BALTIMORE.

The City of Baltimore, the metropolis of not only the State of Maryland, but of the Southern States, is conspicuous as well for its rapid growth as for its present splendor and prosperity. It is admirably situated both for foreign and domestic commerce, being in a central position on the Atlantic coast, on a magnificent sheet of water, deep throughout its entire extent, and navigable for vessels of the largest size. Built as it is, upon hill slopes and terraces, its appearance challenges the admiration of every one, and is perhaps more picturesque and pleasant than that of any other city in the United States. The city is bounded on the north, east and west, by broad, straight avenues, and on the south by the Patapsco River, whose branches make deep indentations into the land. The inner basin extends up to the business portion of the city, and admits vessels of light draught, while the lower harbor has a depth sufficient for the largest ships.

A stream, called Jones' Falls, passes through the city, from north to south, emptying into the harbor, and divides the city into two portions. From this fact, the prefixes east and west are given to such streets as cross the falls, or run east and west, and thus the distinction of numbering is indicated. Baltimore street, the great central thoroughfare, (running east and west) and a fashionable promenade, is numbered in both directions from the Falls, as are the other streets running parallel with it. The central street running north and south is Charles street. Streets running in this direction are named and numbered each way from their intersection with Baltimore street, as North Charles street, South Charles street, etc. The first house built upon the present site of Baltimore was in 1682, by David Jones, from whom Jones' Falls derives its name. In 1729 an Act of Assembly was passed for "erecting a town on the north side of the Patapsco, in Baltimore County." January, 1730, the town was surveyed off into lots, and the name Baltimore given it in honor of Lord Baltimore. In 1780, it became a port of entry. In 1782, the first pavements were laid on Baltimore street. In 1797, the corporate charter of the city begun with a population of about 17,000, since which time its history has been that of a constant growth in population and wealth.

Merchants and others visiting Baltimore, must note the wonderful changes and improvements all over her borders within the past two or three years. Baltimore is not now confined to the two great staple articles, "flour and tobacco," for which she is the greatest market in the United States, if not in the world, but her enterprising merchants can show large and attractive lines of all classes of merchandise, at prices and rates to compete with any market in the country.

ROOFING.

Those in need of good and substantial roofs will consult their interests by examining our

IMPROVED PLASTIC SLATE

AND

ENGLISH FELT ROOFING, BEFORE MAKING CONTRACTS.

Considering its cheapness, durability and its imperviousness to water and fire, it is equal if not superior to any roofing in use. Its ease of application and perfect adaptation to roofs of any shape, must commend it to the favorable consideration of the public. Valleys of any shape made without the use of metals.

FOR LEAKY SHINGLE ROOFS.

It frequently happens that property owners wish to avoid exposing their buildings to the weather: this can be applied over the shingles with certain success, at less cost than re-shingling. In all cases we use the English Roofing Felt which is vastly superior to the tarred paper,

FOR METAL ROOFS.

Being Anti-corrosive no chemical preparation has yet been discovered which so effectually and securely protects metal roofs from the action of the atmosphere and hence from rust, corrosion and decay as the

IMPROVED PLASTIC SLATE.

For Damp Walls as a remedy it is unequalled, also as an inter-lining for stable floors.

PARKS AND PUBLIC SQUARES.

DRUID HILL, situated in the north-western portion of the city, contains seven hundred acres of land, and is at present the most beautiful Park in America. Take either Citizens' Railway Company Line or Madison Avenue, going west.

PATTERSON PARK, in eastern section of the city, contains 76 acres. From any part of the grounds a magnificent view can be obtained of the harbor and Chesapeake Bay. Take Citizens' Railway Company Line going east.

Baltimore has a number of Public Squares distributed in different portions of the city. In the western section are Union, Franklin and Harlem Squares; in the north-west, La-Fayette Square; in the central, Monument Square and the City Spring; in the north-east, Madison Square; in the east, Jackson Square and the Eastern City Spring, and in the south, Battery Square. These Squares are supplied with wells and springs of water, some of which are noted for their mineral properties, (by the inhabitants in their immediate vicinity.) These Squares are the resorts of hundreds of our citizens during the summer months.

LAKES AND RESERVOIRS.

SWAN LAKE,

an artificial reservoir, is situated about 8 miles from the City, at the head of Jones Falls, near the Relay House, on the Northern Central Rail Way, covers 116 acres, is 235 feet above tide-water, and contains about 500,000,000 gallons. From the lake a brick conduit or aqueduct conveys the water to a small basin, situated on the Falls Road, opposite Druid Hill Park. It contains eight acres, is 217 feet higher than tide-water, holds some 50,000,000 gallons. From this reservoir pipes extend across the Falls and along the Railway to located on North Avenue, overlooking the City and Bay. This reservoir is circular in form, with a capacity for 30,000,000 gallons. From this reservoir the distribution pipes extend throughout the City.

LAKE CHAPMAN,

situated in the southern part of, and at the main entrance to Druid Hill Park, secures to the City a still more abundant supply of water. Its capacity is 600,000,000 gallons, or enough to supply the City at the rate of 100,000,000 gallons daily. The Peabody Heights and Waverly Passenger Cars pass within a short distance of it.

The second annual session of the Maryland Dental College will commence October 1st, 1874 and continue until March 1875. Clinical lectures only will be delivered during the first month; the regular course commencing November 1st.

The course of instruction pursued is that which, in the opinion of the Faculty, is best calculated to teach both the art and science of Dental Surgery. It is eminently practical. Lectures, both Didactic and Clinical, will be delivered daily throughout the session, while the Infirmary, under the charge of the Clinical Professor and Demonstrators, is open during the entire year. The Faculty with one exception, being actively engaged in the practice of Dentistry, will assist the Clinical Professor in his lectures and operations, thus enabling the student to become more familiar with the different styles of operating.

Graduates of this college will be received as second course students at the medical school of the Washington University, and at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.
