MINE WORKERS' UNION IN STATES ORDERED TO CANCEL STRIKE ORDER

Mandate Issued To-day by Judge at Hearing at Indianapolis Brought About by Government's Course in Opposing Strike

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—The United Mine Workers of America to-day were ordered to withdraw the strike order under which 400,000 men throughout the United States quit work November 1. The mandate was issued here by Judge A. B. Anderson, of the United States District Court, after a hearing in which the union attorneys had fought vainly for a chance to present arguments on the right to strike.

The United Mine Workers of America, through their attorney, Henry Warrum, asked at the opening of the hearing that the proceedings be postponed a week or ten days in the hope that meanwhile the strike might be settled. The Government, through C. B. Ames, Assistant Attorney-General, objected and the court thereupon took up the motion to dissolve the injunction. The Government's position was that the case was too important to admit of delay.

The attorneys then agreed that in ruling upon the motion for dissolution of the restraining order, the court also might rule on the question of issuing an injunction as prayed in the petition filed last week by the Government.

Affidavits.
Mr. Ames then offered affidavits from H. B. Spencer and Marion Underwood, of the Railroad Administration at Washington, as to diminishing coal supplies and diminishing financial returns through operation of the roads.

"Taken together, these affidavits show," said Judge Ames, "that the Government is operating the roads now at a loss which will increase with diminution of supplies for operation."

Council for the defence tried to object to the reading, but Judge Anderson halted them.

"These are equity proceedings and I am going to let the evidence in," said the court.

Contracts Violated.
Judge Ames then read an affidavit from Thomas L. Lewis, secretary of the New River Coal Association of West Virginia. This document detailed the alleged violation of union contracts in that field.

Similar affidavits were offered detailing alleged similar conditions in Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee.

Judge Ames then related the re-establishment of certain fuel administration orders.

TARDIEU MEMBER OF FRENCH CABINET

New Minister of Invaded Regions Starts Work Energetically

Paris, Nov. 8.—Captain Andre Tardieu, who on Thursday was appointed Minister of Blockade and Invaded Regions, to succeed Albert Lebrun, who resigned, yesterday assumed office. He was introduced to the personnel at the Ministry.

Addressing the men, Captain Tardieu asked their earnest co-operation, assuring them of his protection against unjust criticism.

"The liberated regions must be taken care of promptly," he said.

The appointment of Captain Tardieu to the post vacated by M. Lebrun is meeting with general approval in French political and business circles.

JAPAN'S CAREFUL REPLY CLEARS AIR

States Probably Will Be Satisfied Regarding Trans-Siberian Railway

Chinese Consortium Question Remains to Be Settled by Negotiation

Tokio, Nov. 4.—(Delayed)—The conciliatory and dignified nature of Japan's reply to the American note of last September complaining of lack of co-operation of Japanese troops in the operation of the Trans-Siberian Railway is believed here to have removed any danger of serious complications between Japan and the United States over conducting the railway.

In effect, the reply ratifies the arrangement reached at Vladivostok by Roland S. Morris, United States Ambassador, and General OI, commander of the Japanese forces in Eastern Siberia, and commits Japan to co-operation in the future. Under the circumstances it is considered unlikely here that the United States will further pursue the matter.

Chinese Consortium.
The Chinese consortium question, however, has come strongly to the foreground as a problem requiring immediate and frank negotiations. The Washington Government recently informed the Government of Japan that the United States is quite unable to accept Japan's proposal to exclude certain districts of Eastern Inner Mongolia and Southern Manchuria from the scope of an independent loan to China of $30,000,000 by a Chicago bank was made simultaneously. The loan is secured by a tobacco and wine monopoly.

BOLSHEVIKI CLAIM VILLAGES TAKEN

Say Points Southwest of Peterhof Occupied by Them

London, Nov. 8.—Occupation of a series of villages eighteen miles southwest of Peterhof (in the Petrograd district) is claimed in a Bolshevik communication received here by wireless.

In the direction of Yamburg the Bolsheviks say they have advanced to Kikharino, west of Gatchina, but admit retreating to the right bank of the Duna River in the Polotsk region owing to enemy pressure.

Preparations.
London, Nov. 8.—The civil evacuation of the region between Ishim and Irkutsk, which it is expected will soon become the theatre of a decisive battle against the Bolsheviks, has begun, according to advices received here from Omsk dated November 1.

Omsk, as a military base, must soon be cleared of all useless elements and serve in the defence, according to the advices, but the Supreme Governor and the Government as represented by the Council of Ministers will remain.

BRITAIN'S TRADE.

London, Nov. 8.—The Board of Trade's figures for October show an increase in imports of £38,856,000. Exports increased £36,241,000.

SOLDIERS DEMONSTRATE IN AUSTRALIA AGAINST HUGHES

London, Nov. 8.—A correspondent of The Times records lively doings in the election campaign in Sydney, Australia.

Premier Hughes, after declaring his policy, was demonstrated against by 500 soldiers, who demanded grants in cash, not bonds. The Prime Minister's hotel was broken into, but the attackers were beaten off by police, who fought in showers of bottles and other missiles.

The Ryan boom has abated owing to a report that there has been an increase in taxation under Ryan's Queensland premiership. Ryan is an advocate of "cut the painter policy," and is in bad odor, as it is the Sinn Feiners who are running him.

Won Greatest Naval Victory in World's History; Admiral Jellicoe, O. M., K. C. B., K. C. V. O.

ADMIRAL JELICOE ARRIVED ON H. M. S. NEW ZEALAND TO-DAY ON DOMINIONS' TOUR

Admiral Viscount Jellicoe, of Seapa, O. M., K. C. B., Britain's greatest sailor since the days of Nelson, on whose capable shoulders rested the tremendous task of keeping the German fleet bottled up behind its own mine-fields, prevent raiders from escaping and damaging the trade routes vital to England's existence and at the same time take effective measures to make the Grand Fleet immune from the submarine menace during the first two perilous years of the Great War, arrived at Esquimaux this afternoon at two o'clock on board the battle-cruiser H. M. S. New Zealand.

Admiral Jellicoe is here on a very important mission. He was dispatched by the British Government to visit the Dominions and examine the various naval bases and formulate a policy as to how the Admiralty can most effectively and efficiently maintain its great fleet.

The Admiral has just completed a very successful tour of Australia and New Zealand. While at Esquimaux the admiral will look over the dockyard and harbor. Next week he will proceed to Vancouver and later go overland to confer with officials of the government at Ottawa.

The Famous Admiral.
The famous admiral was born in December 5, 1859, son of the late Captain L. H. Jellicoe. He was educated at Rotherhithe, and entered the navy in 1872. He served in the Egyptian War, 1882, receiving the Khedive's medal, with bronze star. He graded high when passing as lieutenant, gaining the special £39 prize at the Royal Naval College in 1882.

As a commander he was wrecked in the collision which sank the Victoria in the Levant. He served in China from 1898 to 1901, and commanded the Naval Brigade, and acted as chief of staff to Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Seymour during the relief of the British Legations.

From 1907 to 1909 he was director of Naval Ordnance, and became Rear-Admiral in the latter year. Next year he was Rear-Admiral in the Atlantic Fleet, and in 1908 became a commissioner of the Admiralty, and Controller of the navy, a position he held until 1910. He commanded the Atlantic Fleet in 1911, and the second squadron of the Home Fleet in the following year. He was a Lord of the Admiralty at the time when the war broke out, and was appointed to command the REDS ARE TO BE DEPORTED FROM U. S.

Over 200 Radicals Arrested in Raids in Eighteen Cities

Bomb Materials, Rifles and Counterfeiting Plant Were Seized

Washington, Nov. 8.—Deportation of all aliens engaged in "Red" activities has been determined upon by the Department of Justice, Attorney-General Palmer announced to-day.

Details of the widespread clean-up of radicals last night and to-day show that more than 200 were arrested in eighteen cities. Mr. Palmer has asked the Department of Labor to deport all of them.

Included among the material and literature seized by the Government agents in the raids were quantities of articles used in the making of bombs, a complete counterfeiting plant, a large supply of counterfeit banknotes, thousands of pieces of literature, described as of the most inflammatory nature, and scores of red flags, rifles and revolvers.

Russians.
Agents of the Department of Justice and the Bureau of Immigration had been collecting evidence in these particular cases for two months. Mr. Palmer said. Practically all of those arrested are Russians.

Government agents, according to Mr. Palmer's announcement, have found that the Union of Russian Workers is conducting an active propaganda for a "Social Revolution." The aliens arrested were all leaders in this union, which was described as the worst anarchistic organization in the country. Its membership numbers more than 7,000 with many locals scattered throughout the nation.

Seized Leaders.
Last night's raids, however, included only the leaders of the organization in the following cities: New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Akron, Youngstown, Ohio; Baltimore, Newark, and Elizabeth, N. J., and Hartford, Waterbury, Ansonia, Bridgeport, New Haven and Seymour, Conn.

Very Red.
Of the activities of members of the Union of Russian Workers, Mr. Palmer's statement said: "The Union of Russian Workers is even more radical than the Bolsheviks. It was organized in New York in 1917 by a

RECORD INVESTMENT YESTERDAY WON FLAG AND PUT CITY "OVER"

Yesterday's Subscription of $344,700 by Far Largest of Drive; Loan Heads Confident $500,000 Reached To-day

Greater Victoria passed her $3,200,000 Victory Loan quota at noon to-day.

Yesterday's record-breaking investment of $344,700, a sum $144,350 greater than the investment recorded on a corresponding day last year, brought the city's total loan up to $3,143,056. Investments made this morning and amounting to nearly $400,000, had boosted this figure to $3,543,056 by noon, and made the heads of the loan organization confident that half a million dollars would be invested by midnight.

Hoists Flag.
Shortly after Victoria's Honor Flag had been hoisted at Loan headquarters to-day, Brigadier-General Clark, Island Loan Chairman, declared, "I never have doubted that Victoria would keep faith as she did last year, and I knew I was not exaggerating when I said a few days ago that the city would reach her $3,200,000 quota by to-day, the end of the second lap. I thought this quota would be achieved by to-night. Instead, it was reached before noon.

While complete figures have not been compiled yet, there is no doubt that when to-day's investments are concluded, the city will have a generous margin over her quota. We have six days in which to reach our $5,000,000 objective, and about $1,000,000 more we can do it. We will do it. This week's performance has shown us that. The whole community is investing in the Loan—everybody is getting behind the button. The rich men have demonstrated their stand in no uncertain way during the last few days, and about the poor man there has been no doubt from the start. Victoria will keep faith again."

Up-Island Points Invest $670,000.
Up-Island points up to last night had invested approximately $670,000 in Victory Bonds, and eight of the fifteen loan centres had reached their quotas. Duncan reported to local headquarters to-day that its citizens had boosted the city past its $120,000 quota and were waiting patiently for their Honor Flag. Salt Spring Island also has "gone over" with an investment of more than $15,000.

Reports received from all over the Island this morning indicated that the loan drive was going ahead in leaps and bounds. A number of loan centres, among them Nanaimo, expected to reach their quotas by to-night. Investments recorded in following centres last night were as follows:

Honor Flag	Quoted
Cobble Hill	24,000 18,000

Smallpox Epidemic in Ontario; Big Demand for Vaccine

SETTLEMENT BOARD INVESTS $85,000 IN VICTORY LOAN

An Order-in-Council passed by the Oliver Cabinet this morning authorized the Provincial Land Settlement Board to invest its sinking funds to the extent of $85,000 in the present Victory Loan. The transaction was completed before noon and the sum mentioned already is included in Victoria's total subscription to date. It should be noted, too, that sinking funds of the Board previously invested in War Loan stock were $53,000 in the 1917 issue and $25,000 in the 1918 issue, making a total investment in this class of security of $163,000.

SUGAR IN STATES.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Sugar Equalization Board issued a statement to-day explaining that it has no control over the present beet crop and is willing that it should be sold anywhere in the United States. The explanation is made to correct what is termed a prevalent impression that the Board has confined the sale of beet sugar to certain prescribed territory.

ONTARIO PEOPLE STILL GUESSING

Premier-Designate Drury Has Not Announced New Cabinet Yet

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Nothing has developed in the Cabinet-making undertaking of E. C. Drury, Premier-designate of Ontario, at least so far as the public has been informed. "There is nothing new," said Mr. Drury in a brief message sent out from his private office to the press. Mr. Drury already had intimated that nothing would be made public as to his Cabinet until he had presented the names of his Ministers to the Lieutenant-Governor.

Many guesses are being made as to the probable personnel of the new Government. Chief interest is being taken in the Attorney-Generalship, for which position several possibilities have been named, among them W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, formerly a member of the House of Commons and previous to that a member of the Ontario Legislature. His name was mentioned two or three days ago and again to-day it was in circulation, along with the name of Gordon Waldron. The latter seems to have his day on and his day off, alternately, with the guessers.

That the new Minister of Labor will be Walter Rollo, of Hamilton, appears to be generally conceded. Among other probable Ministers the following were again spoken of prominently: R. H. Grant, M.P.P. for Carleton; Manning Doherty, defeated candidate for Peel; Colonel S. Carmichael, M.P.P.; F. C. Biggs, M.P.P. for Wentworth; and Beniah Bowman, M.P.P. for Manitoulin.

GENERAL STRIKE IN BERLIN COLLAPSES

Berlin, Nov. 7.—Via London, Nov. 8.—A committee of radical leaders has issued a manifesto announcing that the general strike which had been called to support the metal workers in their protracted walkout has been abandoned, owing to the attitude of the Majority Socialists and of the trade unions.

The metal workers' strike continues.

Minister of War Noske has adopted very serious measures to prevent the outbreak of a general strike. The headquarters of the Independent Socialists were occupied, a meeting of street railway employees was dissolved and the executive council of the Council of Workmen's Delegates was deposed.

An earlier report, announcing the collapse of the proposed general strike, stated that documents found at the headquarters of the Independent Socialists proved that they had been acting with the Spacticans.

GENERAL DEBILITY FOLLOWING INFLUENZA

Strength Can Only Be Regained by Enriching the Blood.

Following a wide spread epidemic of influenza, general debility is on the increase, and its effects may be noticed in the worn listless appearance of so many of the men and women who meet. Influenza always leaves behind it impaired vitality, and with the modern conditions of life that use up nerve force so rapidly, general debility becomes one of the most common maladies. The symptoms of debility vary, but weakness is always present. There is poor digestion, languor, weak, aching back, wakefulness at night, often distressing headaches and a feeling of fatigue. These symptoms indicate impure and impoverished blood. It is significant of nearly every attack of influenza that it is followed by anaemia and debility.

For all such run-down conditions, new blood is the most reliable cure, sufferers should at once begin to make thin blood rich and red with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Under a fair treatment with this medicine they will realize more and more the health-restoring influence of good rich blood, and how this new blood brings a feeling of new strength and increased vitality. Proof is given in the case of Mrs. G. Robertson, Wilmington, Ont., who says: "When the Spanish influenza spread over our town I happened to be one of the first attacked and the attack was a very severe one, and worse still the after effects of the trouble left me in continuous misery. I had severe pains in my side, felt low-spirited, often with no ambition whatever. My head ached almost continually, my eyes felt heavy, and pimples broke out on my face. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them for a time I felt like my old self able to do my housework, and feeling well and strong. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the serious after-effects of influenza as I am sure they will restore all sufferers to good health."

You can get these Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WAR BRIDES WAIT AT QUEBEC CITY

Twelve Detained by Immigration Officials; Husbands Must Go There

Quebec, Nov. 8.—Owing to a lack of appreciation of the immigration laws of Canada some of the war brides are finding themselves in an awkward predicament on arriving on this side. Just now twelve persons, mostly soldiers' dependents, are held here by the immigration authorities, some of them bound for Western Canada. None are slated for deportation but some are waiting for husbands to call for them.

In many cases this is due to misunderstanding as to the port of embarkation, but some have not sufficient funds to carry them to their destination. According to the immigration laws, they must be in possession of at least $25 above the cost of their transportation. Unless the husbands or friends come forward they will pass a few anxious days at the port until claimed.

SOLDIERS' BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Committee's Report on Re-establishment Adopted; Now Before Senate

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The report of the special committee on soldiers' civil re-establishment, embodying amendments to the Act, was adopted by the House yesterday afternoon, and the bill based thereon put through all its stages and made ready for the Senate. An amendment by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, to refer the report back to the committee, was defeated by 100 to 35, a Government majority of 65.

Major Andrews, of Centre Winnipeg, had previously withdrawn his amendment to send the report back to the committee with instructions to accept the G. W. V. A. plan of re-establishment, and this withdrawal removed any chance of a close or adverse vote on the motion of Hon. J. A. Calder for the adoption of the report.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Back-achy or have Bladder trouble.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

SENATOR NICHOLLS CALLED BY BOARD

General Electric Company to Tell Commerce Board About Tungsten

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Alleging that the Canadian General Electric Company was one of a combination of companies operating in many countries; that when a patent was secured in one country the patent rights for the territory in which they were operating were handed to each of the companies on the distinct understanding that the several territories would not be invaded by any of the other concerns, and that in this way competition was prevented in Canada, to the detriment of the general public, A. W. Angelin, K.C., for the Locomotive and the Canadian General Electric Company, asked the Board of Commerce yesterday, during the hearing of an application to have the Canadian General Electric Company declared a combine, to have Senator F. E. Nicholls, of the Canadian General Electric, produce documents referring to the obtaining of the patent rights on drawn tungsten wire in 1892-3.

Objection.

I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., for the Canadian General Electric Company, strenuously objected. He contended that there was nothing illegal in the American General Electric Company obtaining the patent rights in the United States and the Canadian General Electric Company obtaining the Canadian patents. Naturally in the circumstances, he said, they would agree not to invade each other's territory.

The Board ruled against Mr. Angelin but agreed that it was only fair that Senator Nicholls should be called. The hearing was adjourned until such time as Senator Nicholls would be able to be present.

WINNIPEG VETERANS TO QUESTION M.P.'S

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—When the Winnipeg members of Parliament return from Ottawa they will be asked to attend a meeting of returned soldiers and make clear their attitude toward the re-establishment question, according to plans which were made by the St. John's branch of the Great War Veterans' Association at a general meeting last night.

REITERATED WARNING.

Sir George Foster reiterated Mr. Calder's warning of Thursday, that if the House passed any general plan of cash gratuities there must be some other Government to carry out its wishes.

Hon. J. A. Calder, speaking later in the day, said that while this was the attitude of the Government, it did not mean that the door would be locked and bolted. He favored further conferences with the G. W. V. A. officials to try and solve the problems of the returned men. It was in view of this statement by Mr. Calder that Mr. Andrews said he would withdraw his amendment.

When the vote on the King amendment was taken all the Government supporters, with the exception of Col. J. A. Currie and William Smith, voted against it.

Affects British Columbia.

A bill to amend the Canada Railway Act, which provides for the repeal of a section which placed certain tramways under the control of the Government was introduced and given first reading.

Ships.

The House considered a resolution which provides that ships registered in Canada, employed in voyages between any port in British Columbia and San Francisco, any port in the United States, including Alaska, North of San Francisco, should be exempted from the payment of pilotage dues. The resolution was reported, and a bill to amend the Canada Shipping Act based on it, introduced by Mr. Maclean was given first reading.

By-Elections.

S. Jacob's bill to amend the House of Commons Act and give first and second readings, being left for third reading to-day. In the absence of Mr. Jacobs, A. R. McMaster had the bill amended to read that all vacancies from any cause whatever shall be followed by the issue of by-election writs within six months of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery receiving the Speaker's warrant announcing the vacancy.

NEW UPRISING IN AUSTRIA PREDICTED

Vienna, Nov. 7.—via London, Nov. 8.—The commander of the National Guard, in a speech before the Socialist conference, said that he was convinced that the Guard would be called upon to deal with an attempt of armed reactionary revolutionists to overthrow the existing Socialist Government some time during the winter.

About 2,000 organized men on a military basis had been involved in the reactionary coup which was called for October 25, but which was frustrated. About 6,000 more men were under orders of the reactionary leaders.

IF there is anything in the world that cannot be duplicated or successfully imitated, it is Eno's Fruit Salt. Fifty years of use by the public proves that Eno's is absolutely in a class by itself as a pure, healthful, cleansing, stomach tonic and aperient, and a household remedy. In every corner of the earth you will find Eno's Fruit Salt.

During the latter part of the war, material, bottles, shipping facilities and the enormous demand all over the world reduced the supply of Eno's for Canada to almost nothing. Stocks in this country were gradually depleted, and at last it came to a point where druggists were helpless to supply their customers. This condition made an opportunity for the substitutors and imitators.

It is annoying, day after day, to be putting up with makeshifts. To thousands of users of Eno's this substitution has been irritating but, from now on, "Eno's Fruit Salt" will be coming through in full supply, and the public's discomfort will be at an end.

COWICHAN GIRL GUIDES ADVANCE

Activities Reviewed at Annual Meeting Held in Duncan

Duncan, Nov. 8.—At the annual meeting of the Cowichan Girl Guides' Association in St. John's Hall here, the report of the secretary, Mrs. F. H. Price, showed that the organization had given a number of pleasant entertainments to raise funds during the year and regular monthly meetings had been held. The report of the treasurer showed about $130 in hand. The captain, Miss Dorothy Geoghan, reported a membership of twenty-nine guides and fourteen brownies in four patrols, with the required quota of officers. Summer camp for a fortnight had given the girls training in swimming, management of boats, cooking and woodcraft. Two guides had qualified for the land-workers' badge and several had passed in first aid. There had also been training in signalling and in laundry work, and the girls had taken part in entertainments for the Guide funds. The gymnastic classes under Mrs. Hutchinson had been a very helpful and enjoyable feature of last winter's work and Miss Geoghan hoped to find some one to conduct the gymnastic classes for this season. The navy blue British uniforms had been secured for the girls and had been worn for the first time at inspection by the Prince of Wales. The brownies intend giving an entertainment early in December to raise funds for their uniforms.

Appreciation.
 Mrs. F. S. Leather, for the Daughters of the Empire, and Mrs. W. Paterson, for the Cowichan Guides Committee, and Mrs. Dwyer, for the mothers of the girls, voiced their appreciation and grateful thanks to Miss Geoghan for her tireless energy and successful work for the girls, and to Mrs. Hutchinson for her help in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Moss, O. B. E., gave an inspiring address on "Duty and Service," preaching the gospel of Unselfishness, self-sacrifice and renunciation and speaking strongly against the materialism which the speaker held would, if encouraged, break the nation.

The work of the women to-day was to hold before their children that high note of idealism and the dignity of home life that would make for a nobler citizenship. The education of the children, keeping the sordid things of life in the backgrounds, was essentially women's work. A standing vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Moss, who has promised to come again in the early part of next year to speak to the girls.

Officers.
 The Association then proceeded to the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Miss Geoghan, president; Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. Fischer, vice-presidents; Mrs. Tisdall, Mrs. McDowell, Mrs. Findlay and Fletcher as committee. The education of the two other members and to appoint a secretary and treasurer.

Votes of thanks were passed to Miss Monte for her help in raising funds for the Guides and in arranging programmes for their entertainments. The Cowichan field naturalists held an interesting meeting in St. John's Hall on Thursday evening.

Interesting Lecture.
 Dr. McLean-Fraser, of the Marine Biological Station at Departure Bay, gave an illustrated lecture on adaptation of submarine life to its environment. The slides were so clear and the explanation so lucid that the youngest present could gather a fund of information. Sea creatures from the whale to the sea anemone were shown on the screen, and their methods of pursuing their prey, avoiding their enemies, finding their food and caring for their young and the adaptation for these ends were shown.

A series of splendid lectures has been arranged for the coming months and these will more than take the place of the usual exhibition, which it was decided not to hold this year.

A. W. Hanham, the president, was in the chair and there was a good attendance. To Spend Winter.
 Mrs. R. Musgrave's niece, Miss Violet Elderton, arrives from England this week to spend the winter with Mrs. Musgrave.

Regina, Nov. 8.—An action for $30,000 for the loss of her husband, who was killed while employed as an engineer on the C.N.R. last April has been entered here by Mrs. Edith May Walpole, of Saskatoon. It is claimed that through negligence of the company in not keeping the props of a bridge, three miles east of Pyramid, B. C., in good condition, the deceased lost his life. The locomotive on which Walpole was working fell through into the stream forty feet below and he was fatally injured.

A lady who told one of our investigators that she would never use canned milk called up to say she was sorry to have "said such a foolish thing." She decided Pacific Milk was really better for cooking.

VISCOUNT JELICOE.

Among the announcements from London which followed Great Britain's declaration of war against Germany was one which stated that Sir John Jellicoe, as he then was, had been appointed commander-in-chief of the Grand Fleet, in succession to Sir George Callaghan, an able and distinguished officer who had held the chief command of the naval forces in home waters since 1911. The announcement at once focussed public attention upon the man to whom was entrusted the tremendous responsibility of directing the chief arm of the Empire's defence, the arm which was to prove, as Admiral Mahan, the eminent authority on sea power, predicted it would prove, the foundation of victory over the enemy. It was universally realized that the officer who unfurled his flag on the Iron Duke was given the role which in other spacious times had been filled by Nelson, Blake and Drake and his record, therefore, was subjected to earnest study and scrutiny. It was found that the new commander-in-chief of the Grand Fleet had had a distinguished record. He had been in the navy for more than forty years, had served in the Egyptian war and on the China station, and had been Chief of Staff to Sir Edward Seymour during the Boxer troubles. He had held numerous high commands at sea as well as responsible posts on land and the outbreak of the war found him Second Sea Lord of the Admiralty. On his record, therefore, he was eminently qualified for the supremely important station to which he was called in 1914.

But there was another consideration which especially actuated the Admiralty in making this appointment. Sir John Jellicoe knew the German navy and German naval policy as perhaps no other officer on the active list of the British navy knew them. He had been brought into contact with the Kaiser's fleet on numerous occasions, was acquainted with its leaders, was familiar with German ideas of naval warfare and, in fact, had an exceedingly intimate knowledge of all the human and material resources of the sea forces to which he and the mighty organization under him were opposed. But there was one thing about the German navy a sailor of his lofty character and honorable instincts could not know or imagine, and that was its capacity for the infamous and brutal methods it resorted to, its unparalleled inhumanity, and the underlying cowardice which prompted it to crown an inglorious war career by wholesale surrender without a last, desperate attempt to perform the function for which it and every other navy was created.

Since the end of the war a great many things concerning the part played by the navy have come to light, and no doubt we shall learn more from time to time. But enough has been disclosed to show that no person holding an important post had to bear so heavy a burden of responsibility as that which was ably and devotedly borne by the great sailor who reached Victoria to-day, during the two years in which he directed the Grand Fleet and held the destinies of civilization, figuratively, in his hand. Some of those disclosures are enough to chill the reader to the marrow, for they show that the margin of superiority over the enemy which Sir John Jellicoe was supposed to command was largely on paper, that on some occasions the docking of certain capital ships for repairs and the remedying of defects wiped it out altogether; that when the war began and for a long time afterwards the Grand Fleet had no adequate bases on the North Sea coast, that it lacked sufficient docking facilities, that it was handicapped by scarcity of destroyers, and that the enemy possessed a superiority in seagoing submarines against which protective measures had to be improvised.

The loss of a very few dreadnoughts at that time might easily have resulted in the loss of the war for the Allies. The critics who have been contending that the Grand Fleet should have attempted to enter the mined waters of Heligoland Bay or the Baltic to give battle to the German High Seas Fleet must amend their views in the light of what is now known. Not until a base had been established at Lough Swilly on the north of Ireland, many months after the outbreak of war, did the Grand Fleet have a home in which security against submarine attack could be guaranteed. After the battle of Jutland, and especially after Lord Jellicoe went to the Admiralty, and effected numerous improvements for which he had long striven in the light of actual experience, the situation rapidly grew better until the superiority of the Grand Fleet in every respect over the enemy became definite and decisive.

At the Admiralty Lord Jellicoe was confronted with the vital task of grappling with the enemy's unrestricted submarine warfare. How deadly was that menace has been revealed by Admiral Sims, of the United States Navy, in a series of articles recently written by him, in which he disclosed that when he went to England in the spring of 1917 he was frankly informed that unless effective counter measures could be provided before winter the German campaign would be successful. He pays a high tribute to the manner in which Lord Jellicoe met this most critical situation; of his resourcefulness, cool judgment and steadiness in the face of the most formidable threat which the enemy had made throughout the war.

His Lordship comes here in the course of a tour in the interests of Imperial naval defence. His recommendations undoubtedly will produce differences of opinion, as to their feasibility, in Great Britain as well as overseas, but this is for the future to determine. In any case Victoria is highly honored in the visit of one who has played so conspicuous a part in vindicating the cause of civilization in the most crucial conflict of history.

HOUSING AND TUBERCULOSIS.

There is in Great Britain a National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis whose functions very nearly correspond with those of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of British Columbia. At the present time the Old Country organization is facing a condition which, happily, has not obtruded itself in this Province to any appreciable extent. It has discovered that one of the most alarming by-products of war has been a large increase in tuberculosis, more especially among women. This development is traced to a variety of causes—the withdrawal of doctors for military service, the absorption of large numbers of women in munitions and other unhealthy forms of work, the lack of houses and the consequent growth of slum areas, and the insufficiency of means for the cleaning of streets and other sanitary precautions.

None of these causes would appear to apply, except to a very small extent, to existing conditions in British Columbia. At the same time there is a danger of the progressive western city falling prey to housing blunders and the introduction of apparently harmless standards of life under which the consumptive germ flourishes. Housing in particular is a factor in the fight against tuberculosis of prime importance. It is true that both in the city of Vancouver and in Victoria there is a serious shortage of accommodation. Such houses or apartments as are available for rent are priced at figures which drive the moderate salaried man to dwellings where he and his family "make shift" until something else turns up. Here is the danger. No slum area should be allowed to develop in any British Columbia city, yet the shortest cut to it is the type of overcrowding occasioned by the shortage of houses.

While the educational work carried on by the Provincial Board of Health is showing returns by reason of an awakened interest in the necessity for better remedial measures, it must not be forgotten that out of the 6,696 people who died in British Columbia last year tuberculosis was responsible for the death of 415. It is gratifying to note, however, that compared with other Provinces the toll from this cause shows progress in our favor. Nevertheless, the demand for more general interest in and support for the various organizations tributary to the official governmental department is more insistent than ever. Only by a sympathetic demonstration on the part of the people as a whole will it be possible to convince the state of its debt to the unfortunate consumptive.

THE RIGHT KIND WANTED.

Ottawa reports that immigration into Canada is rapidly increasing. This is an excellent sign. There is plenty of room for all comers. But the Department of Immigration and Colonization ought to be alive to its obligations to the rest of the country and see to it that the new settler is of the right type. It is not difficult to get people from Europe, especially the class which has earned big money during the last few years and which is now desirous of "seeing the world." The requisite amount of capital to gain admission to the country at the port of entry, however, usually is barely sufficient to maintain a family for very long without addition by way of wages. Moreover, a policy which imposes a very careful examination of the intending emigrant at his port of origin, even if it should reject him and lose a potential citizen for this country, is better in the long run than the methods which brought many across the Atlantic in days gone by who never should have left their pursuits in the older lands. It is to be hoped that Mr. Calder's Department is more concerned about quality than quantity of settlers.

ADMIRAL SIMS AGAIN.

In a recent Washington dispatch Secretary Daniels is reported to have said that no steps were contemplated to discipline Rear-Admiral Sims because of certain statements made by him alleged to reflect upon the Sinn Feiners. Admiral Sims was granted permission to write a book on his experiences in Europe and the Naval Department apparently did not impose upon it any vagaries of the Censor. Daniel Connell, Director of the Irish National Bureau, has written to Secretary Daniels asking that the Admiral be called to account for his references to the Irish malcontents. Surely Mr. Connell ought to be able to recall how the American Government "chastized" Admiral Sims for a former "indiscretion" at the Guildhall in London by first reprimanding and then promoting him.

GAMBLING IN TEA.

(Manchester Guardian.)
 There is a hole in the Profiteering Act big enough for a drive of the proverbial coach and four. The Act contains no provision for control over goods sold by auction, and the consequence is that we are all paying 4d per pound more for tea than is necessary. A Mincing Lane expert explained it to me in these terms: "The large wholesale dealers, having previously tested samples of the tea to be auctioned, instruct their brokers to buy the parcels they wish to have. The brokers usually buy on a small commission, but some of them have taken advantage of the congestion at the docks and on the railways to do some gambling. "They operate in this way. Suppose the quantity of tea to be sold is 70,000 packages, the whole of which can be bought by brokers holding bona-fide orders. The speculators intervene to force up the genuine demand for 70,000 packages to an artificial demand for, say, 100,000 packages. Prices soar accordingly, because the genuine brokers are bound to cover the orders they have received from the warehouses. The wholesalers, on account of the difficulty of securing deliveries, cannot keep the retailers properly supplied, and so they are forced to buy extra parcels from the buying-over brokers—the speculators. The premium they have to pay is such as to increase the cost of their aggregate purchases by 4d per pound."

My informant added that these market manipulators cannot be got at under the Profiteering Act because the tea is sold at auction, but he believed that their game could be stopped by an order from the Food Controller prohibiting any broker from buying tea for which he has no order from a recognized wholesaler. I hope he is right.

GRAND TRUNK BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Upper House Speeded Up and Completed Matter Without Division

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The fight in the Senate on the bill providing for the acquisition of the Grand Trunk Railway came to a close last night when the bill was reported from committee and given third reading without a division. Apparently the opponents of the measure decided that there was no object in keeping up the discussion.

At the morning sitting Sir James Loughheed gave notice of an amendment providing for the arbitration of all the stocks to be acquired on the basis that a four per cent dividend should not yield a dividend in excess of $5,000,000.

At the afternoon sitting this amendment was changed because the agreement with the Grand Trunk provided that the four per cent preference shares are to be treated as debenture stock, the Government becoming responsible for the interest, amounting to about $2,500,000, to be paid upon them. By this change, it is provided that the dividends, including this sum must not exceed $5,000,000.

An amendment by Senator Lynch-Staunton providing that the award should not exceed $4,372,263, the average dividend paid on the stocks for ten years preceding 1914, was rejected.

With these amendments disposed of, rapid headway was made with the remaining clauses of the bill at the evening sitting, and it was reported from committee and given third reading soon after 9 o'clock.

An amendment was accepted from Senator Beique, providing that claims on the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific should not be extinguished by the bill.

LIQUOR CAUSE OF TORONTO MURDER

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Three days' investigation of the murder of J. G. Rowland, a taxicab driver, in the vicinity of Leaside sometime on Tuesday night, has convinced the police that the crime is linked up with the liquor traffic between this city and Montreal. The police think the murderer is a bootlegger who had liquor hidden at Leaside, and it was in connection with his desire to get at it that he engaged the taxi driver after his arrival at the railway station to take him out to the place.

PLAN TO FORM ART WORKERS GUILD HERE

Meeting Last Night Made Progress in Efforts to This End

Plans for the establishment of an art workers' guild in Victoria were formulated at a meeting of people interested in the matter held in the History Room of the Provincial Library last night. It was pointed out that such a guild would offer instruction under competent teachers in all branches of handicraft, such as the manufacture of homaspons in British Columbia, the use of native copper and other metals in art metal work, the production of artistic jewelry and other arts and handicrafts affecting the general daily life of the people. The matter was left, after some discussion, in the hands of a committee, which will investigate the prospects further. The following were named by the chairman: Frank Glolma, M.P., to compose the committee; Dr. Hasell, Mrs. Napier and Mr. Kyle.

A proposal to organize an art gallery and an industrial arts exhibit was referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Keith and Harvey and Mrs. Dennis Harris.

A committee for forming a Guild will be Rev. Mr. Connell, Mr. Hugo Hunter and Mr. Eldridge.

The committee investigating the matter will report at a meeting to be held next Friday evening in the Provincial Library at eight o'clock, when all who are interested in the matter under discussion will be welcome.

DOG SKINNING REINDS COUNCIL OVER KUDOS

Alderman Canine Leather Scheme, Mr. Andros Says, Is Very Mean

So keen is the struggle for kudus at the City Hall these days with the municipal election two months away that the aldermen have been rent into two opposing groups over the proposals of Alderman John Harvey to raise the revenue of the city, lighten taxes and reduce the high cost of some of the necessities of life by establishing a new industry here.

This industry comprises the skinning of stray dogs caught by the pound-keeper and the conversion of their hides into leather and fur trimmings for ladies' garments and converting the bodies into dried food for carnivorous animals and fertilizer. At present the dogs are destroyed in the city garbage incinerator.

Alderman Andros is leading the crusade against Alderman Harvey and his supporters and he is being backed in this by Alderman Sangster. To make sure of his ground Alderman Andros yesterday interviewed the manager of one of the leather firms of the city. This leather expert refused to condemn Alderman Harvey's proposals as he said the leather shortage was acute.

Dealing with what he terms a "skin game" to get the votes of the electors, Alderman Andros sent the following statement to The Times:

"Alas, alack, it's hard indeed, that faithful dogs should not be freed, from aldermen, bereft of sense, who want to raise a few poor pence. It's hard indeed to raise the wind, if even dogs were duly skinned, their skins being used for man's abuse, might make good boots—a poor excuse! The faithful dog, his master's friend, made into meat hard times would fend."

The alderman in his statement says that "skinning the dog" is a new pastime to him, although he has often heard of "skinning a louse" and "skinning the cat."

Howl From Dogs.
"No doubt new sources of revenue will be found by aldermanic aspirants from now on until election day," he continues.

"If this novel scheme is gone into seriously I would suggest that the feasibility of using the hair for plaster, and also serving 'hot dogs' to the citizens be given careful consideration."

"The aldermen should also give careful thought to the custom of wearing dog skin gloves as there might be a suspicion of graft attached thereto. A lucrative trade might be opened up in dog skin chest protectors, which would have the merit of being worn, out of sight, and thus no unjust suspicion as to the source of supply could arise."

"There are, however, always two sides to every question, and I fear there will be a howl from the dogs when they realize the horrible fate awaiting them. I cannot help feeling sympathy for them, in fact, I think it would be a 'dog-gone' shame, now do I imagine it will be a howling success. However, something must be done, the taxpayer having been skinned to the limit, it is up to the dogs to provide their quota towards the general revenue."

A BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE LEAVES

Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. (By Howard R. Garis.)

"Have you anything special to do to-day?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, of Uncle Wiggly Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Nothing very special," he answered. "I am just going off in the woods or fields to look for adventure," and he brushed a few specks of dust from his tall, silk hat.

"Then, perhaps, you wouldn't mind going over to Mrs. Chuck's for me?" asked Nurse Jane. "I borrowed a cup of sugar from our groundhog neighbor the other day, and I want to pay it back."

"I'll take the sugar to Mrs. Chuck's for you," offered Uncle Wiggly. "And perhaps, if her two boys, Woody and Waddy, haven't gone to school I may walk a little way with them, and see if they know their lessons."

"Dear me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "Are you never going to grow up? How you do like children!"

"Yes, I guess I do!" spoke Uncle Wiggly, with a twinkle of his pink nose. "And I hope they like me. But you know it will soon be time for Woody and Waddy to take their long, winter sleep, and they won't come out again until Candlemas Day, or February 2. So if I want to have any

VICTORIA SKATING CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

A membership of 200 is being aimed at for the Victoria Skating Club, and judging from the rush of applications being received, it is probable that the membership will be limited to those who were on the roll when the club was active several years ago. Captain Dunford, who has consented to take over the secretarial duties during the re-organization of the club, is answering all enquiries respecting membership during the morning at 113 Pemberton Building, Phone 5497.

"It has been found necessary to limit the membership to two hundred," says the captain, "as the club is formed for those who delight in waiting or fancy skating, and with an unlimited membership we should have the ice too crowded for either of these pastimes. We supply our own band and expect to follow the example of former years of having periods when a space on the ice must be reserved for waiters. The fancy skaters will also be given all the opportunities possible. We expect to have two skating sessions a week, between the hours of four to six. Tea will be served during the session."

adventures with them I'll have to do it soon."

"Hop along!" laughed Nurse Jane, as she gave Uncle Wiggly the cup of sugar. He carried it to the burrow, or underground house, where Mrs. Chuck, the groundhog lady lived.

"Woody and Waddy have just gone to school," said Mrs. Chuck. "But if you hurry perhaps you may catch up to them."

"Hi hurry," said Uncle Wiggly, as he handed Mrs. Chuck the cup of sugar. The rabbit gentleman hopped on over the fields and through the forest, and pretty soon he saw, on the path ahead of him, a little animal boy, about as large as a puppy dog.

"Hello, there!" called Uncle Wiggly.

"Hello!" came back the answer, and the bunny saw Woody, Chuck stop and wait.

"Where's your brother, Waddy?" asked the bunny.

"Oh, he ran on ahead," answered Woody. "He's going to help the lady music teacher clean off the blackboard, so he wanted to be early. Are you going to walk to school with me, Uncle Wiggly?"

"I am," answered the rabbit gentleman, and then he asked Woody about the little woodchuck boy's lessons. And when Uncle Wiggly found Woody didn't know his spelling very well, Mr. Longears helped the animal boy.

Woody and Uncle Wiggly were having a nice time walking through the woods when, all of a sudden, out from behind a big tree popped the bad old Skuddlemagoon. The Skuddlemagoon opened his mouth wide in a big grin and said:

"Well, I guess I've caught you this time Uncle Wiggly! I've got you now!"

"Yes, I suppose you have," sadly said the bunny. "But won't you please let me go?"

"No I will not!" growled the Skuddlemagoon. "I am going to bite some off your ears!"

"Are you going to bite some off mine, too?" asked Woody, the groundhog, or woodchuck, boy.

"Ho! Ho! I guess not!" answered the Skuddlemagoon. "Your ears are so small and down so far in your fur that it's hard to get at them to bite some. But Uncle Wiggly has such nice long ears that it's a real pleasure to nip some off them."

"Oh, dear!" sighed the bunny.

"Well, if you don't want me I might as well run along to school," spoke Woody.

Uncle Wiggly didn't say anything, but he felt rather sorry that Woody was going to run away and leave him to face the Skuddlemagoon all alone.

"I wouldn't run away and leave Woody if the Skuddlemagoon caught him," thought Uncle Wiggly. "But I suppose that is the way of the world."

The Skuddlemagoon began to sharpen his teeth on his tongue as Woody skipped out of sight, and the bad chap was just sliding up to nip some souce off Uncle Wiggly's ears, when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman seemed to sink down into a hole in the ground, and there he was—out of sight.

"Why—why—where did he go?" asked the Skuddlemagoon. "All I see is a hole in the ground. Are you down there?" he called to Uncle Wiggly.

"Yes, he's here, and I'm here with him!" answered Woody Chuck. "We fooled you all right, you bad Skuddlemagoon! Did you think I'd run away and leave you my Uncle Wiggly? I guess not! I slipped around behind him, dug a tunnel in the ground and made it come out right where Uncle Wiggly was sitting. Now you can't get him!"

And the Skuddlemagoon couldn't.

GAY COSTUMES AT MASQUERADE DANCE

"Jolly Boys" Held First of Series at Alexandra Club Yesterday

Under the auspices of the social club known as "The Jolly Boys," a big masquerade dance was held in the Alexandra Club last night, about 150 dancers attending in costume and mask. The scene was an unusually gay one, a bewildering variety of costume presenting a moving feast of color to the eye as the dancers waltzed to the rhythm of music furnished by Professor Heaton's five-piece orchestra.

So many and so charming were the costumes that the task of the judges—Mrs. George Simpson, Mrs. H. P. Hodges and Miss Bruce—was no sinecure. After careful consideration the prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies—1st, Miss Babe Bramwell, Futurist Folly; 2nd, Mrs. Ralph Harvey, Victory Loan, 1918; 3rd, Miss M. E. Middleton, Russian peasant; 4th, Miss Rita Hunt, Devil's daughter; 5th, Mrs. J. W. Black, Indian squaw. Gentlemen—A. G. Gumaer, blonde Eskimo; 2nd, E. C. Johnson, Mexican cowboy; 3rd, Miss F. Bramwell, Futurist Folly (gentleman); 4th, Mrs. Spaden, Mexican cabinet; 5th, D. M. Ferrabee, Grand March of the orchestra struck up a waltz and judging of the dancing took place when prizes for the most graceful dancing were awarded to the Misses Dumbleton, Miss C. Dumbleton, Miss Bessie Forbes, Able Seaman A. Davis and J. Meldram. The prizes were all in cash, amounting in the aggregate to $125.

Shortly after 11 o'clock a delicious supper was served in the downstairs cafe, which was gaily decorated with bronze chrysanthemums. Much credit for the success of the affair is due to Messrs. J. E. Myers and E. J. Rosstier, who had charge of the general arrangements. During the evening a bevy of Victory Loan salesmen, including Lieut. Acland and Messrs. J. B. Warnicker, F. C. Lewin, Martin, Klimer and Duncan, sang several songs, setting forth the virtues of the bonds, the innovation being received with enthusiasm by the dancers and spectators.

Last night's dance is but the first of a series which the "Jolly Boys" hope to arrange during the winter, and its success augurs well for the popularity of the remainder, which will be held at intervals during the coming months.

WILL CONSIDER MUNICIPAL REFORM

Women's Independent Political Association Held Interesting Meeting

At the meeting of the Women's Independent Political Association, held in the Victoria Club last night, announcement was made that Mrs. H. W. Graves, who had been elected to the office of president at the annual meeting, was unable to accept the office owing to pressure of other duties. The announcement was received with sincere regret by the members. A committee was then appointed to consider the matter of nominations for the office, they to report at a future meeting of the Association.

Mrs. Grace Johnston, the secretary, gave a very lucid and concise report of the proceedings at the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities held in North Vancouver recently at which she was present. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to her for the interest taken in the matter and for the excellent report. Emanating from the report, considerable discussion ensued on local municipal matters, and a committee was appointed to prepare a tentative municipal platform, setting forth various proposed reforms, for presentation and consideration at the next meeting of the Association.

It was decided that the next meeting of the organization should be of a social nature, taking the form of a silver tea, to be held at the Victoria Club, Campbell Building, on Friday afternoon, November 21, at 3 o'clock. While it is intended to make the event of a social character, the business side will not be neglected, and the committee on the Municipal platform will present their report, which is expected to be one of immediate interest to every woman in the city. Mrs. Mawhinney and Miss Christopher were appointed to the refreshment committee.

Local Council of Women—Owing to the usual meeting place being engaged for Victory Loan work, the Local Council of Women will meet on Monday in the Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom on Quadra Street, at 11 a. m.

Guzeles Chapter meeting is postponed till Tuesday, November 18, at 10.30 a. m.

WAS COMMITTED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Quon Hing Jung Sent Up For Trial in Wong Sam Yuan Case

Following the preliminary hearing which occupied the time of the Police Court yesterday afternoon and all this morning, Magistrate Jay committed for trial Quon Hing Jung, on the charge of murder.

It was disclosed in evidence yesterday that the rifle from which the shot had been fired which killed Wong Sam Yuan, the Chinese junk dealer, Monday afternoon in a stairway off Theatre Alley, had been purchased by the accused two hours before the tragedy. Raymond Bayless, clerk and Mr. Tottell, manager, of E. G. Prior & Company, testified that accused had bought the rifle produced in court at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. He also took ten cartridges of .32.40 calibre, paying $30 for the firearm.

The rest of the evidence was along the lines of that already published in connection with the case. The two young Chinese girls testified about accused leaving the rifle at their grandfather's store, 525 Cormorant Street, and the latter this morning gave evidence regarding the finding of the rifle and notifying of the police.

This morning evidence was given by Constable Rogers and Detective H. H. Macdonald regarding the investigation, the finding of the body, arrest of the prisoner and the finding of the bullet which inflicted the fatal wound. The murdered man was shot, apparently, while just about to descend the stairway. Mr. Macdonald said that the blood marks started about the third step from the top and covered the wall and steps to the bottom of the stairway, in which there are thirteen steps.

Wm. N. Lenfestey, gave evidence this morning. He found the bullet, which, as an expert in firearms and equipment, he testified was of the dimensions of a .32-40 shell.

Witness said that on examining the prisoner's room, number 6, in the tenement house, he found a match box on the table containing six .32-40 Winchester live shells. In the clothes closet on the floor he found three photographs of the accused and a long barrel .32 revolver loaded, wrapped up in a piece of cloth. On the table he found a box containing 22 cartridges. Evidence of the same calibre and make of shell being found on the prisoner after arrest was also given.

LINEN SHOWER ON "ARMISTICE DAY"

Jubilee Hospital's Annual Appeal Arranged For Tuesday Next

Tuesday, November 11, is Armistice Day. It is also the date arranged for the annual linen shower of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, and those desirous of commemorating the memorable occasion could do better do so than by sending some tangible gift to an institution working for the public weal.

As in previous years the arrangements for the shower are in the hands of the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital, and tea will be served and a musical programme given at the Nurses' Home, where the shower is to take place. There is urgent demand for linen of all kinds, especially pillow-slips, 33 by 20 inches, and towels. Arrangements have been made with Walker's, Spencer's and Gordon's Ltd., whereby donations may be left in baskets provided at these stores and will afterwards be sent up to the hospital.

HEINZE ACRES HAVE REVERTED TO CROWN

British Columbia Gets Back 701,543 Acres on Which No Taxes Ever Paid

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, announced this morning that none of the lands of the late F. August Heinze which were offered at the 1918 tax sale have been redeemed and as a consequence they have now reverted to the Crown. The property in question is situated in the Nelson, Rossland, Elocan and Kettle River Assessment District and total complete 701,543 acres. At last year's tax sale the sum of $55,000 was due in taxes.

It will be recalled that the now reverted lands form part of the British Columbia Southern Railway and the Columbia and Western Railway land grants. Heinze acquired a half interest from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company several years ago and since that time not a cent has been paid in taxes.

Heinze was well known as a copper magnate in the United States.

FIREMEN ASK FOR ALL-ROUND INCREASE

Seek to Have Wardens Endorse Their Demands on Council

Firemen of Victoria are asking for a flat increase of fifteen per cent all round in salaries. They made their demands clear last night when representatives of the men met the Fire Wardens under Alderman Cameron, chairman, at the City Hall.

The men asked that the Fire Wardens sanction the increases asked for and sought to have them recommend that next year's council carry them into effect.

Members of the Fire Wardens discussed the question at length with the men. They were unable to come to any decision, however. What they will do will be determined at a later meeting.

The men have made their demands at this time so that there will be no chance of postponement by the council next year on the grounds that the aldermen have not had time to consider the matter.

The Wardens last night also took up the case of a returned soldier who was on the staff of the department, but was released when other former firemen came back from overseas who had had longer service records to their credit than this man. No announcement is forthcoming from the Wardens as to how they intend to deal with this case.

WESTHOLM APPEAL COMES UP AGAIN

In another attempt to settle the difficulties between the City of Victoria and the Westholme Lumber Co., the city on Monday will commence its appeal against the order issued two months ago by Mr. Justice Macdonald in the Supreme Court ordering it to begin arbitration proceedings with the Westholme Co. over the amount that is to be paid the company for the work it did on the Sooke waterworks before the work was taken over by the city.

W. W. Bell was appointed the arbitrator some time ago. The city has no complaint about the selection of this man, but City Solicitor Fringie claims that his powers should be limited in accordance with the judgment of the Privy Council. W. J. Taylor, K.C., representing the Westholme Company, is fighting this proposal.

EXPLAINS PLAN OF SCHOLARSHIPS FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

Mrs. G. H. Smith Describes War Memorial Educational Scheme of I.O.D.E.

"Canada, in the matter of population, stands to-day where the United States stood 100 years ago. We have 53 nationalities in this country, and unless we take stern measures to absorb and assimilate these nationalities we shall have a very strange Canada one hundred years hence—a Canada which will be a repetition of the conditions now prevailing in the central European states. . . . We should endeavor in some way or another to ensure that future emigration for the next ten years should be confined to British stock, in order to balance up the present alien predominance." In these words Mrs. George H. Smith, of St. Catherine's, Ontario, educational secretary of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, summed up the gravity of the population question in Canada, in the course of an illuminating address setting forth the war memorial educational scheme of the order.

The gathering, composed chiefly of members of the I. O. D. E., was held in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, the Municipal regent, in the chair. After the introduction of Mrs. Smith to the meeting, Miss Cooke, the Municipal educational secretary, presented her with a lovely bouquet of pale pink carnations and roses.

Allen Menace.

To illustrate the present critical situation in Canada, Mrs. Smith exhibited a chart showing the various foreign areas of the provinces. Statistics showed that in Saskatchewan, for instance, there were 59,302 Austrians, 77,109 Germans, 29,096 Russians, and 49,475 Scandinavians. The last mentioned were described as very fine settlers, easily assimilated, anxious to learn the laws and customs of the new land which they had adopted. These other peoples, however, were not hyphenated-Canadians. They were little bits of Germany, Austria and Russia planted in Canada with absolutely no point of contact with the people of the land they had chosen to make their home.

In a little district outside of Kenora, Sask., there were in ten little rural public schools only 16 English-speaking children. The survey showed the following figures for these schools: 329 Ruthenians, 86 Dutch, 16 English, 4 Germans, and 1 Belgian.

From 1900-1916 there were 4,141-111 people came to Canada. Of this number only 1,168,292 were of British stock. In Saskatchewan one-half of the English-speaking Canadians were of United States origin.

Propagate Empire Ideals.

Mrs. Smith declared that the I. O. D. E. must undertake the propagation of the gospel of Empire ideals among this foreign born population. "We have a double duty before us, to interpret to the immigrant the spirit of Canada as well as the spirit of the British Empire. It must not rest at teaching them the English language. We must abolish their old-world prejudices and old-world viewpoints, and inculcate the broader view of patriotism," continued the speaker.

The proposed war memorial scheme of the Order had for its aim two ideas, the first to perpetuate those ideals for which Canadians had fought and died; the second to promote national and Empire unity. Mrs. Smith outlined the proposed scheme for the carrying out of which the Order will endeavor to raise $500,000. Of this sum Ontario chapters will raise $250,000 and the quota for the chapters in British Columbia has been set at $50,000.

Proposed Memorial Scheme.

This scheme which was given at this length in these columns on Thursday, includes the founding of scholarships for the dependents of Speaking of the scholarship plan, Mrs. Smith indicated that each Province would be able to have a voice in the terms under which the candidates would be admitted to the University of that Province. The scholarship for British Columbia, for instance, would be granted strictly under the rules and regulations formulated by the Provincial University, and each year the examination would be conducted by the University authorities. The students getting the highest marks in the history department would be given a travelling scholarship to the value of $1,200 a year. This would enable the winner to go to Great Britain to study in any British University in the department of history.

In conclusion, Mrs. Smith appealed to members of the I. O. D. E. to give to the new policy the same splendid and whole-souled support which had characterized their war work of the past few years.

drama of compassion, "The Eternal Magdalene," being shown at the Variety this week. In the picturization of Robert H. McLaughlin's successful play the hill-seeing camera records the utmost in realism—things that it was impossible to achieve on the stage. The line of unfortunates forms outside a building adjoining a church as one of its deacons, Elijah Bradshaw, is being escorted by the Magdalene through poverty-stricken lanes in her effort to bring home to him the despair and hardships he causes others. She points to his starving fellow-men and, deeming it a time for fervent prayer, he has hymn books passed to the hungry mob. Though they have assembled for bread and not for prayer, the men begin chanting, when suddenly the prayer books are transformed into bread and the mob as one man is seen chewing ravenously what a moment before was a cloth-covered compilation of hymns.

PRINCESS

Miss Evan Hart, Capt. Hendy and the other members of the excellent company, who have been making a decided hit with the patrons with "Billy's Little Love Affair" at the above theatre, will appear for the last time this evening in this delightful comedy.

Mr. R. N. Hincks has again demonstrated his ability to produce a show that approaches in point of excellence and merit the professional stage from the many talented members of the Princess Dramatic Society. "Billy's Little Love Affair" is indeed a production none should miss witnessing, and as to-night is positively the last performance, any who have not yet attended should lose no time in securing seats for to-night's performance, as a crowded house is sure to bid a fond farewell to one of the cleverest and brightest shows that has ever been staged at the above theatre.

COLUMBIA

Andrew Waldron, who has been a member of various stock companies, road shows and continental theatre troupes since 1858, is working at Universal as "Jim Baggott," the character role of "The Red Glove," Marie Valmont's new Universal serial. Director J. P. McGowan will have charge of this eighteen-episode cinema-drama which will be shown on the Columbia screen to-day in addition to the photo-play, "Almost Married," featuring May Allison. "Happy Andy," as the veteran soldier and actor is called, has been the hero of shipwrecks, highway robberies, fires, shooting scrapes and almost every other kind of excitement ever invented by man, "real" or "reel."

ROMANO

Ruth Roland, the winsome Pathé star, who is featured in the Romano serial, "The Tiger's Trail," declares that during her career as a picture star almost everything under the sun has been requested of her, from a five-dollar-a-week annuity to a tractor with a gang-plow equipment for use on the farm. The most interesting request she ever received, according to Ruth, was a request for a complete outfit for a set of trip-lets, from a father and mother in the Middle West. This request the star filled, as she herself has always been a great admirer of the principles laid down by the late Colonel Roosevelt. In addition to the popular serial, the photoplay, "This Hero Stuff," starring William Russell, will be shown to-day on the Romano screen.

How OXO helped the British Aviators

to make their famous non-stop flight across the Atlantic.

Interesting letter from Captain Sir J. Alcock, K.B.E., D.S.C.

"You will be interested to learn that OXO was a great help to us during our Trans-Atlantic Flight; it sustained us wonderfully during our 16 hours journey. We had found out what a good thing it is when flying in France, and so decided to carry it with us on this occasion, and we can assure you that hot OXO is most acceptable under such cold and arduous conditions. OXO was the only article of its kind which we carried."

OXO steadies the nerves—keeps the brain alert—gives extra warmth to resist cold and exposure—extra strength to fortify against fatigue, and yields an abundance of energy out of all proportion to the amount taken.

and melody, Charles Lindholm, the great Minnesota-Swedish character actor, will appear in a laughable sketch, and the Bison City Four, a male quartette, with a singing act that is alive with comedy, are the added attractions. Sonio de Calve, a winsome "single" with a remarkable voice and a splendid violin, just brimful of personality; Burns and Lynn, a pair of masterly soft-shoe dancers, and Mabel Naynon's trained birds from the tropics, combine to make the bill one of extraordinary entertainment value.

SPLENDID BILL IS GIVEN AT ORPHEUM
Although the Orpheum programme at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night was a series of star acts, Ernest Ball, the composer of many popular songs, and his talented wife, whose stage name is Maud Lambert, by virtue of their sterling work won the most sustained approval of the audience. Nearly everyone in the house had a disappointment when they saw the composer in action. It was expected that a very sedate and prepossessing man would cross the stage with dignified step. But Mr. Ball is an entirely different type. He has all the assurance and aggressiveness of a music hall artist. He proved himself a comedian of rare skill and if no one had known that he was the composer of "Mother Machree" and a dozen other stand-bys that grace the front of every piano, he would have carried the house. Mr. Ball's rendition of a medley of the songs he composed, interspersed with a brief account of the nature of the spell he was under when his nimble mind and fingers turned out the work, was exceedingly clever. Mr. Ball was given splendid support by Maud Lambert, who scored heavily with an Irish song and her dramatic singing of "Dear Little Boy of Mine," which was composed and dedicated by Mr. Ball to his young brother who went overseas.

Chris Richards, an English comedian, produced the most amusing act of the bill. With a pair of hats, a bunch of loose joints in his body and a funny face Richards provoked a continuous volume of frame-shaking mirth. He does more tricks with a hat than any other man seen in vaudeville. His eccentricities as an acrobat were the source of much amusement.

The blessings of a handkerchief were vividly told by George Price, a juvenile comedian who gives promise of becoming a great star. He has a very entertaining and amusing manner of telling his stories and singing his songs. His appeal to Aggie "who was up there sleeping while he was down here weeping," caused an uproar in the theatre. George made a quick change in front of his audience in order to give an impersonation of Fannie Brice, and although his work was rather crude it achieved George's purpose of giving his audience something to laugh over.

How young men fall for the enigmatical methods of the fair sex is well shown in "Indoor Sports," a comedy featuring Genevieve Prizzelle, Mildred Davis, James Hunter and Edmund Dorsey.

Collins and Hart, with the assistance of a parrot, a few wires and other odds and ends, gave a novelty act. Their spider-acrobatic work was well staged.

A brilliant turn of high-class singing was given by Ralph Dunbar's salon singers. The rendition of the quartette from Rigoletti produced a fine blending of voices. Little Katherine flashed prettily in the spot-light.

ACADEMY STUDENTS
RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

The presentation of certificates to successful students was the raison d'être of an enjoyable gathering at the Dominion Academy of Music last night. Mrs. Scriven formally presented the certificates, extending a brief word of congratulation to each student, and a delightful musical programme was given under the direction of Madame Kate Webb. The list of successful students who received certificates was as follows: Singing—Licentiate of the Associated Board of the R. A. U. and R. C. U., Kate Frances Ede; local centre, "intermediate" grade, Mrs. Mildred Morton; school exams, lower division, John Puntin; elementary division, Katherine Puntin.

WOMEN TO SPEAK
AT LOCAL CHURCH

Among the many well-known speakers who are to occupy the pulpit at the First Unitarian Church during the next month are Madame Sanderson-Mongin, who will speak on Sunday evening on "Lafayette," the French hero who to the American child ranks only second to George Washington. On the following Sunday evening Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Director of the Homes Branch of the Soldier Settlement Board will speak on "Social Service," while on November 23, W. G. Gaunce will deliver an address on "Conservation of Child Life."

Under the name of "The Monthly Monitor," the first issue of a new and elaborate publication was issued this week by the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church. The magazine is by far the most ambitious venture of the kind ever attempted in the city. The Monitor is printed on a high grade of paper, is artistically covered and fills twenty pages. The print this month is filled with a beautiful picture of the First Presbyterian Church, while a portrait of the minister is published on one of the inner pages.

The purposes of the new publication, are well explained in its leading editorial, an extract from which follows: "In these days of reconstruction, religious as well as material, and 'Forward Movements,' it seems opportune to inaugurate The Monthly Monitor. It therefore affords us pleasure to introduce it to the members and adherents of the First Presbyterian Church. We trust it may be worthy of a place in the homes of our congregation and live to be a source of pleasure and profit to all its readers."

Now that the work of the Church has extended and its membership is rapidly increasing—there are now about 1,300 communicants on the roll—an official organ seems necessary to keep the members well-informed of the activities of its various branches. It is surprising how many members of the church are unacquainted with the numerous associations for the furthering of its welfare and the advancement of religious work generally. We expect also to reach the homes of the irregular or infrequent church-goers, to testify as to the excellent work being done, and so to encourage others to assist in same, if only by their moral sympathy. To be conversant with the ever-expanding work of the Church is to bring inspiration, as well as afford opportunity for greater service to all its members. That such a worthy purpose may be successfully accomplished requires the loyal support of the congregation. There are no better means of securing an active membership and stimulating the general work of a Church than through its official organ, and therefore an open invitation is extended to all to contribute articles of information and church news to its columns. Those who are diffident of writing articles may possibly be able to express themselves better in a letter to the editor, and if found necessary such a column will be introduced.

MINISTER INDUCTED
AT MOUNT TOLMIE

St. Aidan's Presbyterian Church, the incumbency of which was rendered vacant by the resignation of Rev. D. A. Smith, who has taken up mission work in China, secured a new minister this week in the person of Rev. D. Dr. McLean, who addressed the minister; Rev. J. McCoy, who addressed the congregation, and Rev. W. Walker, who preached the sermon. After the ceremony those present were entertained by the ladies of the congregation to an excellent lunch and a pleasant time was passed.

Wash-yet finger silk

YOU'VE done it many a time—just as thousands of other women have. When, after washing clothes you picked up a fine piece of silk fancy-work and found your hands adhering to the material.

This was the result of the "skin bite" in the soap or washing powder you used and which puckered the delicate skin.

Smooth hands—the result of using WHITE SWAN WASHING POWDER.

Coarse hands—the consequence of "Bite" in ordinary washing powders.

There lies the difference between using WHITE SWAN and ordinary washing powder. Because of its tested freedom from "skin bite" you may wash in the forenoon and finger silk in the afternoon without the slightest trouble.

If you have delicate hands order it from your grocer.

VISITS OIL REFINERY IN AN OVERLAND FOUR

Car Stood Up Wonderfully During Tour From Seattle to Ioco; Story of Gas Distillation

Telling of a trip from Seattle to Ioco, the town on Burrard Inlet near Vancouver, named after the Imperial Oil Company, which has its huge oil plant at the place, and, incidentally, relating the wonderful staying powers displayed in a severe efficiency test by the new Overland Four, sold here by Thomas Plimley, the automobile editor of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer has the following to say about the tour and the interesting lesson learned in gas distillation. He was accompanied by A. R. Tyson, well known here, and manager of the Willys-Overland Pacific Company, Seattle.

In Overland Four

The new creation of the Overland factories, the Overland Four, was used for the trip, and the advice of its builders not to slow down for the bad spots in the road, was heeded literally, and it ever an automobile received a try-out, surely that one did, for mile after mile was reeled off on good roads and bad at an average clip of thirty and thirty-five miles, and there was no more jolt and jar than is experienced in the biggest and best cars sold in this territory.

Two reasons were given by Mr. Tyson for his haste—first, that he wanted to demonstrate what the car can do; and the other was that he had been told that to get into Canada one must be there before 8 p. m. The start was made from Seattle at 12:45 p. m., and it was desired to stop for a short visit with Overland dealers in the towns along the route. Between stops, however, he explained that no time would be wasted—and none was.

The little four has been hailed as the "greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires." It is all of that, at least so far as small cars are concerned, for there was never a stretch of real dirty roads where it could not and did not pass easily, everything on that stretch. Where others drove with caution and circumspection, Mr. Tyson or The Post-Intelligencer representative put the Overland through at a clip which made the others pull off the road and watch for the smash they felt sure would come.

Roads Were Bad.

Western Washington motorists everywhere probably will agree that there is no place in the section where worse roads can be found than those between Arlington and Mount Vernon. They are worse than bad; they are in frightful condition, especially the detour away from Big Lake, and the Overland went over them easily and without apparent harm, certainly without discomfort to the passengers.

A remarkable feature which the engineers and builders of the car alone can explain satisfactorily, is that the car is free from "swapping" so common in some light makes. The three-point suspension spring system is designed to eliminate shaking and jolting and it performs the function with remarkable certainty. Just how the machine is made to stay put in the road under the worst possible conditions is harder to explain.

The only radical change in the technical construction of the four is in the spring arrangement, so it must be explainable in that way. To persons who have driven light cars on the road, and attempted to make time, the difference caused by the four is startling to a degree and it is only after miles of driving that confidence is instilled in sufficient quantities to enable one not used to it to drive it at its highest efficiency.

Attracted Interest.

At first glance the idea of the builders in urging owners of the new four to drive it hard over bad roads is not appreciated but on actual test it is found that it will give greater comfort and ease at a thirty-mile clip than it will at twenty when the roads are filled with chuck holes and they must be driven through instead of being skirted.

The fame of the new creation of motordom had gone before it into British Columbia as a demonstrator had been received short time before at the agency in Vancouver, but in the outlying districts, wherever it stopped, it immediately became the center of an interested group of spectators who gathered around to discuss the unique spring system.

Even Ernest Singleton, the guide for the party at the big gasoline and oil refinery, had difficulty in keeping his mind on his subject and continually reverting to a discussion of the relative merits the light four and light six which he had heard the Willys-Overland Company was planning for the future.

The name of Ioco is derived from the abbreviation of Imperial Oil Company and is given to the little town where many of the employees of the plant live. It is about ten miles from New Westminster on salt water and has both rail and water-shipping facilities on its own property. It is a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of this country and the same generous policy toward the 250 employees is in effect there.

The crude oil is brought in vessels from South America, Mexico and the top at eight or ten inches in diameter and gradually reduce toward the bottom to less than half that size. The vats are filled to the top with water which changes continually, maintaining a practically even temperature at all times.

Oils Are Segregated.

The vapors which are too heavy to pass over the top of the stand condenser before changing back to liquid, return to the "still" to repeat the process, the other passing down through the coils into the test house, where it receives its first direct attention from the plant experts. Oils, from gasoline of the highest grade to the heaviest lubricating variety, are segregated and differ only in their density or specific gravity. This is determined through tests made for temperature by thermometer, and weight by hydrometer. A chart is used to figure the result of the two readings and this determines the grade of the oil.

A "still" is filled for a "run" and until practically everything but the squeak is worked out of it it continues in the run. All grades of the product of a run go through the same channels, the lightest oils naturally rising in vapor first and the heavier ones later. The change of dividing line between two grades of oil is reached gradually and the tester inspects the product of each "still" at least once each hour and when it drops below the standard of gasoline it is directed into the tanks for receiving in turn, distillate, coal oil, paint oils and lubricating oils.

When a run is over the "still" is drained and the remaining crude oil is run into a special tank and stored against the time when it will be put through the high pressure "still" for further reduction and distillation. This grade of crude oil is called neutral and is incapable of further vaporization or "cracking" except at a heat pressure of 700 degrees. Oils coming from this heat must be pre-cooled because a sudden exposure to cool air would result in an explosion.

Refined Oils.

Refined oils are next put through a bath of sulphuric acid in specially constructed tanks. The acid is mixed with the oil and agitated or stirred through a blower system until the carbon in the oil has been reduced to the absolute minimum. A caustic soda bath is then given it to remove the acid; hot water eliminates the soda, and finally hot air is used to "dry" the water out of the oil.

Waste is an unknown quantity in the loco plant. Even the carbon extracted from the oils is permitted to harden and is carried away in dump cars, to be used as fuel in the steam plants. The sewage is run through a settling tank, where the oil gathers on top and is recovered and sent back for fuel. The acid is recovered, repurified and mixed with fresh supplies, to be used over again.

An idea of the extent of the plant can be gathered from the fact that a check of the pipe used there showed many miles of all sizes, all of it made in the United States, the product of Crane Company.

brings to the front the fact that Mr. Tyson checked his gasoline consumption for the complete trip of 357 miles and found that he had made an average of twenty-three and one-third miles to the gallon. This is considered a remarkable record, in view of the fact that the Overland just turned 3,000 miles as it entered Everett on the return. Numerous side trips were also made as demonstrations, involving an extensive use of second gear, which materially reduced the mileage showing.

Dealers everywhere were enthusiastic over the initial reception of the Overland Four on the part of prospective buyers, and everywhere the same question was asked, "When can we make deliveries?"

It is impossible to over-estimate the importance of keeping the brakes of the motor truck properly prepared. The grease cup at the cam of the hand brake mechanism, if that type is used, should be kept always filled. The brake rocker shaft should be attended to faithfully. In the foot brake all the joints from the clutch pedal back, including the pins for the shoes and the arms at the brakes, should be oiled frequently.

Cars in Use Have Greater Capacity Than Railway Coaches

In the early days of the automobile," says R. A. Playfair, of the Begg Motor Company, local dealers in Chevrolet passenger automobiles and trucks, "the man who owned a modest 'horseless carriage' even if it didn't perform regularly, was thought to be far in advance of his time. Today the man who doesn't own a motor car is considered behind the time. Today with efficiency at its present high state of development and labor and time-saving devices in such great demand, the motor car is of first importance. Twenty-five years ago, efficiency, like the automobile, was in its swaddling clothes. Neither had the value of time become so important.

Can Carry 30,000,000.

"To-day the importance of the motor car is attested in many ways. Last but not least, of these are the 6,000,000 odd passenger cars in use to-day. These figures are impressive. They are important. They are significant.

"The person with a mathematical turn of mind could compile some very interesting tables and comparisons with regard to the automobile if he so desired. For instance, if he figured up the seating capacity of all the automobiles in the country and compared the total with that of railroad coaches he would find that there are enough passenger cars in this country to carry 30,000,000 people and enough railroad coaches to carry 1,500,000. He would also discover that the combined yearly passenger mileage of automobiles exceeds that of railroads by over 10,000,000 miles.

"Or, if he should turn to the farm for his comparisons, he would find that the farmers of this country are using over 2,000,000 automobiles every day. If horses were substituted for these motor cars it would take 25,000,000 of them. This in turn would tie up 125,000,000 acres of rich farm land on which to raise their feed."

CAN GIVE PROMPT BEARING SERVICE

Revercomb Motor Company
Now Local Timken Service Agents

Quick and reliable local service for bearings is announced in the appointment of the Revercomb Motor Company as distributors here for the now famous Timken roller bearing.

The Bearings Service Company, of Detroit, announces the establishment of the local authorized distributors to give service to garagemen, repairmen and owners of motor cars, motor trucks and tractors in this vicinity.

With the establishment of this local distributor it will no longer be necessary to lay up a machine for a long period of delay pending the receipt from a factory of bearings for replacement or repair.

The manufacturers of Timken roller bearings, Hyatt roller bearings and New Departure ball bearings now conduct all their service work through the Bearings Service Company as their service representatives.

The Bearings Service Company, with headquarters in Detroit, Michigan, has direct branches in twenty-two of the most important automobile centres of the United States and authorized distributors in several hundred smaller towns and cities. In the branches are complete stocks of Timken, Hyatt and New Departure ball bearings, quickly accessible, and, in addition, complete detailed engineering records that enable the branches and distributors of the Bearings Service Company to render a reliable and complete service.

The Revercomb Motor Company is in a position to render this kind of service on either Timken, Hyatt or New Departure Bearings, the latter being interchangeable with other makes of ball bearings.

Timken bearings for Ford front wheels are now in stock at the local agency, and a large and expensive stock has just been received.

COMMERCE BODY IS VALUABLE FEATURE

Milliken & Downer Receive Truck Shipment With Latest Features

A carload of Commerce trucks has just been received by the Milliken & Downer Motor Company, local Commerce distributors, corner of view and Cook Streets, the trucks one and a half and two tons and equipped with pneumatic tires. One of the outstanding features of this shipment is the Commerce Every-Way Body. The Commerce Every-Way Body has been designed to meet the rapidly increasing demand for a motor truck body that will enable the farmer to use his truck economically to haul his load every way.

The Every-Way Body has its usefulness in city transportation problems, for it will handle diversified loads and is always available to meet the problems that one special type of body does not provide for.

This Commerce Every-Way Body can in a few minutes be converted into five different types of bodies: namely, Passenger Bus Body, Furniture Body, Grain Body, Stake Body, and Express Body. The firm can supply this equipment with Solid or Pneumatic Cord Tires. Pneumatic Cord Tires have demonstrated their value for truck use. Exhaustive experiments conducted by both truck and tire manufacturers have conclusively proven that Pneumatic cord tires increase the life of trucks, permits greater speed, gives better traction, triple tire mileage, double carrying capacity and are more economical. Commerce Trucks were the first to adopt Pneumatic Cord Tires as standard equipment.

The perfect co-ordination of these standard units produce maximum power at least operating cost is what makes the Commerce a good truck. The relation of the component units to each other in Commerce construction is so well balanced that all strains are equally distributed throughout the working parts.

Because of this perfect balance Commerce trucks, built eight years ago are still in service, going strong and producing profit for their owners.

Each one of the units constitutes a reason why Commerce trucks deserve consideration, and the sum of them all, coupled with their extraordinary efficient co-ordination clinches our argument that Commerce trucks are a good purchase.

Thousands of owners in every line of industrial activity testify to Commerce truck efficiency and all around dependability under the most severe service conditions.

Overland 4

Tested 250,000 Miles
Three-Point Suspension Springs
Greatest Improvement Since
Pneumatic Tires

OVERLAND 4 has been tested as no car has ever been tested before. 250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.

This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Suspension Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.

They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.

They do away almost entirely with side-sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.

Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Springbase gives the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

Equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System to Demountable Rims.

performed by the Overland Pours on a trans-continental test trip. The gears and other protected parts of the car will also be displayed around the show room and Mr. Plimley's guests will have an excellent opportunity of gaining some valuable knowledge respecting automobiles and their capabilities.

After a car has been in service for some time there is a tendency of the spring leaves to fit somewhat tighter together, owing to the smooth surfaces that have been produced. This makes the spring a little more compact by a few thousandths of an inch, but this is enough to loosen the spring clips. These latter parts should therefore be drawn tight after a thousand miles or so of travel in the new car.

FORD IN CONFLICT WITH ENRAGED BULL

A good story is told of an experience which a Ford car had recently in California in a dispute with an enraged bull. Just why this particular bull grazing on a side hill should entertain such a dislike for a black Ford touring car is a mystery. It is suggested that he might have had a bad liver or gastritis or some other complaint, or he may have disliked all automobiles or all Fords.

At any rate, when a family named Harris, of San Pedro, drove their Ford around the base of that side hill, friend bull snorted, slapped his tail at a fly, missed it, saw red, and for want of something better to do, decided to engage the Ford in combat. There wasn't much of a fight. After the bull had turned the Ford upside down in the road, he was much better satisfied with himself and strolled into the shade of a nearby tree to view his handiwork.

Members of the Harris family had not been hurt seriously, so they mobilized forces, rolled the Ford over onto its wheels, cranked it—and continued their journey.

The National Motor Company are local Ford distributors.

The best substance with which to remove spots from varnish, such spots as are made by road oil or tar, is butter. The stronger the butter the better. It should be laid over the spot and permitted to stand for half an hour, when it will soften the material and allow it to be removed with a piece of cheesecloth.

OLD WIRE HANDY.

A few years ago brass wire, flat on one side and oval on the other, was used to wrap ignition cable instead of running the cable through a flexible tube. Some of this wire is still to be found on the market and almost any repair shop probably has a little that has been removed from a car, still on hand. This brass wire has great tensile strength and is ideal for many purposes, such as wrapping hose, wrapping fuel lines and soldering and even for fuse wire. If a repairman happens to come across any of this kind of cable, he will find it to his advantage to lay it aside for future use, and this use will come many times in a year.

USE CARE AT CORNERS.

Cultivate the habit of coasting around corners or going into second speed. Turning corners at speed imposes intense strains on all parts of the mechanism and should be avoided for that reason, in addition to which it makes for skids. Further, turning at speed is exceedingly bad for the tires.

It is possible to make a very satisfactory electric light bulb replacer by fastening four stiff wires on the end of a broom handle in such a way that they form a sort of hand, which slips over the bulb without disturbing it. These should be enough spring in the wires to enable the operator to turn the bulb in either direction in the socket.

TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY NAMES NOW ON HONOR RECORD

Thirty-two Additions to Hundred Per Cent. List Made Since Yesterday

NAMES STILL POUR INTO HEADQUARTERS

One hundred and one business concerns and one hundred and thirty-five households had qualified for Victory Loan honor emblems up to noon to-day. This announcement was made by George G. Bushby who has charge of the competition, and who announced further that since noon yesterday thirty-two additions had been made to the hundred per cent. list.

"And still they come, family after family, firm after firm, and all after the honor emblem," George Bushby, in-charge of the competition declared. Even the long distance telephone is being requisitioned by Victory Bond buyers who fail to receive a neat mailing envelope in which to send the emblems to outside points, so everybody will be taken care of in that way, even if the bond salesman do not return to deliver the prize. If you do not receive your emblem, ring up on telephone number 6826, and you will receive immediate attention.

"Competition is stirring people to greater efforts, as instance the case of Mr. and Mrs. Ball, of Strawberry Vale, Poultry Farm, who already have one emblem and are now starting out to double their original subscription to the finest investment in the world.

"The Thrift Family is also, on the war path looking for the man who ought to wear the button. The button is the individual's honor emblem and should be proudly worn so that all may see it and follow the example of the wearer.

"Gunner "Tim" Harrington has gone over the top, and has been awarded the honor emblem. He is the envy of all the other boys on Signal Hill.

Additions to the senior honor list roll since noon yesterday were as follows:

Dominion Rubber Co. Staff, 5177 Yates Street; C. H. Smith & Co., Fort Street; M. H. Barry and Staff, 1784 Fort Street; N. C. Ford Auction Rooms, 3390 Douglas Street; Fletcher Bros. and Staff, Government Street; Colander Cigar and News Stand, 695 Yates Street; E. & N. Railway; H. Smith, Plumbing and Heating Co., 2444 Saratoga Avenue; Brackman-Ker Milling Co., All Employees, 1420 Broad Street.

FIRE LOSS IN B. C.

AIMS TO CUT RECORD

J. Grove Smith, Dominion Authority, Coming to Form Anti-Fire League

A Victoria chapter of the B. C. Fire Prevention League is to be formed next week when J. Grove Smith, leading authority on fire waste in Canada, will visit Victoria.

Mr. Smith will address a public meeting at 8 o'clock in the Princess Theatre next Thursday night. The Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, will preside. The organization of the local chapter of the league will be taken up at this gathering. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Smith will meet the pupils of the Victoria High School and discuss with them the question of fire waste.

Mr. Smith is taking this action because of the enormous amount of money fire losses are costing the people of British Columbia, both directly and also indirectly through the burden it places on all lines of business. Statistics from the Provincial Superintendent of Insurance give the total of fire losses in this Province last year as $2,995,256, an average of $5,740.30 a day. This works out at $5.25 for each person in the Province, which is greatly in excess of the Dominion average. The Vancouver average last year was $5.51 for each person. But because of the efficiency of the Victoria Fire Department the per capita average in this city last year was 32 cents.

New Criminal Offence.

As author of "Fire Waste in Canada" an official publication of the Dominion Government, Mr. Smith is known in all parts of this continent. He was attached to the Commission of Conservation, and latterly has been connected with the Insurance Department, Fire Prevention and Waste Branch.

Mr. Smith is starting his tour of Canada from the Pacific Coast. He arrives in Vancouver to-morrow. On Tuesday evening he will speak there before the Board of Trade, and on Wednesday will address a public meeting there. His tour in this Province is under the B. C. Fire Prevention League.

In connection with his tour it is being pointed out that the Dominion Government at the last session passed an amendment to the criminal code whereby a person who does not take proper steps to prevent fires from carelessness is guilty of a criminal offence, and is liable to imprisonment. This action was taken because Canada's fire loss is the greatest in the world.

The Temple of Heaven-Pekin, China

ONE of the most historic temples within the "Forbidden City." Contains two altars, and is guarded by priests who live in its courtyards, extending one mile in diameter. Of unknown age, it is still in a remarkable state of preservation, because of the "long mysterious" treatment of the wood of which it is built, with the oil of a nut found in Northern China.

Today, this oil forms the base of BAPCO FLOOR VARNISH. With it has been combined one of the most remarkable minerals known to modern chemistry—a fossilized gum found in the Antipodes. Its power of endurance is such, that you can now test by boiling for 20 minutes, surfaces treated with BAPCO FLOOR VARNISH, without injury. Tough and elastic, withstanding vibration and heel wear, BAPCO FLOOR VARNISH may be had in natural, also in 4 colors—varnish and stain, two in one.

SHELL-SHOCKED MAN, COLLAPSING UTTERLY, STILL BOUGHT BOND

Pathetic Incident at Loan Headquarters—Lesson For Apathetic People

Workers at Victory Loan Headquarters were witnesses of a most pathetic incident last night, when a returned soldier visited the office to buy a Victory Bond. Just as he commenced to give his name he was attacked with a severe recurrence of shell shock, and collapsed utterly.

The only words he could utter were, "I want to buy a Bond!" This he repeated as answer to all inquiries as to his name and address. He was sympathetically tended by General Clark, who happened to be present, and by others in the office.

The police ambulance was called, and on the arrival of two kindly policemen, both of whom had a string of war decorations, and who knew the poor fellow, he calmed down. He would not stir from the place, however, until he had bought a bond, and had produced all the money he possessed, twenty-four dollars.

"What a lesson to the apathetic people in our midst, those who have been privileged to enjoy comfort and bodily immunity from injury, but who persist in failing to perform their manifest duty to the State for which that poor man fought and suffered a life-long disability," General Clark remarked when the poor fellow had been removed. "But, he insisted on still further helping that Canada for whom he fought. What an example of devotion. Shall we allow him to be alone in his patriotism, doubly proven?"

MEET TO CONSIDER TERMS OF CONTEST

Details of Mr. Thrift's inter-school Victory Loan competition were considered at a meeting of the principals of the public schools held in the School Board offices yesterday afternoon. The competition has created tremendous enthusiasm among the school children of the city to whom Mr. Thrift has been talking about the Victory Bonds as the sequel to Thrift stamp investments.

One small boy who had become very excited over the competition and over Victory Bonds in general, presented himself at the trenches yesterday, and, informing the soldiers there that he was a pupil of the George Jay School and had heard Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, speak, purchased $200 worth of Bonds.

"The price of those bonds was saved out of his own money at that," Mr. Thrift observed with great jubilation. "That is the way the Thrift family does things."

A Remarkable Day.

Yesterday $344,700 investment in the loan was $100,000 greater than the next largest during the drive, and, moreover, was $144,800 greater than the investment made on a corresponding day last year. This enormous sum was invested by 301 subscribers, and included a number of large subscriptions from prominent local business men. While a large part of it was made up of large investments, the canvassers working in the Saanich and Gordon Head districts managed to gather in large sums. The total investment was made up of $235,600, collected by salesmen, and $109,100 invested through the banks.

Imbued with a new spirit of optimism and confidence, the loan organization got off to a fine start to-day. Reports from the various salesmen during the morning indicated that rapid progress was being made in all sections and made it certain that by to-night a considerable margin over the quota would be invested. Among the larger investments received this morning was $50,000 from C. E. Todd, $25,000 from R. P. Butchart and $60,000 from Oak Bay municipality.

Victoria's Honor Flag, the city's reward for achieving her quota, was hoisted in front of loan headquarters at noon to-day amid the shriek of whistles and the cheers of the salesmen. No doubt was expressed among the organization that the remaining six business days of the drive would see the city reach her $5,000,000 objective. The third and last lap of the drive, which will start on Monday, will be devoted to a general clean-up of the whole city and its outskirts.

Chinatown Passes Quota.

Under the skilful direction of Harry Hastings Chinatown passed its loan quota last night. While the amount set aside as the quota for the Chinese section was $40,000, over $42,000 has been invested. Mr. Hastings hopes to reach the $60,000 mark before the end of the drive. Chinatown will receive its Honor Flag some time to-day and, it is expected, some weeks in the near future.

Police Officer Hurt—Sergeant Jones, of the R.N.W.M.P., driving in a side car of a motor cycle driven by Constable Bentle, R. N. W. M. P., had his face badly cut and his leg injured when a collision took place at 8:45 o'clock this morning at 1240th Street near St. George's Inn. The Parkinson driving auto #273, going toward Esquimalt, collided with the motor cycle, which was badly damaged by the impact.

Famous Old Bull Moose Has Sent in Signed Contract to Patrick

Veteran Puckchaser Writes That First Puck Cannot Be Faced Too Soon for His Liking

Ernie Johnson has returned to Lester Patrick a signed contract and a letter stating that he is ready to jump into the Pacific Coast series this year and give his very best on the Aristocrats septette. The "Bull Moose" also ventures the opinion that Lester Patrick, given an even break this year instead of the bad streak of luck that he had last year will secure the flag, and Ernie mentions that that is his great ambition this season.

According to the information the local boys received Johnson, the veteran who never seems to wear out, and in spite of the fact that he has been playing about fifteen years in senior hockey staged one of the best games of his career against Seattle last year as keen on the game as ever. Johnson plays like a man devoted to the game. His career in hockey makes a real story.

ERNIE JOHNSON,

the famous "Bull Moose," with the seven league boots and the ninety-one-inch reach, who smashed up combinations in a manner that breaks the hearts of visiting players and sets the local rail birds howling with joy, went back to his regular job as brakeman on the O. W. R. and N. with headquarters at Portland when the Patrick's puckchasers said good-bye at the end of the season. Ernie also, as the fans very well know, took unto himself a wife.

SIR BARTON WINS SERIAL.

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 7.—The Pimlico Serial Handicap at a mile, with $3,000 added was won by J. K. Ross's Sir Barton. The Porter was second, and Billy Kelly, also owned by Ross, third. Time: 1:40.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

Return Will Be Welcomed.

Whatever disappointment may be felt in some circles over the refusal of the B. C. branch of the Amateur Athletic Union lavishly to whitewash professionals in British Columbia, their action in returning Boss Johnson to the amateur ranks will be met with general approval. Boss is the type of sportsman who can do much to help amateur sport, and is in a class where there is not the slightest doubt that under his leadership the James Bay rugby fifteen will give a good account of themselves in the rugby competition. According to the present rules Johnson as a reinstated professional will not be able to compete in the Mann Cup games for the world's amateur lacrosse championship, and lacrosse is the game at which he is at his best. The word is sent forth, however, that there is a likelihood of another cup replacing the Mann Cup if this particular ruling is not amended.

A Popular Champion.

The list of champions number few more popular ring men than Jimmy Wilde, the world's flyweight title-holder. The plucky little ringman who never hesitates to step out of his class to meet aspirants for the honor of defeating him is evidently going to be as popular this side of the Atlantic as he is in England. With the announcement from New York that Wilde is to make another of frequently billed arrivals comes the news that he is to be given a reception and dinner by prominent boxing fans. With his family the champion plans to tour the United States, returning east in February to open the new home of the International Sports Club with any fighter Matchmaker Tex Rickard selects.

Leonard Will Make 135 lbs.

Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, has denied emphatically that he demanded a 140-pound privilege for his decision fight in Tulsa, Okla., with Jimmy Duffy. Billy Gibson, his manager, claims that both boys agreed to weigh not more than 135 pounds on the afternoon of the fight. The champion has been severely criticized for alleged efforts to boost the weight of the class to his own liking.

WAR VETERANS WILL COMPLETE QUARTETTE

Elks, Senators, Two Jacks and G.W.V.A. in Amateur Hockey Race

The Great War Veterans caught the fourth place in the amateur hockey league. At a meeting of the executive of the Victoria Amateur Hockey Association held last night the merits of the War Vets., the K. of C. and Elks' Parlors were all debated, and at last the decision was arrived at that the quartette to take part in the competition this year should be: The Senators, The Elks Two Jacks and the War Veterans, the Veterans securing the place made vacant by the withdrawal of the Foundation septette.

Playing arrangements will be practically the same as last year with a double header every Monday offered for the fans' approval. With the extra number available this year and still the same number of clubs in the race, the amateur hockey men predict an even battle for the leadership right through to the play-off. League games will probably commence the middle of December, but several practice games will be held before that date so that the players will take the ice in fairly good shape for the opening battles.

ANOTHER WIN FOR MAINLAND BOWLERS

WILL STOP GAME IF FANS TAKE THE FIELD

Toronto, Nov. 8.—After hearing the evidence submitted by Argonauts and Hamilton Tigers, the inter-provincial rugby executive last night decided to allow last Saturday's game in the Ambitious City to stand as a victory for the yellow and black. It was the consensus of opinion that McKelvie earned his much discussed touchdown, but it was also felt that something must be done to prevent the fans from encroaching on the playing field. The officials hereafter will be instructed to stop the game in case this rule is violated.

RUTH SAYS FISTS MAY SETTLE DISPUTE

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Babe Ruth, premier slugger in the baseball world, today replied to Ty Cobb, who recently criticized Ruth because Ruth demands a contract calling for $20,000 for the 1920 season. Ruth intimated he would hold Cobb personally responsible, and that fists might be substituted for words when they meet next spring. "I'll settle the question when I meet Cobb," Ruth said. "Cobb must be jealous of me because the newspapers have played me up this year as the biggest attraction in baseball." Cobb recently spoke of Ruth as a "contract violator." Ruth's contract, he said, had two more years to run. "A player is worth just as much as he can get," said Ruth. "And Cobb has been paid all he is worth, believe me, for quite a few years. I wouldn't say anything against Cobb if he held out for $100,000."

GOLF WITHOUT A SILENCER

From The New York Evening Post

No tradition is more venerable or better established than that the game of golf must be played in dead silence. Ancient stories attest it, like that of the Scotchman who cried "chatterbox" to his opponent who had first said a word on the eighteenth green. It is said that there are in existence only three golf anecdotes—with variations—and at least two of them are at the expense of the talkative player. Thus one reads in an English newspaper of a skilful golfer playing with a duffer, who "chattered continually in admiration of the other's game. Finally came this:—'Oh, with what club did you make that splendid shot?' 'With an iron.' 'May I hold it?' 'You may, if you will hold your tongue as well.'

There has always, to be sure, been the convention of the choleric Major prying golf, who more seriously than did the troops in Flanders. He was a chartered noisemaker on the links—at least in the comic paper. His explosive profanity was supposed to give relief to himself and joy to the bystanders. But, if he ever existed, he has now become very demode. It is not good form any longer to call upon heathen deities and break one's club in twain. The unfortunate are expected to suffer and be strong in songs without words. Yet the end of the war has served as an excuse for reviving the imaginary soldier who is fiercer in the trap in front of the thirteenth hole than he ever was in the trenches. He wanders into view in the Manchester Guardian, which tells us of a Major proceeding from green to green with oath upon oath, although a clerical-looking gentleman was hovering about. Finally:

At the eighteenth hole the Major's ball hit a sheep and rolled into a rabbit's scratch. The Major, hot and perspiring, swore at that sheep in a way I have never heard a sheep sworn at before. In the middle of his monologue a hand was laid upon his shoulder. "Young man, I would have ye to know I am a meenister o' the Kirk, and I feel it my duty to tell ye that ye've blasphemed this Sabbath noon. It is a disgrace to the cause—and, besides, ye should no ha' used your brassie to that shot; ye should ha' takkit your iron."

Such stories are among the pleasing conventions of golf. They are no more far-fetched, however, than is the belief, sectionally cultivated by many, that golf is a game only for Trappist monks. We are all familiar with the picture. Two men traverse the links in such grim "concentration" that they can neither speak nor look around nor permit any one within a hundred yards to make a softish. On the green, with a difficult putt to make, they expect the sun and moon to stand still and the music of the spheres to cease while they pour their whole nature into their mighty task. Something of this is, of course, true. Gabblers are out of place in golf. Conservation is suspended whenever a shot is about to be made. This is the rudimentary etiquette of the game. But it is distinctly not the fact that golf nowadays, whenever it once may have been, is a game from which jest and mirth are rigidly barred. It is really a jolly sport. Otherwise, we may be sure, the links would not be as crowded as they are with players who have not the slightest trace of a vinegar aspect, nor would the waiting lists of golf clubs be so long as they are.

Take a well-matched foursome setting out from the first tee. There is all sorts of preliminary badinage. One man will indulge in plainly insincere boasting about the way in which he is just now "right on his game." Another has never in his life been playing so poorly. Comment—after the shots are made—is the freest. Walking up to the balls all hands are chaffing each other. One hole lost or won simply means taller talk about the next. "I made it in two under par, yesterday." "Well, you'll be at least two over this time." It is all good-natured, and the players are really considerate of each other. If one inadvertently laughs or says something as a shot is about to be made, he is instant with apology and a request that his opponent take it over. But any one who followed the player about, expecting to see the book-tradition of the silent game lived up to, would be astonished at the constant flow of merry conversation.

There is, indeed, a kind of conversational golf severely to be condemned. Occasionally a player turns up who deliberately seeks to talk his opponent into defeat. We do not mean by interruptions in the middle of a shot, but by bragging of his own prowess. As he strolls along he will casually remark: "You know, the committee is going to cut my handicap. I am getting around now pretty consistently under 80." The best way to meet this is to tell a bigger lie about your own game. As thus—"I certainly am doing good putting these days. On seven greens yesterday I was down in a single putt." But this sort of thing is exceptional, and stands wholly apart from the free and friendly talking on the links referred to above. That is to be heard on every links, dead though it goes that golf is a game in which all you want is silence, and mighty little of that.

THE MAGIC BUTTON.

Imagine sitting at a table in London, pressing a button, and hey, presto!—people 4,000 miles away have the message in two-fifths of a second!

A week or so ago King George pressed a button at Balmoral, and in a flash the people standing round the memorial to Jacques Cartier (the father of the Canadian Confederation) in Montreal, 3,100 miles away, saw the covering shroud roll off as if by magic.

The idea is not new. Shortly before he died, King Edward, while staying at a Sussex mansion, similarly opened a university in Montreal, and six years ago Queen Mary, by merely pressing a button in Buckingham Palace opened a hospital in Ontario.

Regarding the method by which these feats are accomplished, a Post Office official, referring to the unravelling of the Cartier statue, explained that a line was connected from Balmoral to the Central Telegraph Office in London, which was connected in turn by cable to Halifax, Nova Scotia, the current being switched to Montreal, a small line to the statue completing the circuit. The only "man power" employed was that of King George. —Tit-Bits.

I have been represented as a sour, squint-eyed, illiberal person, anxious to eclipse the gaiety of the nation. Mr. Henry Arthur Jones.

Nurse (in military hospital)—"Did the orderly take your temperature." "Uneasy Patient."—Dunno, miss; but it shouldn't be surprised. I saw him take my chum's 'baccy!"

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 8.—Bob Brown, Vancouver baseball magnate, left last night for Springfield, Mass., where he will attend the annual convention of the National Association which opens next Tuesday. His trip has a big bearing on Vancouver's claim for a place in the Pacific Coast League, and it is just possible that he will close some sort of a deal with the heads of the Coast circuit at next week's gathering. Messrs. Graham, Powers and Ewing will represent the P.C.L. at the Eastern meeting and they have promised to give careful consideration to Vancouver's application for a berth next season.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL SUPREMACY IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY

Admiral Jellicoe Says That Millennium Is Just as Far Off as Ever and That British Empire Must "Be Prepared"—Discusses problems of Pacific

"For our purposes naval supremacy is absolutely vital," said Lord Jellicoe in a speech made in Wellington, N. Z. "There are other nations that aspire to have great navies, but sea power is not in any way as important to those nations as it is to us. Cut off our sea communications for two or three months, as the Germans hoped to do, and we are done. Other nations have long seaboard. But the United States, for example, might be cut off from communications overseas without causing the slightest inconvenience to the inside of any person belonging to the United States. There has been a tendency among various people since peace was proclaimed to think that there is no hurry about being ready for the next war. People argue that the world is exhausted, and that it will be twenty, thirty or fifty years, if ever, before there is another war. Well, history does not show that. History shows that one war breeds another. History also shows that if you want to be at peace you must be ready for war, and I strongly urge my fellow-countrymen not to be penny wise and pound foolish. The cost of being ready for war is absolutely infinitesimal as compared to the cost of even one month of war. I think we shall be very ill-advised if we start to cry that there is no hurry about getting the defences of the British Empire into proper order.

Millennium Far Off.

"We have only to look round the world at the present time to see that the millennium is just about as far off as it ever has been. The subject that has been occupying my mind for the last five or six months has been the naval defence of the Pacific. The Pacific is an ocean which is growing in importance day by day as regards naval affairs. It is an ocean which contains certain possibilities of future trouble. We all hope that those possibilities will never mature, but we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that there are factors in the Pacific which may give rise to future international complications. Wise statesmen, if these complications arise, may get over them. But in any case they will be very much helped in their task if those portions of the British Empire situated in the Pacific have a strong arm.

"For naval defence in the Pacific there are three separate forces required. The first is a striking force, the second is a force for the protection of trade, and the third is a force for the protection of the harbors of the British Empire in the Pacific. I am endeavoring to separate in my mind those three subjects, and in the proposals which I have placed before the Government of Australia I have done so. The protection of trade is the subject in which perhaps the most people take the greatest interest. It is a matter that is vital to the British Dominions in the Southern Pacific. The Dominions say for themselves how inadequately it was carried out in the early days of the recent war. Ever since 1902 we had been gradually weakening our naval forces abroad. This movement was forced upon us by the menace which was growing day by day nearer home. The result was that when the crash came the forces out here were really inadequate to the protection of British trade. They were inadequate first by reason of the number of ships being inadequate, and secondly by reason of the fact that such ships as were out here were almost entirely engaged in seeing to the safety of those magnificent troops which sprang to the help of the Empire in her hour of need."

Value of Convoy System.

After describing the difficulty of dealing with commerce raiders in modern conditions, Lord Jellicoe said the number of warships required for the protection of trade

SHIPWRECK WAS LOT OF GALLANT LOAN VOYAGERS

Bond Salesmen Have Exciting Adventures in Cruise Through Gulf Islands

JOHN MOWAT NEARLY DROWNED IN STORM

"Everybody knows that the Mother Country is very hard hit financially," said Lord Jellicoe, "but I feel no doubt—at least I hope I feel no doubt—that the Mother Country will rise to the occasion, and not allow our naval defence to go down. It will certainly help the Mother Country for the Dominions to show along their intention that the British navy shall not go down."

"There would be people who would talk of the spirit of militarism. But the British fleet was a defensive force, and it had never been used aggressively. Even the people who professed the most fervent of militarism ought not to object to the safeguarding of their own interests. Co-operation between the Mother Country and the Dominions was going to be very necessary in the future in matters of defence, and it was his earnest hope that the spirit which had led the Dominions to respond most gallantly and immediately to call of the Mother Country when the danger signal was raised in 1914 would be continued in the future arrangements for the defence of the Empire."

Exciting adventures and hair-raising escapes filled the cruise of the "Flying Squadron" of the Victory Loan organization among the Gulf Islands this week. The Squadron, considerably the worse for wear, returned to the city yesterday and reported to headquarters remarkable success in the canvass of the Gulf settlements.

The Squadron left Victoria for the Gulf Islands on Monday on board a launch supplied by the Marine and Fisheries Department with Captain Arthur Hanson as skipper and Percy Stevenson first officer. The bond salesmen on board were John Mowat, J. S. Murray, George Brown and Charles Brown. Arriving safely at Mayne Island, the salesmen were able to persuade the residents to purchase $7,150 worth of bonds. The quota for Mayne Island was fixed at $8,500 and, which the people of the island are confident, will be invested by to-night.

While canvassing Mayne Island Mr. Mowat and Mr. C. Brown took a launch to the northern portion of the island to see a lighthouse keeper and others in the district, while Mr. Murray and Mr. George Brown took to the interior. While the salesmen were at the lighthouse a northeast gale sprang up and the utmost difficulty was experienced in getting the little craft from the shore. While this operation was proceeding Mr. Mowat, who was handling a boathook at the stern fell into the raging waves. He managed to clamber out, however, soaked to the bone.

In order that he might dry out Mr. Mowat landed and tramped two miles to the village, while the remainder of the gallant company started the loan ball rolling on Galliano Island. Mr. Mowat waited in vain for the crew which was to arrive in the evening from Mayne Island and which did not turn up until the next morning. There was a dance and social at Mayne Island on the preceding night. On Thursday night, owing to the rough weather, the team was unable to accept the kind invitation of the father in charge of the school at Kuper Island, who had extended the offer of his hospitality to the salesmen. Lowering clouds and stormy seas determined Captain Hanson to seek Ganges Harbor.

"The people of Salt Spring Island, on which Ganges Harbor is situated," Mr. Mowat explains, "for long have been petitioning the Government for a beacon light to guide incoming vessels and steer them from the dangers of the sand shoal at the entrance to the harbor. The Government has repeatedly refused to grant this request, claiming that such a light would be an unnecessary expense. The amusing part of the affair was

FAMOUS BATTLE - CRUISER HAS BEEN IN ACTIVE SERVICE SINCE HER LAST VISIT TO ESQUIMALT

H. M. S. NEW ZEALAND.

This battle-cruiser was constructed in 1911 at the Fairfield Shipbuilding Yard, and is of the improved Invincible class. Her normal displacement is 18,750 tons and her length on the waterline 578 feet, her beam 79 1/2 feet and her mean draught 27 1/2 feet. She is equipped with Parsons turbine engines developing 43,000 horsepower, and driving four propellers. Her best speed is about 27 knots. The cruiser's main armament consists of eight 12-inch guns and 16 four-inch guns. She has three torpedo tubes, all of which are submerged.

The New Zealand was presented to the British Admiralty by New Zealand, which was the only Dominion to have a fighting ship in the Grand Fleet.

that we, in a Government launch, were the first to go ashore!"

The bond salesmen in fact found themselves high and dry from half-past eight in the evening until one in the morning.

While some of the passengers managed to get to shore, Mr. Mowat stayed with the ship until the last, not only from motives of heroism but because the only small boat obtainable for transportation purposes was not capable of carrying his bulk. Capt. Hanson and Mr. Mowat remained aboard the launch some eight weary hours, during which time the doughty salesman managed to persuade the captain to apply for a generous share of Victory Bonds. Mr. Mowat does not describe what arguments he used. Finally, the tide came in and the launch floated off safely.

NEW BUILDINGS TO REPLACE OLD

Owners of Dilapidated Properties Tell Aldermen They Will Build at Once

A new building is to be erected on part of the property on the north-west corner of Fort and Douglas Streets, Joseph Boscowitz, the owner of the block, informed the aldermen yesterday afternoon. The city has been anxious to get removed some of the old buildings on the property as they are considered a disgrace to such a fine downtown street as Douglas Street.

Mr. Boscowitz notified the aldermen that he was anxious to have the old buildings out of the way, as he is desirous to lay the foundation stones for a new structure. This will be commenced within thirty days.

Otto Weller also informed the aldermen that he is to erect a new building on Douglas Street. This is to be just on the other side of Fort Street at No. 1010, now occupied as garaging space by a taxi concern. Building Inspector Barf reported that the wooden structure now there is merely held together by the wall-paper with which the interior is plastered. Mr. Weller has replied that he is anxious to get it out of the way as he is desirous of putting up a modern structure. Action there will also take place within thirty days.

Condemned to Please Neighbor.

The city health officials reported to the aldermen that because Mr. Justice Martin had written certain letters and charging them with neglecting their duties, they had condemned the frame house at 1031 Verrinder Avenue, belonging to Dr. H. Ford Verrinder, merely as a test case of the charges of the Justice.

Dr. Verrinder was annoyed when he found his house condemned, and wrote to the aldermen yesterday afternoon informing them that with the exception of a broken window or two, the house will compare favorably with any modern house in the city.

Alderman Sangster and other members of the council who had been out to see the building said they were surprised that Mr. Justice Martin was writing such letters about officials and especially in connection with a perfectly good house. The aldermen and officials said they were sorry Dr. Verrinder had been bothered about this matter, and removed his house from the condemned list.

Doings in Fallen Hospital.

Thirty-five years ago the wooden structure at 1247 Pandora Street was one of the best-known small hospitals in British Columbia, and within its walls some of the notable operations of those days were performed by the pioneer surgeons.

Yesterday, however, such a vivid description was given by Hugh McDonald, who lives nearby, of what goes on there during all hours of the night, and the kind of people who use it as a resort after sundown to the extent of stocking all persons living in the vicinity, the aldermen decided in the interests of the community no time should be lost in having it removed.

After Dr. A. G. Price, medical health officer, gave evidence that the building had no modern conveniences and could not be used for anything worth while, and Building Inspector Barf said it could be repaired but would take too much money, the aldermen decided to notify Charles A. Forsythe, the owner, that thirty

A Blood-Food Discovered That Entirely Overcomes Anaemic Weakness

CAREFULLY INVESTIGATED REPORTS ESTABLISH TRULY WONDERFUL RESULTS.

Heretofore it has often been a hopeless task for a thin-blooded person to gain either strength or weight. Neither food or medicine in many instances had beneficial effect.

What is practically a perfect blood-food, containing such elements as Iron, has at last been produced, and when taken after meals will put new life and vigor into people that have despaired of ever being strong again. This truly wonder-working treatment consists of taking two small chocolate-coated Ferronone Tablets at the close of every meal.

This wonderful blood-food supplies nourishment, vim, energy sends a stream of vigorous, strength-making blood to every nook and corner of the body, makes every muscle and fibre sing with new-found life and health.

That gnawing tiredness leaves you—Ferronone drives it away—less nights are turned into periods of rest, and you pick up fast. Day by day your appetite improves—this means more food is transformed in nutrition that will build and energize weak organs. The inclination to worry passes away because Ferronone imparts nerve—tone and bodily strength that prevents depression.

Think it over—Ferronone is a wonderful tonic, in fact, it is more than a tonic, because it establishes health that lasts. Thousands use it and thereby cleanse and restore the entire system to a perfect condition. You'll feel the uplifting power of Ferronone in a week—it's bound to help you if you only give it the chance. Sold by all dealers, 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50; be sure of the name Ferronone. Forwarded by mail to any address if price is remitted to The Catarthzone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Infantile Diarrhoea

33, Trafalgar Road, S.E. — Mrs. — I thought you would like to know of the splendid results after using VIROL. My baby was suffering from DIARRHOEA badly, and I was advised to leave off milk for a time and give him VIROL and water only. This I did for over a week; the diarrhoea and sickness stopped, and I was able to gradually add the milk until he was back on normal feeding. I continued the use of VIROL with his milk for about 2 months. He was 8 weeks old when I started with VIROL, he is now 10 months, and as you see by his photo he is the picture of health.

I remain, yours truly, HELENA SUCH.

VIROL increases the power of resistance to the germs of disease and replaces wasted tissue. It is therefore a valuable food in Measles, Whooping-cough, Infantile Diarrhoea, Indigestion, etc.

days was the limit to the length of time the building could be allowed to remain there.

Was Prominent Home.

Not so many years ago the big brick house on the northeast corner of Yates and Cook Streets was considered one of the fine homes of the city. Lately it has been used as a Chinese laundry. It has been vacant for some time. Although the walls and the main part of the structure are still good, the general appearance is bad, the city officials testified. They also said it was an insidious eyesore to the district and has been used for improper purposes.

The aldermen decided to notify Herbert T. Knott, of 1354 Pandora Avenue, the owner, that he must have the property put into respectable shape or removed entirely within sixty days.

Labor Temple Site.

During the boom years the property at 851 Pandora Avenue was bought as a site for a new Labor Temple. Yesterday it was reported to the aldermen that the property had been turned over to the use of Japanese who had left it in a miserable condition. The Labor Temple people were given thirty days in which to remove the building and clean up things around there.

The late home of Crawford Coates on the northeast corner of Blanchard and Broughton Streets, across from the Royal Victoria Theatre, now owned by S. McB. Smith and F. Colpman, the Government agent at Alberni, B.C., was put down as a nuisance as people have been breaking windows and using it for improper purposes at night. The buildings have to be removed within thirty days, the aldermen decided.

Bristol House Doomed.

The Old Bristol House on the northeast corner of Simcoe and Montreal Streets, owned by the B. C. Land and Investment Agency, has seen its days of usefulness and the aldermen ordered it destroyed within thirty days.

A clean-up of the structures at the rear of 306 Humboldt Street was ordered within thirty days. John D. Hallam, of Newport Avenue, whose name had been published in connection with the ownership of the property, protested that he no longer had an interest in it. It is now in the hands of Macfarlane and Boyle.

Contractor's Home to Pass.

The old Haggerty house, at 963 Yates Street, now owned by Choy Pin, was declared unfit and ordered destroyed or removed within sixty days.

Health officials reported that they had been searching without success in several parts of the world for Emily Jane Dupins, owner of a frame store and outbuildings at 1513 Holly Street, because the premises are not being kept in very good shape. Among the addresses tried was Geonard, Sask. But as all the registered letters addressed to her are returned no matter where they write, the officials informed the aldermen that she could not be found. As the property can be put into good shape with very little expenditure and the aldermen thought it would be a pity to tear down such a building, the case against her was adjourned until she has been given a reasonable time to make her whereabouts known.

Church Too Old.

The old frame church at Catharine and Wilson Streets, Victoria West, belonging to Roper R. Whitman, Chaucer Street, Oak Bay, must be removed within sixty days.

On the evidence of Dr. Price, San-

Keep the Cobwebs away

YOU know that times are good to-day.

You know that business is humming, that your pay envelope comes regularly and is well filled.

But do you know why this is so?

Canada is prosperous—and you are prosperous—because the Victory Loan 1918 was successful, enabling Canada to give credit to Great Britain and other countries who, as a result, were enabled to place orders in Canada for the goods YOU make.

But the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918 are exhausted.

Great Britain and her allies have more orders to place—but they are not yet in a position to pay cash.

If Canada is to get these further orders, she must extend credit.

The Victory Loan 1919 will provide the necessary money to establish these credits.

Every workingman wants prosperity to continue. Therefore every workingman will buy Victory Bonds.

ARRANGE FOR HUGE BOYS' MASS MEETING

Arrangements for the mass meeting of teen-age boys, which will be held under the auspices of the Rotary Club at the Armory next Wednesday evening, were considered at a meeting of the special boys' work committee under Dr. Raynor, held in the Doctor's offices last night. Members of the Club in attendance were C. B. Jones, S. J. Drake, A. V. Clark, Reginald Colbert and H. E. Hallwright.

It is the purpose of the Club to secure a census of the boy life of Victoria and the Sanich Peninsula in order that the future, it, with other bodies, may provide means for the upbuilding and development of the youth of the community. Preliminary steps in obtaining this census will be taken at the mass meeting when blank cards will be issued to the boys who will be asked to fill them out. The information thus secured will include the names, ages, school and employment of the boys.

Instinctively grasping at other limbs, he managed to check his fall and hung there head downwards, his face the color of a beetroot. "Sophia—quick!" he gasped. "Oh, Arthur!" she yelled.
