ANNEX ABLE TO INTELLIGENCE INCL. TO OCCUPATION REPORT NO. 95

On 23 January 1946 the following incident occurred:

TSUTADA, Mutsuo, an interpreter employed by the regiment entered his private quarters and discovered a strange Japanese occupying it. The stranger assumed a possessive and highly arrogant air, smoking the interpreter's cigarettes and remaining seated on the table used by Tsutada.

Tsutada questioned his presence and the intruder retorted that he was there on official business and that he was from the Osaka Prefecture Office. He further stated that Tsutada was a lowly interpreter and a collaborator with the occupational forces. With that remark, Tsutada slapped the man and ordered him out of his room. The stranger was highly indignant and refused. At this point Mr. Hiraoka, in charge of the Seneca Laundry & Cleaners on the post, appeared at the scene and gave aid to Tsutada.

It was learned that the stranger was MATSUYAMA, Kiyoshi of the Osaka Pref. office, Commerce and Engineering Dept. He acted as liason between the Osaka Pref. office and 389th in turning over of Hirakata, arsenal to the Home Ministry. He had been at the 389th several times before the incident and knew where the authorized individuals were located, namely the 2nd Bn. C. O. who is directly in charge of the Hirakata target.

Matsuyama was taken to S-3 389th Inf. and was advised that in the future he was to conduct himself properly and that interpreters in the 389th were gentlemen and were to be treated as such. He was dismissed and the C. O. 389th was notified of the incident. The G-5 office, 98th Div. was consulted and appropriate action taken.

6. MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS:

On the afternoon of 23 January 1946 a letter document was received by the S-2 389th Infantry (see Exhibit Able)
The writer, Mrs. M. Toyama of Hamedera Park, Osaka-fu, tel. Hamadera 20, was interviewed by S-2 389th Inf. and found to be sincere in all respects to the contents of above mentioned letter.
It is therefore recommended that the matter be brought to the attention of the Allied Military Government (S-5) as this letter indicates a attitude trend in some Japanese circles which might bear encouragement and aid.
Exhibits Able, Baker, and Charlie are submitted for reference.

At approximately 2030 hours on 22 January 1946, an enlisted man observed a Japanese civilian brandishing a sword and was very vociferous towards other civilians. The soldier reported the incident to the S-2, 389th Inf.

On the morning of 24 January, S-2 389th Inf. visited the home of the above mentioned Japanese. The man was not at home but his mother denied any knowledge of a sword. After several questions and determined intentions of searching the house, she produced the sword.

Her son was a member of the Japanese Army, served in Wakayama and was released in August 1945. His name is TOMATSU, Kiyoji, age 21. His address is No. 21, 1 Cho-me, Kitanagao-cho, Sakai Shi. The sword has decorations identifying it as one belonging to a 1st or 2nd lieutenant, Japanese Army. The weapon is in the custody of S-2, 389th Inf.

6. MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS:

An officer of 389th reports an unfriendly action by a Japanese laborer at HIRAKATA Arsenal. TANAKA, Einosuke, 40 years of age, lives at No. 1090 Suyama Nakamiya, Hirakata Kitakawashi.

On the evening of 21 Jan 1946, the laborer was ordered from the military post by the officer concerned because he was intoxicated. The Japanese returned later and removed the unit target sign and threw it out on the street. The laborer is still at Hirakata and under observation.

On Friday afternoon, 18 January 1946, an officer of this Regiment missed two papers from his smoking stand and reported same to the Ex. O. of his Bn. The Ex. O. had earlier caught a Japanese laborer taking cigarettes from his own office. Monday, 21 Jan 46, the laborer was identified and questioned. He stated he had thrown the papers away. Trash cans were searched but to no avail. Two civilian detectives were consulted and a search of the laborer's home revealed the papers and a pair of Government Issue shoes. The offender was turned over to the Japanese police for punishment.

ANNEX ABLE TO INTELLIGENCE INCL. TO OCCUPATION REPORT NO. 88:

Two letters from Y. Kobayashi, a laborer discharged from Kanaoka Barracks on suspicion of espionage, are reproduced below. They were written to officers of the 2nd Bn., 389th Infantry.

1. To your Excellency:

I was excluded from this beloved camp on the ground that I served in the former Japanese Army for about one year, I cannot find no other reason. How happy I have been these several days! To work with you American soldiers has been my long cherished desire since I was discharged from the Japanese army soon after the capitulation. Since then I had been studying hard day and night to recollect my knowledge of English, which I got in my younger days. My heart was filled with hope as I gradually regained my knowledge of English. It is more than 6 years ago since my long-lasted days of ordeal. I was then studying very hard in order to obtain the liscense of a teacher of English in a secondary school. In the year I graduated from the commercial school of this city I tried an entrance examination to the Osaka College of Foreign Language, but in vain solely owing to weak constitution. In these days Japan was at the zenith of business depression. School graduates could scarcely find employment. The financial world was panic-stricken. The bank we deposited our money went into bankruptcy and I was forced to give up the idea of trying another entrance examination. I had been very fond of children and young boys from my younger days. I resolved to become a teacher of English. Thus my days of assiduous study began but I was baffled again in my attempt owing to illness. I was caught with a nervous prostration. After I recovered from this breakdown I found an employment. I was allowed to work as an inspector-assistant of a Japan Cotton Textile manufacturers. I had been working there as an inspector for about 11 years when I was called to the army on the 1st of June 1944. Till then I had been exempted from the military service on account of weak constitution. But the protracted war at last made it necessary to muster men of weak constitution. It was hard for me to go through the severe training of Japanese military life. They ignore the individual personality, we were whipped on the slightest provocation. I longed for the day of discharge. I became emaciated day by day on account of my aversion to military life. I saw many instances of class distinction there. The officers do not think of we privates. They forced us to do heavy labor on the simplest of fare. We were all skin and bones while officers were thriving on rich diet. I was awakened to the class distinction that separates the ruling classes from the lower masses. I am far from being a militarist. I am as good as any peace loving honest Japanese. Moreover in the love and appreciation of U.S. forces and the fervent desire to make Japan a country of peace-loving and cultured nation. I am second to none, I firmly believe. My love and reverence to God forbids me to tell a lie. I was too candid to tell a lie. There are many discharged men among the laborers working in this barracks. Why I was declined to work here I cannot fully understand the reason. I know the S.C.A.P. directives to exclude all vulnerable persons from the official post, but the directives are far from being applicable to my case. I was in the lowest rank of private in the Army and my true personality and character as such as I mentioned above. My heart once swelled in hope of leading a happy life with you American soldiers now shrinks with fear. I feel a deep sorrow. I am sad to think that I am misunderstood. I applied to the Osaka Prefectural Office to be recommended as an interpreter to the U.S. forces but my school education is only a secondary grade so I must study hard to become a fully qualified interpreter. Nothing surpasses my joy of heart than to be an interpreter. This is my simple joy. My face is lighted up when I see you American soldiers. This sad incident affects my love and respect of American soldiers not in the least. But by your good offices if I were to be allowed again to work here as a laborer how happy I should be. I know your Excellency is warmhearted as well as generous and broad-minded. I feel a celestial fire (a love of God) in your beaming beautiful eyes. I am sure you are kind enough to appreciate my true feeling. I should be very much obliged to you if I were permitted to enter this barracks again. Whatever labor it may be I should be very happy to do my duty to the best of my ability. I have no employment at present. I was discharged from my former position on account of scanty business caused by the shortage of matereal (textile industry). If I had not been called to the army, I could have been able to secure a position there. Having a year of my service in the army the business has changed to a large extent. Only few men accustomed to and skilled in the business there remained to the post. My former salary is far from being suffieient to support a family of four. Old as my father is, he is working in someway or other to make a living. My pay as a laborer is small but it cannot be said to be scanty compared to my former meager salary. Whatever labor it may be I shall be glad to undertake it. Please be good enough to appreciate my circumstances. I beg your pardon for my imprudence. Excuse me for this pencilling having no ink at hand.

I am Y. Kobayashi.

My address is:

Four blocks east of Hamadera-Ishizucho, Sakai City.

2. To the Commandant of E Company.

These several days my happiest days in my life has suddenly changed today to a day of deep sorrow. I was declined by Lt. Watson to work in this camp. The reason I cannot fully understand, but yesterday I was asked that what I was doing during the war and replied candidly that I served in the army for about a year and on his further inquiry I told Lt. Watson the unit I belonged in the Japanese Army. I suppose this is the reason that I was refused to work here. I cannot find any other reason I had better thought of this before. But I am honest. I have nothing to becloud my conscience. I don't want to tell a lie. I believe that to have served in the army as a petty private and going through many hardships we private soldiers had to suffer contributed immeasurably to my belief that military clique and financial magnate was the cancer of our people. The upper class wielded arbitrary power at the sacrifice of us lower class people. This belief united with my honest and peace-loving nature made me to resolve to do my best to learn English and to know the merits and culture of American people as much as I can so that I may be able to make our own people understand the goodness of American people. I detest the deterioration of morality of Japanese. They were not the cultured nation of the world even in the pre-war days. We cannot but be surprised to find that they were people of such low morality. I feel the need of over all reeducation of Japanese along the line of democracy. I have been always high in my praise of U.S. soldiers to my compatriots. I have nothing to becloud my belief that they are such a good people. But todays incident makes me sad to think that I was misunderstood. If I had been more prudent and concealed the fact that I served in the army for a year, I could have allowed to work here for many days in happiness. But I did not want to tell a lie. I did not thought at all that this fact would provoke you American soldiers' feeling. It is certain that there are many discharged men among the laborers working in this barracks. For almost all Japanese except the invalid were called to the army and did some work or another in the army. So I did not thought you would decline me if I tell the truth. I feel a deep sorrow in my mind and surely my parents and sister will feel the sme sorrow when I tell them this fact. I firmly believe that your officers and men of the orderly room of E Company understand my true character. I am deeply indebted to your kindness these several days. By your good offices If I were to allowed to work here as a laborer I could not express my gratitude to you. Please be kind enough to appreciate my feeling. I could not return home immediately so I wrote this letter to you. Excuse me for my lack of decency.

I am Y. Kobayashi

a. S-2, 389th Inf, submits the following report on Investigation of American Fliers' Graves:

On 12 Jan 46 a party of two officers, two enlisted men, and two Japanese guides investigated an alleged Allied grave at Tonohara. (See Southern Honshu 1/50,000 Sheet 5248-IV (1054.7 - 1198.2)

Tonohara is the nearest village to the location of the grave and scene of the B-29 crash. The grave location is about a 15-minute walk from Tonohara and is located at approximately (1054.3-1197.4). The grave is on the southwest bank of the Nishinotani Stream, a tributary of the Nyuno River. The crash occurred at this same location. The grave is a common one, and the exact number of bodies contained therein is unknown. FUKASE, Eiichiro, a guide from the village of Tonohara, stated that he thought there are 8 or 9 bodies, but since he wasn't at the scene of the burial he cannot be sure. The grave is deep, probably over six feet, according to reports of the natives. A new cross constructed of 4 X 4 timber has been erected upon a neat stone altar or platform. The grave showed signs of recent attention and was decorated with several vases of flowers and evergreen branches.

Snow covered the area, but upon investigation many parts of the plane were found. Only one small piece of metal was found containing any numbers. It is submitted as Exhibit A.

The following is the portion of this report gathered from the village folk:

The plane crashed 7 May 45 at about 1030 hours at Tonohara. Only four members of the crew escaped death. Two of the survivors were arrested at the village office the night of the crash. The next morning these two persons were sent to Gobo(1016-1207) by 7 members of the Kempei Tai and 25 soldiers of the 22nd Regiment from Osaka. They were transported by bus by way of Minabe and were blindfolded enroute. Four days later the other two survivors were arrested at Futakawa-mura, Nishimuro-gun. Later they were all sent to the Central Military Bureau at Osaka.

Of the first two survivors mentioned, one was the Pilot, a captain. His attitude was splendid. The other was an Engineer. The Captain, 23 years old, was found sitting on his parachute. When he was arrested he raised his hands and followed obediently. Samukawa AKITADA, chief of the association of soldiers at Kami Hanji Mura, untied the captives. AKITADA, a farmer and ex-serviceman at that time, is reported to be 40 years old, but he looks much younger. He told the captors not to persecute or injure the prisoners but be kind to them. He ordered food to be prepared and given to the prisoners. The Captain ate with pleasure. The Captain wanted to give his Pilot's wings to AKITADA and asked him when the trial was to take place. He wanted it quickly. AKITADA told him, "Never mind, be calm." IZUMI, Furukubo, a schoolteacher present at the scene, lives at Nishi village.

At the scene of the crash the people found three left legs, so they determined three men had died. A body was found under the plane with an unopened parachute. That made a total of four fatalities. The plane burned all day long, so nobody could approach it. The bodies were almost entirely consumed by fire. Some equipment, maps, documents, and parachutes were salvaged and taken to the Kempei Tai. People of Sokawa-mura saw the plane burst into flames and falter. It finally fell at Nishinotani Stream, Tonohara. All bodies were buried by representatives of the village. No identification tags were found.

It was estimated that the grave cost Y400, and 420 kilograms of rice were used to feed the party searching for the survivors.

It is rumored that the Kempei Tai Chief at Gobo was Lieutenant TONATSU, Yoshika.

Translations of Japanese reports state that the Captain's name was Max Perdon or Partin, the 20-year-old Engineer's name was Long Sparks, andthe outfit to which they belonged was Saipan Army No. 1329. Translation of characters on the cross: "Graveyard for Allied Forces Soldiers."

G-2, 389th Inf, feels a thorough search of the area might reveal identification marks of the plane. Also Mr. AKITADA, Nishi village, seems overanxious to volunteer information about the "favors" he did for the survivors. He might bear future questioning.

b. The following named man was discovered to be inquiring from enlisted men of Kanaoka Barracks the number of U.S. soldiers leaving the reservation for redeployment to the United States:

Name: KOBAYASHI, Yasuhisa
Address: Four blocks east of Hamadera-Ishizucho, Sakai.
Former profession: Inspector of the Japan Cotton Manufacturers' Association.
Japanese Army Unit: Anti-aircraft Guns for Costal Defense (the 6th Company of 121st Regt. of 15th Army) Called to the Army on 1 June 44. Discharged 21 Aug 45.

c. On 14 Jan 46 an officer of the 389th Inf. noticed two U.S. Army blankets in a laundry located at Hammancho Nishi 4 Chome 16 Banchi. The proprietor's name is KANJIRO, Susada. The officer told the proprietor to keep the blankets until the following day. Meanwhile the Japanese name appearing on the bundle was turned over to the police. On 15 Jan it was learned the police were unable to find such a person, and the bundle of laundry, a shirt and two U.S. blankets, was turned over to the Police at Abeno Police Station, Abeno, Osaka. The proprietor was instructed to advise the owner of the bundle to report to the station and explain how he came to possess the abovementioned U.S. property. The police are to notify the 389th Inf. if and when the owner makes his appearance.

6. MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS:

On 6 Jan 46 at about 1430, Pvt. Lawrence Pezzella, Pfc. Ray E. Black, Pvt. Vinson Wilde, all of Hq. Co. 2nd Bn, 389th Inf, stopped in front of the International Cabaret to talk to two Marines. A Japanese woman, age about 50, came by and paused to see what was going on. Pvt. Pezzella noticed that she had a set of identification tags wrapped around her fingers. When he tried to take them from her she said that they were a "Presento" and refused to give them up. He tried to ask her where she got them, but she didn't understand and kept saying "Presento," so they were taken from her forcibly. One of the Marines took out a pencil and paper so that Pvt. Pezzella could get the woman's name and then put the paper back into his pocket saying that the woman was panicky and wouldn't give her right name anyway. Pvt. Pezzella tried to convince him that she would give her right name, and that it was important that he get it, but the Marine declined and told the woman to go. The Marines had arrived in a taxi and claimed to be MPs. One of them had a bassard in his pocket and "MP Battalion" stenciled on his jacket. Pvt. Pezzella turned the identification tags and a full report in to Lt. Watson, S-3, 2nd Bn, 389th Inf. at 0830, 7 Jan 46.

6. MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS:

On 4 January 1946 1st Lt. F. M. Watson, 1st Bn. S-2, conducted an investigation at Otsu concerning an alleged Allied grave. The following is his report:

TANAKA, Hisato, is believed to possess information concerning the burial of an Allied body near Okada. Various individuals around Ichiba and Okada state that this man has knowledge of the incident, and some say he is the one who called the Kempei Tai from Sano. He is now stationed at Otsu, and he admits having been at Ichiba in late July as a policeman but denies that he has knowledge of any Allied bodies or graves.

At the time he was questioned, he had just returned from a New Year's party but seemed to be reasonably sober. Even though he was asked again and again for any scrap of information, his reply was always, "I don't know," followed followed by suggestions of other people who might know something.

6. MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS:

The attached letter was delivered to this Headquarters 26 December 1945. The mimeographed sheet has been translated as follows:

"Solicitation

December 20, 1945

Under the present hard and unstable circumstances of prices rising in the post-war time, as you are informed in newspapers, school teachers, who are endeavoring in establishing a new order of education, are hard put to living, especially from their standpoint as teachers.

At this time, wishing, as their pupils guardians, to lend them any assistance and get them to make more effort in their duty, we, committees, have had a meeting and reached a conclusion as follows -- in the expectation that any means of improving the treatment is taken by the government in coming April onward, a fund for support will be given them by our association till March by the undermentioned way.

In order to avoid any trouble in the year end busy time, we have got this resolution without talking over with every one of you. We sincerely hope you would kindly agree to us and render any assistance.

1. December to March: One application for 10 Yen - monthly.
   One application for 10 Yen - at the years' end.
   Special rewards - 50 Yen totally.
   (Monthly divided payment at your option.)
2. Please come and pay to the committees on the 22nd and 24th this month at Mikunioka Primary School and Koyo Primary School.
3. Guardian who prefers monthly payment will do so on every 22nd, January and onward (in case of holiday, on the next day.).

Association of Guardians
Mikunioka Primary School
Koyo Primary School"

The hand written sheet has been hastily translated as follows:

"My boy has got the paper at his school as you see now in this envelope. Supposing from it, some parents of school boys and girls are going to help the teachers by money because they are very much depressed by the inflation. But, as for the inflation, we are now in same bad situation. And also the teachers get salary from government regularly. They are well treated. To help teachers by money is to abuse them, I am sure, or I wonder that teachers of the present time will be glad if they can get money only. As the other paper shows it to you, we parents have to pay ten (10) Yen per one child. And now, I have two children who attend the same school. Twenty (20) Yen for a month is too heavy for us low salaried people. And one teacher is in charge of 50 children. Suppose they get 500 Yen monthly besides their salary.

It is a great black market. Oh! Our powerful Allied troops! Won't you mind to call the prefectural governor and tell him to take back thatuunreasonable plan.

(Signed) Father of a child that is a school boy of Mikunigaoka Primary School."
