THE UNBIDDEN GUEST—The queen of England in Berlin.

RANDALL CHICKEN to Carlisle elephant—"Be careful! Let us not step on each other's toes."

THERE IS A GREAT mistake in the case of Rollin M. Squire. To wit, that is to say, his parents insisted on raising him.

THEY SAY that David B. thinks he can't run for governor for the mere purpose of pulling Grover through New York.

MR. BLAINE can carry New York against both Cleveland and Hill. If the latter refuses to run Mr. Blaine is good for 20,000 majority. Put that in your pipe when you feel like smoking.

THE GOVERNOR was pretty near that aqueduct iniquity, but he didn't carry the documents necessary to legally fix his connection with it.

SOME DAY it will strike the French government that the best way to kill off a rising man is to let him alone, but the day is beyond the existing authorities.

IT IS PRETTY certain that the pending national canvass is not to be run on the issues of '98 or '61 or '84. We have grown so that there are really some new things.

MR. CLEVELAND, the Rochester Democrat says, is a worse anglo-maniac than Minister Phelps. That is saying much, very much; and yet there is that free-trade message.

DR. AGNEW said that no man had lived to be 100 years old. Very likely; but we notice he was very careful in making the assertion not to insinuate any tenderness on the part of Susan B. Anthony.

QUESTION FOR DISCUSSION—Is it not the most brutal of medical barbarism that keeps the emperor of Germany alive? What could be more pathetic than his remark—"You persist in giving me restoration. Why do you not give me release?"

A VERY HEALTHY SICK MAN.

Is Mr. Blaine a sick man? Look at that picture of him in the supplement to to-day's JUDGE, and form your own opinion. A gentleman who knows Mr. Blaine pretty well writes the JUDGE from Florence: "All the stories about his poor health are worse than rot; they are malicious falsehoods. He is enjoying perfect health, better than he has had for years; and the Democrats of the United States will find that he has life enough in him to cause them a great deal of annoyance, whether he is the candidate of the party or fulfils the high mission of a private citizen." Yes; Mr. Blaine is well. It will be found in November that it is not Blaine but the Democratic party that is afflicted with illness.

SOME MISTAKES OF JOSEPH.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, member of parliament for Birmingham, and recent negotiator of a proposed fishery treaty between the United States and England, as guardian of its Canadian ward, was mistaken when he said in a recent speech, "the representative men of all parties, of all classes, and of the different nationalities of which the people of the United States is composed, with few exceptions," disapproved of the policy of Mr. Gladstone. It seems by this additional proof that to the English observer the people and institutions of this country are most difficult to understand. As the turtle always wears his shell, so "John," wherever he travels, carries his island with him. His British measure is like that of the Dracian iron bed—those too short to fill are stretched; those too long are amputated.

It may be, however, that Mr. Chamberlain's surroundings in Washington misled his judgment. The present administration is the most un-American one since the republic has been a nation. The Democratic subserviency, through the preponderating influence of southern statesmen, seems to have taken a shape of gratitude for the pre-eminent sympathy of the ruling classes across the sea in the disastrous confederate struggle of the ruling classes on this side. The south look upon the aristocratic English moral support extended them with the same keenness of memory and reciprocity of regard that we so unforgettingly extend to France for its helpfulness in our earliest and desperate need. In this way the real condition of public sentiment, as seen through Mr. Chamberlain's single eye-glass, is warped and distorted. Feasted, fattened, flattered and fawned upon, what more nourishing warmth could be absorbed than this, to feed the always complaisant and stalwart growth of English egotism? To the plain American citizen, removed from the distorting atmosphere of the capital city, Mr. Chamberlain's rhetorical vanities and self-appreciative vaporings are both ridiculous and amusing.

The very essence and inspiration of American politics and policy is home rule. It begins in the caucus, is defined in the municipality, in the county legislature, and takes definiteness and force in the state. Even the national government is limited and prescribed within the bounds of delegated powers which the states have not reserved to themselves. Furthermore, the point of divergence is in the principles of the contending political parties. The opposition to the ultimate Democratic tendency of free trade, and therefore direct taxation for federal expenses, as against the Republican policy of voluntary taxation, through a tariff by collecting only of the consumers of foreign products or luxuries. No honest American can favor and foster home rule on this side of the Atlantic and sympathize with its opponents on the other.

Yet it is possible, in fact probable, that the great mass of our adopted citizens of the nationality that Mr. Chamberlain derides as incompetent for self-government would strike a blow at the great party that through Lincoln emancipated labor here, and is now sympathetically helpful in its struggle everywhere. If Mr. Chamberlain were to become a naturalized citizen of the United States his incorrigible and irrepressible anti-home rule and free-trade convictions, combined with his desire to serve the Canadian dominion, would make him a Democrat.

THE JUDGE'S REGULAR circulation in Paris is about a hundred copies a week, but the JUDGE will not give its support to Boulanger until the republic is totally gone.

THE ASTUTE MR. DANA suddenly discovers that while the Chicago convention is in session Mr. Blaine will be on the ocean. It is an un-contemplated and totally accidental coincidence, and yet how coincident it is!

THE MUGWUMP JOURNAL which indorses Cleveland as a choice between evils damns its selection with the faintest of praise and the largest of condemnation, and openly advertises the fact that it is ashamed of its choice.

IT WAS REMARKED about a hundred years ago that America was not created for the special purpose of being the creature of England, and we suspect that will be shown over again in the impending national contest at the ballot-box.

A POTOMAC RIVER RIPPLE.

MR. CLAWBIN—"Am she daid, Mistah Claigh?"
 MR. CLAIGH (with a tired infection)—"No; jes' swoounded. Dis meks d' fo'th time I've done pull her out dis yer month. She's got in de habit ob gittin' barptised up de ribber, en de pahson's weak."

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

Wife (who has been driven nearly frantic by a habit of her husband)—“John, I read to-day about a man out in Minnesota whose wife killed him because he said ‘I want to know’ so much.”

Husband (surprised) — “I want to know!”

RESIGNED.

Brown was taken suddenly ill.

“Your case is a serious one,” was the doctor’s verdict on being called.

“Now, doctor, tell me the truth; I am brave; I can bear it. What cemetery would you recommend?”

THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.

Old Griggs — “Jack, you young rascal! why didn’t you chop that wood? I’m going to thrash you within an inch of your life.”

Jack — “Hold on a minute, father. Don’t you think it’s better to settle differences peacefully than to strike?”

WHY I AM A HUMOROUS WRITER.

(Written for the FLOOREM, but paid for by this paper.)

It being now decidedly fashionable to describe in broad type, and at so much a page, why certain people are heathen, savages, puritans, and Catholics, I want to fall into line and tell why I am a humorist, before the independent gentleman on the corner tells why he is a bootblack, or before the boarding-house keeper tells why he’s a millionaire.

At the outset of my career I stumbled across a bunco man who fleeced me of every dollar I had. That was a good joke. It was so funny that I indulged in tears of laughter at once.

Some time after I was trying to hatch what seemed to be an impossible accomplishment, a new joke, when I ran across a good enough one for my purpose. I appropriated it, and no one discovered

IN MRS. PONTIFEX’S COUPE.

HER NEW FOOTMAN (after the carriage has started)—“Beggin’ yure pardin, leddys, but av th’ duchess av Clanteagh, Oi war lasht wid, had med me rid wid wan fut an th’ shpring an’ th’ other wan thraillin’ behoid, an’ me two hands a shippin’ aff th’ top o’ th’ coach, so hilp me she’d lost me befoer she did!”

the pardonable deception. Who knows where the fellow I got it from stole the joke? I have been an original humorous writer ever since.

I have never had the means wherewith to indulge my fancy for books. But in some incomprehensible way (my father is a pawnbroker) I have become possessed of Burton’s “Anatomy of Melancholy,” and Zimmermann’s “Meber die Einsamkeit.” Moral: I am a humorous writer. (Note— I now and then come across a copy of the Undertaker’s Journal and the New York Evening Post.)

Though there is no accounting for beliefs and tastes, I am fond of Bob Ingersoll, Ben Butler, Henry George, green apples and quinine, and so naturally I am a man of a humorous turn of mind.

I live in one of a row of houses whose fences support a long line of distinguished cats.

Across the way a young lady supports an ancient line of sentimental ballads. Above and below me all the livelong day I listen to a professional pianist and an unprofessional cornetist. You ask me why I am a funny man!

Finally, I am cross-eyed, bow-legged, pock-pitted, red-haired, and purblind, and if that is not funny I do not know what is.

NATHAN M. LEVY.

SLIGHTLY MIXED.

Effie—“I thing you were awfully mean, mamma, not to send up some plums and eclairs when you know how I love them!”

Mamma (who has been entertaining some friends at luncheon)—“Plums and eclairs, child! What do you mean?”

Effie—“I asked Rosine how the lunch was going off and she said ‘with great plums and eclairs!’”

After a moment’s thought mamma evolves from her inner consciousness the idea that Rosine must have said aplomb and eclat.

A BALM TO HIS CONSCIENCE.

Rev. Mr. Hirsute—“The very hairs of your head are numbered, Mr. Scantilocks.”

Mr. Scantilocks—“Well, it comforts me to think how little trouble I give the recording angel latterly.”

GREAT EXPECTATIONS.

HUM OF THE COURT.

There is a free ballot for even the babies at all the May-poles. Madame Delia Diss Debar, how we wonder what you are! Up among the spirits high, in the Tombs and not so fly.

We see how it is. Edward R. Phelps is in Albany for the purpose of holding day and evening prayer-meetings.

There are so many plans for preserving the dead that one becomes apprehensive as to the preservation of the living.

There is so much talk as to the game of poker that old lovers of the art, like ourselves, have to be constantly chalking their cues.

A newspaper writer says George Gould wouldn't smoke a cigar for a farm; but we dare say nobody has offered him the farm.

"When do you start for Europe?" "Oh, I am so late as to the starting that my main anxiety now relates to the coming back."

Those Democratic papers which refuse to support Mr. Cleveland because of his tariff views are enthusiastic for Hill because he hasn't any.

"These aqueduct explosions must stop," exclaims Mr. Hill with much firmness. "Why! I had a narrow escape from one of them only a few months ago."

Thomas F. Bayard declines the newspaper nomination of a union with Mrs. Folsom with such haste and apparent sincerity that one is obliged to believe he is rather anxious for it.

It is likely that Matthew Arnold will find heaven very much to his liking; but he will first have to have authority to arrange a few details in accordance with his æsthetic designs.

FORGETTING HIMSELF SLIGHTLY.

PRETENDED DEAF, DUMB, BLIND AND CRIPPLED MENDICANT (to departing benefactor)— "Hould on, sor! This quarter is plugged wid lead!"

The Courier-Journal says of Murat Halstead, "He knows what he is talking about when he is not talking." There are a few other words in the paragraph, but these are the substance of it.

Victoria Guelph to Otto Bismarck—"Vich I declares you're meddlin' with that as doesn't concern ye. Let my grand-darter halone, y' nasty man! You takes care o' your state an' I takes care o' my church."

Mark Twain always wears slippers on a railroad train; though we dare say he could find room enough if he clothed his feet in the usual large boots. Still, something is due to the comfort of the other passengers.

A woman had her picture, with others, in a daily paper under the heading "Labor's Female Cohorts;" and, remarking hysterically that she had never been a cohort in her life, took to her bed and didn't rise for three weeks.

It was Solomon who directed the deeding of Uncle Marsh's property to the adventuress now in jail; but then it was Socrates who directed the reversal of the transfer—so that they have their courts of appeal over there too.

A recent report as to prohibition in Maine shows that there isn't any, and that the intoxicants sold there are vile. "I never go to a temperance hotel," once remarked Artemus Ward, "because they sell such bad liquor there."

There has recently arisen the question whether Mr. Conkling believed R. B. Hayes was fairly elected. We remember that Mr. Conkling was to have delivered the great speech of his life in behalf of Tilden, and that he never said a word.

"If I fail in this," says J. O. O'Connor, "I shall go back to journalism." So also says John L. Sullivan. Anybody can be a journalist, and, as everybody knows, it is the last resort of disappointed men.

A DESPERATE SITUATION.

STRANGER (soothingly)—"Good doggy; nice doggy! Say, friend, call him off, will you?" OWNER (calmly)—"Can't do it. He's deaf as a post. Wait till he gets hold of you, and then turn 'round an' I'll try to ketch his eye. He minds by sight."

"Jay Gould isn't very strong in controversy," as Mr. Bennett says; but his present of land worth $32,000 to the regents of the Mount Vernon association is among the most eloquent matter presented for the consideration of a discriminative public.

"Very affectionate creature," said the scriptural editor of an evening newspaper of one of the lions at Central park as the beast reached for him with his paw. "Recognizes me at a glance. Wants me to come in there and take the part of Daniel."

A distinguished boodler was refused, directly after his death, admission to paradise. "Your honor is too hasty," he said with deprecatory surprise. "I have appealed my case to this court, and pending the appeal I have a right to occupy the premises." But as he had no money in his shroud the appeal is still pending, and meanwhile he is obliged to exercise himself merely by gnashing his teeth.

SUNDAY, A. M., IN NEW ORLEANS.

MRS. PONCHATRAIN—"Aren't you most ready, Pierre? The service begins at eleven." MR. PONCHATRAIN—"In a moment, dear. I must get this red hackle ready for the scrap at Mrs. Tounour's at three. Have you the hymnal?"

JUDGE'S PHOTOGRAPHS.

THE POMPOUS CLERGY-MAN.

In the sentimental sombreness that permeates the aisles, he relaxes all his features in debilitating smiles. The clerical arrangement of his hair is not divine, but the glitter of his eye-balls is particularly fine. A broad, expansive handkerchief is leisurely unrolled when anything pathetic is deliberately told. Sympathetic girls and women sniffle in upholstered pews as he tells how certain heathens haven't any rubber shoes but run around in costumes most indelicately crude, although sensibly constructed for a southern latitude. All the mothers nudge their daughters, all the daughters roll their eyes if he quotes Hebraic scholars or begins to moralize.

Loving parents like to have him pat their children on the head, though they say that all good little boys were long ago in bed. And whenever he is tired or disgusted with his cook he can saunter round to see just how his neighbors' tables look.

Despite his nightly dabbings in the language of the Greek his cheeks are round and jolly and emphatically sleek; for he loves to see a turkey swimming pompously around in a platter full of gravy, nicely stuffed and richly browned. Long years ago at college he was noted for his vim in emphasizing statements with a loud and boistrous "dim;" and yet in college chronicles one hears about the night he thrashed a circus tumbler who was "aching" for a fight. It may be he's quite forgotten how he'd saunter out of town to a modest, cosy cottage on a sloping stretch of down, where another party wandered in a speckled cotton print, with a pair of lips as rosy as the reddest rose's tint.

When he weds, the female portion of his outraged mission-band will secure his prompt removal to a missionary land, where the cannibals will twist his spinal column in a knot and stew him in a jiffy in a boiling iron pot.

DEWITT STERRY.

CARRYING MATTERS TO AN EXTREME.

"Modest?" exclaimed a sarcastic old bachelor. "Yes, the girls are so modest now-a-days that they take great pains nobody shall find it out."

HER HEART AND ART STILL TRUE.

First Boston maiden—"Is that your new gown? Why! what did you have ashen gray satin for, I'd like to know?"

Second ditto—"This was made especially for the reception I shall give for Mr. Sullivan. My gown is a delicate token of my regret at his late slight defeat. I have adapted the shade exactly to the degree of defeat, you see."

First Boston maiden—"And all these embroidered forget-me-nots? Why, that's a frightfully old-fashioned flower, dear."

Second ditto—"Have you no æsthetic sense of harmony? The language of this little blossom will soothe his sensitive soul, and the color will show him I am still his true-blue admirer, and ready, as ever, to back him for the champion knight of fists. He'll understand."

THE PROGRESS OF AN IDEA.

DELEGATE MCGURE—"Oi have called, num, to tell yez that the Housemaid's Union forbid yer to employ scab labor. Wid me own eyes Oi have see yer daughters at work round de house, an' dis thing musht shtop!"

A BRAVE REPLY.

Morocco officer—"I am requested to inform you that unless the Enterprise desists in menacing the city by its presence in the harbor we shall open fire on her."

United States naval officer—"Blaze away, sir; but remember one thing—we shall leave the ship fifteen minutes before firing commences. I have always wanted to watch a naval engagement from the shore."

NOT FOR FIGHTING PURPOSES.

"What would you do if a vessel should suddenly open fire on you at sea?" was asked of the commander of one of Secretary Whitney's boats.

"Turn about and run," was the reply.

"What! wouldn't you return the fire?"

"Return the fire? Nonsense! You must have an idea that the United States navy is for fighting purposes."

HE HAD MET HER.

Grafton—"Aw—I say. Cholly, wondaw why Miss Giddy wears such awfully long-waisted gowns, you know?"

Bobley—"So as to give her neck room, I guess. Ever meet her in the evening?"

A COLD CHEEK.

Bobley—"Aw, Cholly, that's a terrible cold you've got."

Grafton—"Yetz, de' boy. I called on Miss Tenseasons lawst night, a'd-chew! hat-chew! she laid her cheek od my bosob, a'd—pwoposed!"

DIRECT TESTIMONY.

It was a case of trespass.

Lawyer—"Now, sir, in entering that house did the accused use an expletive?"

Witness—"No, sir; it was an ordinary key."

MAY VIOLETS.

I walked through budding woods with Lucy,
To seek the first May violet;
In my large footprints her's were set
Because the ground was rather juicy.

What joy, with one beloved, to ramble,
And know she shared my poet mood,
While, now and then, she paused and stood
To free herself of clinging bramble.

Fresh breezes blew; soft shadows drifted,
Yet not one violet could we see,
But still dear Lucy followed me;
Her dainty skirts with care uplifted.

We wandered on by lanes and forests,
At last she sighed, "Good gracious, Jack!
My boots are ruined; let's go back,
We're sure to find them at the florist's."

MADELINE S. BRIDGES.

A CONJUGAL HINT.

Wife (who occasionally attempts "a bit from Wagner")—"Mr. Hehnpekhead dead! Isn't this very sudden?"

Husband (with meaning)—"No; he lingered much longer than I expected. His wife made him take her to hear "Siegfried" three times last winter, and he's never been the same man since, poor fellow!"

THE DIAMOND EDITION DREADFUL AT THE MAY PARTY.

It wuz in the month of May,
When the birds wuz singin' gay,
A song forlorn,
When I helped to crown the queen
In the ba'my woods serene

I've red in books that it wuz the proper caper to crown a purty gurl with posies, set hur on a mossy thrown an' dance around hur with nice ribbons stuck to a pole an' make the welkin ring with hobycorn saphire. This caper reads nice in books and looks purty in a pictur'; but them writer fellers what writ an' drawered the thing must live in them torpical regions where Injie's coryall reefs jimble an' no Iceland moss grows on this May's plum puddin'.

There wuz more or less genwine dissypintment mannyfested when the queen wuz 'lected, an' purty, sich as the party requirements pine for. It was a gay party what gathered there in my par's sittin'-room, gittin' ready to start fur the scene of festivity.

That wuz all a guy of mine, fur I didn't know of no purty spot fur carryin' out the thing proper. Still, I started at the head of the purseshun like a little sawered-off hero.

I never seen nor read of any such a May party before. It looked more like a candy-pullin' gang out on the war-path in the middle of December. The queen wore a plush cloak, a knit hood, gurlushers an' a muff. The rest wuz dressed purty much the same. I knowed it wuz a shame fur me to do what I did, but as I wuz invited to the party I wanted to hold up my end in makin' it interestin'.

I led 'em 'cross lots, over streams, where the ice wuz thin, an' had a hard time resquein' the queen from the cold water. I give 'em a dizzy time in the snow-banks, and fin'ly led 'em all home cryin' that they didn't never want no more May party. I got the in-flurwenzy an' the queen wore a crown of arniker an' a red flannel rag round hur throat fur a week. When I go to 'nuther May party I'll posepone it 'till the 4th of July.

HAPPY THOUGHT.

Robinson, who is rather miserly, was recovering from a long illness.

"How was it, doctor," he asked one day, "that I was able to live so many weeks without eating?"

"Why, you were fed by the fever."

"Are you sure?" Then, after a moment's reflection:

"I wish I could give it to my servants."

Many a man has thought he found his destiny until the honeymoon was over.

WHY THE NEIGHBOR LEFT.

MISTRESS (to new servant)—"Bridget, I have set this alarm-clock to strike at four in the morning, and mind you rise at that time."

BRIDGET (lowering clock down chimney of next house)—"Shure, an' Oi won't be waked at four by no al-larrum-clock. Oi'm no urly burrud!"

OLD JONES (the next-door neighbor, at 4 a. m.)—"That clock hasn't been wound up since my wife died, twenty years ago, and there it's been striking for nearly two minutes. Something awful is going to occur. I'll leave this house to-morrow!"

"JUDGE" ON THE SURPLUS.

W HATEVER shall we do with it? all U. S. statesmen ask. The question few can answer, for it is a fearful task.

The question has been canvassed by the governor of each state.

And in the nation's halls has been a subject of debate.

It's a matter that most men with small purses wish to deal, And tramps with empty pockets would like very much to feel;

While politicians of repute, and knaves who scorn the laws,

Have put forth plans by which they hoped to get it in their paws.

The Judge would now like to suggest a very easy way

By which the nation can be rid of it in half a day.

'Tis not to fortify the land with massive forts and guns, Or give it as a premium to the pension-agent duns;

Nor to erect post-offices in distant western spots Where there's but one inhabitant to fifty thousand lots. All that the treasury has to do is to open its vaults wide, And let the little Wizard and his Wall-street gang inside.

MAY POLES.

The honest man has to make up to the landlord what he loses by the rogue.

Some people who live in fine houses and pay big rents don't get enough to eat.

The quiet, modest man who moves in the night is probably trying to jump his rent.

The chess-player is not the only one at this time who does not know how to move.

The delinquent tenant, who has received notice to vacate, is apt to run down the house.

The cat which is turned out into the wide, wide world sees very little fun in moving.

The landlord who is anxious to get a tenant in is often more anxious to get him out.

The letter-carrier who went to the trouble to learn his route has had his pains for nothing.

The landlord is ready enough to fix the roof after you have given him notice that you intend to move.

Heiress—"All right. Present my name and compliments to the dear duke, and tell him I send telephone orders to-day, in my private cipher, for a solitaire diamond ring, sapphire scarf-pin, and check for $10,000 for his present contingencies, to be delivered at once. His name and address?"

No palace his, no office trim,
His place is near the sky;
Though mortal he, angelically
His work is done on high.

He cares but little for the news,
Nor walks the streets about,
But plies the shears through weary years
To fill his columns out.

He writes the copy, sets it up,
The proof corrects with care;
He runs the press, clears up the mess,
Is busy everywhere.

He duns his debtors o'er and o'er,
But finds results are slim,
And then, to add to all that's bad,
His creditors dun him.

The devil has an honest look
That much belies the youth;
He chews, he smokes, he swears, he jokes,
And always sheds the truth.

Sometimes life's sunbeams straggle in
And light his soul aglow,
His proud heart heaves when he receives
Free tickets for a show.

Sometimes the editor, worn out
With work and anxious cares,
O'ercome with grief, to seek relief
He, like the devil, swears.

No one assists him save a boy,
Well called the devil he,
And who will shirk the easiest work
Whate'er its nature be.

And when his life-long work is done,
His earthly troubles past,
Cares left behind, he'll surely find
His great reward at last.

POSTHUMOUS GRATITUDE.

Perkins had just died.
"His loss has touched me deeply."

"And quite naturally," remarked another, "seeing all the favors he has done you."

"Yes; but you see what causes me most sorrow is the thought of how many more I should have been the recipient of if he had only lived."

AFFECTED HIS MIND.

Jawkins has a very biased way of looking at everything."

Wiggins—"He can't help it, poor fellow. You know he's cross-eyed."

I WILL NOT INSURE MY LIFE

until I find a company that will guarantee some definite and reasonable return for payments already made, in case I accidentally neglect a premium or deliberately choose to discontinue the insurance.

The company you are in search of is THE MASSACHUSETTS MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, and it is also in search of you.

The Non-forfeiture law of Massachusetts applies only to the few companies whose home offices are in that state. By its terms, the company named above is compelled to give a definite amount of paid-up insurance to a policy-holder who fails to pay the premium for any year after the second, UNLESS he prefers to surrender his policy for a definite amount in cash!

This law is strictly automatic and needs no action on the part of the insured to make it apply.

Both CASH and PAID-UP VALUES FOR TWENTY YEARS TO COME ARE STATED IN EACH POLICY. Remember the name :

I haven't the courage to die, sir,
 Hardly the courage to live;
 Can't drink enough to forget, sir,
 Ain't Christian enough to forgive.

This was the wail of a man who had endured the tortures of “liver complaint” and dyspepsia for years; and he might have endured them for life had he not heard that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery would make him a well man. He gave it a trial and was cured. Once he was hollow-eyed, emaciated, and slowly tottering toward the tomb; but now he is vigorous, robust and healthy. There is nothing that can compare with the “Discovery” as a curative agent for sour stomach, constipation, impure blood and biliousness.

The worst cases of chronic Nasal Catarrh positively and permanently cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

LOW RATES TO NORTHWESTERN IOWA AND SOUTHERN DAKOTA.

April 24th, May 8th and 22d, and June 5th and 19th the Illinois Central Railroad will sell excursion tickets to Iowa Falls and all stations west on its line at rate of one fare for round trip, tickets good to return within thirty days, and good for stop-over privileges west of Iowa Falls.

For further particulars and copy of “Attractions of Northwestern Iowa and Southern Dakota” address F. B. Bowes, General Northern Passenger Agent, 121 Randolph Street, Chicago.

The firm of Sohmer & Co. has grown constantly in favor with the public since its founding, and this is a natural result on account of its reliability and trustworthiness. This firm has shown so much enterprise and real ability in the management and “push” of its business that even competitors freely acknowledge the leading position it occupies in the trade.

CAR-LOADS OF ORGANS

are being shipped daily from the Cornish Organ factory situated at Washington, New Jersey. This firm started a few years ago manufacturing instruments on a small scale, but when the superior qualities of their organs became known their trade increased with such rapidity that it necessitated the building of additional factories until to-day they have one of the largest and best equipped institutions upon the face of the globe. They are entirely responsible financially and enjoy an enviable reputation as organ manufacturers. Send for their handsome illustrated catalogues. Judge's
YOUNG FOLKS

An Illustrated Paper for Boys and Girls.

PRINTED IN COLORS.

PUBLISHED MONTHLY.

Price, 15 cents. Subscription, $1.50 per year.

The first number of JUDGE'S YOUNG FOLKS will appear about May 1st. It will consist of twenty-four handsomely printed and lithographed pages, and besides being profusely illustrated throughout with original black and white sketches by our own artists, it will contain one double and two single page illustrations executed

IN COLORS.

Something Never Undertaken Before by a Juvenile Publication.

No Sensational Reading or Pernicious Prints, but stories from the pens of such able contributors to juvenile literature as MARGARET EYTINGE, DANIEL C. BEARD, J. S. GOODWIN, MARY E. WILKINS, LAVINIA S. GOODWIN, H. S. KELLER, and others.

The forthcoming June number will contain an original story written expressly for JUDGE'S YOUNG FOLKS by Louise Stockton.

While entirely secular in its character, JUDGE'S YOUNG FOLKS will be at all times pure in tone and aim at a high standard of morality. It is not intended as a "funny paper," although it will always be enlivened by a liberal sprinkling of innocent humor into which not the slightest suggestion of vulgarity or coarseness will be allowed to enter. In short, it will contain nothing that will offend the most fastidious taste or suggest other than purely moral and healthful ideas to its youthful readers.

JUDGE'S YOUNG FOLKS can be had of all book-sellers and newsdealers.

Subscriptions should be sent direct to the publishers.

Sample copies gladly furnished on application.

MORE BACKS are drawn out of shape by the old-fashioned see-saw, rubbing, twisting, wrecking way of washing clothes and cleaning house than by any other means. You ruin your health, form, clothes, paint, and don't get the best results.

Try the greatest invention of this Century in the way of soap—James Pyle's PEARLINE. It does away with the rubbing, hence there is no wear and tear on body or fabric. You don't have to bob up and down over a tub of soiled clothing and dirty water, inhaling poisonous odors and steam; hence you save your health. Its success is marvellous. Millions use it. Millions more will use it. Economical—Effective—Harmless. Every grocer sells Pyle's Pearline. Beware of peddled imitations, they're dangerous. JAMES PYLE, New York.

 My dear Sir, Thanks for the copies of the "Richfield News". I once had a strong propensity against all society papers. Your very excellent paper has cured me. I now find it is a man of a man. We can talk about political matters without making a fool of himself.
 Sincerely yours,
 W. D. G. Green

The entertainments of the Dalys at Niblo's last week were exceedingly lively—a combination of circus and stage variety—but clean throughout and very amusing. The Dalys are nice without being naughty, and that means the happy medium as to fun.

$85 Solid Gold Watch Free 1

This splendid, solid gold, hunting-case watch, is now sold for $85; at that price it is the best bargain in America; until lately it could not be purchased for less than $100. We have both ladies' and gents' sizes with works and cases of equal value. ONE PERSON in each locality can secure one of these elegant watches absolutely FREE. These watches may be depended on, not only as solid gold, but as standing among the most perfect, correct and reliable timekeepers in the world. You ask how is this wonderful offer possible? We answer—we want one person in each locality to keep in their homes, and show to those who call, a complete line of our valuable and very useful HOUSEHOLD SAMPLES; these samples, as well as the watch, we send ABSOLUTELY FREE, and after you have kept them in your home for 2 months, and shown them to those who may have called, they become entirely your own property; it is possible to make this great offer, sending the Solid Gold Watch and large line of valuable samples FREE, for the reason that the showing of the samples in any locality, always results in a large trade for us; after our samples have been in a locality for a month or two, we usually get from $1,000 to $5,000 in trade from the surrounding country. Those who write to us at once will receive a great benefit for scarcely any work and trouble. This, the most remarkable and liberal offer ever known, is made in order that our valuable Household Samples may be placed at once where they can be seen, all over America; reader, it will be hardly any trouble for you to show them to those who may call at your home, and your reward will be most satisfactory. A postal card, on which to write us, costs but 1 cent, and if, after you know all, you do not care to go further, why no harm is done. But if you do send your address at once, you can secure, FREE, AN ELEGANT $85, SOLID GOLD, HUNTING-CASE WATCH and our large, complete line of valuable HOUSEHOLD SAMPLES. We pay all express, freight, etc. Address, STINSON & CO., BOX 265 PORTLAND, MAINE

"TOOTH BRUSH REFORM."

(From the Scientific American.)

"The bristles of tooth brushes are extremely harsh and unpleasant, producing unnecessary friction and wear upon the enamel, and inducing diseases of the gums. The bristles tooth brush has been used for so many years as to render it difficult to realize that anything better could be provided for the same purpose, still we here present a cut of a brush which, although of recent invention, has come into extensive use, and is favorably known where introduced. It is a tooth brush, or polisher, formed of felt.

"This brush conforms to all surfaces of the teeth, thoroughly cleansing and polishing them without undue friction, and without in any way injuring the gums. When one of the serrated felt tablets becomes worn it may be instantly replaced by a new one at slight expense."

An economy in expenditure! A luxury in results! The Holder, Imperishable, costs 35 cents. Felt Polishers only need be renewed. 18, Boxed, 25 cents. Each good for ten days' beneficial use. Sold everywhere, or mailed by Horsey Manufacturing Company, Utica, N. Y.

THE CAMPAIGN

Judge

Special Rates for Campaign Subscribers.

From June 2d to December 1st—26 Weeks—$2.00.

EVERY earnest, wide awake Republican should have JUDGE as a weekly visitor during the coming campaign. The JUDGE will be one of the most effective campaign papers in the country. It will furnish a pictorial history, in fact, of the liveliest political battle this country has ever witnessed. The campaign commences practically with the holding of the two great national conventions in June and closes about the second week in November. From June 2d, therefore, until December 1st, each issue of JUDGE will sparkle with sound aggressive republicanism. During this period of twenty-six weeks the publishers will send the paper post-paid for $2.00.

All subscriptions to the CAMPAIGN JUDGE are strictly payable in advance.
