PRINCE OF WALES RESPONDS TO GREETINGS

ITALIANS NOW REGARD FIUME MATTER SETTLED, DECLARES GARIBALDI

With D'Annunzio's Troops In Possession, That Is Italians' Attitude, Says General; D'Annunzio Calls Italian Warships Fiume Navy

Paris, Sept. 24.—"As a nation we consider the Fiume matter settled, because we have actual possession," said General Giuseppe (Peppino) Garibaldi, to an Associated Press representative here this morning.

"Had D'Annunzio not gone in," continued Garibaldi, "we would have done it within fifteen days."

"If President Wilson were moved by the right spirit," he said, "he would permit the whole question to be decided by France, Britain and Italy. In that case we are satisfied that our rights would be recognized, as they already are recognized by the majority of the Americans, in whom the Italians have absolute confidence."

Warships. Pula, Sept. 22.—Delayed—Four Italian warships, the dreadnought Dante Alighieri and the destroyers Mirabelle, Nullo and...

It is stated here it was because of the desertion of these vessels from the regular Italian navy that the Allied commanders were forced to withdraw from the harbor of Fiume, which was considered unsafe while the Dante Alighieri was anchored there and was loyal to the D'Annunzio cause.

Teak Weapons. Malta, Sept. 23.—Via London, Sept. 24.—Rear-Admiral G. P. W. Hope, R.N., who arrived here to-day on board the British cruiser Cardiff, bringing British troops from Fiume, reports that the United States armored cruiser Pittsburgh was among the war vessels off Fiume when the Cardiff left, while the United States cruiser Olympia had been ordered to proceed there.

When Gabriele d'Annunzio arrived with his expedition, Admiral Hope said, his men deprived all the Allied troops of their arms, not even allowing men on patrol duty to keep their bayonets.

Solution Desired. London, Sept. 24.—In official circles here the opinion is expressed that Italy sincerely desires to solve the Fiume situation. It is understood that the Italian military authorities have issued orders that participants in raids who do not return to their units within five days shall be posted as deserters and punished.

Notice Was Given. Washington, Sept. 24.—The Italian Government was informed last July of the plans of Gabriele D'Annunzio for his Fiume adventure, according to the Italian Socialist newspaper Avanti, extracts from which were cabled yesterday from Geneva to the official information bureau here of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. The paper also asserted that the Allies were told of the action of D'Annunzio's accomplices in Fiume long before the soldier-poet carried out his campaign.

CANADA'S TRADE SHOWS A DECLINE

But Merchandise Exported Is Increasing and Imports Decreasing

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—A decline of $14,155,153 in the total trade of Canada during the five months of the fiscal year ended August 31 is shown by the monthly trade summary issued by the Customs Department.

Banking Figures. Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The savings bank deposits in Canada increased during August by approximately $20,000,000. They now stand at $1,196,622,381, a figure which is regarded as promising well for the success of the coming Dominion loan.

PRICES OF SHOES TO BE INVESTIGATED

Also Textiles; Prairie Provinces Send Counsel to Montreal Hearing

Board of Commerce Commissioner to Hold Hearing in Regina

Regina, Sept. 24.—As a result of the announcement that the Board of Commerce is about to institute an inquiry at Montreal into the textile and boot and shoe industries, the Provincial Governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba have got together and decided that the two provinces shall be represented at the inquiry by counsel in view of the tremendous importance of the high cost of living, clothing and footwear to the consumers living on the prairies.

The Saskatchewan and Manitoba Governments have agreed to be jointly represented by H. G. Simington, K. C., of Winnipeg. While no official announcement has yet been made at Edmonton, it is expected that the Alberta Government also will join in the joint representation.

At Regina. Regina, Sept. 24.—Lieut. J. S. Rankin, Commissioner for the Board of Commerce in Saskatchewan, will open a hearing here Friday morning.

In France. Paris, Sept. 24.—After giving normal prices of staple foodstuffs for the current week, and comparative tables showing those of July 31, when the decree ordering the fixing of normal prices went into effect, the Official Journal to-day adds that the general movement of prices has undergone an almost general check and that the cost of foodstuffs of prime necessities has been diminished throughout the country.

BOARD WILL DEAL WITH COAST DISPUTE

Conciliation Board For B. C., E. R. Company and Motormen and Conductors

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The Minister of Labor has constituted two boards of conciliation to investigate industrial disputes in the west.

One board will investigate the dispute between the British Columbia Electric Railway Company and its motormen and conductors at Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster. Henry A. Stone, Vancouver, has been appointed chairman, and Thomas W. Fletcher, Vancouver, will represent the employers, and Thomas Coughlin, Vancouver, the men.

Express Dispute. Mr. Justice Metcalf, of Winnipeg, has been appointed chairman of a board which will deal with the differences between the Canadian Northern Express Company and its employees. The other two members of this board are W. A. Sweetman, who represents the employees, and Fred Bancroft, Toronto, representing the men.

Bonus to Employees. St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 24.—Beginning October 1, the Engineering and Marine Works of Canada will pay a bonus of five per cent. on the wages of all employees by the company for the year ended July 1 last.

ROUMANIA WISHES TO KEEP GOODS SEIZED IN HUNGARY

Paris, Sept. 24.—In the answer given by Premier Briatano of Roumania to the note from the Allies delivered by Sir George Russell Clerk, who went to Bucharest as an emissary of the Peace Conference, Roumania offers to give the Allies all the satisfaction in her power with regard to actions connected with her occupation of Hungarian territory, according to The Echo de Paris to-day. Roumania is ready to evacuate Budapest or to co-operate there with the Allies in maintaining order, the note declares, and also sets forth that Roumania is prepared to deliver to the Allies a list of the war materials and rolling stock seized.

LENOIR CASE TO COURT PROSECUTOR

Paris, Sept. 24.—The docket in the case of Pierre Lenoir, who was reprieved at virtually the last minute last Friday morning, was referred to-day to M. Lescouve, High Court prosecutor, who will decide whether the condemned man's testimony is necessary in the impending trial of Joseph Caillaux, former Premier.

According to newspaper reports, Lenoir is in a state of collapse and is threatened with deafness. His physicians are said to believe that he is in danger of becoming completely paralyzed.

INVESTITURE BY PRINCE OF GREAT WAR HEROES TO-DAY

There was an enthusiastic echo of the Great War in the Parliament Building grounds this morning when His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales invested a number of gallant soldiers with the honors which they had daringly won on the battlefields of Flanders and France. As these bronzed warriors stepped up to the Prince and he pinned the cross or medal on their chests the gigantic multitude broke out into vociferous cheering. A touch of pathos was added to the erstwhile merry and gay scene when the Prince awarded posthumous honors to the parents of sons whose noble action had brought them still greater honor—a wooden cross "Over There." The Prince made very suitable remarks to the parents and expressed his keen admiration of the wondrous courage and devotion to duty of their sons.

The grant military parade was the most impressive and demonstrative that has been held in the city's history. There were representatives of nearly all battles from the victorious march of Lord Roberts into Kandahar in 1879 until the momentous and overwhelming victory of the Canadians at Mons on November 11, 1918. There were aged veterans who needed the assistance of walking sticks; the stalwarts who came through the war unscathed and with an invigorated and improved physique; and many comrades who left the stirring past of shrapnel or pieces of shell-casting, and who are now forced to hobble about with the assistance of crutches and canes.

The Human Touch. There is no doubt but that the Prince has the kindest affection for the wounded Tommy. This was demonstrated as he flashed passed them in his motor car. All the way along Government Street and up driveway to the Parliament Building steps the Prince had been acknowledging the cheers and shouts of the crowd with smart salutes and his winning smile. As his car pulled up at the steps of the buildings he caught sight of the boys with the blue armlets, who were congregated on the east side of the steps. The Prince immediately turned about and with his right hand in which he held his gloves, he waved back an acknowledgment of the applause which the cripple heroes were giving. It was an affective scene.

Immediately after receiving the addresses of welcome the Prince viewed the phalanx on the beautiful green esplanade of the R. N. W. M. P. under command of Inspector Newson, with his bright red coats, Stetson hats, burnished bullets protruding symmetrically from their pouches, the sleek well-groomed horses, was arranged just at the foot of the steps.

In the opening between the two troops were the British Cadets. The campaigners had all served in wars previous to the titanic struggle. George Day, who was with Roberts on the march to Kandahar, and George Millet, of the Fifth Northumberland Fusiliers, who was in the Indian Mutiny and participated in the siege of Lucknow, were in the ranks.

SIR H. DRAYTON TO STAND IN KINGSTON

Winnipeg, Sept. 24.—A special dispatch from the Ottawa correspondent of a local afternoon paper says that Sir Henry Drayton, the new Minister of Finance, will be a candidate in Kingston, the seat made vacant by the retirement of W. F. Nickle. The Unionist nomination will be offered him and he will accept. It is not likely that there will be a Liberal candidate in the field, but Alderman Patterson has announced himself as a Labor candidate and will secure the support of the Laurier Liberals.

THOUSANDS ATTENDED RECEPTION TO PRINCE

Never, perhaps, in its history has the Legislative Chamber of the Parliament Buildings witnessed such a memorable event as it did this morning. Inside the handsome pile a transformation had taken place. Union Jacks and Royal Standards blazed their colors from the gallery balustrade. On either side of the Speaker's chair hung the laurel wreaths of victory. The customary sombre hue had gone. The atmosphere had become charged with the people's contagious enthusiasm. There was an absence of demonstration as the Prince entered the chamber because there were comparatively few present in the public galleries. The cheering multitudes were without eagerly awaiting to get a nearer view of their Prince. He awaited them with his fascinating smile, the smile now known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

His Royal Highness took up his position a little to the right of the Speaker's chair, supported by his Chief of Staff and surrounded by the members of his suite. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Oliver and the Hon. Martin Burrell, Secretary of State, also stood near to the Prince. To the left of the Speaker's chair were the Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines; the Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works; the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary; the Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, and the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands.

Presentation of Baskets. At ten minutes to twelve the doors at the northeastern entrance to the Legislative Chamber were opened and for fully an hour veterans in their thousands kept up a constant procession before the Royal visitor. A pleasing incident marked the opening of this particular part of this morning's ceremonial. Miss Alice Oliver, daughter of the Premier, attended by a tiny little chap in sailor's garb, presented to His Royal Highness a collection of Indian baskets, requesting him, on behalf of the Government of the Province of British Columbia, to convey them to H. R. H. Princess Mary as a memorial of aboriginal handicraft.

From the moment the doors were opened there was no respite for the Royal salute. For fully twenty minutes the Prince yielded up his right arm to perform the rhythmic action to which he now has become so accustomed. It was obvious, however, that the strain would tell and for several minutes the left hand was used. Until

THOUSANDS ACCLAIM PRINCE WHEN REPLYING TO ADDRESSES FROM VARIOUS PUBLIC BODIES

Thousands of spectators packed the entrances to the quadrangle before the Parliament Buildings and thronged Government Street, the Causeway and Yates Street this morning to give a vociferous reception to the Prince of Wales on the occasion of the ceremonials at the Government Buildings. Long before the hour scheduled for the Prince's arrival the crowd had been gathering, flags and handkerchiefs, all ready to wave at the first sight of the automobile containing the Heir-Apparent, while thousands of school children along the route and on the lawns at the buildings kept their vocal cords in training by loudly cheering at intervals—the Pathfinder circling overhead coming in for a salvo of applause from lusty young throats.

ULTIMATUM SENT BY RAILWAY MEN

British Workers Asked Government's Answer on Wages at Once

London, Sept. 24.—Because of the situation created by the presentation to the Government to-day of an ultimatum by the railroad men in which a strike was threatened, a full meeting of the Cabinet was called to be held this afternoon to consider the situation. The executive body of the railroad men, it was declared by J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, has unanimously decided to declare a strike at noon Friday unless a settlement offer from the Government is received in the meantime. London, Sept. 24.—A railway strike in the United Kingdom over the question of wages appeared as a possibility through to-day's developments in the negotiations between representatives of the men and the Government. The executive body of the railroad men this morning sent an ultimatum to the Government regarding a standardization offer made by the latter, and intimated that unless a favorable reply should be received by noon on Thursday the men would be ordered to quit work. The ultimatum was the result of a conference this morning between Sir Eric Geddes, the new Minister of Transportation, and Mr. Lloyd George.

Higher Rates. London, Sept. 24.—Sir Eric Geddes' ultimatum this afternoon declaring that the action of the men's executive was unjustifiable and that in order to meet their demands freight rates would have to be advanced probably fifty per cent. He declared that the increased pay demanded would mean an additional permanent expenditure by the railway companies amounting to £45,000,000 annually as compared with the pre-war expenditure. Other concessions that had been granted, the Minister stated, had brought the increased expenditure of the railroads up to £65,000,000 annually whereas the pre-war expenditure was only about £47,000,000. LEVEES ON LOWER RIO GRANDE RIVER ARE CARRIED AWAY

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 24.—Hidalgo, Texas, and Reynosa, Mexico, were both reported completely surrounded by water to-day as a result of breaking levees. On the Mexican side of the Rio Grande the Mexican National Railway has suspended service between Reynosa and Matamoras. Trains from Monterey are being held up at San Miguel, twenty miles west of Reynosa. On the Texas side approximately thirty miles of the Gulf Coast Lines Railroad track between Brownsville and Hidalgo are reported under water.

PRINCE TO PRESENT MEDAL IN SICK WARD

Throwing Aside Formality, Will Visit Widow of Canadian Hero

Simplicity and kindness on the part of the future King have shown themselves continually in many a spontaneous incident during his tour across the Dominion, but never in more touching fashion than when the Royal visitor readily and promptly offered to visit the Jubilee Hospital and present to Mrs. Bernard Shipton a Military Medal which her husband, a Canadian officer, won before he was killed at the battlefront. While the numerous engagements arranged for him will give the Prince little time to himself, after attending church on Sunday, throwing aside all formality, he will visit the sickroom where Mrs. Shipton and her little son, are recovering from the effects of an automobile accident which prevented them from attending the formal presentation to-day at the Parliament Square.

OTTAWA BUILDINGS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Blaze in New Parliament Buildings; Loss Estimated at $2,000

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The new Parliament Buildings were the scene of a fire last night, and but for the fire-proof construction a conflagration such as that of February, 1916, might have ensued. The blaze occurred in an inside room in the basement among some boxes containing asbestos, and the firemen had to drag their hose through corridors in order to reach the flames. The damage to property was about $2,000, but whether the dense smoke which regulated will injure any of the new painting or plaster is unknown yet.

EDMONTON POWER PLANT TAKEN OVER

Edmonton, Sept. 24.—The City Council yesterday took over the power plant here. Following a notice from the solicitors for the Alliance Company that operations at the plant would be suspended at noon, the City Council authorized the Commissioners to take whatever steps were necessary to protect the city's interests.

The company's action was not unexpected, as it was freely considered that this would be the next move following the refusal of the Public Utilities Commission to grant an increase in power rates.

The company has a deposit of $25,000 with the city, which was given when the agreement was made in 1914. Whether the city can seize this amount or whether the company can get it back is a matter to be decided later on. Hyndman, Milner & Mathieson clearly indicated to the Council that they will make a demand for the return of this sum.

MURPHY REPLIED TO ROWELL'S REMARKS

Noisy Time in Commons at Ottawa; Peace Bill Passed

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—Another chapter in the quarrel between Hon. N. W. Rowell and Hon. Charles Murphy was written in the Commons yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Murphy, on a question of privilege, replied to some of the statements made by Mr. Rowell in the close-chested debate on the address. Mr. Murphy had considerable difficulty in making headway because of Speaker's ruling that it was not permissible on a matter of privilege to deny much to reply to specific statements.

Amidst loud cries of "order" from Government supporters, shouts of encouragement from the Liberals, and interruptions from the Speaker, the ex-Minister succeeded in making a number of statements in reply to Mr. Rowell, and closed with a promise to deal with the Minister more at length at the first opportunity next session.

Mr. Murphy maintained that all the statements made eighteen months ago in reference to Mr. Rowell's salary as Leader of the Opposition in Ontario and other matters were correct, and in referring to the President of the Privy Council, made use of the epithets "financial leech" and "political parasite."

"Falsehoods."

Mr. Murphy referred to what he called "evasions, half-truths and falsehoods" which Mr. Rowell had characterized as a reply to his observations made in March, 1918. He regretted, he said, that the rules of the House did not permit him to deal on a question of privilege with falsehoods of a general character contained in Mr. Rowell's speech of Wednesday last.

"Therefore," Mr. Murphy went on, "I can do no more than state that I will deal with these statements at the first opportunity at the beginning of next session."

Mr. Murphy denied that his first speech was an attack. It was, he said, a reply to an attack made by Mr. Rowell in a speech at North Bay, Ontario, upon members of French religious orders. The speaker called him to order.

Not Absent.

Mr. Murphy denied that he had taken advantage of Mr. Rowell's absence from the House. He had begun his speech, he said, before the House rose at six o'clock. At that time Mr. Rowell was in the House. Again Mr. Murphy was called to order.

The President of the Privy Council had intimated that Mr. Murphy should have visited the front before the next session, but Mr. Murphy said the House that the honorable gentleman received a fund of about $3,750 in order to make his trip to the front."

Mr. Murphy said, "Had I been a financial leech or a political parasite I could have made the trip myself."

The Speaker again intervened and Mr. Murphy sat down, remarking that he would all he wanted to until the next time.

ONE BIG UNION WAS ROUNDLY DENOUNCED

American Federation of Labor Men Spoke at Dominion Trades Congress

Hamilton, Sept. 24.—Seathing denunciation of the One Big Union, the principles of the organization, the methods adopted by those who seek to foster the movement, and practically everything connected with it, was made yesterday afternoon by J. W. Hayes and Mathew Hall, members of the Executive Committee of the American Federation of Labor, in speeches before the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress. They alleged that the One Big Union was strongly opposed to organized labor and was an attempt to revive a scheme that had been attempted thirty years ago in the United States, but which at that time had been found wanting.

"While I am unalterably opposed to the One Big Union because I do not think it practicable," said Mr. Hayes, "I do recognize the fact there is in this country and in the United States a great deal of unrest. There is a reason for dissatisfaction. The cost of living has been soaring and the increase in wages has not been in equal proportion. That is sufficient to cause trouble."

At this juncture he pointed out that all new ideas find a certain number of adherents, and this was the case with the propaganda circulated in the West.

Best Devised.

He declared that the trades union organization was more competent to handle industrial problems than any other in existence at the present time. Concluding his phrase of his address, Mr. Hayes urged co-operation between employers and employees and the stabilization of industry.

In urging the use of goods bearing union labels, the speaker stated that there were 2,500,000 persons affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the annual earnings of this number was approximately $3,240,000,000. In the event of this amount being spent only in the purchase of union label goods, he declared industry would be revolutionized and non-union industries compelled to seek organization.

Sensation.

The speakers, members of the local union label trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which is holding sessions in Hamilton, created something of a sensation when they commenced to denounce the movement, which has quite a number of supporters among the delegates at the convention. The sentiments they expressed at first provoked a number of these, and interruptions were frequent, but more often than not the shouts of approval were drowned by the applause of more moderate members of the Congress.

Attempts were made to question the speakers, but President Moore ruled with an iron hand, informing the delegates that they would have every opportunity of discussing the matter when it came before the Congress in another way.

Election.

Some idea of the part organized labor hopes to play in the coming general election in Ontario was told by Joe Marks, secretary of the Independent Labor Party, who addressed the Congress in an appeal for support of labor at the polls.

Mr. Marks stated "that labor is united politically from one end of Ontario to the other, and added that they had been able to arrange with the United Farmers of Ontario to run joint candidates, apart from those who will carry the banner of the United Farmers of Ontario as well."

Thanksgiving Day

Further consideration was given to Mr. Pedlow's bill to fix a permanent Thanksgiving Day commemorative to the Armistice.

The amendment moved the other night, providing that Armistice and Thanksgiving Day be November 11 (Armistice Day), was carried on a standing vote, 24 to 22, and the bill was reported out of committee. As it stands for third reading the matter has not yet been finally dealt with.

C. W. Jacobs' bill to amend the House Act was further discussed, and was sent to committee on privileges and elections. It provides for holding bye-elections within 60 days of a vacancy occurring, and a general holiday on election day.

Tariff.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux asked the Government whether it was the intention to appoint a Commission this fall for the purpose of revising the tariff.

Hon. A. K. Maclean replied that it was not proposed to appoint a Commission.

Adjournment.

Before adjournment the Minister of Justice said that as no action had been taken in expressing the loss felt by the House in the death of the late Hon. Frank Cochrane, he wished to move that the House refrain from sitting during the time of the funeral to-day. He therefore moved that adjournment be made until 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and this course was followed.

League of Nations.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—In the House yesterday afternoon Hon. W. S. Fielding asked whether Canada's representative on the League of Nations would be appointed under a bill. He expressed the view that the mere passing of the peace treaty would not give authority for making such an appointment. He also asked whether the appointment, when made, would be permanent or whether it would change after a certain period.

Hon. C. J. Doherty replied that he did not think the decision was to make the appointment permanent. He agreed that it would be advisable to have such an appointment made under a bill passed by Parliament.

In answer to a question by Mr. Lemieux, the Minister of Justice explained that each country would pay the salary of its representatives on the League of Nations.

LIBERTY BONDS STOLEN

Concrete, N. D., Sept. 24.—Four thousand dollars worth of Liberty bonds were stolen by thugs when they broke into the First State Bank here. The robbers bored through a wall in the vault and confined their attention to the safety deposit vaults.

Bargling the refuse of the City of London down the river cost the rat-payers £7,320 last year.

ONE BIG UNION WAS ROUNDLY DENOUNCED

American Federation of Labor Men Spoke at Dominion Trades Congress

Hamilton, Sept. 24.—Seathing denunciation of the One Big Union, the principles of the organization, the methods adopted by those who seek to foster the movement, and practically everything connected with it, was made yesterday afternoon by J. W. Hayes and Mathew Hall, members of the Executive Committee of the American Federation of Labor, in speeches before the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress. They alleged that the One Big Union was strongly opposed to organized labor and was an attempt to revive a scheme that had been attempted thirty years ago in the United States, but which at that time had been found wanting.

"While I am unalterably opposed to the One Big Union because I do not think it practicable," said Mr. Hayes, "I do recognize the fact there is in this country and in the United States a great deal of unrest. There is a reason for dissatisfaction. The cost of living has been soaring and the increase in wages has not been in equal proportion. That is sufficient to cause trouble."

At this juncture he pointed out that all new ideas find a certain number of adherents, and this was the case with the propaganda circulated in the West.

Best Devised.

He declared that the trades union organization was more competent to handle industrial problems than any other in existence at the present time. Concluding his phrase of his address, Mr. Hayes urged co-operation between employers and employees and the stabilization of industry.

In urging the use of goods bearing union labels, the speaker stated that there were 2,500,000 persons affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the annual earnings of this number was approximately $3,240,000,000. In the event of this amount being spent only in the purchase of union label goods, he declared industry would be revolutionized and non-union industries compelled to seek organization.

Sensation.

The speakers, members of the local union label trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which is holding sessions in Hamilton, created something of a sensation when they commenced to denounce the movement, which has quite a number of supporters among the delegates at the convention. The sentiments they expressed at first provoked a number of these, and interruptions were frequent, but more often than not the shouts of approval were drowned by the applause of more moderate members of the Congress.

Attempts were made to question the speakers, but President Moore ruled with an iron hand, informing the delegates that they would have every opportunity of discussing the matter when it came before the Congress in another way.

Election.

Some idea of the part organized labor hopes to play in the coming general election in Ontario was told by Joe Marks, secretary of the Independent Labor Party, who addressed the Congress in an appeal for support of labor at the polls.

Mr. Marks stated "that labor is united politically from one end of Ontario to the other, and added that they had been able to arrange with the United Farmers of Ontario to run joint candidates, apart from those who will carry the banner of the United Farmers of Ontario as well."

WHY LEAGUE IS NEEDED.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Unless the League of Nations is formed, the American peace time army of 509,000 proposed by the War Department will be only "child's play," the House Military Committee was told yesterday by Secretary Baker.

"Without the League," he said, "every big nation must be armed to the teeth, and we would have the old story of the balance of power."

ONTARIO ELECTION SET FOR OCT. 20

Premier Hearst Promises Enforcement of Liquor Law If Re-elected

Toronto, Sept. 24.—Announcement that the Provincial general election will be held on Monday, October 20, was made yesterday afternoon by Sir William Hearst, Premier of Ontario. Nominations will be held the previous Monday, October 13. The date of the election was generally anticipated, but it was not until after a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon that the announcement was made.

The Premier has issued an appeal to the electors of the Province, stating that he has followed in the footsteps of his immediate predecessor, the late Sir James Whitney, whom he succeeded in the premiership on October 2, 1916, and pointing out reasons why he thinks his Government should be returned to power.

A summary of the programme on which the Government asks for the votes of the electors of the Province includes the faithful enforcement of the people's verdict on the liquor question.

The date of the last Ontario general election was June 18, 1914. The parties stood after the votes were counted: Conservatives, 84; Liberals, 25; Independent Liberals, 1; Labor, 1. The standing of the parties at dissolution of the Legislature is: Conservatives, 75; Liberals, 30; United Farmers, 2; vacant seats, 2; Conservative-Liberals, 1; Labor, 2.

Last night it was stated that there were 44 Conservatives nominated, 47 Liberals and 57 United Farmers.

Numerous conventions will be held during the next week. Eganville, Ont., Sept. 24.—R. J. Slattery, a lawyer of Arnprior, yesterday was nominated Liberal candidate to contest the riding of South Renfrew in the coming Ontario election. Hon. T. M. McGarry, Provincial Treasurer, and John Carty, Brudenell Farmers' candidate, are also in the field.

West Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—Hammett P. Hill, a lawyer, was chosen candidate of the Hearst administration supporters in an open convention here last night. The gathering was unique in that it was open to any elector of West Ottawa professing support of the present Government. About 600 attended. Former Mayor Charles Hopewell was the only other name put in for nomination.

New Minister.

Toronto, Sept. 24.—Brigadier-General Arthur E. Ross, who is being taken into the Ontario Cabinet, is a native of Ontario and is forty-nine years old. In the South African War he gave eminent service as a surgeon.

ANDERSON'S LONG SEARCH COMES TO SUCCESSFUL END

Suffered 25 Years From Catarrh of Stomach; Praises Tanlac

"My long search for something to relieve me of catarrh of the stomach, nose and throat, ended when I got Tanlac," declared John Anderson, clerk at the Depot, Rooms, 132 9th Avenue, East, Calgary, in a statement recently.
"I have suffered for twenty-five years," he continued, "and when a medicine reaches troubles of the long standing it has certainly proven its value. Sometimes I would eat for days without eating more than a few bites, but in either case my food would cause bloating, gas and severe pains in my stomach. And as for the catarrh in my head; why, it was an effort for me to clear my nose and throat of the mucus on getting up in the mornings and I had almost lost my sense of smell. I was always ten or fifteen pounds under weight and felt weak and tired all the time. I was also troubled with constipation and headache and was in constant dread for fear something more serious would get the matter with me."
"I finally started taking Tanlac on the advice of guests at the hotel where I work, and my improvement has been steady and sure from that time on. I can eat three rousing meals every day now without the least bad effects from it. My stomach is in fine shape, and I have picked up ten pounds or more, in weight. By taking the Tanlac Laxative Tablets along with Tanlac I have gotten rid of the constipation and headaches and the catarrh in my head is so much better that I hardly notice it any more. I have taken ten bottles of Tanlac, but I have spent a hundred times more than those ten bottles cost me for other medicines and got no results. Tanlac certainly does the work and it's a pleasure for me to endorse a medicine that has done so much for me."
"Probably the most prevalent and distressing condition that afflicts humanity is chronic catarrh of the various mucous membranes. Catarrh of the stomach is the most frequent cause of dyspepsia and catarrh of the nose and throat lead to inevitable deafness. Frequently the lungs become diseased by the extension of catarrhal inflammation by way of the bronchial tubes to the lung substance. An offensive breath, constant sneezing, discharge from the nose, droppings into the throat, frequent sneezing, watery eyes, full head, headaches, depression of spirits, nervousness, unsound digestion, and loss of appetite are characteristic symptoms of this trouble from which so many people suffer."
Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive tonic, was designed to bring about an astonishing improvement in your spirits, appetite and general condition. It is now testifying daily that the medicine preserves your strength, gives you renewed energy, brightens your spirits, and that means that it lengthens your life and is an unmistakable, unflinching comfort to the thousands who suffer from catarrh and its distressing consequences.
Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas Avenues.

BRITISH WOMEN AND LEAGUE OF NATIONS

London, Sept. 24.—Representatives of various women's organizations met at Caxton Hall to consider what should be done to secure adequate representation of women in the various bodies which will be associated with the League of Nations. The covenant of the League provides that all positions connected with the League, including the Secretariat, will be open equally to men and women.

Resolutions were adopted urging the Government to see to it that the women obtain fair representation in the assembly of delegates, the international court of justice and all other commissions to be set up by the League. A list of suitable woman candidates for such appointments will be submitted to the Government.

STUBBORN FIRE IN TORONTO YESTERDAY

Toronto, Sept. 24.—Two fire-fighters were blown off a ladder by a high pressure steam and injured, a valuable team of fire horses ran away and were drowned in the Don River, and over $150,000 damage was done by a fire that was discovered in a four-story brick warehouse here at 165-197 Front Street, East, yesterday.

Two score firemen were in constant jeopardy from falling electric wires and they took their lives in their hands in fighting the fire when two floors and the roof fell crashing through the building.
The fire eventually was extinguished.

GRANT WANTED FOR MANITOBA RAILWAY

Winnipeg, Sept. 24.—That the Greater Winnipeg Water District Railway is a colonization railway and should be given a grant similar to those given other colonization railways, was the effect of representations made to the Federal Government by a delegation headed by Commissioner R. D. Waugh, who returned here last night with Alderman R. W. Wighton and Reeve Richardson of Assiniboia.

The delegation was received by Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, and Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Colonization and Immigration, for whom preliminary statements, admitted that they could not refute the contention that the railway was developing a large section of the Province of Manitoba.

BALLOONIST TO TRY TO COMMUNICATE WITH PLANET MARS

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 24.—Leo Stevens, balloon instructor at Fort Omaha, announced that Fred David Todd will attempt to communicate with the planet Mars this fall in a balloon to be constructed and piloted by Stevens. The balloon, to be the largest ever made, will ascend 50,000 feet, Stevens said. Its capacity will be 140,000 cubic feet. The balloon will be enabled to rise to the expected height, Stevens said, by use of an invention which divides the balloon into two compartments, the upper containing hydrogen and the lower fresh air.

MORE PAY ASKED.

Montreal, Sept. 24.—Demands which practically amount to an ultimatum were received yesterday by the Ottawa Roman Catholic Board of School Commissioners from the teachers in the Roman Catholic schools. The teachers asked an increase in their salaries and better working conditions, and demanded an answer within a week but did not state what their action would be failing this. The demand for increased salaries was submitted to the finance committee and for the present no notice was taken of the other demands.

TO VISIT CALIFORNIA.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The King and Queen of Belgium will visit San Francisco October 15, going from there to the Yosemite Valley and thence to Los Angeles. Senator Phelan, of California, announced yesterday afternoon.

Why Do French Women Always Look Young

In France mothers and daughters look like sisters. How are the women here able to retain their youthful looks until long past middle age? Is it because they are much given to the use of merolized wax? This wax possesses a remarkable absorbent property which quickly removes the fine particles of dust which are constantly floating and which are the immediate cause of an old-looking complexion. Thus the liver, healthier, younger skin because is given a chance to breathe and to show itself. Try this treatment yourself. Most likely it will not require two weeks to make your complexion as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. Just one ounce of merolized wax (all American druggists have it), usually does the work. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings.

EDMONTON COUNCIL AND RETURNED MEN

Edmonton, Sept. 24.—The Edmonton City Council has gone firmly on record in supporting soldier readjustment in Canada. After hearing speakers from the Great War Veterans' Association present the case for the returned men, the city fathers showed their determination to have a square deal for the veterans.
The following resolution, moved by Alderman Prevy, was adopted unanimously:
"That the Council of the City of Edmonton feels convinced that further measures for the reinstatement of the returned soldiers of Canada are essential to the welfare, prosperity and contentment of not only the returned men themselves, but also of the country as a whole."
"We therefore respectfully impress upon the Dominion Government the urgency of dealing with this vital matter, of imperative necessity, generously and promptly."

ROTARIANS TO MEET IN CALGARY IN 1920

Calgary, Sept. 24.—Calgary will be the scene of a big Rotary convention April 9 and 10, 1920, a decision to this effect having been reached at a meeting of the president and secretaries of District 19, which was held at Medicine Hat.

It was announced by Dr. Crawford McCullough, governor of District 19, who presided at the meeting at Medicine Hat, that Bert Adams, president of the International Rotary, will attend the Calgary rally.

Why all this Precaution?

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about. Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

The False and the True.

Advertising by the use of large space, the expenditure of huge sums of money have placed on the market, have put in your home, perhaps, many articles that today have been discarded, as you will readily admit.

Do you recall anything that has more modestly appealed to the public than has Fletcher's Castoria: modest in all its claims, pleading at all times—and truthfully—for our babies?

The big spurge, the misleading claims may win for a time, but the honest truth-telling advertiser is like the old story of the tortoise that beat the hare.

Mothers everywhere, and their daughters, now mothers, speak frankly, glowingly, enthusiastically in praise of Fletcher's Castoria. Speak of it lovingly as a friend that has brought comfort, cheer and smiles to their little-ones.

THE PRINCE'S RECEPTION.

The vivacity and zeal with which the Prince of Wales entered into the spirit of his reception yesterday, the eager interest he showed in every feature of the occasion and the heartiness with which he reciprocated the greetings extended to him, made an irresistible appeal to the crowds that lined the streets along which he passed. His natural, unaffected bearing was good to see and, incidentally, it should teach a useful lesson to not a few who are wasting much time and money in the painful but futile effort of cultivating the bizarre ways and manners of the so-called "smart set."

These characteristics of the heir to the Throne are particularly noteworthy from the fact that during the last few weeks he has been subjected to a strain which would have played some havoc with a less buoyant disposition. Since his arrival in Canada he has lived "the strenuous life," the late Colonel Roosevelt delighted in and of which Mr. Lloyd George is a distinguished exponent, and, like both of those dynamic leaders, he appears to have a boundless capacity for it and for the enjoyment of it.

It is quite apparent that he intends to miss nothing that is of interest and instruction on his Canadian tour, and it requires no great penetration to perceive that what interests him most is the plain people who cheer him on his way and with whom he instantly establishes an unreserved entente cordiale.

This is as it should be. It is principally the plain people the Prince came to see and, what is more important, to meet, and anything which detracts from the gratification of that desire helps to defeat the object of his tour, deprive it of its chief essence and, judging by his demeanor in responding to the acclamation of the crowds yesterday, of much of its pleasure for the Royal visitor.

THE STEEL STRIKE.

Notwithstanding the claims of operators of the big steel industries of the United States that the strike in their plants has been a partial failure, it is evident that many thousands of men have stopped work and that a number of important establishments have had to close down. The demands for which the men are striking include the adoption of the eight-hour day, collective bargaining and other concessions and the leaders of the strike declare there will not be a resumption of work until these demands have been granted.

Chairman E. H. Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, recently addressed a letter to the presidents of the subsidiary companies of that big concern, giving his reasons for declining to meet representatives of the labor organizations to discuss these matters. These were, first, because, he declared, those who desired to confer with him were not authorized to speak for large numbers of the Corporation's employees, and, secondly, because such a conference would be an admission that the Steel Corporation recognized the principle of the closed shop method of employment, to which it is opposed.

A definite issue, therefore, has been raised, and a big fight appears to be ahead. Whatever may be the outcome the strike undoubtedly will have a serious effect upon production at a time when the United States steel industry is making tremendous efforts to capture the world's markets, and is taking the utmost advantage of the labor troubles in the United Kingdom to undersell British products in their own market. The strike in the United States, therefore, even if it is only partial, as the operators claim it is, must be a hard blow to the American steel industry.

THE NAVY'S TRIBUTE TO BEATTY.

Of all the official celebrations and festivities marking the Empire's victory over Prussianism the Navy's compliment to Admiral Lord Beatty stands by itself. Together with forty-two of his Admirals and other officers the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Fleet was entertained at dinner in the Town Hall of historic Portsmouth by 500 men of the lower deck. As a token of loyalty and affection the men presented their chief with a silver cigar box.

Possibly nowhere in the annals of the British Navy could there be found a parallel to Monday night's event. It is eloquent proof of all that has been written and told about Lord Beatty and his gallant tars. From the day he commenced to climb in the senior service the Commander-in-Chief always made it a point to know his men. Therein lay a good deal of the foundation of his brilliant career. Through the navy's ceaseless vigil in the North Sea for nearly four and a half years that spirit of comradeship never waned. Its effect was seen at Heligoland Bight, at the Dogger Bank and at Jutland.

Even to the uninitiated there is something about the Beatty jaw and the Beatty tilt of the cap that suggests a great deal more of the human instinct than is ordinarily associated with the trappings of his rank. The men of the lower deck have seen below the surface where Britain's chief naval officer is concerned.

WHAT ABOUT STUDENTS?

It is altogether probable the conference, which is to be held between a committee of the Dominion Government and representatives of the returned soldiers organizations in connection with certain aspects of soldiers' rehabilitation and reconstruction, will consider the status of students who enlisted for overseas service. The Government has made no adequate provision for enabling these young men to complete the educational training which was interrupted when they responded to the country's call for recruits. The regulation which students who were not above eighteen years of age when they enlisted, does not begin to meet the requirements. Indeed, it is so glaringly unjust that it is little better than a subterfuge, for it is reasonably certain that the number of students of more than eighteen years of age who enlisted was much greater than the number of that age and under it. If the purpose of the regulation is to compensate students for what they sacrificed when they joined the war services, there should be no discrimination on account of their ages. As we have stated more than once already, either that regulation should be amended so as to apply to all students, as in England, or it should be cancelled altogether.

REGISTRATION FIGURES.

It is estimated that between 5,000 and 8,000 people in Victoria entitled to register for the voters' list failed to do so during the recent registration period. This means that between 12,000 and 15,000 registered. All circumstances considered, this result is not unfavorable. The conditions under which registration was carried on were sufficient to dampen the interest of the public in the proceedings. These were due to the Act, which in this and other particulars is unique in the electoral annals of the Dominion, and is a perfect exhibition of what such a law should not be. The wonder is not that so few applied for registration, but that there were relatively so few that did not apply. Fortunately these will be given another opportunity of having their names enrolled on the voters' list, this time by applying to the Court of Revision, which will sit for a week early next month, and which, therefore, besides discharging the ordinary duties of a revising tribunal, will act as a sort of supplementary registration bureau. This is a satisfactory arrangement, but it should not be necessary and would not be if the election Act had laid down proper conditions for the original registration.

"DIRECT ACTION" IN SCHOOL.

"Direct action" apparently is by no means confined to industrial organizations. Nor is a premeditated platform necessary in all cases where coercive measures are advocated in an endeavor to bring about any special condition. In Toronto yesterday, for instance, all the senior pupils of the Williams' School went on strike three times because their Principal had been removed and another Principal substituted by the Board of Education. The dispatch does not record whether the pupils succeeded in "enforcing their demands" or whether it will be necessary to evolve a brand of classroom etiquette which will countenance collective bargaining. It may be that the march of civilization has not reached the stage when an educational curriculum could be stretched to include a course in Trade Unionism for the young. Actors and aerial pilots have resorted to the strike weapon; even Baptist Ministers in the United States are now threatening to get into the modern swing. We may yet see a Triple Alliance of Actors, Baptist Ministers and Aerial Pilots, with High School pupils as the junior grade of a "Big Three."

BEN TILLET IN CANADA.

Ben Tillett, one of Britain's best-known labor leaders, has reached Montreal on his way to attend the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress now in session at Hamilton. He predicts a Labor Government for Great Britain in a few years' time. In his opinion there will be a fusion between Liberal and Labor parties. In this he may be nearer the mark than present conditions appear to suggest. Obviously government by a Coalitionist Administration cannot last indefinitely. When the re-shuffle takes place there will be a more distinct cleavage between the two leading parties than ever there was before. As to whether the fight will be between the old Conservative school and a Liberal-Labor or Labor-Liberal amalgamation remains to be seen. However, it is satisfactory to note Mr. Tillett's reference to British Labor's decision to settle itself down to peaceful parliamentary pressure instead of resorting to direct force. Mr. Tillett himself has had his day as a firebrand and his Tower Hill speeches are well remembered in England. But the war and Labor's responsibility to the Empire wrought a great change. The country benefitted and in the day of a Labor Government Mr. Tillett may reap his own reward.

THE WAY TO SAVE IS TO SAVE.

Lloyd George took the short way and the straight way with his ministers when his judgment told him the time had come to make drastic reduction in the British Government expenses. He talked the situation over with his colleagues, and then he sent each of them a letter in which he wrote:
"The time has come when each minister ought to make clear to those under his control that if they cannot reduce expenditures they must make room for somebody who can.
"That is the public temper, and it is right.
"The way to resume is to resume." The way to economize is to economize. If the men on the job won't save, others will be found who will save. To stop waste, stop it.
The short way is the best way for Great Britain, for the United States, for New York State, for New York City, for every government and for every individual. The man or woman who is extravagant in domestic and personal expenditures may not be able to make room for somebody else at the head of the private treasury, but the present incumbent can reform.
Talk will not reduce expenditures; shutting the pocketbook will.

"The request has been made that, if convenient to His Royal Highness and without too serious a dislocation of the plans which you already have been good enough to sanction in connection with the visit of His Royal Highness to His Royal Highness visit the Jubilee Hospital and present personally those medals to the proper recipient.
"I have some hesitation in making this suggestion and do so only at the urgent request of those most deeply interested, believing that His Royal Highness can endear himself no more to the public of this city and of British Columbia and, indeed to the valiant men who have served overseas than by deviating from the said plan sufficiently to arrange for such presentation.

"I am in your hands entirely, as you will understand, but proffer these suggestions to you in the full knowledge and belief that they will have most sympathetic consideration. I may state that the Hon. the Premier, concurs heartily in the proffer of this request.
"A prompt reply to this message came from Rear Admiral Lionel Halsey, Chief of Staff to the Prince, as follows:
Colonel Henderson has handed me your letter of September 23. His Royal Highness regrets to hear of the accident to Mrs. Shipton and desires me to state that he will be pleased to visit the Jubilee Hospital after church on Sunday, in order to present Mrs. Shipton with the medals earned by her husband."

STEEL WORKERS AND FIRMS IN STATES CONTINUE FIGHT

Committee Meets. Pittsburgh, Sept. 24.—Interest in the nation-wide steel strike which has been in progress since last Monday centred today in the meeting here of the national committee for organizing iron and steel workers, called by William Z. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the strikers.
Mr. Foster declared that the committee would not consider "peace plans" but would discuss the advisability of extending the strike to include seamen on Great Lakes carrier vessels and union trainmen.
To the End. According to the secretary, the union is preparing for a long struggle and he declares the workers will fight to the bitter end.
The strike situation in the Pittsburgh district remains practically unchanged, with the employers and union leaders issuing conflicting statements as to the number of men involved. The union men declare thousands of workers are joining the strike, while the employers claim that scores of mills have been crippled.
Chicago District. Chicago, Sept. 24.—The third day of the strike in the Chicago district found rumors of the importation of strikebreakers into the Chicago district and reports that some of the mills idle since Monday contemplated resuming operations by pooling loyal workmen.
The only rioting in this district occurred at Indian Harbor, Ind., last night, when strikers outside the coke plant of the Mark Manufacturing Company attacked about twenty-five men who they left work. Eight or ten men were badly beaten and were taken to an emergency hospital after the police had stopped the fighting.
A number of shots were fired at the police, but no one was hit. A negro striker who was carrying a rifle was arrested.
Ships Tied Up. Eleven steamers carrying 100,000 tons of ore are tied up in the outer harbor at South Chicago by the refusal of the crews to dock their vessels. The Chicago Seamen's Union leaders said their men had voted to strike in sympathy with the steel men.

Four Killed.

Pittsburg, Sept. 24.—Disorders incident to the steel strike continued in the Pittsburgh district last night. The most serious outbreak occurred at Farrell, Pa., where two men were killed during a clash between strikers and their sympathizers and state troops. In the disorders of Monday and Tuesday at Farrell, Newmarket and other points, four persons were killed, more than a score shot, many others were slightly wounded and hundreds of arrests were made.

the time the armistice was signed for the institution of the eight-hour day upon all Government work did not conflict in any way with the various proposals regarding the forty-four-hour or a thirty-hour week. The president's report on this subject was then adopted.
Liquor Question. With great enthusiasm the delegates commended the action of Mr. Moore in arranging an interview with the Government to protest against prohibition.
Housing Scheme. Consideration of the Government's housing scheme resulted in considerable discussion, delegates from different sections of the Dominion complaining that the provisions were not adequate to meet the situation. The chairman of the committee regretted that the Government had not seen fit to adopt the suggestion of the president that loans for building purposes should be made directly to the persons interested.

Speaking in elaboration of his report to the Congress, President Moore deplored the housing conditions existing in Canada. Particularly in the mining districts was the accommodation extremely bad, he said. He instanced the case of fifteen Chinese living in one small attic room in Vancouver. "There are too many people being warehoused instead of being housed," he said.

The outcome of the discussion was the appointment of a committee consisting of Delegates Bruce, Toronto; Mathis, Montreal; Steele, Sydney; Watson, Moose Jaw, and Leavitt, Alberta, to consider the matter.

This increase, he said, must be borne by the community as a whole and by the country's export trade.
Unexpected. The action of the executive some somewhat unexpectedly, despite the gloomy forecast of an approaching crisis given by Secretary Thomas in the House of Commons yesterday, as inquiry among leaders of the railwaymen's union during the morning revealed that his opinion did not accord with the general view of the men. Before the meeting at which the ultimatum was framed, which was a session of the full executive body of the National Union of Railwaymen, the belief was voiced in most quarters that a settlement could be reached without a general strike.
"Both the executive and myself consider the Government's offer one that could not be accepted, as it would in itself result in an outburst in all parts of the country which would leave our position such that we could not control it," said Secretary Thomas in speaking of the situation this afternoon.
British Unions. London, Sept. 24.—An enormous increase in the membership of the British trades unions is shown in a Trades Union Congress report just issued, which gives the present total membership of bodies affiliated with the Congress as 4,855,000, as compared with 2,222,000 just before the war, and 4,822,000 in 1918.
The most startling increase is noted in the membership of the Agricultural Labourers' Union, which was only 30,000 last year, but to-day is 100,000. Seventeen other unions have made increases during the last year of more than 10,000.

Veterans of Great War. Stretching across the grounds from one driveway to the other the veterans of the Great War were assembled. The artillery under Major W. B. Shaw, was on the right of the line, and the gallant Imperials, under Major A. D. MacDonald were on their left. The First Division, under command of Lieut.-Col. Major, formerly of the 7th Battalion, was well represented. The Second Division, under Lieut.-Col. J. Sclater, of the 29th Battalion, was assembled on the right of the walk, leading from the fountain to the steps of the building. Directly behind the Second was the Fourth Division, under Lieut.-Col. Lorne Ross, D. S. O., of the 57th Battalion, and the third Division under Lieut.-Col. Chalmers Johnston, D. S. O., with Bar, M. C. Croix de Guerre, of the 2nd C. M. R. Battalion, was in column behind the First Division. On the extreme left the R. A. E. officers were lined, and behind them the Corps troops.
The Cadets Corps, in charge of Major A. W. Moore, including the Corps of the High School, Central School, George Jay School and Burnside School, about 200 strong, were formed up in rear of the Fourth Division and in rear of them again came the Girls' Guides in their picturesque dress. They were in charge of Mrs. Griffiths, The Royal Naval Brigade, 225 strong, under Lieut. W. M. Hotham, were in line behind the Third Division. They looked particularly smart, and were sized off to show to the best advantage. To the rear of them were the Boy Scouts, 110 strong, under Hon. Rev. T. R. Henegane. They represented the Third Troop, Collegiate School, B. C. Scouts, St. James, Granite Wolf Cubs and Victoria Preparatory School. Surrounding the fountain in the centre of the grounds were the Regents and standard-bearers of the chapters of the Daughters of the Empire, and the members of the V. A. D.'s in their white headresses and aprons, under Mrs. Charles Wilson, lady superintendent of the Victoria division of St. John's Ambulance, V. A. D. The nursing sisters occupied seats on the steps to the right of the Prince, and the wounded veterans were also granted seats of honor. The band of the G. W. V. A., under Bandmaster Miller, was in the driveway on the left, and officiated the proceedings at many times with spirited selections.
Packed tightly beyond the roped area, thousands of citizens who cheered the Prince, justly whenever he approached them on his tour of inspection. The school children were kept in a continuous state of verbal expression. Their flags fluted unceasingly and they were happy to see their Prince. The beautiful beds of flowers, the wonderful maples, all tended to increase the magnificence of the movement.
The Investiture. After smilingly pleasantly at the scene which was spread out before him, the Prince, in the uniform of the Welsh Guards, left the steps and proceeded to the investiture table, which was situated on the outer edge of the driveway in front of the steps. Brig-General Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., was the first officer to be decorated. He received the Long Service Ribbon. Then followed the parents of officers who had fallen in battle, after which came the officers, parents of fallen N. C. O.'s and men and the rankers themselves. The Prince had a smile, left-hand salute and a happy word or two of congratulation for all the officers and men and he spoke appropriately to the parents.
Those receiving decorations were: Colonial Auxiliary Long Service

Military Cross—Major R. O. G. Bennett, Major J. A. Briggs, Capt. G. N. Douglas, Capt. T. R. Griffith, Lieut. R. W. Price (to R. W. Price, father), Lieut. W. F. Clarke, Lieut. A. G. Bolton, Lieut. L. A. Welsh (to A. F. Welsh, father), Lieut. A. G. May, Capt. R. C. B. Foote.
M. C. and Bar—Capt. T. G. Norris. First and Second Bar to M. M.—Capt. W. C. Ross.
Distinguished Flying Cross—Capt. L. De S. Duke, Lieut. R. K. McConnell.
Distinguished Conduct Medal—No. 431085, Corpl. L. Wilby, Sergt. W. McCue.

Two Bars to Military Medal—No. 180119, Lance-Corpl. J. A. S. Peterson.
Immediately following the investiture the Prince proceeded to inspect the units on the green. He shook hands and spoke to each of the British Campaigners and shook hands with all officers of the various divisions and questioned each officer and man who wore ribbons for bravery. He congratulated all the units, and was particularly struck with the boys of the Naval Brigade.
Following his inspection the Prince returned to the investiture table and presented to Mrs. W. H. Ellis, 36 Government Street, the Military Cross which was won by her son, the late Lieut. Duncan Ellis.

Noted Nursing Sister. Seated amongst the nursing sisters on the steps of the building was Nursing Sister Maillard, widow of Staff-Surgeon W. J. Maillard, the only surgeon in the British Navy to win the Victoria Cross, and cousin of the late Lord Charles Bessborough. Attention was directed at the nursing sister when a puff of wind lifted the cape of her coat and revealed a thin strip of blue ribbon pinned on her right breast. When questioned as to the nature of the ribbon, Mrs. Maillard at first was reticent, but finally told the story.
Her husband when serving on board the torpedo gunboat Hazard was in the Mediterranean at the time of the massacre of the Christians at Kamadia, Crete, in 1847. The gunboat was ordered there and a landing party was sent ashore. Staff-Surgeon Maillard accompanied the party. On landing the party was subjected to heavy fire and suffered many casualties. The surgeon attended to the wounded without regard for his personal safety and his conduct was rewarded with the bestowal of the V.C. Surgeon Maillard died some years ago, and his wife wears the ribbon on her uniform. She served for a long time in the Great War and wears the Mons, Allied and Victory ribbons.
Premier Oliver called for three cheers and a tiger for the Prince before he proceeded to the foundation stone laying.
"So our engagement is at an end," said the blonde youth.
"It is certainly at an end," replied the fickle brunette.
"I suppose you will return the engagement ring?"
"I certainly will, if you will call around some night and pick it out."

"SHEEP THAT LAY GOLDEN EGGS."

"Begorra! some of the best Irish bulls are English," said an Irish M. P. not long ago, and he was right. When the Gladstone umbrella was all the rage, an Opposition candidate was heard to declare: "We, too, have an umbrella, and its voice will soon be heard; and when it speaks, it will speak with no uncertain sound."

Quite as good was the assertion of an M. P. who said: "I see a vision before mine eyes. I see the car of progress, rolling along in its majesty, gnashing its teeth as it rolls."

A better known M. P. is credited with the statement that "the British lion, whether it is roaming the deserts of India or climbing the forests of Canada, will not draw in its horns nor retire into its shell," while another speaker averred that "all along the untrodden paths of the future we can see the hidden footprints of an unseen hand."

It was a politician, too, who some time ago declared that "the Government keep putting the wool off the sheep that lay the golden eggs."

Another speaker once stated that the Union of England and Ireland would turn barren hills into fertile valleys. But one M. P., speaking on total prohibition, rather overstepped the mark when he said: "The glorious work will never be accomplished until the good ship Temperance shall sail from one end of the land to the other, and with a cry of 'Victory' at each step she takes, shall plant her banner in every city, town, and village of our country."

The grocer observed that his best customer was a bit ruffled over something, so strove to be obliging and pleasant. "I think," he said, blandly, "living is getting cheaper. For instance, a year ago those eggs would have cost you twice as much."

"Well, I must hop on and get Nurse Jane's sugar," said Uncle Wiggily. "Also I must look for an adventure. I haven't had one to-day."

"Oh, ho! I'll help the bunny!" barked the fox police dog. He broke into the cave, took out Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane's sugar, and went the rabbit gentleman, safely back to his hollow stump bungalow. Then the policeman dog got four other policeman dogs, they all hid in the bushes near the cave, and when the fox came back with the ink, the Skee and the alligator, they were all arrested.

CROWDS CHEERED THEIR FUTURE KING

Good Humor Prevailed This Morning on Parliament Square

Although the lawns in front of the Parliament Buildings were covered with citizens anxious to see the proceedings most were able to realize their ambition. The inspection of the troops, girl guides and others paraded for the royal visitor were only a matter for imagination by many gathered around the buildings, but most of them were able to view the clean cut young man they cheered so justly as he mounted the platform at the entrance from the street to the buildings.

Parents hoisted their children on their shoulders and one enthusiast was seen performing the same office for his wife, at least a 140-pounds of femininity. "You will pick him out easily. He will be wearing his hat," was the general comment among the crowd who came prepared to make the most of the few fleeting glimpses they were able to secure. Most of them obtained a better view than they expected without obtaining privileges of position and were able to see the young representative of the Royal Household with his characteristic salute of the guards to the repeated ovations.

Photographers. "The only fault to the position was that the camera men had a platform that the camera men had a platform. The position was ideal for taking photographs. An unobstructed view of the Prince, Premier Oliver and the other representatives of Victoria greeting him was secured, but not with the approval of the crowd. "Rush 'em off their perch," shouted a voice from the tree and several others joined in the call. A nervous photographer offered apologies, and explained that he would not obstruct the view longer than necessary and no damage was done.

Many Motorists. Determined to obtain a glimpse of His Royal Highness patient motorists each with a full load of passengers in every instance parked the cars on either side of Government Street. By 11 o'clock there was only room for a few more cars on each side of the street from the Parliament Buildings to Fort Street. There were also thousands of spectators who had taken up their stand determined to see the Royal visitor after he left the ceremony at the Parliament Buildings. The brilliant sun made the long wait a tedious task, but their patience was not overstrained. One woman gaily held her young son gaily attired for the occasion in velvet jacket and kilts on her shoulder that he might obtain a view of the proceedings.

Government Street near Humboldt Street proved to be the meeting place of groups of Chinese. There were thirty or forty Oriental spectators at this spot, while the Prince was receiving the enthusiastic cheers of the crowd outside the Parliament Buildings. Other Chinese noticing the assembly swelled the ranks, and judging by the number who assembled Chinatown must have been practically deserted. A little nearer the Parliament Buildings there was a gathering of Hindus all patiently waiting for the Royal Party to return.

Several Minor Casualties. There were several minor casualties expected in a big crowd of such a nature, but no serious injuries. A First Aid tent, Victoria Central Nursing Station, Division 24, St. John Ambulance Brigade proved a boom for a number of ladies. The nurses in charge had a busy time attending to female members of the crowd who had fainted under the strain of waiting in the heat to see the royal visitor. At one time the tent was full of persons needing first aid. The Girl Guides and Boy Scouts rendered aid in directing people where they could receive attention in such an emergency. Girl Guides and Boy Scouts were also among the patients.

seed exhibits, while Miss Winn is judging the essays. Breeds a New Corn. From Premier Oliver down, all visitors to the Fair have manifested great interest in the exhibit of Fred J. James, of Salt Spring Island, who is showing what can be done in this district in the way of seed production. Mr. James is showing specimens of sixty-eight varieties of seed, among which is a new bantam corn. The bantam corn has been the popular table corn here, chiefly because it is best suited to the climate. The weak feature of the bantam, however, has been its small size. Mr. James, by breeding, has remedied this and he is now introducing the result of his work, which is a bantam corn between two and three times the size of the average former corn. At the same time he has retained all the other popular features of the bantam, including its suitability to the Coast climate. This result has taken Mr. James four years to achieve.

Ten Dollars an Ounce. This seed showing is a credit to Vancouver Island," said Mr. Anketell-Jones, who is one of the judges at the Fair. "It is now admitted that we are producing better seed here on the Island than can be produced anywhere in the east."

Pleased With Seeds. Mr. Anketell-Jones last year took some of the sweet pea seeds bred by Crosland Brothers, of Duncan, to the exhibit at the New Westminster Fair.

"The people who examined these seeds over them were amazed at them," said Mr. Anketell-Jones today. "And they made a great fuss over these Vancouver Island seeds. They offered to buy them and their offers went as high as $10 an ounce."

Crosland Brothers are exhibiting some of these costly seeds at the Fair. They have already built up an extensive business, doing all their trade from Duncan direct with importers in England.

WHY SCHOOLGIRLS SQUINT.

That twice as many girls as boys squint is one of the conclusions arrived at by Dr. W. H. Hamer, Medical Officer of Health.

In his report on London school children, he attributes girls' poorer eyesight to sewing classes in school in the late afternoon while the light is at its worst, and when, in the winter months, artificial light has to be used.

Girls, however, according to Dr. Hamer, have better teeth than boys, due to the fact that it is easier to persuade the former to use a toothbrush than the latter. Girls suffer, because of lack of outdoor games and sports, more than boys, from heart defects and anaemia.

But, in spite of all these disadvantages, the poise and deportment of London girls is superior to that of boys. Country boys and girls both

"BLACK FOX" FUR

Victoria Rabbit Growers Introduce Valuable New Breed

Visitors to the rabbit section of the Home Products Fair this week here have been learning that all the costly stylish black furs seen on the street are not fox as they are reported to be. The trade secret has been given away by Mrs. E. Cheetham, president of the Victoria Rabbit Breeders' Association, who is in charge of the exhibit. She explains that the black Siberian hare is the animal guilty of anonymously entering upon the trade domain of the black fox. "The heavy fur of these black Siberian hares needs no dyeing," said Mrs. Cheetham today, "and it will stand the wear that the best of fox furs are capable of. The skin of these animals is the only rabbit skin that will tan properly. These skins are in great demand by fur manufacturers who turn them out as pure fox. Grow Well Here. These black Siberian hares are the breed of the future and they can be grown remarkably well near Victoria during the whole year. At present they are not the largest of rabbits, but we are working on them and soon expect to breed them up to the size of the Flemish Giants. Their tails are cured and used for the little fox tails on the fox furs." Among those who have already started on the black Siberian hare business in Victoria besides Mrs. Cheetham are: Mrs. Meredith, 1269 Hampshire Road; Mrs. Peden, 816 Princess Avenue; Mrs. Paterson, 1542 Hampshire Road, and Mrs. Blakeney, Carey Road.

YOUNG SAILORS DRILL

Last night's entertainment feature was the drill put on by the boys of the Naval Brigade under Lieut. J. W. A. Legge-Willis. The boys were drawn up in order at the wharf to meet the Prince of Wales, marched up town afterwards and later on in the evening assembled at the Fair building. The boys also gave a physical drill, and did some semaphore signalling.

"We are Home Products" was their motto that they flashed to the crowd.

Yesterday's attendance was 4,355 double that of Monday. People who came down town early in the evening to welcome the Prince swarmed into the Fair. Manager George I. Warren had to put on extra attendants at the doors to handle the crowds when they did start.

CHARACTERISTIC ATTITUDE OF PRINCE IN ACKNOWLEDGING PEOPLE'S WELCOME

THOUSANDS ATTEND RECEPTION TO PRINCE

The last visitor had left the Chamber there was scarcely a moment in which the Prince could engage in a second conversation with any of his suite.

Wishes Him Prosperity.

There were a number of incidents which appealed to the Prince's sense of humor and he was loath to let them escape him. One venerable pair were intent upon shaking His Royal Highness by the hand, and despite the friendly nudge of a dutiful equerry the octogenarian couple passed on smiling the smile of satisfaction. Nor did the aged lady intend to leave the Royal presence until she had wished him prosperity in audible tones.

Numerous were the little packages deposited surreptitiously with the member of the Prince's suite who chanced to be nearest to the donor. During a momentary lull in the apparently endless procession His Royal Highness was attracted to the opening operation of one particularly interesting looking envelope. As the seal gave way, however, an obvious expression of mingled amusement and perplexity crossed the Prince's face. He drew a little nearer to examine more closely the reason for the mirth among the members of his suite. As he did so there became disclosed to view a pair of diminutive socks knitted in multi-colored wools and replete with all the tassels and "pretties" typical of the nursery age. As the Prince was lost for a second, presumably contemplating the symbolism of the gift, the procession recommenced with renewed vigor and again the alternating right and left hand salute came into play.

Many Returned Men

Many returned men passed before the Prince, and, if time had permitted, the mute inquiry would have been translated into a chat. As it was, however, the ordeal was a long and trying one.

After 12:30 the procession was conspicuous for its juvenile appearance. Tiny tots passed the Prince by the hundred and introduced him to many novel forms of salute, all of which appeared to amuse His Royal Highness immensely.

Nor were dumb friends excluded altogether. An early attempt on the part of a canine of the nondescript variety proved abortive, but when a huge black mastiff entered, accompanying a returned man with an Irish brogue, the officers of the guard deemed discretion the better part of valor.

Buy Him a Collar

The Irishman had method in "squeezing" his hound into the Legislative Chamber. As he approached the Prince he proceeded to enter into an animated but intensely good-humored conversation with the Royal visitor. The pith of it was a suggestion to the Prince that he provide the mastiff with a collar before leaving Victoria. The Prince appreciated the joke as well as the parting reminder of the soldier, "You know the Canadians," said the Irish Tommy with a knowing wink.

Many Nurses

Nurses with overseas service and wearing the Mons Star were conspicuous among the visitors to the Legislative Chamber and no more representative gathering of the populace could have been assembled by the most elaborate arrangement. At ten minutes to one the doors were closed, and for a few moments before leaving the buildings the Prince retired to the room of the Speaker in charge of Premier Oliver. At one o'clock he entered his car amid the acclaim of the people waiting without. The Royal party then proceeded to Work Point Barracks for lunch.

WHEN TO GATHER ROOTS AND HERBS

For medicinal purposes, roots and herbs should be gathered when their medicinal properties are at their best. For instance, roots of annual plants should be dug just before their flowering season, and roots of biennial or perennial plants after the tops have dried. All these things are taken into consideration in gathering the roots and herbs, many tons of which are used annually in preparing that most successful of all remedies for woman's ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

INDIAN BASKETS ARE PRESENTED TO PRINCE FOR PRINCESS

After presenting His Royal Highness with the collection of Indian baskets, as a gift from the Province to H. R. H. Princess Mary, Miss Alice Oliver, daughter of the Premier, spoke as follows:

"I humbly pray you to accept from the people of British Columbia at my hands, the gift of these Indian baskets, made many years ago by descendants of the earliest tribes who populated the Province."

"It is the request of the Government of British Columbia, proffered through me, that you present to Her Royal Highness, Princess Mary, these baskets as a memorial of the handicraft of the aborigines, a token of their loyalty, and ours."

"These baskets are the work of four different tribal races, ranging from the natives of the sea coast to those of the far interior."

That no one, however great his genius or high his position, is all-important to the world; his work will go on without him. This truth may be painful to personal vanity, but it is comforting to every generous soul that cares more for others than for self.

Royal Rabbit GOES ON A TOUR

"King Albert" becomes Restless at Fair and Breaks From Cage.

"King Albert of the Belgians," the famous back hare, forced the bars of his cage open last night at the Home Products Fair and broke loose. He jumped from the cage which is set six feet from the cement floor and started on an inspection trip of the exhibits.

It was smelling the scent of one of the tables of prize vegetables grown on vacant lots of Victoria and preparing to hop up to sample them when attendants corralled him and locked him up securely for the night.

To-day his owner, Mrs. E. Cheatham, 1625 Hollywood Crescent, had to put on his cage again, with long nails, over the bars of the cage to prevent him escaping again.

A Wise Old Animal.

Although King Albert is four and one-half years old and father of several hundred bunnies, he is still possessed of remarkable vitality. He has never been sick a day in his life or had to take any medicine.

"He thinks it is very out of place for him to be stuck up in a small box," said Mrs. Cheatham. "At home he knows his own cage. He moves out when I clean it and goes back immediately the cleaning is over and seems anxious to express his delight when he finds everything fresh and new in the cage."

Must Not Burn Noses.

Visitors to the Fair who persist in sticking their noses on the noses of the rabbits on show have nearly caused serious injury to the animals, Mrs. Cheatham, who is president of the Rabbit Breeders' Association, said to-day.

The noses of the rabbits are very sensitive. To stop this tormenting of the rabbits, Mrs. Cheatham has been forced to have the cages guarded by a ring of small-bored wire netting.

PRINCE ROYALLY WELCOMED BY CHEERING THROGS

Heir-Apparent's Arrival Yesterday Marked By Triumphant Progress

Victoria turned out en masse yesterday to give a royal welcome to the Prince of Wales on his arrival in the most western outpost of the Empire. While the welcome accorded to His Royal Highness in other places on his tour across the continent may have been greater in volume, nowhere could there have been more spontaneity or a more genuine sincerity than that with which Victorians of all ages greeted the Heir-Apparent.

As the Princess Alice swung alongside the C. P. R. dock the Royal salute boomed out from the batteries of eight guns of the Canadian Garrison Artillery, and before the reverberations had ceased the Prince had stepped ashore, followed by Rear Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, Major-General Sir Henry Burstall, aide-de-camp to the Prince; Lieut.-Col. Grigg, Lord Claude Hamilton, Major-General Leckie, Commander Dudley North, Capt. the Hon. Arthur Lea, Sir Godfrey Thomas, private secretary to His Royal Highness; Col. the Hon. H. G. Henderson, military secretary to the Duke of Devonshire; Hon. Martin Burrell, representing Sir Robert Borden; A. B. Calder, representing the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Prince was greeted by the Lieutenant-Governor and then was introduced to Premier Oliver, Mayor Robert J. Porter, Capt. Martin, C.M.G., superintendent of the Esquimalt Dockyard; Brig-General R. P. Clark, M.C., D.S.O.; Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works; Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands; Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Hon. J. D. MacLean, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education; Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines; Major G. Sisman, of Major-General Leckie's headquarters staff; Major Brian Drake, aide-de-camp to Sir Frank Barrard; Capt. Mellin, secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor; Colonel C. C. Bennett, Colonel T. F. Homer-Dixon, D.A.A., and Quarter-Master-General; Major R. L. Miller, assistant director of medical services; Major H. Fitz-Horrigan, commanding the Royal Northwest Mounted Police bodyguard detachment; Major John How.

The Prince's appearance on the gangway was the signal for a veritable salvo of cheers from the waiting throng, accompanied by the shrieks of whistles and sirens from a flotilla of small boats gathered in the harbor. On all sides were heard admiring comments on the boyish appearance of the Prince, his tanned, smiling face winning instant approbation and endearing him to the hearts of all.

Inspection Ceremony.

As he stepped from the gangway into Belleville Street the Great War Veterans' band broke into the strains of the National Anthem. The Prince stood at the salute while the guard of honor of the 50th Gordon Highlanders presented arms. His Royal Highness then inspected the guard, which was under the command of Lieut. P. N. R. Wallis, stopping to speak to several of the scarlet-coated bushied veterans. The first one to receive this honor was "Fighting Mac" Mackenzie, an old Imperial with a long record of service in many campaigns, as his many ribbons testified, and president of the Comrades of the Great War. Lieut. Russell Ker, the standard-bearer, was spoken to by the Prince, who afterwards congratulated Lieut. Wallis on the smart appearance of the guard. Then His Royal Highness reviewed the Boys' Naval Brigade under Lieut. W. M. Hotham, R.N.V.R., warmly complimenting him upon the smart appearance of the young sailors. The Prince then spoke to Chief Petty Officer Frank Curson, the senior instructor of the division. The battery of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery under the command of Lieut. Walter Clarke, M.C., also received attention from the Prince.

After the inspection ceremony the Prince entered the waiting automobile in company with the Lieutenant-Governor. Just as the car was starting an amusing little incident occurred when a man in civilian attire, wearing a returned soldier's button, rushed forward to the car and seized the Prince's hand. "I was in the Second Division when you were in France, Your Highness," he said. The Prince laughingly returned the greeting and seemed much amused at the little incident.

The route along Government and Yates Streets was lined with dense throngs who cheered and waved flags, caps and handkerchiefs as the Prince drove slowly by, escorted by the smart scarlet-coated mounted bodyguard of the R. N. W. M. P.

Children's Welcome.

Despite the excellence of the police arrangements made by Chief of Police Langley and superintended by Deputy Chief Palmer, there was some difficulty in making way for the royal car as it drove slowly along Government Street. The thoroughfare, packed to the utmost, presented an animated appearance. Everywhere the Prince received the heartiest of greetings and everywhere he made response by a happy smile as he kept his hand almost continuously to his cap. A group of children near the corner of Yates Street, whose vociferous welcome was infectious, drew a bright recognition from His Highness, a sign which made the youngsters redouble their welcome. The same enthusiasm was displayed by the throng on Yates Street. The route of the procession took the royal car as it drove slowly along Government Street, along which the trip to Government House was made.

The newspaper men accompanied the Prince comprised Gerald Campbell, representing The London Times; Percival Phillips, Daily Express; Warner Allen, Morning Post; W. T. Massey, Daily Telegraph; Douglas Newton, London Daily Chronicle; Eberard Cotes, Reuter's Agency; F. G. Aldham, Canadian Press Limited, and the Associated Press and F. G. Griffin, United Press Association.

AS FOR ITS PERFORMANCE

If you haven't ridden in the Chandler take the first opportunity to do so. Come in and we will give you the same kind of a demonstration that has caused thousands to acknowledge Chandler supremacy.

If it is at a street crossing, when traffic is signalled to go ahead, observe how quickly the Chandler jumps to the lead. The only car that beats it is another Chandler with a better driver. If you are on a narrow country road where a Chandler signals its intention to pass another car, you will see how easy with its acceleration it can jump to the lead.

No one classes it with any but the largest and more costly cars—never with cars of its weight or price class.

Pantages—Vaudeville.
Variety—Herbert Bronson production, "The Lone Wolf."
Dominion—William S. Hart in "Square Deal Sanderson."
Columbia—Corinne Griffith in "The Girl of To-day," and serial, "A Fight for Millions."
Romano—William Russell in "A Sporting Chance."

ROYAL VICTORIA

"Jacques of the Silver North," Mitchell Lewis' latest picture, which will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre for two days only—to-day and to-morrow—is a virile story of the Northwest, where men and women live according to their own code of morals and to break them is to die.
Jacques La Rouge, Canuck trapper, great of soul, with the gentleness of a baby and the ferocity of a wolf, is a great favorite at the trading post of grizzled old Don Baird, where Memory Baird, her father, Malamute Mike and Tennessee Jake present a happy picture in the one bright spot of civilization in this far corner of the frozen north.
Joseph Treffer, a product of elite society, but a fugitive in the north country, escaping from the mounted police, has barely time on reaching Baird's cabin to dart to safety through the window of Memory's room. Torn between suspicion and sympathy, she yields to Treffer's plea for help when he tells her that he has been wrongfully accused of a crime which he did not commit. She shields him when the police demand entrance to the room. Jacques La Rouge has seen Treffer enter the window, but when he is selected to search the room for the hunted man he reports that no one is there—for Memory's sake.
Later Memory and Jacques, on a deer-hunting expedition, become separated in the forest; and after many miles of tramping Memory finds her self at the Raven Roost, a disreputable inn, where Treffer has taken refuge. Blake, the proprietor of the place, is expecting a new dancing girl, and when he sees Memory he takes her for the girl he is expecting. Treffer says that she has come there to marry him. Blake forces Memory to marry Treffer at the point of a pistol. Jacques arrives on the scene and Treffer finds his wedding day a very sorry one.

DOMINION

The man who poisons a water hole in the arid country and brings death and suffering to men and beasts, is perhaps the most dastardly scoundrel that could be imagined. There is such a man in "Square Deal Sanderson," William S. Hart's new picture which is at the Dominion Theatre. He is punished finally by the hero, who wins the love of Mary, the girl who is his wife in Mexico and who is hounded by the same despicable wretch.
Charles Alden Selzer wrote the story and Lambert Tillyer put it into screen form. It is one of those stories that holds the spectator tensely till the last foot of film is unwound. The artistic work of William S. Hart in his western characterizations often has been commented upon by critics as perfect in every respect. Not only is Mr. Hart an actor, but he knows the life of the hero and puts it on the screen with a vividness that cannot be surpassed. Ann Little is his leading woman in the cast.

ROMANO

In "A Sporting Chance," the feature showing at the Romano for the last time to-day, William Russell plays the role of John Stonehouse, surely a delightful assignment, since the role of the heroine is interpreted by that bewitching little lady, Fritzi Brunette, William Russell, as the good-looking and swift-moving hero, gives a splendid characterization of the man whose sympathy and admiration for Fritzi lead him to assume the blame for a murder he never committed. There is a wonderful element of suspense admirably created for this by all odds one of the most absorbing mystery stories ever transferred to the silver sheet.

PANTAGES

There's a breezy bill of vaudeville at the Pantages this week. It begins with a whirlwind juggling-athletic turn presented by the Risals, a nifty girl and boy team who do a routine of Roman Ring work that is surprisingly clever. Then comes Austin and Delaney, a team of black-faced entertainers and Murry Livingston, one of the best of the protean artists follows with a novel offering in which he has nicely joined the artistic and the easily explicable. The Morton-Jewell Four are two pretty girls and two clever men in their own original juggling-actuality as the next go headline feature. Shaw and Bernard have a talking act that has the best of them shouting for help in the comedy line and the programme closes with a musical comedy, "Honeymoon Inn," which is reckoned a treat, and a show in itself. Added to this is the showing of the second episode of "The Carter Case" on the Pantages screen.

BEEN TALKIN' WITH THE PRINCE, TOMMY TELLS HIS PARENTS

Asked Him to "Excuse My Dirty Hands" Boy Tells His Parents

Between the hours of seven and eight o'clock last night His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales' time was fully occupied at the Government House, but in spite of this fact a newsboy who arrived home at eight o'clock, some time beyond the usual hour he should report home for the day, tells his parents a graphic account of an informal little reception "held" by the Royal visitor near the Westholme Hotel.
"Me and Joey Wright have been talking with the Prince" was the statement Tommy Nute gave to his parents. "We met him outside the Westholme while we were selling The Times souvenir edition and he talked to us just like anyone else. He wears a swell blue uniform, something like a fireman, and we all shook hands with him. He asked us, 'I saw to him 'You'll have to excuse my dirty hands, they get that way handlin' papers.' He said in a minute, 'Oh, that's all right; I've shaken hands with dirtier kids than you at Halifax.'
"Joey kep' callin' him Mr. Prince. I told him 'Gwan you poor nut, his name ain't Mr. Prince, it's Prince of Wales.' After that a nurse came along the street wheelin' a baby and he stopped and kissed her—I mean the baby."
"When we had been talking to him a few minutes he left and said he would leave us as he was pretty busy. We told him we would see him in the morning. He asked where, and we said 'Don't you know? All us school kids is turning out to cheer yet.' He said 'That's fine!'"
All of which is a fine excuse for little Tommy's late night, but unless the Prince repeated one of the little stunts cheered up to him at Revelstoke when it is declared he broke away from the main body for an inspection tour on his own, Tommy's conversation must have been with someone else attired in a gorgeous uniform.

BIG PRIZE FOR FLIGHT

Number of Victorians Offer $50,000 For First Canadian Dirigible to Cross Pacific.

Assisted by a number of prominent citizens Norman A. Yarrow, of this city, has offered a prize of $50,000 for the first non-stop airship flight across the Pacific. To commemorate the visit of the Prince of Wales to Victoria Mr. Yarrow has decided to call his offer the "Prince of Wales Prize."

Mr. Yarrow makes a number of stipulations regarding the contest. The lighter-than-air machine must be manufactured in Canada, including all parts and materials; to be manned and navigated by Canadians only; the flight to be from Vancouver Island to Japan; the flight to be performed prior to December 31st, 1921, and the award to be made by the Premier of British Columbia, whose decision shall be final.
In view of the fact that Canada is just in the embryonic stages of aeroplane construction, it is quite certain that it will be some time before the manufacturers are sufficiently advanced to construct a dirigible of sufficient size, power and speed to make the lengthy journey across the Pacific. When the R-34, reached Minnetonka, L. I., from Scotland she had only sufficient gasoline in her tanks to last for another hour. The trip to Japan from this coast will represent a voyage of 4,200 miles, which is almost a thousand miles farther than the R-34 made on her memorable trip.

Mr. Oldham: "Miss Antek, you are pretty."
Miss Antek: "Why, Mr. Oldham?"
Mr. Oldham: "I say, you are pretty."
Miss Antek: "You bold creature!"
Mr. Oldham: "I, mean, you are pretty."
Miss Antek: "This is so sudden."
Mr. Oldham: "As I was trying to say, you are pretty nearly as old as I am, aren't you?"

TRUSTS AND TRADE COMBINES

Written Specially for The London Daily Chronicle by C. A. McCurdy, K.C., M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Food; Chairman of the Committee on Trusts.

Article No. 3.

In two previous articles, written specially for The London Daily Chronicle, Mr. McCurdy dealt with the growth of trusts and their particular application during war time. He also devoted some specific attention in his second article to the operation of the "Big Five." In the final and last instalment printed below he refers to various acts passed in the British Dominions and Colonies directed to protect the public against trade combinations operating in restraint of trade.

Criminal Code of Canada.
During the last fifteen years there have been a number of statutes passed in British Colonies directed to protect the public against the operations of trusts or combines formed to control prices of output.

Under the Criminal Code of Canada, 1908, "Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to a penalty not exceeding $4,000 and not less than $200 or to two years' imprisonment, or, if a corporation, is liable to a penalty not exceeding $10,000 and not less than $1,000 dollars, who combines, agrees, or arranges with any other person, or with any railway, steamship, steamboat, or transportation company— To unduly prevent, limit, or lessen the manufacture or production of any such article or commodity, or to unreasonably enhance the price thereof." A number of convictions have resulted from criminal prosecutions under this law.

By the Combines Investigation Act of 1910, any six or more British subjects resident in Canada who believe that a combine exists and that prices have been thereby enhanced to the detriment of consumers or producers, may make application to a judge for an order directing investigation; if the judge decides that there are reasonable grounds an investigation follows before a board of three persons, one nominated by the complainant, one by the parties complained of, and the third a judge chosen by the other two.

The board has power to summon witnesses, to compel production of books and papers; its findings are made public, and in addition to the publicity thus effected a criminal prosecution may follow.

Australia's Example.
In Australia the Australian Industries Preservation Act, 1906-10, aims especially at the repression of monopolies, and incidentally at the prevention of dumping. All combinations in restraint of commerce are declared to be illegal.

In 1912 the Interstate Commission Act created a commission consisting of three members, constituted a body corporate with perpetual succession, charged with the duty of investigating all matters which ought in the public interest to be investigated affecting (inter alia) the profits of any trade or manufacture.

In New Zealand the Commercial Trusts Acts of 1910 makes it an offence—
"To sell, supply or offer goods at an unreasonably high price if the price is directly or indirectly controlled or influenced by a commercial trust."

The Monopoly Prevention Act of 1908 deals with profiteering in flour and potatoes.

The Union of South Africa has found it necessary to pass the Meat Trade Act of 1907, which makes any "combination or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of the trade of a butcher a criminal offence, involving a penalty not exceeding £500, and in default of payment imprisonment with or without hard labor for a period not exceeding twelve months."

In France the Penal Code, Article 419, provides that—
"All those who... by agreement among the principal possessors of the same commodity not to sell or to sell at a certain price... shall have effected an advance or decline of the prices of commodities... above or below the prices which the natural and free competition of trade would have fixed, shall be punished by imprisonment..."

The same code provides heavier penalties if the commodities in question are breadstuffs or wine.

Russia and China.
The Commercial Code of Russia, 1902, Section 242, provides:
"A merchant or manufacturer who increases the prices of victuals or other articles of prime necessity in an extraordinary degree in accord with other merchants or manufacturers dealing in the same articles shall be punished with imprisonment."

"If the culprit took advantage of the extreme need of the local population caused by the scarcity of these articles, he shall be punished with imprisonment of not less than three months."

Even China can afford some suggestions with regard to legislation against the profiteer:
"Arrangements to artificially influence the market are contrary to law. For a person to unduly depress or raise prices to suit his own convenience entails a penalty of 80 blows and undue profit arising therefrom will be treated as theft."

It is interesting to observe that up to the present time there is practically no international treaty directed against the operation of trade combinations or international profiteers.

The nearest approach to such an international regulation is the Brussels Treaty of 1902 with regard to sugar.

The United Kingdom has at present no statutes whatever directed against profiteering on the part of trusts and combines.

Trust Committee's Recommendations.
The Committee on Trusts, over which I had the honor to preside, recommended with complete unanimity that the first step that ought to be taken to protect the British public is to create in this country proper machinery for investigation of the operations of commercial trusts.

We recommended that some department of the Government should assume the duty of watching and making public what was being done, and that it should be assisted in that task by a tribunal fully armed with legal powers to compel the attendance of witnesses, to call for documents and to take evidence on oath.

A general belief on the part of the public or of the working classes that they are being exploited by trade combines and profiteers is a menace to social order and political stability, whether the belief be true or false.

The first step is to create a tribunal that can thoroughly investigate complaints, to examine witnesses, to call for documents, to accurately ascertain costs and profits, where profiteering is suspected, to drag the full facts into

A Pimply Face or Poor Complexion Quickly Restored

Thousands of young men and women would be handsome and attractive were it not for unsightly pimples, blackheads, and rough uneven skin. Custom seems to recommend lotions and salves, but unfortunately their effect is but temporary. These disfiguring blemishes do not originate in the skin—their birth in every case goes further back, to the blood, which must be cleansed of humors before the pimples depart for good.

A physician who has made a careful study of such cases says that the quickest cure comes from a blood-building medicine like Ferruzone. The minute Ferruzone strikes the blood its good work begins. Poisons and foul matter are expelled. Every trace of humor is driven out, and the whole life current is supplied with nutriment and health-giving qualities. You can always tell a Ferruzone complexion when you see it—the cheeks are clear and rosy, no signs of sallowness—the eyes are bright and expressive because rich red blood is circulating through the whole system carrying health, energy, and strength with it. Not only will all skin eruptions disappear, but an increase in vital strength, an all-round improvement will be apparent. No rebuilding tonic would be more efficient. Get Ferruzone to-day—Good for young and old, for well folks and sick ones, too. 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Cattarhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

the light of day, give publicity to the operation of the trusts and combines that now control us.

When the facts have been ascertained it will then, and then only, be possible for Parliament to deal with such evils as are shown to exist.

SULTAN'S OKAWA'S SKULL

One of the most extraordinary clauses in the Peace Treaty is the one which states that the German Government must restore the skull of the Sultan Okawa to certain tribes in German East Africa.

Our experts were wise enough to insist on the return of this skull, for it will do more than an army would to pacify the natives of East Africa. Sultan Okawa is as important to the natives of East Africa as Mohammed is to the Arabs. He was one of the great leaders whose memory and remains are worshipped by thousands of the natives of our new colony.

The skull of the Sultan was stolen by the Duke of Mecklenburg in 1908, when he went on what was ostensibly a scientific expedition for the German Government. But the latter knew the value of the skull, and hoped by taking it to subdue the natives, whom they had failed to conquer by the most cruel and drastic measures.

Over a thousand skulls valued by the natives were taken away by the German Government, who paid no attention whatever to the religion or customs of the natives over whom they were ruling.

They are now paying the penalty of their cruel rule.—Tit-Bits.

WHERE MOLES BEAT MONKEYS

Have you ever noticed a gull dropping on to the sea—how it spreads its wings high so that the feathers shall not be wetted? If a gull's wing-feathers get wet it cannot rise until they dry.

Throw a mouse into the water. It can swim a little, but as soon as its fur is soaked down it goes, and drowns. So too in the case of a rabbit. As soon as its fur is wet, it is done for.

A mole can swim like anything, but a monkey is very helpless in the water. Almost all land birds drown very rapidly, if unlucky enough to fall into the water. They strike out with their legs, move round and round in a circle, but cannot get off the water.

Lions and tigers are very good swimmers, and do not share the common cats' hatred for the water. But of all the cat tribe the South American jaguar is the finest swimmer in the water. It seems often to plunge in for mere joy of a swim. A rabbit, as we have said, drowns as soon as its fur is soaked through.

yet curiously enough its near relative, the hare, swims quite well, and will often cross a river when hunted. Bears are good swimmers, even those that usually live far from large sheets of water, and the common rat is no mean performer.

One of the best of animal swimmers is the horse. Horses have been known to swim a river nearly a mile wide simply to get back to their old stables.

Deer, too, can all swim well. There are cases of caribou having swum across lakes ten miles wide when escaping from forest fires.—Tit-Bits.

VICTORIA THE NORTHWEST WORLD

PENNSYLVANIA HAS SUPPLIED MOST PLAYERS FOR SERIES

Ten Quakers Will Be in Fight for the Highest Honors in Baseball

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Pennsylvania has the distinction of having the greatest representation in the baseball classic this year. Ten players from that state will battle for the highest honors in baseball, four of them are members of the Chicago White Sox, American league pennant winners and six are members of the Cincinnati Reds, winners in the senior organization.

The White Sox manager, William Gleason, heads the list of Quakers. Along with the fighting manager is Eddie Collins, one of the greatest guardians of the diamond in the game. Eddie Murphy, utility outfielder and pinch hitter, and J. Erskine Mayer, side-arm pitcher, are the other members from Pennsylvania.

The Reds have two pitchers, Ray B. Bressler and Ed Gerner, an outfielder, S. R. Magee, a veteran of the game and three infielders—Jacob Daubert, first base; Morris Rath, second base, and James L. Smith, third base, as members from Penn State.

Illinois, where one end of the premier events will be staged is next in the list. The Prairie state is represented by seven players, six of whom are members of the White Sox, and one is on the pay roll of the Reds. Three of the White Sox live in Chicago. They are Sullivan, Weaver and Gandil. Ray C. Schalk, said by most critics to be the "greatest catcher of them all" heads the list from Illinois for the White Sox. Along with Schalk is his understudy, Byrd Lynn. Then there is the peppery George Weaver, known to fans all over the country as "Buck." He will be on third base. Arnold Candil, alias "Chick," guardian of the initial sack, and Grover Loudermilk, the elongated right handed pitcher and John H. Sullivan, alias "Lefty," a former Chicago semi-professional twirler, make up the others. H. O. Eller, who one time was on the Comiskey payroll, is the only member from the state of Abraham Lincoln and Ulysses S. Grant, on the Cincinnati roster, and "Red" as he is intimately known, is one of Pat Moran's leading twirlers.

Ohio, where the other end of the world's series will be played, is tied with California for third place in the list of contributing states. It lays claim to four members. The Buckeye State quartette are all members of the Reds. Henry Gron, star third baseman and Earle Neale, outfielder of Cincinnati, and Harry F. "Slim" Salter, pitcher and Henry W. Schriber, utility infielder.

California is represented in the fray with a split delegation, three of its players being members of the American league club and one the National league aggregation. The trio of Pacific coast men with the Gleason outfit are Joseph Jenkins, catcher, a former lieutenant in the United States army overseas, Charles A. Risher, alias "Sweede," the strong armed shortstop and Fred McMullen, utility infielder. William H. Easter, former member of the Chicago Nationals and now one of the "aces" on the Reds' pitching staff is the other member from the Golden Gate state.

NEW GOLF HOUSE READY FOR USE

United Service Players Have Erected Handsome Building

As a result of the energy of its own members, the United Service Golf Club now has a handsome building of rustic design ready to open as the new club house on the first of next month. A one-story building, twenty-five feet by sixty-five feet, valued at $2,500, has been erected, and approximately $1,000 has been saved through the members themselves throwing aside their golf clubs for a time on each visit to the links and putting in a spell of construction work.

The new building is only one block from the car line on Macaulay and Lyall Streets and will be a great convenience to the members in many ways. There is a ladies' room, a gentlemen's room, a dining room, kitchen and a professional's room. It is equipped with all the modern conveniences of a golf club. There is a large veranda running the whole length of the front of the building.

Improving the Greens. The members at present are playing on temporary greens, while the ordinary greens are being returned ready for the fall. Other improvements are being made to the course. The greens being returned will be ready for use again in two or three weeks, and a competition in the near future is on the tapis.

Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the club will be held Friday night at the Pemberton Block, at which the election of officers will take place.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

New Westminsterers are keener than ever to lower the Victoria stick-handlers' colors since the Island dozen have proved themselves world champions. All the lacrosse enthusiasts of the Royal City are at high pitch over the two games that the shipbuilders will play there as a feature of the Fair. The Salmonbellies are taking a leaf out of the Foundation team's book in securing the services of a professional coach, and they could not do better in view of the fact that expert witnesses and players generally admit that it was the fine team work instilled in the champions, more than their individual play that won them the title. Tommy Gifford will be Cotton Brynjolfsson's vis-a-vis on the Westminster team, and if Tommy instructs the Salmonbellies in the same characteristics of play for which he himself once won a reputation it will be no kid glove game at the Royal City.

Victoria golfers who intend to take part in the Punch Bowl competition at Seattle are wondering what is going to happen to them if the rounds some of the devotees of the Sound City are turning in are representative of the play of a four-ball last week, the score of "Dixie" Fleeger, who was a recent visitor here, for 17 holes was 63. "Dix" lost his ball right in the middle of the seventeenth fairway, and only for that he figures he would surely have made a new record for the course. George Tilden and Bob Johnston were playing in the game, and agree that the ball was right down the centre. The only freak hole in this phenomenal round was the holing of a twenty-foot chip shot from behind the knoll at the eight for a two.

The Prince is a Golfer. The Prince of Wales, when he played over the Royal Montreal course at Dixie, was very much interested in the fact that the oldest golf club in America employs girl caddies almost altogether. This innovation was inaugurated during the war, and so successful was it that the girls have become a fixture and the majority of the members have no desire to return to the "freakie-faced imps" who previously reigned supreme on the links. The club professional always caddies for His Royal Highness on the courses he visits and he caddies to some purpose, as he is invariably given a pretty stick pin with the Prince of Wales' feathers and a letter "E" ornamenting it. Needless to say, writes Ralph H. Reville, hon. secretary, Canadian Golf Club, the pros. receiving these royal gifts value them most highly and will always keep them as heirlooms. The prince is becoming a regular "golf fan" and when he has more time to devote to the game will undoubtedly become a very good player indeed. He has excellent style and only requires practice to develop a number of good shots he has in his bag.

Starring in New York. Sergt. Kortlang, who gave an exhibition of his batting ability on several occasions in Victoria last summer, is now repeating the performance in New York. The American Cricket star: "It is generally admitted that Kortlang's splendid powers as a batsman is one of New York's greatest assets and this globe-trotting cricketer, who plays all the year around in some part of the universe, handles a bat in the style that dominates. Calculating, resourceful and methodical, he allows nothing to interfere with his settled task, and can show the same reliability after completing a century as he adopts when the task is first begun. Offence and defence is shown in shaded action and he looks a batsman fit for any company. In the Cup competition, he has played innings of 152, 133, 101, and 102, not out, in addition to other exhibitions of merit. In ten innings he has scored 576 runs, and as he has been twice not out he gets an average of about 71 per visit, which easily places him well ahead of all other competitors."

WHITE SOX AFTER NEEDED GAME TO-DAY

With the opening date for the world's series set and all seats for the three games at the Chicago American League park sold, the White Sox to-day were out to take the single game needed from St. Louis to validate the arrangements. Eddie Cicotte, White Sox pitcher, has been specially groomed to secure the victory to-day, and thus clinch the pennant. Of their five remaining games, Chicago needs but a single game.

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

Nanaimo and Bastion.
The Finance Committee of the City Council is to consider the question of making a money grant to Nanaimo Post of Native Sons equal to the amount due in taxes on the Bastion and report its findings to the Council at the earliest opportunity.
The question was brought before the Council at Monday night's meeting in the form of a communication from Mr. George F. Wilson, secretary of the local Post.

An Old Tragedy.
A tragedy of the distant past, possibly twenty-five years ago, was revealed on Sunday by Fire Rangers Mottishaw and Waddington who, during the progress of their work in fighting a fire in the vicinity of the Little Mountain, Nanaimo, discovered the skeleton of a human being and close by the rusty stockless remains of a rifle, while a few yards distant from the gun the fire rangers found the skeleton of a deer.

Upon a close inspection of the skeleton the rangers found what was once a watch, but now badly corroded, and an American silver dollar coined in 1833, the coin being in a good state of preservation.
The Provincial police were notified of the gruesome discovery, and Monday Chief Stephenson and Constable Mustart had the remains conveyed to the city, and are now making an investigation in an effort at identification.

While nothing is as yet definitely known, and the gruesome find will in all probability forever remain a mystery, it is believed that the skeleton found by Messrs. Mottishaw and Waddington is that of a resident of Wellington, who, some twenty-five years ago went into the woods on a hunting trip and was never afterwards heard of.

The skeleton found on Sunday was lying in a little hollow close by a big log, close to the rifle which was a 40-45 calibre being a number of empty cartridges which it would appear had been fired by the hunter or discharged in the bush fires which have swept that district on several occasions.

Health Good.
At the close of the regular meeting the members of the City Council of Nanaimo sat Monday night as a Board of Health, and received a report from Dr. Drysdale, regarding the health conditions in the city, which the doctor reported was exceptionally good.

Elk's Lodge Active.
The Nanaimo Lodge of Elks is sending a team to the Elk's bowling tournament at New Westminster on October 2 and 3, and is making arrangements for a tournament on the local alleys, the teams to include two from the Elk's Lodge and one from the bankers. They open the social activities of the season with a smoker on September 25.

Telephone Users.
Nanaimo had on September 1st, 1,082 telephones, or one to every seven of the population.

Going to Japan.
Part of the Nanaimo plant of the Vancouver Brewing Company is being shipped from Nanaimo to Japan on board the Japanese freighter Inaho Maru, to be used in the manufacture of malt or some other alcoholic beverage in that non-prohibition land.

Welcoming the Prince.
A most enthusiastic welcome will be accorded to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales when he visits Duncan on Friday morning.

The Royal train is scheduled to arrive here at 10.20, and on arrival the Prince of Wales will be met by representatives of the Cowichan Electoral District, including Kenneth Duncan, M.P.P.; Thomas Pitt, Mayor of Duncan; J. Keenan, Mayor of North Cowichan Municipality; James Maitland-Dougall, Provincial Government Agent, and Hugh Savage, President of the Board of Trade. The address of welcome, which will be tendered on behalf of the residents of the district generally, will be read by Kenneth F. Duncan, M.P.P.
The school children will be grouped at the south end of the station building and will sing "God Bless the Prince of Wales" as His Royal Highness steps off the train.

After a reply has been given to the address of welcome, the Prince will proceed direct to the Agricultural Hall, where he will be met by C. J. V. Spratt, President of the Agricultural Association, and will be formally invited to open the exhibition.

The route from the station to the Agricultural Hall will be lined by the Great War Veterans, Cadets, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts. The Prince will inspect these units as he passes along to and from the exhibition.

Successful Candidates.

The Mine Examining Board appointed by the Provincial Government has announced the names of the successful candidates for mining certificates in the examinations held on August 26, 27 and 28 at Nanaimo, Cumberland, Fernie and Merritt. In the third-class certificate for the positions of fire boss and fire lighter, a knowledge of the Mining Act is required along with experience in mine gases and ventilation. The second class is that of overseer, and the first class gives the mine manager's standing. This represents a wide knowledge of mining, including geology, mineralogy, strength of structures and considerable of civil engineering. Four years as a miner must be served before any of the certificates can be taken, but a graduate of a university or mining school may qualify after two years.

The examining Board consists of Chief of Mine Inspectors George Wilkinson, who is chairman, and Messrs. H. Maier, of Fernie, and James Dixon, of Nanaimo. The following are the successful candidates:

First Class—Samuel D. Wark, Ladysmith; John McDonald, Merritt.
Second Class—John E. Smith, of Coal Creek; George Murray, South Wellington.
Third Class—Alfred Davies, Michel; James Sneddon, Fernie; John Devlin, Nanaimo.
Mine Surveyors—Thomas Wright Scott, Cumberland; Joseph P. Boyce, Nanaimo; Thomas W. Reger, Corbin; Robert McCulloch, Cumberland; W. D. Vallance, Nanaimo; William Holasworth, Merritt.

There is a certain long-suffering father whose nerves sometimes give way under the constant fire of questions from his talkative eight-year-old son.

"Dad," asked the youngster, just as the old man had one evening settled down for a perusal of his newspaper. "Dad, am I made of dust?"
"I think not!" responded the unhappy parent; "otherwise you'd dry up now and then."

Is prohibition going to stay?

Just what is prohibition going to accomplish?

Will it make the laboring man satisfied with his wage?

What will become of the men who used to frequent saloons?

Will more people have better homes, food and clothing?

WE'VE been working for prohibition for more than a hundred years—and now we've got it, but—are we going to keep it?

Do you know just who have been behind this movement all these years, and just what they have expected to gain by it? Why have the church members wanted prohibition? Why have the social workers been so tireless in their efforts? How have business men and employers expected to profit? Strangest of all, why has labor advocated prohibition?

Martha Bensley Bruère, in an illuminating article in October Pictorial Review called "What We May Expect From Prohibition", reveals how each of these groups of people expected to gain a different end!

And what have been the results in our own dry states? Mrs. Bruère tells you these things, and the lights she throws on what is likely to happen are certainly most interesting!

Which of these people will win? Temperance people, social workers, church workers, business men, labor—for each and all, Mrs. Bruère has a definite message!

Who is going to benefit most by prohibition?

HOW CAN WE MAKE MARRIAGE MORE ATTRACTIVE?

ALL over the world, there is an alarming increase of bachelors. Some say they cannot afford to marry. Others frankly admit they are too selfish. Young women in appalling numbers have no desire for marriage. They prefer economic independence.

Do you know about the so-called "new morality"—that menace to our home and family life? Do you know of the changes—social, legal, political and economic—that must be worked out before marriage can be made easier and more attractive?

Charlotte Perkins Gilman, in "What is Going to Happen to Marriage," in Pictorial Review for October, shows only too clearly the main causes for the present chaos in the marriage relations. She tells things that many women are thinking without daring to say.

Do you know about the so-called "new morality"—that menace to our home and family life? Do you know of the changes—social, legal, political and economic—that must be worked out before marriage can be made easier and more attractive?

DOES YOUR HUSBAND TELL YOU EVERYTHING?

OR do you just think he does? He may be like Pelham Madden. And you may be like Mrs. Madden before she found the letter from the other woman in his pocket. Every woman, young or old, can learn a whole lot about managing a man by reading "Happily Married" by Corra Harris, in Pictorial Review for October. Mrs. Harris sees through men as if they were glass. She knows her own sex just as thoroughly, and in the most amusing way in the world she shows you their little vanities and weaknesses in this delightful serial novel. Don't miss it.

Committee Will Gather All Information Before Taking Further Steps

FARMERS DEBATE PLAN FOR NEW WATER SYSTEM

Looking to the future, and wishing to avoid any leap in the dark, a special committee, appointed at a meeting of Saanich residents in the rooms of the Victoria and Island Development Association yesterday afternoon, will "ascertain the various water-works available and secure all possible data relating to additional water supply for Saanich District."

The whole question of water supply was discussed at the meeting which was representative of many different public bodies on the Saanich Peninsula, and various opinions on the subject were advanced. The most striking point was brought out by Professor Stevenson of the Dominion Government Experimental Farm. Professor Stevenson wanted to know first and foremost if Saanich were to put in an extensive system of irrigation and domestic water, would there be enough water twenty-five years from the present to supply Victoria and the surrounding districts? This was a matter, he said, that required investigation before definite action was taken. At the present time the city had a surplus of twelve million gallons a day, but in a few years the people within the city limits and in the surrounding districts might be consuming more water than could be secured from the Sooke Lake system. It would be useless to spend thousands of dollars extending a water system into Saanich where sometime in the future there might be no water to run through the pipes.

Carl Pendray, President of the Development Association and chairman of a committee of the Rotary Club charged with investigating the question of irrigation for Saanich, presided. Mr. Pendray observed that there were two matters to be considered. In the first place was irrigation necessary and desirable in Saanich and, secondly, how could it best be installed?

Favors Irrigation. In considering these points the consensus of opinion at the gathering was that irrigation was needed for fruit farming, but was not required by the general farmer. It was further contended by some representatives that the larger farms on the Peninsula were not paying institutions and it was argued that fruit truck farming on small plots would be the leading activity in the future. Irrigation, of course, would be necessary for this condition. Those present at the meeting disagreed on the method of irrigation, but only one speaker opposed the general plan of having water for agricultural purposes. The latter favored drainage and cultivation.

Sidney. The meeting was told by a representative of the Sidney Board of Trade that Sidney needed more water than it was securing. The water system had been forced to carry too large a load this summer. On the other hand, it was pointed out, Ottawa chemists had tested Elk Lake water and declared it fit for domestic use. Piping from the Lake to Sidney, however, would cost a quarter of a million dollars. The possibility of piping water from Mount Newton had been looked into, but had been found too expensive. It was also stated that James Island was in need of more water. It would cost $100,000 to connect Sidney and James Island with the Sooke Lake system at Wilkinson Road.

A reservoir on Bear Hill to which Elk Lake water could be pumped and distributed as far as Sidney and Gordon Head was also suggested to the meeting.

Get Data First. To bring the discussion to a head, Professor Stevenson moved that "this public meeting assembled, representing many public bodies on the Saanich Peninsula, hereby goes on record as being in favor of securing all the possible data relating to additional water supply for Saanich district. Further, that this meeting hereby pledge itself to endeavor to further the project, and requests the favorable support of the public."

H. E. Tanner opposed the wording of this resolution, pointing out that subsequent investigation might disclose that water so secured would be too expensive for commercial use. There was a limit to which a farmer could go in buying water, if it were to pay, he observed. He therefore urged the irrigation in the resolution of the committee is not prohibitive. This was added to the resolution as desired. In closing the discussion, Mr. Pendray observed that there was no use going further with the scheme until full details were investigated and until the exact cost of the project was discovered. If it were found that the cost was too great, then there would be nothing for it but to give up the idea. If, on the other hand, it were practicable, then they could go ahead with the plan. In any case, anything that would improve the condition of the Peninsula would increase the prosperity of Victoria. As soon as the special committee, which consisted of Messrs. George McGregor, R. W. Mayhew, W. W. Suttie and Reeve C. B. Jones, has investigated along the lines laid out by the meeting, another general meeting will be held.

EPIDEMIC OF FLU INEVITABLE

How to Guard Against It

The coming of cold and rainy weather has brought widespread belief in a fresh outbreak of influenza; and already the disease is reported as appearing in several localities. In the United States, Congress is urged to appropriate five million dollars to investigate the cause of 'Flu and determine the most effective means of combating the trouble.

While the germ has not been isolated, certain facts have been proven. The most effective precautions of avoiding an attack of influenza is to keep the body clean inside and out, and to build up the general health. Besides bathing frequently and washing the hands several times a day, it is imperative that the digestion be sound and all the eliminating organs of the body be regular. Constipation, biliousness, indigestion, headaches, kidney trouble or bladder irritation should be corrected with a reliable saline like Abbey's Effervescent Salt. In fact, it would safeguard the health and aid materially in preventing an attack of 'Flu if everyone would take regularly every morning a glass of Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

BRITISH AIRPLANES MAY ENTER FREE

Proposal to Remit Duty in Order to Encourage Aviation

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 22.—British manufactured airplanes may possibly enter Canada, in the future, free of duty, as a result of a conference held by Col. Biggar, Vice-Chairman of the new Canadian Air Board, with officials of the Aerial League and the Air-Service Association to-day.

Col. Biggar, who has been travelling with the Royal party on tour through Canada, has been gathering data in connection with the furtherance of aerial navigation throughout the Dominion, and it was with this view that the conference yesterday was held. On Col. Biggar asking for suggestions to this end President George Taylor, of the Aerial League, pointed out that if the duty was removed from war-time manufactured British planes it would greatly encourage commercial firms to enter the aerial navigation field. At the same time it would inflict no hardship on Canadian manufacturers, as at present there are no factories in Canada. The introduction of a few of these high-powered planes with their large carrying capacity would demonstrate their possibilities.

Col. Biggar heartily approved of this idea, which was also approved by other officials present, and stated that he would take the matter up with the Federal Government and urge that all machines now being sold by the British Aircraft Disposal Board be allowed to enter Canada, free from all duty.

The output of the Hedley mine is steady, although like all gold properties, with a fixed product value and vastly increased operating expenses, the mine is feeling

LEARNING TO FLY INDOORS.
Would you like to take flying lessons without leaving Mother Earth? Remarkable as it sounds, it is now possible to become an expert aviator without having driven anything more dangerous than a wonderful machine called the "Orientalor," a new invention which enables the budding pilot to practice the "broken leaf dive" and "loop the loop" while safe inside the practice shed at an aerodrome. This marvellous machine, which will save hundreds of lives during the next few years by familiarising the beginner with the various loops, turns, and dives, is composed of steel hoops, fastened together on the universal joint system. Inside the steel rings there is an ordinary pilot's seat, complete wall, and the control levers to drive the engine, exactly the same as an aeroplane. Once in this seat, the pilot can put himself through all the evolutions which he is to experience up among the clouds—without being at any time more than six feet off the ground. In this way, any mistakes he may make are easily corrected by the instructor, before any harm is done, and a slip which would have been followed by a certain "crash" in real flight has no more harmful result than a lecture for the pupil on what to avoid in future.—Tit-Bits.
