MARKED INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN THE WORK OF THE GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY

A very interesting visitor at the Garden Society's headquarters this week was Mr. H. D. Potter, who is about to experiment in moss work, with a view to exhibiting moss pictures at the Glendale Flower Show in April. Mr. Potter has seen some very beautiful work in moss at Flower Shows up north, and intends starting at once to evolve something similar. The Garden Society will watch his experiments with much interest.

Another visitor was Mrs. G. F. Taylor of 883 S. Louise, wife of Professor Taylor of the High School. This lady has become greatly interested in the subject of hanging baskets, and has asked Mr. A. Hommel, secretary of the Garden Society, and expert on the making of handsome willow baskets, to initiate her into the mysteries of this art. Mrs. Taylor will fill her basket when made with ferns and vinca major; we are delighted to welcome such an enthusiastic new member.

Dr. L. H. Hurrst, former president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, has joined the ranks of the Garden society. He is a lover of all things beautiful, and is especially interested in the city window box campaign; he believes that a city beautiful can be achieved necessarily, not by the spending of much money, but by the individual initiative and enterprise of each resident. We would not be surprised to hear that Dr. Hurrst himself would start a window box in his own office.

Mrs. A. J. Harrison of 1422 Riverdale Drive also visited headquarters this week; and offered plants of shasta daisies and smilax to any member of the Garden Society; this offer should be taken advantage of by members this week, as Mrs. Harrison is thinning out her shasta daisies and wants to get rid of them soon. Mrs. Ella Richardson also offers cuttings of pink carnations and red and yellow cannas.

The Plant Exchange, open to members and those joining the society, consists at present of the following plants: Coreopsis, oxalis, vinca major (the trailing plant used in the Hamburger window boxes), shasta daisies and smilax. Any of these plants are worth the annual dues of the Garden Society, which are but 25 cents per annum.

All our members are genuinely enthusiastic, they are live wires. It is the concerted effort of our eighty-five members which makes it possible to contemplate giving a Free Flower Show next April; which makes it possible to benefit each other by an exchange of plants; which makes it possible to start Potato clubs for boys; possible to interest such citizens as Mr. A. Hommel, willing to give up his time to the gratuitous demonstration of how to make handsome and lasting hanging baskets; as Judge Harry Miller willing to give up his time to the making of window boxes for the use of the merchants of Glendale in their stores and offices; which makes it possible to hold such successful public, illustrated lectures as that given last November and the lecture to be given Feb. 3.

INSTALL OFFICERS

The Carnation Chapter of the Rebecca Lodge held their installation of officers for the ensuing year on Monday evening, in the Odd Fellows' Chapter room.

Mrs. H. C. Smith, Past Noble Grand, presided. To fill offices for 1916 are Miss Mary Arbuthnot, Noble Grand; Mrs. Jones, Vice Grand; Mrs. Geo. W. Allen, Recording Secretary; Miss Edith Foss, Financial Secretary; Mrs. W. H. Hartley, Treasurer; Mrs. Anna Current, Right Supporter Noble Grand; Miss Zaida Sprinkle, Left Supporter Noble Grand; Mrs. T. C. Arbuthnot, Right Supporter Vice Grand; Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, Chaplain; Earl Le Roe, Outside Guard and W. H. Hartley, Inside Guard.

LECTURE ON "EARLY CALIFORNIA"

What is certain to prove a most interesting lecture on "Early California," will be given by Mr. J. H. Braly of 205 N. Brand boulevard, at the Wednesday Morning Clubhouse, Los Angeles. Mr. Braly was one of the early settlers in California, having traveled hither by the overland route. His knowledge of the early days is unique and profound. Residents of Glendale are specially invited.

WEATHER FORECAST—Increasing cloudiness; warmer tonight and Thursday; northerly to southwesterly winds.

RESULT OF ELECTION

LITTLE INTEREST TAKEN IN THE BOND QUESTIONS—BOTH ISSUES LOST

Out of a voters' roll of 3900, which was the number of sample ballots mailed to the voters by the city clerk, only 1017 ballots were cast at the bond election yesterday. It the early part of the day it was manifest that the vote would be light. It was so light that the counting of the vote was completed at an early hour Tuesday night and the result known over a great part of the city before 9 p. m.

Not even the most sanguine of the supporters of the Wash Protection bonds expected that they would carry; though naturally a fairly good campaign was made in their behalf; but it was thought that the fire bonds would be found acceptable to the citizens. They have gone down with the others.

By the non-participation of 2883 voters in the election the decision regarding these bonds was left to an interested minority. The heavy vote in No. 3 precinct where the body of the opposition resides was a deciding factor in the election, along with the indifference of the majority of the voters.

Following is the vote by precincts:

Fire Bonds

FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Many pre-nuptial social attentions are being paid, Miss Alice Patterson, talented daughter of Mrs. Minnie Patterson, who on the 25th instant will become the bride of Mr. George J. Lyons. Closely following the linen shower given by Mrs. A. S. Chase, was the kitchen shower given for Miss Patterson on Monday afternoon, having as its hostess Mrs. John W. Lyons of 1471 Ivy street.

Pink Enchantress carnations and ferns formed the decorative motif in its entirety. Contests, music and conversation occupied the afternoon hours. At 5 o'clock supper was announced and the guests repaired to the dining-room, where a most elaborate repast was served. Gilt "wish-bones" adorned with wee bows of pink tulle marked covers for the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Patterson, Mrs. M. Lyons, Mrs. Wightman, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mrs. N. C. Patterson, Mrs. Earl Bryant, Miss Erma Patterson, Miss Ott, Miss Clara Midcall and the hostess. Following supper the gifts were presented the bride-to-be in a huge rolling-pin, constructed of pasteboard and heavy paper.

RECORD BUSINESS IN RAISINS

Last year proved a record one with California raisin growers. It is reported that the California Associated Raisin company's shipments for November reached 30,796 tons valued at over $3,500,000. The shipments for November, 1914, were only 11,332 tons. Shipments during October and November reached 70,000 tons. This great increase in demand this year is due to the European war which developed a big export demand and there has been an increased home demand resulting from the better employment of labor and greater business activity in the East and Central West. The exports from San Francisco alone for November were 2,799,512 pounds.

Mr. Lawrence Ellis of 541 South Kenwood left Wednesday morning for Chicago and New York, on his semi-annual business trip. Bullocks, of Los Angeles, send Mr. Ellis east twice a year, as exclusive buyer for their art department.

WITH LIBRARY HEADS

MEETING OF SIXTH DISTRICT OFFICIALS—REORGANIZATION OF BOARD

There was a large attendance of library heads and assistants at the meeting of the Sixth Library district officials, held Saturday, January 8, in the Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles. Mrs. Mary Howard Braly and Mrs. Freeman Kelley, members of the Glendale Library board, were present as was also Mrs. Danford, librarian of the Glendale Public library. Miss Nichols, first assistant, attended the morning session, and Miss Roberts, second assistant, attended the afternoon session. Much that was of interest was discussed at this meeting. Methods and results were compared and altogether the gathering afforded much stimulation for the year's work.

Glendale Public Library board has undergone reorganization. Mrs. Freeman Kelley was elected a new member of the board in December and has taken up the work of the board with enthusiasm and energy. She brings to this new field a wide acquaintance with literature and a profound sympathy with all branches of human knowledge. She is certain to prove a valuable member. Dr. Bryant was again elected president of the board, which under his tactful guidance is doing its best to build up a creditable library in the city.

Among the new books recently acquired by the library is "Memory Pictures," by Mr. J. H. Braly, of 205 N. Brand avenue. Mr. Braly came across country to California, in the early days, with a "prairie schooner" party. As one of the pioneers of the State he has many interesting things to tell. This he does most interestingly in his volume, which has been published for private circulation only. The volume, a copy of which Mr. Braly has presented to the Glendale Public library, is profusely and appropriately illustrated and is altogether creditable to Mr. Braly's good taste.

Mrs. Mary Howard Braly, who has done much excellent work on the Library board, has presented a fine photograph of herself to the library. This will be given a prominent place in the library.

GLENDALE LOSES CLOSE GAMES

In the opening game of the Southern California A. A. U. basketball series, played last night at the Glendale Athletic club's gymnasium at the corner of First and Glendale, Glendale lost both games after a very exciting and exceedingly close contest. In the game between the 140-lb. teams the result was a tie—30-30. According to the rules governing the contest the tie was played off; but the first, second and third attempts to settle it were also ties. Finally a fourth try was made when Los Angeles Athletics scored one point. This gave them the game, 31-30.

Glendale's unlimited team then entered the lists with the Los Angeles unlimited. In the first half Glendale was ahead 12 to 7, playing a first-class game. Somehow or other, however, the Glendale men weakened in the second half and the Los Angeles boys ran away with the game by a score of 25-19. This by no means settles the contest for supremacy between Los Angeles Athletics and Glendale Athletics. The two teams will meet again later on in the series. By that time Glendale hopes to be in such shape as to even up the score of Tuesday night. Los Angeles Athletics have the reputation of being the best coached team in the league.

Glendale Athletic Club's gymnasium was crowded to its capacity to witness the game. There was a good attendance of both sexes and the crowd was rewarded for its attendance by seeing two of the fastest games ever played in this city. The 140-lb. teams particularly, played a spectacular game, amid great excitement when it became manifest that the game was tied. This team will play a game next Friday with the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A.

Fifteen more games are to be played by both teams. The next will be with Whittier College at Whittier.

WOMAN'S GUILD GOES TO CITY

Wednesday, January 19, the members of the Woman's Guild of Saint Mark's Episcopal Church have been invited to hold an all-day meeting with Mrs. Howland at 2252 Hobart boulevard, Los Angeles. Mrs. Howland lived in Glendale up to a short time ago and was particularly active in church work. The ladies will leave Glendale quite early and Mrs. Howland directs them to take the Washington street car, marked North La Salle. For further information call Mrs. John T. Crampton, president of the Guild.

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

BASKETBALL VICTORY—SENIOR FARCE PROVES SUCCESS—MUSICAL DELIGHTS

Glendale vs. Harvard

Another victory in basketball was given to Glendale when the local goal shooters defeated Harvard Military Academy by the score of 22 to 20. The Glendale players were J. Shea, T. Phillips, M. Powers, D. Hagin, O. Williams, M. Francy, W. Renshaw and R. Kolts (capt.). Harvard produced an especially good team and the game was closer than was expected.

The next basketball game will be a practice game with Fullerton Junior College on the home grounds next Saturday at 2:30. On the following Saturday Glendale will meet Alhambra High in the fourth league game of the season. This game promises to be the best and most exciting one of the season, as the result will determine whether or not Glendale will remain in line for the championship. This game will be played on the local court and every student in the school should turn out and support the team.

"The Scientific Country School" The Senior farce which was given as a pay assembly last Friday proved in every way successful. The heaviest part of the play, that of the school marm, was taken by Rachel McClure, who did especially good work. The board of directors consisted of I. S. Brown, Richard Burk and Mervyn Mills. The school children, whose ages ranged from four to nine, were William Bode, Mary Jane Evans, Ruth Wilson, Howard Stickney, Katherine Green, J. T. Beach, Dorothy Cloud, Henson Garrot, Willard Learned, Aldine Norton and William Renshaw. The costumes were quite amusing and the pieces were recited almost as well as those given by the Scrubs in their Oral English classes.

The part of "Maude Muller" was very well taken by Vera Bayard, and Lola East and Jamie Shea in the parts of "Lord Ronald" and "Lady Clare" certainly did themselves justice. Rebecca Gregg, Edith Ewins, Myrtle Tummel, Mary Hunt, Martha Sinclair and Margaret McPherson, as the children who lived in the shoe, did very nicely. The "Babes in the Wood" were represented by Ruth Noffsiger and Dudley Pigg. Robert Burk, as Director Shock's Double caused quite a laugh. Walter Beach and Joseph Maier also did some good acting.

The Seniors are very well satisfied as they realized about fifty dollars on the play. A great deal of credit is due to Miss Terry, who produced the play so well, even with the handicap of a very large cast.

New Yell Leader

At the last meeting of the Student Body, Fred Dodge was unanimously elected the school yell leader. We hope that with such an able leader our yelling will improve. Besides being a good yell leader, the young Freshman also has the power of organizing, and has taken steps toward forming a new organization in the school, a rooters' club. We hope that before many weeks we will be able to hear some good loud noise in assembly.

Musical Program

Last Friday afternoon everyone was greatly delighted to see Julius Kranz and Miss Mellicent Virden at the High School. Mr. Kranz, who was in the class of 1913, is a talented and well known violinist. He played a "Canzonetta" by Tchaikowsky, "Caprice Viennois" by Kreisler and for an encore played a Berceuse of his own composition. Miss Virden played "The Last Movement" by Tarentella from Chopin's Sonata, and "Musical Clock" by Liadow. The program was greatly appreciated by the students.

NO SURPRISE

That the bond election did not carry at Tuesday's election was not a surprise to anyone. Many property owners prefer to run the risk of there being no damaging floods in the future rather than have an additional bonded indebtedness placed on the city. However, the wash channel is still in existence and there will be no harm in its existence if there are no floods, but if the big floods come, it is well known that the condition of the wash is such that they can not be carried within its channels.

The city trustees, in calling the bond election, have relieved themselves of all responsibility. Now the responsibility rests upon the voters. It is the hope of every well-meaning citizen that there will be no destructive floods, but if such floods do come and damage is done by them, the city officials can not be pointed to as having been careless in the performance of their duties.

MONTENEGRO'S GALLANT STAND

There is not a braver nation on earth than the Montenegrins. They have occupied their mountain fastnesses for centuries and have bidden defiance to the invading Turkish and Austrian hosts. Not for the first time has Montenegro faced those cruel foes. Every time she has so faced them they have been beaten.

Now raging all over the stricken lands of Serbia and the "plain of the swallow" the Austrians and the Germans have come again to try to batter down the defenses of the Montenegrins and to bind their heroic souls in chains. Up to the present, even with the boasted "skoda" giant mortar, of the latest type, they have not been able to do more than drive back those gallant mountaineers a few miles.

Montenegro is but a small country; but it is repeating in modern times what Andreas Hofer and his gallant Swiss followers did to the Austrians in the olden days. Among their native mountains the handful of Montenegrins are still holding back the foe and even making aggressive attacks on his ranks. Led by their grand old poet king, Nikola, who, like David of old, is as good a poet as he is a fighter, the soul of this heroic race has proved equal as yet to the difficult task before it.

Founded at by modern rapid-fire guns; their trenches and native rocks battered to pieces by a diabolical rain of high explosive shells; bleeding from a thousand wounds, Montenegro still holds out and calmly awaits the outcome in firm belief that God is on her side, not only giving as good as she gets, but slaying ten of the enemy to everyone of her own men. The other day after a fierce attack by the Austrians the Montenegrins had to climb over heaps of Austrian dead to get back into the trenches whence they had come to repel their assault.

The Montenegrin is tall, wonderfully muscular and a natural fighter and marksman. If he can only hold his native hills until Russian forces come to his aid with more men and more ammunition the Austrians will not be able to repeat in this brave land the carnage and desolation they and the Germans have wrought in Serbia.

Related to the King of Italy in the capacity of father-in-law, King Nikola might expect help from that source also; but the very nature of the rocky mountains of Serbia and Montenegro which constitute so great a part of their defence, makes it difficult for Italian troops to cross them. Still King Nikola and his gallant mountaineers may be counted on to give Austria a hard task to battle her way half-roads to Cetinje, the mountain capital; for it is not likely they will ever get any farther. Once upon a time in the days of King Nikola's father the Turks thought they had beaten the Montenegrins. They had managed to reach half-way up the mountains; when on their attempting further advance they were repulsed with so great slaughter that since that time they have left Montenegro severely alone. Now it is Austria's turn to learn the mettle of that pasture.

NATIONAL SCENERY ASSETS

There is little or no American travel in Europe this season. This has doubtless been a blessing to the scenic sections of the United States. Travel in California increased to an enormous extent as is witnessed by the eighteen million visitors to the World's Fair at San Francisco. This travel, too, brought many people in contact with new scenic routes. Travel through the Yosemite Valley and Yellowstone Park was greatly increased.

Besides this those who came to Southern California took in the fine trips out from Los Angeles, Glendale and San Diego. The people thus made acquainted with the beauties of the national scenery on the California coast and in the heart of the State and in Colorado and Arizona have gone back to tell of the wonders they have seen. This will bring about more travel this year, especially as the San Diego Fair is to be an attraction.

During the year that is past a new national park of distinction and unusual accessibility has come into existence. This is certain to attract many visitors as the usual travel routes in Europe will be closed this year also. The new park crosses the Rockies in Colorado at a point of supreme magnificence; hence its title, the Rocky Mountain park. Through it from north to south, winds the Continental Divide—the Snowy range in name and fact. Two hundred lakes grace this rocky paradise and bear and bighorn inhabit its fastnesses. It has an area of 350 square miles and lies only 70 miles from Denver. This is Colorado's second national park, the other being the Mesa Verde, where last summer prehistoric ruins of immense scientific interest were uncovered.

While California has been hesitating about building roads into some of its best scenic territory and at last election turned down a well conceived scheme of this nature, neighboring States have not been so backward. Oregon has recently completed a great highway along the Columbia river. This is likely ere long to be connected by road with Mount Hood and a portion of the forest reserve is certain to be converted into a national park. As a rival to such a park as that, California, however, could show Sequoia Park. Those who have traveled through that home of the giant redwoods can testify that if its limits were extended so as to include the Kern river canyon a great region of astounding beauty would be preserved to the nation. This plan should be advocated strongly by those who have the interests of California at heart. The lumber merchants are gradually encroaching on this magnificent forest home and ere long will have denuded it of all its beauty.

All these parks and domains are essential to the preservation of the finest features of the national scenery. No sacrilegious hands should be laid on them. They should be opened up thoroughly by road and trail and access given to them, while at the same time hotels and inns of every kind should be built to accommodate every kind of traveler. An attempt is being made to do this in various scenic centers and the new hotels have found ample patronage and have justified their existence.

It is hoped that Congress will make the funds available for the construction of roads over which automobiles may travel with safety and for trails to hunt out the hidden places of beauty and dignity. Should this be done, year by year these parks will become a cherished possession of the people, which will stimulate them to further discovery of their native land and make them further acquainted with its wealth of resources both esthetic and material.

THE PLAY'S THE THING, BUT—

The play's the thing, of course. Dramatists have averred this ever since the idea was crystallized in concise form by the greatest of all dramatists. The rule holds true in respect to the Masonic production of "A Bachelor's Romance" at the Palace Grand theatre on Thursday and Friday evenings, the 13th and 14th. It requires a skilled master to get the best out of, even an apt pupil—also, a thing may be either large or small.

So much for moralizing. The point is, the coming production would have been good enough in itself to have achieved success, but under the skilled directorship of Mr. Willis Marks this production of a "Bachelor's Romance" will be a triumph. Mr. Marks was for many years a favorite member of the old Burbank Stock company, more recently playing in moving pictures. The many years' experience in the theatrical business have fitted him most admirably for his work in the producing field. He has been the man behind the "script" in nearly all the notable college and fraternal productions of Southern California.

Mr. Marks is assisted in his work by Mrs. Marks, who is of great service in the development of feminine roles. The Marks are residents of Glendale and among the most ardent admirers of the Jewel City.

School authorities are determined that the "frats" must go. Just what is the age at which the male is permitted to indulge in grips and passwords?

RICH CAKE

One and a half pounds flour, one pound castor sugar, one pound butter, one pound sultanas, one-half pound currants, one-half pound raisins, one and a half ounces mixed peel, one nutmeg, one teaspoon mixed spice, one teaspoon flavoring, one teaspoon carbonate soda, one tablespoon vinegar (put on soda in a teacup last of all), six eggs.

Cream butter, put sugar in, beat eggs up and put in gradually. Warm basin, put in butter and beat up with a wooden spoon. Mix fruit, flour, etc., and gradually add it to batter and eggs. Add soda and vinegar last, and a little milk if required. Make a good stiff batter so that it will drop off the spoon but not run.

The new Royal

Price $100
 $125 in Canada

The Herald of Better Service

IN the arena of "Big Business" has appeared a new steel-brained champion, the Master-Model of the Royal—the machine with the rapid-fire action; the typewriter that fires letters as an automatic gun spits bullets!

Unless you are "Royalized," you are paying the price of the Royal without knowing it—besides that of your old-style machine—in the higher cost of your business letters.

Built for "Big Business" and its Great Army of Expert Operators

This master-machine does the work of several typewriters in one—it writes, types cards and bills! The one machine does it all—without any "special" attachments.

Get the Facts!

Send for the "Royal man" and ask for a DEMONSTRATION. Investigate the new machine that takes the "grind" out of type-writing. Or write us direct for our new brochure, "BETTER SERVICE," and book of facts on Touch Typing—with a handsome Color-Photograph of the new Royal Master-Model 10, sent free to typewriter users. "Write now—right now!"

Y. P. B. MEETING

The Glendale Y. P. B. held a very interesting meeting Tuesday evening, Jan. 11, at the home of the president, Miss Vivian Engle, 340 W. 5th St. One of the important matters to come before the Branch was the election of a new treasurer, Mr. Will Marple being elected for the remainder of the year. Our state president, Mr. A. L. Hollinger of Altadena, was present and gave a short address. He said, "At the last California Dry election, we didn't get what we were after. We buried King Alcohol with his hands and feet so that he could dig out, but at the next election we are going to bury him face downward, so that instead of digging himself out he will dig down and bury himself deeper." Mr. Hollinger also spoke of the part that the Young Peoples' Branch are going to have in the next "Dry Campaign." We want to say right here that all young people interested in the temperance work are very urgently requested to unite with the local branch. At the close of last night's meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by our hostess, assisted by her mother and two sisters, Misses Helen and Alma Engle.

MRS. GARRETT DIRECTOR

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, under the direction of Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett, has just completed a very profitable half year work. This section of the club is a very creditable one and the meetings held on the first and third Monday of each month are well attended.

Mrs. Garrett's work is being watched by Los Angeles clubdom with much interest and she is making a way for herself among the foremost Shakespearian instructors. Under her guidance the Glendale section has completed the drama "Antony and Cleopatra" and has also found time to study Roman and Egyptian history, Renaissance, Literature and Drama and the story of Poet Life.

On January 17, the section will hold an open meeting as a fitting climax to so interesting a subject. Guests will be invited to attend this meeting, to be held at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Evans, Orange street.

The program under the direction of Mrs. Garrett will be a resume of the work accomplished by the class. Mrs. Garrett is to open the meeting with a talk on the Renaissance. Papers will be read by Mrs. Ernest Kimball, Mrs. Harry Lockwood and Mrs. Henry P. Goodwin.

Mrs. Ra-ph T. Hickcox of Los Angeles will close the program with a reading, giving the scenes between Antony and Cleopatra.

Tea will follow, served by the section members.

RISE IN LEATHER

F. J. MILES SAYS SHOE REPAIR MATERIAL OF ALL KINDS HAS ADVANCED IN PRICE

In common with other material of daily use leather is experiencing an advance in price. Indeed, it has been experiencing that advance for some time. For more than a year the rise in prices of leather has been noticeable. F. J. Miles, proprietor of the Goodyear Shoe Repair shop, 533 W. Broadway, has been dealing in leather of all kinds for a long time. He says: "Leather has been gradually rising in price for some time past. California oak sole leather has advanced more than 15 per cent in that time. We are now paying $7.80 for ten pounds of that kind of leather."

"In like manner Eastern White Oak has risen to $8.35 a dozen blocks—that is about ten pounds. These small square blocks have not much waste in them. There may be a little waste but even the pieces we can use for heel work; so that apart from the increased price we do not lose much. With those advanced prices, however, the margin of profit it has been cut to a very narrow edge, as prices for repair work have not gone up in the past year. This Eastern White Oak leather comes from the United States Leather company."

"Inquiry into the rise of prices brings various explanations. Some assert that the increased use of horses and mules in the European war is a reason; others that the dearth in the supply of cattle is a reason and still others that prices have merely risen in sympathy with other prices. I suppose there is something in all the reasons; though really the number of horses sent to Europe is a very small percentage of the American supply."

"It is curious to note that shoe laces have advanced in price since the war more than 125 per cent. Formerly cotton laces were 60 cents a gross; now they are $1.50. This is undoubtedly caused by the war and its effect on cotton prices."

"In similar manner Barbour's Irish Flax Sine thread, which we use for sewing in our lockstitch machines, has advanced from $1.15 a spool to $1.60. A spool of this kind contains one pound of No. 6 white cord. This thread is manufactured from fine Belgian flax brought over to Ireland; bleached there and spun into this yarn. Belgium is growing very little flax just at present and I suppose the Irish manufacturers are having a hard time getting material anywhere as their old stocks must be nearly used up."

"Kid patching leather has risen from 50 cents a pound to 75 cents a pound. This may be attributed to similar causes as those which have affected other leathers. There has, however, been no advance in the price of rubber heels, if that is any consolation to the public. Neither has there been any advance in shoe blacking."

"There has been quite a revolution in this business since the introduction of the Goodyear stitcher and the American finisher. With these two machines it is possible to do an enormous amount of work in a day. We can finish a great many jobs in a very brief time and even can undertake to do them while the customer waits, if necessary."

SOME FELINE PECULIARITIES

By I. A. GLASSE

A cat is so solicitous for the safety of her offspring that if alarmed in any way she will carry her kittens about the house until she finds what she considers a safe corner.

The confusion caused by preparations for moving had disturbed the ease so loved by Puss. On opening the top drawer in a chest I was surprised to see the cat with her three kittens lying comfortably asleep. How did she get there with the drawer shut, for it was locked? Looking at the back I found the board was broken so that the cat had crawled in through the opening and carried one kitten after another up into this place of "serene repose," reminding one of "The Retired Cat" described by the poet Cowper.

Another time I had been out and on coming home I could not find a favorite cat. I looked about upstairs, when all at once I saw a pair of green eyes looking at me through a square opening in a long, old-fashioned wooden trunk. The hole was where the lock had once been, and it now formed a window for the cat to look out of. Although she seemed perfectly happy, no doubt she was glad to be released.

It is well known that cats will sometimes crawl away to die. One that had been in our family for thirteen years was sick and a man had been hired to take it away. When he came the cat could not be found. At last it was discovered in what used to be called the "well" of a sofa bedstead, where our poor old Tom had crept away to die.

SWISS STEAK

Take a tender round steak three quarters of an inch thick, dust it with pepper and salt, dredge it on both sides with flour, and fry it in hot fat until a delicate brown. When done turn over it enough thin tomato sauce to cover it and cook gently a half hour. Remove the steak, slightly thicken the sauce, turn again over the steak and serve on a hot platter with fried mashed potato cakes.

WHEREFORE

Wherefore be punished forever, I pray,
For the slight little sins that we do today?
Will sorrow forever encompass the soul,
For our thoughts and our acts that we could not control?

Will the finger of scorn be pointed by those—
Who have sins of their own they would not disclose?
Oh, can we not love or sympathy show,
For those who forever leave tracks where they go?

Can we not remember some part of the time,
That to err is but human, to forgive divine?
The Master did tell them (and they left her alone),
That he without sin should cast the first stone.

Meet error with wisdom and anger with love,
Thus fitting ourselves for the mansions above.
—GEORGE W. SANFORD,
Glendale, Cal.

A MAN OF POLITE IMAGINATION

A man of polite imagination is let into a great many pleasures that the vulgar are not capable of receiving. He can converse with a picture and find an agreeable companion. He meets with refreshment in a description and often feels a greater satisfaction in the prospects of fields and meadows than another does in the possession. It gives him, indeed, a kind of property in everything he sees, and makes the most rude, uncultivated parts of nature administer to his pleasure, so that he looks upon the world, as it were, in another light, and discovers in it a multitude of charms that conceal themselves from the generality of mankind.—Addison.

A FABLE

The Lion was telling the Leopard why he roared in the jungle when going about hunting. "Doing business openly and with plenty of advertising," the Lion said, "is what has made my reputation. I got my characterization as King of the Beasts by blowing my horn. Always let the other fellows know you are around and they will respect you and fear you."

A Rabbit, hiding and shivering in a clump of pampas grass, overheard this conversation and all the next day he pondered upon it. He decided it was better to have the other animals fear him than to live himself in constant terror. So the Rabbit filled his lungs with a great breath and tried to roar like a Lion.

A Coyote, learning of the Rabbit's whereabouts by his roar, hopped onto him and ate him up.
MORAL—If you haven't got the goods, there is no use to advertise.

PRUNE APRICOTS LATE

Late pruning of apricots will help lessen losses from brown rust, according to the University of California. "The brown rust of stone fruits is widely distributed," says Professor J. T. Barrett, plant pathologist of the Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside. "It occurs to more or less extent in every section where peaches, plums, apricots, cherries and almonds are commercially grown. In America it occurs throughout a considerable portion of southern North America, and particularly in the southwestern United States. It occurs in Europe, Asia and Australia, becoming at times very destructive in the latter country."

"Brown rust attacks the foliage, producing on the upper surface small yellowish spots and on the under surface corresponding rusty-brown powdery patches. The spores are produced in these rusty-brown pustules, and are frequently so numerous as to give a rusty-brown appearance to the under surface of the leaves."

"During the seasons of 1914 and 1915 the attacks of this fungus have been particularly severe in Southern California on apricots and peaches. The early defoliation of the trees, which in the case of apricots has been complete in certain groves this season, must necessarily affect next year's crop by not allowing the fruit wood to mature properly."

"A more direct loss this year is the loss of much apricot fruit owing to very early infection of the trees by the rust fungus. This early attack is now believed to be the direct result of too early pruning of the trees, thus forcing out a late growth of shoots and foliage. The leaves remain on the trees over winter and until the new spring growth starts, thus harboring the fungus in a more or less active condition and making possible a very early infection of the new spring foliage."

"Otherwise severe infections come after the fruit has been harvested. Pruning of apricot trees where rust is prevalent should be delayed until late fall or winter, when a new growth will not result."

EAGLE ROCK

A census, which well might be called a religious census, will be taken in Eagle Rock. The census committee is made up of members from the three leading churches, the Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists. The purpose of this is to find out how many of our people are not attending some church and those wishing to attend and their preferences. Every home in Eagle Rock will be visited by some person from this committee in the near future. This movement must not be looked upon as an act to force people to attend church or any certain one, but must be considered a very important matter.

The dancing party held at the Club house New Year's Eve was given by Miss Susie Sanderson and Homer Sanderson. It was a most brilliant affair as all the guests were dressed in costumes and added much amusement to the dancing. Refreshments were served by the charming hostess and host to about fifty young people of the valley.

A. A. House and family of Palm street were Sunday guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Laverna House of Los Angeles.

The W. Birch family on Satsuma avenue are entertaining friends from Fairbault, Minnesota, their former home.

A committee luncheon held Monday at the Alexandria hotel included about twenty prominent Los Angeles business men who are interested in the million dollar campaign for Occidental College. Various reports and plans were submitted, one of which stated that a large number of the college students have promised to aid in raising this sum of money. So rallies, special meetings, and all kinds of big, stirring times will be held by the students of Oxy. Several well-known women of Los Angeles have also enlisted in this great campaign and are doing their very best to help raise the fund.

The Boy Scouts of this city have been enjoying themselves immensely since their organization, taking many hikes and going on camping trips which are beneficial in several ways to the boys. Their jolly times have stirred the girls of this valley and set them to thinking "how grand it would be for us if we could have a Campfire Girls' movement and get a better knowledge of the glorious outdoor life." Perhaps sometime in the future (which we hope is near at hand) the girls of Eagle Rock may have an organization of their own similar to the one the boys now have.

A very delightful time was passed Monday evening at the Presbyterian church when a family dinner was held in honor of Rev. Kirkes and family, who leave shortly for their new home in Texas, where the former has been called to take the pastorate at a Presbyterian church there.

The Ladies' Social Aid Society of the Methodist church held the regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Franklin Wight on North Peyton avenue this week Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Edward Dwight Eaton, A. B., E. D., L. L. D., D. D., president of a well-known eastern college, who was a recent visitor at Pasadena, declared California to be the "Empire State of the West," stating that she held the same position regarding educational facilities that New York state did in the east. Eagle Rock feels she justly deserves a little of this praise because the well-known standard institution, Occidental College, is located here and she does her share in furnishing the faculty and students for it.

J. Avery's 2-apartment bungalow on North Royal Drive is about completed. He and his wife will occupy one of the apartments soon as the house is finished.

From recent hearsay we understand the total amount expended in building amounted to over one hundred thousand dollars for the year of 1915. This makes a good showing, we think, for a place the size of Eagle Rock, which shows in spite of hard times, she continues to grow.

CALIFORNIA FRUITS PAST YEAR

The year closed was a very active one with the California fruit grower and packer—and there were many features of encouragement. While there were a few discouraging signs the fruit interest as a whole fared much better than the year before. The one exception being the peach grower. The crop being large and heavy stocks of old dried peaches being brought over from the year before, dryers and canners were late in getting to work and when they did, paid such prices that netted the grower a loss. Apricots, prunes and grapes, however, met with a very good market and prices realized were very satisfactory. The same may be said of walnuts and almonds. The European war interfering with the foreign importations of raisins and nuts helped the market here and stimulated a foreign demand for dried fruits and raisins.

The crop figures which we take from the California Fruit News, make a good showing. The prune crop is put at 163,000,000 pounds against 112,000,000 pounds the year before. The California raisin pack was 250,000,000 pounds against 196,000,000 pounds the year before. The walnut crop was 13,250 tons against 8,900 tons the year before and almonds 3,800 tons against 2,250 tons the year before.

The dried fruit output was, figs 8,600 tons against 6,500 tons the year before; prunes, 84,000 tons against 56,000 tons the year before; peaches, 29,000 tons against 37,000 tons the year before; apricots, 17,000 tons against 20,500 tons, and apples 4,000 tons against 4,500 tons the year before.

The deciduous fruit shipments for the year were 16,778 cars against 16,14 cars the year before.

The honey output is put at 9,360,000 pounds against 7,950,000 pounds the year before.

These figures show the fruit interest to be a growing one and the consumption of California fruits is larger than ever.
