Important Notice In reply to frequent inquiries, we would say we have no connection whatever with any other company. Do not be misled because you see the name, Dingee & Conard Co., unchanged. Neither Alfred F. Conard or Antoine Wintzer have any connection with that concern, but long since left it entirely, and though that Company still retains Mr. Conard's name, because they think it their interest to do so, and cannot be legally prevented, he has severed all connection with them years ago. Giant White Narcissus.

BULBS FOR WINTER FLOWERING

Of all flowers for house culture and Winter bloom, bulbs are the most beautiful, and the easiest to grow. They are absolutely sure to bloom—Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissus, Crocus, Scillas, Iris, Ixias, Sparixias, etc., besides being entirely hardy in open ground, will bloom beautifully during Winter when kept in pots in-doors, and are in fact among the finest Winter-blooming flowers we have. Bulbs for house culture and Winter bloom should be potted as early as convenient, from September to January—any soil that is suitable for other plants will grow nice bulbs. Old, well-rotted manure is the best fertilizer. Pots or boxes of any convenient size may be used. Small bulbs can be set very close together, sometimes several in a pot; large ones need room in proportion to their size. Do not plant too deep, one inch under ground is about right for most kinds in-doors;—when potted, water thoroughly and set away in a cool, dark place for two or three weeks, to rest and give the roots time to start, then take to the living room or wherever they are to remain—they don't require much heat, an up-stairs room suits them nicely. Water only when they need it, but be sure they do not get dry at the bottom. They will soon begin to bloom, and then their lovely flowers and exquisite fragrance will surprise and delight all who see them.

Bulbs in Open Ground

Tulips, Hyacinths, Narcissus, Crocus, Snow Drops, Scillas, Ixias, Sparixias, etc., are the finest bulbs for Fall planting in open ground, as they are entirely hardy and make a splendid display of gorgeous flowers very early in Spring, almost before the snow is gone. Their flowers are exquisitely beautiful and always highly valued because they come before all others. The culture is very simple, and what is better, they are absolutely sure to bloom. Other flowers may fail, but bulbs never.

Bulbs do not require very rich soil and will succeed well in any ordinary ground; when convenient, it is well to spade up the ground, so that it will be a little higher than the surrounding surface, and keep water from collecting on it. If the soil is poor, a liberal quantity of old, well-rotted manure should be spaded in or applied to the top as a mulch.

TIME TO PLANT. September, October, November and December are the best months for planting bulbs in the open ground. Set them from one to six inches apart, according to variety and size, and from one to three inches deep. The bulb diagram above shows the proper depth and distances apart for the different varieties.

WINTER PROTECTION. These bulbs are entirely hardy and will do without any protection, but if convenient to give the bed a light covering of leaves or litter after planting, the flowers will come earlier and be finer. The covering should be removed as soon as the plants show through in the Spring.

TREATMENT AFTER BLOOMING. When pot bulbs are done blooming they can be set away in any cool, dry place and left a few weeks to mature, after which they may be shaken out of the soil and stored away till time to plant again in the Fall. They may not make as fine flowers the second season as the first, but will usually do quite well for two or three years. Bulbs in open ground, when done blooming and well matured, may be lifted and dried off, and then treated exactly like those from pots.

TRUE CHINESE SACRED LILY.

Chinese Sacred Lily.

The Great Chinese Sacred Lily is one of the most popular winter-flowering bulbs; vast quantities are brought from China every year. The bulbs are very large and each one sends up from five to twelve flower stems, which bear great clusters of large pure white wax-like blossoms, with yellow centers, and of a rich delicious fragrance. About one bulb in three will produce double flowers, the others single, as shown in the engraving. They grow nicely in pots of ordinary soil, but the best and quickest way to bloom them is in water. Fill a bowl or some similar vessel with pebbles or small stones, in which place the bulb, setting it about one-half its depth, so that it will be held firmly, then fill with water to the top of the pebbles, and place in a warm sunny window. The bulb will at once commence a rapid growth and bloom in two or three weeks. Ours are the genuine Chinese Sacred Lily, grown in China. Cheaper bulbs are offered, but they are an inferior grade, and not to be compared with these in beauty. Ours are the genuine variety, grown in China. Price, extra large quick flowering bulbs, by mail, postpaid, 15 cts. each; 3 for 40 cts.; 6 for 75 cts.; $1.50 per doz.

Golden Sweet-Scented Sacred Lily.

(See full description, page 15). Grows in water and pebbles exactly like the Chinese variety, flowers bright clear golden yellow, and borne in the greatest profusion. Price, 5 cts. each; 3 for 12 cts.; 40 cts. per doz.

Special Offer We will send one Chinese Sacred Lily and three Golden Sweet-Scented Sacred Lilies—the four for only 25 cents. They will all go nicely in one pot or bowl.
