FOR the past several years Thomas G. Frost, Ph.D., LL.D., of New York, and Edward L. Frost, M.D., of Buffalo, have, as opportunity offered, interested themselves in the Frost Genealogy. The former made personal investigation of the early English and American records, while the latter collected data from American sources. Neither knew of the work or existence of the other, until within a very recent period, when each had practically completed his manuscript. Upon comparing notes, it was deemed advisable to combine them in one publication, which has been done. For any peculiarities of arrangement, or undue repetition of statement, it is hoped that the original matter presented, particularly in Part I, will more than compensate.

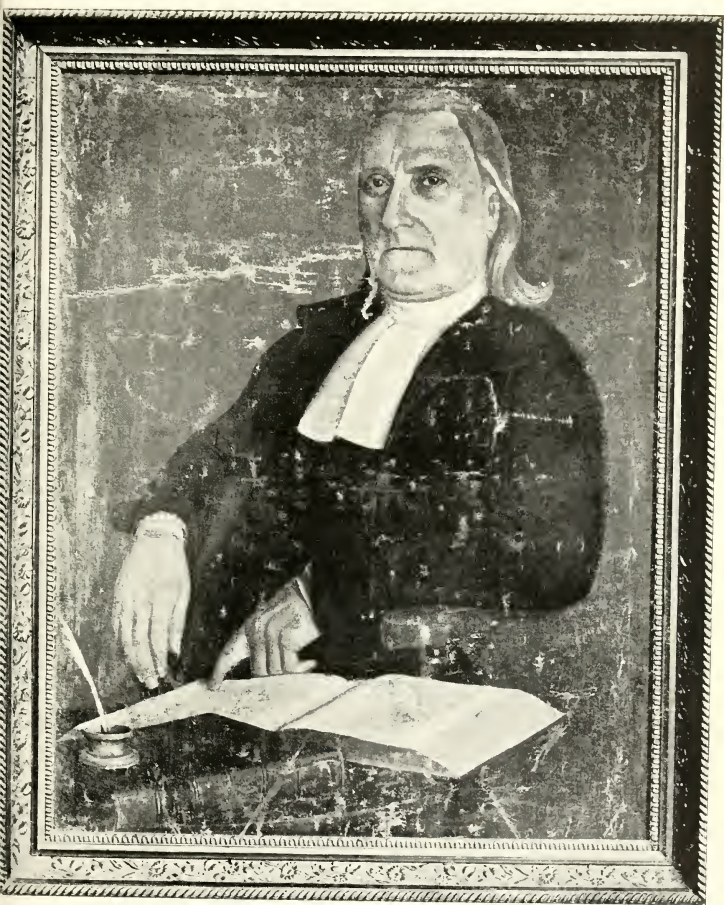

To those who have generously furnished many necessary records, we acknowledge our great obligation, and trust that they will find the subject-matter of sufficient interest to partially repay them for their labor.

In the matter of publication, the following persons have coöperated: John E. Frost, LL.D., Topeka, Kan.; Dan Frost, New York; Wm. G. Frost, Montclair, N. J.; George H. Frost, Plainfield, N. J., and the writers.

Considerable effort for accuracy of record has been made. If, however, errors are found to have crept in, we shall deem it a favor to be informed of the same.

THE ENGLISH ANCESTRY
OF
AND
PEDIGREES OF THE FROSTS
SUFFOLK, NORFOLK AND YORKSHIRE, ENG.

BY
THOMAS G. FROST, Ph.D., LL.D

OF
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS

There has been nothing published in this country relative to the English forbears of our common ancestor, Edmund Frost of Cambridge, Mass., which even bears the semblance of having been obtained through careful research and painstaking investigation. Most of the standard authorities get the year of Edmund Frost's arrival in Cambridge correct, but in all else they are at fault. His port of sailing, his ship, and his English residence are all wrong.

The facts briefly stated are as follows: During the years 1604-1607, the famous dissenting clergyman, John Robinson, preached secretly in the neighborhood of Norwich, County of Norfolk, England. There is considerable foundation for the belief that John Frost, the father of Edmund Frost of Cambridge, was a member of his congregation at one time. At this time, members of our branch of the family were located at Pulham, County of Norfolk, and at Bury St. Edmunds, Hartest and Bardwell, in the County of Suffolk, all places in close proximity to each other. The John Frost of Hartest, County of Suffolk, the probable father of Edmund Frost of Cambridge, was born about 1570. John Frost of Bardwell and Langham married Prudence Valyant (reported as Cage) on October 2nd, 1592. John Frost of Bury St. Edmunds married, February 16, 1595, at St. Michael's Church, Cornhill, London, Sarah Winthrop of Groton, County of Suffolk, sister of Governor John Winthrop. Each of these John Frosts belonged to the Suffolk branch of the family, and were certainly kinsman of more or less distant degree. It is not difficult to say which of these three John Frosts was the father of Edmund Frost. That he was the son of John Frost of Hartest is extremely probable for the following reasons: The records at Hartest show that the John Frost of that place had sons Edmund and John. There is no record of John Frost of Bury St.

Edmunds having a son Edmund. John Frost of Langham and Bardwell had no son Edmund, but he did have a grandson by that name. So the sound conclusion appears to be that Edmund Frost of Cambridge (Mass.) was the son of John Frost of Hartest and possibly the brother of John Frost, who graduated from St. John's College, Cambridge, in 1635.

About the year 1627, Thomas Shepard, a native of Towcester, England, a graduate of Emmanuel College of England (with marked sympathy for all dissenters), accepted a so-called lectureship at Earles-Colne, County of Essex, England. These lectureships were little more than thinly disguised pulpits for dissenting clergymen. After having been at Earles-Colne for nearly three years, Shepard was so interfered with and persecuted by the ruling power in the established Church of England, that he had to flee to Yorkshire and remain there in seclusion for some time. Before he left Earles-Colne, the subject of an emigration to America on the part of Shepard and some of his friends at Earles-Colne had been discussed most seriously. But Shepard's sudden and enforced flight into Yorkshire postponed the execution of the plan for some time.

In June of 1634, Shepard sailed for Ipswich, Suffolk, from Newcastle, with his family. After remaining in hiding for some months, the ship Great-Hope was secured and on it some two hundred persons embarked from Ipswich, England, for America, October 16, 1634. Among this number, according to Rev. Thos. Shepard himself were brothers Champney, Frost and Goffe. The ship Great-Hope was wrecked two days afterward off Great Yarmouth, England, but all on it were saved.

This voyage to America had been planned and arranged for, during Shepard's absence, by John Norton of Suffolk County, England. The master of the ship Great-Hope was, according to Shepard himself, a personal friend by the name of Captain Gurling. Later under the personal supervision of Rev. Shepard, with powerful financial assistance of his warm friend, Roger Harlakenden of Earles-Colne, Essex, the ship Defense was secured, Captain Bostock, master. Shepard and his party, which numbered sixty persons and included our ancestor, Edmund Frost, sailed from Gravesend, near London, on August 10th, 1635. After a voyage lasting fifty-four days, the ship arrived in Boston harbor October 2nd, 1635. The entire colony settled at once in Cambridge, whither Thos. Hooker had already preceded them with his colony. We have now established, beyond controversy, the following facts:

1. The name of our last English ancestor was John Frost.
2. The name of our first American ancestor was Edmund Frost.
3. Edmund Frost was a prominent member of Thomas Shepard's party and a close personal friend of the Rev. Shepard.
4. Edmund Frost sailed from Gravesend, Kent County, England, on August 10th, 1635, on the ship Defence.
5. Edmund Frost landed at Boston on October 2nd, 1635, and settled at once at Cambridge, Mass.

The above are facts. Now let us go further and learn what we can as to his English ancestry. Edmund Frost had undoubtedly, by reason of his pronounced and open sympathy and support of the dissenting clergymen in England, incurred the displeasure of the church party, which ruled in England. We know as a fact that this displeasure was vented in most serious form not only upon the dissenting clergymen themselves, but upon their lay supporters as well. This probably accounts for the fact that Edmund Frost, his wife Thomasine, and his infant son John, all embarked in the ship Defence under an assumed name. We know from Rev. Thos. Shepard's own account and from contemporaneous history, that this was done in the case of a number of the passengers of the Defence, and was frequently practiced by others. Rev. Shepard himself came over under the name of his brother and was enrolled as a servant of Roger Harlakenden. Just what name Edmund Frost assumed is not known. But at the time the Defence sailed all emigrants had to be registered and had to obtain so-called clearance papers from the local preachers and authorities in their immediate locality before they were allowed to sail. Then there were a set of government officers called "Poursuivants," who searched outgoing vessels for the purpose of detecting and capturing dissenters, who were embarking without proper authority. I have examined the full list of all the passengers on the Defence, and while I find there a number of names which never reappeared among the members of the Shepard colony located at Cambridge, I do not find the name of Frost among them. But the very circumstances of his coming to America under an assumed name, and the probability that he was wanted by the authorities in England for the sin of having joined the increasing number of dissenters, serves to explain, in a measure at least, the reticence that Edmund Frost seems ever to have observed relative to his English forbears.

The reader will find it stated over and over again that it is a tradition in one branch of the Frost family that the father of Edmund Frost was the Rev. John Frost, a silenced non-conformist minister of England. It is always difficult to ascertain the source of that dim and shadowy thing known as "Tradition," but in this case the writer has satisfied himself, at least, that he has found the source of the tradition, which is this: Rev. Amariah Frost, a graduate of Harvard University and pastor at Milford, Mass., from 1743 to 1792, was the great-grandson of Edmund Frost. As the first college graduate among the Frosts in America and as a distinguished clergyman of his day and generation, one would naturally look to him for light on the subject of his ancestry. Among the records of the church of Mendon, now Milford, I find the following:

"A record of my genealogy, so far as I can trace it back according to the best accounts received by tradition: John Frost of England, in the time of Non-Conformists, wherein a great number were silenced in England, was one of them. Two of his sons came to America—fled for refuge to this then savage wilderness to escape the more savage oppression and enjoy the freedom of Englishmen." (Written probably about 1790).

A careful reading of the foregoing shows two errors. If he means to assert that John Frost, the reputed father of Edmund Frost, was a clergyman (and this he does not assert specifically), he was mistaken in that, as will hereafter be shown. He was also clearly mistaken in asserting that two of John Frost's sons came to America. This last probably arose through the fact that Edmund Frost and his oldest son, John, came to America together. As to the tradition that John Frost, the father of Edmund, was a non-conformist clergyman, the following may be said: All clergymen at that time in England were graduates of either Oxford or Cambridge. Thus the majority of the clergymen who became dissenters were graduates of Cambridge. I have made a careful examination of the list of graduates of both Cambridge and Oxford from 1615 to 1635. There were two John Frosts graduated at Cambridge, but neither of these could have been the father of Edmund, for they must have graduated before they were married, and the father of Edmund could scarcely have married later than 1610. One of these graduates—John Frost, a graduate of St. John's College, Cambridge, in 1635,—afterwards became a dissenting Anglo-Presbyterian clergyman. He was probably a brother of Edmund Frost, our ancestor, the dissenting clergyman to whom Amariah Frost refers. It is probable that both John Frost and his son, Edmund, were dissenters and in all probability frequent attendants at the preaching of Rev. Thomas Shepard at Earles-Colne.

This brings us now to some conclusion as to the place of origin of Edmund Frost. Without exception so far, as careful investigation of the place of origin of each of the passengers of the Defence shows (and in a number of instances I have been able to locate the place of their origin), they all came from the four counties of Essex, Suffolk, Norfolk and Cambridge. These are all four closely adjoining counties in England. Suffolk was known as the "cradle of the dissenters." Both Edmund Frost and his father were in all probability members of Shepard's congregation at Earles-Colne, or else friends of his made while he sojourned in Norfolk and Suffolk after he arrived in Ipswich in June, 1634, and before he sailed from London in August, 1635. The question now arises as to when Edmund Frost first made the acquaintance of Rev. Shepard. To understand this question it will be necessary to make some general statements as to the English Frosts located in Norfolk and Suffolk County, England. Careful research tends to show that the original home of the Frosts was in the vicinity of Cambridge, England. They were certainly in Cambridge as early as 1175. They early migrated to the county of Cambridge. In the fourteenth century one branch appears to have located in the vicinity of Hartest, Suffolk, England. Another branch appears to have located in Hull, Yorkshire. Another branch at Pulham, County Norfolk, and another at Whepstead, Suffolk County. Another at Great Fakenham, Suffolk County, another at Norton and another at Hepworth, County of Suffolk. All were unquestionably connected by relation to a common ancestor. John Frost, the probable father of Edmund Frost, resided at Hartest, County Suffolk, in the year 1592. He had children, Edmund, Thomas and John, born somewhere between 1592 and 1610. Hartest is not far from the border of Suffolk and about fifteen miles from Earles-Colne, where Shepard preached from 1630 to 1633. It is also not more than thirty miles from Chelmsford, where Rev. Thos. Hooker (the great New England pastor) preached between 1615 and 1630. A lectureship such as Shepard held at Earles-Colne was in effect nothing but a dissenting pulpit and as such was so highly prized that dissenters for miles around were in the habit of resorting thither to hear the Word of God preached by one of their own faith and doctrine. It was undoubtedly at Earles-Colne that the friendship between Thomas Shepard and Edmund Frost was formed, which resulted in the latter becoming a member of the former's party when it sailed for America in 1635.

And now a word as to the origin of the Frost family in England. Careful research shows that the cradle of those members of the Frost family who are to be found even to this day in Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex, Cambridge and Yorkshire, was in the vicinity of Cambridge, Cambridgeshire, England. The first authentic record we have of the family is of Henry Frost, who founded there in 1135 the Hospital of the Brothers of St. John the Evangelist, out of which grew St. John's College, University of Cambridge. His son, Robert Frost, subsequently bestowed a messuage on the Priors of St. John. These are the only Frosts of whom we have any authentic and specific record in this locality in the twelfth century. In the thirteenth century we find Robert Frost and Galfriedo Frost located in Aslakeby, near Kirkby, in Norfolk County. We also find late in the 13th century a Walter Frost, located at Trekengham in the same county. During the fourteenth century the son or grandson of Walter Frost of Trekengham, located at Hull, England. He was mayor and bailiff of Hull, and was buried at St. Marys, Hull, in 1372. But the majority of the direct descendants of Henry Frost of Cambridge, settled early in the thirteenth century in the County of Suffolk. They probably came first to Bury St. Edmunds and from there spread out into Hartest, Langham and other parishes.

For the benefit of the American descendants of Edmund Frost of Cambridge, we now present the pedigree of several of the English branches of our family. These were most kindly furnished us by the Hon. Robert Frost of London, England.

PART II.

THE FROST FAMILY IN AMERICA

EDMUND FROST

AND

SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

EDWARD L. FROST, M.D.

EXPLANATION OF GENEALOGICAL PORTION OF PART II.

Where the personal data of an individual is not given in small type under the parents' name, follow the numbers in larger type, until individual number is found in the next generation. For example, under number 36, Nathan Frost, there are two children: 99, Nathan Richards, and 100, John Sheldon. Look for numbers 99 and 100, where their records will be found.

THE FROST FAMILY IN AMERICA

The story of the Puritans in America, their motives and ambitions, the trials and vicissitudes through which they passed, their hopes, their fears, their affections, their jealousies, and above all, their abiding faith, always has been and always will be of vast interest to every American-born citizen. Even though we may criticise their religion, and smile at some of their absurd laws, it must be conceded that their success, like the inception of their undertaking, was due entirely and solely to their religious devotion. Of more than passing interest, therefore, to those whose personal ancestry in America is contemporary with and forms a part of the history of the Puritan's time, should be any records pertaining to the personal lives of those ancestors.

It is not the purpose of this paper to attempt any complete biographical or genealogical record of the Frost family, but rather to assemble a few records of some interesting events in the life of Edmund Frost, who came to this country in 1635, and to publish the genealogical records of some of his descendants, which latter we have collected from various sources.

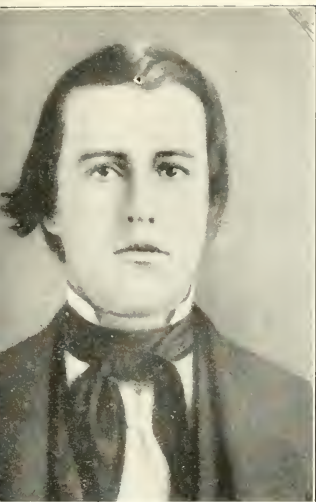

Edmund Frost was among the first of the name to come to America. A study of his life, so far as it is possible, is profitable not alone on account of its own merit and peculiar interest, but also as a prototype from whom many family traits have descended to the succeeding generations. Characteristics prominent in his personality are more or less predominant all down the line. This is particularly true of his religious life. As will be related farther on, he was very active in church work. While no systematic effort has been made to ascertain to what extent this prevails among the present generations, it is noteworthy that not a few of his descendants have devoted their lives to the ministry, and many others have been prominent in church affairs. His devotion to principle and opposition to tyranny as expressed by his dissenting opinions at a time when to be a dissenter required no little moral courage, is seen in later generations, particularly during the early days of the Revolution. His persistence and determination as exemplified by the voyage across the ocean, after a previous attempt had resulted in failure and a narrow escape from shipwreck and death, finds a suggestive parallel in a well-recognized trait of many of the tribe—an absolute unwillingness to acknowledge such a thing as defeat.

Two reasons appeal to us as justification for the publication of matter which is manifestly incomplete and unfinished. First, it offers an opportunity to pay tribute to, and perpetuate the memory of dearly loved ones, who have recently departed this life; and, second, it was felt that knowledge of the lives of our antecedents would be an incentive and inspiration, to those of us now carrying the Frost banner, in our poor endeavors to maintain the high standard of christian life and loyal citizenship exemplified in our forefathers. That someone will eventually collect the data, and write the history of the Frost family in America, is something to be devoutly wished for; and when the wish becomes a realization, the resulting product will be a matter of patriotic pride to every bearer of the name. It will be found that the names of the descendants of Edmund Frost appear upon the muster rolls of the armies of every war from King Philip's to the present. Among the Minute-men who marched to the alarm on the memorable 19th of April, 1775, one of them, Samuel Frost, was taken prisoner, and remained in captivity forty-nine days. At the battle of Bunker Hill they were in evidence, and it will also be found that upon the records of the soldiers and sailors of the Revolution, of the State of Massachusetts, the name of Frost appears no less than one hundred and sixty-nine times. If to this be added the descendants through the female lines, a fair estimate of which would be as many more, making a total of three hundred and thirty-eight, some idea would be had of the part taken in the struggle for independence by the Frosts. These latter, however, were not all descendants of Edmund Frost.

To the one who undertakes this task we will leave it to determine whether this fighting tendency was due to their Puritan strain, in that they had the courage of their convictions, or to the wild blood of their remote ancestors: Anglo-Saxons, Danes, or possibly of the more turbulent Normans, still flowing in their veins.*

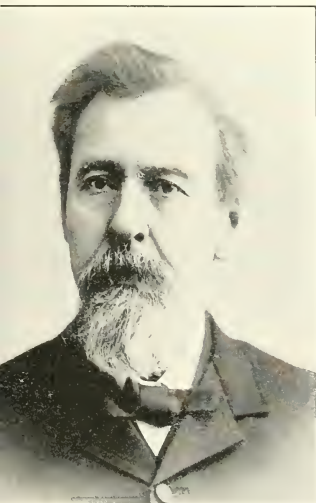

*Lest we credit too much to personal initiative, it is well to remember that during their time, military service was required of all able-bodied men; such service commencing at the age of sixteen, with apparently no limit to the acquired age when it should be considered closed.

That it was not hereditary belligerency, but that they fought as patriotic citizens against oppression and tyranny, is probably borne out by the fact that it is in the quieter walks of life where search should be made for records of the Frosts. 'Tis said that "peaceful and contented lives make poor biographies." To this, may be attributed, perhaps, the scarcity of written records of individual members of this family. E. L. F.

The vast majority of persons bearing the name of "Frost" in this country are the descendants of some one of the following persons who landed in America between the years 1634 and 1785. These, named in the order of their arrival, are as follows:

- I. Nicholas Frost, Kittery, Maine. (1634).
- II. Edmund Frost, Cambridge, Mass. (1635).
- III. William Frost, Fairfield, Conn. (1639).
- IV. William and James Frost, Plymouth, Mass. (1670).
- V. Rev. Thomas Frost, Charleston, S. C. (1785).

Of these progenitors of the Frost family in America, only two, so far as known, were kinsmen even in a remote degree. The two here referred to were Edmund Frost, of Cambridge, and Rev. Thomas Frost, of Charleston. Both of these came originally from Suffolk County, England, and belong to the same original stock. T. G. F.

Nicholas Frost, of Tiverton, Devonshire, England, with his wife, Bertha Cadwalla, and two children, sailed in the ship Wulfrana, from Plimouth, Devon, Eng., April, 1634; arrived America, June, 1634. He was the son of John Frost, who was born near Carnbre Hill, Cornwall, Eng., Nov. 17, 1558. Nicholas had a brother John, born in Tiverton, July 10, 1583. John lived contemporaneously with John Frost, of Hartest, father of Edmund, but so far as known they were in no way related. Nicholas Frost settled in Kittery (Eliot), Maine. He was the father of Maj. Charles Frost, whose courage and bravery as commander of militia in repelling attacks of Indians is a matter of abundant record. His wife Bertha, and daughter Anna (aged 15 years), were killed by Indians on the night of July 4, 1650, while he and his son Charles were away from home. His son, Maj. Charles, met the same fate many years later, being killed by Indians in ambush, while returning from religious worship on Sabbath morning, July 4, 1697. The descendants of Nicholas Frost are numerous, among whom are John Frost, the historian and author; A. B. Frost, the artist, and many other prominent citizens of this country.

There was another Nicholas Frost, who preceded all the other Frosts to this country, and who should not be confused with the aforesaid Nicholas Frost, father of Maj. Charles. He was an outlaw, and Oct. 3, 1632, for stealing from Indians, and other less pardonable crimes, was sentenced "to be branded on the hand; banished; kept in bolts till fine of five pounds paid; damages to Henry Way and John Holman forty pounds. If ever he returned to be put to death." As nothing further is to be found regarding him, it is presumed that he reformed.

William Frost, from Nottingham, Eng., settled at Fairfield, Conn., in 1639. "Evidently a man of good family, who, from his religious principles and perhaps to escape persecution, had sought to end his days peacefully in New England." His descendants settled on the shores of Long Island Sound, Conn.

William and James Frost, two brothers, although originally English, migrated from Wales to the Plymouth Colony, Mass., about 1670. James remained in New England. William, born at Brinstead, Hampshire County, Eng., was a Quaker, and was driven from the colony, first to Boston, 1671, and thence to Oyster Bay, L. I., where he settled in 1672, and where he "belonged to the meeting in that place." The old homestead in Locust Valley, L. I., "is now occupied by a direct descendant of Wm. Frost, 225 years in the uninterrupted possession of the family" (1894). That the descendants of this branch of the family in America are numerous, the following line of descent shows: William Frost married Rebecca Wright (dau. of Nicholas Wright of Oyster Bay, L. I.) They had three children. William, born 1674, Wright, and Mary. William married (about 1700) Hannah Price, of Killingworth, L. I., and had ten children. The seventh child, Isaac Frost, born in 1716, married Mary Cook and had fourteen children: James, Isaac, Jordan, Obadiah, Solomon (b. 1756), Mordica, George, Elizabeth, Ethelanna, Rhoda, Hannah, Mary, Anna, and Sarah. Eight of these lived to be over eighty years old. Solomon married Anna Vail in 1781; had six children: Philo, Samuel, Solomon, Aaron, Henry and Anna.

From the Rev. Thomas Frost came the distinguished Frost family of Charleston, S. C., and the southern branch.

Edmund Frost was born in the neighborhood of Hartest, County of Suffolk, England, about the year 1600. He must have early associated himself with the non-conformist or dissenting portion of the Protestant element in England. Even attendance at such services to the neglect of the established church, was visited with the severest punishment, which sometimes did not stop short of fine and imprisonment. Mr. Clinsworth in his "Counterpoysion" refers to the fact that while the famous English divine, Mr. Robinson, was preaching secretly near Norwich, Norfolk County, England, (1600-4), certain members of his congregation "were excommunicated for resorting unto and praying with him." Edmund Frost married at Hartest, about the year 1630, a woman whose first name was "Thomasine." His first son, John, was born in England about the year 1632. In 1634 (October 16th), Edmund Frost, with his wife and son John, boarded the ship Great Hope (Captain Gurling) at Ipswich, England, for Boston, Massachusetts. He was one of the leaders of Rev. Thos. Shepard's party, whom religious persecution had driven to seek refuge in America. Rev. Thomas Shepard, in his autobiography, referred to him as "his most dear brother Frost." In the words of Edmund Frost's great grandson, Rev. Amariah Frost, "he came to the then savage wilderness of America to escape the more savage oppression of England." The Great Hope was shipwrecked off Yarmouth, but Edmund Frost and all the rest of the passengers on the ship were saved. After some delay the ship "Defence" was secured (Captain Bostock, master), and on this ship Edmund Frost sailed for Boston from Gravesend, Kent County, England, on the 10th day of August, 1635. Owing to the difficulties arising over the persecution of all dissenters by the government at that time, Edmund Frost, as well as Rev. Thomas Shepard himself and others, had to embark under an assumed name, else they could not have escaped the "poursuivants," as the officers were called. On October 2d, 1635, the ship "Defence" arrived in Boston Harbor. The company almost to a man at once moved over and located at Cambridge, Massachusetts. This place had already been settled by Rev. Thos. Hooker and his party, but the latter had made their plans for emigrating to Connecticut. It thus appears that the first real permanent settlement at Cambridge, Massachusetts, was made by Rev. Thomas Shepard and his colony of immigrants. This included representatives of the following families, all of whom are connected with the earliest history of Cambridge, to wit: Shepard, Frost, Champney, Goffe, Cooke, and Norton.

In the first allotment of lands we find Edmund Frost located on what is known at this day as the westerly side of Dunster Street, between Harvard Square and Mt. Auburn Street. On March 3d, 1636, Edmund Frost was admitted and enrolled as a freeman of Cambridge. The same year he became one of the original members and first ruling elders of the First Congregational Church of Cambridge. Gov. Winthrop, in his Journal, speaks about attending on the 11th day of February, 1636, the installation of Rev. Thos. Shepard, as pastor, and his two elders into their respective offices in the first church at Cambridge.

The two elders were, undoubtedly, Edmund Frost and Richard Champney. He describes the entire ceremony with great minuteness of detail. Then Colonel William Goffe, in his "Diary," speaks of visiting Elder Edmund Frost on August 23d, 1660, and observed to him that a glorious saint makes a lowly cottage a stately palace. "Were I to take my choice I would rather abide with this saint in his poor cottage than with any of the princes that I know of at this day in the world." Indeed, it appears from the records of Cambridge that Edmund Frost never prospered in the worldly sense, but always was poor in purse. But though not gifted with wealth, he was a most godly man and greatly respected. During his life at Cambridge, from 1635 until his death in 1672, eight children were born. His wife, Thomasine, died, and he remarried later. He ended his days at Cambridge, Mass., on July 12th, 1672. He was noted all his days as a most pious and humble Christian, a faithful disciple of the Master. In every way a worthy progenitor of the great family which bears his name.

EMILY GROVER FROST.
Died January 16, 1907.

The following is from Rev. Thos. Shepard's memoirs:

"And truly I found this time of my life, wherein I was so tossed up and down, and had no place of settling, but kept secret in regard of the Bishops (Laud), the most uncomfortable and fruitless time to my own soul especially, that ever I had in my life. And therefore I did long to be in New England, as soon as might be. * * * and therefore there being divers Godly christians resolved to go toward the latter end of the year, if I would go, I did therefore resolve to that year. * * * The ship was called the "Hope" of Ipswich; the master, Mr. Gurling. * * * At the time appointed the ship was not ready, and we staid six or eight weeks longer than the time promised for her going; and so it was very late in the year, and very dangerous to go to sea. So that in the year 1634, about the beginning of winter, we set sail from Harwich." They had gone but a few leagues when they encountered a storm which drove them back to shallow waters near Harwich. During this storm a sailor was washed overboard, and miraculously saved after having been in the water about an hour. This they regarded as an act of Divine Providence and symbolic of their ultimate success, one of their number saying: "This man's danger and deliverance is a type of ours; for we did fear dangers were near unto us and that yet the Lord's power should be shown in saving us." The storm, however, did not abate, but continued with renewed force, so that during the next thirty hours they were driven considerably out of their course and obliged to cast anchor in Yarmouth Roads, "an open place at sea, yet fit for anchorage, otherwise a very dangerous place. Which when we had done, upon a Saturday morning, the Lord sent a most dreadful and terrible storm of wind from the west, so dreadful that to this day the seamen call it "Windy Saturday." Many ships with all on board were lost. As the storm increased in fury, the anchorage gave way, and the ship seemed doomed to certain destruction. Pieces of ordnance were fired, and thousands came upon the walls of Yarmouth, but were helpless to give assistance. "And the seamen presently cut down the mast aboard, just at that very time, wherein we all gave ourselves for gone, to see neither Old, nor New England, nor faces of friends any more, there being near upon two hundred passengers in the ship. And so when the mast was cut down, the master had one little anchor left, and cast it out. But the ship was driven away towards the sands still; and the seamen came to us and bid us look, pointing to the place, where our graves should shortly be, conceiving that the wind had broke off this anchor also. So the master professed he had done what he could, and therefore now desired us to go to prayer. So Mr. Norton, in one place, and myself in another part of the ship, he with the passengers and myself with the mariners above decks, went to prayer, and committed our souls and bodies unto the Lord that gave them. Immediately after prayer the wind began to abate and the ship stayed. For the last anchor was not broke, as we conceived, but only rent up with the wind, and so drave and was drawn along, ploughing the sands with the violence of the wind; which abating after prayer, though still terrible, the ship was stopped just when it was ready to be swallowed up of the sands, a very little way off from it. * * * This deliverance was so great that I then did think, if ever the Lord did bring me to shore again, I should live like one come and risen from the dead. This is one of those living mercies the Lord has shown me, * * * and my dear friends then with me, viz.: brothers Champney, Frost, Goff, and divers others, most dear saints; and also to all with me. * * * I desire this mercy may be remembered of my children, and their children's children, when I am dead and cannot praise the Lord in the land of the living any more."

"And so we continued that night, many sick, many weak and discouraged, many sad hearts. Yet upon the Sabbath morning we departed and went out of the ship." (Oct. 19, 1634.)

Edward Johnson, in his history of New England, chap. 29, says: "The master and other seamen made a strange construction of the sore storm they met withal, saying the ship is bewitched, and therefore made use of the common charm ignorant people use, nailing two red-hot horse-shoes to their mainmast."

They remained until the following summer, when, on Aug. 10, 1635, they sailed on the ship "Defence," of London, Capt. Thos. Bostock.

"The ship we came in was very rotten, and unfit for such a voyage; and therefore the first storm we had, we had a very great leak, which did appall and affect us. * * * We had many storms; * * * and so the Lord, after sad storms and wearisome days, and many longings to see the shore, the Lord brought us to the sight of it upon October second, 1635; and upon October the third we arrived, with my wife, child, brother Samuel, Mr. Harlakenden, Mr. Cooke, &c., at Boston, with rejoicing in our God after a longsome voyage."

"When we had been here (Boston) two days, upon the Monday, Oct. 5, we came, being sent for by friends at Newtowne (Cambridge), to my brother Stone's house."

The arrival of Shepard's company at Cambridge was less than five years subsequent to the erection of the first dwelling, and less than five and a half years after the arrival of Gov. Winthrop and his party at Boston Bay. At Cambridge, they found quite a large party, headed by the Rev. Mr. Hooker (of whom Cotton Mather speaks as "the Light of the Western Churches"), preparing to move. "And that congregation being upon their removal to Hartford, at Connecticut, myself and those that came with me found many houses empty, and many persons willing to sell; and hence our company bought off their houses to dwell in, until we should see another place fit to remove unto. But having been here some time, divers of our brethren did desire to sit still and not to remove farther; partly because of the fellowship of the churches; partly because they thought their lives were short, and removals to new plantations full of troubles; partly because they found sufficient for themselves and their company. Hereupon there was a purpose to enter into church fellowship, which we did the year after, about the end of winter." (Feb. 11, 1636).*

It was during this year, 1636, that it was decided to establish a school for higher education in America. That Cambridge was selected as its site, was due largely to the influence and leadership of Rev. Mr. Shepard. By reason of his office in the church, Edmund Frost became one of the governing body of Harvard. Gov. Winthrop writes: "The general court had settled a government, or superintendency over the college, viz.: all the magistrates and elders over the six nearest churches, and the president, or the greatest part of them."

Under the charter of the Massachusetts colony, none were regarded as freemen, or members of the body politic,

This society still continues its existence, under the name of the Shepard Memorial Church, having its place of worship at the corner of Market and Garden Sts. Their first house of worship, however, stood on the westerly side of Dunster St., a little north of a point midway between Mt. Auburn and Winthrop Sts.

except such as were admitted by the general court and took the oath of allegiance to the government established. Edmund Frost was admitted and became a freeman Mar. 3, 1636. (The first printing done in the Colonies was this freeman's oath).

The following records of real estate transactions may be of some interest:

"Edmund Frost bought of Thomas Blodgett, about 1639, an estate on the westerly side of Dunster St., between Harvard Square and Mt. Auburn St., which he sold soon afterwards to widow Catherine Haddon; he then bought a house on the westerly side of Garden St., which he occupied in 1642, but sold to Richard Eccles in 1646. His subsequent residence is not known with certainty, but several circumstances indicate that he occupied the estate on the northerly side of Kirkland St., extending from Divinity Hall Avenue to and beyond Francis Avenue, which estate remained in possession of his posterity until a very recent period."

In the apportionment of the Shawshine territory (now Billerica), his share was two hundred acres. Lot No. 59.

Following from town records, dated Jan. 8, 1646: "Liberty granted unto Edmund Frost, for to fell some timber for the building of an house before the last of the third month."

From records of the church which show allowances to have been paid to him, it has been assumed that he "had trial of earthly poverty though rich in faith." The following item is one of several, which shows that he received regular compensation for some service rendered:

"1643, Item: Pay'd Elder Frost for a year's allowance, wch was due at midsomer, in the year 1643--I say pd him by ten pounds. 10.L."

Aug. 25, 1656, Edmund Frost's name, with those of Rev. Jno. Mitchell and Richard Champney, is signed to a letter of dismissal of the distinguished minister and teacher, Michael Wigglesworth, from membership in the church at Cambridge to that of Malden, Mass.

The records of numerous small bequests from deceased friends are of interest only as they testify to the high personal regard in which he was held by these friends. These are among the oldest wills on record in Middlesex county; one of which was that of the Rev. Henry Dunster, first president of Harvard. This friendship was evidently a most enduring one, and not affected by Dunster's deposition. Others were those of Matthew Day, dated May 10, 1649; Daniel Kempster; Roger Bancroft, and Wm. Wilcox. The latter dated Nov. 28, 1663, leaves legacies to "loving brethren that are of my family meeting;" among whom Edmund Frost was included.

That the intrinsic value of some, at least, of these bequests, was insignificant, is true. They should, however, be regarded as simple expressions of esteem, or tokens of remembrance, and were, without doubt, accepted in the same spirit. The following from the last will and testament of Edward Skinner, dated Oct. 25, 1641, is sufficiently illustrative: "* * * unto Jeremy Barber, one paire of shoes; unto his owne man, a paire ould briches, irckin waste cote, hatt, capp; and for his time, he is to serve one year with elder Frost, and one yeare (with) Good Stoune."

One item in the town records has a certain humor, and shows that he enjoyed no special privileges when he came into conflict with the village laws. "Sep. 4, 1646. Elder Frost, for letting his two oxen goe to feed on ye common, taken once, is fined: 1.s. (There were some thirty-four other like offenders).

The following estimate of his character previously referred to is of particular interest: "It is related by Hutchinson, under date of 1660, that in the ship which arrived from London, July 27, there came two of the late King's judges, Cols. Whalley and Goffe. They did not attempt any concealment of their identity, but immediately went to the Governor, Mr. Endicott, who received them very courteously. They were visited by the principal people of the town. They chose to reside at Cambridge, a village four miles distant, during their stay."

The following is an extract from Colonel Goffe's journal:

"23 d. 6 m.—In ye evening wee vissited Elder Frost, who rec'd us with great kindness and love, esteeming it a favour yt we would come into yr mean habitation; assured us of his fervent prayers to ye Lord for us;—A glorious saint makes a mean cottage a stately palace; were I to make my choyce, I would rather abide with ys saint in his poor cottage, than with any one of ye princes I know of at ys day in ye world."

At a meeting of the selectmen, Feb. 8, 1668, the town was divided into districts "for Katechising the youth of this towne." Among others appointed, "Captain Gookin and Elder Frost, for those families on ye east side of ye Comon Water Streete, leading from the meeting-house to ye water-side being the particeon." This was during a period of three years when the church was without a pastor.

His death occurred July 12, 1672.

Through the courtesy of Mr. George Henry Frost of Plainfield, N. J., we present a full copy of the last will and testament of Edmund Frost:

The last will and testament of Edmund Frost of Cambridge in New England made and declared this 16th day of Aprill 1672: I Edmund Frost being stricken in yeares and at the present ill and weake daily expecting my disolucion yet through (the great favor of god having my minde and understanding cleare and sound as in former times I am desirous (according to my duty to set my house in order to settle that small estate that god hath graciously lent me so that strife and contencion may be prvented after my decease between my wife and children. In the first Place I desire to role. rest and resigne my precious and imortall soul to and upon my deare Lord Jesus Christ the great mediator of the covenant between God and man in and upon whome the free grace and favour of the eternall blessed one God father sonne and holy ghost is terminated for all power is given to him in heaven and earth and is declared in the Gospell that whoever beleveth in him shall receive remission of sins and injoy eternall life as for my body (wch God hath called a temple of the holy Ghost) I desire it may be decently interred in the earth in an assured hope of the happy and blessed resurrection thereof in gods appoynted time. 2ly. The inventory of the estate of the widow was taken Nov. 3, 1675.

A coat-of-arms has been accredited to Edmund Frost, and the same is described in "Crozier's General Armory" by Wm. Armstrong Crozier, F. R. S.; pub. 1904. It is the coat armor of the Frosts of St. John's House of Chester, and the descendants of Edmund Frost have, strictly speaking, no right to its use.

The following on Frost of St. John's House is quoted from "Burke's Landed Gentry:" "The family of Frost is of

GENEALOGY

1. Edmund Frost, born in England about 1600; with wife Thomasine and infant child settled Cambridge, Mass., 1635. The date of his wife's death is uncertain, but sometime before 1669, he married Reana Daniel (widow successively of — James, Wm. Andrew, and Robert Daniel), who survived him.*

*Temple's "Genealogical Register of Framingham" states: "He married (2) about 1642, Mary ———; (3) Widow Reana Daniels." The records show that James and Mary were born after this date to Edmund and Thomasine Frost, showing Temple's statement to be in error.

9. Thomas Frost, eighth child of (1) Edmund, b. Cambridge, about 1647. He was a private from Cambridge, Capt. Jos. Sill's company of militia. On Nov. 2, 1675, Capt. Sill received orders from his commander, Major Gookin, to take charge of the soldiers raised in Charlestown, Watertown and Cambridge, and go forth against the enemy (King Philip), closing thus: "So desiring the ever living Lord God to accompany you and your company with his gracious conduct and presence, and that he will for Christ's sake appear in all the mounts of difficulty, and cover all your heads in the day of battle, and deliver the bloodthirsty and cruel enemy of God and his people into your hands, and make you executioner of his just indignation upon them, and return you victorious unto us, I commit you and your company unto God, and remain your very loving friend, Daniel Gookin, Sen'r."

Nov. 12, 1678, he married widow Mary Goodridge, daughter of Matthew Gibbs, whose mother was daughter of Robert Bradish, Cambridge, 1635. He was a townsman of Sudbury, 1685, lived at Lanham; soon after this date built a house in Framingham, "about sixty rods up the hill from Liberty Chadwick's, and several rods north of that road." This was on Gov. Danforth's "wilderness" land, and the Governor executed a lease to Thomas Frost and Samuel Winch, of 300 acres, more or less, on the west side of Sudbury River, which tract includes the present site of North Framingham. The lease ran for 999 years, at a yearly rental of four pounds, ten shillings, and is dated Mar. 25, 1693. At a very recent period (possibly at present), a portion of this property was occupied by descendants of Thomas Frost. At the organization of the town in 1700, he was chosen constable; tithing man in 1712, and was one of the eighteen original charter members of the First Congregational Church. His wife, Mary, died Feb. 20, 1690-1; he married (2) July 9, 1691, Hannah Johnson, of Sudbury, who died May 3, 1712, and he m. (3) Sarah Singletary, Dec. 12, 1712. His will, made 1717, was proved 1724, which was probably the year of his death.

CHILDREN :

11. Thomas, b. Aug. 23, 1679.
12. John, b. Sep. 14, 1684; removed to Groton.
13. Samuel, b. Nov. 23, 1686.
14. Mary, b. Nov. 8, 1690.
15. Sarah, b. about 1692; married John Rice.

THIRD GENERATION.

13. Samuel Frost, third s. of (9) Thomas, b. Sudbury, Mass., Nov. 23, 1686; m. Feb. 1, 1710-11, Elizabeth Rice (des. of Edmund Rice, who came from Barkhamstead, Hertfordshire, England, about 1638). He was a prominent member and elder of the church at Framingham, by occupation a farmer, and seems to have acquired considerable land for those times. He d. at Framingham, Aug. 2, 1736.

CHILDREN :

16. Keziah, b. Dec. 1, 1711; m. Ebenezer Goodnow.
17. Bezaleel, b. Sep. 8, 1713; was in Fram. March, 1739.

19. Amasa.
20. Amariah, b. Oct. 4, 1720; grad. Harvard 1740; Cong'l minister, Milford, Mass.; he d. Mar. 14, 1792, in the 49th year of his ministry; he was "reputed an excellent man, and one of the most popular preachers of his age."
21. Elizabeth, b. May 10, 1724; m. Isaac Cutler of Brookfield.
22. Lois, b. Oct. 3, 1732; m. Phineas Goodnow, Sudbury.

Note—(18) Samuel Frost's grandson, Samuel, Jr., was a captain in the Revolutionary War.

The Samuel Frost who was taken prisoner at Lexington, was another descendant of Edmund Frost, through (8) Ephraim Frost.

FOURTH GENERATION.

(T. G. F.)

19. Amasa Frost, fourth s. of (13) Samuel, b. Fram. Jan. 24, 1717-18; said to have married when he was twenty-one, settling in Killingly, Conn., in 1739. His wife is reported to have died soon after, and this "Whetstone" country proving unattractive he returned to Fram. and on Feb. 1, 1749-50 he married Abigail Livermore of Fram. (des. of John Livermore, who came from England in 1634; and through female lines des. of Gregory Stone, 1635, and Elder Edward How, 1632). The ceremony was performed by his brother, Rev. Amariah Frost, of Milford, and he was received from the Fram. church into Milford church, May 26, 1751. Two children were baptized there: Nathan, bap. May 26, 1751; John, bap. Feb. 4, 1753 (prob. d. young).

As Milford is only a few miles from Fram., and as he may have lived between the two places, probably sufficiently explains the occurrence of his name on a list of officers and soldiers in Col. Jos. Buckminster's company of militia, from Fram., April 26, 1757, French and Indian War.

In 1765, with his wife, he was dismissed from the church in Milford to the church in Hatfield (near W'msburg.)

He and Nathan Frost were probably the earliest settlers of W'msburg, Mass., where he was elected first deacon of the church, being elected to that office upon its organization in 1771. He was also the first constable of the village. In 1772 his name and that of Nathan Frost appear on an assessment list of the town.

He was a man of influence in the community, and possessed of some property.

His wife, Abigail, died, and he is said to have married again before his death, which occurred at W'msburg, Jan. 6, 1795.

CHILDREN :

23. Nathan, bap. May 26, 1751; d. in army.
24. John, bap. Feb. 4, 1753; prob. d. young.
25. Mary, m. Healy.
26. John.
27. Josiah.
28. Amasa, Jr.
29. Nehemiah.
30. Joseph.
31. Rhoda, m. Faxon; their son m. (151) Submit, dau. of (56) Chester Frost.
32. Bezaleel.

·FIFTH GENERATION.

26. Deacon John Frost, s. of (19) Amasa, b. Framingham, Mass., Dec. 22, 1759. About 1765 his parents moved to Hatfield, Mass., from which place he enlisted in the army of the Revolution before he had completed his fifteenth year. April 12, 1781, at Williamsburg, he married Amy Tenant, b. Feb. 22, 1761. For a number of years he kept a tavern in the "Bartlett House," on Meeting-House Hill; this was later known as the Francis Porter place.

Early in 1795 they settled on a farm at Sandgate, Vt., where he was elected deacon in the church, and prominent in the community. His children, Franklin and Norman, died, and their remains were buried on the farm. His wife died in 1816 at Sandgate, and he married (2) Mercy (Gray) Kent, widow, and mother of six children: Almirah, Milton, Trumbull, Hannah, Lorain, and Mesirah. No children were born by his second marriage. He continued his residence at Sandgate until 1833, when, with the family of his daughter Sophia, he removed to western New York, first to Knowlesville, and later to Evans, Erie Co., N. Y., where he died, Oct. 16, 1853, in his ninety-fourth year.

Following is a record of his military history :

40. Benjamin Franklin Frost, s. of (26) John, b. Sandgate, Vt., May 27, 1796; m. Nov. 16, 1817, Fannie Smith, b. Dec. 1, 1797, youngest ch. of Polycarpus and Dolly (Otis) Smith. (See part III, Smith.)

At the time of marriage, she is said to have lived at Sullivan, Madison Co., N. Y.; however, in 1820, they were living at Bennington, Vt., whence, with their infant son, Allen, they moved, in 1821, to Riga, N. Y., with all their possessions, in a wagon drawn by one horse; lived there one season, on a farm owned by Nehemiah Frost; then they moved to Orleans Co., N Y., bought and settled in town of Shelby, one mile south of Millville, opposite burying ground; felled trees for their log-house, with its split log floor (space left in floor for fire, which was built directly on ground); planted an orchard (which is still standing), money for the trees earned by wife making men's clothing; sold farm and in 1828 moved to K'ville; for one year kept the brick hotel owned by Dea. Knowles; bought Pratt farm just east of village; in one or two years sold again and bought a farm, mostly forest, one mile north of K'ville, which farm still remains in the family. Here they built a frame house, which in 1850, with all its contents, burned; family barely escaped, obliged to go barefooted and scantily clothed, through snow and bitter cold, to nearest neighbor, quarter of a mile distant. They rebuilt, and in 1867 celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Soon afterward they moved to village of K'ville, where they spent remainder of their lives. He died Jan. 1, 1872.

Since 1834, he had been an elder in the first Pres. church; his death occurred but a few days after that of Elder Knowles, and the session adopted the following joint resolutions:

"Whereas it has pleased the Great Head of the Church to remove by death two venerable and venerated members of this session in rapid succession, Therefore,

"Resolved: That in the death of Elder William Knowles and Elder Franklin Frost, this Church mourns the loss of two men of God, of faith and prayer. While some tears of thankfulness to God for sparing them so long to the Church and world, mingle with the tears of sorrow for their removal from the communion of the Church below, we cannot but feel that these bereavements furnish an occasion for this church and society to mourn the departure of two men of long tried integrity, great usefulness, and large liberality. For many years they were pillars in the Church, sustaining, by their means, their sympathies, their influence, and their prayers, the ordinances of religion. The life, the purity, and the prosperity of the Church of their choice were firmly bound up with every fibre of their hearts. They mourned over its languishment, they rejoiced in its revival; and in all its varied experiences, their warm love, their wise counsel, their active co-operation were equal to every emergency. Their piety was quiet, uniform, and unobtrusive. They walked with God while on earth, and though not slothful in the affairs of this life their walk and conversation was that of men whose treasure was laid up in heaven, and whose hope entered in within the veil. Great length of days, increasing infirmities, the growth of a new generation around them, did not chill their love, or diminish their zeal. Their prayers, their sympathies, their generous aid survived the changes of time and condition and constituted to the last a rich treasury from which the Church drew supplies of comfort, encouragement and cheer. Their end was peace; death had no terrors for them; having faithfully and cheerfully borne the burden and heat of the day, they calmly passed over the flood, folded to the bosom of that Saviour whom they loved and in whom they trusted.

"Resolved: That the afflictions of the bereaved widows, and bereaved children are held in affectionate remembrance by this Church. With deep love, and strong faith, we commend them to the Father of the fatherless, and the widow's God. While we cannot heal the wound, and assuage the grief, we would tenderly remind them that these aged fathers and companions are not lost, but gone before; and that while the separation is painful here, they may look forward to a blessed reunion in heaven."

After the death of her husband, Fannie Frost continued her residence at K'ville, with her son, Wm. H., until her death, June 3, 1882. To those of us who came in daily contact with her, the following obituary from her pastor seems almost inadequate:

"In moral and social qualities she was a fine representative of the pioneers in this region. Numerous friends can testify to the grace with which she described the stirring reminiscences of an early time, and the uniform neighborly kindness of her daily life. But though devoted as a wife and mother, amiable as a friend, the remembrance of her as a Christian affords the greatest pleasure. For 51 years she was a member of the Presbyterian Church in Knowlesville, quietly, unobtrusively, but zealously promoting the welfare of God's people. Not a few happily recall the earnestness with which, as a "sweet singer of Israel," she engaged in service of the sanctuary. Patient, hopeful, actuated by the spirit of the charity that "thinketh no evil," and "always abounding in the work of the Lord," she greatly encouraged pastors and other disciples. The protracted illness which terminated her life was borne with exemplary spirit. Steadily looking for that blessed hope, she was upheld by "the everlasting arms" and borne gently to the "rest" which remaineth to the people of God. Her funeral took place on Sabbath day, and many relatives and other friends at home and from abroad, gathered at the little cemetery and thanked the "Giver of every good and perfect gift" for their association with a consecrated life."

Twelve children were born, three of whom died in early infancy, during their early married life. The others were:

Orleans Co., N. Y., where they lived six years, then moved to Knowlesville. Upon reaching his maturity he started in business selling goods to merchants in Western New York. This being before railroads were built to any extent, he used a large wagon drawn by four horses to convey the goods from the distributing point, Batavia. About 1850 he went to New York and became a member of the wholesale dry-goods firm of Buckley Sheldon & Co., continuing with them until their liquidation in 1875, after which time he carried on a strictly Indian business, handling only goods going to the wild Indians. He remained in active business until 1900, when he retired at the age of eighty years, being succeeded by his son Dan. He was the last of the old-time wholesale drygoods merchants who were in business in New York City before and during the rebellion.

In politics he took an interest, but no active part; voted every year of his life, until failing health prevented, first the Whig, later the Republican ticket. During the rebellion he outfitted a number of young men who enlisted in the army, and he was noted for his high sense of honor and liberality. The example of his life has been an influence for good upon each and all of his friends and associates. He died Sept. 15, 1907, at his home in Jersey City, where he lived for over fifty years. He is survived by his widow, Lucy, the companion of his life for over sixty-three years. His remains were buried on the family lot at Mt. Albion, N. Y.

Grover; sold out in 1862; in the spring of 1863 established a dry-goods store, and the same year bought the farm upon which he still lives; sold the drygoods store two years later. An influential member of the community; has been trustee of the Presbyterian Church for over fifty years.

Emily Grover Frost, wife of Harvey F., b. at Alloway (South Lyons), N. Y., Mar. 8, 1837; dau. of L. C. Grover, M. D. (See Part III. Grover family). She died Jan. 16, 1907. Had life been spared to her four days longer she would have reached the 50th anniversary of her marriage, the celebration of which she anticipated with much pleasure. Her entire life was one of devotion to her family and friends, to whom she was not only an inspiration, but an ideal of kindness and good cheer. To this wide circle of relatives and friends her death was a great loss, softened only by grateful memories of her life. Her remains were buried at Mt. Albion, N. Y.

115. William Henry Frost, youngest ch. of (40) B. Franklin, b. K'ville, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1840; m. Oct. 9, 1862, Cecelia Grover (See Part III. Grover family); d. May 15, 1904. Lived entire life place of his birth. First a farmer, then many years a merchant, then farmer on the homestead. Affectionate by nature, he loved his family, his friends, his church. A favorite saying of his was, that he was rich in his relatives and friends; that no one ever had better than he. He was for over forty-one years an elder, and over fifty years a member of the choir of the Presbyterian Church, a service which he esteemed a great privilege, and which he honored in his daily life. It was said of him: "By disposition and practice he was wont to think well of all, and to speak only kind words. He passed away in the midst of his usefulness, but his fidelity has rendered his life longer in deeds than in years."

"The following resolutions were adopted by the session of the Presbyterian Church:

"Having been called to part with our fellow worker and venerated senior elder, William H. Frost, who died Sabbath afternoon, May 15th, 1904, after a continuous service in the session of this church for over forty-one years: therefore, deeply sensible of our loss, we would record our appreciation of his worth.

Resolved: that we call to mind his faithfulness and earnest prayers so fervently pleading for the quickening of the church and the salvation of souls; that we give hearty thanks to Almighty God, who has strengthened his church by the noble example and continued activity of his servant; That we rejoice in the glorious hope of a happy future, which came with such timely comfort and cheer to him, and is set before us in the Word of God; That we sympathize with the family in their sorrow and commend them to the loving care of the God who is ever ready to comfort; That we hear in this event the call of God to us to be constant and faithful in our activity, that it may be our happy lot to receive the blessing promised of the Lord to those who are found "so doing."

The following is taken from an obituary notice in one of the county papers: "The line which marks the division between this and the world beyond, is very obscure to mortal vision. It lies right close to the lives of some whom we least think, and is farther removed from others who seem just about to cross over. Little did we think last Sabbath that one worshipping with us, and teaching in our Sabbath School, would the next day see 'eye to eye' Him whom we worship, and have that knowledge possible in the 'hereafter.' Mary E. Frost, wife of Alfred Anderson, thus passed from the service on earth to the promoted service of heaven, shortly after noon, Mar. 11, 1907. Her years were few, but she had filled them full of good deeds unselfishly. Gifted with musical ability, she had used her talent in the Presbyterian Church since she was a child of ten years, and since her father's death, about three years ago, had been choir leader. Not alone in the matter of music, but in every place she was always ready to do for Christ and the church. She was an active member, and officer of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle, and for a time, secretary of the Presbyterial Society, of Orleans and Niagara counties, where she received many words of commendation, for the promptness and excellence of her work."

Memorial resolutions were adopted by the Young Ladies' Mission Circle, and the Woman's Missionary Society, and a memorial poem written by her life-long friend, Mrs. E. E. Woodford. Her remains were buried at Mt. Albion.

33. John Frost.

John Frost the eldest son of (26) John Frost and Amy Tenant was born September 3rd, 1783, at Williamsburg, Mass. The house in which he was born was what is now known as the "Bartlett House" on Meeting House Hill.

In 1795, his father with his large family, removed to Sandgate, Vermont. He prepared for college with the local minister at that place and graduated from Middlebury College in the class of 1806. He commenced his preparation for the ministry that same year at Andover Seminary, from which institution he graduated in 1808. In May, 1810, he entered the ministry, after teaching two years in Andover Seminary. He was greatly interested in foreign missions, and assisted in forming in Boston, in 1811, the first society (A. B. C. F. M.) for foreign missions. In its interest he spoke in numerous places in New England and New York. During this time he declined pastoral calls to Danbury, Connecticut, and Braintree and Williamsburg, Mass. In November, 1812, he was invited to succeed Mr. Carnahan as pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Whitesboro, New York. He accepted and was ordained March 13th, 1813, the Rev. Axel Backus, President of Hamilton College, preaching the ordination sermon, on Ministerial Fidelity, from the text in Isaiah 58:1. For twenty years he remained as pastor of this church. During this time he was a cotemporary and friend of Rev. Mr. Dwight and Mr. Aiken at Utica, and the Rev. Mr. Coe at Hartford. He was a ready and active co-operator with the Rev. Geo. W. Gale in the founding of the Manual Labor School (later known as the Oneida Institute and Whitesboro Seminary) at Whitesboro, N. Y., and Knox College at Galesburg, Ill. Later Mr. Frost was located as pastor at Elmira, New York, and Waterville, New York, at which latter place he died March 1st 1842. His last words were "God reigns and always has reigned." As a preacher Mr. Frost was clear, logical, and convincing. When enlisted in some great moral crusade, such as the temperance or slavery question, he was most impressive and eloquent. He was absolutely fearless in the expression of his views on this question of slavery, at a time when it sometimes cost a man his life to speak out boldly. He was a forceful writer and by tongue and pen won far more than a local reputation as a preacher, lecturer, and philanthropist. For thirteen years he was a trustee of Hamilton College, where his grandson—John Frost—sixty years later succeeded him. In 1813 he was married to the beautiful and accomplished Harriet L. Gold, youngest daughter of Hon. Thos. R. Gold of Whitesboro. To this union, four children were born. (1) Sarah Gold, afterwards married to Rev. Andrew Hull of Elmira, New York, (an only child of this marriage, Thomas G. Hull of Baltimore, Maryland, still survives), (2) Mary, married to William Burt of Chicago. (Two children survived her death in 1863, Harriet and Sarah). (3) Thomas Gold Frost. (4.) Harriet Frost, who died unmarried at Whitesboro, New York, in May, 1888.

87. Thomas Gold Frost, Sr.

Thomas Gold Frost was born in Whitesboro, Oneida County, New York, May 4th, 1821. His father was the Rev. John Frost (33) a man of ability and prominence, and wherever he labored, it was for the best and highest things of life. The mother of Thomas, Harriet L. Gold, was the daughter of the Hon. Thomas R. Gold, a leading lawyer of the state, a most able and influential member of Congress, and a man prominent in the public affairs of the day. She was a woman of brilliant intellect, as well as of strong and attractive personality.

Thomas in early childhood showed evidences of the traits that later became characteristics of his manhood; namely, unusual sensitiveness of conscience, thoughtfulness, and fidelity to every duty, both secular and religious. He possessed a most remarkable power of analysis coupled with clear forceful expression and the ability to carry to successful conclusion whatever he undertook.

He graduated with salutatory honors from Hamilton College in 1843. In college he was a member of the Alpha Chapter of the Alpha Delta Phi's. After graduation he began the study of law, and was admitted to practice in 1846 at Rome, New York. In his arguments before the courts, he displayed at all times that trait so rare among legal practitioners—which has been not infelicitously termed "intellectual honesty."

On November 18th, 1847, he was married to Elizabeth Anna Bancroft, of Rome. Here they resided until 1857 and here were born a son, John E. Frost, and a daughter, Louisa Frost. This union was one of peculiar happiness and adaptability. Mrs. Frost was a woman of refined and cultivated tastes, and of unusual sweetness and strength of character. She possessed not only fine and discriminating literary judgment, but she had herself no mean ability as a writer and she often expressed herself in rhyme, and her poems embody thoughts of great beauty. In conversation bright, and with a keen sense of humor, she was a delightful companion. Deeply religious, she exerted always a strong influence for good upon all around her. She returned to the old home in Galesburgh after her husband's death in 1880, living there through a serene old age until October 13th, 1905.

In the spring of 1857, the family moved to Galesburg, Illinois, and here were born Elizabeth Bancroft Frost, and Thomas Gold Frost, Jr.

In Illinois Mr. Frost soon came to be recognized as one of the foremost lawyers of the state. Few lawyers in Illinois at that time had as many cases in the Supreme Court as had he. He had a well trained, discriminating mind, an unusual degree of analytical power and a conscientious fidelity to his clients, whether the amount involved was great or small.

At the time of the Lincoln-Douglas Debate at Galesburg, Mr. Frost was asked to deliver the address of welcome to Mr. Lincoln, which he did in a speech marked by a clear and comprehensive understanding and presentation of those great questions then agitating the nation. He was for many years a trustee of Knox College at Galesburg. In 1871 Mr. Frost removed to Chicago and was a prominent and successful attorney at the Cook County Bar until the time of his death, which occurred at Las Vegas, New Mexico, December 22nd, 1880. He was president of the village of Evanston, Illinois, from 1879 until his death. He was an elder of the Presbyterian Church in Galesburg and Evanston for more than twenty years.

The resolutions of the Chicago and Galesburg Bars, the sincere and voluntary testimonies of judges and attorneys, both as to his ability as a lawyer and his honorable and influential life; the words of pastor and people in the churches where he had been an honored elder, were many and unusually strong.

His body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Galesburg, where twenty-five years later his wife, Elizabeth, was buried.

225. John Edward Frost of Topeka, Kansas.

John Edward Frost of Topeka, Kansas, eldest son of Thomas Gold Frost and Elizabeth Anna (Bancroft) Frost, was born at Rome, Oneida County, New York, April 22nd, 1849.

In 1857 his parents removed with their family to Galesburg, Illinois, which continued to be his home until 1883, where he was educated in select schools, prepared for college in Knox Academy, entered and passed the freshman and sophomore years in Knox College and, with honorable dismissal therefrom, entered the junior class of Hamilton College, New York, where he graduated with honor in 1871, receiving the degree of A. B. and in 1904 he was elected president of the Western Alumni Association and a trustee of Hamilton College. In 1906 his Alma Mater conferred upon him the degree of A. M., and in 1908 honored him with the degree of LL. D. He is a member of the Chi Psi college fraternity, is a republican in politics and since boyhood a member of the Presbyterian Church. During his senior year in college and for the following year he read law. On October 10th, 1871, he was married to Margaret E. Kitchell, the only child of Hon. Alfred Kitchell of Illinois, an upright Christian lawyer and a judge of unsullied reputation.

Of this marriage six children were born, all living except Mary Elizabeth, the eldest, who died August 8th, 1906, whose character was a rarely beautiful one. She was a graduate with high honors of Knox College at Galesburg, Illinois, taking the salutatory of her class, with the degree of B. S. in 1892, afterward receiving from Knox the degree of M. L., and after a post-graduate course at Cornell University and at the University of Kansas, the latter conferred upon her the degree of M. A.

In a memorial volume dedicated by her father to her memory, her pastor said, "Mary Frost was one of earth's rare souls, one to be easily singled out by a pastor as a Christian of the finer type." In the same volume one of her friends says of her—"To have known her was to know an elder daughter in whom her father and mother relied with unbroken trust, a sister whose gentle care and sacrificing love were unfailing, a friend steadfast and sincere, an earnest Christian whose faith was a living reality."

The living children of John E. and Margaret E. Frost are Alfred Gold Frost, cashier of the Mexico City Banking Company, in the city of Mexico, Jean Kitchell Frost, wife of Mr. Chas. Sumner Stewart, principal of the county high school, Des Plaines, Cook County, Ill., Thomas Bancroft Frost, chief clerk and secretary to the general manager of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company in the city of Mexico, and Grace Harriet Frost and Russell Edward Frost, the latter two living with their parents in the family home in Topeka, all worthy scions of a worthy lineage.

In 1883 Mr. Frost removed to Topeka, Kansas, which has been his home continuously since.

A biographical sketch of him, in "Eminent Men of Kansas" published in 1901, after giving details of his birth and education, says: "After graduating, he read law and then "engaged in the sale of Kansas R. R. lands coupled with the "direction of immigration to Kansas; and to the up-building "of that state and the promotion of its material interests "he has devoted the past thirty years of his life. He is "authority upon all matters pertaining to immigration, and "especially in the practical part of exposition work connected with them.

"He was district agent of the land department of the "Atchison, Topeka, & Santa Fe Railroad Company from "1872 to 1879, and was then appointed traveling agent of "the land department of that company. In 1882 he removed "to Topeka, and was successively general agent and chief "clerk of the land department, and general land commissioner of the "Santa Fe" from 1880 to November 1st, 1898, "when, after twenty-six years' service with the railroad "company, he resigned, having purchased the unsold Santa "Fe lands in Kansas.

"During his long service with the Santa Fe Company, "he filled many positions of important trust other than as "an employe and officer of that great railway system.

"He was president of the Exhibitors' Association at the "International Cotton Exposition at Atlanta, Georgia, in "1881.

"In 1894 he was elected president of the Hamilton "College Mid-Continental Alumni Association. In the same "year he was elected vice-president of the National Irriga"tion Congress at Denver, Colorado, and in the following year president of that body, over which he presided at the annual meeting at Albuquerque, New Mexico. In 1898 he was made vice-president and treasurer of the Kansas Commission of the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition at Omaha, Nebraska. During Mr. Frost's residence in Topeka he has also been president and manager of various successful investment companies.

"He is now president of the Commercial Club of Topeka.

"He was one of the executive committee of the India Famine Fund, which in 1900 sent a train load of Kansas corn and many thousands of dollars in money, contributed by the citizens of Kansas to the relief of the famine sufferers."

"He is a member of the First Presbyterian church of Topeka; in politics a Republican, and in all things a thorough Kansan."

Since the foregoing was published in 1901, Mr. John E. Frost was reelected president of the Topeka Commercial Club in 1902 and 1903, and declined further reelection. In January of the latter year he presided in the great city auditorium of Topeka, at the inauguration of the Governor and other state officers.

In the spring of that year Mr. Frost was chairman of the executive committee of arrangements for the eleventh international conference of the Young Men's Christian Association, which was held in Topeka, and was also chairman of the committee for the reception of Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, during the conference at the laying of the corner stone of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. building in Topeka. Late in May of the same year, a great calamity came upon the city of Topeka and contiguous regions in the valley of the Kansas River, by reason of the overflow of the river, causing a flood which inundated nearly half of the city and rendered about ten thousand people homeless for many days. Mr. Frost was chosen chairman of the general flood relief committee, which for months cared for the flood sufferers and in that capacity he directed the various sub-committees in the work of saving and supporting the flood victims and in rehabilitating their homes, an immense labor requiring the highest administrative ability and lasting throughout that year.

In the winter and early spring of 1905 he, with a party of friends from his old home in Galesburg, Illinois, made a trip of considerable extent through the principal West Indian Islands and to Venezuela.

In the latter part of 1905 Mr. Frost was appointed by Gov. Hoch of Kansas, a delegate to the 16th session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, held at Portland, Oregon, August 16th to 19th, which he attended and was elected thereat vice-president for Kansas for the ensuing year. In December of that year he was also appointed by Gov. Hoch a delegate to the National Immigration Conference held in New York and served there as a member of the committee on resolutions.

In January, 1906, he was elected a director of the Kansas State Historical Society. In the early spring of that year he made a trip to Honolulu, Hawaii, accompanied by his son, Russell. Shortly after his return from the Hawaiian trip, the great San Francisco earthquake and fire occurred, and Mr. Frost was appointed by the Governor of Kansas a member of the Kansas State California Relief Committee and served throughout that year as a member of that committee, which collected and dispensed several train loads of provisions and many thousands of dollars for the relief of the sufferers in that deplorable disaster. In the latter part of the same year he was a delegate to, and vice-president for Kansas of the 17th annual session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress held in Kansas City, Mo.

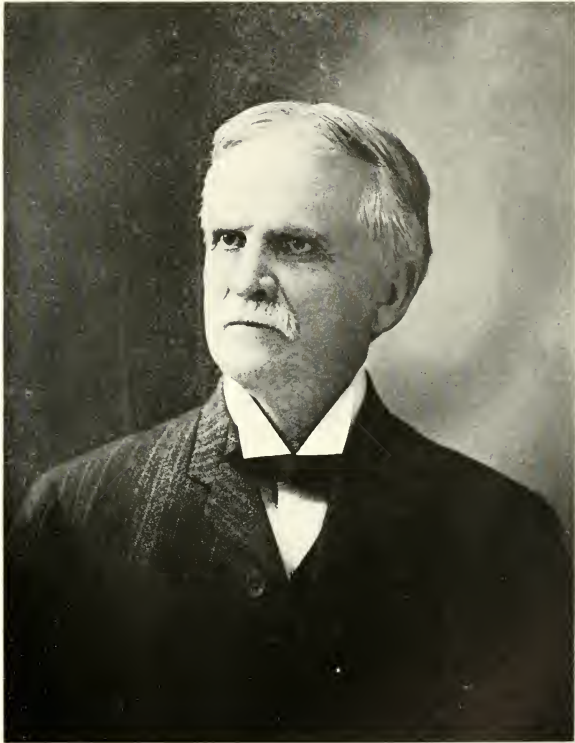

In 1907 he was elected a member of the state executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kansas, was reelected in 1908, and was also elected president of the 26th annual convention, in 1908, of the Kansas State Y. M. C. A., and presided at that convention, held in Wichita, Kan., Feb. 6th to 9th., and presided at the opening session of the 27th annual convention at Lawrence, Kan., in 1909, and is still an active member of the State Committee.

In the spring of 1908 he was invited to and attended May 12th and 14th, the conference called by President Roosevelt to meet at the White House in Washington, D. C., of the governors of the various states of the Union and a small number of other eminent men as invited guests to discuss with the President the promotion of the material interests of the states, and their preservation. In November of 1908 he was elected president for the ensuing year, of the Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian Church of Topeka.

Mr. Frost now resides in Topeka, Kansas, and expects to spend the remainder of his days there, at the capital of his adopted state, to the promotion and development of whose interests he has devoted more than thirty-five years of a busy life.

228. Thomas Gold Frost, Jr.

Thomas Gold Frost, Jr., the second son and youngest child of Thomas Gold Frost, Sr., was born at Galesburg, Ill., on the 17th day of February, 1866. He lived at Galesburg until 1873, when the family removed to Evanston, Ill. After attending private school for a couple of years, he entered the public school at Evanston in 1875. He continued there until the fall of 1879, when he entered the Evanston Village High School. After spending a year there he entered the preparatory department of Northwestern University in the fall of 1880. He remained there only one term, leaving school on his father's death in December, 1880. In the spring of 1881 he accompanied his mother and sisters to Galesburg, Ill., where the family continued to reside until his mother's death in the fall of 1905. From the spring of 1881 until September 1st, 1882, he clerked in the book-store of Frank Fuller, in Galesburg. During all this time he found time, though working from seven in the morning until nine at night, to prepare for college. In September, 1882, he successfully passed his entrance examinations to Knox College at Galesburg, Illinois, and during his four years in that institution was a most active student therein. By the time of his junior year in college, he had done sufficient extra work in college to cover the two years' difference in preparation for the classical and scientific courses and in 1885 was enrolled as a "classical" without dropping back a single class, a feat never before or since accomplished in the history of the college. During his four years at Knox, he frequently took part in public exhibitions of the college and literary societies, as well as participating in several plays. His reputation in college rested largely on his skill as a debater, his varied and wide reading and his reputation as an all-round athlete. He played baseball and football during the entire four years of the college course, being captain in his senior year of the Knox Baseball Nine and participating in the first inter-collegiate football game ever played between a Knox football eleven and that of another college. This was the game between Knox and Monmouth, played in the month of November, 1885. During his course at Knox college he stood very high as a scholar and was class orator at the class day exercises on his graduation in 1886.

In the fall of 1886 Thomas Gold Frost entered with about 250 others (mostly college graduates), as a member of the class of 1888 at the Columbia Law School. Here for two years he studied under the tutelage of his father's college friend (at Hamilton) that "prince of teachers"—Theodore W. Dwight. During both his junior and senior years he took, in connection with his work at the law school, all the lectures of the School of Political Science under Dean John W. Burgess and his associates.

In his junior year he was elected one of the twelve members chosen from his class for membership in the "Choate Club." He also tutored during this entire year. In the fall of 1897, he, in company with Paul K. Ames (Yale '86), founded and edited the Columbia Law Times. At the same time, through the personal influence and at the solicitation of Prof. Henry Drummond, he became associated with the "Student's Movement," this being the first systematic organized effort to conduct Christian work among the colleges and professional schools in New York City. He was the first president of the Student's Club, which has continued until the present day as a most powerful department of the inter-collegiate work of the Young Men's Christian Association of New York City. In the winter of 1888, he visited and spoke at Yale, Princeton, Harvard and many Western colleges and universities in connection with the association work. During the year he was awarded the Seligman Prize Fellowship of $250, from the School of Political Science at Columbia. In June of 1888 he was graduated from the Columbia Law School, ranking fourth among the four prize men chosen out of a class of 200. In the fall of 1888 he cast his first presidential vote, at Galesburg, Ill., for Benjamin Harrison for President. Since that time he has always affiliated with the Republican party. In November of 1888, he took up his residence at Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he entered as a law clerk in the leading law firm of Wilson and Lawrence. He was admitted to the Minnesota Bar on March 13th, 1889. In the fall of 1889 he formed a partnership for the practice of law at Minneapolis with his classmate at Knox, John B. Brown, under the name and style of Frost & Brown. This partnership continued for several years, when it was dissolved on account of Mr. Brown's having to return to Illinois. During the ten years of his residence at Minneapolis, his practice grew rapidly, until it represented as remunerative a practice as any in that city. For seven years he was the Northwestern attorney for one of the larger surety companies. This connection, together with others, took him much into the federal courts and into other states. During these ten years, he tried cases in the courts of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Kentucky, Texas, New York, Wisconsin, New Hampshire and Connecticut. In 1896 he was admitted to the Supreme Court of the United States, at which time he had his first case in that court. His admission was moved by Hon. Thomas Lochren, Commissioner of Pensions, and later United States District Judge for the district of Minnesota. During his residence at Minneapolis, he was secretary for two years of the leading Republican organization of the state, The Union League Club of that city, and took part on the stump during the campaigns of 1890, 1892, 1896.

On October 26th, 1893, he was married at Ann Arbor, Michigan, to Miss Mary Adele Kennedy, daughter of Rev. Joel Kennedy and Martha (Stimpson) Kennedy of Ann Arbor, Michigan. At this wedding Charles C. George of Omaha, Nebraska, acted as best man and Miss Elizabeth B. Frost acted as maid of honor.

Thos. G. Frost was a member of the state committee of the Young Men's Christian Association of the state of Minnesota from 1890 until his departure for New York in 1898. In 1895, while only 29 years of age, he was elected president of the State Young Men's Christian Association, which position he held until 1898. He was also a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church from 1888 to 1898, teaching continuously in the Sunday school of that church for the greater part of that time. In the fall of 1898, in accordance with the plan formed even before he left the law school, he removed to New York. A year was occupied in going back and forth between the two cities of Minneapolis and New York, closing up old business preparatory to taking up new. In the fall of 1899, after spending five months in travel in Europe, he entered the law firm of Holden, Allen, Safford & Frost, and commenced the practice of law at 141 Broadway, New York City. At this time he was admitted, on motion, to the New York Bar, without examination, on the presentation of the following letter, addressed to the Justices of the Appellate Division (1st Dept.) of the Supreme Court of New York, by the Hon. William Mitchell of the Supreme Court of Minnesota—than whom no greater judge ever sat upon that exceptionally able bench. This letter read as follows:

“To the Justices of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York:

“I take pleasure in certifying that Thomas G. Frost, Esq., late of Minneapolis, but now of New York, was from April, 1889, until his recent removal to New York, a member of the bar of this state duly admitted to practice in all its courts including the Supreme Court of which I was then, during all that time, and am still, an associate judge.

“During all that time he was continuously engaged in the practice of his profession and frequently as counsel in important cases in this court. I can unhesitatingly say, without qualification, he is a gentleman of unblemished moral character and of the highest standing and reputation, and a lawyer of much more than ordinary ability. He is not only well qualified for admission to the bar of any state, but would, in my judgment, be an honor to the profession anywhere.

“WM. MITCHELL,
“Minnesota Supreme Court.”

He continued with the firm of Holden, Allen, Safford & Frost until the spring of 1901, when he removed to 76 William Street, New York City, and took up the practice of law for the first time by himself. In 1890 he wrote and published “The French Constitution, 1793,” (A. E. Chasmar & Company, publishers). In 1902 appeared the first edition of his “Treatise on Guaranty Insurance,” (Little, Brown & Company, publishers), which was followed in 1904 by his work on the “Incorporation and Organization of Corporations,” (Little, Brown & Company, publishers). In 1909 was published his “Treatise on New York Corporations,” (Matthew, Bender & Co., publishers). Since 1889 he has been associate editor of the Medico-Legal Journal. During his ten years’ residence in New York, he has made three trips to Europe and Africa. On the first of those trips he was accompanied by his wife alone and on the last two by his wife and daughter, Barbara Gold, and his niece, Grace H. Frost. At the present time he is practicing law with Howard H. Nieman, at 76 William Street, under the firm name of Frost & Nieman. He is a specialist in insurance and corporation law and is retained by many corporations as their counsel by the year. His summers are spent at his summer cottage, corner of Ocean Avenue and Thirteenth Street, Belmar, New Jersey.

The School of Political Science of Columbia University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1890. In 1904 Knox College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Thomas Gold Frost, Jr., has two children. The oldest, Barbara Gold Frost, was born at 419 West 118th Street, New York City, on June 9th, 1903. The youngest, Dorothy Dean Frost, was born at 425 West 118th Street, New York City, on March 22nd, 1908.

Mary Kennedy Frost, the wife of Thomas Gold Frost, Jr., was born at Howell, Michigan. She was the daughter of a Presbyterian minister, Rev. Joel Kennedy and Martha Stimson Kennedy, his wife. She graduated from the Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio, first spending two years preparatory work at Ferry Hall, Lake Forest, Illinois. After spending a year at Wellesley College, she took the degree of A. B. at Knox College in 1901, and the degree of Master of Arts from Columbia University in 1906. Mary Kennedy Frost is an accomplished musician, having spent many years in musical study and having taken part in many public exhibitions as both piano soloist and as a vocalist. She is possessed of marked literary ability both as a writer of prose and poetry. She is a woman of great versatility and is gifted with unusual executive ability. For many years she has taken an active part in the activities of the Young Women's Christian Association and was chairman of the college committee of the state executive committee of the Young Women's Christian Association in both Minnesota and New York. She is of Scotch ancestry, her great-great-grandfather, John Kennedy, having come from near Wigtown, Scotland, and settled in Perth Amboy, New Jersey, about 1755. His son, John Kennedy (born in Sussex County, New Jersey, May 8th, 1761), emigrated after the Revolutionary War (1789), to St. Anns, Canada. He died there April 12th, 1847. His son, also named John Kennedy, was born in Sussex County, New Jersey, March 4th, 1787. About the year 1812 he married Barbara Dean of St. Anns, Canada. Of this union was born on December 22nd, 1816, Rev. Joel Kennedy, father of Mary Kennedy Frost. Joel Kennedy early emigrated to the United States and graduated at the Western Reserve College in 1841, and from Auburn Theological Seminary in 1843.

When the Civil War broke out he enlisted and was appointed chaplain of the Third Michigan Cavalry. After serving six months, he was honorably discharged on account of impaired health. On July 12th, 1864, he was married to Miss Martha Jane Stimson, daughter of Horace Stimson and Cynthia Haines Porter Stimson of Allegan, Michigan.

Rev. Joel Kennedy died at Ann Arbor, Michigan, on July 23rd, 1902.

THE GOLD GENEALOGY.

I. Nathan Gold, Sr.

The first American ancestor by this name was Major Nathan Gold, who was born at Bury St. Edmunds, in Suffolk County, England, about 1620. His parents were persons of wealth and distinction there, where the family had resided from early in the fifteenth century. He came to America in 1647, landing at Milford, Conn. He almost immediately afterwards removed to Fairfield, in that state, where he lived the rest of his life. He married Martha Harvey there in 1657.

He was the most prominent citizen in Fairfield, and was at the head of the local soldiery in their various battles with the Indians, and commanded a mounted troop in King Philip's War. He was the leader of the applicants who obtained the new charter for Connecticut from Charles the Second, and when the charter was put in question, was first on the list of citizens sent to confer with the Duke of York. He was so firm in his stand against exactions of Sir Edmund Andros that the latter deemed it best to conciliate him and ever afterwards treated him with the greatest respect. Soon after this, he was appointed Judge of the Common Pleas for the county. In 1671 Major Gold and his dragoons joined the troops which were sent to avenge the massacre of Schenectady. He died at a green old age, loved and respected by all, on March 4th, 1693. He left surviving him only one child, Nathan Gold, Jr.

II. Nathan Gold, Jr.

Nathan Gold, Jr., was born at Fairfield, Connecticut, on December 8th, 1663. He was appointed Deputy-Governor of Connecticut in 1707, and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in 1712. He died October 3rd, 1723.

III. Hezekiah Gold, Sr.

Hezekiah Gold, son of Nathan Gold (II), was born at Fairfield, Connecticut, in 1694. He graduated at Harvard College in 1719 and soon after entered the Congregational ministry at Stratford, Connecticut. He married, about 1725, Mary Ruggles, daughter of Rev. Thos. Ruggles. He died April 22nd, 1761. ..

IV. Hezekiah Gold, Jr.

Hezekiah Gold, Jr., son of Hezekiah Gold, Sr. (III), was born at Stratford, Connecticut, January 17th, 1731. He graduated from Yale College in 1751. On November 23rd, 1758, he married Sarah Sedgwick, by whom he had seven children. For thirty-two years he was pastor of the Congregational Church at Cornwall, Conn. He died May 30th, 1790.

V. Thomas Ruggles Gold.

Thomas Ruggles Gold, fourth son of Hezekiah Gold, Jr. (IV), was born at Cornwall, Connecticut, on November 4th, 1764. He graduated at Yale College in the class of 1786. On September 17th, 1787, he married Sarah Sill, sister of Attorney-General Sill, at Cornwall, Connecticut. Catherine Sedgwick, the writer, was an own cousin of his and often visited at his home. He removed to Whitesboro, Oneida County, N. Y., in 1792. He there took up the practice of law. He was the first Prosecuting Attorney of Oneida County, and was accounted the most brilliant advocate of his day.

When King Louis Phillipe was in this country, he was his legal adviser. He was in the State Senate of New York for six years and served his district in Congress for two terms. He was for many years United States Government Agent for the Six Nations. Shenandoah and Red Jacket made some of their oft-quoted speeches on that lawn in Whitesboro, under the great elm trees of the beautiful home where he lived. Thomas R. Gold died in Whitesboro on October 25th, 1827, and is buried there in the beautiful village cemetery.

VI. Harriet L. Gold.

Harriet L. Gold, youngest daughter of Thomas R. Gold (V), was born at Cornwall, Connecticut, July 30th, 1790.

She received a superior education and enjoyed every advantage for the highest culture that the times in which she lived permitted. She removed with her father and mother to Whitesboro, New York, in 1792. In 1813 she was married at Whitesboro, New York, to Rev. John Frost (33), pastor of the Presbyterian Church in that village. On April 25th, 1813, Thos. R. Gold presented to the young couple, the famous homestead (located immediately opposite the Presbyterian Church on the main street of the village), where for nearly eighty years they and their descendants resided. This house, so long a landmark in the historic village of Whitesboro and so closely identified with the history of our branch of the Frost family, deserves more than a mere passing reference. A broad graveled path led from the street, underneath a beautiful row of elms, to a large front doorway. On each side of this doorway were narrow windows, and an elliptical arch overhead. The hallway into which it opened was wide and deep and lighted by an oriel window at the head of the stair landing. The parlor which opened off the hallway to the left as you entered the house was a spacious room with a large open fireplace. The woodwork of the doorways and in the mantels was very ornamental, being in the Colonial style, decorated with festoons, flowers and figures of Cupid in stucco work. Most of the ornamentation was carved and the stucco work, which was intended to represent carving, was well preserved. The style of decoration was much the same as is found in modern homes, if anything more ornamental. This was especially true of the cornices over the doors. From the parlor a door led to a wide and pleasant veranda, which faced the wing, which was one of the distinguishing features of the house. The dining room back of the parlor also had a large fireplace and mantel, and there was another in the wing bedroom. The kitchen to the rear of the house had a wider fireplace than any of the other rooms, there being a brick-oven at the left side and a broad stone hearth in the front. The windows of the house had paneled backs and sides, while the sashes were furnished with lights of double thick glass, concave in appearance. All the outside doors had their inner sides finished in imitation mahogany. All the doors were fitted with brass knobs. The fireplaces in the parlor and dining room were made to dump their ashes into the cellar, then a most unique arrangement. The upper hall of the house was so large, that it was used by the Rev. John Frost as a study. From this hallway, a long and dark passageway led to the wing bedroom. The windows of the whole house were supplied with heavy oaken shutters, by which means the whole house could be wholly darkened. Such was the historic "Frost Homestead" at Whitesboro, where the Rev. John Frost, his children and grand-children lived for eighty years. It was torn down shortly after the death of Miss Harriet Frost, in 1888.

Thomas R. Gold, Jr., the brother of Harriet Gold Frost, was the author of that famous poem entitled, "Twenty Years Ago, Tom." The latter's grand-daughter is the gifted authoress, Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews.

Harriet Gold Frost died at Whitesboro, New York, on August 5th, 1873.

THE BANCROFT GENEALOGY.

I. John Bancroft.

John Bancroft, the progenitor on our mother's side (Elizabeth Anna Bancroft Frost), wife of Thomas G. Frost (87) of our family in America, came from Chellaston Barrow or Swarkston, County of Derby, England. He had two brothers, Thomas and Ralph by name, who remained in England. The first of these, Thomas Bancroft, was the author of a book of poems entitled, "Two Books of Enigmas and Epigraphs" (London, 1639). John Bancroft married in England prior to 1622. The date of his birth is probably 1598. He had two sons and one daughter born to him in England. The oldest son, John, was born in 1622, and the youngest, Thomas, in 1625. John Bancroft came to America in the ship James and arrived at Lynn, Massachusetts, on June 12th, 1632. He brought with him his wife and his two sons, John and Thomas, and his daughter, Anna Bancroft. John Bancroft (1) died at Lynn in 1637. We find from the Lynn records that in 1638, one hundred acres of land were granted to the Widow Bancroft. The widow subsequently remarried and moved to Windsor, Connecticut, probably about 1645. The daughter, Anna, who seems to have been the eldest child, married John Griffin of Simsbury, Connecticut, in 1647. There also appears to have been another child, younger than either John or Thomas Bancroft.

II. John Bancroft.

John Bancroft (2) eldest son of John Bancroft (1), was born in England about 1622. His mother and step-father removed to Windsor, Connecticut, about 1645, taking with them the sons, Thomas, John and Samuel, and their daughter Anna. The youngest brother, Thomas, settled at Enfield, Connecticut, in 1653. He married Margaret Wright on December 8th, 1653. John Bancroft (2) married at Windsor, Connecticut, in 1650, Hannah Dupre. He died at Windsor, Connecticut, November 19th, 1662. He died aged 40 years. There survived him five children, John, born 1651; Nathaniel, 1653; Ephraim, 1655; Harriet, 1657; and Sarah, 1660.

III. Nathaniel Bancroft.

Nathaniel Bancroft, second son of John Bancroft (2), was born at Windsor, Connecticut, in 1653. Nathaniel Bancroft's uncle, Thomas Bancroft (brother of John Bancroft II), removed to Westfield in 1667. Probably this accounts for the fact that in 1677 Nathaniel Bancroft also removed there and took up land. In 1680 the uncle moved back to Enfield, Conn., and died there in 1684. But Nathaniel continued to reside at Westfield until his death in 1724. He married Hannah Williams on November 19th, 1676, at Windsor, before his departure for Westfield, and his first child, John Bancroft, was born at Westfield, January 24th, 1678. Nathaniel Bancroft was a large land holder and a very prominent man in the community. He built the first brick dwelling house (still standing) in Hampden County, Massachusetts, at Pogassuck, in 1702. The date of his death is uncertain, but he was living as late as 1724. He left surviving him the following children: John, Nathaniel, Benjamin, Elizabeth and Edward.

IV. John Bancroft.

John Bancroft, eldest son of Nathaniel Bancroft (III), was born at Westfield on January 24th, 1678. He died October 14th, 1749. His son, John Bancroft, was born in 1722. He also had children, Edward and Daniel. Married (1) Hannah Bridgman; (2) Kezia Smith. Born 1678, died 1749, age 71. First marriage in 1716. Children: Ann (1717), Edward (1718), John (1722), Elizabeth, Daniel, Desire C., 1738 by second wife. John Bancroft died at Westfield, Mass., in 1749.

V. John Bancroft.

John Bancroft, eldest son of John Bancroft (IV), was born at Westfield, Massachusetts, in 1722. He married Mary Ashley. He had only one child, a son, John Bancroft, born July 16th, 1755. John Bancroft (V) died June 27th, 1793. He was known all his life as Captain John Bancroft. During the entire Revolutionary War he was a Tory of the most pronounced type. Before he died he had accumulated a large fortune for those times. He has a tablet in the old burying ground on Mechanic Street, Westfield. He married in March, 1750, Mary Ashley. The latter was born May 16th, 1729, and died Feb. 21st, 1779.

VI. John Bancroft.

John Bancroft, son of John and Elizabeth Bancroft, was born July 16th, 1755, at Westfield, Massachusetts. He married a Miss Holcombe of Westfield, in 1775. The following children were born to them: John (1775), Mary (1776), Hannah (1779), Edward (1783), Mary (1785), Maria (1787), Royal (1789), Elizabeth (1791) and Daniel (1795).

John married. James Bancroft of Chicago is his grandson. Mercy married Roland Taylor: Mrs. Hastings of Westfield is a descendant of this branch of the family.

Hannah married a Mr. Sackett who practiced Indian Medicine. Edward married Amanda Lewis of Troy, New York, daughter of Captain Curtiss Lewis, who was buried at sea off the Island of Trinidad. Captain Curtiss Lewis married Zeviah Stanley of Ballston, Spa. Zeviah Stanley's mother was a Miss Gray of Ballston, Spa.

Mary married Wm. Lyman of Montreal. Maria Bancroft married Brainard Root of Hartford, Connecticut. Mrs. Quimby of Kansas is a daughter. Royal never married.

Elizabeth married Dr. Cotton White. Some of her descendants live at Orange, New Jersey, and at Cleveland, Ohio.

Daniel moved to Almont, Michigan, and married there. His descendants are Randolph Bancroft of Romeo, Michigan, and Mrs. Elizabeth Spaulding of Almont. John Bancroft died at Westfield, Massachusetts, in 1811, aged 56, while his wife died at Martinsburg, New York, at the home of her son Edward, May 18th, 1813.

VII. Edward Bancroft.

Edward Bancroft, son of John Bancroft (VI), was born at Westfield, Massachusetts, 1783. He married Amanda Lewis at Troy, New York, in 1807. Children: (1) Amanda,

(2) Edward, (3) Ezra, (4) Mary, (5) Dewitt, (6) Lewis, (7) Elizabeth Anna, (8) William, (9) John and (10) Charles. He removed in 1806 to Martinsburg, New York, and engaged in business there as a merchant, grist miller and manufacturer of potash. He was town clerk there in 1814 and County Judge of Lewis County, New York, from January 24th, 1823 to 1832. In that year he went to Detroit, Michigan, and engaged there for several years in the dry-goods business. He died at Almont, Michigan, in April, 1842, and is buried there. His wife, Amanda Lewis, died at Galesburg, Illinois, in 1866. The following is a brief sketch of the children of Edward Bancroft:

(1) Amanda Bancroft married Judge Alanson Bennett of Rome, New York. The children of this marriage were Louise (married Hon. Thomas Wilson of Winona, Minnesota), Thomas Edward and Morris Alanson. Thomas Edward Bennett left two children surviving, Allan and Louise. Allan has two children. Louise married to Chas. Wieland. Morris Alanson Bennett never married. Louise Bennett Wilson had one child, Louise, who married Lloyd Bowers of Chicago and had two children, Thomas Wilson and Martha Louise.

(2) Edward Bancroft married Mary Ann Mather of Castleton, Vermont. He had four children, Henry, Edward, Emma and Laura. Henry married Virginia Reynolds and lives in West Virginia. They have one child. The other son, Edward, married and had two children, Fred and Jessie. Fred (now deceased) married and has one child. Emma Bancroft married a Mr. Andrews of Boone, Iowa, and had two boys. Laura married a Mr. Norton, but had no children.

(3) Ezra Bancroft married Grace Burgess. He had three children, Clinton, Will and Mary. Mary married Mr. William Smith of Rutherford, New Jersey, and has four children.

(4) Mary Bancroft was first married to Mr. John W. Taylor. They had one child, Mayor Edward Taylor. He served in the Civil War and has five children; one, the eldest, married to George Papson (Edith) and has a son.

Mary married, after the death of Mr. Taylor, a Mr. Wm. C. Cary. The children of this marriage were George, Fred and Walter. George married to Lillie Marks of Imlay City, Michigan. They have two children. Fred married Amy Davenport of Lapeer, Mich. Walter married

Ida Weatherhead of Zumbrota, Minn. They have two children.

(5) Dewitt Bancroft married Anna E. Daliba of Rome, New York. The children of this marriage were Susan, Mary and Edward. Susan married Mr. Smith of Blairsville, Penn. Has one son, Ralph, and one daughter, Reba Smith. Mary married John C. Rountree of Chicago. Had one daughter, Katie Rountree, now Mrs. Harding. Edward died in the army during the Civil War at the age of 17.

Dewitt married for his second wife, Frances Bull of Meriden, Connecticut. The children of this marriage were George and Fannie. George married Miss Georgiana Dewey of Brooklyn, and had one child, Allan Bancroft (married), now residing at Chicago, Illinois.

(6) Lewis Bancroft was a sailor on the great lakes. He married Christina Anderson of Buffalo, New York. They had one child, Elizabeth. She married John Reed of Detroit and is now dead.

(7) Elizabeth Bancroft married Thomas G. Frost of Rome, New York.

(8) William Bancroft married Anna Barker of Ohio. They had children, Harry, Richard and Carroll. Harry married Grace Huntley and has two children, Majorie and Donald. William Bancroft lived most of his life at Port Huron, Michigan. He was a man of extraordinary ability and energy. Though a lawyer by profession, he early entered and organized and was president of the Chicago and Port Huron Railroad Company, and was active in business and political life. He built the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway from Port Huron to Chicago. During President Cleveland's first administration he was Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service and was for many years one of the most distinguished men of the state.

(9) John Bancroft married Mary Ketcham, daughter of the Major Ketcham of the United States Army. They had the following children: Charles, Frank, Joe and Elizabeth. Charles married, but left no children. Elizabeth is still living and, with Mrs. Ella Hitchcock, is proprietress of the Belmar Inn, at Belmar, N. J.

(10) Charles Bancroft married Sarah Gillette of Detroit, Michigan. He lived for a time at Pontiac, Michigan, and is buried there. He left no children.

KITCHELL GENEALOGY.

All members of the Kitchell family in America are believed to be descendants of Robert Kitchell, who was born in England in 1604, and sailed from there April 26th, 1639, with a company of Puritan refugees led by Rev. Henry Whitfield, who landed at the Connecticut port of Quinnipiac, now New Haven, and settled at Guilford, Conn.

Mr. Robert Kitchell, a gentleman commoner in England, was a man of education, of profound religious convictions and of great strength of character. He was a leader in the Guilford colony, where he resided for some years, and then moved with his family to New Jersey, where he and his son Samuel were among the founders of the city of Newark. He died in 1672.

Second Generation.

Samuel, oldest son of Robert and Margaret (Sheaffe) Kitchell, born in England, 1633, died April 26th, 1690.

Third Generation.

Abraham, oldest son of Samuel and Grace (Pierson) Kitchell, born at Newark, Dec. 2nd, 1679, died at Whippany, N. J., Dec. 2nd, 1741.

Fourth Generation.

Joseph, son of Abraham and Sarah (Bruen) Kitchell, born 1710, died March 22nd, 1779, at Hanover Neck, N. J.

Fifth Generation.

Asa, son of Joseph Kitchell, born Oct. 28th, 1748. Date of marriage and death unknown.

Sixth Generation.

Wickliff, son of Asa Kitchell, born May 21st, 1789, m. Elizabeth Ross, died at Pana, Illinois, Jan. 2nd, 1869.

Seventh Generation.

Alfred, oldest son of Wickliff and Elizabeth (Ross) Kitchell, b. March 29th, 1820. Alfred resided at Olney, Ill., for twenty years, where he practiced law, was elected to the bench and presided for some years with ability and distinction as judge of the Circuit Court of the Twenty-fifth Judicial District of Illinois. He was widely known as one of the fairest and most upright men who ever dignified the bench and bar of Illinois. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, an earnest and consistent Christian and a most lovable man. He removed from Olney in 1865, to Galesburg, Illinois, where he was engaged in general practice of law until his death, Nov. 11th, 1876. He was a trustee of Knox College, and one of the leading citizens of Galesburg. He married Mary J. Clubb of Lawrenceville, Ill., who survived him nearly twenty-four years, and died in Topeka, Kansas, April 11th, 1900.

The other children of Wickliff and Elizabeth Kitchell were two sons, who died in boyhood, and five daughters, all dead, and Edward, b. Dec. 21st, 1829 (m. Harriet Cliff), d. July 11th, 1869, a lawyer in Olney, Ill.; Lieut. Colonel of Volunteers, three years in the War of the Rebellion, brevet Brigadier General, and, after the war, a Republican candidate for Congress, with the honor of defeat by a small majority in a Democratic district.

John Wickliff, the youngest son, b. May 30th, 1835; m. Mary Little, has for many years been engaged in the practice of law at Pana, Ill. He is a man of fine character, of wealth and distinction, literary and social culture, of great public spirit and extensive influence.

Eighth Generation.

Margaret Elizabeth, daughter and only surviving child of Hon. Alfred Kitchell and Mary J. (Clubb) Kitchell, b. Oct. 8th, 1850, at Olney, Ill., where she spent her girlhood, removing with her parents to Galesburg, Ill., in 1865, where she completed her school life with a course of literary and musical study in Knox Female Seminary, and spent the earlier years of her young womanhood and wifehood there; m. Oct. 10th, 1871, to John E. Frost (see No. 225), then of Galesburg, but since 1883 residing in Topeka, Kansas.

Children of Gen. Edward Kitchell.

William Wickliff, living in Topeka, Kan., m. Harriet Burlingame.

Bertha, m. Robert Witcher, living in Olney, Ills.

Charles Ross, m. Mary Cross, living in Galveston, Texas.

BAKER.

Elijah Baker, grandfather of Lucy Bottum Frost (wife of [107] S. Allen Frost), married Olive Casson, in Scotch Parish, Windham, Conn., where he enlisted in the Continental Army Jan. 1, 1776. He joined a company of Col. John Durkee's 20th reg. inf. Mustered out at Newtown, Pa. In 1818 he was living at Clinton, Dutchess Co., N. Y., when he applied for a pension, which was granted. He died in 1829. In 1839 his widow, then 81 years old, made application for a pension, which was also granted and paid until her death in 1849.

Lucinda Baker, daughter of Elijah, married David Bottum, who was born Windham, Conn. He was one of the pioneers in the silk industry of America. Commencing experimentally at Oak Orchard, Orleans Co., N. Y., he corresponded with Richard Rush, Washington, D. C.; from him he received information and books on the subject; he planted mulberry trees, raised the worms, spun the silk, and established quite a trade in sewing and knitting silk. He died in 1828. His widow continued the business until 1831, when she married Isaac Barross, by whom one child, Richard Rush Barross, was born. Children by the first husband were: Lucy A., who married (107) S. A. Frost; Sarah L., m. James Rosebrugh; Emma L., m. Geo. Doty; Susan M., m. Sheldon Perry, K'ville, N. Y.; Marcia O., m. Allen Hawkins.

GROVER FAMILY.

The following records of the Grover family in America are incomplete, but the repetition of certain given names and the location of residences in the different generations is sufficiently illuminating to bridge the missing links in the lineage, and to show, without any probable doubt, that Thomas Grover, who came to Charlestown, Mass., before 1642, was the progenitor of many of the Grovers in America, including Ebenezer Grover, the grandfather of Dr. L. C. Grover.

The "Ould Goodwife Grover" referred to may have been the mother of Thomas Grover, but it is more likely that she was unrelated. The records show that she was not his wife.

The following is taken from Wyman's History of Charlestown, Mass.: Thomas Grover of Mystic Side (near Charlestown), married Elizabeth _____, (who in March, 1675, m. Philip Atwood,) ("Ould Goodwife Grover adm. church in Chastwn, Nov. 30, 1643"); d. Oct. 28, 1661.

Benoni Grover, b. Jan. 31, 1767; was brought up a farmer, but at the age of 26, from an accident in a mill, he lost a leg, which disqualified him for farming, and he became a tailor. In 1799 he was living at Deerfield, Mass., where he married, Apr. 26, 1801, Thankful Smith of Shelburne, Mass. (dau. of Deacon Smith); soon after their first child was born they moved to Dummerston, Vt. This country proved unattractive, and in 1806 he started out on horseback to find a more desirable location. Oaks Corners town of Phelps, Ontario Co., N. Y., was the place decided upon, to which place, in 1807 or '08, he removed his wife, four small children, and a sister-in-law. They were about three weeks on the road, using a team of horses, and wagon, into which "were loaded the bureaus, bedding, and the outfit of the house in general, and the family in particular." In 1812 he lost his wife, Thankful, and Apr. 6, 1813, m. Widow Hannah Porter, by whom six children were born to him. He later removed to K'ville, N. Y., where he purchased a small farm and where he died Nov. 2, 1833. Six children were born by each wife. (See Genealogical Hist. of the descendants of Benoni Grover, by Mrs. Martha Grover.)

Dr. Lysander C. Grover, eldest son of Benoni Grover, was born Deerfield, Mass., Jan. 22, 1802. The family moved first to Vermont, thence to New York, where his boyhood was spent on his father's small farm at Oak's Corners, near Phelps, N. Y.

At the age of 19, his health became impaired from overwork, necessitating change of occupation. Securing a teacher's ctf., he taught school for two or three years, when he commenced the study of medicine under Dr. James Carter of Geneva, N. Y., where he remained three or four years. In the winter of 1827-8, he spent five months attending lectures in New York City. In Jan., 1829, located at Alloway, Wayne Co., N. Y., where Oct. 3, 1831, he married Martha Emily Towar, only daughter of Capt. Henry Towar ("one of 'Old Scotia's' noblest sons, who came from the immediate vicinity of "Alloway's Auld haunted Kirk").

In 1843 he acquired a farm in Alexander, Genesee Co., N. Y., where he moved in 1844; the following winter exchanged for one in K'ville, where after a time he retired from active practice, but continued to live upon his farm until his death. April 8, 1857, his wife died and Aug. 12, 1858, he married Mrs. Elida Ann (Case) Brown, wid. of Robt. Brown, of Conn. In 1866 he wrote his autobiography, which is an interesting and graphic description of the important events of his earlier life. He died Aug. 4, 1888, respected and honored by all who knew him. He was survived by three daughters: Emily, who m. (112) Harvey F. Frost; Cecelia, who m. (115) William Henry Frost, and Alice Elvira, who m. Geo. A. Smith of K'ville, N. Y.

LUTHER DESCENT.

John Luther.

One of the first settlers of Taunton, Massachusetts, 1637, and of Gloucester, 1642. Master of a bark sent out by the merchants of Boston to trade in Delaware Bay, where he was massacred by the Indians in 1644.

Hezekiah Luther.

Born, probably Taunton, 1640; died 1723. One of the earliest settlers of Swansea, Mass., where he participated in King Philip's War. (His older brother Samuel, captured as a boy by the Indians who killed Capt. John Luther, became a member of the Legislature of Plymouth Colony, and second minister of the first Baptist church in Mass.) Hezekiah was married (1) to Elizabeth; (2) to Sarah.

Hezekiah Luther.

Son of Hezekiah and Sarah, was born in Swansea, 1676; d. 1763. Innkeeper, town clerk, etc.

Son of Hezekiah and Martha Gardner, was born at Swansea, 1728.

Hezekiah Luther.

Son of Hezekiah and Martha Jolls, was born at Swansea, 1763; d. Sweden, N. Y., 1850. Revolutionary soldier, seaman, pioneer.

Samuel Luther.

Son of Hezekiah and Mary Luther (great-great granddaughter of Samuel Luther, was born in Williamstown, Mass., 1790; d. Sweden, N. Y., 1824. Pioneer of the Genesee country.

Ira Manley Luther.

Son of Samuel and Lydia Farwell (Lydia Farwell was 6th in descent from Henry of Concord, 1635), was born Sweden, N. Y., 1821; died Albion, N. Y., 1890. He was a Californian of '49, and a pioneer of Nevada, of whose first legislature he was a member from 1861 to 1862. He married (1) Lucy Winslow Crippen (7th in descent from Kenelm Winslow, Plymouth, 1629); (2) Jane, dau. of Hon. Sands Cole. His children by first wife were:

CHILDREN: 1st WIFE.

Homer Jerome, b. Sacramento, Cal., Sep. 20, 1856; occ. banker; res. Medina, N. Y.

Frank Crippen, b. Placerville, Cal., Sep. 27, 1858; died July 7, 1906.

Nellie Nevada.

CHILDREN: 2nd WIFE.

Jessie Farwell, b. K'ville, Dec. 18, 1877.

Ira Manley, Jr., b. K'ville, Dec. 18, 1879; res. Albion, N. Y.

Nellie Nevada Luther.

Daughter of Ira M. and Lucy Crippen Luther, was born Virginia City, Nev., Aug. 17, 1860. Her father was a "forty-niner," and the owner of a large ranch in Nevada at that time. When she was five years old, Mr. Luther, with his wife and three children, came east for a visit. The journey was made from San Francisco by water, except for the short railroad trip across the Isthmus of Panama.

While in the east, Mrs. Luther was taken ill and died very suddenly. As business affairs necessitated Mr. Luther's return to the west, the children were left with relatives at Knowlesville, N. Y. After two years he remarried, and the home was restored in the beautiful old homestead at Knowlesville, where Nellie passed her girlhood. She completed her education at Elmira College.

April 28, 1887, she married William G. Frost (see No. 260), also of K'ville, and one of the playmates of her childhood. They settled in Jersey City, and lived there about four years. In 1892 they moved to the town of Montclair, N. J., one of New York's delightful suburbs, since which time Mrs. Frost has been prominently connected with several of its charitable organizations. She has marked executive ability and for the past seven years has been president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A.; is now president of the Montclair Colony of New England Women, which society is supporting a much valued charitable work; she has served as governor on the Board of the Mountainside Hospital, and is on the Board of Directors of the Montclair Civic Ass'n.

She is much beloved and respected by all of her wide circle of friends, and last, but not least, is an ideal wife and mother, and mistress of one of the most charming homes of the town.

HULBURD LINEAGE.

William Hulbert sailed from England on the Mary & John, landed at Dorchester, Mass., Oct. 19, 1630; took freeman's oath, 1632; remained at Dorchester five years. In 1636, with a colony of sixty people, including the Rev. John Wareham, pastor and teacher, he removed to Windsor, Conn., where he bought and sold lands, later moving to Hartford. In 1648 he married Ann Allen, and in 1655 moved to Northampton, Mass., where his wife died in 1687, and where he died, 1694.

William Hulburd (just why the change in spelling the name is uncertain), son of William Hulbert, was born in Hartford, 1654. In 1693 he moved to Enfield, Conn., and married Mary Howard that same year. She died Mar. 17, 1710; he died in 1734.

Obadiah Hulburd, sixth son of William and Mary Hulburd, was born Enfield, Conn., Aug. 8, 1703; he married Jan. 22, 1729, Love Parsons and they had six children. She died Apr. 1, 1744, and he married Jan. 4, 1745, (2) Esther Marshfield Colton, b. Mar. 31, 1714, (dau. of Josiah and Margaret Pease Colton), by whom six children were born. He died Nov. 13, 1784, and Esther died May 14, 1795, both at Enfield.

Ebenezer Hulburd, son of Obdiah and Esther Hulburd, born Enfield, Sep. 16, 1747; married Mar. 16, 1772, in Suffield, Conn., Mary Sheldon, by whom seven children born. She died in 1786, and he married in 1790, (2) Hannah Parker Hall, wid. of Capt. Hiland Hall, of Norfolk, Conn., (she was dau. of Ephraim and Bethsheba Parker of Wallingford, Conn.), by whom six children were born; Oren was the third son.

Oren Hulburd, born Orwell, Vt., May 25, 1795; married (1) ———, by whom four children born. She died and he married, Jan., 1837, at Gaines, N. Y., (2) Loraine Cummings, born Dunstable, Mass., Nov. 17, 1802; lived on a farm near Medina, N. Y. He died Mar., 1872; she died Oct. 28, 1889.

Oren Cummings Hulburd, b. July 21, 1840; m. Dec. 8, 1863, Mary Singleton, b. Lincolnshire, Eng., Nov. 3, 1842. He died Dec. 28, 1870. Is survived by his widow and two children, Minnie Estella and Hugh Edgard Hulburd, the latter of Cleveland, O.

Minnie Estella Hulburd, dau. of Oren and Mary Hulburd, born Sep. 17, 1864; married Feb. 23, 1886, Edward L. Frost. (See No. 269.) Quiet and retiring by nature, contented in her modest home, where domestic duties appeal to her more than those of society, her life is one of untiring devotion to her family.

TOWNSEND GENEALOGY.

The surname of Townsend was derived from a nobleman, Lodovic, or Lewis, a Norman surnamed Townsend, who first assumed it in the time of Henry I of England. Of the same family was Viscount Lord Charles Townsend, who participated in the American Revolution. Richard Townsend, with his older brothers, John and Henry, said to have been from County Norfolk, England, settled on Long Island and first appeared at Jamaica in 1656. He died at Susum, near Oyster Bay, L. I., about 1761, leaving ch.: John, Dinah, Leah, Hannah, Deliverance, Mary and Richard. John Townsend m. Phebe, dau. of Robert Williams; settled Townsend's Inlet, near Somer's Point, Cape May Co., N. J., about 1680, where he d. Jan. 5, 1721. He was one of His Majesty's Justices and High Sheriff. His ch. were Richard, Robert, Sylvanus and Sarah. Richard Townsend, b. 1681, d. Mar. 30, 1737; m. 1704, Millicent Somers, of Somers Point; he was also High Sheriff. He had eleven children, of whom Isaac was the fourth. Isaac Townsend, b. 1715, m. Sarah, dau. of John Willets, and had ch.: Isaac, Hannah, Lydia and Mark. Isaac Townsend, b. 1738, d. 1780; m. Keturah, dau. of Joseph Albertson; had ch.: Josiah, Samuel, Jesse, Isaac, Sarah and Ann. Isaac Townsend, b. 1774, m. 1800, Hannah Ogden (great-granddau. of David Ogden, a Quaker, who came to America with Wm. Penn in 1682), had ch.: Samuel, Isaac, Ann, William, Hannah; Charles and Josiah.

Anna E. Townsend, dau. of Charles and Sallie Stratton Townsend, was born Oct. 13, 1857. Her father was a glass manufacturer and State Senator from Port Elizabeth, N. J.; Oct. 20, 1884, she married (254) Dan Frost, since which time they have lived in Toledo, O., New York, and their present residence, "How Kola," Atlantic Highlands, N. J., where she presides with charming grace and hospitality in a delightful home.

DERIVATION OF THE NAME

FROST: One of those names which, like Snow, Winter, Summer, Rain, Fog, and many others, are derived directly from the elements or physical appearances about us, and how or when first applied as surnames to men remains unknown. Its meaning is just as understood wherever cold, or the effects of cold, is known. It is purely of northern origin, as shown in the Century Dictionary, Vol. II., p. 2390, as follows:

frost, a noun, from Old English frost, forst; from Anglo-Saxon forst cognate with Old Saxon frost; with Old Friesic forst; with Dutch vorst; with Middle Low German vrost; with Old High German frost; Middle High German vrost; German frost; with Icelandic, Swedish, Danish, frost; derived from Anglo-Saxon freósan; English freeze; Gothic frius, meaning frost, cold, etc., etc.

The name is still a common one in North Germany bordering on the North Sea, and it seems a certainty that the name was taken to England by the Angles who settled on the east and south shores of the island, where the name has been preserved mostly in Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex on the east, and in Devonshire and Hampshire on the south. There are now prominent representatives of the name, showing in the west the Welsh descent and in the east their Anglo-Saxon origin.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF EPHRAIM FROST*

By GEO. H. FROST

The following pages give a partial history of one branch of the family of Edmund Frost, viz., that of Ephraim (6),† born 1646, and who remained in Cambridge with his father, Edmund (1), in the homestead on Kirkland Street. The account is confined to the line of Ebenezer (21), great-grandson of Edmund (1), who disappears from Paige's History of Cambridge, when he moved with his family in 1761 to Rutland, Mass., where this history continues his genealogical record to the ninth generation from the emigrant in one family which emigrated to Vermont, to New York, to Canada, and back to the United States in Illinois, New York, and finally to New Jersey. The history is a meager one, as it seemed most desirable to keep to the simplest details; repetitions were unavoidable and it is hoped will be pardoned.

Ebenezer Frost (21), son of Ebenezer (12); grandson of Ephraim (6); great-grandson of the emigrant Edmund (1); was born in Cambridge, Mass., at the homestead on Kirkland Street, where he lived until he removed, with his father, in 1730, to North Avenue, now Massachusetts Avenue, to an estate purchased by his father from Samuel Cooper. He was baptized in Cambridge August 22, 1725; he was married April 21, 1748, to Naomi, daughter of Thomas Dana (10), of Cambridge (baptized January 12, 1729), who bore him four children, whose names were:

Ebenezer Frost, bap. February 19, 1749; removed to Norwich, Conn.

Mary Frost, bap. February 24, 1751; m. March 27, 1783, J. J. Mills of Grafton, Mass.

Daniel Frost, b. May 10, 1752; removed to Brattleboro, Vt.

*We were fortunate in obtaining this most interesting paper from George H. Frost, of Plainfield, N. J., just as the preceding matter was to be published.

†Numbers in this sketch correspond with those in Paige's History of Cambridge, Mass.

Deborah Frost, bap. February 12, 1758; no records.

Thomas Dana (10) was a brother of Richard (12), who married Lydia Trowbridge and from whom descended the very distinguished branch of the Dana family still prominently represented in the most learned and aristocratic society of Massachusetts. Naomi (Dana) Frost was a first cousin of Edmund Dana (23), who, after graduation from Harvard University in 1759, went to England and became Rector of Wroxeter, and who married Helen, dau. of Lord Kinnaird; she also bore the same relationship to the more distinguished Francis Dana (24), who became a celebrated lawyer, was Delegate to the Continental Congress for five years; was a Presidential Elector in 1789; Ambassador to Russia; and Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts.

Naomi (Dana) Frost died in 1759 or 1760, and on March 18, 1761, Ebenezer Frost married (2d) Ruth Wright of Woburn, Mass., b. July 23, 1732; d. in Rutland, July 20, 1821. The children by her were: Ruth Frost, b. August 8, 1762, m. November 20, 1784, Adonijah Bartlett; Joseph Frost, bap. December 29, 1765, removed to Leicester, Mass.; Jonathan Frost, bap. December 13, 1768, m. Rebecca Miles in 1789; Stephen Frost, bap. April 8, 1770, m. Polly Randall August 5, 1790; Dana Frost, b. January 25, 1773, descendants live in New Braintree; James Frost, b. (?), removed to Brattleboro in 1799, and was the father of Charles C. Frost, A. M., born in Brattleboro, East Village, November 11, 1805, and who was by trade a shoemaker, of which he was quite proud, but who at a very early age developed a genius for mathematics, later a love of botany and its allied subjects in natural history, and with these was developed a taste for foreign languages, so that before Mr. Frost had reached even middle life he was accounted one of the most noted scientists of the world. The degree of A. M. was conferred on him by Dartmouth and Middlebury Colleges; he became a corresponding member of societies for the advancement of learning in the United States, and was elected a member of numerous scientific societies in both America and Europe. He was, however, first, last and all the time, a shoemaker. When asked by the Reverend Doctor C. F. Deems, pastor of the "Church of the Strangers" of New York City, on the occasion of a visit, how he could be content to spend his days in his little shoeshop, with these capabilities and acquirements. "Why," said he, "it is the business of my life. Whatever I have acquired of science came in the search of health and mental entertainment. Science is not my profession—shoemaking is."

Mr. C. C. Frost married Roxana Sargent, granddaughter of John Sargent, of Fort Dummer, the first English child born in Vermont. By this marriage he had three sons, Charles S., Wells S., and Henry B. S. Frost, and the family is, at present writing, a leading one of Brattleboro. For a very complete history of this celebrated man, see Miss Hemenway's Gazeteer of Vermont and Henry Burnham's Early History of Brattleboro.

Ebenezer Frost (21) bought, in December, 1760, a farm of 126 acres in Rutland County, Massachusetts, and, with his second wife, Ruth Wright, and his four children by his first wife, Naomi Dana, he removed thither in March, 1761. He died in Rutland in 1787, leaving his widow, Ruth, and ten children surviving, all of whom are named in his will of May 17, 1787, and recorded in the Registry Office in Worcester. The estate inventoried at £719 18s. 6d., or about $2,400, of which £588 was for real estate.

With the departure of Ebenezer Frost (21) from Cambridge in 1761, that branch of the Frost family disappears from Paige's History of that city, and its members and its record are to be found only in the Probate and Registry courts of Worcester, Mass., and of Brattleboro, Vt., together with the personal records secured by the writer.

Daniel, son of Ebenezer (21) and Naomi (Dana) Frost, and great-great-grandson of Edmund (1), was born May 10, 1752, on North Avenue, now Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge; removed with his father to Rutland, March, 1761; married September 30, 1779, at Barre, Mass., Hannah Smith (born June 4, 1747); he lived, a farmer, in Brattleboro, Marlboro, Barre, and Glover, Vt., until his death in the last-named place on April 21, 1833. His name is recorded incorrectly in Paige's History as "David"—a distinctly typographical error, which the writer has carefully investigated. In his father's will, moreover, he is mentioned as Daniel. The wife, Hannah, also died in Glover, Vt., April 9, 1844, aged 97 years. The children born of this marriage were:

Naomi Frost, September 16, 1780; no records.

Moses Frost, January 24, 1783; no descendants.

Daniel Frost, October 7, 1785; numerous descendants, but family almost extinct.

Eber Frost, June 21, 1788; family extinct.

Ebenezer Frost, Brattleboro, October 9, 1790.

Loring Frost, November 24, 1793; family extinct.

Hannah Frost, March 27, 1796; family extinct.

The Revolutionary War record of the Frost family is mostly confined to the period of outbreak of hostilities.* Many of them were living in Arlington, on the direct line of march of the British from Boston to Concord, and sixteen members of the Massachusetts Frosts responded to the alarm of April 19, 1775, and presumably did effective service at Lexington, to be followed by temporary terms of service in the vicinity of Boston and also at Ticonderoga, Saratoga and Bennington. The Ephraim Frosts, living in Cambridge and Arlington, very naturally were the principal representatives of the family, as may be learned from volume VI of lists of Massachusetts Revolutionary Soldiers and Sailors. The war record of Daniel Frost is confined to three months and nineteen days, between September 5, 1777, and November 19, 1778, for service largely in Rhode Island.

Ebenezer Frost, of the sixth generation from Edmund (1), was born October 9, 1790, in Brattleboro, Vt. He lived in a transition period of American history. The echoes of the Revolution had hardly died away when he was born in the "Wilderness," as Vermont was then designated, and even before it was added to the list of states. His father was a farmer, sometimes scratching the virgin soil of his own small clearing or working on the "clearings" of his neighbors. It was a hard life at the best, without roads except forest trails, and thirty miles to a grist mill. The father had followed the trend of emigration up the river valley from old Rutland to Fort Dummer, now Brattleboro, and thence after several years of hard scrapping for existence, with an increasing family, he moved on through the wilderness to the vicinity of the present Montpelier and settled for some years in Barre. It was while here that

*"FIRST BLOOD" IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

James Frost, son of Edmund and Thomasine, was born in Cambridge in 1640; he removed to Billerica, where his descendants still live. His grandson, William, had a daughter, Elizabeth, born Aug. 31, 1723, who married, Sept. 28, 1744, Nathaniel French, fourth son of Sergeant William French. Nathaniel and his wife, Elizabeth Frost, removed to Vermont before the Revolution and lived in Dummerston and Brattleboro; they had eleven children, one of whom, William French, b. Mar. 27, 1753, was the celebrated victim of the Westminster "Massacre" of March 13, 1775, and claimed to be the first martyr to American Independence. A monument erected at Westminster commemorates the event. The story of the tragedy cannot fail to interest members of the Edmund Frost family, which is thus early linked in history with the Revolution.

the youthful Ebenezer, aged 13, rebelled against the tyranny of an older brother and started out to earn his own living, and although employed in the vicinity of home he never after drew any financial support therefrom. He watched bush fires for his board for a season, helped on farms, and later was apprentice to a blacksmith in Barton. His trade learned, he crossed Lake Champlain at Ticonderoga, and in the War of 1812, at the age of 22, he was attached to a cavalry regiment as horseshoer, and was present at the battle of Plattsburg, September 11, 1814. At the close of the war he made his way on foot through the Adirondack forests as far as Hopkinton Village, where he settled and at once proceeded to build a trip-hammer shop, the power for which he obtained from a brook traversing the village. A few pieces of old dam, and a large boulder with a square hole in the top used in the shop, still remain, according to a genealogical history of Hopkinton from which these notes are partly compiled. The most of the iron then in use was Swedish wrought-iron in all forms and sizes, but of very short lengths, as large, heavy pieces could not be hauled in. The office of the trip-hammer was to draw these billets out into the required forms and sizes for shoes for horse and ox, as well as for sleighs, tires for wagon wheels, etc. The trip-hammer was the forerunner of the rolling-mill of today.

Ebenezer Frost was an enterprising man, and not only ran a shop for himself, but sold hammered iron to other blacksmiths. Apparently the profits were not satisfactory, because in 1820 the young man, now married, moved to Canton, where he continued his trip-hammer business, using two horses for his power and getting his supplies of iron in Ogdensburg. He remained in Canton sixteen years. His first wife died, leaving two children to his care. He married again and two more children were added to his family before some difficulty arising between Silas Wright, later Governor of the State, and him, the nature of which cannot now be learned, decided Frost to move into Canada. With his wife Caroline, four children, two teams of horses with loaded sleighs, and one workman—who lived in Smith's Falls and vicinity until his death, quite recently—he crossed the St. Lawrence River on April 6, 1836, on his way to Hull, opposite the present city of Ottawa. After trying his luck amid the most adverse circumstances in that settlement and at Hawkesbury, lower down the river, where the writer of this sketch was added to his other anxieties, a move was made to the small settlement of Smith's Falls in the spring of 1839, and there, almost at the age of 50, without money, credit or friends, he sat down for good, determined to win or die, and where he did both win and die.

The Rideau Canal, a slack-water canal for steamboats between the Ottawa River at Ottawa (then Bytown) and Lake Ontario at Kingston, had just been completed by the British Government as a military highway, and a settlement of some 400 people had occupied the clearing surrounding the water-power called Smith's Falls, from the original grantee. It was largely a community of United Empire Loyalists (U. E. L.), or Americans who had adhered to the Crown in 1776 and had been driven from their homes in New England and New York to occupy lands granted by the British Government. The coming of Yankees to live and trade in their midst was not looked upon very kindly, and hence for a few years Ebenezer Frost and his growing family knew what it was to be strangers in a strange land. But the Frost spirit never knows defeat, and by his industry, perseverance, square dealing and unconquerable spirit, the Yankee emigrant won his way to the confidence and good will of his neighbors and proved the greatest factor in the upbuilding of the town that it has ever had—unless possibly the coming of the Canadian Pacific Railway shares the distinction.

Ebenezer Frost married (1) Clarissa Chandler, of Lawrence, St. Lawrence County, New York, April 28, 1817; she was born March 28, 1799, at Lebanon, N. H., and was a daughter of Abijah Chandler, one of the original pioneers of St. Lawrence County, arriving there in the fall of 1806; she died in Canton, N. Y., June 24, 1831. The children of this marriage were:

Elvira Frost, b. September 6, 1821, in Canton, N. Y.; m. Russell W. Bartlett of Smith's Falls, Ontario, December 4, 1844; had three children, all of whom died in infancy. R. W. Bartlett was born in Rome, N. Y., August 5, 1816, and died in Smith's Falls, August 10, 1906; he came to Canada with his father in 1831. Elvira (Frost) Bartlett died in Smith's Falls November 23, 1908.

James Trussell Frost, b. Canton, N. Y., December 2, 1828; came to Smith's Falls with his father, Ebenezer, in 1839; m. Jeannette Clark Stinson in Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 28, 1858; d. at Smith's Falls February 6, 1865; she d.

April 28, 1868. Three children survived and are now all living in Smith's Falls. They are:

Helen Elvira Frost, b. February 18, 1859; m. George F. McKim, January 30, 1889; have four children. Mr. McKim is proprietor and editor of the semi-weekly paper, "Rideau Record," and has been councilman and mayor of Smith's Falls, besides holding other official positions. He was the most influential factor in securing a handsome Carnegie Library Building for the town of Smith's Falls; is a very active member of the Methodist Church; is an enthusiastic Liberal in politics, and is interested in several local industries.

Caroline Lydia Frost, b. January 15, 1861.

James Edwin Frost, b. July 15, 1863; m. Laura O. Meighen, of Perth, Ontario, June 12, 1900. He is engaged in the manufacture of malleable iron castings.

Ebenezer Frost m. (2d) Caroline Harwood (b. in Bennington, Vt., April 20, 1806,) at Lawrence, St. Lawrence County, N. Y., October 24, 1831. The children by this marriage were:

Clarissa Harwood Frost, b. at Canton, N. Y., July 29, 1832; unmarried. Lives in Smith's Falls.

Edwin Lewis Frost, b. Canton, July 30, 1834; d. January 31, 1852.

George Henry Frost, b. West Hawkesbury, Ont., July 9, 1838.

Charles Beriah Frost, b. Smith's Falls, Ont., August 26, 1840; d. Smith's Falls, Ont., April 20, 1909.

Francis Theodore Frost, b. Smith's Falls, December 21, 1843.

William Henry Frost, b. Smith's Falls, November 10, 1847.

Ebenezer Frost, the father, d. in Smith's Falls, January 26, 1863; Caroline (Harwood) Frost died September 18, 1879.

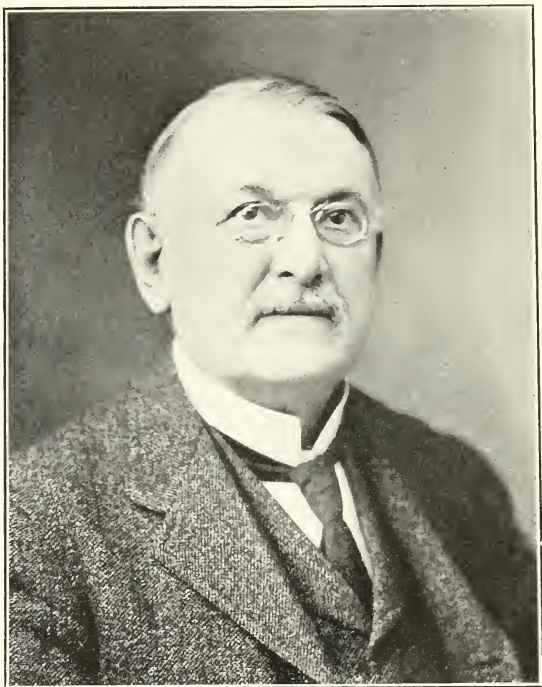

The Harwood (Harvard, Harrod, Hereward,) family was of English origin. Nathaniel, the emigrant, was born there about 1641, and his wife, Elizabeth, about 1643. They were of Boston in 1665; removed to Concord, where he d. February 7, 1716, and she d. April 25, 1715. There were five children, all born in Concord, Mass. The third son, Peter, b. January 12, 1671, m. Mary Fox, of Concord, November 7, 1700; they removed to Littleton, Mass., where he d. in 1740. They had seven children: Benjamin, b. April 30, 1713, m. Bridget Brown (b. April 20, 1715, in Concord,) May, 1733; they removed to Hardwick, thence to Amherst, Mass., where he d. August 19, 1758. The widow, with seven sons and fourteen others, making a party of twenty-two, removed from Hardwick and were the first settlers in Bennington, Vt., arriving June 18, 1761; of these seven sons, Peter, the eldest, b. July 14, 1735, in Concord, m. Margaret Clark of Colerain, Mass. (b. July 8, 1740), daughter of Matthew, January 9, 1759; they had ten children, the second, Benjamin, b. January 12, 1762, being the first child born in Bennington; and from the eight surviving children have descended the numerous families of Harwoods with their intermarriages now existent principally in Vermont and western Massachusetts. The seventh son, Jonas (b. July 24, 1772), m. in 1797, Phoebe (b. 1777), daughter of Noah Dodge, of Bennington, and in 1807 removed, with his wife and four children (all girls, b. in Bennington), to Hopkinton, St. Lawrence County, N. Y., where two more children were born, and where the wife, Phoebe, d. in 1811. He m. September, 1822, Mrs. Sarah Stillwell, and removed to Parkman, Ohio, where he d. in 1837. He was one of the original settlers of Hopkinton when the hardest of hard times was the rule in that region. Of the six surviving children, Caroline, b. in Bennington April 7, 1806, remained in Hopkinton and became the second wife of Ebenezer Frost, October 24, 1831, removing to Canton and in 1836 to Canada, and settling in Smith's Falls in 1839.

GEORGE HENRY FROST.

George Henry Frost, of the seventh generation from Edmund (1), was born in West Hawkesbury, County of Prescott, Ontario, then called Upper Canada, July 9, 1838; removed with his father to Smith's Falls in 1839, where he lived until July, 1863, when he removed to Chicago, Ill., where, with the exception of several months in 1864 spent in St. Louis, Mo., he lived until December 3, 1878, when he arrived in New York, where he lived continuously until June, 1886, removing thence with his family to his present place of residence, Plainfield, New Jersey, with business offices in New York City.

George H. Frost was educated in the village schools of Smith's Falls; in 1854 and 1855 he was a pupil for three terms at an academy in Glover, Vt.; on his return to Smith's Falls in 1855, he taught for four months in the village school, where he had been a pupil, to fill out the term of a retiring assistant teacher, and then prepared, with his pastor, to enter McGill University, Montreal, graduating therefrom, with the degree of Civil Engineer, in 1860, and being now one of the very small number of "oldest graduates" of the class of that year. The instruction in civil engineering in McGill University of these early years was decidedly meager; the classes in mathematics and natural history, under such able men as Professor Alexander Johnson, still living, and the very justly celebrated Sir William Dawson—dead many years ago—saved the situation, and in the case of the student Frost were the controlling event of his life and the basis of a career which, though not remarkable, has met with fair success.

After graduation from college, an "apprenticeship" to a licensed land surveyor was effected, and in January, 1863, the Diploma of Provincial Land Surveyor was conferred upon him after the necessary examination before a Board of Examiners in Toronto. The young civil engineer was now duly empowered to practise the art of land surveying in Upper Canada, and he opened an office in Smith's Falls. But his father, Ebenezer Frost, had died a few days after his return from Toronto; a few months of practice among the farmers of the vicinity was not encouraging, and so he bade farewell to village life and his old home in the Canadian clearing, and in the closing week of August, 1863, arrived in the Mecca of young adventurers—the already far-famed city by the lake—Chicago, at that time a great sprawling village of 150,000 inhabitants. The Civil War was at its greatest activity, and everywhere was dirt and turmoil. There were few paved streets, and the labor of climbing over the innumerable levels of the wooden sidewalks was most fatiguing; crime was rampant and the safest place after dark was within one's home. There was a constant tramp of armed men passing between railway stations on the way to or from the battlefields of the South, and home on furloughs or expiration of service. It was all very exciting and interesting to a youth from a Canadian backwoods settlement, just taking his first peep at the great world "over the border." of which he had read and heard so much in past years.

Strange to say, the second person to whom the young man was introduced in the turbulent city was the noted evangelist, Donald G. Moody, of the Church Militant, and with whom an acquaintance was maintained for several years, until amid the mutual activities of each life they drifted far apart and out of ken. To recount the experiences of these early days in Chicago is to lapse inevitably into the reminiscent, which is hardly the purpose of this brief memoir.

Within a week of arrival in Chicago, employment as a rodman on a railway survey in Wisconsin by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company was secured, and, with the exception of the summer of 1864—April to October—spent in an architect's office in St. Louis, the next three years were spent in the service of that company; the next ten were devoted to the active work of a civil engineer and surveyor in private practice in the fast growing city. It was slavish work, but, although rewarded with more than the average success of the profession at that time, was not sufficiently promising of future competence to tempt to permanence therein.

Previous to leaving Canada, Mr. Frost had branched out into journalism, in the shape of a small monthly devoted mainly to real estate exploitation; this served merely as a straw to show the direction of his inclination, and hence, in Chicago, the fact that not even a single journal in the interests of civil engineering was existent in the whole country, turned his attention from the hard-earned bread-and-butter feature of a surveyor's life to the precarious possibilities of a blind leap into an unknown and hitherto unexploited field.

And so in April, 1874, amid the years of panic and poverty and disaster, succeeding the year of the great fire of 1871, the first number of the first American civil engineering journal was launched in Chicago. There was no money with which to lubricate the ways; even money with which to pay the postage, $30, on the first issue, had to be borrowed; the one assistant had to be dismissed before the second issue was published; possible subscribers were like the proverbial "angels' visits," and advertisements were conspicuous by their absence. However and "somehow," the thing "went;" the most ingenious methods of making "one hand wash the other" were employed; it was long hours of labor, both of day and night; but through it all credit was maintained, and paper dealers and printers were generous, and finally the struggling craft found itself in reasonably smooth sailing, over which seas it has since navigated with ever-increasing leeway from the rocks and shoals of bankruptcy which for so many of its early years threatened its frail existence. "Engineering News" has never missed an issue "on time" from the day of its birth; it has never contracted a single debt, small or large, which it has not paid; its employes are now over one hundred in number, and their salaries or wages are at the top notch in their various grades; three or four considerable fortunes have been taken out by retiring partners, and after these thirty-five years of varying fortune the original founder is still in control as sole owner of what is acknowledged to be the leading civil engineering weekly of the entire world. Its history is a romance and is so interwoven with the life of the writer that they are practically inseparable. It is not, however, the purpose of this little book on genealogy to fill its pages with such a history. A chief lesson of such a history is, however, that there is in the Frost character, from Edmund Frost to date, an indomitable spirit of industry, a simple but unimpeachable honesty in all dealings and, apparently, utter ignorance of the hour of defeat. The writer has studied the generations of Frosts for three hundred years, and in all the branches descended from the emigrant Edmund the same qualities of industry, honesty, perseverance, and, very largely, of simple piety, have been dominant notes in their quiet and uneventful lives.

George H. Frost m., in Chicago, December 3, 1868, Louisa (b. August 29, 1839, in New York City), daughter of Edwin and Sophia Hunt, both of Liverpool, England, then of New York, and later of Chicago. The children of this marriage are:

Charles Hamilton Frost, b. February 22, 1870, in Chicago.

Harwood Frost, b. February 15, 1872, in Smith's Falls, Ontario, his mother having moved there at time of great fire in Chicago, October, 1871.

Edwin Hunt Frost, b. July 23, 1874, in Chicago.

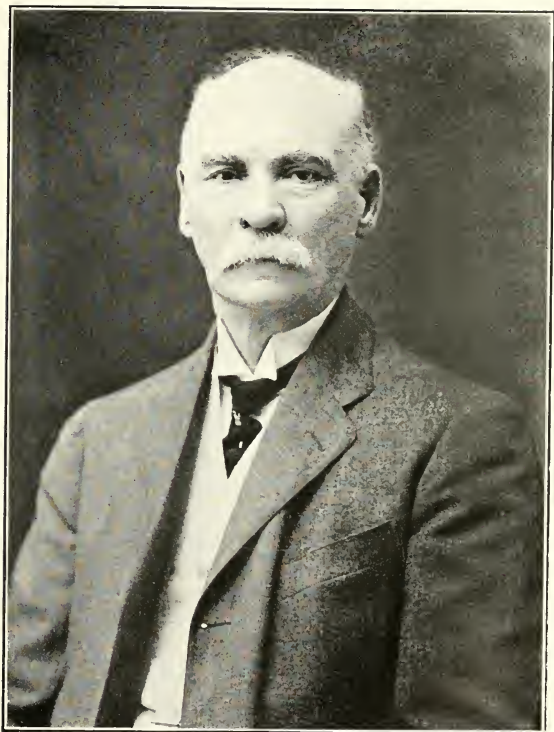

Frances Willoughby Frost, b. March 23, 1876, in Chicago.

In the summer of 1876 the pressure of "hard times" rendered the removal of the family of mother and four young boys to the hospitable home in Canada a necessity, leaving the breadwinner of the family to buck against Chicago conditions unhampered by family anxieties. By 1878 it became apparent that only in one American city were the conditions favorable to publishing an engineering journal, and in the first week of January, 1879, Engineering News was issued from its New York office in the Tribune Building. It may be interesting to note here that its owner left Chicago on December 1, 1878, after a little over fifteen years at hard labor in that enterprising city, with a ticket over the Grand Trunk Railway to New York, $35 in pocket, and two valises in hand; borrowing $500 in Smith's Falls on the way, he opened his bank account with that sum a few days later in the metropolis. Benjamin Franklin wheeling his papers to the post-office has been well exploited in history; the publisher of Engineering News didn't even wheel his product—he "backed" it for a year or more to the office in Chicago. At the present writing the weekly issue requires nearly eight tons of paper.

Success was so sufficiently assured by July, 1881, that the family was removed to New York, where boarding-house life, with its summer vacations, was endured until June, 1886, when housekeeping was resumed in Plainfield, New Jersey, and where the entire family has been domiciled ever since, with only occasional absences in travel. Europe—once extended to Egypt and the Upper Nile—has been visited six times, the Pacific Coast twice, and nearly every state in the Union; the sons and their wives have all enjoyed European travel, one of them, Harwood, having been in business in London, England, for several years, and the youngest, Francis, besides European travel, having been a member of the party of the then Secretary Taft to the Philippines, when Alice Roosevelt was of the party also; he, however, left the Miss Roosevelt party in Peking and journeyed to the Great Wall, in company with a Cincinnati friend, and with whom he continued on around the globe making nine months' absence from home.

George H. Frost in early life became a member of the United Presbyterian Church of Scotland, and is now a member of the Crescent Avenue Church (Presbyterian) of Plainfield; like his father, Ebenezer, he is a Republican in politics, becoming a naturalized citizen of the United States as soon as possible after his arrival in 1863; he was a member of the Plainfield Common Council for five years, the only political office he has held, and is now practically retired from active business, although keeping in close touch with his several interests, one of which being the large manufactory of The Frost & Wood Company in Canada, of which, through the death of his brother Charles in April, 1909, he became a large stockholder. He is also an Associate of the American Society of Civil Engineers; is a member of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers; honorary member of Engineering Associations in several states of the Union, member of the Historical Genealogical Society, Boston.

Charles Hamilton Frost, eighth generation from Edmund, was educated in a primary school in Smith's Falls, Canada; in a public school, New York City; a military school for boys in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; at St. Johnsbury Academy, Vt.; High School, Plainfield, N. J., and Yale University, New Haven, Conn., from which last institution he graduated in the class of 1892. He spent some months as assistant to contractors on the railroad tunnel under the city of Baltimore, and later as assistant superintendent on a contract section of the Chicago drainage canal. He later entered the service of The Frost & Wood Company in Smith's Falls. On June 26, 1896, he married Marian Gertrude Hemming, of Drummondville, Province of Quebec, by whom he has three children, all living at present. In October, 1904, he resigned from his place as manager of the Publicity Department of The Frost & Wood Company, to assume the sole management of the Plainfield Daily Courier-News, purchased in July previous purposely to bring him and his family to New Jersey. The Daily Courier-News is the consolidation by purchase of two small dailies, and in 1904, when George H. Frost became the sole owner, it was fifteen years old. Under the management of Charles H. Frost it has grown from a small eight-page paper to a ten or twelve-page paper of same size of metropolitan journals; the small plant of 1904 has been replaced by one of the costliest and best in the state of New Jersey, and it will be installed in its own building in March, 1910, one of the model printing outfits of the country. It is considered one of the staunchest Republican journals of New Jersey.

Harwood Frost, eighth generation, b. in Canada, was educated in the schools of Smith's Falls, Poughkeepsie and Plainfield; he graduated after a four years' course in Lehigh University, Bethlehem, with the degree of Mechanical Engineer. Later he entered the service of The Frost & Wood Company, manufacturers of agricultural implements, and represented that firm as manager of their exhibit, at the Glasgow (Scotland) Exhibition; following that service, an office and warehouse was opened by the company in London, England, which is still maintained by The Frost &

Wood Company as their central office for a large and growing foreign trade in their machinery. Harwood Frost, however, after six years as manager for the company in England, returned in 1904 to New York to enter the service of the Engineering News Publishing Company, of which he is the secretary, and also manager of the Book Publishing Department. He married in Chicago, Ill., October 8, 1903, Evelyn Newton Lynas (b. June 13, 1880), daughter of Thomas R. Lynas, manager for Illinois and Wisconsin of the Etna Life Insurance Company. They live in Plainfield, N. J.

Edwin Hunt Frost, eighth generation, was born in Chicago August 23, 1874; was educated in a private school in New York City, in the public school, and in a private academy of Plainfield; entered the service of Engineering News in 1889, where he spent fifteen years, until failing health compelled him to seek out-of-door occupation. After two seasons of travel in Europe and at home, he bought a farm in the Litchfield Hills, Connecticut, where he and his wife live from April to November. He has become an enthusiastic farmer, and has not yet had occasion to regret his investment. He m. October 8, 1902, at Yonkers, N. Y., Sarah Marguerite (b. October 8, 1876), daughter of Honorable Gilbert Hilton Scribner, former Secretary of State of New York and president of the Belt Line Street Railroad of New York. Mr. Scribner was a successful lawyer, but retired from active practice of his profession many years ago. Both he and his wife are still living in Yonkers; they have been wide travelers in Europe and Africa, remaining with their children abroad one period of six years. Marguerite (Scribner) Frost is not only a clever artist, but has marked ability as a poet and story writer.

Francis Willoughby Frost, eighth generation, was b. in Chicago March 23, 1876, and was educated in same schools with his brother Edwin H. He also early in life commenced his business life in the accounting department of Engineering News, where, with the exception of vacations spent in Europe and one trip to the Philippines in the party of Secretary Taft and thence making the circuit of the globe, he has since been actively employed. He is at present writing (1909) treasurer and auditor of the Engineering News Publishing Company, at 220 Broadway, New York. He married, October 20, 1907, Alice Birney (b. December 14, 1881), daughter of Frank E. Blackwell, a New York lawyer; of this marriage one child, a son, was born June 29, 1909. The parents live at 1011 Madison Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

CHARLES BERIAH FROST.

Charles Beriah Frost, of the seventh generation, the son of Ebenezer Frost and Caroline Harwood, was born in Smith's Falls, August 5, 1840. He was educated in the public and grammar schools of his native town, but while yet a boy he entered the service of Frost & Wood and in the development and management of that business he spent his entire life until its sudden ending, April 20, 1909. Soon after the death of his father in 1863, he and his brother Francis formed a new partnership with the surviving partner, Alexander Wood, which arrangement continued to the retirement of Mr. Wood in 1885, when the business was continued under the same name but by the two brothers as sole partners. until January 1, 1899, when it was incorporated under the name of The Frost & Wood Company, Ltd., by which name it is now known, and of which Charles B. Frost was president until he resigned in 1909 on account of failing health. Charles B. Frost had practically no other interest in life than the promotion of this business. When his father died the business of manufacturing agricultural machinery was yet in its infancy, and in the small foundry of that time hand work was mainly depended upon to produce the limited output. Through years of costly experiment, through serious losses by fire, by financial panics, by crop failures, the days of small things widened out into larger ventures until the present, when the factory is the third largest of its kind in the Dominion, employing 500 men, and having agencies in the principal cities of Canada, besides a branch in London, England, to direct its foreign trade. In all this growth Mr. Frost was a chief factor. From the beginning he knew every detail; he gave to it all his time, his energy, his thought; he was proud of it, proud of its good name, proud of its growth, and proud of what it had done and was doing for his native town.

Mr. Frost was of a retiring and quiet disposition. He was induced to serve for a term as a Councilman, but, while always keenly interested in the political welfare of his native town and of the country at large, yet he could not be induced to accept public office. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church, to which he gave liberally as well as to all local charities and institutions.

As the Toronto "Globe" of August 4, 1906, phrases it: "He is justly entitled, by length of time and things actually accomplished, to be styled the Premier of the Captains of Canadian Industry." In business circles throughout Canada and the United States he was known as one "whose word was as good as his bond," and in his passing away his native town lost a good citizen and an enterprising manufacturer.

Charles B. Frost, October 3, 1878, married Emily Palmer, daughter of George P. Harwood, of Bennington, Vt. She was born, February, 1847, and died December 3, 1893. No children were born to this marriage.

HONORABLE FRANCIS T. FROST.

Honorable Francis T. Frost, seventh generation, son of Ebenezer Frost and Caroline Harwood, was born in Smith's Falls, Ont., on the 21st of December, 1843, and has lived there all his life. In graduating from the common and grammar schools of his native village, he was sent, at the age of thirteen, to Vermont, where he spent one year in a select school, and three years later spent another year at St. Lawrence Academy, Potsdam, N. Y. At the age of seventeen he entered the business of The Frost & Wood Company as clerk, and in 1867 became a partner. In 1899 when the business was converted into a joint stock company he was elected as vice-president, which position he held until March, 1909, when he became president on the resignation of his brother, Charles. He became interested in municipal affairs, and was elected Reeve of the village of Smith's Falls in 1876 and was reelected for seven years, while as representative of the county he became Warden of the County Council in 1878, and was reelected for a second term in 1879. In 1883, upon the changing of the village into a town, he became the first mayor. In Dominion politics he also took a great interest, and was always prominent at election times in the interests of his party. In June, 1896, he was elected for the House of Commons as member for North Leeds and Grenville, which position he retained until November, 1900. In March, 1903, he was called by the Crown to the Senate, and remains member of that branch of the Dominion Parliament during his life time. On the 3rd of June, 1868, he married Miss Maria E. Powell, of Madrid, N. Y.

Mrs. Frost has always been identified with works of charity and benevolence, and is a good worker in her church. For many years she has taught the primary class in Sunday school. Five years ago she was elected treasurer of the National Council of Women of Canada, which she has held continuously, being again reelected in June of the present year, 1909, in Toronto while attending the Quinquennial Congress of the International Council of Women held in that city. Mrs. Frost has always been noted for her social qualifications, whether at home in Smith's Falls or when residing with her husband while in attendance on his Parliamentary duties at the Capital. Both are members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Mr. Frost being a member of session of that congregation for over thirty years. Mr. Frost is a Liberal in politics and a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

WILLIAM H. FROST.

William H. Frost, seventh generation, son of Ebenezer Frost and Caroline Harwood, was born in Smith's Falls, Ont., on the 10th of November, 1847, was educated at the common and high schools of the village, and the St. Lawrence Academy, Potsdam, N. Y. After spending some years in Chicago as a hardware clerk he returned to Smith's Falls, and in 1878 commenced the manufacture of malleable iron in which he has been very successful, being the proprietor of two factories with a capacity of 7,000 tons, and employing 300 men. In 1877 he married Fannie Burton, daughter of Judge Burton of Manchester, Vermont, and has a family of two daughters and three sons. He is president of the Smith's Falls Electric Light & Power Co., owned principally by the Frost families. He has always taken an interest in municipal matters, and has been elected several times mayor of the town. In business as well as public affairs he has always shown a progressive spirit, and stands for everything that makes for the progress and advancement of his town and country. His children were: Clarissa Adaline, b. July 27, 1878; m. Frederick C. Clayton of Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 18, 1900; they live in New York City where Mr. Clayton is engaged with the Library Bureau in the manufacture of bank furniture.

Laura Agnes, b. May 2, 1881.

Burton Hunt, b. Oct. 28, 1883.

Ebenezer Theodore, b. Feb. 5, 1885.

George Bartlett, b. Feb. 9, 1890.
