RUSH AT OFFICES To-day the United States immigration headquarters at Belmont House were crowded with persons waiting for examination by Chief Inspector Huerta and his staff.

MONDAY U.S. DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES WILL CONTINUE THEIR NOMINATION EFFORTS

Week's Sessions of Convention in New York Come to End With Groups Vainly Struggling to End Deadlock on Choice of Man to Stand for Presidency of Republic in Election Next November.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 5.—Writing in its agony, the Democratic National Convention rejected to-day all efforts to relieve its deadlock. Like an obdurate sick man, it brushed aside the remedies which volunteer physicians presented, and then jeered away a proposal that it quit New York and reconvene on July 21 in Kansas City.

Proposals in varied form to drop off the low man on each succeeding ballot it voted down on roll calls, and a further proposal which would have culminated in abrogating the unit rule and the two-thirds rule it dismissed without a rollcall and by a thundering viva voce vote which left no doubt of its decision.

Then after plodding through another session of the monotonous call of the names without accomplishing any appreciable change in the deadlock between McAdoo and Smith or removing any of the remaining favorite sons, so that a showdown could be had between the two leaders, it adjourned its day session at 1:40 o'clock to reassemble at 11 a.m. Monday, once more on a blind hope that something might be accomplished, but without any promise that it will not have to reconvene and roll up the already record-breaking number of ballots.

Madison Square Garden, New York July 5.—Having lifted their candidate to a new high record, but failed to bring him even within striking distance of the nomination for the presidency of the United States, the McAdoo managers in the Democratic National Convention interrupted the balloting for a nominee to-day with several futile attempts to change the parliamentary situation to their own advantage.

On each successive proposal the anti-McAdoo forces operated with surprising solidarity and in some cases the McAdoo people were unable to muster more than a small part of their own strength for a proposal submitted by their leaders.

One of the resolutions voted down by an overwhelming majority would have provided for a referendum of the convention to meet again in Kansas City on July 21. The McAdoo ranks broke right and left when an attempt was made to muster them in support of the plan, and the opposition was so predominant that when New York was reached on the rollcall it asked that it be relieved of the necessity of casting its ninety votes for reelection. The request was denied under the rules.

Previously the convention, dividing more evenly, and with the McAdoo delegates voting in the affirmative, had refused to adopt a resolution under which the low candidates on successive ballots may be dropped from the list until the field was narrowed to the leaders.

Rising to a new prominence in the face of light and with the McAdoo delegates voting in the affirmative, the Illinois Democrats, was everywhere about the convention hall, conferring with the Smith and favorite son leaders and exhorting the delegates to stand firm against the new form of attack launched from the camp of McAdoo supporters.

It was further apparent that the anti-McAdoo forces were verging toward an outright organization when a group of the Smith and favorite son managers met to consider the possibility of a compromise that would nominate a candidate by leaving McAdoo entirely out of the reckoning. Some of the conference appeared hopeful of results in that direction before the day was over.

BID FAREWELL TO BRITISH SQUADRON

Hundreds Cheer Departing Warships En Route to England

Will Divide After Festivities at San Francisco

Victoria citizens from household and office roofs gave farewell to the British Special Service Squadron this morning. They saw the light cruiser squadron take up its position outside Esquimaux Harbor, ready to fall in line with the battleships as they came down the Strait from Vancouver, where they have been since June 25. All are now en route to San Francisco, where the last united demonstration of British naval pride will be given. Then the ships will part, to meet again in the North Atlantic at the selected trying place off the Cape Verde Islands, and proceed home.

Mayor Hayward wirelessly the following message to Vice-admiral Sir P. L. Field, on board the flagship H.M.S. Hood, as the great battleship passed down the Strait this morning:

"Citizens of Victoria have been delighted with visit of Special Service Squadron and bid you au revoir and a safe passage home."

The battleships, followed by H.M. A.S. Adelaide, at the rendezvous joined the light cruisers, H.M.C.S. Patricia went out with Lieut.-Governor Nichol to see the departing vessels on their way past Race Rocks.

THREE COMMITTED FOR TRIAL ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Defence Challenges Complainant With "Identification"

At the close of the hearing in Saanich police court this morning, J. B. Fielding, C. W. Thompson and Thos. Hagan were committed for trial by higher court on a charge of robbery with violence. The accused were admitted to a continuation of bail in the sum of $4,000 each. H. A. Maclean, K.C., appeared for the defence.

In opening to-day from evidence given yesterday Magistrate Jay held a prima facie case had been made out. Mr. Maclean stated that the accused would reserve their defence with the exception of that of two witnesses, Frank Robertson, R.C.N., called by the defence, told of seeing Frederick A. McDonald in hospital and being told by the complainant that he had "no idea who struck him." The charge was called to refute that of Mr. McDonald, when the three accused were shown to him, said he identified them.

W. Lloyd, dairy supply man to the dockyard, told the court the complainant later told him in person that he "could not be sure" of the identity of the accused, but thought he recognized one as the man who had asked him for a match.

In summing up Mr. Maclean moved for a dismissal of the charge. There was not a title of evidence to connect the accused with the crime, he said. The identification by McDonald went for nothing, he would submit, as the complainant had been ill, and that accounted for his unceremonious statements as to the details of the affair. Magistrate Jay stated he saw no reason to change his mind, and the accused would be committed for trial. Bail was granted in the sum of $4,000 each.

Police state that amounts running to nearly $12,500 have been reported to them as obtained by Schryburt in the same manner as that alleged to have been obtained from Dr. Bourque. Schryburt, police say, claimed to have the original papers of the Isenberg coal leases and to prove his contention he showed to Dr. Bourque and others cheques and letters purporting to be signed by cabinet ministers and other prominent Government officials. He is said to have convinced a number of Ottawa men that all he wanted was a little capital to secure control of the leases. To this end the money was handed to him. The complainants now allege the money was all spent by Schryburt, that his recommendations and papers were all false and that they have been swindled.

The accused man, however, police state, still maintains that everything he did was all right and that if he goes to jail others will go with him.

E. G. PRIOR COMPANY CHANGES OWNERSHIP

Schwengers Brothers Have Acquired Controlling Interest in the Local Firm

Announcement of the purchase of the holdings of the estate of the late Colonel E. G. Prior, by C. P. W. Schwengers and B. P. Schwengers, both of this city, and consequent ownership of the firm of E. G. Prior & Company Limited, was made last night. Messrs. Schwengers have also purchased the interest of G. F. Matthews. The children of the late Colonel Prior and F. Wilkinson of Vancouver still, however, hold interests in the concern.

The company was first established by Alfred Fellows in 1859 and in 1877 Col. Prior entered into partnership in the firm. Mr. Fellows shortly afterwards disposed of his interest. In 1888 Mr. Wilkinson purchased an interest. Two years later G. W. Wynne was able to secure partnership. C. P. W. Schwengers gained an interest in 1902. Since that time and up to 1921 Mr. Schwengers acted as secretary of the firm, but on the death of Col. Prior in that year he became managing director. Now finally the Schwengers' interest is the controlling portion of the firm.

Both the Messrs. Schwengers are well known in commercial circles here and have been recognized as authorities in finance and general business problems. They have indubitable faith in the future of the city and apart from their business activities have always been active in working for the civic welfare. Bernie Schwengers has been connected with the Canadian Credit Men's Association and C. P. W. Schwengers in president of the Chamber of Commerce, which office he has capably held for the past year and a half.

The business which they have lately acquired will be continued under its old name, which it has borne for so many years and with such distinction as a firm of the most reputable standing.

NEW TRANSLATION OF NAME OF STATE

Philologists Say "Alabama" Was Indian Word Meaning "Thicket-Clearers"

Montgomery, Ala., July 5.—Popular belief that "Alabama," translated from the tribal Indian tongue, means "Here We Rest," has been dealt a jolt under the light of philological research.

This more pleasing translation, according to the 1922 issue of the Alabama Official and Statistical Register, just off the press, originated during the early fifties and gained widespread popularity through the writings of Judge A. B. Meek.

"Alabama" was the name of a noted southern tribe of Indians, whose habitat was in what is now central Alabama, the Register says. The largest river of this territory was named after the Alabama Indians and the state derived its name from this river.

"THICKET-CLEARERS"

Recent investigations have brought forth an agreement between two prominent students of Indian dialects, the book says. Rev. Allen Wright, a highly educated Choctaw, translates the word to signify "thicket-clearers." His opinion is compounded from "Alba," meaning a thicket or mass of vegetation, and "amo," meaning to clear or to gather up.

H. S. Halbert, another student of tribal dialects, concurs in this belief, giving a slightly different translation, "vegetation-gatherers."

Compared with the heretofore read—accepted translation of "Here We Rest," the Register says, this latest etymology may be regarded as a trifling prosaic, but it reasons, it more nearly represents the character of Alabamians of to-day and of the past, who have depended upon their labor with the soil for livelihood.

Germans Looking For Rise of Labor Party in U.S. Soon

Berlin, July 5.—The German Socialists are inclined to view the advent of a third party in the impending election campaign in the United States as presaging the birth of an American Labor Party destined to play a part in the nation's affairs not unlike that now taken by the German Socialists and the British Labor Party.

"The Fourth of July, 1924, may yet be counted among the most significant days in history greater than any date in the World War," says Forwerts, which predicts that the day is not far distant when the United States, Britain and Germany will have three internationally affiliated Socialistic Labor parties in action.

White Moth Escapes Burning by Action of Her Assistants

Barbara La Marr, who plays the leading feminine role in the Maurice Tourneur production of "The White Moth," the first National picture now showing at the Capitol Theatre, narrowly escaped a serious injury while wearing one of her gorgeous costumes.

Dressed as the White Moth in a creation of silver lace and pearls, heavily wired to retain the shape, she walked across the stage to begin the dance. Her train passed over one of the tables used to supply electricity to light the stage. The cable was worn in just that place so that when the wire running through the train of her dress came in contact with it there was a short circuit. In a moment her dress was on fire.

If it had not been for the quick action of the assistants of Mr. Tourneur, who wrapped her in coats, she would have been subjected to a painful burn.

the town of narrow tortuous streets? You don't have to visit Italy to see these natural grandeur. They form the setting for Lillian Gish's greatest dramatic triumph, "The White Sister," which is showing at the Dominion Theatre. Inspiration Pictures determined to bring the fascinating beauty of Italy back to America by means of the screen.

"The White Sister" was chosen as the first film to be reproduced entirely overseas. It has been the outstanding artistic triumph of the present motion picture season and the work of Lillian Gish, the screen's greatest artist, in the leading role, has been characterized as better than anything else she has ever done in the past.

The picture is a Henry King production for Inspiration Pictures, Charles H. Duell, Jr., president, and is distributed by Metro.

Last Performance of Shirley Mason Will be To-night

Shirley Mason concludes her engagement at the Playhouse Theatre to-night, where she has been delighting crowded houses with "The New Teacher," a William Fox production. The photoplay was adapted by Dorothy Yost from her successful story, "The Little Alien."

This charming young star has a wonderful vehicle in "The New Teacher," the exercises of her talents and makes the most of her opportunities. The scenes of the picture are laid in the New York slums. An excellent cast supports the dainty story.

"Arizona Express" is Railway Romance of Thrilling Character

Typically a Lincoln J. Carter picture, the Fox version of "The Arizona Express," which opened last night at the Columbia Theatre, is a work of art. The romance of the rails, with falling bridges, rushing floods and smiling mail car bandits, is woven into every foot of the picture so logically that one is carried away by the thrills.

Broadway Life is Depicted in Next Week's Attraction

Off with the old love, on with the new. That seems to be the motto on Broadway, where pampered sons of wealth, actors and chorus girls—sensational seekers of all descriptions throw off all restraints and go in for the wild flings that make Broadway notorious, a theme for fiction, a mecca for all who wish to see life with a capital L.

Speed and zip, necking parties, studio affairs—all the night life of the great light-flaming street lies in "Broadway After Dark," the screen version of the Owen Davis play, scheduled to make an appearance at the Dominion Theatre on Monday.

Scenes that beggar description, episodes more bizarre than those found in the Arabian Thousand and One Nights, a veritable fairland of midnight adventures are found in this romance of the Great White Way.

A great cast has been assembled for this Warner Brothers classic of the screen, directed by James Bell. It consists of the following: Adolphe Menjou, Norma Shearer, Anna Q. Nilsson, Carmel Myers, Willard Louis and many other stars.

Amazing Story of Love Will be Shown at Capitol Theatre

"You don't know what love is," challenged the pretty young flapper. Lee Randon looked startled. Of a sudden he was aware of the fact that he was growing older and the sentiment remark struck him a blow that made his brain reel.

He had been sent to break up the "love affair" in which the flapper was indulging at that moment. When he upbraided her for receiving the attentions of Peyton Morris, she replied that he could not appreciate the affair because of his lack of knowledge on the subject of love. Randon could not overlook the challenge. At home his wife probably darning socks at that moment. She preferred her home and household duties, anyway, to gayety and recreation.

"I'll show you," replied Randon. That was the starting point of one of the most amazing adventures that ever formed the basis of a photoplay, and which can be seen in "Cythera," Goddess of Love, a First National picture, produced by George Fitzmaurice for Samuel Goldwyn, which is coming soon to the Capitol Theatre, with a cast that includes Lewis S. Stone, Alma Rubens, Norman Kerry, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Betty Bouton and Charles Wellesley.

Joseph Hergenheimer is the author of this unusual tale of love in youth and age, and it has been pronounced one of the greatest pictures ever produced.

St. Paul, Minn., July 5.—John J. O'Connor, sixty-eight, Chief of Police of St. Paul for twenty years, died last night at his home at Glendale, Calif. He retired in 1920. O'Connor was a follower of horse racing and was said to have won and lost more than $1,000,000 in bets.

Actress Beaten By Policeman

Chicago, July 5.—Miss Rosetta Duncan, one of the Duncan Sisters, playing in a musical revue here, was beaten severely and her brother, Harold, also was attacked late yesterday by an unidentified policeman in a suburban town.

The Duncan Sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, and their brother were driving through Cicero when a traffic policeman stopped them and an argument ensued. According to the Duncan story, the patrolman assaulted Rosetta, fracturing her nose and inflicting various bruises about her body. Harold Duncan was beaten when he went to the aid of his sister.

The Cicero police department refused to confirm the story. Last night's performance was called off because of the inability of Miss Rosetta to appear.

SIXTEEN OF C.N.R. BILLS ARE APPROVED

Measures as Amended by Senate Passed by House of Commons

Senate Will Deal With Kamloops-Kelowna Bill Next Week

Ottawa, July 5.—Senate amendments to sixteen Canadian National Railway branch bills were passed the Commons yesterday with practically no discussion. The amendments were accepted by the Government and their adoption moved by Hon. G. G. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals.

In the Senate, consideration of the Kamloops-Kelowna branch bill was stood over until next week. The Senate then adjourned until Tuesday.

Methodist Church Union Plan in U.S.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 5.—The proposal for organic union of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was approved last night by the general conference of the Southern Church in special session here. It will now go to the annual conference for ratification.

Commons Gives Bill Introduced by Bureau First Reading

Ottawa, July 5.—A bill concerning the administration of the income tax under the Department of Customs and Excise, introduced by Hon. Jacques Bureau, minister of that department was given first reading in the House last night.

The Minister explained that the bill also provided for establishment of an advisory board to investigate and study various systems of taxation and advise the Minister with a view to simplifying and improving and collection with the least inconvenience to the citizens.

The bill would also change the

GRAIN ELEVATOR CHARGES NOT PROVED

Commission Says Firm Had Not Undue Influence in Vancouver

Winnipeg, July 5.—The charges made by G. H. Van Allen with regard to irregularities in handling grain at Vancouver, investigated by the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission, in a general way are held to be not substantiated, according to Ottawa dispatches to local newspapers.

The commission, it is stated, has forwarded its report to the Government. An Ottawa dispatch stated:

"The report fails to substantiate the charges with regard to the 'Maharg spout,' and the exercise of undue influence by the firm of Smith and Davidson on those in charge of the elevator or on the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

"With regard to the 'Maharg spout,' it is pointed out that no evidence was found that construction or installation of the spout was inspired by Smith and Davidson, nor that any illicit use was made of it. It is advised, however, that it be removed.

"With regard to the administration and operation of the elevator, it is pointed out that Smith had nothing to do with the appointment of Superintendent McLean and that the latter's record is creditable."

MONKEY AT SHOW WOUNDED A BOY

Bend, Ore., July 5.—Jack Davis, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank May of this city, was attacked by a monkey kept at one of the side-shows at the Fourth of July celebration grounds here early yesterday. The boy was badly bitten about both legs and was almost crazed from fright by the time he had torn himself loose from the animal.

Church Union Bill Now Before Senate

Measure Was Given Third Reading by the Commons Last Night

Two Amendments Were Rejected During the Closing Discussion

Ottawa, July 5.—The Church Union Bill is now before the Senate. The Commons last night gave the measure third reading.

No vote was recorded on either of the amendments or on the third reading by Liberal, Liberal-Labour, N.S., asked that the minutes contain the statement that these decisions were reached only on this division.

This implies a formal recognition that opposition was continued to the end though no division lists appear in Hansard.

A division was recorded last Tuesday night on the Duff amendment to change the name of the new church to "The United Church in Canada" instead of "The United Church of Canada." This amendment was defeated by a vote of thirty-eight.

STORK AMENDMENT

When the bill was called last evening Alfred Stork, Liberal, Skeena, moved, seconded by W. G. Raymond, Liberal, Brantford, that the bill be amended to provide that it should not apply to the Presbyterian Church until all doubts as to the power of the General Assembly to agree-to-union had been removed, and that this question be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada.

There was no discussion, and this amendment was declared "lost on division."

VOTE OF CONGREGATIONS

Mr. Duff then moved, seconded by Mr. Stork, to amend the bill to provide that the vote on union in the congregations should be taken by a circulated ballot instead of at a meeting of the congregation. This amendment, like the previous one, was declared "lost on division."

Without further debate, the third reading was then "carried on division," and the long struggle over this bill in the House of Commons, which began on April 19, nearly three months ago, was over.

SHANTUNG UNIVERSITY

When this measure had been disposed of, another bill of a religious nature was taken up in the proposal of E. B. Ryckman, Conservative, East Toronto, to incorporate the Shantung Christian University, which met with some opposition and eventually had to be laid over.

NOT UNUSUAL

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative, opened the discussion by asking whether the Department of Justice had passed upon the constitutionality of the bill, and S. Woodsworth, Labor, Centre Winnipeg, wanted to know whether the degrees to be granted by this university would be good in Canada or in China.

Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, said he thought the bill did not go beyond the powers of Parliament, and Mr. Meighen agreed that it was not unusual for the Canadian Parliament to incorporate institutions to carry on their operations in another country. Mr. Woodsworth, however, pressed his objection, recalling that a charter had been refused to the Frontier College last session, and he was supported by A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni. In the absence of the sponsor, Mr. Ryckman, the bill was then allowed to stand over.

WOMAN WILLED HER HUSBAND AND SELF

Murder and Suicide at Moneta, Ontario; Woman Drowned Herself

Timmins, Ont., July 5.—Almost simultaneously with the discovery of the dead body of Mike Lashuk in the Lashuk house at Moneta, Mrs. Mike Lashuk was found to have committed suicide by throwing herself into a nearby river.

Mrs. Lashuk is believed to have killed her husband on Wednesday night. About 7 o'clock Thursday night she was seen on the high bridge at Mattagami River Landing by two men. Shortly afterward they noticed the woman's hat in the water, but Mrs. Lashuk had disappeared. They notified the police and yesterday the body was found in the river.

Going to Lashuk's to investigate, the police found the body of Lashuk lying across a pile of blankets, the legs tied together with a rope and the skull crushed. The clothing and the blankets were saturated with coal oil and a lighted candle had been placed between the knees. This had less than two inches to burn when it was found by the police.

Alexander Topalio, a boarder at the Lashuk house, stated that on Wednesday evening Lashuk came home intoxicated and had a violent quarrel with his wife.

No motive is advanced for the crime.

BEST MEN NEEDED

Answering questions, Mr. Bureau explained that the proposed board would consist of two or three men, the best he could find irrespective of their politics. The salary of the chairman would not be over $10,000 per annum and the salary of the members $7,500. He thought the total amount to be voted in the supplementary estimates was $28,000, which had a board with 10,000 a year members advising its Government how to tax. He declared the board would not be presented at this time with $28,000 which it was proposed to spend would be a beginning and the Minister would find himself providing much larger sums in the years to come. A taxation board of this kind was totally unnecessary, Mr. Meighen said.

To adopt the proposal would create a board boasting tens of thousands of dollars in order to do the work of Parliament.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, said he viewed with some suspicion proposed inquiries into further taxation. He wished to know something about the personnel of the advisory board and how long its investigation would last.

Recipes

Blackberry Jam

CRUSH WELL about 2 quarts ripe berries in separate portions, so that each berry is mashed. This allows fruit to quickly absorb the sugar during the short boil. Measure 4 level cups crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. BOIL HARD FOR ONE MINUTE, remove from fire and stir in 1/2 bottle (meant 1/2 cup) Certo. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes, then remove jelly pouring. In the meantime, aim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly, if in open glasses paraffin at once. If in jars seal at once and invert for 10 minutes to sterilize the tops. (Use same recipe for Strawberry, Raspberry or Loganberry jam.)

Blackberry Jelly

(See recipe in Certo Book of Recipes.)

Cherry Jam

Put 4 level cups cherries (sour cherries give finest flavor). Measure 4 level cups of the crushed, pitted cherries into large kettle, add 1/2 cup water. The 1/2 cup water of pits in each and crush with hammer. Place with cherries to increase flavor. Stir until boiling, cover kettle, simmer 10 minutes, then remove pits. Add 7 1/2 level cups sugar and mix with the hottest fire and stir constantly before and after. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes, then remove jelly pouring. In the meantime, aim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly, if in open glasses paraffin at once. If in jars seal at once and invert for 10 minutes to sterilize the tops. THE LINES ASSURED

OF very direct concern to the people of Vancouver Island is the fact that the Canadian National Railways branch line programme has successfully run the gauntlet in the Senate.

To the Victoria Chamber of Commerce belongs the major part of the credit for the successful termination of a campaign of pressure upon the Senate which at one time looked anything but hopeful.

In view of the two extensions which will now be proceeded with the Chamber of Commerce should be able to count upon the co-operation and support of all the citizens of this community.

A POINT OF PROCEDURE

OUR morning contemporary's view that if a member of the provincial Ministry became Premier in succession to Mr. Oliver and retained the existing Ministers they should seek the endorsement of the electorate as members of a new government has no sanction in the constitutional procedure of this country.

There are not a few other instances in this Province in which similar Cabinet shuffles have been made without involving elections, the succession of Hon. James Dunsmuir by Hon. E. C. Prior being one particularly in point.

After the death of Sir John A. Macdonald Sir John Abbott, Sir John Thompson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper in turn formed Cabinets largely with existing members of the original Macdonald Ministry.

So much for the procedure in Canada as exemplified in the cases of such eminent constitutional leaders as Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John Thompson. Our contemporary suggests that this might be all wrong and that we should abandon it for the procedure in Great Britain.

What Canadian readers should keep their eyes open against is the inevitable mistake of uninformed people in this country assuming that party lines in the republic to the south follow the same parallels of political longitude as party lines in Canada.

Apart, however, from procedure in the Old Country we are bound by a well-defined practice of our own designed to meet our own conditions, and supported by the actions of outstanding Canadian statesmen over a long period of years.

BE CAREFUL WITH FIRE

CAMPERS who are taking advantage of the bright and warm weather with which the Island continues to be favored are once more warned that the rise in temperature of the last few days has created a condition in the wooded sections which is causing the fire patrol of the Forest branch of the Department of Lands a very considerable amount of anxiety.

It is pointed out that almost every form of vegetation is now in an extremely parched state and ready to burst into flame with the minutest form of encouragement in the shape of a spark. It should be understood, however, that the danger does not lie alone with the building of camp fires and neglecting them after use, or even the throwing away of lighted matches or smouldering cigar or cigarette butts in timber areas; many fires are started by the thoughtless disposal of any form of material alight from the seat of an automobile on the highway.

Preserving our timber from destruction by fire should be the duty of every citizen. The forests of this Province represent a great part of our wealth. Their destruction simply means the destruction of revenue and the creation of unemployment. Therefore every possible caution should be exercised.

HE WORKED

NEXT Wednesday Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan is to be given the freedom of his native city of Leicester.

When Saskatchewan's first Minister left England he was a boy of seventeen. He came to Canada as an immigrant and he was not wrapped up in cotton wool and met by officials of a Government organization. Like Premier Oliver and Premier Greenfield he heard the call of the West and took his chance. He made good because he worked and had no time to grumble.

It is to be hoped that those people in Britain who seem to imagine that every boy or man who leaves the other side of the Atlantic should be provided with a nurse and assured of a job of at least $2,000 a year on arrival will take note of next Wednesday's ceremony and learn its lesson.

Hon. George Hoadley, Alberta's Minister of Agriculture, is just concluding a visit to his native land. He was a Cumberland boy and is now a Minister of the Crown in Canada.

SENSE OF PROPORTION

PRESUMABLY because he had failed in his entrance examinations a fourteen-year-old boy living on a farm near Belleville, Ontario, took Paris Green and died a few hours afterwards.

Towards the latter part of last year a boy of seventeen put an end to his life because an Ontario farmer, with whom he had been placed by the Department at Ottawa which deals with youthful migration schemes, had punished him. This boy's name was Bulpitt and a number of Old Country and some Canadian newspapers used the incident as a text to stir up hostility towards Canadian migration.

About the time when The Star and The Daily News—of London—were devoting a fair amount of space to the Bulpitt incident a youngster of sixteen tied himself to a bed post in Southwest London and choked to death.

These incidents are extremely painful and are to be deplored; but the point to be remembered is that boys in presumably comfortable surroundings are liable to fall victims to moods with disastrous results.

Neither Canadian nor Old Country newspapers will use the Belleville tragedy as an argument against Canadian migration. Yet there would be almost as much point to it as there was in the case of young Bulpitt.

Reports from Vancouver indicate that the influx of American visitors on July 4 was a record. It was a hot and thirsty day.

One of the most popular airs in the mind of many politicians in British Columbia at the present time is: "O, what will the harvest be?"

Dr. Tolmie has now definitely announced that he will not accept the leadership of the Conservative Party in British Columbia. Dr. Tolmie was born considerably before the day before yesterday.

"Tell all the men who are looking for work to keep away from California, because we have now had two dry seasons, and thousands are walking around idle." A Scotsman has written in the foregoing strain to The Vancouver Province.

POLITICAL LINES DIFFER

What Canadian readers should keep their eyes open against is the inevitable mistake of uninformed people in this country assuming that party lines in the republic to the south follow the same parallels of political longitude as party lines in Canada. They don't. The political, social and economic conditions obtaining in the two countries are in many respects different, and the divergence of party lines is equally marked.

Dr. Frank Crane on "The Child"

A CULTURED, truly educated person is not one who knows as much as is in the encyclopedia; he is one whose knowledge, great or small, is in order.

Education is not amassing facts, it is learning to classify them.

The man with the most efficient education is not the one who knows things; he is the one who knows where to go to find out about them.

I am proud to state that I cannot bound West Virginia. I do not know what selenium is, and I do not know the names of the bones of the human body. Why should I mess my intellect up with this knowledge for which I have no use?

My fight to keep books out of my library, to keep papers off my desk, to keep new furniture from being brought into the house, and to keep from eating what I cannot digest.

The eternal struggle is against the superfluous.

For superfluity kills more people than poverty.

I do not want to know how to operate a typewriter, build an automobile, speak Chinese, name the Presidents, repeat the whole of Shakespeare by heart or work problems in trigonometry.

Why should I? It takes all my time and energy to know the trade at which I make a living.

I once made a silly remark to a professor of mathematics to the effect that I did not understand certain intricate calculations. He properly rebuked me by asking: "Why should you?"

It is as good a plan not to learn more than you can use as it is not to bite off more than you can chew.

Efficiency is only half-earned when you know the essentials and do them; the other half is to know what things are non-essential and let them alone.

The Battle of Chippewa

AT the end of the year 1812 the little British Army under General Drummond, with headquarters on Burlington Heights where is now the city of Hamilton, after holding half the Niagara Peninsula all Summer against the overwhelming American invasion, drove the enemy completely from Canadian soil, captured the United States Fort Niagara at the mouth of the Niagara River, which it held through the remainder of the war, and swept the whole United States bank of the Niagara River. This was a notable achievement, but in 1814 the weight of numbers from the United States began to tell again.

In the whole peninsula and Western Ontario General Drummond had less than 4,500 troops and they were scattered over great distances as garrisons of a few hundred men at various points.

The American General Brown had been recently given command of the army along the United States frontier of the Niagara, had occupied Buffalo after its burning by the British troops in December, 1813, had drilled his regulars, veterans now of two years of warfare in anticipation of a new and more determined move into Canada. He had available in July, 1814, concentrated on the frontier, at least six thousand men outside of the local militia. Having received his orders for the invasion of Canada on July 1, he crossed the Niagara from Buffalo on July 3, and without much difficulty captured Fort Erie with its tiny garrison. General Riall, second-in-command to General Drummond, immediately reinforced the contingent at Chippewa, which had scouts and skirmishing troops out to the south in touch with the invaders. He himself gathered what troops he could and advanced swiftly to Chippewa. On the night of July 4 the British force, about two thousand strong, encamped on the north side of the Chippewa or Wetland River, whose current has just recently been reversed by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power canal to Queenston, and the Americans, about four thousand eight hundred strong, encamped just south of Street's Creek, a mile and a half westward, and close to banks of the Niagara River.

ON the afternoon of July 5, 1814, was fought the battle of Chippewa. General Riall might have remained in his strong position north of the Chippewa and allowed the enemy to attack him. But that was not his way. A gallant British gentleman, he was, however, lacking in real ability in the art of war. His army was outnumbered more than two to one, and the enemy's position, which had been taken up during the morning of the 5th, just north of Street's Creek, was strong. Yet Riall went his splendid troops in a desperate frontal attack upon that position and into the grave risk of being outflanked by the enemy's reserves. The American militia from Pennsylvania broke and fled soon enough with their six hundred Indians before a charge of a smaller body of Canadian militia and a few Indians, but Brown's more seasoned regulars stood firm against the splendid charge of the British regulars who outnumbered nearly three to one, were slaughtered to half their strength. This was Riall's trump play, and when it failed he was forced to withdraw. He was being outflanked on his right. The retreat was in excellent order and ended when the British reached the north bank of the Chippewa and blew up the bridge behind them.

Both armies paused to take stock. The British loss was a quarter of the total strength—seven officers and one hundred and forty-two other ranks killed, twenty-six officers and three hundred and sixty-five other ranks wounded, fourteen prisoners. The American invaders lost sixty-one killed, two hundred and fifty-five wounded, and nineteen missing.

General Brown waited two days to reform and bring up reinforcements, and then crossed the Chippewa considerably to the west. Consequently General Riall was forced to retreat just before the mouth of the Niagara. General Brown's objective was the crushing of the whole of General Riall's defence and the reduction of all Upper Canada. From this he was prevented by the bloody battle of Lundy's Lane two weeks later, when both Riall and Drummond had returned to drive him off.

Advice from One Woman to Another

on a very important hygienic subject

Immaculacy, charm, exquisiteness under circumstances which most women find exceedingly trying

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Graduate Nurse

THIS is a subject which only a woman can understand, and on which only an expert can advise with authority. I speak as both.

I, too, experienced the handicap which confronts women in social, business or professional life. As a practicing nurse I know how to lighten it.

For science has now perfected a product which helps women live an active life without interruption. Its convenience and efficiency are amazing, for it solves a special problem in a very simple way.

THIS NEW PRODUCT IS CALLED "KOTEX". It was perfected during the war to provide a softer, more absorbent surgical dressing. Kotex is five times more absorbent than cotton.

After the war its makers felt that Kotex would be of infinite value to women—that it would effectually solve their greatest problem. And it has.

Women have only to hear of Kotex to appreciate what it means in comfort, convenience and relief from embarrassment. It is being adopted everywhere.

A SAMPLE—FREE

You can secure Kotex at practically all drug and department stores, but I want to send you a sample. It will come wrapped in a perfectly plain package. All you have to do is fill out and mail the coupon.

Don't do yourself the injustice of overlooking this offer, which is so easy to accept. All you have to do is to tear out coupon, fill it out and mail it to me.

Kotex is on sale at all drug and department stores. Two sizes: Kotex regular and Kotex-Super.

Charm, Exquisiteness, Immaculacy, under all and every condition EVERY day! Yet, under old methods the average woman spent at least 1-6th of her time in a state of discomfort, uncertainty—and frequently embarrassment.

HYDROPLANE GIVES DEMONSTRATION OF WHAT SPEED MEANS

H.M.S. Hood Power Craft Attains Forty Miles an Hour in Test

The first demonstration of the much talked of and inspected hydroplane that is one of the features of the H.M.S. Hood was given yesterday in Vancouver harbor before a large crowd which thronged the promenade and marine drive.

She clearly demonstrated her ability to attain speed by racing through the water at forty miles an hour. Leaving the float at the immigration shed she soon reached full speed, throwing a wide spray from her bow as she cut the water to either side and churning the water to a foam with her fast-revolving propellers.

When running at forty miles per hour there was very little vibration from the powerful motor as it raced with comparatively little sound. The only noticeable noise was the roar of the swirling water as her skipper skillfully piloted her between floating driftwood and around the battleships at anchor.

Those who were aboard when the demonstration run was made were Miss Bell-Irving, R. Bell-Irving, C. R. Sneyd, W. R. Menchions and S. R. Coombes.

The C.M.B. was evolved during the war when the idea of employing quite small motor torpedo boats was put forward, and subsequently over 100 were built. There were certain difficulties in design to be overcome, but after many exhaustive experiments the right type was designed.

The first success was obtained with the boats operating from Dunkirk early in 1917, when four of them attacked German destroyers off Ostend, sinking one and setting several others on fire.

Largely as a result of this success more boats were ordered, including twin screw 55-ft. boats, and it was suggested that these boats, carrying a single torpedo and four depth charges, might be employed for anti-submarine work, and a great deal of patrol work was eventually done with the 55-ft. boats.

It is actually an ex-C.M.B. which was used considerably during the war, but has since been converted for service of pleasure purposes. Lieut. A. H. Robinson, a member of John L. Thornycroft & Company's staff, is accompanying H.M.S. Hood as officer in charge of the hydroplane.

The dimensions of the hydroplane are: Length 40 ft., beam 8 ft., 8 in.; draught 3 ft., 3 in.; speed (with twelve-cylinder motor using petrol) 35 knots, lifting weight 3 1/2 tons. The vessel embodies all the features of the famous Coastal Motor Boats, which rendered such good service during the war. For private use the boat has been fitted with a specially designed shelter over the steering wheel and cockpit in which comfortable seating accommodation is provided for about twelve persons.

PRESIDENT LINERS HAVE LARGE LISTS

President Jackson Will Take Out 445; President Jefferson Has 600 Passengers

Both Admiral Oriental liners, the one outbound for the Orient and the one due from the Orient on July 9, have large passenger lists, according to information at the local office. The President Jackson when she leaves on Monday will take out a list of 445 passengers, while the Jefferson, which is due on July 9, has a list of nearly 600.

In addition to the large list outward bound, the Jackson will take out a capacity cargo of 6,000 bags of mail. This is the largest assignment of mail that has been assigned to the Orient for some months. The President Jefferson has 600 passengers and 1,800 bags of mail.

Passengers sailing outbound on the President Jackson include: Miss Katherine T. Chen and Miss H. C. Lee, from Seattle; William H. Burt of the Centennial Mill Company, Seattle; M. H. D. O'Malley, prominent banker of Manila; J. O. W. Gravelly, lumberman of Everett and wife; Miss Taka Kato, connected with the Y.W.C.A. in Japan; C. L. Longwell of Connell Bros., Yakima; Mrs. H. Gilhouse of Seattle; a Standard Oil official of New York going to Manila; Mr. and Mrs. Eben M. Whitcomb, who will engage in research work in Japan, China and the Philippines for the United States Government.

LADY ALEXANDER SHOWED UP WELL ON TRIAL RUN

Will Operate on Vancouver-Howe Sound Service; Built This Winter

Another new addition has been made to the Union Steamship Company's fleet of coast-wise liners. The Cardena was the last one, now the new liner Lady Alexandra has arrived on the coast to take over the Vancouver-Howe Sound service. The vessel made her first run to Bowen Island on a special trip with 250 representatives as guests yesterday. The trip proved a success and on the return to Vancouver, the liner attained a speed of 20 knots an hour, one knot over the average speed.

The ship has a capacity for 1,200 passengers, though her owners state she could carry 1,500 without straining her space. She has been designed also for special excursions. Built by the Coaster Construction Company, Limited, of Montreal, Scotland, last winter, she is powered with engines from Bow, McLaughlin and Parsons, of Montreal, and has three Yarrow boilers of 200 horsepower working pressure. She is twin screw and designed to do seventeen to eighteen knots if pressed.

She is 230 feet long, forty feet beam, and has particularly attractive lines, with long superstructure, and two funnels. The upper deck is polished mahogany with maple paneling, lifeboats, life rafts and deck seats, officer accommodation and bridge. Below is the saloon deck. The main saloon is and is a handsome, spacious apartment, beautifully finished. A large well opening leads to the dining saloon and the large dance floor. Polished mahogany with maple paneling and rich upholstery add to the beauty of the arrangements.

It was at first believed that it would be impossible to save the wrecked vessel, but finally the Pacific Salvage Company undertook to get the ship afloat, and the subsequent effort, although a most difficult task, was entirely successful.

The vessel was brought to this port where she has been lying in a patched-up condition pending developments. The Pacific Salvage Company will do all the interior repair work on the vessel, having started several gangs of men this morning. When this is completed they will call for tenders for the repairs to the ship's hull. If the bids are too high, however, they will do the work themselves, as they have their own equipment for repairing.

Bids are being asked now for the purchase of the vessel in her present condition or after she is repaired. Already the salvage company has received several inquiries from firms along the Pacific Coast. When completed, the salvage company announced this morning, she will be prepared for carrying grain to the United Kingdom.

The work of repairing the interior of the ship will probably take from a month to a month and a half. The Tatjana was built at a cost of $1,500,000 at the Canadian Vickers Shipbuilding Yards four years ago. In length she is 400 feet with a beam of fifty-two feet and a depth of 22 feet. She is of 8,250 deadweight tons and capable of carrying over 5,000,000 feet of lumber. Her oil tanks carry 1,500 tons of oil. She averages twelve knots an hour. The engines are of the triple expansion type with three cylinders.

Seattle, July 4.—Arrived: Charles H. Camp, Port Wells; Ruth Alexander, Victoria, B.C.; El Segundo, Richmond; F. S. Loop, San Francisco. Sailed: Antea, Ketchikan, July 4.—Sailed: Alaska, Queen, southbound.

TATJANA WILL BE SOLD BY PACIFIC SALVAGE COMPANY

Figuring the cost of salvage and repairs would be more than the vessel is worth to them, the Norwegian underwriters have abandoned the steamship Tatjana to the Pacific Salvage Company, which plans to effect the necessary repairs and offer the vessel for sale. If the salvage company can sell the Tatjana as she stands, it is prepared to do so.

OVER 3,000 CARS HANDLED BY FERRIES THIS SEASON

Reports Show That Over 3,000 Cars Have Been Handled by Three Ferry Routes; Fifty Per Cent Increase Shown in Report up to End of June; June Report Shows 1,526 Cars Inward and 4,721 Passengers.

Unprecedented in the history of Victoria is the large volume of tourist travel through Victoria since the first ferry service was opened in April this year. Reports received up to the end of June show a fifty per cent increase over the same period of last year, while yesterday was a record day in the history of tourist travel in Victoria. The number of cars coming from the mainland exceeded the highest peak reached last year, and the season is young yet.

The ferry Olympic yesterday handled eighty-four cars while the Sidney-Anacortes ferry brought over 100 cars from Anacortes and still left some tourists behind, the vessels not being able to handle the number despite the fact that there are two vessels of a large type on the run this year and that three round trips are being made. The C.P.R. Bellingham ferry also experienced a record day.

Up till the end of June 2,675 cars were handled by the three ferry routes feeding Victoria, namely the Anacortes-Sidney ferry; Bellingham-Sidney ferry and Port Angeles-Victoria ferry. Of this total 1,526 were inward and only 1,149 outward. The total number of passengers brought into Victoria by two of these ferries was 4,721.

The figures up till June 30 for the various ferry routes are as follows: Port Angeles-Victoria, 200 cars; Anacortes-Sidney, 792 cars inward and 806 outward; Bellingham-Sidney, 355 cars inward and 243 cars outward; direct from Seattle by the C.P.R. steamers, 169 cars.

That July promises to increase one hundred per cent over last year's figures is indicated in the report for the last few days. Despite the celebrations in the United States a total of 200 cars were brought in by the three ferry routes up till July 3, while with the addition of the eighty-four handled by the Olympic yesterday and 100 by the Anacortes-Sidney ferry a total of 386 cars is secured with reports to come from the Bellingham-Sidney ferry. In addition to this 500 passengers were brought in by the ferries.

Outwards only 105 cars were handled so that it can readily be seen that Victoria is experiencing a record year in the tourist business.

With 120 tons of cargo for dispatch here the N.Y.K. Toyooka Maru is due here July 9 from the Orient. The freighter left Yokohama June 25. Included in the local cargo are twenty-three bales of raw silk and three cases of silk goods.

CANADIAN WINNER WILL LOAD LARGE CARGO FOR EAST

Another indication that the export business of Victoria is reviving is contained in the information that the Canadian Government Merchant Marine freighter Canadian Winner will load here in the intercoastal service.

Never before has an intercoastal freighter had sufficient cargo offerings from Victoria to induce loading here. For Montreal 210,000 feet of lumber will be loaded by local mills, while the Sydney Roofing Company is shipping a large quantity of construction material. In addition to this there is a large quantity of general cargo going East on the freighter. The Canadian Winner will arrive here about July 10 and will sail July 12.

The Canadian Highlander, which has 4,000 tons of United Kingdom freight, over half of which is liquor, is reported to have left the Panama Canal for Victoria June 30, while the Canadian Traveler with 2,000 tons of copra is inbound via San Francisco.

SIXTH GREAT LAKE PLANNED

Ocean Liners May Reach Heart of Wheat Belt

An area as large as Lake Erie can furnish the basin for the sixth great lake, says Keemie, in this basin, north of Lake Superior, can be diverted the waters that now flow into Hudson's Bay.

All that is necessary, says Keemie, is construction of three dams and three diversion channels, for the three main rivers upon which the new lake will depend. Access to the lake would be effected by the English and Winnipeg rivers, which would become navigable streams, to Lake Winnipeg, and by canal to Lake Superior.

The project would more than pay for itself in a short time in water power and navigation benefits, says Keemie.

One of its greatest advantages is yet in its possible solution of the controversy over Chicago's withdrawal of water from the Great Lakes for its sewage disposal.

Chicago is drawing off 10,000 cubic feet of water every second," explains Keemie. "This diversion

Model Industrial Settlement at Powell River
Community Spirit Aids In Building Up Great Paper Industry

Co-operation is Responsible For Wonderful Achievement In Coast Industrial Development

Harmony Among its Employees is Dominating Idea at Plant of Powell River Company Limited at Powell River Where Model Settlement Has Been Established by Co-operative Effort.

What co-operation may achieve in the realms of industry is well exemplified in the community of Powell River where employees of the Powell River Company Limited, through years of harmonious effort have created a model settlement, founded on a business that reflects the spirit of hearty co-operation which is, at the same time the keystone of its success.

The town is ideally situated overlooking the Straits of Malaspina, and Vancouver Island beyond with its vast snowcapped mountains.

The streets are electric lighted, have good sidewalks and macadamized roads, with trees systematically laid out on the boulevards. The houses are connected with a modern water and sewer system.

There are 275 four to eight roomed houses, one apartment house of six-teen three roomed suites and one apartment house of sixteen four roomed suites.

The houses are all detached and built on lots 50x140 feet leaving plenty of ground for attractive lawns in front and productive gardens in the rear.

Cash prizes are awarded annually for the best lawn and flower garden, and for the best kept and most productive kitchen garden, also for the best productive lawn, flower, and kitchen garden.

For the single men there is the company's hotel, Avenue Lodge, containing sixty-six rooms with 131 beds in connection with this there are a number of annex buildings providing accommodation for over 100 additional men. The "Lodge" contains a large dining room, and approximately 800 meals are served daily. The kitchen contains the latest improved equipment for the preparation and serving of meals in a high class manner.

MILL The mill runs night and day on three eight hour shifts, and all men outside of the mill work eight hours also.

Each department contains wash rooms with hot and cold water showers for the use of the men, also individual steel lockers for their clothes.

Special attention is paid to the safeguarding of all machinery in order to reduce accidents to a minimum.

A well equipped first aid station is conveniently situated in the mill with a qualified attendant in charge at all hours.

Every employee is insured after six months service for $500, after twelve months service $750, and after two years service $1,000. The cost of this insurance being borne entirely by the company.

SICK BENEFIT The Powell River Employees Sick Benefit Association, of which every employee is a member, provides for the men in case of sickness. The society operates a modern hospital containing thirty-five beds, with a medical superintendent and assistant, and a staff of six nurses. When a man is taken sick he receives hospital and medical attention free and a sick benefit of $20 per week for thirteen weeks, and $10 per week for the succeeding thirteen weeks. When a man is injured he receives hospital and medical attention free and the usual allowance from the Workmen's Compensation Board. For these privileges the employee pays $2.50 per month, and the company assists with a substantial donation each month towards the upkeep of the society.

LAKE AND SEA BOATING There are few places on the mainland where the facilities for both sea and inland boating may be indulged in with greater scope. Malaspina Straits and the bays adjacent to Powell River afford many miles of sea travel, and Vancouver Island is but a few hours journey across.

Powell Lake is thirty miles in length and has numerous sheltered spots where can be seen the floats and summer camps of scores of townpeople. The mountain scenery surrounding the lake is magnificent.

For trout fishing, fly, trolling and bait, Powell Lake holds a most enviable record. Deep sea fishing of every variety lies at our very front door.

HUNTING In season, grouse are plentiful, sea fowl are very numerous. On the hills in close proximity to Powell Lake are to be found deer, bear, and goat. Some few mink, coon and other fur-bearing animals are trapped.

At Michigan Landing, one mile and three-quarters from town, is a delightful bay and sandy beach where many of the residents of the town have built cottages. The company will, on permission being asked, grant the right to erect cottages or tents to those wishing to enjoy the summer season in the open.

LOCAL PARK This is one of the prettiest spots on the whole coast. Beautiful flowering plants and foliage are picturesquely arranged, with gravelled walks traversing.

During the season steamers ply regularly between Powell River and points of interest on Vancouver Island. The transportation companies have arranged their schedules so that sightseers may take advantage of these trips.

Steamboat connection with Vancouver, seventy-five miles away, is taken care of by three different companies, with thirteen sailings each way per week.

SOCIAL HALL In the Central building is a large hall used by the community at a very low cost of rental for the purposes of holding socials, concerts, dances and lodge meetings. A fully equipped stage, kitchen, wash and ante-rooms complete the arrangement.

GOLF Just over a year ago a six-hole golf course was completed, and the employees may enjoy this popular sport by becoming members of the golf club.

Owing to the great interest taken in the game, the company have spent this year approximately $15,000 in four new holes which, when completed will give us a complete nine-hole course, one of the original six being eliminated.

At the present time the club has a membership of 140. The club has secured the services of a professional, the upkeep of the course being borne by the company.

EXTENSIONS TO PLANT OF POWELL RIVER COMPANY TAKING PRACTICAL SHAPE

New Pier and Warehouse with Enormously Increased Facilities for Extending Output are Main Feature of Construction Now Rapidly Assuming Shape.

Under a contract recently awarded whereby tremendous improvements will be made in extending the capacity and output of the Powell River Paper Company, Messrs. Armstrong, Morrison and Company have made great headway to that end. The work will entail extensive works, with the driving of several thousand piles, the construction of a pier and warehouse, and a large amount of dredging.

A great deal of the clearing prerequisite to the preparatory work has already been accomplished. Material is being rapidly assembled so that the work may be pushed ahead without loss of time. Much of the machinery and equipment necessary is already on the ground.

The old head gates at the dam have been removed and stored temporarily along the east bank of the canal, while three new gates for No. 4 penstock are already made and in place. The new gates for the existing penstocks are made and will be installed shortly.

The work of removing the old timber in No. 4 penstock and replacing it with one of larger diameter has been completed and this will provide for further extension in the future if it should be required.

POURING CONCRETE Excavation on the east and west sides of the forebay is practically complete. The forms have been erected and concrete is now pouring. Some 16,000 cubic feet of concrete will be used in remodeling the existing forebay and dam structure. This will meet increased pressure under the new conditions.

The steel sheeting to be used in the 400-foot core wall is on order and will shortly be assembled for its use. August 1 is the date placed for the commencement of work of this phase of the massive construction programme outlined by the present contract.

NEW WHARF The projected wharf will be a massive structure of wooden piling which will entail the dredging of not less than 50,000 cubic yards of material from the site. Of this 20,000 cubic yards have already been lifted, part of which has been used in building the stabilizing fill upon which the pier and dam structure will rest.

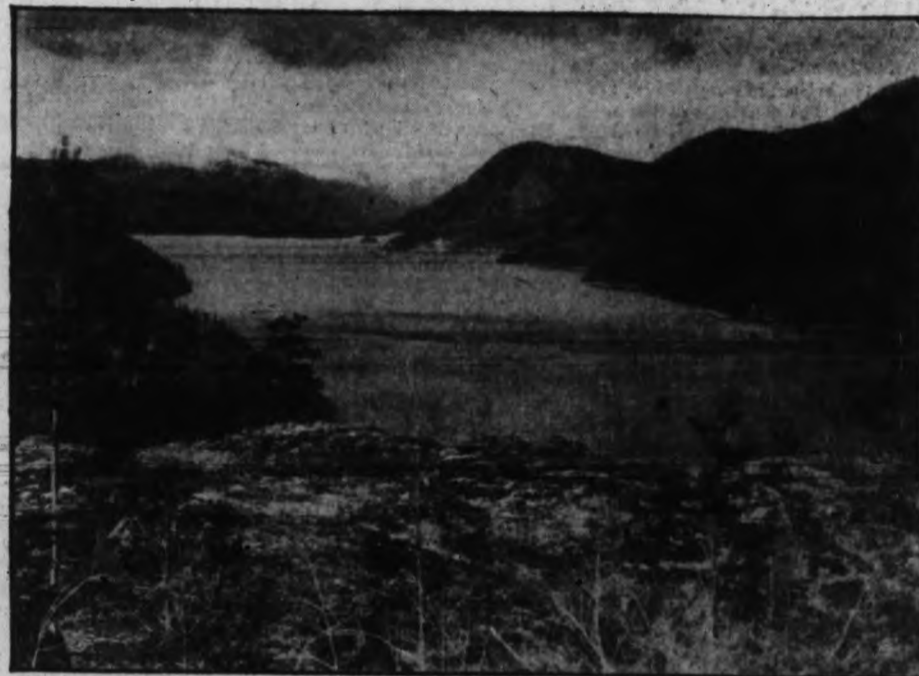

In all 2,500 crippled piles will be driven for the pier before the commencement of the construction of a warehouse. The warehouse will have a capacity more than capable of taking care of the increased output which will result from the extension. Naturally the work is regarded with keen interest by the community of Powell River.

Extensions are viewed with a personal interest by all. The improvement, made at considerable cost, will add enormously to the productive capacities of the plant and make a splendid addition to the industrial town.

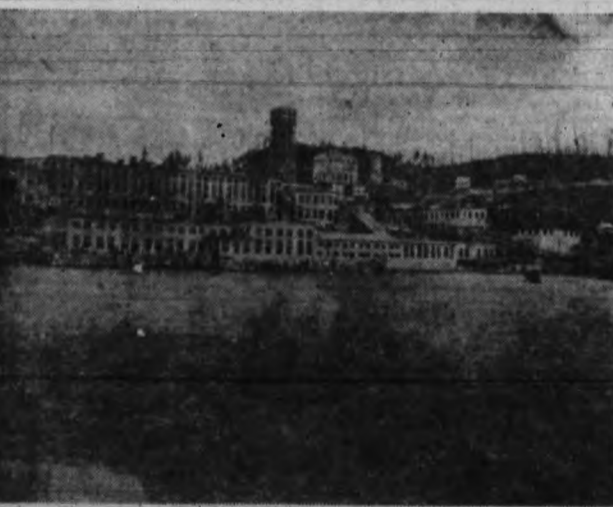

Coast Boats Call At Powell River Powell River is a regular port of call by the regular boats of the steamship lines maintaining services to the British Columbia points. The Canadian National steamers Prince Rupert and Prince George touch at the paper port on regular schedule.

The freighters of the Canadian-Australasian Line frequently go to Powell River to load cargoes of paper for Australia.

Malaspina Strait And Inlet Recall Ancient Explorers

Malaspina Inlet was named by Spanish officers, Gallano and Yaldez, on June 5, 1792, and marked on their chart Brano de Malaspina after Captain Alejandro Malaspina, a celebrated seaman in the naval service of Spain. Born of a distinguished family of Italian extraction, Captain Malaspina was one of the most romantic figures among the navigators of the North Pacific.

In 1789 he was placed in command of a scientific cruise designed to encircle the globe. The expedition included the Discovery, commanded by himself, and the Audacious. The expedition set sail from Cadiz on July 26, 1789. The party arrived at Nootka in the course of wanderings that took them to the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, and Europe around the Horn.

Malaspina was well received on his return to Cadiz three years later but fell the victim of a political intrigue and was imprisoned at Corunna until 1803. He was then liberated, but banished. The Italian Government offered him a high position but he

Bowling Green at Powell River

Bowlers of Powell River formally opened the season for their popular game on May 18, and since that time there has been unprecedented activity where all have entered into the game with ardor and many well-contested and interesting matches have resulted. The season is somewhat unique in the annals of the club, as the ladies of the district have been invited to participate in its activities.

The Vancouver Lawn Bowling Club visited the Powell River forces on May 24, and a strenuous day of play followed their arrival. Although the weather was not ideal, an aggregate of fifty-four points the spirits of the bowlers from Up-Island were in no way dampened, and they continue to compete with one another and with visiting teams regularly. On all occasions upon which bowlers have visited Powell River they have been accorded a wonderfully fine reception, and banquets, fishing trips, teas and concert-dances have been upon the programme for their entertainment.

The club has had a successful season so far in every way and contemplates greater activity in the future, both this year and in years to come. They have developed some rare talent amongst the ranks of the members and are strong enough to give any class of bowlers strong and disconcerting competition.

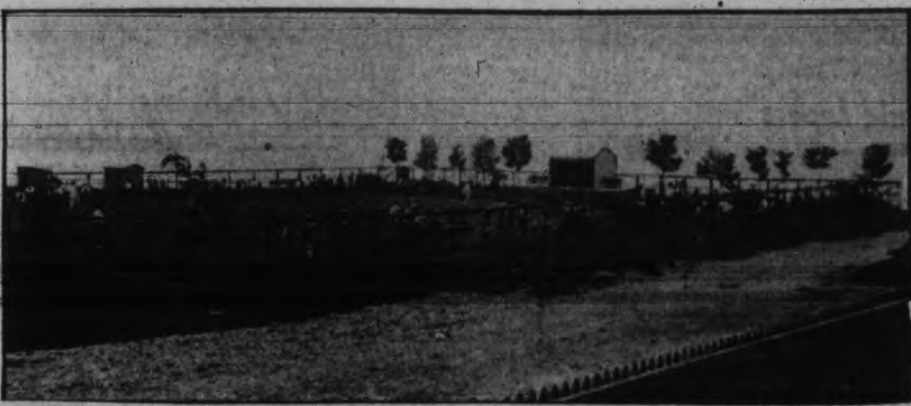

Plant Visited by Newspaper Editors

Members of the Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association, while bound to Victoria from Prince Rupert after completing the Vancouver-Battleford-Jasper-Vancouver tour, visited Powell River and were shown over the plant by officials of the Powell River Company Limited. The newspapermen were impressed with all they saw at the progressive coast settlement.

BRITISH STATESMEN LOOK TO LONDON CONFERENCE

LABOR GAINS ITS PLACE AT STAIRS OXFORD

New Force Felt by Tory and Liberal Clubs Which Have Ruled University

Influence of Women Students Begins to Play Big Part in Political Affairs

London, July 5.—Progress, that most invincible of forces, is invading the sacred quadrangles of Oxford.

Those crumbling, weather-stained walls, still rich with memories of pensive monks and pallid schoolmen, long have retarded the persistent advance of modernism, but the defence is weakening. And men now descend in a conservative Oxford, her lanes still lined with the fervent exhortations of clerics and the strident tones of budding Tory orators—staunch upholders of the contemporary order of things—steadily yielding to what many deem genuine political heresy.

The intruder is Socialism. Sentiment for this creed, which could transform the present economic and political order, has a definite foothold in Oxford several years ago at the inception of the Labor Club. Today it is growing slowly but consistently. And recently a valuable political club of the Conservatives and Liberals, which long held a monopoly over the political thought of the university, are aware of a new, strange and vigorous force threatening their established positions.

It is evident that this earnest group of almost 200 "Laborites" stands forth in Oxford like a silent spectre, whose ominous shadow penetrates everywhere. Sitting placidly around the open fires in her junior common rooms, Oxford merely scoffs and sneers. Those who dare to espouse the cause of Marxism are often greeted with icy silence they are still disposed of as being "queer." But behind the disdainful front that Oxford reserves for such occasions there is concern for this new monster which has stretched forth one talon already into the sacrosanct fastness of her life. The withdrawn and reserved attitude beginning of an understanding of the import of this strange element. There is no fear. Youth, and especially Oxford youth, is seldom afraid of anything. But there is a growing interest in and fresh speculation on all things political. The advent of the MacDonald Government lent vigor to the Labor movement in Oxford, and for the first time there is a startling realization of the real possibility of Socialism in England.

ATTITUDE OF OXFORD
For centuries Oxford has considered herself as removed from the laboring world, and she has felt herself above the tedious toiling and petty wranglings of the world of practical everyday life. She was concerned with more abiding things. She was a firm believer in the clouds, she could evolve, modify and discuss theories to her heart's content. Under-graduates still speak of leaving Oxford as "going down," a phrase which has a meaning in which many find disconcerting. Thus it was with deep sincerity and high purpose that Oxford could engage in discussions of radical social reforms and a Fabian Society flourished for years. She was enjoying the carelessness, high-mindedness and irresponsibility of youth, and it was so easy to be "radical" and "different."

The Labor Club still contains a small group of eccentrics who find the epithet of "Communist" an agreeable and complimentary distinction. But the significant thing that Oxford is discovering is that by far the greater number merely are serious students of political and social science who are finding in the doctrines of the Labor party and have affiliated themselves with its purposes. Some of them already have secretly assisted the Labor party at election time, and many of them are planning an active political career. For the first time there is dawning the pregnant truth that henceforth the Labor party of England is going to be a serious force to be reckoned with.

Intellectuals of Oxford just as the Conservative and Liberal parties have done for years past. Among the most active members of the Oxford Labor group who have definite intentions of entering politics is Malcolm MacDonald, eldest son of the Prime Minister. Young MacDonald was an unsuccessful Labor candidate for Parliament at the December election. Recently he was defeated for president of the Union Debating Society, that century-old institution which has played such a leading part in the university life, and which has had the distinction of furnishing England with three Prime Ministers, in addition to hosts of other men prominent in politics. But Mr. MacDonald lost by only eight votes, and although some of his strength may have been due to his peculiar prominence, the election was indicative of the Labor power in the most representative of Oxford societies. Another Labor orator holds the office of junior treasurer. This also is not without significance, for the society of 1,000 members votes largely according to party affiliations.

Another distinctive feature of the Labor Club is that it is one of the two organizations in Oxford which permits the membership of women students as well as men. The other is the International Assembly, a foreign society for the discussion of international affairs. Many were the heads that were wagged in Oxford when women students were first admitted.

LEGITIMACY TIDAL MONSTER SHIELDS PROBLEM IS NOW SETTLED

British House Passes Bill in Favor of Children Born Out of Wedlock

They Will Now Gain Hereditary Rights When Their Parents Marry

London, July 5.—One of the oldest questions in England—the legitimacy of children born out of wedlock—was settled in the House of Commons yesterday in favor of the child, after lively debate, in which women members took a prominent part.

Legitimacy means much here, in view of the hereditary titles and the considerable danger with respect to titles in view of the admitted increase in illegitimacy in Great Britain. The bill passed by the Commons, which had been fought for years, provides that a child born out of wedlock may become legitimate in a legal sense if the parents marry afterwards. The fight centered on an amendment providing that a child born of parents, one of whom married, could become legitimate. That raised a very difficult question and one which has kept legitimacy bills from getting anywhere in Parliament for years.

Election Plugging Cost Man $40,000

Prince Toasts Good Queen Bess
London, July 5.—To the pious, glorious and immortal memory of the Queen Bess was drunk at the recent banquet at Gray's Inn by the Prince of Wales, the benches, barristers, students and guests.

When the prince arrived he was led to the high dais by Lord Birkenhead and the grace cup, another of the precious and almost sacred treasures of the Inn, was filled with sweet wine and spiked and handed to him together with the customary bit of bread. In former days this bread would have been dipped in the cup, but it is eaten separately after the cup has been tasted. As in the case of the loving cup the grace cup has to go the round of the hall.

Fleet Once Worth Quarter Billion May Yield $2,000,000 as Junk to go Back to German Steel Firms; Salvage Crews Endeavor to Raise Warships Sunk off Historic Orkneys.

London, July 5.—The shrouds of seaweed that cover the proud vessels of the German war fleet, scuttled by their own crews and sent to the bottom of Scapa Flow, are being removed by the salvage firm which has undertaken the task of bringing to the surface these rusting relics of frustrated ambition. Experts look upon the operations with dubious expressions, for the cost is tremendous and the only profit will come from the junk market, where scrap steel is quoted at $40 a ton.

There was 500,000 tons of floating steel sunk almost simultaneously by order of Rear Admiral von Reuter, who sought to fulfil the early order of his imperial master that no German man-of-war be surrendered to the enemy. Before the waves washed over these ships they were valued at nearly one-third of a billion dollars. When Cox and Danks, English shipwreckers, buoy them to the sea's level once more they will command no more than $2,000,000, according to estimates of other salvaging companies.

BIRDS ROOST ON SUNKEN GUNS
They have seen the rust accumulate on the great Hindenburg, which drifted to comparatively shallow water and still rests on an even keel on the sandy bottom. When the tides flow out from the harbor the gaping jaws of the cruiser no longer threaten the ships for scavenging requires application of the crane, which is a task of the utmost difficulty. It is now estimated that the birds roost on the guns.

BRITISH HOPE TO PUT END TO DRAMSHIP

Liquor Control Bill, Doomed to Defeat, Stirrs Factions to Action

Labor Divided on Prohibition; Clergy Back Bishop's Reform Call

London, July 5.—The demand of Bishop Burge of Oxford that the Labor Government appoint a round-table conference to discuss licensing and reform, the liquor question has again come into prominence in the political life of this country. Bishop Burge made his suggestion as soon as it became clear that the liquor control bill, which he introduced in the House of Commons last week, was headed for overwhelming defeat.

This is the first measure looking toward wholesale reform of liquor since the Licensing Act of 1910, which laid down the hours for sale of liquor, subject to discretionary powers of local magistrates—passed Parliament three years ago. The Bishop's measure is based on the principle that his colleagues on the Episcopal bench and would apply to England the schemes of local option already in force in Scotland.

It is proposed that a compulsory vote be taken every three years in defined areas on three alternatives—one, that the present system remain unchanged; two, that saloons be closed altogether; three, that they be owned and managed by the state. If a prohibition vote were cast, however, there would be no further hold in that quarter. The Bishop would have no opportunity to change their minds after deciding on a dry experiment.

SCOPE OF BISHOP'S PLAN
The Bishop's plan thus goes further than the Scottish scheme of local option, for there some areas first went dry and have already reverted to a wet condition. The sponsors of his bill, which has won the strong support of the Asquiths, insist that it not their intention to obtain prohibition, directly or indirectly, but in view of the manner in which the proposal is drafted, its opponents are featuring arguments alleging it would have this effect.

BRIDES LIKE AIR FLIGHTS
London, July 5.—Honeymoon trips to the continent by air seem to be a fashion which is rapidly growing, and the swift and exhilarating flight across the channel has now become recognized as an ideal way of starting married life.

HEAVY CLASH IS FEARED
Whether the reform scheme which the Labor Government would sponsor is likely to emerge from a round-table conference such as is proposed remains to be seen. Any proposal touching the liquor trade is bound to generate a lot of heat in this country, and the position is complicated still further by quarrels among the reformers themselves.

PEACE HOPES STIMULATED BY NEW MOVE

Gathering of National Leaders Comes Ten Years After Serajevo Tragedy

Britain Believes America Could Take More Active Part in Affairs

London, July 5.—Many observers believe that the conference which will meet here July 16, ten years after the tragedy of Serajevo, will be the most important since the meeting at Versailles in 1919. Others consider it to be even more important, since the negotiators will be able to work with more or less identical ideas, developed from the mistakes and successes arising from applications of the peace treaty.

While no responsible British statesman has hoped for more than unofficial American participation in London, few conceal their belief that at this juncture the United States could, if it wished, assume a commanding position in Old World affairs. Despite widespread reproaches in the European press concerning American withdrawal from European problems since 1919, it seems doubtful whether the Dawes committee report would have found such widespread acceptance if there had not been associated with it the name of an American chairman and a hint of American governmental approval.

YOUTH DESIGNS BIG CATHEDRAL AS FIRST WORK
Consecration of Liverpool Edifice Marks Triumph of Young Architect

London, July 5.—The triumph of a youthful British architect was crowned last week by the consecration of the Liverpool Cathedral, in the presence of King George and Queen Mary.

The cathedral was designed by Gilbert Scott when he was only twenty-two years old. When completed it will rank as one of the largest in the world, being surpassed in size only by St. Peter's in Rome and the Cathedral of Seville in Spain. It is the third Anglican cathedral to be built in England since the Reformation. Scott's design, which represented his first work as an architect, won the prize in a competition in which more than a hundred architects had entered.

Big Rush to See House in Action
London, July 5.—Visitors from overseas and from the provinces are always eager to see the Houses of Parliament, and if possible, to hear a debate. Both the House of Commons and the House of Lords can be seen by the ordinary member of the public on Saturdays, when the House does not sit; and Westminster Hall, which in parts dates back from the year 1097, is open daily.

Electricity Adds To Honey Output
Gloucester, England, July 5.—Electricity has assisted bees in producing an increased output of honey, according to an announcement of the Gloucestershire Chamber of Agriculture.

Air Flivver Use Made Easier Now
London, July 5.—Private Airplane flying is to be simplified in Great Britain by the abolition of the restrictive regulations requiring that a plane must be piloted by a pilot every day of the year, and only at a recognized aerodrome.

German Unionists Thank Britishers
London, July 5.—The British Trade Union Congress has earned the gratitude of the German General Federation of Trades Unions for their moral and other help in strengthening the German workers against their employers.

THE BOYHOOD OF JESUS
Luke 2: 42-52

There has been a striking movement among the boys of Canada in recent years that illustrates this passage. It is called "The Canadian Standard Efficiency Programme."

1. "Jesus increased in wisdom." The legends about His supernatural insight and foresight in those days have no foundation in the Gospels.

2. Jesus grew in stature. His physical development was as necessary a part of the preparation for His divine work as His mental or moral growth.

3. Jesus advanced in favor with men. His social gifts awakened and developed with the other powers of His soul.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

BRIGHT HEADLIGHT IS GREAT DANGER

Many Accidents Might be Avoided by Sensible Use of Lights

Someone has suggested a slogan for the motorist. It is: "Aim to Keep Your Name in the City Directory Instead of Trying to Have It Engraved on a Tombstone."

There is one factor in the automotive field that has caused a number of accidents, with their consequent business for tombstone artists. This factor is blinding headlights.

In the manufacture of automobiles the makers of these vehicles have gone far to produce a car that is comfortable, efficient and safe. They have turned out an engine that can be relied upon to function. It is almost foolproof. They have introduced automatic windshield wipers that help a driver to safely operate his machine in stormy weather. They have equipped cars with heaters so that travel can be undertaken in comfort during even zero weather. They have brought out improved braking facilities. They have made steering equipment reliable. They have kept pace in the changes in gasoline by providing a carburetor that will use all kinds successfully. They have done wonders in improving the motor car from almost every conceivable angle.

But when it comes to headlights, here is one realm, and practically the only important one, in which the progress that is needed has not been made. It is true that the headlights now produced usually comply with the existing laws, but the glare which blinds those in other cars has not been eliminated in many instances. Until a change for the better is made in this factor, driving at night cannot be as safe as it should be.

Here are three points about headlights which are most necessary for safety. Your lamp should be strong enough to throw the light ahead of your car so you can see objects in the road 200 feet away. Don't drive a "one-eyed" car. Carry extra bulbs with you.

The light should have sufficient spread so that you can see people walking along the side of the road. Your lamps should be equipped with a lens which will prevent glare in the eyes of the person who is approaching you. Many times glare can be prevented by focusing the lamp so as to throw the light down on the road instead of up. Sometimes the reflector and sometimes the lights and their brackets are out of plumb and alignment.

See that your lens is kept right and still. You may have good lenses that have been wrongly installed or they have not been properly focused your lamps. In order to make it convenient to test your light often see that they are properly aligned and focused.

Among the new features for 1925 models of a few makes of motor vehicles is the air brake. The demand for some such type of equipment has been stimulated by the wide use of heavy, high-speed trucks, and by the increase in women drivers, which has turned efforts of engineers toward reducing the muscular energy required to operate brakes.

What Excess Value Means in the Good Maxwell

When we speak of excess values in the good Maxwell, we mean performing satisfaction, driving ease, riding comfort, operating and maintenance economy.

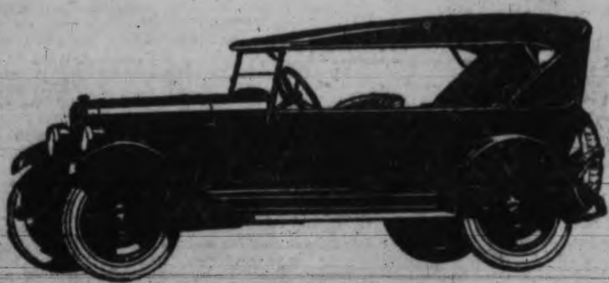

These excess values are the direct result of the materials built into the good Maxwell, the workmanship employed and the skill and care exercised by Maxwell engineers.

Furthermore, these values are definitely established by the testimony of thousands of owners.

All that we suggest is that you compare the good Maxwell in every motoring phase and factor with other fours and decide for yourself where the advantage lies.

The Good MAXWELL TOURING CAR

Noises in Universal Joints Usually the Result of Lack of Lubrication

The other day an owner brought his car into the service station and complained bitterly about a clattering jolt his car had developed when the clutch was let in, and noisy uneven running at low speeds. I got into the car and drove a few yards then asked the owner, "How long is it since you greased the Universal joints?" He turned to me, "Universal joints, what are they?" This is not an unusual answer to this question for thousands of owners never know there is such a thing as a universal joint on their car until it is brought to their attention in the manner described above. This ignorance, however, will cost you money in repair bills. If these joints are lubricated about every 500 or 600 miles they will not require to be touched until the engine requires overhauling. Neglect them and before you have driven 5,000 miles they may have to be replaced. Few owners of an automobile believe it, but it is a fact that if you would attend to the lubrication of the various moving parts at REGULAR intervals, they could easily reduce their repair bills from 50% to 60%. It is neglect to give a car regular attention that provides most of the work for the repair shops.

Few owners enjoy getting on their backs and crawling under the car, and that is what is generally necessary when you wish to attend to the Universal joints. Most owners lubricate all parts that are easily accessible, but where parts are difficult or awkward to get at, they are tempted to say—I think I will do that tomorrow, and as you know, tomorrow never comes.

Now where are the Universal joints? There are generally two of them on either end of the shaft which connects the gearbox to the back axle. They are of two types, the metal type and the fabric or leather type. With the fabric type there is no noise possible, but the joint requires careful watching to see that the bolts holding the fabric rings to the shaft are kept tight. If these become loose, trouble quickly develops and the fabric rings have to be replaced.

If you notice a distinct jar, jolt or click, or as if a connection were loose every time you let in the clutch, or if when you are driving slowly the car runs with a jerky motion, and the engine is firing regularly, you can be almost certain you have a worn universal joint. To find out if this is so, move gear lever to 1st speed, jack up one of the rear wheels and move it to and fro. If the joints are worn badly you will hear a click coming from them every time you move the wheel. Of course, there is always a certain amount of play between the teeth in the crown wheel and drive shaft pinion, but this will not allow the wheel to move more than 2 inches either way. If the movement is more than this, either the universals are worn or there is too much play between crown wheel and pinion. The play between these two gears can be taken up by an adjustment provided for this purpose, but the adjusting should always be done by a good mechanic. If the gears are meshed too deep, a loud hum will come from the back side, while if they are not meshed deeply enough, there will be a lot of backlash and noise.

If you drive your car with worn universals, it puts a severe strain on every part of the transmission every time you let in the clutch. The way to avoid all trouble of this kind, is to take your grease gun about every 500 miles and crawl underneath the chassis and force some light cup grease into each universal joint, at the same time testing the bolts holding the joints to the shaft to see that they are tight. If you do this, you will find that your car will run smoother and longer and that replacement will rarely be necessary until the car has been driven 20,000 miles or over.

CARE OF MOTOR IN FIRST YEAR MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL

Check the tire pressure. If the tire pressures are low, rattles and squeaks are not likely to be heard coming from loosely fitting parts. Drive the car under twenty-five miles per hour for about 400 miles. Big production cars generally come through now with fairly free engines, but even so, be careful in handling the car for a short period. At the end of the 400-mile period there may be rattles which should be corrected. Door locks, fender brackets, license plates holders, etc., may have come loose if you did any rough road driving. The whole chassis ought to be gone over and every nut and bolt tightened. If done then the chances are the car will remain tight for a long time. Spring clip nuts may need a turn or two, even nuts holding down engine may have become free though this is rare. If you do not care to do this work tightening of a chassis is not high.

If rusty spots show here and there, especially at fender sides, hood ends, tire carrier, wind-shield fittings, etc., moisten a cloth with kerosene, clean off the rust, let dry and then enamel over these small parts. A can of enamel may be purchased at any supply store. Watch for the rusty spots all over the chassis for the first month or two and if caught early and well covered with enamel, your car will always present a good appearance.

While driving the car during the first week or so listen for unusual noises, such as bad gear hums, loud knocks, etc. The car should be taken back to the dealer when an alarming sound is heard. You should not be over-critical about clicks and slight noises in a new car, but give the parts a chance to work-in thoroughly.

When taking delivery of a new car do not assume that no immediate attention is needed and all that is necessary is to drive it. When the dealer gets the car he goes over it carefully, oils and greases the parts thoroughly, removes all squeaks and rattles, and presents the car to the buyer with everything in first-class condition.

The first thing to get before accepting the car is the insurance. Every owner ought to carry liability insurance and coverage should be obtained before the car is driven away from the dealer. Fire and theft insurance are usually taken out because most cars are purchased on the time-payment plan, which calls for this coverage. The kind of car to be used ought to be decided beforehand. The spare tire and tire fort of any car, much less a light car."

"I believe we have demonstrated these new tires to over 250 persons," he continued, "and all have expressed their pleasure and satisfaction at the results of the experiment. We have sold several cars lately equipped with these tires. Of course, the factory cars are not fitted with balloon tires, but we are at liberty to change the tires on the request of the buyer. Of the many we have supplied with the balloon cords we have had nothing but praise of their performance, and we continue to hear their praise on every hand."

ASSERTS GREAT CONFIDENCE IN OVERLAND CARS

Vaudeville Artist Uses a Model 91 For His Strong Man Stuff

Al Ritchie, the strong man, who is making a circuit of theatres throughout Canada, uses a standard stock Overland model 91 touring car in his sensational "strong man" parades. Ritchie, standing in the back seat, braces his body, then with a rope around a neck pulls a load of from ten to fifteen tons.

"I see the billboards are advertising Overland as the car with the most power," said Tex, when asked why he selected this car for his demonstration.

"This is literally true. It is about universally recognized that the engine in the new Overland steadily produces the most power of any of the light weight cars.

"It is a real strain both on the car and upon me, to pull up-grade a load of ten or twelve tons. The rope which I have around my neck buries itself into the muscles and I must have a car that can develop sufficient power from a dead start to pull the weight that is behind me. That car must have a steady clutch, a clutch that does not grip and jerk, and it must have an engine which can get down and pull.

Care in Inspection Necessary Buying Second Hand Cars

Buyers Often Fooled by Dealers' Trick Tactics

A used car should be looked over with extreme care, checked up and tested thoroughly before being bought.

There are nondescript dealers who wait for just such persons who are lax in this safeguard. They doctor up the car so that it "runs just like new"—while undergoing test. And it breaks down shortly after purchase.

Some of the tricks used are:

- Running the car on soft tires, to hide rattles and hard springs.
- Covering up engine knocks by chemically treating the crankcase oil so it has the consistency of muck.
- Quieting defective transmission or rear end with sawdust or powdered cork packing.
- Injecting acid into a nearly dead storage battery.
- Mounting a new body on an old chassis.

VALUABLE ADVICE TO MOTOR OWNER

Man Should Know Something of Engine to Care For Car

If the automobile owner has a knowledge of the functioning of the engine it will enable him to picture in his mind what is going on under the hood of his car. This knowledge should increase his pleasure and enable him to take more intelligent care of his machine both as to caring for its needs and as to the matter of overworking it.

Then, too, this knowledge will make it possible for him to have an inkling at least of what any trouble is about when the thing doesn't seem to work right.

The gasoline engine which is used in 92 per cent of all automobiles in this country in its simplest form consists of a cylinder like a stove-pipe inside of this slides a plug of metal shaped like a drinking glass enlarged, which fits the interior of the cylinder snugly.

This piston is connected to crank by means of a connecting rod, which turns the back-and-forth or reciprocating motion of the piston into a rotary motion. This is the motion transmitted to the rear wheels.

Automobile engines are made up of from one to twelve of these cylinders coupled together. They are most usually found in combinations of two, four, six, eight and twelve,

Smooth As A Canoe On A Calm Lake

The Phaeton

The Chrysler's 3-inch motor is so efficient in its power development that it gives a high gear speed range of 2 to over 70 miles per hour, combined with gasoline economy safely over 24 miles to the gallon. That's the result of balance, elimination of friction, utilization of fuel, perfect carburetion and correctly applied thermodynamics—the result, in a word, of scientific engineering.

The power flow of the Chrysler Six is without the slightest vibration. It seems impossible until you experience it—and then you too will speak of this car in superlative terms.

So ingeniously engineered that the actual compactness of the car gives surprisingly ample room, and a degree of riding ease never before found in any but the larger, heavier cars.

Motor, chassis, body—all show the handiwork of genius in the adaptation of tried and true principles of engineering to the creation of a car that gives a totally new type of performance.

Thos. Plimley, Ltd. Broughton Street at Broad. Phone 697

The original motor car engine was one cylinder. As greater power and flexibility were desired, more cylinders were added. To-day the six-cylinder engine is the most popular type.

If the operation of the single cylinder is understood, the action of the twelve-cylinder engine may be readily pictured as each of the twelve cylinders does the same sort of work, but each does it at a different time.

To cause the engine to generate power a mixture of gasoline and air in the form of vapor is fed into the cylinder above the piston. To provide this mixture a carburetor is attached to the engine and a valve is furnished which opens to permit the mixture to enter at the proper time. This valve is opened by a cam which is driven by a suitable gearing attached to the crankshaft.

This mixture is compressed in the cylinder and then ignited or set on fire by means of a spark plug. When the mixture is ignited it burns rapidly and produces heat. This in turn causes pressure on the piston forcing it to slide in the cylinder and turn the crank.

SIX MEN SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR MURDER OF BANK CHAUFFEUR AND FELLOW GAMBler.—Left to right: Leo Davis, Louis Morel, former Montreal detective who made a plea for clemency for Davis; Tony Frank, Frank Gambino, Mike Valentino and Joe Cerafini, all sentenced to death for the murder of Henri Cleodoux, bank chauffeur, and Harry Stone, one of their companions, in the hold-up of the Bank of Hochelaga collection car on April 1 last, when $142,288 was stolen.

NEW FOUR-IN-HAND ALL-PURPOSE DRESS.—Miss Laura Norlin in the four-in-one costume. Centre shows the foundation garment, made into an evening gown at the left and an afternoon gown at the right. The silk must be reversible or you use two layers so that you can wear either side to the fore thus making two different colored costumes. The tricky cutting forms it into a dress. Then with a conservative girdle you have an afternoon gown and with a more elaborate one and with a slightly different manipulation of the fulness you are all set for the evening. The whole outfit may be rolled up into a package scarcely larger than a good-sized sausage, and takes up so little room that you can stomp the country with no more baggage than an overnight case. Miss Norlin last season created a golf costume which was awarded a $1,000 prize and was adopted by the golf association as the official costume of the links.

AMBITION GONE WRONG.—Warren T. McCray, gentleman-farmer and internationally known breeder of blooded cattle, who cherished an ambition to be the richest and most powerful man in Indiana, resigned the governorship the other day and is now an inmate of a felon's cell at the Atlanta Federal penitentiary.

NOT GIVING UP YET.—Lord Parmoor, Lord President of the Council in the Laborite Ministry, who has definitely announced that Great Britain is not going to abandon the Sudan in any sense whatever, regardless of the pressure being brought to bear by Premier Zaghoul Pasha and other Egyptian Nationalists.

SCENES IN JASPER PARK.—The pictures above reproduce scenes in Jasper National Park, the great playground in the Rocky Mountains, of which there are many in the park. IN FREAK CLOUDBURSTS.—Nature was seen in its angriest mood in a series of phenomenal cloudbursts near Johnson City, Tenn. Four separate torrents raced down Iron Mountain, cutting great holes in its sides, sweeping boulders and trees in its path. The paths cut in the mountain are shown in this photograph. Then it dashed through twenty miles of Carter County, carrying stores, homes and railroad tracks along with it. A dozen persons were killed and scores of families were forced to flee for their lives.

MAY BE HEIRESS.—Five-year-old Marie Theresa Corby, of Dayton, Ohio, isn't a bit excited over the fact that she may be declared heiress to $4,000,000 in a few days. She is playing with her dolls while lawyers are fighting to get the money for her. The estate in question was left by Thomas W. Corby, eccentric Detroit millionaire. Corby's divorced wife contends Marie Theresa was the millionaire's child. Corby left no will.

ENDED STRIKE.—C. H. Collins, president of the Toronto Men's Liberal Association, whose effort cleared the way to a settlement of the postal strike.

MOVIES HELP SCULPTOR.—A young sculptor in Paris, George Fito Waters, is achieving phenomenal success in catching the characteristic expressions of his models. And he does it without subjecting them to hours of tireless posing. They call, have tea and chat as he films them. Then by projecting the film slowly he is able to accomplish his preliminary work. Only when the work is well advanced is there a sitting. Here he is at work on a bronze of Vladimir Rosing, one of Europe's youngest and most promising musicians.

TO JOIN PARLEY.—Frank B. Kellogg, American Ambassador at London, who will collaborate with Col. Jas. A. Logan, Jr. in representing the United States at the Premier's parley being held in London on July 16.

PROMINENT.—J. S. Woodworth, Labor member for Centre Winnipeg, one of the outstanding speakers in the church union debate in Parliament recently.

HOW WELL-DRESSED DOGS WILL LOOK.—Fashion writers have neglected to tell us what Fido and Betty are wearing this Summer. And that is mighty important. The chic woman's dog, you know, must be dressed the part. But here is the information: For the morning stroll in the Bois de Boulogne, Fashion dictates Fido and Betty must wear charming little checked coats of Rodier Kaasha. And each has a hip pocket for a checked taffeta kerchief. At lunch at Ciro's, a dainty little white leather collar with hand-painted strawberries must be worn. Motoring after lunch requires a sand-color broadcloth coat with Buster Brown collar, the edges of which, as well as the pocket in the jacket is embroidered in blue, green and red. With it a linen handkerchief with blue trimmings must be used. And there should be at least one sport outfit for the Olympic games. There's always a little hand-knitted sweater, the color naturally depending on whether the wearer is a Belgian Griffon, a French Bull or a Sealyham. Dogs like men must show their race. So after all, the Canadian mongrel can thank his lucky stars he is not like his blue-blooded brethren of France. When Summer comes, he can get by anywhere in his birthday clothes.

KARL VICTOR AGAIN.—Karl K. Homuth, former Labor M.P.P. for South Waterloo, Ontario, who was re-elected, defeating W. C. Chaw, Conservative, by 2,625 votes.

MRS. BUFFALO AND HER BABY.—Old Mr. Stork made a slight pilgrimage the other day from his pond in Liberty Park, Salt Lake City, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buffalo. And he took with him a husky 75-pound youngster. Right now, the young fellow, shown here with his mother, is causing his parents no end of worry.
