POETRY.

ON A WEDDING DAY.

In these lines addressed to a wife "On a Wedding Day," by Gerald Massy, there is the true touch of nature:

Nine years ago you came to me,
And nestled on my breast,
A soft and winged mystery
That settled here to rest;
And my heart rockt its Babe of bliss,
And soothed its child of air,
With something 'twixt a song and kiss,
To keep it nestling there.

At first I thought the fairy form
Too spirit-soft and good
To fill my poor, low nest with warm
And wifely womanhood
But such a cozy peep of home
Did your dear eyes unfold;
And in their deep and dewy gloom
What tales of love were told!

In dreamy curves your beauty droopt
As tendrils lean to twine,
And very graciously they stoopt
To bear their fruit, my Vine!
To bear such blessed fruit of love
As tenderly increased
Among the ripe vine-bunches of
Your balmy-breathing breast.

We cannot boast to have bickered not
Since you and I were wed;
We have not lived the smoothest lot,
Nor found the downiest bed!
Time hath not passed o'er head in stars,
And underneath in flowers,
With wings that slept on fragrant airs
Thro' all the happy hours.

It is our way, more fate than fault,
Love's cloudy fire to clear;
To find some virtue in the salt
That sparkles in a tear!
Pray God it all come right at last,
Pray God it so befall,
That when our day of life is past,
The end may crown it all.

The Way of the World.

THE STOLEN WILL—A STEPMOTHER OUTWITS HERSELF.

IN the course of a long private letter to us, from Yorkshire, England, a staunch British friend of ours gives us the particulars of one of the most remarkable domestic romances we have heard of in many years. Several of the parties figuring in it are relatives of his, and acquaintances of ours; and as he gives us the full names, and refers to family antecedents, that would not be understood by strangers without long and tedious explanations, we are compelled to forego our original purpose of giving the story in his own words, but will endeavor to present its most interesting features in a regular newspaper version. Before doing so, however, let us state, for the information of the general reader that the affair has been kept a profound secret in England—a most curious and fortunate accident having served to settle it properly, without the necessity for legal interference, and the party interested having special reasons for keeping all the particulars hidden from the press. Our correspondent is one of these interested parties; and upon the condition of our suppressing all names, and giving only the generalities of the case, we take the liberty of anticipating his consent to our publication of the story.

In a town in Yorkshire, which shall be nameless at present, there had long resided a wealthy family, consisting of a landed proprietor, a son, a daughter and a number of servants. The head of the family was a widower. His son held a commission in the British army. At the breaking out of the Crimean war, this son was ordered away with his regiment, leaving to his father's care the orphan daughter of a deceased clergyman, who held the position of governess in a London family, and was his (the young officer's) affianced bride. In accordance with a request made by the youth before going to the war, the young lady was induced to leave her situation in the metropolis, and take up her abode with the father and sister of her intended husband in Yorkshire; and it was under the paternal roof that the soldier took leave of her. They were fated to meet no more. Scarcely had eight months rolled by, when a letter from the Colonel of the 1st regiment informed his father that he had been killed in a skirmish with a body of the enemy. Of course, this melancholy news plunged the whole household into mourning, and father, sister, and bride elect were for a time inconsolable; but it was observed, at the time, that the latter bore her loss with more "Christian fortitude" than either of the others, and even attempted to console the old gentleman with pious remarks concerning the propriety of resignation to the will of Heaven, under all calamities. In fact, this Christian young lady's consoling abilities were so great, that the stricken began to address her as his "more than daughter"; and in less than a year from the date of his son's death, he capped the climax of his gratitude by introducing her to his daughter as her second mother.

From the time when this designing woman had commenced to play the part of spiritual adviser to her father, the daughter contracted an intense dislike for her, which was returned with compound interest; and when she assumed the duties of a stepmother, this mutual dislike deepened into silent disdain on the one side, and open animosity on the other. Under the influence of his new wife, the old gentleman was gradually turned against his only child; and though she was permitted to live in the same house with her scheming stepmother for a while, the latter soon contrived to have her sent to the house of an aunt in London, for the ostensible purpose of "finishing" her education. During the absence of the poor girl, her unnatural enemy spared no pains to make the alienation of her weak father's affection thorough and succeed so well, that when the young lady applied for admission to return home for a month in the summer it was refused to her!

In February last, the old man, who had always been a high liver, was attacked with gout in the stomach, and upon finding that his end was near, appeared to be suddenly seized with compunction for his treatment of his child. Alarmed at this symptom, his designing companion did not scruple to assure him that his daughter not only hated him, but had positively refused to come near him in his last moments, and under the influence of feelings aroused by this seemingly unnatural conduct of his only child, the old man executed a will, wherein he "cut her off with a shilling," and left his entire property to his faithful wife, Eliza. Now, it happened that the lawyer who drew up this will had his suspicions that some treachery had been practised to cause such result, and took a convenient opportunity to warn the dying man against acting unjustly on his death-bed. He also took the responsibility of writing to the absent daughter on the subject. The latter was very ill herself at the time, and unable to leave her bed; but she sent a letter to her father, under cover to the lawyer, assuring him that her love for him had never known a change, and imploring him, child-like, not to die before she could come to him. On hearing this touching epistle read, the old man was overwhelmed with remorse for himself, horror of his wife, and tenderness for his ill-used child and spent his dying breath in making a new will, whereby all former testaments were revoked, and his entire property left to his daughter.

The mortification and rage of the stepmother and widow, when she discovered this event, may be more easily imagined than described, but she artfully cloaked her real feelings under the mask of the heart-stricken mourner while still concocting a desperate scheme for winning her game yet.

By some strange oversight, the kind lawyer had neglected to burn the first will when the second one was made out; and the two were temporarily placed in a drawer for safe keeping. The ever watchful woman saw where they were concealed; and even while her husband was gasping in the last agonies, she managed by a skilful movement to abstract one of the wills from the drawer and cast it into the fire.

All the persons in the room being clustered anxiously about the bed at the time, her base act was undiscovered; and when she flew suddenly to the couch of the dying man with a loud shriek and fainted (?) upon the bed beside her husband's body, the lawyer even was half inclined to believe that his suspicions had wronged her.

When the "last scene of all" was over, however, and he took from the drawer the will, and opened it for a moment, the look he gave the fair hypocrite spoke volumes.

But she cared nothing for this. The paper foiling her well laid plan was destroyed; and no matter what people might think or suspect, no one would dare to accuse her of the act, for which there could be no proof.

The lawyer made no comment on the disappearance of the second will, but composedly placed the other in his pocket, and informed the assembled relatives that he would open it as soon as the dead man's daughter arrived.

Still too ill to leave her bed, the latter was brought from London on mattresses by carriage, and laid upon the very couch from which her only earthly parent had gone to his last slumber—when the lawyer read the will aloud.

In the words of our correspondent, "the scene presented in the room at that moment was singularly impressive. Various relatives of the deceased were clustered around the mantle-piece, before the fire; the widow sat in silence and apparent grief in the deep shadow of one of the window curtains, the orphan lay sobbing upon the bed; while the lawyer sat upon a chair tilted back, midway the room, and rustled his papers with cool methodical system."

The usual preamble of the last will and testament were listened to with unbroken silence, but when the man of law read that the possessions of deceased were willed and bequeathed to "my daughter," etc., the stepmother suddenly rose to her feet, walked swiftly half-way across the room, and fell insensible to the floor.

She had destroyed the first will, instead of the last.

What followed may be easily imagined. Upon recovering her senses, the guilty woman confessed all to the lawyer and her step-daughter, and implored them not to punish her for it; and as her scheme had been overthrown, the orphan had no desire to make the matter public. On the following morning, the miserable creature departed for London, where it is supposed she now is.—Philadelphia Transcript.

THE PRINTER'S ESTATE.—The printer's dollars—where are they? A dollar here, and a dollar there, scattered over numerous small towns, all over the country, miles and miles apart—how shall they be gathered together? The paper maker, the building owner, the journeyman compositor, the grocer, the tailor, and all assistants to him in carrying on his business, have their demands, hardly ever so small as a single dollar. But the mites from here and there must be diligently gathered and patiently hoarded, or the wherewith to discharge the liabilities will never become sufficiently bulky. We imagine the printer will have to get up an address to his widely scattered dollars, something like the following:

"Dollars, halves, quarters, dimes and all manner of fractions into which ye are divided, collect yourselves and come home! Ye are wanted! Combinations of all sorts of men that help the printer to become a proprietor, gather such force and demand with such good reasons, your appearance at this counter, that nothing short of a sight of you will appease them. Collect yourselves, for valuable as you are in the aggregate, singly, you will never pay the cost of gathering. Come in here in single file, that the printer may form you into battalions, and send you forth again to battle for him, and vindicate his feeble credit."

Reader, are you sure you haven't a few of the printer's dollars sticking about your clothes?

HOW TOM WAS CAUGHT.—One of our young friends sends the following anecdote of a Maryland lady and her negro servant. The lady was unable to account for the great consumption of butter in the family, and one day she followed a new purchase to the kitchen, in time to see the cook's friend Tom, deposit one of the rolls in his hat, and put it on his head. Without seeming to notice it, she sent the cook, who was browning coffee over the fire, on an errand, and desired Tom to take her place. Not suspecting her object, he readily complied. Presently, as he stirred, a violent perspiration broke out on him. "Stir away, Tom," said the lady, "or the coffee will burn!" "Oh, missus," groaned Tom, "I see so hot, I sweat so!" "Well, you do sweat, that's a fact; but stir away!" The perspiration now became too strong for Tom's control, and poured over his face and eyes in streams. Catching a smile on the lady's face, he dropped the spoon, exclaiming: "Oh, missus, I neber do so agin," and made a dash for the door. Tom was fully cured.

FLIRTATION.—The innocent flirtations of married women are one of the abominations of society. Even a desire for a promiscuous admiration is wrong in a young wife. The love of one man and his approval should be all that she should desire. Let her be ever so beautiful, it is a disgusting and appalling sight to see her decorating that beauty for public gaze; to see her seeking the attention of senseless fops that may be around, and rejoicing in the admiration of other eyes than those of her husband. Her beauty should be for him alone, and not for the gaze of fools that flutter around her.—There is always among the sedate and wise a sensation of disgust when a married lady attempts to ensnare or entrap young men by a profuse display of her charms, or an unlicensed outlay of her smiles. Such charms and such smiles are loathsome to the beholder, and the trail of the serpent is over them.

AN Irish preacher was considerably annoyed—as many before and since have likewise been—by persons getting up and going out of church during the sermon. His patience being exhausted, he stopped his discourse, and, in a rowdy way, exclaimed—"Go on, my lad, I've seen the top of your head; that's enough." The fellow turned round, and, with an angry, menacing look, muttered—"I'll see you again, sir." "You had better see me now," replied the preacher, "for when I'm in the pulpit I fight for the Lord Jesus, but when I'm out of it, I fight for myself."

UPON the marriage of Miss Wheat, of Virginia, an editor hoped that her path might be flowery, and that she might never be thrashed by her husband.

Getting an Invitation.

It was observed that a certain rich man never invited any one to dine with him.

"I'll lay a wager," said a wag, "I get an invitation from him."

The wager being accepted, he goes the next day to the rich man's house, about the time he was to dine, and tells the servant he must see his master immediately, for he could save him a thousand pounds.

"Sir," said the servant to his master, "here is a man in a great hurry, who says he can save you a thousand pounds."

Out came the master.

"What is it sir?" "Can you save me a thousand pounds?"

"Yes, sir, I can; but I see you are at dinner; I will go myself and dine, and call again."

"O, pray, sir, come in and take dinner with me."

The invitation was accepted. As soon as dinner was over, and the family had retired, the conversation was resumed.

"Well, sir," said the man of the house "now to your business. Pray let me know how I am to save a thousand pounds."

"Why, sir," said the other, "I hear that you have a daughter to dispose of in marriage."

"I have, sir."

"And that you intend to portion her with ten thousand pounds?"

"I do, sir."

"Why then, sir, let me have her, and I will take her at nine thousand."

The master of the house rose in a passion, and kicked him out of doors.

A PEASANT in Paris for the first time was much interested in all he saw, and asked numerous questions of those with whom he spoke. One day he walked into a little office where there was only a table covered with writing materials and a chair. A young man was seated there idle.

"Sir," said the peasant, "will you be kind enough to tell me what you sell here?"

"Certainly," said the man, wishing to revenge himself for the interruption; "we sell asses' heads."

"Why," said the peasant, with an air of great simplicity, "what good sales you must have had! I see only one left in the place"

"MA, does pa kiss you because he loves you so?" inquired a little anxious plug, of his mother. "To be sure, my son; but why did you ask that question?" "Well, guess he loves the kitchen-girl, too; for I seen him kiss her mor'n forty times last Sunday, when you was to church."

SOME malicious scoundrel has penned the following: "Eve did not know as much as her daughters of the present day. Had they been in her place, instead of being deceived, they would have deceived the devil."

A NEGRO woman, speaking of her children, said of them, who was lighter colored than the rest, "I neber could bear dat chile, kase he show de dirt so easy."

UNDER the head of "terrible retribution" we find it chronicled that a young unmarried girl of St. Louis, who "loved not wisely, but too well," gave birth to three children.

TO CURE POVERTY.—Sit down and growl about it. By so doing you'll be sure to get rich, and make yourself particularly agreeable to everybody.

THERE is no policy like politeness; and a good manner is the best thing in the world, either to get a good name or supply the want of it.

"FATHER," said a rough boy, "I hope you won't buy any more gunpowder tea for mother."

"Why not?"

"Because every time she drinks it she blows me up."

"DON'T you think, husband, that you are apt to believe everything you hear?"

"No, madam, not when you talk."

A pretty woman's soul sometimes sits and looks out through a bright eye, like a purring cat out of a sunny window.

A YOUNG Miss having been invited to a military ball, inquired with great simplicity if all the ladies were expected to bare arms!

THE world is God's volume, in which every creature is a letter, and every day a new page.

It is better to love a person you cannot marry, than to marry a person you cannot love.

MANY persons, it is said, are enemies because they don't know each other.—They oftener because they do.

H. J. BIDDLEMAN, Bookseller, Fourth street next to the Post Office, Sacramento, is our authorized Agent to receive subscriptions for the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS.

To Tax-Payers.

For the benefit of the tax-payers of this county, we would call attention to the following provision of the law, now in force in this county, for the collection of taxes:

"On and after the 3rd Monday of November, 1861, the Delinquent Tax List will be handed over to the District Attorney, who will immediately bring suit (under the New Law) against each of the Delinquent Tax-Payers, for the amount of Taxes due, with 5 per cent. added thereon, and for costs of suit, and 50 cents per mile for traveling to make a levy, and $3 for levy."

It will be seen by the above, that to save costs, all parties having taxes to pay must settle the same before the 3rd Monday in November, or else heavy costs will accrue to the delinquents.—The present law was passed last Winter, and this is the first of its operation on the Tax-Payers of this county.

At the convention of Justices of the Peace, of this county, met at Washington on Monday last, Shindler, of Cacheville, and Hoagland, of Washington, were elected Associate Judges of the Court of Sessions, of Yolo county.

CAMP MEETING.—We are informed, that the Association of the United Brethren, of this County, will hold a Camp Meeting at the residence of Mr. C. Hubbard, below Fremont. There have been ample accommodations made for all who may desire to attend—the meeting commenced last night.

FAIR PRICES.—During the past week there has been considerable demand for Wheat in this section. We have heard parties offering $1.60 for a prime article. This is quite an improvement on former prices this season, and will repay farmers profitably for the expense of raising; at these figures wheat raisers can make money, if they have average cropping seasons.

NEW POST OFFICE STAMPS.—The Postmaster at Sacramento gives notice that he is prepared to exchange envelopes and stamps of the new issue, for an equivalent amount of the old stamps.—The U. S. stamp now in use will not be received at the above office, on and after the 15th inst. We are not aware how it is with the Post Office at Grafton, but should suppose, in case of such an event, the citizens of this place will be duly notified.

RECRUITING OFFICE.—M. L. Glasby, of Sacramento, has opened a Recruiting Office in our town, he wants recruits for the Lyon Guards, to be attached to Col. Kellogg's Regiment California Volunteers. This is a good chance for the patriotic to serve their country in a tangible manner by coming forward and enlisting. By serving their country in this its time of need, they will convince the world they are patriots in deed, as well as word.

TRUE WEALTH OF WASHOE.—The Daily Enterprise, published at Virginia City, says that "every ranch owner in Washoe Valley, by holding on to his property, finds himself a rich man. The prices now offered for mill sites and ranches are enough to make any man of moderate pecuniary aspirations independent. Sums varying from ten to thirty thousand dollars have been offered for ranches in that valley."

SECOND CROP.—Many of the apple trees in this county have blossomed a second time, and in some instances the fruit has formed and is growing. In the orchard of Captain Fales, near Walnut Creek House, the apples on some of the trees have obtained considerable size.—Contra Costa Gazette.

The San Francisco Bulletin has entered upon its thirteenth volume, and has been published six years. It appeared October 8th, its anniversary day, in an entirely new typographical dress.

A WEEK'S FEED.—Four million pounds of beef were sold in New York city in the week ending September 14th. The price paid for it on foot was 7½ cents per pound.

DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.—This is the title of a little daily just started at Sacramento, by Chales DeYoung, at 12½ cents per week.

On Sugar.

Mr. Chas. St. Louis, whose farm is situated about a mile below town, has cultivated this year about six acres of Chinese Sugar cane, which he is now preparing to grind and boil down into syrup. Mr. St. Louis has for the past three years raised this cane, and manufactured syrup from it; from him we gather the following information respecting its culture, yield, etc.:

He plants the seed during the month of May, governed in some measure by the progress of the season, in rows about two feet apart, after which he attends to it by plowing, hoeing, etc., in the same manner as the common corn crop is attended. It grows on the river bottom lands very luxuriantly, and will yield an average crop of two hundred gallons to the acre; Mr. St. Louis has raised it to yield two hundred and fifty gallons per acre, but considers two hundred gallons a low estimate for an average yield. The syrup he manufactures is a superior article, resembling in taste and appearance, the maple tree syrup. He is satisfied a good article of sugar can be made from this cane, and this year intends trying the experiment by making a sufficiency for his own use. The syrup is not so easy to granulate as maple syrup, but Mr. St. Louis is confident he can make good sugar from it; when he has tried the experiment, we will give our readers the result, whatever it may be.

In the U. S. Admiralty Court, on the 13th, it was ordered that the Prize Commissioners be empowered to break their seals upon the hatches of prize vessels in their custody, for the purpose of having them examined by the agent of the Navy Department in New York, said examination to be conducted in the presence of one of the Prize Commissioners, and the hatches to be immediately resealed after such examination. It was stated that this examination was with a view of the Government taking any of them for gunboats that should be found fit for that purpose, on paying into Court the appraised value of the vessels.

SAD AFFLICTION.—The editor of this paper has been called from his daily avocation by the sad domestic affliction of the death of his amiable and intelligent little son aged ten years—an only child. This took place on yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, after a long and severe illness. The deceased was an honorary member of Pioneer Engine Co. No. 5, and we are informed, that a short time before his death, on a visit to the Firemen's Cemetery with the Foreman of that company, he pointed out a particular spot where "if he died he would like to be buried." Thus appearing to have a premonition of his early fate. The company have draped their Engine House in mourning, and this afternoon will assist in the last sad rites to their departed little brother. He will be interred in the spot selected by himself; his spirit has sought a brighter sphere, where sickness and sorrow are unknown.—Marysville Express, Oct. 9.

HEAVY SUIT.—The San Francisco Sugar Refining Company have been sued upon four promissory notes, amounting in the aggregate to $158,218 17 and interest as follows: 2 per cent. per month on $54,218 24, from February 4, 1860; 1½ per cent per month on $33,231 77, from February 14, 1860; 1½ per cent. per month on $58,939 37, from February 16, 1860; and 1½ per cent on $11,825 99 from February 16, 1860.

AUBURN RAILROAD.—We learn from the Auburn Advocate that the railroad to Auburn is progressing finely, and we are looking with anxiety for the appearance of the engine. Our railroad enterprise has ceased to be a mere thing on paper. We do not know how many hands they have employed on the road, but understand there is a large force, and that they are constantly employing more.

NATIVE WINE.—We understand that Major Bidwell, of Chico, will manufacture, this season, some two thousand gallons of wine from grapes grown in his vineyard. We hear of others in the county, also, who will make from one to five barrels.—Butte Democrat

PRICE OF CATTLE.—During the past week, according to the Contra Costa Gazette, a lot of cattle was offered at public sale in that county, after due notice of the time and place of sale, and forty head of American cattle were bid off at $5 75 per head.

FAILED.—Pierce, Church & Co., of Weaverville, one of the oldest firms in that place, failed last week.

The Rev. Dr. Scott.

Governor Downey's letter to Rev. Dr. Scott, which we publish below, has elicited from the Sacramento Union and the Marysville Appeal some comments not intended to be very complimentary to his Excellency. The Governor expresses a high regard for the distinguished abilities of the Rev. Dr. Scott, as a minister, and for his merits as a citizen.

The Union upon the Governor's letter makes these remarks:

"It is not such a letter as we should suppose Governor Downey would have cared to publish at this time. The friends of Dr. Scott in San Francisco appear exceedingly anxious for the fate of that gentleman, and their efforts to force a public recognition of the virtues which they have found in him, are a little wanting in modesty, to say the least."

The Appeal says:

"Some of the enemies of the Governor will seize upon this as another evidence of his secession proclivities, and it certainly is a matter of regret that he should have gone so far out of his way to give his official endorsement to the revered fire-brand."

Dr. Scott's chief sin is, if we understand the matter correctly, in ignoring all political issues in ecclesiastical or other religious assemblies; this does not suit those high toned papers above quoted.—The minister of the gospel who can incorporate into his regular Sabbath sermons the greatest amount of political matter—provided, always, it is of the Republican stripe, is a decided favorite with these gentlemen. And all citizens, whether occupying official positions or not, must be careful what mead of praise they award a minister of the gospel for his learning, ability, purity, or social worth (if it happens he is not a political preacher), lest he subject himself to the charge of secessionism. But, to the Governor's letter:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—EXECUTIVE DEPT.,
SACRAMENTO, October 1, 1861.

Rev. W. A. Scott, D. D., San Francisco, California:

REV. AND DEAR SIR: I have learned with sincere regret that you purpose leaving this State for Europe, with a view of there making a temporary sojourn, I beg you will carry with you the assurances of my high appreciation of your merits, both as a citizen and distinguished Minister of the Gospel. During your long residence in California, your liberal and christian spirit, as manifested by your teachings from the pulpit, and your courteous conduct towards other denominations differing from yourself, have won my most cordial admiration. I trust, sir, that your visit may be fraught with all the happiness and pleasure to yourself and family that your heart can desire, and I indulge the hope that you will again return among us to ornament the pulpit with your distinguished abilities and christian virtues, and that you will then find our beloved country restored to peace and brotherly love. With sincere esteem and respect, I am, reverend and dear sir, your obedient servant,
JOHN G. DOWNEY.

FROM CARIBOO.—A late number of the Victoria Colonist says: Willoughby and Hodge, who owned in the discovery claim on Lowhee Creek, have arrived at Yale, from Cariboo, with $13,000 each, the result of six weeks work. It is estimated that the claim will last for a long while, and that $200,000 will be taken from it.

The report published here to the effect that Americans have monopolized the claims on Antler Creek, and refuse to give Englishmen work, is pronounced a fabrication. On the contrary, Englishmen own some of the richest claims on the creek, and laborers are in demand at eight dollars a day. The question of nationality is seldom introduced among the miners, and the utmost good feeling exists between all classes.

Messrs Fellows and Way, packers, arrived on the Otter, are bound for Sonora, Mexico, with $24,000, with which to buy animals. They will drive their train across the plains to Cariboo, and expect to reach Thompson River by the middle of May.

Prospectors are out in every direction in the Cariboo country, and rich strikes reported every day.

Abbott & Co., on Williams' Creek, (three men,) had taken from their claim $95,000, up to Sept. 4th; Dawson & Co., on the same creek, have done nearly as well.

The largest nugget yet taken out in British Columbia, was found in Willoughby's claim, on Great Lowhee. It weighs sixteen ounces, and having been secured by Mr. Nind, the Gold Commissioner, will be sent by him to the World's Fair for exhibition. In the claim adjoining Willoughby's, a nugget weighing ten ounces was picked up.

The Legislature of Nevada Territory is now in session.

JOHN MITCHELL ON THE BATTLE OF BULL RUN.—John Mitchell, writing from Paris, among other things indulges in the following remarks on the battle of Bull Run:

What a wild and strange destiny is ours; Irish brigade fronting Irish brigade in deadly conflict, to settle the constitutional question between State rights and Federal power! To fight for the Pope at Ancona and Castelfidaro was generous and pious; to fight for the King of France at Cremona and Steenkirk and Fontenoy, was just and chivalrous; but to fight for Lincoln and Seward, Sumner and Banks! why the British service itself is hardly a more unnatural employment for Irishmen.

I know what some persons may, even still, be ready to reply: We did not fight for Lincoln, or for Seward, but for the supremacy of the laws, and to maintain the Union. Hitherto I have abstained from this subject in my correspondence, because I saw that our friends at the North were in no temper to listen, now, perhaps, they are somewhat cooler, and you will indulge me while I say to them that those who bounded them on to this war under pretence of vindicating law or maintaining the Union, lied. Mr. Seward may be whatever else you will, but he is certainly not a blockhead; and therefore it never entered into his mind for one moment that the South could be coerced back into the Union, or that any law would ever again be vindicated at the South save what the South would make for its own government. It was because the secession was irrevocable and the Union was gone forever, that Mr. Lincoln's gang (call it cabinet if you choose,) launched their armies against the South; they would at least hurt the new Confederation as much as they possibly can; would at least keep Baltimore, Washington, St. Louis, Chesapeake Bay—as much as they could; and by pretending to treat the Southerners as rebels, would avoid an equitable division of the Federal property. It is the case of a dissolution of partnership, where one partner happening to be in possession of the stock and the books, trumps up a criminal prosecution against the other, and so keeps all. Such and so noble and statesmanlike is the war policy of the Yankees. He does the business cheaply, too; for he does it principally with Irish and German soldiers, with rowdies from the cities, and prisoners from the jail; and if he never sees their faces again, if they all lie stark in Virginia forests, he will turn up his eyes, and say God's will be done.

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL.—This magnificent structure, four stories and an attic high, of immense proportions and elegant architecture, is rapidly approaching completion, and will probably be handed over to the Sisters of Mercy in one month from this time. Situated on the corner of First and Bryant streets, its location is eminently healthy, and from the fine observatory surmounting the stately edifice, a splendid view of the harbor, city and surrounding country may be had.—A spacious promenade ground surrounds the Hospital, fenced with iron railing and stone pillars. Bending down over these rails, in front, one looks down upon the street pavement, a distance of some thirty feet perpendicular, the space from sidewalk to the level of the grounds being built up with a solid wall of masonry with abutments. Each end is flanked by a tall, square tower, in the upper stories of which the gate-keepers will reside.—At the base of the towers are the entrances of the establishment. With its spacious wards, wings, corridors, out-buildings and grounds, this institution is most admirably complete, and we doubt whether—if its appointments are carried out on a commensurate scale—there will be any other hospital in America that can rival it. This is but another tangible evidence of what noble disinterestedness women can do, to alleviate the world's distressed, if they bend themselves to the task.—S. F. Mirror.

CAVE.—A cave has been discovered in the range of mountains east of Carson River, and but a few miles from the coal regions, that is quite a curiosity.—It has a large mouth or opening facing to the west; the chamber is about thirty feet in diameter, and eighteen feet high. The roof is ornamented by stalactites, and the floor covered with petrifications of a vegetable and animal nature. The cave seems to be situated in an extensive limestone formation, and must have been the resort of animals from time immemorial. A party prospecting for coal were the discoverers. They say that the appearance of the cave, when lighted up, is gorgeous.

RESIGNATION.—Officer B. S. Blitz has resigned his commission as Sergeant Major of Dragons, Second Division of California State Militia, to which he was appointed under Gen. Halleck. Blitz served in Mexico, and was a very competent officer.

ON TRIAL.—George W. Journey and his wife Ada, are now on trial at Sacramento, for the murder of J. A. Hermosillo.

JOHN C. FALL & Co., and J. H. Tennent & Co., at Marysville, have failed.

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD.—Great activity prevails at the Navy Yard. The Atlas says:

A good force of strong and willing hands is advancing the work steadily and substantially. An immense foundry, three hundred and seventy-five by seventy feet, for the casting of cannon, has just been completed, and although no machinery has yet been placed in it, the costliest and strongest that can be made has been ordered, including superb marine engines, etc. A chimney, to be 140 feet high, by far the loftiest on this coast is rapidly ascending, and will soon be a landmark visible for miles down the bay. The contractors have a large force at work grading the grounds, and the evidences of their industry are witnessed both in the excavation and filling up of the inequalities, thus increasing the area of level, smooth ground. The sectional dry-dock which was so materially impaired last year, is being rapidly repaired, and at an early day will be ready to receive vessels, large or small, needing overhauling. The British war steamship Hecate is waiting to be lifted into the dock, so soon as everything is completed. By the end of the present fiscal year, there will be wonderful improvements effected at this busy hive. Especial credit for these improvements is due Calvin Brown, Civil Engineer, and Melvin Simmons, Naval Constructor. The Government has at last awakened to the importance of this post as a naval depot, and that San Francisco is virtually the half-way station on the high road of the world's commerce, consequently the importance of having here immense facilities for strengthening this arm of our country's service requires just such outlays as are now being made at Mare Island.

A LUCKY SUNDAY.—The Jackson (A. Mador) Dispatch, of Saturday, furnishes the following item: "Sunday last was an unusually eventful day in this place and vicinity. Two elopements, two weddings, the abduction of a wife, and a man thrown from his horse and killed."

There will be a Firemen's Foot Race at Sacramento to-day, for a silver trumpet, the property of Alexander Badlam, each of the fire companies will be represented by two of their best runners.

A PREMIUM OFFERED.—The Rhode Island Society for the encouragement of Domestic Industry, offer a premium of $500 for a bale of the best flax-cotton, not to exceed fifty pounds.

KILLED.—Captain Kelly of Eldorado county, who met with an accident at Camp Alert, San Francisco, by being thrown from a horse, died on Monday night last.

KAHL, the murderer of Catherine Gerken, will be hung; the Supreme Court having denied him a new trial.

LADY FRANKLIN and niece, accompanied by Governor Nye and several ladies, visited both branches of the Nevada Legislature, now convened at Carson City, Nevada Territory.

KNOW all men by these presents that I, Sarah Ann Glascock, wife of Spencer Glascock, of Yolo county, California, do intend from this date to carry on in my own name, and on my own account, the business of Farming, Stock raising and trading in Stock generally, in said County of Yolo, and that from and after this date, I will be individually responsible, in my own name, for all debts contracted by me on account of said business, and that the amount invested in said business is less than five thousand dollars.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the 1st day of October, A. D. 1861.

SARAH ANN GLASCOCK. [Seal.]
Witness: J. T. DALY.

State of California, County of Yolo. On this 1st day of October, A. D. 1861, before me, J. T. Daly, County Clerk in and for said County, personally appeared Sarah A. Glascock, wife of Spencer Glascock, to me personally known to be the person described in, and who executed the foregoing instrument, and who acknowledged to me, after being made acquainted with the contents of said instrument, upon examination separate, apart from and without the hearing of her said husband, that she executed the same freely and voluntarily, without fear, compulsion or under influence of her said husband, for the uses and purposes therein mentioned, and that she does not wish to retract the execution of the same.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and official seal, the day and year above written.
J. T. DALY, County Clerk.

Arrival of the Pony Express!

We clip the following from the Union of the 9th.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 26th.—A special dispatch to the Missouri Democrat says: General Sigel arrived here very early this morning, and has gone forward via railroad, with his forces. The information is now that McCulloch has formed a junction with Price between Warrensburg and Georgetown, and their forces are now 40,000 men. Their force is rapidly swelling from Secessionists along their line of march. Mulligan's defeat had given them great confidence.

Gen. Hunter is here. Great confidence is expressed in him and Sigel. Eight thousand rebel troops joined the rebel army last night on the other side of Georgetown.

Reports from the twenty-fifth Illinois Regiment last night report an attack by rebels at Laramie Railroad bridge, and a repulse. Forces are rapidly moving forward.

Steamboat Sioux City arrived this morning from Boonville. She reports no attack from rebels.

The whereabouts of McCulloch still excites much attention. Definite information, which I cannot disclose, has been received at headquarters as to his exact position on Tuesday morning last.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 27th. The marauding rebel chief, Martin Green, had been sending a large number of horses across the river to the north, supposed to be the horses he impressed when compelled so hastily to leave Northwestern Missouri.

All the troops which were at Boonville have left for Ottumwa and Georgetown. Only two hundred Home Guards, under Major Eppenstein, remain in the intrenchments, and it is said he too will be forced to leave if not reinforced in two or three days.

General Fremont and Staff have just arrived, he is accompanied by a detachment of his body guard and several companies of various regiments. He was received at the depot by Brigadier Gen. Thomas L. Price.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 28th.—Gen. Price, after no little difficulty, has at last got Gen. Fremont's Staff duly quartered in different places about town. The number of the Staff much exceeded the calculation of the General, who only expected a dozen or fifteen, but there turned out to be over double that number. Gen. Fremont and the major portion of his Staff will not be able to leave here for a or two probably.

WASHINGTON, September 26th.—Last evening the United States steamer Planet was fired at several times while passing Ocoquan, but sustained no damage.—Later in the evening, near Freestone Point, she was accidentally run into and cut in two by the steamer Delaware, coming up with three hundred soldiers, and quickly sunk. All on board escaped. The Delaware anchored until morning, when, on running up the river, she was fired upon at a distance of over two miles, from a rebel battery, the shots passing over her.

The Fast was observed with great propriety here to-day—all public business being entirely suspended. The President and some members of the Cabinet attended Dr. Gurley's church. The sermon was devoted to the rebellion—one reason for which, the preacher stated, was as follows: That it was sent by God to effect the abolition of capital punishment in the Northern States.

A New Yorker who deserted from the rebel army at Freestone Point, says the enemy is 10,000 strong at Freestone and 30,000 between there and Manassas, and a large number along the shore to Mathias. They have plenty of cannon and food. He believes the rebels purpose crossing above or below Washington and simultaneously attack the front and rear.

A special to the New York World says: A flag of truce crossed the Potomac on some trifling object, at Edward's Ferry, but the sentinels discovered that one man in the boat was sounding the river. The rebels were placed under arrest.

Yesterday a lieutenant from one of our regiments deserted on the Upper Potomac, and went over to the rebels, giving them, it is supposed, full information.

A special to the New York Tribune says: Sherman's expedition to the Southern coast will sail within three weeks.—Fifteen or twenty regiments will have the privilege of going to Charleston, as the principal officers in the command believe or learn.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30th.—A letter has turned up in the dead letter office, addressed to Beauregard, by two or three Spanish firms in Chile, offering a loan of $1,500,000 at eight per cent., to be paid into the treasury one year after the recognition of the Southern Confederacy.

General McClellan has issued a general order complimenting Gen. M'Dowell's division of the army.

Major General Gilson, Commissary, died last night.

The Government has suspended action in Gen. Fremont's case, to await further tidings from Missouri. Much feeling was excited here in consequence.

The President has given assurances that no drafting for the army shall be resorted to in the West until all the Eastern States have furnished their full quota of 500,000.

FARTHER POINT, October 1st.—The French Government refuse to allow their officers to join the United States Army.

The Great Eastern has arrived. The gale she encountered was a fearful one. Over twenty-five of her passengers sustained fractures occasioned by the tremendous rolling of the ship. The accident is mainly attributed to breaking the rudder.

St. Louis, Oct. 3d.—The Republican learns that a letter has been received here from New Orleans, date not given, stating that a fleet of seventy vessels, large and small, was then coming up the Balize to attack that city.

The Republican also learns from a person of this State, who left Richmond, Virginia, a week ago last Monday, that he saw in the papers on the route a proclamation from Ben. McCulloch, calling on the citizens of Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas for fifteen regiments of men for service in Missouri.

On Tuesday morning last, at Sacramento, the walls of the Forrest Theater fell in; several persons were seriously injured.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Summons.

IN the District Court of the Fifteenth Judicial District, of the State of California, in and for the county of Colusa. The people of the State of California vs. C. D. Poston. Action brought in the District Court of the 15th Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Colusa, and the complaint filed in said county of Colusa, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court, June 20th, 1861. The People of the State of California, send greeting to C. D. Poston, defendant: You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Fifteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Colusa, and to answer the complaint filed therein, (a copy of which accompanies this summons) within ten days, (exclusive of the day of service,) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but within this Judicial District, within twenty days; or if served out of said District, then within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of the said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain a judgment against you for the sum of four hundred and seventy-four dollars State and county taxes for the fiscal year ending March, A. D. 1861, and for thirty per cent. per centage and District Attorney's fees, all of which is fully set forth in plaintiff's complaint now on file in the Clerk's office, and which you are particularly referred to. And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in his said complaint, and for costs of suit. Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of the Fifteenth Judicial District of the State of California in and for the county of Colusa, this 11th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one. W. F. GOAD, Clerk.

SUMMONS.

State of California, County of Sutter. ss. In the District Court of the Tenth Judicial District, for said County and State. The People of the State of California, to Ebenezer Jones, greeting: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of W. C. White, in said Court, filed in said County, against you as defendant, within ten days from the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served out of said county, but within said Tenth Judicial District, within twenty days; or if served out of said Tenth Judicial District, then within forty days, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1861, in said Court. The said action is brought to obtain a judgment against the defendant Ebenezer Jones for the sum of twenty-eight hundred dollars, with legal interest on one thousand dollars of that amount from the 21st day of May, 1861, together with the costs of this action; also, to obtain a decree of foreclosure of the mortgage, and sale of the mortgaged premises, particularly described in the plaintiff's complaint, and the application of the proceeds of sale to the payment of the costs of sale, costs of this action and of the plaintiff's demand; and that the said defendant be barred and foreclosed of all right, claim or equity of redemption in the said mortgaged premises, and every part and parcel thereof; that for any balance remaining unpaid after such application, execution may issue against said defendant Ebenezer Jones. And you are hereby notified that, if you fail to answer the complaint as above directed, plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

In witness whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of said Court, at my office, in Yuba City, this 26th day of June, A. D. 1861. C. E. WILCOXON, Clerk.

I Wonder if she Loves Me.

I wonder if she loves me? I'd give the world to know! For though her looks still whispers Yes. Her lips still utter no.

Spoons—A Yankee Story.

Some years ago, before railroads were invented, a cute Massachusetts Yankee was one day traveling in a stage in the State of Connecticut.

"All aboard gents?" inquires the host. "One missing," said they. Proceeding to the dining room, the host finds our Yankee very coolly helping himself to an immense piece of steak, the "size of a horse's lip."

"You'll be left, sir! Stage is going to start." "Val, I haint got nothin' tew say agin it!" "Can't wait, sir; better take your seat."

"I'll be gaul darned, ef I dew, nuth'er, till I've got my breakfast! I've got tew pay half a dollar, and I'm goin' to git the vallee on't! and ef you kalkalate I ain't, yew air mistaken."

So the stage did start, and left the Hungry New Englander, who continued his attack of the edibles. Biscuits, coffee, steaks, etc., etc., disappeared rapidly before the eyes of the astonished landlord.

"Say, Squire, them there cakes is 'bout East; fetch us 'nuther grist on 'em. You," (to the waiter), 'nuther cup uv th' air coffee. Pass them eggs. Raise yewer own pork, Squire? this is amazin' nice ham. Land 'bout yewer tolerable cheap, Squire? Haint got much maple tumb'r in these parts, hev ye? Dewin' right smart trade, Squire, I kalkalate? Don't lay yewer own eggs, dew ye?" and thus the Yankee kept quizzing the landlord, until he had made a hearty meal.

"Say, Squire, now I'm bout tew conclude payin' my dewowers tew this ere table, but ef yew'd jist give us a bowl o' bread and milk tew sorter top off with, I'd be much obleezed tew ye."

So out goes landlord and waiter for the bowl, milk and bread, and set them before the Yankee.

"Spewn tew, ef you please!" "But no spoon could be found. Landlord was sure he had plenty silver ones laying on the table when the stage stopped."

"Say yew! dew yew think them passengers is goin' to pay yew for a breakfast and not git no compesahun?" "Ah! what! Do you think any of the passengers took them?"

"Dew I THINK? No, I don't think, but I'm sartin. Ef they air all as green as yew 'bout here, I'm goin' tew locate immediately and tew woust."

The landlord rushes out to the stable, and starts a man off after the stage, which had gone about three miles. The man ov rakes the stage, and says something to the driver in a low tone. He immediately turns back, and on arriving at the hotel, our Yankee comes out to take his seat, and says—

"Heow air yew, geuss? I'm glad tew see you back."

"Can you point out the man you think has the spoons?" asked the landlord. "Pint him out? Sartainly, I ken. Say Squire! I paid you four ninepences fur a breakfast, and I kalkalate I GOT THE VALLEE ON'T! You'll find them spoons in the coffee pot!"

Go ahead, ALL ABOARD, driver! CONFEND not in argument with the foolish, the pr ud, the positive the testy, or with a superior or a clown.

GROVER & BAKER'S Noiseless Sewing Machines for Family Use and Manufacturing Purposes.

PRICES FROM $60 UPWARDS. OVER 50,000 IN USE!

WE beg to assure the public that the well known reputation of these machines for Reliability will be fully sustained, and in our rapidly increasing business the same care will be faithfully exercised in every department of their manufacture. Every machine sold by us is WARRANTED IN EVERY RESPECT. The public attention is respectfully requested to the following Card from the Grover & Baker S. M. Company.

The public, in their eagerness to supply themselves with sewing machines making the Grover & Baker stitch, must not forget to purchase them of the parties who alone are authorized to sell them. All machines sewing from two spools and in which one needle only penetrates the cloth, and having a feed which allows the material to be turned at will are infringements. GROVER & BAKER S. M. CO.

A Card from Elias Howe, Jr. All persons are cautioned not to make, deal in, or use, any sewing machines which sew from two spools and make the stitch known as the Grover & Baker stitch, unless the same are purchased from the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company, or their Agents, Licensees, and stamped under my patent of September 10, 1848. Said Company and their Licensees, alone, are authorized under their own patents, and my said patent, during the extended term thereof, to make and sell this kind of sewing machines, and all others are piracies upon my said patent, and will be dealt with accordingly wherever found. ELIAS HOWE, JR.

The attention of tailors and manufacturers who prefer the "lock stitch," is called to our Improved Shuttle Machines, which are speedily adapted to their requirements, and THE BEST IN USE! R. G. BROWN, Agent, 329 (91) Montgomery street, San Francisco. SAMUEL JELLY, 124 J street, Sacramento. june29-11
