

62, 61

1927

For names of varieties see other side

See Over

Our Special Iris Group

Beautiful German Iris

OF SPECIAL NAMED VARIETIES

Handsome as an Orchid
Hardy as a Dandelion

This beautiful flower, unparalleled in beauty is considered indispensable in every garden. For the wild garden, shrubby border, margin of water, rockwork, etc., they are admirably adapted.

This special group should thrive in almost any soil or situation with little care, in fact, scarcely any place can be found where they cannot be used to excellent advantage.

This group blooms early and with wonderful combinations of coloring. Very fragrant and flowers are splendid for cutting.

The varieties in this group are among the most desirable for early Spring flowering and no garden or lawn is complete without this superb collection. They come into bloom in May and continue to bloom for several weeks. They are perfectly hardy, thrive anywhere and especially succeed in any good well-drained soil. The roots or tubers should be planted so they will be one inch below the surface.

The following varieties give a wide range of colors. Order by variety.

Varieties Illustrated on other Side

- No. 1. CUPERO—A rich orange-yellow, falls penciled maroon.
- No. 2. PARISIENSIS—Deep purple; largest and showiest.
- No. 3. FULDA—Satin white; falls lilac; feathered yellow.
- No. 4. CRAMER—Pale lavender.
- No. 5. MADAME CHEREAU—White, edged and veined blue.
- No. 6. QUEEN OF MAY—Delicate old rose. Early bloomer.

Prices, one dozen for $7.50; the above group of six for $4.00;
75c each.

PERRY NURSERY COMPANY

DEPENDABLE FRUIT AND ORNAMENTAL TREES AND PLANTS

Home Office, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

"The Flower City"