CANADIAN U. S. TREATY PLANNED

Washington, Oct. 17.—Prospective direct negotiation of a new treaty relative to armaments on the Great Lakes and other subjects between Canada and the United States is looked upon here as the real opening of a new era of direct relationship between the two countries.

The State Department has been informed that Great Britain has given assent to such negotiations which were discussed informally last Spring when Premier Mackenzie King visited Washington. The Canadian Government at an early date will send one or more representatives to Washington to conduct negotiations.

Of Broader Scope. The new treaty will supplant the 1817 treaty and nominally at least will relate to armaments on the Great Lakes. However, there are intimations that it will be of broader scope and will include waterways and fisheries.

As understood here, the Canadian Government thus far has not looked on the time as ripe for negotiations over the St. Lawrence Waterway. Nevertheless, it is expected that at least the way will be paved in the forthcoming negotiations for an understanding over the St. Lawrence Channel.

U. S. INTERESTED IN TRADE TEND

Not only that, but in many quarters there is growing apprehension here over the breaking of trade with Canada and the symptoms of diversion of part of this trade to the United Kingdom, to South America and elsewhere. It is not expected that trade relations will be included in the forthcoming negotiations, but it is pointed out that the way may be paved for closer trade relationship—the mutual advantage of both countries.

No More Armament. No increase of armaments on the Great Lakes is desired by either country. A clear understanding will be arrived at as to just what each nation can have in the way of armed craft for purposes of enforcing customs, revenue, prohibition and other laws. To enforce such laws, the United States is compelled to have more lake vessels than it may technically be entitled to under the old treaty. Such craft are in no way aimed at Canada, and have been met with some objections from Canadians.

OTTAWA STATEMENT IS AWAITED NOW

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press)—It has been impossible to obtain confirmation as yet of the announcement from Washington to the effect that Canada would negotiate directly with the United States in the framing of a new treaty to regulate the naval strength on the Great Lakes. Premier King is out of town and can not be reached directly. G. P. Graham, Minister of Defence, who accompanied the Prime Minister to Washington last July, when the proposal to re-draft the Rush-Bagot Agreement into permanent treaty form was made, stated that he had not discussed the matter since that time. Therefore, he could not comment on the Washington dispatch.

BRITISH WISH U. S. TO RELEASE VESSELS

Craft Seized by U. S. Prohibition "Dry Navy" Unwilling to Have Searches Outside Three-mile Limit

Washington, Oct. 17.—Negotiations between the British Embassy and the State Department looking to the release from custody of vessels of British registry seized by prohibition forces outside the three-mile limit are expected to take a more definite form as a result of the refusal of the British Government to enter an agreement which would permit reciprocal authority to make such seizures.

LIBERAL MEETINGS

Annual meetings of all the ward associations in the Victoria and District Liberal Association will be held within the next few days in order that the election of new officers may be held, and a meeting of the executive will then be called for some night early next week.

Undesirable Precedent.

A suggestion from the United States that an agreement whereby the Government could exercise special supervision over American and British shipping in coastal waters outside the internationally accepted limit of jurisdiction would be an undesirable precedent would be established.

NEW REPUBLICAN MOVE IN GREECE

Letters in Venizelist Press Urge Change

Athens, Oct. 17.—The political situation has suddenly taken an important turn through the appearance of letters in the Venizelist press favoring the establishment of a republic in Greece.

The monarchist newspapers report that the Venizelist party at the forthcoming elections will strive for a national election favoring a republic with Venizelos as President, but many of the Venizelist leaders and some of the Venizelist organs disavow the republican movement, saying the opinion of a few men should not be interpreted as the opinion of the whole Venizelist party.

MUNICIPALITIES TO VOTE ON NEW WATER BOARD PLAN

Would Empower Board to Expropriate All Private Water Companies

Could Float Stock to Pay for Extensions of Water System

Electors of Victoria, surrounding municipalities and outlying districts from the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway land grant south, will vote on the proposed creation of a water board which would control all water works services in the southern portion of Vancouver Island, in addition to those provided by the Greater Victoria Committee executive is put into force.

Under this legislation it was made known to-day, the new water board, representing the city and surrounding municipalities, would take complete control of all municipal water works projects and would, in addition, be given the right to expropriate all private and government waterworks projects. Before the board could be created, however, it would control waterworks would vote for or against the scheme. Provision is made in the legislation for taking a second vote on the subject if the first vote should be unfavorable or inconclusive.

SOVIET TROOPS NEAR VLADIVOSTOK

City Seems About to Be Invaded

Tokio, Oct. 17.—Special dispatches from Vladivostok report that the "Red" army representing the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia supposedly have crushed the "White" or so-called Kappellist Siberian army on the edge of the Northern Manchurian border, according to official information from Harbin received by the Chita agent here.

The reports state the Chita troops defeated the anti-Soviet army of General Dietrichs in a battle immediately west of Nikolai. The "Red" invaders then occupied Nikolai, and later, advancing westward, entered Grodekova. Five thousand Kappellists in trains returned to Proganitchyna, on the Manchurian frontier, where they were disarmed by the Chinese.

THRACE ALMOST UNINHABITED

Turkish Administration Will Find It Almost Deserted

Adrianople, Oct. 16.—Thirty thousand Greeks and Armenians have passed from this city to the west since Saturday and the road between here and the Maritza River is an unbroken line of men, women and children with ox carts, cattle and camels.

Through a steady downpour of rain they are plodding toward their unknown destinations, driven forward by the nameless fear which has gripped the whole populace of Eastern Thrace since the Government's bulletins were posted on Saturday, announcing the terms of the Mudania armistice, which provides for occupation of the province by the Turks within forty-five days.

Turkish Nationalists Feel Hostile Toward Lloyd George

Confidence in Britain Shattered, Says One Turk

Constantinople, Oct. 17.—Premier Lloyd George's Manchester speech on the Near East, of which a summary reached Constantinople last night, has created a furore among the Kemalists followers here. The entire summary was telegraphed immediately to Ankara.

"This speech," said the Kemalists representative here, "completely shatters the confidence which we were reposing in Great Britain after her assurances to us at Mudania." The phrase in which, as received here, the Kemalists were compared with "warlike animals" particularly displeased the Nationalist delegate.

CANADA'S EXPORTS ARE GROWING

Figures Disclose Encouraging Trend of Trade

Volume of Imports Shows Little Change

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The tendency of Canada's trade to expand—her exports to increase and her imports to remain about stationary—is shown in the official summary of Canadian trade covering the first half of the fiscal year. The first six months of the fiscal year closed September 30, 1921, when it totalled $721,119,724.

When the figures for the month of September of the present year are compared with those for the same month in 1921, an increase of $12,357,995 is shown. In the month of September alone this year Canada's trade totalled $123,252,691, as against $119,395,686 in 1921.

NOVEL SCENE FOR PUBLICITY EXECUTIVE BODY RETAIL MERCHANTS MEET TO-MORROW

Burlington Route Establishes Educational Library Prominent Party Here to Secure Movie Films

Based on the logic that repeated seeing and repeated hearing promotes the most lasting effects in education, particularly if the subject is placed before the public in entertaining form, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway, better known as the Burlington Route, is at present undertaking, in conjunction with its associate roads, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, one of the most comprehensive and novel educational works known in railroad history.

The scheme embraces no less an undertaking than the endowment by the big railway concern of the first general library of motion picture negatives controlled in such a way that it will be accessible to the general public in much the same manner as the public libraries are maintained in various cities of the world.

Filming Victoria. To secure Victoria's contribution to this wonderful library, W. R. Mills, representing the Burlington people and supervising the moving picture campaign, arrived in Victoria yesterday with his crew of moving picture teams were assigned the duty of filming the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

To Attract Tourists. Thousands of tourists annually visit Yellowstone and Glacier Parks, and if the Burlington Railway can induce these people to come to Victoria, the result will be a tremendous traffic will be built up over the Canadian and American lines as tourists will naturally travel by the one system and will wish to return by a different route.

Charles Phillips, formerly assistant director of the National Museum of the University of Minnesota, and a man of national reputation is in charge of the natural history section of the work. Frank A. and Howard H. are the men who also have national reputations in moving picture productions are using a specially prepared film on their present trip and they are getting great results.

In order that the pictures may be successful from a broad publicity and entertainment point of view it is necessary to bring them in an entertaining manner says Mr. Mills and for this reason the services of Frank E. Slyde have been secured and he is Slyde has been a director for many years in New York and he has been associated with such men as David W. Griffith, G. B. Smith, the railway's representative in Seattle, accompanied the party to Victoria.

The great campaign to "See the North" is being conducted in a beneficial for all sections and Mr. Mills looks for a tremendous increase in the amount of travel to Victoria and Vancouver Island next season as a result of the work they are doing.

Heretofore most of the motion picture productions of this large scope have been confined entirely to the motion picture corporations and that the railway company is taking up the educational work of this type or such a grand scale is a new departure. The party now in Victoria has been on tour in connection with the "See the North" campaign.

It will be remembered that the Burlington people recently gave three valuable cash prizes in Victoria for the best six local views.

Imaginary Fire Is Fought at Headquarters Station Before Kiwanis Club

Sixty-two seconds after a special fire alarm box on Fisgard Street was pulled three fire engines fully manned were on the scene and ready to fight the "fire" at a demonstration by the Victoria Fire Department to the members of the Kiwanis Club to-day.

The club was made welcome in a brief address by Algernon Perry, chairman of the city fire department wardens, and a hearty welcome extended by Chief Vernon Stewart, who spoke on behalf of his men.

At the luncheon preceding the operation of ringing in an alarm was explained in detail, according to a "broke" the glass, opened the door of the box and pulled the ring there showing, this setting in operation an alarm in normal cases, when the alarm is pulled, the bell in the central fire hall, where it is responded to by the manning of the fire engines.

By giving him a dinner attended by nearly 200 persons, with speeches and singing, citizens of Prince Rupert, B. C., have shown their high esteem of Fred G. Dawson, attacked last week by the Hon. H. H. Stevens, M. P. of Vancouver, who charged that Dawson had been profiting by handling beer illegally.

At the dinner Mr. Dawson was lauded as being the leading citizen and complete master of his appointment to the board of directors of the Canadian National Railway as the representative of Western Canada.

Vancover, Oct. 17.—Charges of the Hon. H. H. Stevens, M. P. of Vancouver, against Attorney-General Manson in connection with the liquor administration are to come on the floor of the Legislature next month, Mr. Stevens announces.

"I note that Fred G. Dawson, recently appointed to the National Board, disposes of my very serious charges against him in connection with the administration of the Attorney-General. I consider them utterly ridiculous, and further describes it as 'political slush'."

REV. DR. CLIFFORD IS EIGHTY-SIX

Long a Leading Baptist Figure

London, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable)—A shoal of congratulatory telegrams to Dr. John Clifford arrived from various parts of the world yesterday on the occasion of his eighty-sixth birthday. Dr. Clifford has been a leading figure in Baptist circles for many years and has been the recipient of many honorary degrees from universities, including the degree of Doctor of Laws from Macmaster University, Toronto. He bears his years lightly. He has practically shaken off the effects of an accident which happened two years ago, when he was knocked down by a taxicab in Trafalgar Square. His eyesight is improving, following an operation last year for cataract. He is the author of numerous books, chiefly of a religious nature.

RAILWAY WAGES AND BOARD'S AWARD

Calgary, Oct. 17.—That the Canadian Pacific Railway must have had some knowledge of the conciliation board's award before it came out to pay its men off on the wages set, was a statement made by E. Redfern, chairman of the Federated Shop Trades Union here last night, in reply to the denial of the C.P.R. that it had any foreknowledge of the award. "There is a case in Calgary of a machinist who was paid off on the Thursday prior to the Tuesday the award came out and he was paid the wages fixed in the award when it came out," declared Mr. Redfern.

FOLLOWING THE RECIPE

Mrs. Brown took one bite of the cake and that was enough. "Norah," she said, "did you follow the recipe when you were making this?" "Yes, mum," replied Norah, "only I put in six eggs instead of four, because two was bad and I wanted to even 'em up."—Boston Transcript.

MISSION WORK IS DISCUSSED

Methodist General Board Meets in Toronto

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Addressing the Methodist General Board of Missions, now meeting here with delegates present from every province of Canada as well as Newfoundland, China and Japan, Hon. N. W. Rowell, who represented Canadian mission boards of all denominations at the conference of the International Missionary Council Committee held in January last at Canterbury, England, told of some of the outstanding world missionary problems considered by that body. After stating that the International Missionary Council discussed three great problems, these being the demand for self-government in the church being established in such countries as China, India and Japan, the matter of education and the question of the training of teachers, Mr. Rowell stated that still another and perhaps more serious problem was discussed and that was the relations of missions and Governments.

MEASURES ADOPTED

For instance, there was the question of what was to be done about the mission work hitherto carried on by German missionaries in India and other countries. This had not been solved as yet, but it was thought the British Government had adopted measures which on the whole were reasonably workable without serious embarrassment to missionary efforts. The annual report of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church shows that the total income for missions for the church year just ended was $1,993,958, an increase of $722,000.

COST OF LIVING

London, Oct. 17.—The Labor Department's cost of living statistics show an average level for September 75 per cent. above the pre-war figure, compared with 79 per cent. on August 31. Last month's level was the lowest since October, 1917.

THE HORRORS OF INDIGESTION

Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives" the Fruit Medicine

Indigestion, Weak Digestion or partial digestion of food, is one of the most serious of present-day complaints—because it is responsible for many serious troubles. Those who suffer with Indigestion, almost invariably are troubled with Rheumatism, Palpitation of the Heart, Sleeplessness and excessive Nervousness. "Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Indigestion because these tablets strengthen the stomach muscles, increase the flow of the digestive juices and correct Constipation, which usually accompanies Indigestion. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. WISE CHOICE OF AMUSEMENTS URGED

Pronouncement Made by the Methodist General Conference

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Canadian Methodism is adopting an altered attitude toward amusements.

Years ago there was a positive command in the Methodist discipline to the members to refrain from indulgence in cards, dancing or theatre-going. Later there was a footnote appended to the discipline, replacing the barrier. While leaving the matter to the individual conscience, its effect was unfavorable to these amusements.

To Choose

Now the church, instead of banning amusements, calls on her people to use care and discrimination in distinguishing between the wheat and the chaff. One of the final acts of the General Conference was to give approval to the following findings of the Committee on the State of the Whole Work.

"We desire to recognize the liberty of all people to full measure in regard to all legitimate pleasures and yet urge that in pursuing the things of passing happiness we do not let our liberty become a cause of offence to others. We urge our people to exercise care and discrimination in all amusements. This is a pleasure-loving age and our environment begets the disposition to become careless on many things which mean much to the life and welfare of the church. The moving picture is a great means for education and inspiration and amusement, but here also we urge the need of the close discrimination. We should approach all our amusements from the standpoint of their effect upon ourselves and our influence upon others."

$50,000,000 IS PAID BY BRITAIN

Payment Is Made on Loan Interest Account

New York, Oct. 17.—A cheque for $50,000,000, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, was deposited by J. P. Morgan & Company in the Federal Reserve Bank yesterday as the first payment on account of interest on British war loans. The British Government has been sending large amounts of gold and United States dollars to the Morgan firm, its fiscal agents, for many months in anticipation of this payment.

loged to have been seized on the high seas, British representatives here are known to have differentiated sharply between cases of ships captured outside the three-mile limit which had established contact with the shore by use of their small boats and those against which no such evidence lay. It was understood Great Britain indicated her willingness to adhere to the doctrine laid down by the United States Supreme Court that the sending of small boats into the "jurisdictional area" served to bring the parent ship to all intents under the same jurisdiction. In other cases, however, the British view was declared to be emphatic that American enforcement agencies were without authority.

Old Case Quoted

In support of the contention that such ships—as the Isuena and the Gardner, both of which were captured by the American "dry navy" at points from seven to nine miles off the New Jersey coast, the British Government was understood to have relied heavily upon the decision obtained by the United States from British courts in 1895 in the case of the schooner Anna. That vessel, flying the American colors, was captured by the British privateer Minerva near the mouth of the Mississippi River and her cargo of logwood was confiscated and sold. An interesting feature of the case was that, as in the case of the ships recently taken off New Jersey, a large sum of money found on board by the captors was seized.

A Precedent

A claim for the ship's release was filed through the American Minister in London on the ground that she had been captured within the marginal area over which the United States asserted exclusive jurisdiction. The British courts upheld this contention and it is now declared that the United States is stopped by its own precedent from going outside that "margin."

The British note pointed out that Great Britain had already taken steps to prevent practices as to registry, issuance and clearance papers of which the United States had complained in a note, adding that Great Britain had supplemented these steps since the American note had been received and it was hoped "the measure taken will prove successful in preventing any breaches in the local law."

SUGGESTS PLAN TO STABILIZE MARK

Paris, Oct. 17.—Intended for a comprehensive plan to enable Germany to balance her budget and stabilize the mark, the proposals of Sir John Bradbury, British member of the Reparations Commission, have been officially made public by that body. The proposals are three in number, as follows: 1. To relieve the German budget almost entirely of the cost of the charges of the treaty of peace for two, and possibly four years, by enabling Germany to obtain credits to cover the charges. 2. To fix the exchange value of the mark by an arrangement under which the Reichsbank would sell paper marks at a fixed price to be determined by a fixed commission. 3. To reorganize the reparations machinery immediately and transfer it to Berlin.

Balanced Budget

The summary of Sir John's arguments in favor of the proposal states that one object would be to stop the further expansion of the floating debt and to obtain a budget balance. Sir John is of the opinion that this can be achieved, either by a complete suspension of the cash payment or by arrangement by which Germany would be enabled to obtain resources for financing the peace treaty charges. The suspension of cash payments would also be accompanied by the almost complete suspension of deliveries in kind for a considerable period, according to Sir John's opinion. The arrangement proposed is that the powers receiving peace treaty

FRENCH COMMUNIST PARTY IS SPLIT

Paris, Oct. 17.—The French Communist Party is facing almost certain disorganization, according to indications at the opening of the second congress of the party, presided over by Marcel Cachin, a Socialist member of the Chamber of Deputies. The first of the proceedings consisted of complaints by a number of the provincial delegates that while among the membership there were good militants working for the cause, there were officials working for themselves. The secretary's report showed that the membership had dropped in a year from 131,000 to 78,000.

CANADIAN LIVING COSTS

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press)—The average cost of the weekly family budget of twenty-nine staple foods was $10.28 at the beginning of September as compared with $10.44 for August, $11.52 for September, 1921, and $7.83 for September, 1914. The index number of wholesale prices continued to fall in September. For September it stood at 226.5, as compared with 222.8 for August and 222.7 for September, 1921. The retail price of fuel was somewhat higher in September.

OUR TAX RATE.

Every taxpayer in the city of Victoria would be delighted if the annual rate could be reduced by even three or four mills in the early future.

To talk about putting candidates in the field at the forthcoming municipal elections who will pledge themselves to "specific retrenchments" and stand ready to "set their faces against every expenditure that can be avoided" is the easiest thing in the world.

Some time ago we were jubilant over the fact that fire insurance rates in the city of Victoria had been reduced. Climatic considerations did not enter into the mind of the body responsible for relieving the handi-capped about which we had grumbled for some time.

From year to year Victoria is getting more residents of that class which comes to this city for a holiday and then returns to look for a house. Why is this? It finds all conditions congenial.

Are these public services, the school system, the fire brigade, the policing, and other provisions that go to make the modern city really modern, to be sacrificed because there is an element which refuses to recognize that the process of robbing the Peter that will eventually bring prosperity to this community is not so many by the nose ten years ago?

Those who grumble about our tax rate should compare it with other cities. They should ask themselves whether it is not better to bid for business with the knowledge that the "goods" for sale are right than to reduce the value and get found out.

EXPECTING DOLES.

It should be reasonable to suppose that only a small percentage of the unemployed of this Province are visiting the Provincial Employment bureaus with inquiries as to the date when dols may be expected. At the same time it is well that the Department at the Parliament Buildings should have issued a warning that those who cherish hopes of assistance in the face of their refusal to leave the more congested areas and take up jobs in other parts of the Province are doomed to disappointment.

POPULATION PROPHECIES.

Sir Lomer Gouin told the Montreal Women's Liberal Club this morning that if there are not twelve or thirteen millions of people in Canada ten years from now the electorate of this country will have reason to change its Government.

The Minister of Justice should know whereof he speaks. But he has by no means overestimated the needs of the country if the national debt is to be appreciably reduced during the next few years. To increase the population by five millions in ten years is admittedly a gigantic task; and when one takes into consideration the fact that other parts of the British Empire are intent upon developing a similar programme it is easy to see that the most energetic means that can be devised will be necessary to delay the marching orders which Sir Lomer considers would be justified after the next census has been taken.

It is not the easiest of jobs for the Government to devise a plan that will succeed without the expenditure of a considerable sum of money. The days of large offers of land for next to nothing are no more. Consequently every practical means of co-operation with the Provinces and with the various private colonization agencies should be assured and form the basis of an ambitious national programme.

There is no reason to be alarmed at the temporary absence of the Government's plans in this connection. It has not been in office twelve months. That it is not asleep at the switch, however, is patent from Sir Lomer Gouin's statement at Montreal this morning.

A HEALTHY SIGN.

Nobody would be justified in suggesting that the commercial element in this community is either asleep or even dozing. But it is a healthy sign when the businessmen of Victoria begin to make a daily topic out of speculation as to the best manner of getting the business of Vancouver Island for this city.

At the same time the fact remains that Vancouver has been getting and is still getting more than she is justly entitled to. One cannot blame her. Many things are in her favor. Geographical location in general, and more especially her proximity to the industrial section of the Northern part of the Island, give her an advantage against which it is difficult for Victoria to compete under present conditions.

One or two solutions have been suggested. Victoria's progressive bodies would do well to follow them up and see what arrangements can be made to give this city advantages equal to those enjoyed by Vancouver. A little up-hill work may have to be done; but it should bring results.

WHAT WILL GREECE DO?

If public sentiment in Greece may be judged by the unsettled conditions and political uncertainty which seem to have taken Athens in their toils we may conclude that the people as a whole are not at all sure about the future system of government that would be good for them.

Ex-King Constantine "wished" his son upon the Greeks before the seat of the Throne was permitted to get cold. The abdication decree was the result of pressure that had not quite reached the stage that would have eventually ended in the demand that the royal house be expelled "bag and baggage."

The peculiar temperament of political Greece at the time, to say nothing of the depressing effect which defeat on the battlefield had cast over the capital and country alike, was quickly tuned to the idea of a gentle revolution that sustained the monarchy. Since then the nation has had time to do a little stocktaking and it is not surprising that there is a large section of the people who would prefer to be led by men like Venizelos than to risk another period under a new King.

The whole question is one for the Greeks to settle. The rest of the world is merely interested. But it would be a singular commentary upon the general trend of modern democracy were the Greek people to hold a plebiscite for a second time within five years with the system of government as the "vital" issue. It should provide a lesson for the hotheads who would still rely upon the old theories of bloody revolution.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Can anybody forecast what will be the result of another ten years of aeronautical research? An aerial mail service between Berlin and Moscow is now in operation and the trip was completed the other day without a stop. The distance is 1,180 miles and less than eleven hours were taken to do the journey!

It must be annoying to the opponents of Mr. Lloyd George that no hint of when he was going to appeal to the country was dropped at Manchester.

Eamonn de Valera would be wise to come to terms with the Free State Government. He ought to know by this time that in twelve months from now most people will almost have forgotten that such an individual ever lived.

THE FANATIC AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

To the Editor—As an account of the fanatic, Kamenchikov, who created a disturbance during divine service at St. John's Church, appeared in your paper, in which it was stated that he was a Doukhor; in justice to the Doukhor community I wish to say that his vice-president and general manager writes me that "the church was not a Russian Jew, who for a few years tried to join the community, but they would not accept him, knowing him to be a fanatic. He then joined the church near the Grand Forks, where he made exhibitions and other troubles, who are not true Doukhobors, but Galicians, Russian Jews, outcast Doukhobors, etc., but are always trying to call themselves Doukhobors. The Doukhor community has no use for such men as Simon Kamenchikov, and they are sorry that such fanatics are always trying to make trouble in the Doukhobors' name."

It is a pity that the proper authority does not deal with this bunch of fanatics, who are a score in number, who are mistaken for Doukhobors, but do not belong to the community, and try to destroy their property. The public would then no longer suffer from such exhibitions and other annoyances; nor would the good name of the Doukhobors be marred.

"QUESTIONNAIRE—TO YOU"

To the Editor—Many parents have recently received a document, "prepared by a number of prominent citizens," asking a number of questions regarding education. The exact purpose (seeing that the questions are preceded by a statement headed "Cost of Schools, 1921," with the comment, "This taxpayer—contributed—all of this") that the real object is to demonstrate either that our children are getting too much education, or that the cost is too great. Just how they are to be answered is demonstrated by the answers to be made to understand. Education has made great strides since the present generation of parents were children, and comparatively few parents are competent to express opinions as to just how their children should be educated to the best advantage of themselves and the community. Personally, as the parent of High School pupils, I have felt that the Department of Education is far more competent than myself, however much thought I devoted to the matter.

Some of the questions will puzzle the unfortunate recipients in any attempt to give candid replies. In the only one I feel inclined to answer (No. 15, "Do you think High School students should be paid for?" I would answer with an emphatic "no," notwithstanding the kindly "note" offered giving the information that Toronto makes certain that the parents of pupils in the Collegiate Institutes, etc.

My reason should be clear. Parents need every encouragement to send their children to school, for the good of the community. Most wage-earners have to make sacrifices to enable their children to obtain even high-school education, and even a small fee would prove the deciding factor in the many cases where the benefits of education are imperfectly understood.

As to the implied unfairness in saddling the taxpayer with the whole cost of education, it is hard to see how the gentlemen who make themselves responsible for this document can justify the insinuation. It is a certain thing that the financial resources of every name mentioned are more than sufficient to meet the needs of the majority of parents of High School pupils. It is equally certain that those same parents must be paying the full share of the expenses of the community and at the same time conferring a future benefit when maintaining their children at High School.

It is comforting to know that the School Board neither originated nor endorsed this questionnaire and having noted that all the names appended are prominent in our commercial life, the following quotation might help to take their minds off the cost of education and suggest to them that, after all, maybe our educational authorities compare favorably in their methods with other branches of our modern civilization.

the powers of an army corps, are wasted in providing for the distribution of tobacco, writings, paper and soap."

J. L. N., Victoria, B. C., October, 14, 1922.

CHINESE SEGREGATION

To the Editor—Will you be good enough to grant me some of your valuable space to further explain the situation.

Eighty-five per cent. of the children affected are children of Canadian born Chinese, or Canadian born children of naturalized Chinese. We are claimed by the Canadian Government as Canadian citizens. What are you going to do with us?

Of the remaining fifteen per cent. nearly all pay the head tax of $500 upon entry, and the Provincial Government has received their share of $250 for each one. The understanding upon landing here is that it was a condition precedent to their being allowed to land, is that they are going to attend school. Having taken their money, what are you going to do about it?

Most of the parents are property owners and taxpayers in one form or another, and although according to a lady who spoke before the Women's Institute the cost of educating the Chinese children is alleged to be not over $14,000 per year, the school tax contributed by the Chinese property owners is more than double that amount.

The fundamental principals upon which Canadian nationhood is to be built up are that there shall be no differentiation between races; all are equal before the law; and that segregation do the work of a leprosy may say Chinese cannot assimilate. We answer, why not? We have as good brains and there is nothing that the "white" man does which we cannot learn, but what have you done to help us? Every obstacle has been put in our way; we have been forced to unjustifiable prejudice to keep apart, simply because you would not let us approach you. We are called upon to assume citizenship responsibilities, but we are denied citizenship rights; if we go to a picture show, in the majority of cases we are given a seat in an obscure corner. Although paying the same taxes, I might draw up a long list of grievances, but what is the good?

You want us to be Christians. We answer, will there be a white man, heaven and an Oriental's heaven, or will there be the same heaven and the Chinese segregated? Will St. Peter demand from us the same tax for the privilege of entering heaven? You see, Mr. Editor, the days when an Oriental is willing to accept the preachings of a missionary at face value are over. As we come to understand, we must perform ask ourselves questions: Show us that you practise what Christ taught and there will be no difficulty in the way.

The following are some of the more salient points on the question: 1. Rock Bay was started as a segregated school system for the privilege of children promoted from there to the graded schools are backward in English, it is either the fault of the system or the teaching system. The remedy is to improve the teaching system in Rock Bay or better schools, which are together as a segregated school.

2. Because of the rather older boys, born in China, who come here to receive an education, which is granted under Canadian law (Immigration Act), we are, however, willing to recognize that Rock Bay might be used for the older children who are backward, but special attention should be paid them as regards the teaching system.

3. Mr. George Deane says that all children are backward except the 20 or 30 to whom he has given permits, we challenge a full publication of records of how the children stand in their classes. They cannot be above the middle of the class unless they understand questions asked them and can answer. We further challenge the permit system. One of the chief reasons for the segregation of favoritism, permits being granted to the wealthier ones with the intention of preventing cohesiveness among the Chinese. Is there not a danger of the permit system regenerating into something worse?

4. Mrs. Andrews has shown that there is really no congestion by mentioning empty classrooms at different schools. We are aware that classes have been deliberately filled up so that an excuse can be made that there is no room in order to force segregation in one form or another. We call this a diabolical plot to deprive us of our just rights as Canadian citizens and taxpayers. True, Mr. Deane has explained that these "empty" class rooms will be wanted "later for white children." May we ask the question, "When?" Are they some of the new immigrants expected from Europe as a result of Mr. Pattullo's lectures there?

5. We are being kept out of the public schools because of resolution, which the School Board claim is not discriminatory but will govern all. How many have the School Board examined since that resolution came into effect, or are we too ignorant that all those who are now in the graded schools can pass the "test" we challenge the School Board to say that there has been an examination held impartially for all "backward children," and that all those now at the graded schools have passed.

6. As a result of a study of the political complexion of the members of the School Board and the stand of each, and the agitation conducted by one of the Provincial Cabinet Ministers, we are reluctantly forced to conclude that the whole thing is political, that having made political footholds of us, they are now extending it to the children, with the object of relieving political slaves of the Canadian born Chinese as well as other Chinese, and we must protest.

IF WINTER COMES

INSTALLMENT NUMBER 78

BY A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

Copyrighted—Published by arrangement with British & Colonial Press, Ltd.

"Look here, this is April, April, 1918, by all that's Hinnish—dashed nearly four years of this infernal war. Well, old Sabre got knocked out in France just about five months ago, back in November. He copped it twice—shoulder and knee. Shoulder nothing much, knee pretty bad. Thought they'd have to take his leg off, one time. Thought better of it, thanks be; patched him up; discharged him from the army; sent him home—very groggy, only just able to put the bad leg to the ground, crutches, and going to be a stink and a bit of a limp all his life. Poor old Hinnish! Think you'd call yourself lucky you were a Conscientious Objector, old man. Oh, damn you, that hurt."

"Very well. That's as he was when I first saw him again. Just making first attempts in the stick and limp stage, poor beggar. That was back in February. Early in February. Mark the date, as they say in the detective stories—I can remember what the date was, but never your mind. You just mark it. Early in February, two months ago. There was good-old-me doing through-on-business—good-old-me doing the heavy London solicitor in a provincial town—they always put down a red carpet for me at the station, you know; rather decent, don't you think?—and remembering about old Sabre having been wounded and discharged, blew into Fortune, East and Sabre's (business wasn't with them this time) for news of him."

"Of course he wasn't there. Saw old Fortune and the man Twynning and found them in regard to Sabre's about as genial and communicative as a maiden aunt over a married sister's new dress. Old Fortune looking like a walking midget in a thunder-cloud—I should say he'd make about four of me round the equator; and mind you, a chap stopped me in the street the other day and offered me a picture show; yes, fact, I was wretchedly annoyed about it—and the man Twynning with a lean and hungry look like Cassius, or was it Judas Iscariot? Well, like Cassius out of a job or Judas Iscariot in the middle of one anyway. That's Twynning's sort. Chan I never cottoned on to, but they'd precious little to say about Sabre. Sort of handed out the impression that he'd been out of the business so long that really they weren't much in touch with his doings. Rather rotten. I thought it, feeling that the poor beggar had done his bit in the war and offered me thoroughly too. They said that really they hardly knew when he'd be fit to get back to work again; not just yet awhile, anyway. And, yes, he was at home, Green at Penny Green, so far as they knew—in the kind of tone that they didn't know much and cared less at what, that was my impression they gave me only my fancy, I daresay, as the girl said when she thought the soldier sat a bit too close to her in the train."

"Well, I'd nothing to do till my train pulled out in the afternoon, so I hopped it over to Penny Green Garden Home on the railway and walked down to old Sabre's to scoop a free lunch off him. Found him a bit down the road from his house trying out this game leg of his. By Jove, he was no end and to say the least, came bounding along, dot and carry one, beaming all over his old face, and wrung my honest hand as if he was Robinson Crusoe discovering Man Friday on a desert island. I know I'm called Popular Percy by thousands who can only admire me from afar, but I tell you old Sabre's face overtook me. And talk! He simply jabbered. I said, 'By Jove, Sabre, one would think you hadn't met any one for a month the way you're unbelling the sacred rites of welcome.' He laughed and said, 'Well, you see, I'm a bit tied to a post with this leg of mine.' 'How's the wife?' said I. 'She's fine,' said he. 'You'll stay to lunch?' said I. 'Happgood, you will stay to lunch, won't you?' 'I told him that's what I'd come for, and he seemed no end relieved—so relieved that I think I must have cocked my eye at him or something, because he said in an apologetic sort of way, 'I mean, because my wife will be delighted. It's never a dull-for-her nowadays, only me and always me, crawling about more or less helpless.'"

"He struck me afterwards—oh, well, never mind that now. I said, 'I suppose she's making no end of a fuss over you now, hero of the war, and all that sort of thing.' 'Oh, rather,' says old Sabre, and a minute or two later, as if he hadn't said it heartily enough, 'Oh, rather, rather, I should think so.'"

"Well, we staggered along into the house, old Sabre talking away like a soda-water bottle just uncorked, and he took me into a room on the ground floor where they'd put up a bed for him, him not being able to do the stairs of course. 'This is my den,' he introduced it, 'where I sit about and read and try to do a bit of work.'"

"There didn't look to be much signs of either that I could see, and I said so. And old Sabre, who'd been hobbling about the room in a rather-uncomfortable sort of way, exclaimed suddenly, 'I say, Happgood, it's absolutely ripping having you here talking like this. I never can settle down properly in this room, and I've got a jolly place upstairs where all my books and things are.' 'Let's go up then,' I said. 'I can't get up.' 'Well, man alive, I can get you up. Come on, let's go.' 'He seemed to hesitate for some reason I couldn't understand. 'It's got to be in a chair,' he said. 'It's a business, I wonder.' That kind of thing, as though it was something he oughtn't to do. But it would be fine, he said. 'I've not been up for days. I could show you some of my history I'm going to take up again one of these days—one of these days, said he, with his nut rather wrinkled up. And then suddenly, 'Come on, let's go!'

"Let's go up then," I said. "I can't get up." "Well, man alive, I can get you up. Come on, let's go." "He seemed to hesitate for some reason I couldn't understand. HAMILTON BUSINESS WOMAN ADDRESSED KUMTUKS CLUB

The activities and organization of the Business Women's Club of Hamilton, Ontario, which constitutes over one hundred members, were described in an interesting address given by Miss Urry, a customs broker and past president of the club, before the Kumtuks Club at its monthly business meeting last night in the Pemberton Building. During her stay in Victoria Miss Urry has been the guest of the club on several occasions and she seized the opportunity last evening to congratulate the members on the fine spirit of camaraderie and the "sociality" evidenced among the membership.

Satisfactory reports were given of the recent dash on a visit to the Hamilton, Ontario, which constitutes over one hundred members, were described in an interesting address given by Miss Urry, a customs broker and past president of the club, before the Kumtuks Club at its monthly business meeting last night in the Pemberton Building. During her stay in Victoria Miss Urry has been the guest of the club on several occasions and she seized the opportunity last evening to congratulate the members on the fine spirit of camaraderie and the "sociality" evidenced among the membership.

Three new members were elected, Mrs. H. A. Williams, Miss Fraser and Miss E. E. Richardson. Miss Bowron gave a timely reminder of the need for registration on the municipal voters' list before the end of the month, the exercise of the franchise being one of the essential qualifications of membership. In order to keep in touch with municipal questions, a committee of the club attend each meeting of the City Council, this progressive step being inaugurated a few weeks ago.

GIVEN MEDAL FOR SAVING A LIFE

Ontario Man Rescued Young Woman from Beneath Train

Pendleton, Ont., Oct. 17.—The Royal Humane Society's Bronze Medal for gallantry in saving the life of Miss Amelia Boudreau, who had fallen beneath a moving Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train on February 11 last, was presented to Samuel Jacob Dixon of this place at a midday yesterday. The presentation was made by Assistant General Superintendent W. J. Uren, of Montreal, who in a laudatory speech, congratulated the recipient upon his courageous action. H. B. Spencer, superintendent of the Ottawa division, was also present. The event took place in the Orange Hall amidst the townspeople and friends, and was presided over by the Rev. Mr. Oliver, of the local Presbyterian Church.

Because She Was Late. Mr. Uren, in pinning the medal on Mr. Dixon's breast, said: "It was on February 11, when training No. 599, which had stopped at Pendleton station and the usual station work had been completed and it was proceeding westbound, that Miss Amelia Boudreau, who was late in arriving to take the train, attempted to get aboard while it was in motion. She grasped the handrail of one of the coaches toward the rear of the train, but was unable to gain entrance as the vestibule doors were closed. It was while she was in this position, clinging to the handrail with the train moving, that the attention of Mr. Dixon was drawn. He immediately hurried to her assistance, but before he could reach her she fell between the platform and the train, and her head coming in contact with the truck of the coach, she was rendered unconscious, being thrown across the rails. Mr. Dixon pulled Miss Boudreau clear of the fast approaching rear truck of the coach and held her in a safe position until the train had passed.

The officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway do not overlook such acts of bravery, and when full particulars were obtained notified the Royal Humane Society, which has awarded this medal in recognition of your gallantry. Mr. Dixon, a Canadian, has been farming in this locality for many years. He is the father of four sons, two of whom, at the age of seventeen, went overseas and gave his life for his country. It is evident that courage runs in the Dixon family, for the son, before "going West" two years

TO DANCE TO-MORROW.

The Canadian Scottish Battalion announced that the second of the weekly social evenings will be held in the Armories, Bay Street, on Wednesday. Arrangements are at present being made with the basketball league, and it is hoped that a game will be staged before the dancing commences at 8.30. C. S. M. Lisney has charge of the floor arrangements, and the dancers will be supplied by the battalion band under their leader, Bandmaster Jimmy Miller.

The arrangements for the military five hundred party are again in the hands of C. G. M. D. Fyvie. The prizes for the cards this week will be: first, second, third and ten-bid, a total of fourteen, $5 in scrip for the leading table.

ST. MARY'S JUNIOR W. A. SALE OF WORK FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The tea and sale of work held by the Junior W. A. of St. Mary's on Saturday proved most successful. The total proceeds being $145.41. The hall was very prettily decorated by some of the girls, who were also responsible for the decorations of the flower, candy and home cooking stalls over which they presided, and proved very capable sales women. Miss Duncan had charge of the work stall. Tea was served by the older girls, assisted by some of the younger members, and visitors commented very favorably on the way their wants were attended to by those very deft little hand-maidens. The Juniors wish to very heartily thank Mrs. Laxton, who opened the function in her usual happy manner, and also all those ladies who so kindly gave their services, pouring tea and preparing refreshments, not forgetting those who by their generous patronage made this annual event such a success.

THANKSGIVING BALL AT ARMORIES TO BE "OVERSEAS" REUNION

Program was made with the plans for the big ball to be held at the Armories on Thanksgiving Day, November 6, at a committee meeting which met in the office of Dr. John Stewart yesterday afternoon. The ball is to be in the nature of a reunion of veterans and nurses who served overseas and their friends, and will be under the auspices of the Fifth Regiment, C.G.A., the 14th Canadian Scottish and the Graduate Nurses' Association. Major Aitken presided at the meeting. Mr. Stewart, who is in charge of the tickets, announced that they were much in demand. Arrangements for the music are in the hands of Captain Bates. Mrs. Bullock Webster and Mr. Russell Ker will have charge of the catering, and Mr. Vincent McKenna will superintend the decorations, which are to be on an elaborate scale.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

As a health builder, Royal Yeast is gaining in popularity every day. It is a food—not a medicine. It supplies the vitamins which the diet may lack. Royal Yeast is highly beneficial in cases where the system seems "run down". Royal Yeast is the richest known source of vitamins, and when taken into the system acts as a corrective agent. Royal Yeast Cakes are recommended for their purity and wholesomeness. It is the purest, the most convenient and economical yeast on the market.

Two to four Royal Yeast Cakes a day will work wonders. A full day's supply can easily be prepared at one time by using one glass luke warm water and teaspoon sugar to each yeast cake. Allow to stand over night in moderately warm room. In the morning stir well and pour off liquid. Place in refrigerator or other cool place and drink at intervals as desired throughout the day.

What this new way does

No mother wants children to suffer what she may have suffered from her teeth.

Then teach them the new way of teeth cleaning. Show the prettier teeth it brings, the whiter, safer teeth. Or let them make this test, and see and feel the benefits themselves.

No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats film. So, under old methods, very few escaped tooth troubles. Beautiful teeth were less often seen than today.

Two ways found

Then dental science, after long research, found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle it, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Must fight film

Dingy teeth and most tooth troubles are now traced to film. One must fight to avoid them.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Stains, discolors it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists the world over began to advise their use.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. Those two great film combatants are embodied in it for daily application.

Its new effects

Pepsodent brings other effects which research proved essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to constantly neutralize the acids which cause decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Each use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect.

For dainty people

Pepsodent is now used by millions the world over. Careful people of some fifty nations have adopted it, largely by dental advice. Dainty people—those who care for whiter, cleaner teeth—will never go without it.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

One week will give you a new conception of what clean teeth mean. It will point the way to a new dental era, both for you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

R. A. HUTCHISON RETURNS TO COAST

Robert A. Hutchison, who for the past four and a half years has occupied the position of city editor of the Sentinel-Review, Woodstock, Ontario, will take up his residence in Vancouver with his family. Mr. Hutchison is a native of Oxford County, and was for a time school teacher at Verschoyle and the North Gore, and also served a period as principal of the Princess Street School, Woodstock. He entered newspaper work in the service of the Sentinel-Review, before coming to the Pacific Coast, where he was on the advertising staff of the Victoria Colonist and also the Vancouver News-Advertiser, and later was engaged in general advertising work. He returned to Woodstock in 1914, and was with the E. J. Coles Co. for about four years prior to going to the Sentinel-Review as city editor.

Mr. Hutchison had a wide circle of friends in the city, and the day prior to leaving he was the recipient of several gifts from public bodies and organizations.

The Bounteous Crop of the Canadian Harvest will have a far-reaching effect on every walk of life in every section of the Dominion.

Railroads and steamships will be busy transporting the crops—all kinds of manufactured goods will be in greater demand—more and more labor will be employed—and a feeling of confidence and optimism will permeate the land.

Bumper crops in the country mean more business in the cities; and when business is good in the cities, the farmers get a wider market for their produce.

Prosperity is indelibly associated with efficiency, whether it be agriculture or commerce—and the use of

ART EXHIBITION NOW ARRANGED

Arts and Crafts Society's Annual Show Opens Thursday

The thirteenth annual exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Society, to be held in the Belmont Building, fifth floor, from October 19 to 25, will be officially opened on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock by Fred B. Pemberton. On the following days the exhibition will be open from 12 to 8:30 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

The water colors are well represented, so are the oils, pastels and crafts. The hanging committee has done its work well, and every exhibit is shown to advantage.

A "Children's Day" will be arranged for Saturday morning from 10 to 12 and a competent conductor will escort the children around and explain the various exhibits, free of charge.

The society is gratified at the result of its negotiations with the Canadian National Gallery authorities by which arrangements have been made for a loan exhibition to be shown for three months later in the year.

FINDS KAMLOOPS IDEAL FOR POULTRY

J. R. Terry Is Back from Interior Tour

Returning to Victoria from a trip to the interior, where he visited Salmon Arm, Enderby, Armstrong and the Kamloops district, J. R. Terry, of the Agricultural Department, states that poultry keeping in and around Armstrong is assuming big proportions. "A large number of farms in that district were of small acreage, and small flocks, dairying and poultry raising appeared to be the favorite combination. In a census taken there recently it was found that on farms where more than twenty-five fowls were kept, over 25,000 fowls were counted. Possibly one of the reasons why poultry keeping is popular is due to the fact that wheat is grown in large quantities nearby, and grain bought cheaply owing to proximity of market, wheat is fetching $50 per ton."

Owing to the very unfavorable weather experienced during the hatching season, very poor hatches were the rule this year. This necessitated additional incubation of eggs, with the result that at the time of his visit, Mr. Terry saw thousands of undeveloped pullets, with very little likelihood of many laying before February. He estimated the loss to the ranchers from eggs alone at about $15,000 through late hatching.

At Kamloops the farmers have had a wonderful year with tomatoes. The co-operative canner, was unable to get sufficient cans, with the result that possibly tons of tomatoes will be wasted.

For raising poultry, Mr. Terry thinks that the Kamloops district is the leader in the Province. Owing to the extreme heat, chicks hatched there a month after those on the island here are fully as developed by

The Romance of Mother Earth

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT—32 The Parent Languages of Europe

It is improbable that there was ever such a thing as a common human language. We know nothing of the language of Palaeolithic man; we do not even know whether Palaeolithic man talked freely.

"We know that Palaeolithic man had a keen sense of form and attitude, because of his drawings; and it has been suggested that he communicated his ideas very largely by gesture. Probably such words as the earlier men used were mainly cries of alarm or passion or names for concrete things, and in many cases they were probably imitative sounds made by or associated with the things named.

The first languages were probably small collections of such words; they consisted of interjections and nouns. Probably the nouns were said in different intonations to convey different meanings.

If Palaeolithic man had a word for "horse" or "bear," he probably showed by tone or gesture whether he meant "bear is coming," "bear is going," "horse to be hunted," "dead bear," "bear has been here," "bear did this," and so on. Only very slowly did the human mind develop methods of indicating action and relationship in a formal manner. Modern languages contain many thousands of words, but the earlier languages could have consisted only of a few hundred. It is said that even modern European peasants can get along with something less than a thousand words, and it is quite conceivable that the earliest Neolithic period that was the limit of the available vocabulary. Probably men did not indulge in those days in conversation or description. For narrative purposes they danced and acted rather than told. They had no method of indicating two by a dual number, and some way of expressing many.

The growth of speech was at first a very slow process indeed, and grammatical forms and the expression of abstract ideas may have come very late in human history, perhaps 400 or 500 generations ago.

The students of languages (philologists) tell us that they are unable to trace with certainty any common features in all the languages of mankind. They cannot even find any elements common to all the European languages. They find over great areas groups of languages which have similar root words and similar ways of expressing the same ideas, but then they find in other areas languages which appear to be dissimilar down to their fundamental structure, which expression and derivation are extremely dissimilar devices, and have an altogether different grammatical scheme.

"Mother" Always Begins With an "M." One great group of languages, for example, now covers nearly all Europe and stretches out to India; it includes English, French, German, Spanish, Italian, Greek, Russian, Armenian, and various Indian tongues. It is called the Indo-European or Aryan family. The same fundamental roots, the same grammatical ideas are traceable through all this family. Compare, for example, English father, mother, German Vater, Mutter; Latin pater, mater; Greek pater, meter; French pere, mere; Armenian hair, matir; Sanscrit pitar, matar, etc. In a similar manner the Aryan languages bring the changes on a great number of fundamental words, in the Germanic language becoming "in" in the Latin, and so on. They follow a law of variation called Grimm's Law. These languages are not different things, they are variations of one thing. The people who use these languages think in the same way.

At one time in the remote past, in the Neolithic Age, that is to say, 5,000 years or more ago, there may have been one simple original speech from which all these Aryan languages have differentiated. Somewhere between central Europe and western Asia there must have wandered a number of tribes sufficiently intermingled to develop and use one tongue—all the Aryan peoples. Sir H. H. Johnston has called them "Aryan-Russians." They belonged mostly to the Caucasian group of races and to the blond and northern subdivision of the group, and the Nordic race that is.

Here one must sound a note of warning. There was a time when the philologists were disposed to confuse languages and races, and to suppose that people who once all spoke the same tongue must be all of the same blood. That, however, is not the case, as the reader will understand if he will think of the negroes of the United States who now all speak English, or of the Irish, who—except for purposes of political demonstration—no longer speak the old Irish language but English, or of the Cornish people, who have lost their ancient Celtic speech. But what a common language does, is to show that a common intercourse has existed—and the possibility of intercourse for purposes of contact points to a common origin, it points at least to a common future.

But even this original Aryan language, which was a spoken speech perhaps 4,000 or 5,000 B.C. was by no means a primordial language or the language of a savage race. Its earliest speakers were in or past the Neolithic stage of civilization. It had grammatical forms and verbal devices of some complexity. The vanished methods of expression of the later Palaeolithic peoples of the Altaians, or of the early Neolithic kitchen-midden people, for instance, were probably much cruder than the most elementary form of Aryan.

Where Aryan Developed.
Probably the Aryan group of languages became distinct in a wide region of which the Danube, Dnieper, Don and Volga were the main rivers, a region that extended eastward beyond the Ural Mountains north of the Caspian Sea. The area over which the Aryan speakers roamed probably did not for a long time, reach to the Atlantic coast of Europe, or to the Black Sea beyond Asia Minor. There was no effectual separation of Europe from Asia then at the Bosphorus. The Danube flowed eastward to a great sea that extended across the Volga region of southeastern Russia right into Turkestan, and included the Black, Caspian and Aral seas of to-day. Perhaps it sent out arms to the Arctic Ocean. It must have been a pretty effective barrier between the Aryan speakers and the people in north-eastern Asia. South of this sea stretched a continuous shore from the Balkans to Afghanistan. Northwest of it a region of swamps and lagoons reached to the Baltic.

SCIENTISTS PROVE USEFUL AS CAMPERS

With the Astronomers Observing the Recent Solar Eclipse

Miss Chant Rolls Barrel of Cement into Place

Those Victorians who recently met Miss Chant, daughter of Professor Chant of the University of Toronto, who is now in charge of the Canadian Solar Eclipse Expedition in Western Australia, will be surprised to learn that she undertook strenuous work in connection with getting the Walla Walla Camp into shape for observations.

A Desolate Place.
An aerial mail, the first come out from the party, brought a message of how the camp was established. This story was told by one of the camera men with the expedition, E. Brandon Cremer, and he relates the early days at the far distant sheep station as follows: "Broome, the far-flung spot of civilization, out of which come pearls and wild stories of romance, was reached," he writes, "no sooner had the Chanton got along side than the Australian navy contingent took charge, and commenced the job of transhipping the 60 tons of gear to the little naval lugger lying waiting us."

On arrival the scientists were met by Mr. and Mrs. Eyershed, of the Kodakinal Observatory, Madras, and Capt. Gregory, the acting port captain of Broome, who had made all the preliminary arrangements for the transport of the party and the gear to the camp at Walla. A quick run down the coast brought us to Walla. All we could see was a stretch of golden beach that disappeared by nothing to right and left, while on it the great rollers crashed their way only to be broken up in a smother of white foam. The task of landing the gear was rendered doubly difficult by the fact that it had to be kept dry. Whaleboats were brought alongside the lugger, and as each was loaded it was piped away toward the beach. There on the fringe of the surf were dozens of aborigines, men and women, waiting to do their share. The gear would be given to a native at a favorable opportunity. They were like grown-up children carrying through the work amid shouts of laughter. Being warned that they must not get the goods wet, they were careful on the trip to the shore, but on the return journey many of the women were too anxious to get back, and as a consequence were caught in the undertow and swept off their feet. Through the courtesy of Lieut.-Commander Quick I was the first to be put ashore—and succeeded in filming the scene. We went met on the beach by Mr. Davidson, of Walla Station.

Dustclouds and Donkeys.
The next to land was Dr. Campbell, who is wearing a great example to the rest of the party. He does not believe in standing by and superintending, for off came his coat, and he led the carriers in their work. As soon as the whole of the gear was safely ashore we left for the site of the camp. Those who may imagine that these scientific camps are like those they see in the "movies" at home would change their minds if they could only be with us. There is the camp, said Mr. Davidson. We looked and saw a clump of scrub wattles. They were not so bad, only they looked as though they were faded with the heat. At least, that was the first impression. The moment we started to move we found what it was. Dust, thick, thick, thick, hanging around you in clouds, covering everything and making you wish—well, it was no good wishing. Then out of the bush came the donkey teams in charge of a picturesque old Italian padrone, Lieut.-Commander Quick and his men took charge of these teams, and they moved faster than they had ever done before. By Friday night the whole of the gear was in "Dust Camp." The Western Australian party has a camp of its own, but we have been so busy getting our own things into shape that we have not yet had time to pay it a visit, although we hear that it is a little further ahead with its preparations than we are. The ladies with our party are all well, and have asstounded the menfolk by the amount of work they have got through. As an idea of what they are doing, the following conversation overheard by me last night will give an indication: "I suppose you were here, I was wondering what Miss Chant was going to do here in camp?" "Yes, I was." "Well, I just caught her in time to-day, trying to roll a 250-lb. barrel of cement into position."

Kitchen and Bakery.
The cook, with the aid of a couple of native women, has erected his stove and is busy baking bread and serving five-course dinners for the whole camp, which is like a small city, with its bustle and activity. At the time of writing the concrete foundations for the instrument bases are being put down, and we expect to make a start with the erection of the instruments in a few days. There is not a great quantity of native labor, however, and everything has to be done by the people in the camp themselves, assisted by some of the sailors. The working hours are from sunrise until a little after sunset. We stop for meals, but only just long enough to eat them. The aborigines are very funny. They cannot imagine what on earth, or I should say, in the sky, has brought all these strangers to the place, am looking forward to some real fun with them when the eclipse actually occurs. The camp consist of twelve accommodation tents for the party, two store tents, two marquees, and a cook-house. There is an excellent well of beautiful water 200 yards away. There are also five large awnings spread, so that the parties can work in some sort of shade during the day. A noise in the air has brought us all out on the run. The aerial mail machine is circling overhead; and, as this is the first mail we have received here, we are all interested.

WELCOME MINISTER

Rev. D. M. McKee at Gordon Head Presbyterian Church.

Rev. D. M. McKee, the new minister in charge of the Gordon Head Presbyterian Church, was given a very hearty welcome by the congregation last evening when Mr. and Mrs. McKee in Gordon Head Hall.

Rev. J. H. White of St. Columba Church, and Rev. Daniel Walker were present and addressed the meeting and Mrs. P. McNaughton spoke on behalf of the congregation. Mrs. Lazenby and Miss Marjorie Watson contributed solos, Miss McNaughton accompanying. Regret was expressed that Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Taylor were leaving the district. They have rendered valuable service in the church work. The ladies served refreshments, and the evening was passed in a social manner.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Restorer at Honolulu.—Mrs. Combe this morning received a cable from Capt. Combe stating that the cable ship Restorer had reached Honolulu on her way to Midway.

Y. P. Society.—The Young People's Society of the Columbia Church entertained the men at the Aged Men's Home last evening with a delightful concert which was much appreciated by them.

Wholesalers Meet.—A meeting of the local wholesalers was called in 415 Belmont Building this afternoon for the purpose of discussing better trade relations with up-land points and other matters.

Vital Statistics.—There were 71 births, 42 deaths and 47 marriages in Victoria in September as against 85 births, 32 deaths and 40 marriages in August, according to reports prepared by the City Health Department.

Voters' Qualifications.—The proposal of the Canadian Legion that all people allowed to vote on provincial affairs should be allowed to vote on municipal affairs, was rejected by the City Council on a 5 to 4 vote last night.

W. C. T. U. Function.—The informal reception to Mrs. Carvasso and Miss Bailey, Australian W. C. T. U. delegates, on Saturday night took place at the home of Mrs. A. E. Mitchell, Superior Street, instead of at the home of Mrs. W. N. Mitchell, Gorge Road, as stated yesterday.

Thoroughbred Talked.—A very interesting discussion was held at the well attended meeting of the Victoria Goat Breeders' Association in the Y. M. C. A. last evening. A committee was also appointed to instruct those ignorant of the Scrub Buck Act in order to eliminate the making of legal action.

Seek Royal Commission.—Protest at the alleged employment of Chinese and Greeks in the kitchen of the Hotel Vancouver was voiced at the regular meeting of the Vigilant Veterans' Association last night. The assembly authorized a wire to Ottawa to urge that a session of the royal commission on pension matters be held in this city. The gathering endorsed heartily the Gyro Club "Get A Vote" campaign.

Illustrated Lecture.—An illustrated lecture on old Victoria and a trip through the Carleton district will be the programme of to-morrow evening's meeting of the Young People's department of the First Presbyterian Church. The meeting commences at 8 o'clock in the lecture room and Mrs. McKillop will be in charge of the devotional period. The lecture will be given by Mr. Maynard, a well known photographer of this city.

Social To Be Held.—The first social of the new formed Young People's Bible class of the Metropolitan Church will be held on Thursday evening in the auditorium, when a programme of musical and musical selections will be given. An enjoyable time is assured all those who attend. The social commences at 8 o'clock and all those interested in the class are welcome.

Thankoffering Given.—Over a hundred ladies attended the annual thankoffering of the First Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society held yesterday afternoon in the schoolroom. A very inspiring address was given by Mrs. W. G. Wilson, who also dealt with the W. M. S. movement. A short talk given by Mrs. Nalder, a former missionary from India, was included in the programme. Refreshments were served and a very entertaining and instructive afternoon was enjoyed. Mrs. J. M. Graham presided. The total amount of the offering was $130.

Old Country Club.—The old Country Club debating club held an interesting debate last evening on the motion "That civic voting should be compulsory." The debate brought out the feeling that it should also be free, and that only those who are trained from using their franchise should pay the $2 tax. A hostile opinion as to usefulness of civic conventions came out, the feeling being that there were joy rides for inefficiency to gain slight knowledge at the taxpayers' expense. On the motion of Mr. Willows the debate was adjourned.

Accused Is Acquitted.—At the close of an extended hearing in the police court yesterday afternoon, Philip Handley was acquitted of the charge laid against him, that of retaining possession of a portion of liquor stock knowing it to have been stolen. The liquor stolen, remarked the court, might well have passed through many hands, and it would now be a difficult matter to assume that one knew any particular piece of liquor was stolen. He would accept the explanation of the accused, whose story he found corroborated and well believed, and dismiss the charge, concluded Magistrate Jay.

Seek Data On Veterans.—Particulars as to the whereabouts of disabled veterans in this Province, their disability and present employment is the object of a circular letter from the Provincial Department of Labor read to the G. A. U. V. in session last night.

Policeman Hurt.—What is believed to be the first claim of the Victoria Police Department under the Workmen's Compensation Act this year was drawn up by Chief Fry this morning in respect to Constable Bishop. Constable Bishop was called upon on September 15 to answer a trouble call at the Jubilee Hospital where a patient was found to be eye blind. In quelling the man and getting him tied down to the bed the constable was scratched severely on the face below the right eye. It now appears a possibility that blood poisoning will set in, hence the claim.

Air Board Disappearing.—Word received at the Jericho Beach B. C. Air Station yesterday forecasts the abolition of the Canadian Air Board to give way to the Canadian Air Force throughout the country. G. M. Dean, secretary of the Air Force Association of this Province will resign the work to be carried on from the command of Major Earl Godfrey, M. C. A. F. C. Major Godfrey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Godfrey, 1174 Eleventh Avenue, West, Vancouver. Major Godfrey was for some time examining officer for the Canadian Air Board and in that connection has been twice in this city.

NIGHT FLYING TURKEY

A new form of turkey hunting was discovered by Motorcycle Constable Walton at 2:35 o'clock this morning. While riding on his beat up Yates Street at that hour he observed a dark-colored bird flying across the road. The thanksgiving offering came straight on and dashed itself against the headlights of the motorcycle, being instantly killed. Constable Walton conveyed the bird to the police station, where it was claimed by R. Day as being the property of John Day, poultry-ter, Yates Street. The premises of Mr. Day had a window broken during the night, thus permitting the wanderer to make the escape, which led to his ultimate death.

BISHOP INVITES CARAVAN HERE

Miss Hasell May Spend Summer on Vancouver Island

"The spirit of adventure is not dead in the church," said Bishop Schofield, after Miss Eva Hasell had delivered her lecture in St. Andrew's Presbyterian lecture room last night, describing some of her experiences in touring Qu'Appelle and Calgary dioceses in her Sunday School Mission Caravan. The ignorance of children and young people in the Canadian West in regard to the teachings of the Bible and the Christian faith is a serious menace to the future welfare and prosperity of the nation. On the other hand, the long working day for both parents of children living in practice yards and the scarcity of suitable literature make it difficult for the parents to give the needed attention to religious instruction.

Miss Hasell pleaded the necessity of greater interest in this work on the part of church people in order that the children and young people of these families and supply the kind of literature required. The Sunday School and motor caravans in Qu'Appelle and Calgary dioceses have their own Sunday School workers can travel over large areas and visit families who would otherwise be neglected, have proved a successful way of reaching the provinces, where road and traveling conditions are far from ideal. It was the spirit displayed in overcoming and conquering these difficulties by Miss Hasell and her workers that evoked the enthusiasm and support of those who attended the meeting.

At the conclusion of the lecture Bishop Schofield invited Miss Hasell to visit Vancouver Island for a Summer and to have her work here. Some excellent slides were shown, illustrating both the opportunities and difficulties of the work as carried on in the prairie provinces, where road and traveling conditions are far from ideal. It was the spirit displayed in overcoming and conquering these difficulties by Miss Hasell and her workers that evoked the enthusiasm and support of those who attended the meeting.

CITY NOT HURRYING SEWER BY-LAW VOTE

Sanitch will not be forced by the city to submit the Northwest Sewer By-law to the voters in the immediate future. The city has agreed to enter into an arrangement whereby Sanitch will submit the by-law at any time during which property owners may take advantage of the city's new tax relief plan, has been extended to December 15, it was announced to-day. This will give a number of people an opportunity to save their land from tax sale by consolidating their arrears and paying them off in instalments.

Two Divorces Granted.

Before Mr. Justice Morrison in the Supreme Court to-day a decree absolute was granted to Arthur W. H. Phair against Edith Mary Phair. A. D. Crease, K. C., appeared for the petitioner, the suit being undefended. Mrs. Kate Earp obtained a decree absolute against John Wilfred Earp. E. H. M. Foote appeared for the petitioner, the suit being undefended.

CITY GETS $24,300 A YEAR IN RENTALS

The city is now receiving $24,300 a year in rentals from houses which reverted to the corporation at tax public at the City Hall to-day. The monthly rental now amounts to $2,025, these figures show. Only two of the houses owned by the city are vacant.

A considerable number of new properties will revert to the city as a result of the tax sale which has been proceeding for some time. The time during which property owners may take advantage of the city's new tax relief plan, has been extended to December 15, it was announced to-day. This will give a number of people an opportunity to save their land from tax sale by consolidating their arrears and paying them off in instalments.

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would send me up in the air. If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into a decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact, paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol. Ruggers Will Open Season on Saturday

Two Senior and One Intermediate Game Will Be Played; Break in Weather Has Softened Ground and Made It Possible For Teams to Get Underway; High School Old Boys Drop Out of Intermediate, Leaving Three Teams

It has rained a little and the ruggers are happy. While the weak showers have loosened up the hard surface a little, the gridiron warriors are hoping that Jupe Pluvius will turn on the tap again before the week-end so that they may be sure of ideal conditions for their opening games.

After being balked in two previous efforts to get the senior and intermediate rugby leagues underway, officials of the Victoria Rugby Union announced to-day that the opening games will be played on Saturday afternoon. The Union had hoped to get the first games off their hands two weeks ago, but the fine weather of the past five months had balked the ground so hard that it was considered it would be dangerous to call the athletes into action. A postponement of a week was ordered, but still the ground will not be soft enough for another postponement was called.

Conditions Will Be Good. The indications now are that everything will be just to the rugger's liking in the practices to date the players have each reported losses in the neighborhood of several inches of skin from knee to elbow and cheek from contact with Mother Earth's hard-baked exterior. On Saturday if there isn't mud for the ruggers to plaster themselves with the ground will at least be soft and the weather men of the Rugby Union aver—

The games slated for Saturday are as follows:
Senior League.
J. B. A. A. vs. Canadian Scottish, at Oak Bay Park.
V. I. A. A. vs. Wanderers, at the Willows racetrack.
Intermediate League.
Normal School vs. J. B. A. A. at Cranmore Road grounds.

Little is known as to the exact strength of any of the clubs. In the senior league the Bays and Wanderers played last year and have some of their former players back this year. The Canadian Scottish are making their initial appearance in local rugby, while the V. I. A. A. are back after a year's absence. The newcomers this season have been rounded out fairly fast teams, according to reports, and are quite capable of giving last year's champions and runners-up hard, stiff games.

In the intermediate league only three teams will compete for the Heyland Cup. The High School Old Boys found it impossible to get a team together and withdrew their entry. The J. B. A. A. last year's winners, the Wanderers and the Normal School will do the battling this year.

Stewart Trains Students.
The Normal School, the newcomers in the league, have a lot of green material, but they are fortunate in having secured the services of an expert coach, Cam Stewart, who has played on the Vancouver rep team for the last two years and who is now attending the school, is whipping the team into shape and says that he will have a winner.

M'GRAW SIGNS STAR BALTIMORE TWIRLER

Baltimore, Oct. 17.—As freely predicted, Jack Bentley, star pitcher and clown of the Baltimore club of the International League will be a New York Giant in 1923. Bentley doesn't even know he is sold. Jack Dunn, manager, went to the Polo Grounds last week and made arrangements for the delivery of his southern boy to Spring. Bentley wants to progress to the majors and will undoubtedly be used in the box for McGraw needs pitchers. He has pitched 27 games for the Baltimore club, including 1919, and has won 47 of them. He also defeated St. Paul three times in the 1920 series. His record as a pitcher follows:

Year	Won	Lost
1919	8	2
1920	16	3
1921	12	1

SARAZEN DISCHARGED; TO BEGIN PRACTICE

Yonkers, N.Y., Oct. 17.—Gene Sarazen, national open golf champion, who was operated on for appendicitis two weeks ago, twenty-four hours after he had defeated Walter Hagen, British open champion, in a 72-hole match for the "unofficial" championship of the world, left the hospital yesterday. He announced he expected to begin practice in a month for his Pacific Coast tournament early next year.

COLLEGE RUGBY SQUAD TO GET IN TRAINING

The Victoria College rugby team will hold its first practice Wednesday of this week at the Cranmore Road grounds. A good turnout is expected and the players are keen to get into the game. Now that the season is fairly under way it is high time that the college got into training if they intend to make a success of the year.

Strand Leading Hitter and May Best Twirler in P. C. L.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Paul Strand, Salt Lake, is the king of swat in the Pacific Coast League season at the top of the hitting list with a percentage of .385. Strand set a new world's record for hits made in one season. His total reached 291. The previous record was 282.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Jakie May, Vernon ace, closed the 1922 Pacific Coast Baseball League season at the top of the pitchers' percentage column, with a mark of .795 for 35 games won, and nine lost. Five San Francisco pitchers are next in line. They are Mitchell, 774; Scott, 735; Courtney, 714; Geary, 690, and McWeeney, 682. A Los Angeles hurler, Dumovich, comes next with 667.

Sporting Instinct Dying Says Saanich Pheasant; Wounded by Poor Sport

"What do I think of modern sporting instincts?" The speaker was a handsome, ring-necked pheasant, wounded in one wing and terribly cross. "Look at me—I am the result of the modern sporting instinct," he continued with warmth. Scouting a story, the reporter got out pencil and paper, and this is the story the disgruntled pheasant expounded. "I was as handsome a ring-neck as could be found in the length and breadth of the Saanich Peninsula. I lived on the Government pheasant farm and was well cared for—a fact that led to my undoing. I began to trust man; I might have known better. "Becoming tired of the life on the farm I flew to other covers, feeding on the bounty of a farmer in that choice section of the peninsula known to you as West Saanich.

"The hunting season opened on Saturday, so far as I was concerned, though I had to fly for my life well before that. It was the beginning of last week that a man saw me at breakfast in a field of oats and shot at me. His aim was as poor as his honor, and I flew away.

Then Came Man. "On Saturday, however, I was not so lucky. I had just completed breakfast and was walking over to the section of a snake fence that bounds the West Saanich Road when a car drove up. In it were two creatures—I will not call them men, but I will call them sportsmen. One said, 'Look, Bill, I heard one say, 'there's a pheasant.' I was not frightened, for was I not within 100 yards of a highway and so protected by the majesty of the law? However, my trust was ill-advised. The youth addressed as 'Bill' stood up in the car and, before I could get on to my wings, blazed both barrels of a heavy shotgun at me.

"Look at this leg"—here the pheasant held out a left leg that dangled pitifully from the upper joint—"That was the result of his shot. And look at this!"—Here a wing was displayed with the joint smashed by the power of several pellets and utterly useless. "Pot-hunters, slinking motor car sportsmen—that's what they are, and they're all the same. "Last evening my brother was shot and killed as he sat under the fence not two yards away from an interurban station. The hunter in this case was a large red-faced man with a $6,000 car. He did not even bother to get out of the car, but sent a small boy to pick up the bird.

Eddie Oatman Will Stage Wing Rushes

Fast and Hard Back-Checking Aristocrats to Be Back in Victoria Line-Up This Winter; P. C. H. A. Moguls to Gather Next Monday to Draft Schedule and Get Ready For Openers; St. Pats Sign Up Junior Players

Eddie Oatman, the de luxe right-winger of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, has decided to be an Aristocrat for another year and his signed contract has been received by Lester Patrick, manager of the club. Eddie is in St. Paul, Minn., where he has been painting the town during the Summer. Eddie decided to take up the painting business because he thought it would keep his hands and wrists in good shape for handling a hockey stick this Winter. Eddie will be heading West on the rattlers within a few days and as soon as there is ice at the Arena he intends to get himself into tip-top shape.

SIKI MUST VISIT U. S. OR TEX WILL GET MAD

New York, Oct. 17.—An effort to reach an understanding on a tentative arrangement by which Battling Siki was to come to the United States to engage in bouts with light heavyweights, Tex Rickard to-day cabled Murcie Heller, the fighter's manager. It has been reported from Paris that Siki has no intention of coming to the United States. "If Siki and his manager do not come here," said Rickard here to-day, "as they cabled me they would, then I would guarantee that Siki will never box in America if I can prevent it."

O'DOWD WINS BOAT

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 16.—Phil O'Dowd, Columbus bantamweight, won the judges' decision over Pete Zivic, of New York, in a twelve-round bout here last night. Zivic was groggy at several stages of the bout, but O'Dowd could not put him out.

ST. PATS SIGN A JUNIOR

GARION Scott, fight wing player of last year's junior Aura Lee O.H.A. team, yesterday signed a contract to play for St. Patrick's this Winter in the N.H.L. Scott is a Sudbury boy. In 1920 he played with Weiland juniors and in 1921 with Preston. The signing of Scott is a change in the policy of St. Pats, and henceforth they will go after junior players. Some of them may not be able to break in as regulars for a year or more, but the St. Pats management is willing to carry them along, knowing that in time they will be ready to take their places as regulars.

Calgary After Stanley?

Calgary, Oct. 17.—Calgary Tigers may be after Barney Stanley to lead the hockey squad of this city after all in the Western Canadian play-off during Winter. Word has come from Edmonton that the Calgary management has already made overtures to Stanley, but the former Tiger boss will not make any definite statement as to his attitude in hockey affairs for this season. It became known last Winter that Regina had been bidding for Barney after he was declared a free agent by the Calgary club. However, the news from Edmonton says that the Tigers have made another offer to him, and there is still an outside chance that he may step forth adorned in the Bengal spangles again. Lloyd Turner, manager of the Tigers, stated yesterday that no offer had been made to Stanley by the Calgary club, and he did not consider that any attempt would be made by the locals to get him back for this coming season. He denied that any effort had been made to get Barney off at all.

Ottawa Hockey Scheme Bust

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The proposition launched by certain interests some time ago for erection of a stadium which in the Winter was presumably to be used as the home of the Ottawa Hockey Club, at the southwest corner of King Edward Avenue and York Street, has, it is understood, been abandoned. The option on the land has lapsed. It is said that the raising of the option leaves the Stadium Company of Ottawa without land for its original project. The option on this property was taken nearly a year ago for $5,500, of which about $4,500 was paid in cash. Since then

MISKE AND GIBBONS TO GET THEIR MONEY

New York, Oct. 17.—Promoter Tex Rickard will be instructed at a meeting of the state athletic commission to-day to pay both Tommy Gibbons and Billy Miske, St. Paul heavyweights, under the terms of their contract signed by the boxers for the bout last Friday which was awarded to Miske on a foul. The delay in approving the payment, Chairman Muldoon said in announcing the proposed action, was in accordance with the commission's rules which require that the commission pass on any decision given in a bout stopped by any official.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Conflict of emotions are recognized—the strongest tangle of story interest and in presenting the First National attraction, "One Clear Call," at the Royal Victoria Theatre again to-day, offers a striking example of this statement. At least three different clashes of emotional loyalty are depicted in this story which is enacted in a small Alabama town. There is the conflict on the part of the mother between love for her husband and love for the memory of a son whose name is never mentioned in the family. There is the conflict on the part of the son's wife between loyalty for him and loathing towards the moral code he adheres to. And an important element of the story is involved in the conflict between the son's sworn friend towards the boy and love for

THE BREATHEABLE TREATMENT FOR COUGHS & COLDS

EVERYBODY NEEDS PEPS!
WHETHER it's a Cough, Cold, Sore Throat, or a revival of the old Bronchitis the Peps breatheable remedy, is the one most speedily effective.

The Peps way is to strengthen the breathing passages and end the danger before it affects the chest and lungs. When a Peps tablet dissolves in the mouth powerful medicinal fumes are liberated. As the diagram shows, these chest-strengthening medicines mingle with the air breathed through the nasal cavity (1) and pass (2) into the throat (3) where they pass direct down the wind-pipe (4) into the lungs. Druggery mixtures and syrups are ineffective because they go down the gullet (5) into the stomach. The Peps breatheable medicines however, deal directly, not only with immediate trouble in the throat and bronchial tubes, but they penetrate to the innermost recesses, where disease germs are likeliest to be.

Peps not only acts as a powerful germicide but they speedily soothe and heal any soreness, irritation, or inflammation; they make breathing easy. There is no more valuable safeguard against throat troubles, chest, weak bronchitis, asthma, pleurisy and pneumonia. Free from harmful drugs, Peps are perfectly safe for children.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur an itching, burning or broken skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema; that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rashes, pimples or roughness. You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store. (Advt.)

THE PLAYHOUSE

Who was the first to use the custard pie as a comedy prop? The general supposition is, perhaps, that to Mack Sennett, the comedy producer, goes the honor. Sallie Edwards, however, character comedienne, playing with Wallace Reid in his Paramount vehicle, "The Ghost Breaker," now running at the Capitol Theatre, used the custard pie thirty-five years ago when he and Sam Bernard put on a vaudeville act in a concert hall in Hoboken, N.J.

The proprietor, a German named Gustav, managed Edwards and Bernard for fifteen dollars a week—not fifteen apiece, but fifteen for the act, actors and all. The act went over good for a week and Gustav, by popular demand, approached them for a re-engagement.

"We went back for another week on three conditions," says Sallie. "The first was that he raise the salary to eighteen dollars; the second that he lend us his head waiter to play a straight man; and the third that he personally see that we had one custard pie every night for the props. He agreed to all conditions and we went on again. The last evening of our engagement, Gustav's didn't show up with the pie. We sent someone after him and he was finally located. Just in time for the act, Gustav showed up with a pie, with apologies for forgetting. Referring to the pie, he made a little speech between gasps.

"I'm all tired out, I went to six bakershops but couldn't get any custard pie. So you'll have to use cocoonat. The cocoonat served the same purpose, however, so the act went off all right."

THE PLAYHOUSE

"What Happened to Jones," the farce to be presented at the Playhouse, show number six is one of the funniest plays ever written in the English language. The situations that the various people in the cast find themselves through mistaken identity are such to provoke the utmost mirth as wherever this farce has been presented it has played to large audiences which roared with laughter all the way through. It has been said that there is not a minute without its laugh in "What Happened to Jones," and this is very true. The cast Mr. Hineks has secured for this production is one of the strongest he has ever staged, and in his capable hands as director a finished performance is assured. Playhouse show number six will open on Wednesday night at 8.30 p. m. There has

LOTS OF GAME IN LABRADOR Certainly Off the Beaten Path

(By Morris Ackerman.)
If you are looking for a rough-and-ready place to fish and hunt try Labrador.

Labrador is a narrow strip of land across the Straits of Belle Isle from the north shore of Newfoundland. It extends from Blanc Sablon to Hudson Strait, about 700 miles.
I made the trip up from St. John's, Newfoundland, on the "Meigle." The boat makes about fifty stops between Battle Harbor and Hopedale. From Hopedale, a smaller steamer takes you as far north as ice will permit.

There are no docks. The ship anchors off the numerous ports and passengers go ashore by the Meigle's mail boat.

At Elements' Mercy.
There is not a single resort, hotel or boarding house on the Labrador coast. When you leave the steamer without your sleeping bag, blankets and personal equipment, you are at the mercy of the elements. Sportsmen on the coast or in the interior must take in tents, cooking outfits and complete camping equipment.
Most of the population is made up

DR. WILFRID T. GRENFELL
Famous Missionary Who is Known to Every Fishing Hamlet

as ice will permit in the late Spring and return again in late September. The white natives, "Inuvieres," live mostly from Rigolet south. The Eskimos predominate north from that point to Hudson Strait.

Lots of Fishing.
Indian tribes stick to the interior and largely follow the caribou. Ducks, geese and waterfowl are to be had along the Labrador coast in limitless numbers. It is the breeding ground of the Canada goose, as is Newfoundland.

Labrador cannot be recommended as a caribou country. However, like Newfoundland, there are parts where "summer deer" do not migrate. One of these is about 15 miles from Cartwright, where the Hudson's Bay Company maintains a trading post; selling ordinary grub and supplies.
I covered considerable country around Sandwich Bay and went into the goose country up North River. The natives fish and hunt only for food and thought me foolish to shoot birds on the wing.

However, I recommend Labrador to anglers and hunters going into Newfoundland, as a side trip. One day out of St. John's you will be in daily sight of icebergs. At various ports of call you can jig from the side of the ship for codfish.
Listen to the Band.
From St. Anthony north you may listen to the concerts of the "Eskimo band," the howling of the huskies. The best way to fish and hunt the Labrador coast is to go there in your own watercraft. The next best way is to take your complete outfit, grub and all, board the Reid Newfoundland steamer at St. John's and have the skipper land you at most any bay stream from Rigolet south.
Many sportsmen, adventure bound, like to get off the beaten path, back and beyond Labrador in every way fulfills this requirement.

FOR CHILDREN THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

WHY MR. HOUND DOG LOOKS SO SAD

Mr. Hound Dog sat by the farm yard gate looking sadly down the road. He always looked forlorn, but to-day he looked more unhappy than ever and when Puss saw him she stopped. "What is the matter?" she inquired.

Mr. Hound shook his head sadly. "Left at home and the master has gone hunting," he said.

"How do you know?" asked Puss. "I saw him go away with his gun and he told me to stay here," replied Mr. Hound.

"That does not prove that he is going hunting just because he carried the gun," Puss remarked. "I go in the barn where there are plenty of mice, and I carry my claws with me, but I do not always hunt for mice. Cheer up, Mr. Hound, and come with me. I will show you something to take your mind off of your troubles. The pantry door is wide open and the cook is upstairs."

"Bones!" inquired Mr. Hound as he followed Puss into the house. "No, pie," replied Puss, "but it may be meat pie," she hastened to say for Mr. Hound hesitated when she said pie.

"Oh, well, I will look at it," said Mr. Hound.

On the lower shelf of the pantry was a deep dish with a brown crust on top that had been cut. "There it is," said Puss. "Now guess what is inside. Mr. Hound will have three guesses and then you find out what it is by standing on your hind legs. You are so tall you can easily do that, you know."

"I don't see any fun in that," said Mr. Hound looking sadder than ever. "You don't?" said Puss. "Well, if it is meat you will eat it, won't you?"

"Do you think the cook will like it if we do?" said Mr. Hound. "She never lets me come near the doorway. I think I will go out."

"It might be meat," said Puss. "Perhaps a bone in it, too." Mr. Hound hesitated and was lost for he went back beside Puss and lifted his front paws to the edge of the shelf.

Now inside that pie, which was a meat pie, was hiding little Whiskers Mouse. He was hoping to escape without having Puss see him, but Mr. Hound's nose close to the opening in the pie crust was too much to bear, and he jumped. Whiskers, seeing Mr. Hound so that he hit the pie with his nose and over it tumbled and at that terrible moment in came Puss.

"Of course, Puss was chasing Whiskers about the pantry. Cook chased poor Mr. Hound out of the house with a broom and told him not to come in even for his supper.

And the worst of it was that cook on her way to the house of Madam Pig carrying the meat pie said as she passed Mr. Hound, "You good-for-nothing creature you won't get a bit of this to punish you for going into the pantry."

"And then folks wonder why I never smile," said Mr. Hound setting his head on his paws; "I never have anything to smile about."

Just then his master returned with the gun over his shoulder. "We will have a good time this afternoon, old fellow," he said stopping to pat Mr. Hound on the head. "I have had my gun repaired, and if anything gets away from us it won't be our fault, will it?"

Mr. Hound wagged his tail and sat up. "He isn't so bad, after all," he thought, "but I have a reputation to keep up and if I look happy I will lose. But neither Puss nor cook and the meat pie can make me feel sad when the master says 'go hunting.'"

GUARDS ON DUTY IN FOO-CHOW

British, Americans and Japanese Protect Interests

Southern Chinese Forces Control the City

Amoy, Oct. 17.—British, American and Japanese marines are guarding foreign interests at Foo-chow, a capital of Fukien province, where a recent upheaval resulted in the flight of Governor Li Hao Chi and all other officials representing the Peking Government, according to an official report received here today. Southern forces are in complete control of the capital, but the river is under control of the navy, whose status in the fighting between the Northern and Southern factions has not yet been definitely determined.

In the meantime the only official being recognized by the foreign consuls is Admiral Sah Chen Ping, a former Minister of the Navy and Acting Premier. A strong movement recently developed to make Admiral Sah Civil Governor of Fukien.

About 3,000 defeated Northern troops have surrendered their arms to the navy and are being transported to Shanghai. A force of about 4,000 northerners is reported surrounded at Shikow.

SAYS MAYOR GAVE STANLAND $100 OUT OF CITY FUNDS

Marchant Disregarded Council's Vote Against Grant, Andros Charges

Persuaded Finance Committee to Pay Commissioner's New York Expenses

Against the City Council's instructions, but at Mayor Marchant's instigation and with the Finance Committee's support, $100 of the people's money was paid over to Police Commissioner W. E. Stanland to cover the expenses of his recent trip to New York, according to written charges laid before the Council last night by Alderman E. B. Andros.

Alderman Andros vigorously denounced the action of the Mayor and Finance Committee as being without precedent. Nothing daunted by lack of support from other members, he moved that Mr. Stanland be asked to return the secret grant of $100, but he would get no one to second his motion.

Alderman Andros's charges were contained in this written statement, which he read:

"You will probably remember Mr. Mayor that some time ago you came to the Council and proposed that a sum of $100 be granted to Commissioner Stanland to enable him to attend a conference of Police Commissioners in New York, this was on the 21st of August last. After Alderman Gillespie and several other aldermen had spoken against the grant, it was moved by myself and seconded by Alderman Patrick that the request be not granted, this motion was carried without a dissenting voice, and is on record.

"You would naturally conclude that this was the end of the matter, but not so, as the sequel will show, for on the 21st of September, 1922, a cheque was issued at your instigation for the $100, and was placed to the credit of Mr. E. Stanland in the Royal Bank. I have been asked how could this be done in face of the recorded refusal of the Council on the 21st of August, 1922?

"I have looked up the 'modus operandi' and find that a voucher, which cannot be now found, was prepared at your request and sent to John Fry, the Chief of Police to certify 'correct' this the Chief signed, now I would think a great deal more of him had he refused, but we must take into consideration his position as a subordinate to the Chief of Police, at all events he signed it, the next obstacle in your way Mr. Mayor was to get it passed by the Finance Committee, who certainly knew that the matter had been adversely voted upon, but your eloquence was successful and Alderman Perry, Leeming and Woodward signed the voucher approving of the payment and the cheque was issued for $100, and signed by yourself as Mayor, and J. L. Raymur and E. C. Smith, and was cashied by the Bank of Montreal in the ordinary way.

The next paragraph of the statement, which the Mayor ruled out of order, said:

Stanland's Conduct Attacked.

"Now Mr. Mayor I wish to touch for a moment on the behaviour of Mr. Stanland, the recipient of your favours, interviewed by the reporters he repudiated the whole action, and he also stated to me personally that he was sorry you had brought the matter up, he was going to New York anyway, and would attend the convention at his own expense, and was not informed by the press.

"When he returns he finds what you have done. Does he return the money? No, he keeps it, knowing that the Council on the 21st August refused the request.

"Now this $100, is of little importance were it not for the principle involved, how many hundreds of dollars have been put through by the same underground route? Is it any wonder that the overburdened taxpayer is suspicious as to the proper administration of the finances of the city? I have consulted with the highest authorities on municipal law, and am informed that there is no precedent for your action, that it is out of order, and contrary to all rules of precedence, the only proper course you could have pursued would have been to have brought the matter up for reconsideration.

"I am, therefore, going to move Mr. Mayor that Commissioner Stanland be requested to return to the city the $100 improperly paid him."

When Alderman Andros commenced to read his charges Alderman Woodward tried to block them by declaring that they were out of order. After some dispute, however, the Mayor allowed Alderman Andros to proceed. When he had finished the Mayor admitted that the facts as outlined in the statement were, in the main, correct.

Mayor Signed Voucher.

"On the impulse of the moment," he said, "I asked the Council to pay Mr. Stanland's expense to New York. The Council turned down my request but, feeling very keenly that it would be very desirable to have Mr. Stanland at the convention, I did not drop the matter. I was aware that there was a want of organization in our own police department and I was more than anxious that Mr. Stanland should attend the conference in New York. I signed the voucher for the amount, and it was approved by the Board of Police Commissioners and the Finance Committee, and the public know the facts of this as well as members of the Council know them they would feel as I do that Mr. Stanland has performed a great service to the city."

Makes Statement On Oath.

When Alderman Andros protested that there was nothing on the records of the Police Commission to indicate that the $100 grant had been requested the Mayor replied, "I make the statement on oath."

Alderman Andros persisted that Commissioner J. C. North had been opposed to the grant and that Mr. Stanland was away at the time.

"If necessary I will say it on oath and in the presence of the Council that the Police Board was for it," the Mayor declared.

When, at the end of the meeting, Alderman Andros brought forward his motion asking Mr. Stanland to return the $100 grant, no one offered any comment upon it.

"As there is no seconder for this motion it falls," the Mayor ruled.

Secret Skin Troubles

MEAN NIGHTS & DAYS OF ITCHING TORTURE.

A well-known physician says that he comes across many terrible cases of secret skin disease. Because there's a natural disinclination to seek advice, the sufferer either neglects the trouble in its early stages, or else aggravates it by use of some poisonous mineral ointment. Whilst this may hide up surface trouble, it also drives disease further into the skin.

You cannot thoroughly and permanently banish diseases like eczema, tetter, psoriasis, ringworm, etc., unless you first destroy all disease germs. Zam-Buk does this quickly and thoroughly.

Zam-Buk is unique in its medicinal and healing strength. Its soothing herbal essences penetrate into the skin right into the weakened and diseased inner tissues, killing the germs and uprooting disease at its very source.

The first dressing of Zam-Buk ends the dreadful itching and when all sore inflamed tissues have been thoroughly soothed and purified by Zam-Buk, every trace of disease is made to disappear, and there is a splendid new growth of clear healthy skin.

Zam-Buk

UPROOTS SKIN DISEASE

Don't endure skin torture a day longer! Get Zam-Buk to-day! Apply to the first itchy spot, sore or eruption; use it for healing cuts, burns, scalds, ulcers and poisoned wounds; also for weakening, painful piles.

ALLOW CHINESE CHANCE TO STOP SCHOOL BOYCOTT

Schools Open to Them Until Friday; Board to Explain Attitude

Chinese students will be allowed until Friday to return to school, and if they believe the protest over, by these the schools will be definitely closed to them for the remainder of this term.

This was the final decision reached by the City School Board at a private meeting last night. The board absolutely refused to alter its plan to segregate the Chinese in the public schools all students, whether Chinese or not, who cannot speak English well.

There was no sign of weakening on the separate school policy among the trustees at their formal meeting yesterday. All they would agree to do in answer to the protests of Chinese against their present policy was to publish a statement setting forth their attitude. Letters from the Chinese Canadian Club, the Chinese Benevolent Association and Harry Hastings were simply filed.

Action Legal.

"Our action has been perfectly legal," Trustee J. L. Beckwith declared. "We have thrashed out this matter very fully and have decided in the best interests of the public and the schools. We have provided the Chinese with good, comfortable schools and competent teachers, and there is no cause for complaint whatever. When the Chinese students make sufficient progress they pass into regular senior grades with white students."

Mr. Beckwith denied that segregation was being based on racial grounds. In proving that the board's segregation was racial the Chinese of the city misunderstood the situation, he asserted.

This matter is a religious matter, and our schools are absolutely non-sectarian," said Trustee Thomas Walker. "With illiterate Chinese students in the classes, the progress of the white children is bound to be retarded. Our purpose has been very liberal."

Trustee Mrs. Spofford said that she had heard no argument to alter her belief that the board had acted wisely on the separate school question.

A resolution was moved by Trustee Beckwith and second by Trustee Walker that the board inform the writers of the letters of protest that it saw no reason to alter its decision.

Trustee Sivertz agreed that such a statement would show the public that the board was not using high-sounding words, and was patient in the face of criticism.

Trustee Brown urged that the whole board should stand behind the statement which was issued.

The board's statement will be prepared by Municipal Inspector George H. Deane.

Trustee Mrs. Andrews was not present at last night's meeting and this gave rise to reports that she had reverted to her previous decision not to have anything to do with the Chinese school situation.

Mrs. Andrews announced that she had not attended the meeting because she had been unwell. I have never shirked a responsibility in connection with the work of the School Board and I don't intend to do so in this connection," she declared.

CITY CHARTER AND INDEPENDENCE IN CIVIC POLICY URGED

Victoria Should Steer More Independent Course; Union Delegates Say

Victoria should have a charter of its own and "steer an independent course amid the rocks and shoals of municipal administration," Victoria delegates to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention in Kamloops urged in a report to the City Council last night.

This idea was enthusiastically endorsed by Alderman A. E. Todd. "Let us steer an independent course by all means and, if possible, secure a charter of our own," Alderman Todd suggested. He said that he did not feel that Victoria derived much benefit from the Municipal Union, which was of use chiefly to the smaller municipalities.

The convention delegates' report was read to the Council by Alderman R. W. Perry. It is a lengthy document and describes in exhaustive detail the proceedings of the convention. Copies of the report will be distributed to all the aldermen so that they may consider it at leisure.

CITY TO PRESS FOR THREE-CENT GAS TAX

Will Ask Legislature to Impose Levy All Over British Columbia

Representatives of the City Council will press for a provincial gasoline tax of three cents a gallon before the Municipal Committee of the Legislature this fall, as the result of a decision reached by the City Council last night.

Taxation of gasoline, it is understood, will be supported by the Executive Committee of the Union of B. C. Municipalities.

"This tax will be no use unless it is provincial," Alderman Dewar declared. "If we levied such a tax alone gas stations will be established in adjoining municipalities and every motorist will go out there for gas to avoid the tax here."

Under Victoria's plan two-thirds of the proposed three-cent gas tax would be used by the city and one-third by the Provincial Government.

NO MORE COPIES OF THE SHORT REPORT

Council Refuses Businessmen's Demand for Fuller Distribution

As far as the City Council is concerned ratepayers who have not yet received copies of the Short Report will not be given a chance to trade through the $7,000 worth of that document. The Council finally decided last night not to distribute any more copies of the report though only 5,000 copies of the document have been printed and businessmen who brought Dr. Adam Shortt here to accuse the Council of bad faith in the matter.

Alderman E. S. Woodward opposed the further distribution of the report. If this were done, he declared, the Council would be breaking faith with him and other aldermen who had been given to understand that the city would not be put to any expense whatever in connection with the report.

PROTESTS AGAINST NEW WATER RATES

Increases Will Lower Total Revenue, Mr. Pemberton Warns

F. B. Pemberton wrote to the City Council last night to protest against new water rate increases but the Council refused to accept his suggestions, and filed his letter.

"You have for the present population of Victoria an almost unlimited supply of water," wrote Mr. Pemberton. "You want to get an increased revenue from this and so you are raising the rates in order to do so. Now the result, next Summer, will be that you will get a reduced instead of an increased revenue. You should want to encourage the lavish use of water, both for revenue and to keep up the beauty of Victoria, not to restrict the use which under the present scheme of raising rates you will do. You should go on the basis of the more you use the less proportionately we will charge you. "With the improved method of watering, as shown at the agricultural show, vacant lot cultivation should very vastly increase if encouraged by lower water rates for increased consumption. A great many large consumers last Summer were on the verge of cutting down their water bills, some did, and this is the very last thing you want."

Defends Policy.

"I regret that all Mr. Pemberton's letters are objecting to something—he is mistaken in this case and in every case when he has written to the Council this year," said Alderman Todd. He said that, as a result mainly of Mr. Pemberton's efforts, a proposed auction sale of reverted land had been blocked. Alderman Todd believed that such a sale would have been a success.

The time was approaching, Alderman Todd declared, when money would be needed to enlarge a number of waterworks mains in the city and the new increase in water rates would help to provide this money and would help ratepayers from expense in this connection.

Never put off until to-morrow the creditor who will wait until next week.
