WHAT WILL IT MEAN TO THE UNITED STATES IF GER= MANY SUCCEEDS?

First, the annexation of the richest part of France to Germany, and the ruin of that sister republic, the nation to which we owe more of gratitude and sympathy than to any other. Second, the destruction of the British Empire, and the end of Great Britain as a naval and commercial power of the first rank. Third, German domination of the seas and absolute German control in Europe and, to a somewhat less degree, in Asia and Africa. Fourth, the necessity either of submitting to German dictation on the seas and in Pan-American affairs, or of fighting the greatest

What the humiliation of the great European democracies and the enthronement of German military autocracy would mean, we begin at last to realize. It would mean the triumph of every political principle that the United States was born to deny and combat; it would leave us virtually alone in the world to stand for the principles of freedom and self-govern-

We know well enough what the conditions of trade and commerce are while England is most powerful upon the seas. What they would be with the German navy in possession of the seas and with Germany controlling the colonies and trade opportunities that now belong to Great Britain, France and Holland, we cannot think of without anxiety. England has learned to administer its power liberally. In time of peace it has asked no privileges for itself even in its own territories that it would not grant to other trading nations. That has never been the policy of Germany; still less would it be the policy of Germany wholly in the hands of the military party, and the victor in a costly and bitter war. We have seen the German method in authority in Belgium, and in the matter of WASHINGTON, March 30.—The War Department to-day the submarines we have seen its lack of regard for the rights of others, and its interpretation of the "freedom of the seas." There would be a violent readjustment of all international trade relations, a readjustment that could not fail to be harmful to us, and that would bear with it a constant threat against our peace and prosperity.

The startling revelation of the plot against us in which Germany tried tries must convince every one of us that to serve its own ends the German government stands ready at any time to interfere to our hurt in Pan-American affairs, and if possible to embroil us with our sister republics. no other European power from which we have any such conduct to fear. Germany and Germany alone threatens the Monroe Doctrine, which is the corner stone of American foreign policy, and makes it its business to foment treachery and war in this Western Hemisphere.

We can no longer imagine that it makes no difference to us which side is to win the war. In the past, some Americans have said that it made no difference, and doubtless they have been sincere in their belief. The very real danger that the submarine may after all win the war for
