Minutes of Meeting of The Commission of Fine Arts 8 June 1955

A meeting of the Commission of Fine Arts was held in the Commission's offices, Room 7000 Interior Department Building on Wednesday and Thursday, 8 and 9 June 1955. The following members were present for the first session:

David E. Finley, Chairman Wallace K. Harrison Douglas W. Orr Felix W. de Weldon Emily L. Muir Elbert Peets

William G. Perry

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman at 9:30 a.m.

Minutes of meetings of 2 December 1954, 10 February, 15 March 13 April, and 5 May 1955

The Secretary reported that the minutes of the meetings of 2 December, 1954, and 10 February 1955 had been mailed to the recently retired members of the Commission. Their comments had not yet been registered, and approval was assumed. Due to pressure of routine work, the minutes of the meetings of 15 March, 13 April, and 5 May 1955 have not been completed for distribution to the present members.

Next meeting of the Commission of Fine Arts

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the Commission on 7 and 8 September 1955, with no meetings being scheduled for July and August.

Gifts to the United States, portrait of Abraham Lincoln by James Montgomery Flagg

Under date of 27 May, a letter was received from Mr. A.J.Goodpaster, Staff Secretary of the White House (Exhibit A) requesting the Commission's comments on the suitability of accepting a portrait of Abraham Lincoln by James Montgomery Flagg, which Mr. Flagg wished to donate to the White House or some other United State's agency. The Chairman acknowledged the letter saying: "In view of the fact that the White House has several portraits of President Lincoln by well-known artists, it would seem advisable not to accept it for the decoration of the Executive Mansion."

The Secretary reported that he had contacted Colonel Randle B. Truett, Chief, National Memorials and Historical Sites Division, National Capital Parks, who said that he would be glad to have the portrait for the collection in the Lincoln Museum.

The members, after viewing a photograph of the painting, voted unanimously against the acceptance of the portrait for the White House and suggested that the donor be informed of the willingness of the Lincoln Museum to add the portrait to its collection. The White House (Exhibit A-1) and Mr. Flagg (Exhibit A-2) were informed accordingly.

Gifts to the White House, statuette of Abraham Lincoln by Jeno Juszko
Under date of 17 May 1955, the White House forwarded a letter, with several amplifying enclosures, from Mr. Bernard G. Heyn, of Menton, France, and requested the Commission of Fine Arts to comment on the offer of Mr. Heyn to donate to the White House a statuette of Abraham Lincoln, the work of Jeno Juszko, a Hungarian-American sculptor who died in 1954. The Chairman wrote Mr. Heyn on 19 May 1955, and requested a photograph of the statuette, together with its dimensions. Mr. Heyn replied that he would bring the statuette to Washington, D. C., for the Commission to view, and he did so, leaving it in the custody of the Secretary.

Mr. Heyn's offer was favorably considered by the Commission, and after viewing the statuette, the Commission approved its acceptance by the White House. Mr. Heyn was informed accordingly (Exhibit B) as was the White House (Exhibits B-1 and B-2).

Department of Defense, Distinguished Civilian Service Award Medal Mr. Arthur E. DuBois, Chief, Heraldic Branch, Department of the Army, and Mr. Thomas Hudson Jones, sculptor of the same office, presented to the Commission of Fine Arts plaster models, prepared by Mr. Jones, for the face and reverse sides of the Department of Defense Distinguished Civilian Service Award (Exhibit C). Mr. DuBois explained the design and described the schematic significance of the medals. After making suggestions for several minor points, the designs for the medals were approved. The Department of the Army was informed accordingly. (Exhibit C-1)

United States Information Agency, Civilian Service Award Medals
Mr. Eugene D. Corkery, Staff Assistant, Office of Personnel,
U.S. Information Agency, presented drawings of the face and three reverse sides for the U.S. Information Agency honor award medals. Mr.
Corkery explained that there are to be three medals: one of gold for distinguished service; one of silver for superior service; and one of bronze for meritorious service (Exhibit D).

The Commission unanimously approved the first of the three schemes presented, after a motion to that effect was made by Mr. de Weldon, and seconded by Mr. Orr. The United States Information was informed accordingly (Exhibit D-1).

American Institute of Pharmacy, proposed expansion

Dr. Robert P. Fischelis, Secretary, American Pharmaceutical Association, American Institute of Pharmacy, met with the Commission of Fine Arts to discuss the uncertainty presently prevailing in the Institute's plans to expand its facilities through the addition of a laboratory building to the rear of its headquarters building at 22nd Street and Constitution Avenue, northwest, by reason of the recent purchase of the property at the 22nd and C Street corner of the Institute's lot by the National Association of Life Underwriters for a headquarters building. Previously approved expansion plans appeared to be nullified. The Institute of Pharmacy therefore needed guidance to know whether to draw up plans for a building to occupy merely its present property or to proceed with plans for a building to occupy the entire square in the event the land could be purchased by the United States and made available for use by the Institute, as was done originally.

The Chairman reported that he had met with representatives of Public Buildings Service, National Capital Planning Commission, and the Bureau of the Budget to discuss whether Congress should be asked to purchase the remainder of the entire square, and that it was decided to ask for legislation and a supplementary appropriation to purchase the land. Congressional approval would mean that the National Association of Life Underwriters would have to look elsewhere for a site for their building.

The Commission decided that no advice could be given on plans for the laboratory building for the Institute of Pharmacy, while Congressional action was pending, and Dr. Fischelis was so advised verbally.

Widening of Independence and Constitution Avenues

The Secretary reported that two bills, H.R. 6593 and S.2255-84th Congress, (Exhibits E and E-1), were introduced "To authorize and direct the Architect of the Capitol to transfer to the District of Columbia jurisdiction over certain portions of the United States Capitol Grounds and other grounds belonging to the United States for use in connection with the widening of Independence and Constitution Avenues and the rechannelization of Union Station Plaza."

Two plans to widen Constitution and Independence Avenues had been prepared, one by the District Commissioners, and one by the National Capital Planning Commission. The members of the Commission considered both schemes, and voted unanimously to approve the National Capital Planning Commission's plan, which required no sacrifice of land from the southern edge of the Capitol Grounds to accomplish it.

The Commission had not been asked to comment formally on the bills and no report was made.

U.S. Capitol, extension of East Front

The Chairman requested the member's opinions on a resolution introduced in Congress, H. Res. 218-84th Congress (Exhibit F), which proposed to extend and complete the east central front of the Capitol. The legislation was motivated by the desire to improve the restaurant facilities, but the current proposal also revised several previous proposals to correct what is considered to be an esthetically undesirable relation between the East Front and the Dome, and provide more office space om tje Capitol building. Although the Capitol is excluded by law from the jurisdiction of the Commission of Fine Arts, Congress usually invites the Commission to express an opinion on proposals of this importance.

The Secretary brought out that the resolution had passed out of committee and was ready to go to the floor of the House. There was little opposition expressed to the bill with the exception of the American Institute of Architects whose Board had passed an objecting resolution.

The members decided they needed more information and an appointmen was made, at the Chairman's request, for Mr. Orr to view the proposed plans and to discuss the matter with the Architect of the Capitol.

Roaches Run Bridge

As background for the discussion of the Potomac crossing at Constitution Avenue and at the request of the Chairman, Mr. Charles H. Conrad, Chief of General Plans, National Capital Planning Commission, gave the Commission, on very short notice, an informal but thorough orientation as to the status of the Roaches Run Bridge proposal.

The Commission had lunch at the National Gallery at 1:00 p.m. Guests were: Congressman Frank Thompson; Mr. George Frain of Congressman Thompson's office; Mr. Norman Kent, member, Advisory Council on Stamps of the National Academy of Design, and Mr. Lawrence Grant White, President, National Academy of Design.

Freer Gallery of Art

In accordance with the usual custom, the Commission visited the Freer Gallery of Art where the Director, Mr. Wenley, submitted a number of works of art proposed for purchase. The Commission inspected the objects and approved them for purchase. (Exhibit G).

The meeting of the Commitsion of Fine Arts was reconvened at 2:25 p.m. in its offices in the Interior Building.

Postage Stamps, Advisory Committee on

The Commission conferred in the afternoon with Albert J. Robertson, Assistant Postmaster General; Robert E. Fellers, Director, Division of Philately, Post Office Department; Lawrence Grant White, President, National Academy of Design; and Norman Kent, member, Advisory Committee on Stamps of the National Academy of Design, to discuss methods and procedures to be followed in arriving at better postage stamp designs, which might be agreeable to the Post Office Department, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and the National Academy of Design's recently appointed Advisory Committee on stamps.

The conference was brought about by a letter from Mr. Lawrence Grant White, dated 13 May 1955 (Exhibit H), in which Mr. White took issue with an article that appeared in the Sunday Star of 24 April publicizing the newly formed Advisory Committee on Stamps.

An opportunity was given for all present to express their views, and there was considerable discussion of the aesthetic value and artistic quality of United States stamps. A genuine interest was shown by all parties for the improvement of stamp designs. In conclusion, the following points were made: The Post Office Department agreed to supply the Advisory Committee with a list of proposed stamps and their subjects; also, a set of technical specifications for future guidance in making recommendations; the four existing sizes of stamps will continue to be utilized for the present; the Post Office Department has no objection to the use of different colors on the same stamp, but, as yet, the engravers have found no color process that would enable them to turn out the maximum number of stamps required; the Advisory Committee does not wish to design stamps, but feels competent to act a jury for the preliminary sketches and the final design.

Procedures set forth, for implementing the above-stated points, are as follows: The Advisory Committee is to submit a list (to be kept confidential) of qualified artists to the Commission of Fine Arts for transmission to the Post Office Department. After the Post Office Department selects an artist from this list, the Advisory Committee will initiate discussions with the artist with regard to the conception of the design. The resulting preliminary sketches, and the final design are passed on by the Advisory Committee and then submitted to the Commission of Fine Arts for action. The Commission of Fine Arts submits the final design to the Postmaster General for final approval.

The minimum fee, suggested by the Advisory Committee, to be paid for the artist or artists was $500. It was not decided whether or not the artists who participate, but whose designs were not accepted, should be paid.

The Commission adjourned at 3:30 p.m. for conference with the Architect of the U. S. Capitol, as arranged during the morning session.

Att: Mr. Thurman Adams, Assistant to The President.

Dear Mr. Adams:

Since receiving your letter of May 21st, I have conferred with my client, Mr. James Montgomery Flagg, who unfortunately for the past three years, has been suffering from impairment of eyesight so that at the present time is hardly able to read the headlines of a newspaper. Pursuant to his instructions and in conformity with your letter of May 21st, I am mailing to you in a separate cover, a photograph of the oil painting made by Mr. Flagg many years ago of Abraham Lincoln. I shall await further instructions from you in regard to my previous letter addressed to The President of the United States.

Mr. Flagg has requested that after the photograph has served your purpose, will you be kind enough to mail it back to me to be delivered to him.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Mr. Goodpaster:

At a meeting held 8 June 1955, the Commission of Fine Arts considered Nr. James Montgomery Plagg's offer to present his painting of Abraham Lincoln to the White House or some other agency of the United tates Covernment. The members agreed that the painting was not suitable for the White House. However, the authorities at the Lincoln Museum indicated to me that they would be happy to add it to their collection.

I will write Mr. Flagg's representative, giving him the above information and return the chotograph he forw ried to assist the Com ission is reciling.

Dear Mr. Donling

At a meeting on 8 June 1955 the Commission of Fine Arts considered Mr. James Montgomery Flagg's generous offer to present his painting of Abraham Lincoln to the White House or some agency of the United States Government. The members of the Commission agreed that the painting was not suitable for the White House, but recommended that Mr. Flagg fiverably consider the desire of the authorities of the Lincoln Museum to add it to their collection.

Will you please advise me of Mr. Plagg's decision, and I will be happy to put you into touch with the Museum authorities? I am returning herein the photograph you kindly supplies.

MAY 1 1955

MOTED.

May 13,1955

Mr. David E. Finley, Chairman The Commission of Fine Arts Interior Department Building Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Finley:

In the Sunday Star of April 24, 1955, there appeared an article signed by James Waldo Fawcett under the title "Advisory Fine Arts Council Selected to Insure Quality of U.S. Stamps," which in our opinion contains a few premature and rather alarming presuppositions. It begins by saying "United States postage stamps are to be more beautiful," and also states that "the Fine Arts Commission, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the Post Office Department and the National Academy have reached an agreement under the terms of which a committee to act in an advisory capacity on stamp projects has been appointed."

It seems to us highly premature to state now as a fact that U.S. stamps are going to be more beautiful while the terms of the agreement which may assure such a fact are still highly nebulous and have yet to be worked out. The only agreement reached so far is that the committee consented to serve without pay.

The first and only meeting of the committee with the gentlemen from Washington, Mr. Fellers and Mr. McLeod, which took place on March 3rd at the National Academy, was morepless of an exploratory nature.

The Soo Locks Commemorative Stamp was discussed and criticized, on the basis of sketches and drawings executed by the U.S.Bureau of Engraving and Printing, but no further proof of the fruitfulness of this discussion has been forthcoming, and the committee would of course not want to take responsibility for the design of this stamp.

Mr. David E.Finley

A pencil sketch, furnished by an amateur artist, served as a basis for discussion for the projected "Atoms for Peace" stamp. No further word on this important project has reached the Committee, nor has any new meeting been scheduled.

The Council and the Committee are somewhat alarmed at the possibility of these stamps being issued without the final approval of the Committee which will be blamed by a disappointed public if these stamps fall short of being beautiful.

The artists on the Committee have a reputation to lose, and the result of their work is going to be carefully scrutinized by the public and by their colleagues.

Since the Advisory Committee is now considered part of the Commission of Fine Arts, we ask you please to use your influence as Chairman to work out terms with the Post Office Department, and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, under which the Committee will meet regularly, will be fully consulted and kept fully informed on the development of stamps in the process of being designed, so that the Committee can effectively work and be considered responsible for future U.S. stamps "becoming more beautiful," or to "insure their quality," to quote Mr. Fawcett.

The Committee has not yet been given a chance to make suggestions that lead to such improvements. A radical departure from the methods so far employed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will be necessary, one of which would be to put the design of stamps into the hands of artist-designers, and entrust the engravers only with that task for which they have been trained. Your help in this matter is necessary and will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

LGW: MR

Lawrence Grant White, P.N.A.
