Thanking my Friends for their liberal patronage in the past, I wish to say that I am better prepared to wait on my trade than ever before.

I am now located in my new store, 304, 306 East Broad St., just two doors from my old stand.

I carry a complete line of groceries, also glassware, chinaware, stoneware, aluminum ware, enamelware, wood and willow ware. Field and garden seed. Fresh cabbage plants daily. Also potato sprouts and tomato plants in their season.

Call at our variety store. One price to all.

PREFACE

DUNN, NORTH CAROLINA

Dunn is situated in both the Coastal and Piedmont sections of North Carolina, being on the boundry line of each. The population of the city according to a recent census is near five thousand people. Located in a rich agricultural section and offering every advantage to the manufacturer and business man, it has every indication of developing fast into one of the most prosperous and substantial towns of this section of the state.

Dunn has diversified industries and borders the mill city of Erwin, N. C., where the largest denim mills of the South are located and which has a population of as many people as Dunn. Lumber Mills, Gineries, Cottonseed Oil Mills, Wood Working Plants, Machine Shops, Foundry, Agriculture Implement Factory, Fertilizer Factory, Furniture Factory, Cotton Storage Warehouses, Flour and Feed Mills, etc.

The largest wagon cotton market in North Carolina is a distinction that Dunn enjoys justly. It has a modern Motorized Fire Department, a Community Hospital, Beautiful Churches, Splendid Schools, Strong Banks, and congenial people to live with. Hard surfaced highways in every direction and the Carolinas-Florida Short Route passes through the center of this charming little city.

Dunn has a Rotary Club, a Merchants' Association, a Chamber of Commerce and a thriving Building and Loan Association.

An even tempered climate and the low cost of living makes Dunn an ideal section in which to live.

The Dunn Chamber of Commerce welcomes inquiries from anyone and will gladly give any information.

THE DUNN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
