CHAPTER V.

THE LINZEE FAMILY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

SECTION I.

THE LINZEE NAME.

The following ways of spelling the name Linzee, Linsee, Linzie, Linsie, and the use of "y" instead of the "i", as Lynzee, Lynzye, etc., are recognized and accepted, by the descendants of Thomas Linzee of Portsea, as the correct modes of writing their name, but they have a decided preference for the form Linzee which was carved on his tombstone now resting in the church-yard of St. Mary's, the Parish Church at Kingston, Portsea, county Hants, England.

Often has the writer been asked the question, if the Linzees knew when they changed from the Scottish form Lindsay or the English spelling Lindsey, to our system of ending the name with an "ie" or "ee", and the use of "z" instead of "s"? Our answer has been that we could show the precise spelling Linzee for over three hundred years, while the form Linsee was even older and derived from the spelling of the name in the more ancient documents and seals. A few instances will now prove this statement.

In Raine's North Durham, Appendix, pp. 38-39, the seal of Walter de Lindessie (5), the ancestor of the Scottish Lindsays, is unfortunately mutilated as follows:

"SIG(IL)LV(M). (GAUTI)I. DE LINDESSIE".

Then follows the seal of William de Lindeseie (8), the son of Walter de Lindessie (5), both of Ercildun, which is happily intact, as follows:

"SIGILLVM. WILLELMI. DE. LINDESEIE".

(See records in Chapter III., Section III.; and the seals in Vol. I., just before Chapter I., in that interesting work, "The Lives of the Lindsays", by Lord Lindsay).

The previous William de Lindeseie of Ercildun was a witness to a grant by William King of Scots, when his name was spelt William de Lyndsee (Cal. Doc. Scot., II: 421).

Clearly these seals show, better than the method in any charter, how Walter and William of Ercildun wished their names to be spelt, especially as the writings in of the names in the ancient documents were usually the work of scribes. The seal is the mode of its owner, and therefore should have precedence. In the Appendix, Vol. I., of the "Lives of the Lindsays", charters show the name ending with an "a", "e", "i", and "y", thus indicating a variation among those who wrote them. The form Lindescie appears to be the best of all the spellings, the most in use, and existed prior to 1170; it and the very ancient names "Lindissi and Lindisse" are synonymous, and are perhaps a corruption of the Lindon of Ptolemy, with the affix "e" or "ey" meaning "isle". (See also p. 8 and pp. 189-190).

The tendency to shorten names, which time and common sense brought about, when applied to the name "Lindeseie", naturally reduced it to Lindesei or Lindesee, Lindese, Lindsee, Lindsie, Lindsi, and Lindes, the last spelling maintaining the ancient origin from Lindens-eye, but not in harmony with the generally accepted sound and appearance of the name. The final sound of "e" is thus a marked characteristic even when the ending is with an "i" or "y", and another feature is the fact that the name is never properly less than two syllables, such as Lins, Linse, or Lindse. Consequently the name Lindsee should always have the final "e". The English form Lindsey is of course in harmony with the ancient origin, but by omitting the final "e" loses much in both orthography and etymology.

The orthography of the surnames of persons, at first, was intimately related to place and employment, but later the variations became more closely identified with the tastes of individuals, therefore as the "s" and "z" were interchangeable, it is not surprising that some branches changed Lindsee into Lindzee, since the sound of "z" is more easily pronounced. The "d" is generally silent, or can be assimilated into "s" or "z", thereby creating the name Linzee. But, perhaps, it is more correct to change "Lindsee" into "Linzee", as the sound of "ds" is the same as that of "z". The word Deuswounds shortens to Dswounds, which is the same as Zounds. (See Skeat's English Etymology, and Sir James A. H. Murray's, A New English Dictionary).

Consequently we claim that the name "Linzee" is formed from the ancient spelling of "Lindeseie", by simply removing superfluous letters and not by capriciously changing the letters themselves, and that it is phonetically correct.

If we turn to the records of England, which country is undoubtedly the origin of the name, because of the district of Lindeseie in county Lincoln, we will find the final "e" ending in vogue for centuries after the Conquest, and, from 1300, supported by the probates registered at Somerset House, London, which are given in Chapter IV. Other examples can be shown in abundance, but London has been selected for comparison, as there the art of writing was more advanced than in the various counties, with the possible exceptions of Oxford and Cambridge.

So much misconception has arisen concerning the origin of the Linzees, that it is well to have our ancestry traced to its proper source, and to divest it of all conjecture at least as far back as 1627, when Thomas Linzee (101) of Portsea was born, and to add that his most probable ancestry ought to make him a descendant of the Lynsyne family seated at Wimborne Minster in the county of Dorset as early as 1511, which might be derived from the Lindeseies of Scotland. But beyond Thomas Linzee (101), the proof of his line of ascent is lost, only the tradition in every branch of his descendants remains, which has for its chief support the statement of Samuel 1st Viscount Hood, on file in the College of Arms, at London, who claimed that the said Thomas Linzee was descended from the "Linzees of Scotland". His Lordship undoubtedly knew he was right, but he failed to record the pedigree, and so the particular branch of the Linzees of Scotland to which Thomas Linzee belonged rests in impenetrable uncertainty.

Under number — (100) and his own number (101), a few theories will be indulged in concerning Thomas' ancestry. The pedigree of Viscount Hood appears under Thomas Linzee (103).

Thomas Linzee (103), the son of Thomas Linzee (101), was the first of his family, so far known, to place his life in the public service of his country. He supervised the manufacture of the rope and rigging destined for the British Navy in the Government Dockyard at Portsmouth, near the adjoining town of Portsea, thereby contributing a factor to the efficiency of England's men of war. In this pursuit he was succeeded at Portsmouth by his son Thomas Linzee (106) who died in 1737, and by his grandson John Linzee (109), the son of John Linzee (105), at the Government Dockyard at Devonport, near Plymouth, Devon, from 1750 to 1787, but both these dates are somewhat uncertain.

To Edward Linzee (107), third son of Thomas Linzee (103), a surgeon and apothecary, we must grant the wreath of business acumen and political sagacity. No one surpassed him as mayor of the corporation of Portsmouth, whose administration he controlled in harmony with the interests of King George, being a favorite with the monarch, against the attacks of a powerful combination of Independents and Whigs who desired to wrest from Edward Linzee the government of a town the port of which sheltered the greatest naval and civil marine interests of Great Britain. To his home the officers of the Navy came courting for other favors than the hands of his daughters and nieces. To him we principally owe the rise in the wealth and social prominence of the Linzees. For his municipal services, he was offered knighthood by George III., in 1778, but he declined that honour.

Mary Linzee (111), the daughter of John Linzee (105), married Edward Penfold; he and at least four of his sons served their government in positions of importance; the second son William Penfold (111-1) was a designer and constructor of some of England's wooden battle ships. Many of her descendants are serving with distinction in the British fleet in the North Sea on the Superb, Dido and Topaz. Her granddaughter Rebecca Penfold (111-7) married Rear-Admiral John Pasco, who was Flag-Lieutenant or Signal Officer of the Victory to the famous fighting Admiral Horatio Nelson, and unfurled at the Battle of Trafalgar that soul stirring message "England expects that every man will do his duty". Another descendant Horatia Victoria Elizabeth Atchison Pasco (111-16) married Admiral John Bonnet-maison Bunch McHardy, who, in addition to distinguished naval services, was known as the founder of the police of England.

Susannah Linzee (114), daughter of Edward Linzee (107), brought distinction to her family by her marriage to Samuel 1st Viscount Hood, one of the most capable of England's Admirals. To him was assigned the difficult task of holding in check the ambitious designs of world dominion by Napoleon I., which responsibility he handed down to Admiral Nelson, whose naval experiences were to a large extent gained under the immediate command of Hood. Lady Hood was in Boston, Mass., previous to the perilous times of the American Revolution, and left pleasant memories of her amiable personality.

Admiral Robert Linzee (117), brother of Viscountess Hood, was the first of our name to attain that high rank in the British Navy. To him for gallant services rendered his country in the hour of peril, the thanks of both houses of Parliament were voted. His brother Edward Linzee Jr., trod somewhat in the footsteps of their father, but less conspicuously.

Captain John Linzee (118), founder of the American branch, was the son of John Linzee (109) of Plymouth. He did his part in the battles between the mother country and her American Colonies, and in the naval encounters waged between England and France in the waters of the New World. His frigate the Falcon was one of the first to fire on the redoubt at the Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775, where bound by duty, the oath of allegiance and loyalty, he aimed a British shot intending to shatter the hopes of the new-born American liberty, and his act is more to be admired because it was fettered by wedlock to an American wife, and deep attachment to American friends, which, in the hour of peace and after the death of his wife in 1792 in Boston, led to him settle in Milton, Mass., where he died in 1798. He and his descendants have held, both in England and in America, excellent positions in business and social circles, through intermarriages with families of distinction.

Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee (120), son of Captain John Linzee (118), was one of the youngest Admirals in the British service; he saw fighting from the Indian Ocean to the shores of Denmark, where he served under Nelson. His untimely death at the age of forty six deprived his branch of further honours which his career and ability indicated that he would have achieved.

These names are glory enough to excuse the compilation of this family history, but we must not fail to draw attention to the lives of young lieutenants, Edward, Richard, and Samuel Hood Jr. Linzee, which are cherished for their devotion to their country, though passing away on duty at an early age, without the accumulation of higher honours. Also we must eulogize the descendants of Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee of other names serving in the British Army, in the past and today.

To these we can add the names of those devoted to the Church, Rev. Edward Linzee (119) and his son Rev. Edward Hood Linzee (127), and those who have led honourable and successful business careers, John Inman Linzee (123), Robert George Linzee (128), Thomas C. Amory Linzee (134) and John William Linzee (135), the last a Vice Consul-general of the United States of America at Calcutta, India.

If the lives of generations living today are examined, it will be found that they are taking an active share in the affairs of the old world and of the new, in the domain of patriotism and the field of utility.

The astonishing national English careers of the descendants of Viscountess Susannah (Linzee) Hood (114), many of whom are in high authority at the front in the present European War, and the brilliant business successes of the descendants of Hannah Rowe (Linzee) Amory (121), and Susannah (Linzee) Tilden (122), many of whom fought for the abolition of slavery in our lamentable civil strife of 1861-1864, all lend a charm and interest to the compilation of the genealogy of their lives, showing their mutual relationships to each other and to the Linzees.

SECTION II.

THE LIMESI FAMILY IN THE SOUTH OF ENGLAND.

Before proceeding to the history of those who clearly bore the name "Linzee", a chronological arrangement will be given of the Limesis and Lindeseies domiciled in Hampshire and other counties in the south of England, to whom special attention should be drawn on account of their geographical proximity to Portsea, Hants, the home of Thomas Linzee (101), the ancestor of the Linzees.

This compilation is not to be interpreted as an attempt to write a pedigree, in any sense of the word, but only a convenient means of presenting miscellaneous records and attracting attention to interesting genealogical possibilities.

Lord Lindsay, when writing his "Lives of the Lindsays", found it impossible to begin the history of the great house of Lindsay without bringing in the Limesi family of Normandy which settled in England with the Conqueror, as the probable progenitor of the Scottish founder Walter de Lindeseie (1) of Cumbria and Scotland (1). And strange to say, an account of the Lindeseye families in the south of England, and the same is true of all except the north of England, cannot be recorded from early times without introducing some branch of the same Limesi family as the nearest possible origin of the race.

The devastating civil wars of the White and Red Roses, have eliminated the continuous links in the descent of the branch of the Limesi family seated at Winchester and Southampton, in Hampshire; but enough remains to show that they existed there and in the adjoining counties for centuries, in so far as the principal or older sons are concerned, and that their numbers make it quite impossible for all of their junior branches to have become extinct. The Linsey family of Stoke Charity, near Winchester, undeniably possesses a strong probability of descent from the Limesis, and the same is true in a less degree of all Lindseyes in the south of England.

Evidence will also be presented showing that Scottish Lindsays made settlements in these southern parts.

1. HUGO DE TOESNI, SURNAMED DE LIMESI, from his Norman Seigneurie, son of Ralph de Toesni (See Chapter III., Section I.). He was father of Radulfus de Limesi (2).

2. RADULFUS or RALPH DE LIMESI, son of Hugo de Limesi (1); b. about 1040, in Normandy, came with the Conqueror into England and fought at the battle of Hastings in 1066 (See Chapter III., Section I.). Probable father of Ricardus de Limesi (3) of Winchester, county Hants, England, the possible ancestor of the Limesis in the south of England.

3. RICARDUS DE LIMESI, probable son of Radulfus de Limesi (2); b. about 1075–1080; he resided in Flesmangerestret, Winchester, Hants, England, according to an ancient survey ordered by King Henry I., which was completed between 1107–1128 (Liber Winton, pp. 552–53, given under Hampshire in Chapter I., Section III.). The date of completion was more correctly between 1103–1115.

From the fact that this Richard's name does not appear in the Domesday Survey, it can be argued that he is not a younger brother of the said Radulfus de Limesi (2); he is here assumed to be a younger son of the said Radulfus, as his presumed father and brother Radulfus de Limesi (3) were witnesses, in the reigns of William I. or II., and Henry I., of royal charters in favor of the convent of St. Swithun's, Winchester (See Chapter III., Section I.).

He is probably the father of Robertus de Limeseia (4) of Hamtescira, and Rogo de Limesia (5) of Wiltescira, both living in 1131 (Magnum Rot. Scaccarii vel Magnum Rot. Pipae de anno tricesimo primo Regni Henrici Prima, by Joseph Hunter, pp. 22, 38, 41).

4. ROBERTUS DE LIMESEIA, probably the son of Ricardus de Limesi (3); b. about 1105. Hamtescira, Robt^o de Limesia, deb. dim. m. auri. ut tenet ad firmā trā Pag de Neafla. Et xiiij. li. & xix. s. de veti firma ej^o de tre (Magnum Rot. Scacc. vel Mag. Rot. Pipae de anno tricesimo primo Regni Henrici Prima, by Joseph Hunter, pp. 38, 41). Robertus de Limeseia was a donor of the lands of Betheslega to the Prior and Convent of St. Denis, by Southampton, Hants, in the time of King Stephen, who reigned 1135–54 (Charter Rolls, III: 338).

SAINT DENIS, — CHARTER NUM. III.

CARTA REGIS STEPHANI.

STEPHANUS rex Angliae episcopo Wintoniae, &c. Salutem. Sciatis me concessisse et confirmasse donationem illam, quam Robertus de Limeseia fecit Deo et ecclesiae sancti Dionysii juxta Hantoniam et canonicis in ea Deo servientibus de terra Betheslega, quam Willelmo Marc dederam, quam idem Willielmus dedit praefato Roberto. Quare volo, &c. Teste Willielmo Marc, et Eudone Marc, et Ricardo de Luci apud Winton (Dugd. Monast., VI: 213).

The Priory of St. Denis (Southampton) was founded by Henry I., about the year 1124 for Austin Canons. King Stephen confirmed to the canons the grant of land at Baddesley made by Robert de Limesey (The Victoria Hist. of Hampshire, II: 160).

The Hospital of St. Cross, near Winchester was founded about 1136 by Bishop Henry de Blois. The first master mentioned in a grant of Bishop Blois, was Robert de Limesia in 1136, who was not succeeded by Roger the next master until 1185 (The Victoria Hist. of Hampshire, II: 193-4, 196).

Either Robertus de Limescia (4) or Roger de Limesia (5) is the probable father of Ricardus de Limesi (7).

5. ROGER DE LIMESIA, probable son of Ricardus de Limesi (3); b. about 1110; Rogo de Limesia of Wiltscira was mentioned in 1131 (Magnum Rot. Scaccarii vel Magnum Rot. Pipae de anno tricessimo primo Regni Henrici Prima, by Joseph Hunter, p. 22). He is probably the father of Alexander de Limesia (8). See records under Robertus de Limeseia (4).

6. ALEXANDER DE LIMESI AND WIFE ROHAIS DE AMBLIS, they signed a charter to S. John of Colchester, county Essex, which was witnessed by Paganus Clericus de Rumeseie and Walterus de Limesi, from 1139-46 (See Chapter II., contributed by William A. Lindsay). Alexander has been included in this list, as an Alexander de Limesi witnessed a grant to the Priory of St. Denys near Southampton in 1191-92, which record appears under Ricardus de Limesi (7).

7. RICARDUS DE LIMESIE, probable son of Robertus de Limeseia (4) or of Roger de Limesia (5); b. about 1135; perhaps he is the Ric de Limesi in Berkshire in 1166 (Pipe Roll Soc., IX: 120); and the Ric de Limisia of Southampton, Hants in 1167 (Pipe Roll Soc., XI: 194), whose identity can be traced from 1167-85 in the same locality (Pipe Roll Soc., XI-XXXIV, inclusive). Richard of Limesey took up the Old farm of Southampton, for the last quarter of 1167 (The Victoria History of Hampshire, III: 505). He is probably the Richard de Limesi who, in connection with the "Fee-farm", in the years 1170-71, rendered an account from the old farm of Hanton (Southampton) and also from the new farm (Hist. Southampton, Hants, England, by Rev. J. S. Davies, p. 30); and the Richard de Limesy of Southampton in 1170-71, who rendered an account for Roger Fitz Leonard, for conveying to Ireland the King's supplies, and who probably in 1183-4, was the Richard de Limesey, Marshall, carried over into Ireland, as mentioned by an account rendered by Gilbert Pipard at Chester (Cal. Doc. Ireland, 1171-1251, pp. 1, 10). Richard de Limesia, marshal in Ireland was also mentioned in 1185 (Pipe Roll Soc., XXXIII: 28, 63). But it is possible that Richard de Limesi of Berkshire in 1166 is a distinct person from Richard de Limesi, marshal, in 1185.

It is quite possible that Richard de Limesi, the marshal of 1185, is the Ricardus de Limesie, who with Alexander de Limesia the son of Roger, were witnesses, in 1191-92, to a grant by William Brewer to the Priory of St. Denys, near Southampton, of twenty shillings of rent, with Hugo Bard., [probably Bardulf], and others (Pipe Roll Soc., X: 99-100). A Hugo Bardulf was the husband of Amablis de Limesi, the daughter of Gerardus de Limesi (5) of the main line of Limesis in Warwickshire (Chapter III., Section I., and Rot. Chartarum, p. 150b); thus another link of relationship is probably shown between the Limesis of Wolverley and the branch in Hampshire.

Ricardus de Limesi (7) probably d. about 1200, leaving a son and heir Henry de Limesey (9) of Southampton and of West Tisted (Abbreviatio Placitorum, p. 42).

Contemporary with Ricardus (7) there was an Urso de Limis in Sussex in 1194 (Rot. Curiae Regis, I: 78, 94).

In 1203, flourished a Roger de Limesi v. Robert Trusse in Wicham (Cal. Feet of Fines, Suffolk, by Walter Rye, p. 10).

THE VICTORIAN HISTORY OF ENGLAND, HAMPSHIRE AND THE ISLE OF WIGHT.

(III: 59-61) West Tisted Manor. With regards to the actual holders of the manor various members of the family of Limesi held lands in West Tisted in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. Towards the end of the twelfth century, Richard de Limesi died seised of one hide in West Tisted, leaving a son and heir Henry (Abbrev. Plac. p. 42). As he was in debt to the King his lands were confiscated, but they were released to Henry in his petition of 1203, to hold from year to year as the farmer of the King until the debt was paid in full (Ibid.). Some thirty years later Roger de Limesi, who was also in debt to the King, was slain, and in 1234 the sheriff was ordered to deliver his chattels to any lawful man of the county who would be responsible to the King for part payment of the debts (Excerpt E Rot. Fin., I: 257). Roger's heir was a certain Adam de Limesi, who seems to have taken no steps in this direction, but alienated all his property to the priories of Newark and Selborne, apparently in order to shift the responsibility of payment from his own shoulders to theirs. Thus in 1242 he granted half a carucate in West Tisted (later called Merryfield) to the prior of Newark in frankalmoign in return for two corrodies in food and drink during his life: a canon's corrody and a groom's corrody at Newark (Feet of Fines, Hants, Mich. 26 Hen. III.). About the same time he granted two messuages and lands in West Tisted to the prior and canons of Selborne to hold of him and his heirs by the annual payment of a pound of cummin (Selborne Chart. Hants, p. 31). As Adam had foreseen, King Henry III. demanded the payment of Roger de Limesi's debts from the priory of Newark, and an arrangement was made that the prior should pay a mark every year into the royal exchequer until the debt of £276. 14s. 3d. was paid in full. However, the prior of Newark pleaded that the prior of Selborne also was holding property in West Tisted which had belonged to Roger de Limesi and should also help in the payment of his debts. The possessions of both the priors in West Tisted were valued in 1266, and it was ascertained that those of the prior of Newark were worth £4 a year, while those of the prior of Selborne were only worth 8s. a year. It was accordingly arranged that the latter should pay 1s. 2½d. every year to the prior of Newark towards the payment of Roger de Limesi's debts (Harl. MS. 44, H. 42 Selborne Chart., Hants, p. 59). It is clear therefore, that all lands which belonged to the Limesis in West Tisted were divided before 1250 between the priories of Selborne and Newark. Hence there is no mention of the family of Limesi in connection with West Tisted after that date.

8. ALEXANDER DE LIMESIA, the son of Roger who is probably the Roger de Limesia (5) of Wiltshire; b. about 1140; liv. in 1191–92, as Alexander de Limesia the son of Roger, and Ricardus de Limesie, his senior in rank, who were witnesses to a grant by William Brewer to the Priory of St. Denys, near Southampton, of twenty shillings of rent, with Hugo Bard., and others (Pipe Roll Soc., X: 99–100).

In 1200, there was an Alex. de Lymesy, and Roes ux sue (Rot. Chartarum, p. 69).

He is probably the father of Nicholas de Limesie (10).

9. HENRY DE LIMESY, son of Ricardus de Limesey (7); b. about 1165; Henry the son of Ricardus de Limesey was of Southton, Hants, in 1204, he had a dispute with Hugo de Tisted about land in Tisted (Abbreviatio Placitorum, p. 42). A Henry de Limesie was of Southampton in 1207 (Rot. de Oblatis et Finibus, p. 447). Ricardus de Limesia and son Henry were witnesses to a deed, now deposited in the archives of Queen's College, Oxford, by Willelmus de Chelegrava, granting the lands of Heckelia concerning the foundations of the Hospital of St. Julian or House of God at Southampton and the Priory of Monk Sherborne, co. Hants, at the end of John's or the beginning of the reign of Henry III., or about 1215–16 ⁽¹⁾ (Hist. Manuscript Comm. 4th Rep. 1874, p. 454, see Hampshire).

A Henry de Limesia admits the right of W^m. Dacus to half a hide in Incerton (Somerset). 3 John. (Fines, Chapter II.).

The heir of Henry de Limesey (9) was Roger de Lymesy (11), who could be his son.

10. NICHOLAUS DE LIMESIE, probable son of Alexander de Limesie (8); b. about 1170; Nicholaus de Limese and wife Margarete were living in 1217–20, in Southampton, Hants, the county of Kent, Chichester in Sussex, and Geldeford in Surrey, and his wife had sisters Dionisia and Florencia, and the church of Sutton in Wilts was also mentioned (Patent Rolls). In 1227, a charter of Richard Aquilun, giving to the church of Holy Trinity at Cycestre, the church of Burcham, was witnessed by Nicholaus de Limesia and William de Limis (Charter Rolls, I: 35), where the William de Limis, an undoubted Limesi, has not been previously recorded elsewhere, and remains unidentified.

It is not probable that he is the Nicholas de Limesi mentioned in 1242 (Close Rolls). He is probably the father of Walterus de Lymesie (12), John de Lymesy (13), and perhaps also the father or uncle of Ricardus de Limesia (15).

Contemporary with Nicholaus and his probable sons, there existed a Colino de Limesia, called balistarius, from 1222–24 (Rot. Litt. Claus., I: 508–9, 536, 547b, 553b, 558, 561b, 582b, 587, 592, 597).

(II: 128) 1226. Margareta uxor Nicholai de Lymesy.

Perhaps he is the Nicol de Limes in Oxfordshire in 1200 (Rot. Curiae Regis, II: 71); and the Nicol de Limesie, Com' Derb', in 1208 (Fines Sive Pedes Finium, 1195–1214, by Joseph Hunter, II: 27). On the 14 Aug. 1215, King John appointed Walter de Clifford sheriff of Herefordshire in succession to Nicholas de Limesey (Ant. of Shropshire, by Rev. R. W. Eyton, V: 158).

Ebor^o. Honore de Tykehull. Nichus de Limesi tenz terram que fuit Willi de Lund cū herede Willi p. ostriceriam. Time of Hen. III. (Testa de Nevill, p. 374, and Feudal Hist. of Derbyshire, by J. Pym Yeatman).

Nicol de Limesia v. Jordan de Toke, — re lands in Bradeburne, Derbyshire, in 9 John. (See Fines, in Chapter II.).

There was a Jurdanus de Limesi in Derebi in 1200 (Rot. Curiae Regis, II: 110).

11. ROGER DE LIMESI, probable son of Henry de Limesey (9) of West Tisted in Hampshire; b. about 1190; slain by his enemies in 1234 (Excerpta E Rot. Fin., I: 257). He was probably the father or elder brother of Adam de Limesi who was of West Tisted in 1242, who was Roger's heir. The said Adam could be born, if his son, about 1215.

There was a Roger de Lymeseya, canon of Exeter c. 1220 (Devon and Cornwall Notes and Queries, VIII: 159).

12. WALTERUS DE LIMESIE, probable son of Nicholas de Limesie (10); b. after 1200; perhaps he is the Walterus de Lymese with letters of protection in 1229 (Patent Rolls), but this is doubtful; Walter de Lymes' and Margeria his mother were in Sussex in 1235, who is probably the Walter de Lymes and wife Matilda in Sussex in 1242 (Close Rolls).

(1) The words Elijam de la Dunc have a line through them in the original.

There was a Robert de Lindeseye and wife Agnes, plaintiffs re a messuage in the suburbs of London, in 1229 (Fines, Chapter II.).

(See records under Sir Walter de Lindeseie (5), his children, Chapter III., Section III.).

5. ROBERT DE LINDESEYE, and Gilbert his brother, were in London in 1280 (Patent Rolls). Also a William de Lindesay, painter, in London in 1280-1, and a John de Lyndesey there in the parish of St. Mary de Aldermariecherche in 1278. An attachment of William le Joynur by Peter de Lyndes' and John de Burgo in the case of the death of William de Wodestoke, occurred in 1276 in London. Walter de Lindeseye, coffrer, was also in London in 1292. (Cal. of Letter Bk. of the City of London, by Reginald R. Sharpe, given under Middlesex, Chapter I., Section III.). Consult the probates in Chapter IV. which begin with the records of the Lindeseyes in London.

6. JOHN DE LINDESEYE, was the King's baker in 1305-6 (Cal. Doc. Scot., IV: 395).

7. HENRY DE LYNDESEYE, notary, had lands in the city of London in 1317; also William de Lyndeseye 'Chaundeler', was a citizen of London in 1337. A Henry de Lyndeseye was of London the 20 Aug. 1346, and a Robert de Lyndesey, citizen of London is recorded there in 1350; similarly John de Lyndeseye, clerk, was a witness at London in 1359. (Close Rolls).

8. WILL[EL]MUS DE LYNDESEIE, mentioned in the Sussex Subsidy of 1327, Villat' de la Cliue, Hund' de Lockesfeld (Sussex Rec. Soc., X: 197).

9. HENR' DE LYNDESEYE, 28 June 1346. T.R. apud Porchestre (Rymer's Foedera, III: I: 82). Probably the Henry connected with Christiana de Lindeseie (34), wife of Ingelram de Guignes (Chapter III., Section III.).

10. JOHN LYNDESEYE, of Aylesbury, co. Bucks, the 16 Oct. 1348 (Patent Rolls). See (13).

11. ROBERT LYNDENSSHE, of Shaftesbury, co. Dorset, living in 1349 (Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset, X: 137).

12. ROBERT DE LYNDESAY. John Echyngham and Robert de Lyndesay v. Robert Echyngham and Joan his wife; 2 messuages, 250 acres of land, 60. acres of wood, 220 acres of marsh, 75s. rent in Northyham and Iwcherst; to John and Robert and heirs of John for 200 marks. (Sussex Rec. Soc. XXIII: p. 170, Feet of Fines for the County of Sussex, 44 Edw. III., or 1371).

13. JOHN DE LENNESEY, married Elizabeth dau. of Roger Elmerugge and Elizabeth Huse (d. 1379); Roger held the mediety of Missenden, in Great Missenden, in Aylesbury Hundred (Hist. and Ant. of Buckingham, by George Lipscomb, II: 366). See (10).

14. WILLIAM HALLE, ALIAS LYNDESEY, of Chedyngton, Bucks, in 1410 (Pat. Rolls).

15. JOHN DE LYNDENYSSCH. Forty lbs. of wool 'of a blue color' . . . were bequeathed in 1412, by John Lyndenyssch of Woodland Abbates to Edith Homan (The Victoria Hist. of Eng. Somerset, II: 406; Weaver Somerset Wills, — Som. Rec. Soc., XVI: 56).

16. ROBERT LINDESEY, a Scottish merchant, owned a vessel of 100 tons with Andrew Erlande and Simon Dowelle, about 9–25 Nov. 1450, or 29 Hen. VI., — to represent the Scottish King and liquidate his debts, by selling goods in the King's dominions (Cal. Doc. Scot., IV: 249, and Rot. Scotiae, II: 343b).

17. THOMAS LYNSEY, of Charteham, co. Kent, in 1450 (Patent Rolls).

18. RICHARD LYNDESEY, squier of Dertford, about the year 1452 (Patent Rolls, and records under Kent, in Chapter I., Section III.). His son and heir was William Lyndesey of Dertford, and his wife was Agnes; he also had a daughter Alice (Somerset House probate, Chapter IV.).

19. DAVID LYNDESAYE, a native of Dundee in Scotland, staying at Redyng (Berks) within the realm of England, took the oath of fealty 20 June 1462 at Westminster (Patent Rolls, 1461–67, p. 191).

20. JOHN LYNDESEY, born in Scotland, dwelling in Dertford, co. Kent, took the oath of fealty to inhabit the realm of England at Westminster the 8 Nov. 1480 (Patent Rolls, 1476–85, p. 229).

21. THOMAS LYNSEY, born in Scotland, dwelling in England, 16 Feb. 1481 (Patent Rolls, 1476–85, p. 233).

(Metcalf's, A Book of Knights, p. 7). Knights made in the Englishman's campe, by Alexander Duke of Albany, the 24 July 1482. [Probably in Scotland].

S^r. Thomas Lyndsey.

22. ROBERT LYNDESEY, probably a Scotchman. 6 Nov. 1484-85, Ric. III. The King for his good service, grants to his liege Robert Lyndesey the office of janitor of Tunbridge Castle in Kent, for life (Cal. Doc. Scot., IV: 310).

16 Nov. 1485. Grant for life to Robert Lyndesey, of the office of porter of the Castle of Tunbridge, co. Kent, 6 Nov. (Materials for History of Henry VII.).

23. CHRISTOFER LYNDESEY, of Bemynster, co. Dorset, England, living in 1472 (Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset, I: 198).

24. JOHN LYNDESEY, his presentation to the parish Church of Benefield, in the diocese of Salisbury, void by the death of the abbot of Cirencestre, last parson, the 3 Oct. 1478. Buckden. (Patent Rolls, 1476-85, p. 121).

25. RICARDO LYNSEY, of the parish of St. Thomas the Martyr, Salisbury, Wilts, in 1507-8 (Hist. Manuscript Comm. Various Collections, I: 353).

26. SYMON LYNSEY, of the parish of Wimborne Minster, co. Dorset, husbandman, signed his will the 20 Dec. 1511, in it he mentioned his two youngest daughters viz: Margaret Lynsey and Alice Lynsey, minors, and plans for their bringing up; the residue to be equally divided amongst his five children viz: Willm Lynsey, Mary Lynsey, Avis Lynsey and the said Margaret and Alice, who are his executors. Also his overseers were John Lynsey the elder, John Lynsey the younger and William Willis. Witnesses: John Lynsey the elder and Thomas Abraham. No date of probate for this nuncupative will.

27. JOHN LYNSEY, the elder and John Lynsey the younger mentioned the 20 Dec. 1511 in the will of Symon Lynsey of Wimborne Minster (26).

28. WILLIAM LYNSEY, of Kingston Lacy within the parish of Wimborne Minster, co. Dorset, made his will the 3 Nov. 1593; in which he mentioned son-in-law William Weringe, daughter Margery Lynsey; residue to son John Lynsey the younger and daughter Margery, the executors. Witnesses: Richard Barns and William Coffin. No date of probate.

He might be the Willm Lynse mentioned in the will of John Lynsey (29).

29. JOHN LYNSEY, of Wimborne Minster, co. Dorset, made his will the 22 Mar. 1593, mentioning five children viz., John, Edward, Edyth, Ann and Mary; wife Margery his executrix; also his well loved in Christ Willm Lynse and Willm . . . ; also to John Markreel of . . . Hill . . . , Thomas Swyne, Thomas . . . , John Lockett. Witnesses: William . . . William Brinton. No date of probate.

The names of the son Edward Lynsey, and of John Lockett suggest that this family is the same as that of Edward Linzee (80), mayor of Weymouth, Dorset. The second son Edward of this will, appears to be of full age in 1593, hence perhaps too old to be Edward Linzee, the mayor; yet there is a strong possibility from the custom in English genealogy of mentioning all the sons first, that Edward is the youngest child or a minor, in which case he could be Edward Linzee of Weymouth who was certainly over 21 years of age in 1617.

30. JOHN LINSEY, of Curfe Mullen, co. Dorset, made his will the 12 Apr. 1620, mentioning kinswoman Margaret Lynsey, Richard Presley of Congrove and Margery Newman of Hinton-Martill; residuary legatees and executors, William Lynsey of Wimborne Minster, kinsman, and his son John Lynsey; overseers, William Hobby and John Bruer; witnesses, William Flooke, Walter Wheeler. Proved in London, 20 May 1620 by the oath of Wm. Lynsey one of the exors., reserving power for John Linsey the other exor. On 31 Jan. 1649-50, a commission was granted to John Lynsey the other exor. and son of William Lynsey, the said William his father having died. (P.C.C. Soame: 45, Somerset Reg.).

31. JOHN LYNDSEY, of Stoke Charity, near Winchester, Hants England; he had a daughter bapt. there 9 June 1544; and Elizabeth the wife of John Lynsey was bur. there 24 Aug. 1559. The records do not disclose whether he had any male issue. (See records under Hampshire, Chapter I., Section III.).

32. RICUS or RICHARD LINSEY, of Stoke Charity, near Winchester, Hants, England; he was bur. 4 Sept. 1566, as Ricardus Lynsey; probably the Ricus Linsey of Stoke Charity who made his will 23 June 1558, in which he mentioned his son Richard Linsey of Cranborne, co. Dorset, which was probated in 1566. (See records under Hampshire, Chapter I., Section III.). See (48).

33. JOHN LENSAYE, married Ellyce Heath, 4 Feb. 1573-4, at Wonston, Hants, England (See records under Hampshire, Chapter I., Section III.). Perhaps he is the same as John Linsey (34).

34. JOHN LINSEY, of Stoke Charity, Hants, England; his will made 26 Nov. 1610, mentioned wife Alice to receive lands in Andover and Overton, Hants, for life, and then to eldest son Richard Lynsey; three grandchildren Robert, Francis and Jeffrey Rickbell, sons of son-in-law Robert Richbell of Overton; also mentions wife and children. (See records under Hampshire, Chapter I., Section III.). Proved 30 Mar. 1612. He died 29 Nov. 1611, as John Lynsey, a farmer, at Stoke Charity. See (33).

35. WILLM LINZE, was a member of the court of assistants of the Grocers' Company of London in 1582, and later. (Contributed from the minute books of the Co., by Mrs. Edith Elizabeth Mary Linzee (150) Matthews).

36. THOMAS LYNSYE, of the parish of St. Thomas the Apostle, London, Midd., England; he had sons, Robert bapt. 1 May 1585, and Stephen bapt. 9 Oct. 1586 (Par. Reg.). See records under Middlesex, Chapter I., Section III.

37. EDWARD LYNSEE, m. Frances Tyrrell, 15 May 1588, at St. Thomas the Apostle, London, Midd., England (Par. Reg.). See records under Middlesex, Chapter I., Section III.

38. JOHN LYNSEY, whose wife Jone was bur. 2 Jan. 1595, at Okeford Fitzpaine, Dorset, England (Par. Reg.). See records under Dorsetshire, Chapter I., Section III.

39. ROBERT LINSEY, and wife Margaret, had a son Roger bapt. 23 July 1602, at Okeford Fitzpaine, Dorset, England (Par. Reg.). See records under Dorsetshire, Chapter I., Section III.

40. WILLIAM LINDSAY, and Margaret Rouse were married the xxviith day of Feb. 1597, at White Waltham, Maidenhead, Berkshire, England (Par. Reg.). See records under Berkshire and Devonshire, Chapter I., Section III.

41. ROBERT LYNSEY, and Aloe Curteis were married 8 Jan. 1600, Church of St. Andrews, Plymouth, Devon, England (Par. Reg.). See records under Devonshire, Chapter I., Section III.

42. S^r. JOHN LINDSEY. Knights of the Bathe made at the Coronac'on of King James, 25 July 1603. (Metcalf's, A Book of Knights, p. 150).

43. SYMON LINCEY, his wife Margett was buried, — Feb. 1603, at Starminster, Dorset, England (Par. Reg.).

44. ROBERT LINESEY ESQ., late sheriff of the counties of Surrey and Sussex in the second year of his Majesty's reign (Issues of the Exchequer, James I., by Frederick Devon, p. 61).

45. BARNARD LINDSAY, called Master, one of the grooms of his Highness's privy chamber, 16 June 1608 (Issues of the Exchequer, James I., by Frederick Devon, p. 84).

46. THOMAS LINDSEY. Allowance for putting out the fire at Whitehall, [among others], Thomas Lindsey . . . 60s. (Issues of the Exchequer, James I., by Frederick Devon, p. 226).

47. JOHN LINZEY, and Joane Petvin, m. 29 June 1611, at Holy Trinity, Dorchester, Dorset, England (Par. Reg.). He could be John, the son of William Lynseye (28), of Wimborne Minster, or John the son of John Lynsey (29) of Wimborne Minster.

48. NICHOLAS LINZEE, buried 20 Sept. 1616 at Cranborne, Dorset (Par. Reg.). See (32).

49. THOMAS LINSEY, of Lydd, husb. and Mary Midhurst, s.p.w. At Old Romney, England, the 19 Sept. 1617.

50. RICHARD LENCIE OR LENZIE, of Pulborough, county Sussex, mentioned in his will his mother; brother Bartelmewe Robardes children, James Robardes his son; sister Jone; brother Thomas; sister Mary and her children; residue to Robard Lencie my brother home. Signed, 18 Dec. 1617. Witnesses: Richard Havade, William Egerton. Proved, 9 Jan. 1617-18. (Chichester, Sussex, Eng., Probate, S. Dean: 4).

The brothers Thomas and Robert are important possibilities in the ancestry of the Linzees.

51. EDWARD LINDSEY, a burgess of Camelford, Cornwall, England, in 1625-6 (See records under Cornwall, Chapter I., Section III.).

52. RICHARD LINDSEY, son of Miles Lindsey of Dent, co. York; he was left £20 by his brother Edward Lindsey of Buxstead, Sussex, England, in 1627 (See records under Sussex, Chapter I., Section III.).

HENRY ROBERT LINZEE, MABEL KATHERINE (LINZEE) MUSGRAVE, ALEXANDER GROSVENOR LINZEE

53. PETER LINDSEY, a burghess of Portsmouth, Hants, the 31 Oct. 1635 (Extracts from the Records of Portsmouth, England, by Robert East). A Captain Peter Lindsey was buried the 7 May 1638 (Reg. of Winchester Cathedral). Also a Captain Peter Lindsey was granted command of a ship in the Royal Navy by the King in 1635 (Cal. State Papers, Domestic).

54. FRANCISCUS LINDSEY, of Wickham, Hants, England; he had a wife Elizabeth, by his administration in 1641. Francis Linsey was buried at Wickham, 22 Mar. 1640, Pater familias. (See records under Hampshire, Chapter I., Section III.).

55. JOHN LINDSEY, his daughter Mary Lindsey married John Ingpen, son of William and Susan (Trewman) Ingpen of Whitehorse in the New Forest, co. Southampton, Hants, England (Berry's Hants Pedigrees.).

56. JOHN LINDSAY. Moundsmere Manor, — The crown held a rent from Moundsmere which was granted by James I. to his Queen Anne (Pat. 11 Jas. I., pt. 13. m. 4.), and by Charles II. to Lord Hawley and others in trust for John Lindsay who has undertaken to defray £25,384. 2s. 1d. due from the crown to London city. (The Victoria History of England, Hampshire, III: 376).

57. THOMAS LINZE, of Arreton, Isle of Wight, Hants, England; his administration mentioned his wife Elizabeth, but no further details, in 1663; bur. 3 Dec. 1661, as Thomas Linze, at Arreton; Elizabeth Linsy, widow, was buried there, 22 May 1664. (See records under Hampshire, Chapter I., Section III.). He could be the father of Thomas Linzee (101) of Portsea. See (58).

58. ELIZABETH LYNSEY, widow, of Barlavington, Sussex, England; buried there 28 May 1664; her will made 13 May 1664, mentioned her being in the service of the lady Mary wife of Sidney Goring, Bart.; she left cottages etc. to be equally divided between her four children, her son and three daughters. (See records under Sussex, Chapter I., Section III.). She could be the mother of Thomas Linzee (101) of Portsea, but she is probably not the wife of Thomas Linze (57) of Arreton above.

80. EDWARD LINZEE, probably the son of John Lynsey (29) of Wimborne Minster, co. Dorset; yet he might be a nephew or grandson of the said John Lynsey; b. before 1596, at probably Wimborne Minster, where the church register does not begin until 1635; he d. before the 13 Jan. 1645, when adm. of his estate was granted; m. 1st Elizabeth —, about 1617–18; she was bur. 6 Apr. 1627, Church of St. Mary's, Melcombe Regis, Weymouth (Par. Reg.), as Elizabeth wife of Edward Lynzey.

Edward Linzee perhaps m. a 2d wife, but no proof of this has been found; Mr. Robert George Linzee (128), in a letter written before 1890, reported a widow Alice Linzee in Portsea about 1680, but she could hardly be his widow at so advanced a date; furthermore there is no proof that he left a widow, and the existence of Alice Linzee of Portsea could not be confirmed by an original document.

The registers of the parishes of Melcombe Regis and Radipole (See Chapter I., Section III., under Dorsetshire) show, from the scarcity of the Linzey entries, that Edward Linzee or his ancestors originated from some other parish in Dorset, and that neither he nor a brother left male issue living there. Also attention must be drawn to the baptism of Judith dau. of Thomas Carolas Londise, the 10 Nov. 1613, in the register, since the name Londise is exactly that of John Linzee (109) when he married Rose Guisage at St. Mary's, Portsea (Par. Reg.).

It is worthy of notice that three of the daughters of Edward Linzee gave the name of Thomas to their eldest son.

Weymouth.
20th September 1904.

Sir Richard Nicholas Howard, J.P.

Town Clerk.

Dear Sir:—

I am obliged by your letter and you are quite correct in stating that in the year 1626 and also in the year 1638 Edward Linzee was the Mayor of this Town since which the pedigree has been completely lost and nothing known of the family or any person bearing that name. I have never heard of his will or his having left property. If he left a will and it is anywhere it would be in Somerset House London where all the old wills throughout the country were placed some years ago or it may by chance be found in the probate registry Blandford Dorset. We have nothing in the Minutes that can throw any light upon him or his Descendants.

I am

Your obedient servant,

R. N. Howard
Town Clerk.

Mr. John W. Linzee Jr.

96 Charles Street

Boston, Mass., U. S. A.

Edward Linzee was a merchant of Weymouth, Dorset, England; Edward Lynsey's name first apperred by fine, the 10 Dec. 1617, as a Freeman of Waymouth and Melcombe Regis; and from 1619-27, five children were baptized to Edward Linzey in the church of St. Mary's at Melcombe Regis, Weymouth. But in the official records of Weymouth, he was called Edward Linzee, mayor of Weymouth and Melcombe Regis, in 1626, and again elected in 1638; and from 1630-6, Edward Linze, also called Mr. Lindsey of Weymouth, owned two ships, the Dolphin and Desire of Weymouth, which were engaged in the Newfoundland trade between that country and Portsmouth, England. (Cal. State Papers, Domestic).

There is therefore no doubt that Edward, bore the surname of Linzee, and that all the other spellings of his name can be accounted for as the methods of those who recorded his name when it was their duty to do so.

Certificate of Edward Lindsey of Weymouth of the circumstances relating to the Dolphin of Weymouth.

Edward Linzee's will was made in 1645, but the original or a copy could not be found in the probate registry at Blandford, Dorset, or in the registry at Somerset House, London. Administration of his estate was first granted to his son-in-law William Fry of Ashgrove, Wilts, on the 13 Jan. 1645 in the Consistory Court at Blandford; but owing to litigation a commission in 1649 was issued to John Fry and his wife, a daughter of Edward Linzee, who took out administration in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, in London.

(Prerog. Ct. Act Book, 1649, Somerset House, London). Edward Lyndsey. On the 11 May, there issued a commission to John Fry and (blank) Fry, alias Lindsey his wife, daughter of Edward Lynzey, late of Weymouth and Melcombe Regis, in the Co. of Dorset, to administer the goods of the said deceased, according to the tenor of his will, because Robert Gear and Henry Cuttance, executors, expressly renounced the charge of executing the same.

⁽¹⁾ The names of Ledoze, Londise and Linzee might have a common origin, but no family relationship has been discovered.

Information on the family of Edward Linzee can be obtained from the following documents, in the Public Record Office, in London:

Melisent dau. of Rob^t. Swaine of Tarant Gunfeild, they had among other children, John ffrie filius et haer. aet. 14 in 1623, and Will'm aet. 13 (The Visitations of Dorsetshire in 1623, The Harl. Soc., XX: 43); John Fry d. about 1657 (P. R.), when his will was proved by his wife Anna.

(Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset, I: 53-56, 73-74; IV: 207-8, by E. A. Fry and G. S. Fry).

John Fry was of Burseys and Stabhampton, in Tarrant Gunvil,

Co. Dorset; he was a member of the Standing Committee of Dorset, and represented the borough of Shaftesbury in the Long Parliament from 1647 to 1651. He was one of the Regicides, being one of the Commissioners in the trial of King Charles I., but he did not sign the death warrant. (Wiltshire Notes and Queries, I: 458-467, by E. A. Fry).

Sons by Anna Linzee, were Thomas, Stephen, James, Joseph.

83. MARY LINZEE, dau. of Edward Linzee (80) and 1st wife Elizabeth —; bapt. 2 June 1625, Weymouth, Melcombe Regis, Church of St. Mary's (Par. Reg.), as Mary dau. of Edward Linzey; Mary Linsey m. William Fry, 25 June 1642, Swanage (Par. Reg.), Co. Dorset; son of Thomas and Grace (Horsford) Fry of Ashgrove, Wilts and Dorchester, Co. Dorset (Wiltshire Notes and Queries, I: 458-467, by E. A. Fry); b. about 1622; d. 2 Feb. 1708, at probably Bristol, Co. Somerset; bur. at Ashford, Co. Wilts, England, 15 Feb. 1707-8 (Par. Reg. of Donhead, St. Mary).

(Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset, IV: 207, by E. A. Fry).

William Fry was of Ashgrove Hundred, Donhead, St. Mary's, Wilts, and was a quaker. He gave the burial ground to the quakers in 1700.

Children, Thomas, William, Stephen, John, Nathaniel, Mary, Grace, James, Elizabeth, Anne, and Sarah.

84. RUTH LINZEE, dau. of Edward Linzee (80) and 1st wife Elizabeth —; bapt. 1 Apr. 1627, Weymouth, Melcombe Regis, Church of St. Mary's (Par. Reg.), as Ruth Lynzey dau. of Edward Linzey; m. Henry Waltham, who was Mayor of Weymouth in 1657; d. — 1668; his adm. is dated 19 May 1668, as Henry Waltham of Weymouth, and was to Ruth Waltham his relict. (Somerset House Probate Reg.).

(Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset, V: 118-9, by G. S. Fry).

He administered to his brother Thomas Waltham's estate the 19 Dec. 1667, of Weymouth a bachelor, who was Mayor of Weymouth in 1645 and in 1655.

A Henry Waltham was Mayor of Weymouth in 1623 (Harl. Soc., XX: 2).

SECTION IV.

THE LINZEE FAMILY.

In order to emphasize the fact that the ancestry of Thomas Linzee (101) of Portsea, Hants, England, has not been proved back to any Limesi, Lindsey, or Lindsay family, the classification of the Linzee family will be arbitrarily started with number 100.

100. — LINZEE, whose christian name has not been determined; he might be, in the order of probability, either John the son of William Lynsye (28) of Wimborne Minster, Dorset, or John the son of John Lynsey (29) of the same place; or a brother of Edward Linzee (80) mayor of Weymouth, Dorset, or the said Edward Linzee himself; but there are strong reasons for eliminating Edward as the father of Thomas Linzee (101) of Portsea, the known ancestor of all bearing the surname Linzee, since the names of Thomas and Dorothy are not among the known children of Edward.

Perhaps this ancestor might be Thomas Linze (57) of Arreton, in the Isle of Wight, Hants; or the husband of Elizabeth Lynsey (58) of Barlavington, Sussex; or he might be of the family of Richard Lenzie (50) of Pulborough, Sussex.

Next in order this ancestor might be descended from the Linseys of Stoke Charity (31-34) near Winchester, or of Nicholas Linzee of Cranborne (48), with the chance that Franciscus Lindsey (54) of Wickham, Hants, is the connecting link; or he might be Peter Lindsey (53), a burgess of Portsmouth, the 31 Oct. 1635; or a scion of the Lindseys in Sussex, Surrey, Wilts, Kent, and London.

All of the above lines, except that of Buxsted, Sussex, are possible offshoots of the great Norman House of Limesi, whose branches, as already shown, were seated for centuries in the south of England. (See Chapter I., Section III.; and Chapter V., Sections II. and III.).

Finally, the presence of Daniel de Lisle, Miles, and Thomas Lisle, burgesses of Portsmouth, the 26 Feb. 1616-17 and 1640-41, respectively, and of John Lisle one of the Lord Commissioners of the great seals of England, as a burgess there in 1655, lead to the interpretation that the Linzees are descended from a branch of the distinguished family of de Lisle seated for centuries in the Isle of Wight, but this is a very remote possibility.

CHILDREN OF — LINZEE (100) AND — — —.

101. I. THOMAS, b. about 1627, by his gravestone at St. Mary's churchyard, Kingston, Portsea, Hants, England.
102. II. DOROTHY, who is probably a sister of Thomas.

101. THOMAS LINZEE, son of — Linzee (100) and —; b. about 1627, by his gravestone, which is the oldest in the churchyard of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea, Hants, England, and on that account still left standing in spite of modern alterations; it bears the inscriptions of himself and his wife Elizabeth as follows: "Here lyeth the body of Thomas Linzee who dyed November y^e 19th Annod 1680 in y^e 53rd year of his age", and "Here also lyeth y^e body of Elizabeth wife of Thomas Linzee who died y^e 10th day of May 1679 in y^e 50 year of her age". The stone itself is well preserved, but in 1915 Mr. Alfred Penfold reported that it had been damaged by boys playing in the churchyard. The record of William Penfold shown by the photograph was put on prior to 1881, by his son William Penfold who died in 1882; then Mr. Frederick Penfold had the stone repaired in 1887, without adding anything to it; recently Mr. Lewis Linzee renovated it, when the present photograph was taken which appears in this history. Thomas Lyndesey was bur. 29 Nov. 1680, Church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.), which differs from the record of the gravestone, but the same person is evident in both records.

It is probable that Thomas Linzee had a first wife Mariye, for a Mariye wife of Thomas Linslie was buried 11 Mar. 1657 according to the register of Portsea church, but there is no record of any child by her, or of their marriage.

Thomas Linzee, as Thomas Linslie, m. Elizabeth Hills, 13 Apr. 1658, Church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.); her parentage could not be ascertained; a William Hilles was elected a burgess of Portsmouth, Hants, England, the 22 Aug. 1588; she was b. about 1629, by her gravestone; and was bur. 10 May 1679, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Elizabeth wife of Thomas Linzley, which date agrees exactly with the death of Elizabeth Linzee on her and her husband Thomas Linzee's joint gravestone.

The names Linslie, Linzley, Lyndesey, above, are undoubtedly spellings by the contemporary officials of the church who made the entries.

An Alice Linzee, widow, lived at Portsea in 1680 (R. by Robert George Linzee); her presence has not been shown by any original record, consequently her proper place in the genealogy of the Linzee family has not been determined.

Buckland, Kingston, and Fratton, are parts of Portsea. At Buckland, is the parish church of Portsea, generally called Kingston Church, as it is in that district; it is dedicated to St. Mary, and is an imposing building, without being remarkable for its architecture; the square tower appears to be of more modern date than the rest of the structure, and has a fine chime of bells. The cemetery surrounding the church contained at one time about eight acres, and was one of the most magnificent in England, at present the grave stones are all stacked up in rows, owing to what is called modern improvements, and permission was refused to disturb them for the purpose of copying the inscriptions on the Linzee monuments.

The De Ports owned Buckland in the Domesday survey, and also Applestede, which is now Kingston.

It is quite certain that Thomas Linzee did not descend from a family long seated at Portsea, as the scarcity of the Linzee entries in the registers of that parish from 1650 to 1690 clearly demonstrate. The records previous to 1650 were destroyed by fire, but this great loss does not hide the fact previously stated. Back of Thomas Linzee (101) several lines of possible ancestry have been pointed out, there now remains only the family traditions prevalent in every branch of his descendants, which agree in stating that he is a scion of the Lindsays of Scotland. This idea has for its main support the statement of Samuel First Viscount Hood, which was placed by him on file in the Heraldic College of Arms, at London, in 1796, when he claimed that Thomas Linzee (103) was "descended from the Linzees of Scotland". Unhappily, Viscount Hood failed to give any pedigree of ascent, but the coat of arms granted to his wife, Susannah Viscountess Hood, and to her father Edward Linzee (107) and his descendants, is that of the Scottish Lindsays. Evidence has not been discovered to prove Lord Hood's statement, which he gives as a fact and not a probability, but it can be safely assumed that his views were based directly on either absolute knowledge or on family tradition of long standing.

The Lindseys of Wimborne Minster, county Dorset, are probably descended from the Lindsays of Scotland, through some remote connection (See Numbers 18, 19, 20, 21, in Chapter V., Section III.), and as they are the probable ancestors of Edward Linzee (80), mayor of Weymouth, who is a probable relative of the Linzees of Portsea, there is this reasonable assurance that Lord Hood is correct. On the other hand, the Lindsays of Scotland also have traditions that a branch or branches of their family settled in Dorset, but so far, except for very ancient possibilities already pointed out, only the line of Thomas Lindsay, Archbishop of Armagh, has been noted, whose armorial bearings should be consulted and compared with those of the Linzees. (See Chapter I., Section IV., and Chapter V., Sections I., II., III., V.).

From the probate registry at Winchester, Hants, it appears that letters of administration were granted on the estate of Thomas Linzee of Brickland [or Buckland], Portsea; his estate was appraised at £18. 17. 2. Dated, 20 Nov. 1680. Appraisers: Thomas Damerum, ropemaker⁽¹⁾, and John Bye, gent. (Contributed by Mrs. Lewis Linzee).

(¹) Perhaps the Thomas Damerum, a burgess of Portsmouth in 1671.

CHILD OF THOMAS LINZEE (101) AND ELIZABETH HILLS.

103. I. THOMAS, bapt. 13 Sept. 1659, church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Thomas, son of Thomas Linsley.

102. DOROTHY LINZEE, the probable sister of Thomas Linzee (101), and dau. of — Linzee (100); Dorothy Linze m. John Brissom, 10 Aug. 1663, Church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.).

103. THOMAS LINZEE, son of Thomas Linzee (101) and Elizabeth Hills; bapt. 13 Sept. 1659, church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea, Hants, England (Par. Reg.), as Thomas son of Thomas Linsley; d. 11 Mar. 1727, as Thomas Linzee (R. by M. E. Pescott Frost of Portsmouth, England); bur. 13 Mar. 1727, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Thomas Linsey; Thomas Linzee, bachelor, m. 1st Mary Monsieur, spinster, both of Portsmouth, 9 May 1681, at the church of St. Thomas à Becket (Par. Reg.); dau. of Andrew and Elizabeth Mounsher or Munshoir, or Mounsieur of Portsmouth (P. R.); b. about 1660, Portsmouth; d. before 1690, leaving only a daughter Elizabeth.

The Mounsher name occurs at Cowes and Bowcomb in the Isle of Wight, and at Portsmouth, Southampton and Chichester. By the Portsmouth records, John Mounsher was mayor in 1696, 1700, and the same name in 1732.

Thomas Linzee m. 2d Mary Albeck of Portsmouth (R. by 1st Viscount Hood), about 1690; b. about 1670; bur. 7 Mar. 1744, church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Mary Linzee.

There was a Thomas Albeck, whose son John was bapt. 10 Apr. 1710, Portsea (Par. Reg.).

The identity of Thomas Linzee rests on his first marriage record, and on the existence of an old deed, his wife's jointure deed, temp. Charles II., in the possession of the late Mr. Robert G. Linzee of Romsey, Co. Hants, England, wherein was mentioned his wife Mary Mounsher and her mother Elizabeth, a widow, in 1680. In the deed he settled on his wife a house at Brickland ⁽¹⁾, Portsea, which is important evidence when compared with the record of the administration of the estate of his father Thomas Linzee, the 20 Nov. 1680, where the word Brickland occurs.

In the very heart of Portsmouth stands the stately Parish Church, built between 1210 and 1220, by Peter de Rupibus, Bishop of Winton, which he consecrated to St. Thomas à Becket, the noted Archbishop of Canterbury, who was assassinated at the altar of that cathedral, by Reginald Fitz Urse, in 1170, the husband of Beatrix de Limesi.

In 1628, George Villiers, Duck of Buckingham, the favorite of

(1) Perhaps this was Buckland instead of Brickland.

James I. and Charles I., was assassinated at Portsmouth, and his remains, some say only his heart, lie entombed under the altar of Portsmouth Church. The registers of this church contain the marriage record of Charles II., on parchment, and many items of historic interest.

From the Winchester Probate Registry the following two wills were contributed by Mrs. Lewis Linzee.

This eighteenth day of October one thousand six hundred and seventy — I Andrew Munshoir of Portsmouth County of Southampton, Mariner, being sick in Body but of good memory (blessed be to God) and bearing in mind the state of this transitory life and being ready when it shall please god to call me and cancelling all and every will and codicil do make and declare this my last will and Testament — First I give my soul to God and my body to the ground. I give unto my son Andrew Munshoir and to my daughter Ann Munshoir my houses or tenements in Penny Street Portsmouth which I bought of my brother in law Thomas Monday to be coheirs and heires to be equally shared between them, and that if they die to go to my executrix hereafter named, and they shall pay forty pounds between them to my daughter Sarah and Rebecca that is twenty to Rebecca and twenty to Sara, and if they should dye the money to be given to my executrix. I also give unto my son James Munshoir one shilling, I give unto my daughter Mary Munshoir one shilling I give unto my son John one shilling. I give unto my daughter Elizabeth Munshoir one shilling. I also give to my son Abraham Munshoir my little Hoy and all that belongeth unto her after one year of my decease and he is to assist his mother as now he does and she to maintain him. I make my loving wife Elizabeth Munshoir my full and whole executrix of this my last will and testament — I give unto my said executrix my houses on the Point and all of my goods and chattels not before mentioned. In witness hereof I Andrew Munshoir do set to this my last will and Testament my hand and seal this year above written. The mark of Andrew Munshoir.

Witnesses: John Garott, Rob. Sirt, Rob. Harfardson.

Estate valued £127-19-9. Proved 6 Oct. 1671.

In the name of God Amen — I Elizabeth Mounsher of Portsmouth in the county of Southampton, widow, being sick and weak in Body but of sound mind and perfect memory do make this my last will and testament — First, I bequeath my soul to God my creator, my Body to the earth to be decently buried, and my worldly goods as follows, viz — First I give and bequeath all my wearing Cloths both Linen and Wollen to be equally divided between my three daughters, Rebecca Neave, Sara Movell and Elizabeth Pyke — also

I give and Bequeath unto my son James Mounsher the sum of twenty pounds of lawful money of England and my Cocoshell cup, tipped with silver. I give unto my two grandchildren William Redman ten pounds, apiece to lay it into the hands of my son-in-law Richard Bramble, and by him put out for their use to be given unto them with the interest that shall be made thereof at their several ages of one and twenty years and if either of them happen to go before the said age the survivor to have the whole 20 and the interest — I give and bequeath unto my said daughter Elizabeth Pyke the sum of ten pounds of lawful money of England — I give and bequeath unto my grandson Andrew the son of my said James Mounsher the sum of five pounds and my Bible, the money to be given and delivered to his father for his use — I give to my son in law Richard Bramble one guinea. I give unto my granddaughter Elizabeth Linsley my silver Baker and one of my hoop rings after all my funeral expenses being paid and discharged, all the residue of my goods and chattels I give and Bequeath unto my son-in-law John Neve whom I make and appoint my whole executor of this my will and testament in which I have now set my hand and seal the twenty third day of December. Elizabeth Mounsher.

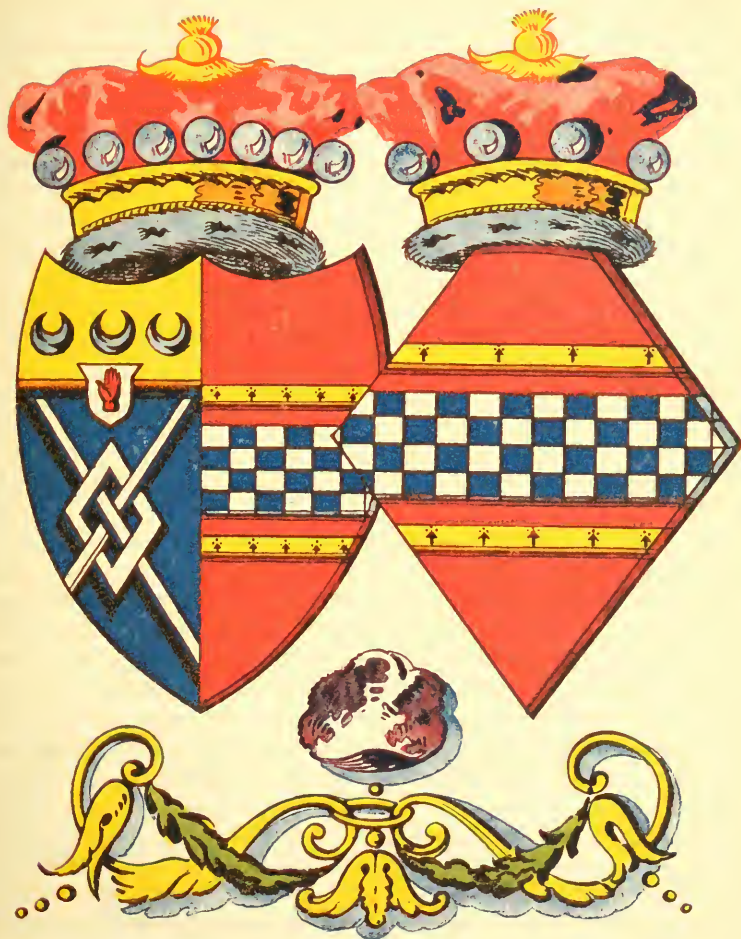

Signed and sealed — John Ransford, William Warren, Hen Huish.
Proved Decemo sexto Sept. 1700.

The will of Elizabeth Mounsher of Portsmouth, just given, shows that her daughter Mary (Mounsher) Linzee had died and left only a daughter Elizabeth, otherwise other Linzee grandchildren would have been mentioned in her testament. Consequently, the children born to Thomas Linsey and Mary his wife, whose baptisms are recorded after 1690 in the parish registers of Portsea, must be by a second wife also named Mary. It appears, from the pedigree compiled by Samuel First Viscount Hood in 1796, that this second wife's name was Mary Albeck.

Viscount Hood described Thomas Linzee (103) as "of Portsmouth in the County of Hants. Descended from the Linzee's of Scotland. Ob: —, buried at Kingston". Thus from Lord Hood's record, the proof is established that the Portsmouth and Kingston, or Portsea, Linzee and Linsey families are the same.

The grant of arms to Viscountess Hood and her father Edward Linzee, and the pedigree of the Linzee family by Lord Hood, are important links in the proofs of the lines of ascent and descent, by establishing completely the identification of the descendants of John Linzee (105), who are not given, from the descendants of Thomas Linzee (106) and Edward Linzee (107), the sons of Thomas Linzee and Mary Albeck.

This grant of arms and pedigree will now be stated.

ANITA HOMER (MANSON) LINZEE

EXTRACT FROM PRIVATE M.S.S. RECORDS BELONGING TO MR.
M. E. P. FROST, SECRETARY TO ADMIRAL SUPERINTENDENT.

Thomas Linzee was Master Ropemaker in Portsmouth Dockyard from 28th March 1718 till 11th March 1727 when he died.

Thomas Linzee (presumed to be the son of the above) was Master Ropemaker in Portsmouth Dockyard from 11th June 1736 till 16th February 1737 when he died.

Thomas Linzee (103) rose to be the Master Ropemaker in the Portsmouth Naval Dockyard, from the 28 Mar. 1718, to the 11 Mar. 1727, when he died. The salary of the Ma^r. Rope maker was only £44. 00. 00. (East's Portsmouth, p. 805). Whether he learnt his art from his father or from Thomas Damorum, a ropemaker, who was appraiser of the elder Thomas' estate, is unknown. It is interesting to note that the ancestor of the Linzees superintended the manufacture of rope and rigging for the British Navy, and that his skill received recognition from the government, by electing his son Thomas Linzee (106), as one of his successors at Portsmouth, from the 11 June 1736 to the 16 Feb. 1737, when he unfortunately died at an early age; and by the appointment of his grandson John Linzee (109), to the position of Superintendent of the ropewalk in the Plymouth Naval Dockyard. Another grandson John Penfold (111-2) held the same position at Plymouth, probably succeeding his first cousin John Linzee (¹).

Unfortunately there are no records in the Plymouth Dockyard to verify these family statements, which were made by John Inman Linzee (born 1781), and by Miss Fanny Sophia Penfold (born 1859).

It was an ancient custom and privilege for the rope-makers of the government dockyard to precede the royal equipage when the King visited in state the town of Portsmouth; they had a dress for the occasion, carried white staves, the national emblem, and blue sashes diagonally across their shoulders.

An abstract of the will of Thomas Linzee, given in full in Chapter IV., will now be stated as it needs some explanations.

This 28 July 1727, I Thomas Linzee of Portsea, Co. Southampton, give my mortgage lands, tenements, to Mary my wife so long as she shall continue my widow, and after her marriage or death, to my son Thomas Linzee his heirs for ever; all my household goods to Mr. John Dining of Portsmouth and Mr. Thomas Melmerby of the Ropewalk, in trust, that my wife may have the use, and after her death or marriage, said household goods to my daughter Ann Linzee. Witnesses: C. Roade, Tho. Longcroft, Jos. Bissel. Proved, — July 1728, by Maria Linzee.

(¹) Hemp cables were then in vogue, and it was not until after 1815 that chain cables were introduced.

The parish records of Portsea confirm the deaths of all the daughters of Thomas Linzee, except Ann, who married John Walton in 1737, and assign to Thomas Linzee the sons John and Edward, but remain silent in regards to the baptism of Thomas the only son mentioned in his will. Fortunately Lord Hood's pedigree, mentions the sons Thomas and Edward, from which it can be confidently assumed that the same reason omitted the names of John and Edward from their father's will, and that the reason was probably a previous settlement. The parish records of Portsmouth clearly show that both John and Rebecca Linzee and Edward and Ann Linzee had children born to them after the death of their father Thomas, so that they outlived their father.

of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea, Co. Hants, England (Par. Reg.), as Elizabeth Meers; Elizabeth Linzey of Portsea and John Meers of Gosport, mariner, had their marriage allegation recorded at Winchester, Co. Hants, the 23 Dec. 1708; Elizabeth Lindzey m. John Meers, 23 Dec. 1708, Church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.).

105. JOHN LINZEE, son of Thomas Linzee (103) and 2d wife Mary Albeck; bapt. 27 Jan. 1694, Church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea, Hants, England (Par. Reg.), as John son of Thomas Linsey and Mary his wife; d. —; John Linzee of Portsmouth, tallow chandler, m. 1st with Rebecca Goven, Spinster, lic., 29 Mar. 1716 (Reg. of Bishop of Winchester, Harleian Soc. Pub., 1893); prob. dau. of John Goven of Portsmouth, a mariner, as a Peter Adams of Portsmouth, baker, and Judith Goven of same, spinster, had m. int. lic. 27 Feb. 1716, when John Goven of Portsmouth, mariner, was bondsman; b. about 1696; and prob. bur. 30 Aug. 1753, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Rebecca Linzee.

No will or administration of the estate of this John Linzee has been found; his last child recorded to him at Portsmouth was baptized there in 1730. Perhaps he preceded his son John Linzee (109), and grandson John Penfold (111-2), by settling in Devonshire, but no proof of his presence there can be discerned in parish registers or probate registries. He may have gone to London with Edward Linzee (110). See Chapter VII.

The descendants of Captain John Linzee (118) have always known from his Bible records that he was the only surviving son of John Linzee (109) and wife Rose of Plymouth, Devon, England. The original Bible is lost, but all the copies agree, and in none of them is John Linzee (109) called the brother of Edward Linzee (107), the Mayor of Portsmouth, England; this erroneous statement can only be found in the hand writing of Miss Maria Linzee Fitch, and the Heraldic Journal of January 1868, p. 39, where John Linzee (109) is described as the younger brother of Edward Linzee (107); the copy by Col. Thomas C. Amory, undoubtedly influenced by the records of Miss Fitch and the Heraldic Journal, also contains the unfortunate error. (See Chapter VI.).

It is now proved from the parish register of the Church of St. Thomas à Becket at Portsmouth, England, that the father of Captain John Linzee (118), namely John Linzee (109), who was born 23 Sept. 1717 (Bible R.), was baptized there the 6 Oct. 1717 as John the son of John and Rebecca Linzee; consequently he cannot be the younger brother of Edward Linzee (107), since by the pedigree of Samuel 1st Viscount Hood compiled in 1796, it appears that the said Edward was the son of Thomas Linzee and Mary Albeck, and his Lordship's statement is confirmed by the parish register of the Church of St.

Mary's, Kingston, Portsea, where Edward the son of Thomas Linzee and Mary his wife was baptized the 3 June 1699.

It has also been a tradition among the descendants of Captain John Linzee (118), that he was descended from a John Linzee a brother of Edward Linzee (107); therefore if this tradition is true, and there is no reason to doubt it, it must go back one generation of John Linzee (109), to his father John Linzee (105) who married Rebecca Goven, and this conjecture becomes a certainty when the baptism of John the son of Thomas Linsey and Mary his wife occurred the 27 Jan. 1694 in the parish register of Portsea, who thus becomes John an elder brother of Edward Linzee (107); but this interpretation is not supported by Viscount Hood's pedigree, where only two sons Thomas and Edward are mentioned.

It will now be necessary to prove that Viscount Hood's pedigree must not be accepted as final in determining the number of sons in the family of Thomas Linzee and Mary Albeck.

The will of Edward Linzee (110) of Holborn, London, was made in 1768 and mentioned his two minor sons Richard and Edward and their guardians his uncle Edward Linzee (107) of Portsmouth, apothecary, and Edward Linzee the younger of the same place, surgeon. Now the said Edward Linzee of Holborn cannot be the son of Thomas Linzee (106), an elder brother of Edward Linzee (107), for two reasons. First,—he failed to make his presumed mother Sarah (Newnham) Linzee or his sisters the guardians of his minor sons, the said ladies being alive and residing at Portsmouth in 1768; and second,—because his presumed mother Sarah and sister Sarah, who made their wills respectively in 1775 and 1783, failed to mention the sons of Edward Linzee of Holborn who were both alive in 1783. Therefore Thomas Linzee (106) and Edward Linzee (107) had another brother who was the father of Edward Linzee of Holborn, and the parish records of Portsea prove his name was John.

Furthermore there is good reason to believe that Edward Linzee (110) was the son of John Linzee (105), as an Edward Linzee was servant to Lieutenant, afterwards Captain John Linzee (118) on the Romney in 1761, and that this youth was later the Lieutenant Edward Linzee of Portsea who made his will the 6 Dec. 1791 in which he bequeathed half his property to his cousin Susannah Shea, a widow. Surely it is more than a coincidence that Captain John Linzee (118) had a sister the wife of Captain Shea of the Royal Army, and his son Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee (120) had a grandson Charles Shea Hunt, named without doubt after the Shea family.

The above statement was carefully discussed by the author with his late father John William Linzee (135) who was born 23 June 1821.

CHILDREN OF JOHN LINZEE (105) AND REBECCA GOVEN.

109. I. JOHN, b. 23 Sept. 1717, in England (Record left by Capt. John Linzee (118) in America, in his family Bible); bapt. 6 Oct. 1717, Church of St. Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as John son of John and Rebecca Linzee.
- II. THOMAS, bapt. 22 Mar. 1719, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Thomas son of John and Rebecca Linzee; d. young.
- Note: There appears to be a break at Portsmouth in the baptisms of the children of John and Rebecca Linzee between the years 1719-28, and in going to the Portsea parish register for children born within this interval, the existence of another contemporary John Linzee at Portsea is disclosed, whose ancestry and descendants remain unidentified. Therefore it is best, in the absence of proof, not to include any of the children baptized at Portsea under John Linzee (105) ⁽¹⁾.
110. III. EDWARD, b. about 1726; probably the son of John and Rebecca Linzee; cannot be the son of Thomas Linzee (106); proved as the nephew of Edward Linzee (107).
- IV. THOMAS, bapt. 5 Feb. 1728, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Thomas son of John and Rebecca Linzee; bur. 13 Mar. 1729, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Thomas son of John Linzee.
111. V. MARY, bapt. 25 Jan. 1730, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Mary dau. of John and Rebecca Linzee.

106. THOMAS LINZEE, son of Thomas Linzee (103) and 2d wife Mary Albeck; b. about 1695-6, Portsea, Hants, England; d. 16 Feb. 1737, Portsmouth, Hants (R. by M. E. Pescott Frost); bur. 18 Feb. 1736-7, St. Mary's Church, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Mr. Thomas Linzee; Thomas Linzee m. Sarah Newnham, dau. of Robert Newnham of Portsmouth (R. by 1st Viscount Hood), about 1720; prob. dau. of Robert and Susannah (Tippits) Newnham of Portsmouth (Par. Reg.); b. about 1700, Isle of Wight, Hants; d. — 1775-6, Portsmouth (P. R.); bur. 6 Jan. 1776, St. Mary's Church, Kingston, Portsea (Par. Reg.), as Sarah Linzee.

The records of the election of Burgesses to the corporation of Portsmouth disclosed that Thomas Linzee, Master Ropemaker at the Dockyard, was elected a Burgess the 29 Sept. 1731.

Thomas Linzee (presumed to be the son of Thomas Linzee), was Master Ropemaker in Portsmouth Dockyard from 11th June 1736 till 16th Feb. 1737, when he died (R. by M. E. Pescott Frost). This record does not agree with the one just above, showing that he was the Master Ropemaker in 1731.

No probate of the estate of Thomas Linzee (106) has been found, neither is the history of his family known between his death in 1736-7 and the death of his wife in 1775-6. Her will, made in 1775, is given in full in Chapter IV., and shows that she left only daughters; similarly the probates of two of these daughters clearly indicate that they had neither brother nor issue by him living after their decease. An abstract of the mother's testament will be given for quick reference:

Sarah Linzee of Portsmouth Co. Southampton, widow, I give all my real estate unto my three daughters, Mary Atkins, widow, Elizabeth Linzee spinster, and Sara Linzee spinster, also my goods unto my said three daughters. Made 21 Sept. 1775. Witnesses: Edward Linzee, Edward Linzee Junr., George Binstead. Proved at London 6 Apr. 1776.

- XI. THOMAS, bapt. 21 May 1737, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Thomas, son of Thomas and Sarah Linzee; not living in 1775; prob. bur. 23 Apr. 1769, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Thomas Linzee.

Note: There were eleven children born to Thomas Linzee and Sarah Newnham, according to the pedigree of 1st Viscount Hood.

107. EDWARD LINZEE, son of Thomas Linzee (103) and 2d wife Mary Albeck; bapt. 3 June 1699, Church of St. Mary's, Kingston, Portsea, Hants, England (Par. Reg.), as Edward ye son of Thomas Linzee and Mary his wife; d. 14 May 1782, Portsmouth, Hants, as Mr. Linzee, late Mayor of Portsmouth, suddenly in his parlor (Corporation R.); d. 15 May 1782, at Portsmouth, aged 84, Edw. Linzey, Esq., father of that Corporation, and of Capt. Linzee of the Royal Navy (G. M.). Died on Wednesday last at Portsmouth, Edward Linzee Esq^{re.}, aged 84, father of that Corporation, and of Captain Linzee of the Royal Navy (The General Evening Post, London, From Thursday May 16 to Saturday May 18, 1782. No. 7527). Buried 21 May 1782, Church of St. Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Edward Linzee (See also Musgrave's Obituaries); interred in Portsmouth Church.

Edward Linzee m. Anne Newnham, dau. of Robert of Portsmouth, and of the family of Newnham of the Isle of Wight (R. by 1st Viscount Hood), about 1724; a Robert Newnham m. (lic.) Susannah Tippits, 11 Mar. 1697, Church of St. Thomas à Becket (Par. Reg.); Anne Newnham was b. about 1705, in the Isle of Wight (R. by 1st Viscount Hood). From Viscount Hood's pedigree, Edward Linzee d. 16 May 1782, aged 88 y., and his wife Anne Linzee d. — Sept. 1767, aged 62 y., both bur. at Portsmouth; Ann Linzee was bur. 29 Sept. 1767, Church of St. Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.). A Robert Newnham, Surgeon, was a burgess of Portsmouth, 9 June 1710, and the 29 Sept. 1718.

The Newnhams were families of importance residing for centuries in the Isle of Wight; they held land as tenants from the distinguished family of the De Lisles of Gatcombe, in the parishes of Chale, Niton, and Whitewell. The names Newman, Newnam and Numan are identical with Newnham. The earliest mention of this name was in 1384, when William Newenham was on a list of jurors at Newport, Isle of Wight, in answer to a writ concerning Stenbury, a manor in White-well. (For an extensive article on the Newnham Family, by John L. Whitehead, see Notes and Queries, 1914, IX: 90).

A Thomas Newnham was of East Standen in Arreton, Isle of Wight, in 1701, and it is this fact which has stood in the way of making Edward Linzee (107), a descendant of Thomas Linze (57) of Arreton. Edward Linzee's farm, called in his will East Standen Farm lying in Arreton might have descended to him from his Linzee ancestors, unless he acquired it by purchase or from his wife Anne Newnham.

LETTER FROM JOHN HOWARD, TOWN CLERK'S OFFICE OF PORTSMOUTH, HANTS, ENGLAND, TO JOHN W. LINZEE, ESQ.

September 10, 1878.

Sir: —

On my return home to day I found your note of the 29 ulto.

There is no record among the Corporation Books that I can find respecting the Edward Linzee you refer to beyond the entries of his election as mayor in 1745, 1753, 1758, 1761, 1766, 1771, 1777, 1779, 1780. I find among private papers of my father, who was a prominent member of the old Corporation the following note:—

When the Corporation in 1778 was reduced by deaths and judgment of Ouster to the number of four, Edward Linzee was one of those remaining few. Dying in 1782, he left Edward Linzee his eldest son and Heir at Law and residuary legatee, who died in or soon after 1793, leaving his brother Robert Linzee of Wickham his heir and also residuary legatee ⁽²⁾.

The will of Edward Linzee (the first named), was dated 23 Feb. 1782, that of the son Edward, 19 Feb. 1783.

The first Edward Linzee was buried in Portsmouth Church 21 May, 1782.

I regret that I am unable to give you any further information than the above, to which you are welcome if of any service to you.

I am faithfully yours

JOHN HOWARD.

(Proceedings were taken in the King's Bench at the instance of Aldermen Carter, Thomas White, and William White against the election of Alderman Monday to the Mayoralty; on the 27th January 1777 Lord Mansfield delivered the Judgment of the Court declaring the election of Thomas Monday void, the said Thomas Monday not having been elected an Alderman by a majority of the Aldermen.

On the 12th February 1777, a Mandamus from the Court of King's Bench was issued, calling upon Aldermen to elect a Mayor. Only six Aldermen were at the time on the Roll. Philip Varlo was elected Mayor on March 6th.

(pp. 244-45) "The King (Geo. III.) and Queen arrive at Portsmouth".

On Saturday the 2nd of May 1778 about noon the King and Queen came to Portsmouth and went directly to the Dock Yard; and on Sunday the 3rd their Majesties came from the Dock Yard to the Governour's House and went to Chapel and heard Divine Service and Sermon, and afterwards had a Levee at the Governour's House where the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen and Burgesses in their Formalities were introduced to the King, and the Recorder presented an address to His Majesty.

They were afterwards introduced to the Queen, and the Recorder also presented an address to Her Majesty.

They were all graciously received by their Majesties, and had the honour of kissing their Hands.

On Monday the 4th the King and Queen went to Spithead and were saluted several times by the whole fleet; Their Majesties daily took a view of the Dock Yard, Town Garrison, and Fortifications, and on Friday the 8th went again to Spithead and were saluted as before. On Saturday the 9th they came from the Commissioners House in the Dock Yard where they had laid during their stay, and about half an hour after eight that morning passed through the Town amidst the acclamations of a vast concourse of People being saluted by the whole Garrison as they had been at their first Entry into the Town: with all which their Majesties seemed highly pleased.

Return of Mandamus.

I John Carter, Esquire, named in the Writ hereunto annexed do most humbly certify and return to our most Serene Sovereign Lord the King at Westminster at the time in the said Writ for that purpose mentioned That the within mentioned Borough of Portsmouth in the County of Southampton is an antient Borough And that the Lord Charles the First late King of England by his Letters Patent sealed with his Great Seal of England bearing date at Westminster the Seventeenth day of November in the third year of his reign . . . And I do further most humbly certify to our most Serene Sovereign Lord the King That on the Monday Sevensight before the Feast of Saint Michael the Archangel which was in the year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Seventy Seven, being the day appointed by the said Letters Patent of the said late King Charles the First for the Election of the Mayor of the said Borough, the within named Edward Linzee then an Alderman of the said Borough was duly elected Mayor of the said Borough, and afterwards to wit on the Twenty Ninth day of September in the same Year was duly sworn into the office of Mayor of the said Borough before Philip Varlo Esquire then Mayor of the said Borough and that no other legal Alderman of the said Borough hath since been duly elected and sworn Mayor of the said Borough of Portsmouth And I do further most humbly certify to our said most Serene Sovereign Lord the present King That long before the said Election of the said Edward Linzee to the said Office of Mayor of the said Borough of Portsmouth, and since that time two Burgesses of the said Borough of Portsmouth have been elected and sent, and have used and been accustomed to be and of right ought to have been elected and sent, and still are and of right ought to be elected and sent to serve as Burgesses for the said Borough of Portsmouth in the Parliament of this Kingdom And that during all the time last aforesaid it hath belonged and still doth belong to the Mayor of the said Borough of Portsmouth for the time being to preside at the Election and to make Return of such Burgesses to serve in Parliament as aforesaid And for these causes I the said John Carter cannot neither ought I to swear and admit the said Edward Linzee into the Place and Office of Mayor of the said Borough of Portsmouth Nor can I neither ought I to administer to the said Edward Linzee the Oath or Oaths in that case usually administered and taken as by the said Writ I am commanded to do.

John Carter.

Mr. Alderman Godwin relinquished the office of Mayor the 29th of May 1780, and there was no other Mayor chosen until Tuesday the 19th of September following.

(On the 19th September Alderman Linzee was sworn Mayor for the remainder of the year, and on the same day Alderman Godwin was elected Mayor for the ensuing year.)

Mr. Linzee, before Mr. Godwin was sworn Mayor on the 29th September 1781, nominated his Son Captain Robert Linzee to be his Peremptory Burgess, but the Aldermen present refused to give their consent to it. (1)

Edward Linzee was a surgeon and apothecary, a profession enabling him to become well known and trusted in the community. His name first appeared in politics as a Burgess of Portsmouth in 1728, but it was not until 1744 that he became an Alderman. Immediately afterwards in 1745 he was elected Mayor of that important borough, and was again accorded that honour on eight other occasions, the last occurring in 1780, when he was over fourscore years of age.

It is thus seen that Edward Linzee was a very important, prominent, and influential citizen of Portsmouth; consequently it is not surprising that the political control wielded by him and his faithful colleague Philip Varloe should have aroused an animated and organized minority opposition in the Portsmouth City Government, which first manifested its power in 1774.

“Judgment of ouster was obtained in the Court of King’s Bench which left the Portsmouth Corporation without a Mayor or Recorder, and only four Aldermen remained in office, Mr. Carter Senr., Mr. White, Mr. Varloe and Mr. Linzee; the two former belonged to the independent interest, and the two latter represented that of government.”

“No one was legally chosen to be Mayor for nine years, everyone so elected being declared illegal and was ousted. At the end of which time Mr. Varloe and Mr. Linzee died and left the Corporate House in the hands of the independent members who retained the ascendancy until 1835.”

ON THE DEATH OF EDWARD LINZEE ESQRE.

Proverbs III., Verse 16.

These Gifts are not of Fortunes Store
To Wisdom they’re assign’d;
Celestial Wisdom in whose Power
Alone, they are conjoin’d.

(1) This sad political struggle, which had been carried on for a number of years with the bitterest acrimony on both sides, at the cost of many thousand pounds, was only ended at the death of Alderman Edward Linzee in 1782; by which the Whig party became supreme, and remained in ascendancy until the passing of the Municipal Reform Act in 1835.

Thee Linzee and thy house, her Friends
 She thro' the World announce;
 To thee her Right Hand she extends;
 Then with her Left the Crowne.

 And length of Daies the Sire.

How blest art those whose setting Sun Shines with meridian Ray,
 Nor darkens till thy course be run

In conversation with my father John Inman Linzee, I distinctly remember him to say that his grandfather, John Linzee (109), was employed in the Plymouth Dockyards, superintending the making of rope for the British Navy (Statement by John William Linzee, born 1821). Unfortunately the above statement cannot be verified, as there are no records of the personnel of that dockyard during the period covering the years 1750 to 1787 (Letter of R. F. Franklin, Secretary, Admiral Superintendent's Office, H. M. Dockyard, Devonport).

Know all men by these presents that M^r. John Linzee of Plymouth in the County of Devon, Esq^r., Ann Grant of Berry Pomery in the said County widow, and Mary Hollett of Totnes in the said County spinster, are held and firmly bound unto the Venerable Ralph Barnes

Parker on board. Captain Robert Linzee joined this fleet in Aug. in command of the Alcide of 74 guns, and was made a Commodore in Sept. 1793. Horatio Nelson was also present as Captain of the Agamemnon.

(I: 85) Commodore Robert Linzee of the Aleide was sent by Lord Hood in command of a squadron of three line of battle ships and two frigates to aid the insurgents in Corsica. His force consisted of:

Battle Ships.

Aleide, 74 guns. Commodore Robert Linzee, Captain John Woodley.

Courageux, 74 guns. . . Captain John Matthews.

Ardent, 64 guns. Capt Robert Manners Sutton.

Gun Frigates.

Lowestoffe, 32 guns. . . Captain William Wolseley.

Nemesis, 28 guns. Captain Lord Amelius Beauclerk.

Commodore Linzee sailed from Toulon to Villa Franca, thence to Calvi and San Florenzo. The force was, however, too small to be of much service to the insurgents under General Paoli.

(I: 163) On the 7 Feb. 1794, Lieutenant-General Dundas landed with troops in the Gulf of St. Florenzo, to the westward of Martello, but this force was beaten off, as the insurgents did not co-operate by storming the posts on shore. Lord Hood and Nelson, who had followed Linzee, were also present. (See Southey's Life of Nelson).

(I: 193) On the 10 Nov. 1794, a mutiny broke out on the Windsor Castle of 98 guns, Captain William Shield, bearing the flag of Rear Admiral Robert Linzee, while lying in St. Florenzo Bay, but it was suppressed.

While on the Windsor Castle Rear Admiral Robert Linzee, under Sir William Hotham, engaged the French fleet off Genoa in March 1795, and later in that year, another French fleet in an action off Hyères.

(Recollections of James Anthony Gardner, pp. 129-131).

(II: 35) Vice Admiral Robert Linzee in the Princess Royal (98 guns) arrived home with the Mediterranean and West Indian convoys in August 1796.

LETTER FROM COMMODORE ROBERT LINZEE TO ADMIRAL LORD HOOD.

Alcide 10th Feby. 1794.

My dear Lord: —

You will not be surprised that the Fortitude & Juno made so little Impression upon the Tower of Martello, when you are told that the walls are of immense thickness. The Parapet Wall is lined in the inside with Basse Junk filled up with sand, five feet in thickness. The Battery now acting against it consisting of 1 Eighteen Pounder two 9 Pounders & one 12 Pounder Carronade has reduc'd the Parapet Wall to a Rubbish & is only hanging together by the Junk which is now on fire all round it. There are but two Guns (I believe) in the Tower one already dismantled, the other will be soon. The men still remain in the Tower, now & then firing musquets, a Soldier is just brought on Board wounded by one. A Plan is forming for storming of it, & I hope we shall be in Possession of it before night. Your Despatches for the Generals Dundas & Peoli are sent off to them, the former went on shore this morning to meet the latter General to consult with him.

I am my dear Lord, your ever faithful & affectionate.

Robt. Linzee

P.S. Another eighteen Pounder will be mounted in less than an Hour.

LETTER FROM COMMODORE ROBERT LINZEE TO ADMIRAL LORD HOOD.

Alcide 11th. Feby. 1794.

My Dear Lord:—

When I wrote to your Lordship yesterday, acquainting you with the surrender of Martello Tower, I was unacquainted with the number of men in it, since which I understand there were an Ensign & thirty two Privates, two of which are very dangerously wounded. I must refer it to your Lordships consideration whether it would not be best to send the Prisoners to the ships that are now cruizing off. When I have a return of the Ordinance & stores contained in the Tower I will transmit it to you. I believe there was 2 Eighteen Pounders & one six, one of the Eighteen is Disabled & the six Pounder spik'd up. Capt. Woodly mentioned me that he thought a Mortar Boat would be useful. I think it will not be prudent to send anything to lay in the Bay as their shot reaches quite across it. The General is not yet returned.

I am, my Dear Lord, your ever faithful & affectionate.

Robt. Linzee.

Victory Gulf of Fiorenza Feby 16 1794

Sir

The late Westerley wind forced me to take shelter under Cape Corse, and upon its ceasing it became calm with a heavy western swell which carried me as far to Leward as the Gorgona.

I have picked up a vessel that was under convoy of L'Utine with a very valuable cargo of useful articles which Mr. Drake ordered to be purchased for the use of the Army and Navy at my request — Doctor Robertson with Lieut Duncan of the Artillery a Clerk of Mr. Eckine's etc were in L'Utine and are now on board the St. George, as I had occasion to send Capt Macnamara with orders to the Ardent off Villa Franca.

MARY ANNETTE (BRAUND) LINZEE

I think it highly probable that part of the troops have been withdrawn from Bastia to St Fiorenza Tornelli and the works above it, and have therefore submitted to the General whether it would not be advisable to send a few ships with some transports off Bastia in order to distract the enemy & divide its force. — The French are very much in want of provisions and unless they receive very considerable succour soon (of which they have very little prospect) cannot long hold out. Capt Nelson has destroyed 500 tons of wine and burnt ten vessels upon Cape Corse, and taken two boats with a few sacks of Flour & a bag of dollars in each — I am all impatience to hear from you. and am

Memo

The Commander in Chief intends to attack the enemy's ships as they are now anchored under the following arrangements

The Terrible and Berwick to attack the battery on the point Garoupe to the Eastward to which they are to anchor as near as possible.

The Britannia and St. George will follow as close as convenient & attack the Easternmost Line of battle Ship.

The Windsor Castle & Alcide are at the same time to attack the second line of battle ships from the Eastward.

The Victory and Princess Royal the third ship from the Eastward.

The Bedford and Egmont the fourth ship.

And the Captain and Fortitude the fifth ship.

These being subdued no resistance can possibly be made by the remaining two.

The respective Captains of the Fleet are to be very attentive to keep their ships in that situation as will best answer for their more speedy executing the service allotted to each.

The preparatory signal will be made previous to the signal for attack and when the latter is shown the ships are to move as rapidly as possible with due attention to order, and for the support of each other, the ships are to anchor with good springs upon their cables.

Care is to be taken in placing the ships so as that they cannot annoy their friends, the Junior Officers to lead, The Illustrious and Frigates to attack the French Frigates that fill the intervalles between the ships of the line.

Article of the Session of the twenty fourth of March 1795.

The House having taken into consideration the message of the Vice Roy are sensible of the valour and experience exhibited in this Battle by Vice Admiral Hotham and by the Officers and men under his command, and that under Divine Providence the Kings Fleet has obtained the Victory.

That this Victory while it adds fresh Glory to His Majesty's arms particularly has preserved this Island from the Invasion of the enemy.

That all His Majesty's faithfull subjects in this Kingdom acknowledge on this successful occasion the powerful munificence of the King and that they are in a similar degree sensible of the signal merits of the Vice Admiral to whose command the Naval force in the Mediterranean has been entrusted.

That the House and the whole Corsican Nation feel themselves under an obligation to manifest to the Vice Admiral and to the Fleet under his command the most solemn act of their gratefull acknowledgment.

Resolved

That the thanks of the House be given to Vice Admiral Hotham Commander of His Majesty's Fleet in the Mediterranean as like wise to all the Officers and men under his command for the Victory gained over the French on the 14th day of the present month.

Sir,

I have the Honor to transmit you a letter from the President of the Parliament of Corsica, enclosing the Vote of Thanks of the Chamber of Parliament to you, Sir, and to the Officers and men under your command, for the signal and important Victory obtained over the French Fleet the 14th day of March.

I am happy in this opportunity of expressing to you, and entreating you to convey to the Fleet, my own exalted sense of the Lustre added to His Majesty's Arms, and of the Honor acquired to our country by the gallantry and good conduct displayed on the 13th and 14th Instant.

I am not less sensible of the Deep and solid obligation, which this country and all who have a regard for its security and happiness owe to the important events of those days, and to those brave and able men who had a share in them; And I am sure that I can in no occasion more truly represent His Majesty than by expressing not only that general Veneration and affection which I always feel towards the British Navy but the particular applause which is exerted by your late and honorable contest.

Sir

In compliance with the arrangements made by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty I have added the Princess Royal to the convoy under your direction, and have substituted the Agamemnon for the Egmont. Captain Purvis had my direction to join you immediately in St Fiorenza Bay, to receive your Flag and if the trade from Sicily and Naples should be arrived, under convoy of the Lively you will proceed immediately with the convoy to Gibraltar without waiting the exchange of Captains Nelson and Sutton, should that not be settled, in which case the Agamemnon will join you there.

Commodore Nelson will hoist his Broad Pendant in the Egmont and proceed in the execution of his former orders.

If Rear Admiral Man is at Gibraltar and an exchange can be made between Captain Pierrepont of the Blonde and Captain Brisbane of the Nemesis I shall be very glad — Enclosed is a Commission for your Flag Lieutenant

Sir

I should have complied with the directions in your letter of the 1st instant by sending the Nelly store Ship to Ajaccio under convoy of the Dromedary, but think it necessary to trouble you with an account of the behaviour of William Pixley her Master.

JOHN WILLIAM LINZEE

Application having been made to the Naval store keeper for slops and beds for the seamen and Invalids burnt out in the Cairra, who were almost naked and laying on the decks ever since the loss of that ship, he gave directions to the Master of the Nelly to supply them, who did so without any seeming reluctance, the day after their delivery I received an application from the store keeper to send the Nelly to Ajaccio under convoy of the Boston, to which I acquiesced, but the Master would not proceed alledging that he had complicated his Charter Party by bringing the stores to Corsica, and that an additional allowance should be paid by Government for carrying the stores from hence to Ajaccio, otherwise he would not stir. I sent for him and acquainted him that the port of Ajaccio was the only place where his cargo could be received & that if an additional allowance of freight was proper Government would of course pay it, but he still refused to go and persisted so to do, notwithstanding I gave him a written order to proceed thither.

The Store keeper seeing that the Master of the Nelly would not go from hence to Ajaccio, applied to me for the stores to be taken out of her, and put into one of the transports to prevent the expense of demurrage on the former, and Lieutenant Mansfield the Agent having reported that the Brig Fame could take them, I gave immediate directions for the cargo of the Nelly to be discharged into her; the whole will be unladen in a few days and she will proceed to Ajaccio with the first convoy.

Inclosed I transmit the application I received from the store keeper, and also an attested copy of the order I gave to the Master of the Nelly to proceed with his cargo to Ajaccio and have the honor to be

LETTER FROM THE ADMIRALTY TO MISS LINZEE.

Admiralty, Feb. 27th, 1844.

Madam: —

Having laid before my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty your letter of the 18th Instant, I am commanded by their Lordships to acquaint you that Admiral Robert Linzee was an Admiral of the Blue at the time of his decease on the 1st October 1804.

I am

Madam

Your most obedient Servant.

John Brown.

Miss Linzee. [A daughter of the Rev. Edward Linzee (119)]

The preceding naval letters and papers of Admiral Robert Linzee (117) are now in the possession of Edward Gordon Linzee (137).

Robert Linzee, Admiral of the Blue Squadron in his Majesty's Navy. Robert Linzee of Wickham, county Hants, mentions in his will, his wife Mary Linzee, a settlement made on his wife before marriage of £339. 6. 0., arising from the dividends of certain stocks, funds etc., made about 31 Jan. 1792; son Rev. Edward Linzee; friends Joseph Warner late of Rood Lane, Middx., now of South End near Eltham, Kent; trustees, the Right Honourable Lord Hood and Jacob Warner. Son Edward Linzee sole executor. Leaves life annuity to wife, at her death to son. Signed 21 May 1803. Witnesses: W. Richardson, Jn^o Wilson, Charles Dunn. Proved 15 Oct. 1804, by Rev. Edward Linzee, son. (Somerset House Probate Reg., Heseltine 707).

Dear Sir,

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of Sept. 17th to the Postmaster, and to say that I (the Postmaster's wife) have found in the churchyard the gravestone for which you enquire. It is a large flat stone surrounded by railings between four and five feet in height. The inscription on it, in very plain lettering, is as follows:—

Robert Linzee Esq^r.
Admiral in the Royal Navy
Died the 4th of October 1804
Aged 64 years.

This is the only name on the stone, but there is space for at least three more.

I could not find any other stone bearing the name of Linzee nor of Atkins; but there are four similar gravestones surrounded by railings in a line with the one mentioned, but the inscriptions on them are illegible.

I am sorry I cannot give you any information regarding any descendants. The names are quite unknown to my husband who is a native of Wickham and has lived here for nearly 60 years.

Yours truly

On the outside of a wrapper is the following in the handwriting of Captain John Linzee: "Certificate of Capt. & M^{rs}. Linzee's marriage at Boston, New England Sep^r. 1, 1772". On the inside of the wrapper in the same handwriting are the words: "as near as I can recollect the following is His Maj^y. answer to the address of the Commons.

That he has endeavour'd all in his power to form an efficient administration; that he is extremely concerned to find they have not the Confidence of Parliament, but there not being any specific charge against them, and believing they have the Confidence of his People at large, he is determin'd not to dismiss them".

Within this wrapper, the marriage certificate lies folded.

"These Certify that on the first day of this present month John Linzee Esquire Master & Commander of his Majesty's Sloop of War the Beaver was duly married to Miss Susannah Inman Eldest Daughter of Ralph Inman of Cambridge Esq^r. Agreeble to the Laws of this Province & the Rites of the Church of England".

Oct. 1792, Mrs. Linzee, daughter of Mr. Inman, departed this life about 10 o'clock, aged 39 y., she has left 9 children (Diary of Herman Brimmer); bur. 8 Oct. 1792, Boston, Trinity Church†, as Mrs. Susanna Linzee, aged 39 y.

(Dictionary of English National Biography, under Admiral, Viscount, Samuel Hood, Vol. IX) Rear Admiral Robert Linzee, who had a command under him [Samuel Hood] in the Mediterranean, was his wife's brother. John Linzee, apparently another brother, served with him in the Vestal, and afterwards as a lieutenant in the Romney, with Edward Linzee as his servant; he became a captain in 1777.

The above statement is correct in regard to Admiral Robert Linzee, but in error in respect to John Linzee. As has been shown, John Linzee (109), the father of John Linzee (118) of the Vestal aforesaid, was first cousin to Admiral Robert Linzee aforesaid, and son of another John Linzee (105) the elder brother of Edward Linzee (107), mayor of Portsmouth, England, the said Edward being the father of Susannah Linzee wife of Viscount, Admiral, Samuel Hood.

The picture of Captain John Linzee shows the eyes as light brown; dark blue coat; gold braid; white waistcoat; white grey hair; sallow complexion; red telescope with brass eyepiece; dark blue, and red sunset; rocks brown. Artist, — Sir George Chalmers.

The picture of his wife Susannah (Inman) Linzee shows the eyes as blue; light brown hair, good complexion, but not pink; dress in dark ecru, deep grey, and warm shadows, with trimmings in grey; background of a cool tone.

John Linzee was in Boston, Mass., in Mar. 1769, in the Halifax, as 2nd Lieutenant, with his servant Edward Linzee. Edward Linzee was still servant to Capt. Lohn Linzee in 1770.

John Linzee was exchanged from the Romney to the Beaver, receiving his appointment by order of Commodore Samuel Hood. Edward Linzee requested to be discharged from the Romney to the Beaver.

Thomas Linzee was servant to Capt. John Linzee in 1771.

Capt. John Linzee was in Boston, with S. H. Linzee, his son, as captain's servant, and captain's senior clerk, from 22 Oct. 1774 to 30 Apr. 1776.

John Linzee was Post Captain, 16 Feb. 1777.

The identity of Thomas Linzee, servant to Capt. John Linzee in 1771, has not been established, he might be, but would appear too young to be the Thomas, probably a Linzee, mentioned by Commodore Samuel Hood in his letter to John Rowe dated 16 Mar. 1772, as the last Thomas, then residing at Portsmouth, must have been at least of age in 1772. It is possible that Capt. John Linzee's younger brother Thomas, one of the twins, did not die young, as has been recorded, or that he had another brother Thomas born after the death of the twins, but this is all contrary to family tradition and family records. Yet it must not be forgotten that the family tradition might refer to conditions existing long after the probable death of Thomas.

ADMIRALTY RECORDS.

John Linzee was a Lieutenant in the Royal Navy the 13 Oct. 1768, a Commander the 19 Jan. 1771, a Captain the 16 Feb. 1777, and no longer on the list in 1792.

(1) Perhaps this name should be Launaston.

These are to certify the Hon^{ble} the principal officers & comms^{rs} of His Majesty's Navy that Mr. John Madgehen, Pilot extra, took charge of His Majesty's Sloop Beaver under my command at sea 17th. March 1771 & safely piloted her into English Harbour where he moored her in safety & I do further certify that the service was performed without the assistance of any other Pilot. — Given under my hand on board His Majesty's said Sloop in English Harbour Antigua 17th. March 1771.

(Signed) John Linzee

Born as master for the above time & his Certificate entered 27 Aug. 1771. to be paid $\frac{1}{2}$ pilotage.

The above record was copied from the original certificate in the handwriting of Captain John Linzee, which is among others giving autographs of Admirals & Commanders of the Royal Navy, contained in a glass case with the "Nelson Relics" in the Museum at the Greenwich Palace, Greenwich England.

(Copied by John William Linzee, Greenwich Jan. 15, 1883).

(Extract from the London Calendar for 1788. Contributed by M. E. Pescott Frost, Secretary to the Admiral Superintendent at the Portsmouth Naval Dockyard).

John Linzee, Captain R.N. Seniority 16th February 1777.

By the Naval records of Portsmouth, John Linzee was made a Post Captain, the 16 Feb. 1777, which is the exact date on his commission, now in the possession of the author, found among the effects of his son John Inman Linzee, appointing Mr. John Linzee, Captain of His Majesty's Ship the Pearl; this commission is quoted further on under the year above stated. The Portsmouth records further mention, that John Linzee resigned from the navy, but no reason was stated for his leaving the service.

HISTORY AND ANTIQUITIES OF BOSTON, MASS., BY SAMUEL G. DRAKE, ETC.

(pp. 733-48) On the night of the 8 July 1768, the sloop Liberty with its cargo of Molasses, was in the custody of two officers of the customs for violation of the law of entry. About thirty men confined the officers and carried off the molasses, but the Selectmen immediately caused it to be restored, which demonstrated that they and not the King's officers had authority over the people. This incident was the immediate cause for the despatch of two Irish regiments, and other troops from Halifax to Boston, which arrived at Nantasket on the 28 Sept, and consisted of the 14th regiment under Lieutenant-Colonel William Dalrymple, and the 29th regiment under Lieutenant-Colonel Maurice Carr, each of about 500 men. These were soon joined by a part of the 59th under Captain Wilson, and a company of the Train of Artillery with two field pieces.

On the 30th. September, the vessels of war, amounting now to about twelve, sailed into the harbor, and were ranged in a formidable manner about the north-east part of the Town, and came to anchor. The ships were: 1, the Beaver, 14 guns; 2, the Senegal, 14; 3, the Martin, 10; 4, the Glasgow, 20; 5, Mermaid, 28; 6, Romney, 50; 7, Launaston, 40; 8, Bonetta, 10; and others.

Deacon Tudor's diary describes the landing of the troops as follows:

"At about 1 O'clock Satterday all the Troops Landed under cover of the Cannon of the Ships of War. The troops drew up in King Street and marched off in short time into the Common with Muskets charged, Bayonets fixed (perhaps Expecting to have met with resistance as the Soldiers afterwards told the inhabitants) their Colours flying, Drums beating & mused playing. In short they made a gallant appearance, makeing with the train of Artillery about 800 Men."

The red uniforms of the soldiers gave rise to a pun by the Rev. Mather Byles, who said that the request of the people for a redress of grievances had been returned red-dressed from England.

On the 5 Sept. 1769, James Otis was attacked in the British Coffee House on King Street by Captain John Robinson, who was one of the Commissioners of the Customs, and his friends. John Gridley came to the assistance of Otis, and both were roughly handled. This incident further embittered the feelings of the people of Boston caused by the arrival of the troops.

Many small affrays followed between the citizens of Boston and the British soldiers, particularly the Ropewalk riot, which should have informed the British authorities that the withdrawal of the troops would alone appease the people, but these warnings went unheeded until after the Boston Massacre of the 5 Mar. 1770, when the 29th regiment under the command of Captain Preston fired on the people.

The morning after the slaughter, the leading citizens held a Town-meeting at Faneuil Hall, and appointed a committee of fifteen which repaired to the Old State House and demanded of Lieutenant-Governor Hutchinson the removal of the troops. He claimed to have no power to do so. The committee reported his answer to the meeting, it was considered unsatisfactory, when seven of the original delegation, consisting of the patriots Samuel Adams, John Hancock, William Molineaux, William Phillips, Joseph Warren, Joshua Henshaw and Samuel Pemberton, again repaired to the Council Chamber and demanded the withdrawal of all the troops. Governor Hutchinson consulted Colonel Dalrymple and proposed the removal of one regiment.

Sternly, Adams, who headed the committee, replied:

“ If the Lieutenant Governor or Colonel Dalrymple, or both together, have authority to remove one regiment, they have authority to remove two; and nothing short of the total evacuation of the Town by all the regular troops will satisfy the public mind, and preserve the peace of the province”. At the same time he pointed to the meeting composed of over three thousand people. This had the desired effect, and the troops were withdrawn, as promised, fourteen days afterwards. (Drake's Hist. and Ant. of Boston, Mass., pp. 777-84).

The Rev. Mather Byles, a Tory and wit, asked Adams why he opposed the rule of one tyrant three thousand miles away, and submitted to the will of three thousand tyrants only one mile away.

FROM THE LETTERS AND DIARY OF JOHN ROWE, BOSTON
MERCHANT. EDITED BY ANNE ROWE CUNNINGHAM.

DIARY — 1769.

July 5. I waited on Commodore Hood to Visit the Schools in Boston & dined with the Select Men Overseers of the Poor, —. A very genteel Entertainment.

July 8. When I came home I found Capt. Robt. Lyndsay at Our Hous being arrivd on the Vipers Sloop of Warr from No. Carolina, his brother Capt. John Lyndsay (& others.).⁽¹⁾

(1) This record in John Rowe's diary must not be allowed to pass without explanation:

In a paper written by Mr. Edward Lillie Pierce for the Massachusetts Historical Society, on the Diary of John Rowe, Mr. Pierce noted that, “ she ”, (Sucky Inman), “ married Sept. 1, 1772, at the age of eighteen, Captain John Linzee, then commanding the British warship “ Beaver ”, brother of Captain, afterward Rear-Admiral, Robert Linzee, and also of Admiral Samuel Hood's wife. He also quoted “ The Dictionary of National (English) Biography ”, under “ Samuel Hood, Admiral Viscount ”. He further said: “ It should be mentioned, however, that the traditions of Captain John Linzee's family do not agree with the statement of Rowe's Diary that he was the brother of Admiral Robert Linzee ”.

The author of this book has shown the true ancestry of Captain John Linzee, absolutely proved back to John Linzee who married Rebecca Goven, and that the traditions of the family on the ancestry of Captain John Linzee have all come true. Yet a few words of explanation are necessary to clear up John Rowe's Diary and Mr. Pierce's comments on this point.

In the first place, John Rowe may have made a mistake when he called the two Captains Robert and John Lyndsay, brothers; or, if Robert is the brother of John, then Mr. Pierce is in error when he called Capt. Robert Lyndsay the brother of Admiral Samuel Hood's wife. Finally, it is known from the Admiralty records, that Captain John Linzee did not reach the rank of Captain until the 4 Oct. 1770, which was after the entry in Rowe's Diary. Hence it is quite possible that Rowe referred to some other Captains Robert and John Lyndsay, as the spelling of their names suggest.

DIARY — 1770.

Oct. 6. Mr. Inman came home from Newport to-day & brought Sally Winslow & Sucky.

Oct. 9. I went on Board the Rose with Capt. Caldwell from thence to the Cassell & from thence on board the Romney & dined with Commo. Hood his Lady, his Son, Major Butler of the 60h, Major Powell of the 38h, Dr. Pertersby, Mr. Thomas & Mr. West. — Capt. Linzee arrived in the Beaver from Halifax.

April 16. After Dinner I went down Clark's Wharff to meet Capt Linzee & Sucky who arrived from Spithead & Falmouth in the Falcon Sloop. I brought them home & their little Son Saml Hood Linzee.

April 19. Last night the Grenadiers & Light Companies belonging to the several Regiments in this Town were ferry'd over Charles River & landed on Phipps Farm in Cambridge from whence they Proceeded on their way to Concord, where they arrived early this day. On their march they had a Skirmish with some Country People at Lexington. The First Brigade commanded by Lord Percy with Two pieces of Artillery set off from this Town this morning about Ten of Clock as a Reinforcement which with the Grenadiers & Light Infantry made about eighteen hundred men. The People in the Country had notice of this movement early in the Night. Alarm Guns were fired thro' the Country & Expresses sent off to the Different Towns so that very early this morning large numbers from all Parts of the Country were Assembled. A General Battle ensued which from what I can learn was Supported with Great Spirit on both Sides & continued untill the Kings Troops got back to Charlestown which was near Sunset. Numbers are killed & wounded on Both Sides. Capt Linzee & Capt Collins in two Small Armed Vessels were ordered up Charles River to Bring off the Troops to Boston but Lord Percy & General Smith thought Proper to encamp on Bunker's Hill this Night — this Unhappy affair is a Shocking Introduction to all the Miseries of a Civil War.

April 20. The General sent some more Troops to Charlestown last night & this morning, so that Lord Percy & the Troops under his Command Returned to Town. This night some People abo Two hundred Attacked Capt Linzee in the Armed Schooner a little Below Cambridge Bridge. he gave them a Warm Reception so that they thought proper to Retreat with the Loss of some men. Tis said many thousands of Country People are at Roxbury & in the neighborhood. The People in Town are alarmed & the entrenchments on Boston Neck doubled Guarded. Mrs. Linzee din'd at the Admirall's.

May 1. Capt Linzee & Sucky & Little Saml Hood sailed this morning in the Falcon Sloop.

May 25. The Ceberus Man of War, Capt Chad arrived from Spit-head — in this Ship The Generals Bourgoyne, How & Clynton came Passengers.

Dec. 27. I dined at Home with Capt Linzee, Mrs Linzee Little Saml Hood who is two years old this day, Mr Inman Mrs Inman Geo Inman Mrs Rowe & Jack Rowe.

7 Jany. Capt Linzee behav'd very cruelly to me. I shall not forget it.

Jan. 18. Mrs Linzee & George (Inman) paid us a visit & took their Leave — perhaps Forever.

Jan. 20. This day The Falcon, Capt Linzee, sailed — he took with him Mrs Linzee, Little Sam & Hannah. I sincerely wish their Prosperity & Happiness.

THE GASPEE INCIDENT.

In March 1772, His Majesty's sloop of war the Beaver, commanded by Captain John Linzee, was stationed off Newport, Rhode Island, for the suppression of the clandestine landing of articles subject to the payment of duty. His Tender, the armed schooner Gaspee, of eight guns and twenty seven men, commanded by Lieutenant William Dudingston, patrolled the waters of Narragansett Bay to punish breaches of the customs and to end the illicit trade very largely engaged in by the inhabitants of those shores.

On the 9th of June, Dudingston started in pursuit of a New York, Newport and Providence packet called the Hannah, commanded, strange to say, by a Captain Thomas or Benjamin Lindsey, who refused to be overhauled and examined when ordered by the Beaver to comply. The Hannah sailed away from Newport and successfully passed a bar off Namquit Point, now Gaspee Point, about seven miles below Providence, on to which the pursuing Gaspee was firmly stranded owing to her greater draft.

On his arrival at Providence, Captain Lindsey of the Hannah reported what appeared to be a chase to John Brown, a leading merchant of that city, who determined on the destruction of the Gaspee. Whereupon John and Joseph Brown, Captains Abraham Whipple, John B. Hopkins, Benjamin and Samuel Dunn, Colonel Ephraim Bowen who left a narrative of these events, John Mawney, Benjamin Page, Joseph Bucklin who later shot Dudingston, Turpin Smith, Captain Joseph Tillinghast and Simeon H. Olney, met at James Sabin's Inn and agreed on a course of action.

They rowed down the bay in eight large long boats about eight persons in a boat, being joined by Simeon Potter of Bristol, Doctor Weeks of Warwick, a negro boy named Aaron Briggs whom Captain Linzee afterwards retained on the Beaver as a witness, refusing to surrender him to Governor J. Wanton of Rhode Island, and many other leading men whose names do not appear to be known, and attacked the Gaspee about two o'clock in the morning, wounded a large portion of her company including her commander Dudingston, burnt the schooner, and carried the wounded and captured crew, who had made little resistance to a superior force, to Providence; they landed Dudingston however at Pawtucket as his injury was serious.

This attack on a King's ship was not only violence, but revolution, and aroused tremendous indignation in naval and governmental circles. Great efforts were made by the British authorities to secure the ringleaders who were well known, but no reputable evidence was forthcoming to implicate them. The governor of Rhode Island hesitated to arrest his own citizens and rather bent his efforts to free them from suspicion. The King's government appointed commissioners to examine into the affair, but to no purpose, as no one would tell on his neighbour. Large rewards for evidence leading to the apprehension and conviction of the guilty persons failed of their purpose. Finally, in desperation, the British authorities declared they would secure justice by seizing the culprits and trying them in England.

But this last threat and mistaken policy, raised a storm of protest from Virginia and other colonies who declared they would not stand for the trial of citizens of the American colonies in England, or any where else, except in colonial courts of law. The general state of mind can be seen from the following letter:

GOVERNOR HUTCHINSON TO SAMUEL HOOD ESQ.

Boston, 2d September, 1772.

Dear Sir: —

Capt. Linzee can inform you of the state of Rhode Island colony better than I can do; so daring an insult, as burning the King's schooner, by people who are as well known as any who were concerned in this last rebellion, and yet cannot be prosecuted, will certainly rouse the British lion, which has been asleep these four or five years. Admiral Montagu says that Lord Sandwich will never leave pursuing the colony, until it is disfranchised. If it is passed over, the other colonies will follow the example. . . .

It is His Majesty's intention . . . that the persons concerned in the burning the Gaspee . . . should be brought to England to be tried. . . .

It is interesting to note that the date of the above letter is the day Captain John Linzee was married in Boston. The reader is also referred to the diary, from the 14-31 Aug., of John Rowe previously given, where the arrest of Captain Linzee on the Mulatto affair will now be explained.

The mulatto, Aaron Briggs, by his own testimony claimed to be in the company of those who destroyed the Gaspee; he alone confessed to his share in that plot, and gave the names of some of the participants; he was either captured or sought refuge on the Beaver, at any rate he was detained by Captain Linzee as an important witness for the navy. Governor Wanton had discredited his evidence by the depositions of other negro fellow servants who claimed he was at home on the night of the attack on the Gaspee. He was however recognized as a member of the attacking party, by a member of the crew of the Gaspee who was on the Beaver. Wanton requested the surrender of Aaron, which Linzee refused, and it was probably for this defiance of the civil authority of Rhode Island that Captain Linzee was arrested in Boston.

THE GOVERNOR OF RHODE ISLAND TO CAPTAIN LINZEE OF HIS MAJESTY'S SHIP BEAVER.

Newport, July 16th 1772.

Sir: —

Having received information from the Honorable Admiral Montagu, that Aaron a mulatto lad, on board His Majesty's ship, the Beaver, under your command, has confessed that he was concerned in destroying His Majesty's schooner the Gaspee, as she lay aground in the county of Kent, within this colony; and as it is highly necessary that this lad should be examined by the civil authority, concerning what he knows of this affair. . . .

DOROTHY PHYLLIS LINZEE

The refusal of Captain Linzee was based on his belief that Governor Wanton was not sincere in his desire to know the truth from Aaron, but to intimidate and shake the mulatto's testimony after gaining possession of his person.

Thus in this incident between a Captain John Linzee and a Captain Thomas or Benjamin Lindsey, a new controversy was started between England and her American Colonies which widened the existing breach between them, consolidated the colonies, and led up to the struggle for American independence. The State of Rhode Island had avenged the Boston Massacre of the 5th of Mar. 1770. From this incident, for the first time, the various colonies knew that they would stand by each other in any struggle for individual and combined political freedom.

For a full and extremely interesting account of the destruction of the Gaspee, from which this abstract is largely taken, the reader is referred to the Rhode Island Colonial Records VII: 58-192. The following song, recorded on pp. 191-2, was composed by Captain Swan of Bristol for the occasion.

SONG

'Twas in the reign of George the Third,
Our public peace was much disturbed
By ships of war, that came and laid
Within our ports, to stop our trade.
Seventeen hundred and seventy-two,
In Newport harbor lay a crew,
That played the part of pirates there,
The sons of freedom could not bear,
Sometimes they weighed and gave them chase,
Such actions, sure were very base.
No honest coaster could pass by
But what they would let some shot fly;
And did provoke, to high degree,
Those true born sons of liberty;
So that they could not longer bear
Those sons of Belial staying there.
But 'twas not long 'fore it fell out,
That William Dudingston, so stout,
Commander of the Gaspee tender,
Which he has reason to remember,
Because, as people do assert,
He almost had his just desert;
Here, on the tenth day of last June,
Betwixt the hours of twelve and one,
Did chase the sloop, called the Hannah,
Of whom, one Lindsay, was commander.

They dogged her up Providence Sound,
 And there the rascal got aground.
 The news of it flew that very day,
 That they on Namquit Point did lay.
 That night, about half after ten
 Some Narragansett Indian men,
 Being sixty-four, if I remember,
 Which made the stout coxcomb surrender;
 And what was best of all their tricks,
 They in his breech a ball did fix;
 Then set the men upon the land,
 And burnt her up we understand;
 Which thing provoked the King so high
 He said those men shall surely die;
 So if he could but find them out,
 The hangman he'll employ, no doubt;
 For he's declared, in his passion,
 He'll have them tried a new fashion.
 Now, for to find these people out,
 King George has offered very stout;
 One thousand pounds to find out one
 That wounded William Dudingston.
 One thousand more, he says he'll spare,
 For those who say the sheriffs were;
 One thousand more, there doth remain
 For to find out the leader's name;
 Likewise, five hundred pounds per man
 For any one of all the clan.
 But let him try his utmost skill,
 I'm apt to think he never will Find out any of those hearts of Gold,
 Though he should offer fifty fold.

Give me leave by Cap Linzee who I hear is under sailing orders to inquire after y^o welfare. We rejoice in the general tranquility in Eng^d. & only wish to see the Scriblers who continue to abuse the best of sovereigns brought to condign punishment. Surely the servants of the Crown in the plantat. will not think much of their treatment if it is not worse than what their master received. In this Colony this sort of abuse is all that has given me any trouble since I received my Comission.

Cap Linzee can inform you of the state of R. I. Colony better than I can. So daring an Insult as burning the Kings Scooner by people who are as well known as any who were concerned in the last Rebellion and yet cannot be prosecuted will certainly rouse the British Lion which has been asleep these 4 or 5 years. Ad. Montagu says that L^d Sandwich will never leave pursuing the Colony until it is disfranchised. If it is passed over the other Colonies will follow its example.

Cap Linzee is loaded with law suits As far as the Adm. has acquainted me with them they appear to be groundless & vexatious. Its lucky that they are to be tried in this Col. where we have a set of as upright & loyal judges as there are in any Colony upon the Continent.

Close application & a neglect of exercise unnerved me for a few weeks in the Summer but by unbending & return to my usual exercise I thank God I have recovered my former state of health. I am wth very great regard & esteem

The Stamp Act passed in England in 1756 caused great indignation in the American Colonies; it was repealed in 1766. Other obnoxious taxes were then imposed, and were all repealed in 1770 except that on tea. In 1773 a cargo of tea was thrown overboard from a ship in Boston harbor by a number of colonists disguised as Indians.

On the 13th of May 1774, Governor Thomas Gage came to Boston, and on the 1st of June the British government proclaimed the Boston Port Bill to restrain the New England Colonies. Gage attempted to carry out that act of repression in August, by which, henceforth, the State Council could only be appointed by the King, and, except for the annual town meetings in March and May, these and other public assemblies could be arranged for only by the governor's permission.

Discontent immediately became general as the principles fought for by the colonists for generations were thus swept away. In a short time a Provincial Congress was formed to help the colony to maintain its rights, the suggestion coming from the house of burgesses of the colony of Virginia, as an expression of her sympathy for her sister colony of Massachusetts.

On the 8th of April 1775, the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts issued orders to secure an army, and invited the assistance of the colonies of New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

General Gage had by this time about four thousand British troops in and about Boston. To enforce the King's laws, he determined to teach the provincials obedience by a high-handed act of confiscation. On the 18th of April, he ordered Lieutenant-Colonel Smith to assemble eight hundred men on Boston Common at night, and with Major Pitcairn to cross over the river Charles to Cambridge, thence to proceed to Concord and there to seize or destroy the supplies collected for the provincial militia. Notification of this raid reached the American leaders, and the famous night ride of the patriot Paul Revere converted a slumbering community into one resolved on resistance and grim determination to fight to the utmost this flagrant attack on their homes and lives. The battles of Lexington and Concord followed on the 19th of April 1775, a day to be remembered by Americans as their birth-day as a nation.

In these events, Captain John Linzee simply covered the retreat of the British troops from Concord along the Charles River to Charlestown.

This sudden and unexpected attack by Gage served to consolidate and strengthen the men of Massachusetts in their opposition to misrule, and the next two months were devoted by them to the raising and equipping of an army, and the appointment of Artemas Ward as its commander-in-chief.

On the 15th of June 1775, George Washington was elected General-in-chief of all the American or Provincial forces. On the same day the Committee of Safety for Massachusetts recommended to the Council of War, the advisability of fortifying Bunker's Hill in Charlestown, which commanded Boston on the North. And on the next day the Provincial Congress, by proclamation, advised the people of the political aspects facing them and the consequences arising from the attack at Concord and the successful resistance of the American militia.

In the meantime Captain John Linzee, acting without doubt under orders, was out foraging for supplies for the army and navy as shown by the following records.

Mrs. Bowdoin to the Committee of Safety.

Dorchester, June 4, 1775.

Gentlemen:— Mr. Bowdoin has just received the enclosed deposition and being in a very weak state, desires me to inform you, that for some time past, the Falkland, sloop of war, commanded by Capt. Linzey, has been cruising about the islands called Elizabeth islands, near Martha's Vineyard: that the said sloop's boats have, divers times, landed armed men on the said islands, who have abused the inhabitants, stove their boats, and by force taken away a considerable part of their property, as may more fully appear by the said deposition.

It is humbly apprehended, if about one hundred armed men were properly posted on the said islands, they would be a sufficient force to defend the inhabitants, and protect their stocks of cattle and sheep, which are very considerable, and which have, hitherto, every year, furnished divers parts of this colony with fat sheep and cattle for provisions, and particularly with a large quantity of wool for our home manufactures.

I beg leave to make this representation, that you may take such measures as your wisdom shall dictate; and am, most respectfully, in Mr. Bowdoin's behalf, who is part owner of one of said islands,

Gentlemen, your most obedient humble servant,

Elizabeth Bowdoin.

Deposition of Elisha Nye.

May 31, 1775.

Elisha Nye, innholder, living on one of the Elizabeth islands, commonly called Naushan, and near to Tarpolin Cove, testifieth and saith, that some time about the 5th of May, the sloop of war called the Falkland, commanded by Capt. Linzey, came into the cove, and as soon as the vessel had come to anchor, the captain came on shore with his boat's crew, all armed, and came to the house, and said unto the deponent, "you need not be scared," upon which, he told him it was enough to scare any body to see so many men come on shore armed; and the women were all fled, and to where he knew not; upon which, Capt. Linzey told him to call them in, for he did not mean to hurt any body — upon which promise, I and my family were satisfied. Soon after that, the captain asked me to walk with him; which he complied with; and in the course of the walk, he demanded to know what stock I had, and added, to tell him right, for if I did not, he would take all that he met: upon which, I gave him the account. Then the captain told me, the deponent, if I sold any of them, he would take the remainder by force: upon which, I told him, if he were here when they were fit for market, he might have them, paying the price I used to have. Soon after, he went to Rhode Island, and returned back in a few days; after which, he used to pass and repass the island almost every day, mostly in company with the doctor of the ship, leaving down the fence repeatedly, which let the cattle often mix together, which I told the doctor was a great damage: the doctor's answer was, "then you may put it up yourselves, for I will not;" and he often talked in an abusive, insulting manner, that he, the doctor, would soon take what he wanted, without any pay.

On the 26th instant, a sloop came into the cove, with about twenty passengers, men, women, and children, in great distress for provisions, and made application to me for supplies. Capt. Linzey knowing that, his boat having boarded her, sent his boat on shore, and forbade my letting them have any. Then I advised them to apply to Capt. Linzey, and see if they could not prevail upon him to let them have some; accordingly they went; afterwards, the captain of the sloop told me, that he absolutely refused them, and said, "damn the dog that would let them have any! and if they were not gone immediately, he would sink them:" upon which, they set sail immediately without any supplies. And further, the deponent declareth, that the doctor came on shore, and said, that the captain's orders were, that I should go with him, the said doctor, and destroy all the boats belonging to the island. I told him I could not go upon such business as that; he said he would send me on board the ship if I did not go; upon which, I found I must comply, and accordingly went with him, and saw him, the doctor, stave three boats.

On the 29th, about eight o'clock, in the evening, he, the said doctor, came on shore, and told me he had come for my sheep, upon which, I told him they were out in the pasture, and I could not get them into the pen it being dark, but would fetch them in as early in the morning as he pleased; the answer from the doctor was, "damn you! what did you turn them out for?" the reason, I told him, was, that they had got out their own sheep, and did not say any thing about when they should want mine, and I thought it best the sheep should be let out to feed; upon which, the said doctor said to me, "damn you! go on board the ship and I'll see what they were turned out for;" I told him, I would not, but would go and try to get the sheep up; he said "well, damn you! make haste!" and swung his sword over my head, — but upon trial I found it so dark, I could not get them in; and, on my return, was informed that he, the doctor, had sent on board for more help to carry me and my brother on board the ship; upon which, with the abuses and threats I had received before, I thought it time to make my escape, which I did, to the main land, and begged the assistance of the people, who readily came to my assistance. When I returned, which was about three o'clock, in the morning, some of my family told me, they had been on shore, armed, and taken all my calves, being seven in number; two of the poorest and smallest, they sent on shore in the morning; the others, with four sheep they had some days before, they carried off without paying any thing for them. I do further declare, the abuses and threats I received, from Capt. Linzey and the doctor, were the occaſion of my moving off the iſland, leaving my intereſt. And I declare, that I never reſuſed Capt. Linzey, or any other perſon belonging to any ſhip of war, entertainment in my houſe, or a ſupply of proviſions that I had on my farm, and could ſpare. And I further declare, that on the night of the 29th inſtant, the aforeſaid doctor, as my wife informs me, came on ſhore and demanded my gun, with his ſword in hand, which ſhe delivered to him, and I have not ſeen it ſince, though it was the only weapon of defence that I had on the iſland.

The value of the ſheep, calves, and gun, which they took from me, and the uſe of my horſe and well, are as follows, viz.:

Four ſheep,	£2 16 0
Three calves, four months old,	3 6 0
Four quarters of veal, ſixty pounds, ſold,	2 8 0
One gun taken out of my houſe by the doctor of the ſhip, of great value,	3 0 0
Riding my horſe and uſe of my well,	3 0 0

	£15 6 0

In Provincial Congress Watertown June 16, 1775.

Resolved, That the following Proclamation be signed by the President, printed and published throughout this Colony.

By the Provincial Congress.

The confidence which our Countrymen have reposed in us lays us under the strongest obligation to watch and guard against all the malignant designs of their inveterate enemies. That the British Administration have formed, and have been for several years executing a plan to enslave this, and the other American colonies, is a proposition so evident that it would be an affront to the understanding of mankind to adduce proofs in support of it. We shall therefore only advert to those unhappy circumstances which have been the immediate causes of plunging this people into the horrors of war and desolation. When a fleet and army were sent forth to deprive us of every thing that man holds dear — when the capital of this Colony became a garrison, and fortifications were erected upon the only land entrance into the metropolis, when the commander of the army so manifested his designs against us as to send out his soldiers in the night to remove the public magazines of the colony from their safe lodgment in the Country and place them under the command of a foreign army — when he evinced his enmity to the liberties of this Country by sending a detachment of that army against the peaceable inhabitants of one of our principal towns, only because they were assembled quietly to concert measures to save themselves from ruin; when we were totally deprived of the benefit of a legislative body, when the whole system of distributive justice was so mutilated that there could be no reason to hope for any advantages from it, when an act of Parliament was passed by which our Countrymen were given up as a prey to a lawless soldiery who were screened from punishment here for the murders they might commit. —

In fine, when the army and navy breathed nothing but blood and slaughter, and all our accounts from England but too strongly proved the inhuman intentions of those in power, it became us as men, as freemen and christians to take some steps to preserve our own lives and properties as well as to secure the inheritance, purchases at no less a price than the blood of many thousand of our brave ancestors, entire and undiminished for succeeding generations.

The Congress, whom this people then chose, recommended it to them to provide themselves with such articles for their defence as the law of the land required, and further recommended it to them to appropriate some part of their own property for the purchasing such stores to be laid up in publick magazines as might be useful for the general defence in case an attack should be made upon us by the army. — The recommendation was cheerfully complied with, and stores were procured in the most peaceable and quiet manner and deposited in magazines where they were to have continued without the least injury or disturbance to any one, unless drawn out by necessity to save the Country from destruction. But the possibility of our making resistance to the bloody schemes of our adversaries was the source of continual terror to the traitors whose aim was to enslave this Country: and General Gage, after many little pilferings, and several humiliating disappointments in his attempts to rob the people, at length determined to destroy the magazines at Concord: he sent the Grenadiers and companies of light infantry of every regiment (about one thousand in number) secretly by night over Charles River. On their way, some of the Officers captivated and otherwise infamously abused several of the inhabitants, and when the body arrived at Lexington meeting-house, which was very early in the morning of the ever memorable nineteenth of April, they in a most barbarous and infamous manner fired upon a small number of the inhabitants and cruelly murdered eight men.

The fire was returned by some of the survivors, but their number was too inconsiderable to annoy the regular troops, who proceeded on their errand and upon coming up to Concord began to destroy by fire and water the stores & magazines, until a party of them again fired upon and killed two more of the inhabitants. The native bravery of our countrymen could now no longer be restrained; a small party, consisting of about two or three hundred men, attacked them with such spirit and resolution as compelled them to retreat. At Lexington they met a reinforcement of regular troops consisting of about eight hundred with two field pieces, commanded by Lord Percy; this however did not encourage them to keep their ground: but they continued their route towards Charlestown, making their way with every species of desolation and cruelty which their haste would permit. The burning and robbing of houses — the abuses and barbarities offered to defenceless women and children, the wanton slaughter of the aged and helpless will be a perpetual memorial of the base spirit which actuated the perpetrators. Upon their arrival at Charlestown, our countrymen quitted the pursuit, and the next day suffered them without any annoyance to pass the river and return to Boston. This action of the troops destroyed every hope of coming to any accomodation with them, we therefore were compelled to raise an army to prevent such bloody excursions in future; an army is therefore raised and appointed for this purpose, and we are with the greatest reluctance obliged to declare that we have now nothing to depend upon, under God, to preserve America from slavery and destruction but our arms: To these we have been forced to make our appeal, and by these we are determined to maintain our rights; and we are obliged to declare, and do now publicly declare, all persons who shall afford any aid, assistance or relief, or hold any manner of communication of any kind whatsoever with General

Gage, Admiral Graves, or the army or navy or any one of those now under their command who are stationed in our metropolis and the harbour of Boston or elsewhere, or any persons who are known, or shall hereafter be known to have afforded such aid or to have had such communication with them or either of them to be enemies and traitors to their Country, and they shall be proceeded against and treated as such, excepting only such of the unhappy inhabitants of Boston as have by a treacherous and most infamous breach of faith in General Gage, been prevented from removing out of the town of Boston; whose peculiar circumstances this Congress will at all times make due allowance for, so long as they shall avoid doing anything to obstruct or counteract such steps as the Congress shall think fit to take; but the said inhabitants are strictly forbidden, whatever may be the consequence of their refusal, to be in any the least degree instrumental in assisting the enemy or opposing the Country, as they would avoid the penalties due to the enemies thereof. —

From a real tenderness to our fellowmen, we most sincerely regret the unhappy situation of the soldiery and sailors in the army and navy now stationed in the town and harbour of Boston, and assure them upon that faith, which never has been, and we trust never will be violated, that upon their quitting the infamous service in which they are, (as we must in charity suppose) contrary to their own inclinations and principles engaged, — we will receive them as brethren and fellow subjects and protect them against every attempt that may be made by our enemies to force them again into the disgraceful & inhuman service, in which they are now employed. And, that it is our earnest desire to discover our tender regard to our few misguided fellow-countrymen, and our readiness to forgive even those who have knowingly offended, we do promise and engage a full free pardon to all persons who have fled to the town for refuge, and to other public offenders against the rights and liberties of this Country of what kind or denomination soever: excepting only from the benefit of such pardon, Thomas Gage, Samuel Greaves, those counsellors who were appointed by Mandamus and have not signified their resignation, Viz. Jonathan Sewall, Charles Paxton, Benjamin Hallowell, and all the natives of America, not belonging to the navy or army, who went out with the regular troops on the 19th. of April last and were countenancing, aiding and assisting them in the robberies & murders then committed, whose offences are of too flagitious a nature to admit of any other consideration than that of condign punishment — Provided they take the benefit hereof by making a surrender of themselves to any General Officer belonging to the Massachusetts army, and subscribe a declaration of their readiness to comply with, support, and abide by, all the resolutions and determinations which are already made by this or any former Congress, or that shall hereafter be made by any future Congress or house of Representatives of this Colony within days from the date hereof. And it is earnestly enjoined upon the Selectmen, committee of correspondence, Com. of Safety and all other officers of every town in this Colony that they use their utmost diligence to discover and make known to this Congress any person or persons who shall in any respect attempt to do anything tending to render ineffectual their designs and doings: And we trust the God of Armies, on whom we rely for a blessing upon our arms, which we have taken up in support of the great and fundamental principles of natural justice and the common and indefeasible rights of mankind, will guide and direct us in our designs, and at last in infinite goodness to this his injured people restore peace and freedom to the American World.

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL.

On the outbreak of the revolutionary conflict, Colonel William Prescott, a farmer of Pepperell, Mass., and a veteran of the Louisburgh expedition of 1746, also later with Winslow in the conquest of Nova Scotia, and known as a leader of dash and daring, attended on the 16th of June 1775 the secret call to arms on Cambridge common.

Already the Committee of Safety, in answer to their appeal, had collected from the New England towns about fifteen thousand men. Two regiments from New Hampshire were commanded by Colonel Stark and James Reed; three Rhode Island regiments under Colonels Varnum, Hitchcock and Church were on hand with General Green at their head; and three Connecticut regiments were led by Generals Israel Putnam, Joseph Spencer and Colonel Samuel H. Parsons. General Artemas Ward, the commander in chief of Massachusetts, was generally, though not officially, recognized as leader of the combined military forces.

The recommendation of the Committee of Safety to occupy Bunker Hill, was approved on the 16th of June. No time could be lost, as Generals Howe, Burgoyne and Clinton had reached Boston with reinforcements from England, and General Gage had determined to occupy Bunker Hill in Charlestown, which controlled Boston on the north, and Dorchester Heights which commanded Boston on the south, on or about the 18th of June.

A band of raw recruits, consisting of Prescott's, Fry's and Bridge's regiments, about two hundred Connecticut troopers under Capt. Thomas Knowlton, and Capt. Samuel Gridley's artillery company, were ordered by General Ward to proceed about nine at night, under the leadership of Colonel William Prescott, and to entrench themselves on Bunker's Hill. The night was clear, a prayer for their safety by the Rev. Dr. Langdon, president of Harvard College, started them on their eventful march. They arrived at their destination in two hours, poorly armed and inadequately provisioned; the total force was a trifle over twelve hundred men, augmented when crossing Charlestown Neck by a few hundred reinforcements and General Putnam and Major Brooks.

Both Colonels Prescott and Gridley, upon viewing the topography of the land, decided that Breed's Hill, a lower site than Bunker Hill, was the proper position on which to construct the redoubt, in order to prevent the British from using it as a protection to their formations after landing. Colonel Gridley, the engineer, at once laid out a redoubt of about one hundred and forty feet square, with orders to raise it to a height of seven feet, with breastworks about four hundred feet long towards the Mystic River, and nine hundred feet long towards the west slope of the hill on the Charles River side. These fortifications were not completed until the next morning at eleven, when the tools were sent back to Putnam for the purpose of fortifying Bunker's Hill. The redoubt was therefore near the water front and in close proximity to the heavy ordnance of the armed ships of the British navy.

The Falcon, of twenty guns and one hundred and thirty men, lay off Moulton's Point, near the present bridge to Chelsea. She was the ship nearest to the Mystic side of the peninsula, and was commanded by Captain John Linzee.

The Somerset, of sixty-eight guns and five hundred and twenty men, Captain Edward Le Cras, was stationed off Charlestown Square near the present Warren Bridge.

The Lively, of twenty guns and one hundred and thirty men, Captain Thomas Bishop, was at anchor off the present Navy Yard, but during the action took a position between the Falcon and the Somerset.

The Glasgow, of twenty-four guns and one hundred and thirty men, Captain William Maltby, was moored at where Craigie's Bridge was, but now known as the new dam.

The Cerberus, of thirty-six guns, Captain Chads, and probably the transport Symmetry of twenty guns, with two large floating batteries, stood higher up on the Charles River, commanding Charlestown Neck, and prevented reinforcements from reaching Bunker's Hill and the redoubt.

Three times during the night, Prescott visited the water's edge, where the "all's well" of the night watches of the ships of war could be clearly heard. And it was not until four in the morning that the redoubt, now fully visible, and the American forces, were discovered by the Falcon and the Lively, who immediately fired on the works, thereby warning the British generals in Boston of what had happened during the night.

Those who built the redoubt wished to retire and leave the work of defence to a relief party from Cambridge; but Prescott said, "No, we have made the redoubt and will remain to defend it while life lasts". Then mounting its walls, he walked around it to encourage his men in full view of the British army and navy.

General Gage asked his counsellor Willard, "Who is in command of the Americans", and "will he fight"? "Yes, sir", replied Willard, "he is an old soldier and will fight as long as a drop of blood remains in his veins", also mentioning that it was his own brother-in-law, William Prescott. "The works must be carried", was Gage's reply.

Admiral Graves ordered the fleet to cease their fire, but a battery of six guns and howitzers on Copp's Hill soon joined in the attack, which, however, did little damage, except to deter reinforcements from reaching Prescott in the redoubt. Cannon balls were heated red-hot and a hail of these fell on Charlestown and set it on fire.

General Gage, contrary to the advice of Generals Clinton, Howe and Burgoyne, determined on a frontal attack; a flank attack in the rear of the American forces, he considered too dangerous as it placed the attackers between the fire of the redoubt and the reinforcements near Charlestown Neck. At noon Gage ordered Major-General Howe and Brigadier-General Pigot with four battalions, to cross over to Moulton's Point in front of Breed's Hill, where the Falcon and the Lively had cleared the low lands at the shore line.

Four battalions, consisting of two companies of grenadiers, ten of light infantry, and some field artillery, were embarked at Long Wharf and the North Battery in barges armed with cannon at their prows, and landed at Moulton's Point about one o'clock; they formed, but waited for reinforcements which contained more light infantry, grenadiers and a battalion each of land forces and marines. This whole force was over three thousand men. General Howe went with the right wing to cut off the retreat, and General Pigot with the left wing to storm the redoubt; and at three o'clock the attack began. Generals Burgoyne and Clinton viewed the battle from Copp's Hill, and the former, after Clinton decided to share in the fight, took his stand in the belfry of the tower of the North Church of Boston, from where the light of inspiration had blazed forth for the midnight ride of Paul Revere.

The English troops attacked in two lines without any cover, and were therefore exposed to the deadly American marksmen, schooled in the art of hunting, and who now obeyed the advice of their leaders, "Wait till you see the whites of their eyes". They reserved their fire until the enemy were within two hundred feet, and repulsed them in disorderly consternation.

This fusillade, instead of only irregular shots, showed the British officers that the work before them was a genuine battle, instead of a riot; with the usual British pluck, they made a second charge which came within one hundred feet of the American lines, when the slaughter was so terrific that it also was repulsed in about fifteen minutes.

But the English troops had got close enough to overhear an incautious call for ammunition, as the supply in the provincial ranks was nearly exhausted.

At this period of the fight, four hundred fresh British marines were hurried over. Charlestown was further set on fire by General Pigot's division, a brisker cannonade of the Neck was ordered to prevent aid to the redoubt, and the reinforcements which the Americans brought up to the left of Prescott were now fully engaged with no prospect of passing to his assistance. General Clinton also crossed over to the aid of his staggered army.

The British officers were now furious and grim, it was a case of conquer or go home humiliated; their generals determined on a third assault to be delivered with more caution. The troops were ordered to set aside their knapsacks and other impediments, to move forward in column, to reserve their fire and rely on the bayonet, to deliver their attack simultaneously from several sides, and especially to concentrate their main attack on the weak points in the redoubt which were at last discovered, and to advance their cannon to a point where the breastwork could be enfiladed.

The fortunes of the day were thus reversed.

The third attack advanced with little opposition to within fifty feet of the redoubt, where it met a feeble fire from Prescott's men, whose ammunition was exhausted, while they were improperly armed for close quarters. With a cheer the British rushed the short intervening distance and mounted and carried the breastwork. Major Pitcairn, who gave the first order to fire on the provincials at Lexington, was one of the foremost to scale the walls, but immediately fell mortally wounded.

Prescott, seeing that there was no hope of making a stand, ordered a retreat over Charlestown Neck, which movement was executed under the protection of Captain Knowlton and his men at the Mystic River, and it was during this retreat that the Americans suffered most of their casualties. They withdrew orderly to Prospect Hill, followed by the British to Bunker's Hill, when the two armies entrenched facing each other again. The battle was over before six in the evening.

Major-General Joseph Warren joined the provincials before the fight, to show that the leaders were willing to share the dangers of the men. He refused the command tendered by Prescott, and was shot in the head and killed by a musket ball at the end of the third assault.

The Americans lost one hundred and forty killed and two hundred and seventy-one wounded, and thirty-six missing. The British suffered the loss of thirty-five officers and one hundred and ninety-five men killed, and one hundred and twenty-two officers and seven hundred and six men wounded.

Congratulations poured in on Massachusetts from all the other American Colonies. Benjamin Franklin wrote to a friend in London, "Americans will fight, England has lost her Colonies for ever". At last undisciplined farmers had braved the veteran troops of Old England in the protection of their homes, rights and liberties. The courage and determination displayed by the immortal band of patriots under Prescott could be matched by no other similar achievement in history, while the fame of their exploit was far reaching and bore fruit for political, industrial and social justice throughout the world. The great courage of the English was all that remained to sustain their spirit to prosecute the war. The 19th of April 1775 saw the birth of the American nation, the 17th of June following was its baptism.

The great lesson of the Battle of Bunker Hill consisted in demonstrating to three millions of colonists, the absolute necessity of arming and fighting for national independence, and the proof of its final establishment.

Story's statue of Prescott at Bunker Hill was referred to by Robert C. Winthrop in these terms:

"Prescott stands here clad in the light banyan coat and broad brimmed hat which he is known to have thrown on during the intense heat of the day in exchange for the more stately but cumbrous uniform in which he marched from Cambridge the night before the battle."

"He has returned: — not with three fresh regiments only, as he proposed, but with the acclamation of every soldier and citizen."

"He has retaken Bunker Hill; and with it, the hearts of all who shall be gathered upon it, generation after generation, in all the untold centuries of the future" (1).

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL.

(Extracts from a song said to be written by a British Sergeant.)

The seventeenth by break of day,
 The Yankees did surprise,
 With their strong works they had thrown up,
 To burn the town and drive us.
 But soon we had an order come,
 An order to defeat them,

Like rebels stout, they stood it out,
And thought we ne'er could beat them.
About the hour of twelve that day
An order came for marching,
With three good flints and sixty rounds,
Each man hoped to discharge them.
We marched down to the Long-wharf,
Where boats were ready waiting,
With expedition we embarked,
Our ships kept cannonading.
And when our boats all filled were
With officers and soldiers,
With as good troops as England had
To oppose, who dare control us.
And when our boats all filled were,
We rowed in line of battle,
The showers of ball like hail did fly,
Our cannon loud did rattle.
The Glasgow frigate cleared the shore,
All in the time of landing,
With her grape shot and musket balls,
No rebels could withstand them.
Brave William Howe on our right wing,
Cried, boys, fight on like thunder;
You soon will see the rebels flee,
In great amaze and wonder.
They began to play on our left wing,
Where Pigot he commanded,
But we returned it back again,
With courage most undaunted.
To our grape shot and musket balls,
To which they were but strangers,
They thought to come with sword in hand,
But soon they found their danger.
But our conductor he got broke
For his misconduct sure, sir,
The shot he sent for twelve pound guns,
Were made for twenty-fours, sir.
There's some in Boston pleased to say,
As we the field were taking,
We went to kill their countrymen,
While they their hay were making.
For such stout whigs I never saw,
To hang them all I'd rather,
For making hay with musket balls,
And buck-shot mixed together.

[Taken from the pocket souvenir of the Bunker Hill Centennial, Boston, June seventeenth, 1875.]

The battle of Bunker Hill really consolidated, broadened out and in every way reformed the governing principles of the British Empire. It taught their leaders of imperialism the fallacy of attempting to throttle the trade of their dependencies, the evil of denying to them the full enjoyment of their cherished individual and collective privileges established by their leaders and exercised for generations, and the wisdom of permitting colonies to handle their internal affairs, especially their own form of taxation. This principle or fundamental truth of not owning a distant country too intimately politically, taught by the American Revolution, has for its latest harvest, South Africa, where even the reins of government have been released to the local authorities, and almost all overseas military occupancy has been removed, leaving only, for an attachment to the British Empire, mutual love, respect, honor and good-will, governmental economy and utility, and interdependent protection based on the recognition that the highest idealism actuates the principals.

The shaft at Bunker Hill, Charlestown, stands as a testimonial to American valor and sense of justice, and to the other nations how not to govern their colonies.

The grandson of Colonel William Prescott, the son of Judge William Prescott, the celebrated historian William Hickling Prescott, forty-five years after the battle, in 1820, married Susannah Amory, the granddaughter of Captain John Linzee, and daughter of Thomas Coffin Amory and Hannah Rowe Linzee. From this alliance springs the romance of the crossed swords to be later recorded.

The great-nephew of General Joseph Warren, the son of Dr. John Collins Warren, leading surgeon of Boston in his times, James Sullivan Warren, seventy-one years after the battle, in 1846, married Elizabeth Tilden (Linzee) Green, the granddaughter of Captain John Linzee, and daughter of John Inman Linzee and Elizabeth Tilden.

The grandson of the patriot Paul Revere, the son of Joseph Warren Revere, John Revere, seventy-three years after the battle, in 1848, married Susan Tilden Torrey, the daughter of John Gore Torrey and Susan Linzee Tilden, and the great granddaughter of Captain John Linzee through his daughter Susannah Linzee the wife of Joseph Tilden.

By the marriage of Grace Linzee (Revere) Gross, the daughter of John Revere and Susan Tilden Torrey, to Sir William Osler, their son Edward Revere Osler is heir to an English title of nobility.

Immediately after the battle of Bunker Hill, General Gage was under the necessity of sending out his ships of war in search of food, to feed their crews and his troops on shore. These foraging expeditions generally seized what they could under the principle of deferred payment. Captain Linzee of the Falcon was assigned this duty, and his ship and name became a terror along the coast from Maine to New York: his seizures were often attended with fierce encounters, in which his tenders and barges occasionally met their match from the inhabitants along the seaboard.

On the 5 Aug. 1775, a barge load of his men was driven back by an ambuscade on Coffin's Beach in Ipswich Bay, where he attempted to gather in a herd of sheep grazing in the vicinity.

Three days later, on the 8 Aug., while manœuvering about Cape Ann, he espied, chased and captured one of two schooners from the West Indies bound for Salem, Mass.; the other he pursued into the harbor of Gloucester, where the Falcon, herself, could not safely enter. His attempt to capture the escaped schooner by barges and the captured vessel will now be described by Captain John Linzee himself, in a letter written by him to Vice Admiral Graves.

The citizens of Gloucester have held anniversaries of rejoicings on their successful repulse of his attack, which was, to say the least, hazardous and doubtful of success from the very commencement; but "nothing ventured, nothing gained", was his, should be and is always the motto in war.

TRUTH AT LAST.

Those who kept in reasonably close touch with the City Council affairs last year when the city had a mayor who dared to voice his individual opinion through the medium of a veto message or two, will perhaps call the fact that His Honor put his foot down severely upon the matter of celebrating the 125th anniversary of the Linzee's attack upon the town, giving as his reasons that the City Council had adopted the wrong date for the celebration. In his veto message, the mayor also mildly criticised the loose manner in which orders of various sorts were being drawn and then adopted without due consideration, simply because some one member of the City Council so requested.

The veto was one of the few which was not overridden, the City Council preferring to lay the order "on the table."

In the interest of historical accuracy City Clerk Somes, who had been among the first to suggest that a celebration be held, set on foot an investigation of records existing at various points, but his quest was barren of results, except in one case. At London, England, was discovered a letter written by Capt. Linzee in which was told the story of the attack upon the town and the manner in which the "rebels" resisted his fire, took his men prisoners and confiscated the long boat and other property, which later was sold for the benefit of the poor of the town.

The discovery of this letter set at rest all doubt upon the matter, and proves conclusively that Mayor Merchant was right in his claim that Aug. 8th should be the day of celebration, notwithstanding the fact that the Salem Gazette, a few days after the fight set the day as Aug. 9, while other authorities have claimed Aug. 13th as correct.

The correspondence upon the subject, with Capt. Linzee's letter, follows.

John J. Somes, Esq.,
City Clerk
Gloucester Massachusetts

Sir

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of October 27, communicating your desire to ascertain the date of Lindsay's attack upon your city in 1775.

The date was 8 August 1775. My vouchers for this statement are, Capt. John Linzee's letter (copy enclosed) from the Sloop "Falcon" of 10 August to Vice Admiral Graves, reporting his endeavor to capture two schooners and his attempt to set fire to the Town of Cape Ann. This letter has an endorsement on the back of its last page.

I also enclose a copy of one paragraph, being the only paragraph on the subject in Vice Admiral Samuel Graves' letter of 17 August 1775, 8 pages, on various subjects connected with the fleet under his command. In this letter the Admiral says he encloses a copy of the letter from Capt. Linzee.

In the Transcripts herewith spelling, capitals, abbreviations, punctuations and peculiarities are carefully followed. For the service in searching and transcribing these papers at the Public Record Office, Admiralty Division from Vol. 167, Nos. 15c and 15b, you may if you please send me seven dollars in greenbacks.

I gratefully acknowledge the compliment that J. J. Cartwright, Esq., FSA, pays me in commending an old Vermonter to crack this Massachusetts nut. Perhaps I may remind you that the Record Office has no detailed index of its great mass of Admirals Dispatches and Captains letters and hence the labour in searching for special subjects.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your Obedient Servant,

R. O. Admiralty, Vol. 167, No. 15c.

Falcon in Nantasket Road,

10 August 1775.

Sir:

I beg leave to inform you that on the 8th instant, cruizing off Cape Ann in His Majesty's Sloop under my Command, I discovered two schooners under sail standing for the shore, I made sail after them and very soon came up with the Stermost and detained her, the other got into Cape Ann Harbour whither I followed on my anchoring the same day, I sent Lieut. Thornborough with the Pinnance, Long boat and Jolly boat, Mann'd and arm'd in order to bring the Schooner out, the Master coming in from sea at the same time in a small tender I directed him to go and assist the Lieutenant.

When the Boats had passed a Point of Rocks that was between the Ship and Schooner they received a heavy fire from the Rebels who were hidden behind Rocks and Houses, and behind Schooners aground at Wharfs, but notwithstanding the heavy fire from the Rebels, Lieut. Thornborough boarded the schooner and was himself and three Men wounded from the Shore. On the Rebels firing on the Boats, I fired from the ship into the Town, to draw the Rebels from the Boats, I very soon observed the Rebels payed little attention to the firing from the Ship, and seeing their fire continued very heavy on the Schooner the Lieutenant had boarded, I made an attempt to set fire to the Town of Cape Ann, had I succeeded in — I flatter myself would have given the Lieutenant an opportunity of bringing the Schooner off, or have left her by the Boats — as the Rebels attention must have been to the fire — but an American, part of my complement (who had always been very active in our cause; set fire to the Powder before it was properly placed, our attempt to fire the Town not only failed but one of the Men was blowed up, and American deserted, a second attempt was made to set fire to the Town but did not succeed, the Rebels coming to the Fort obliged the four Men to leave it. I then began a second time to fire on the Town but the Houses being built of Wood could do no great damage — about 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Lieutenant was brought on board under Cover of the Master's fire from the Schooner, who could not leave her. All the boats were much damaged by Shot, and lay on the side of the schooner next the Rebels on my being made acquainted with the situation of the Master, I sent the Prize Schooner to anchor, a head of the Schooner the Master was in and veer alongside to take him and People away, who were very much exposed to the Rebels fire, but from want of an Officer to send in her it was not performed the Vessel not anchored properly — and as I apprehend the Master could not see any prospect of being assisted, and a heavy fire from the Rebels and Numbers coming to their assistance, delivered himself up about 7 in the Evening with the Gunner, fifteen seamen, Seven Marines, One Boy, and ten prest Americans. The Schooner I sent in to assist the Master, on his going ashore ran in and was retaken by the Rebels I am inclined to think the Company of the Schooner had been hid and took the opportunity of retaking the Vessel that was sent to assist the Master, after the Master was landed I found I could not do him any good, nor distress the Rebels by firing, I therefore left off. On this occasion the Rebels took the Pinnance Jolly boat, three Swivels, some small Arms, and two small Anchors with one Hawser, that was to wharp the Schooner out by. I remained at anchor till the following Morning and then Wharped out in order to proceed to this Place.

A few sentences from Vice Admiral's letter of 17 Aug.

“On the 10th instant The Falcon anchored in Nantasket Road, and I received a letter from Captain Linzee (a Copy of which is inclosed) giuing an ecount of unsuccessful attempt to take a large Schooner in Cape Annee Harbour and to destroy the Town and that he was obliged to come away, with the loss of two Boats his Master Gunner, sixteen seamen and seven Marines taken Prisoners, and his Lieutenant wounded.”

FIRST CHURCH — 250 ANNIVERSARY.

Gloucester Massachusetts.

This building was erected in 1828, on the site of the old Church which had been occupied for nearly one hundred years previously. On the 8th of Aug. 1775 Capt. Linzee, of the English Sloop-of-War Falcon, having been despoiled of two prizes and several barges of men by the inhabitants of this place, bombarded the town, making the old Church his principal mark. Several shots hit the church and one of the balls found embedded in a timber was placed in the wall where it had entered and remained there until the old building was taken down to give place to the new and present Church. The ball was preserved and afterwards suspended in the vestibule of the new church.

(James Murray, Loyalist, p. 256) The Capt., Mrs. Linzee and children, lately returned to this harbor, all are well, and so is George [Inman] now an ensign in the 17th Regiment, much esteemed in the army (Letter from James Murray, to Elizabeth Inman second wife of Ralph Inman. Dated New York, 7 Nov. 1776).

(p. 263) In June 19, 1777, Mrs. Linzee lived in the neighborhood of Long Island, opposite New York.

On the 8 Aug. 1778, the Falcon, commanded by Captain John Linzee at the Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775, was sunk off Newport, R. I., to prevent her capture by the French fleet under Admiral D'Estaing. She was then under the command of another captain. She has never been raised or explored.

HIST. MANUSCRIPTS COMM., 14TH REP., PART X: 450. INTELLIGENCE.

1777, Dec. 24. Off Mud Island, Delaware River, and 1778, Jan. 20., New York.

Extracts of a letter from J. or I. C. Considers it strange that the British Army should have done so little. Interview he has had with his friend Capt. John Linzee on the Pearl, who has satisfied him concerning the naval operations in the Delaware. Remarks that it is not a common thing for refugees to receive civilities from those in office; his opinion on the subject; those who have persevered in their loyalty are neglected, not being thought worthy of consideration. There are in North Carolina more Friends to Government than in the whole city of Philadelphia. Clamour caused by the paper currency. Sentiments upon the rebellion; lenity thrown away on this people. Expressions of Loyalty. Endorsed: Copy of a letter from I. C. to his Father.

By the Commissioners for Executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of Great Britain and Ireland &c. And of all His Majesty's Plantations, &c.

To Mr. John Linzee hereby appointed Captain of His Majesty's Ship the Pearl.

By Virtue of the Power and Authority to Us given, We do hereby constitute and appoint you Captain of His Majesty's Ship the Pearl. Willing and requiring you forthwith to go on board and take upon you the Charge and Command of Captain in her accordingly; Strictly Charging and Commanding all the Officers and Company of the said Ship to behave themselves jointly and severally, in their respective Employments, with all due Respect and Obedience unto you their said Captain, and you likewise to observe and execute the General Printed Instructions, and such Orders and Directions as you shall from time to time receive from Us, or any other your Superior Officers, for His Majesty's Service. Hereof nor you nor any of you may fail as you will answer the Contrary at your Peril; And for so doing this shall be your Warrant: GIVEN under our hands and the Seal of the Office of Admiralty this Sixth day of August 1779. In the Nineteenth Year of His Majesty's Reign.

THE ROYAL NAVY, BY WM. LAIRD CLOWES.

(III: 406, N.) Capt John Linzee was in command of the Pearl of 32 guns and 220 men, under Vice-Admiral Lord Howe on the Eagle of 64 guns and 522 men, in Howe's cruise to hold the French fleet under Admiral D'Estaing in American waters.

With an inferior force, Howe, in one campaign, saved the British fleet, by not engaging except under conditions suitable to himself, and protected the city of New York and portions of the State of Rhode Island, where the British army was divided between these two posts and dependent for their position upon the sea. This was an achievement unsurpassed in the annals of naval defensive warfare.

(III: 520) Capt. John Linzee (not in the action) of the Santa Monica of 36 guns, was with the British fleet under Admiral Sir George Brydges Rodney in the line of battle of the 12 Apr. 1782, against the French Admiral De Grasse.

(IV: 112) Jan 21, 1782. The Santa Monica, Capt. John Linzee of 36 guns was wrecked off Tortola.

[Evidently the Santa Monica escaped destruction by shipwreck, if she was in the fleet with Rodney, in Apr. 1782].

From family tradition, Captain John Linzee was in command of the Pearl on the 9 Nov. 1777, and was present in a naval engagement on the Delaware River, his wife being on board during the action.

In 1779 he was at the island of the Barbadoes with his wife, where his fourth child was born; he then returned to England, and resided at No. 8 Great George Street Plymouth with his family from 1781 to 1788, but it is certain that he saw some active service during this interval, as shown by the account of Wm. Laird Clowes.

Captain Linzee [probably John], late of the Thetis, who lost his ship in going to the defence of St. Lucia. (Navy Records Soc., Letters of Sir Samuel Hood, edited by David Hannay, p. 23).

Captain John Linzee commanded His Majesty's Ship the Penelope from 4 Dec. 1788 to 1791-2. On the 9 Sept. 1790, he sailed with her into the harbor of Boston, Mass., and there fired probably the first salute in New England waters to the flag of the United States of America. He then sailed for Halifax in 1791, after recovering from a severe illness, but he returned to Boston in Feb. 1792, when the death of his wife in Oct. of that year, caused him to resign from the British Navy and to settle permanently in America. The Penelope was the last man-of-war commanded by him. His sons Samuel Hood Linzee and John Inman Linzee were with him during the salute in Boston harbor. The elder son remained in the British Navy, and returned to England in 1791 to follow his naval career; but the younger son resigned from the navy with his father and went to school in Boston.

In 1793, Joseph Tucker of Dartmouth, Co. Bristol, sued Captain John Linzee for non-payment for sheep, taken by Linzee on the 1 May 1775 for the use of the British navy, this debt was paid by Captain Linzee out of his own private purse, and there is no evidence that he was ever reimbursed on this account by the English government.

In 1794, his wife's aunt Hannah Rowe appeared to be displeased with him on account of his occupancy of her Essex Street mansion in Boston, but this disagreement was of short duration, as the love and affection between Mrs. Rowe and Captain John Linzee and his children existed through life and found a lasting expression in the distribution of her property by her will. He retired to Milton, Mass., where he resided in a house, still in existence, not far from the present bridge over the Neponset River.

Captain John Linzee's death in 1798 was a sad blow to his motherless children, but their great-aunt Mrs. Hannah Rowe cared for them as her own.

LETTER FROM JOSEPH WILLARD TO JOHN INMAN LINZEE.

Boston June 1 1858

My dear Mr. Linzee

I send you this interesting little relie of your mother, which no one can appreciate equally with yourself. It gives me great pleasure to have this opportunity. As time recedes, we seize with more and more of fond affection every memorial that connects us with beloved parents and friends who have gone to their rest.

This letter of a pleasant girl written to her most intimate friend, who was so soon to experience like adverse circumstances from father and mother, only shows how futile are all bars and oppositions when the "young folks" are determined.

With the kindest regards from Mrs. Willard and myself to Mrs. Linzee and your daughter as well as to yourself

I remain

Faithfully yours

Joseph Willard

Mr. John Linzee

This letter of Joseph Willard was sent to my father and contained one from his mother to her intimate friend Lucy Flucker, who married General Knox of the American forces. (Statement by John William Linzee.)

LETTER FROM SUSANNAH LINZEE TO HER STEPMOTHER
MRS. RALPH INMAN.

For Mrs. Inman at Cambridge near Boston.

London November 28 1772

My Dear Mama.

As you have been in this great City I think you cannot be Surprised at my telling you That I do not like., had I a fortune Large Enough To Support me here in the greatest Splendor & to See Every thing that is worth seeing, I would not live in London. — a polite Life dear Madam would not do For me. they never pretend to breakfast till 11 o'Clock. Never think of Dinner till Candle Light. You may Sopose it is very Late before bed time. in short Day Is turned in to night & night into Day. Since I Wrote my Aunt's Letter we are removed From Mr. Lane's House to Lodging. for notwithstanding Mr. Lane's great Civility to us. our being their could not but be very Illconvenient bouth to him and us. his house is but small And when Mrs. Lane comes to town his Family will be Large. & as Capt Linzee thought it would be very Uncertain how long we should remain in town as he Must have Stayed till the arrival of Lord Sandwich He thought it was best to take Lodgings Mr. Lane Did not like our leaving his house. he has been very Kind & I shall allways Acknowledge it., we are In Exceeding good Lodgings & in a good part of the town. my Lord Sandwich Came to town last Tuesday therefore we shall not Stay many Days here. as soon as Capt. Linzee Has seen him we shall leave London. & I believe it will Be next Tuesday. we shall first go & Spend a few Days with my Uncle George Inman. & then Proceed To Plymouth, where I do not doubt of spending a Very agreeable Winter. & what will make it more so is The pleasing Expectation, I hope to have of going to America in the Spring the thoughts of that will Make every thing here agreeable & Cleaver. I want Nothing Dear Mama to make me more happy But a sight of my Dear Friends. till I left them I did not know how much I loved them & may I Hope it is the same with them, should my being from Them make me less Dear to them it would make Me more unhappy than they can Imagine. please To tell my Dear George & Sally that they must Excuse my writing to them from London as I really have not time. their Letter will be of a very Old date as they was wrote before I left Portsmouth. I almost begin to Despair of ever hearing from Boston when I heard the Sultanna Scooner was Arrived. I did hope to have Letters, but was Disappointed But that I hope will not be the Case again. I Shall now Conclude this Letter with beging you to Give my Sincere regards to Miss Murry's & miss Day not forgetting Good Mrs. Hooper who I hope Is now very happy with Mr. Palmer. may she

Long be so for she is very Deserving of it. pray Give my Affectionate Love to George & Sally & believe me to be Dear Madam with great respect

MRS. RALPH INMAN.

Mrs. Inman at Cambridge near Boston New England

Plymouth Dock March 28 1773

My ever Dear Mama,

Permit me to return you my Sincere thanks for your kind Letter, which I have received with the greatest pleasure, I will if Possible describe to you my Behaveiour at the Receipt of those kind Letters, which gives me so much Satisfaction, it was the twenty second day of this month, (which I dare say my Friends rememberd was my birth day), it was about Eight oclock in the morning an hour that the family general goes to breakfast. Imagine Dear Madam what must be my joy when the Servant came in with a great bundle of Letters and said they was from Boston. I had hardly patients to wait till they was oppend, but with a trembling hand & eyes streeming with tears of joy ran to my Chamber & there was I for several hours reading the dear Epistles, but you would have Laught my dear Mama had you seen me for I first took up one Letter & read it half through then took up another & so on, but how shall I Express my feelings when reading my dear Papa & Aunt's Letter, every word was so Affectionate that I would have given the world to have been near them that I might on my knees have thanked them for their Goodness to me, but I will by my Behaveiour Endeavour to deserve it.

You tell me in your kind Letter not to preswade Capt. Linzee to Settle in England, no my dear Mama depend upon it I shall not, for though I like my Friends here & Indeed have all the reason in the world so to do, yet it is with you & my dear Father, Uncle, Aunt, Brother & Sister, that I wish to Settle with & I cannot help Indulging myself with the pleasing Expectation that we shall one day or other set our selvs down at Boston or Cambridge, my dear Capt. Linzee often gives me these hopes, hopes that I am willing to Indulge, & as he loves my Friends as well as he does his own, & likes America much better then he does England, I think I may Indulge myself without much fear of a Disappointment.

I am my dear Mama very uneasy about that Complaint of my Aunt's I know of no one that can have more Influence on her then you, use my dear Madam, your utmost power, to perswade her to take some good Advice, get her as much as possible out in the Country, I wish she would ride a horseback for her Friends sake as well as her own, she ought to take care of herself. Indeed mama I never knew till since I left her how dear she is to me, I am happy to hear my Uncle's Leg is got well again. I was afraid it would Confine him a long time, when we are from our Friends, we are much more anxious about them, then if we was with them, experience tells me this, & I am certain to Lose a Friend & to be absent from them, would be a double sorrow, what pleasure do you give me when you tell me my dear Papa is happy, may it be Uninterrupted, who my dear Mama deserves to be happy, without it is those who Endeavours to make every one Else so, that you know was always my Papa's Study, — I find my brother George is still with my Aunt. I doubt not but his Amiable temper. & good Behaveiour, will Endear him to all his Friends, that it may is my Earnest wish, this I am certain that his love for his dear Parents & Friends, will make him do all in his power to make them happy, as to my dear Sally, if she Improves in every thing as she does in her writeing, she will be what her Friends wishes her, & I dare say she does, tell her my dear Mama, not to hang her Lip, because I did not write her a long Letter, but I intend it soon. — I find my Friend Sally Gould has been to spend a few days with you, she is a Good Girl, I have a Sincere regard for her. I was very Glad when I heard Betsy Murry was staying at Cambridge as I know Sally will be very happy with her, please to give my Love & good wishes to her. I intend writeing to her by the mast Ship Capt Brown, who sails from Portsmouth for America, the begining of May, by him I shall answer the young Ladies obigeing Letter had I time I would by this Packet. Capt. Linzee desires his best Love to you, George & sally he writes to my Papa & to George if he has time. you will see by my Aunt's letter that he has been ill, but he is thank God geting better, his Father & Sisters sends their Love & Good wishes to you & all the family. I am with great respect dear Mama

Your Affec^{onate} Daughter

Susan^h Linzee

On another paper is a continuation of the above letter, for on the back of said paper Capt. Linzee's writing calls it "Mrs. S. Linzee's Letter March 28 1773."

I have just heard that Capt. Brown in the Mast Ship has put in here for Governer Pen who is going out Passinger to New York. as Capt. Brown is well known to bouth my Uncle & Papa. I shall give him Letters to all my Friends. I thought by this time he was half way to America as he wrote Capt. Linzee that he should sail in May. Indeed you will see by my letters that whent in the may Packet that I intended to send them by him, but Capt. Linzee thought they would be received as soon as if they whent by him. as the above mentioned Governer Pen is not here yet it is uncertain how long he will wait for him, but I shall take care & get all my Letters ready.

adieu my Dear Mamma

Yours S. L.

Capt Linzee Joins in love & Duty to you.

Note: — The last paper is the wrapper of the previous letter and has a seal of black wax. This seal is destroyed in its upper section, the lower section is intact and has a small standing lion, same as a lion rampart, in a field of arrowheads, or crosses, or ermine. To the left in the border is an eight-pointed star. The border consists of a scroll. It is evident that this shield is the bottom of a crest on another letter, dated Plymouth Dock Apr. 28, 1773.

Plymouth Dock April 28 1773

My ever Dear Mamma,

I am afraid you will begin to think me a very troublesome Correspondent. but in truth I had rather you should entertain such an opinion of me then be thought wanting in that love and respect which is due to one who I shall ever Honour as an own Mother, and such my Dear Madam, shall I ever look upon you . . . next Month we shall look out for Capt Jacobson who I hope to see as soon as he arrives, that I may make Inquires about all my dear Friends. Indeed that is not the only pleasure I expect, for I am certain all my friends, will write me by him, that is Enough to make me Impatient for his arrival, . . . what whould I give if you was all in England now to see how Beautiful every thing looks Especially the Country. I whent the other day to the most delightfull place I ever saw in my Life, every person who knows any thing of the west Country, must have heard of Mount Edgecumbe the seat of my Lord Edg-cumbe it is not for such a pen as mine to describe the beauties of that place the Parks, the Groves, the Grottos, the Gardens, the walks, are all beyond Imagination, but I shall say no more of it at present, I hope my dear Mamma will Excuse the shortness of this letter, as I have nothing more worth trobleing her with. the whole family send their love & best wishes to you, please to give mine to all the Girls. & all that Inquire after me I am my ever Dear Mamma with great respect.

Your affectionate Daughter

S. Linzee

Note: — On the back of this letter, where the address is written, there is a crest or seal on black wax. Crest a griffin's head with a curved beak and a slightly protruding tongue, below a blank space, at the lower edge of which, with a magnifying glass, a faint impression occurs of a lion rampart, same as on seal of letter dated Plymouth Dock March 28 1773. To the left in the same position as in the other seal is an eight-pointed star in the border or scroll. The border is a handsome scroll extending around the base and the two sides.

LETTER FROM SUSANNAH LINZEE TO MISS SALLY INMAN.

Pounds June 26th 1773

For Miss Sally Inman

My ever Dear Sister

With what pleasure do I resume my pen to thank my dear Sally for her affectionate letter dated April 14th which I received with the same pleasing Satisfaction that I always do when I hear of the well being of a sister whom I sincerely love & one who's Happiness I have as much at heart as mine own. As you my Dear Girl are well convinced of my regard for you it is easier for you to Imagine when I describe the joy it gives me to hear from all my Friends of the Improvement you make in your writeing, reading, sifering &° continue my dear girl as you have begun. how happy will it make our Dear Dear Friends consider this my Dear Amiable Sally & strive to please the best of parents by your ready obedience to do what ever is their will & pleasure, then will you find a Satisfaction within yourself. Ah my Dear what an inexpressable pleasure will it be to you some few years hence if you can say to yourself I have never once offended my father nor my mother nor yet one of my friends. I am convinced no one can be truly happy that ever did. I my Dearest sister have only one thing to reflect upon myself & even that gives me the greatest Concern & that is I always was too reserved to Papa to my Aunt when with them I seldom entered into Conversation & what was it from (youll say) believe me not from want of Affection for I never, never wanted for that tho' I did not show it in the manner I ought to have done & I entreat you my sweet Girl not to do the same, on the contrary, Communicate your most secret thoughts to you Dear Father, Mother, or Aunt. your affection for them must be

JOHN INMAN LINZEE

Equal therefore it is of no Consequence which you make your Confident treat them my Sally more like Companions then any thing Else. be always Chearfull & happy when in their company as I am sure I shall be when I return to them again. that it may be next summer is my most Earnest wish. with what inexpressable joy shall I fly to the arms of my beloved Friends who I have no reason to doubt will receive me with equal pleasure.— I join with you my Dear in thinking Capt Montagu very impertinent to ask you such a question at the concert as he did. I Suppose it was only by the way of saying something to you. — I find you have not yet begun to Learn upon the Spinnit but I Imagin you will this Summer. dont my dear do as your sister did before you after having learnd some time to neglect it. I hope you will Emprove in that as you do in every thing Else. I am much pleased with your Letters for tho' short I think them Cleaver. Continue my Dear Girl your obligeing Correspondence. let me know everything that happens among you who gets Married who diys & any thing to fill up a Letter.— I find our Dear George is at Mr. Brimmers. I am happy that he eats & sleeps at my Uncle Rowe's how great are my wishes for his Happiness I believe never was Sister loved her Brother more then I do that dear boy. but stop Sally shant I offend him by writeing boy for I forget I have been away ten long months by this he is out grown his Sister a head I dare say, well my dear if you show him this Letter you must clap your finger over it, or stay, I will cross it with my pen. I often Fancy myself in one corner of the room & see you & George talking together & I suppose your Subject may turn upon your absent Brother & Sister who I Assure you often sets hours talking of you & wishing to see you. your Brother is much better then when I wrote you last & I am in great hopes that a little time will restore his health & with it my peace of mind. what must I feel my dear Sally to see the man I love & one who does every thing in his power to make your Sister happy. think my dear what I suffer to see him in pain. but since we have been in the country he is much better, therefore I will dwell no longer on the meloncoly subject. your spirits my dear are so good that I think it a pity to damp them. you have an affectionate heart which I know would Sympathize with any one in distress. — I yesterday wrote a letter to my friend Capt. Jacobson to know when he sails for dear Boston & at the same time to ask him to come to Plymouth if possible before he goes. I am in hopes he will as my Aunt wrote me that he said he would come three hundred miles to see me & it is not that from hear to London. I need not say how happy I should be to see one who has so lately been at Boston & one who has always been like one of our own family as you know Capt Jacobson is but wether he comes here or not I shall send him a whole Cargo of Letters for all my Friends, so your Friend Miss Jones Corresponds with Papa I think she made a good Choice in her Correspeondant I am glad she is not going to have Mr. Porter as I think him too old for her. I dare say she will get some Cavilrier For one. — I suppose you & Miss Montagu are very great friends pray give my love to her & to Miss French not forgetting my old Friends the Miss Cummins my kind love to Mary Murry & Company & to Betch Murry who by this I suppose is at brush hill.

Suky Linzee talks every day of writing to you, but I dont know when she will make it out, for she does not like wrieting however I shall one day or other try good Mrs. Hood's scheem, lock her up in her Chamber. I think my dear you will be tired enough before you get half through this letter I love to try your patience sometimes if you should happen to receive it just as you are going to some ball or party read three lines then whip goes the poor letter in to your pocket, but take care my dear dont drop it out for I am sure if any one was to see the writing they would say Capt Linzee should put me to writing school I have got such a trick lately of writing carelessly that I now cannot get the better of it & if I begin a letter tolerable well before I get half through away goes my pen again & in short I have so much to say that before I can tell one thing I have a thousand comes into my head, but I will not intrude too long upon your patience but hasten to conclude this long & I fear teadious Letter. I must first tell you that the whole family send their kind love to you & your brother in particlar I wish my dear you would write to him it would give him a vast pleasure, by this you have received his letter which he wrote to you by the April Packet give my kind love to good mother Ashley tell her I long to see her & all the other servants Farewell my dear my ever much loved Sally believe me to be most truely your Affectionate & loving Sister till Death

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE TO MRS. ROWE.

Portsmouth April 15. 1788

My dear Madam:

I came here from London this morning on my way for Plymouth and on meeting Callahan here, I thought it a proper opportunity to say I left George and Family perfectly well yesterday. I have placed him in such a manner that I bless God he is out of difficulties, they will sail for Grenada on the 17 instant. I can assure you my dear Madam, that from recommendations that I have got for him, I have not the least doubt but he will very soon hold two or three appointments. Your Bill in favor of George for 50L on Champion and Dickason came yesterday before I left London. I have it in lieu of the money I paid for you to George, the Bill is duly accepted. I have advanced Three Hundred and forty Pounds Sterling for George, it is a very great matter to my large family, when I get to Plymouth you shall have every particular circumstance from my dear Susan and self, I received a Letter from her this morning of the 13th. she and the seven children I bless God are perfectly well. With proper respects to my Father I am my dear Madam

MRS. HANNAH ROWE.

By the New York packet that sails in January 1789.

To Mrs. Hannah Rowe at Boston New England North America.

Plymouth January 4. 1789

My dear Madam: —

I know it will give you pleasure to know from a certainty that we are coming, therefore I write you, to say on the fourth of December I hoisted my Pendant as Captain of His Majesty's Penelope of Thirty two Guns. and am now nearly ready to Sail for Halifax — but do not intend Sail till the first Week in March, as the Season will be more favorable — The Ship is the finest in the Navy, quite New, and fitted agreeable to my desire, to accomodate my dear Susan, and flock — I shall write you a few words by the March one, if I do not Sail before the first Wednesday in March — If any Vessels should sail for Halifax, from Boston, after the first of April, write us to Halifax — you will not have time to write to England — As Susan has wrote by this Packet, I shall now conclude with saying it will give me very much pleasure to see you, and I am My dear Madam most faithfully and Affectionately

Your Nephew

John Linzee

P.S. I hope my Susan will be up at Boston, and in the House you are so good as to us to be in — before she is brought to Bed — To cross the Old field will make it comfortable to Visit each other.

LETTER FROM THE EARL OF SANDWICH TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.

Hertford Street, Feb: 6: 1789.

Sir:

Mr. Sampson Bromley who I understand is so fortunate as to belong to your ship, is the son of my particular friend L^d Mountfort in consequence of which I have his wellfare much at heart; I therefore I hope I shall be excused the liberty I take in recommending him to your favour, and adding that any kindness you are so good as to show him will be acknowledged as a high obligation conferred on

Your most obedient & most humble servant

Sandwich.

His Britannic Majesty's Ship
the Penelope off Boston Light House
Septem. 9th. 1790.

Sir:—

I have the honor to inform your Excellency that I intend anchoring in the Harbor of Boston with His Britannic Majesty's Ship Penelope under my command.— And I am further to observe to your Excellency, that I shall Salute the Colours of the United States of America, with thirteen Guns — provided your Excellency will by letter assure me, that the same number of Guns, from the Guns of the Castle, shall be returned immediately after my thirteenth Gun being fired.

My exceeding ill State of Health will prevent me the honor of waiting on you for this day or two; But so soon as my health will admit, I shall do myself that honor.— And I am with every possible respect and esteem, Your Excellency's

Most obedient and very humble

John Linzee

To His Excellency
John Hancock Esqr.
&c. &c. &c.

In conversation with my father, John Inman Linzee, I distinctly remember hearing him make the statement that, when a lad, he was on board ship with his father during a salute of guns. The salute referred to is probably the one recorded in the letter written by Capt. John Linzee to Gov. John Hancock, on the 9 Sept. 1790, for later my father was a midshipman on the Penelope. (Statement by John William Linzee).

The answer of Gov. Hancock in regards to this salute cannot be found, yet he must have agreed to Capt. Linzee's request, as the Penelope entered the harbor of Boston, and sailed away again on the 17 September, but without her commander, who was left behind, "lying very dangerously ill of a fever at his house in this town". (1) After his recovery he rejoined his ship, for in a letter dated Penelope, Halifax Jan. 12 1791, addressed to Herman Brimmer Esqr. Boston, he wrote: "but I cannot conclude without first telling you my two Sons with self are in perfect health by the blessing of God." The two sons referred to were Samuel Hood Linzee, afterwards Admiral in the Royal Navy, and John Inman Linzee; from the latter all the Boston Linzee's are descended.

(1) Massachusetts Centinel, 18 Sept. 1790.

LETTER FROM CAPT. JOHN LINZEE TO HERMAN BRIMMER.

For

Herman Brimmer Esqr.

Boston

New England

By Post from New York

Penelope, Halifax, January

Wednesday 12. 1791. 5 P.M.

My dear Sir: —

About half an hour since the Schooner Chatham arrived and brought me your favor of the 6 Inst. accompanied with a saddle of Venison, for each, I now by way of New York, by the Brig Rose, request your acceptance of thanks — The letters inclosed me, I read, and forwarded as approved, I have not the least doubt of your obtaining the greater part of the business from Lence — Thompson communicated to me what he had wrote his friends in England on your behalf — Levie has assured me he will call on you when he has business at Boston —

Gregory Townshend looks out sharp for G. — so probably I may lay, as the Sailor says an Anchor to Windward of him — and depend on it I will if I can serve you — as the Vessel this goes by is now with her Sails loose, and Brymer has assured me She will Sail allmost immediately, to save distance I am compel'd to make short — but I cannot conclude without first, telling you my two Sons with self are in perfect health by the blessing of God — and with every good wish to you they join with my dear Sir.

Your very Sincere

John Linzee

P.S. I shall leave this same time in February for Boston. — By this Vessel I have wrote two Letters to Mrs. Linzee, & one by a Sloop that Sailed this morning.

Capt. Linzee's letter rec'd Feb. 7, 91.

LETTER FROM JN^o. S. RICHARDS TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.Nemesis Leghorn Road Nov^r. 23^d. 1794.

Dear Sir: —

With a heart pregnant with thanks, for your kind attention to me at all times, I embrace the opportunity that now offers of paying my respects to you, and to acquaint you that in consequence of my name being mentioned by Captain Linzee to my Lord Hood and a recollection of your kind recommendation of me some time since; he removed me from Secretary of the Adjutant General of the Fleet to be Purser of the Mozelle, (a Sloop of War), at the same time gave me two other appointments on Shore at Corsica, since which, he has agreeable to wish of Captain Linzee appointed me to the Nemesis, the pleasure of which appointment is better felt than describ'd, and it adds still more to our pleasure having Mr. J. Wooldridge our 2^d Lieut^t. Lord Hood's attention to Captain Linzee has been on all occasions very great, and I am to a certainty confident he is highly pleased with his conduct as a Seaman & an Officer. We sail to morrow for the Levant in Company with L'Aigle Captain Samuel Hood, and Tisiphone Cap't Turner.

With earnest prayers for your health I am dear sir your faithfull and devoted Servant.

Jn^o S. Richards

May I beg to be remembered to Miss Linzee and such of the Family as recollect me.

Barnstable, ss. COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

At the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, begun and holden at Barnstable within the County of Barnstable, and for the Counties of Barnstable & Dukes County on the Wednesday next preceding the third Tuesday of May (being the fifteenth day of said month) Anno Domini, 1793. . . .

Tucker JOSEPH TUCKER, of Dartmouth within our County of
 v. Bristol, Yeoman, appellant, v. John Linzee, now resi-Linzee dent at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, Esquire, Appel-lee, from the judgment of a Court of Common Pleas held at Barnstable in and for the County of Barnstable, on the first Tuesday of November last, when and where the appellant was Plaintiff and the appellee was defendant — in a plea of the Case — for that at a place called Elizabeth Island vizt. at said Barnstable on the first day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand, seven hundred and seventy five a discourse was held between the said Linzee and the Plaintiff concerning the said Linzee's purchasing of the Plaintiff two hundred and seven sheep, and it was then and there agreed between the said Linzee and the Plaintiff that he the said Plaintiff should sell and deliver to the said Linzee the said two hundred and seven sheep, without the wool and that the said Linzee should pay to the plaintiff the sum of twelve shillings Lawful money, for each and every one of the sheep so delivered and the Plaintiff avers that there afterwards on the same day he did sell and deliver to the said Linzee the said two hundred and seven sheep according to the tenor of the said agreement whereby the said Linzee became liable and obliged to pay to the Plaintiff the sum of one hundred and twenty four pounds, four shillings, Lawful money, on demand and in Consideration thereof then and there promised the Plaintiff so to do: and for that the said Linzee there afterwards on the same day in Consideration that the Plaintiff had before that time sold and delivered to him at his special request other two hundred and seven sheep than those above mentioned but of the same kind with the wool of the sheep, promised the Plaintiff to pay him therefor so much money as the same were reasonably worth on demand, which the Plaintiff avers to be another sum of one hundred and eighty six pounds, six shillings, Lawful money, and for that the said Linzee there afterwards on the same day in Consideration that the Plaintiff had before that time sold and delivered to him at his request the wool of the two hundred and seven sheep other than those above mentioned promised the Plaintiff to pay him therefor so much money as the same was reasonably worth on demand which the Plaintiff avers to be another sum of sixty two pounds, two shillings, Lawful money yet tho' often requested the said Linzee hath never paid either of said sums but refuses to do it: to the damage of the said Tucker, as he saith, the sum of one hundred and fifty pounds. At which said Court of Common Pleas upon the demurrer there Judgment was rendered that the said John Linzee recover against the said Joseph Tucker costs of suit. And now the parties appear and the said John Linzee by William Tudor, Esq. his attorney comes &c and prays Judgment of this honorable Court whether they will proceed any further in the cause here, and that the same may be moved for trial into the next Circuit Court to be holden in the District of Massachusetts on the seventh day of June next, because he saith that at the time of the service of said Writ and always before and ever since hath been and now is a Subject of the King of Great Britain, and not a citizen of this Commonwealth and that the Plaintiff in said Action is a Citizen of this Commonwealth, and that the matter in dispute exceeds the value of five hundred Dollars exclusive of Costs. Wherefore he prays Judgment as aforesaid, and petitions this Court here that said action may be removed for trial into the next Circuit Court to be holden in the district of Massachusetts on the seventh day of June next, and here offers good and sufficient sureties for his entering in such Court on the first day of its Session, Copies of said Process against him & of his appearance there to answer the same. Which motion was overruled by the Court and the said demurrer being waived and the issue as tendered at said Court of Common Pleas and on file being joined, the Case after a full hearing is Committed to a Jury sworn according to Law to try the same who return their verdict therein upon oath, that is to say, they "find the appellee promised in manner and form as the appellant in his Writ against him hath alledged and assess damages for the appellant for the Breach thereof, in the sum of one hundred and fifty pounds: "IT IS THEREFORE CONSIDERED BY THE COURT that the said Joseph Tucker, recover against the said John Linzee, the sum of one hundred and fifty pounds, Lawful money, damage, and Cost taxed at L 8 ,, 9 ,, 2. —

THE CROSSED SWORDS
 TABLET IN THE ROOMS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE CROSSED SWORDS.

(The following statement accompanied the tablet).

History now concedes the fact that Colonel William Prescott was the commander of the American Forces at the Battle of Bunker Hill. It is well to bear in mind that this action was not fought with the same military regard for details which prevailed at a later period, when the army had been thoroughly re-organized, and its management reduced to a definite system. To a certain extent the battle was a democratic fight; and every man there having a common interest in the struggle did his best to bring about the desired result, without much thought of strict military rules. The various orders did not always go through regular channels; but it is a matter of history that Colonel Prescott was ordered by General Ward to fortify Bunker Hill, — or Breed's Hill, which is the same for my purpose. The field of operations was on Massachusetts soil, and the command naturally would go to a Massachusetts officer. Before the event the chief actors never dreamed that on the result would turn the history of nations and even of the world; but such was the fact. A period of doubt and uncertainty among the patriots followed, and it took time to straighten out the lines of future action and to fill up the gaps in the plan.

The Battle proved to be the corner stone on which was founded our political government, now a world-wide power.

Before the action on that memorable Seventeenth, the British vessels were moored at various points in front of the Charlestown peninsula, where their services might be needed. The sloop-of-war "Falcon" was anchored off Moulton's Point, a short distance up the Mystic River, above the site of the Navy Yard. Its special duty was to coöperate with the "Lively," and thus to cover the landing of the English troops. The commander of the "Falcon" was Captain John Linzee, and it is to him equally that my story relates, as well as to Colonel William Prescott. Three years later, on August 8, 1778, his vessel was sunk off Newport, Rhode Island, in order to prevent its capture by the French fleet under Admiral D'Estaing. The sword carried by the commander of the American Forces at the Battle of Bunker Hill, was kept for years in the Prescott family and was treasured as a priceless relic; and the same might be said of the other sword worn in that action by the captain of the "Falcon," equally valued as a family heritage. Forty-five years afterward, owing to the vicissitudes of human affairs, the grandson of Colonel Prescott, — who was William Hickling Prescott, the distinguished author and historian, — became engaged to the granddaughter of Captain Linzee, and was duly married; and thus these two emblems of warfare, though not beaten into ploughshares, were brought into the same household and turned into silent symbols of peace. The time had been when the owners of these weapons would have used them with a deadly thrust against each other; but coming down as family heirlooms, through regular channels of descent and matrimonial alliance, they lost all hostile spirit and were as innocent as children's toys. The peaceful man of letters had the two swords placed in a conspicuous position in his library, where they hung crossed; and he was always ready to tell the story of these ancestral memorials.

In his opening chapter to "The Virginians," Thackeray, referring to the trophies, begins: — "On the library wall of one of the most famous writers of America, there hang two crossed swords, which his relatives wore in the great War of Independence. The one sword was gallantly drawn in the service of the king, the other was the weapon of a brave and honoured republican soldier. The possessor of the harmless trophy has earned for himself a name alike honoured in his ancestors' country and his own, where genius such as his has always a peaceful welcome."

The swords are now in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society, where they were given on April 14, 1859; and a full account of the presentation is found in the Proceedings (IV. 258-266) of the Society under that date. A poem entitled "The Crossed Swords," written for the occasion by the Reverend Nathaniel L. Frothingham, D.D., also appears in the same volume (pp. 284, 285).

. . . The tablet, to which the swords are affixed, was given by Henry A. Whitney; and its length is about sixty-three inches.

In the possession of his great grandson, John Torrey Linzee of Boston, Mass., rests the battle sword worn by Captain John Linzee, commander of the British sloop of war Falcon at the Battle of Bunker Hill. The sword of Captain Linzee crossed with that of Colonel William Prescott, commander of the American forces in that battle, on a tablet in the rooms of the Massachusetts Historical Society, is his dress sword, which was given by his son John Inman Linzee to the historian, William Hickling Prescott, who married Susannah Amory, the niece of the said John Inman Linzee, as he desired to cross it on the walls of his library with the sword of his grandfather, the said Colonel William Prescott.

Thus these two trophies of war have become trophies of romance, and of an united love, ever remindful of the laying aside of enmity between two English speaking people. The thoughtfulness and poetic nature of William Hickling Prescott gave birth to this international moral hidden in the romance of his marriage, and the swords borne by bitter enemies now lie peacefully side by side, representing the clasped hands of Great Britain and the United States of America.

Mr. Gardiner, when he presented the swords to the Massachusetts Historical Society, referred to them as, "an emblem, let us hope, of perpetual peace between kindred nations".

FROM THE LIFE OF WILLIAM HICKLING PRESCOTT BY GEORGE TICKNOR, APPENDIX B.

THE CROSSED SWORDS.

Colonel William Prescott, the grandfather of the historian, — died in 1795. Captain John Linzee, grandfather of the historian's wife, was born at Portsmouth [should be Portsea], England, in 1743, but, establishing himself in the United States after the war of the Revolution was over, died at Milton, near Boston, in 1798. In process of time, the swords of these two opposing commanders came by transmission and inheritance to the historian, and were by him arranged, first over one of the bookcases in his quiet study in Bedford Street, and afterwards on the cornice of his library in Beacon Street. In either place the sight was a striking one, and generally attracted the attention of strangers. Mr. Thackeray, whose vigilant eye did not fail to notice it when he visited Mr. Prescott, in 1852, thus alludes to it very happily in the opening of his "Virginians," published six years later:

"On the library-wall of one of the most famous writers of America there hang two crossed swords, which his relatives wore in the great war of Independence. The one sword was gallantly drawn in the service of the king, the other was the weapon of a brave and honored republican soldier. The possessor of the harmless trophy has earned for himself a name alike honored in his ancestors' country and in his own, where genius like his has always a peaceful welcome."

By the thirteenth article of Mr. Prescott's will he provided for the disposition of these swords as follows: —

"The sword which belonged to my grandfather, Colonel William Prescott, worn by him in the battle of Bunker Hill, I give to the Massachusetts Historical Society, as a curiosity suitable to be preserved among their collections; and the sword which belonged to my wife's grandfather, Captain Linzee, of the British Royal Navy, who commanded one of the enemy's ships lying off Charlestown during the same battle, I give to my wife."

As Mrs. Prescott, and the other heirs of Captain Linzee, desired that the swords should not be separated, Mr. Gardiner, who was Mr. Prescott's executor, sent them both to the Historical Society, accompanied by an interesting letter addressed to the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, its President, and to be found, dated April 19th, 1859, in the volume of the "Proceedings" of that Society published in 1860, pp. 258-264.

Resolutions offered by Mr. Winthrop were unanimously adopted, directing the swords to be arranged in a conspicuous place in the halls of the Society, crossing each other, as they had been crossed in Mr. Prescott's library, and with suitable inscriptions setting forth their history and the circumstances of their reception.

A Tablet of black-walnut was, therefore, prepared, to which they now stand attached, crossed through a carved wreath of olive-leaves; while over them are two shields, leaning against each other, and bearing respectively the Prescott and the Linzee arms.

On the right, next to the hilt of Colonel Prescott's sword, is the following inscription: —

The sword
COLONEL WILLIAM PRESCOTT, worn by him while in command of the Provincial forces at the Battle of Bunker Hill,
17 June, 1775,
and bequeathed to the Massachusetts Historical Society
by his grandson
William H. Prescott.

On the left, next to the hilt of Captain Linzee's sword, is the following inscription: —

CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE, R.N., who commanded the British sloop-of-war "Falcon" while acting against the Americans during the Battle of Bunker Hill, presented to the Massachusetts Historical Society,
14 April, 1859,
by his grandchildren
Thomas C. A. Linzee
and
Mrs. William H. Prescott.

On two separate scrolls is the following inscription: —

These swords for many years were hung crossed in the library of the late eminent historian
WILLIAM HICKLING PRESCOTT in token of international friendship and family alliance.

They are now preserved in a similar position by the
MASS. HISTORICAL SOCIETY, in memory of the associations with which they will be inseparably connected.

On the evening of Thursday, April 28, 1859, at a meeting of the Society, held at the house of its President, the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, the Rev. N. L. Frothingham — who, at the special meeting of the Society, called together by the death of the historian, had in apt and beautiful words offered an affectionate tribute to the character of his friend and parishioner — read the following lines, which, in words no less apt and touching, give the poetical interpretation of

THE CROSSED SWORDS.

Swords crossed, — but not in strife!
The chiefs who drew them, parted by the space
Of two proud countries' quarrel, face to face
Ne'er stood for death or life.

Swords crossed, that never met
While nerve was in the hands that wielded them;
Hands better destined a fair family stem
On these free shores to set.

Kept crossed by gentlest bands!
 Emblems no more of battle, but of peace;
 And proof how lovers can grow and wars can cease,
 Their once stern symbol stands.

It smiled first on the array
 Of marshalled books and friendliest companies;
 And here, a history among histories,
 It still shall smile for aye.

See that thou memory keep,
 Of him the firm commander; and that other,
 The stainless judge; and him our peerless brother, —
 All fallen now asleep.

Yet more: a lesson teach,
 To cheer the patriot-soldier in his course,
 That Right shall triumph still o'er insolent Force;
 That be your silent speech.

Oh, be prophetic too!
 And may those nations twain, as sign and seal
 Of endless amity, hang up their steel,
 As we these weapons do!

The archives of the Past,
 So smeared with blots of hate and bloody wrong,
 Pining for peace, and sick to wait so long,
 Hail this meek cross at last.

Poem of Rev. Dr. N. L. Frothingham.

And so was fitly closed up the history of this singular trophy, if trophy that can be called which was won from no enemy, and which is a memento at once of a defeat that was full of glory, and of triumphs in the field of letters more brilliant than those in the fields of war.

Dr. William Everett in a Prescott oration had the following to say on jingoism:

“There hang now in the library of the Massachusetts Historical Society the swords that Prescott and Linzee wore — , crossed not in strife but in peaceful symmetry. There may they hang forever, as a symbol that the softening of the rough ages by the disuse of wars is not the mere vision of a heathen poet, but indeed the veritable song brought down from heaven by the angels; there may they hang forever, or rather if ever evil passions on either side of the ocean seek to drive us into the sin and crime of war, let them be transferred to the department of state at Washington, where those who conduct the diplomacy of the United States, looking at them upon the wall, and through the window upon the monument of the Father of his Country, may feel their spirits chastened and their souls raised from the low swamp of battle to the soaring heights of peace. Then let the war god sink into the embrace of all conquering love, and let the genius of peace throw over their limbs the resistless network of the arts, that all the gods of Olympus may come and behold the spectacle of men's claims yielding to their duties, and Moloch prostrated before Jesus."

The history of Captain John Linzee, of his wife Susanna Inman and their children, would not be complete without an account of the Speakman, Inman, and Rowe families, particularly the wills of John Rowe and his wife Hannah (Speakman) Rowe. The affection of the Rowes for their niece, the wife of Captain John Linzee and her children, found its inspiration from the encouragement given by them to the Captain in his courtship of Sukey the daughter of Ralph Inman, when her father opposed their marriage. At the home of the Rowes the gallant Captain was given the opportunity to persuade the beautiful Sukey. Her letter to her friend Lucy Flucker shows that their marriage was a love match.

For the letters from Samuel 1st Viscount Hood and his lady Viscountess Susanna (Linzee) Hood, to John Rowe, Mrs. Rowe and Captain John Linzee, the reader is referred to Chapter VIII.

(Suff. CIII: 353) In the Name God Amen, I Hannah Rowe of Boston in the County of Suffolk Commonwealth of Massachusetts Widow do make and ordain this to be my last Will and Testament.

First I order that all my just debts be paid, and also my funeral charges without delay.

Item I give and release to Mary Speakman Widow whatever she is indebted to me.

Item I give and release to Gilbert Warner Speakman all that he is indebted to me.

Item I give to the children of Gilbert Warner Speakman two thousand six hundred sixty six Dollars, sixty six cents, to be equally divided among them, and to be paid to them by my Executor in manner following viz: To such of them as may be of age or married at the time of my decease their portions shall be paid as soon as conveniently may be, and the portions of the others with the growing interest thereon shall be paid to them respectively as they attain twenty one years of age or day of marriage which shall first happen and if either of said children die before me leaving Issue, the portion or share of such deceased child or children shall be paid to their heirs, and if either of them die before or after me leaving no Issue and before payment of their Legacies, the same shall be divided among the survivors and the children of such as may be deceased, such children to be considered as representing their parent.

Item I give to my niece Hannah Minot Sixteen hundred sixty six Dollars, sixty six cents.

Item I give to my two nieces Sarah Swan, and Mary Minot each, the sum of sixteen hundred sixty six dollars, sixty six cents.

Item I give to the reverend Doctor Samuel Parker and to the reverend John Gardiner each, ten Guineas Brittish money.

Item I give and release to James Liswell whatever he owes me.

Item I give to the children of my late nephew George Inman deceased Six thousand six hundred sixty six Dollars sixty six cents, in equal portions to be divided, and to be put out at Interest by my Executors on good security, and paid to them respectively when and as they shall attain the age of twenty one years or day of marriage which shall first happen, and if one or more of said children shall happen to die before said age or day of marriage, the share of such deceased child or children shall be divided among the survivors, and the Issue of their bodies lawfully begotten if any of them shall have died leaving Issue, such Issue in all cases to represent and take the share of the deceased parent. I also give to Mary Ann the eldest of said children my portrait of her father and in case of her death, to the next eldest child and so on to the other children according to seniority of age.

Item I give to Samuel Hood Linzee, a large Silver Bowl with a rim that takes off.

Item I give to Hannah Rowe Amory all my Wearing Apparel of every kind and my Gold Watch (requesting her to give that which was formerly given by me to her mother, to her Sister Susan Tilden). I also give said Hannah Rowe Amory all my Household Linen, a gilt leather screen, my portrait and the Portrait of her Grandfather and Grandmother, all my small profiles, a worked Picture which she gave me, my Silver Urn, Coffee pot, Tea pot, Sugar bowl, Silver Castors, four silver salt cellars and spoons, my books, two pews in Trinity Church, my Chariot and Horses, my Tombs in the Granary burying ground, and in Trinity church, to her and her heirs forever.

Item I give to Thomas Rowe Amory and Mary Linzee Amory each, the sum of Three thousand, three hundred, thirty three Dollars thirty three cents, and to Linzee Amory and Susan Amory the sum of sixteen hundred sixty six Dollars sixty six cents; to be placed at Interest and paid to them respectively when and as they shall attain the age of twenty one years or day of marriage which shall first happen, and if one or more of them die before said age or day of marriage, the share of such deceased child or children shall be divided among the survivors and their Issue lawfully begotten, if any of them shall have left Issue, such Issue to be entitled to the share of the deceased Parent.

Item I give to the first born Son of Joseph and Susan Tilden Sixteen hundred sixty six dollars, sixty six cents, to be placed at Interest and paid him on his attaining, twenty one years of age or day of marriage which shall first happen, and I authorize my Executor in his discretion to pay over the principal sum to Joseph Tilden for the use of his said child.

Item I give a note of hand due to me from Sarah Troutbeck to her Mother.

Item I give to Andrew Turner, and to Elizabeth Peatson, an annuity of one hundred Dollars each to be paid to them respectively in quarterly payments during their lives and the life of each of them.

Item I give to Ralph Inman Linzee, to John Inman Linzee, to Rose Linzee and to Sarah Inman Linzee, the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars each. It is my Express direction however, that these several legacies to the said Ralph Inman, John Inman, Rose and Sarah Inman, remain in the hands of my executors as their trustee during their respective lives and be placed by him at Interest upon good security, and that the Interest only be paid to them severally during their respective lives provided always that if my said Executor shall think fit to pay to them or either of them from time to time any part of the principal not exceeding in any case Ten thousand Dollars to each of them, he may do so at his discretion and Whatever balance of Principal and Interest may remain unpaid to each of said children Viz: Ralph Inman, John Inman, Rose and Sarah Inman at the time of his or her decease shall be paid to the issue of the deceased and for want of Issue to the survivors and survivor and their heirs.

Item As to all the rest and residue of my Estate real and personal of every kind and description I order that my Executor as soon as may be convenient after my decease, sell and dispose thereof at Public or Private sale as he may Judge best and Execute good and sufficient conveyances thereof and call in and receive all debts due to me and place out at interest upon good security the principal sums which I have herein bequeathed untill they shall become payable, and the whole of said residue I give and bequeath in three equal parts to be divided among Hannah Rowe Amory, Samuel Hood Linzee and Susan Tilden children of my late niece Susanna Linzee, and their heirs forever, and if either of the said last mentioned children should die before me leaving lawful Issue, such Issue shall take the portion intended for its parent. And I do further direct that no Inventory be rendered of my Estate at the Probate Office.

Lastly I do hereby constitute Thomas C. Amory my sole Executor and Trustee, and in the event of his decease, before the Execution of this Will and of the Trusts therein specified I appoint his Brother Jonathan Amory my sole Executor and Trustee and I order that my Executor stand charged with and account for whatever sums they may be indebted to me.

In Witness whereof hereby revoking all other Wills and Testaments by me heretofore made have hereunto set my hand and seal this third day of may in the year of our LORD 1803.

Hannah Rowe L.S.

H. G. Otis, Samuel Sanger Junr., Jona. Brooks.

I Hannah Rowe do hereby make this codicil to my last Will above written and direct that the same be taken as a part thereof. Whereas in and by my said Will I have given the sum of twenty Thousand dollars to Ralph Inman Linzee, John Inman Linzee, Rose Linzee and Sarah Inman Linzee each; I hereby declare those legacies to be given upon the express condition that the funds of the United States remain at or near their present Market Value Boston viz: the six P.C. Stock at not less than ninety five P.C. upon the Unredeemed Capital, but if at the time of my decease the said six P.C. Stock shall be worth less than ninety five P.C. I order that a deduction be made from each of said legacies in the same proportion which the market price shall bear to ninety five P.C. And in order to Ascertain the same and fix the principal sum of said legacies it is my desire that the Judge of Probate for the County of Suffolk would nominate three discreet men to agree upon the market value of said stock at the time of my decease and to report the deduction to be made from said legacies if any, in case said Market Value should be less than Ninety five P.C., regard being had to the said proportion or Ratio and their report being accepted by the Judge of Probate and recorded shall be binding upon all parties. In testimony whereof I have hereto set my hand and seal this sixth day of May in the year of our LORD 1803.

Hannah Rowe L.S.

Signed, Sealed, published, and declared by Hannah Rowe as a codicil to her last Will, in presence of us who at her request and in her presence and in presence of each other have hereunto subscribed our names. H. G. Otis, Jonathan Brooks, — Bullard.

OLD LAND MARKS OF MIDDLESEX, BY S. A. DRAKE, PP. 187-189.

"In coming from Charlestown or Lechmere's Point by the old county road . . . , and before the day of bridges had created what is now Cambridgeport out of the marshes, the first object of interest was the farm of Ralph Inman, a well-to-do, retired merchant of the capital. His mansion-house and outbuildings formed a small hamlet, and stood in the angle of the road as it turned sharp to the right and stretched away to the Colleges."

"The world would not have cared to know who Ralph Inman was had not his house become interwoven with the history of the siege as the headquarters of that rough, fiery genius, Israel Putnam. It could not have been better situated, in a military view, for old Put's residence. The General's own regiment and most of the Connecticut troops lay encamped near at hand in Inman's green fields and fragrant pine woods. It was but a short gallop to the commander-in-chief's, or to the posts on the river. Remove all the houses that now intervene between Inman Street and the Charles, and we see that the gallant old man had crouched as near the enemy as it was possible for him to do, and lay like a watch-dog at the door of the American lines."

"Ralph Inman was, of course, a royalist. Nature does not more certainly abhor a vacuum than does your man of substance a revolution. Strong domestic ties bound him to his allegiance. He was of the Church of England too, and his associates were cast in the same tory mould with himself. He had been a merchant in Boston in 1764, and the agent of Sir Charles Frankland when that gentleman went abroad. He kept his coach and his liveried servants for state occasions, and the indispensable four-wheeled chaise universally affected by the gentry of his day for more ordinary use. If he was not a Scotsman by descent, we have not read aright the meaning of the thistle, which Inman loved to see around him.

"The house had a plain outside, unostentatious, but speaking eloquently of solid comfort and good cheer within. It was of wood, of three stories, with a pitched roof. From his veranda Inman had an unobstructed outlook over the meadows, the salt marshes, and across the bay, to the town of Boston. What really claim our admiration about this estate were the trees by which it was glorified, and of which a few noble elms have been spared. Approaching such a house, as it lay environed by shrubbery and screened from the noonday sun by its giant guardians, with the tame pigeons perched upon the parapet and the domestic fowls cackling a noisy refrain in the barn-yard, you would have said, 'Here is good old-fashioned thrift and hospitality; let us enter,' and you would not have done ill to let instant execution follow the happy thought."

"Besides his tory neighbors — and at the time of which we write what we now call Old Cambridge was parceled out among a dozen of these — Inman was a good deal visited by the loyal faction of the town. The officers of his Majesty's army and navy liked to ride out to Inman's to dine or sup, and one of them lost his heart there."

"John Linzee, captain of H.M. ship Beaver, met with Sukey Inman (Ralph's eldest daughter) in some royalist coterie, — as like as not at the house of her bosom friend, Lucy Flucker, — and found his heart pierced through and through by her bright glances. He struck his flag, and, being incapable of resistance, became Sukey's lawful prize. He came with Dalrymple, Montague, and his brother officers ostensibly to sip Ralph's mulled port or Vidania, but really, as we may believe, to see the daughter of the house. For some unknown cause the father did not favor Linzee's suit. There was an aunt whom Sukey visited in town, and to whose house the gallant captain had the open sesame, but who manœvered, as only aunts in 1772 (and they have not forgot their cunning) knew how, to keep the lovers apart.

"But John Linzee was no faint-heart, and he married Sukey Inman. George Inman, her brother, entered the British army. Linzee commanded the Falcon at the battle of Bunker Hill, where he did us all the mischief he could, and figured elsewhere on our coasts. In 1789 he happened again to cast anchor in Boston Harbor, and opened his batteries this time with a peaceful salute to the famous stars and stripes flying from the Castle. It is well known that Prescott, the historian, married a granddaughter of Captain Linzee."

"The interior of Inman's house possessed no striking features. It was roomy, but so low-studded that you could easily reach the ceilings with your hand when standing upright. The deep fireplaces, capacious cupboards, and secret closets, were all there. Our last visit to the mansion was to find it divided asunder, and being rolled away to another part of the town, where we have no wish to follow. It was not a pleasant sight to see this old house thus mutilated, with its halls agape and its cosey bedchambers literally turned out of doors, — a veritable wreck ashore."

"Inman was arrested in 1776. He had been of the king's council, and an addresser of Hutchinson. He became a refugee in Boston, and his mansion passed into the custody of the Provincial Congress, who assigned it to General Putnam."

(N.E.H. & G.R. XXV: 231-2).

On the back of a paper written on the three other sides, and used as an envelope, are the following words: "Captⁿ. John Linzee, N^o. 8 Great Geo^e. Street, Plymouth, Capt. Davis Boston packet."

Then in the handwriting of Capt. John Linzee is this memorandum:
"A Copy of M^r. Inmans will in the year 1788."

Only an abstract will be given here:

The will of Ralph Inman of Cambridge, Co. Midd. Esq^r., mentions, my Son in law John Linzee, and my son George; Daughter Susanna Linzee and her children; all real estate in Cambridge or elsewhere to be sold; friend Herman Brimmer, sole exor. Made 5 May 1788. In presence of Thomas Crafts, Stephen Cleverly, James Liswell.

Codicil: 16 May 1788, mentions son George and his children. In presence of Benjamin Waterhouse, John Haskins, Jn^o. Rowe. Proved 18 July 1788.

The important fact brought out by this will, is the certainty that Capt. John Linzee was residing at No. 8 Great George Street, Plymouth, Devon, England, in 1788, so that he can be the John Linzee Esq. of Plymouth and others, who administered on the 2 Jan. 1788, to the estate of John Linzee Esq. late of the parish of Stoke Damerel, Archdeaconry of Totnes, which is recorded in the registry at Exeter, England.

No. 8 Great George Street is still the same old house, only the front is altered into a grand shop; the present owner has lately bought it (previous to 1910), it formerly belonged to a family of the name of Sheppard. In a directory of 1812, a Major Lindsey, R.A., lived in the house. (Statement by Mrs. Lewis Linzee).

From accounts of Captain John Linzee with Herman Brimmer on the settlement of Ralph Inman's estate, the Captain purchased certain sundries belonging to the said estate, to the amount of £289. 14. 0., consisting of £85. 2. 8. of household furniture, and £204. 11. 4. of silverware, and other items, instead of the £300. 0. 0., advanced to George Inman.

The account also discloses Capt. John Linzee, as a bon vivant, and entertainer.

Edward Linzee, son of Robert, born at Newport, Isle of Wight, — school, Winchester, under M^r. Richards, admitted pensioner under Mess^{rs}. Metcalfe and Lane, 11 Oct. 1791, age 16 (Christ's College, Cambridge Alumni); he was of Christ College, Cambridge, aged 22 y. in 1796 (R. by 1st Viscount Hood); the Rev. Edward Linzee, Rector of West Tilbury, Essex, d. 4 Aug. 1842, at Binfield Park, Berks, aged 68 (G.M., and Hasted's Hist. of Kent, Edited by Henry H. Drake, The Hundred of Blackheath, I: 131 and note 30). His epitaph in St. Mary's Churchyard, Hornsey, Midd., bears the following inscription: Erected in affectionate remembrance of Edward Linzee, M.A., Rector of West Tilbury, Essex, Son of Robert Linzee Esq^r., Admiral of the Blue, Who departed this life August 4th. 1842, Aged 68 years: And Caroline Linzee His beloved wife, the only daughter of Jacob and Eliza Bowles Warner Of this Parish, Who died October 16th. 1840, Aged 56 years: Also Augusta Linzee Their daughter who died June 30th. 1831, aged 18 years: Jesus said blessed are those servants whom the Lord when He cometh, shall find them watching (Cansick's Epitaphs of Middlesex, III: 13). The Rev. Edward Linzee of Charlton, Kent, m. Miss Warner of Hornsey, 25 Oct. 1803 (G.M.), at Hornsey^o; who was Caroline Warner, his first cousin on his mother's side, the dau. of Jacob and Elizabeth Bowles (Redston) Warner of Hornsey, whose wife was sister of Ann Redston the wife of Admiral Robert Linzee (117)^o; Caroline Warner was b. about 1784, Hornsey^o; Caroline wife of Rev. Edward Linzee was a B.A., 1796, and M.A. 1799. Admitted scholar (Hants), 8 Dec. 1791. Ordained deacon, Norwich, Mar. 1797. Vicar of Exning, Suffolk, 12 Mar. 1797-1813 [?]. Rector of

HANNAH ROWE (LINZEE) AMORY
1775-1845

Charlton, Kent, 14 Jan. 1799, patron, Cath. Chamberlain, widow. Thomas Chamberlain succeeded 1806. Married 25 Oct. 1803, Miss Warner. Vicar of St. Alkmund's, Shrewsbury 16 July 1806. Rector of West Tilbury, Essex, 16 July 1818-42. And Rural Dean. He was living at Kelvedon House, Ongar, when his son Edward Hood Linzee was admitted at Rugby, 1829, and at Penn, Bucks, in 1835 and 1839, when his two sons were respectively admitted at Christ Church. Died at Binfield Park, Berks, 1842, aged 68 (Davy).

The Rev. Edward Linzee never used the middle name of Redstone mentioned by his uncle Lord Hood in the pedigree of 1796, already recorded. His descendants spell the name without the final letter, Redston. He was elected Rector of the Parish Church of St. Luke's, Old Charlton, London, S.E., on the 14 Jan. 1799, and resigned the 25 Feb. 1806. He was next appointed Vicar of St. Alkmund's, Shrewsbury, the 16 July 1806, and first signed the marriage register, there, the 21 July 1806; he last signed it the 16 Mar. 1815, but remained as vicar until 1818, when he accepted the rectorship of West Tilbury in Ongar, Essex, where he remained the rest of his life. He was presented to his last living, in 1818, by the King (G.M. of 1842).

Abstract of the will and two codicils of the Revd. Edward Linzee, Rector of West Tilbury, Essex. (Ref. 507, 1842, Somerset House, Probate).

Susanna Inman (Linzee) Browne). His monument is situated in the north aisle of the Church of St. Andrews, at Plymouth; on a neat white marble base, surmounted by an urn with a loose shroud pendant from the urn, the urn and shroud having a background of black marble, is this inscription:

“ SACRED TO THE MEMORY OF
VICE ADMIRAL SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE
WHO DIED THE FIRST OF SEPTEMBER 1820
AGED FORTY SIX YEARS
THE GREATER NUMBER OF WHICH WERE DEVOTED TO THE ACTIVE SERVICE OF HIS COUNTRY.
HE HAS LEFT A WIDOW AND FIVE CHILDREN TO MOURN HIS IRREPARABLE LOSS.”

Vice Adm. (of the Blue, by Blackwood's Magazine) Linzee, d. 2 Sept. 1820, at Plymouth, who fell off his horse a few days previous in a fit of apoplexy. This gentleman was the nephew of the late Lady Hood, and cousin to the present Lord Hood. Vice-Adm. Linzee had been actively employed in the Royal Navy from his youth until the late peace (G.M.).

The preceding record contains errors of date and genealogy; he was not a nephew of the late Lady Hood.

The above pedigree of William Wooldridge was contributed by his great great granddaughter, Mrs. Svylls, daughter of Edward Henry Hawke of Tolgulla, Scorrice, Cornwall, and Emily Catherine Wooldridge, daughter of William Wooldridge, Comm. R.N. and Mary Stacey.

The painting of Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee shows very soft light brown hair; a healthy color to the face; eyes dark blue; coat dark Prussian blue, greenish; braid deep gold, brownish; background, very dark brown and blue. Artist, — not given.

John Linzee (118) was Captain of the Falcon from the 13 Oct. 1774 until after July 1776. His son Samuel Hood Linzee (120) was his captain's servant and senior clerk from 22 Oct. 1774 to the 30 Apr. 1776, which began his naval career before Samuel was a year old. It is improbable that the boy was on board the Falcon, with his father, at the Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775.

ADMIRALTY RECORDS.

Samuel Hood Linzee was a Lieutenant the 21 July 1790, Commander the 5 Nov. 1793, Captain the 8 Mar. 1794, Rear Admiral the 12 Aug. 1812, Vice Admiral the 12 Aug. 1819, and died the 2 Sept. 1820.

The naval records at Portsmouth, Hants, England, show that Samuel Hood Linzee was made a Post Captain the 8 Mar. 1794, an Admiral in 1812, and died Sept. 1820.

Samuel Hood Linzee became post Captain the 8 Mar. 1794, Rear Admiral of the Blue the 12 Aug. 1812, Rear Admiral of the White the 4 Dec. 1812, Rear Admiral of the Red the 4 June 1813, and Vice-Admiral of the Blue the 12 Aug. 1819. (The Royal Navy, by Wm. Laird Clowes, V: 42).

The Nemesis (28), Capt. Samuel Hood Linzee had been captured on 9th Dec., by the Sensible and Sardine in the Neutral port of Smyrna where her captors were blockaded by Capt. Samuel Hood with two frigates till Ganteaume's squadron forced him to retire. The Nemesis was then taken into Tunis by the Sardine in Jan. 1796. (Navy Records Soc., The Spencer Papers, 1794-1801, II: 11).

The Zealous (74), Captain S. H. Linzee was one of the fleet under Rear Admiral George Campbell which sailed from England to the harbour of Port Royal in 1802, and returned to England in May of that year. (Recollections of James Anthony Gardner, p. 228-9).

THE NAVAL HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN, BY WILLIAM JAMES.

(I: 275) Capt. Samuel Hood Linzee was, with his frigate "Nemesis" of 28 guns, captured by the French frigate "Sensible" and Corvette "Sardine", in the neutral port of Smyrna the 9 Dec. 1795, while lying at anchor, without any opposition from Captain Linzee, beyond a remonstrance at the illegality of the measure.

They were in turn blockaded by the British frigate Aigle of 38 guns, under Capt. Samuel Hood, and the frigate Cyclops of 28 guns, under Captain William Hotham.

The Nemesis was recaptured by the English, the 9 Mar. 1796.

(III: 136) On the 26 Jan. 1801, at 8 A.M., lat. 45° N., long. 12° W., the British 12 pounder, 36 gun frigate, Oiseau, Captain Samuel Hood Linzee, fell in with and chased the French 36 gun frigate Dédaigneuse, bound from Cayenne to Rochefort with despatches. The Oiseau continued the pursuit alone until noon on the 27th, when Cape Finisterre came in sight, the British 18 pounder, 36 gun frigates Sirius and Amethyst, Captains Richard King and John Cook, joined in the chase. The French frigate then hauled down her colors to the Oiseau. The Dédaigneuse was a fine vessel of 897 tons, and was added to the British Navy.

THE HISTORY OF THE BRITISH NAVY, BY C. D. YOUNGE.

The right to search the vessels of neutral nations carrying merchandise belonging to an enemy, caused England, in 1801, to wage war against the Northern Confederacy which was formed by the Russian Emperor, Paul. Russia, Prussia, Denmark and Sweden were in alliance against England, with France in the background, to oppose the right of search.

Pitt at once despatched an English fleet under the command of Sir Hyde Parker on the London of 98 guns, with Admiral Nelson on the St. George of 98 guns, and Rear Admiral Graves on the Defiance of 74 guns, as second and third in command, and Rear-Admiral Totty and Captain S[amuel] H[ood] Linzee on the Zealous of 74 guns. Among the frigates was the Desirée of 40 guns commanded by Captain George Inman.

The account of the Battle of Copenhagen, which was fought on the 2 Apr. 1801, is given by Younge in his history; a more vivid description can be found in Southey's life of Nelson.

THE NAVAL HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN, BY WILLIAM JAMES.

(IV: 2) On the 22 Feb. 1805, Captain Samuel Hood Linzee, commanded the Warrior of 74 guns, and Captain Henry Inman, the Triumph of 74 guns; they were in the fleet of Sir Robert Calder on the Prince of Wales of 98 guns, when he engaged a combined French and Spanish fleet off Ferrol and Cape Finisterre.

Again in 1805, Captain Linzee commanded the Ajax of 74 guns in Sir Robert Calder's fleet, in an action with the French fleet in the North Atlantic, when the latter was defeated and captured. (Authority for this statement is unknown).

(IV: 284) On the 19 July 1807, Captain Samuel Hood Linzee, commanded the Maida of 74 Guns, one of Admiral Lord Gambier's fleet which in Sept. 1807 bombarded Copenhagen and captured the Danish fleet.

Capt. S. H. Linzee sat on the Court martial, on board the Gladiator, of Sir Home Popham on 6 Mar. 1807 (G.M.), which was sustained.

Captain S. H. Linzee Esq^{re}., to be Colonel of Marines, 20 July 1811 (G.M.).

Post Capt. Samuel Hood Linzee to be Rear-admiral of the Blue 12 Aug. 1812 (G.M.).

Rear admiral of the Blue Samuel Hood Linzee Esq., to be Rear admiral of the White, 29 Nov. 1813 (G.M.).

John W. Linzee Esq.: —

Dear Sir: —

In the Naval History of Great Britain from 1793 down to 1827, I trace Capt. Samuel Hood Linzee in various engagements from 1795 to 1807, but never in command of the "Thunderer". When an Admiral he may have had his Flag on board of her, without the fact being noted in history, unless she had been engaged in a fight. His Flag was on board the "Dreadnaught" when George Golding was with him, and when he left her, he procured Golding's discharge that he might accompany him as his servant. Thus you can perceive it was between 1807 and 1812⁽¹⁾, that the Admiral visited Boston. Golding's discharge is among my papers, its date will give the exact year⁽²⁾. When I find it I will let you know. The last time I was in London, 1836, I was on board the "Dreadnaught", anchored in the Thames, and fitted as an hospital for merchant seamen. I served before the mast in the British Navy myself, and picked up from old seamen some of the yarns, I have from time to time, sketched in the newspapers. In the Index of James' Naval History, volume 6, you can trace the fighting scrapes of Capt. Linzee. I believe his family is of Scottish origin.

Yours Truly

Duncan McLean.

(1) Letter of Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee to his sister Mrs. Hannah Rowe Amory, dated, Plymouth, 10 Mar. 1818 proves that he had not visited Boston after 1791.

(2) George Golding was for fifty years in an insurance office in Boston; he was dragged out of his father's house in Hastings when a boy 10 years old and was sent on board the Dreadnaught three decker. Admiral Linzee liked his appearance and made him his servant.

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH ROWE.Nemisis, Smyrna Castle,
July 31st 1795. (corrected to June)

I wrote my Ever dear Aunt 3 Letters last month by different Opportunitys my last dated the 17 of May by the Tisiphone bound with a Convoy for England which she leaves at Leghorn to return to this station, my letters by her as well as those by Post will inform you of a Circumstance on which my future happiness depends, to keep you my dear Aunt no longer in suspence I shall candidly inform you of my having an attachment for a Lady of this Town, Miss Susan Van Lennes, her Father is a very respectable Merchant of a moderate Fortune but large Family, one of his daughters is Married to Ad^l Waldgrave of our Navy and several others to English merchants 3 of which belong to the Turkey Company, suffer me then to implore the Sanction of my beloved Aunt to a Circumstance on which alone depends my future happiness, my sentiments now my dear Aunt I shall with Candour & Sincerity avow to you, my attachment for Miss Van Lennes is such that I can no longer wish my Life (w)ithout I can hope for her, suffer me to implore once more your approbation, my letters for this last two months has implored this blessing from the Best of Aunts, but now Mother. Impatiently shall I wait your Answer as it will remove from my mind a burthen that I am ready to sink under, the Answer from her Family depends on my Fathers & Yours, therefore may I hope for your Interest added to your Sanction. I wrote Hannah by the last Post and shall again by the next, accept my beloved Aunt my prayers for your Health & Happiness & believe me to be with the greatest truth

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH
ROWE AMORY.

Hambourgh, June 22. 1796.

Tuesday Mor'g 11 o'clock.

I am to acknowledge the receipt of my dear Sisters letter dated the 15 of No^v: 95, by Capt. Gooding which I fortunately rec^d on the 9 of May at Florence, being then on my journey to this place where I arrived yesterday having travelled Eighteen hundred Miles. I passed through the Cities of Venice, Vienna, Dresdon, Prague & Berlin, 6 of the Capitals of Europe. I leave this tomorrow for England in a Packet boat, on my arrival I shall not fail to write M^r Amory, having only time by this Opportunity to say I am well after a long & fatiguing Journey having travelled Day & Night since the first of May when I quitted Leghorn.

A ship sailed yesterday for Boston, I accidentally met the Commander of her as he was leaving the town, therefore had not time to write my Father or yourself, but did our Aunt a few words and sent her my miniature Picture, which I intended to have had sett in London, had I not met with so favourable an Opportunity of forwarding it, I also enclosed her my narrative of the Capture of my Ship & Sentence of the Court Martial held on me. I mentioned in my Letter having a Picture for you I greatly lament not having met a favourable Conveyance of sending it to America while in the Mediteranean. It is a View of Constantinople done in Needle work on Silk; I was obliged to leave it with most of my cloathes with Admiral Linzee to forward to England by the 1st Man of War should it not fall a second time into the hands of the Enemy, I shall send it to you by the 1st ship bound to Boston after I receive it. I wrote our Aunt & yourself on the 1st of April from Corsica congratulating you on your Marriage which I sincerely hope will prove a happiness to yourself & Husband. I suppose Susan is grown a fine girl, she must write me or I shall conclude she has forgot her friends in England.

You observe my dear Hannah (you hope to see me & my Lady) as yet I have not one or have I the least Idea of Marrying while the War lasts or perhaps this many Years.

I shall reserve this subject for a future period. The business I once spoke I believe will never take place, at present time will not admit of entering into the Particulars, you may show this to M^{rs} Rowe & my Father, both I have wrote.

With best wishes for the Health & Happiness of yourself & Husband I remain with love to Susan, Rose & Sally my dear Hannah ever Affectionate Brother

Sam^l Hood Linzee

Mrs. Hannah Rowe Amory

P.S. Give my respectful Compts. to my old Acquaintances particularly Mrs. Geyer's & Amory's Family also M^r Bricks. Let me know who is Married or Dead of my Boston friends.

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH ROWE AMORY.

H. M. Ship Dortricht,
Simons Bay, Cape of Good Hope,
June 1, 1797.

My dear M^{rs} Amory:

I cannot allow the Nero belonging to Boston to sail from this place for America without informing my dear Sister of my being in this part of the World, with the Command of a fine Ship of 66 Guns, that was taken from the Dutch not long since, I left England in Feb^y in the Trusty as I wrote about the time of my sailing, & arrived here on the 5 of May; since which I have not been out of my Ship, therefore cannot attempt to give you any account of the place or its Inhabitants except by report, which says the women are very handsome, however as my Love days, are now over therefore their beauty is of little consequence to me, be assured my dear Hannah at the end of the War I shall visit my Family a Bachelor, I need not add the anxious moments their long absence has occasioned.

In the Nero there are two Ladies M^{rs} Fay and Miss [blank] they dine with me to day & all the passengers which is six, they are going to Boston, should you see them they can give you every Information relative to myself; they have been mostly with me since their arrival & they appear to be very respectable people; I intend writing M^r Amory therefore shall conclude my dear Sister's Letter with wishing you health & happiness, believe me my dear Hannah ever affectionate & faithful Brother,

Sam. Hood Linzee

I beg my love to my Sisters & Brothers & best affections to M^r Amory.

June 1st 1797

My dear Sir:

The Nero of Boston having put In this port on her way to New York, affords me the Satisfaction of writing to America, which believe me I have great pleasure in doing, as it is probable my Family are Ignorant of my being in this part of the World, tho I wrote only a few days before I left England informing you of my appointment to this Ship, & offering to make you a joint agent for any Prizes I may take, should it meet your wishes, will thank you to let me know. It is my intention to send anything I may Capture if possible to America; but should I be obliged to send them to Europe, it will not in the least prevent me from naming you as an agent and you will receive the Emoluments as if actually carrying on the Business; I rec^d the Fifty Pounds you were so good as to Order to be paid me, for which I must beg leave to offer my Sincere thanks. Having wrote my sisters and M^{rs} Rowe, have little to Communicate to you, except offering my best wishes for your health & happiness & believe me my dear sir

Your faithful & oblidged Friend

My Ever dear Hannah:

Being in chase of a ship which I suppose to be an American cannot avoid writing my dearest Sister, tho have only time to add I am with my dearest Wife thank God in perfect health, & on my way to the Isle of France to remain till July. I wrote several letters before my leaving the Cape acquainting my Aunt & Family of my Marriage & my sentiments about Ralph. God bless you my dearest Sister with your valuable & good Husband, believe me with love to my bless'd sisters in which Jane [or Jessie] unites.

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH
ROWE.

Greenwich, July 16, 1800

I have scarcely spirits to acquaint my ever dear & much beloved Aunt of my arrival in England about six weeks since; after an absence of 3 years & a half, but I am much concerned to say, the change of climate has not had the desired or expected effect on the health of my dearest Mrs. Linzee who I am sorry to say is extremely ill; & I fear approaching very fast to her dissolution; but I will not dwell on this melancholy subject of which I have written fully to my Sister Susan. I have been anxious to hear of the health of my dearest Aunt; not having rec^d a letter from Boston this many Months; indeed only one or two since my leaving England from the neglect of my Agent. I mentioned in my last to M^r Amory of having settled M^{rs} Linzee at Greenwich, to be near, and under the protection of Lord Hood, whose civility & attention to her has been beyond what my pen can express. I trust I am, & shall ever feel grateful for their great goodness & affection toward me. I still Command the Oiseau & expect to be ready for Sea in about 2 Months, but to what part of the World I am destined to, God only knows, or will it in a short time be of any consequence or the War being over (of which there is no appearance) I shall visit the Children of my dearest & never to be forgotten Mother; I am much pleased with Susan's letter, 'tis the first I ever rec^d from her, but hope she will continue to gratify my most ardent desire, & write by every opportunity. My dear Aunt may remember about 2 Years since having heard of my taking a valuable Ship, her fate is not yet decided, or is it determined whether I shall reap the benefit of my labors, however, the general Opinion is in my favor, a few weeks will now determine. As to news, England has but little to boast off, she groans under a weight of taxes & half its Inhabitants are starving.

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH
ROWE AMORY.His Maj. Ship Zealous
Gibraltar Bay, Jul. 11, 1802.

My dear Mrs. Amory:

Having written your good husband and my sisters Susan, Rose & Sally, I now with great pleasure resume my pen to congratulate my dearest M^{rs} Amory on the late addition to her family, which if I recollect makes the 4th; in my letter to M^r Amory I have mentioned my intention of visiting America as soon as my private & public situation will admit, I hope it will be some time this winter. You will believe when I add, that my anxiety to see the children of our ever to be remembered mother is very great; Oh! Hannah had she but lived to this period how happy in her society would your Brother have been. I look forward with much pleasure to a domestic life, I only hope that my profession will enable me to live near my sisters; tho I have been separated from them 12 years, yet I believe my affection for my family is stronger, than if I had always been their companion.

I feel much at Johns silence, to his hand writing I am a stranger he I hope will be able to account for his to me, great neglect, tho to him I shall never speak on the subject.

God bless you my dearest M^{rs} Amory & believe me with love to your dear little ones your truly affectionate Brother

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO THOMAS C. AMORY, Esq.

London, July 6, 1804.

My dear Mr. Amory:

I accidentally met our good friend M^r Parker a few days since, who gave me the very unpleasant intelligence of our good Aunt Rowe being very much indisposed, however I trust in God she is perfectly restored to health, & that it will please the Almighty to prolong her life for many years. I was happy to hear that my dearest Sister Amory & her family with my other Sisters were perfectly well, be assured it gives me great pleasure to hear from Boston, I lament much that my sisters will not indulge me with a letter now & then, but having so often solicited them without effect, have endeavoured to reconcile myself to their silence and my own disappointment. To say I feel grateful for your correspondence & your kindness in a thousand instances is I trust needless, indeed my dear M^r Amory I am thankful beyond expression, and only hope you will ever consider me worthy of your friendship; I anticipate a peace with much pleasure as it will enable me to visit my family in Boston. I am now soliciting for a ship tho am not very desirous of having one till after my wife is confined, as from having had two dead children I am doubtful how it will terminate. I have not heard from Boston these many Months, when you write, direct to me Penzance Cornwall, my letters will then arrive safe, as should I go to sea M^{rs} Linzee will receive them. I understand there was one for me by the Salem but it is lost from being directed to my Agents.

I beg you will give my love to Susan & my Sisters Rose & Sally, with best wishes for the health of yourself & my dearest M^{rs} Amory I am ever your affectionate

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO THOMAS C. AMORY, ESQ.

Penzance, January 2, 1807.

My dear M^r. Amory:

Your letters dated the 15th of Nov^r., 21 of Dec^r. reached me ten days since, giving an account of the sale of the Estate in Essex street for 11000 D^r to be paid by instal^s, with interest; as I have so often mentioned, I am perfectly satisfied with whatever you think proper to do, being well assured it will be for the general good, I therefore think it unnecessary to repeat any wish I may have relative to the disposal of M^{rs} Rowe's Estate, for in fact I have not a wish, but must ever approve; respecting poor old Turner I am glad you thought it right to make his end comfortable, or rather to assist him in his last moments. I believe he was ever faithful to his Mistress, & therefore had great claim on us. I am truly glad to find myself mistaken in my ideas respecting Rose, I hope soon to have the pleasure of congratulating her on being married, which God grant may prove to her a blessing.

I am now come to the sorrowful task of communicating the melancholy & irreparable loss I have sustained, it pleased the Almighty disposer of all things, to take from me my Child on Friday the 26 of last month at the age of four months, his death was caused by vaccination or rather in consequence of an eruption that followed it, at the age of 14 weeks my child was vaccinated, at that period the picture of health, & every probability of his being a blessing to us; but at the expiration of a fortnight after inoculation a most violent eruption came over his legs, arms, face, and continued for three weeks or a month before it became at the heighth, or showed any signs of turning, which was accompanied with a fever and latterly the Throat, which brought an end to the Dear Baby existence, leaving myself & his mother a martyr to grief. When you recollect that we have lost four Children you will I am confident sympathize with us on our melancholy fate, & we feel it the more from the Child being born perfectly healthy and remaining so till the time I have mentioned. I have this day performed the last office for him, you must therefore not expect much entertainment from my letter, few believe that my affliction is just my last letter was by M^r Miller, Sally Spekman's husband. I am so far removed from the great world that I have but little chance of seeing any of my American friends, unless the easterly wind obliges them to put into Mounts Bay. I am astonished to hear that Jacob Rowe's children should owe the Estate so large a sum of money. I suppose they have my Aunts house, pasturum &c.; I have some thoughts of endeavouring to obtain six months leave this Summer to visit Boston, tho am doubtful how far my situation will suffer me to apply for it, but you must not expect me till you see me; much depends on the health of Mrs. Linzee as well the situation of this Country.

Your old friend Francis Coffin is my neighbour, he has six fine Child. & a wife that produces one yearly. The Admiral is second in command at Portsmouth, he wishes much to get to Halifax, but I fear he will not succeed. My paper bids me conclude wishing you & my d^r sister many happy returns of the Season in which M^{rs} Linzee unites with me d^r Mr. Amory your affectionate

London, Feby. 27th 1807.

My dear Mr. Amory:

I have this moment arrived in London to take up my appointment for His Maj. Ship Maida of 74 guns, fitting at Portsmouth; report says I am to be one of our Baltic Fleet, at any rate you shall know where I am; all my prospects of visiting Boston is again at end, indeed I believe I must abandon the thought of seeing my family till Peace is restored to us. I have given in charge of Captain Stedman of the Salem a small box containing a velvet Pelise as a Wedding present for Sally, which I hope will reach her in safety, it is very handsome & fashionable. Should you have occasion to make remittances of Interest to me, be so good as to make the bills payable to Mrs. Sam^l Hood Linzee or her order, as God knows in what part of the world I may be, but when you write me continue to direct your letters Penzance Cornwall & Mrs. Linzee will forward them. I have only time to say that we are well & set off for Portsmouth tomorrow.

My dear M^r Amory:

Your friend Sir Isaac having informed me that he can send a letter under care to Liverpool for Boston, I readily embrace the opportunity of saying I am well; I expect to sail in the Maida for the Baltic in a few days, when M^{rs} Linzee will return to Penzance, where I beg you will continue to address your letters, which she will forward to me. I wrote you a few days ago requesting that you would make my remittances payable to M^{rs} Sam. Hood Linzee or her Order; which will enable her to negotiate the bills. I can only repeat that you have full power to act for me in every respect as you would for yourself. I only wish the Interest of my property to be remitted; and not on any account any part of the principal, the whole amount of which I intend keeping in America lest I should ever be inclined to reside in that Country. LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MR. THOMAS C.
AMORY.

Penzance, Cornwall,
April 3rd 1808

My dear M^r Amory:

Your kind letters dated the 4 & 13 of Feby I rec^d a few days ago. I am most sincerely rejoiced to hear there is a prospect of the differences being amicably adjusted between this Country & America. I wrote you by the March Packet mentioning the results of your letters dated the 3rd and 13th of Jany.; the one dated the 29 of Dec^r never came to hand nor did M^r. S. Williams receive his or any order respecting the temporary transfer of 2500L, but which I hope now there will be no occasion for. It is my intention so soon as our family concerns are finally arranged to have whatever property may remain of mine in America remitted by bill to this Country, as it is the only certain method of preventing confiscation in case of war between the two nations, and will in the end save you much trouble.

I have a fine little girl called Emily after her mother she is now 6 months old & will I hope live and do well. I learn from an American ship that was taken into port that our Brother Ralph was spoken with 3 weeks since bound to Leghorn, I fear he will be detained as Leghorn is a blockaded Port, tho I have no doubt but the necessary insurance is made so as to cover his losses.

M^{rs} Linzee unites in best love to M^{rs} Amory & my sisters and believe me my dear Brother

Your faithful & affectionate

S. H. Linzee

Tell Sally I shall write her by the next Packet. John I suppose is not at Boston or he would sometime write me; my best love to Susan, and when Peace is restored I shall certainly visit Boston for a short time. My ship Maida is paid off being rotten.

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO THOMAS C. AMORY, ESQ.

His. Maj. Ship Dreadnought, Lisbon 7. Jany. 1811.

My dear M^r Amory:

Many months are elapsed since I had the pleasure of receiving a letter from you or my dear Sisters. On my leaving in England in Sept. I wrote to Boston but was then uncertain as to my destination, indeed I was in hopes when I laid off the helmet to have been allowed to remain in the enjoyment of my domestic comforts but alas I fear such a prospect is as yet distant; another year I suppose will give me the rank of an Admiral when I may possibly expect a release from my labours, at any rate for a short time. I have been married nearly eight years & have not passed three with my family, & to my Brothers & Sisters I am certainly a stranger, but I look forward with pleasure to the period (however distant) that will enable me to visit them.

Has any thing been done respecting Rowe's debt to our good old Aunt, I think that it is time it should be settled. I hope soon to hear from you, be so good as to direct to me as before Penzance, Cornwall, where M^{rs} Linzee remains, as our stay at Lisbon is precarious

My dear M^r. Amory:

A vessel sails for Boston in a day or two, I will not let her go without saying that I am well, & that I shall be truly glad to hear that you & my dearest sisters and their numerous offsprings are equally so. The last accounts I rec^d from Boston was from our Brother Tilden dated 2 June 1810 before I left Cadiz, but I did not receive it until I arrived in England when I immediately wrote him. I suppose by this the Rowes will be thinking of coming to a settlement with us. I think that it is high time they should if they possess in them honour or honesty for I believe it is nearly five years since M^{rs} Rowe died. You will much oblige me if you would send me a statement of what property I have in that Country including my share of what may be coming to me from the Rowe's account. If I recollect there is a very small sum in the Stock which was left by my father, but I have been so much at sea that I really am perfectly ignorant of my concerns especially as all my papers respecting my American property is with M^{rs} Linzee. I will also thank you to write to me Penzance as my stay at Lisbon is very uncertain. I have wrote Mr. Tilden by this conveyance. When I last heard from M^{rs} Linzee she & my two children were well, give my love to all my family & believe me very faithfully & truly your Affec^t.

LETTER FROM ADMIRAL SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH ROWE AMORY.

Penzance, July 3, 1815.

My dear M^{rs}. Amory:—

Sir Isaac Coffin was the bearer of many letters from me to my dearest relatives in America, but as his movements appeared so uncertain I defer'd writing you until the Packet which sails in a day or two for New York. My last account from Boston was dated in March; Sally mentions your having met with an accident, before this I hope you are recovered and that you continue with your children to enjoy uninterrupted happiness, time has no doubt reconciled to your mind the ever harder loss you have experienced, but not even time can make up to us all for being deprived of the friendship & service of your ever to be remembered husband M^r Amory, believe my dearest Hannah altho years have separated us, that I felt all a Brother on such an occasion could do. You are blessed with a lovely family; your children cannot fail of giving you comfort under your heavy affliction. I thank your Son Thomas Rowe for his letter to me dated 5 of March, tell him by the next Packet I will answer it. I shall regularly write to some of you by every New York Packet. I was in hope to have been able to have visited Boston before this but alas circumstances have prevented, when Peace is restored I hope to see you all, believe the Children of my dearest Mother are most dear to me. M^{rs} Linzee whom you must recollect as being Wooldridge is anxious to pay you a visit, but her health is bad & she has a young family, which compels me to object to her undertaking the voyage. You are often the subject of my thoughts & be assured all near & dear to my heart. I have two Boys & a Girl & soon expect an increase, four I have lost. I wrote Susan your Daughter by Sir Isaac, but I dare say none of the letters will reach you as he is very thoughtless. God bless you my dear Sister, give my love to all & believe me your affectionate Brother

My Daughter who is 8 years old desires her duty to you & her Aunts & love to her Cousins.

LETTER FROM ADMIRAL SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH ROWE AMORY.

Penzance, March 8th, 1816.

My dear Sister:

Captain Coffin of the Navy being on his departure for America & on a visit to Boston, I avail myself of the opportunity of writing by him to say that myself, wife & four children are well. M^{rs} Linzee was brought to bed of a fine Girl on the 17 of Dec^r. making my number two of each sex; the baby called after our dear departed Mother Susannah Inman, she is a fine child, & I hope will live to be as amiable a character; oh my dearest Sister, I know look forward to the happiness of seeing you all in the Spring 1817, this year I am about to move my family to the City of Exeter, for the advantage of getting Masters' for my eldest Girl Emily, & two boys one of which is 8 years old & the other 4, my daughter is nearly nine; a clever girl, & the Image of her Mother whom as Emily Wooldridge you may remember. I shall certainly see you all in 1817, early in the Spring; my health from my wound is not very good & I think it will shorten my days; however we must submit to Providence; I have not heard from Boston for many months & am anxious to have some accounts, believe that I shall ever regret the distance fate has placed us from each other, & all from the imprudence of our Father, however it is useless & wrong to reflect on those who are no more. M^{rs} Linzee & my children desire their Love to you, their Aunts, & all their Cousins, & often say how they long to see them; but I fear to move my Family which is now large would be impossible. M^{rs} Linzee flatters herself she will accompany me to Boston, but her health is delicate & I fear she would never outlive the voyage or support the absence from her Children. Now my dear Sister Amory believe that I look forward with much happiness to the pleasure of seeing my dearest Sisters & Brothers John & Ralph & be assured I am your affectionate Brother

LETTER FROM ADMIRAL SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE TO MRS. HANNAH ROWE AMORY.

Plymouth, 10th March 1818.

My dearest Sister: —

Twenty six years elapsed the 26 of last Dec^r last, since I took my leave of you, a time too long to reflect on; but my dearest Hannah allow me to assure you, that my affection & love for you, & my Sisters was so early implanted in my heart, by our beloved & ever regretted Mother, at an early age; that our long separation has not deprived me of those feelings. My constant correspondence with you truly good & much beloved M^{rs} Amory kept alive every feeling of love & gratitude, & your amiable daughter has by her affectionate letters increased my particular esteem for her. M^r Cunningham's letter containing the happiness & the unanimity of my Brothers & Sisters has given me the most grateful satisfaction, & under the misfortune of my distance from America, & long absence from those with whom only I am connected in the world, has been the greatest comfort; I therefore hope he will continue his correspondence.

Since I quitted Boston, I have been constantly at sea & separated from M^{rs} Linzee 10 years out of sixteen we have been married, the only time of our living together, has been these last three years, during which period her health has been very uncertain, having suffered severely from her repeated confinements; our family has been nine children, six Boys & three Girls, four of the former dead, so we have five, the eldest Emily 10 years & a half; a Boy nine & half, called Sam Hood; another John after our father 5 & ½; and a Girl Susan Inman after our Mother nearly three; the youngest a Girl two months. All my Children resemble our Mother, & my Emily is very like M^{rs} Tilden. I do not exactly know your number or their names, Miss Amory will tell me in her next, also the number Rose has; I am sorry to hear that she does not enjoy good health; I sincerely hope that you do; & that it will please God to spare your valued life to the age of our good old Aunt. I hope it will be in my power to see you, it must depend on the health of M^{rs} Linzee & when she is restored to it. I shall undertake the voyage in the early part of the Spring of another year. Possibly you may recollect her as Emily Woolldridge; from our earliest age we were acquainted, & with her Father I lived after my return from America to England. M^{rs} L. has only one sister, & that is my only connection, so that I am perfectly solus, without a relation in England, you cannot therefore but believe that my Mother's children share with my wife & my own all my love & affection.

M^{rs} Linzee unites with me in sentiments of true regards & esteem, & best love to my Sisters & their Husbands & to their Children. To yourself my dearest M^{rs} Amory accept all a heart can express, & say to my niece I shall ever esteem her; believe me faithfully & sincerely your affectionate Brother

Sam^l Hood Linzee.

P.S. As John & Ralph are stated by M^r Cunningham to be abroad, I shall write them about the time I think they will return. Say to M^r Fitch that I shall write him or my Sister Rose by the next month Packet.

Forest Hills Cemetery.

John Inman Linzee commenced his career as a midshipman at the age of nine on the frigate Penelope commanded by his father; it was the first British man-of-war after the revolution, to fire a salute to the Stars and Stripes in New England waters on the 9 Sept. 1790.

“ John Inman Linzee’s Certificate for serving on board His Majesty’s Ship Penelope from 9 Nov. 1790 to 23 Sept. 1791. To be taken care of ”

The above statement is in the handwriting of Capt. John Linzee and the certificate is signed by him. On the other side of the paper is the following in another’s handwriting:

“ These are to Certify the Principal Officers and Commissioners of His Majesty’s Navy.

That Mr. John Inman Linzee, serv’d as able Seaman on board His Majesty’s Ship the Penelope, from the 9th of Novemr. 1790, to the date hereof; during which time he behaved with diligence and Sobriety, and was always obedient to Command.

Given under my hand on board the said Ship in Halifax Harbor the 23d Sepr. 1791.”

[Signed] John Linzee.

Capt. John Linzee resigned from the British Navy in 1792, when his son John Inman Linzee also left the British service and went to school in Boston, Mass. After completing his education, he entered as an apprentice in the offices of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas C. Amory, until his majority. In the year 1806 he took out his first naturalization papers which we will quote:

“ COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

To all people to whom these presents shall come. Greeting: Know Ye, that at a Court of Common Pleas begun and holden at Boston, within and for the County of Suffolk on the first Tuesday of July in the Year one thousand eight hundred & six.

John Inman Linzee of Boston in the County of Suffolk Merchant, was admitted to become a Citizen of the United States, according to the Act of Congress in such case made and provided —

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Boston aforesaid, this eighteenth day of August, in the Year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and six, and in the thirty first Year of the Independence of the United States of America.

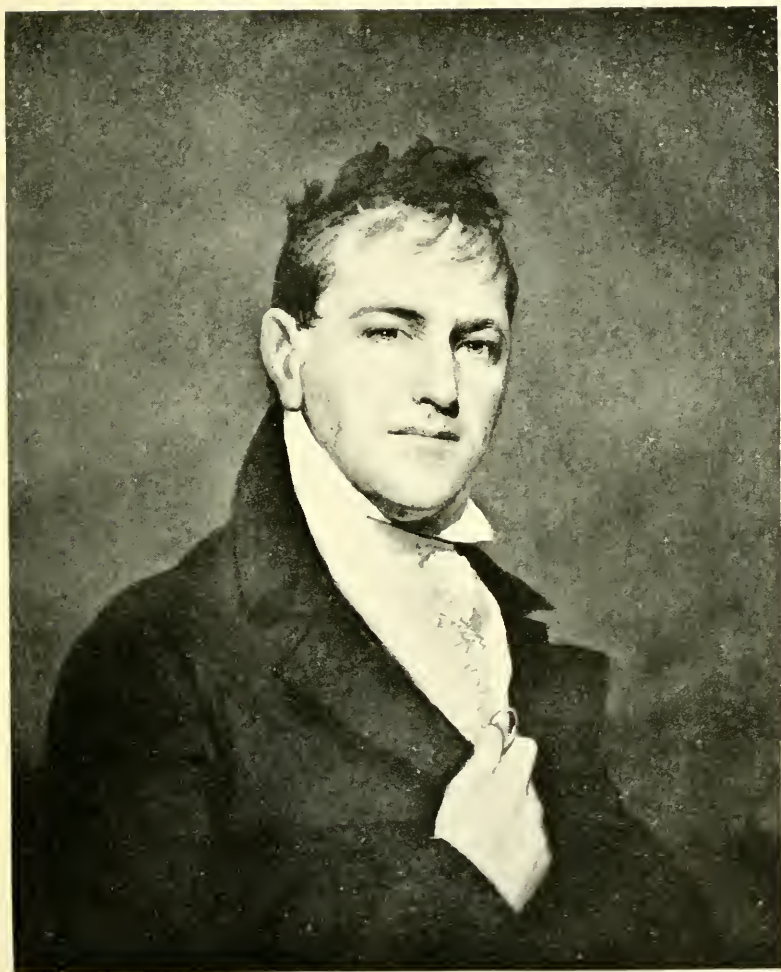

Jno. Tucker, Clerk.”

His final papers were signed on 22 May 1810 by the same Clerk.

After his marriage in 1807, he became a member of the Boston Episcopal Charitable Society on the 24th of Apr. 1810. From 1810 to 1818 he made several voyages as supercargo to Mediterranean ports, as shown from letters of his dated Gibraltar 10 Mar. 1818 and 4 Apr. 1818, addressed to his brother-in-law, John B. Fitch of Boston. In one of those letters he stated that he intended to sail from that port direct to the Canary Islands.

Finally, he resigned from private business and entered the office of the Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, from which he retired after a number of years of service in the year 1837.

In 1857 his Golden Wedding was celebrated, which was about the first celebration of such an event in Boston. Many friends gathered at his residence, on which occasion his first grandson, John Torrey Linzee, was christened in Boston, and on the same day his second grandson, Lewis Linzee, was christened in Calcutta, India. The occasion was noticed in verse.

THOMAS COFFIN AMORY
1767-1812

THE GOLDEN WEDDING.

19 May 1857.

When Time has spread his pinions
O'er many fleeting years
And filled wide earth's dominions
With doubts and hopes and fears,

And trusting souls, embracing
The fondest, purest ties
All severed while enlacing,
Recall him as he flies.

With prayers and supplication
For those whose race is run,
Still feel that consolation
Is yet beneath the sun.

On these a bright May morning
Diffuses o'er and o'er
Its balm and rosy dawning
At one old friendly door.

They ne'er forget the greetings
Of far and distant days,
The welcomes and repeatings
Of ever pleasant lays.

They count both oft and many
The bright and genial smiles
Which well compare with any
In grace and charms and wiles.

They ponder on this kindness
Wherever they may roam
And should not, without blindness,
Pass the threshold of a home,

Where fifty years have striven
In vain to harden hearts
So well prepared by Heaven
In all excelling parts, —

Without a word revealing,
 A prescience from above,
 Which o'er the bosom stealing
 Gives tenderness and love.

Then let them ere they enter,
 In sweet simplicity,
 The Golden Wedding's center,
 Whisper — Benedicite.

One of the Barclays.

Verses written by Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis on the celebration of Mrs. John Inman Linzee's Golden Wedding, 19 May 1857.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING.

May 19th 1857.

You stand among your friends to-day,
 As once before you stood,
 When Love's bright torch illumed the way,
 In youth and maidenhood.

The sunset of your life has come,
 But not with it the gloom,
 Though fifty years have passed away,
 You have not lost your bloom.

That graves itself upon your heart,
 As erst upon your face,
 Though fifty years have passed away,
 There Time has left no trace.

No trace but to imprint itself,
 Upon the hearts of friends,
 With touches that old Time defy,
 And only goodness lends.

And he the lover, husband, friend,
 To whom your vows were given,
 Is here with love and faith to lend,
 Aid in the path to Heaven.

Together you have trod the path,
 Oft full of toil and pain
 Together have you thanked your God,
 When light has shone again.

And now as comes this "golden year",
 So few are blest to see,
 And love and friendship join to cheer
 And to rejoice with thee.

Another tie has come to bind
 Your hearts in fuller joy,
 This day to the baptismal font
 Your son brings his first boy.

And doubly is this joy your own
 For far beyond the sea,
 Another son this festival
 Has shared for love of thee.

Another child to make this day
 More blest of heaven and earth
 At the same time you celebrate Received a Christian's birth.

Though glorious is the sun's first light,
 And bright life's morning ray,
 In our own sunset's glow so bright
 More gorgeous than mid-day,

We hail the promise of the night,
 Calm and sweet even-tide,
 And soothed by its peaceful, cheering light
 Adown life's evening glide.

We cannot even bid the wind
 To blow as seemeth to us best,
 In all submissive hearts will find
 That right — which is His high behest.

But we may trust that like this year,
 So full of blessings past,
 May be the days that yet remain
 Each brighter than the last.

For Mrs. Linzee.

Lines addressed to Mrs. John Inman Linzee on her Golden Wedding, 19 May 1857, by the poet Dr. Thomas William Parsons.

On this happy occasion the Rev. Dr. Paul of Philadelphia offered the following toast —

Let us sing the Golden Wedding
Of Uncle Linzee and his bride,
Who, after fifty years of bedding,
We find still lingering side by side.

One of the newspapers of the day had this to say about this celebration —

“And such truly was a Golden Wedding, occurring this week, which every adventitious circumstance combined to encircle with a halo of peace and love, to the entire satisfaction of troops of relatives and friends.”

John Inman Linzee had blue eyes, light brown hair, and pink complexion; his wife Elizabeth (Tilden) Linzee was of very similar appearance.

(Suff. No. 42142) Be it remembered that I John I. Linzee of the City of Boston Gentleman make my last Will thus —

I give bequeath and devise to my wife Elizabeth all the estate real personal & mixed of every kind name & nature soever of which I shall die seized & possessed to hold the same to her & her heirs forever; And all interest in land which I may hereafter acquire shall pass to her under this will, Whereof I appoint her Executrix — Witness my hand & seal hereto set this fifteenth day of January A.D. My dear Mr. Linzee, —

I have found the records of Trinity Church in all cases for which you inquire except the first, but find no record in the latter part of 1808 or in the year 1809 showing the baptism of George Linzee. The other records are as follows:

April 24, 1814. Susan Inman, daughter of John Linzee, sponsors, Parents and Mrs. Joseph Tilden.

(The name of Tilden is somewhat obscure, but I think that is the name.)

August 20, 1816. Grace Ingersoll, daughter of Ralph Linzee, sponsors, the parents and Mary Linzee Dexter.

May 1, 1820. Thomas C. Amory, son of John Inman and Elizabeth Linzee, sponsors Thomas C. Amory, Thomas A. Dexter and Elizabeth Linzee.

August 24, 1821. John William, son of John Linzee, sponsors the parents and Nathan Appleton.

In none of these cases is there any entry showing the name of the officiating clergyman, but the Rev. Dr. John Sylvester John Gardiner was Rector of the Church during that whole period and had no assistants. All the entries are in the same handwriting and it is safe to infer that the baptisms were administered by him.

In regard to the first name. Can there be any mistake in the date you give me? I shall be glad to make further search if you can give me another clue.

Yours very truly,

[Signed] F. B. Sears.

(Suff. CLIX²: 151) I Elizabeth Linzee of the city of Boston, widow of John I. Linzee, give my property to my son Thomas C. A. Linzee, in trust, and to pay the income to my daughter Susan during her life, and upon the death of said Susan, to transfer one fourth to the children of said Susan, if she leave any, and if she leave no children, then to such person or persons as the said Susan shall in her last will direct. And in case said Susan shall leave no issue, or will, then said one fourth part shall be divided as hereinafter directed in regard to the remainder of the said trust. The remainder shall be equally divided among my other three children, namely, the said Thomas, Elizabeth and John; son Thomas C. A. Linzee, executor of this my will. Made 9 Feb. 1861. Witnesses; Eliza Sturgis, Martha Robb, Mary P. Tilden. Proved 23 Sept. 1861.

Children of Thomas C. A. Linzee: — John T. Linzee, Elizabeth Linzee, Marian Linzee Weld wife of C. Minot Weld.

On the 10 June 1915, the surviving children of John W. Linzee were, Lewis Linzee, Josephine W. Linzee, John W. Linzee; but on 26 Oct. 1915, the surviving children were Lewis and John W. Linzee.

Robert George Linzee was educated at Eton College and Christ College, Oxford; he took the M.A. degree. For many years he was chairman of the Romsey, Hants, Board of Guardians of the poor, and also Chairman of the Romsey County Bench of magistrates. He was deeply interested in and exercised a commanding and active part in all county matters, devoting most of his time to the public good. His residence was at Jermyns, Romsey, the estate being noted for its attractiveness.

LETTER FROM EDWARD LINZEE PENFOLD TO ROBERT GEORGE LINZEE.

Dear Sir: —

I was very pleased to get your letter giving particulars of your visit to Kingston Church & of your interview with Canon Jacob. I have read it over several times with increasing interest. Although I had quite lost sight of the Linzee tomb yet what you say about it has forcibly recalled it to my mind. I knew it well in former days, but as it is 35 years since I left Portsmouth it is not surprising that I had forgotten it. I do not doubt that the Linzees & the Linzeys are branches of one family, the orthography in both cases being originally based on the choice of some one who preferred his own form of spelling to any other. The record that you traced in the Register of the Baptism of Richard Linzee, son of Edward Penfold on the 14th May 1774 points to the connecting link between the Linzees and the Penfolds.

The wife of the Edward Penfold thus referred to was certainly a Linzee. Their family consisted of George (an intimate friend of the Hood & Bridport families, whose memory is preserved in your family by the little Penfold relic), William (my grandfather), John Linzee, Robert, Richard Linzee and Edward (of the existence of whom I was not aware till I read over the will of the oldest of the brothers, George, a few days ago). I believe there was also a daughter named Rebecca. Mrs Crawford was daughter of John Linzee Penfold, and another of his daughters was the wife of Admiral Pasco, Nelson's Flag Lieut. at Trafalgar; and tracing this branch a generation lower I may say that the Pascos' eldest daughter (Horatia) was the wife of Admiral McHardy, for many years the chief constable of the County of Essex. The John & Frances Mary Penfold referred to on the back of Mrs Crawford's Headstone were a brother & sister of my own.

As you were not able to trace any record of Edward Linzee the mayor in the Register at Kingston, may it not be found in that of St. Thomas, Portsmouth. I have a pretty strong conviction that it was he who lived in the house in Green Row, opposite the Governors Green which was afterwards the Post Office, but is now either a private residence again or a part of the Club House. This house I refer to is in the heart of Portsmouth and but a stone's throw from St. Thomas Church. Would not the family of the mayor prefer that one who had filled that office should be buried in the ground of the Parish Church of the town of which he had been chief magistrate?

Believe me, Yours Truly,

E. L. Penfold.

R. G. Linzee Esq^{re}
Jermyns.

Abstract of the will and three codicils of Robert George Linzee of Jermyn, Romsey, Hants. (Ref. 924, 1889, Somerset House Probate).

John W. Linzee, Esq.
Charles Street.

My dear Sir: —

In compliance with the request of the managers of St. Paul's Domestic Missionary Society, I send you this minute adopted at their last meeting.

Yours very truly,

Rebekah Ketchum, Secretary.

February 16, 1897.

On the second Sunday in Advent, December sixth, 1896.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tilden Linzee Warren passed from the shadows of this earthly life, to the mansions prepared for the faithful, in the everlasting Kingdom of our God.

To those who have been associated with our late Honorary President, in the work of this Society, which was, ever, so near her heart, the feeling of present loss will be, at once, & completely overmastered by the certainty of her great and everlasting gain.

It would be difficult, and even impossible to state, in a brief and imperfect sketch, what were the predominant characteristics that made her personality a living power among us; yet we can, one and all, bear witness to the unaffected simplicity, the truth, and the zeal, which for so many years, have guided our efforts in this branch of our Missionary Service; while we also recall the many other works of love to our Master, in which she delighted to honor Him, and to obey His voice.

Remembering her kind and gentle words of encouragement, we can also remember, with gratitude, her firmness and decision in opposing whatever she felt to be at variance with truth and right; many instances of which served only to strengthen the love and regard of those who knew her best. At the same time, her own humility was so great that she shrank from even the thought of making known the good that she did in secret.

This feeling was so strong with her, that she was, for some time, opposed to the joining of the "Woman's Auxiliary", during its early days, by "St. Paul's Domestic Missionary Society", saying in substance, "This Society has been doing its quiet work for years, and why should it, ever, come before the public?"

Eventually, however, Mrs. Warren yielded to the wish of many of our members, and I think she never regretted the enlarged sphere of usefulness that came to us from joining that noble band of the Church's helpers.

After the death of Mr. Warren, whose memory is sainted to all who knew him, it seemed to us that a deeper consecration had entered into her life, and was manifested in every remembrance of him, and every work done for the Master's cause.

MARY LINZEE (AMORY) DEXTER
1798-1859

When failing health made her presence among us less constant, her interest never wavered; but her gifts and the love that prompted them, were ever ready, in advance, for each new work undertaken by the Society. Again and again, she spoke of resigning her office as President: saying she was "useless now", but the answer was ever the same, "We cannot spare you"; and at last, "Let us have your name always". And so, when, to our great joy and comfort, Mrs. Appleton consented to become our President, dear Mrs. Warren also rejoiced in her acceptance of this important work, which she could, no longer, actively share. But her name, as our "Honorary President", was with us, to the end.

We seem still, to hear her voice, when, after opening the meeting, as ever, with the Lord's Prayer and the Collects, she closed, with the benediction.

"The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the Communion of the Holy Spirit, be with each one of us, this day and forevermore".

Sarah D. Barrett.

For St. Paul's Domestic Missionary Society.

134. THOMAS C. AMORY LINZEE, son of John Inman Linzee (123) and Elizabeth Tilden; b. 21 Oct. 1819, Boston, Mass.^o; bapt. 1 May 1820, at Trinity Church†, by Rev. Dr. Gardiner, as Thomas C. Amory son of John Inman and Elizabeth Linzee; d. 1 Jan. 1863 Boston*, as Thomas C. A., aged 43 y. 9 m. 10 d., son of John I. Linzee, born England, and Elizabeth Tilden born Boston; bur. Forest Hills Cemetery; m. Sarah Parker Torrey, 14 Nov. 1855 Boston*, by Rev. Ezra Stiles Gannett (1); dau. of John Gore and Susan Linzee (Tilden) Torrey (122-1) of Boston*; b. 25 Mar. 1831, Boston^o; d. 7 Feb. 1903, Boston*, as Sarah P. (Torrey), widow of Thomas C. A. Linzee, aged 71 y. 11 m. 13 d., dau. of John G. and Susan (Tilden) Torrey; bur. Forest Hills Cemetery.

Thomas C. Amory Linzee in his early career was in mercantile life, and afterwards became Treasurer of the Lancaster Mills at Lowell, Mass. He was a Lieutenant in the New England Guards. The following notice of his death was written by James S. Amory, Esq., of Boston:—

"The late Mr. Linzee. When we miss from the business walks of life a form well known; one whose goings forth and returnings have been constantly marked for nearly twenty-five years; who was noted for his appearance of vigorous strength; for his manliness of character; his strict integrity; his unselfishness; his kindly heart; his fidelity in all commercial relations; and we know that he will be no more seen amongst us, it seems scarcely sufficient that the record should only be, 'Died, T. C. A. Linzee, aged 43.'

"There is a deeper and more useful lesson, a juster and more fitting tribute in the addition of a few brief thoughts as we realize that he has finished his course. Mr. Linzee's career teaches us this: That a young man who enters upon the business of the world with the elevated object of attaining independence through his own exertions, not simply that he may be rich, nor that he may be successful solely to gratify his own ambitions, but that he may minister to the wants of others; that he may honorably sustain an honored name, that he may consistently, generously and steadfastly maintain his position, to comfort aged parents, watch over the welfare of others who look to him for counsel and advice, and build up by slow degrees an individual character which may make his mature life valuable and useful to many friends, neither lives in vain, nor dies unlamented."

(Suff. CCCCXVIII: 157) Sarah Parker Linzee, as principal, and John G. Torrey and John Revere, both of said Boston, as sureties, bound 12 Jan. 1863, that Sarah Parker Linzee, guardian of John Torrey Linzee, Elizabeth Linzee and Marian Linzee, all of Boston, minors, shall render an account for said wards, and appoint her their guardian. In presence of Anna D. Torrey, Martha Cameron, Geo. W. Tilden, Ann B. Adams.

John T. Linzee, b. 6 Aug. 1856, Elizabeth Linzee, b. 12 Apr. 1858, Marian Linzee, b. 11 May 1862, minors, and children of Thomas C. A. Linzee, late of said Boston, deceased, and Sarah P. his wife.

(Suff. CLXI: 312) First account of John Revere, admr. of the estate of T. C. A. Linzee, late of Boston, Co. Suff., deced, approved for myself and as Guardian of John Torrey Linzee, Elizabeth Linzee and Marian Linzee.

Anne Brigette Mahé m. 1st Mark Haggard, 19 Oct. 1842 Calcutta, by Father J. McCabe^o; son of William Debonaire Haggard, chief of the bullion office of the Bank of England, by his wife Jane Le Crew^o; b. 10 Feb. 1821 London, England^o; d. about 1853 Calcutta^o. (The Mahé Family, by John William Linzee).

His second wife is a descendant of Olivier Mahé, lord of Kerguegen, by his wife Françoise de Kerbiguer, of Bretagne, France.

John William Linzee, the last of his generation, passed away in his ninety-fourth year from an attack of double pneumonia; in appearance he was not over seventy, being erect of carriage and over five feet ten inches in height; his eyes were large and blue and a well developed physique harmoniously blended with the rest of him. Daily he attended to his business affairs in the throngs of the rushing city, in touch with the changes in methods, keenly alive to the evolution of things about him, from the steam engine to the latest flying machine, and apparently a man well equipped to hold his own with the younger men of his day. In describing his life, many landmarks of Boston and other lands, of things and persons, could be marshalled before the vision of those who are interested in what used to be, but the following will suffice.

He received his first education at Miss Prescott's school at the corner of Chestnut and Walnut streets, Boston, which later removed to West Cedar Street. He next attended a private school on Pitts Street, in the West End, but the name of the principal has passed from memory. At the age of seven and a half years, he entered the Boston public school on Mason Street, and a year later joined Mr. Whitney's private school on Harvard Place, the entrances being in a narrow passage from School Street and a roadway from Washington Street.

When he reached the age of nine and one half years, he became a pupil of the Boston Public Latin School on School Street, and three years later passed into the Boston Public High School at the corner of Pinckney and Anderson streets, from which he graduated in 1837. This building is still in existence as a public school, and he had in those days Mr. Solomon Pearson Miles, a relative by marriage, as his well beloved principal (1).

When a youth he took especial interest in sailing, so that his natural tastes dictated a commercial life connected with the sea. He was fond of the gymnasium, and later in life of horseback riding.

In the year of his graduation from high school, he entered the dry goods commission house of Samuel Frothingham and William Richards Lawrence, located at the northeast corner of the junction of Water and Congress streets; remaining with them less than a year, profitably and happily spent in the accumulation of business methods and trade experiences. The next year Mr. Linzee accepted an offer from John James Dixwell Esq., an East India and China merchant with offices on India Wharf, and later on State Street, and remained in his employ until he attained his majority in 1842.

Gaining by degrees the confidence of the business houses of the day, he was selected to begin his travels as clerk and supercargo in the interests of Mr. Diswell, Mr. Francis Bacon, and Messrs. Crocker and Warren of New York, respectively.

For the benefit of his descendants, friends and those interested in shipping affairs, a short list of his voyages will be given, until he made his last voyage home in May 1884, covering an elapsed time of forty-two years.

He became a Royal Arch Mason in 1857, and formed the partnership of Dutts, Linzee & Co., who besides the ordinary commission trade with America, engaged largely in army commissariat contracts with the British East India Government until 1861.

STEAMERS.

PENINSULAR AND ORIENTAL LINE STEAMER, from Calcutta for Madras, Galle, Aden and Suez; crossed the desert to Cairo, thence per Nile steamer to Atfey and canal to Alexandria; then embarked on a steamer of the Austrian Lloyd's Co., for the Adriatic, touching at Corfu, and disembarking at Trieste. Visited Venice, Vienna, Prague, Dresden, Frankfort and Paris; thence to England and by steamer from Liverpool to Boston. Returned to Calcutta via England, Southampton, Alexandria and Overland route to Suez, etc.

He served in the Calcutta Volunteer Cavalry, organized for the protection of their homes by the citizens and foreign residents at the outbreak of the Sepoy Mutiny.

PENINSULAR AND ORIENTAL LINE STEAMER ALMA, from Calcutta about May 1859, for Madras, Galle, Aden, etc., but in June, while in the Red Sea, she became a total wreck on Harnish, a coral reef, about 40 miles from Mocha. The steamer turned over on her side with more than half her length below water, and after a few days slid off into deep water. The passengers, of whom two died from the exposure, remained on the reef nearly three days, when one of the ship's boats returned with help from H.M.S. Phlegethon, then taking soundings off the path of ships. Fortunately the sufferings from the intense heat, lack of shade and shortage of food were not augmented by a boisterous sea, as the reef was only three feet above water. After a week's delay at Aden, he continued his voyage to Suez, Alexandria, Marseilles, England and Boston.

He returned to Calcutta via England and Overland route to Suez, in Feb. 1860, and there embarked in the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Bentick for Calcutta, which ran ashore in the Gulf of Suez and remained fast for three days during a strong gale of wind and sand; the ship was nearly a total wreck, but with the advent of better weather and the throwing overboard of coal and a portion of her cargo, she was floated off and proceeded in a leaky condition to Aden and Calcutta. There he continued as a member of the firm of Lewis, Bailey & Co.

In 1862, he received the appointment, under President Lincoln's administration, of Vice-Consul General of the United States of America at Calcutta, and held that office until 1871.

Calcutta, April 30th 1863

Charles L. Wilson Esq.

Secy of Legation of the United States of America London.

Sir:—

In compliance with the request expressed in your communication of the 6th March last, I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of the certificate of my appointment, at this Place, as Vice Consul General for the United States of America.

I am, Sir,

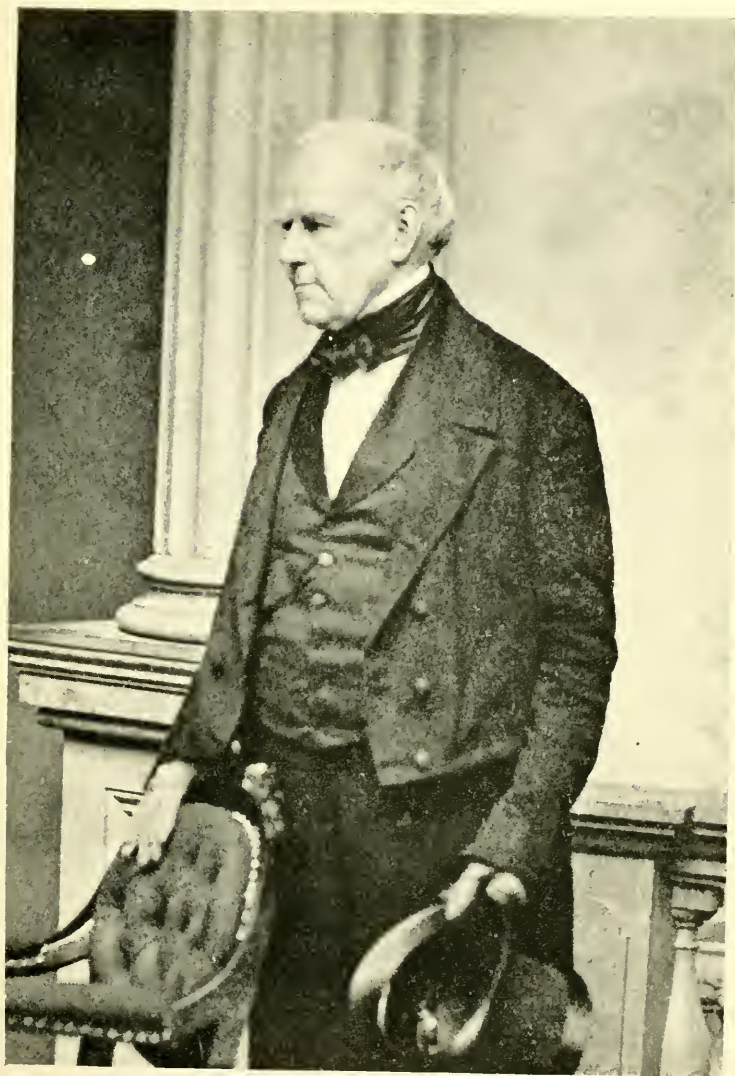

Your Obedient Servant

Jn^o. W. Linzee
U. S. Vice Consul General.

On the 28th of Mar. 1868, Mr. Linzee sailed from Calcutta on the English ship Andromeda, Captain Thompson, with his whole family, and arrived at Liverpool the 6th of Aug. following. This vessel had been built to run the blockade of the Confederate States. After two trips to Boston and return, he and the family sailed from London the 6th of Oct. 1869, on the English ship Tantalou Castle, Captain Howson, and arrived at Calcutta the 17th of Jan. 1870, where he remained until Dec. of 1876, engaged in the usual commission business between India and America.

Having been actively occupied in the East India trade for over thirty-four years, it was hard to leave the beautiful city of Calcutta, where life was fragrant with variety from every quarter of the world, and the standard of living more luxurious than is generally possible elsewhere among business gentlemen, yet the longing for home and Boston could no longer be resisted, and Mr. Linzee left India forever in Dec. of 1876 with his whole family, sailing on the Italian steamer Roma, Captain C. G. Rolla, and after a delightful voyage touching at Colombo, the Suez Canal, Port Said and the Straits of Messina, landed at Naples, where the beautiful sights of southern Italy were visited, and the same enjoyments continued en route via Genoa, Marseilles, St. Malo, to Southampton, England, arriving there in the late spring of 1877.

From 1877 to 1882, several trips were made to places of interest (like the Cathedral city of Salisbury), extending from London to

THOMAS COFFIN AMORY DEXTER
1790-1873

Bristol, and to the summer resorts of the south and southeastern coasts, also to Paris, Bordeaux, Pau, Cannes, Mentone and Nice in France, and to Milan, Venice, Bologna, Florence, Rome, etc., in Italy; also a trip home to Boston and return to Southampton in 1882. Finally, in 1884, he came back to the city of his birth with his youngest son, being followed a year later by his wife and daughter, and never cared to leave Boston again. His eldest son, Lewis Linzee, had married in England, became a British subject, and continues to reside there. Mr. Linzee was a Republican and a member of the Episcopal Church.

His life shows an honorable record, calling for much variety of ability, and a stanch adherence to a high standard of integrity and duty. He died while President of the Lindsay Family Association of America, in which he was deeply interested.

OBITUARY.

TO JOSEPHINE LINZEE.

There are some gentle, trusting souls
 Who savor more of Heaven than earth,
 And walk the ways of mortal life,
 With longing for immortal birth,
 Who look upon the world's vain show
 With tranquil, half-averted eyes,
 As darkly through a glass they see
 The eternal joy of Paradise.

Of such was our dear Josephine.
 Stern Duty's path she calmly trod,
 With thought upon the things unseen,
 The real things of Heaven and God,
 When hark! — It is her Lord who speaks,
 And swift the Angel reaper flies — — "Gather her in, sweet Azrael, Lo, she is ripe for Paradise."

145. JOHN TORREY LINZEE, son of Thomas C. Amory Linzee (134) and Sarah Parker Torrey; b. 6 Aug. 1856, Nahant, Mass., by Boston*; bap. 19 May 1857, by Rev. Dr. Lothrop at No. 7 Franklin Place, the day of his grandfather's and grandmother's Golden Wedding (70 to 80 present)^o; m. Anita Homer Manson, 28 Apr. 1891, Boston*, by Rev. Phillips Brooks at Trinity Church; dau. of Charles Frederick and Elizabeth Tenney (Cutter) Manson of Cambridge, Mass.^o; b. 4 July 1866, Brooklyn, N. Y.^o.

John Torrey Linzee was educated at St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, and then graduated from Harvard University with the class of 1877. After a year and a half spent in European travel, he returned home and entered as clerk the stock brokerage firm of E. Rollins Morse and Brother on the 1 Feb. 1879, where he was elected a partner in May 1891. He continued in the banking and brokerage business until January 1901, when he retired from that firm on account of ill health. Later he had charge of the branch office of Hayden, Stone and Co. at Bar Harbor, Maine, for several summers. After his marriage, he lived on an attractive estate in Milton until 1905, when he purchased a house on Marlboro Street, Boston, where he now resides. He is a member of the Somerset Club.

Residence, — 18 Marlboro St., Boston, Mass.

Family records of John Torrey Linzee (145) were contributed by himself.

146. MARIAN LINZEE, dau. of Thomas C. Amory Linzee (134) and Sarah Parker Torrey; b. 11 May 1862, Boston, Mass.^o; m. Christopher Minot Weld, 24 Apr. 1889, Boston*, at her home 20 Marlboro St., by Rev. Francis G. Peabody; son of Francis Minot and Elizabeth (Rodman) Weld^o; b. 2 Oct. 1858, Jamaica Plain, West Roxbury, Boston^o.

Christopher Minot Weld was educated for college at Hopkinson's School in Boston. After graduating from Harvard with the class of 1880, he visited Europe and the far East, and upon his return home entered the cotton manufacturing business with his father. Later he became for a number of years the president of the Washington National Bank, and then that of the Suffolk National Bank, both of Boston. He was also for a year the president of the John P. Squire Packing Co. He has served now for many years as president of the New England Cotton Yarn Co., with offices in Boston. In Sept. 1911, he added to his business activities by entering the firm of Amory, Browne & Co., dry goods commission merchants. He is a prominent member of various social clubs in Boston and its vicinity.

It is with diffidence that I write a sketch of my life, but there is no one left to do me this service. The indolence of India, the land of my birth, is responsible for my chief trait, so that if I have accomplished anything, it is due to Boston and the education gained within her hallowed halls of learning that I am able to record a life not devoid of service to others indirectly.

My first school training began at Southampton, England, in 1877, and lasted until 1884, but it was lamentably interrupted, owing to the sad illness of my youngest sister, by constant trips of the family to France for the benefit of her health until her death at Cannes in 1881. In 1883, I succeeded in passing the local examinations of the University of Cambridge, and then in 1884 sailed for Boston, where the diploma from that English college admitted me to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology without any other requirement, and I have to thank Mr. Elliot Sturgis, of the class of 1884, for successfully gaining for me that privilege.

I graduated from Tech in May 1889, in the Department of Civil Engineering, with the degree of Bachelor of Science, my sheepskin being signed by that much-esteemed president, General Francis A. Walker. Tech's gifts to her students are a power in usefulness; they should be considered a necessity by all educational standards, and not a luxury.

Wishing to acquire a little of Harvard's spirit, I joined that University in the autumn of 1889, and graduated in June of 1890 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, signed by Charles W. Eliot, president. The education at Harvard, however useful to the generality of students, was to me a pleasure and a luxury. I am a charter life member of the Harvard Engineering Society.

Before leaving the Institute, I assisted in the development of a public improvement, known as the Beacon Street extension, from Boston to the Reservoir in beautiful Brookline, under Messrs. Aspinwall and Lincoln, civil engineers. After graduation from Harvard, I spent the year 1890-91 with Mr. John R. Freeman in fire insurance, making plans and inspections of mill plants in our Atlantic States. I then studied law at Boston University, with the intention of becoming a lawyer with technical ability, but my eyesight began to fail, owing to improper glasses, and I was obliged to earn a living as best I could until 1896, when I tried bridge design on the Boston and Maine Railroad, under Mr. J. P. Snow, bridge engineer. Again my eyes would not stand the strain of close indoor employment, and after six months of trial, I resigned for an outdoor position as assistant engineer and inspector on the first Boston Tremont Street Subway, under Mr. Howard A. Carson, chief engineer, when the Park Street, Haymarket Square and Scollay Square stations enabled me to pass two years of my life. It was not until 1898, that the trouble with my eyes was fully diagnosed by Dr. Walter B. Lancaster, but in the interval the focusing muscles had become strained. After 1900 all trouble passed away, for which I am extremely thankful.

In 1898, I laid out the general scheme of the Dudley Street and Sullivan Square terminals of the Boston Elevated Railway, under Mr. George A. Kimball, chief engineer, and then became chief draftsman and assistant engineer under Mr. John C. Ostrup, the designing engineer, for a period of four years, supervising the office plans in the department of steel design, and in charge of all details of structures and the shop drawings.

Among the other structures I was engaged on, may be mentioned the Northampton Street, Dover Street, South and City Square stations, the Lincoln Wharf and Charlestown power plants, and considerable of the structure between stations. In 1902, I temporarily succeeded Mr. Ostrup as designing engineer, until construction ceased.

After 1902, I made plans, which were later constructed, for an electric railway from Lowell to Ayer, Mass., and plans for water power development on the Androscoggin River in the state of Maine, for Messrs. Farnum and Murray, then of Boston.

SUSANNAH (AMORY) PRESCOTT
1802-1869

In 1906, I resumed design work with the Boston Elevated under Mr. Robert B. Davis, and had responsible charge of the difficult and extensive improvements at City Square, Dover Street and Sullivan Square stations.

As a recreation, I am especially interested in historic-genealogic research, and have published a six hundred page volume, with many portraits, of old Boston families, in my History of Peter Parker and Sarah Ruggles of Roxbury, Mass., Their Ancestors and Descendants, and this History of the Linzee Family. I have also nearly completed the History of Christopher Tilden and Sarah Parrott of Boston, Mass., Their Ancestors and Descendants, which is a twin book to my Parker-Ruggles History; the Genealogy of my mother's ancestors, the Mahé Family of France; The Descendants of William Speakman of Boston; and a Genealogy of the Tildens of America.

I am at present the treasurer and assistant secretary of the Lindsay Family Association of America, Incorporated.

Residence, — 848 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

SECTION V.

COATS OF ARMS OF THE LINZEE FAMILY.

EDWARD LINZEE (107), Mayor of Portsmouth, Hants, England.

Recorded at the College of Arms, London, and granted to the descendants of Edward Linzee and his daughter Baroness Susannah (Linzee) Hood, the 14 July 1796. See pedigree and arms by Samuel 1st Viscount Hood given under Thomas Linzee (103).

Arms:—Gules a fess cheque, argent and azure cotised ermineois.

ADMIRAL ROBERT LINZEE (117), son of Edward Linzee (107) above. Seal on his will; contributed by Mr. Henry Robert Linzee (139).

Arms:—Gules, a fesse-chequée, argent and azure.

CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE (118), grandson of John Linzee (105) of Portsmouth who was brother of Edward Linzee (107). He was the founder of the American branch of Linzees. No coat of arms on any of his letters, but on two letters of his wife Susannah (Inman) Linzee, dated 28 Mar. and 28 Apr. 1773, Plymouth Dock, England, addressed to her mother at Cambridge, Mass., the design shown in the margin was pieced together from the seals which were damaged. These seals could have belonged to some member of the company of her husband's ship.

Arms:—What was in chief could not be made out. A lion rampant in base, with something which could not be determined in front and behind the lion.

Crest:—A griffin's head, beaked.

ADMIRAL SAMUEL HOOD LINZEE (120), eldest son of Captain John Linzee (118) above.

J. Brooking Rowe, on p. 72 of his collection of the monuments at St. Andrew's Church, Plymouth, Devon, England, records Admiral Linzee's monument as follows:

Arms:— Gules, a fess chequy, or or argent, and sable, in chief three mullets. But according to the vicar, the Rev. Arthur Peronne, the arms are: Gules, a fess chequy or and argent, in chief three mullets argent.

It is clear that the arms of Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee are of Scottish origin, and should read: Gules, a fesse chequée, argent and azure, three stars in chief.

Crest:— None mentioned by Rowe, but the Rev. Arthur Peronne called it from its abundant tail, a cock; the head and legs are effaced. From Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee's letters, and silverware in the possession of his descendants, the crest is an ostrich with a key in its bill. The wax on his letters below the crest was broken and destroyed by the act of opening the letters.

HANNAH ROWE LINZEE (121) AMORY, eldest daughter of Captain John Linzee (118) above.

On a large silver drinking cup, now in the possession of the writer, which was a wedding present from her to her niece Elizabeth Tilden Linzee (133) when she married Simon Elliot Greene in 1836, is the following:

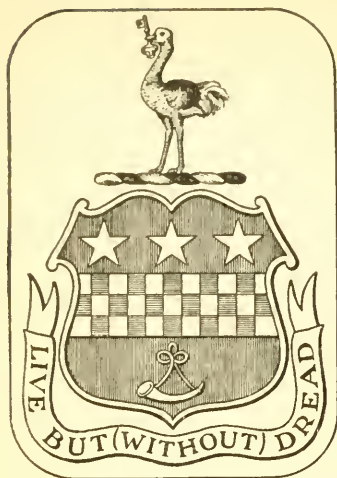

Arms:— Gules, a fesse-chequée, argent and azure, between three stars in chief, and a hunting-horn in base, argent.

Crest:— An ostrich with a key in its bill.

Motto:— Live but (without) dread.

The year 1836 above shows that the arms, crest and motto were not copied from Lord Lindsay's "Lives of the Lindsays," which was first edited in 1849.

[See arms of John Inman Linzee which follows.]

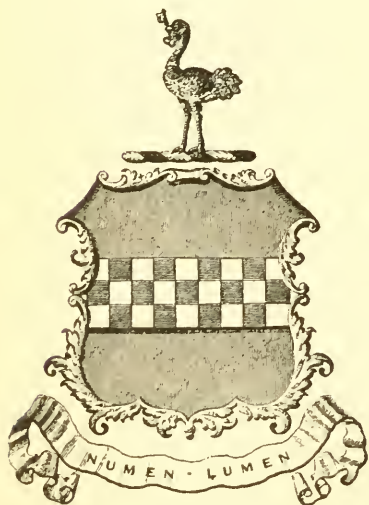

JOHN INMAN LINZEE (123), second son of Captain John Linzee (118) above.

He gave a steel plate seal to his son John William Linzee (135), and said it was the complete arms of his family in England. It agrees exactly with the arms mentioned under Hannah Rowe Linzee (121) Amory.

Arms:— Gules, a fesse-chequée, argent and azure, between three stars in chief, and a hunting-horn in base, argent.

Crest:— An ostrich with a key in its bill.

Motto:— Live but (without) dread.

Edward Hood Linzee

EDWARD HOOD LINZEE (127), grandson of Admiral Robert Linzee (117) above, and eldest son of the Rev. Edward Linzee (119).

Arms:— Gules, a fesse-chequée, argent and azure.

Crest:— An ostrich with a key in its bill.

Motto:— Numen-Lumen.

St. Andrew's Vicarage, Plymouth.
Dec. 10, 1914.

Dear Sir:—

A further inquiry is still being made into the subject of your last letter. But meanwhile in the course of an investigation we have been making of all the tombstones and monuments of the Church, we have found out that the monument to Admiral Linzee of which I sent you a sketch is not after all without the coat of arms. The white shield, which looks perfectly blank from the floor, proves on closer investigation to be chiselled (it is some 12 feet from the ground), and I enclose a rubbing, and a description of the arms as given me by a friend.

Yours faithfully

Arthur Peronne.

Arms: — Gules, a fess chequy or and argent, in chief three mullets argent.

The only difference between the above and Rowe's description is that he makes the fess or, or argent, and sable. The squares are alternate quite plain i.e. argent and studded with little squares, which I take to be or.

Just above the shield is a bird of some sort, now headless and legless, but from its abundant tail, I shd judge it to be a cock. Perhaps that is the family crest.

A. P.

The arms granted to the descendants of Edward Linzee (107) were limited to his branch, and do not descend to the issue of his brother John Linzee (105) the grandfather of Captain John Linzee (118). It is the same as the general arms that all Lindsays are entitled to bear who are descendants of Sir William de Lindeseie (13) of Scotland, mentioned in Chapter III., Section III. The crest of Admiral Robert Linzee (117) was not included in the grant to his father's issue in 1796; therefore the Admiral must have had family tradition or even precedent to warrant him to emblazon the ostrich with a key in its bill. It is certain that he did not borrow his crest from the descendants of Captain John Linzee (118).

It is also safe to say that Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee (120), eldest son of Captain John Linzee, did not copy his coat of arms from Admiral Robert Linzee, as he used three stars in chief in the shield, which are not in the arms of Admiral Robert Linzee. These stars indicate descent from either the Lindsays of Dunrod or the Lindsays of the Byres of Scotland. But the particular branch of the Byres is not indicated until the arms of John Inman Linzee (123) of Boston, Mass., a younger brother of Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee, is consulted, where the branch of Kirkforthar is emphasized by the presence of the hunting-horn in base and the motto "Live but (without) dread".

The records of the Lindsays of Scotland show that the Kirkforthar branch became extinct early in the nineteenth century, as the title of Earl of Lindsay passed from it to another line, and this could not have occurred without complete investigation (Lives of the Lindsays, II: 293-4). Therefore the genuineness of the arms of John Inman Linzee is open to question notwithstanding the corroboration of them by his elder sister Hannah Rowe Linzee (121) Amory in 1836.

Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee and his sister Hannah Rowe Linzee lived with and were old enough to remember any arms, if he had any, of their grandfather John Linzee (109) of Plymouth, Devon, England, who died in 1787. The only difference between them is the hunting-horn in base, which could have been omitted by mistake from the Admiral's monument, or effaced by time.

John Inman Linzee, whose testimony cannot be ignored, distinctly told his son John William Linzee (135) that the arms he bore and presented to his son were those of Captain John Linzee's family in England which was of Scottish origin. It is certain that Admiral Samuel first Viscount Hood would never have claimed his wife to be of Scottish descent and accepted the general Scottish arms, unless he knew that she had a claim to them. But the precise coat of arms of the common ancestor Thomas Linzee (101) of Portsea, if Scottish, is open to different interpretations, as his descendants have not all the same emblazonry.

The Lindsays of Kirkforthar, Eaglescairnie, and Pyetstone in Scotland are by the arms possible ancestors of the Linzees; but they are all extinct except Pyetstone which exists in a younger branch, the Lindsays of Wormestone (Lives of the Lindsays, I: 190, 435, 444-46; II: 295-96).

The Lindsays of Loughry and also of Lochhill are also possible ancestors of the Linzees. In the past, the writer felt that his family possibly came into England with James VI. of Scotland and I. of England, which was the case with the Lindsays of Lochhill, but this cannot be correct if the Linsyes of Wimborne Minster, Dorset, are the true line of ancestry, as they were seated there about 1511 or earlier. Of course the line of Wimborne Minster may be of Scottish origin, perhaps allied to the family of the Rev. John Lindsay the minister of Blandford, Dorset. (Lives of the Lindsays, I: 310, 441; II: 297; and Chapter I., Section III., under Dorset).

RECORDS COPIED FROM A PAPER IN THE POSSESSION OF MARIA LINZEE FITCH.

APRIL 10TH. 1868.

By E. T. L. Warren, to whom it may concern.

Samuel (Lord) Hood married a daughter of Dr. Edward Linzee, Mayor of Portsmouth, England, who was brother of John Linzee, Senior our great grand father. (Note:—The tradition in the American branch of the Linzee family, has always been that it descended from a John, brother of the aforesaid Edward Linzee, but the aforesaid John Linzee Senior is not the brother, but the nephew, being the son of another John Linzee an older brother of Edward. This last John married Rebecca Goven. Remarks by the author).

John Linzee, Senior born Sept. 23^d 1717.

Rose Linzee, his wife born — Dec. 1716.

Their children were:—

John Linzee, born March 25th 1743; Capt. in Royal Navy.

Mrs. Shea, who left two children, John and Richard, whose descendants still reside in England. Capt. Shea, her husband, was in the Royal Army.

Mrs. Smith, she had a son in Boston the 19th May 1807.

John Linzee, of his Majesty's Ship Beaver, married Susannah Inman Sept. 1st, 1772. She was the eldest daughter of Ralph and Elizabeth (1) Inman, and was born in Cambridge, March 22nd 1754, and died Oct. 4th 1792, aged 39 years.

[The foregoing records were confirmed by Mrs. Warren in a letter addressed to John W. Linzee, her brother, dated Aug. 15th, 1874, Brookline, which however contained no further information; we will now proceed with the paper copied from Miss Fitch].

The children of John Linzee and Susannah Inman Linzee, were: —

Samuel Hood Linzee, Admiral, Born at Plymouth, England, Dec. 27th 1773; his first wife was Miss Clark, an English Lady, he married her in Calcutta. She walked the quarter deck during an action with two French Frigates and then scraped lint for the wounded. His second wife was Emily Wooldridge, daughter of Capt. Wooldridge of the Royal Navy.

Hannah Rowe Linzee, born at Boston, N. A., Oct. 19th 1775. Married Thomas C. Amory.

One born Nov. 9th 1777; died on the River Delaware, N. A.

Susannah Linzee, born at the Island of Barbadoes, April 4th 1779. Married Joseph Tilden. She died 1825.

John Inman Linzee, born in Plymouth, England, March 10th 1781, and married Elizabeth Tilden, sister of Joseph Tilden.

Rose Linzee, born in Plymouth, England, April 17th 1783, and died in 1820, aged 37 yrs. She married John Fitch.

Ralph Inman Linzee, born in Plymouth, England, May 18th 1785. Married Anna Cecilia De Neufville for his first wife; his second wife was Mary Ingersoll of New Haven.

Sarah Inman Linzee, born in Plymouth, England, April 15th 1787, and died in 1820. She married Joseph Lewis Cunningham.

Mary Inman Linzee, born in Boston, Massachusetts, June 11th 1789. Died May 18th 1793.

George Inman Linzee, Born in Boston, Aug. 7th 1792. Died March 21st 1793.

Madam Hannah Rowe died in Boston at her residence in Bedford St., July 8th, 1805, aged 80 years.

Thomas C. Amory (husband of H. R. Linzee) died in Boston 15th Nov. 1812, aged 45 yrs.

Ralph I. Linzee, died Aug. 10th, 1834, aged 49 yrs.

(1) [Should be Susanna]. Correction by J. W. Linzee Jr.

Samuel Hood Linzee, died in Plymouth, England, Sept. 1820, aged 47 yrs.

John Linzee, died in Milton, Mass., Oct. 1798, aged 56 years, was buried in Milton.

Another set of records, exactly like the one copied by Mrs. Warren from Miss Maria Fitch, just previously given, has the following information at the end: —

“Written by E. T. L. Warren, née Linzee, — part of it copied from an old family Bible, which belonged to Grand-father Linzee 1777. — he gave it to Aunt Amory 1798. — She left it to her son Thomas C. Amory 1846. — He gave it to Maria Linzee Fitch 1865. — She gave it to Charles Amory youngest son of Aunt Amory, in whose possession it now is.

Jan^y 1st, 1882.

The old Bible of Capt. John Linzee has not been found, but it is clear that it existed, since copies of it by different persons are practically identical. Miss Mary Davies Sohier has assured the present writer that she has seen the Bible and made extracts from it.

THE DESCENDANTS OF MARY LINZEE AND EDWARD PENFOLD.

For the ancestors of Mary Linzee (111), see Chapter V.

111. MARY LINZEE, dau. of John Linzee (105) and Rebecca Goven; bapt. 25 Jan. 1730, Church of Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth, Hants, England (Par. Reg.), as Mary dau. of John and Rebecca Linzee; d.—, at Portsmouth^o; m. Edward Penfold, about 1754-5, —; son of prob. William Penfold, a gentleman farming his own estate at Midhurst, Co. Sussex, who died when his son was quite a boy, leaving his property in the hands of trustees who dissipated the trust, when Edward Penfold, still a minor, was compelled to make his way to Portsmouth about the year 1740, where he gained employment in the Dockyard, eventually rising to the head of one of the mechanical departments^o; the bapt. of Edward is however not at Midhurst (Par. Reg.), and the year of his birth is unknown, yet it should have occurred between 1720-1730, which makes it almost certain that he is not Edward bapt. 29 Nov. 1699-1700, the son of Edward Penfold of Felpham, Sussex, who is mentioned later by Mr. Hugh Penfold; but it is quite possible there was no William Penfold of Midhurst and that Edward Penfold, who married Mary Linzee, was the grandson of Edward Penfold and Mary Cockle of Felpham; Edward Penfold d. —, at Portsmouth^o.

The Penfold family have the tradition that their ancestress Mary (Linzee) Penfold was a close relative of Susannah Linzee (114) who married Samuel 1st Viscount Hood. There has been found in America, in the possession of John Linzee Amory (121-10), a statement in the handwriting of Maria Linzee Fitch, the daughter of Rose Linzee (124) Fitch who was the great-grand-daughter of John Linzee (105) above, as follows: "There was a Mr. Penfold another cousin of ours, and also Capt. Shea of the Royal Navy".

Thus the tradition of the Penfold family in England, and the record of Miss Fitch combined, prove the exact Mary Linzee who could possibly be the wife of Edward Penfold, and by making her the first cousin instead of a sister of Viscountess Hood, their relationship is placed where it does not conflict with authentic records such as the pedigree of Samuel 1st Viscount Hood mentioned under Thomas Linzee (103), and the will of Edward Linzee (107).

A William Penfold of Westminster, shepherd and Susannah Farn-comb of same, spinster, had their marriage lic. recorded the 19 Oct. 1717 (Sussex Marriage Licenses, Archdeaconry of Lewes, — Sussex Rec. Soc., VI: 218); and a William Penfold of Worth and Sarah Bray of Horn, had m. lic. the 1 Oct. 1721 (Sussex Mar. Lic., Arch. of Chichester, — Sussex Rec. Soc., IX: 250).

A George Penfold of Havant b. and Anne Bensen of Westbourne, co. Sussex, sp. had a lic. 21 Dec. 1714; and a Thomas Penfold of Havant and Sarah Atwick of the s. at H. Wymering or Portsmouth had a lic. 28 May 1726: Thomas Atwick, bondsman. (Winchester Marriage Lic., Harleian Soc. Pub.).

Also Abram Penfold and Ann Grant were m. with lic. 20 Jan. 1735–36 at the Church of Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.).

Dear Sir: —

I have been rather busy lately and have not had leisure to dip into matters genealogical, but I lighted upon a sheet, which I enclose, as being interesting to you; it was evidently written to relative of yours some years ago and was handed to me by the writer, the late Mr. Hugh Penfold, when it had been returned to him through the dead letter office in London. Although it was some years ago I remember him telling me about the incident and that he reserved his opinion about the Midhurst origin of the branch you are seeking; he strongly put forward the suggestion that Edward Penfold of Portsea was descended from Edward Penfold of Felpham; to my mind he did not put forward any semblance of proof, but he was a good genealogist and no doubt he had good reasons, and owing to the correspondence ceasing he carried the research no further.

I therefore send you the sheet, having made fair copy, just as I received it, and on the half sheet you will find some entries which are probably connected with the same family. . . .

Yours sincerely,

Fred B. Penfold.

Rustington Worthing, July 9, 1906.

Dear Sir: —

Some years ago you favoured me with a pedigree of your family in which you shewed a descent from a Penfold of Midhurst who you calculated was born about 1699, and was of Midhurst. It has occurred to me lately that he came from a branch of my family and was one of the sons of Edward Penfold of Felpham who all disappear from that parish after the death of their father about 1700. I say about, because I do not find his burial in the Felpham register books. The tenth child is named Edward and from him I suggest that you descend.

Yours faithfully,

Hugh Penfold.

Edward Linzee Penfold Esq.

Hugh Penfold of Angmering yeoman, bapt. 1584, died 1658-9. By Alice Olliver his wife (sister of Jane who married William Ayling, the latter connected by marriage with the Grays of Felpham and neighbourhood), had issue 10 children, of whom:

George Penfold of Arundell 6th child, bapt 1625, bur. at Arundel 7 May 1670. Will dated 13 Dec. 1664, was proved at Chichester 20 July 1670. By Sarah Peachey his wife had six children, of whom:

Edward Penfold of Felpham, born at Arundel 14 Aug. 1654, admitted a member of Honble Artillery Co., 5 June 1679, died about 1700. By Mary his wife, had issue:

- i. Thomas, bapt. at F. 30 Oct. 1687.
- ii. A dau., bapt. at F. 3 Mar. 1688-9.
- iii. Mary, bapt. at F. 5 Dec. 1690.
- iv. Mary, bapt. at F. 8 Nov. 1691.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE DESCENDANTS OF SUSANNAH LINZEE AND SAMUEL, FIRST VISCOUNT HOOD.

For the ancestors of Susannah Linzee (114), see Chapter V.

114. SUSANNAH LINZEE ⁽¹⁾, dau. of Edward Linzee (107) and Anne Newnham; b. 19 June 1726, Portsmouth, Hants, England (R. by 1st Viscount Hood); bapt. 30 June 1726, Church of Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.), as Susanna dau. of Edward and Ann Linzee; d. 25 May 1805, after a tedious illness, at the Governor's apartments in Greenwich Hospital, as Susanna Viscountess Hood, aged 77-78 (G.M., and S.M.); bur. 2 June, prob. in the cemetery of Greenwich Hospital, Kent; Susanna Linzee m. Lieut. Samuel Hood, 25 Aug. 1749, Church of St. Thomas à Becket, Portsmouth (Par. Reg.); m. 24 Aug. 1749, Portsmouth (R. by 1st Viscount Hood); son of Rev. Samuel Hood, Vicar in 1723 of Butleigh, Somerset, and Rector of Thorncombe, Devon, and Canon of Wells in 1736, whose wife was Mary dau. of Richard Hoskins of Beaminster, Dorset; b. 12 Dec. 1724, Butleigh, and bapt. there 2 Jan. 1725; d. 27 Jan. 1816, Bath, Somerset, as The Rt. Hon. Samuel Viscount Hood, Admiral of the Red Squadron of his Majesty's Fleet, Governor of Greenwich Hospital, an Elder Brother of the Trinity House, and Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath (G.M.); bur. Greenwich Hospital Cemetery, where a very fine monument erected by the Admiralty to those who had died while connected with Greenwich Hospital, between 1749 and 1869, bears his name on it. (R. by E. Cooper Key, Captain R.N., in command of the present School, the Hospital being done away with in 1868); the cemetery itself was some time ago turned into a garden; and the gravestones removed.

Samuel Hood entered the British Navy on the 6 May 1740-1, as captain's servant on the Romney of 64 guns, under Captain Thomas Smith, known as Tom of Ten-Thousand; he was next an able seaman with Captain Thomas Greenville on the Garland in April 1743, and in Nov. he went to the Sherness in the capacity of a midshipman under Captain Rodney, later known as Lord Rodney; both were transferred in September 1744 to the Ludlow Castle. He next served again under Commodore Thomas Smith on the Exeter, in

(¹) All the books on the English Peerage and Landed Gentry have been consulted in compiling this chapter, in addition to family records.

Jan. 1745-6, then in command of the Scottish station, who appointed him a Lieutenant on the Winchelsea of 20 guns under Captain Henry Dyve, which was confirmed by the admiralty the 17 June 1746. While cruising off the Scilly Islands, the Winchelsea sighted the French frigate Subtile of 26 guns which was captured and added to the British Navy, being known as the Amazon. In Mar. 1748, he was on the Greenwich under Captain John Montagu, and soon after went on the Lyon to North America with Rear-Admiral Watson, but returned in November and was laid off. In Jan. 1753 he was on the guardship Invincible at Portsmouth and later on the Terrible. On the 10 May 1754 he became commander on the sloop of war Jamaica, which went cruising off the Bahama Islands, and from her went as Post Captain to the Lively on the 22 July 1756, but was soon made his own Captain on the Grafton by Commodore Charles Holmes. Hood returned to England before 1757.

At his own request, not to be kept idle, Hood received command of the Torbay, taking the place of Captain Kettle who was absent on the court-martial of Admiral Byng. He similarly commanded the Tartar, and later the Antelope of 50 guns on the 30 Apr. 1757, when he made the first display of his remarkable talents, on the 14 May, by the destruction of the French war-ship Aquilon of 50 guns in the Bay of Audierne, near Brest. Very soon after he captured a couple of privateers, and made prisoners of their crews. The Admiralty approved of his conduct, and appointed him to the frigate Bideford, with the fleet cruising in the Bay of Biscay under the command of Sir Edward Hawke, on the 14 July 1757. Hood became Captain of the Vestal of 32 guns on the 7 Feb. 1758, when John Linzee (118) became his, the captain's, servant at Harwich, the 2 July 1758, and continued in that capacity until the 13 July 1759. Hood took command of the Vestal on the 7 Mar. 1758, and joined Hawke's fleet at Basque Roads and in the demolition of the fortification of the Isle of Aix.

After returning to England, Captain Hood sailed in the Vestal from Portsmouth on the 12 Feb. 1759 with the squadron of Admiral, afterwards Lord Holmes, in the expedition against Quebec. As one of the lookout ships off Cape Finisterre on the 21 Feb., the Vestal chased and captured the French frigate Bellona of 32 guns, and, owing to the damage to the Vestal, Hood was obliged to bring his prize to England. The prominence of this exploit caused Lord Anson to present Captain Hood on reaching London to King George. After refitting, the Vestal was attached to the squadron under Admiral Rodney which bombarded Havre de Grace in July. Hood is supposed to have commanded also the Africa of 64 guns at about this time, but this record is uncertain.

Owing to illness, and at his request, Hood was sent to the warmer climate of the Mediterranean, where he was engaged under Sir Charles Saunders mainly in the Levant on convoy duty, from 1760 to Apr. 1763, which terminated with the advent of peace. In Sept. 1763, Hood was in command of the guardship Thunderer at Portsmouth, and in 1765 conveyed a regiment of infantry in her to North America.

Before the outbreak of the American Revolution, Hood was made Commodore in New England waters, and was ordered to the Boston Station on the 9 Apr. 1767. On the 14 Nov. 1768, the Romney returned from Halifax, in which came Commodore Hood with his wife and family, proposing to spend the winter in Boston. The Commodore was the Commander-in-chief of all the men-of-war in these parts. There came also in the same ship, Lord William Campbell, Governor of Nova Scotia. (Hist. and Ant. of Boston, Mass., by Samuel G. Drake, p. 753). During his sojourn at Boston, Hood addressed some interesting letters to the Admiralty on conditions in America which did not coincide with General Gage's opinions.

Unfortunately for English supremacy in America, as shown by papers of the House of Commons, General Gage wrote from Boston, on the 3 Nov. 1768, "Everything now has the appearance of peace and quiet in this place", thereby encouraging parliament to proceed with its new ideas on the taxation of the American Colonies. But a letter dated the 22 Nov. 1768, at Boston Harbour, by Commodore Hood, had this significant sentence, "The spirit of opposition to the acts of parliament of Great Britain is as high as ever, and general throughout the Colonies". Hood's letter of the 25 Nov. 1768, from Boston, said, "Disturbances are renewed at New York, the General and Governor Barnard have been lately burnt in effigy, in a most public manner". His letter of the 12 Dec. 1768, also from Boston, stated, "The Council are now sitting, without the Governor, and preparing addresses, &c., to England. His Excellency has told them how unconstitutional they act, but they still go on".

The authorities in England paid no heed to Hood's warnings; instead they continued their acts of oppression by ordering the military and naval occupation of Boston, which led up to the Boston massacre of 1770.

Commodore Samuel Hood who resided in the town for several months sailed for Halifax, 13 July 1769 (Drake's Boston, p. 763).

On returning to England, Hood was in command of the guardship Royal William at Portsmouth, from Jan. 1771 to Nov. 1773, and then of the Marlborough to July 1776, when a serious explosion on board, due to the carelessness of a gunner, caused him and his company to be transferred to the command of the Courageux of 74 guns on the 25 July 1776.

Commodore Hood, on the 16 Feb. 1778, supplanted Admiral Gambier in the post of Commissioner, resident at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, and also became governor of the Naval Academy. When the King visited Portsmouth, Hood was created a Baronet on the 19 May 1778, with the title of Sir Samuel Hood of Catherington in the county of Southampton. On the 26 Sept. 1780, he became a Rear Admiral of the Blue, and, with his flag on the Barfleur, sailed for the West Indies in Dec. with a powerful squadron to cooperate with Sir George Rodney, where both rendered distinguished services. The astonishing abilities and wonderful character of Hood now, more than ever, began to influence the naval supremacy of England.

Hood and Rodney combined their forces at St. Lucia, but after the attack on St. Eustatius on the 30 Jan. 1781, Hood proceeded to the blockade of Martinique, much against his judgment, with an insufficient squadron, where with only eighteen ships of the line, on the 29 Apr., he was confronted by Admiral Count de Grasse with twenty four ships of the line, near Fort Royal. Although suffering damage to his ships, Hood remained on the scene in partial engagement for over two days, when De Grasse withdrew into Fort Royal, and Hood rejoined Rodney at Antigua. When Rodney returned to England, Hood's squadron joined that of Rear Admiral Graves on the North American Station, on the 28 Aug.

On the 5 Sept., De Grasse appeared off the Chesapeake with twenty four ships, while four more blockaded Cornwallis, with the intention of adding to his squadron that of De Barras from Rhode Island with seven other ships of the line. The English fleet of only nineteen ships again met with a check, and failing to relieve Cornwallis, returned to New York on the 2 Nov. for refitting. Hood again sailed, arriving at the Barbados the 5 Dec., where he was advised, on the 14 Jan. 1782, that De Grasse would be found at St. Christophers. He immediately set sail and arrived on the 24 Jan. south of the island of Nevis, with twenty two ships, and found himself confronted with twenty nine French ships anchored in Basseterre roadstead. De Grasse sailed away, and the next day found that Hood had anchored his fleet in the very same berth. Two attacks of the French were repulsed with serious loss to the foe, when Hood succeeded in slipping away at night without any loss.

In Mar. 1782, Hood made his first real attack on the fleet of De Grasse, but it was not until the 12 Apr. that a glorious victory was attained, when the Barfleur captured the Ville de Paris. In this action Hood led the van division of the fleet under Sir George Rodney, who was again in command. Between the 19 and 26 Apr. Hood added to his naval successes, the capture of four men-of-war in the Mona Passage, after which he returned to Cape Tiberon, and Rodney. He then sailed for England.

For distinguished services in the West Indies, against the French, His Majesty King George III., raised Admiral Hood to the Peerage of Ireland, with the title of Baron Hood of Catherington, on the 12 Sept. 1782.

Hood was present at the relief of Gibraltar in 1782, with his flag on the Royal George, and owing chiefly to his brilliant victories, peace was declared with France in 1783. The freedom of the city of London was presented to him in a gold box.

LETTER FROM GEORGE III., KING OF ENGLAND, TO ADMIRAL SAMUEL LORD HOOD (1).

Windsor, August 6th., 1782.

Lord Hood must feel as strongly as I can the misfortune it would be for my third son to remain on shore the next winter, when most probably there will be an active scene in the West Indies. Rear Admiral Digby not being able to go there, I cannot choose to place William under the direction of any one but the person to whom this letter is addressed, of whose attachment to my person, as well as skill in his profession, I have every reason to be satisfied. I therefore have directed Rear Admiral Digby, and desired he may be placed on board the Barfleur, and trust that Admiral will fully communicate to Lord Hood the manner in which I have as yet thought it best to have my son treated. I rely the more on it being followed, as I remember Lord Hood very much encouraged my ideas on that head when I spoke to him on the subject at Portsmouth. I shall be happy if William can be witness to as brilliant actions as have attended the "Barfleur" ever since she has left this island.

George R.

To Lord Hood —

Baron Hood's political career commenced with his election to Parliament, as M.P. for Westminster from 1784–1788, in which interval he was Commander in Chief or Port-Admiral of Portsmouth the 30 Apr. 1786, and Vice Admiral of the Blue the 24 Sept. 1787. On Earl Chatham becoming First Lord of the Admiralty, Hood served as one of its Lords Commissioners from the 16 July 1788 to the outbreak of the war with France in Feb. 1793. Meanwhile he entered Parliament from Reigate, 1789–1790, and again from Westminster, 1790–1796. On the 1 Sept. 1790, he became Commander in Chief of the North Sea squadron, intended for action against Russia and Spain, but a settlement with those powers occurred before he set sail. In June 1792, he was again appointed Commander in Chief at Portsmouth, serving until the 2 Mar. 1795. He was appointed Vice Admiral of the Red the 1 Feb. 1793.

(1) Miss Fanny Sophia Penfold, daughter of Edward Linzee Penfold (111–10), contributed the above copy of the Royal letter which was a gift to her grandfather William Penfold from the late Lord Bridport, together with a picture of Samuel 1st Viscount Hood. A visiting card left at the same time, reads "Lord Bridport, 12 Wimpole Street". Miss Penfold believes the card to be that of Samuel Hood, 2d Lord Bridport, yet it might have been his son Alexander Nelson Hood, 3d Lord Bridport, whose gracious gift is much prized in the Penfold family. (See Chapter VII.).

Once more the aggressions of France, soon to be led by the great Napoleon, called England's naval forces into action. On the 13 Mar. 1793, Admiral Hood was given the chief command of the Mediterranean fleet, and with his flag on board the Victory, sailed the 22 May, and arrived off Toulon the 16 July, when that port and the French fleet surrendered to him the 28 Aug., but after being in the hands of the English and their allies for four months, the lack of proper coöperation by the latter enabled a French army, with Napoleon in charge of artillery, to recapture Toulon on the 17 Dec. But before this reverse, in Sept., Hood despatched his brother-in-law, Commodore Robert Linzee (117), in command of a small squadron, to the assistance of General Paoli in Corsica; Nelson was also there as Captain of the Agamemnon; Hood soon followed. S. Fiorenzo was captured the 17 Feb. 1794; Bastia surrendered the 19 May, when 4500 laid down their arms to 1200; and Calvi was taken the 10 Aug. Then the entire island submitted to the English. During this period, on the 12 Apr. 1794, Hood was made an Admiral of the Blue; he then returned to England on the 11 Oct., relinquishing his command to Lord William Hotham.

Thus Admiral Hood held the center of interest, and the fate of the whole of Europe depended upon the successful culmination of his services. He received the acknowledged gratitude of the Kings of Sardinia, Naples, and of the Pope.

Nelson, at this time, wrote, "The fleet must regret the loss of Lord Hood, the best officer, take him altogether, that England has to boast of; great in all situations which an Admiral can be placed in" (1795).

On the 25 Mar. 1795, Hood was created an Elder Brother of the Trinity House. On the 27 Mar., his wife, Susannah (Linzee) Hood, was created, by letters patent, a Baroness of the Kingdom of Great Britain with the title of Baroness Hood of Catherington in the County of Southampton and the dignity of a Baron of Great Britain to the heirs male of her body by Samuel Baron Hood &c. (1). On the 24 Mar. 1796, Admiral Hood succeeded Sir Hugh Palliser in the post of Governor or Master of Greenwich Hospital, and Rangership of the Park, which he held until his death.

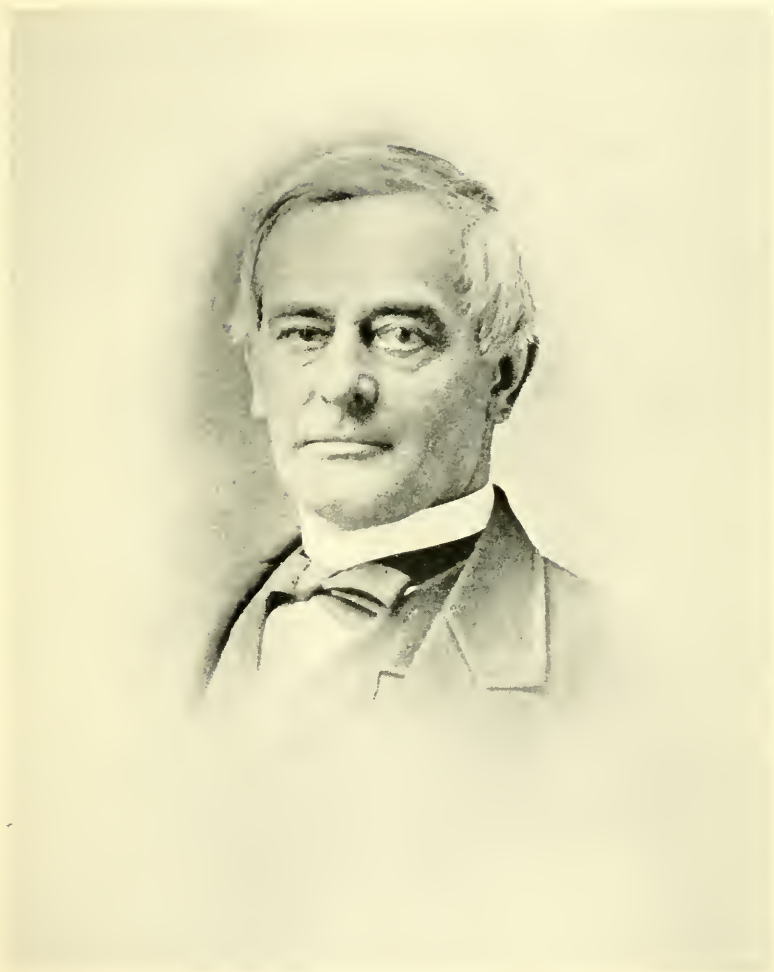

On the 1 June 1796, he was elevated to the Peerage of Great Britain, as Viscount Hood of Whitley, County Warwick, Lord Hood, Baron of Catherington of the Kingdom of Ireland and Baronet Admiral of the Blue. Viscount Hood became an Admiral of the White the 14 Feb. 1799, an Admiral of the Red the 9 Nov. 1805, and G.C.B. the 2 Jan. 1815.

LETTER FROM SAMUEL HOOD TO JOHN ROWE.

Catherington July 8th. 1771.

Dear Sir:

I thanked you for your obliging letter when Admiral Montagu sailed, and I now trouble you with two or three letters, as it is uncertain whether Cap^t. Caldwell & Cap^t. Linzee are not on their way to England. If they are you may do what you please with their letters, it matters not what becomes of them. I also send you the news papers from the Admirals sailing to the last post, by which you will be informed of all I know respecting the political world, for I confine myself wholly to my little farm. If any of my sea friends are at Boston let them see the papers and when you have an opportunity I beg the favour you will send them to m^r. Gerrish, with the letter I now enclose. M^{rs}. Hood is very well and joins me in very sincere Complim^{ts}. to you & M^{rs}. Row & Miss Inman.

I am Dear Sir

Your most obedient humble servant

Sam: Hood.

LETTER FROM SAMUEL HOOD TO JOHN ROWE.

Catherington by Petersfield
March 16th. 1772.

Dear Sir: —

I cannot suffer a vessel to depart from Portsmouth, without conveying to you & M^{rs}. Row, very sincere wishes & regards from M^{rs}. Hood, me, and at the same time to assure you that we often remember with pleasure, the very obliging civilities you had the goodness to shew us at Boston, and that we should greatly rejoice to return your favours in old England, if you should feel yourselves disposed to cross the Atlantic. Captain Linzee is married since he came to England to a very amiable young woman, and resides in the Isle of Wight. Thomas lives in Portsmouth, is very well and often with us; as it is uncertain where the Beaver is, I take the liberty of recommending a few lines for Captⁿ John to your care.

There is on board the Captain a young man, whose name is Hutt, I cannot say I know him, but he is countenanced and protected, by a Lady (Mrs. Roberts) whom I much esteem; if M^{rs}. Row will be pleased to let him warm his fingers now & then by her fire, she will add an obligation to M^{rs}. Hood & me.

Our united best wishes attend you both.

I am Dear Sir

Your most obedient humble servant

Sam: Hood.

LETTER FROM SAMUEL HOOD TO JOHN ROWE.

Catherington oct. 26th. 1772.

Dear Sir: —

I had much pleasure in hearing of M^{rs}. Rowe's and your welfare on the Beaver's arrival, as I also had in seeing your niece in England and you may be assured that she is not only acceptable but perfectly agreeable to all Cap^t. Linzee's friends, and that she will always be regarded by them with great affection. The Captain is sailed for the River to prepare the Beaver for paying off; and till that business is effected, M^{rs}. Linzee has been persuaded to be with us; and we have all much pleasure in her company, and shall on every occasion chearfully give her our utmost countenance, not only for her own worth and good nature but as neice to M^r. & M^{rs}. Rowe, and daughter to M^r. Inman, whom M^{rs}. Hood & I much esteem.

You have my best thanks for your kindness to M^r. Hutt; and I am glad to hear, he behaves so well.

M^{rs}. Linzee will speak for herself; I shall therefore only add, M^{rs}. Hood's, Henry's & my best wishes & regards to you, M^{rs}. Rowe &

Mr. & Mrs. Inman & family, and that you will believe me to be very truly Dear Sir

Your most obed^t. humble Serv^t.

Sam: Hood.

LETTER FROM MRS. SUSAN HOOD, WIFE OF SAMUEL HOOD, TO MRS. ROWE, WIFE OF JOHN ROWE.

Portsmouth Nov^r. 2^d 1772.

Dear Mad^m:

I should think myself very remiss if I was not to take the first opportunity of thanking you for your very kind letter, and also to tell you we are all extremely happy with Mrs. Linzee. She is now staying with us till Cap^t. Linzee's ship is paid off. He is gone up the River for that purpose, and it was not thought advisable for her to go with him, as it is a disagreeable navigation and not altogether a pleasing situation for her to be in. She intends to give an account of herself (by this opportunity) to you and her friends at Boston. Mr. Hood & Henry desire to join in best respects to you Mr. Rowe & Mr. Inman's family with

Dear Mad^m

Your most obedient humble servant

Susan Hood.

I must beg you to present my Comp^{ts} to the Adm^l and family.

LETTER FROM LORD HOOD TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.

Admiralty, Nov^r. 13th. 1788.

My dear John:

You have done perfectly right, in accepting Admiral Leveson Gowers recommendation of a mid; but you should have been cautious how you acknowledged your being intended to command the Penelope, to any other person.

A joint letter has been received this post from the gunners of the Penelope & Amazon. I shall therefore be glad you will enquire the character of the two men, and if you would like the gunner of the Amazon better than the one now in the Penelope the exchange they request, will be complied with — you will therefore let me know what your wishes are, but you will make your enquiry privately. The account just received from Sir. G. Baker at Windsor, to the Lord in waiting is in the following words — “The King had access of fever yesterday evening, which abated in the night, and has not entirely left him”.

You will certainly be right to rate Samuel and I am glad to hear so good an account of him. Lady Hood unites in Love to Mrs. Linzee &c &c, with my dear John

Your affectionate & faithfull

Hood.

LETTER FROM LORD HOOD TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.

Admiralty Dec^r. 4th 1788.

My dear John:

I have the pleasure to acquaint you that you was this day appointed to the Penelope, & John Ferguson & Henry Boynton are your Lieutenants, your commission will be sent to Plymouth by tomorrow's post.

Lady Hood unites in Love & all good wishes to you, M^{rs}. Linzee &c &c with Your faithfull & affectionate

Hood.

LETTER FROM LORD HOOD TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.

Admiralty Dec^r. 9th. 1788.

My dear John:

M^r. Milne whom I have already made known to you, to serve as a midshipman in the Penelope under your command, will be the Bearer of this; and I earnestly recommend him to your particular care & attention.

I am most affectionately yours

Hood.

Cap^t. J. Linzee, Plymouth.

LETTER FROM LORD HOOD TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.

Admiralty Jan^r. 12th 1789.

My dear John:

I have received your letter of the 10th as also the one you gave to the two shipwrights, by the post from Dover. I am glad you have so good an account from M^{rs}. Rowe, whose letter I now return.

When I see Sir Charles Douglas, I will do the best I can with him in favor of M^r. John Inman.

You will soon be ordered to complete your Provisions, and have your full proportion of marines. If you rate the Boatswain mate of the Mirmidon, zeoⁿ of the sheets it is the same thing, but should the Mermidon put into Plymouth, which is very probable, Cap^t Rowe will of course take him again.

I expect M^r. & M^{rs}. Hood & their little girls with M^{rs}. Hollwell today, if the snow does not prevent their coming.

Lady Hood joins in Love to you M^{rs}. Linzee and all yours with my dear John

Most affectionately yours

Hood.

LETTER FROM LORD HOOD TO CAPTAIN JOHN LINZEE.

Admiralty Feb^y. 7th. 1789.

My dear John:

I am glad you received the 20 L Bill for the use of Mr. Coghlan, who is to have five pounds quarterly; and hope the Penelope will be in the Sound tomorrow as your orders for proceeding to Halifax are now signed, ready to be forwarded, so soon as it is known you are out of Hamose; so that you will hold yourself prepared to sail as [soon] after the receipt of them as the wind will permit, which seems now to be inclining to the northward. I shall write to you again before you depart.

You & yours have Love & all good wishes from home.

Most faithfully your friend & humble servant

Hood.

(Chart and Family History of the Descendants of Hugh Amory, by Gertrude Euphemia Meredith, compiled for Frederick Amory of Boston).

(Memoir of The Family of Amory, N.E.H. & G.R., for 1856).

Thomas Coffin Amory was one of Boston's successful merchants, he resided at 21 Franklin Place during the winter season and passed his summers in Brookline; his mother, the daughter of William Coffin, was the first cousin of Sir Isaac Coffin, R.N., the son of Nathaniel Coffin. Mr. Amory's death caused general sorrow and mourning among his business associates, friends and relatives; his influence extends down to the present, through the positions of honor and usefulness held by his descendants.

(Suff. CX: 647) To the Honourable Thomas Dawes, Judge of Probate of Wills &c. for the County of Suffolk. It being inconvenient for me to administer on the Estate of Thomas C. Amory late of Boston, Merchant, deceased, intestate, I hereby signify the same to your Honour, and request that Jonathan Amory Jun^r. of said Boston, Merchant, may be appointed to that trust. Dated thirtieth day of November, Anno Domini 1812.

Hannah R. Amory.

(Suff. CXI: 1-5) Boston December 2^d 1812. Sir:—We the subscribers, friends and relatives of Thomas C. Amory Esquire, late of Boston, deceased, beg leave to submit for your consideration, whether under the circumstances in which his widow is left, the mother of a large young Family, that may for many years dwell and enjoy with her their equal shares, it would not be best for you to direct to be given to Mrs. Amory the Horses, Carriages, Plate, furniture, liquors and wood, of which her husband died possessed. Our desire that this gift may be made arises, not for the above reason alone, but that she may be enabled the more easily to live in the manner in which during the lifetime of her husband she hath been accustomed. We are Sir, respectfully your obeindt servants, Jonathan Davis, Jonathan Amory Jun^r. Aa. Dexter, Stephen Deblois, John Amory, Nath^l. Amory, John B. Fitch, Joseph Tilden.

Agreed to 11 Jan. 1813, by Thomas Dawes, Judge of Probate.

OBITUARY.

Died, at her residence in Franklin Place, December 29th., 1845, Mrs. Hannah Rowe Amory, aged 70. Mrs. Amory was not one of those who take pleasure in ostentatious eulogy, nor indeed were the unostentatious qualities of her own character at all suited to this; but yet it may be permitted to pay a brief, though unavailing tribute to so much excellence, while the impression made by it is still fresh upon us.

More than thirty years have elapsed since the death of her husband, Thomas C. Amory, a man that will be long honored in this community for the integrity, high sentiments of honor, and munificent spirit associated with it, and which is still cherished with the warmest recollection by those now surviving who enjoyed the privilege of his friendship.

Left with a numerous family, without the guidance of the friend on whom she had been so long accustomed to lean for counsel and support; Mrs. Amory found in herself resources of which she was probably not before aware. From the moment of her husband's death, she devoted herself with exemplary fidelity to the care and education of her children, and it was her happiness to receive from them in return the homage of truly grateful and affectionate hearts. But her sympathies were not confined to her own household, and she became the centre of a large circle of kindred and friends, who found a welcome hospitality under her roof in the hour of prosperity, and all the alleviations which love and kindness could render in the time of trouble. To those who had no other claims on her, but the ordinary ones of humanity, her hand was ever open, and many a poor heart has been gladdened by the relief made more grateful by the unobtrusive and delicate manner in which it was administered.

The prominent feature in her character, which gave an expression to all the rest, was her love of truth; truth in thought, word and action. She proposed to herself the straight rule of right, and no temptation could have been strong enough to seduce her from it; and no threat to intimidate her. She had that moral courage, which belongs to such a character, and never shrunk from avowing her measures, or her motives. Faithful, constant and true, all knew where to find her; and in doubtful and trying times, and such occur in every domestic circle in the course of years, she was always to be found faithful to her duty, whatever sacrifices it might involve. Such sacrifices seemed to cost little to one who had early the difficult lesson of sacrificing self.

Guided by high principle and an undeviating sense of duty through life, she was able to meet death without terror; she advanced slowly but certainly towards that goal, by that long and lingering malady, under which the spirit too often sinks with the decay of bodily strength. But her spirits did not fail her, and she passed through this painful period with the same equanimity which she had shown in health. She had none of the excitability of a morbid temperament which so often causes unnecessary suffering to the mind enfeebled by disease; still less was she disturbed by those gloomy apprehensions which hang around the dying hours of a troubled conscience. Her judgment was as cool and as well balanced in her latter days, as at any previous period; she was not like one who feels the necessity of making up for past insensibility by extraordinary preparation at the last; her life had been a constant preparation for death, and she looked only upon death as the gate through which, by the infinite mercy of her Creator, she was to enter into eternal life. (Life of William Hickling Prescott, by George Ticknor).

(1) Ticknor's Life of Prescott says that they were married at her mother's home on Franklin Place.

(The Prescott Memorial by William Prescott, M.D.).

They resided, 54 Beacon Street, Boston.

William Hickling Prescott, a citizen of Boston, and the incomparable historian of the romantic period of Ferdinand and Isabella, the Conquest of Mexico, the Conquest of Peru, and the Reigns of Philip II. and Charles V., of Spain, was the grandson of Colonel William Prescott and Abigail Hale of Pepperell, Mass. The grand-sire earned a never to be forgotten name as hero and commander of the American troops at the Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775, where he met the bitter fire of the British sloop of war Falcon, commanded by Captain John Linzee, whose granddaughter was the wife of the subject of this short and inadequate tribute.

John Prescott, the first of his sturdy race in America, came from the Puritan English stock of Lancashire to Watertown, Mass., in 1640, but finally settled in Lancaster where he was in constant touch with the Indian enemy.

The swords of Colonel William Prescott and Captain John Linzee are now crossed on a tablet in the halls of the Massachusetts Historical Society, in token of their family alliance by the marriage of their grandchildren, the historian and Susannah Amory. The Prescotts and all the families allied to them who are ancestors of the historian, and the same is true of his descendants, belong to those whose social prestige and influence have spread far and wide in American life.

The father of the historian was an eminent lawyer of Salem who moved to Boston in 1808 in order to gain a broader field for his talents. The son entered Harvard College in 1811, and in his junior year suffered the practical loss of his left eye through the careless conduct of a fellow student, but in spite of this injury young Prescott graduated in 1814. Unfortunately a rheumatic inflammation of the right eye made its appearance in 1815, and continued throughout his life, but these sorrows only stimulated him all the harder to overcome his handicap by more extensive study and deeper inward reflection, which resulted in the unconscious development of the magnificent mentality that he possessed.

Although he took up the study of law with his father, it was soon evident to his parents that, with the hope of alleviating his infirmities, a course of travel would be the best way for him to continue his education. While engaged in this pursuit, he visited St. Michael's in the Azores, England, France, Italy, etc. Upon his return home he took his Master's degree at Harvard in 1817, and soon after it was apparent that his sight was not improved and that a professional life was to be denied him.

After 1822, he quietly and seriously began the study of literature for the foundation of his future efforts, becoming acquainted with the works of English, French, Italian and especially Spanish writers in the original, thus imbuing his naturally romantic nature to select in 1826, the history of the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella, as the medium in which to express the noble spirit within him. This he completed in 1837. His triumph in the world of letters was immediate and far reaching, and will be known forever; his success appeals to our highest fancy, and our appreciation is all the more when we remember that the services he rendered to mankind were accomplished under physical distress.

He was honoured by the highest societies of learning of the United States and of Europe, receiving the Doctor of Laws degree from Columbia in 1840, from William and Mary's College and from South Carolina University in 1841, and from Harvard in 1843. The rank of Doctor of Civil Law was granted him in 1850 by Oxford University, England, which he went over to receive. This visit led up to the extension of many courtesies to him, among them a presentation at Court. It also gained him the friendship of English men of letters, which deeply affected him and influenced him in his career. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1900, where the names of great Americans find a fitting tribute from their fellows.

The portrait of William Hickling Prescott, so kindly contributed by his granddaughter, Mrs. Edith Prescott Wolcott, widow of the late Governor Roger Wolcott, shows the writing tablet or noctograph used in his literary labors. The portrait of his wife Susannah Amory appears probably for the first time through the kindness of Mrs. Frances Clifford Prescott, widow of the late Mr. Linzee Prescott, grandson of the Historian.

Edward Dexter Sohier graduated at Harvard College with the class of 1829, and was admitted to the bar in October 1832, when only about fifty won that distinction. The half century that he devoted to his profession added to the dignity and honour in which he was held by the community, as well as reflecting credit on the profession itself, of which he was a leader. His talents, guided as they were by an artistic temperament full of personal charm, keen sense of brilliant repartee, power of discernment, and strong instinct of justice, stamped him as a legal genius.

For an eloquent tribute, after the death of Mr. Sohier, by his professional contemporaries, the reader is referred to the "Proceedings at Meetings of the Bar of Suffolk County, Mass.," held Dec. 22, 1888, Jan. 12, 1889.

Boston, widow of John F. Anderson, and dau. of William and Anna P. G. (Sears) Amory; bur. Sears Chapel, Longwood, Brookline, Mass.; m. John Francis Anderson, 21 Dec. 1865, Boston*, by Rev. Henry W. Foote, at her father's home 41 Beacon Street, now the Somerset Club; son of Hugh Johnston and Martha (Dummer) Anderson^o; b. 4 Dec. 1832, Belfast, Maine^o; d. 19 Apr. 1902, Portland, Maine^o; bur. at Belfast, Maine.

General John F. Anderson was born in Belfast, Maine, in 1834. His father, Hugh J. Anderson, was United States Congressman from Belfast, Maine, in the years 1837, 1838, 1839, 1840, and was Governor of Maine in the years 1844, 1845, 1846. His mother was Martha Dummer.

In 1851, at the age of seventeen, John F. Anderson came to Boston, and was employed by the wholesale dry goods firm of Amidown, Holmes & Co. (which became later Edwards, Nichols & Richards), at 23 Pearl St.; afterwards by Blanchard, Converse & Co., and Converse, Harding & Co., at 83 Pearl St., until 1861, when he entered the employ of Wright & Whitman, dry goods commission merchants, at 140 Devonshire St.

In March, 1861, when the Civil War became imminent, but before Fort Sumter was fired on (April 12th), he was commissioned as an officer in the Massachusetts militia, and served until the end of the war. He was first commissioned as an officer of the New England Guards, and later took part in organizing the 24th Massachusetts Infantry Regiment; on September 2, 1861, at twenty-eight years of age, he was commissioned as adjutant of the 24th Regiment. The regiment was drilled at Readville, and was sent on December 9, 1861, to Annapolis, Maryland, where it became part of General John G. Foster's brigade in Gen. Burnside's expedition to North Carolina. Anderson was detailed almost at once to Gen. Foster's staff as aide-de-camp (commissioned as Major June 9, 1863), and served in this position and later as Gen. Foster's Chief of Staff until within a few days of Gen. Lee's surrender (April 9, 1865). He saw active service in the capture of Roanoke Island and New Berne, the bombardment of Fort Macon; the expedition to burn Goldsboro Bridge; Southwest Creek; the battle of Kingston; the action at Whitehall; and the defence of Washington, N. C. In 1863 he was detailed at Hilton Head to exchange prisoners, and was able to be of service to Lieutenant C. W. Amory, then a prisoner: it was through the friendship thus made that he came to know Miss Ellen S. Amory, Lieut. Amory's sister, to whom he afterwards was married. From December, 1863, to February, 1864, Gen. Foster was in command of the Department of Ohio, and Anderson was with him. In the latter part of 1864 he served as Chief of Staff with Gen. Foster, who then commanded the Department of the South. He saw active service near Savannah, at Port Royal, and in the vicinity of the Tullifinney River. On December 13, 1864, he was detailed to carry to Washington General Sherman's report of his arrival at the sea from his march through Georgia. On March 1, 1865, he was promoted to be Brevet Lieutenant Colonel; on March 13, 1865, to be Brevet Colonel and Brigadier General of United States Volunteers, "for gallant and meritorious services during the war". He was never wounded, and was fortunate in having health and constitution which enabled him to go through the war without the attacks of typhoid, malarial fever, etc., that constantly resulted from the hardships and exposure of army life.

Immediately after the war he returned to Boston, and became for a short time a partner with Frank S. Fiske as stock brokers at 40 State St.

On December 21, 1865, he was married in King's Chapel by the Reverend Henry W. Foote to Ellen S. Amory, daughter of William and Anna Amory, and lived first at 41 Beacon St., the home of his wife's parents, and afterwards at 94 Charles St., where his three daughters, Harriet, Ellen and Anna, were born.

In 1866 he entered the employ of J. W. Wheelwright & Co. (later Wheelwright, Pippy & Co.), dry goods commission merchants, at 72 Federal St., and in 1869 he became a partner in that firm, afterwards Wheelwright, Anderson & Co. In this firm he was associated in business with Mr. Browne (afterwards of Amory, Browne & Co.), O. K. Eldredge, George Lewis, and William A. Copeland; and in connection with selling the product of the Merrimack Manufacturing Company, with Benjamin W. Crowninshield and William P. Clarke.

In 1887 General Anderson retired from active business. Part of his activities in business life had been to reorganize and enlarge the Fisher Mfg. Co. and the Cabot Mfg. Co., which, under his direction and guidance, and with capital subscribed by investors who relied on his judgment, became large and prosperous New England mills. For many years he served with Franklin Haven, William Amory, John P. Bailey and J. Huntington Wolcott, as director of the Merchants National Bank, at that time the largest national bank in New England. With William Endicott, Jr., Charles H. Dalton, Charles F. Choate, James J. Storrow, Edmund Dwight, Fred L. Ames, Robert Codman, George Dexter, Roger Wolcott, et al., he served as director of the New England Trust Co., at that time the largest trust company in New England. He was also director of the Hamilton National Bank, the Fisher Mfg. Co., and the president and a director of the Cabot Mfg. Co.

On August 5, 1861, he was elected a member of the Somerset Club. He was a member of a dining club called "The Officers' Club", which met for many years after the war, and the members of which were among his most intimate friends.

(Roger Wolcott, Memoir, by Rev. Arthur Lawrence, in the Colonial Society of Mass., Publications, II: 348-363).

Roger Wolcott, Governor of Massachusetts, was descended from Henry Wolcott, one of the more influential of the English Puritan settlers of New England, who came from Goldon Manor, in the neighbourhood of Tolland, Somerset, to Dorchester, Mass., in the year 1630. The pioneer soon moved to Windsor, Conn., where his descendants became prominent in political and military affairs. Roger Wolcott, lineal descendant of Henry, and ancestor of the Massachusetts Governor, was in the Louisburg Expedition of 1745; he was Lieutenant-Governor of Conn. Oliver Wolcott, another ancestor, attained the high rank of Brigadier-General in the war of the American Revolution, and was one of the signers of that immortal document, "The Declaration of Independence"; he was also second Governor of the new State of Connecticut. Joshua Huntington Wolcott, father of the Massachusetts Governor, returned to the district where his first ancestor landed in America, and in which his descendants have already achieved distinction in harmony with that of their Connecticut predecessors.

Roger Wolcott received his early training in the school of Mr. E. S. Dixwell; he then attended Harvard University, where he graduated in 1870, with the honour of orator; he completed his law course at Harvard in 1874, when he was admitted to the Bar of Suffolk County, Massachusetts. His inclination for a political career was gratified by his election to the Common Council of the city of Boston from 1876-79, and as representative to the State legislature from 1881-84; but he preferred to retire temporarily from active work in the Republican party, rather than support their choice of a national leader at that time, so that he did not again appear prominently in politics until 1891, when he was chosen first President of the Republican Club of Massachusetts.

In 1892 Mr. Wolcott was elected Republican Lieutenant-Governor under the administration of Governor William E. Russell who had signally captured the state for the Democratic party; and in 1893 he again showed his popularity by winning the post of Lieutenant-Governor under the Republican leadership of Governor Greenhalge, surpassing him in the party vote. He continued in that capacity until 1896, when the death of Mr. Greenhalge advanced him to the rank of Acting-Governor. On the next election he was made Governor and continued as such until 1899. He had the distinction of receiving the largest majority ever polled by any candidate for the Governorship.

Governor Wolcott, for private reasons, refused an appointment to the Commission of the Philippine Islands in 1900, and also the post of Ambassador to the court of Italy. He was a member of many societies, overseer of Harvard College from 1885-95, and director and trustee in business circles. He received the degree of Doctor of Laws from Williams College in 1897. His sudden death in 1900, took from the service of his country an experienced legislator, a noble gentleman, and a leader among our prominent citizens, looked up to and admired by the nation.

The late Senator Hoar, whose judgment all revere, said of Wolcott: "He was a type of character of which George Washington was a peerless example". The late Gov. Frederick Greenhalge, his predecessor, said of him: "A truer servant of the people I have never found". Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts eulogized his life-long friend thus: "There was that about him which defies analysis, which eludes definition, but which is found in those rare characters, who, like Philip Sydney, Chevalier Bayard, or Robert Louis Stevenson, gain our confidence, win our admiration, kindle our affections and who, in their unconsciousness make us conscious that we are in chivalric company. In form and countenance, in presence and atmosphere, he was of nature's noblest".

The people of his state remember him best as a friend, who, in the war with Spain in 1898, took a more than personal interest in their sons at the front, and their affectionate tribute to his memory and worth inspires all who gaze on the public gift of his statue which graces the State House in Boston.

Charles Linzee Tilden obtained a commission in the army of the north just after leaving St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H. He became 2d Lieutenant in the 20th Mass. Volunteers, and received quick promotion owing to the terrible loss of officers from that regiment in the disastrous battle of Ball's Bluff. As a Captain, when convalescing from illness, he was one of those detailed to guard, unseen, President Lincoln as he walked to and from the White House and the Department of State. After the battle of the Wilderness, Captain Tilden fell a prey to peninsular fever, and was sent north desperately ill, being for some time paralyzed below his waist. Finally a long sea voyage was ordered by his doctors, and he sailed around Cape Horn to join his brother Joseph, then a successful, gay and hospitable banker in San Francisco. And during his long absence from home, he spent a winter in Japan and part of one in the Sandwich Islands, the climate and life of the jewels of the Pacific Ocean being greatly to his fancy. Many a tale could he tell of adventure and daring in California and among the mountains especially.

After he returned to Massachusetts, he married and settled down with much patience to the drudgery of uncongenial business, but after an illness in the eighties his health again obliged him for two years to seek a warm climate, although no trace of the original breakdown remained. He finally retired from business and spent every winter for eight years or more in foreign travel quietly spending months in the hottest climes. He died strangely enough in Meran, Austria, among the snow covered mountains, where he had been ordered by a Paris physician. Many of the episodes in this life of movement were most interesting when he could be induced to disclose them. He was a gallant, courteous and generous gentleman^o.

Admiral William Cheselden Browne was a descendant of an ancient Leicester family, some of the members of which were high sheriffs of the county in the reign of Henry VII. He entered the Navy in 1816 on board the "Minden", and as midshipman of that vessel was present the same year at the battle of Algiers. In 1819 he joined the "Carron", in which vessel he was wrecked in the Bay of Bengal in July 1820. Three years later he served for some time in the West Indies, then on the Mediterranean Station; and was advanced to the rank of Lieut. in 1827. As a Lieut. he was actively engaged on the "Pelican" at the destruction of a Greek piratical schooner near Zante; he was temporary commandant of his vessel at the reduction of the town of Carabusa. In June 1832 he was promoted to a death vacancy in the "Cornet" as commander, but did not join that sloop; he returned to England in 1833 and was employed as inspecting commander of the coast guard from 1836-47. He became Captain Jan. 1854; Rear Admiral Apr. 1870 when he was placed on the retired list. He was advanced to the rank of Vice Admiral, Mar. 1876, and that of Admiral in Jan. 1880. He was Secretary to the Royal Yacht Club, Cowes, Isle of Wight, from 1853-1860^o.

MARY ANN CHARLOTTE (LINZEE) WOOLDRIDGE
1818-1898

CHAPTER XIII.

THE DESCENDANTS OF MARY ANN CHARLOTTE LINZEE AND COLONEL JAMES WARWICK WOOLDRIDGE.

For the ancestors of Mary Ann Charlotte Linzee (132) see Chapter V.

132. MARY ANN CHARLOTTE LINZEE, dau. of Admiral Samuel Hood Linzee (120) and 2d wife Emily Wooldridge; b. 26 Jan. 1818, Plymouth, Devon, England^o; d. 18 June 1898, Southampton, Hants, England (R. by Mrs. Lewis Linzee); bur. Southampton Cemetery^o; Mary Ann Charlotte Linzee m. her first cousin James Warwick Wooldridge, 13 Aug. 1838, Church of St. Andrews, Plymouth^o (Par. Reg., and G.M.); son of Captain William Wooldridge, Royal Navy, and Anne Gurney^o; b. 6 Mar. 1813, Newnam, Cornwall^o; d. 10 Sept. 1891, Manantoddy, Madras Presidency, India^o.

(Memorandum by Colonel James Warwick Wooldridge). Samuel Hood, the second Lord Bridport, grandson of Admiral Viscount Samuel Hood and Susannah Linzee, married Charlotte, Duchess of Bronté, the only daughter of the first Lord Nelson and Baron Nelson of the Nile; this Duchess of Bronté was Mrs. Wooldridge's godmother, after whom she was christened Charlotte.

Extracts from the Record of Service of Colonel (Brigadier General) James W. Wooldridge during the Wars of Succession in Spain and Portugal — taken from the General bodies and despatches; — published in the Blue Book of the House of Commons, and the newspapers of the day from 1832 to 1838.

Commenced his career in these Wars at the siege of Oporto, as a volunteer with a musket in his hand under Col. Hodges, (at the age of 17 in 1832) that officer having declared one unfit to be an officer who did not know the duties of a soldier. Received his first commission in the British Auxiliary Legion on the 29 Sept. same year, for defending the advanced post (when the Miguelites attacked the city on that day) after all the officers had been killed or wounded; and only retiring before two Regiments of the Enemy when every round of ammunition was expended and after losing 24 out of 42 men, himself being badly wounded. — Appointed Ensign on the 24 March following, while still suffering from severe wounds and only able to move with the aid of crutches, being a spectator of the enemy's desperate attack on the city and seeing the Regiment to which he belonged — emaciated and reduced by sickness and famine — give way before an overwhelming force, on the death of his commanding and several other senior officers; he stuck his red jacket on the top of his crutch, for a flag, rallied the troops, and, carried on the arms of the soldiers, retook the position. Promoted Lieutenant and obtained the order of the "Tower and Sword". At the total defeat of a Portuguese division at Aleazar do Tal, he covered the retreat with a few Englishmen present in the battle; and on arriving at the rapid river Tal, found the retreating troops had removed all the boats to the other side. He swam the river under a terrible fire of musketry and was again wounded, but brought back one boat by aid of which all who were saved made their escape. — Promoted Captain.

In Spain on the 5th May 1835, when Sir De Lacy Evans drove the Carlists from the Lines of St. Sebastian, he was again wounded and was recommended to the notice of the Commander in Chief on the field of battle, for his conduct, by the Adjutant General on whose staff he then was, and also by one of the Generals of Division. — Obtained his Majority and the 1st Class of St. Ferdinand.

On the 1st October following was promoted Lieut. Colonel, and received the order of Charles III. "for acts of distinguished gallantry in the Field".

At the siege and capture of Irun on the 17 May 1836 he was made a Colonel by Brevet and obtained the distinguished order of the second class or laurel-leaved order of St. Ferdinand for "distinguished conduct, more particularly for leading the storming party which first entered the town".

He subsequently organized and commanded a Rifle Regiment, and a large Infantry Battalion with much éclat and distinction, holding the rank of Brigadier General.

It will be observed that I have only recorded actions in which my father gained promotion; he was present in many other engagements, was several other times wounded, frequently mentioned in despatches, and obtained several orders and medals.

Historical Sketch of the late German Legion drawn from memory, but based on official records:

When, during the Crimean War, it was deemed advisable to enlist foreign Legions to supplement our troops, Colonel J. W. Wooldridge, who had long since retired from active service, was specially requested to accept command of a Brigade in the German Legion, his peculiar abilities as an organizer and commander being well known at Headquarters. Under him, accordingly, were organized at Shorncliffe 3 Battalions of Rifles, 6 Battalions of Infantry and 2 Regt. of Cavalry, and the high efficiency attained by these Corps elicited the encomium of the Field Marshal Commanding in Chief and the thanks of Her Majesty herself on more than one inspection of the Brigades.

On the 1st Brigade (consisting of 1 Batln. of Rifles and 3 Batlns. of Infantry) being ready to take the Field in 1855, Colonel Wooldridge solicited permission to accompany them himself to the Crimea. They reached Turkey, however, too late in the year to move to the front, and were ordered into winter quarters at Scutari. While there, their smartness on parade, and good behavior in quarters earned the praise of the many officers of high rank who saw them, especially that of Sir Henry Storks who then commanded on the Bosphorus. Peace being concluded in the spring of 1856 they had no opportunity of displaying their powers in the field, much to the disappointment of their gallant Brigadier, who hoped to have won fresh laurels for himself with the troops he had so carefully trained, but was obliged to content himself with the order of the 1st class of the Medjidie.

On their return to England it was thought unadvisable to utterly lose the services of so fine a body of men; and endeavours were made to induce them to embark for the Cape of Good Hope where it was intended to post them in military villages on the extreme frontier line to serve as a protection from the Kaffirs to the less warlike settlers in their rear. Only about 3000 men, however, accepted the offers of Government and Colonel Wooldridge consented to take command of the force, and superintended, in conjunction with the Colonial Government, its location on the frontiers.

This duty was scarcely completed, when the outbreak of the Mutiny threatened our dominion in the East; and Colonel Wooldridge at once suggested to Sir George Gray, then Governor at the Cape, the embodiment of as many Germans as might volunteer, into a Regiment to proceed under his command to the scene of war. His proposals were at once accepted, and in a very short space of time some 1500 men were collected and embarked with him for India.

On arrival at Bombay, which presidency had already been dangerously denuded of troops to send to the front, they were again doomed to disappointment, for the Bombay Government gladly availed itself of their services to overawe the large native cities of Poona & Nuggar, which were then extremely disaffected and were only prevented from rising by the presence of the German Battalion.

Thus once more they remained inactive, but here as elsewhere they obtained the good opinion of all; so much so that on the close of the war all who would take service were transferred, both officers and men, into the 109th Regt. of Foot; and Col. Wooldridge having again received the thanks of Government, once more retired into private life. (The military services of Colonel James Warwick Wooldridge, described above, were written by his son Colonel De Lacy Richard Frank Wooldridge to John William Linzee, when both were residents in India prior to 1876).
