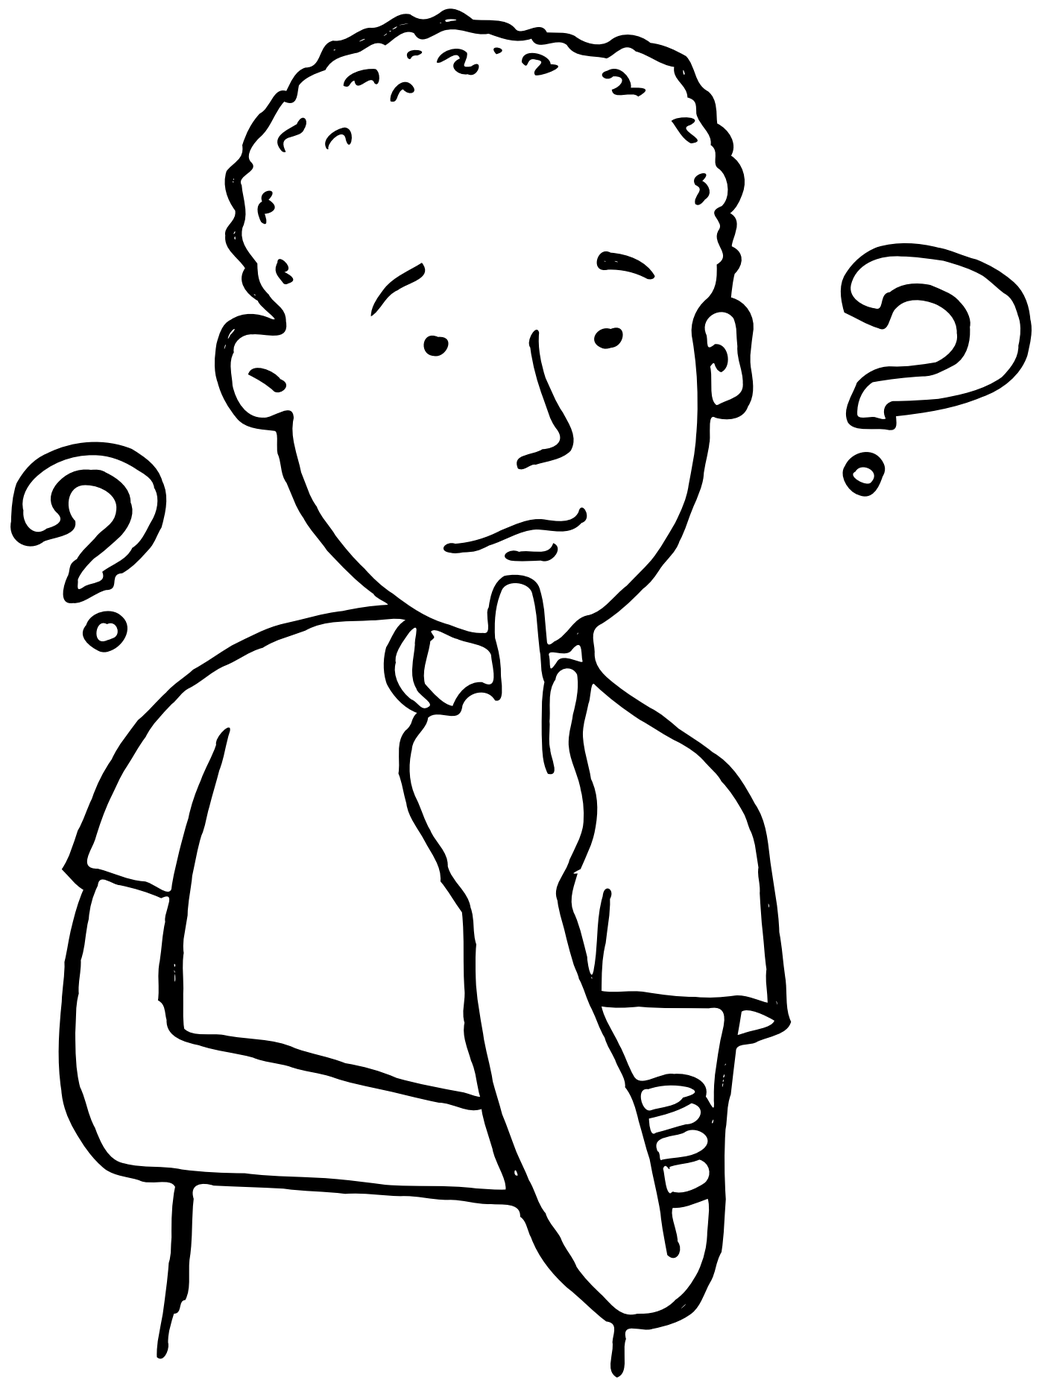
RIGHT →

← WRONG

Rules

For

Semicolons

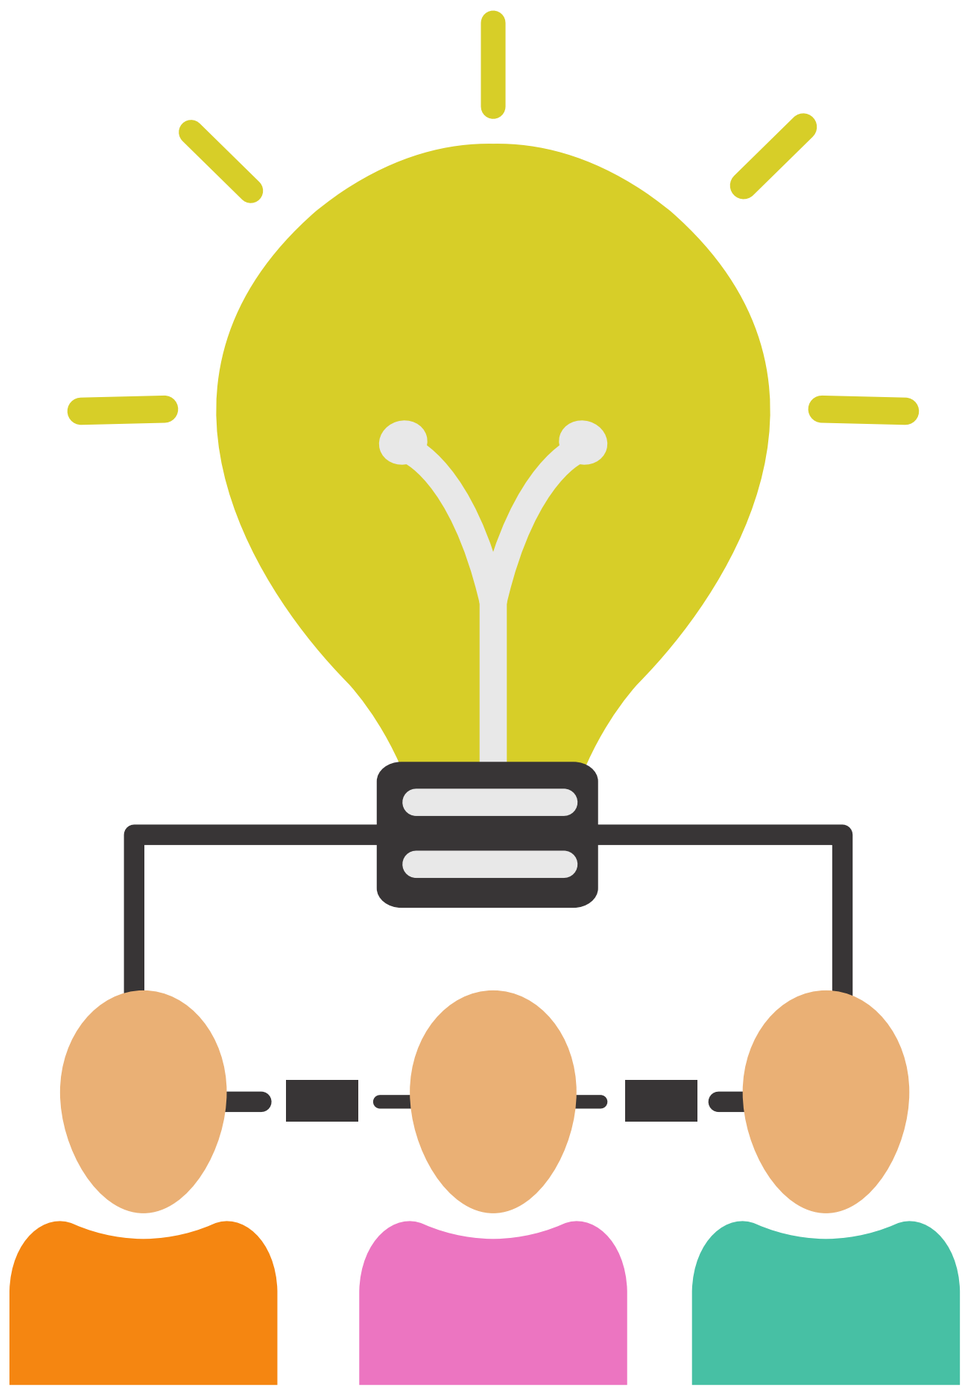


When can I use a semicolon?

A semicolon may join two sentences.

A semicolon may seperate items in a list.

I enjoy swimming; my grandmother does not.



Miranda Jones, mom; Emmit Garrelts, son; Cole Garrelts, son, are part of the same family.

NO!

I like dogs; cats;birds;and fish.

YES!

I live with Bart, a dog; Pookie, a cat; Moe, a bird; and Stan, a fish, in my small apartment.