SENATE JOURNAL

SESSION 1963

FIRST DAY

SENATE CHAMBER,

Wednesday, February 6, 1963.

In accordance with law, at the hour of 11:00 a.m., the General Assembly of North Carolina assembles this day in the Senate Chamber in the new State Legislative Building in the City of Raleigh.

In view of the vacancy in the office of the Lieutenant Governor as presiding officer of the Senate created by the death of the Lieutenant Governor of the State, Honorable H. Clloyd Philpott, the Senate is called to order by Honorable Thad Eure, Secretary of State, according to law.

The following prayer is offered by Dr. R. H. Stone of Jefferson, N. C., retired Presbyterian minister and brother of Senator Stone:

“Mighty God while angels bless Thee,
May we mortals lisp Thy Name?
Lord of men, as well as angels!
Thou art every creature's theme.’

We come to adore Thee as the Master Architect and creator of heaven and earth. We praise Thee for carving on the face of this planet the area we know as North Carolina. We thank Thee for Thy goodness in creating the everlasting hills—‘the mountains that stand and laugh at time,’—the fashioning of the Piedmont with its suitability for industry; the great productivity of the Eastern portion of the State; and for the beautiful blue waters that bathe our coast.

We approach Thee, too, as the Great Lawgiver—the author of the moral law and the statutes that were given to determine man's relations to Thee and to one another.

We would extend our thanks for having reared men and women of stature who have made laws to govern the people of this State. Our thanks, too, for this new Legislative Building. May its beauty and facilities and accommodations be blessed of Thee for a speedier and more successful accomplishment of the ends for which it was constructed.

For Thy continued blessing upon the Governor and those who advise and rule with him, we pray.

For the members of the Senate of 1963 and their co-patriots in the House, we ask Thy blessing. May they be constantly reminded of the wisest man whom God asked in a vision, ‘Ask what I shall give thee,’ and of Solomon's not asking for personal favoritism, but in humility said, ‘Give Thy servant an understanding heart to judge Thy people, that I may discern between good and bad; for who is able to judge this Thy so great people?’

We ask that Thou wouldst give to these lawmakers an assurance that their families and interests which they have left may be so blessed of Thee that they may give undivided attention to the things of State. Give them courage with wisdom to repeal any laws that have had their day, or have been unjustly made, or that provide for an unfair partiality. Deliver them from temptations of pressure groups or individuals who may demand things that are not in accord with Thy will and good government. Remind them that 'Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.' May they not seek revenue from that which is morally wrong and sinful.

As they come to make laws and to wrestle with the problems of agriculture, conservation and development, education on the several levels, industry, labor and capital, medical and mental care, transportation, prisons, revenue and all other facets of government and problems that are beyond their wisdom, may they know that Thou has all the answers. May they individually and collectively seek counsel from above. Grant them the assurance that 'If any lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.'

May their gratitude for the honor accorded them by their constituencies be demonstrated by their sacrificial service, characterized by fairness and justice to all.

As Thou dost from zone to zone guide through the boundless sky the certain flight of Thy winged creatures, we ask that in the long months ahead that Thou wouldst lead the minds and votes of the members of this Senate aright. May the work of this legislative body enhance Thy glory and add lustre to North Carolina's motto, 'esse quam videri'. In the name of Jesus. Amen."

The roll of the Senate is called and the following Senators-elect appear with the proper certificates of election and take and subscribe to the following oath of office, which is administered by Associate Justice R. Hunt Parker of the Supreme Court.

"Do you, and each of you, solemnly swear that you will support the Constitution of the United States. So help you, God?"

"Do you, and each of you, solemnly and sincerely swear that you will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and will you endeavor to support, maintain, and defend the Constitution of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of your knowledge and ability. Do you, and each of you, solemnly and sincerely swear that you will faithfully discharge your duties as Senators of the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina to the best of your skill and ability, so help you God?"

The Secretary of State, as Chairman, announces that a quorum of all Senators are present and further announces that the Senate is ready to proceed with the election of officers.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Secretary of State, Presiding, announces that

“The Constitution of North Carolina provides that the Lieutenant Governor shall be President of the Senate.

By the untimely and lamented death of the late Lieutenant Governor H. Cloyd Philpott, a vacancy exists in that office. By a recent amendment to the Constitution, it is provided that the Senate shall elect from its membership a President pro tempore who shall become President of the Senate upon the death, resignation or removal from office of the President of the Senate.

It now, therefore, devolves upon you the need to elect from the membership of this Senate a President pro tempore who, by the terms of the Constitution, will become President of this body.

I declare nominations for the office of President pro tempore are in order.”

For President pro tempore of the Senate, Senator White places in nomination Senator T. Clarence Stone of Rockingham County, in the nominating speech as follows:

“Mr. Chairman, my fellow members of the 1963 Senate, I am somewhat embarrassed to ask a favor of you. I must ask that you bear with me while I undertake to say what I wish to say to you while yet afflicted with a tightness in my throat which impairs the quality of my voice. Having said that, I now ask that you share with me at this hour the honor and privilege which is mine.

I am grateful that we have as a member of the 1963 Senate a man of the caliber and character of the man whose name I shall place in nomination for the office of President pro tempore of the 1963 Senate.

He was born in 1899 in Rockingham County, North Carolina. All of his life he has lived and still lives in Rockingham County. He is a graduate of Davidson College with a Bachelor of Science Degree. He is a man successful in business. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church. He is a successful citizen of North Carolina.

Early in his life he became interested in the political affairs of this State. He became interested in the Democratic clubs of his county and became a member of the Democratic Executive Committee of his county; next he embarked upon a long and distinguished career in the Legislature. For seven sessions he served his county ably as a member of the House of Representatives, from 1935 to 1947. During his legislative experience he was twice Chairman of the House Committee on Public Roads; he served as Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee; Chairman of the Committee on Education; Chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities; and Chairman of the Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns. And for six years he was a member of the Advisory Budget Commission. He has served on many other important commissions of this state. He knows his state well, having traveled it many times in his service as a member of the Advisory Budget Commission, and having visited many of its institutions. He is acquainted with the various types of economy which exist in our State from the mountains to the sea, and along the borders of her sister states.

He knows the meaning of liberty and plenty which are depicted by the figures on the State Seal. He knows that in order for us to continue to have liberty the rights of individuals must be protected and must be enforced. He knows that if we are to continue to have plenty, our government will have to safely use the taxing power, and that it must wisely spend the proceeds of the taxes collected for the benefit of the people, to adequately provide for their needs and to give them the services they require; that we must make progress within the limits of sound fiscal policy.

The man whose name I will present to you is a man who has a profound knowledge of life. He is a man who knows both joy and sorrow. He is a man who is wont to side with the weak. He is a friend of the oppressed. He is a worshipper of liberty, truth and fairness. He is a hard worker—never has he been a quitter. He has a stout and loyal heart, and is a man who can, in the words of Kipling, 'Meet with triumph and disaster and treat those two imposters just the same.'

We are now about to select the leader of the 1963 Senate. The man whom I shall nominate is an outstanding leader; a man who has no ambition but to serve his State; a man whose leadership will be guided by the lamp of experience. We can do no better than to avail ourselves of his leadership. And now, my fellow members of the Senate, I place in nomination for the office of President pro tempore of the 1963 Senate the name of the Senator from Rockingham County, the Honorable T. Clarence Stone."

Senator Johnston seconds the nomination.

Senator Crew seconds the nomination.

Senator Belk seconds the nomination.

Senator Strong seconds the nomination.

There being no further nominations the roll of the Senate is called.

Those voting for Senator T. Clarence Stone for President pro tempore are: Senators Aydlett, Bailey, Belk, Brantley, Clark, Crew, Currie, Forsyth, Garriss, Gurganus, Hamilton, Hanes, Harrington, Hatcher, Hollowell, Horton, Humber, James, Johnson, Johnston, Jolly, Jones, Jordan, Kirby, Long, MacLean, Martin, Meares, Midgett, Mills, Morgan of Harnett, Propst, Saunders, Scott, Seay, Shelton, Simmons, Snow, Stikeleather, Story, Strong, Walton, Warren, White, Whitley, Williams, Yates, Yow—48.

Senator T. Clarence Stone having received the unanimous vote of the Senators present is declared duly elected President pro tempore of the Senate.

The Chair appoints as a Committee Senators Crew, Midgett and Snow, to escort Senator Stone to the dais, who takes the prescribed oath of office, as President pro tempore of the Senate, which is administered by Justice Susie Sharp of the Supreme Court.

The Secretary of State then announces that as stated before, Senator T. Clarence Stone having been elected and duly qualified as President pro tempore of the Senate, and there being a vacancy in the office of President of the Senate by reason of the death of Lieutenant Governor H. Cloyd Philpott, as President, T. Clarence Stone has now become by operation of the Constitution of North Carolina, President of the Senate, and he is administered the prescribed oath of office as President of the Senate by Associate Justice Susie Sharp of the Supreme Court.

Senator Stone delivers the following acceptance speech as President of the Senate which upon motion of Senator White is ordered spread upon the Journal:

Members of the Senate:

Let my first words be in appreciation of your confidence in electing me as your President. In all humility, I commence my duties. It will be my purpose and hope from the beginning to the end of this Session to merit the confidence you have placed in me.

It is my hope that all of us can work together for the good of North Carolina. It is to be expected that we will differ, but compromise hammered out after legitimate debate produces the best legislation. I expect us to accomplish much for the welfare of our State and for the good of all North Carolinians.

It is my plan to announce committee assignments at an early date. Of course, I think you know that it is beyond my power to place each member of this Senate in the exact position that he desires, but I assure you that I will strive to do my very best with an exceedingly difficult job.

During the course of this Session, if you have problems, let me hear from you. Maybe I cannot solve them, but I will try. My office will be open to you at all times.

It is obvious that we are met on an historic occasion. For this is the first meeting in our spacious and beautiful new home. It was planned and built for our convenience in the orderly discharge of our duties, and if Divine Providence smiles upon our people, it will be used by us and our successors for many years to come. Our old Capitol, which we love and revere, has now been in use for approximately one hundred twenty-three years. When this building shall have been used for a similar period of time, its newness will then be old and its charm will then be mellowed by age.

This building, in its general design, echoes the achievements of past civilizations. It is classic after the manner of those pioneers of the Western world, the Greeks and the Romans. And this is proper: for it is from the Greeks that we have inherited our idea of democracy, and it is from the Romans that we derive our respect for law. I am not an architectural authority, but I am informed that in the plan of this building we have not only this evidence of Western culture, but also a suggestion of our Eastern inheritance. This, likewise, is proper, for it is from the East that we inherit some of the earliest and most valuable discoveries of science—to say nothing of our debt in matters of religion.

In this connection, it is well to remember that in Holy Writ the wise men are quoted as saying: "We have seen His star in the East and are come to worship Him."

In the heat of legislative debate, there are times when each of us may feel the need for quiet meditation. It is fitting, therefore, that the planners of this building have provided a chapel which is dedicated to no particular dogma or creed, in which those who so desire may turn aside from the hurly-burly of the legislative process and think on spiritual things.

Although tradition has had a hand in the planning and the design of our new home, it is obvious to all that it is thoroughly modern, functionally efficient, and that it turns its face with optimism and confidence to the future.

The good people of North Carolina, in erecting this legislative building, have done more than provide for us a suitable place in which to work; they have, in these troubled times, boldly reaffirmed their faith in the future.

May we use this building to the honor of that Supreme Being in whom we all believe, and for the welfare and happiness of all North Carolinians.

Senator T. Clarence Stone, having succeeded to and qualified as President of the Senate, takes the chair and presides during the remainder of the Session.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by the President of the Senate T. Clarence Stone.

The President recognizes Senator White who presents His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

This occasion is an historic one for the reason that this is the first Session to meet in the beautiful new Legislative Building. This building will long be the pride of North Carolina, a symbol recalling our sturdy history and our important future.

Further, this is an important occasion for me because I come to meet you as a group for the first time.

I look forward to our joint venture in the cause of North Carolina progress. You follow the most constructive General Assembly in the history of our State; and I am glad to see that so many of the men and women of vision and courage who set this high mark last time are back here today to begin another session.

The accomplishments of the 1961 General Assembly were marked by an optimistic awareness that North Carolina had reached the point in history when we could do many more things toward providing better chances in life for all of our people.

On their record you have the opportunity to build an even greater record of service and dedication.

You will hear some whisperings abroad saying that we have done enough, have moved well and far and rapidly, and so it is time now to slow down, rest, and catch our breath.

These whispers come from the fearful and timid who have always opposed the accomplishments from which they now would rest. This cannot be and is not the spirit of North Carolina. We are moving wisely and firmly. Much remains to be done, to provide better educational opportunities for the competition our children will surely face, to encourage broader economic development so everybody will have a better chance to make a better living. Now is the time to move forward. Now is no time to loaf along.

I do not intend to present the "Governor's Program." I intend to say to you that there is much to be done, that the opportunities are here as never before, and that I pledge to work with you to achieve the good things in life which are ours for the reaching.

You know, as well as I, that the last two years have seen many gains, much progress. The next two can see even more.

You know, as well as I, that the last decade has brought more advances than any in our history. The next decade can double these advances.

In almost all fields, in almost all sections, in almost all programs, the heartbeat of North Carolina is healthy, and is getting stronger all the time.

SCIENCE

We are not neglecting any of the other broad concerns of our people when we conclude that science will have more influence than ever before in the future of our State.

Science in its broadest meaning of interrelated disciplines is the secret of future development as it unfolds the secrets of space and man and earth.

Our responsibility cannot be fulfilled by a legislative act or a simple appropriation, or the best of intentions.

It starts with the first grade. It involves all business. It radiates from graduate schools. It finds strength in faculties, in the Research Triangle, in the attitudes of people, in industry, in agriculture, in government.

We already have the Governor's Scientific Advisory Committee, made up of leading scholars. With their guidance, adding to them groups of leaders in every field, plotting the course, we are attempting to enter the age of science with wisdom and understanding.

AGRICULTURE

In Agriculture, Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine continues to furnish the drive needed for consumer protection and the vision required for agricultural development.

Technology in producing, processing and packaging products has considerably increased the variety and volume and the need for vigilance in carrying out the Department's responsibilities for protecting the health and pocketbook of consumers.

There is not a man, woman or child in North Carolina who does not derive benefit from the service and regulatory programs of one or more of the Department's 16 divisions.

Of the new programs authorized by the last session of the General Assembly and initiated by the Department during this biennium, none has been of more vital importance to every citizen of the State than the compulsory meat and poultry inspection, assuring wholesome and healthful food.

Another important new addition to the Department of Agriculture during the past biennium was State purchase of the Farmers Market at Raleigh. Purchased under a self-liquidating agreement and operated on its own revenues at no cost to the taxpayer, this facility is making a major contribution not only to North Carolina agriculture, but also to North Carolina consumers through the increased quantity and enhanced quality of fresh produce made available to them the year round.

Working in partnership with the Department of Agriculture is the School of Agriculture, which Dean H. Brooks James has made even more effective in public service.

The Agricultural Opportunities Program provides a blueprint for all agencies, organizations, and groups to assist in (1) increasing farm income; (2) providing adequate markets and facilities, including processing; and (3) improving family and community living through education.

A Department of Food Science and Processing has been created at State College; and the development of the food processing industry is an important part of the Conservation and Development program and is a major part of all related State agencies as we embark on a planned goal to make North Carolina the food supplier for the nation. Food processing is now one of our major projects.

The Agricultural Extension Service's "1.6 in 66" Program was developed from 100 county programs. We called on the Extension Advisory Boards in each county to work with the Extension staff, and thus more than 1,500 farmers directly developed this approach to new income, and thousands more contributed to it indirectly.

Extension Home Economics Agents, the 4-H Club program, the FFA, the community and area development activities indicate the farm life and economy are on the move.

Research in the departments of the School of Agriculture and the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station will reduce the cost of production and improve the product through the elimination of the many hazards of plant and animal diseases, insects, weeds and weather.

The levels of living will be limited only by the imagination of the researchers. Much is going on to make farming more valuable to everybody in the state.

COMMERCIAL FISHERIES

Still another food resource of great importance is our commercial fishing industry. We are seeking greater use through food processing.

Our Conservation and Development Department director recently toured the coastal area to discuss the problems of commercial fishermen. Rigid and frozen conservation practices would impose hardships, and inadequate conservation measures would be disastrous for the future. We are continually striving for that program that will insure wise use of this resource; and our Commercial Fisheries Division considers itself the advocate and protector of the person who draws his living from the commercial waters.

TOURISTS

Any time we speak of our resources in North Carolina, we cannot overlook the fact that North Carolina is a natural vacation State. The variety of our attractions, from mountains to coast, are unequalled. Last year more than 25 million travelers visited our State. In 1961 some 75,450 people were employed in 18,600 travel-serving industries which had a gross income of 888 million dollars. As our third largest dollar producing industry we must continue to give our increased support to this enterprise.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS

Good roads help the tourist business, and also business, agriculture and industry profit from roads.

The most significant roadbuilding achievement in the past two years has been in the overall improvement of secondary roads in North Carolina. A total of $15 million was spent in 1961, most of it after July of that year; and in 1962, $36 million was expended, representing the largest expenditure since the Scott bond issue. In 1962 over 1100 miles of secondary roads were stabilized and 900 miles paved.

I would point out to you that these funds for secondary roads were squeezed out by a better budget arrangement and careful management. Adequate appropriations are not available to build as rapidly as we should. We will continue to do all that we can to improve as much secondary mileage as possible with existing revenues.

The primary and the Interstate systems were not neglected.

North Carolina is one of the leaders in the nation in terms of the amount of Interstate System open to traffic.

In 1962 a total of 2,569 miles of highway work was let to contract at a total value of over 66 million dollars, representing the largest single year's work in the highway history of North Carolina.

There are many other reasons for being proud of your Highway Commission and Highway Department under the direction of Chairman Merrill Evans and Director W. F. Babcock. Traffic engineering for safety is being expanded to save lives. New research has been set up to save us money and make our operations more effective. Plans are being made for advance right-of-way acquisition which will prevent blockage of future highway projects. Our Advance Planning Unit is considered one of the finest in the nation.

Finally the basic problem is money. Ten percent of all state highway mileage in America is in the North Carolina system, and we support it on 3 percent of the highway taxes collected. With all of the money directed toward highways and no longer supporting the prisons and other such agencies, the best possible analysis of our highway system indicates that we are still falling approximately 25 million dollars a year behind in our construction program; and this means primary, urban and secondary.

I am convinced that an improved highway system promotes the economy in such a way that it pays for itself, and that the investments we make in better roads will be returned.

You will also receive legislation dealing with roadside billboards, and these certainly need proper control.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The past two years have been eventful ones for the continued economic growth of North Carolina. This growth has been highlighted especially by our industrial expansion.

Growth of our industrial labor force and gains to the payrolls of our wage earners have also been significant for 1961-62. Gross gains to our working force in industry have been over 60,000 persons and wage gains have been some 200 million dollars.

Secretary of State Thad Eure has authorized more new corporations during the past two years than at any other similar period in the history of the State. During 1961 and 1962, 6,133 new domestic corporations were organized. Seven hundred ninety-six corporations from other states were domesticated to do business in North Carolina.

In 1961, our per capita income scored a five percent gain over the average for 1960. Comparable figures for 1962 are not yet available but it is believed that there will be some gain over 1961. Hargrove Bowles and Robert Stallings have provided vivid and vigorous leadership.

The full weight of our Industrial Education Program is now beginning to be felt in our promotion efforts. Our Department of Conservation and Development states, without reservation, that the industrial education program and in fact the State's total new efforts toward improving education represent one of the most effective promotional tools ever provided.

The developers over the State are anxious to learn what new and effective things this Legislature will do to assist the program. They and we know that some of our closest competitors are girding themselves to do serious battle with us on every worthwhile project contemplated for the Southeast.

We must not follow in the steps of some states in the Nation that make unrealistic concessions to industry. We cannot, however, because we are leading, afford to become staid and self-satisfied. We strive constantly to improve our attractiveness to reputable business. Those factors which hinder our economic growth in competition with other areas must be corrected or we will miss some of the progress which would naturally come our way.

I especially solicit your thinking and advice on how we might keep this progress moving for the benefit of all of our people.

SCHOOLS

Since the General Assembly was last here much progress has been made in our schools. State Superintendent Charles F. Carroll and State Board Chairman, Dallas Herring, are leading the way.

The most dramatic change has been the beginning of a new life in education, across the state, in large counties and little ones. Teachers are working harder, stretching for new ideas, doing a better job day by day, exhibiting a high morale and a higher sense of duty and dedication.

More smart and dedicated young people than ever before are choosing teaching as a career. More new teachers, graduating from our colleges, are staying in North Carolina to teach.

More consolidation, more improvement in courses of study, fewer dropouts, more dedication from principals, greater interest by parents, are positive signs of progress. Along with the emphasis by our State, there has been great new help from the counties and districts, where ultimate responsibility lies. I am pleased to see so much local interest and work, for without this we cannot make much progress. We must urge even greater local support.

Students, the key and the purpose of all your efforts, are showing that they realize studying is important, that learning is going to mean so much in their lives. They are serious, but with the full enthusiasm of youth are giving a new dimension to our schools. Student leadership is meaning more than ever. Your efforts and faith is being well rewarded by students who have come to full understanding that there is no place tomorrow for the uneducated brain or the untrained skill.

School administrators are seeking new ways, better methods, fresh ideas, to make the most of the human resources of the State.

When we first decided to accelerate our school efforts, I pointed out that there is no magic button, there is no easy way, that our sustained efforts for about ten years would be required to reach the top and then full steam would be necessary to keep us there.

All over this Nation, North Carolina is recognized as a foremost leader in new effort for better schools. Other states are looking, asking, following, and maybe getting ahead of us.

This is no time to get smug. When I asked the last General Assembly for new money, I said I would be just as demanding of teachers and school people. I have tried to do this and will continue. There is plenty of room for improvement in teachers, school principals, school systems, superintendents, board members, and governors. We know it, and we will try to find that improvement.

There is also need for continued Legislative support, and the budget requests of the State Board of Education are realistic and reasonable.

We are moving. Moving in the right direction. If we keep up this rate of effort and improvement and support through this session, and the next two, the General Assembly arriving at this State House in February of 1969 should find that North Carolina has a school system equal to the best in the Nation.

TALENTED CHILDREN

In the age when excellence is in demand, we have a rapidly expanding public school program to seek out and challenge unusual talent. Last year, 2,065 students were involved, and this year 5,206 are taking part, and next year, it will reach far more.

In addition, we have established a summer school for talented high school juniors and seniors to be held at Salem College, to give incentive and recognition to excellence throughout the State. This project, the first of its kind, has national significance. It will be supported for three years by a grant from the Carnegie Foundation and Winston-Salem individuals, companies, and foundations.

RETARDED CHILDREN

We have never given proper attention to children with limited ability. I appointed a special commission last year to outline a State program in this field. I will later ask you to make this a permanent commission, and will present to you the very thoughtful suggestions the program presented.

EDUCATIONAL TELEVISION

We expect to utilize television in education to the best possible extent. Last year I set up a special study committee and already we are actively seeking complete coverage for all parts of the State. This approach holds great promise for the improvement of quality in instruction.

EMPLOYMENT

As a State, we are concerned with employment, and the Employment Security Commission's role is almost wholly concerned with activities designed to promote fuller use of the State's manpower resources.

North Carolina's rate of insured unemployment during the biennium remained consistently below the National average.

A low average industrial wage has disturbed us until we analyze it, and we find the reasons are more good than bad. We now have 40,000 people in needle work averaging $1.32 per hour which pulls down our total average. However, a few years ago we did not have these jobs now held largely by displaced farm people, and it must be admitted that $1.32 is far better than unemployment. We will, however, continue to do everything possible to improve the chances our people have to earn a better living.

The total wage payments to insured workers rose between the first half of 1960 and the first half of 1962 by more than 13 percent, meaning that the 1962 payroll for these workers will be $3.8 billion as compared with 1960 earnings of less than $3.3 billion.

We paid out $82 million in insurance to unemployed, which did much to relieve the distress of those experiencing unemployment and served as a cushion to bolster the North Carolina program.

Our employment security trust fund increased by $7 million, and all indications are that North Carolina's program remains one of the most solvent in the Nation.

There are certain minor amendments and adjustments to be made, including increasing the benefits in certain cases.

As a State, we have a responsibility of helping to find jobs. The Chairman of the Employment Security Commission, Colonel Henry E. Kendall, has taken the lead in this. We take it as our mission to reduce substantially unemployment, and we are working in that direction.

LABOR

Frank Crane, Commissioner of Labor, has brought exceptional skill to his assignment.

Labor-management relations continued on their traditional even keel, with relatively few strikes and low totals of lost man-hours. North Carolina's record of industrial peace and productivity is one of the best in the Nation.

We have just come through a year of record growth.

The State has received National publicity and recognition for its achievement in industrial safety.

The North Carolina Minimum Wage Law is well accepted now, and it appears appropriate to increase the 75-cent minimum set by the 1959 statute to a figure more in keeping with present-day economic realities. I hope you will consider this favorably, and I hope it might be raised to $1.00.

This would substantially help the earnings of many thousands of our fellow citizens, and would boost the entire economy.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Chairman J. W. Bean of the Industrial Commission and his associates are administering the Workmen's Compensation Law with great efficiency and with fairness to all.

The percentage of injuries has been decreasing, but the employment in industrial plants has been increasing and thus the caseload is growing.

It is likely that the coverage and maximum amounts provided in the statutes are no longer adequate and I would hope you would give some consideration to adjusting these provisions.

SENATE REDISTRICTING

There are some other specific things we need to do during this Session.

The Constitution requires that the Senate be redistricted. It is just that simple, and we need to get on with the job.

I hope also you will consider a constitutional amendment which will make this automatic in the future, as we provided in the case of House reapportionment in the last session and elections.

INSURANCE LAWS

North Carolina is known nationally as a State of honest and fair insurance law administration with the chief passion being the complete protection of the public. We need some tightening up here and there and we can count on Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier to present sound proposals to us.

ELECTION LAWS

Our elections are honest but in some cases the absentee ballot provisions have been abused. Chairman William Joslin has proposed sound changes for your consideration.

SCHOOL BOARDS

School boards and school committees are a key to success of our hopes in achieving a new quality in our schools. We must attempt to devise several methods of selection which will diminish partisan attitudes, and I am thinking about non-partisan rather than bi-partisan attitudes. We need to attract the best possible citizens to these jobs.

MIGRANT LABOR

The Governor's Committee on Agricultural Migrants approved and sponsored a bill in the 1961 General Assembly, which authorized minimum sanitation standards in labor camps. This bill failed to pass. It was decided to prepare such minimum standards, which would be followed on a cooperative basis with the Employment Security Commission, the local health departments, and local growers. These standards were approved by the Governor's Committee and released to the press December 1961. We are doing many other things on a voluntary basis.

Many growers cooperated in 1962 and 202 permits were issued by the local health departments in contrast to 147 issued during 1961.

A number of new camps were constructed and physical improvements were made but many continued to operate without adequate sanitation protection.

We should consider legislation for minimum protection of migrant workers.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Most public health programs are necessarily of an ongoing nature to undergird continually the total health of the citizens of North Carolina, and Dr. J. W. R. Norton, State Health Officer, and many associates are to be commended for their diligence.

Our State has maintained its outstanding record in the control of Communicable Disease. This is especially true in poliomyelitis in which the 1959 total of 277 paralytic cases with 20 deaths was cut down to 9 cases in 1961 with one death and to 11 cases in 1962 with no deaths.

Remarkable progress can be seen in the control of diphtheria and typhoid fever.

Progress in the control of whooping cough is also encouraging.

Influenza, however, is still largely uncontrolled with epidemics occurring every two to three years.

The Board constantly monitors for radiation fall-out and is prepared for wide-scale operation in an emergency.

Aid to counties is a pressing need at the present time in order to enable Local Health Departments to add sufficient staff to cope with immediate public health problems.

We will have presented for your consideration legislation authorizing the State Board of Health to intensify its study of the Air Pollution problem in the State and to encourage adoption of measures to abate these hazards.

THE SANATORIUM SYSTEM

Tuberculosis is treated in four sanatoriums—McCain, Black Mountain, Wilson, and The Gravely Sanatorium at Chapel Hill.

The system is extremely well administered under Dr. Henry Stuart Willis, Superintendent and Medical Director, and Ben H. Clark, Administrator. Costs of operation compare most favorably.

Treatment has improved remarkably. The average stay in 1950 was 16 months; now it is less than seven months.

There is a slight increase in admissions with a drug-resistant bacilli which could create serious future problems. There is also a shift in the age of the patients with the largest group now being elderly people, and this also could create some future problems. Both of these situations could cause increased costs in the next biennium which we cannot now anticipate.

To determine just where we stand, I appointed an Advisory Committee on Tuberculosis and they have just made a report. This indicates there is still much work to be done in public health and other areas and we are taking the recommended steps.

ATOMIC ENERGY

The use of atomic energy will have growing meaning for the people of this State, and its regulation, development, and control are supervised and coordinated by a group of businessmen, educators, and public employees constituting the North Carolina Atomic Energy Advisory Committee.

We have six subcommittees, Agriculture, Medicine and Public Health, Education and Research, Power, Industry and Labor, and Radiation Standards, all concerning themselves with vital problems.

A number of State institutions and agencies are involved with the problems and opportunities of atomic energy, and industrial development will be assisted by our clear understanding of the possibilities.

The Committee has recommended for our consideration certain legislative action, which I believe would be of benefit to us, especially relating to regulation, licensing, and supervision.

SPACE TECHNOLOGY

Space projects have not naturally sought North Carolina because we were not located to provide a launching site, and did not have the basic aircraft industry, but there will be many things we can contribute to the exploration of space secrets, and many benefits we can derive from this contribution. Right now we are working on a program which will do just this.

The development of stronger departments in engineering and the physical sciences is a major effort, and these and related fields must receive our complete support as we chart our course into a century of technology and change.

We are going to continue to drive to develop the educational contributions to the atomic and space age, drawing together the brains and resources of industry, business, education and government to plan our place in this fantastic future.

UTILITIES

The regulation of utilities is under the chairmanship of Harry T. Westcott, who is doing a conscientious and able job, along with his colleagues.

At his suggestion, I recommended that a thorough study be made to bring our utilities laws up to date and this has now been done.

I hasten to point out to you and for the record the facts we point out almost daily to industrial prospects. Statistics disclose that our electric rates with the exception of several relatively small areas, are well below the national average; residential rates are 10% lower and commercial and industrial rates are 25% to 30% lower. North Carolina rates are lower than those in our neighboring states. In the past two years the generating capacity has been increased from 3,624,983 kilowatts to 4,435,833 kilowatts and this is dramatic proof of economic growth.

The number of telephones in service in North Carolina are increasing at the rate of approximately 65,000 per year. Held orders have decreased from 37,000 in 1954 to less than 3,000 at present.

The present Commission operating under the present laws has done an outstanding job, and this fact is so recognized at the national level.

Give them clearer laws and they will do an even better job.

We need a full-time legal advocate for the public.

We need a full-time rate expert representing the public.

There is a need to define the lines between the private companies and the cooperatives. We need to change the method of increasing rates under bond prior to any hearing.

There is a need to have a workable and understandable rate-making law, protecting the public and fair to the companies.

The General Statutes Commission will present a report and recommendations to you, and in addition you will have available the study made by Mr. Edward Hipp and the recommendations of our own Utilities Commission.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

The North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority, under the chairmanship of Gwyn B. Price, has successfully promoted an expansion program which now has 98% coverage in dependable electric service and dependable telephone service for 50% of our rural people, reaching 212,000 consumer members.

The growing problem of duplication of service must be solved with fairness to all, especially the rate payer, and this will be one of our jobs during this session.

MENTAL HOSPITALS

The North Carolina mental care system is not only in the mainstream of America, John Umstead has put it in the first flotilla, and the professional leadership of Dr. Eugene Hargrove will keep us setting an example for the rest of the Nation.

To a great extent our potential rests with the mental health of our people. We have risen above the old concept of custodial care. Our philosophy now, rising from the public attitude and spirit and promoted by professional knowledge is treatment and rehabilitation.

While yearly admissions have risen extraordinarily, the average daily population of the hospital has almost leveled off. For the first time, this halts a rise in resident population which has been going on since the establishment of the hospitals. This has been accomplished, of course, only by the discharge rate keeping pace with admissions which means a much more active treatment program within our hospitals.

We are requesting support for additional research.

The guide line for the future in North Carolina is the development of an integrated comprehensive patient-family-community oriented system of care for major and minor mental disturbances, including mental retardation.

You will also be asked to consider the establishment of a Mental Health Department which will expand the scope of services.

North Carolina is in a position to play a leading role in a national trend toward the maximum realization of human resources through research, training, and service in the mental health field.

MUSIC

The North Carolina Symphony, under the leadership of our imaginative pioneer, Dr. Benjamin Swalin, adds to the enrichment of the education of our children across the State, as it presently begins its Eighteenth Annual Tour. We must assure the permanent establishment of the Symphony.

DRAMA

The outdoor dramas, a North Carolina creation, give us a first ranking position and add to the appeal to tourists and the enjoyment of our citizens.

ART

The North Carolina Museum of Art continues to amaze visitors, influence industrial prospects, enrich the lives of our young people and reflect credit on our State.

Dr. Justus Bier, Director, internationally recognized, has carried on his work with great skill and imagination. The exhibition on Tilmann Riemenschneider last fall, supported by the governments of France, the Netherlands and West Germany, was a tremendous success with our people, and widely reported in popular as well as in art periodicals. LIFE magazine, for example, devoted eight full-color pages to the North Carolina exhibition and carried one of the exhibition sculptures on the cover of its Latin American edition.

During the year the Kress Foundation turned over to the State the title to the 72 works of art valued at $2.5 million. The total value of our collection is about $7.5 million.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

We continue to be disturbed by the national increase in traffic accidents. One of our positive accomplishments has been the establishment of the privately-endowed North Carolina Traffic Safety Council, which is digging hard for solutions.

I have already outlined publicly a program which I think will save some lives. All of our experience in this and other states indicates drastic action is necessary if you really want to reduce injuries and fatalities. I will send you a special message relating to this problem.

COURT IMPROVEMENT

The people voted for the amendments to improve the administration of justice.

Appropriate research material for legislation is being prepared by a committee of representatives of the General Assembly, the Bar Association, the Judicial Council, and the public. This will be presented to your proper committees for guidance in determining what actions might be taken this year. I think the public expects us to start implementation.

In addition, the Judicial Council will make meritorious recommendations for the general improvement of the courts and court procedure.

STATE PERSONNEL

Personnel Administration has made continuing progress in the past two years, and is now under the direction of Walter E. Fuller, an able civil servant. In this area, continued progress and accomplishments are of utmost importance, not only to recognize fairly the many capable and conscientious employees of the State, but also to meet the future needs for competent management and leadership. The dynamic nature of State government makes imperative that we maintain an employment atmosphere attractive to the highest caliber of well-trained and qualified career employees; more emphasis will be needed on the development and training of our personnel.

A longevity pay plan, as provided by the Enabling Act passed by the last Legislature, has been adopted by the State Personnel Council, and I have recommended that the State Personnel Council study the feasibility of increasing these payments.

Contrary to the belief of many, there are a good number of State employees who do not enjoy the commonly referred to standard workweek of 40 hours. Significant improvements have been made—for example, in our mental institutions some 900 employees have had their working hours reduced since July 7, 1961. On January 1, 1962, the hours of custodial employees of the Prison Department were reduced from 60 to 48 hours. Five years ago these employees worked 72 hours per week. The objective is to get and keep better guards, and you can see the quality of the work reflected in the reduction in hours.

The 1961 Appropriation Act included a salary adjustment fund for each of the two years. During the past two years, the State Personnel Council has authorized salary range revisions for some 200 classes of positions which included approximately 8,000 employees.

Although this is not in the budget, we need a continuation of a salary adjustment fund to be provided in the 1963-65 budget. You will receive requests for across-the-board salary increases which are not set forth in the budget. You will receive requests for higher salaries for professional personnel. I recommend that the joint appropriations committee study these three problems so that we might reach fair and equitable decisions.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

I am pleased to report much success in the cooperation between State government and the one hundred counties.

The State and the counties are partners in the financing of public schools, in the financing of community colleges, in the support of industrial education centers, in the administration and financing of public welfare and public health, in library operation, hospital construction, and agriculture extension. We work with them in the development of plans for roads and water resources and many other programs.

Last year I was privileged to attend their national meeting and observed that most other states look to North Carolina as a model of cooperation which they hope to achieve.

We have sought the advice and suggestions of county officials in all things relating to joint responsibilities, and they have been most cooperative and helpful.

We shall continue to seek their assistance, and shall continue to furnish advice available to us and to assist them in every possible way in the discharge of their responsibilities.

We cannot hope to make progress unless county officials are willing to do their share, to accept their responsibilities, and to lead out in education and other programs vital to the future of our people.

CITIES AND TOWNS

Thirty years ago only twenty-five percent of our citizens lived in town. Now it is forty percent. In the perspective of history, it will be but an instant before a majority of North Carolinians are city residents.

As people crowd together, their problems multiply geometrically, and they need help.

There are three ways in which the State can assist: (1) with money; (2) with enabling legislation; and (3) with planning and advisory services. I propose action in all three categories.

There is a way in which the State can give financial aid and save itself money. I have instructed the Highway Department to set up a revolving fund for the advance acquisition of highway rights-of-way. Where future thoroughfares are engineered, the State can use its money to purchase and hold rights-of-way until the project is constructed. Then the cities will reimburse their share. This procedure is a major step forward in State-municipal relationships.

We can clear the way for cities to help themselves, and I will propose and support several measures for protection of right-of-way, protection of open spaces, tightening of Powell Bill procedures, and other changes which should help the towns and cities.

Finally, we can give all the cities a point of contact in State government where they can receive planning advice, economic development assistance, and find an advocate with Federal agencies.

COMMUNITY PLANNING

In striving for the economic and educational growth of our people, I know that we must always be aware that rapid growth brings not only benefits but also problems.

To cope with these problems of development in a sound and orderly manner, sound planning principles must be employed. Our larger cities are meeting the problem by employing professional planning staffs. Our smaller communities, however, often lack the financial resources to do this even though the problems confronting them are not less acute than those of the larger cities.

In recognition of this problem, the General Assembly of 1957 authorized the creation of a Division of Community Planning within the structure of the Department of Conservation and Development. Since its activation, the Division has concentrated its efforts in the smaller municipalities and counties having populations of less than 50,000 persons. After the first full year's operation, in late 1958, the Division was serving only four municipalities. Now, some four years later, sixty-seven municipalities and eleven counties are being served and additional communities are being added to the list as rapidly as assistance can be provided.

We can avoid the crowded cities, the slums, the breeders of crime and disorder, by making planning a part of our growth.

RECREATION

The North Carolina Recreation Commission under the leadership of Ralph J. Andrews, its imaginative director, primarily is in the business of furnishing advice and stimulus to public, private, and commercial recreation interests throughout the whole State.

North Carolina of the future will need vast recreational facilities. People will be living in more crowded conditions, predictions have been made that we will have one vast city ranging from the Research Triangle to Charlotte, leisure time is a certainty, and more millions will be traveling to Variety Vacationland for recreation.

Only a few years ago, we were giving little or no attention to the development of recreation; now it is suddenly important. We have asked the North Carolina Recreation Commission to draw together all agencies directly or indirectly concerned with recreation, and to plan now for the 1980's.

FORESTS

We are doing much with our natural resources and, of equal importance, are practicing conservation measures that will enhance their value for future generations.

Management practices and fire control programs of our forest land make us a leader in these programs in the Southeast. The assistance being rendered to woodland owners by our State Forest Service continues to be of considerable value to local economy and our forest tree seedling program is helping to insure an abundant growth of trees for the future. Some 43 million seedlings will be sold this year and increased interest in the program indicates even greater distribution for the coming years.

The serious loss of woodlands from forest fires has been reduced through modern fire fighting techniques and equipment. During the past two years the average size of our forest fires has been reduced drastically and the percentage of protected acreage actually burned has been brought to a new low figure.

PARKS

We must not ignore the preservation and protection for the benefit of our people those things of our natural and native surroundings that are so much a part of the beauty and history of our State. Over the past two years State Parks were visited by more than three and one-quarter million people, an all-time high attendance figure. As our State continues to grow economically and industrially, the demand for park facilities will increase rapidly. During the past two years two new areas have been added to bring to 13 our total of State Parks.

We also have been expanding greatly the facilities at Kerr Reservoir under the Kerr Reservoir Development Commission.

The North Carolina National Park, Parkway and Forest Development Commission concerns itself with the development of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, the Blue Ridge Parkway and the North Carolina National Forests. This spring we have called a conference on outdoor recreation in the Appalachian which should be of great help in the development of Western North Carolina.

The Hatteras National Seashore Park Commission is concerned with the development and promotion of the greatest seashore park in the country.

We need to plan today for adequate parks for the future.

WILDLIFE

The Wildlife Resources Commission is supported from hunting and fishing license fees and certain federal funds.

Headed by Clyde P. Patton, Executive Director, we have a program of intensive fish and game management building for the present use and protecting for the future use.

WATER RESOURCES

Water resources development in North Carolina has gained momentum rapidly during the current biennium under the direction of Harry A. Brown.

Steps aimed at full development of major river basins for purposes of water supply, water quality improvement, flood control, navigation, irrigation, and recreation are moving steadily ahead.

The completion of the W. Kerr Scott Reservoir on the Yadkin River will provide for future industrial development, for flood control, and many advantages including the growing demand for recreation facilities.

Similar possibilities are included in the 100-year plan for the comprehensive development of the Cape Fear Basin which is now under consideration by Congress.

Similar studies for the Neuse will be ready in 1963, and for the Upper French Broad in 1965. Surveys for the Catawba, New, and French Broad River Basins are in progress. Similar studies for the Yadkin, Broad, and Tar River Basins have been authorized.

Waterway development is moving forward at the fastest rate in the State's history.

Studies of the coastline are in progress. Hurricane protection plans for Carolina Beach, Fort Fisher, Wrightsville, Fort Macon, are authorized by Congress. Plans for protection against storm flooding for areas of Craven and Pamlico counties are near completion.

The State is a partner with New Hanover County, the Town of Wrightsville Beach, and the Federal Government in the Saline Water Conversion Research and Development Test Station.

North Carolina's statewide anti-pollution program has made great progress; all basins studies have been completed; 13 basins have been classified (90% of the State's area), leaving only 3 which will be completed by the end of this Session. Chairman Vivian Whitfield deserves commendation.

The eroding shoreline is particularly acute. Water Resources and a special committee headed by Woodrow Price are making extensive studies, and will have recommendations to make to you.

There will be other modest requests, but I hope you will see the importance, the new momentum, and will work to keep us moving rapidly to conserve and develop this great and valuable natural resource.

STATE PORTS

The State Ports Authority is adding new life to the economy of North Carolina in a way that will bring benefits for many years. No longer are we required to look to the north and the south for exports and imports, having some of our profits rub off as we of necessity relied on the ports of Norfolk and Charleston.

During the last biennium, we have completed a new warehouse and equipment garage at Morehead City and have acquired the former shipyard at Wilmington under a lease-purchase option.

We have also built at Wilmington a new T-head pier for the purpose of handling bulk liquid cargoes, and have seen new companies come in to use this and other port facilities.

Ports business has increased.

We need additional berths and warehouses if we are to stay in the competition.

Our sister states are moving rapidly. Port development is an important segment of our total economic development, as important as roads and airports. Our ports are fast approaching self-support, but we need now to make the wise investments which will keep our economy moving.

HISTORY

This is the 376th year since the birth of Virginia Dare and the 300th anniversary of the Carolina Charter by King Charles II, and we are going to have many things remind us of a full and proud heritage.

We should not let this Tercentenary pass without building a Hall of History. We are the only State between Pennsylvania and the Gulf Coast without a proper place to display and preserve our history, and our documents are in constant jeopardy in their present temporary storage.

LIBRARY

A strong State Library, supporting local libraries, is a part of a wise program of education, and indeed the extent of libraries is a measure of the civilization of a people.

One example of the work is the State Library Processing Center which orders, catalogs, processes and delivers ready for use books selected by participating libraries in 64 counties. Consultant services, extension services, and the State Aid to Public Libraries Fund are examples of other assistance to local communities and the very fine services directed by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hughey.

We do not really have a library in the physical sense. We need this badly if we are to develop our facility properly, and it is believed that it should be built in conjunction with our Hall of History.

PRISONS, PAROLES, PROBATION

You are the first General Assembly in at least two decades to be free from the responsibility of providing funds for a growing prison population. Your Prison Department is the only one in the nation with a decreasing population, and we expect a reduction of more than 1200 inmates from what the figure would have been if the average inmate population had continued to grow as it did from 1945 through 1961.

I am sure we are pleased when the cost of crime is reduced and the tax-dollar is saved. The savings in human resources, gainful employment, and the reduction in heartbreak and mental anguish are the most significant gains from stopping the growth of the prison population.

Close cooperation between the Prison Department and free-community agencies and citizens in aiding alcoholics has helped to remove many from the list of repeated offenders.

The rapid growth and remarkable success of the Work Release Program has attracted national and international attention. This program has not only helped to reduce the prison population by its effectiveness as a rehabilitation measure, but has also shifted the cost of supporting more than 1250 work release prisoners and their dependents from the State to the prisoners themselves.

Another especially noteworthy aspect of the Work Release Program is the fact that Court, Probation, Prison, Parole, Welfare, and Employment officials and personnel all have important functions in its development and operation. Credit for and pride in the success of this program is, therefore, widely shared.

We need to have the Work Release Law modified so that its proven value as a pre-parole program can be extended to prisoners serving sentences longer than five years.

We need to expand and extend the programs and measures conducted cooperatively by the Prison Department and the Hospitals Board of Control to determine what can and should be done for prisoners who are mentally ill or inebriates.

We need to make a comprehensive study of possible alternatives for treating the alcoholic offender.

We need to encourage and facilitate coordination of the programs of all agencies concerned with crime prevention and control, and in this regard I commend to you the recommendations of the Commission on Reorganization of State Government.

With rare exceptions it is far better to place a person on parole than to give an outright discharge from prison. Parole procedure provides some supervision and some help in readjustment and makes return to prison less likely. Of the last 7,000 paroled only 1.4% committed while on parole what would be termed really serious offenses.

We need additional parole officers to do the job in the proper manner, giving personal attention which will lessen the chances of return to prison. Reformation of the prisoner is the most important work of the Board of Paroles, and it is obvious that Chairman Johnson Matthews has made the policy work.

The financial side is no small matter. In the last two years alone over $6 million has been saved by placing men on parole who otherwise would have been an expense to the prison system, and over $700,000 has been saved in welfare payments to the families of these men. In addition, in the same period the men on parole have earned almost $8 million on which they paid taxes to help support the men they left in prison, to say nothing of adding to the support of the schools for their children.

Probation also has been of significant value because it gives careful supervision to the person in trouble before he suffers the many bad effects of being in the prison system, associating with people who may cause additional trouble. The Probation system, under the able leadership of Charles Cohoon, is being used more and more by the judges, and if we are to make this work, to redeem lives, to save money for the State, we need additional probation supervisors.

We can supervise a man on probation or parole for a year at the cost of keeping him in prison for one month, and records show this person will earn his own money, pay taxes, and is less likely to get into trouble again.

These agencies, Probation, Prison, Parole, will continue to move forward in the two-fold task of protecting the public and rehabilitating offenders. We expect to reduce further the cost of crime by closer guidance, expanding rehabilitation programs for youthful offenders, alcoholics, and inmates needing medical and psychiatric treatment, by group counseling, pre-release preparation, academic and vocational education, and the expansion of the Work Release Program.

PUBLIC WELFARE

North Carolina is known across the Nation for its progressive public welfare program, a program which has placed great emphasis on a wide variety of services that help people to help themselves.

Despite this range of services, public welfare in North Carolina has been marked by economy of administration.

The 1961 General Assembly strengthened the public welfare program in a number of ways through both legislation and appropriations. These measures have all been implemented during the biennium to the end that grants are slightly higher for needy people and services are on a sounder basis.

Good as the record is, we are not doing enough in the public welfare area. We must see to it that every child deprived of the support and care of his parents has his basic needs for food, clothing, and shelter met at such a level that he can in turn take full advantage of educational opportunity and become a well-adjusted, self-supporting adult.

We will have some good recommendations coming from the special commission set up by the last General Assembly and under the chairmanship of former Senator Dallas Alford.

We also need to turn our attention to the necessarily high cost of medical care for the medically indigent and also for older people no longer able to work, not medically indigent, but with limited funds, who have worked hard all of their lives, who have not been able to save much from limited earnings, and who face having all of their life's savings wiped out by extended illness. I do not believe this is socialized medicine, and I do not believe it leads toward socialized medicine, and I do not think we can continue to ignore the needs of these people in the face of increasing medical care costs. We have a special committee working on the implementation of Kerr-Mills legislation and will have this available for your consideration.

SCHOOLS FOR BLIND AND DEAF

We have the State School for the Blind and Deaf at Raleigh, with Egbert N. Peeler as superintendent; and in Morganton the largest school for the deaf in the Nation, under the direction of Ben Hoffmeyer.

We also are in the process of building an additional school for the deaf at Wilson under authorization of the last session of the General Assembly. You are being asked to implement this new school, which is much needed to provide training for children who live in the eastern half of the State.

Also, we need to remember as we improve the public schools that this specialized training is also a part of public education, and should not be overlooked. These children need, too, the advantages of the increased appropriations which attract and hold the best possible teachers.

COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND

The North Carolina State Commission for the Blind, with H. A. Wood as its able secretary, charged with all services for the blind except the schools, has the support of volunteers to a degree unequalled in any other State in the nation.

In rehabilitation North Carolina has led the nation for the past 15 years in the number of blind persons rehabilitated into employment.

Home industries, medical services, prevention of blindness, restoration of vision are a part of this remarkable State service.

We will ask you to strengthen these services.

VETERANS

North Carolina has always made a heavy contribution in manpower to our nation's Armed Forces. As evidence of this, we have a veteran population of some 436,000 persons. There are over 96,000 veterans and dependents in North Carolina now receiving some form of disability or death benefits, and it is significant to note that we have about 2,000 Tar Heels who were disabled in the so-called "peacetime" actions around the globe, since Korea. These men, together with their dependents, —widows, orphans and aging parents who lost sons—comprise about 45% of our population. Last year alone, Federal expenditures for veterans in North Carolina exceeded $143,000,000.

For the most part, assistance in obtaining and continuing to receive these benefits must come from outside the Federal Government. These benefits are not automatic; entitlement must be proved. Such assistance is provided all over North Carolina through the work of the North Carolina Veterans Commission, headed by Collin McKinne.

CIVIL DEFENSE AGENCY

Recurrent international crises and the grave dangers that face our nation in this nuclear age leave little room for doubt that realistic civil defense is essential to our continued well-being and security as a free people. It is considered vital to our national diplomacy and generally accepted as part of our American defense. As such, it is vital to us as a State and as individual citizens.

North Carolina Civil Defense, established with a small coordinating agency operating under the Governor, directed by General Edward F. Griffin, has made outstanding progress during the biennium.

Emergency Services are established with responsibilities assigned to 27 State agencies and organizations. Training has been conducted by many of the services at State, area, and local levels.

Every county and 275 cities and towns in North Carolina have named local Civil Defense Directors. Eighty-three counties have Emergency Plans written and approved, and 159 cities and towns covered by published plans. These plans, prepared under supervision of the State Agency, meet Department of Defense criteria and enable the local agency to qualify for matching federal funds and government surplus property.

Nobody knows whether all these defense measures will ever have to be used, but as long as there is any possibility that they will be required to preserve our State and its people, the effort to establish and maintain a state of operational readiness is fully justified.

NATIONAL GUARD

The North Carolina National Guard is a volunteer organization composed of citizen-soldiers who devote part of their time to training to be ready for any State or National emergency requiring the services of disciplined and armed forces.

In the event of enemy attack, the National Guard has standing orders to mobilize immediately as a part of our civil defense plan and will serve in the State pending their call to Federal duty.

The organization consists of units of the Army and Air National Guard located in 102 cities and towns across the State. The Adjutant General Claude T. Bowers is an able and experienced veteran and administrator.

Financial support is provided jointly by the State and Federal Governments, with the bulk coming from national defense funds.

The field training periods conducted during 1961 and 1962 indicate that all units were in the best state of training and readiness ever achieved.

Notable in the achievements of the Army National Guard is the development and implementation of a Physical Fitness Program for all members of the Guard, developed with the assistance of the North Carolina Recreation Commission and physical educational personnel of North Carolina State College. The Chief of the National Guard Bureau was so impressed that he requested us to demonstrate the program to National Guard personnel of all the States. This was done at conferences held in Raleigh and Salt Lake City. As a result, the program has been adopted by the majority of the states and North Carolina has received much favorable comment and praise across the Nation.

The National Guard is now in the process of re-organization under the "ROAD" concept, along with regular army divisions. This is being done in a manner which will best serve the national defense interests, which is our primary goal in the North Carolina National Guard.

We should consider legislation authorizing the establishment of a North Carolina State Guard on a cadre basis. A cadre thus established, with a few volunteers in each community where National Guard units are now located, would provide for a rapid organization of a State Guard as a replacement for the National Guard in the event of mobilization for national service.

MEDICAL CARE COMMISSION

We can all be proud of the accomplishments of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission and William F. Henderson, the Executive Secretary.

During the past two years the Commission has approved 29 community health facility projects involving a total cost of $34 million.

Under this program, North Carolina is leading the Nation in the number of medical care projects constructed.

With the State loan program, we have attracted 60 new students to medical careers in the mental hospitals and in the State's rural communities.

Our programs for the future concentrate on providing adequate personnel to staff our medical programs, and we are giving attention to attracting more people to health careers.

We are giving more attention to the development of long-term care programs to lessen the strain on acute general hospital beds, and to provide less costly services for the chronically infirm.

During this session, we will need to consider budget requests to encourage local facilities for the chronically ill, to aid in building mental health clinics, and to continue the student loan programs.

JUVENILE CORRECTION

The guidance, training and correction of juveniles who violate the law are responsibilities of the State.

North Carolina now enjoys the reputation of having one of the best correction and training programs in the Nation. This is carried out by the Board of Correction and Training under the dedicated direction of Blaine M. Madison.

Six schools across the State plus the new Juvenile Evaluation Center authorized by the last Session of the General Assembly constitute our institutions, and their success and competence are measured by the fact that 90 percent of the children trained never again become involved with violations of the law.

The Juvenile Evaluation Center, providing services for the children from the six schools with acute emotional and behavior problems, treats those psychologically disabled, emotionally disturbed, and physically handicapped.

This Center is a significant forward movement toward our goal of providing therapy for children so they can solve their problems and return to their own communities as compatible and productive citizens.

It is not enough to rely on the correctional institution. Juvenile delinquency springs from many causes, and to the extent we can work on these causes we can reduce institutional treatment.

We have established the Governor's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crime, bringing together all of the various public and private agencies that can have an influence for the good of young people. This has met with enthusiastic response, and only last week this program was pointed out as a model for the other forty-nine states.

HIGHER EDUCATION

Recently I had a chance to outline the position of education beyond the high school when I spoke at the Methodist College in Fayetteville. This report, position, and projection was based on the study of Irving Carlyle's Commission on Education Beyond the High School, which in itself is a landmark in higher education in the State and Nation.

The Board of Higher Education is doing an excellent job and we are fortunate to have Dr. William C. Archie as Director. The report of the Board will soon be available and distributed to each of you, so I will not attempt to review its accomplishments in this message.

North Carolina has been able to attract able men and women to lead our institutions of higher education. President William C. Friday, the Chancellors, the college presidents all are giving outstanding leadership.

I hope you would consider four main objectives in higher education, and if you do, I think historians will look back to your session as the year North Carolina started getting ready for the space age. Certainly, countless generations of boys and girls will have their lives and opportunities made better by your actions.

The first objective is a better definition of the university, drawing closer together the three campuses, strengthening the position of each, providing for the expansion to Charlotte and other communities as they can justify professional and graduate training, giving us one great, strong university.

The second objective is to provide for greater cooperation with the private colleges, assuring that the influence of this great resource is not diminished. I have asked a special committee to work on this and I will keep you informed.

The third objective is to enrich the program at all of our State colleges, to prepare for the expansion which is sure to come, and to authorize four-year colleges at Wilmington, Charlotte, and Asheville.

The fourth objective is to establish under the Board of Education, in conjunction with our Industrial Education Centers, a system of comprehensive community colleges.

In your deliberations, you have a chance to set the philosophy which will turn our history, as your action gives to every boy and girl a finer chance to get ready for the competition of the space age.

FISCAL AFFAIRS

Edwin Gill, State Treasurer, an outstanding public servant, shows why North Carolina is recognized as the State "where good government is a habit."

He reports "Sound fiscal policy has characterized North Carolina over a period of more than sixty years. Credit, of course, for this splendid record belongs to all of the fiscal agencies of the State, as well as to the General Assembly itself. The fact that our bonds are rated AAA, the highest rating given any State bonds, reflects the fact that North Carolina has managed her debt well, preserved a balanced budget, and carried on the general affairs of State in a businesslike manner."

The State Auditor, Henry Bridges, able guardian of public funds, reports sound fiscal management in State government.

CONCLUSION

I have surveyed the various activities of our State Government. Each time I do this I come to see again that our Government is the people's massive, orderly effort to achieve together what no one of us can so well achieve alone.

During these two years we have been guided by the concept that the purpose of government is to serve the people, to assist in progress, to lead in education and economic development, to do it economically, efficiently, honestly, and always guided by the best interests of our progressive people.

Progress has been made—enough to show us that much more progress is possible.

The progress has been made with the lowest number of public employees and the lowest per capita tax rate consistent with the hopes and expectations of our citizens—fourth from the bottom in employees, next to the bottom in per capita tax expenditures.

The greatest thing in North Carolina is the faith and spirit of our people. It is that faith and spirit represented in this Legislature, which you exemplify as leaders of our people.

Now is the time to move forward. You and I have this joint responsibility.

The business for which the Joint Session convened having been accomplished, the Joint Session is dissolved, and pursuant to the motion heretofore made by Senator Scott at the Morning Session, the Senate stands adjourned to meet tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

THIRD DAY

SENATE CHAMBER,
Friday, February 8, 1963.

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment, and is called to order by the President of the Senate T. Clarence Stone.

Prayer is offered by Rev. E. C. Durham of the Methodist Church, Raleigh, N. C.

Senator Scott for the Committee on Journal announces that he has examined the Journal of yesterday and finds the same correct, and upon his motion the reading of the Journal is dispensed with and it stands approved as written.

R. 5, entitled "A joint resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives at twelve noon, Thursday, February 7, 1963 and at ten thirty A. M. Friday, February 8, 1963, the House of Representatives stands ready to receive the Senate in Joint Session at the hour of ten thirty.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by the President of the Senate T. Clarence Stone.

Senator Humber on the part of the Committee appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, presents His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford, who delivers the following message:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

I am happy to have the responsibility, imposed upon me by the Executive Budget Act, to come before the General Assembly to recommend the Budget for the 1963-65 biennium.

About this same time one year ago, the first memorandum was sent out asking all State agencies to submit their budget requests for study by the staff of the Budget Division, the Advisory Budget Commission, and the Governor. This was the beginning of a process that has consumed the time and thought of many people over the 12-month period which followed.

I would like to thank, on behalf of the State, the men of the Advisory Budget Commission. As you know, four of the six members serve in their capacity as chairmen of the House and Senate Finance and Appropriations Committees. These members are Representative Thomas H. Woodard, who also served as chairman; Senator James G. Stikeleather, Jr.; Senator Thomas J. White; and Representative J. Shelton Wicker. In addition to these members, Senator Ralph H. Scott and Mr. David S. Coltrane and later Mr. E. D. Gaskins served in the two appointed positions. I commend these men for their devotion and their service to North Carolina.

The first major objective in constructing the budget was to determine what would be required in order to continue all necessary State services and programs at the existing level. This, as you know, we have come to call the "A" Budget. While the decisions are limited to determining exactly how much will be required to continue these services at the existing level, still much negotiation and study are necessary.

The "B" Budget provides for new programs, or for improvements or additions to existing programs. Of course, the "B" Budget is limited by the amount of money available, and I can assure you that there are many more needs than there is money to meet those needs. Public hearings were held, and the Advisory Budget Commission deliberated over a period of more than three months before the final decisions were made.

The Capital Improvements Budget is the third category of recommendations making up the total Budget. These are the requests for additional dormitories, additional hospital space, and other capital construction. The Advisory Budget Commission went out across the State for three and one-half weeks, traveling more than 1,800 miles, in order to have first hand knowledge of our various institutions.

The Capital Improvement Budget, like the "B" Budget, is limited by the resources available, and the pressures of both these areas of need had to be judged in making the final recommendations.

I am now submitting to you four documents: Volume I of the Budget, which contains the "A" Budget; Volume II, which contains the "B" Budget and certain summary statements; Volume III, which contains the Capital Improvement Budget; and Volume IV, a digest of all three of these budgets with a number of graphs and other illustrations.

At the front of Volume I you will find the Budget Report, which is a very concise and yet thorough summary of the total Budget. I am not going to use the Budget Message as a mere restatement of the Budget Report. Rather than make that duplication, I am sure you would benefit more by studying that Report at your convenience and at length.

I will use this occasion to discuss and emphasize the major decisions contained in the Budget.

THE GENERAL FUND

Of the three major operating funds, the General Fund is the largest (74 per cent of tax supported funds). It finances almost all programs other than Highway (including Motor Vehicles) and part of Agriculture.

The General Fund derives its revenue mainly from the income tax;(40 per cent), sales tax (36 per cent), and certain franchise and excise taxes. There are also various agency receipts and some Federal matching funds.

I am most happy to report to you that North Carolina is in an excellent financial condition. In 1961, our per capita income rose by five per cent, while the average percentage increase for the nation was only two per cent. We have had rapid growth both on the farms and in industry. Never has there been greater confidence in the economy of North Carolina.

I am happy to report we can continue to make sound progress without thinking about new taxes, and in fact I intend to recommend some tax relief.

This economic growth has produced additional revenue for the State, mainly in the personal income tax area. Other revenues have increased significantly, though not so dramatically as personal income. While our 1961 revenue estimates were optimistic, they did not attempt to foresee this unusual prosperity. As a result, additional collections of revenue are now estimated to total $77 million at the end of this biennium.

When savings from appropriated funds are added, we will have an opening balance (also called surplus) for the coming biennium of $104 million. This balance is healthy, a sign of economic progress and economy in government, but it doesn't mean we will have all the money we need. This compares with $74 million surplus which we had when the last Session of the General Assembly made up the last Budget. In other words, we needed a surplus of at least $74 million this time just to be even with the board.

The official General Fund revenue estimates for the coming biennium total $840,825,000. When you add the $104 million to these estimates, we will have total General Fund resources of $944,825,000 with which to finance General Fund programs.

Against these resources we had first to determine the amount required for the General Fund "A" Budget. This is $814 million, to keep programs going at the existing levels of service.

The 1961 General Assembly appropriated \$779 million for these same programs in the present biennium. Thus you see we expect and estimate normal growth of our existing programs to be about $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Normal growth means that for about every 27 new students we need one more teacher and additional supplies. It means that as the population increases we must anticipate that more people will need hospital and other such services.

Therefore, to keep programs operating as they now operate we need "A" Budget expenditures from the General Fund of \$814 million, a $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent increase. Subtract this from the money available and we have left \$131 million.

We turn now to Capital Improvements. We found that we need to finance many construction projects. In effect, we were faced with the needs of four years. The Advisory Budget Commission decided that critical needs for improvement projects will require $117 million and that certainly we should do no less than this.

In facing these critical needs we followed a very sound and conservative approach in the financing of this program by recommending $67 million in direct appropriations to capital construction.

This means that we shall not have to ask the people for additional bonded indebtedness in the next two years.

The other funds needed for this construction program can be secured from self-liquidating funds, other receipts and a legislative bond issue. Such a legislative bond issue would be only two-thirds of the amount by which the State debt was reduced this biennium.

In considering the "B" Budget requests, major decisions were made in several areas. I will discuss, first of all, education.

The last General Assembly moved our public school program forward swiftly, and our State led the country in the rate of improvement. That took real political courage because they backed up their beliefs with the necessary money. The advance was a major one. The school tax has turned out to be one of the best investments we have ever made for our boys and girls. It cannot be repealed unless we want to repeal school improvements. We don't.

I firmly believe, and there are thousands across this State who believe with me, that the surest way in which we can give our people a better life is to prepare our children to compete effectively in the age in which they live. We will make every effort to give our adults a better opportunity, through better training and more job opportunities, but the fact remains that our soundest investment is in our boys and girls. They still have the time to learn, their lives are not yet shaped to the patterns which restrict so many of us who are older. In them lies the hope of North Carolina.

We are recommending, therefore, that this State invest during the coming two years an additional $51 million in our children. This program will provide:

- a teacher allotment formula which will provide the student more attention in the classroom.
- five days sick leave for teachers, the first and only sick leave teachers have had.
- aid for purchase of high school textbooks. $4 per pupil.
- salary increases for teachers of three per cent in the first year, and two per cent in the second year of the biennium. This is not much but priorities were given to other things by education leaders, including teachers themselves.
- additional equipment for our Industrial Education Centers.
- other improvements in our school bus program, clerical help, and other functions.

In higher education we have many needs. One of the most pressing is the strengthening of our faculties to a point at which they can effectively match other institutions of similar status and character throughout the United States. We recommend that this can be done at a cost of $7 million.

As was pointed out by the Governor's Commission on Education beyond the High School, we need to convert three of our Community Colleges into four-year institutions. To convert institutions at Charlotte, Wilmington and Asheville will cost $2 million.

Also, as the Commission's report said, we need a system of two-year comprehensive community colleges to offer both college and technical-vocational training. These community colleges are to be developed as part of a large program, and should have local support and interest. To begin the development of this important system, the Board of Education needs $1 million.

We turn now to the area of correction. A significant change is being recommended by sizable increases in Probation and Paroles programs, and a corresponding leveling off of Prison expenditures. Substantial savings to the State should be realized in that it costs approximately twelve times as much to keep a man in prison as it does to supervise him on probation. There are also the indirect savings to the Welfare Department by keeping the man on the job as a wage earner.

Further, the educational and rehabilitation services of the Prison Department have recommended increases. With these improved services, and the improvements recommended in the Paroles and Probations programs, we hope to continue North Carolina's enviable record of a decreasing prison population while the nation's prison population as a whole is increasing.

For mental institutions, we are recommending appropriations of $52 million, an increase of $9 million. This provides for the increase in the number of mentally retarded children coming under the care of our institutions under the "A" Budget concept, and for a significant improvement in the "B" Budget in the level of medical care and treatment service in all of our mental institutions.

Following approval by the voters for the Constitutional amendment authorizing salary increases for the members of the Council of State, we have recommended that the salaries of these elected officials be set at $18,000. These loyal public servants have long been neglected, and I am happy to endorse wholehearted remuneration for their services which will be in keeping with the responsibilities they bear.

The "A" Budget also provides $9 million for our long-established automatic and merit increment program for State employees.

AGRICULTURAL FUND

We are recommending an increase of about $3 million for continued growth and for a number of programs essential to help improve our farm economy. I will mention four. First, our meat and poultry inspection program. Second, the Cooperative Agriculture Extension Service. Third, the food and drug control program, and fourth, the programs of marketing fruit and vegetables.

HIGHWAY FUND

The third major fund is the Highway Fund.

While it is still very strong, this Fund has not experienced the exceptional growth of our General Fund revenue.

Highway Fund revenues are derived almost entirely from the gasoline tax and motor vehicles license fees, supplemented by Federal Aid construction funds.

Since much the greater part of the Highway Fund Budget is dedicated to highway construction and maintenance, this Fund cannot be considered in the same way as the General Fund. As soon as a project is begun, the funds for completing that project are encumbered, and there are balances, of both State and Federal money, which are carried forward each year for completion of these projects. These factors prohibit a one-sentence analysis.

Let me generalize, however, by saying that there are sufficient revenues in the Highway Fund to continue both the Highway and the Motor Vehicles Departments at generally the same level at which they now operate.

This is no mean accomplishment, in view of the fact that during this biennium we have had the largest secondary road building program since the Scott farm-to-market roads.

Sufficient money is recommended to match all federal aid construction funds apportioned for North Carolina. As you know, our interstate and primary highway system is being developed as rapidly as possible, and this program will be continued.

However, it would be misleading for me to indicate that we are building all the roads we should. There simply isn't enough money and we have limited our recommendations to money which is now available in existing funds.

The major change in this area is the recommendation to eliminate Highway Fund diversions in the form of gasoline inspection fees not related to the administration of that program, and the cost of prison labor not actually used by the Highway Department. By ending these diversions, $12 million is made available for Secondary Road construction, or an increase of 29% over that which would have otherwise been available.

Also of special significance is the addition of 25 highway patrolmen for the strengthening of our traffic safety program. We may need more. This support, added to our increased attention to traffic safety engineering in highway construction and improvements, should help save lives and property of our people on the highways.

This, then is our Recommended Budget for 1963-65. It is a substantial budget, in that it totals $1.8 billion when Federal and all other funds are added. However, it should be viewed in a proper perspective.

It must be remembered that in North Carolina there are no county roads, no county prisons, and that basic school support is provided by the State. This statewide philosophy has made it possible for us to get more from our tax dollar than any other state in the Union. We move forward with our 7-cent gasoline tax while other states demand the same 7 cents, or even 8 cents, in state taxes, and then depend on the counties to provide substantial road building and maintenance with revenues from local property taxes.

We must remember, that when we compare North Carolina to all the other states, with all of these factors in mind, we rank 49th in the Nation in the amount which is spent per person for governmental services.

When we compare the number of government employees in the same light, we rank 46th in the Nation.

When we compare the amount of debt each citizen must bear because of these same services, North Carolina ranks 46th.

Even with these comparisons in mind, however, we know that our State has moved to the forefront in many areas. Today, as in years past, we are sensitive to the needs of our people in schools, roads, hospitals, industry, agriculture, and all the facets of this modern world. Yet these services, at a very high standard, are within our means.

The growing needs of a growing people demand a forward-looking budget, a budget that matches the spirit of aggressive progress of North Carolina.

Progress with fiscal integrity is the tradition of North Carolina, and this tradition has been our guiding light in preparing and presenting the Budget for 1963-65.

Upon motion of Senator Scott, the Joint Session is dissolved, and the Senate returns to its Chamber.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message is received from His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

The State Government is practicing all of the economy possible while moving forward the essential programs of education and service. The finances of the State have never been in better condition, the budget is balanced, and we will have no serious problems in keeping it balanced.

We are getting our money's worth. Compared to other states our taxes are modest. Because of our unique statewide approach we rank in the bottom five of the fifty states in tax expenditures, public debt, and in the number of public employees.

Even so, we can have a tax reduction at this time. To help those who need it most, I am recommending that you single out for tax relief the parent with children who must be educated.

While our North Carolina individual income tax law is basically fair and sound, the $300 personal exemption for dependents is unrealistic in the light of present costs.

I recommend that this exemption be increased to $500.00.

I also recommend that the newsboy sales tax be repealed for the reason it cannot be administered fairly.

We can also afford some relief to those burdened with the costs of illness, so I recommend that prepared medicines be exempt from the sales tax. We excluded prescriptions from the tax at the last session so it is only equitable that we exclude all medicines now.

Sincerely,
TERRY SANFORD,
Governor of North Carolina.

The message is referred to the Committee on Finance.

Upon motion of Senator Strong, the following remarks are ordered spread upon the Journal:

Mr. President, Members of the State Senate:

It is with the greatest sense of personal regard for you, my fellow Senators, and for the honor I have in serving with you in this Senate, that I hesitate to take any of your time with this announcement. I feel, however, that it is most important that I put myself on public record with regards to a matter of vital public interest.

This weekend in newspapers across this State there appeared various references to me as a member of this State Body and my position or plans with regards to the right-to-work law.

Let the public record show so that every businessman and every working man will know that I am not now nor did I ever advocate in the last campaign the repeal of the right-to-work law. I am on public record in this whole matter and on television the week before the election I stated this same position.

I have always defended, and intend to continue to do so, the right of every man to earn and work without coercion from parties or unions to exact dues or payments of any kind against his will. It is a fact, however, that most people do not understand the basic issues involved in this whole question of right to work or right to earn.

The positions I have taken on this question relating to the laboring man and his economic plight are well within the framework of the Republican platform adopted last year. I commend it as good reading for those who seem determined to hang some kind of label on my political convictions and imply that I am departing from the will of some party leader.

I hope this public statement will set my position clear in the minds of all those who have become concerned about this matter.

Thank you for your indulgence in this matter.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message is received from His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

For the State of North Carolina and the Department of Conservation and Development, I extend an invitation to the members of the General Assembly, their wives or husbands, to attend the 1963 North Carolina Trade Fair, being held at Charlotte, April 27 to May 4, 1963, the day to be selected by you.

The first North Carolina Trade Fair was opened by act of President John F. Kennedy on October 12, 1961, and served the people of the State of North Carolina through attracting more than 200,000 visitors from 36 states and 32 foreign countries. The Trade Fair thereby fostered a greatly expanded foreign and domestic trade with North Carolina industries for North Carolina products.

The second Trade Fair will again highlight the diversification of our industry and economy with more than 200 exhibitors participating. Both national and international buyers and visitors will learn more about the skill of our people and the products they produce. This again will enhance the demand in foreign and domestic markets for North Carolina products.

Attendance at the Trade Fair by our State Legislative body will add to the prestige of this North Carolina event. Of importance, also, members of the Legislature will view at one location the many products and services of which North Carolina can be justifiably proud.

Sincerely,
TERRY SANFORD,
Governor of North Carolina.

The President appoints as a Committee to consider the invitation issued by Governor Sanford, Senators Belk, Saunders and Warren, and a message is ordered sent to the House of Representatives informing that Honorable Body of such action.

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The following message is received from the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
April 2, 1963.

Mr. President:

It is ordered that a message be sent your Honorable Body with the information that pursuant to H. R. 388, entitled "A joint resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives at twelve noon, Tuesday, April 2, 1963", the House of Representatives stands ready to receive the Senate in Joint Session at the hour appointed.

ANNIE E. COOPER,
Principal Clerk.

The President announces that the Senate recesses for the purpose of meeting in Joint Session with the House of Representatives for the purpose of hearing the Governor's message, and upon dissolution the Senate will return to its Chamber and resume consideration of business.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by the President of the Senate T. Clarence Stone.

Senator Shelton, on the part of the Committee appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, presents His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford, who delivers the following message:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the North Carolina General Assembly:

I thank you for the advantage of appearing before you, rather than dispatching a written message, because this subject requires all the prominence we can gain for it. You and I need the attention and concern of the public, because in the normal course of things you are not going to win any popularity contests working with the problems of highway safety.

The ones who are pinched by traffic laws often complain, and often bitterly, and the ones whose lives are saved never know it.

Project Impact, an experiment in six counties, saved at least 19 lives. Those 19 people should be up here lobbying for an extension of that experiment to all of the state, but they are not, for it is obvious that they cannot be identified because no one knows where misfortune might have struck had it not been for this official safety action.

But they are alive, and many others avoided painful or disabling injuries, and many hundreds of others can be saved in the future if the public will understand and support our efforts.

The problem is that in 1962, in just one calendar year, 1320 people lost their lives, 37,000 persons were injured, and 200 million dollars were lost, on the highways of North Carolina, just one of 50 states. Think of that. 1320 dead. 37,000 injured. $200,000,000. Just one year, just one state.

Automobile wrecks are the sixth leading cause of death in the United States.

Automobile wrecks are the number one cause of death among young people from five to twenty-five.

This is an epidemic. You are the doctors.

Your immediate reaction to this staggering description of destruction might be one of hopelessness. We are tempted to wring our hands in despair, or to reach out for one simple, single cure-all.

We cannot afford to do either. We know from our own North Carolina experiences that we can whittle away at the destruction by the systematic action exerted by public officials.

In 1935 we had 1095 people killed, and in 1962 we had jumped up 225 beyond this figure. This is much better than it seems. In 1935 we had only a half million vehicles traveling only 4 billion miles. The death rate was 26 for every 100 million miles of travel. In 1962, with 2 million cars, the rate of death was 6.2 per 100 million miles. So you can see that we have been making progress, for if the 1935 rate had not been reduced, we would have lost more than 5,000 North Carolinians in 1962.

Last year, for the first time since 1941, the number of Americans killed in automobile accidents climbed back up to more than 41,000. This shows that for a period of 20 years we were successful in holding the line. But 1962 showed us that we are unable to hold the line any longer with the present resources.

Many areas in the country have been able to achieve dramatic reductions in traffic accidents through the use of what is known as "the managed approach." This is the approach which has been re-emphasized in North Carolina in the last several months. First, to define a total program and to mobilize public participation, we organized the North Carolina Traffic Safety Council, consisting of leading citizens, employing a professional staff, paid for from private non-tax funds. Then we called together all State officials with traffic safety responsibilities, and constituted them the Governor's Coordinating Committee for Traffic Safety. (Representatives of the General Assembly, Health, Education, Justice, Motor Vehicles, Insurance, Highways, Institute of Government, and Safety Council.)

I want to assure you that no one feels that the traffic accident problem will be solved by the simple passing of laws. This is a job for everybody, and the most important responsibility falls to the understanding citizen who is willing to support the necessary official action. These two organizations concern themselves with a number of avenues through which official and unofficial action must be exerted, including: accident records, laws and ordinances, engineering, education, police traffic supervision, motor vehicle administration, traffic courts, public information, and organized citizen support. We are working on all of these. Today we look to our legislative part in the total effort. I am suggesting nine points for your consideration. The Coordinating Committee, using studies of accident records as a foundation, has agreed on two things: 1) the most important causes of accidents, 2) the means to controlling or eliminating these causes.

Therefore the suggestions I am about to make are not the result of one man's investigation nor are they any so-called pet projects of individual State agencies. Rather they are the result of agreement by public officials in every place of accident preventive work, and are related directly to the accidents now occurring on highways in our own State of North Carolina.

1. COORDINATING COMMITTEE

We need to provide for the continuing coordination of official traffic safety effort, and North Carolina's official agencies with traffic safety responsibilities should be bound together by statutory authority. This has worked well, but the united effort should not be dependent on the mere invitation of the Chief Executive, but should be given the status of being a creation of the General Assembly. This would require no money. The role of such a Coordinating Committee on Traffic Safety, similar to the one already existing by invitation of the Governor, would be to examine continually the accident problems of North Carolina, to determine the needs of the represented agencies in dealing with these problems, to determine the priorities to be given these needs, and to provide for continuing coordination of the State's accident preventive efforts. In this way we would have a single group charged with the leadership in reducing highway wrecks. This committee should include in its membership representatives of the General Assembly, perhaps the chairman of each committee on highway safety, thus obtaining spokesmen for the legislative bodies.

2. COURTS

Implementation of the court improvement amendments will contribute much to traffic accident prevention, and I hope you will do all that you can to assure the orderly adoption of a uniform court system in the State. I realize that we cannot move too hastily in arranging these complex provisions which must be designed to serve for perhaps a hundred years, but I do hope you will at least adopt the recommendations of the North Carolina Bar Association.

3. INTERSTATE COMPACTS

In accordance with legislation recommended by your Commission on Interstate Cooperation, I urge the adoption of interstate compacts dealing with drivers licenses and motor vehicle safety equipment. These two compacts will help protect our citizens from unsafe drivers who accumulate records of accidents and violations in a number of states and will help assure the prompt adoption of uniform standards for new motor vehicle safety equipment.

4. THE POINT SYSTEM

The point system has worked well, but there are certain loopholes which should be closed. The system should reflect the factual realities of a driver's conduct as decided by a court, and not courtroom technicalities which allow evasion of the point system.

5. ADDITIONAL PATROLMEN

We know additional patrolmen will reduce accidents. Elimination of paper work with insurance reports, if you see fit to enact this, will free many, but we probably could make out a case for needing several hundred more patrolmen. We cannot afford this many, but we should add as many as possible during the next biennium.

6. SEAT BELTS

Experts call the seat belt the most important safety device that can be added to a motor vehicle. One thing we know positively is that seat belts save lives, and that its use reduces greatly the chance of getting killed if you are involved in an accident. We are not suggesting that we require them on all cars but we do recommend them for all cars. We are asking simply that they be required on new cars in the future, just as safety glass is required. I hope you will pass the bill now pending.

7. BEGINNING DRIVERS

I don't believe in blaming teenagers for all of our problems. There is too much of that. Neither do I believe in putting them in any dangerous situation without adequate training and advice, and that is exactly what we have been doing.

Our accident records show that drivers under the age of 20 have more than twice their share of accidents occurring in the driving population. This is pretty good evidence we have been placing them in a dangerous and deadly situation without proper care.

I believe most parents and most young people believe we can attack this problem without penalizing young people.

Perhaps our best approach would be to require driver education in the school system or in the Motor Vehicles Department driver training program, for all new drivers under the age of 18. We could waive or relax their requirement in the few places where such training is not available. We would be saving young lives if we also added a requirement for the issuance of a provisional license for all drivers under the age of 20. We should also make training available before the sixteenth birthday.

We are not meeting our duty as parents unless we do provide some safeguards, and ultimately our best hope for a lasting solution of the traffic accident problem is driver education.

8. TEST FOR ALCOHOL

This always runs into opposition, but how can we turn away from the clear proof that one-third of all of North Carolina's fatal accidents involve a drinking driver. The non-drinking driver is entitled to what protection we can give him, and we are not giving him very much.

We need a chemical test law requiring persons accused of driving under the influence to take a scientific test to determine how much they have been drinking. We should make it simple, perhaps the breath test. I believe this would be a strong deterrent.

First, we could take one of two approaches. We could require this as additional proof under the existing laws and drivers license penalties.

As an alternative, we could make it simply against the law to be a drinking driver by specifying that driving with a specified percentage content of alcohol is against the law, coupled with a provision that the Commissioner could revoke the license for not more than one year in place of the present mandatory revocation for one full year as the penalty for driving under the influence of alcohol. This latter course would be preferable because it would eliminate the doubtful situation of attempting to define "under the influence" and would give the Commissioner discretion in individual cases.

9. CHECK OF SAFETY EQUIPMENT

I am opposed to the mechanical inspection we found so burdensome, but I am far more opposed to neglecting to check the safety equipment which we require on automobiles for the purpose of saving lives. I think a periodic check of the five or six items on a motor vehicle relating to our safety (brakes, horn, tires, steering, lights, windshield wiper), at any garage or service station which cares to qualify for approval, would reduce substantially our deaths. Not only would a safety check program require safe equipment, but it would create an increased awareness of safety on the part of every individual driver. Records in other states, as well as our own records, demonstrate a safety check would reduce materially highway accidents.

Those are the items. I leave the details to you. These are simple things, and yet they are substantial things. These do not increase the encroachment upon individual liberties. Rather they enhance individual liberty, and improve the chance we all seek to lead a healthy and productive life.

We look to you for the leadership which will call to a halt the increasing epidemic of traffic deaths and injuries.

REMARKS BY SENATOR WHITE AND MOTION

Upon motion of Senator White, the following remarks are ordered spread upon the Journal:

The General Assembly of North Carolina will meet Thursday, April 4, 1963, in historic Wilmington for the first time since the year 1764. This is most appropriate. I realize that it will to some degree interrupt our routine, but even so we can recover if we work hard. Show me a man who is not interested in the history of his State and I'll show you one who is not likely to contribute much to his State's future.

It is both pleasing and rewarding that the General Assembly will be convened aboard the great battleship which bears the illustrious name of our State and which is permanently berthed at the port which has served our people well in times of peace and gloriously in every war which has engaged our State and Nation.

Mr. President, and fellow members of the Senate, it is my opinion, based upon careful observation, born of a more than casual interest, that the action which has taken place on the floor of the Senate in this the 1963 Session has been reported by all news media in a more accurate manner, a more objective manner and in a manner more informative to the people than it has been reported at any Session within my rather long legislative experience. I think this is most significant—and I take occasion to commend the press, the broadcasters, television and radio men, photographers and representatives of all news media upon the manner in which they have covered what has transpired on the floor of the Senate.

I congratulate Senators for cooperating with news media representatives and with each other in making more and better use of the voice reinforcement system—the microphones—and by talking with representatives of news media immediately after the adjournment of sessions. All in all the laws which we have passed to this date have been considered in an atmosphere of dignified decorum, conducive to calm deliberation.

The people whom we represent are entitled to this—and they are entitled to have all final votes of both bodies of the General Assembly and their several committees taken in open meetings—and this rule is strictly adhered to. I have investigated the facilities which will be afforded us for our meeting aboard the Battleship North Carolina at Wilmington Thursday to the extent that I am satisfied that members of news media would be at a disadvantage in covering Senate action if they were denied access to what will be tantamount to the Senate “floor” at our meeting Thursday, April 4. These news men have a tremendous responsibility which I believe I understand. I believe as strongly as they do in what they term “the people’s right to know.” I am sure that all members of the Senate respect the right to know the result of the deliberations and study participated in by their Senators and Representatives, and to have all final votes taken in meetings open to the public and open to representatives of all news media.

To comment upon privileges insisted upon by representatives of news media which are contrary to orderly and sound legislative processes, which come within the realm of our responsibilities to our people, and the differences of opinion which exist between us as Senators and the representatives of news media would unduly extend my remarks, and would serve no useful purpose. I realize that any news medium has far greater power to express and circulate its opinion than we have to express and circulate ours—and we can never have the last word—not even “every other time”.

But, Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I do feel that whenever it appears that representatives of news media do not have adequate facilities provided for them (as they now have in this building) we should be the first to make the best provision we can to enable them to carry out their responsibilities.

I therefore move, Mr. President, that for the Session of the 1963 Senate to be held on the Battleship North Carolina at Wilmington on Thursday, April 4, 1963, and at that time and place, the 1963 rules of the Senate as they relate to representatives of news media be modified to the extent that such persons be permitted to take such positions on the floor of the Senate during such Session as may be reasonably necessary to enable them to report the action of the Senate provided that the exercise of such privilege shall not interfere with the decorum and business of the Senate.

Upon motion of Senator White, the motion contained in the statement is unanimously adopted.

Upon motion of Senator Scott, the Senate adjourns to meet tomorrow at 12 M.

REMARKS OF SENATOR WHITE

Upon motion of Senator Walton, the following remarks of Senator White are ordered spread upon the Journal and sufficient copies are ordered made to furnish a copy to each member of the General Assembly:

Mr. President, Fellow Members of the Senate:

To make the statement which I am about to make is to respond to what I feel to be a call of duty, not only to my constituents, but to all the people of North Carolina, and more particularly to each of you as a member of this Honorable Body.

I shall be as brief as adequate treatment of the subject will permit. I respectfully request your patient indulgence. I would like it very much if I could be spared the performance of the distasteful task and unpleasant duty of making this statement. I have no purpose except to let you know, to let the people of North Carolina know, and to let the record show the truth of that which transpired at The Surf Club at Wrightsville Beach on the evening of April 4, 1963, which has been reported in some newspapers and by other news media in such a way as to reflect upon the dignity of this Body and upon one of its members and his family.

In speaking to you concerning this matter it shall be my purpose to be as factual as possible and as objective as possible. I do not propose to argue the facts which I shall disclose to you—I ask only that you hear them, and that from a consideration of them and of the published reports you have read, you come to such conclusion as to the truth of the matter as all the facts may warrant. This is merely for your information, and no action on your part is requested or expected.

Shortly before the buses were to leave The Surf Club at Wrightsville Beach for the return trip to Raleigh, from the Session of the General Assembly held April 4, 1963 at Wilmington, my son, who bears my name, came to me very distraught. My son related to me a course of conduct on the part of a young reporter named William King, in the employ of the news agency called United Press International. The conduct which my son described had extended over a period of almost an hour preceding the time my son came to me as I was leaving the building. My son told me that the reporter had repeatedly, and over my son's protest, used profane, obscene and vulgar language in the presence of my son's wife and others, that the reporter had referred to me, with other members of the General Assembly, as "S.O.B.'s"; that he had spoken in vulgar and derogatory terms of others connected with the Legislature, including the Principal Clerk of the House of Representatives, and had persisted in the use of profane, indecent and vulgar language in the presence of my son, his wife and others, with the apparent design to precipitate an ugly scene between himself and my son, who is employed as a member of the staff of the Principal Clerk of this Body. My son stated that at one time during the conversation he demanded and received from the reporter an apology for language used in the presence of his wife, and that the reporter immediately repeated the offensive language time and again without apology and without reservation. The occurrence took place while the reporter, my son and his wife, and many others were standing in a slow-moving line to be served with food by our hosts at The Surf Club. My son and his wife were the invited guests of the Senator from New Hanover and his wife. My son stated that for my sake and in an effort to avoid an ugly scene (which might reflect upon the Senate and embarrass our hosts) he tried to reason with the reporter and tried also to change the subject which the reporter had insisted upon discussing. The reporter was boasting that he was the one who had written an article for publication by the United Press International and some of its subscribers which was critical of me in relation to my son's employment. The reporter boasted to my son that before this Session is over he would "expose 15 or 20 other Senators" for nepotism, and stated that he had been instructed by his "clients" to do so. My son stated that he had taken about all the offensive and ill-mannered abuse from the reporter that he could stand and asked my advice. I then asked my son to describe the language used by the reporter in the presence of his wife and others. He then stated that the reporter said, "I am going to expose and ruin your father and any S. O. B. in the Legislature who I find guilty of nepotism; I am paid by my clients to do this and I am going to do it." He described the reporter's language as profane, that the reporter repeatedly took the Lord's name in vain, and that his vulgarity included the common, obscene term used in the vernacular of the street to describe excrement or fecal matter. I shall not repeat his language here; that sort of language should not be repeated here or anywhere, and is indecent and obscene whenever used and upon any occasion.

My son asked my advice. My first impulse was one which I am glad I did not follow. I told my son that we'd all be leaving in a few more minutes; that I understood and appreciated his distress, and was proud of him for his self control and was grateful to his wife for trying to ignore the ugly and indecent language of the reporter. I advised my son to try to ignore the ugly and ill-mannered conduct of the reporter and, if possible, to avoid further contact with him; that it was perfectly apparent that the United Press International's reporter sought to contrive an ugly incident, for exploitation by his unidentified "clients."

My son and I were standing near the front door of the building; my son's wife was seated at a table six or eight feet away. At that time, William King, the reporter for the United Press International, approached my son's wife from behind her chair, leaned over her and either attempted or pretended to take from her a small azalea plant given her by our hosts as a favor by which to remember the occasion.

I went to the reporter and took him by the arm and quietly asked him to let me talk with him on the porch. He accompanied me without resistance or comment. When we were on the porch, I told him that my son had told me that he persisted in using profane and indecent language in the presence of his wife and others. He stated that he had apologized for that—and then with some vehemence he stated, "I'm the guy that wrote the article about your son—I'm investigating you for nepotism and that goes for every other S.O.B. in the Legislature." He stated that he had been instructed by his "clients" to destroy me, to destroy my son and to destroy my son's wife. Upon being asked who were his clients he stated that they numbered over a hundred radio and television stations, a great many daily newspapers and other newspapers, which were subscribers to the service of the United Press International. When asked how he would proceed in his effort to destroy my daughter-in-law, he angrily stated that was none of my G. D. business. At that point my son came up. I said, "Son, this man says that he has apologized for his language. Is his apology satisfactory?" My son then said, "He did apologize once upon my demand but he repeated his insults again and again—his apology is not satisfactory and I can stand no more of his conduct." I said, "Just wait a minute"—and to King, the reporter for the United Press International, I said, "Son, you can write all you want to about me and criticize me as you wish, but I will not tolerate your use of obscene language in the presence of the women in my family." The reporter then said, "You G.D. old S.O. B.—If you don't like what I say, why don't you hit me?" To this I replied, "Son, I have too much sense to hit you—that is not the way I shall deal with you. You have already demonstrated that you have no respect for yourself or anyone else. I want you to get one thing straight—and that is that I will not tolerate your using profane and indecent language in the presence of the women folks in my family." To this he said with profanity and vulgarity, "You push me any further and I'll throw you over that rail." I then said, "I don't believe you are man enough to do it."; whereupon the young reporter of the United Press International lunged forward and attacked me in his effort to carry out his threat to throw me over a rail to a concrete walk below. Being on my guard, and my reflexes being pretty good for my age, I was able to partially deflect the force of his attack, but even so he knocked me almost down. At this point my son struck in my defense, and this ended the conflict. I confess that I am glad my son was present—from the top of that rail it's about 15 feet to the ground. Senator Gurganus took charge of the now subdued reporter. I picked up the reporter's sun glasses and fountain pen and put them in his pocket. I told a representative of our hosts who was nearby that I regretted the occurrence, and I then left the scene.

For the fact that I had not indulged in the use of alcoholic beverages of any sort on this occasion I am duly thankful—I must say in fairness that the United Press International reporter had been drinking to some extent; he was not drunk. Apparently he had drunk enough to suppress his inhibitions, to impair his judgment, to enable him to exhibit his true character, and to disclose the evil purpose of his employer and some of its subscribers to seek to destroy me, and my son and my daughter-in-law. One has only to reflect upon the slanted articles, false headlines and vindictive editorials created and published by some of the subscribers of the United Press International, since February 6th, 1963, to discern the motive for this evil design, and to recognize evidence of concerted action amounting to a conspiracy to harrass, humiliate, ridicule, lampoon, punish, and, if possible, to destroy the usefulness of the one they hold solely responsible for their displeasure—and I seem to be the chosen target of their frenzied and reckless effort.

And now—to make the nectar of the intellectual sadism which nourishes them more sweet—they seek also to destroy a fine young man and his wife, yet hardly more than children—to “destroy” them on the threshold of their lives—and for what transgression, save that of being my son and my daughter-in-law?

I have often heard it said, “You can’t beat the press—it always has the last word.” I do not challenge that statement. Our people are becoming more and more helpless in their fear of the abuse of the power of the press. There are many who resent the corruption of freedom of the press into license which is rampant today, but few are they who are willing to risk the threatened or real destruction of themselves and their families by powerful, ruthless, irresponsible and vindictive units of the press. We have no more protection from the cunning abuse and misúse of the power of the press by some newspapers than the Belgians had against Hitler’s tanks. This fact is deplored by many honorable newspaper men and honorable members of other news media, including radio and television—and though they valiantly endeavor to stem the tide, they are hopelessly outnumbered or overpowered by greater circulation.

The effort to destroy me or to impair my usefulness in this Body was launched many weeks ago. I have quite enough to do without engaging in a controversy with the newspapers and news media involved. I have been reasonably diligent in attention to my legislative duties; I have taken the insults and castigations of my critics in my stride and in the best humor I could muster. I have endeavored to be courteous and cooperative with all representatives of news media with whom I have come in contact.

No man is entitled to live for himself alone—and those who threaten to destroy me know this. They know that their writings grieve my 83 year old mother, and my sisters and my brother who live in Charlotte; they know that they dismay and wound the fine sensibilities of my wife and my daughters; they know that they offend my friends and delight my enemies. They also know that the most effective way to hurt me is to hurt my family.

Many valiant, fair, honorable, responsible and respectable newspaper men, radio men, television men, frequently come to my defense. These men are, as I am, dedicated to the cause of freedom, the cause of free enterprise, and the protection of the basic rights of individuals. The powerful United Press International and those of its subscribers who seek to destroy me can continue to cause my family much heartache and sorrow, and I confess that this is a grievous wound to me. But my family would not have me forsake my convictions—my people are not made from that kind of material. And if the writings of reporters and vicious editorial writers of the ilk of William King which appear daily in papers published in some of the larger cities of our State achieve success in the effort to impress upon the public mind an image of me which results in the destruction of my usefulness to our State, the sacrifice on my part and on the part of my long-suffering family will be small indeed if it serves to demonstrate to the people of North Carolina that powerful newspapers of the State, powerful news services and other news media seek by this awesome means to control the thinking of Representatives and Senators selected by the people to serve them, and demonstrate also that newspapers generally regarded as "reputable" will at their whim seek the destruction of any who dare to challenge them.

These self-appointed guardians of "the people's right to know" do not hesitate to mislead the public by publishing dishonest statements as to what happens here. We have come to accept this practice as we accept the existence of cancer—and this practice is a cancerous growth on freedom of the press. Certainly we cannot discharge our responsibilities here if we have to try to correct each small innuendo and misleading headline. These great guardians will continue to instruct our Judges in the law, our doctors in the practice of medicine, our hospitals in treating the sick, our clergy in ministering to our spiritual needs, our architects in designing buildings, our educators in educating our children, and by their efforts to deceive the public they seek to control the action of legislators—and in this instance they seek to destroy.

A few weeks ago action of an employee of another news medium precipitated a comment on the part of the President of this Honorable Body. Our President's comment was spontaneous. No ladies were present—no one was present except the employee and President Stone. Since our President is well known to be both a reasonable and an honest man it is not unreasonable to assume that the conduct of the employee was irritating—and that he, too, was acting pursuant to instructions. This employee charged our President with the use of language which contained some profanity; and then a great cry went up. Our President was subjected to relentless castigation by the holier-than-thou and just-give-me-a-chance-at-you elements of the press and other news media—a news martyr was made!!—and great was his creation!

These same elements of the press and other news media know the facts I have given you today. Their treatment of these facts has included a headline, "Senator White Fights with Newsmen During Argument", followed by the statement: "State Senator Thomas White of Lenoir County and a newsmen engaged in a fist fight during the N. C. General Assembly's trip to Wilmington, it was learned today." This false statement reflects upon me and upon this Honorable Body. The reports I have read to this date contain neither a reprimand nor a rebuke for the insolent and ill-mannered United Press International reporter, William King. You may be sure that if I had struck the reporter or had engaged in a fist fight with him, the public would have been furnished with a blow by blow account, and the editorials would have been legion.

I think the report which is farthest, or certainly as far, from the truth as any report I have yet read is one appearing on the front page of the April 5th, 1963, issue of one of the more vicious of the United Press International's subscribers, and which reads as follows:

"State Senator and Reporter Fight At Club.

"Wrightsville Beach, April 3 (4)—A wire service reporter and Sen. Thomas White of Lenoir County had a fist fight on a balcony of the Surf Club in Wrightsville Beach tonight.

"William King of United Press International (UPI) said White called him a vulgar name because of a story King wrote some time ago about the senator's son, Thomas White, Jr., being employed as chief of the Senate pages.

"King and White swung at each other more or less simultaneously, and both connected in the face without any serious damage being done. Then King and both Sen. White and his son wrestled, hanging over the second-floor railing.

"Sen. Edgar Gurganus then moved in to break it up and led King away."

The editors of that paper know that I neither struck nor attempted to strike the reporter—and they know that I know that they had facilities for learning the truth. Yet they publish the account of a "fist fight" which did not occur. That, Mr. President and my fellow Senators, is a sample of what has been fed to the reading public as the truth, by those who speak so piously of "the people's right to know". The people's right to know what!!? Pity the poor readers of publications of these self-appointed guardians of their "right to know"! They will have to read what these self-righteous, self-appointed guardians of all citizens permit them to read—and this in the name of truth.

The United Press International and its subscribers are aware that members of my family were gratuitously subjected to unprovoked insults by its reporter and their reporter, William King, and that he maliciously assaulted me. These acts of the reporter have been known to the United Press International and its subscribers for more than 10 full days. By its action, since it has become aware of the reprehensible conduct of its reporter, and by some of its subscriber's actions, it is clear that the United Press International and some of its subscribers find its reporter's conduct satisfactory, or at least condone his conduct, for the offending reporter, William King, resumed his seat in the news gallery of this Honorable Body on Friday, April 5th, 1963, and again as late as Friday, April 12th, 1963. He sat there at the Session held last night, April 15, 1963. He was sitting there when I began to deliver this statement to you today—and he has the gall to sit there now!

The United Press International and some of its subscribers appear to approve and ratify the conduct of their reporter, William King, who calls them his "clients". My information is that the reporter, William King, is still an accredited member of the so-called "Capitol Press Club", which organization purports to "police" its members and to be responsible for their behavior.

I speak not for myself except to say that I am humbly grateful to the people of the Seventh Senatorial District for being privileged by them to be a member of this Body—and for the privilege of serving them with my distinguished colleague, the Honorable Luther Hamilton, and with every other member of this Honorable Body—and the Senate of North Carolina is an Honorable Body—as is also the great House of Representatives of North Carolina in which I have also had the privilege of serving. I do not lightly regard the dignity of the office I hold as a member of the Senate. My high regard for the office I hold and my respect for people who entrusted it to me made a contribution to my effort to exercise restraint when first threatened and then attacked by the reporter of the United Press International, but the real inspiration which enabled me to exercise restraint was the fine and high example set by my son. For almost an hour he was subjected to the greatest provocation by the reporter employed by the United Press International; he "kept his head" and stayed in control; I am proud of my son; I appreciate his consideration of the Senate and his loyalty to me. I appreciate his desire to protect his wife from embarrassment by the conduct of the ill-mannered reporter for the great United Press International. I am proud of my daughter-in-law, who encouraged my son to exercise restraint, despite the gravest insults inflicted by the reporter for the United Press International.

I regret the occurrence exceedingly. I regret the necessity of this ordeal for you and for me—however, I could not let a seeming reflection upon this Body go unchallenged or uncorrected. When we become public office holders we became fair targets for criticism, and this is as it should be. But we have granted no license to anyone to libel or slander us.

In 1772, Benjamin Franklin, who was among the greatest of the founders of our Nation, had this to say in regard to public life:

“We must not in the course of public life expect immediate approbation and immediate grateful acknowledgment of our services—But let us persevere thro’ abuse and even injury. The internal satisfaction of a good conscience is always present, and time will do us justice in the minds of the people, even of those at present the most prejudiced against us.”

Thomas Paine, in a publication in Pennsylvania in 1776, said:

“These are the times that try men’s souls
The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis,
Shrink from the service of their country;
But he that stands it now deserves the love and thanks of man and woman.
Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered;
Yet we have this consolation with us
That the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph.”

I expect to be here a while longer, Mr. President and Gentlemen, and so long as I am here I shall adhere to my convictions, regardless of all efforts to ward my destruction from whatever source. In anything worthwhile which I may be able to achieve, I can assure you that the success of my efforts will be in spite of and not on account of efforts made by the elements of the press to which I have referred—and so long as I am a member of this Body my constituents will be represented by a man free from any intimidation calculated to arise from threatened “destruction” by those who arrogate to themselves the power to destroy by means of the abuse of freedom of the press. The published headlines, the published news stories and published editorials appearing in the newspapers which seem to participate in this effort to injure and destroy, are in sharp conflict with what I have told you today. These published reports, headlines and editorials, are based upon the reporter’s statements made to his fellows.

Veracity, says Coleridge, consists not in saying, but in the intention of communication. If, upon your consideration of this matter, there should arise a question of veracity, you have a choice of believing on the one hand several members of this Honorable Body and others. On the other hand, you may believe the reporter, William King, who accepted the hospitality of a great City and as an accredited member of the press abused his privileges to the extent of profanely referring to Senators and Representatives elected by the people of this State, as S. O. B.’s, and who is so ill-mannered, if not indeed so ill-bred, as to knowingly and wilfully persist in the use of obscene and indecent language in the presence of other guests; and who by his own statement has accepted employment to destroy if he can, by his writings, members of the family of the prime object of the fury and evil purpose of his employer and some unidentified subscribers to its service.

I did not seek this conflict. In it I endeavored to subject my own feelings to a proper respect for the office I hold. I regret that the people of North Carolina are daily misled by ruthless, irresponsible and vindictive editors and their hirelings of the ilk of William King. Perhaps the worst offenders are such hirelings as those who, for pay, write editorials on a par with King's conduct. I thank God for those editors, reporters, radio and television newsmen and commentators who adhere to a high code of ethics and who are the ones to whom our forefathers entrusted Freedom of the Press. To these we can look for help—to likes of King and to those who have published false reports regarding the incident referred to, with the intent to reflect upon a member of this Body and thereby to reflect upon the dignity and character of the entire Senate of North Carolina, we may look for a continuing effort to mislead the people of North Carolina as to the work of their Legislators, to whom the people have entrusted the transaction of their legislative business.

The following remarks of Senator N. Elton Aydlett on this occasion of the historic meeting of the General Assembly at Halls Creek in Pasquotank County on this day are ordered incorporated in the Journal:

President Clarence Stone, House Speaker Mr. Clifton Blue, ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly, State Officials, and other distinguished guests:

Three hundred years ago along these creeks and rivers, the water highways of a new world, lived a colony of free men scattered away in the forest, living as hermits with their wives and children, and resting upon the bosom of nature in peace and harmony with the wildness of their new environment. They were refugees from religious tyranny and excessive taxation. They submitted to no unjust laws and they bowed their knee to no earthly monarch.

Here, at this very spot, was born the government of this great State, and it was here that the Grand Assembly of the Albemarle was first convened by the order of Governor William Drummond, North Carolina's first Governor, under the regime of the Lords Proprietors. Since there was no house large enough to hold the gathering, that first Session of the General Assembly was held in the shade and protection of a large oak tree on the spot beside the peaceful waters of Halls Creek.

They acted with deliberation and calmness, with no worry about adjourning by June 1st, since time was of little consequence. Despite nature's ideal arrangement for lobbying activities, there were no lobbyists except possibly those pressing for price stabilization of tobacco, which, instead of money, was the medium of exchange for goods and services and payment of taxes. There was no Hospitality Room 631, no organized pressure groups, no UFE, no NCEA, no REA, no MH-30 and no Press, except Indians lurking in the bushes who probably carried messages to their chiefs of the peculiar capers of the pale faces. It would be interesting to hear their report on President Clarence Stone chanting through the local calendar and Reading Clerk LeRoy Clark ripping off a short roll call.

Their problems did not include Public Highways, Public Utilities, a name for State College, Redistricting the Senate, Highway Safety and Higher Education. In fact, those early settlers were firmly opposed to public schools and the Press, for they contended that learning and printing had created and promoted disobedience and heresy among their people.

In keeping with the Senate rule that the Press remain off the floor of the Senate and in the hope that the press may feel at home, the Senate Press is requested to occupy the area so designated among the trees at the bottom of the ravine to the east of the assigned Senate Chamber. Although visibility from the Press Box will not be so good, with a favorable wind the Press should be able to hear a substantial portion of the Senate proceedings.

If a member of that first Assembly of the Albemarle could enter our palatable and picturesque Legislative Building and take a seat in our present General Assembly, he would be ill-at-ease in such luxurious surroundings. However, he would take pride in the knowledge that he was one of those pioneers responsible for our great Democratic system of State Government, and he would rejoice that his faith in the future of his adopted home had been justified.

As we assemble here today in tercentenary observance of the granting of the Carolina Charter by King Charles II to eight of his Lords Proprietors, we must be deeply conscious that we are at this moment standing on hallowed ground.

Upon motion of Senator Crew, the Senate adjourns to meet tomorrow in the city of Raleigh at 12 M.

REMARKS OF SENATOR CURRIE

Upon motion of Senator Currie, the following remarks are ordered spread upon the Journal:

Mr. President:

At the Friday Session of the Senate, in the discussion of a resolution concerning basketball, a member of the Senate in an impassioned manner, made, I believe, ill-founded and untrue charges about the amateur status of the representatives of Duke University on its basketball squad, intimating some similarity between the Duke squad and that of the "New York Knickerbockers".

For this serious charge to be made on the floor of the Senate of North Carolina by a responsible member of the Senate about the representatives of a great private institution, such as Duke University, is not a matter that can go unchallenged. Duke University is in no way responsible to or dependent upon the General Assembly of North Carolina, but it would hope that it might expect from the General Assembly of North Carolina, possibly, understanding and perhaps gratitude. Its student body comes from all over the world, only 25% from North Carolina. Yet on the 1962 squad there were four North Carolina boys. The team won 3rd place in the nation. It deserved and received the applause of this body by formal resolution in February on its departure for the National Tournament and again for its achievements there. It is significant to note that in the last 4 years no member of Duke University's basketball squad has dropped out of school, and 4 members this spring made the Deans List; a high honor for any university student.

Now, Mr. President, I repeat that in these tense times for charge of professionalism to be made about a college basketball team, especially one in national competition, by a responsible public official, is a serious matter. Such a charge gets nation-wide publicity. It is a matter of serious concern and trouble for the University administration, and must be cleared up in the records, as far as may be.

These young men, Jeff Mullins, Paschall Tison, William Buckley, Jr., Arthur B. Heyman, Ray Lawrence Cox, Frederick K. Schmidt, Dennis H. Ferguson, Frederick Cox, Frank Harrison, Jr., Ronald Herbster, Robert J. Jamesion, Brent G. Kitching, Glenn B. Mann, William Ulrich, Jr., and M. Scott Williamson won the applause of the State and nation and this Senate. This high acclaim, which we hailed so gladly, must not now be left to rest under a cloud unless there is support for the charges made. If there is such support we expect it to be brought out into the light of day.

Mr. President, I ask permission to insert this statement in the Journal.

Upon motion of Senator Scott, the Senate adjourns to meet in the Legislative Building tomorrow at 12 M.

EIGHTY-FOURTH DAY

REID GYMNASIUM,
WESTERN COLLEGE,
CULLOWHEE, N. C.
Tuesday, May 14, 1963.

The Senate meets this day first in Joint Session with the House of Representatives in Reid Gymnasium, Western Carolina College and is called to order by the President of the Senate T. Clarence Stone.

Prayer is offered by Rev. James Lambert, Pastor of Scotts Creek Baptist Church, Sylva, N. C.

Representative Ernest B. Messer of Haywood County presents Dr. Paul Reid, President of Western Carolina College, who delivers the following welcoming address:

On behalf of more than 2000 students, 110 faculty members, the Board of Trustees and the citizens of this mountain county I extend a hearty welcome to the Governor, members of the Council of State, members of the General Assembly, your wives and staff to the campus of Western Carolina College.

In addition we are glad to have members of the press, radio, television and all visitors for this historic event in Western North Carolina.

We are honored to have you here and we hope your stay, brief as it is, will be enjoyable. Since this is the first visit for many of you to Western North Carolina we hope you will enjoy this region so much that you will come often. Learn with us who live and work here the deep meaning of the Bible quotation: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

In 300 years of state government, this day marks the first time the General Assembly has met in our mountain region west of the Blue Ridge. Therefore, the entire citizenry of this area has a special interest in the proceedings here today.

Your presence on this campus has special meaning to me, personally, certainly in two respects: (1) many of you and your wives are former students of mine at this college or in the public schools where I have served; (2) this visit, which includes numbers of legislators with whom it has been my privilege to work closely through the years, is the highlight of 38 years of service to the State in education. I might add that I do not anticipate any experience in the future which will surpass your presence here today. Sincere thanks from a grateful heart.

As you entered the campus you no doubt noticed an historical marker which indicated the founding date as 1889. The founder was Professor Robert Lee Madison of Lexington, Virginia, whose father was the personal physician of General Robert E. Lee. Professor Madison left Virginia with the desire to found a teacher training institution somewhere in these mountains and he finally settled upon Cullowhee. From lowly beginnings and almost failure at times Professor Madison's idea has resulted in an institution of more than 2000 well qualified students.

Without your efforts and those of former legislators the college would never have materialized into that which it is today. I speak the gratitude of thousands of alumni many of whom would never have secured a college education except for your efforts in their behalf.

The facilities you provided in recent years made possible a phenomenal enrollment growth from 606 in 1950 to 2122 on-campus students this year.

Please note on the walls the 77 counties represented in the student body and the number from each county.

For making all of this possible we thank you and the others who are not present today.

On the campus tour you saw the high quality of the physical facilities but of far more importance are the human resources. To your left and to your right are the students. We present them to you as young men and young women in whom you can have much pride and satisfaction.

For your visit let me mention just two of their many activities.

On Friday morning of last week I came to the student assembly wondering about flags for this occasion. To my delight the freshman class had purchased these two flags and they were on the wall.

Another indication of the quality of our student body is their action in voting upon themselves a fee of one dollar per quarter with which to launch the Alumni News which you find on your improvised desk. You will note that your presence is recognized by a picture of your State Legislative Building.

Another human resource with which the college is most fortunate is an able and dedicated faculty. The faculty, with their wives, are here today to pay honor to your visit.

In conclusion—apart from your willingness to make the visit, there was the problem of transportation. On behalf of all of us in Western North Carolina, we express sincere appreciation to the Southern Railway and the Queen City and Smoky Mountain Trailways for providing the transportation which made the trip possible.

As all of you visitors realize, we live in a paradise of nature and we would like to share it with you in the future. We are happy you are here and we hope you will visit us often.

The President of the Senate T. Clarence Stone presents His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly, Citizens of Western North Carolina, and Students from all across North Carolina and, indeed, the Nation:

This is a day when Americans were scheduled to reach upward toward the stars and I think it was very appropriate that our legislative branch and officials of North Carolina should today come up to this Land of the Sky.

There was, as a great many of you will remember, a time when it took all day and most the night to get from Raleigh up to here. In those days you had to point your T-Model somewhere in the general direction of the West and go through South Carolina and Georgia in order to get to Cullowhee.

There was a time, and I put emphasis on there was a time, when this area was closer to the capitals of South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee than to Raleigh. But today you can fly from here to Raleigh in an hour, or you can drive it in six hours and not violate the safety program. Or, as our legislators can tell you, you can take a nice leisurely overnight train trip, doing your work and getting a good night's rest on the way up here.

And thanks to the rapid advances in communications, you can, in a matter of seconds, communicate from here to Raleigh—as the people in the Budget Bureau and the Highway Building know.

Today as you know, Cooper and the officials of NASA are still reaching for the stars. And the General Assembly too is still reaching for the accomplishments which will help develop North Carolina's great potential. As we reach, I think it is well to remind ourselves that the problems and the opportunities which face one part of North Carolina are the problems and the opportunities of all of North Carolina.

I hold a strong conviction that the problems and the opportunities which face the tourist industry in these Western Counties should be the concern of Eastern and Piedmont Counties.

The harvests and the failures of the cabbage and corn crops are of considerable importance to you here of course, and also to the textile workers of Kannapolis and Concord, Greensboro and Burlington.

The number of tourists who drive the Blue Ridge Parkway, across the roof of North Carolina, has a strong correlation to the number who drive down the new History Highway on the Atlantic Coast.

The food processing plants up here have given farmers and businessmen of Eastern North Carolina some good pointers.

On the other side of the coin, you who live and work in this area are adversely affected when the waves of the ocean erode the Outer Banks. It takes a little longer for you to feel those waves, and that loss, but you will feel them.

When the looms are stopped in the Piedmont, because of improper foreign competition, when cancer scares threaten the tobacco plants of the farms of Pitt and Lenoir and the factories of Forsyth and Durham and Rockingham, the economy of these Western counties suffers. And, indeed, as we look now to your problems and your opportunities, I am convinced absolutely that the problems of the Appalachian are the problems of the State of North Carolina and we take them seriously.

In short, the town of Jackson down East and the county of Jackson up here rise or fall together; Nags Head and Nantahala are in the tourist business together, the distance between Manteo and Murphy is an ever narrowing one.

I would say to the citizens of this section that your representatives and your senators are well aware of this unity of purpose and unity of opportunity. I could call their names one by one, and say that they understand and that they are representing all of North Carolina and that their work and their contributions indicate that they understand that all of North Carolina will stand or fall as we stand together.

There is no longer any place for sectionalism. There is no longer one part playing the State off against the other. Indeed, if we are going to reach our opportunities as we can, we need to do it working together.

These members of the General Assembly—I say to you who live here and to you students—are people who are dedicated and who are working diligently every day and almost every night to develop North Carolina's future to give everybody a better opportunity to earn a better living and to have a better life to give young people a chance to have the kind of education which will enable them to compete with young people from any part of the nation and any part of the world. These are the people who have laid those plans, these are the people who are fulfilling those programs.

These are the men who are accelerating the drive for new and diversified industry to improve the economy of our State.

These are the men who are considering ways to improve and enhance the third largest income producing industry in our State—the tourist industry.

These are the men who made possible more secondary road funds during the last two years than in any two years since Governor Scott's road bond program. In the counties, that compose the group we usually consider Western North Carolina, you may be interested in knowing that more than $8 million was spent in the last two years on secondary roads alone. Translate that into mileage, that means 245 miles of paving and 535 miles of improvement and we are just beginning to demonstrate by stopping diversion, and by more careful economy that we can continue to speed up road building progress and we are going to do all we can to help you through road construction to open up this country and improve the economy.

Most important, these are the people helping in education, the ultimate denominator of all of North Carolina. These are the men who lifted high in 1961, and who are lifting still higher in 1963, the educational opportunities of all the boys and all the girls in all the counties of North Carolina.

It is right that today's Joint Session of the General Assembly should be held on a college campus. It is just about 96 hours since the lawmakers of North Carolina endowed every student in North Carolina.

The members of the 1963 General Assembly made that permanent endowment through adoption of the broadest based and the most far-reaching legislative act in all of the United States.

Benefits of this measure which was adopted with overwhelming approval on Friday, will be appreciated by many generations of North Carolinians and I believe the historians of this State will place the accomplishments of this General Assembly along with the provision of the Revolutionary Constitution of North Carolina providing for the University and later the establishment of colleges like Western Carolina and Appalachian.

This act is but part of North Carolina's 20th Century commitment to give its children the best possible opportunity to get ready for the competition of life.

Other measures reaffirming that commitment are now under careful consideration by the members of the General Assembly.

The representatives and senators are now considering a substantial increase in the public schools and our continuing drive to make our schools second to none.

For the first time in the history of our State, the entire budget requested by the State Board of Education, which carefully screened all of the needs, has been approved by the Administration and the Advisory Budget Commission. The chairman of the Board of Education was able to come to the Committee on Appropriations and say: "We have nothing new to request because for the first time in all of the history of this State, education has been put in the absolutely first place."

There are increased funds in the budget for Western Carolina and for the other senior colleges.

And we know of the influence of this college and Appalachian, Asheville-Biltmore in Western North Carolina and we look to these institutions to provide the leadership to continue the progress to make North Carolina what it must be.

There is continued support in the budget for Industrial Education Centers, which are meaning so much to so many, many students who for various reasons are not going on to college. You also will find appropriations to establish a strong basis for industrial education at the high school level. This is something that we have concerned ourselves with. Perhaps in paying attention to many other problems in the past we have not given adequate attention. I am satisfied that this General Assembly will write a new record and a new start for broader industrial and vocational opportunities for high school students.

There are funds for the mentally gifted children challenging them to do their utmost to make all the contributions that they can make to this State, because of their unusual abilities. And, incidentally, this program got its start right here on the campus of Western Carolina College.

There are steps under way to broaden the chances in life for the mentally retarded children. This Legislature is going to show that we have come to the place where we are going to remember these long forgotten children.

These are but a few items of North Carolina's number one purpose of education.

There are many other challenges and many other opportunities and many other things which the General Assembly will do to speed the progress of our State.

There is the proposed Space Center.

There is the important matter of democratic redistricting.

There is the vital question of traffic safety legislation.

There is the need for improving our mental health and hospital system.

There are the questions of parks, community planning, forests, recreation, wild-life, and water resources—altogether 1,500 to 2,000 questions contained in bills introduced in this Session, to which attention is given everyday by these distinguished legislative bodies.

This General Assembly is working for you. This General Assembly is working for all of the people of North Carolina. And I am satisfied that when the record is written, that this General Assembly will stand at the very top in contributions made to all of the people of North Carolina.

And I am very happy to have been associated with it.

Thank you very much.

The following remarks by Senator Charles W. Strong are ordered spread upon the Journal:

In accordance with Article II, Section 17 of the North Carolina Constitution, I exercise my right to protest and dissent from the act to redistrict the Senate as embodied in Committee substitute for S. B. 6 as being injurious to Constitutional amendment. I enter this statement in the Journal because I believe that this act does not meet the requirement of the North Carolina Constitution. I submit for the record the following reasons:

(a) The "as near as may be" requirement for each Senator to represent an equal number of inhabitants is not met by either Section 120-1 as proposed in Section 1 or by the Constitutional Amendment as proposed in Section 4 of Committee substitute for S. B. 6. The Constitutional amendment proposed only compounds the problem.

(b) This act discriminates against citizens who live in the more populous areas of the State and thereby does constitute "invidious" legislation. A citizen in one part of this State should count the same as in other parts of the State as far as representation in the State Senate. People are the only Constitutional factor that can be recognized if this present Constitutional requirement is met. To discriminate against the geographical areas in which our largest growth is occurring because they are growing is certainly not in accordance with the fundamental principle of Constitutional representation as written into our present Constitution. An "equitable" representation, "as near as may be" equal for each Senator is the only basis now defined in law.

(c) To spend $360,000 (approximately) unnecessarily and with the possibility that the vote will fail. The "piggy-back" bill can only be construed as an effort to stave off Federal Court intervention by the plea of right of the people to vote in a Special Election on October 8, 1963. There is still to be decided by court action whether the General Assembly can call a General Election, at present there is only a "letter opinion" from the Supreme Court Judges to Governor Hodges and not a test case decision.

Upon motion of Senator Strong, the Senate adjourns in recognition and commemoration of Pope John XXIII, to meet tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Mr. President:

As a man achieves a certain degree of—shall we say—seniority, he takes a pardonable pride in the past and in the part he may have played in the accomplishments of the past.

I have been privileged, for example, to have served in this body for more sessions than I like to recall. Over these years there have been many accomplishments; much has occurred in which we can take pride.

Of these things that have occurred I recall only a few which, in terms of meaningful contribution to the development of this State, rank higher in importance than the appointment of Edward Scheidt as Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

I welcomed that appointment when it was made some ten years ago. I had known Ed Scheidt at the University of North Carolina. I knew him first in 1915, a freshman working his way through the University. I knew him then as a man of intelligence, character and integrity.

Over the ten years this man has served North Carolina as Commissioner of Motor Vehicles I have seen no reason to change my initial opinion. In fact, his record both as a man and as an administrator has more than justified the high faith I had in him at the time of his appointment.

His record as Commissioner of Motor Vehicles needs no praise from me. Under his guidance North Carolina's highway safety, motor vehicle administration and highway patrol programs have taken on the sort of national stature that is reflected in a consistent, running series of national awards.

We would be remiss, I think, to close out this session of the legislature without at least tipping our hats to this man who has served North Carolina so very well over the past decade.

I know that many of you share this feeling toward Ed Scheidt, and I hope that you will join with me in asking that this expression of our gratitude be spread upon the records of this legislative session.

Senator Stone offers the following statement, and upon motion of Senator Scott it is ordered spread upon the Journal:

I want to call the Senate's attention to the fact that in today's Calendar there are at least six House Bills appropriating from $15,000 to $500,000—you have passed these bills and the responsibility for handling each of them rested upon the shoulders of the Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, the Senator from Lenoir, Mr. White. An irresponsible effort has been made by irresponsible segments of the press to make it appear that the Senate would hold up action on House Bills or kill House Bills in retaliation for certain action taken by the House on one or more Senate Bills. I wish to say further that the Senate does not do business that way—and neither does the Senator from Lenoir. He fights honorable for what he thinks is best for North Carolina—and he does not stoop to littleness.

CLOSING REMARKS OF SENATE PRESIDENT T. CLARENCE STONE

As this Session draws to a close, I think we can all take pride and encouragement in the constructive record that has been made. Time does not permit that I attempt to list the specific legislation that has been enacted. It is enough to say that what we have done here has touched every facet and phase of the lives of North Carolinians. We have accomplished much in the field of higher education and in the expansion of our industrial education program. We have done much to emphasize that North Carolinians view the educational process broadly, beginning in the primary grades of the public schools and running all the way through to the apex of the pyramid which is our great University.

We have provided a better retirement system for those in the public service, and have enacted reforms in such diverse fields as banking, utilities and mental health. Our record should also be commended for some of the things we have not done. A lot of bad legislation has been killed. In this area, however, we must admit that we have failed to redistrict the Senate. But I regard our inability to agree not because of an unwillingness to face our constitutional responsibility, but because of our honest differences as we attempt to comply with the mandate of the fundamental law. And, I predict that later on a satisfactory redistricting bill will be enacted. I certainly hope so.

Of course, we are all human, and we have made our mistakes. As the preacher says, we have all sinned and fallen short of the Glory of God, but this does not mean that we have not struggled here with noble motive to adjust our differences in the interest of the welfare of our people. I certainly would be the first to admit my own shortcomings. But I would hope that all with whom I have dealt here in this Senate will believe that I have been sincere in my efforts to serve North Carolina well and that any errors that I have committed have not been conceived in any spirit of evil, but that they have grown out of my heart, which is full of love and charity for all North Carolinians.

Senator Shelton, on the part of the Committee appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, presents His Excellency, Governor Terry Sanford, who delivers the following message:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and members of the General Assembly:

As you return to a Special Session, I have the opportunity to express to you as a group my gratitude for your help to me and for your contributions to the forward progress of North Carolina during the regular 1963 session. There has seldom been a session of the General Assembly which provided so well for education, and never a session which provided so well for higher education, with new funds for faculties, with support for new and improved programs in an age of increasing complexities, and with a blueprint for the future of our University and colleges which forever will mark an upward turning point in the history of North Carolina.

There were many other accomplishments, for those in need of mental health treatment, and especially a comprehensive program of hope for our long-forgotten children, the retarded. Because of your work and devotion there is a new vitality about our State, and many generations will profit from your good works.

We did not do everything that we might have done, but it is a mighty record of solid achievement. I am proud of your record. I hope all North Carolinians will understand these accomplishments.

We did leave undone the little matter of redistricting the Senate.

Things became so harried and hurried and confused in the closing weeks, with so many important programs and policies being developed, that we just could not adequately wrap up this one responsibility.

I well understand, and I believe those who have been close to the scene well understand, that the majority has always intended to meet this responsibility. That you did, is best expressed by your resolution, passed in the waning hours of the Regular Session, requesting the Governor to call a Special Session because the General Assembly, in your phrase, had "been unable to agree on the provisions of an Act to redistrict the State Senate, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina."

I have complied with that request, and I have welcomed the chance over the summer, with calmness and care, to work with most of you in preparing for the final action we have come to take.

The constitutional duty of the Governor is to state the purpose of this Special Session, and to recommend the action which he believes should be taken.

That is a very easy duty. I will report to you what you already know, and recommend an action which I am sure you already are prepared to take. My report and recommendation are best wrapped up in the words of your resolution which I have already quoted, "to redistrict the State Senate, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina."

You and I, in preparing for this session, have indeed been guided by the constitutional mandate that "each Senate District shall contain, as near as may be, an equal number of inhabitants." During these several months I have met both formally and informally with many of you. We have discussed, considered, adjusted and agreed in order to get the job done.

Our plan, the consensus bill I call it because so many had a hand in its formulation, cannot be completely pleasing to everyone. It is the result of conscientious resolve to follow the Constitution regardless of all other considerations, political, personal, regional. Some of you doubtless cannot return because of the new plan, but this has not caused you to shirk your duty.

The Districts have not been redrawn for more than twenty years, and this same period has seen the greatest changes in our population. These facts have forced us to present a bill which makes substantial changes in our Senatorial District boundaries. The result has been that almost every District has been redrawn. In spite of this degree of adjustment required, our legislators have cooperated in the true spirit of North Carolina and we are able to present a bill which has the majority support in both houses of the General Assembly.

I do not know whether there can be a constitutional amendment which will satisfy the necessary three-fifths majority. A number of proposals were discussed during the Regular Session. In the course of working out the redistricting bill submitted today, a questionnaire was sent to each legislator. From this it became apparent that there was much sentiment for constitutional change, but wide variation as to what the change should be.

I think some constitutional amendment is justified. We could use some guide lines for setting up Districts better than the present terse, "as near as may be" equal in population. Also, I think it would be to our benefit to have some provision for "automatic" redistricting in the future. This could mean a commission authorized to draw the lines, to present it to the General Assembly, to become final after ninety days, for example, if not amended by the General Assembly. Or we could provide that a commission would take over if the first session after the official census failed to redistrict. Both of these proposals would leave the duty with the Legislature but would eliminate many headaches for future legislators and governors.

As to other forms, I have no recommendations at this time.

Whatever you do about amending the Constitution we cannot let our desire to improve it prevent us from following our clear and present duty under the present Constitution.

A bill to do this, "to redistrict the State Senate, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina," has been signed by a majority in each of the houses.

I trust you will pass it into law with dispatch.

Upon motion of Senator Scott, the Joint Session is dissolved and the Senate returns to its chamber.

The Senate resumes consideration of its regular business.

SENATOR MORGAN OF HARNETT MAKES THE FOLLOWING REMARKS AND UPON HIS MOTION THEY ARE ORDERED SPREAD UPON THE JOURNAL.

"Mr. President, I request permission to approach the Well of the Senate and to speak on a point of personal privilege.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate:

As this special session of the General Assembly comes to a close, I wish to take this opportunity to publicly pay tribute to our President and to express to him my appreciation for his many long years of public service to the people of North Carolina.

For more than forty years he has rendered untiring service to the people of his home town of Stoneville, his home County of Rockingham and to the people of the State of North Carolina. During this period of time he has never held a public office for which he received full time compensation. His service has been out of love for the people of this State and his strong feeling of public responsibility.

Many years ago he served as Town Commissioner. Later, he served as Mayor of his home Town. In the early and formative years of the North Carolina Unemployment Commission, he served as one of its commissioners.

He has served in ten sessions of the North Carolina General Assembly and in three special sessions. He has been a part of the legislative process in this State for the last thirty years, one of the most progressive periods of its history.

He also served as a member of the Advisory Budget Commission of this State for six years, and as its Chairman for two years, one of the most important, demanding and time consuming jobs in this State, and yet one that offers little reward except the feeling that one has been of service.

His service as President of this Senate has been strenuous, but he has fulfilled it in a commendable manner with his usual enthusiasm.

During the two regular terms of the Senate and the two special terms that I have been privileged to serve with him, I have found him a vigorous foe and an enthusiastic ally.

Mr. President, I express to you the love and appreciation of hundreds of thousands of North Carolinians and wish for you and the people of this State, many more years of public service, personal success and happiness."
