The Utility of Grumbling.
Grumble, grumble, grumble! Old habits you easily can't lay by, Nevertheless, old Partner John, I read the truth in your bright brown eye: Weather and markets have all gone wrong, Year upon year you heaped complaints, Your past produced but a doubtful gain, Your faith in the future, alas! is faint.

every bone in her poor little body ached with weariness. And Aunt Wilhelmnia cried: "Tired! Why, what on earth have you done to be tired!" On the afternoon of the second day, Miss Wilhelmnia shouted shrilly down the back stairs—case for her niece. "Beryl! Beryl! Here comes Mr. Wedderburn, the rich old jeweler from the next street. He's looked at the 'TO LET.' He's coming in. Put an extra ten pounds on the rent if he's to take it."

And although the report of a cannon could not have electrified Miss Wilhelmnia Bruce any more than did this occurrence, she rallied promptly. "I'm sure I congratulate you!" said she with a little gasp. The house was late that afternoon to a widow who wanted to take a few gilded borders. Beryl was married the next week, and went to a superb old mansion, which seemed like a palace to her unsophisticated eyes. And Aunt Wilhelmnia sorrowfully took her way to Leicester.

FOR THE FARM AND HOME.
Quality in Milk.
A. B. Allen writes as follows to the N. Y. Tribune: Dr. Lawes says that, which I believe is the conclusion of all who have made careful experiments. But it has been the opinion of most persons that water drunk by the cows in large quantities lowers the quality of milk. But Dr. Lawes says, after careful experiment with a herd of thirty-ones, that the drinking of more or less water had no effect on the quality of the milk, provided the cows were well fed. One cannot, therefore, have much more water than they naturally crave. Beryl's grains however, and many or very succulent food, sour milk mixed with water, silage, or acid foods, increase the quantity of milk at the expense of quality, by rendering it more watery.

worked over with some very shallow working cultivator, merely scraping or scuffing the surface. This, with one other hoeing, will keep all weeds down till the 1st of August. At this time I prefer to stop broadcast over the vineyard not less than one and one-half bushels of rye per acre, cultivating it with a shallow working cultivator and allowing it to grow the rest of the season. This will take possession of the ground to the exclusion of weeds, looking much nicer and forming a pleasing and cleanly covering at grape picking time, and by winter it affords quite a covering to catch and retain the snow, thus affording much protection to the roots against the injurious effects of frost. It will also make considerable growth in spring before ploughing time, affording quite a coating of green stuff to be turned down as food for the vine. —New York Herald.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.
The coast line of New Jersey is setting two feet per century. Prof. A. H. Sayce has deciphered an Assyrian record of a transit of Venus in the sixteenth century before the Christian era. A recent estimate, made by means of a very intricate testing apparatus, places the rate at which an electric dot travels over a telegraph wire at 16,000 miles per second. Cases of metallic poisoning have been traced to cheap silver-plated pitchers. Where the lining is broken or worn, galvanic action is set up and the base metal rapidly oxidized. There is no animal living—elephant, rhinoceros, cayman, or crocodile—so tough that it is impervious to the modern conical rifle bullet, driven by a generous charge of powder. It is proposed by scientists to employ, as a source of emergency power for ships of war, furnaces into which petroleum is sprayed along with superheated steam and hot air. W. J. Knowles has exhibited to the London Anthropological Institute a chipped flint implement which he found in undisturbed boulder clay in Ireland, and which he therefore regards as evidence of the existence of man in the glacial period. The judicious planting of eucalyptus trees has been recommended by Baron Von Mueller as a means of increasing Austria. These trees—known also as the "blue gum"—are credited with remarkable powers of collecting and absorbing water, and of condensing into water the moisture in the air. After a careful weighing of all available evidence, Prof. Atfield, F. R. S., concludes that there is not the faintest cause for alarm concerning the occurrence of tin, lead, or any other metal in canned food. When injury has resulted from the eating of such food, it has probably been due to unsoundness of the food and not to poison derived from the can. Naturalists have long known of carnivorous plants that entrap insects. It is now stated, on the authority of Prof. Baird, that a bladderwort which has hitherto been carefully introduced into the government's carp ponds for food for the fish, has very curiously turned out to be a fish-eating plant, devouring the very animals which were expected to feed upon it. Writing to a German newspaper, a victim of Daltonianism, or color blindness, protests against the tendency to the exclusion of the so-called color blind from lives of activity in which the recognition of color is an element. He declares that, although the sensations are different, persons afflicted with Daltonianism possess a distinct recognition of the different bands of the spectrum, and are consequently capable of distinguishing color signals from each other as persons with normal vision. In a communication to the Physiological Society of Berlin, Dr. Falk stated, as a result of his researches on drowning, that when rabbits are suddenly plunged into water having a temperature of forty or forty-five degrees Fahrenheit, cramp of the expiratory muscles occurs, and respiration ceases. The methods of restoring the apparently dead having no relation to the effect of cutaneous stimulation upon respiration; cold water dashed upon the chest acts upon the heart alone; on the nape of the neck it acts upon the lower brain. Bohemian Corpse-Boards. When any one dies, man or woman, the corpse is removed from the death bed and laid on a board, previously cut and prepared to receive it. At the head is a sort of port-roof, a low gate; lower down is a bar across for the feet. On this the corpse reposes till the funeral. After this, the painting of the board is completed, the inscription filled up; it is then nailed or screwed to a stout post, which is driven into the ground by the roadside, so that the "corpse-board" stands upright till the post rots, and allows it to fall, when it crumbles neglected into the soil. The entrance to a village is through an avenue of these horrible monuments. Sometimes, however, they are planted in the depth of the wood where roads fork—beside mere paths in the most lonely spots. As they advance in age, they decline more and more from the perpendicular and lurch to right and left. In the evening glimmering, the appearance of a row of these is just that of a line of lumpy soldiers. This effect is enhanced by the peculiarity of their ornaments. At the head, under the weather-board, where rested the head of the corpse, is painted a round white disk, which is adorned with figures of the Virgin and a saint in the sky, or the Trinity, and in the middle is the deceased, kneeling very upright, in his best Sunday clothes. Another variety is a clock-face with the hands pointing to the hour of death. Further down is a tablet, or a pair of tables, on which are inscribed the name, age, and merits of the departed, and some verses of more or less originality and merit. —Cornhill Magazine.

Near the Dawn.
When life troubles gather darkly
Beneath the way we follow here,
When no hope the sad heart lightens,
No voice speaks a word of cheer;
Then the thought the shadow scatters,
Giving us a cheering ray—
When the night appears the darkest,
Morning is not far away.
When adversity surrounds us,
And our sunshine friends pass by,
And the dreams so fondly cherished
With our scattered treasures lie;
Then amid such gloomy seasons
This sweet thought can yet be drawn,
When the darkest hour is present
It is always near the dawn.
When the spirit flutters light
On the confines of this life,
Parting from all joyful memories,
And from every scene of strife,
Though the scene is sad and gloomy,
And the body shivers in fear,
These dark hours will soon be vaned,
And the glorious morn will be here.
Pain cannot affect us here,
Brighter days will soon be here,
Sorrow may oppress us here,
Yet a happier time is near;
All along our earthly journey
Nature's darkest hour is always
Just before the break of day.

An announcement of the Tufts Free Lectures is made by the Selectmen in another column.

Willie Clapp, a lad of seven years, son of Mr. Wallace Clapp, has been the subject of much abuse for some time past by a gang of boys, who are led by officer Mr. H. L. Wood, has been called upon to take the matter in charge, the result of which will be the arrest of the boys, if the abuse is not stopped.

Mr. Henry Whelan, foreman of the stitching and cutting rooms of M. Sheehy & Co's factory, was surprised by his shopmates last Friday evening, who gave him an elegant easy chair as a small token of their respect.

Mr. William H. Spencer has a complete stock of stoves, furnaces and ranges including the most desirable patterns, and in connection he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line at the lowest rates. Call and examine his stock, at Gardner's Block.

The little daughter of Mr. Arthur Fearing, who has just returned from school Tuesday afternoon, and was found at North Weymouth about 7 o'clock.

A telephone instrument was on Tuesday placed in the office of Dr. Francis which will be of great advantage to him and his patients. This being the first of the kind connected with the central office, which is at Gay's Drug Store.

Crecent Lodge I. O. O. F. No 82, and Wompatuck Encampment have moved all their paraphernalia to their new quarters over Loud & Lovell's store, which has been named Grand Army Hall, Post 88 having leased the same and let it to the above named societies.

Mrs. Ella, daughter of Mr. Geo. McPaw, died Tuesday of consumption, having been ill just six months, aged 15 years. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, attended by a large number of her young friends.

The employees of the stitching room of M. C. Dizer & Co's factory, (where the deceased had been employed) provided a floral tribute as a token of regard.

On the return of the Eureka H. and L. Co. from So. Weymouth last Friday, they were met near the Cong'l church by a large number of their friends, who escorted them to their hall, where they were dismissed with instructions to again report at four o'clock. Promptly at that hour both companies reassembled, when a line was formed headed by the Temple Drum Corps, and the principal streets paraded amid a display of fireworks.

Arriving at the residence of Engineers Thayer, Barrell and Ex-Engineer Cain, three hearty cheers were given to those gentlemen. On their return to their headquarters a substantial collation was served, after which the firemen discussed the contest of the day, which resulted in authorizing the clerk of the Eureka company to issue a challenge to the Company of East Weymouth to the Resolute H. & L. of South Weymouth, to run 150 yards, return with a truck and place a man on a platform 25 feet from ground for $50 to $200 a day.

All contestants have resided in town three months, to be accepted in 10 days and trial to come off within three weeks.

A challenge appeared in the daily papers yesterday from the Eureka H. & L. Company, of East Weymouth, to the Resolute H. & L. of South Weymouth, to run 150 yards, return with a truck and place a man on a platform 25 feet from ground for $50 to $200 a day.

Patience With the Living.
Sweet friend, when thou and I are gone
Beyond earth's weedy labor,
When shall we see our need of grace
From comrades or from neighbor,
Passed all the strife, the toil, the care,
And done with all the fighting,
What tender truth shall we have gained
Alas, by simply dying.

There, I think that will do. He will never be able to recognize the handwriting, and Nannie Raymond held at arm's length for inspection the letter she had been writing. After slowly waving it to and fro she put it into the envelope and, with a laugh, wrote:

"She's a trump!" her letter interested me immensely. Then, he added, seeing his friend's look of amusement—"You cannot doubt her ability. Oh, by the way, Kate wishes me to ask you to dine with us on Sunday. Miss Raymond is visiting her, you know."

Mr. Moore and Nannie exchanged glances of intelligence and the former said: "You have the proof of a short poem in your pocket, sit down with your back to the audience, and don't look around, on your honor."

Mr. Moore produced from her pocket a small note book and pencil. "Now read," he concluded, and Mr. Hunt read the brief poem rapidly.

The Weymouth Gazette. FRIDAY, OCT. 24, 1884.

received a vote of thanks from the Weymouth teachers. Our superintendent followed with a few vigorous remarks and some criticisms and Mr. Thompson was called on to speak on the subject of the grammar schools.

Next Monday all the pupils in town, from youngest to oldest, carry home reports showing attendance, scholarship, and conduct for their first eight weeks of the year.

The annual meeting of the Norfolk conference Sunday School Association will be held with the Union church at Weymouth Landing, on Tuesday, the 28th inst., to continue all day.

The immense demonstration of the Woman's Suffrage party adherents at East Weymouth last evening indicates that Belva's candidacy is not to be sneezed at.

The Baptist Sunday School conference at Weymouth, on Tuesday, the 28th inst., to continue all day. Special care has been taken in the arrangement of topics and in procuring able speakers to deliver the various subjects proposed for discussion.

The Republican caucus will be held at the town hall Friday evening, Oct. 31. The Democratic caucus will be held at the same place Wednesday evening next. The Prohibition caucus will be held at the St. John and Daniel club headquarters at East Weymouth on Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 o'clock.

The schools are closed to-day so as to enable the teacher to attend the convention held at Braintree. The Baptist Sunday School conference at Weymouth, on Tuesday, the 28th inst., to continue all day.

ing, George G. French, Edward Nolan, John H. Wallace, Wm. Burrell, F. A. Lewis, L. T. Brown, Wm. Pierce, F. H. Mason, J. C. Frasier, of Weymouth; Hon. W. A. Hodges, W. G. A. Patten, Wm. N. Eaton, of Quincy; Geo. Cushing, Josiah Lane, E. W. Burr, of Hingham.

The speakers of the evening were Dr. Wm. Everett, of Quincy, Col. A. O. Brewster, of Boston, and W. A. Roberts, of Weymouth, who occupied the time until about 11 o'clock, when the lottations returned in line, and marched to the station, where the Quincy battalion took a special train for home.

Last Monday evening the People's party raised four flags for Butler and West at Harvey's Mill, residents of the town of Weymouth, near the junction of Washington square and Front street. The evening was attended with fine weather and a large number of people witnessed the torchlight parade of the battalions of South Weymouth this evening, and will be accompanied by the Temple Drum Corps. The residents of the village will illuminate.

The proposed parade of Blaine and Logan battalions at the Landing will, it is announced, occur next Wednesday evening. It is hoped that the Blaine and Logan Engineer Corps, of Boston, will be present, and that the parade will be held in the vicinity will aid in making the procession an imposing one. The citizens generally will illuminate.

The patent registering ballot box was received by the town clerk last Saturday, and is quite a cumbersome affair. It will necessitate a change of elevation in the platform at the town hall to enable voters to deposit their ballots, and the official whose duty it will be to operate the machine will have a hard day's work. The exact number of ballots cast will be registered by the apparatus.

The Republican caucus will be held at the town hall Friday evening, Oct. 31. The Democratic caucus will be held at the same place Wednesday evening next. The Prohibition caucus will be held at the St. John and Daniel club headquarters at East Weymouth on Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. David Tucker has gone to Dakota, but is expected home about November. The twenty-six year old horse of Mr. C. Ed Raymond was shot last Monday.

The dwelling of Mr. G. W. Baker has been newly painted. The M. E. choir rehearsal takes place at the church tomorrow evening. The account of the fair of the W. C. T. U. will be given in our next.

Mr. Ellis Bodge, our venerable citizen, is confined to his bed with the rheumatism. The lettering on the campaign flags with the exception of the democratic, was done by Mr. E. Rowland. Mr. Elvin Raymond has moved to the Henry Threlkoff house, formerly occupied by Mr. Poole.

Mr. P. W. French has been engaged rooms at the Cushing House, Hingham, for the winter. Smelts in small numbers have been caught in the river below the wharf during the week. The Weymouth Band has been engaged by the Braintree Republicans for their demonstration next Monday evening.

A fan was left in the ladies room of the Masonic building last Friday evening, which the owner can obtain of H. T. Bicknell. The 28th regular communication of the Ophian Hope Lodge of Weymouth was held on Tuesday evening, and was well attended. Deputy Arnold will make his official visit.

Messrs. Rice are making improvements on the residence of Albert Humphrey, Esq., modernizing the exterior somewhat. The widow of the late Ezra Vinick died at the home of her son, Saturday night last, aged 82 years in months. The cause of her death was pneumonia.

Letters remain in this office for Mrs. Amelia Sylvester, Mr. Henry Moore, Mr. Calvin W. Duggett, Mr. M. J. Ryan, Mr. Charles M. Kelly, Mr. J. W. Doherty, Mr. William Blanchard, Dan Doherty. Messrs. F. D. Pratt, W. J. Spilsted and W. E. Stone after a delightful trip of 78 hours, arrived at Savannah, Ga., Sunday evening last week.

Mr. George Cushing has sold his express wagon to Joshua Shaw. He is now engaged in the business early in the summer and had good success, but his health failed him and he was obliged to give it up. We gathered a tomato last week that measured 10 inches. Where is the General now?

The long established house of Chas. H. Barnes, of Boston, whose card appears in our columns, is a popular resort for bargains in household goods, their line of furniture, carpets, etc., being very extensive, and their terms of sale being very liberal. Give them a call and examine their stock. No exaggerated or fictitious certificates, but solid facts, testify the marvellous success of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

THE DEDICATION. The dedication of the new Masonic building at East Weymouth, which occurred on Friday last, October 17, was an event of much interest to the fraternalists in Weymouth, and is a marked epoch in the history of Orphans Hope Lodge, F. & A. M.

The lodge room was changed in location, to a hall in the schoolhouse at No. 10, the Tyler's room 9 by 12 feet, and the Preparation room 9 by 10 feet. On the east side is a Coat room 24 by 18 feet. The ante-rooms are abundantly provided with closets, there being five on this floor.

Among the other officers of the Lodge is a number whose term of service has extended through many years, these being: JOHN EDISON, Worshipful Master, 1856-'57; LEWIS B. WHITE, Senior Warden, 1857-'58; ALYAH RAYMOND, Treasurer, 1858-'59; TIMOTHY GORDON, Secretary, 1859-'60; EZRA W. SANBORN, Senior Deacon, 1860-'61; RICHARD H. ALLEN, Junior Deacon, 1861-'62; SILAS CANTERBURY, Senior Steward, 1862-'63; ALLEN EDSON, Tyler, 1863-'64.

THE NEW MASONIC BUILDING. Action of the Lodge bearing upon the building of the new structure was commenced April 18, 1887, when a committee of five was appointed to purchase a site for the building.

ORPHANS HOPE LODGE. A condensed account of the introduction of Free Masonry into Weymouth and the embodiment of its principles in the organization known as Orphans Hope Lodge will be believed to be an interesting connection of our part of the Dedication.

Landings; but the Morgan episode soon convulsed society, anti-masonic conventions, of political and sectarian character, were held every where, while Masons were looked upon as being leagued with assassins, excommunicated from church association and declared to be unworthy of public trust.

The original roll of officers of the Lodge in 1825, was JOHN EDISON, Worshipful Master, LEWIS B. WHITE, Senior Warden, RICHARD H. ALLEN, Junior Deacon, ALYAH RAYMOND, Treasurer, TIMOTHY GORDON, Secretary, EZRA W. SANBORN, Senior Deacon, RICHARD H. ALLEN, Junior Deacon, SILAS CANTERBURY, Senior Steward, ALLEN EDSON, Tyler.
