusements on the Lot." Yea, verily; yist one is far better than many now in use.

We will now "bill" and build the shows. The latter is no good unless you do the former. What use has one for a razor if he lets a barber shave him?

A prominent concessionaire said recently: "I would rather have my man game than to own a whole carnival organization." We replied: "And they call themselves SHOWMEN."

The only way out is to raise the standard. There are some things on the lots and under canvases that have no more right to be termed "amusements" than a circular saw has use for rubber teeth.

Ed Wynn has a musical comedy called "Ed Wynn's Carnival." We suggest that men and women of the outdoor show world see this show. This is one "Carnival" that no towns or cities will be "closed" to.

George H. Hamilton, former carnival, park, Wild West and exposition showman, is one of the factors in the motion picture business now. His card reads: "Monkey Business." "Son of Tarzan"—office, "11th Tree." Quite novel we should say.

Now is the time to make preparations for the getting of attractions for season 1921. Do it while your show is in motion. Not when the season is over, and surely you will not wait until a few weeks before the next one is to open. Now is the time—not then.

W. O. Fleming is a real general agent. Many want to know how he does it. That's easy. He studies conditions surrounding his business and governs his activities accordingly. He knows his business and attends to it. That's all there is to it in a "nutshell."

C. Frank Stillman, the designer and chief of construction of Columbia Park, North Bergen, N. J., has had enough offers to build parks since he finished this one to keep him busy for at least twenty years. So you see, it did not hurt Mr. Stillman to build a good park, which Columbia is.

John Wendler, the hustling selling agent of the Allan Herschell Company, Inc., of North Tonawanda, N. Y., was in New York recently looking for "wild merry-go-round horses." After looking at the orders for carousels he had on his books there's no wonder he said "wild merry-go-round horses."

Carnival Owners and Managers—You are not fooling anyone but yourselves by not publishing your routes. If the location of a show of any kind is really wanted it can be obtained. What's the secret—you say? Ah, that's the secret. You can not hide a train of cars, George, my boy.

Nellie Revelle was not forgotten by the outdoor showmen. Think of it, about two-thirds of the money collected for her fund came from the outdoor show folks. Nellie Revelle will not be forgotten by those of the lots, as she is affectionately known to them as "Nell of the Lots." May the divine one hasten her return to health is the wish of all emphatically.

C. P. Farrington, the circus general agent, tells this one: "I was up in Nova Scotia this summer and called on a Mayor to see about a license for a circus. While talking to his honor a noise was heard which was of an unusual sound to the officers, so everyone ran out of the office to see what was going on. Investigation proved that a fence paling had fallen off and the owner of the property was mailing it back. Further inquiry brought the information that this was the first nail that had been driven in the town in 81 years. I then again asked the Mayor what he said the fee per day would be, and he said $200. There was a big laugh coming over me, so I immediately ran to the hotel and checked out, "without even as much as saying 'so long'."

"What? A carnival? Get out of my office." There will be a day when this will be the reception: "So you represent a carnival? Come right in; take that chair; have a good cigar. What are your very lowest terms to play our city? Ah glad you came. The City Council has been trying for several years to get you to play our city, as you know, Mr. General Agent."

Charles Andress, of Great Bend, Kan., has learned the art of real living. After circling, doing magic and other things in show business in general, he retired to a farm to reap the reward of an ideal he had harbored in his mind during all the trials and tribulations and successes of his varied career "on and off the lots." A farm, real estate and U. S. bonds are his assets in plenty. Good luck to you, C. A., farmer-showman, Great Bend, Kan.

Ethel Robinson, E. F. Carruthers and Fred M. Barnes—May we solicit your co-operation in putting our own conception, known as "The Street CHAUTAUQUA"? The writer will be pleased to submit the original plan as submitted to the Liberty Loan Committee in New York, which was heartily endorsed by Guy Emerson, of the Chase National Bank, who was at the time head of the Liberty Loan Publicity Bureau.

ZEIDMAN & POLLIE SHOWS

Playing Fine String of Southern Fairs

The Zeidman & Pollie Exposition Shows are invading the South on their second annual tour and are now exhibiting at the East Tennessee Fair at Sweetwater. The shows are doing a very fine business, as it is the largest organization that has ever been seen at this fair. The shows arrived on Sunday from Maryville, Tenn., where they finished a very big week's business under the auspices of the American Legion. This was one of the so-called "closed" towns, but the Legion had no difficulties in staging its festival, and the shows were well patronized. Every business house in Maryville closed on Tuesday and a general holiday was declared in honor of the American Legion, and the shows had one of the banner days of the season.

From here the Zeidman & Pollie Exposition goes to the People's Agricultural Fair at Salisbury, N. C., with the Northeast Georgia Fair, at Gainesville, Ga.; the North Georgia Fair, at Rome; Early County Fair, Blakely, Ga.; and the Colquitt County Fair, Moultrie, Ga., to follow.

While playing Knoxville, Tenn., Colonel Littleton had an operation on his eye performed, which greatly benefited him. The Colonel has now fully recovered his eyesight and is able to resume his performances with his Society Horse Show, featuring "Lady Fanchon."

General Agent Felix Blei visited the Exposition Shows in Knoxville, and reported that the season is booked solid, with all railroad contracts made. He left for Rome, Ga., to help advertise the fair at that place, and also the other fairs that are to be played by this organization.—HOLLAND.

CANADIAN VICTORY SHOWS

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 23.—Victor L. Neiss, owner and general manager the Canadian Victory Shows, has had the pleasure and satisfaction of playing a number of fair dates which were the "carnival" spots for his organization the past season.

The shows have played a very successful tour thru the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, under the direction of Mr. Neiss, who has had twenty-nine years' experience in the show business.

It is announced that next season Mr. Neiss will have an all-wagon-front show, and has already contracted for a twenty-car train, and a large circus will be one of the big features. For the winter Mr. Neiss will, as in other years, establish his office at 55 Yonge Street Arcade, this city.

A GIRL TO THE KINGS

Belated news reached The Billboard that a nine-pound baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. King at the Mercy Hospital, Tiffin, O., on August 23. Mother and babe are both reported doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. King are well known concessioners and when the little one arrived were playing the fair at Tiffin. During the winter and spring seasons they had their own caravan, the King Amusement Company, in the Southern Atlantic Coast States.

SAN FRANCISCO

By STUART B. DUNBAR
 605 Pantagea Theater Bldg.

San Francisco's proposed all night movie theater received its death blow when representatives of a number of prominent welfare and social organizations appeared before the Board of Supervisors at their meeting last Monday and filed formal protests against the venture. The protests were based on the ground that the operation of such a show house constituted a menace to the public morals. It had been planned to operate the theater for the benefit of showfolk and others whose occupations precluded their attending the theaters during the regular hours.

Tiny and James Brennan (The Two Tiny Tots) visited The Billboard office and announced that they have just secured a long route from Levy & Ackerman, which will keep them busy throughout the winter months. While working at Richmond, September 19, Tiny Brennan injured her ankle during her dance number. However, she expects to be at work in a week or ten days. The Brennans send regards to all tab. folk. Their permanent address is care of The Billboard's San Francisco office.

Tot Young writes that he is doing well with Sam Griffin's minstrels. He is producing "The Return of the Darktown Recruits," the big hit of the second part of the olio.

Charles H. Wilkinson, "Lumber Jack Charley," was a Billboard visitor during the week, following a successful engagement at the California State Fair in Sacramento. Wilkinson stopped the show on closing night at Sacramento when he sang with the band, and took bow after bow. He will sing at the Fresno County Fair, after visiting in San Francisco for a few days. Dixie Alton writes from Los Angeles for word of her sister, Theda Alton, whom she believes to be in or near San Francisco. Miss Dixie has important news for her sister and would like to hear from her.

A movement has been launched here among the chorus girls to boost for Harding for president. Bee Winsome, one of the leading feminine figures of the Marcus Show of 1920, which opened at the Columbia Theater on the night of September 20, is one of the leaders in the movement and has offered the services of the women of her company to the Republican State Central Committee.

Two Orpheum and two Hippodrome acts entertained the convalescent soldiers at the Letterman General Hospital recently. The entertainment was conducted under the auspices of Adolph Dohring, stage director, and Mr. McSweeten, musical director. Numbers on the program included Haig, in "playtime," and Sidney Phillips in songs and stories, from the Orpheum, and Clifton Kramer, Joe Coffman and Isabelle Carroll, from the Hippodrome.

Rumor has it along the Rinlito here that vandyville actors and actresses playing Pantagea Circuit will be reimbursed for additional money paid out, owing to the recent raise in railroad rates, by a corresponding raise in salary.

The receipt of the report here, whether true or not, was the cause of jubilation among showfolk, as it is taken that it may mean that other circuits will follow Pantagea's example.

Emma Haig, featured on last week's Orpheum bill, has evolved a new dance, entitled "The Coyote Lope," which bids fair to take San Francisco by storm. The dance, it is said, is peculiarly adaptable to the ballroom, and society here has taken it up already.

Clay M. Greene, the playwright, has been placed in charge of the dramatic department just opened by The Journal of Commerce. The paper has heretofore been devoted entirely to commercial and shipping news.

"Joy Gems" scored at its opening Sunday, September 19, at the Casino Theater. Madie Du Fresnoe and Elizabeth Morgan open with a clever toe dance, in which they lead the famous Will King ponies.

A. C. Boucher was a visitor at The Billboard office during the week and reported good business. The Reasley-Boucher Shows made a clean-up at Sacramento, Boucher declared.

Another Billboard visitor was F. J. Matthews, special agent for Brown's Amusement Company, who is in San Francisco for a few days. Brown's show closes at Ladd, Id., on October 2 and will then proceed south by way of Nevada and Arizona.

W. F. (Bo) Callicott dropped into The Billboard office during the week to announce his safe arrival from Australia after a tour of several months. Callicott says that he saw Father the Great in Australia, and that he is doing well. The majority of shows, tho, Callicott says, are having anything but easy pickings and he declares that the old U. S. A. looks good to him.

BABCOCK GREATER SHOWS

The F. W. Babcock Greater Shows made their first stand in California at Stockton, playing under the auspices of the Moose and doing a very large business. The shows received a fine recommendation as to their cleanliness (there being no so-called "girl shows" in the lineup) from the Moose to the Joaquin County Fair, now being held at Stockton, and the organization is playing this date to excellent attendance. The fair is giving the best exhibits ever presented, all departments being taxed to the limit, and the races and special features are especially attractive.

F. W. Babcock, owner, and his family are with the show. Mr. Babcock is so well pleased with his reception and patronage in this State that he intends keeping the show out all winter. Chas. F. Haley is manager, C. E. Carmody secretary and the writer press agent.—H. G. SHEAFER.

OPEN LETTERS

and my songs have always been accepted in various schools and also in the public libraries, yet whenever I sought to approach any of the so-called publishers in and around Broadway I have always been treated with both contempt and disrespect and always receive the same reply—we have our own staff of writers and we won't take anything from outside writers. Yet by teachers in the schools and librarians songs and poetical works are given the most serious attention. The writing of songs is the work of a qualified poet, one who has shown exceptional skill in this line, and let me say here regarding the so-called staff writer and collaboration song writer that the man who can not write a song without having one, two, three or four people to help him out has no right whatever to try to do work of this kind. Suppose Shakespeare, Milton, Burns, Goldsmith, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Florence Percy and other writers had enlisted the aid of three or four people to get something done, would their work be of any value? And altho I have written five to six hundred songs and several volumes of poetry, as well as stories and plays, I have never required the assistance of anyone to do this work, because, as I have said, the man who can not write a song without the assistance of half a dozen others has no right to even try to do work of this kind, and it's just this staff writing business that has ruined the music publishing business. The people don't want this junk because it has no literary value and songs should not be published or written unless they have some literary value and are the work of one who has shown himself or herself to be a qualified poet. Of course I am aware that the efforts of these poets will do no good, as the poor author has not the money, the time and the inclination to get his songs on the market, and unless he can get someone to publish his work, and it's not very likely that he can, his work will not get before the public and the market will continue to be flooded with the junk of the staff writers, and that is the reason the music business is demoralized and ruined. I have written new words to all the old war and patriotic songs except the "Star-Spangled Banner," which I have set to new music. I have followed in the lines of Gray, Burns, Moore, Goldsmith, Foster and Edgar Allan Poe. I have written more school, patriotic and folk songs than probably any other man that ever lived. I wrote over twenty-five songs on the great war. I have written several hundred popular songs as well as a large number of fine standard ballads the equal of any that have ever been written, yet if I went down with any of my songs on Broadway they would all say "We have our own staff of writers and we don't take anything from outside," and if you can get out of their so-called publishing houses without being actually insulted and abused you would be very lucky indeed. I am not afraid to submit any work to a school, a college or a public library, but my experience in dealing with these so-called publishers has convinced me that one can not do anything with these people as far as getting his work published. He can not even retain his self-respect as a poet, an author or a man, and if anyone doubts in any way what I have said I am in a position to convince them that every word is true. I am in a position to give to the public one of the finest collections of school, patriotic and folk songs that have ever come from the hands of any author, as well as popular songs and fine standard ballads. If I could enlist the aid of some reliable person who has a desire and a love for what is good, what is nice and what is beautiful in music, as a poet and composer I consider my life's work as done, and if there is anyone who desires to help me to get this work out I would be glad to have them and know who they are, either publisher, singer or musician. I have enough work for all and there is room for all those who wish to assist. And now at the end of my letter let me thank The Billboard for the assistance it has given me in publishing my work, and if I should succeed in getting my work before the public I shall give unlimited praise to the one medium the obscure author and poet has. The Billboard.

Thanking you for giving your valuable space to my letter in your issue of September 10, I am,
 Yours very truly,
NATHAN D. LEWIS.

EXHIBITORS GATHER IN STATE CONVENTIONS

FOLLOWING THE SUCCESSFUL MEETING IN NORTHWEST STATES ARE ISSUED FOR MANY STATE GATHERINGS

NO CONTESTS ANYWHERE EXCEPT IN INDIANA

Following the highly successful State Convention of Minnesota, which declared its adhesion to the principles and the constitution enunciated at the Cleveland Convention, comes the good news from the State organization of Nebraska, which has just brought its convention to a close, over-subscribing the quota of its contributions to the national fund by fully 100 per cent. The Nebraska Convention which had lasted three days, ending Friday, September 24, also avowed its full adherence to the principles and the constitution of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America. Two conventions are going on in the State of Indiana just as we are going to press—such at least as the latest wire from the field men in the Hoosier State. The Motion Picture Theater Owners are strongly represented at the Hotel Severn in Indianapolis, among their prominent missionaries being W. E. Steppes, who has just been re-elected president of the Minnesota State organization; E. T. Peter, treasurer of the National organization formed at Cleveland, and one of the best liked men both in his own State, and among his fellow officers in the N. T. O. A.; the old war horse Fred Herrington, and Sam Bullock, the dauntless fighter from Ohio.

Other convention dates as announced by National President Sydney S. Cohen are as follows:

Iowa, Oct. 1; place of convention Hotel Fort, Des Moines; West Virginia, October 11, place to be announced later; Miami Valley, October 7 and 8 at the Hotel Gibson, Cincinnati, O.; California, October 5, 6, and 7, Civic Auditorium at San Francisco; Michigan, October 5 and 6, Downey House, Lansing, Mich.; Alabama, September 30, Exchange Hotel, Montgomery, Ala.; Illinois, September 30, Hotel St. Nicholas, Springfield.

A very successful convention has just come to a close at the Auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce at Kansas City, Kan. Here the exhibitors of Kansas fully endorsed the national organization and oversubscribed its quota to the national fund. Another strong convention was held September 22 and 23 at Hotel Lafayette in Lexington, Ky., where the exhibitors of the Blue Grass State for the first time in their history got together in an active effort for the common cause.

personal representative, Ralph T. Kettering, to view the film, and they told her it should prove a real success.

The refusal of the board of censors to pass the film, which was shown in the City Hall, seems to be wrapped in some mystery. Miss Clement is quoted as saying she will go ahead and show the picture outside of Chicago anyway. The

SOUTHERN OHIO EXHIBITORS

To Form Permanent Organization When They Meet in Cincinnati October 7 and 8

In a letter sent out to trade papers the association temporarily known as the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Southern Ohio announces that a permanent organization will be formed when the first convention is held in Cincinnati October 7 and 8. Temporary officers have been elected, committees appointed and all arrangements made for a big convention. The announcement is as follows:

At a special meeting held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at Cincinnati Tuesday, September 21, the first foundation was laid for what is temporarily known as the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Southern Ohio. It was decided to send out a call to all exhibitors in Southern Ohio to attend the first convention, which has been scheduled for October 7 and 8, and will be held at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati. At that time a permanent organization will be perfected; a representative of the national organization will be at hand, and it is the aim of those who started the ball a-rolling to make this a great success. The new organization when organized will become a part of the national organization which was formed at Cleveland last June.

Temporary officers were elected as follows: I. W. McMahan, Cincinnati, chairman; Godfrey Kotzin, Covington, Ky., secretary; John J. Huss, treasurer. Fred S. Meyer, of Hamilton, O., was appointed chairman of the publicity committee and will look after the letters and cards that go to exhibitors in Southern Ohio, urging them to attend the convention. The finance committee consists of John J. Huss, chairman; I. Libson and Otto Luodeking. The temporary committee on business relations has been appointed as follows: Andy Hette-sheimer, chairman; Fred S. Meyer; Harry W. Kress, Dr. George Kolhe, Fred Tynes, W. D. Harris, I. Libson, Dan Worth, I. Frankel, Dr. George Alexander.

It will be noticed from the foregoing that right at the outset the big exhibitors have "come in." The leading motion picture exhibitors of Cincinnati, Hamilton, Lima, Columbus and Dayton will serve on the most important committees and it is the general aim of the organization committee to elect as many out-of-town exhibitors as will accept, so that no petty jealousy may mar the formation in its making.

October 7 and 8 have been set as the dates. It is estimated that fully 400 exhibitors will attend, and Southern Ohio will at last have in reality what it should have had for a long time, namely, a real red organization.

The chairmanship pro tem was "wisely" given to Mr. McMahan against his desires. The committee felt, however, that he was best qualified and entitled to this honor.

In his publicity campaign Fred S. Meyer will be assisted by Thomas Quinlan, manager convention and publicity department, Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, who will look after the "physical" distribution of all literature.

A. J. Ackerman, of Cincinnati has been appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and will see that "some sidights" are provided after the business session has been attended to.

Another meeting of the committee takes place Wednesday, September 29, at the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

DANGERS AHEAD

With the full enfranchisement of women in the nation we may look for a strong renewal of the fight for Federal and State censorship. In the month of December a new Congress will meet. In the course of the coming year the legislatures of most of the forty-eight States will convene.

We assume and believe that the motives of the great majority of women who favor official censorship are honest. Like Maud Murray Miller, of Ohio fame, most of the women "just love to censor the pictures."

We do not propose at this time to go into the fallacy and injustice of censorship applied to the screen—we will have much to say on that subject in the future issues of The Billboard, and we hope to be useful in this way to the men who must fight censorship.

What we desire to point out at this time with the use of our largest megaphone is the danger which lies in allowing the plan or the management of our anti-censorship campaign to be controlled or dominated by either the manufacturing or the distributing interests. We do not regard censorship merely as a problem in producers' profits. Indeed as far as the producer is concerned, however sincere and reasonable his opposition against censorship, he will be regarded as a party with a direct financial interest in the outcome, and both he and his hired lawyer will be under a disadvantage which has heretofore proved fatal in every case.

The fight against censorship must take its source in the public hostility against censorship. The men who own the theaters and who come in contact with their patrons are best able to interpret and assert such anti-censorship sentiment as may exist among their patrons. They have every right to be heard, not as individuals but as the spokesmen of their audiences.

We must go even further than this. We must enlist the active support of men who are prominent in civic affairs, who recognize the danger of establishing an inquisition over this important medium of expression and WHO HAVE NO CONNECTION WHATSOEVER WITH MOTION PICTURES WHETHER FINANCIAL OR OTHERWISE. We need editors and Statesmen and persons of both sexes who have achieved a reputation for public service to combat this menace which now threatens to overwhelm the industry.

One other class of men must be heard—the men who can best qualify as witnesses to prove how censorship kills genius—I am speaking of the directors. It was Mr. Griffith's plea to the legislature of Virginia which doomed the censorship bill in that State two years ago. If censorship as the long-haired men and short-haired women want it applied to the screen had been imposed upon literature and upon painting and upon sculpture we would never have emerged from the crudity of the savage.

The Billboard thinks it a deplorable neglect on the part of the industry not to have repealed the censorship laws in the States of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Kansas. If the odious law had been repealed in even one State we would be better equipped for the anti-censorship fights that are to come.

If we make this an issue involving the constitutional liberties of the citizen, if we follow the lead of the late Justice Gaynor and insist upon the enfranchisement of the motion picture as a medium of expression comparable to the press, we must win. If we make this a fight originated or controlled by the manufacturers, who have been for and against censorship as their pockets seemed to be affected, then we will lose the fight and we will deserve to lose it.—W. STEPHEN BUSH.

FILM MAN INJURED

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Irving R. Rehm, president of the Atlas Educational Film Company, of this city, was seriously injured by a motor truck on his way home from the studio last evening. The driver of the truck is said to have been running on the wrong side of the street when he hit Mr. Rehm, and the force was so great that one of Mr. Rehm's shoes was torn from his foot, and, when picked up, was found with the shoe strings still tied. Mr. Rehm is confined to his home, and it will be some time before he will regain the use of one hand, as the wrist has been broken in several places.

MINISTERS NOT ALL FANATICS

Sandusky, O., Sept. 25.—Ministers of this city are endeavoring to launch a campaign with a view of closing picture and vaudeville houses on Sundays. However, not all clergymen are in favor of the proposal. "There are worse things than Sunday amusements," said one of the clergymen, "and in my opinion if there is any campaigning done, it ought to be against other forms of Sabbath violation first."

WILDA BENNETT

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The daily newspapers are giving considerable prominence to a new film, "Love, Honor and Obedience," being shown this week in the Alcazar Theater. Wilda Bennett, stage star, whom the Metro people coaxed away from the articulate drama for a spell, is the star. And, by the way, Wilda is right here in Chicago now, appearing in "Apple Blossoms," in the Colonial Theater. And she is quite a big part of the blossoms.

TURNED DOWN "DREGS"

Alice Clement's New Picture Didn't Pass Censors

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Chief of Police Garrity's own board of censors turned down a new film today in which the chief himself was one of the central figures. Not alone Chief Garrity, but Chief of Detectives Mooney and the author of the scenario, Policewoman Alice Clement Faubel, and many lesser police figures, were in the cast, the author being the star.

The title of the film was "The Dregs of a City," and The Billboard has already carried several stories about Miss Clement's forthcoming film, in which she is the central figure. Her exceptional standing in the police world, her manifest capability and striking ideas from a film standpoint easily enlisted the frank support of her superiors in the police department. During a visit to The Billboard office some days ago Miss Clement said that she believed the film would prove a wonderful safeguard to girls who wished to come to this or any other large city.

That same day Miss Clement said she had persuaded Aaron J. Jones, of the great theatrical firm of Jones, Blulek & Schaefer, and his film had already been booked in the Bandbox Theater, in the Loop, a house that shows most of the big releases of the type of "The Dregs of a City."

"WAY DOWN EAST"

New York, Sept. 25.—D. W. Griffith's motion picture version of "Way Down East," with Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman and associate players, reaches its fifth week at the Forty-fourth Street Theater, where it has settled down for an indefinite stay. Mr. Griffith's introduction of colored photography and the special music program are great factors in the success of this remarkable picture. The ice scenes at the end are genuinely thrilling. Two performances are given daily, including Sundays, at 2:15 and 8:15.

TAKING STRAW VOTE

The Saenger Amusement Company is cooperating with the Associated First National Pictures and The Pensacola (Fla.) News in the national Presidential straw vote. Manager J. A. Jones, of the Isis and Bonito theaters, at Pensacola, announces. Polls will be taken throughout the country and wires exchanged.

An engrossing story, capably played by star and excellent support.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

Lloyd Norwood neglects his wife and child for an infatuation which leads him to the underworld opium dens. One of the leaders is hated by the chief of the gang, and Pussyfoot, a hilding, is told to get rid of him. He entangles the doped Norwood in the intrigue, and when the man is shot in a theater box, the blame falls upon the confused Norwood, who is arrested at his country home. His wife believes in his innocence and sets out to discover the guilty parties. Acting as an underworld woman of the class sort, she inveigles Pussyfoot and the Chief into loving her, arousing the jealousy of both. Playing on the superstition of the weakling, Pussyfoot, she gets him to confess. But she still has no one to corroborate her testimony and her husband is to die in the morning. Desperate, she tries a last recourse, and while the Chief is fighting for her favor, Pussyfoot shoots him and is badly wounded in return. The police arrive, and Mrs. Norwood is in time to save her husband from the electric chair. The man, reformed, finds happiness in his home.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

A very fine presentation of a complicated story, which holds intense interest, proving that strategy and woman's wits conquer the most desperate criminals. Miss Glumm is an engaging figure as the loving wife who dared so much, and not once did she step out of the character. The many dramatic situations, the tremendous suspense and superior acting make of this a most absorbing drama of the underworld, where the mysterious Chinese creeps in and out of the shadows that cover revolting crime.

In the sinister mazes of the hip joint, with its secret passages and hidden dens, the star and Matt Moore do some splendid acting, which holds attention to the final reel.

The continuity has not suffered under Director Henaberry. The settings, while heavy and overcrowded, possibly represent the true atmosphere found in the underworld.

This picture should find an appreciative audience in any locality.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

Smiling Joe Wiley rides the bumpers into Sanstom Junction and makes good with a crowd of cowboys on a large ranch. He meets and falls in love with a waitress at the station restaurant, who is also sought by a brutal character, leader of a gang of bad men, who robs the local bank. Joe, hearing shots, butts into the melee, and when a man is killed by the gang he is arrested and tried for the murder. Sentenced to die, Kate, the waitress, urges the Governor to pardon him, as circumstances only were against him. He refuses, and she places him in a compromising position, calling for help. The wife and others rush in, and then Kate explains the frameup in order to convince the Governor the power of circumstantial evidence. He signs the pardon—Joe is saved at the gallows by his sweetheart, and they all praise the woman's great love that refused to give up.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

While this is only an ordinary story, it is handled with a slight touch of originality by introducing the first scenes in the Western country, permitting of riding, pursuit and a sensational rescue by the hero, which attracts sympathy for him in the beginning. There are the usual number of ranch scenes, with bucking bronchos and a full quota of villains, who help the story to string along satisfactorily. Also a prison interior, with cells peopled with condemned men hearing the next victim pass by on his way to the gallows. All these details are carefully carried out, and this picture will no doubt please the small town fan who likes action and heart appeal.

Eileen Sedgwick is young and pretty, with a fair comprehension of emotional values. The last subtitle was entirely unnecessary and spoiled the climax. Joe Moore was efficient as the smiling chap. Tho the material is far from new, it nevertheless holds attention by the unbroken continuity and an amount of suspense which is well placed.

"THE JAIL BIRD"

Story by Julien Josephson. A Thomas H. Ince production, starring Douglas MacLean. Paramount picture, shown at the Rialto Sunday, September 26.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

Young man, Clancy, doing time for safe-cracking, escapes six months before his time is up to join his pal, Skeeters, outside. His uncle leaves him an estate consisting of $7, a newspaper office and some land. The mucky village of Dodson fails to appreciate his efforts to run a newspaper with the aid of a girl and Skeeters. Then he decides on a Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford style of selling oil from the inherited land, but the boomerang turns out to be a gush of great wealth and he is made a hero. He goes back to prison to complete his term, telling the girl he will come back after six months for her answer.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

Laughter was almost continuous at the Rialto, for the vast audience took to their hearts this jolly, snappy comedy in which Douglas MacLean and Doria May enact roles which fit them to a nicety. Character types which are found in sleepy villages are portrayed with life-like fidelity—some of them are genuine hits. The best fun occurs at the oil well grounds, where the hicks follow the doings of the hero with amazed incredulity. But another laugh is on the hero when real oil gushes up from the sandy soil he believed worthless. The love romance enters late in the picture and is just enough to balance the story.

Locations and settings fitted perfectly the central idea of the rube town. Can be heartily recommended as a wholesome, rollicking picture, clean and entertaining.

"NOMADS OF THE NORTH"

A First National Picture.

Reviewed by W. STEPHEN BUSH

This is not an altogether unattractive mixture of stereotyped melodrama and scenes of animals and animal life. The worst faults are the many stretches without any action whatever and the poor performance of most of the cast.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

The daughter of a poor settler in the Northern woods is sought in marriage by the son of a rich factor on whom the settler has been dependent for his livelihood. She refuses on the ground that she is engaged to marry a "Voyageur" of the woods, one Raoul. She repels the idea that Raoul, from whom no word has been received in six months, has proved false, but admits he might have died and for this reason is ready to believe the cooked-up story of a fool of the factor's son, who tells her that he had seen Raoul die. Just as the factor's son and the girl are about to be wedded Raoul comes into church, arriving just in the nick of time to prevent the marriage and claim his bride. Later his anger against the liar who told about his death overcomes him and he fights with him. With his life in imminent danger, he kills the prevaricator, is arrested and locked up. His wife comes to the rescue and forces the factor and his son to free her husband, after which both seek and find happiness in the solitude of the far North. Their place is discovered by the factor's son and it looks as if all were over, but a forest fire breaks out. The villain gets drunk in a cabin with the result that he perishes in the fire. The officer, who had arrested the husband, is a former friend of the wife and decides to let the husband go.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

This is a rather crude melodrama and if it were not for the animals and the baby and the beautiful scenery it would fall absolutely flat. A comical little bear and a pathetic sort of tramp dog furnished a lot of entertainment and afforded a welcome excuse to forget about the rapidities of the so-called plot. The bear won his way into the hearts of the audience at once and remained a favorite to the end. Other animals shown were a squirrel, one or two pumas, several timber wolves and a porcupine. This catalog may be incomplete, but it contains most of the animals anyway.

The acting of the hero was up to the low standard of intelligence which tradition has set for all melodramatic heroes. Quite a lot of the celluloid is taken up with the struggles between the villain and the heroine. Audiences are used to this sort of thing and generally endure it with patience, but they always laugh when the imperiled heroine is so much huskier than the villain and seems entitled to be the favorite in the betting on the outcome. The performance of Betty Blythe was staged and unconvincing to the last degree.

"MADAME X"

Adapted from stage play of Alexandre Bisson, directed by Frank Lloyd, starring Pauline Frederick. Shown at Capitol Theater Sunday, September 26. Goldwyn picture.

Reviewed by MARION RUSSELL

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

Jacqueline Floriot, wife of prominent French official, is believed unfaithful by her jealous husband and driven away. Later she returns, begging for a visit with her little son, who is ill. She is repulsed and sent adrift. Hopeless, she sinks to the depths. Twenty years later fearing her paramour may blackmail her now famous husband, she shoots the man dead. Her son, grown to manhood, pleads her case eloquently, and she is acquitted. But her life of misery, soaked with absinthe, tells against her strength, and she dies after the son has learned to call her mother.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

Gloomy and sad is this picture of a mother's love and a wrecked life. The action is well sustained and interest held to the final scene. Miss Fredericks kept well within the central idea of the story, tho she was apt to bow her head too frequently to get the proper effect of emotion so necessary on the screen. But the role is so crowded with poignant misery that the leading character cannot fall to attract sympathy for the unhappy creature whose mother love predominated. The best part of the picture was the court scene laid in Paris, where attention to detail was ever manifest. Conditions in France are different than in our courts and some things appeared rather incongruous to us but perfectly correct for locale of the story.

The star was constantly unhappy, having no lighter moments, but the action was adequately balanced by the youthful love affair of her son. William Courtleigh played the husband, but the best acting was done by Cassion Ferguson during his appeal to the jury. This was a strongly dramatic scene with deep pathos ever present.

Direction was capable, but the lighting arrangements at times were too dim.

The reputation of this stage play will prove a large asset, blended with the star's reputation.

"THE CRADLE OF COURAGE"

Paramount picture, starring William S. Hart.

Reviewed by W. STEPHEN BUSH

Except in the regular Hart neighborhoods this picture does not hold out any great hopes to the exhibitor.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

The star takes the part of a "crook" who has reformed sufficiently to enter the army, and thru his good associations in the service is made to see the error of his ways. His "pal" in the war has been the son of a police captain. Upon his return home he is introduced to the father of his "pal," the police captain. The latter recognizes the soldier as a former crook, but helps him by offering him a position on the force. Against the acceptance of such a position all his instincts and associations rebel, and when he finally, upon continued persuasion by the police captain and the son, decides to "go straight," he incurs the bitter enmity of all his former friends, and even of his mother. In the end he proves his loyalty to his new allegiance by paying for it with his life after bringing one of his former companions in crime to justice.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

What a chrome is to an oil painting this picture is to a good feature. It is artificial, improbable, poorly delineated. At its best it is cheap and lurid melodrama. The Hart fans will like the fights and all the underworld play in which the star is prominent, but I doubt whether the average audience with no special worship for the star will care very much for this picture. Hart's acting was excellent, as it always is. The cast was good. The weakness lies in the artificial and unnatural character of the story.

Tense dramatic situations well developed. Good ending. A feature for high-class houses.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

A Southern woman is married to a man who entered the Confederate Army. A report is received by her of his death. The house in which she and her family live is captured by Northern troops, whose commander is an old admirer of the young woman, whose favor is also sought by a surgeon in the Federal Army. She cares nothing for the latter, but uses him to procure quinine, which she smuggles South for the Confederate soldiers. When the surgeon discovers that he is not loved, but only used for a purpose, he conceives a violent resentment against the woman. In the meantime the supposedly dead husband turns up alive. The wife, who, believing herself a widow, had been on the point of marrying her Northern admirer, remembers her wifely duties. She tries to aid her husband in his escape from the Union troops, but fails, and the husband is caught with plans in his possession, showing him to be a spy. In a battle raging about the house between Federal and Confederate soldiers the husband is wounded, but the Union commander tells him that he will be nursed back to health to meet his punishment. At this juncture the wife conceived the idea of having her husband feign death, and with the connivance of a hospital guard to remove his supposed body after permission from the General has been secured. Just as the plan seems about to succeed the surgeon gets wind of it and demands to examine the body. The General Commander is appealed to and asked to appoint another surgeon, because this man had shown too much animosity. The General then himself takes the cover from the stretcher and finds that the man is really dead, he having died while the scheme for his liberation was being carried out. The widow comes North and marries her lover of the Northern Army.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

The dramatic values in this time-honored play are many and all of them genuine. The director, Donald Crisp, has done ample justice to his subject and has made the film version as exciting and pathetic as the original play, which was one of the most popular of its kind and ran for many years. There is no particular star, which perhaps helps to account for the general uniform excellence of the entire cast.

Jack Holt, Agnes Ayers, Wanda Hawley, Lewis Stone and Robert Cain all gave splendid performances and it was in no small measure their team work which made the play so acceptable to the Strand audiences.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

The story revolves around a feud between the "hilltoppers," aristocrats who live in the hills, and the "squatters," who reside in the valley and are being persecuted by the hilltoppers, who believe that one must return good for evil. She falls in love with a "hilltopper," who happens to be a very decent sort of a chap. The good little girl is driven to desperation by the persecutions inflicted on her family by the "hilltoppers" and turns somewhat of an anarchist. Her lover in the end convinces her that the world is not as bad as she thinks it is and offers to marry her. She accepts him and there is the usual happy ending.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

Whoever cast Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin for a star shows that he is a poor astronomer. Perhaps this feature does not present her with the best opportunities, but she misses even the opportunities she has and merely makes the audience tired. The scene of this story seems to be laid in this country, Ithaca being named as the particular locality. This, of course, only creates another improbability, and, as the story is so full of them, one more or less does not really matter after all. Little can be said for the cast that supported the star. "THE POOR SIMP"

Very slow to establish its motive, but catches a number of laughs before the final scene. Owen Moore played with sincerity and registered many improbable situations.

THE STORY IN SKELETON FORM

Timid young man studies "how to propose," and is never able to pop the question to the girl he loves. Discouraged, he enters a cheap cabaret, where a fight takes place among his habitués. He is hit on the head, which bewilders but does not kill him. A physician tries his methods on the patient, hoping to cure him of the desire to commit suicide. He gives him a bottle of harmless water marked poison. He drinks it all and can not die. Then the doctor engages a gang of underworld men to write blackmail letters, threatening him with death at four o'clock; this also includes his faithful black servant. After many escapes, etc., he proposes to his girl that they marry immediately and the knot is tied at the Little Church Around the Corner.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

It is a credit to Mr. Moore's ability that he gets so much out of the thin material, which at times disintegrates, then starts on again with a rush of fun. The central idea is far-fetched, for in this era men don't have to study text books in search of a love-making instructor. But after the silly part has passed the real comedy commences and many of the laughs are caused by the realistic portrayals of the negro valet, who was quietly, but genuinely, funny. Titles at this point were also bright and men especially appeared to enjoy this part of the picture.

It can be said that the picture is entertaining in a way—then again it descends into gruesome scenes which have a disquieting effect upon the audience, and silence results from showing some brutal action in a cellar where the hero is taken to intimidate him. Comedy should never become associated with serious situations, which really belong to melodrama. But in numerous scenes Mr. Moore played the fear-filled hero in convincing manner.

Some fine bits of photography were noted and the presentation was acceptable.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

THE SKELETON OF THE STORY

A poor stenographer, unable to get references, is in a state of despair when she meets a fellow stenographer who has plenty of references, which afterwards turn out to be forgeries. By means of the references she obtains a position with a socially select woman, whose son, expelled from college, falls in love with her and eventually marries her.

THE CRITICAL X-RAY

The best criticism must always be the stilted and the comments of the audience. The crowds at the Strand liked the star, but regretted there was not more for her in the play. The element humor was present, but the specific instances of humor were not always any too well conceived or placed. They made the audience laugh, however, and that, of course, tells in their favor. The cast supporting Miss Talmadge was mediocre. The setting and atmosphere were excellent and the direction fair.

ng may be used for the construction of a booth. It shall close against a substantial metal rabbet and shall be so arranged as to close automatically when not open for ingress or egress.

There shall be two openings in the booth for each machine, one for observation by the operator and one for operation of the machines, and other necessary openings for spot lights. These openings shall not exceed twelve inches by fourteen inches in dimensions and each shall be provided with a gravity door constructed of asbestos board or of sheet metal of not less than No. 14 U. S. gauge. Such doors normally shall be held open by a fine combustible cord fastened to a fusible link which melts at 160 degrees Fahrenheit and which shall be located within the booth directly above the moving picture machine. Doors shall be arranged to slide closed when released, and when closed shall overlap their respective openings two inches on each side.

Section 5. All shelves, furniture and fixtures within the booth shall be constructed of non-combustible material.

Section 6. Each booth shall be provided with a ventilating inlet on at least one side, said inlet to be approximately fifteen inches long and three inches high, the lower side thereof to be not more than three inches above the floor level.

There shall also be an opening or vent in the ceiling or upper part of the side wall with a minimum cross-sectional area of fifty square inches, which shall communicate by means of a fireproof pipe or flue with the chimney or outer air.

Section 7. Where motion pictures are exhibited daily in one place for not more than one month, or in educational or religious institutions or in bona fide social, scientific, political or athletic clubs, not oftener than three times a week, a portable booth may be substituted for the booth described in Section three of this act. Such booth shall have a height of not less than six feet and area of not less than twenty square feet and shall be constructed of asbestos board, sheet steel of not less than No. 24 U. S. gauge, or some other approved fireproof material. Such portable booths shall conform to the specifications of Section four of this act with reference to windows and doors but need not so conform with reference to vent flues except that there shall be an opening for ventilation in the top of booth not less than ten inches in diameter with a metal sleeve at least eighteen inches in height, provided with a ventilating cap, attached thereto.

The booth may be of the folding type, but shall be so constructed that when assembled it shall be rigid and all joints shall be so tight that flames cannot pass thru them. The base of the booth shall have a flange extension outward on all four sides and so constructed that the booth may be securely fastened to the floor. Provided, however, that any fireproof booth in use when this act goes into effect, which is in substantial compliance with the provisions of the foregoing sections may be continued in such such use so long as the same is reasonably safe, anything to the contrary herein contained notwithstanding.

Section 8. All moving picture machines and all electrical equipment used in showing moving pictures shall be installed, constructed and operated in the following manner:

(a) All electrical equipment shall be constructed and installed in substantial compliance with the provisions of the National Electrical Code.

(b) Each picture machine shall be securely fastened to the floor.

(c) No films shall be exposed in the booth at the same time other than the one in process of transfer to or from the machine or from the upper to the lower magazine, or in process of rewinding. A special metal case, made without solder, shall be provided for each film and when the film is not in the magazine or in process of rewinding, it shall be kept in such case. No material of a combustible nature shall be stored within any booth except films needed for one day's operation.

(d) Each machine shall be equipped with magazines for receiving and delivering films during the operation of the machine. Such magazines shall be constructed of metal of not less than No. 20 U. S. gauge with slots for the delivery and reception of films only large enough for films to pass in and out, and with covers so arranged that such slots can be instantly closed. No solder shall be used in the construction of these magazines. The doors to such magazines shall be provided with spring hinges and latches. A shutter shall be placed in front of the condenser so arranged as to close automatically when the film is stationary.

Section 9. Neither smoking nor the keeping nor use of matches shall be permitted in any booth, room, compartment or enclosure where a motion picture machine is installed.

Section 10. No person shall operate any motion picture machine unless he shall be at least eighteen years of age, and the State fire marshal or one of his deputies under his direction, whenever he shall deem it necessary, may examine any operator of a motion picture machine as to his fitness to operate such a machine and if he shall find any such operator incompetent, he shall notify such operator thereof, in writing, and thereafter such operator shall not be permitted to operate any such machine in this State until such incompetency shall have been removed to the satisfaction of the State fire marshal.

Section 11. All electrical wiring shall be brought into the booth in metal conduits. All lights within the booth shall be provided with wire guards and reinforced cord shall be used for pendant purposes. If the house lights are controlled from within the booths, an additional emergency control must be provided near the main exit and kept at all times in good condition.

Section 12. The foregoing sections of this act shall not apply to the use and operation of any miniature motion picture apparatus which uses only an enclosed incandescent electric lamp and approved acetate of cellulose or slow burning films, and is of such construction that films ordinarily used on full sized commercial picture apparatus cannot be used therewith.

Section 13. Every audience room open to the public in which moving picture exhibitions are given shall be provided with at least two exits on the main floor, one of which shall be in the front and the other in the rear of such room, both leading by safe passage to unobstructed outlets in a street or alley. Where balconies are used by the audience, one exit therefrom to the street or alley must be provided for each two hundred seats or fraction thereof installed. All exit openings shall be not less than three feet in width and six feet and eight inches in height. Exit doors must open outward and shall be so arranged that they can be readily opened from the inside without any keys or special effort and shall never be locked when the room is open to the public. Exits must be of easy and safe access to a street or alley, and passageways, stairways and inclines leading from exits to streets or alleys must be kept well lighted at all times and be not less than five feet wide.

Section 14. Each exit shall have over it on the auditorium side an illuminated sign bearing the word "Exit" in letters not less than six inches high. Lights used in marking exits or lighting passageways or stairways or inclines leading from them shall be on a separate circuit or ahead of the main line switch and cut-out. Such lights shall not depend upon or be exclusively controlled by wires, switches or fuses located in the booth or enclosure containing the motion picture machine, but shall be controlled from the ticket office or from some point of easy access on the main floor. All exit, passage and stairway lights shall be kept lighted during all times when such audience room is open to the public.

Section 15. All seats occupied by the audience, except in logs and boxes, shall be fixed and immovable; provided, however, that in public halls used only partially for moving picture theater or assembly room purposes they may be fastened together in rows of not less than four seats without being fastened to the floor. In buildings hereafter equipped as moving picture theaters and in theaters wherein the seats are renewed or rearranged there shall not be more than seven seats in any one row opening upon one main aisle and not more than fourteen seats in any one row opening upon two main aisles and all rows of seats shall be separated by a space not less than thirty inches from back to back.

Section 16. All aisles shall lead directly to exits without steps or obstructions and shall be not less than three feet in width, and in buildings hereafter built or equipped as moving picture theaters such aisles shall be not less than three feet in width at the point most distant from the exit and shall increase in width toward the exit at least two inches to each ten running foot of length. All exits and all aisles must be kept clear and unobstructed at all times during the performance.

Section 17. Every such audience room shall be supplied with at least two approved hand fire extinguishers, one of which shall be inside the booth and within easy reach of the operator, and one of which shall be in an accessible place near the main entrance to such room. In addition thereto there shall be at least one such extinguisher in each balcony or gallery used by the audience and at least one such extinguisher in the room where the furnace or heating plant is located when such plant is in the same building with the theater.

Section 18. No motion picture machine shall be installed, maintained or operated in any audience room open to the public which is below the grade of the street on which it is located or above the second floor above the street level.

Section 19. The provisions of Sections 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 of this act shall not apply to churches, schools, clubs or halls where moving picture exhibitions are given only upon occasions and solely for religious, benevolent, educational or scientific demonstrative purposes. Provided, however, that no exhibitions shall be given where said sections are not complied with unless there application therefor shall furnish to any person desiring a license an application blank upon which the applicant shall state full name and address of the applicant or applicants, and if it be a corporation, the names and address of the principal officers thereof, whether such applicant be the owner, lessee, occupant or agent of the building for which a license is desired, the location and a full description of the property and the building and the room within the building to be used or proposed to be used for the exhibition of moving pictures, and such other information as may be required to be contained therein by the State fire marshal. Every application shall be verified by the applicant for such license and such verified application shall be prima facie proof of the facts therein stated.

Upon receipt of such application, the State fire marshal shall make such investigation as he shall deem necessary and shall grant a license to such applicant unless it appears to him that the provisions of this act are being violated or are about to be violated. The license thus granted shall not be transferable to any other building, room or place than that stated in the license. The State fire marshal, in his discretion and under such regulations and conditions as he may prescribe therefor, may grant a permit for the exhibition of moving pictures in an unlicensed building, and without a formal license therefor, for not more than seven consecutive days when such exhibitions are to be given solely for religious, benevolent, educational or scientific purposes. No license shall be granted except after examination by the State fire marshal or his authorized deputy or agent, provided, however, that the State fire marshal may issue a temporary license upon the verified application herein provided for, which shall be good until revoked for cause or until a permanent license is substituted therefor. There shall be deducted from the fee for such permanent license a part thereof proportionate to the unexpired portion of the year for which the temporary license was granted.

Section 22. Such license shall be posted in a conspicuous place within the theater and a picture thereof shall be exhibited upon the screen at the commencement of each performance.

Section 23. Any person who shall operate a moving picture machine or who shall cause moving pictures to be exhibited in violation of any of the provisions of this act, and the owner, lessee, occupant or agent of any building who permits it to be used for the exhibition of moving pictures in violation of any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished for the first offense by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars and costs of prosecution, or if such fine be not paid, then by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding ten days; for the second offense he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and cost of prosecution, or if such fine be not paid, then by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days, and for a third offense or any subsequent offense he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and cost of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 24. It shall be the duty of the State fire marshal to enforce the provision of this act and to inspect and examine all moving picture shows within the State at least once a year.

Section 25. The State fire marshal or his deputy under his direction may enter any moving picture theater or show or place where moving pictures are being exhibited, at any reasonable time for the purpose of determining whether the provisions of this act are being complied with. If he shall find that any provisions hereof are being violated, he shall notify the licensee in writing, stating wherein such licensee is at fault, and if such violations continue beyond a time within which such violations can be reasonably corrected he shall cause such license to be revoked and canceled.

Section 26. Whenever the State fire marshal shall find a moving picture show which is being operated without a license, he shall communicate such fact, together with any evidence he may have, to the county attorney of the county in which such moving picture show is located, and it shall thereupon be the duty of such attorney to cause the arrest and prosecution of the offender.

Section 27. All money collected under this act, whether in license fees or penalties, shall be paid into the State treasury for the benefit of the State fire marshal fund and may be used in the prosecution of the work of the department.

Section 28. Provided, however, that in municipalities having ordinances relating to the regulation, installation and operation of moving picture machines, and containing additional regulations for the safe and proper installation and operation of such machines, nothing herein shall be construed to abrogate such local regulations, but the jurisdiction of the local authorities in such cases shall be additional and subordinate to JOHNNY J. JONES' EXPO.

Again at Tennessee State Fair—
Attendance Records
Being Broken

All records for attendance at the Tennessee State Fair at Nashville will be distanced by many thousands. There was a street car strike on at Nashville, but this week the men resumed their positions.

Johnny J. Jones' Exposition has outgrown the old midway space on the Tennessee State Fair grounds, and is now compelled to erect its "big plaza" on the infield of the race track, which is reached by a subway. Wednesday Governor Roberts was an honored guest, and the writer had the pleasure of escorting him and his staff thru the various attractions. Also the same day, with Bob Roy as leader, many county fair secretaries visited the Jones Exposition. Other distinguished guests included Ed. James L. Dent, manager Alabama State Fair; Mr. Steidler, newly appointed manager Tampa (South Florida) Fair; R. M. Striplin, manager Southeastern Exposition, Atlanta; Senator Blaziano, secretary of Legation, Havana, Cuba; Harry Sudekum, who controls nearly every theater in Nashville; "Old" Bill Sharp, who cut Klaw & Blinger on the theatrical map; Frank Perkins and David Morris, concessioners; Mr. Adams, partner of "Patrick" Isby Murphy; Firelock, and his staff of "cheifs" and "waiters" arrived in Nashville Monday. Patrick Beggs is now manager of Johnny J. Jones' "Neptune's Daughters." Mrs. Fred Lewis has arrived on a visit. Mrs. Earl Letter, who has been visiting her Tennessee home, has returned. Mrs. Eddie Vaughn and daughter, Ruth, have returned to their St. Louis home. As to the Southern trip of this organization, doubts are dispelled, as Manager Fuller, Memphis; Dent, Birmingham; Striplin, Atlanta; Roberts, Macon; Fleming, Savannah, and Dr. Hanaford, Jacksonville, all predict record-breaking attendance at their different expositions.

"Mr. Capid" is still at work. He "prosecuted" another couple here and they had "sentence for life" meted out to them. The guilty couple were both members of Mabel Mack's Comedy Mule Circus, Frank Close, of Outlook, Mont., and Evelyn Matthews, of Las Vegas, N. M. Mr. Dunn and Miss Mack acted as best man and bridesmaid. It was a public wedding during a performance of the Mule Circus.—ED R. SALTER.

JAMES M. BENSON SHOWS

Mount Airy, N. C., Sept. 23.—The James M. Benson shows played a successful week at Chester town, Md. Frank A. Robbins, with his 19-rod show, had a big week. Mr. Robbins played Chester town with his circus in 1907, when the town burned down. The circus lost an evening performance, as Mr. Robbins ordered all his men to go and help the natives put the fire out. That is why Mr. Robbins is so popular in Chester town. He was busy all day Monday shaking hands with the populace. Dover, Del., was the next stop. The Benson Shows were the first to play Dover this year.

The writer is at present in Mount Airy, N. C., making arrangements for the arrival of the shows, and it looks to him like another "red" one. He arrived here Monday, September 20, and from all indications, the fair this year will be the biggest ever held at Mount Airy, and the officials are counting on making it a real educational exhibition. Over $5,000 is being offered in premiums in the live stock department alone, and many other premiums are going in the art and needle work department and others. The Benson Shows will furnish all attractions on the midway and will have ten shows and four rides for the amusement of the fair visitors. They have enlarged the band to twenty pieces. The fair season starts here for the shows and continues for fourteen weeks.—HARRY R. MORRIS.

PLANS MATURING RAPIDLY

For Annual Banquet and Ball of Showmen's League of America

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The plans for the big Banquet and Ball, to be given in December by the Showmen's League of America, are maturing rapidly. Edward P. Neumann, general chairman, has already secured bids from the various hotels, and will have all his data ready to present to the members at the next meeting of the league. Everyone is enthusiastic about the new date for the banquet and ball, and predictions are freely made that this year will see the largest and best affair ever given by the league, and a doubt has been expressed as to whether the famous Gold Room would be large enough to take care of the crowd. Chairman Neumann will have the tickets ready for distribution within a week, and urges that all get in reservations as soon as possible. This will avoid any disappointments caused by a last-minute rush.

The various committees are now being made up, and the list will be published as soon as possible. In the meantime all the members are requested to start boosting for the ball, and the best way to boost is to write E. P. Neumann, 231 North Desplaines street, Chicago, and tell him how many tickets you will want.

The growth of the League is systematic and steady. At a special meeting held September 21 the applications of persons for membership were passed on favorably as follows: Roland O. Knapp, John Huffman, Toto Siegrist, Harry B. Danville, William C. Bippman, Charles F. Curran, William R. McCurdy, Frank A. Beymann, Max Sanders, Gus Schaefer and John L. Bateman.

MILLER BROS.' SHOWS

Johnson City, Tenn., Sept. 24.—Miller Bros.' Shows played the fair at Galax, Va., last week, which event proved excellent for all concerned. The automobile contest, handled by Frank Marshall, at the Bluefield (W. Va.) Fair, turned out very successful.

This week finds the shows in Johnson City, located in the heart of town, and, up to midnight last night, all shows and rides have had extraordinary big patronage, also the concessions are doing big business. This is positively the first carnival to exhibit within the city limits of Johnson City since 1911. Rome, Ga., is the stand for next week, with six other fairs in Georgia to follow, also two big celebrations in Florida. W. R. (Red) Stumps is still special agent behind Jack Oliver and is doing fine work. General Agent Oliver has both this show and the Great American Shows booked up to the last of November. This organization plays both the Winder and the Cartersville, Ga., fairs. At present the midway comprises twelve shows, four rides, fifty concessions, white and colored hands and one free act. Charles Lorenzo, a ball game king, still wears "that smile" which denotes fine business. George Cummings, managing Dixie Minstrels, tells 'em he must have a larger top, as he is topping the entire list of attractions, while Joe Turner, who has the Athletic Show, is giving George a run for his money. Sam Harris, the fat man, continues raking in the shekels, as does O'Harity's Animal Show and Miller Bros.' Wild West, which has been enlarged. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. (Dad) Straley are now with the show, with their concessions.—SNOWBALL.

ZARRA MONARCH SHOWS

China Grove, N. C., Sept. 24.—This week finds the Zarra Greater Monarch Show in China Grove, located in the center of the city. All attractions and concessions opened Monday night to good business. The show played its banner week of the season at Bessemer City, N. C. Zarra's Minstrels getting top money. "Dutch" Moyer's "Cabaret" Show also did good business, as did Geo. Genac's Garden of Allah, the Ten-in-One, Snake Show and Dixie's Athletic Arena.

Mrs. Zarra and Mrs. Moyer took a flight in an airplane while the shows were playing the streets of Hickory, N. C. Mrs. Fred Shaffer is visiting friends in New York City for two weeks. During the engagement in Bessemer City Geo. Genac and Thelma Sike were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. A large supper was served after the performances for the folks in the Ten-in-One. Zarra's fair season is just starting. Next the caravan plays Drakes Branch, Va.—SLIM.

DUFOUR & TILFORD SHOWS

Spinnors Point, Md., Sept. 23.—This week a reunion engagement for the Dufour & Tilford Shows, is proving even better than the visit early in the season. The lot is crowded every afternoon and night and all shows, rides and concessions are doing fine.

The show has already played three fairs to good business. Despite the rain at Monassas (Va.) Fair the attendance grew each day. Rockville, Md., and West Chester, Pa., fairs proved exceptionally good.

The staff of the show comprises the following: Lew Dufour, manager; Wm. Rosey, treasurer; York Rosen, legal adjuster; H. E. Young, secretary; Jas. F. Wilson, press agent; C. H. Thomas, special agent; C. A. Rothrock, trainmaster; Harry Steward, electrician; Tony Gould, musical director.

Among the attractions carried with the organization are the following: Anthony Louis' Hot Wheel Spinning contest; Dufour & Tilford's "E" wheel, Phillips & Raenard's "Thin the Fats"; James Kelly's Ocean Wave; J. Leonard Bell's Society Circus Side Show; Thomas McGinnis's Commodore Tom Educated Pony Manager Boss' Sidrome, Hollywood's Jangleland, Joe Simson's Palace of Illusions, Dave Black's "Blaze" Show and Spark's Athletic Arena.

There are three shows to join at Fredericksburg, Jolly May and Roy Bard will also join.

Among the concessioners are Eddy Drill and Thos. Rose, with five; Raphael & Phillips, six; J. F. Wilson, four; Nathan Magrin, one; Mrs. O. E. Reh, one; Joseph Vasoue, two; Ross Henwood, one; Mrs. Vic Seigler, two; James Kelly, one; John P. Nugent, one; Wm. Browne, one. There are several concessions joining at Fredericksburg, Va.

The show starts its string of nine Southern fairs at Fredericksburg, Va., September 27, and concludes the season at Klugstee, S. C., November 20.

SMITH'S GREATER UNITED

Meyersdale, Pa., Sept. 24.—After a long and tiresome trip the Smith Greater United Shows arrived in Meyersdale from Penushore, W. Va., where they played the fair at that place to a good week's business.

The members of this caravan have organized an "Outdoor Sports Club," and are weekly putting on foot races, shot putting, vaulting, hammer throwing, horse racing, etc. Manager "Brownie" Smith takes his exercise before breakfast to give him a good appetite. Big Jolly Bob (Chambers) keeps the bunch laughing and nets as referee. A feature of a recent "meet" was a ladies' foot race, which had five entries. Martha Kurtz, Mrs. Geo. Howard, Mrs. O. L. Hawkins, Mrs. Ota Roper and Anna Parol. Mrs. Martha Kurtz won the honors.

MAJESTIC EXPOSITION SHOWS

There have been several new arrivals on the Majestic Exposition Shows, also attractions added, inclusive of which is a "Whip," K. P. Carlos, formerly a member of this organization, has joined to take charge of the caravan, and with his customary hustle much improvement is evident.

Two more teams of horses have also been added, and Mr. Manager Carlos is having wagon built and enlarging the show to five more cars. The Majestic Exposition Shows will remain out until late in November, and will then go into a park in the South for the winter.

BISHOP UNITED SHOWS

The Bishop United Shows arrived in St. Johns, Kan., after a very successful week at the Great Bend (Kan.) Fair, and are at this writing getting ready for another good engagement. The shows have only played one bloomer since opening at El Paso, Tex., the last week in March, and from the spots General Agent Roy F. Stephens has booked it now looks as if both the spring, summer and fall tours would close a success from every standpoint. The management intends continuing on the road through the winter. The lineup now comprises eight shows, three riding devices and thirty-five concessions. W. Fisher just returned from Colorado, where he purchased a No. 40 Hot Wheel.—P. G.

FINE WEATHER

All Week, Except Saturday, for Tennessee State Fair

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 28.—Fine weather was enjoyed all last week during the Tennessee State Fair until Saturday, when a heavy rain caused the automobile races to be postponed. The receipts of the Johnny J. Jones Exposition on the week were far in excess of last year, despite the inclement weather on Saturday. Visitation included J. M. Hunt and wife, Concession Manager Phickett, of Southeastern Georgia Fair, Atlanta; Sam Goldman, St. Cleveland, Frank Perkins and James Bent, Alabama State Fair, Birmingham, and Colonel Steider, of Tampa, Fla.

GETTING IN SHAPE EARLY

The entire company will play San Juan for fifteen days, then move to Ponce, and to Rio Piedras. The affair is run by the city, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Larvett had charge of the American Red Cross Fair last May, and the president of the Chamber of Commerce decided on him to handle the Mardi Gras Carnival. Mr. Larvett is one of the most experienced showmen, both indoor and outdoor, in the States.

He was born 55 years ago at Belleville, Ont., Can., and before taking up animal training, rather late in life, was secretary and treasurer of the Walter L. Main Circus, widely known in the '90s.

One of his famous exploits was the stopping, single handed, of a stampede of frightened elephants, which had bolted from a rehearsal into the street. This year his health prevented his handling the animals, and the herd at the Hippodrome is in charge of his stepson, George O'Brien Power. His wife, a brother, Thomas Power, manager of the Kilties Band, and a sister also survive.

Besides being a musician, Mr. Roeshman was in the real estate business with John S. Dove, Jr., former superintendent of city real estate, with offices in the Real Estate Building. He was a member of the Federation of Musicians, the Chevre Blinn Chorus, and other organizations.

cially profitable to its promoter. He was unmarried and a native of Indiana, where surviving relatives reside. Woodworth spent the winter months in Seattle, stopping at the Pique Hotel.

to the disadvantage and loss of profit of the plaintiff.

Upon the settlement of the order, counsel for both parties urged a speedy trial, and I consented to hear the case out of its regular turn when it might be reached on the equity calendar. I have since heard the case and all proofs which have been submitted by both litigants. The contract provided, among other things:

"You agree throughout the term hereof that you shall not render your services, nor will you appear publicly, for any other firm or corporation, whether moving pictures or otherwise, without our written consent first had and obtained, and should you attempt to appear for any other management or in moving pictures, we shall have the right to apply to any court having competent jurisdiction for an injunction restraining your appearance, and you agree, for the purpose of such lawsuit, that your services are extraordinary and unique, and you can not be replaced, except for Morris Gest."

"We have the right to the use of your services in any theaters wherein we shall give Sunday concerts, and you shall appear and play in such concerts whenever we shall give you two (2) days' notice prior thereto of our desire to have you appear and naming the place of the letter was sufficient notice, even the actor was committed in specifying the month that service was to commence. I was undoubtedly the intention of the writer to exercise the option specified in the contract, and this I think he did (Gibbill v. Schuckno, 48 Barb. 551, 10 Barb. v. Bryant 21 N. Y. 454).

I was particularly impressed on the trial with the plaintiff's proof as to the performance of the defendants being unique and unusual. I saw the performance of the defendants and there obtained a view which coincided with that which has been expressed on the trial. The witnesses who testified, although many of them are engaged as managers and might be said to be friendly to the plaintiff, were credible business men who were sufficiently expert to express an opinion as to the performance. To me their reasons are sufficient for my following them as a guide to the conclusion that I have reached that this service is unusual and unique.

The last objection urged by counsel for the defendants is that the contract contemplated Sunday performances, and therefore the contract is illegal. But the contract provides the right to the use of the services of the defendants, in any theater where they may give Sunday concerts. I can not assume that the plaintiff will violate the criminal law and give performances during the ensuing year where the law forbids it. I do not think the contract should be voided because of the presence of this requirement in the contract. The show might travel and the defendants might perform in other communities and States where Sunday concerts are permissible, and, therefore, the defendants would be obliged to perform as the contract reads they must.

I am impressed with the good faith exhibited by the plaintiff when it was learned in Chicago that the defendants claimed they had not received notice. His willingness to carry out the contract indicated a clear intention to exercise the option under the contract. The defendants, on the other hand, were endeavoring in all these negotiations to obtain an increase in salary, and it is apparent they were trying to avoid the consequences of the right of the plaintiff to renew the contract. After hearing the evidence, I am more firmly convinced that the judgment here must be for the plaintiff.

A decree may be presented accordingly.

Dated: September 21, 1920.

U. S. Circuit Judge.

A. E. A. WILL HOLD MEETINGS TO DISCUSS "EQUITY SHOP"

It has also been proposed that similar meetings shall be held in Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, and our president, John Emerson, has kindly offered to officiate.

"It has never been the custom of the Actors' Equity Association to make any drastic move without a thorough investigation. At these meetings many of our members will doubtless make many valuable suggestions. These meetings will also have a tendency to promote comradeship and good feeling."

PALISADES AND COLUMBIA PARK CLOSE AFTER GOOD SEASON

Twenty-three thousand bottles of perfume were distributed to the ladies.

The season at Columbia Park opened June 19. J. Henry Allen booked all the acts for this park and will probably do the booking next season. Starlight Park, located in The Bronx, opened May 1 and will wind up its third successful season Sunday, October 3. Asher Kleemann will conduct a skee-ball tournament Thursday and Friday and an additional band has been engaged for the closing celebration.

It is rumored that several changes were made in the directorate of Starlight Park at a meeting held this past week. Col. Wm. C. McConnell, a banker of Shamokia, Pa., was added to the board, it is reported, and additional changes made.

her the best of plays, for she will bring to them intelligence, skill and the ability to build character. Everyone who sees her performance in this piece will want to see her do something really worth while, and it is to be hoped that they won't have to wait too long.—GORDON WHYTE.

EXCERPTS FROM THE NEW YORK DAILIES

Times: "—an incredibly cheap and clumsy piece of old ten-twenty-and-thirty-cent nautical machinery—redeemed only by the skillful and singularly eloquent patterning of Miss Brady."

Tribune: "—a play of little humor, but small grace and less logic."

Post: "Not often, even in this city, has there been exhibited a wilder farrago of baldersdash under the guise of a play."

Mail: "—crudely carpentered and a little ridiculous when it tries hardest to be serious."

In the show, along with the LeMaire Brothers. He was formerly manager of the Winter Garden.

"The Passing Show of 1919" will close its engagement at Chicago on October 9 and take to the road for the balance of the season.

"Pitter-Patter" opens at the Longacre Theater, New York, September 28. Boston says it likes the piece, which is a musical version of "Caught in the Rain."

Stanley Forde has been added to the cast of "Jim Jam Jem," the new John Cort revue. Forde takes the place of Percy Pollock. The piece is slated to come to the Cort Theater, New York, September 27, but it may not arrive till later.

SHOWMEN, IT'S YOUR FIGHT

Do Your Part in Aiding COMA To Combat Exorbitant Railroad Rates

Showmen and Car Owners:

COMA now has complaints filed in Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and Missouri. No matter where you are, write or wire today a complaint to each Commission about the awful rates the Katy, Frisco, Cotton Belt, R. I. and T. P. are charging ($810 minimum and up).

The Texas Commission is to give us a hearing shortly, but writes me it could not see why COMA was kicking when Ringling Bros., John Robinson, Reed, Southwestern and Gentry Bros. were paying the rates asked without complaint.

I. C. C. will give us a hearing as soon as we file our brief against such railroads as are charging more than the Administration rates plus the increase granted by the I. C. C. This requires a real attorney, such as Judge Henshaw, who is a railroad attorney, and has never lost a case before the I. C. C. This costs $1,000 for a starter, together with expenses. COMA needs at once at least $2,500, and, as we have no general meeting until December, the Freight Committee, of which I am chairman, decided to ask all owners of shows to send at once $5 per car to

WILL J. FARLEY, Secy. COMA, care The Billboard, St. Louis, Mo. This was suggested by C. A. Wortham, who has sent in $50 for 80 cars; one other showman who does not want his name mentioned, $200, and Rice & Dorman, $210. You all know a lot of showmen will not kick in with a cent, but do your part immediately; also send in name of any railroad charging more than Administration rates plus the increase granted by the I. C. C., so our brief then will be complete.

COMA won in Oklahoma and rates have been accepted by all railroads in the State except by Katy and Frisco, which have taken Rule 7, which reads that all runs must be approved by operating department and show moved at convenience of carrier. They refuse to handle special. The Commission has wired me to come at once and file new complaint so this rule may be changed at once. Now, don't stall. Send in the money. Write or wire the complaints to various Commissions in each State, and send dope on railroads that are charging over the limit.

Remember, COMA has no money on hand.

W. H. RICE.

SARGENT—John William, founder of the Society of American Magicians and for the last three years private secretary to Houdini, died September 24 in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, after an operation. He was 67 years old and lived at 728 West 151st street.

STEEERS—Margie, wife of Carl Baysrd Steers, died September 20 at St. Mary's Sanatorium, San Antonio, Tex., where she had been sent a short time ago for treatment of tuberculosis. Mrs. Steers was a well-known character woman in the West and South, being associated with various stock and repertoire companies. She also had appeared in vaudeville, playing in a dramatic sketch with her husband called "When the Cook Strikes Eight," which gained for them considerable favorable comment. She was a devoted wife and mother. She is survived by her husband and six-year old son, who are prostrated by the blow. After the interment, which was at Boerne, Tex., Mr. Steers and his son returned to their home at Birch Tree, Mo.

STRALEY—Frank T., owner and operator of a soft drink stand in Louisville, Ky., was shot and killed by a lone highwayman on the front porch of his home in that city, September 22. The bullet pierced his brain. When found he clutched $2,000, covered with blood, in his hand.

WOODSWORTH—Wm. B., Alaska theater man, was burned to death in a gas boat explosion of Alutian Island, near Kotzebokan, according to word received by Seattle, Wash., friends recently. With a portable motion picture outfit and a launch, Woodsworth had been spending the season giving entertainments in the canyon towns of Southeastern Alaska. It was while on one of these trips that he met his death. Because of his being a talented pianist and singer, his visits to the lonely mining camps were always popular events among the sourdoughs. Mr. Woodsworth took the first show company that ever visited the interior of Alaska over the Vaidez trail in the winter of 1906. The show made a big hit with the miners of the new camp of Fairbanks, and proved finanwhere. Should you be out of the city of New York if such notice reaches you you shall have an additional day's notice, and we shall pay your expenses to the city where said concert is given and the return to the city of your engagement. Your failure to appear at a concert shall be sufficient reason for us to deduct from your salary a proportionate part thereof, unless you shall prove satisfactorily that you have been ill.

"We are to have an option on your services for the theatrical year from September 1, 1920, and expiring September 1, 1921, provided we shall give you notice in writing or orally of our desire to exercise such option prior to July 1, 1920. Should we exercise said option you will have work for twenty (20) weeks and your salary shall be three hundred ($300.00) dollars while in New York City and three hundred and twenty five ($325.00) dollars per week while on the road, and all the other terms of this contract shall apply to such renewal of contract for such period."

The defendants must be charged with a thorough knowledge of the contents of this contract, for they subscribed below the following:

"We have read the foregoing. The same contains our full understanding, and, with our signatures at the bottom hereof, let this be deemed a contract between us."

Under the terms of the contract, if a notice in writing were given to the defendants, the plaintiff was entitled to their services for the period of one year, beginning September 1, 1920; such option, however, must be exercised prior to July 1, 1920. There is no direct dispute of the test money given by Shubert and his employees that prior to July 1, 1920, a letter exercising the option, addressed to the defendants at Detroit in care of the Fishbone, where they were then engaged, was written, placed in a postpaid wrapper and deposited in a United States mailbox. The defendants deny the receipt of such a letter. If the letter was written and mailed, as I believe it was, the plaintiff did all that was required of it under the contract. Vassar v. Camp, 11 N. world, but it has never been found wanting when a member has been in need of assistance. The following donations have been received for the bazaar since the last list was published: Thomas J. Hughes, of San Francisco, is sending twenty nests of Japanese baskets; Brown & Williams, of Seattle, two dozen of their "Dolls Beautiful"; Grafte & Stanek, Chicago, a half-dozen silver teaspoons; Young Basket Co., San Francisco, four Japanese baskets, four fans, four sachels and two novelty miniature baskets; Sam Robbins, of White City and Riverview Park, a copper sandwich tray, two vases and two shaving sets; Mrs. Small, of Riverview Park, a handsome flet dresser scarf; Al Meltzer, Chicago, three dozen of his "Toodles" dolls with wigs. The following firms have signified their intention of sending in a donation in time for the bazaar, but just at present can not specify what it will be: Geo. Schmidt, Riverview Park; J. J. Howard, A. CABLES FROM LONDON TOWN

DONALD CALTHROP PRODUCING "THE CROSSING"
Donald Calthrop takes possession of the Comedy, having dispossessed Rosa Lynd, and is busy rehearsing a new and original play in three acts of the above name by Algernon Blackwood and Bertram Forsyth. Blackwood will be remembered by an adaptation of his book, "The Starlight Express," which was produced at the Kingsway Theater some years back. "The Crossing" is not a problem play, but deals with modern life concerning the upper middle classes. Irene Rorke, Mary Barion, Marjory Gordon, Margaret Murray, Mercia Cameron, Hubert Harben and Herbert Marshall will support Mr. Calthrop, who will also act as his own producer.

LEONARD RAYNE HERE ON A VISIT
This well-known actor, who controls the theatrical destinies of South Africa, is in England for a visit, and has brought with him his leading woman, Freda Godfrey, of whom he speaks in the highest terms. So unique a position does Miss Godfrey hold in South Africa that Rayne is desirous of her making her bow before a London audience, and for that purpose he is actually negotiating for a West End house, and as he is slated to be this side for the next six months there should be ample opportunities to achieve his end.

"ON OUR SELECTION" FLOPS
Bert Bailey has attained his ambition of playing in London, the center of the Englishman's "Home," but in so doing it cost him and his partner, Grant, a pile of money, as they have not taken in salt. The piece, whilst being crude, might have gotten over had it been adapted for London consumption, and the fact that he had not a single actor with a West End "name" did not help him any. The rent of the Lyric stood him $1,500 weekly, to say nothing of the local staff and advertising. Truly it is a big speculation this butting into the West End.

HOLBORN EMPIRE SCENE FOR "LONE MAGGIE"
The other Sunday the Holborn Empire was set as the scene for this film, which is being produced by Mr. Granville, who has come along from far off California to do so. As Sunday night was slated also for the mass meeting of the "crowd workers" and the small-part folk, much tradition was felt on their part as to being able to get away by 6:30 that night. Accordingly, a demonstration waited on him, and explained the situation. Granville agreed with their desire to organize themselves for mutual protection and put it to them that if they got thru their work expeditiously he would help them all he could. All concerned took the tip, and the crowd was dismissed promptly at 6, and as the Rehearsal Theater was only six minutes away the mob socked down there and swamped the building.

HOSS-HAY UNITED SHOWS

The Hoss-Hay United Shows are playing Massillon, O., for the week of September 20 to good business. This show had a lucky break with the weather man all season, with but one exception.

General Agent "Talking Tom" Terrell is booking the caravan in good spots, and Alliance, O., uptown on the streets, and Mt. Vernon, O., also on the streets, which follow, are being looked forward to with much anticipation. The stands are booked for the first two weeks in October. Urrville, O., follows Massillon. The "Whip" and six new tops, purchased in the spring, still present a new and bright appearance, as does the outfit in general. There is no thought on the part of the management of closing the show in the near future, and doubtless the tour will continue rather late this season. The lineup consists of eight shows, three rides and thirty-five concessions. Prof. Wallace's All-American Band of twelve pieces provides the musical programs.—ART.
